

Hereford YMCA gets $75,000 challenge grant

By O.G. NIEMAN

"Helping Hands...the Key to Success" is a slogan on the Hereford YMCA brochure which outlines plans for its new facility, and a big helping hand was extended to the organization Tuesday from the Mabee Foundation of Tulsa, Ok.

Tom Burdett, co-chairman of the estates, foundations and corporations committee, announced that the Mabee Foundation had agreed to fund the last $75,000 of the campaign goal of $925,000. To meet the terms of the challenge grant, Hereford YMCA must raise approximately $120,000 by Aug. 31, 1984. The "Y" campaign drive currently totals about $730,000 in cash, pledges and in-kind contributions of materials or services.

Announcement of the challenge grant came one day after the Mabee Foundation had approved a similar-type grant of $50,000 to the Hereford Senior Citizens Association. The HSC will need to raise another $50,000 to meet its challenge grant by Aug. 31.

While Burdett made the announcement of the "Y" grant, he pointed out that much of the credit should go to Rick Brown, YMCA president, who persisted in making a new application to the foundation after an initial request was not approved. The letter from the J.E. and L.E. Mabee Foundation stated, in part: "At its meeting held on April 9, 1984, the Mabee Foundation Board gave consideration to your application as resubmitted and is willing to issue a challenge grant in the amount of $75,000 toward the cost of your facility, provided you raise the balance of the total cost ($850,000) by Aug. 31, 1984."

"It is appreciated the way your community has responded and we trust you will be able to meet the terms and conditions of this challenge grant." The letter was signed by Donald P. Moyers, vice chairman of the foundation board.

The optimism of the "Y" board is reflected by the fact that construction for the new facility is already underway on 15th Street. The foundation for the building has been laid and the exercise pool has been installed. Steel beams are on the site, with erection expected to start soon.

Charles Hoover, chairman of the building fund, said Tuesday that another foundation grant is possible but that "we have enough prospects in the community to finish the drive if they decide to become a part of this important project."

The new facility will include a gymnasium, racketball courts, exercise pool, fitness center, dressing rooms and showers, and offices. Since its inception in 1976, the local YMCA has operated its programs from small office spaces. Participation in programs has grown from about 800 people in 1976 to more than 3,000 this year. In other business at the meeting Tuesday, directors heard a report on programs, approved the financial statement, and discussed insurance coverage for the organization. Weldon Knabe, executive director, reported a tentative budget will be prepared by the executive committee for submission to the United Way. Twenty-one directors attended the meeting at Hereford Country Club.

Britain, Libya locked in 'war of nerves'

Fun Breakfast to be highlighted by 'Deaf Smith Day' salute

Hereford's next Fun Breakfast will be held Thursday morning, beginning at 6:30 in the Community Center, with a special salute to the county's namesake, Erastus "Deaf" Smith, on the program.

In addition to the usual games, prizes and community announcements, Mayor Wes Fisher will be on hand to proclaim "Deaf Smith Day" Thursday—the birthdate of the hero of the battle of San Jacinto. Smith was born April 19, 1787. Doug Manning, emcee for the event, said there will be drawings for Deaf Smith County "Bucks," and a Bull Chip award is to be presented to recognize worthwhile community achievements.

Tickets for the breakfast are $3.75 each and all interested citizens are invited to attend.

Another special event for "Deaf Smith Day" will be the unveiling of a portrait of the county's namesake at 10 a.m. at Northwest Elementary School. The portrait will be presented to the county. Smith's great-great-granddaughter has accepted an invitation to attend this ceremony and the public is also invited.

"Deaf" Smith came to Texas in 1821 from Mississippi and was one of the first to join Texas forces in the fight for independence. In 1836, Gen. Sam Houston put Smith in charge of the Scouts. He was known as the "Texas Spy. His nickname came from the fact that he was partly deaf.

Smith later became a captain of the Texas Rangers, but soon retired and resided in Richmond, where he died Nov. 30, 1837. The only known picture of Smith came from a Republic of Texas $5 bill.

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Libya were locked in a war of nerves today as police sharpshooters besieged the Libyan Embassy after a gunman there killed a policewoman, and Libyan troops surrounded the British Embassy in Tripoli.

The government of Col. Moammar Khadafy, suggesting that British officers were preparing to storm the five-story Libyan mission, declared that "an act of this magnitude will not go unanswered by the Libyan people."

British Home Secretary Leon Brittan told reporters Tuesday night, "It's not a question of people going in — it's a question of people coming out." He said the gunfire earlier in the day, which wounded 11 anti-Khadafy protesters as well as killing the policewoman, was a "barbaric outrage."

Scotland Yard spokesman John Miller said sporadic negotiations were being conducted today by telephone with the Libyans inside the embassy. He also said sandwiches, lemonade and cigarettes were sent into the embassy early this morning.

Tripoli Radio, monitored in London, claimed the shooting started when police and dissidents attacked the embassy Tuesday. Television film of the shooting showed about 70 dissidents chanting "Khadafy — murderer" across the street when a sniper in an embassy window opened fire on the crowd without warning.

New directors take oaths

Hospital board hears good news

BY KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Hospital board members heard mostly good news when they gathered Tuesday at noon for a regular meeting and to swear in members elected April 7.

County Clerk David Ruland administered the oath of office to Frank Zinser, who won his bid for re-election, along with John Gilliland and Margie Ford. The board first canvassed election results and approved the election report as it was given to them.

Zinser, who gave the March operations report in the absence of Deaf Smith

General Hospital Administrator Jim Bullard, said the hospital had an average of 30.1 patients per day last month with 130 surgical procedures performed. He said a slight profit was being made at that figure.

Zinser also announced that ambulance runs were up during March, and he said collections have been "unusually good."

Jerry Smith, outgoing board member, made a report on renovation plans. He said the Hereford State Bank has agreed to loan the hospital district $350,000 with the hospital facility itself to be used as collateral.

Smith said it was discovered that because of the many times the land has been transferred there is no current title history on the property. He explained that it would be necessary to create an abstract, and he hoped to have everything together to satisfy the bank in about 30 days.

The loan would be made at 8.8 percent interest, payable each quarter and to be reviewed each year.

Zinser handed out a report on the Home Health Care service, pointing out that 389 visits were made during March. He said only 250 had been projected in the budget.

It was also announced that color televisions had been installed in all rooms in Station 2, and Zinser asked permission to sell the old black and white sets.

Board members agreed to postpone election of officers until the next meeting so that Bullard could conduct the election. Bullard attended a funeral on Tuesday.

Hart dismisses Missouri, looks ahead to Texas

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer

Sen. Gary Hart already is dismissing what he calls a probable loss to Walter Mondale in Missouri caucuses tonight in which 75 delegates to the Democratic National convention will be selected.

On the eve of this week's only delegate selection, Hart began Tuesday to look ahead to Texas while the Rev. Jesse Jackson accused union leaders of locking out minorities and women.

Ending a three-day vacation from the campaign trail, Mondale planned a pre-caucus appeal to Democrats in Kansas City.

Hart acknowledged in an interview Tuesday that the former vice president "probably" will win the Missouri caucuses but sought to play down their importance.

"I don't think Missouri will be any bigger for him than Arizona was for us," said the Colorado senator, who won 17 delegates to Mondale's 15 in Arizona's caucuses Saturday.

Missouri state party Chairman Pat Lea predicted Mondale will get 50 to 55 national convention delegates from Missouri, with Hart taking 15 to 20 and Jackson receiving eight to 10.

Hart and Jackson, meanwhile, wrap up their tours of the industrial Midwest today (See HART, page 2)

County woman may face charges of animal cruelty

Several counts of cruelty to animals are expected to be filed against a 71-year-old Deaf Smith County woman after Deaf Smith County Sheriff's deputies recovered several malnourished animals from her home southeast of Hereford on Tuesday.

Officers were acting on an anonymous tip from a neighbor, who reported to them on Sunday that the woman had not been seen for several days. The neighbor said the woman was usually seen every day, gathering cans from nearby ditches.

Deputies Loy Smith and Dean Jones went to the house on Sunday but found no one at home. They went again on Monday, noticed a dog shut up in a station wagon outside the house and decided to enter the home.

The men discovered several dogs and cats shut up in various rooms of the house with no food or water. There was also a dog outside in a well house and a Shetland pony penned behind the house with no apparent nourishment.

The department returned on Tuesday with Hereford Police Department Canine Control Officer Butch Trevino and confiscated the animals. The woman was still not at home but there was a note on the front door that said "Gone to plant onions."

Commissioner hopefuls give views in public forum

By O.G. NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher
County Commission hopefuls were on the firing line Tuesday night when the legislative affairs committee of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce sponsored another political forum at the Community Center.

For the most part, the candidates generally agreed on responses they gave to the panel submitting questions about issues in county government. A surprise, however, may have come to light when some candidates said they'd run for the office "even if it paid only $25 a month."

Five Democratic candidates gave statements and responded to questions for the Precinct 1 post, while five Democrats and one Republican candidate solicited support for the Precinct 3 position. Larry Ulibarri, Precinct 1, was the only candidate absent, and it was announced he had a tragedy in his family.

Eddie Derr, superintendent at Walcott, served as moderator for the forum. Each candidate had a 3-minute opening statement; each had opportunity to give 1-minute replies to questions posed by the panel, and each closed with a 1-minute statement.

Panel members were N.D. Kelso, Hereford High teacher; Kim Thogmartin, Hereford Brand reporter; and Chip Formby, KPAN radio.

Reporting on the county commissioner's salary of $16,797 a year plus $800 auto expense, Kelso asked a two-part question: Would you be in favor of increasing or decreasing the salary? Would you still seek the office if it paid only $25 a month?

Nancy Hill said she'd go for a decrease if the salary is much more than other counties of a similar size. Don Cherry said he hadn't considered it, but didn't know of anyone who sought a decrease when running for office. He said he'd still run if the salary was $25 a month. Joining him with a "yes" on that last statement was Bussy Kaul, and Larry Bain.

Bill Brady, incumbent in Precinct 1, said he thought the salary was adequate, "but I don't think we'll need to increase it anytime soon." Ron Crist said there had probably been much thought put into setting the salary and it was probably adequate. "If a study showed it was too much, I'd go with less." Later, in his closing statement, Crist drew applause when he said he wouldn't seek the job for $25 a month.

Lynn Jones, Tex Rhodes, Troy Don Moore and George Zetsche all said the salary seemed adequate. Several candidates said they didn't know how much the salary was until after they decided to seek office.

The candidates were also asked their position on the possible location of a nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County.

Bill Allen, the lone GOP candidate, said he was for progress but the dangers posed by such a repository caused him to be against it "at this point in time." Brady said he helped author the county resolution opposing such a facility. Moore said it was like asking, "How long is a string?" He added he was opposed because of the threat to land and water. "If it should occur, I believe I could effectively deal with government officials as a spokesman for the county."

Zetsche said "we flat cannot afford it here, and all citizens need to get involved in working against it." Kaul said he did much traveling around the country while rodeoing, and he saw plenty of desolate places that would be better for a repository, adding "it just doesn't make sense to put it here." Hill remarked that it was too bad the government picked a site here. "I would certainly want to know why," Jones said he felt DOE had deceived people, and "they haven't convinced me they could do it safely." Cherry said he knew of sites at White Sands—"the government already owns land that they could use for it."

Bain said it appeared the government wanted to destroy the land and underground water here. "I feel as though they want to dump their garbage on us, and I think it should be put on wasteland somewhere."

Another question posed by the panel was: Would you make any changes on the Bull Barn policy on dances?

Rhodes said the barn was built for ag purposes, "but times have changed." He said he approved holding dances there with strict supervision, and he thought the deposit of $1,500 was too high.

Zetsche said he felt the time had come to build a new facility, one where we could hold high school graduation ceremonies and other big events. "Then we could use the Bull Barn for stock shows (See FORUM, page 2)

Canadian police question group

HOUSTON (AP) — Canadian police officers have begun questioning six people arrested in Houston about the robbery and slaying of an armored car guard in Montreal, police say.

But Houston Police Lt. Don McWilliams said Tuesday officers "are operating under the assumption" that three men will not be extradited to Canada until Houston authorities have tried them in an attack on a Brink's guard in Houston.

Two of the men, Doris Gatten and Mario Valiquette, were charged last week with aggravated robbery and attempted capital murder in an attack April 11 on Bernie Saintes, who was delivering bags of money to a north Houston bank.

Yves LaSalle, whom prosecutors contend was driving a getaway vehicle, was charged this week with aggravated robbery.

The three were arrested with three women at a Houston motel Thursday, McWilliams said. He said the women were turned over to federal immigration officials Tuesday and will probably be deported to Canada. They have not been charged with any crimes here.

Ford says miracle needed

HOUSTON (AP) — Former President Gerald Ford says he is certain Walter Mondale will be the Democratic presidential nominee, but added Gary Hart should stay in the race because "miracles do happen."

Ford also predicted Tuesday that President Reagan will win his second term unless the "Republican hierarchy gets overconfident. But I don't see that attitude at all."

Ford spoke to shareholders of Texas Commerce Bancshares, Inc. He is a member of the bank holding company's board of directors and spoke following the firm's annual meeting.

Mondale will win because of the Democratic "power structure" and "big shots," Ford said.

Mondale's strength is that he has "done a superb job of organizing the special interest groups" although the primary election results appear to indicate Hart has the grass-roots support, Ford said.

"Hart can win, but it will take a miracle," Ford said. "There's no doubt in my mind Mondale will get the nomination."

At a news conference afterwards, Ford refused to recommend that the Colorado senator quit the race, even though in his speech he said the entire election process was too long and too costly.

Iron bars aimed at blocking leaps

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Iron bars are going up in a seven-story garage that, in the state with the nation's highest suicide rate, has gained grisly status as a high-publicity, glamour spot for ending one's life.

The high rise has become a symbol of an undercurrent of despair among Nevada residents that is often hidden by the glitter of casinos, some experts say.

At least 10 people have leaped to their deaths since 1972 from the First Interstate Bank garage, a block from the downtown casino strip, and several others have tried. Death on the sidewalk below is nearly always instantaneous.

But now the bank is spending $80,000 to install 4-foot bars between existing railings and ceilings, with a 6-foot fence to ring the highest level. The project is due for completion May 1.

Bank officials were initially reluctant to install barriers, said spokeswoman Joal Redmond.

But their hesitance ended when operators of Crisis Call Center, a suicide prevention hot line, told them the garage had acquired a reputation as a good place for killing oneself — "like the Golden Gate Bridge" in San Francisco, Ms. Redmond said.

Most victims, with an average age in their early 20s, were probably angry at the public, said Dr. Robert Hiller, a psychologist.

150 feared drowned after collision

DHAKA, Bangladesh (AP) — More than 150 passengers were feared drowned after two motor launches collided and one capsized in a river near Dhaka, according to news reports today.

The launch Nahar, carrying more than 200 passengers, broke in the middle after the collision Tuesday night and 30 to 40 passengers reportedly swam to safety, the English-language newspaper New Nation reported.

The newspaper said it was feared that many passengers were trapped inside the launch's hull as it capsized.

Strong winds and darkness delayed rescue efforts, according to the United News of India.

and dances," he added, without worrying about destroying a banquet hall.

Crist said the matter had caused too much controversy and it would probably be in the best interests of the county not to have dances there. He said the deposit was not too much, however, because people got their money back if they didn't tear up the place. Bradley said he had made a motion to the court to reduce the deposit, but it failed for lack of a second.

From remarks in the opening and closing statements, here are some points made by the candidates:

PRECINCT 1
Don Cherry — As an employee, he likes to meet the needs of the people. As commissioner, he would be public servant. Doesn't know yet if any changes need to be made. Urges people to get out and vote.

Bill Bradley — Job is more than caring for county roads. Wants to keep tax rate low as possible; promised to be accessible to constituents. Has experience in working with state officials; was charter member of Sheriff's reserves, charter member of Crime Stoppers; civil defense director for eight years.

Nancy Hill — Wants to work for people of Precinct 1. Would appreciate support and thanks for coming to forum.

Bussy Kaul — Thinks we should concentrate on building ball parks, not jails. Not a politician but native Hereford farm boy. Would try to be wise in use of county funds and stay in close contact with people. Familiar with county roads.

Tex Rhodes — Another native and "farm boy."

Worked for post office and now owner of LTD Motors. Very concerned about future of county and feel need more industry. Need better cooperation between county and city on seeking new industry, which would provide broader tax base. Only one winner, but really no losers in race.

PRECINCT 3
George Zetsche — Came to Hereford in 1962 after serving in Army and graduating from WTSU. Would like to see county build facility large enough for high school graduation ceremony and big banquets. Like to see more Farm-to-Market roads and get trucks away from congested areas. Vows to do job and earn salary.

Troy D. Moore — Another native and HHS and Texas Tech grad. Completed law degree at University of Texas after service in Army. As commodity broker, knows how things affect farming. Experience in farming and knows value of county roads. With litigation "atmosphere" of times, law experience would serve well in this office. Conservative in approach to budget.

Lynn Jones — Came to Hereford in 1947. In real estate and construction since 1972. Economic revitalization is top issue. Tax base eroding due to drop in irrigation, need to utilize industrial group to solicit industry. Not enough has been done by county in this area. Progress through sound leadership in his slogan.

Larry Bain — Been here 35 years and feels Lord has blessed his family with good friends and neighbors. Would serve to best of ability and be available to everyone. Not servant of figures and big business. Believes county can progress and grow by all working together.

Ron Crist — Here since 1948. Thinks building should have been full and citizens show more interest in local government. Can't promise to pave all the roads, but has big investment in county and wants to help keep it on the move. Need to find more industry, but will take effort by all citizens. Experience in business and personnel management.

Bill Allen — Graduate HHS and Texas Tech, certified public accountant. No opponent in Republican primary. Urge vote for best man in precinct on May 5. Says he is conservative with a heart. Has ability, education and desire to serve. Doesn't need job financially, but willing to serve. In "people business" and turn southward, with Hart planning a long day of events across Texas, where Democrats caucus May 5 with 169 delegates at stake.

Jackson was appearing today in St. Louis before the National Conference of Black Mayors before heading to North Carolina, where 75 delegates are at stake in the May 8 primary.

In Cleveland Tuesday night, Hart said the federal government has failed to provide adequate job training.

"I say shame on our country and shame on our government for not building that bridge between the human skills that are available if they were trained and the jobs that need to be done," he said at Cuyahoga Community

Frank Ford speaks at lecture series

Frank Ford of Hereford, organizer and chairman of the board of Arrowhead Mills, spoke Monday during a Free Enterprise Lecture Series at Midland College.

"Independent Business in the 80's" was the topic of his presentation. Arrowhead Mills is one of the nation's leading producers of stone-ground grains and organic foods.

Ford, who has also farmed organically in Deaf Smith County the past 27 years, is a 1955 graduate of Texas A&M University, where he served as Cadet Corps Commander.

He was named outstanding graduate of the School of Agriculture and later served as a captain in the U.S. Army commanding a nuclear-armed rocket battery.

Ford is the author of four books which together have sold more than one million copies.

Ford spoke at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Allison Fine Arts Building on the Midland College campus.

On the one hand must open up trade unions and train our youth and on the other hand free up money from the Congress that these youth might have the mission of rebuilding America and ending the slums."

Jackson is hoping to turn out a large black vote in two major urban areas, Kansas City and St. Louis.

After today's caucuses, the next delegate-selection contest is in Vermont, where Democrats caucus Tuesday. Utah follows the next day, and on May 1 Democrats in Tennessee and the District of Columbia choose delegates.

Mondale enjoys a comfortable lead in delegates, with 1,080.8 to Hart's 606 and Jackson's 159.2.

Newspaper editorials today demanded tough action against the Libyans after four years of internecine Libyan violence in Britain in which four people have been killed and 40 wounded. A dozen Libyans have been expelled in recent years. This time, the conservative Daily Mail declared, "Khadafi's murderers must not get away with it ... The People's Murder Bureau must be closed down."

Hance has most cash on hand

AUSTIN (AP) — Two of the three key Democratic aspirants for the U.S. Senate race have loaned their campaigns $500,000 apiece, according to financial reports filed this week with the Federal Elections Commission.

With the personal loans, U.S. Rep. Kent Hance had $1,110,000 on hand as of March 31 and former congressman Bob Krueger, who is considered the frontrunner in the race, had a balance of $429,869. The third candidate, state Sen. Lloyd Doggett, reported $540,483 cash on hand.

In other developments, supporters of Democratic presidential candidate Gary Hart prepared for his campaign swing into Texas today and Thursday.

Hart was scheduled to arrive in Amarillo for a noon luncheon, drop down to Lubbock for a rally at 2:15 p.m., fly to Wichita Falls for a private reception and address a town hall meeting, and attend a fund raiser in Austin at 9 p.m.

Ken Vest, press secretary to Hance, said Tuesday that Hance loaned himself $500,000 to make sure funds were available for an expensive advertising campaign planned before the May 5 primary election.

James Carvell, campaign manager for Doggett, said the loan Krueger made to his own campaign shows that — with less cash on hand than the loan amount — the campaign is in trouble.

The charge was denied Tuesday by Alan Schoenbaum, Krueger's campaign manager, who said the money has been spent on "building the best volunteer organization in the state."

The reports showed that Krueger's campaign received more contributions than either of the top two challengers, and that Krueger was the biggest spender during the reporting period, Jan. 1 to March 31.

Krueger received contributions totaling $491,317 during the reporting period. The expenditures during that period totaled $801,003.

Hance received contributions of $431,135, not counting the loan, and spent $634,197.

Doggett's report showed contributions totaling $389,074 and expenditures of $655,883 for the three months.

White says

Texans willing to pay higher taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans seem willing to pay higher sales and gasoline taxes to fund a revamped public school system, according to Gov. Mark White.

The governor, who said he will announce his tax package proposal within 10 days, also said Tuesday that "luxury taxes" might have to go up.

White is expected to call a May or June special session of the Legislature to deal with education. The Select Committee on Public Education meets Thursday in Dallas to approve its final recommendations for reform.

The governor told reporters that other officials' predictions of a $1.6 billion price tag for the reforms is "approximately" right. Raising the five cent a gallon gasoline tax and the 4 percent state sales tax "are the two that seem to have the greatest support at this time," he said.

"There's some reason to believe, there will be some luxury taxes involved," White added, referring to the so-called "sin taxes" on alcohol and cigarettes. "Hopefully, there won't be any need for much more after that."

Comptroller Bob Bullock has said the reform package, including teacher pay raises, could cost up to $19 billion. But White on Tuesday dismissed that figure as the price of a system of "Cadillacs with the fins on them."

White said his ambitions are more modest.

"We're looking at what we consider the essentials in this education program. We're unable to pay everything we want," he said.

The governor said he will continue to push for a 24 percent teacher pay raise over two years.

He also backs the Select Committee's recommendation to abolish the 27-member elected State Board of Education and replace it with gubernatorial appointees.

Committee Chairman H. Ross Perot said all other reforms would be worthless if administered by an elected board. White agrees an appointed board would help, but he said Perot should not forfeit the rest of the program if the elected board survives.

Police help lost tot, probe thefts

Hereford police answered several calls but made no arrests on Tuesday.

They helped a four-year-old child find his relatives after a local store manager reported him lost. The boy had wandered away from the babysitter's house, looking for his mother.

Officers investigated two furniture thefts, one of lawn chairs from a front porch which were valued at less than $20 and another of cartons of furniture from a storage building. The latter report came from a trucking company in South Carolina and no value has yet been placed on the items.

Hereford Senior Citizens reported that a 4 by 8-foot hand-painted sign had been taken from the site of the new center. The sign was valued at $275.

A man was asked to keep his dog under control after a neighbor complained that the animal attacked her two-month old puppy. Other neighbors said the large dog barked too often.

A report of criminal mischief turned out to be paint scratched on a 1984 model automobile, the second such complaint this month.

There were three domestic disturbances investigated, and the mother of a 17-year-old Hereford High School Junior filed a missing persons report after her daughter apparently left school early and failed to return home.

And police looked for a prowler after a local woman caught a man looking at her through the bathroom window. Two minor accidents were worked; no injuries resulted.

Earning Badges

The Rose Bud Bluebirds at Tierra Blanca Elementary School were busy earning their Luv Badge this week by planting a rose bush and other flowers at the Campfire Lodge here.

Elaine Calkins, the group leader for the first graders said the activity was in conjunction with clean-up and fix-up week.

Abundant Life

NONE OF OUR BUSINESS

By Bob Wear
SOME PEOPLE seem to think that it is their responsibility to correct all other people; to keep others in line; to chastise others; to straighten them out; to inform them, etc.

Acting from one or the other of these assumed positions, these folk just make a nuisance of themselves; and are constantly alienating other people; not accomplishing anything worthwhile.

CONTINUING IN this assumed role, these persons become increasingly obnoxious; more unhappy with themselves and with others; and their general view of life becomes more difficult for them to handle. They usually develop a growing feeling of hurt, because they are not appreciated.

WE MUST NOT be 'busybodies' in other people's matters, and this covers a broad area of forbidden talk and action. In other words, many things that go on in the human scene are "none of our business." Of course, we know what the score is; but we keep remembering that we are not the "umpire."

IN DEALING with the realities involved, we must work to develop the "delicate skill" known as "finesse." We must determine our area of personal responsibility, and keep ourselves within this area in our associations with others. Of course, within our own thought structure, in the secret place of our lives, we have the right and the obligation to approve and disapprove; but it is not wise for us to try to impose all of these conclusions upon others.

IF IT IS indicated that our help or advice is desired, we must be very, very cautious; because this may be a trap. If we do respond let it be with the greatest degree of wisdom and caution.

Ann Landers

BB guns not harmless

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That grandmother in Texas has every right to be upset about her six-year-old grandson receiving an air rifle for his birthday. You were, however, in error when you said, "No one ever died because of a BB gun."

A few years ago, a nine-year-old boy in California received a "harmless" BB gun for his birthday. A few days later he took it when he went hunting with his 11-year-old brother. He accidentally shot his brother in the chest.

Twelve hours later the boy was dead. The BB penetrated an artery in his chest and he bled to death internally.

I am an emergency room nurse who was working the night they brought the child in. We tried for three hours to resuscitate him but he didn't make it. That incident will stay with me for the rest of my life.—A Memo To Macho Parents

DEAR MEMO: Your letter really got to me. Here's another:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please correct a statement that appeared recently in your column. You said no one has ever died from being shot by a BB gun. Wrong.

On Dec. 24, 1983, in Houston, Tex., a 23-year-old mother was in the living room unwrapping Christmas gifts with her family and friends. A shot from a BB gun came through the window and hit her in the temple.

The BB lodged in a major artery. Within six hours she was gone. Her 20-month-old son is now motherless.

Strange how Americans love their guns, even though they have deprived us of some wonderful public figures and nearly took our president's life just three years ago.—Mrs. H.

DEAR MRS. H: Sad but true.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was touched by the column with the heading, "Please—a word of compassion for the person who pushes the wheelchair."

I, too, am married to a disabled man. He is not in a wheelchair, but there are many things he needs to have done for him. On the other hand, he could do a great many things for himself that he insists I do.

My husband has made a career out of being handicapped. Can you believe he hasn't had a shower or a bath in five years? I have begged, argued and fought with him to have some pride, but to no avail. Once he said to me, "If I look too well people won't feel sorry for me."

I now realize he was always a weak, dependent, spoiled, demanding person. Now that he is disabled, he isn't any different.

Thank you for printing that letter, Ann. It made me feel less alone. I do believe this is one of the most valuable aspects of your column. Misery does love company.—Loyal Fan In New York

DEAR N.Y.: I'll bet I received half a ton of mail from people who are caring for disabled relatives. Even though a great many handicapped people appreciate the loving care, those who do the "caring" deserve a special place at God's right hand.

What kind of wedding goes with today's new life styles? Does anything go? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" tells what's right for today's weddings. For a copy, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (37 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

DETECTION

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) -- It is now possible to detect and measure minute contaminants in sealed, sterile medicine vials without opening the containers.

Researchers at the University of Rochester and at Schering-Plough Corp. say they used farfield holography to produce three-dimensional images of all particles within containers of injectable solutions. They then measured specific containers for use as standards to evaluate automatic inspection systems now in use.

The new technique, they say, offers a more accurate way to detect minute contaminants which - depending on their size and shape - can lead to clot formation, inflammation of blood vessels, and even brain damage.

Seven Rebel errors

Hereford pounds Tascosa, 11-5

The Hereford boys varsity baseball team exploded its way to an 11-5 win over Tascosa High in Amarillo Tuesday to keep its hopes of landing a playoff spot alive.

But it was the rather shabby fielding on the part of the Rebels which led to the lopsided victory. THS committed seven errors which amounted to eight unearned runs by the Herd.

Hereford got a good pitching performance from Sammy Suarez who shutout the Rebels through the first five innings. Suarez, 3-0, gave way to Robert Martinez in the sixth.

Hereford opened the scoring in the first inning with the big blow being an RBI triple by centerfielder Mickey Stengel who had two hits on the day.

Other big sticks included Mike Scott who had three hits and scored three runs. Chet Bunch also scored three runs and had two hits and catcher Jeff Streun added three hits and an RBI.

The win lifts HHS' District 3-5A record to 7-5. Tascosa fell to 3-8.

Second-place Plainview stayed three games up on the Herd with a 20-8 trouncing of Lubbock High. Third-place Coronado upped its district record to 7-4 as it nipped Caprock, 6-5.

Hereford remains in fourth place in the race and has four more games to play.

Friday the Whitefaces could gain a game closer to third place when it hosts Coronado.

In another game Tuesday Amarillo High beat Palo Duro, 6-5. Lubbock Monterey, the district leader at 11-0, was idle.

Tanana leads Texas past Boston with 8-4 win in Fenway Park

BOSTON (AP) — As a young flamethrower in the mid 1970s, he was a strikeout king who challenged hitters all the way.

However, Frank Tanana never had much luck in Boston's little Fenway Park, first with the California Angels, then a year with the Red Sox and finally with the Texas Rangers.

Now, in his 11th American League campaign, Tanana is more of a pitcher than a thrower. At 30, he's counting on savvy rather than brawn.

And, when he's able to do what he wants on the mound, Tanana still can be a winner — even in Fenway.

Tanana finally reached the .500 career mark pitching against the Red Sox in Boston Tuesday night as the Rangers buried the staggering Red Sox 8-4.

and far between, but I really haven't pitched much in this ball park," Tanana said.

Actually his victories in Boston arrive about every presidential election year.

His only other triumph on a visit to Boston was in a 20-2 romp by the California Angels on June 20, 1980.

The next year he was 1-3 in Fenway while pitching for the Red Sox. Then, after signing with Texas as a free agent, he didn't pitch in Boston in 1982 or '83.

"Anything can happen in this ball park, like in a pinball game," Tanana said.

"However, it doesn't make any difference where I pitch. I have to change speeds and try to get ahead of the hitters in any ball park.

"I was pitching with just three days' rest, so after we got ahead 8-2 I thought it best if I got out of there. It's nice to win one."

Tanana struck out five and walked just two as he evened his season record 1-1 and dealt the Red Sox a fifth consecutive defeat.

"Frank did a good job," Texas Manager Doug Rader said. "He changed speeds well, bailed himself out. He has to do three things in order to win: keep the ball down, stay ahead of the hitters and change speeds."

"I'm pretty much the same pitcher as I was here three years ago, but I've added a fork ball and I've started making them hit my pitch," Tanana said. "The only difference in pitching here is that you can't challenge people the way you can in other ballparks."

"He's not going to overpower anybody, but he knows how to pitch," Boston Manager Ralph Houk said. "We hit balls and got nothing. They got a lot of bloop hits and we didn't do much for (loser Dennis) Eckersley."

The Red Sox put Eckersley, 0-2, in the hole at the outset, handing Texas a run on errors by second baseman Remy and first baseman Mike Easler and an infield out.

"We've got problems," said Eckersley. "If things didn't go bad, they wouldn't go at all. It's going to be a long year if we don't get going."

Peter O'Brien lined his second homer and had two singles and Larry Parrish drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single in leading the Rangers' 12-hit attack.

The two teams meet again tonight.

NBA playoff game

Dallas shows poise

DALLAS (AP)—It was the inexperienced Dallas Mavericks who showed National Basketball Association playoff poise in their debut Tuesday night against the former world champion Seattle SuperSonics.

"If I had wanted to write a script, I couldn't have written it any better," said Dallas Coach Dick Motta. "Rolando Blackman made a great rebound and followed it with a game winner. We didn't panic."

Rebounding his own missed shot, Blackman hit a soft jumper over Seattle's Jack Sikma to give the Mavs' an 88-86 victory in their first NBA playoff game since winning a franchise in 1980.

Motta said it was important for Dallas to get a quick win in the playoffs.

"I'm glad we got this monkey off our back," Motta said. "I'd hate to lose a game like this if I'm Seattle, and I'm awfully glad to win it since I'm Dallas."

Blackman said the play Dallas planned for the final shot broke down.

"I got the ball and put up a shot, but I was off balance. I knew it wasn't going to go. I just tried to get the ball and take it back up as quick as I could before the three Seattle guys got there. It was a broken play. There were no pads or pencils on a play like that," he said.

Dallas forward Mark Aguirre, who had 20 points before he fouled out late in the game, said the sellout crowd of 17,007 helped the Mavs come from 16 points behind.

"The atmosphere was unbelievable," said Aguirre. "The crowd was wild."

Dallas won although Seattle's Gus Williams had 37 points, including an NBA record 23 in the first quarter.

"I can't remember a better game for me as an individual but I'd rather score just two points and have us win," he said.

Williams hit his first eight shots and 17 of 23 for the night.

"I don't think we stopped Williams," Motta said. "He was just tired of scoring."

Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens said, "We're going to go over our mistakes. We'll be very ready Thursday night. Veterans will bounce back, though. They know what they didn't do."

The Sonics scored only 14 points in the final period.

The best-of-five series resumes at Reunion Arena at 7:30 p.m. CST on Thursday.

Seattle jumped to a 15-2 lead and owned a 51-43 halftime lead.

"In the 30 years I've been coaching I can't remember a team getting off to a faster start than Seattle did," Motta said. "I told our team to have patience and stay in their halfcourt game."

Dallas forward Jay Vincent said the excited home crowd was definitely a factor in the victory.

"The crowd wasn't just our sixth man. They were 7.8, and 9," Vincent said.

"We needed this one. We needed to win the first game. We got 16 points down but didn't lose our composure and won it at the end."

Blackman had 19 points and Vincent added 18.

Sikma scored 14 points for Seattle, which was out-rebounded by Dallas 47-36.

"We didn't crack," Motta said. "We didn't play like a green team. I was afraid we would be uptight. We were but it didn't last long. What a game."

Aguirre added, "We have confidence now. You never know what can happen. It's a brand new season."

Farm

Between agriculture, towns

Partnership goal suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration says there should be a "partnership for progress" between agriculture and small towns — the basic fabric of rural America.

As a move toward that goal, Agriculture Secretary John R. Block announced Monday specific steps to be taken as part of the administration's 1984 blueprint for rural development.

But he added that no new federal spending program is in the works to help bail out rural America. Existing programs will be used.

"It's necessary to be up front about it, we're not talking about a lot of new money," Block said. "We're only talking about doing a better job and using what we already have and working together more effectively and more successfully."

The policy was outlined in a report to Congress as required each year by the Rural Development Act of 1980. Block disclosed the report at a meeting of the Newspaper Farm Editors of America.

"We must strengthen the partnership between the 5.6 million farm families and their 54 million non-farm neighbors," Block said. "Today, the average farm family receives two-thirds of its annual earnings from off-the-farm sources."

Among its proposals, the report urged:

—Developments of farm-related and other rural enterprises.

—Better use of Farmers Home Administration loans to stabilize and improve farm income.

—Farm policies of USDA be decided after consideration of their effect on the non-farm economy.

—Other federal departments consider the rural impact of all their spending and program decisions.

—All federal rural development activities to be reported to USDA on a regular basis.

Block said other federal departments plan to designate staff representatives to handle rural affairs. Those will report activities to the Agriculture Department.

"We're trying to pull this together to provide some continuity of coordination and cooperation," Block told the farm editors. However, he said that in explaining the policy he had to make it clear that no new federal money can be expected.

"With the government setting we live in today, I don't think any of us can go out and say ... we're going to deliver you this large amount of new resources to buy prosperity in your community," Block said.

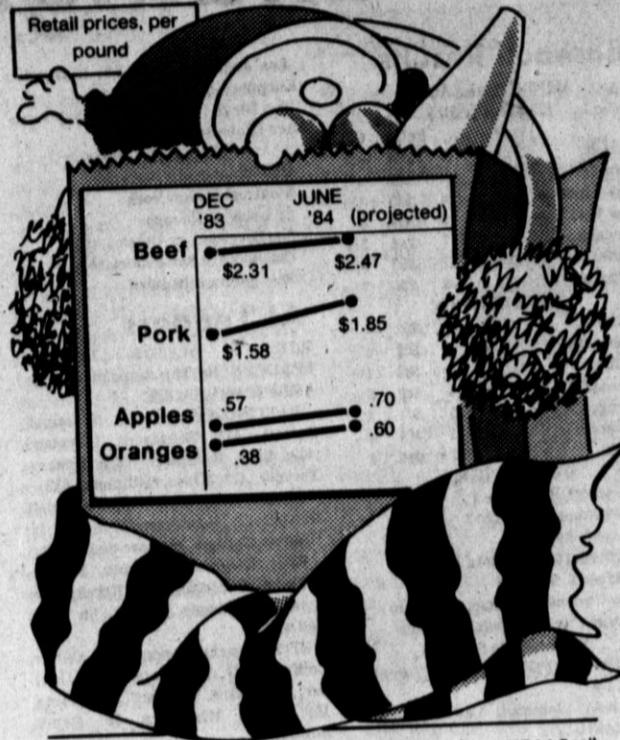

Among the report's proposals is a plan to recruit retired government employees as volunteers to help rural communities develop themselves.

"This volunteer effort, to be called the Public Administrators' Rural Technical Assistance — PARTA — program, will solicit experts in a variety of fields from the nearly 1.4 million retired federal employees," the report said.

"Matching PARTA volunteers with rural governments may be done by local, regional or state organizations, including substate districts, councils of governments, food and agriculture councils, state departments of community affairs, state municipal associations, state associations of counties, and colleges and universities."

COLD SNAP, HOT PRICES

Winter damage will hike food costs

(Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture) NEA/Cecil

The winter's record cold spell may be over, but consumers will feel it for months in the form of higher food prices. The freeze wiped out crops, led to hay shortages and increased the cost of feeding livestock.

Plans completed for roundtable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John R. Block has completed plans for a two-day roundtable on conservation issues next week in Missouri.

The meeting will be held April 19-20 on the farm of Peter C. Myers, chief of the Soil Conservation Service, an agency of the Agriculture Department. Myers' farm is near Matthews, Mo.

Block said Wednesday that those invited represent national farm organizations, crop and livestock groups, professional agricultural societies, environmental and wildlife organizations, forestry and conservation groups, and state conservation and agricultural agencies.

Most of the representatives of those invited groups are also active farmers and ranchers, he said.

"I will be seeking their help in developing a strong resource conservation component for the 1985 farm bill — one that will further improve the government's responsiveness to the needs of agriculture and our nation's resource base," Block said.

Block announced plans last Dec. 8 to hold a conservation meeting this spring on Myers' farm and that another conference would be held next fall in Nashville, Tenn., on conservation tillage. No details of the fall meeting have been announced.

COMPUTERS AND OIL
DALLAS (AP) — There's an important role for computers to play in the oil industry, according to W.H. Bricker.

Bricker, chairman of Diamond Shamrock, said at a computer technology conference here recently that in the current competitive gasoline market cutting costs is critical. Bricker says the computer is one of the major tools which will help accomplish this goal.

He says the equipment can be used to help decrease the number of dry holes as well as to reduce the risk of costly exploration.

For wheat program

Sign-up period extended

A sign-up period for the 1984 wheat program was reopened Monday and will continue through May 6, it was announced by John Fuston, ASCS executive director.

During this period, explained Fuston, producers will be able to (1) sign up for or withdraw from the Wheat Acreage Reduction Program (ARP) or the Payment-in-Kind (PIK) program, or both; (2) change the level of participation in PIK.

Deaf Smith County farmers who are already signed up in either of these programs and do not want to make any changes will not be required to do anything further.

President Reagan signed a bill last week that made changes in the program and reopened it for producers who want to make changes.

The previously required 30 percent unpaid wheat acreage reduction has been replaced with a paid diversion on 10 percent of the wheat base and a 20 percent unpaid required wheat acreage reduction. The diversion payment rate on the 10 percent is $2.70 per bushel times the established yield.

The PIK rate of payment has been increased from 75 percent to 85 percent of the farm yield. The target price for wheat has been changed from $4.45 per bushel to $4.38. Haying and grazing of wheat on ACR (set aside) acres has been approved. The wheat must be hayed or grazed out before reaching the soft-dough stage, and must be substantially destroyed by May 15, although grazing can continue after that date.

The final date to certify wheat and other small grain crops will be May 15. Fuston said producers may also want to certify their set aside acres for wheat at the same time. If the ACR acres required for wheat are certified by May 15, the ASCS will be able to make the diversion payments soon after that date.

Memorial Award given to Swegle

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Alan Swegle of the Cedar Rapids (Iowa) Gazette is this year's recipient of the J.S. Russell Memorial Award, the highest honor bestowed on a member by the Newspaper Farm Editors of America.

The Russell award, in memory of the association's first president, is given to a member for "outstanding achievements in service to agriculture and the Newspaper Farm Editors of America."

Ward Sinclair of The Washington Post was named Glenn Cunningham Farm Editor of the year for a three-part series, "A Chemical Harvest."

The awards were presented at the association's 31st annual meeting Monday night at the National Press Club.

Winners in specific categories included: Don Muhm, The Des Moines Register, farm news; Ward Sinclair, farm column; Ken Smith, AGRI-VIEW, Madison, Wis., farm feature; and Ward Sinclair, farm series.

William S. Kilby of the Jacksonville (Ill.) Journal-Courier was elected president of the association, succeeding Mildred M. Bunting of the Lancaster (Pa.) Livestock Reporter.

Other officers include: Ann M. Toner of the Kansas City Star, vice president; and Audrey Mackiewicz, The Sandusky (Ohio) Register, executive secretary-treasurer.

Regional vice presidents named were:

Northeast — Sonja Hillgren, United Press International.

Midwest — Ernest A. Wilkinson, Indianapolis (Ind.) Star.

West — Robert Cox, Bakersfield Californian.

Southwest — H. Thayne Cozart, Farm Talk, Parsons, Kan.

Southeast — Galen Moses, The Gainesville (Fla.) Sun.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cotton and rice farmers are about on schedule with planting the 1984 crop, according to the Agriculture Department.

A survey released Monday showed that 18 percent of the expected cotton acreage was planted by April 15, well ahead of the 12 percent progress of a year ago. On the average, the report said, cotton planting is 18 percent completed by mid-April.

Rice seeding was reported 21 percent completed, just two percentage points behind normal for April 15 but well ahead of the 13 percent pace of a year ago.

London Bridge was transported across the Atlantic in 1971 and opened as a tourist attraction at Lake Havasu, Ariz. The original bridge over the Thames was opened in 1831.

Groundwater, Ogallala Aquifer to be examined

LUBBOCK — Advances in groundwater research in general and in studies of the Ogallala Aquifer in particular will be examined June 5-6 in the Ogallala Symposium II in Lubbock

Memorial Civic Center. The symposium will bring researchers from throughout the nation up to date on the scientific advances in groundwater and Ogallala research since 1970 when the first Ogallala Symposium was held at Texas Tech University. Symposium Chairman Robert M. Sweazy, director of Texas Tech's Water Resources Center (WRC), said the symposium will focus on the Ogallala Aquifer, a vast underground water formation underlying portions of eight states in the nation's breadbasket, but will have applications for underground water supplies from California to New York.

conservation, modeling, economic factors, and aquifer development and decline.

More than 250 participated in the first Ogallala Symposium and the printed proceedings were in great demand for years after the event. A proceedings also will be published for the second symposium.

Speakers representing the U.S. Department of Interior; U.S. Department of Agriculture; Texas Department of Water Resources; New Mexico Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources; universities in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Nebraska; and private engineering and consulting firms will participate.

The symposium is open to the public, though many of the papers will be technical rather than general. To register, individuals should contact the WRC, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409, (806) 742-3597 or the High Plains Underwater Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405, (806) 762-0181.

The symposium is jointly sponsored by Texas Tech through the WRC and the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies, by the High Plains Underwater Conservation District No. 1, the Panhandle Underwater Conservation District, Oklahoma State University's Division of Agriculture, the United States Geological Survey and several other cooperating agencies and universities.

Says economist

Purchasing cycle overdue

COLLEGE STATION — Agricultural equipment dealers are banking on farmers to do a little more buying in 1984.

"There is a pent-up demand in the market, and the purchasing cycle for farm equipment is overdue," says Dr. Forrest Stegelin, agribusiness economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Economists are predicting improvement in unit sales in all categories of farm machinery and equipment — with a 10 percent increase expected for combines, corn-Stegelin notes.

An increase in cash farm income and prices received by farmers also should enhance demand for new equipment, he adds.

Although sales of tractors and implements are expected to rise, several factors could dampen dealer prospect for sales of new items, notes Stegelin.

For instance, there is an abundance of low-hour, good condition, used farm equipment available for low prices at farm auctions and dealer lots. Also, while farm commodity prices are favorable now, increased crop production could lower prices during the second half of the year.

Finally, although loanable funds are available and interest rates for operating capital are not expected to increase appreciably, agricultural lenders are expected to be more selective than in the past, says the economist.

Stegelin advises farmers to shop wisely for machinery absolutely necessary for crop production so as to continue their debt payoff which made some progress last year.

TAX EXEMPTIONS — AVAILABLE THROUGH DEAF SMITH CO. APPRAISAL DIST.

Exemptions can reduce the tax bill to qualified persons

Property owners in Texas are not required to pay property taxes on their household goods, personal effects and family supplies for home or farm use. Taxpayers also enjoy several kinds of exemptions and other forms of tax relief. The first of these is the residence homestead exemption. A "residence homestead" is defined as a structure, together with the land and improvements, used for residential purposes. In other words, a residence homestead is basically a home and a yard. A mobile home—even a mobile home located on leased land—can qualify as a residence homestead. The amount of land used for residential purposes may not exceed 20 acres. The chief appraiser will determine how much land actually qualifies.

If you owned your home and used it as your principal residence on January 1 of the appropriate tax year, you may claim it as your residence homestead and receive a tax exemption on it for purposes of school taxes. You may also be entitled to certain optional exemptions if offered by the jurisdictions which tax your property.

You will still qualify for the homestead exemption even if a portion of your residence is used for other purposes—for example, if it is used in your business.

Moreover, you will not lose your exemption if you temporarily move away, provided you intend to return and do not claim a residence homestead elsewhere. For instance, if you enter a nursing home and rent your home, you will still qualify for the homestead exemption if you intend to return and if you do not claim a homestead in another jurisdiction.

Applications must be filed on official forms available from the appraisal district, and property owners should note that it is a criminal offense to file a false application.

General homestead exemption

School homestead exemption: If you qualify for a residence homestead, you will be entitled to a $5,000 exemption off the market value of the homestead for school tax purposes. In other words, if your homestead has a market value of $60,000, the exemption will reduce the taxable value to $55,000. This taxable, or assessed, value is the figure to which the tax rate is applied to determine the amount of your tax liability.

If the market value of your home is $4,000, your exemption will be $4,000. The amount of an exemption which you receive cannot exceed the market value of your homestead.

The school homestead exemption is available to the general public as long as valid applications are filed with the appraisal district office before the end of the rendition period (see Tax Calendar).

County homestead exemption: If you qualify for a residence homestead, you may also be entitled to a $3,000 exemption from the assessed value of your home from county taxes. However, this exemption can be granted only from the portion of the county tax rate levied for farm-to-market roads or flood control. Therefore, if your county does not tax for this purpose, you will not be entitled to this exemption. Applications should be filed with your appraisal district office.

Are you 65 or older?

If you are 65 years of age or older on January 1 of the tax year, you are entitled to an additional $10,000 exemption off the market value of your residence homestead. This exemption applies to school taxes only and you should apply for the exemption before the end of the rendition period.

You may not receive both a $10,000 over-65 exemption off the market value of your homestead and $10,000 disability exemption (discussed later). If you are qualified for both, you must choose one or the other.

Tax ceiling imposed: If you have applied and qualified for the over-65 homestead exemption, your school district tax bill cannot increase as long as the property qualifies for the exemption. While your property may increase in value through the years, the taxes which you owe in any year cannot be greater than the amount you owed in 1979 or in the first year you qualified for this exemption, whichever is later. (NOTE: Should you make an addition to your property after qualifying for a school tax ceiling, the chief appraiser must calculate a new higher ceiling based on the value added by the improvements, other than normal maintenance.)

If you would have qualified for the over-65 homestead exemption in 1979, but failed to apply, you have an opportunity to have your tax ceiling adjusted to the amount it would have been if you had applied for the exemption in 1979. You must make application with the appraisal district office before April 1, 1982, in order to receive this adjustment. The chief appraiser will publish a notice of the provisions of the exemption in a newspaper once a week for three weeks prior to the deadline.

Are you disabled?

If you are disabled and qualify for the residence homestead exemption, you are entitled to receive an additional exemption of $10,000 off the market value of your residence homestead. This exemption applies to school taxes only.

"Disabled" for purposes of this exemption means either that, because of physical or mental disability, you are unable to engage in any substantial gainful work; or that you are 55 years of age or older and blind and by reason of the blindness are unable to engage in your previous work.

If you are receiving disability benefits under the Federal Old Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance Program administered by the Social Security Administration, you will qualify as long as you apply on time.

If you are receiving disability benefits under any other program, you will not automatically qualify. You must still meet the definition of disability stated above and apply before the end of the rendition period.

Again, you may not receive both a $10,000 over-65 exemption off the market value of your homestead for school tax purposes and a $10,000 disability exemption. You must choose one or the other.

Are you a disabled veteran or qualifying survivor?

Texas law also provides for a disabled veterans' or survivors' exemption. Certain disabled veterans or their survivors may be entitled to a partial exemption from property taxes. This exemption can be applied to any property—not just a homestead—that is owned on January 1.

Depending on the percentage of your disability, you may be entitled to an exemption ranging from $1,500 to $3,000 off the property's assessed value. In order to qualify, you must be a Texas resident and file an application annually at the appraisal district office.

You must designate only one property to receive this exemption, regardless of the number of jurisdictions in which you apply, in a particular words, if you own more than one taxable property in a particular jurisdiction, you must select the one property to which the exemption will apply.

You are required to present documents stating the percentage of a service-connected disability from either the Veterans' Administration or a branch of the armed services. Proof of marriage, death or age may also be required.

Who qualifies as a farmer or rancher?

In addition to the exemptions described above, qualified farmers and ranchers or timber producers may enjoy another form of tax relief.

Two amendments to the Texas Constitution permit agricultural and open-space land to be taxed generally at its productivity value instead of market value. These provisions are effective only if applications are filed with the appraisal district office in a timely manner.

Rural acreage in many areas of Texas is increasingly in demand for housing subdivisions, shopping centers, country homesites and industrial development. For example, some ranch lands and wooded pastures in desirable locations increasingly are becoming worth far more in market value than their value for producing crops or cattle.

Therefore, recognizing that higher property taxes might exceed income from the land, Texas voters approved two changes to the State Constitution permitting agricultural valuation and open-space land valuation under certain conditions.

Article 8, Section 1-d

This provision in the Texas Constitution permits agricultural-use valuation of land provided certain qualifications are met. These include:

- The land must be owned by a natural person—partnerships, corporations or organizations may not qualify;
- The land must have been in agricultural use for three years prior to claiming this kind of valuation;
- The owner must apply for this designation each year and file a sworn statement about use of the land; and
- The agricultural business must be the land owner's primary occupation and source of income.

Applications for appraisal under this provision must be filed annually with the chief appraiser during the rendition period. For good cause, the chief appraiser may extend the deadline for not more than 60 days.

If you miss the application deadline, as noted earlier, you may file a late application anytime before the appraisal review board approves the appraisal records. In such a case, because of the late filing, you are liable for a penalty of 10 percent of the taxes saved that year by receiving the productivity valuation.

Article 8, Section 1-d-1

This provision in the Texas Constitution allows open-space valuation of land. "Open-space land" includes agricultural land and timber land. Qualifications for designation under this law are made less strict. Most farmers or ranchers who are unable to qualify for agricultural-use valuation will qualify for open-space land valuation.

Under this provision, the following qualifications must be met:

- For agricultural land, the land must be currently devoted principally to agricultural use to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area.
- For timber land, that land must be used with the intent to produce income and be currently and actively devoted principally to the production of timber or forest products to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area.
- For both, the land must have been in agricultural or timber use for at least five of the last seven years.

Special exemptions for farmers

Farm products, including livestock and poultry, still in the hands of the producer are exempt from property taxation and no application for exemption is required.

Implementations of farming or ranching are exempt from taxation if owned by an individual who uses them in the production of farm or ranch products. The property must be individually owned; corporate or partnership ownership will not qualify. This exemption must be applied for annually.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Snacking has become a part of the diet and people who are nutritionally aware know that snacking provides a viable way to obtain a well-balanced diet, according to Dr. Karen Morgan.

Dr. Morgan, an associate professor of nutrition at the University of Missouri, says people need to reconsider what they think about snacks.

Foods can no longer be classified as snack foods and meal foods, she says. The key is that all foods, whether eaten at meals or between meals, can contribute to a healthful diet provided individuals eat a variety of them and eat them in the right proportions.

Black speaks to association

Herschel Black was introduced as a guest when the Hall of Fame Rodeo Association met Thursday evening at K-Bob's.

He showed the group jackets and t-shirts, and the association voted to order caps, t-shirts and jackets with the rodeo association's logo to sell to members. The items will also be for sale to the public.

During the business meeting, conducted by President Robert Barrett, advertisements and promotions for the upcoming rodeo were discussed.

Plans were announced concerning the 35-year reunion of the Girls Rodeo Association, to be held at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame on Aug. 11. Money-raising projects to cover expenses of the rodeo and reunion were discussed.

The association voted to enter the chili cook-off sponsored by the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Pam Lindley was selected to handle the programs to be given away at each performance of the upcoming rodeo. Any questions about the programs may be addressed to Ms. Lindley at her home.

Anyone interested in helping with this year's rodeo is asked to contact a member of the Hall of Fame Rodeo Association. Assistance with the queen contest, 35-year reunion, parade entry, fund-raising projects and other events would be greatly appreciated. Previous rodeo experience is not necessary.

The Roman naturalist Pliny the Elder believed earthquakes were protests from Mother Earth against wicked miners who stole her gold and silver.

Until the 15th century, it was customary to eat on a thick slice of stale bread, called a "trencher," that soaked up the juice. There were no dinner plates.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Hearing aid caution

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 72 and recently consulted an otolaryngologist for a hearing loss. Within 10 minutes after flushing my right ear my hearing was miraculously restored. Then after a complete examination an audiologist said there was no need for me to be fitted with a hearing aid.

Many people my age have hearing loss problems. It seems to be a very touchy subject. Many of them seem resigned to their world of silence. Unfortunately, some unscrupulous individuals push hearing aids and frighten these people.

Do you have a health letter for people with this problem? Everything I've seen always starts off with mention of a hearing aid.

DEAR READER — You're very observant. Many people don't want and won't use a hearing aid. If they really need one, it's unfortunate because the new inconspicuous aids can make a great deal of difference. But unless a person really needs a hearing aid, it's completely unnecessary.

The best advice I can give people with a hearing problem is to see an ear, nose and throat specialist, as you've done. In your case your ear canal may have been obstructed with wax; the removal of this wax restored your hearing.

Special services set this week

Special services are scheduled this week at St. Anthony's Catholic Church beginning Thursday evening.

Holy Thursday is the Feast of the Institution of the Eucharist. Mass of the Lord's Supper will commence at 7:30 p.m., after which there will be exposition of the Blessed Sacrament until midnight. Holy Thursday solemnly inaugurates "the tridium during which the Lord died, was buried and rose again" (St. Augustine).

The liturgy for Good Friday will begin at 3 p.m. Christ's passion and death according to St. John will be read, followed by Veneration of the Holy Cross and Holy Communion. Stations of the Cross are to be at 7:30 p.m.

Holy Saturday, the Vigil of the Resurrection, will be celebrated at 8 p.m. in commemoration of Christ's victory over sin and death. No other Mass is as significant as this Easter Mass, for it is the solemn anniversary celebration of Christ's "preach," his passage from death to resurrection.

At this Easter Vigil, seven members of the Catechumenate will be received into the Catholic Church and will receive the sacraments of confirmation and the Eucharist.

The Easter Sunday Masses will be at 9 and 11 a.m. "The texts of this Mass show how the Lord's resurrection is a fact with meaning for us here and now; as members of the risen Christ we have access to a new life, the very life of God," said Edna Reinart, a spokeswoman from the church.

St. Anthony's School to hold Passover meal

On Holy Thursday, St. Anthony's School will have its annual Passover meal for the teachers and students. Special guests are to be the Rev. and Mrs. Ron Cook of First Baptist Church. Three hundred persons are expected.

The second and third graders made place mats, and the fourth graders made place cards. The fifth grade brought the grape juice and the sixth grade, unleavened bread - that is, bread made without yeast. There is complete silence until the meal takes place and then they may speak softly while they eat, keeping in mind that this is a holy meal.

The story of the first Passover is retold, as commanded by God, in the book of Exodus. Mothers, two from each grade, now present a basin of water to each leader at the table, who washes his hands and then washes the hands of each person at the table.

The washing of the hands during the paschal meal symbolized that their hearts and spirits were cleansed of anything that is not of God. It is probably at this point of the ceremony that the Lord washed the feet of his disciples as an expression of his new commandment of love and to show that his followers were to be loving servants of one another.

The bitter green herb on each plate is symbolic of tears and sorrow and the plate of MATZO - unleavened bread - is on each table. After the solemn blessing of the meat, grape juice, bitter herbs, haroses (salad) and matzos, the meal is eaten. The breading and distributing of a single piece of matzo to all present signifies unity. "For we are one bread, one body all partaking of the one bread."

Students to register

Students from other districts who plan to attend the Hereford Independent School District during the 1984-85 school year are required to officially register for transfers at the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

Transfers must be requested before May 1. The statewide deadline is set up for students going from one school district to another. Any questions concerning the transfer students may be directed to the superintendent's office.

Celebrations scheduled at church

St. Thomas Episcopal Church will observe Maundy Thursday with the celebration of the Lord's Supper, the Washing of Feet and the Stripping of the Altar.

Following the liturgy, a vigil will be kept throughout the night in compliance with the Lord's request to "watch one hour with me."

On Good Friday, the Watch of Golgotha will begin at 12 noon and end at 1 p.m. in deference to secular work schedules.

At 4 p.m. Friday the Stations of the Cross will be walked with the children, and at 6:30 p.m. the Good Friday Liturgy will be celebrated, along with the Stations of the Cross.

The Easter Vigil, beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday, will consist of the first celebration of the Easter Eucharist and Holy Baptism.

The celebration of Easter day will begin at 11 a.m. with a Solemn Eucharist. The Sunday school will have an egg hunt at 9:45 a.m.

Father Charles R. Threewit, Vicar of St. Thomas, noted that all are welcome and urged to attend these "observances of the holiest of the Christian Holy Days."
