By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Death can come in many different ways. For Hereford's Opal Hutcheson, 79, the end may have been caused by harassing telephone calls.

Hutcheson died of an apparent heart attack Saturday afternoon. According to Ray Morgan, a captain and assistant chief for the Hereford Police Department, Hutcheson was calling him at 2:05 p.m. to complain about the anonymous calls when the heart attack occurred.

All that day, Hutcheson told Morgan over the telephone, someone had been calling her house and hanging up when she answered. The police captain, who claimed Hutcheson sounded "very frustrated," quoted her as having said, "Someone is calling me and I can't stand it any more."

When Morgan was saying he would look into the matter, he heard Hutcheson's telephone receiver drop and what appeared to be a body fall to the floor. Her phone was soon hung up.

When he called back, Hutcheson's daughter answered and said she thought her mother may have fainted. She agreed, though, it would be a good idea to request medical help.

Morgan, after calling for an ambulance, joined Sergeant David Wagner and patrolman Mike Morrison in rushing to Hutcheson's 421 McKinley St. residence. They found the victim to have a very low heartbeat. The three performed emergency medical treatment until the ambulance arrived, according to Morgan, about 15 seconds later.

Ambulance personnel worked on Hutcheson for approximately 30 minutes at her home before taking her to Deaf Smith General Hospital, where she was soon pronounced dead.

"I'm not a doctor," Morgan said, "but I'm pretty sure this (the harassing phone calls) brought on the heart attack."

Loan for jail changes sought by county commissioners

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

A $1.5-million, seven-year loan is being sought for Deaf Smith County Jail additions and renovations by the county commissioners, it was decided Monday.

During a regularly-scheduled meeting, the Deaf Smith County Commission unanimously approved a motion to request the loan from Kidder, Peabody & Company Inc., San Antonio. Commissioners intend to pay off the debt by issuing certificates of obligation.

On Sept. 29, representatives of the county government were told by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards (TCJS) that certain work must be done on the local jail in order for the facility to remain open. The state body examined a $1.55 million plan by Gondreck-Poage Partnerships, also of San Antonio, and found it acceptable except for a few minor shortcomings.

Prior to that session, county commissioners were hoping to cut Gondreck-Poage's proposal to less than $750,000. Following TCJS's comments, however, County Judge Glen Nelson said of the plan, "It's cut to the bone. There's no fat in it."

Initial discussion Monday indicated the commission would wait at least two weeks to apply for a loan. Commissioners Bruce Coleman and Bill Bradley said they would like to see if Gondreck-Poage had found any ways to cut the proposal's costs while commissioner Austin Rose said he would like to discuss the financing with Vesta Mae Nunley, county treasurer.

Bob Davis, a representative of Kidder, Peabody & Company, said Oct. 24 (the commission's next scheduled meeting) would be soon enough for a loan application to be made. He claimed work on the request could begin next week, though, if action or a firm indication of intent was made Monday.

Davis had earlier said his firm's current interest rates were 'not guaranteed after 4 this afternoon,' but that they should remain the same through 1983. He believed, however, increases may be made early next year.

The loan requested by the county commission carries an 8.25 percent interest rate. Davis said the average annual payment would be around $290,000. A levied tax rate of 8.22 cents, with projected collections of 98 percent, would yield the county government just under $300,000 annually, he told the court.

Davis claimed the commissioners would save several hundred thousand dollars by having a seven- rather than 10-year loan. To borrow $1.5 million over 10 years, Deaf Smith County would have an 8.5 percent interest rate and pay an average of about $228,000 annually.

The TCJS decided the local jail needed, among other things, to increase its capacity, provide a recreational area and have a jailer on duty at all times. Gondreck-Poage proposed meeting those requirements partly through adding east and west wings to the current jail building.

In other matters Monday, commissioners declined to contribute $8,000 for proposed construction of a tennis court at the Walcott school. Eddie Derr, superintendent of the Walcott Independent School District, made the request. Also present were six members of the WISD Board of Education.

Commissioner James Voyles said such support might prompt other county communities to request financial assistance for similar projects.

Derr responded there are no recreational facilities in Deaf Smith County west of Hereford. Some of the other Walcott representatives they have to drive 40-60 miles round-trip in order to play tennis.

Voyles's main point, one which was apparently shared by other commissioners, was the jail situation has forced the county to tighten its purse strings. "This is really a terrible time for it to come out," Voyles said.

After much discussion, the commissioners moved to fill out an application for a state matching grant to fund the project. They also asked the Walcott community to proceed with fundraising efforts.

Gary Pitner, a representative of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission (PRPC), explained the Texas Parks and Recreation Department offers funds for projects such as the one wanted by Walcott. The matching funds are available only to county governments, though, which requires the tennis court application to be made by Deaf Smith County.

The project would cost a total of $30,434, Derr said. Since the court would be used only about 20 percent of the time by HISD, he maintained, the county should contribute the needed $8,000.

After the commission's break for lunch, Coleman distributed a letter announcing he will not seek reelection next year.

"I will have served as county commissioner for 20 years," he wrote. "I have appreciated your support and confidence and served you to the best of my ability. I have put your interests before my own and tried to be both conservative and progressive. I think our county's progress and its debt-free status speak to that perspective."

One reason Coleman cited for his decision is it will give him more time to pursue other interests. "I do some farming and raise some cattle," he said. "I'd like to develop another interest or two outside of agriculture."

"I look forward then to investing all my time and energies in my own pursuits for a change," Coleman wrote. "These years have been good. I thank you for them."

The commission approved the purchase of two 1984 Chevrolet Impalas - from a local dealer - for the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department.

Of 11-year-old daughter

Blind man sentenced for murder

TYLER, Texas (AP) — A blind man whose family was given money and gifts by sympathetic citizens after his 11-year-old daughter was found slain has been sentenced to 50 years in prison for killing the girl.

Eugene Curtis McRory, 38, pleaded no contest Monday in the July 4, 1981, death of his daughter, Trisha, and was sentenced by State District Judge Donald Carroll.

In a written confession, McRory admitted sexually molesting the girl and smothering her with a pillow when she cried out.

In the confession, McRory described how he drank heavily all day, then got up during the night and went into the living room where his daughter was sleeping.

When he began to molest her, the girl cried out, "Daddy, don't, Daddy," the confession said.

"I heard a noise in the other room, so I put the pillow over her face so she wouldn't holler," said McRory in the confession. "I held it down pretty tight for approximately five minutes. She was kicking and wiggling. I didn't hear no racket, so I removed the pillow and she was dead. She wasn't breathing."

McRory said after he realized the girl was dead, "I just sat there and cried and thought about the horrible thing I had done."

McRory said he woke his wife and told her the girl was dead. His wife wanted to call the police, but McRory said he threatened to kill her and the couple's other two children if she did not help him dispose of the body.

The two loaded the girl's body into their car and drove to a bridge over a creek about five miles from their home, where McRory removed the girl's clothes and dumped her body into the water, McRory said.

He said the next morning, after slashing a screen door, he called the sheriff's department and reported the girl missing.

The McRorys held a news conference on July 7, 1981, to announce a $50,000 reward, donated by an anonymous Tyler man, for the girl's safe return.

The next day, a fisherman found the girl's body in the creek.

"I won't give up hope. I know I'll get her back because I have the good Lord with me," McRory tearfully told reporters after the body was found. "I hope they find whoever did this. Maybe that would prevent some other girl having to die like this."

An autopsy was performed in Dallas, and though medical examiners determined that the body was Trisha's, they could not determine a cause of death.

The girl was buried July 11 in a casket donated by a funeral home. Flowers were donated by local florists. The gravesite was also a gift. A memorial fund was set up to help the family with expenses.

A Texas Department of Corrections inmate sent the family a letter of sympathy.

"We would not have any respect for a man who would rape or kill a child," the letter said.

Within two weeks, the family moved into a new mobile

Remote-controlled planes revived

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Unmanned remote-control planes, used with devastating effect by the Israelis in Lebanon last year, are having a revival as the cost of combat jets soar and missile defenses become more lethal, the new Jane's Avionics yearbook reported today.

Michael Wilson, editor of the authoritative annual on electronic equipment used in aviation, said the remote-piloted vehicles, or RPVs, could "add a new dimension to future wars."

The accelerated development of airborne high-technology and microchip miniaturization of controls means RPVs now have "capabilities undreamed of" when they first appeared 20 years ago.

The possibilities include unmanned planes that could "think" for themselves and perform suicide missions like suppressing deadly ground fire around key targets, saving both pilots' lives and costly fighter-bombers packed with secret equipment.

"They can be made cheaply enough to be considered expendable," Wilson wrote in the introduction to the 1983-1984 Jane's.

"For the first time RPVs can adapt their missions and flight paths to suit prevailing circumstances, without having to be so commanded from the ground," he said.

"Thinking" RPVs would be vital where an enemy used electronic jamming to disrupt command signals to the planes, Wilson said. In that event, the RPV's system

"switches itself off from any ground signal and simply continues to act as an intelligence transmitter."

Wilson said there was a "surprising number" of RPVs in Europe, but noted an "absence of specific U.S. commitment" to the unmanned planes.

However, he said the U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee was eager to speed up development of the Lockheed Aquila RPV. The U.S. Army began developing the Aquila in 1979, but does not expect to have it operational until 1987.

The unmanned planes, smaller than ordinary jets, were developed from the drone used by air forces in the 1950s for gunnery practice.

RPVs were first used by the U.S. Air Force in Vietnam as the bombing campaign against the North intensified with mounting losses of manned aircraft and a political outcry over the fate of their captured crews. The U.S. Air Force disbanded its last RPV unit in 1978.

But Wilson noted a sudden change of attitude as the Israelis used their own Scout RPVs in a series of air strikes that obliterated Soviet-made Syrian surface-to-air missile batteries in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley in June 1982.

The Scouts, he said, were "brilliantly integrated" with Grumman E-2C Hawkeye early warning planes, Boeing 707 communications jammers and U.S.-made F4 fighter bombers against the Syrians supporting Palestinian guerrillas opposing Israel's invading force.

Three file for Buffalo Board

Deaf Smith County will have three unopposed candidates for the proposed Buffalo Lake Water District Board when the Nov. 8 election is held here and in Potter and Randall counties.

Monday was the deadline to file as a candidate. Deaf Smith's candidates are Garth Thomas, Carolyn Waters and Bill Devers.

The temporary board met Monday night and approved the ballot for the election. It will list four candidates in Potter and four in Randall for the directors' seats. It will also include authority for the district to levy a half-cent per $100 tax valuation for maintenance and operation of the lake's recreation facilities.

Jim Steiert, a member of the temporary board from Hereford, explained Monday that the ballot basically will have "for" and "against" boxes. If a voter votes for the proposal, he will also vote on the directors and on the tax levy authority.

Steiert said he and other members were not ready to set the tax rate, but the board felt it must be on the ballot at this time. "The district may not need the half-cent levy; it could be less," said Steiert.

"It is difficult to know at this time. We would have felt better if the federal study had been completed," added Steiert. The other temporary board members are Marie Griffin and Devers.

Steiert also explained that the majority vote of the three counties will determine whether the proposal is approved. It is possible that one county could vote down the proposal and still have the water district. "That's the way the act was passed in the legislature," he said.

The director candidates for Potter County will be Enoch Henderson, Wayne Houghton, John McMenamin and Terry Cooke. Those filing in Randall County were Joel Goucher, who is the temporary board chairman; R.T. Abrahamson, Charles D. Johnson Jr. and Bill Roberts.

Shamir initiates tough measures

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's new government devalued the Israeli shekel by 23 percent today and ordered other tough austerity measures that will sharply boost the cost of basic foods.

Just a few hours after being sworn in as Menachem Begin's successor, Shamir summoned his Cabinet for a nine-hour overnight meeting to grapple with a severe economic crisis.

The ministers approved the largest devaluation in six years and also decided to cut government subsidies of basic commodities such as milk, eggs, frozen meat and bread. Their prices are expected to go up 40-50 percent by Wednesday, when the full impact of the devaluation is felt.

"These measures are significantly different, both in quality and quantity, to what we have known in the past," said Finance Minister Yoram Aridor.

He said the government would not follow its past policy of giving wage earners automatic cost-of-living increases to compensate for the price hikes.

"We are going to insist on this in negotiations with the Histadrut," Israel's trade union federation, he said.

The government is trying to stop an economic crisis that began last week with the publication of figures showing a 21 percent increase in the foreign trade imbalance this year and a foreign debt of $21.5 billion.

A panicky public, convinced a devaluation was imminent, rushed to dump shekels by selling bank stocks, which are the backbone of the private sector. The banks said they could not keep shoring up the losses, and the specter of a stock market crash arose.

The devaluation is meant to entice the public into selling dollars at a profit and reinvesting them in bank stocks. The stock exchange remained closed for the third straight day, so it was not immediately known whether the government's strategy worked.

Hundreds of Israelis packed supermarkets today hoping to buy groceries before they went up in price.

Shamir was sworn in as prime minister Monday after winning by 60-53 a vote of confidence in the 120-member Parliament.

The vote came at the end of nine hours of debate, much of it centered on the state of the economy as Begin's government left it.

Economists have pressed for well over a year for a major devaluation of the shekel to help the balance of payments by making exports more competitive and imports more costly.

The measures adopted by the Cabinet today spell the end of Aridor's benevolent economic policy, which sought to curb inflation by artificially holding up the value of the shekel. Introduced in February 1981, the policy sent Israelis on an unprecedented national spending spree.

Rockefeller heir wins ice cream parlor contest

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The winner of the local "Baskin-Robbins Birthday Party" contest "was thrilled" to learn the news, even though she is already heir to a huge fortune and lives in one of the state's most famous homes.

The winner of a $130 video game was Valerie Rockefeller — the 12-year-old daughter of Gov. Jay Rockefeller, great-grandson of oil magnate John D. Rockefeller.

Her name was announced Sunday by Betty Ruch, owner of the ice cream parlor, whose son John pulled Valerie's name from a pile of 400 entries. Valerie listed her address as 1716 Kanawha Blvd. E. — better known as the Governor's Mansion.

"When I called her, she was thrilled. She was very excited. She entered the contest herself. She won it. It was not something handed to her," said Mrs. Ruch.

"Money isn't everything, you know. Sometimes we have to do our accomplishments ourselves. Don't you think that way?" she said.

Valerie wasted little time claiming her prize. State Trooper Kermit Ambrose, guard at the mansion, said Monday night that "she already brought it home."

14 year-old student charged with slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The superintendent of Southside High School says his district has been "knocked back three years" by the publicity that ensued after a 14-year-old student was accused of killing a woman by slashing her throat.

The boy, a freshman at Southside, was arrested Friday and charged with the slaying of 34-year-old Lynn Clara Popham.

Investigators said the throat of Ms. Popham, a mother of three, was slashed several times during a rape attempt at her home near the school.

Three of the boy's teen-age friends, who also played hooky to drink beer, were released after being questioned by sheriff's investigators.

"We are fighting a bad image," said Southside superintendent Ronald Geyer. "We had made tremendous gains, which is not to say we don't have a long way to go. Then this happened."

A school assembly was called for today to challenge Southside students to regain the district's good name, he said.

Geyer said he could not discuss what disciplinary measures — if any — would be taken against the four students, who range in age from 14 to 17.

The four were good friends, not a gang, and never had been in serious trouble at the school before, the superintendent said.

"There are no gangs terrorizing this community," he said. "Those boys wore no colors, no name. They were just four boys who hung around together."

Prosecutors have been stymied in their efforts to certify the 14-year-old boy, whose name is being withheld, to stand trial as an adult.

High weeds conceal car wreckage for two days

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — High weeds and a deep culvert concealed for two days the wreckage from a car that crashed, killing a Harlingen school teacher and four members of her family, Department of Public Safety officials said.

A farmer riding his tractor discovered the wreckage about 11 a.m. Monday in a culvert near Texas 123 about 4 miles north of Stockdale in Wilson County, said DPS spokesman Larry Todd of Austin.

Todd said a 1981 Plymouth driven by Frank Ramirez Jr., 36, of McAllen went out of control in the early morning hours Saturday and traveled 135 feet before flying into the air.

The car traveled another 33 feet over a concrete culvert opening and struck the opposite side of the culvert head on, he said.

The wreckage went unnoticed for two days because of high weeds, the depth of the culvert and the curvature of the road, Todd said.

Killed were Ramirez and his mother, Harlingen school teacher Angela Ramirez, age 60 to 65; Ramirez's wife, 32-year-old Louisa Ramirez; his sister-in-law, 37-year-old Benita Ramirez; and a 3-year-old girl whose name was unknown, Todd said.

The five were pronounced dead at the scene Monday by Justice of the Peace B.J. Pope, said McAllen DPS operator Eddie Garcia. The bodies were taken to a Stockdale funeral home, he said.

747 cargo plane swerves off runway on takeoff

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A Boeing 747 cargo jet swerved off a runway and stopped with its nose pointed skyward in an aborted takeoff today at Frankfurt's international airport, an airport spokesman said.

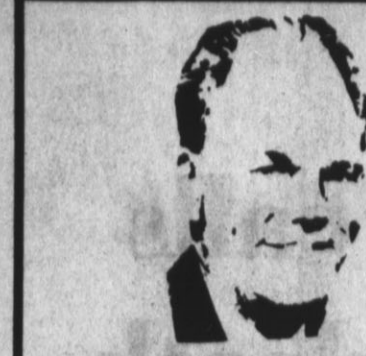

The incident, involving a Flying Tiger cargo flight bound for Brussels, put one of the airport's two runways out of operation, temporarily delaying traffic at West Germany's busiest airport, the spokesman said.

A Flying Tiger spokesman said no one was injured among the three crew and two company employees on board the plane.

"It looks like the load shifted and the plane made a left turn and came to a stop in the grass," airline station manager Norbert Mahr said.

Bully, Mr. Lichenstein

The dust has settled now. The righteous indignation has been ventilated.

It is all right now to say, "Bully for you, Chuck Lichenstein!"

Not since General Tony McAuliffe responded to a surrender ultimatum during the Battle of the Belgian Bulge with the one word, "Nuts!" Not since then has any ranking American expressed our national consensus so succinctly....

Until September 18, 1983, when our U.N. Ambassador Charles Lichenstein invited the Soviets to get out of the United States and to take the whole United Nations with them!

Monumentally refreshing candor!

The knee-jerk reaction from some U.N. employees and some one-worldly members of Congress was righteous wrath, demands that Cuck Lichenstein be fired.

The State Department disavowed his remark, called it "a personal comment," not an "official" one.

But most Americans I've heard from think he should be decorated instead.

The Wall Street Journal implicitly suggested, "Chuck Lichenstein for President."

Our ambassador never once raised his voice.

Instead, in quiet, measured phrases he wryly told the Soviets if they don't like it in the United States they don't have to stay here; they can leave anytime.

"And we," said Lichenstein, "will be down at the dockside waving a fond farewell as you sail off into the sunset."

Make no mistake, those words had to have a sobering effect on Moscow. For the U.N. has been holding open all our doors for them.

With U.N. credentials, any Soviet spy can career about Manhattan streets ignoring traffic laws.

Indeed, their motorists are protected by our police at our expense.

The Soviet U.N. mission, off limits to us, can maintain elaborate electronics surveillance of public media and private phone calls — including our government communications.

And from that U.N. base KGB agents roam at will gathering secrets — recruiting.

The disproportionate assessment paid by American taxpayers for maintaining the U.N. in the U.S. is paying for the care and feeding of a Trojan horse within our gates.

Ambassador Lichenstein has no illusions about the Soviets accepting his invitation. They have everything to gain from maintaining this beachhead on our East River, this continuing, 24-hour-a-day intrusion on "American airspace."

Task force backs merit pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bipartisan task force told Congress today that merit pay for teachers is an expensive, difficult strategy to implement which alone won't save American education, but should be tried experimentally.

"Those who view merit pay as some easy, inexpensive, painless method of solving the nation's education problems are not realistic," said a report released today by the Task Force on Teacher Merit Pay set up by Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

"Merit pay is but one of many pieces in a puzzle," said the report from the bipartisan task force. "It can be an important piece, but it is neither inexpensive nor easy to achieve, and other pieces of the puzzle also must be put into place."

"Despite mixed and inconclusive results with performance-based pay in the private sector and in education, we support and encourage experiments with performance-based pay."

The task force, headed by Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill., was established after President Reagan made merit pay his main proposal for improving the nation's education system. He has been pushing it in numerous speeches while also advocating less federal money and involvement in education.

The report said school districts and states must raise the basic pay for teachers, and that the federal government should expand teacher training opportunities and inaugurate a teacher scholarship program for the brightest high school graduates.

"If 10,000 scholarships were made available — 23 in each congressional district — to the top 5 percent of a high school graduating class, the cost would be $50 million per year at the most, a modest investment which would pay off many times over," the report said.

The task force, described as a "bipartisan group of educators, school administrators, parents and lawmakers," heard testimony from three major commissions on education that recently issued reports, in addition to governors, state legislators, deans of schools of education, students, teachers and school administrators.

Members of the 21-member task force included Rep. William F. Goodling, R-Pa., who served as vice chairman; Rep. E. Thomas Coleman, R-Mo.; Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore.; Albert Shanker, American Federation of Teachers president; Mary Hatwood Futrell, National Education Association president; Elaine Slienkemeyer National PTA president; Wilson Riles, former superintendent of public instruction for California; Ernest Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching; and James Sanders, president of the Illinois School Boards Association.

Weatherize tips given to mobile homeowners

COLLEGE STATION — Mobile homeowners can do several things right now to make for more comfortable living when winter arrives, according to housing specialist Dr. Peggy Owens.

"A mobile home, like any other home, can be sealed too tightly for your health," said Owens, who is with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

"Some exchange between indoor and outdoor air should go on all the time. When you weatherize, make sure you do not seal or block openings intended to ventilate the wall cavity," Owens said.

If the inside air seems stuffy, homeowners should ventilate with exhaust fans or open a window a crack.

Owens suggested that homeowners take these steps to weatherize a mobile home:

-If cold comes up from the floor, place a second carpet on top of the old one to help keep the cold out.

-Adding skirting or underpinning will cut drafts under the house but will not always help reduce energy loss.

"Temporary skirting with hay bales is hazardous. You may close necessary vents and create a fire hazard as well," Owens warned.

A permanent noncombusti-ble material like brick is best for skirting.

-Use heat tape to wrap exposed water pipes beneath the floor and use special duct insulating blankets over exposed heating duct. If these are loose in older mobile homes, remove the floor registers and tighten connections with furnace or other heat resisting tape.

-Weatherstrip around windows and outside doors. Double check the threshold portion of outside doors and be sure there's no heat leak.

-Check holdings, sidings, joints, nails, screws, splash panels, windows, doors, roof vents, wheel housings and all top seams for airleaks and cracks. Correct these by caulking during warm weather because most caulks won't adhere well in the cold. Inside, polyfoam seal can be used to close cracks and cavities around light switches.

-Create storm windows by taping a layer of 4 to 6 mil polyethylene over them. Use pressure sensitive masking or duct tape and place along the entire edge on all four sides. Even if the mobile home has storm windows, a third layer of protection helps.

4-H members, supporters receive awards at banquet

Polly West, Joni Hicks, and Robin Conkwright received Gold Star awards, the highest 4-H honor recognizing outstanding service and leadership in 4-H and the community, during the annual Deaf Smith County 4-H achievement banquet Saturday evening at the Hereford Community Center.

The Gold Star recipients are the daughters of Messrs. and Mmes. Bill West, Bob Hicks, and Jim Conkwright, respectively.

The banquet, featuring the National 4-H Week theme, "Building on Experience," was the culmination of 4-H Week and a year of club and project work for local 4-H members.

Serving as mistress of ceremonies for the evening was Crystal Finley. After the invocation by Robin Conkwright and the Pledge Allegiance, led by Jeff Hicks, Leslie Conkwright led 4-H'ers, parents, leaders and other guests in the 4-H Pledge and Creed.

Rickie Vogel extended the official welcome, Miss Finley recognized special guests and the county extension staff, and Joni Hicks presented 4-H leaders.

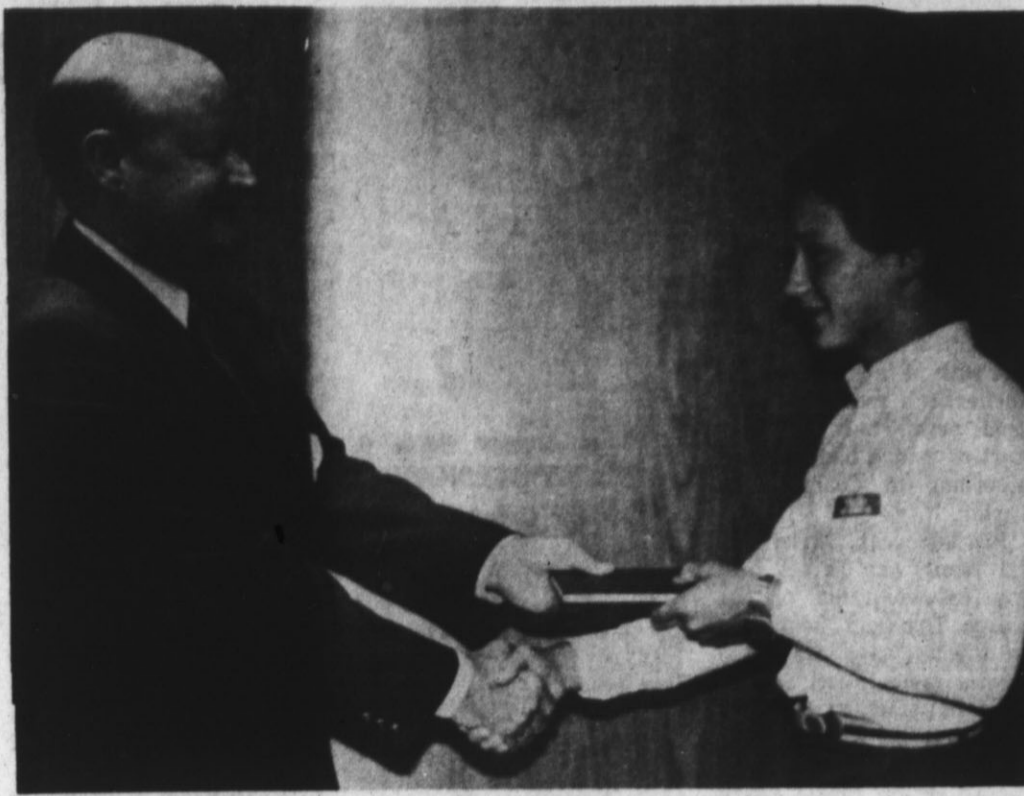

The Danforth "I Dare You" award given annually to a promising young 4-H'er, was presented to Rickie Vogel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vogel, by Charlie Cobb. Denise Teel presented a special 4-H recognition award to Crystal Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Finley, for continuing to turn in a record book after receiving the Gold Star award last year.

Rookie of the Year was presented to Jim Bret Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Campbell by Scott Robbins.

Louise Walker, county extension agent, presented awards for the best record books to junior Trisha Teel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Teel, and senior Robin Conkwright.

Herb Vogel was presented the outstanding leader award by Polly West, and Dixie West was named outstanding leader - District I by Susan Hicks. The Friend of 4-H award was given to Frosty Blaylock of Frosty's Meat Market by Ms. Hicks.

Pat Meiwes announced the Showmanship Club as winner of the window display competition held during 4-H Week. 4-H year pins were presented by Kandi Sparkman, Kristi Powell and county extension 4-H coordinators Brad Morrison and Susan Raney, who also presented project awards and gave recognition of district record books.

Flower arranging tips given at club meeting

Lois Ethridge presented a program on flower arranging to members of the Garden Beautiful Club when they met Friday in the home of Ina Mae Gilbreath. Inez Witherspoon served as co-hostess for the meeting.

Ms. Ethridge stressed the importance of the basis and mechanics in making flower arrangements. She used fresh flowers which were brought by the members and made three beautiful arrangements showing the importance of color, design, texture, pattern and balance.

A gift was presented to Ms. Ethridge from the club.

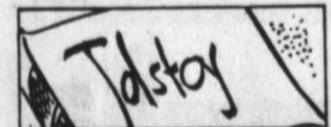

Ruby Carmichael presided at the business meeting in the absence of Helen Spinks. Reports were given on the members who were ill, and Dorothy Noland reported that flowers were taken to Bruce Carter, who is at Westgate Nursing Home.

Gardening tips were given by members.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Louis Axe, Carmichael, Marie Cline, Lovella Cowser, Dottie Darden, Audine Dettmann, Phung Emmons, Nadine Hill, Marguerite Newell, Noland, Jamie Sides, Margaret Young, Bertha Hood, and Lillian Lookingbill.

The club will meet Nov. 4 at Sondra's Craft Corral in Sugarland Mall. Sondra Blankenship will present a silk flower demonstration.

Leo Tolstoy was nominated for, but never won, a Nobel Prize.

Injuries hit Herd on eve of big district game

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
There's no doubt about it—Hereford's Whitefaces have been the "Cinderella" team in District 3-5A this season. Unbeaten in six games and leading the district race with a 4-0 record, the Herd faces its biggest test of the season Friday night at Plainview in the annual war with the Bulldogs.

the league's top rusher, Ronnie Terry, who was suspended from the team for a week. Coaches picked Mickey Stengel as the game's most valuable player on offense, and linebacker Alan Ritchie as the MVP on defense. Stengel scored all 16 points for the Herd—one touchdown on a pass reception, one on a run, and added a field goal and extra point. The 159-pound senior wide receiver filled in at the fullback position part of the game. Ritchie led the defensive effort with 14 tackles from his linebacker's spot. That's the good news, but the news started turning bad Monday, according to Coach Jerry Taylor. Just last week, Taylor said the team was in its best physical condition of the season. This week, he reports the injuries have turned the picture around. Jeff Streun, the Herd's standout defensive back, cracked a bone in his left forearm in the Tascosa game; senior tackle Mark Lytal went down again with a knee injury, and senior guard Max Middleton sustained a bad ankle sprain in practice Monday.

Cross-Country team places 5th

Female cross country runners from Hereford High School fell from a first-place finish the previous weekend to record a fifth Saturday in a meet at Amarillo.

previously. We just didn't run as well as we are capable of running. The other teams didn't improve that much." Emerson praised Moreno's performance, claiming it was her best time ever.

Meanwhile, HHS boys tied for sixth place out of 17 teams. Selma Moreno, only a sophomore, paced the local girls' attack with a two-mile time of 11:58, good for second overall. Senior Dana Cabiness was 21st with a 13:08 clocking.

In boys competition, Monterey triumphed with 140 points. Trailing were Boys Ranch with 148, Dumas with 160, Lubbock with 163, Muleshoe with 168 and Amarillo and HHS with 172.

Also running for the distaff Whitefaces were Glenda Gonzales (35th with a time of 13:24), Frances Flores (54th, 13:49) and Yolanda Alaviz (59th, 13:59).

For Hereford, Eliseo Ramirez was 10th individually with his best time of the year, a 16:51 for the three-mile course. Francisco Saucedo was second for the Whitefaces and 22nd overall with a 17:11 showing.

Topping the 18 girl squads was Nazareth, which posted a dominant score of 66 points. Canyon followed with 133 while Amarillo had 135, Coronado 150, HHS 164 and Borger 180.

The other HHS male harriers were Gary Blevins (38th, 17:33), Frankie Vallejo (44th, 17:41), Alonzo Martinez (58th, 17:56), Lupe Rocha (59th, 17:54) and Joel Lopez (79th, 18:23).

"This is the lowest the team has placed all year," HHS coach Martha Emerson commented. "We have won twice and placed second and third

In the junior varsity races, Hereford's Bobby Aranda was 23rd with a 19:27 while Eva Medrano ran a 16:10, good for 46th.

White still leads grid panel; Nieman gains

It was another difficult week for the "Fearless Forecasters," with only Speedy Nieman improving his percentage on picking the winners.

Nieman picked 18 of 26 on the contest games, but Butch White managed to remain as the panel leader with a 16-10 week. Mike Carr was also 16-10 for the week, while Helen Higgins dipped to 15-11.

The spaniel family of dogs contains more breeds—ten—than any other. The name comes from the word Spain.

White remained three games ahead of Higgins, and Nieman closed the gap, pulling to one game behind Higgins. Carr is in the panel's cellar, but he is only three games behind Nieman.

White has picked 67.3 percent of the games correctly, which is not bad for a 26-games-per-week contest.

Steeler defense scores three touchdowns in 24-14 victory over Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers have discovered a new offensive weapon — their defensive secondary.

The Steelers, who have struggled without quarterback Terry Bradshaw, turned their defense loose Monday night and it produced three touchdowns in a 24-14 National Football League victory over the Cincinnati Bengals.

The blitzing Steeler defense returned a fumble and a pair of fourth-quarter interceptions for touchdowns to make up for a sputtering offense.

"It (the blitz) was something we had to do," Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll said. "Our offense was struggling, and we needed an offensive defense."

The revamped "Steel Curtain" provided plenty of that.

Trailing 14-10 after three quarters, the Steelers picked off three fourth-quarter passes by backup quarterback Turk Schonert. Safety Ron Johnson returned one 34 yards for a 14-10 lead with 11:04 to play, and rookie cornerback Harvey Clayton turned his first professional interception into a 70-yard touchdown to seal the victory with 1:20 left.

The Steelers also got their first touchdown on safety Rick Woods' 38-yard return of a fumble in the first quarter.

The defense not only did the Steelers' scoring, it prevented the Bengals from mounting much of an attack. The Steelers recorded a club record nine quarterback sacks for 77 yards in losses.

The Steelers' first victory in Riverfront Stadium since 1978 kept them in a first-place tie with the Cleveland Browns in the American Conference's Central Division at 4-2. The Bengals fell to 1-5.

The three turnovers-turned-touchdowns spoiled a strong performance by the Bengal defense, which held the NFL's leading ground attack to just 56 yards in 20 carries.

However, the Bengal offense lost quarterback Ken Anderson in the first quarter after defensive end Keith Gary jerked him to the ground by the facemask. Anderson was 5-for-5 for 60 yards at that point, but had to leave the game with a sprained and bruised neck.

Joy Stagner captures first in grid contest

In another topsy-turvy football week, Joy Stagner missed only 5 of the 26 Brand Football Contest games to capture first place and $25 in Hereford Bucks this past week.

Jim McNaney was one of 10 entrants that missed six games in the contest, but he came closer on the tiebreaker score and won second-place money of $15.

The tiebreaker score was 24 (Nebraska 14, Oklahoma State 10), and third place went to Frank Cogdell and Tommy Hickman, each of whom guessed 52 points for the tiebreaker. They will get $5 each in Hereford Bucks.

Others who missed six games but missed out on the tiebreaker total included M.C. Adams, E.H. Loerwald, Ralph Paschel, Sheree Ramplsey, Darren Nikkel, Jimmy Walker, and Randy Jones. Most of the guesses on the tiebreaker total were high because high-scoring Nebraska was involved in the game.

Another 14 entrants missed seven games. They were Casey Daniel, Lupe Perez, Jason Scott, David Freeman, Roy Blevins, Paula Gamez, Ansel McDowell, Isaac Briones, David Emerick, Mary Schmucker, Nena Veazy, Dorothy Schumacher, Brian Townsend, and Phillip Banner. There were 236 entries last week.

The Brand Football Contest, sponsored by local merchants, is published in each Tuesday's paper. Follow the easy rules and enter the contest each week — you could be a winner of Hereford Bucks!

Nebraska still first; Texas gains votes

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

For the first time in three weeks, Nebraska is not a unanimous choice as the nation's No. 1 college football team.

The Cornhuskers' 14-10 squeaker over unranked Oklahoma State cost them five first-place votes in this week's Associated Press poll and also left them five points short of being a unanimous pick again.

Nebraska received 55 of 60 first-place votes and 1,195 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. The Cornhuskers have been ranked No. 1 all season, starting with the preseason poll.

The other five first-place ballots went to Texas, runner-up for the fourth week in a row. The Longhorns, who defeated Oklahoma 28-16 and dropped the Sooners from eighth place to 15th, totaled 1,144 points.

Although this week's Top Twenty consists of the same 20 teams as last week, there was considerable shuffling, with Alabama falling from third to 11th after losing to Penn State 34-28. North Carolina, a 30-10 winner over Wake Forest, rose from fourth to third with 1,014 points and West Virginia, which was idle, climbed from fifth to fourth with 983 points.

Auburn, seventh a week ago, jumped to fifth with 866 points following a 49-21 rout of previously unbeaten Kentucky. Ohio State downed Purdue 33-22 and remained in sixth place with 861 points.

Florida moved up from ninth to seventh with 836 points by whipping Vanderbilt 29-10. Georgia cracked the Top Ten for the first time this season, trouncing Mississippi 36-11 and vaulting from 11th to eighth with 725 points.

Arizona went up from 10th to ninth with 702 points by crushing Colorado State 52-21 and Miami of Florida jumped from 12th to 10th with a 42-14 rout of Louisville, good for 600 points.

The Second Ten consists of Alabama, Southern Methodist, Michigan, Iowa, Oklahoma, Maryland, Washington, Arizona State, Illinois and Brigham Young.

Last week, it was Georgia, Miami, SMU, Michigan, Iowa, Maryland and Washington tied for 16th, Arizona State, Illinois and BYU.

BALTIMORE (AP) — All aboard for the Amtrak World Series — Baltimore vs. Philadelphia, two towns separated by 100 miles or so of railroad track, dueling for baseball's World Championship.

The Phillies, champions of the National League, send 19-game winner John Denny against Scott McGregor, who was 18-7 for the American League champion Orioles, in tonight's opening game.

Denny, who enjoyed a spectacular recovery from a 6-13 season last year, became the ace of the Phillies' staff — no small accomplishment on a team that includes 300-game winner Steve Carlton. His 2.37 earned run average was second best in the National League and he is considered a front-runner for the Cy Young Award.

"I never had such a consistent year like I had this year," said Denny. "(Pitching Coach) Claude Osteen noticed a problem in my delivery and we corrected it in spring training. I worked harder than I ever have before. I strengthened my arm and body coming off a sore shoulder from the year before."

McGregor was a vital pitcher for the Orioles, especially after injuries deprived the club of two former Cy Young winners, Jim Palmer and Mike Flanagan, for much of the season. "You pretty much have to get it (the injuries to the others) out of your mind," the left-hander said. "One person can accomplish only so much. You're one person in one uniform."

This is a match of similarly designed teams both depending heavily on platoon lineups. Both managers, Joe Altobelli of the Orioles and Paul Owens of the Phillies, believe in using all their players and the Series could turn into a chess game before it's over.

For example, Baltimore's left field platoon of John Lowenstein (15 home runs, 60 runs batted in) and Gary Roenicke (19-64) combined for 34 homers and 124 RBIs. Very few fulltime left fielders in baseball had better numbers.

Young John Shelby and veteran Al Bumbry share center field for the Orioles and catcher Joe Nolan and right fielder Jim Dwyer see plenty of action, spelling regulars Rick Dempsey and Dan Ford.

The everyday players are first baseman Eddie Murray (.306, 33 homers, 111 RBIs), second baseman Rich Dauer (.235, 5-41), shortstop Cal Ripken Jr. (.318, 27-102), who played every inning of every game, and third baseman Todd Cruz (.199, 10-48).

For the Phillies, major league home run leader Mike Schmidt (.255, 40-109) at third base, catcher Bo Diaz (.236, 15-64), and shortstop Ivan DeJesus (.254, 4-45) were the only everyday regulars in the run to the pennant.

Owens used a rotating outfield with Joe Lefebvre and Sixto Lezcano, a pair of in-season acquisitions, sharing right field and the cleanup spot in the lineup. Greg Gross, Von Hayes and Bob Dernier took turns dividing playing time with Garry Maddox in center and Gary Matthews, who was the playoff MVP, in left.

The policy disturbed some of the veterans. "But it worked," said 42-year-old Pete Rose, who found himself on the bench for the first time in his career. "I guess you can't argue with success."

Rose, 10 hits short of 4,000 for his Hall of Fame career, will be at first base, and 40-year-old Joe Morgan, who had a sizzling September after a disappointing summer, will be at second for the Phillies. Rose (.245) and Morgan (.230) suffered through the poorest seasons of their careers.

Because the World Series is played without the American League's designated hitter rule in alternating years, Baltimore will have to go without its fulltime DH, Ken Singleton, who was an important part of the Oriole offense this season.

Instead of Singleton, who hit .276 with 18 home runs and 85 runs batted in, Baltimore will have to send its pitchers to bat.

Earl Weaver, the man Altobelli replaced in the Oriole dugout, thinks the DH factor will be vital.

"I definitely think not having the DH will be an advantage to the Phillies," said Weaver, here to comment on the Series for ABC television.

Cowboys are 'worst 6-0 team in NFL'

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Life in the National Football League just isn't fun to the Dallas Cowboys unless they can give their fans heartburn.

They can be two-touchdown favorites over a wireless team like Tampa Bay yet discover ways to find a dramatic, miracle ending.

They've come from behind for every victory this year but Sunday's 27-24 overtime epic over the bad-luck Buccaneers would have stretched a fiction writer's imagination.

There were two jokes in Dallas Monday:

— "The Cowboys are the worst 6-0 team in the NFL."

— "Dallas is no longer 'America's Team,' they've become 'Hollywood's Team.'"

The Cowboys looked dead in the Tampa Bay game after quarterback Danny White threw an interception with less than two minutes to play and the Bucs leading 24-17.

However, given one more chance with no time-outs, White and Timmy Newsome hooked up on a 52-yard touchdown play with only 47 seconds left to tie the game.

In overtime, Rafael Septien won it with a second-chance field goal from 42 yards after he was roughed on a futile 50-yarder.

Dallas has fallen behind by margins of 20, 10, 3, 7, 3, and 7 points in successive games yet survived.

"I thought we had used up all our luck in the first game," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It was amazing but I say that every week."

Running back Tony Dorsett said, "This should be the lesson that teaches us we can't do that."

That's what Dorsett said the week before. "These things are making my heart rate go up," said Newsome. "The law of averages is against us."

By now the plot is a familiar one.

The Cowboys always fall behind in the first period. They have been outscored 40-13 in that quarter.

Then someone different on the team makes an incredible play in the second half to turn the game around.

"I don't know how many more of these we have left," said Landry.

Roger Staubach, the author of so many Cowboy comebacks, was in the stands watching the game.

He was inducted into the Cowboys' "Ring of Honor" at halftime. Philadelphia visits Texas Stadium Sunday because the Phillies are in the World Series. The Dallas game originally was scheduled for Oct. 16 in Veterans Stadium.

Chinese official meeting Reagan, Shultz

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Chinese Foreign Minister Wu Xueqian headed into talks with President Reagan today, American officials were hoping his visit will enable the two countries to forge closer political, military and commercial ties.

After a midmorning meeting with Secretary of State George P. Shultz, Wu was due to have a 30-minute meeting with Reagan, a session with National Security Council officials and a luncheon with Vice President George Bush.

One issue certain to come up is the diplomatic fallout from Sunday's terrorist bombing in Burma, which killed four South Korean Cabinet officials.

The Korean question is a sensitive one in Sino-American relations because the two countries fought on opposite sides in the Korean war and still publicly disagree on that issue.

A senior U.S. official said Monday, however, that China has pursued a "constructive" policy recently in Korea despite its continuing public support for a withdrawal of American forces from South Korea.

Any threat to stability on the peninsula is viewed with considerable unease here because four major powers — the United States, the Soviet Union, China and Japan — each have a major stake in that region.

In recent weeks, Washington and Peking have demonstrated an ability to compromise on their differences over Taiwan and other issues in the interest of broadening their relationship.

China has objected to American weapons sales to Taiwan and also cut back on cultural ties with the United States after the Reagan administration granted political asylum last April to a top Chinese tennis player, Hu Na.

But the visit late last month to Peking of Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger helped Sino-American relations reach perhaps their highest point since diplomatic relations were established more than four years ago.

In addition to laying the groundwork for an exchange of visits between Reagan and Chinese Premier Zhao Ziyang early next year, the Weinberger visit also enhanced military cooperation between the two countries.

China presented Weinberger with a list of military items and said it wished to know whether the Reagan administration would approve their sale to China. Left unanswered was the question of whether China would purchase the items if the United States posed no objections.

On the issue of high technology transfers to China, the lone remaining obstacle concerns China's willingness to go along with American restrictions on the resale of such exports to third countries.

Doggone It!

Baby Huey was the star of the show when he exhibited his obedience skills during the regularly scheduled meeting and luncheon of the Rotary Club Monday at K-Bob's Steak House. The dog's trainer, Barbara Jordon of River Jordon's Dog Training Kennel in Amarillo, was guest speaker.

Charles Wilson gearing up for tough election year

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I've had 22 years of good luck and one year of bad luck in public office," Texas Rep. Charles Wilson said. "And (the one year) has been a doozy."

Wilson made the remark in July, shortly after the Justice Department announced it would not prosecute him on drug charges, saying it had found "insufficient admissible, credible evidence to support criminal charges."

But the department's investigation into allegations that Wilson had used cocaine had earned him a half-year of unfavorable publicity. And Wilson — who termed the allegations "ridiculous" — was anxious for life to return to normal.

Then the other shoe dropped: One rainy evening in August the car Wilson was driving was involved in an accident on a bridge crossing the Potomac River.

Police said Wilson's car struck another vehicle then left the scene. Wilson said he thought he had only hit a guard rail. He paid a $25 traffic fine, and also the price of another spat of unfavorable publicity.

Now Wilson, 50, a Democrat from Lufkin who has never faced serious challenge in his conservative East Texas district, fears all that publicity may take its toll in next year's elections. And for the first time, he is gearing up for a tough fight.

"...I do expect it to be troublesome, I mean you'd be a lot not to," Wilson said recently. "Because some people are going to say 'where there's smoke, there's fire...'"

Wilson, who was first elected to Congress in 1972 after 11 years in the state Legislature, said "I figure that I'll have to expend more energy and time and money than I have defending the seat in any of the other five elections" in which he has sought re-election to Congress.

Wilson's campaign fundraising committee wound up his last campaign with $35,000 in debts, debts that had jumped to more than $57,000 by June 30, according to reports on file with the Federal Election Commission.

But recently Wilson moved to replenish his campaign coffers with a fund-raiser at a trendy Georgetown cabaret, which guests paid $500 a couple to attend.

Wilson estimated the event raised between $80,000 and $100,000, and indicated it was only the beginning of a concentrated effort to raise money for next year's elections.

"I've never been a very aggressive fund-raiser, because I've never needed to," Wilson said. "But I expect to be pretty aggressive this year."

In the 1981-1982 election cycle, Wilson raised about $211,000 in campaign contributions, more than $123,000 of it from political action committees (PACs) representing various interest groups, his campaign finance reports show.

This time around, Wilson said he expects to raise about $400,000.

But Wilson is also wrestling with a financial problem of a different sort.

In his personal financial disclosure report for last year, Wilson listed investment assets of between $416,000 and $1 million. However, he also showed liabilities of between $605,000 and $1.56 million.

And in July, he said he didn't have the money to pay the $90,000 to $100,000 in legal expenses he had run up in connection with the Justice Department investigation.

This week, Wilson said he was considering the possibility of using campaign funds to pay those expenses.

"They have to be paid some way," Wilson said. "It is legal. I think in the case of the drug investigations it is proper, in that the attorney general has said that nobody would have been investigated (on such allegations) except members of Congress."

Wilson said he still does not think a Republican can mount a serious challenge in his traditionally Democratic district in the November election. But one challenger, Lloyd Dickens, 57, of Livingston, a school consultant, has already announced for the Democratic primary, and Wilson said he expects one or two more.

"I'm not concerned about (November)," Wilson said. "I am concerned about the primary."

But he vows that he will, at least, be prepared.

"I ain't going to get slipped up on," Wilson said. "You can put that down as a definite."

White House talent scouts eyeing interior candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Wyoming Sen. Clifford Hansen may not be running for the job of interior secretary, but he's not exactly walking away from it, either.

As the Reagan administration put the task of finding a replacement for James Watt on a fast track Monday, Hansen, often mentioned as a leading candidate, said he was "complimented" to be considered.

Three years ago, when the Wyoming senator was Reagan's first choice for the interior post, Hansen took himself out of the running, complaining about the financial disclosure requirements.

But this time around, Hansen says the rules have been relaxed somewhat, indicating they wouldn't be the impediment they once were.

"I am sure the president has a lot of good people to consider and I am complimented if I am one of them," Hansen said in an interview. "That's the sort of thing that is best not anticipated."

While the search for a successor began in earnest, Watt played tennis Monday in view of reporters as his chief spokesman offered more details on his boss's decision to step down following an 18-day uproar over his description of "a black... a woman, two Jews and a cripple" on a coal leasing advisory commission.

For the time being, Watt remains interior secretary, agreeing to stay on the job until a successor is confirmed by the Senate. Edwin Meese III, the president's counselor, said the administration hoped to have a replacement chosen in a week to 14 days and Senate approval by the time Congress adjourns next month.

While Meese refused to speculate about possible successors, other administration and Capitol Hill sources said others in the running in addition to Hansen are Rep. Manuel Lujan, R-N.M.; Energy Secretary Donald Hodel, who served as Watt's top aide for two years; former House Minority Leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz.; former Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., and J.J.

Simmons III, Watt's current top deputy.

One administration source, who asked not to be named, said the White House would be looking for a conservative Westerner who could win Senate confirmation without too much of a battle. This source said Hansen, who served in the Senate for 12 years, would fit that bill.

On Monday, Hansen said he still had not been contacted by anyone in the administration about taking the job and said the call may not come since he has already turned the post down once.

"If I were asked, which is improbable, we (his family) would have to get together and have a confab on it," he said.

Hansen received a boost Monday from Minority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., who said he knew Hansen "very well and could support him."

Watt, meanwhile, was not doing any talking to reporters, sending his press secretary, Douglas Baldwin, to answer questions while he played tennis with Thomas Barrack, the owner of the ranch where he is expected to continue vacationing the rest of this week.

"This is a period of decompression for him," Baldwin said, adding Watt decided late last week to step down because "he strongly believed it was the right time for him to go."

Among the factors he weighed, Baldwin said, was the potential political damage to Reagan from the expected lopsided no-confidence vote pending in the Senate against Watt. "Jim was emphatic. He did not want to cause any harm to the president," Baldwin said.

The interior secretary, who announced his resignation to a small band of reporters in a cow pasture Sunday, said he believed his usefulness to Reagan "has come to an end."

Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., and a longtime Watt friend, said Watt called him Sunday. "He felt liberated and excited about his new life, wherever that might take them," Simpson said.

Legal Notices

THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF DEAF SMITH NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE OF REAL PROPERTY

By virtue of an execution issued out of the County Court at Law No. 2 of Lubbock County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in that Court on June 2, 1983 and against Gonzales Brothers Plumbing, Inc., in Cause No. CV82-01867, styled Snook and Aderton, Inc. Vs. Gonzales Brothers Plumbing, Inc., on the docket of the court, on the 7th day of October, 1983, I levied upon the following described real property situated in Deaf Smith County, Texas, as the property of Gonzales Brothers Plumbing, Inc.: 5.63 acres out of the Southeast part of Section III, Block M-7, Deaf Smith County, Texas.

On the 1st day of November, 1983, which is the first Tuesday of the month, at 2:00 o'clock P.M. at the east door of the Courthouse of Deaf Smith County, Texas, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction for cash all the right, title, and interest of Gonzales Brothers Plumbing, Inc. in and to the above described property.

Signed this the 7th day of October, 1983.
Joe C. Brown, Jr. Sheriff
Deaf Smith County, Texas,
By Harry Hardisty
Deputy
Tu-71-3c

TO: Ray Merriam, Defendant, Greeting:
YOU (AND EACH OF YOU) ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the 222nd District Court of Deaf Smith County at the Courthouse thereof, in Hereford, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 7th day of November A.D. 1983, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 23rd day of September A.D. 1983, in this cause, numbered CI-831114 on the docket of said court and styled Tucker's Diesel Service, Inc. Plaintiff, vs. Ray Merriam, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:
Suit on account
If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unadvised.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.
Witness, Lola Faye Veazey, Clerk of the District Court(s) of Deaf Smith County, Texas.
Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Hereford Texas, this the 23rd day of September A.D. 1983.

Lola Faye Veazey Clerk,
District Court Deaf Smith County, Texas,
Tu-61-4c

WTSU - Thunder is a welcome sound in the Panhandle area because of the promise of rain, but to actually see Thunder, a person would have to travel to West Texas State University in Canyon.

Thunder at WTSU weighs about 350 pounds, is a nine-month-old male and affectionately known as Buford Junior to his handlers.

Buffalo Thunder IV, WTSU's newest team mascot, was born Dec. 18, 1982, and is loaned to the WTSU Herdsmen, a men's spirit organization, by Kevin Arnold of Kermit.

Six Herdsmen are selected to be handlers, and they are in charge of taking care of the buffaloes. Steve Coley, a senior geology major from Lubbock, is foreman of the handlers.

Other handlers are Neil Merrill, a senior computer information systems major from Lamesa; Lance Casey, a junior political science major from Longmont, Colo.; Cecil McCreery, a graduate student in industrial technology, San Angelo; Tim Otte, a junior music therapy major from Boulder, Colo.; and Doug James, a senior business major from Lubbock.

The history of the buffalo mascot at WTSU goes back to 1977 when Bob Lee, owner of the Big Texan Steak Ranch in Amarillo, purchased the only female mascot, Thunder I, for the Herdsmen to use during football games and parades. Thunder I, or Lollipop, was kept for two years before she was sold to Arnold, a former Herdsman.

Thunder II, or Buford, was then loaned to the Herdsmen by Arnold from 1979-81. The Herdsmen purchased Thunder III, or Max, in 1982 and he has been the official university mascot.

"It's a lot of hard work keeping two buffaloes but Thunder IV is kind of special because he is the first offspring of Thunder I and Thunder II," Coley said.

Since Thunder IV is being loaned to the university by Arnold, the Herdsmen are in the process of trying to sell Thunder II and purchase a new mascot which will become Thunder V.

"Once the buffaloes reach a certain age they start getting too hard to handle and we do not use sedatives to settle the buffaloes down," Coley said. "Max has been a good buffalo but his size is starting to get the best of us sometimes so I think it's about time we started looking for another buffalo to replace him before too long," he added. The average buffalo reaches maturity in about seven years and some may get as tall as seven feet.

Coley said Buford, or Thunder II, was the largest at six feet and he weighed about 1,250 pounds.

Taking care of a buffalo involves much more than just walking the animal in parades and running it during the football games.

"It costs about $1,300 to keep one buffalo for one year, not to mention the time it takes to train and care for a buffalo," Coley said.

This amount, according to Coley, includes veterinarian bills, insurance, and feed and the handlers also spend about an hour-and-a-half each day for brushing, walking and feeding the buffalo.

In 1977 the Herdsmen bought and donated a trailer to the university, but the members donate the gas and pickups to pull the trailer.

"Each time we have to paint the trailer it costs us about $500," Coley added.

The Campus Organizational Funding Committee allots about $600 to the Herdsmen each year and the rest of their money is raised by cleaning the football stadium after each home football game and other fund-raising projects.

"Our first harness for Thunder I was donated by Oliver Brothers Saddle Shop in Amarillo and the gear we use now which includes ropes, halter and harness costs us about $130," Coley said.

The young buffalo, Thunder IV, already has been used at many WTSU events.

"We used Thunder IV during a pep rally at the first of this semester for Buffalo Branding and for the small amount of time we had to work with him he really did an excellent job," Coley said, "and we have been real pleased with his performances at the football games."

Members of the herdsmen who are interested in becoming handlers must try out for the positions.

Coley said those interested have to get out in the field with the buffalo and run with him to see how the buffalo reacts to the person, then the members vote and decide who the new handlers will be each year.

"Being a Herdsman and especially a handler takes a lot of time, but WTSU gives us a lot and we're just giving a little bit of it back," said Merrill.

"It's a real honor to be able to work with the buffaloes because most schools don't even have a real mascot," Coley added.

Striking pilots failing to propose new contract, Continental says

HOUSTON (AP) — Striking pilots who accuse Continental Airlines of failing to negotiate in good faith have failed to propose a contract in writing while the carrier has suggested three, a Continental spokesman says.

"We don't see any reason to have further negotiations," Bruce Hicks said Monday. "They've put forth not one single written proposal. This company has put forth three definitive proposals."

"The negotiation process can only happen when there's an exchange of meaningful contract proposals." Talks between the groups broke off Friday after three days.

Members of the Air Line Pilots Association accused Continental of conducting negotiations through the mail and through newspaper advertising.

The pilots' accusations came in the wake of a statement which was mailed to pilots and which also appeared in Houston newspapers. The statement compares reduced salaries and new work rules with wages and rules negotiated between the Air Line Pilots Association and a reorganized Braniff Airlines.

Braniff has yet to return to the air after filing for protection under federal bankruptcy laws in May 1982.

Gary Thomas, a spokesman for the striking pilots, said the Continental proposal "bears no relationship to a bonafide working agreement such as Braniff's."

Pilots and flight attendants walked off their jobs Oct. 1, a week after Continental filed for reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws. The airline, once the nation's eighth largest, returned to business two days later, flying to only 25 of its previous 78 U.S. cities and employing about one-third of its 12,000 workers.

Under a contract instituted upon that return, salaries of pilots and flight attendants were cut by about 50 percent.

"The basis for any negotiations is the bonafide work agreement that existed prior to filing Chapter 11," Thomas said.

The striking pilots scheduled an 11:15 a.m. news conference today to discuss their attempts to win dismissal of Continental's bankruptcy proceedings.

Continental has lost more than $471 million since January 1979 and Chairman Frank Lorenzo has said losses in the first nine months of this year could top $130 million, including more than $50 million in the third quarter.

Meanwhile, the airline Monday began interviews with prospective pilots. Interviews for the possible new hires were slated for 11 U.S. cities, Hicks said, but he did not know in which cities the discussions had started.

Hicks said, however, that about 100 Continental pilots had returned from the picket line to the flight line.

The airline also was able to meet its entire schedule on Sunday, he said.

Atmosphere of smaller town appeals to couple

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor

Moving to Hereford from Amarillo has been a big change for Terri and M.D. Gentry, but since they both grew up in small towns, they knew how easy it would be to get acquainted in a smaller community and thought it would be a good atmosphere for the kids.

"The people here have been so friendly and helpful," said Terri, "and I love the downtown — the fact that it's active and people go there to shop."

M.D. opened his State Farm Insurance Agency here on Jan. 1, and last month he moved the office to a new location on Lee Street.

Terri, who has been a counselor and psychology teacher at Amarillo College for the past six years, came here in June when the school year was over, with 3-year-old Tricia and Wade, 15, a ninth grader at La Plata Junior High. Roxanne, a junior in high school, and Gwendolyn, a freshman at Amarillo College, are residing in Amarillo and Kimberly just graduated from the University of Texas.

M.D. was an independent insurance agent in Amarillo before coming here. He worked at the counseling center and was director of personnel at Amarillo College, where he and Terri met, prior to that time. He has also done construction work, and taught in the language department and was director of admissions at a college in Pennsylvania.

A native of Caddo, Okla., he earned a bachelor's degree in liberal arts and modern languages from Southeastern Oklahoma State University in Durant and a master's in counseling from Indiana University of Pennsylvania. He also did graduate work at the national University of Mexico.

Terri holds a bachelor's degree in sociology and a master's in education from West Texas State University. She is originally from Hooks, Texas.

She currently works part-time in the State Farm office with her husband and is part-owner of Super Clean Laundry. Terri is also keeping in touch with Amarillo College by teaching a general psychology course here one night a week. "I really enjoy that," she commented. "I love teaching."

"I've enjoyed experiencing the difference between working full-time or part-time," she added, and said that she has been able to do a few more things such as spending more time with Tricia since she's not employed full-time now.

"I canned a lot of green beans and corn this year, and made jelly," she explained. "I love to cook."

Terri said that she also enjoys yard work and doing things outside. "We belonged to the pool down the street this summer and really enjoyed swimming," she noted.

M.D. likes building things. Right now he's restoring a 1966 pink Lincoln, according to Terri.

"Wade is playing football this year for the first time," said Terri. "He really seems to enjoy it. In Amarillo he played soccer."

"I've started taking Tricia to Kids' Day Out at the Methodist Church sometimes and she really has fun there."

"We've gone to all the high school football games," continued Terri. "We have been impressed with the enthusiasm and spirit this town has behind one team. In Amarillo it was divided five ways and there's no way you can compare the two."

Terri has attended a meeting of Hereford Newcomers club and hopes to go again, as she enjoyed meeting other newcomers. She and her family have joined Avenue Baptist Church.

Favorite scenic sites in Texas presented

Members of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Friday morning at the Community Center.

Each club members told of her favorite scenic location in Texas and why she enjoys it. The responses included the entire state, with many of the locations being close to the Hereford area.

Plans are currently being made for club members to attend the Course IV Flower Shop School scheduled for Oct. 20-22 in Odessa. The show will include one and a half hours of flower show procedure, four hours of horticulture, four and a half hours of design and a total of seven hours of examination.

Delegates were also elected to attend the Northern Zone meeting set for Nov. 17 in Tulsa. Delegates include Jane White, Naoma Spann, Betty Hughes and Wilma Bryan. Patricia Robinson, club president, plans to attend and she will also go to the District Board meeting slated Nov. 9 in Lubbock.

Changes in the club's calendar were made. The Oct. 21 meeting will be held Oct. 20, Nov. 11 meeting slated Nov. 10 and the Dec. 9 meeting scheduled Dec. 8. No further changes will be made until after the new year.

Paula Hamby, flower show chairman, gave a review for the up-coming flower show scheduled Nov. 20.

Ann Landers Father not welcome

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents were divorced when I was 14. I don't remember much about my dad because he was hardly ever at home. My only recollections are the terrible arguments with Mom that ended up with him beating her senseless. When I begged him to stop, he hit me, too.

Mom finally left him, and I thanked God for giving us freedom at last. We moved to Texas when I was 17 and later heard Dad had remarried.

I will be graduating from college in June. Dad's sister (whom I hardly know) has written to say he would like to attend my graduation. I don't want him here. It would upset my mother and bring back some horrible memories. As far as I am concerned, his presence would ruin my happiest day.

Do I have a right to feel this way? My aunt says it isn't Christian. What do you say?—A Girl in Malone, N.Y.

example, she brings in my mail as if it were a favor and leaves stupid notes such as, "I watered your plants. Ha Ha."

The women gets on my nerves, but I like this apartment and would hate to move. Do I have the right to tell her to keep out? Can she evict me? I pay my rent regularly and have never damaged anything.

Please advise.—Frustrated In Albany

DEAR AL: You have the right to tell your landlady that you would rather get your own mail, that you prefer to water the plants yourself and she need not enter your apartment unless there is a good reason to do so. She cannot evict you, but she can refuse to renew your lease. It's her property.

presents to young people who don't say "thank you."

I believe the problem started in early childhood. Those kids were never taught to write thank-you notes. As soon as mine were able to hold a crayon, I taught them to write "THANK YOU" and they grew up knowing it was a must—no if's, and's or but's.

My children are in elementary school now and there is never a hassle about this in our house. The pattern was set early.—Paducah, Ky.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What makes people interesting?—J. In Hillsdale, Mich.

LET THEM HAVE A DRY BED

The greatest gift you can give a bedwetter and the rest of the family, too, is an end to this serious problem, and make no mistake, bedwetting is serious. It can cause complicated psychological problems that last a lifetime. It's so needless because bedwetting, when not caused by organic defect or disease, can be ended. ## Couple celebrates 64th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Dowell Sr. celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary Saturday in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Bartley and Jeane Dowell. The evening was shared by their other sons, John David, Eugene and R.L. Jr., and daughter-in-law, Nona Deen.

Also present were five grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, and Mr. Dowell's sister, Pearl Crump from Levelland.

Rupert L. Dowell and Minerva Bartley were married Oct. 5, 1919, in Red River County, Texas. They moved to Hereford in 1926, where Dowell worked as a carpenter until retiring in 1974. They resided at 200 Whiteface Ave. until recently moving to a cottage at King's Manor.

The Dowells have been members of the First United Methodist Church in Hereford for 57 years.

The residents of King's Manor honored the couple with an ice cream cone social Wednesday afternoon in the Lamar Garden Room.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 11, the 284th day of 1983. There are 81 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Oct. 11, 1981, former presidents Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter — en route home from the funeral of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat — said the United States eventually would have to negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

On this date:

In 1779, the Polish nobleman Casimir Pulaski was killed in fighting for American independence at the Battle of Savannah.

In 1811, the first steam ferry was put into operation by inventor John Stevens, between New York City and Hoboken, N.J.

In 1884, former first lady Eleanor Roosevelt was born.

In 1958, the lunar probe Pioneer 1 was launched.

In 1962, Pope John XXIII opened the second Vatican Council.

Ten years ago: President Richard Nixon consulted with members of Congress before appointing a successor to Vice President Spiro Agnew, who had resigned.

Five years ago: Saddled with huge supplies of wheat and corn, the United States gave the Soviet Union the go-ahead to step up grain purchases in the coming year.

One year ago: Continued optimism that interest rates would decline pushed the Dow Jones Industrial Average up nearly 26 points, and the blue chip indicator closed over 1,000 for the first time since mid-1981.

Today's birthdays: Choreographer Jerome Robbins is 65. Rock musician Darryl Hall is 37.

Thought for Today: "Yes and no are the oldest and simplest words, but they require the most thought." — Pythagoras, Greek philosopher and mathematician.

Persons who are unaware that they are lying, even when in fact they are, cannot be caught by a lie detector.
