Conference of Churches joins dump fight

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

The Nuclear Waste Task Force announced here Monday that the Texas Conference of Churches has joined the NWF's efforts to oppose the testing, construction, and operation of a high-level nuclear repository in Deaf Smith County.

The announcement came at a news conference called by Delbert Devin, chairman of the NWF. Eloise McDougal, a Hereford resident and member of the board of the Texas Conference of Churches, announced the conference unanimously approved the resolution against a repository last week during an annual meeting in Austin.

"We are pleased to actively join in this effort," stated Mrs. McDougal. "Our faith calls all of us to affirm the natural world as God's handiwork and dedicate ourselves to its preservation, enhancement, and faithful use by humankind. This concept of the Deaf Smith site being chosen indicates how little regard the DOE has for these principles. Site characterization must not and will not happen," she concluded.

The Texas Conference of Churches includes 16 major church bodies of Lutherans, Disciples of Christ, Church of the Brethren, Episcopalians, Religious Society of Friends, Greek Orthodox Church, Presbyterian, Roman Catholics, United Church of Christ, and United Methodist.

Jim Conkwright, a spokesman for a newly-formed opposition group in Hereford, also spoke at the news conference and joined Devin in urging citizens to attend a DOE public meeting here Tuesday and voice opposition to the entire project.

"We must speak out in loud and clear terms that we will not tolerate any further intrusion of our area by DOE personnel intent upon making us the dump ground of the nation," said Conkwright. "We have let Dimmitt and Tulia carry the burden too long in this fight," he added. The new group has yet to adopt a name, but Conkwright said it could decide to join one of the other opposition groups or work under a new name.

Asked by a newsman if the group would "shun workers" who are scheduled to move here from DOE and Battelle offices in Ohio, Conkwright said, "We hope that is not necessary. The last thing we want to do is hurt people. Our farmers have learned to be stewards of the soil, and they have also learned to be stewards of people."

He added that the workers will "probably get a chilly reception but we're not planning to promote that." Conkwright said his group has not accepted the idea that a site characterization is "inevitable." As a former president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, Conkwright said he and others felt "betrayed" that the chamber has not opposed the DOE project.

The chamber has not taken a vote on the issue, said Conkwright, but he said he interpreted the chamber as being supportive of the proposal by assisting a group of Hereford business people in making a presentation to workers in Columbus last week. "The chamber needs to reflect the thinking of a majority of its members, and I don't think they're doing that on this issue," said Conkwright.

Devin also announced that the fledgling National Nuclear Waste Task Force will be meeting at the Episcopal Conference Center near Amarillo Thursday and Friday. He said representatives of citizen groups from 13 states and Washington, D.C., have been invited to the conference on nuclear waste problems.

He added that some of the representatives will be attending a meeting at Hereford Community Center Friday, beginning at 7 p.m.

Devin said the representatives who have responded to the invitation to the Amarillo conference include "the best informed citizen group minds on the problems of storing nuclear waste." He added that they "give up their time and have nothing to gain financially by working on this issue. Their only concern is a safe, secure solution to the problems."

Devin said the NWF contends there is no safe site at present for the first repository. He said the group has tentatively endorsed "dry cask storage." Contrary to a statement made in Washington, D.C., "farmers here are not lining up to sell their land," said Devin.

Task Force Announcement

The Nuclear Waste Task Force announced here Monday morning that the Texas Conference of Churches has joined the NWF in efforts to oppose a repository in Deaf Smith County. Making statements at the news conference were, left to right:

Delbert Devin, president of NWF; Eloise McDougal, Hereford board member of the Texas Conference of Churches; and Jim Conkwright, spokesman for a new opposition group formed in Hereford.

Nuclear waste studies only small part of Battelle Institute work

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a three-part series by Brand staff writer Debe Graves who accompanied a group of Hereford citizens to Columbus, Ohio, to present information to Battelle Institute employees who are scheduled to be working in Hereford offices later this year.)

BY DEBE GRAVES
Brand Staff Writer

The Hereford delegation which made an informational trip to Columbus, Ohio, was surprised at the huge scope of activity in which Battelle Memorial Institute is involved. As residents of a county which is one of three sites chosen for research regarding the possible future placement of a nuclear repository site, we have become familiar with the Battelle name in connection with a sometimes negative image.

Battelle is the research company contracted to perform the site characterization study in Deaf Smith County, however, that is only a small part of what this multi-national company does.

Battelle Memorial Institute began operations in 1929 with 30 employees under the interpretation of a will left by Ohio industrialist, Gordon Battelle. Battelle established a fund to be used for the betterment of mankind and the Institute is still operated under the instructions found in Gordon Battelle's will.

Today the Institute employs a worldwide staff of 7,716. With operating divisions located in Columbus, Ohio; Frankfurt, West Germany; Geneva, Switzerland; and in Richland, Wash. The Institute also manages specialized facilities in Florida, Massachusetts and Washington. Internationally, Battelle has facilities and consultants in Bonn, London, Milan, Paris, Brussels, The Hague, Rio de Janeiro, Riyadh, Stockholm, Tokyo and Vienna. Battelle specializes in research and development for companies which contract their services in 40 countries.

The Battelle Institute operates as a non-profit organization and makes considerable charitable donations—$959,000 in 1985—to a wide range of educational and community service organizations such as soup kitchens to feed the needy, playground equipment for a children's center and the purchase of equipment needed in diagnosing disabilities for a handicapped children's center.

The company also encourages the civic mindedness of its employees. Battelle employees are volunteers in United Way, Big Brothers-Big Sister, YMCA, Boy Scouts, and in preparing food baskets and operating drives to collect Christmas gifts for less fortunate families.

Among Battelle's technical contributions to modern day life are the development of the Xerox copier, which is operational and on display at the Columbus office, and the plastic rings which hold your six pack of canned Cokes together.

In 1985, two Battelle Developments—a coating process for the pharmaceutical industry and a software program designed to assist in genetic engineering, were listed in Science Digest magazine as two of "100 Top Innovations." That same year Battelle also received awards for its pioneering work on hot isotactic processing now in commercial use for manufacturing alloys and ceramics. Battelle staff patented over 104 inventions in 1985.

Their problem-solving research has led to the development of BASIS software program which automates the storage and retrieval of information. Other Battelle research is concerned with laser processing of metal-forming tools, a multisolid fluidized bed steam generator, an abrasion-resistant coating to protect automobile surfaces, a biobarrier

County may relocate SS office

In a continuing effort to effectively deal with congestion in the courthouse, caused by Tuesday morning traffic to the Social Security office, county commissioners have decided to investigate the possibility of moving the office to the Bull Barn. Deaf Smith County has the largest non-primary site office for Social Security in the state and there are some at times as many as 60 people crowded in the hallway of the courthouse waiting to be served.

Other business during the regular court session included accepting a formal contract from First National Bank of Hereford as county depository.

Colleen Duffy, Juvenile Probation Officer, received permission from the court to advertise for temporary full-time position to replace Joan Slentz while she is on medical leave.

The commissioners will advertise for bids on a county paving project and for electrical wiring of a Precinct 3 barn located at Bootleg. Commissioners also discussed: -Dental insurance for county employees -Repair work needed on the fourth floor of the courthouse. -Comprehensive insurance on county vehicles.

Citizen group to review Hispanic dropout rates

Concerned Citizens of Deaf Smith County wants to find the causes of a high Hispanic drop-out in Hereford and use that to work toward encouraging Hispanic students to stay in school.

At a meeting in the Hereford Community Center on Saturday, about 150 Hispanics and Anglos heard a report which showed that 72 percent of the drop-outs who quit high school last semester were Hispanic surnamed. School district figures show that about 49 percent of the total number of students are Hispanic.

Concerned Citizens asked for the information from the Hereford Independent School District at a board meeting last month in an effort to focus on the problem at this month's Concerned Citizens meeting.

Of the 115 students in grades 10-12 who quit, 83 were Hispanic. Records from the past five years indicate a slight increase in the dropout rate for Hispanics and Anglos. The lowest year for both groups was 1982-83, when 10.08 percent of the students dropped out. The highest was 1985-86, when 14.09 percent of the students quit school. Hispanic dropout rates ranged from 65.26 percent in 1984-85 to 1985-86 when the percentage for Hispanics was at 73.01 percent.

In a film "Hispanic Dropouts: America's Time Bomb", the top five reasons for dropping out of school were listed. Poor grades was the primary reason, followed by quitting school to go to work, having problems at school, getting married, and pregnancy. Helen Cruz of the League of United Latin American Citizens in Amarillo came to present the film. Amarillo schools also are becoming concerned with high Hispanic dropout rates.

The film, produced by Southwestern Bell Telephone, said parents and schools must have the same goals — keeping students in school — to succeed.

Concerned Citizens had also asked the school board to recruit more Hispanic counselors in order to encourage students to stay in school and provide proper motivation.

Concerned citizens also reported that a voter registration office had been set up at 206 W. 8th, phone 364-5272, and that 30 voter registrars had been deputized. Bessie Mendoza, making the committee report for Rosalee Salinas, reported 18 candidates had filed in the city and school elections April 4. Voter deputies are also setting up tables throughout town to encourage registration.

Busy Meeting

Pete LaFuenta, Irene Cantu, and Delia Griego, listen to Helen Cruz of the Amarillo LULAC office discuss Hispanic dropout rates, prior to a film shown Saturday at the Concerned Citizens of Deaf Smith County meeting. The film, "Hispanic Dropouts: America's Time Bomb", rated poor grades as the top reason students quit school. The next four reasons were to work, having problems at school, to marry and pregnancy.

Court rejects housing proposal

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas prison system cannot temporarily house inmates at three sites that include a National Guard camp, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled.

The decision came Monday as Texas Department of Corrections officials announced the prison system was back below the 95-percent capacity limit and would reopen today. The prisons had been closed since last Thursday.

Texas sought permission last fall to move inmates from overcrowded cells to the Fort Wolters National Guard camp near Mineral Wells, a prison hospital unit at Galveston and to exceed 95-percent capacity at the Wynne prison unit at Huntsville.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice refused to grant permission, and the appeals court agreed with him.

"Of course, we are disappointed that the court disallowed the temporary use of these facilities, but we knew there was a strong likelihood the court would rule as it did," Attorney General Jim Mattox said.

He added, however, that the New Orleans appeals court did have some good news for Texas in its opinion.

Mattox said Justice Robert M. Hill, in a concurring opinion, suggested that federal courts "should be more flexible in allowing modification of consent decrees in ongoing prison reform litigation."

Mattox said the ruling will have no effect on the state's appeal of a Dec. 31, 1986, contempt citation against Texas by Judge Justice, who has threatened to fine the state $800,500 a day unless prison reforms are completed.

Study warns of danger from Israel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel may have acquired enough nuclear weaponry "to level every urban center in the Middle East" with a population of over 100,000, according to a study released today.

The report also cautions that if rebel governments take power in either South Africa or Pakistan and gain control of existing nuclear technology, the result could be "one of the gravest dangers of the next decade."

The warnings are contained in the third annual report on global nuclear proliferation by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Written by a Carnegie associate, Leonard S. Spector, the report also discloses that the Shah of Iran, shortly before his ouster in 1979, initiated work on a nuclear weapons research program that presumably has been inherited by the government of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

But Iran is still far short of a nuclear weapons capability, partly because the United States rejected the Shah's request for enough research reactor fuel to build at least one bomb, the report says. A State Department official said he had no information about that allegation.

Spector, who has worked on nuclear issues for more than 10 years, discusses the proliferation question in apocalyptic terms.

The study, titled "Going Nuclear," says at the outset, "Like the superpowers' nuclear arsenals, the continuing spread of nuclear weapons to additional nations poses incalculable risks to the world community."

Racist sentenced to 18 years

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A white man who admitted burning a cross on a black family's lawn and sending it racist hate mail has been sentenced to 18 years in prison under federal civil-rights and drug laws.

Michael Eugene Maas, 28, was also fined $800,000 on Monday by U.S. District Judge Earl Gilliam.

Maas pleaded guilty in October to five federal charges, four of them stemming from harassment which drove the black family from its Normal Heights home.

Under terms of a plea bargain, Maas admitted putting a burning cross on the family's front lawn, setting fire to their pickup truck, leaving a racist hate letter in their mailbox, and threatening to kill his ex-girlfriend if she revealed his role in the incidents.

In addition, Maas pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing and manufacturing methamphetamine.

"Being sorry is not enough," Maas said in a statement before the sentencing. "I realize I need help. I wish to become an asset to society rather than the deficit I have been."

Maas is already serving a nine-year sentence for breaking his ex-girlfriend's arms with a spiked baseball bat and attacking a black man with a machete.

Militias evacuating in West Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Warring Druse and Shiite Amal militias evacuated west Beirut today and Syrian peace-enforcing troops moved into their abandoned strongholds under a truce reached among militia and government leaders.

A long truck convoy carrying fighters of Druse warlord Walid Jumblatt's Progressive Socialist Party rolled out of their Jall el-Bahr main barracks at first light. They headed for his stronghold in the Chouf mountains southeast of Beirut.

Truckloads of militiamen of Justice Minister Nabih Berri's Shiite Moslem Amal were seen leaving the 40-story Morri Tower overnight and heading southward, presumably to Shiite suburbs.

The Syrians completed their deployment in the unfinished skyscraper at daybreak, police said.

The building, the capital city's tallest, commands the Green Line that splits Beirut into Moslem and Christian sectors. It long had been Amal's main base in the city.

Latin countries rethink policies

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Latin American nations, which owe a total of $350 billion to foreign creditors, are rethinking their debt policies in light of Brazil's suspension of payments on most of its $108 billion foreign debt.

Even the most moderate governments are coming to the conclusion long expressed by Cuba's president Fidel Castro that the Latin American debt is simply unpayable.

President Jose Sarney of Brazil, a centrist civilian, announced Friday his government was halting indefinitely its loan repayments to foreign banks. He said this was necessary to avoid "political instability, recession, unemployment and social chaos."

Brazil is the Third World's biggest debtor.

Sarney insisted his action was "not confrontation." He argued his country must buy time to negotiate more favorable repayment terms, mainly with about 750 American, Canadian, European and Japanese private banks that hold more than $70 billion of the Brazilian debt.

In Mexico, Latin America's No. 2 debtor with about $100 billion in outstanding loans, Treasury Secretary Gustavo Petricoli defended Brazil's action as a "perfectly valid, accepted clause in financial and debt restructuring agreements."

Petricoli warned that if the international financial community does not "cooperate" with Latin debtors, the entire lender-borrower arrangement in the region could be "at great risk."

Treasury Secretary Mario Broderbach of Argentina, which owes $83 billion, traveled to Brazil for talks today about foreign debt.

John Deere Day Presentation

Raymond White, White Implement, was honored by John Deere officials here Saturday for 36 years service as a dealer for the company. Mr. and Mrs. White received plaques from Dave Walters, left, Dallas branch office, and Rick Wright, territory manager from Amarillo. They also received the company's sesquicentennial commemorative plaque to celebrate John Deere's 150th year in business.

White honored by John Deere

Raymond White, the John Deere dealer in Hereford, was recognized by Deere & Company for White Implement's service to customers for 36 years during an anniversary party here Saturday.

The dealer recognition was in conjunction with the 150th anniversary for Deere & Company, which was founded in 1837 by John Deere, a pioneer blacksmith. White Implement invited customers to the dealership Saturday for a free luncheon and movie.

White was presented a commemorative sesquicentennial company plaque by Dave Walters of John Deere's Dallas branch office. In addition, territory manager Rick Wright of Amarillo presented White a plaque recognizing his 36 years of service as a John Deere dealer.

Walters said the plaques were the company's way of thanking White and other dealers in more than 100 countries for their efforts, "which have maintained Deere's standing as the largest supplier of farm equipment in the free world since 1963."

White Implement has been in business here since 1950 and employs 13 people.

Clements hopes for oil industry aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. oil industry needs help from the federal government, and the Reagan administration has concluded that some sort of governmental support is necessary, Texas Gov. Bill Clements said.

"The Reagan administration is no longer talking about the free market working. And I'm assured that there's a full realization that a free market does not exist as far as the petroleum industry is concerned," Clements said. "That's a great step forward."

Clements made his statements after a two-hour meeting with Energy Secretary John Herrington, attended by Rep. Beau Boulter, R-Amarillo, and Republican Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon.

Clements said the governmental action he advocates is adoption of an $18 per barrel floor price and a $25 per barrel ceiling for oil sold in the United States.

"Between those prices there would be some kind of government support," he said. "There would be no government assistance if the price were to go above $25."

The Texas governor said Herrington is studying an 800-page DOE report detailing options the government could take to support the domestic oil industry.

National lawmakers have expressed increasing concern about the nation's growing dependence on foreign oil, saying that national security depends on a reliable oil supply.

"We can't wait forever to have a national debate and go through congressional action," Clements said. "I think this has to be done by executive order."

Americans' consumption of Persian Gulf oil grew from 8 percent in 1965 to 15 percent last year, the highest percentage since 1961. Foreign oil imports accounted for 36 percent of consumption in the U.S. last year.

In addition, the price of oil has dropped by nearly two-thirds in the last year, devastating the economies of oil-producing states and driving many oil-related industries out of business.

"I think the issue that is concerning the people across the country on a national basis is a stabilized (oil) price," Clements said. "The wild gyrations — from $25 to $9 — it's not good for anybody. It's not good for us in Texas, it's not good for the fuel users on the Northeastern coast, it's not good for industry."

Clements said his floor and ceiling plan would help stabilize prices and go a long way to solving the nation's dependence on foreign oil.

Fourteen arrested

Hereford Police arrested 14 persons through the weekend and Monday. Six of the arrests were alcohol related and other were for public affray, shoplifting, assault, burglary and on warrants.

Police issued 125 citations during the time from Friday night until Tuesday morning.

Offenses reported included assaults, burglary of a motor vehicle, burglary of a business, harassment, a juvenile fight, a terrorist threat, theft of gasoline, theft of clothes, disorderly conduct, numerous criminal mischief incidents and a case of indecency with a child.

Firemen reported to two dumpster fires and an accident call to U.S. 60 and FM 2943 at which there were no injuries.

which repels intrusion of plant roots into a specific area without harming plants or trees, and robotics research.

Area cattlemen may have used a Battelle development in the form of a vaccine for shipping fever. Battelle also conducts research into medical technology. The Battelle employee who conducted the Hereford tour group commented that Battelle research covers everything from an adhesive, which keeps the tiles from falling off of the space shuttle, to developing a better tasting chocolate cookie. After touring the impressive, state-of-the-art facility, most of us could agree with the statement.

The division of Battelle which most deaf Smith county residents are familiar with is the Project Management Division which is contracted to manage the Office of Nuclear Waste Isolation (ONWI) for the Department of Energy.

Battelle project managers direct the work over 75 contractors at the three chosen sites to evaluate the suitability of the site for hosting a repository. The Battelle employees located in this area will not only determine the physical capability of, and safety of, a possible site in Deaf Smith County, they will also conduct studies and assess the environmental effects of the repository to the area.

Though the decision of the location of the repository will ultimately be made in Washington, Battelle employees could be the key in determining the suitability or lack of suitability of the site.

No matter how bad your problem is, it could be worse. Some people just can't win for losing. For instance, consider the most recent case of espionage in France. On the surface, the problem seemed straightforward: A former diplomat was sent to jail for giving secrets to the Chinese. However, it was the kinky aspects of the case — not the spy trial itself — that had Paris agog.

Bernard Boursicot, now 41, was posted at the French Embassy in Peking two decades ago. According to news releases, he met and fell in love with Shi Peipu, a Chinese opera singer. Traditionally, female roles are often played by men in the Chinese opera. Although Shi is a man (no pun intended), he successfully convinced the Frenchman that he was really a woman. A torrid affair ensued, during which Boursicot passed low-level secrets to his Chinese lover. After several months, Shi became "pregnant" and later gave "birth" to a son named Shi Dudu.

Boursicot believed the charade, even after Shi and Dudu went to live with him in Paris. The presence of a Chinese citizen living with a former French diplomat attracted the attention of the French counter-espionage service. Under intense questioning, Boursicot admitted his spying activities, as well as his longstanding intimacy with the Chinese performer.

During the trial, a shattered Boursicot was repeatedly asked about his sexual misidentification. In complete seriousness, he stated that their liaisons had always been hasty events that took place in the dark. "He was very shy. I thought it was a Chinese custom," Boursicot insisted.

Each man was sentenced to six years in prison. The spying affair seems to be over; what has Paris talking is the affair of the heart.

I wonder how Boursicot could have been involved in 20 years of sexual intimacy without discovering that his partner was a man. This seems incredible. Issues of gender anatomy aside, are we really to believe that such a personal relation could be sustained without the truth being detected? I mean, this is the 20th century. Is it possible for someone to hide his sexual identity so completely that his partner doesn't even suspect?

Shi must have been a top-notch actor. Surely, he played the role of his life and was able to extend the fantasy performance into the bedroom. But I worry about poor Boursicot. After all, the French pride themselves on being experienced masters of erotic skills. Is it comprehensible that an adult male could maintain such a misperception after rooting around for all those years in someone else's silk skirts? Didn't they ever take showers together?

We'll probably never know the answers. The whole macabre subject undoubtedly will be analyzed by sociologists and psychologists. They will conclude that we are an imperfect species, believing what we want to believe. We appear to have the ability to suspend objectively rational observations about each other, even to disregard them.

This tendency has spilled over into medical institutions. There's a move on nowadays to pretty up hospital rooms. Hospitals that can't fill their beds with sick people are trying a variety of means to attract patients by redecorating, putting out fresh-cut flowers, serving wine and attempting to make the institution more closely resemble a home.

Of course, nurses still have to fight for a raise while painters apply soft earthtone colors to the walls of empty rooms. Doctors will continue to be surly to patients who recline in new electric beds that do everything but scratch your back. The lab technician will still painfully probe for a vein while the patient winces and looks out of a window that is framed by chintz curtains. All the spiffiness doesn't alter the fact that hospital patients are uncomfortable, in pain or afraid. The little waterproof bracelet — giving your name, religion and hospital number — is still a reminder that you are at someone else's mercy, even if the bracelet is made of a bright and indestructible substance.

The skills of the professionals who take care of you probably haven't changed in 10 years. The food continues to be cooked to death. Unpredictable events and mishaps still occur in cheery hospital rooms. For all I know, the deinstitutionalization of hospitals may be a boon. But I wonder if the effort and money could be better spent on improving services, training, testing and treatment.

You see, hospitals are a lot like Chinese opera singers: What you see is not necessarily what you get. Send your questions to Dr. Gott in care of this newspaper at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Ann Landers

AIDS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can a person get AIDS from being bitten by a mosquito? We know that malaria is transmitted this way. I'm looking to you for a straight answer. Even my own doctor hems and haws. Thanks, Ann. - FORT SMITH, ARK.

DEAR F.S.: According to the American Council on Science and Health, there is no evidence that AIDS can be transmitted by mosquitoes, or any other insect. If this were possible, many more cases would show up among school-age children and the elderly.

AIDS, the fatal disease that cripples the immune system, is found mainly among homosexual and bisexual men (about 74 percent). IV drug users account for 17 percent. Hemophiliacs who picked up the virus in tainted blood transfusions make up about 5 percent. Heterosexuals who are not drug users or hemophiliacs account for 4 percent of all AIDS cases.

The Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta predict that during the year 1991 there will be an estimated 145,000 living Americans with AIDS, and 54,000 will die in one year. This means more people will die of AIDS than in automobile accidents. Currently each AIDS patient requires approximately $147,000 of hospital care.

The best way to protect yourself against AIDS is to stay away from prostitutes, be monogamous and have a monogamous sex partner. If there is any doubt about the faithfulness of your partner, a condom should be used.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am sick and tired about all this nonsense that has resulted in special seating areas in restaurants for smokers. I also say a plague on the nuts who believe smokers should not be permitted to light up on planes.

What about people who are allergic to perfume? Should we separate the sweet-smelling ladies to accommodate them? Where will it end? PLEA FOR SANITY (L.A.)

DEAR PLEA: There's no evidence that inhaling perfume will cause cancer. 'Nuff said.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Don't

print my letter, just the answer. I am - TOO RECOGNIZABLE IN D.C.

DEAR D.C.: True, divorce can result in an emotionally deprived child, but it also can work the other way. Some children in split situations are overindulged, as Mom and Dad compete for affection. When discipline is spared in an effort to win approval, the result is a spoiled, irresponsible, unhappy child.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife thinks it is perfectly OK to walk around the house in a lowcut babydoll nightie in front of her two sons by a former marriage. They are 12 and 14 years old.

This woman thinks nothing of eating breakfast in a towel wrapped around her. She also makes no effort to cover up when she goes to and from the shower even though the boys are in the hall.

She claims it is all right for them to see their mother like that. Her mother, she says, walked naked in front of her and her brother and they grew up with a healthy attitude toward sex.

I was raised differently. My mother was properly covered at all times in my presence. My sisters would not have dreamed of going naked in front of their father or me. How about this, Ann? We need you to settle the argument.—SECOND CIVIL WAR IN DIXIE

DEAR DIX: It is unwise for boys over 3 years of age to be exposed to the nudity of their mother. A mother who does this is being seductive, either knowingly or unknowingly. If your wife doesn't accept this advice, suggest that she discuss the matter with a counselor.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send $2.00 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Messer named Club Woman of the Year

For those who know Johnnie Messer, it came as no surprise when she was named Extension Homemakers Club Woman of the Year during the annual Appreciation Luncheon Monday at the Bull Barn.

The presentation was made by Debe Graves from The Hereford Brand. The Brand first began sponsoring the event in 1952 when Mrs. Palmer Norton of the Dawn Extension Homemakers Club was bestowed the award.

Messer was one of the founders of Draper Extension Club when it began in September of 1960. She is described by fellow club members as a "powerful leader and always readily available to tackle any endeavor."

Although she has only been a club member for six years, Messer has held every club office and has served on every committee for council. She has attended numerous state and district meetings and has served as a delegate on many occasions.

Her community leadership abilities were recognized when she was named as the Camp Fire Leader of the Year for 1984-85 at the annual Camp Fire Banquet. She is also actively involved in 4-H and the Hereford Riders Club for which her father-in-law was a charter member.

She and her husband, Jacky, have Messer Construction Co. and are the parents of three children. They attend First Christian Church.

During the luncheon, in which approximately 90 people were in attendance including city officials and other guests, a special welcome was extended by Messer who is serving as chairman of the Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers Council.

Helen Caraway, president of the Dawn Extension Homemakers Club, gave the invocation of Carol Odom, vice chairman of the council, introduced program speaker, Pet Ott of Wyche E.H. Club. Ott's topic was entitled "Through the Years With Extension Homemakers."

The presentation of other awards, including recognizing women who have had perfect attendance for 1986, were made by Jewell Hargrave, E.H. Council education chairman.

The luncheon, which featured a variety of vegetables, main dishes and desserts, was prepared and served by the Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers Club members.

Woman Of The Year

Johnnie Messer of Draper Extension Club, third from right, was announced as the Extension Homemakers Club Woman of the Year at the annual Appreciation Luncheon Monday. She was presented a silver engraved tray by The Hereford Brand representative, Debe Graves. Other award nominees recognized were, from left, Byrdie Fellers of Cultural Club, Audrey Rusher of Wyche Club, Becky Gould of Ford Club and Carolyn Evers of Westway Club. The annual event has been sponsored by The Brand since 1952.

Abundance Of Food

As in the past, a variety of excellent home-cooked food was served by Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers Club members during the annual Appreciation Luncheon Monday. Approximately 90 people were in attendance for the event in which Johnnie Messer was named Club Woman of the Year.

Special seminar set March 5

The continuing education program of West Texas State University's School of Nursing will present a series of seminars on Coping with Families of Dying Patients throughout the Texas Panhandle in coming weeks.

The Hereford seminar will be at Deaf Smith General Hospital from 5:30-8:30 p.m. March 5. Contact Rose Ann Smith, RN, at 364-2141 for further information.

The program will cover stages of grief, the health care worker's assessment of family dynamics and family interventions, and the health care worker's own response to death, dying and grief using lecture, sensitivity awareness exercises and role-playing.

The seminar is structured to serve a diverse audience—RN's, LVN's, nursing students, allied health personnel, professional counselors, all levels of EMS providers, and any interested persons in the community. Continuing Education Units will be awarded for attendance.

Dr. Leone Plummer and Kathleen Talbott will present these seminars. Dr. Plummer is currently the coordinator of the graduate nursing program at West Texas State University and teacher of family therapy. She received her Ph.D. in marriage and family counseling from Texas Tech.

She is also a licensed professional counselor, with a private practice in Amarillo.

Formby guest speaker at Bay View meeting

Clint Formby, president of the Associated Press, spoke to members of Bay View Study Club Thursday on "The Media and Our Society." Mrs. R.W. Eades served as hostess. Formby discussed his impression as he visited Cuba, a dedicated Communist country, located only 90 miles from the United States border. He said he was impressed by their educational system and their public health program. The students attend classes 30 hours a week and work in the fields 15 hours a week. Everything is strictly regimented and all is for the good of the country. Formby touched briefly on visits to Korea, Japan and England. He pointed out that the Japanese are 99.5 percent literate and that their news is completely government controlled. During the business meeting, Mrs. Jack Wilcox presided. Mrs. Werner Koelzer was welcomed as a guest by those present. They included Mmes. D.N. Garner, Kenneth Halbert, Juston McBride, A.D. Morrow, Austin Rose, Howard Gualt, W.J. Gilliland and Abel Ruga.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Write notes on household chores

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — To eliminate frustration when doing household chores, write notes! Usually no one is around when you find the wet towel on the bedroom floor or the tissue in the dryer or the faucet that still drips. Writing a constructive note to the person involved frees you to pick up the towel, etc., without feeling resentful and angry.

It's also a good way to remind people of appointments or tasks that come to mind at 10 a.m. when the person involved won't be home until dinner time. You can "handle" situations without waiting. It also makes your message clearer and eliminates nagging and complaining, and it makes you feel better to get things off your chest as they occur.

(Also: To make meatballs without the mess of frying, simply spray a cookie sheet with non-stick cooking spray and place the meatballs on the sheet. Bake at 375 for eight to ten minutes, depending on the size of the meatballs. This will brown them. They can then be added to your sauce and cooked as usual.) — SHEILA

DEAR SHEILA — A calm, objective note can go a lot farther in encouraging family members to change unacceptable behavior than yelling, nagging or sarcastic remarks. Do be sure, however, that the note is brief, to the point and not nasty, recriminating or accusatory. For example, "Wet towels belong in the hamper" is far more effective than "If you ever leave a wet towel on the floor again, you're grounded for life!" Your helpful Pointer earns you the Pointer of the Week award, a copy of my book "Polly's Pointers: 1081 Helpful Hints for Making Everything Last Longer." Others who would like this book can order it for $6.50. Make check payable to POLLY'S POINTERS and send to POLLY'S POINTERS, Box 1216, Dept. 55, Cincinnati, OH 45201. — POLLY

Hereford team wins north zone championship

The Hereford Satellite Work Training Center's basketball team won the Texas state Special Olympics north zone championship last Friday and Saturday in Waco.

The Hereford team won the gold medal for the class 2A masters division.

The 1987 tournament was the largest ever for the north zone, with more than 700 participants on 81 teams, reports Jerry Brock, who coached the Hereford team. The tournament was held at Baylor University.

On Friday, Hereford defeated the Wheeler Bandanas 23-15 in a first-round game, and beat Sweetwater 27-23 in the semifinals.

On Saturday, the championship game was tied 10-10 at halftime before Hereford went on to defeat the Midland Hounds 32-17.

Members of the Hereford Satellite Work Training Center's basketball team are: Mitch Merritt, Jerry Hall, Travis Johnson, Jessie Galan, Roger Garcia, Joe Brown, Mary Ann Brown, and Kip Redwine.

The top three teams from the north zone and the south zone will compete for the overall state championship in May. That tournament will be held at Austin.

Other Texas Panhandle teams that placed in the north zone tournament were Pampa, third in the class 1A senior division, and Borger, second in the class 1A masters division.

In the 25-15 victory over Wheeler, Hereford was led by Garcia with eight points, including four of four free throws. Hall scored six points, Mary Ann Brown scored three points, and Joe Brown, Galan and Johnson each scored two points.

Hereford's semifinal opponent, Sweetwater, was the favored team of the tournament, Brock noted.

Hereford trailed Sweetwater 8-6 after one quarter of play, and Hereford moved ahead 15-10 in the second quarter.

Sweetwater closed the gap to two points, 21-19, in the third quarter. The fourth quarter was a defensive battle.

Sweetwater tied the game at 23-23 after stealing the ball from Hereford. With one minute left, Garcia was fouled and made both free throws in a one-and one. A steal by Hereford resulted in the other basketball of the game, giving Hereford its four-point win, 27-23.

Hall was high scorer for Hereford with 12 points. Garcia and Johnson each scored six points, and Galan added three points.

The championship game saw Hereford and Midland tied 6-6 at the end of the first quarter and tied 10-10 at halftime.

"During halftime I had them just sit and I talked to them, because they were nervous," Brock said. "This proved to be the answer because they put in four quick baskets in the third quarter."

"We worked the press beautifully, and the third quarter ended with Hereford leading 26-15."

The Hereford defense allowed Midland only two points in the final period, and the Hereford Satellite Work Training Center team went on to post its 32-17 win for the north zone title.

Johnson and Hall each scored 10 points in the championship game. Garcia scored eight points, and Merritt and Mary Ann Brown each had two points. Redwin had six steals in the game.

Coach Brock said, "I would just like to say that the eight team members live the Special Olympics motto: 'Oh let me win; if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt.'"

"They set a goal to win the state north zone championship. They worked since November, they sweated, they fought, and they won."

The state north zone tournament had five masters divisions, five senior divisions, and three girls' divisions.

Mavericks score 121-95 victory over Golden State

By ERIC PREWITT AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Mavericks left the Golden State Warriors demoralized at the end of a Saturday night game and, two nights later, gave them an early reminder of that feeling.

"We had a few lapses," Mavericks Coach Dick Motta insisted.

But none were in the first four minutes of Monday night's game, which Dallas won 121-95 to make its record 35-19, fourth best in the NBA. The Mavs streaked to a 12-0 lead, with guard Brad Davis scoring five of the points, and were ahead 31-12 at the end of the opening period.

The Warriors were down by as many as 24 points in the second quarter, and center Joe Barry Carroll left the game four minutes before halftime because of a sprained left thumb. Jerome Whitehead, the team's backup center, was unavailable because of a foot injury. "But that didn't make any difference, not tonight," Coach George Karl admitted. "When we get frustrated like that, we can fall apart."

On Saturday night in Dallas, Carroll scored 33 points but the Mavericks pulled out a 122-111 overtime victory by outscoring the Warriors 19-8 in the extra period.

In his fourth game as a starter, filling in for injured Derek Harper, Davis scored a season-high 24 points. Rolando Blackman, the other starting guard, had 25 points and forward Mark Aguirre had 19, while Sleepy Floyd led Golden State with 24.

Dallas committed 19 turnovers, with five by Aguirre and four apiece by Davis and Blackman.

The Warriors, pressing often on defense, pulled to within 11 points of Dallas in the third quarter before losing their steam. The loss was the 13th in their last 17 games and they dropped into fourth place in the Pacific Division.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

When the Concerned Citizens was organized, the purpose of the organization was to help find solutions to various problems in our community. Some of these problems were: the bi-lingual program in our schools, the high drop out rate of our high school students, problems between parents, children, and the schools, and also the problem the labor camp residents were having with their water board. All of these are legitimate concerns that need workable solutions.

Recent events have clouded over the main purposes of this organization. First, a quote from an individual that was mistakenly attributed to the group as a whole, and now, a very controversial article that was printed in the Dallas Times Herald.

We want to encourage the members and future members of the Concerned Citizens to keep their goals in mind. If they stay with their decision to be non-political and get the school board and city commission to listen to their suggestions, then they will be helping solve the problems not adding to them.

Identifying the problems is always easier than finding solutions. But, identifying the problems is the beginning of the solutions.

As citizens, all the options in our governing system are open to us. We need to learn how to use these to accomplish our goals. We hope one of your priorities will be to use constructive ideas to bring positive changes.

Thank-you

Dear editor:

My wife and I attended the meeting of the Concerned Citizens which was held February 21, in the Community center. We were very favorably impressed with what we saw and heard.

The speakers at the meeting were concerned with the dropout rate of Hispanic students in the Hereford schools. They were urging parents to become involved in their child's education through encouragement at home and active involvement with the teachers and administrators when necessary. They were also in favor of Hispanic counselors to help students understand the importance of finishing school. They seemed willing to accept responsibility as parents for part of the dropout problem and to be seeking positive solutions.

We were encouraged by the positive attitude of the leaders of the meeting.

Respectfully,
N.D. Kelso

EXPERIENCED BURGLARS

CENTERPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Experienced burglars can tell immediately if a house has an alarm system, says security consultant Jim Lee. "A burglar will not usually hit a house if he can see it is protected. Some signs are foil on windows, bell or siren boxes, or known decals."

Singer Conway Twitty was born Harold Lloyd Jenkins in Friar's Point, Miss., on Sept. 1, 1933.

Field Marshal The Viscount Alexander of Tunis was the governor-general of Canada from 1946 until 1952.

Except for during the French Revolution, Monaco has belonged to the House of Grimaldi since 1297.

Newspaper Bible

As they neared Bethphage and Bethany on the outskirts of Jerusalem and came to the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two of His disciples on ahead.

"Go into that village over there," He told them, "and just as you enter you will see a colt tied up that has never been ridden. Untie him and bring him here.

And if anyone asks you what you are doing, just say, 'Our Master needs him and will return him soon.'"

Off went the two men and found the colt standing in the street, tied outside a house. As they were untying it, some who were standing there demanded, "What are you doing, untying that colt?"

So they said what Jesus had told them to, and then the men agreed.

So the colt was brought to Jesus and the disciples threw their cloaks across its back for Him to ride on.

Then many in the crowd spread out their coats along the road before Him, while others threw down leafy branches from the fields.

He was in the center of the procession with crowds ahead and behind, and all of them shouting, "Long live the King!" "Blessed is He who comes in the name of the Lord!"

"Blessed is the Kingdom He is bringing, the Kingdom of our father David!" ... "God save the King!"

And so He entered Jerusalem and went into the Temple. He looked around carefully at everything and then left—for now it was late in the afternoon—and went out to Bethany with the twelve disciples.
