WOMAN OF THE YEAR...

...honoree Helen Langley, right, with Lajeane Henry.

Helen Langley 'Woman of Year'

As a representative of United Way, Helen Langley attended the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night. She was prepared to make a report on the successful United Way Campaign she chaired; however, the speech she made was instead one of acceptance as the "Woman of the Year".

Lajeane Henry, last year's recipient, made the surprise presentation at the close of the banquet.

Lauded for her volunteer work on many worthwhile community and church projects, Langley stated, "This has been the most rewarding year of all the volunteer work I have done. I have loved working in the community and I thank you for this honor."

For volunteer work

Listing Langley's accomplishments, Henry noted, "This lady has lived in Hereford for 34 and one-half years. During this time she has been busy being a wife and mother, and giving of her time and talents to make her community and your community a better place to live."

Langley has been active in First United Methodist Church as a teacher, chairman of the Education Commission, youth and children's division worker and in conference-wide offices. She is a past president of United Methodist Women.

On Iran-Contra deal

House ready for probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, following the Senate's lead, is ready to charter an Iran-Contra probe amid partisan bickering over the release of a secret Senate report said to show President Reagan knew nothing of the diversion of arms sale profits to Nicaraguan rebels.

The Senate voted 88-4 on Tuesday to set up an 11-member investigating committee, giving it a seven-month mandate to complete its work. Public hearings are expected to open in mid-February into allegations that profits from secret sales of U.S. arms to Iran were used to aid the Nicaraguan Contra rebels.

The House is set to create its own 15-member panel.

It was clear Republicans were concerned about the potential impact of the investigations on the 1988 presidential elections. And Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., won a compromise agreement requiring the new committee to wrap up its work no later than Aug. 1, three months earlier than originally proposed.

"It does not serve the national interest to belabor a point," said Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo. "It does not serve the national interest to keep an issue alive month after month after month after month."

Dole and his GOP colleagues pressed for public release of the 133-page report by the Senate Intelligence Committee which, according to Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn., the panel's former chairman, makes clear Reagan did not know of the diversion of the Iran arms sale profits.

The panel voted 7-6 on Monday not to release the report after Democrats said the document was flawed by important gaps in testimony.

Dole said that since the report has been officially unclassified, he would have no objection if someone took a copy to the Senate floor and read it into the Congressional Record. But no one did that.

The new Senate majority leader, Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said releasing it now, before all the facts and testimony are in, would be highly mischievous and misleading.

"I personally have no evidence the president violated the law," Byrd said. "But that doesn't mean that I now know everything that is knowable."

Snow in forecast

By The Associated Press

Scattered areas of freezing rain and snow are forecast for northern portions of West Texas tonight.

Most areas will get very little accumulation of snow, the National Weather Service said.

Forecasts also called for some light rain in southern portions of West Texas tonight, some light rain or drizzle in South Texas and in North Texas.

A weak cold front was moving slowly southward across the state today. At dawn, the front extended from near Texarkana southwestward to the Permian Basin area of West Texas.

Lows tonight will be in the 20s and 30s over West Texas, in the 30s and 40s in North Texas and in the 50s over most of South Texas, ranging from the 40s in the Hill Country to the 60s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the coast.

Beyond that, Byrd said he had discovered "at least one glaring example" in which administration officials who had scrutinized the report to remove intelligence and national security secrets had removed "material that was not classified."

"Why all the hurry? Everything is going to be revealed. ... Let's not get in too big a rush here," Byrd said.

Durenberger told reporters the deleted material, about four pages, was not particularly embarrassing to the White House, but was removed because it came from staff investigators.

Board members honoring Herd

To show their pride in having a team go to state semi-finals playoffs, Hereford Schools trustees are hosting a public reception for the Hereford High Whiteface football players Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

From 7:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. the team will be honored and at 8:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium the "Salute the Herd" slide show of fall school activities will be shown. The hour-long multi-media program is sponsored by the Good Guys Youth Ministries.

Lo-Mart opened today

LoMart Discount Center, located at US-385 and 15th Street, started operation at 10 a.m. today and will continue its grand opening specials for a week.

The new store will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays. The Furr's, Inc., store is in the former Smith Food & Drug building.

An advertising supplement for LoMart is included in today's newspaper. It was scheduled to appear in the Tuesday Brand, but the supplement arrived late from the printers. The store offers merchandise such as clothes, sporting goods, small appliances, paper goods, beer and wine, health and beauty aids, automotive supplies and much more.

Newspaper stands burglarized

Three Amarillo Daily News paper stands were reported burglarized early today with an estimated loss of $100. The stands were at Save-N-Gain, Allsup's at Park and Fourth, and at the hospital.

Other police reports include a family disturbance at 607 Irving, vandalism to a car at 107 Northwest Drive, threat by mail at 412 Ave. B and a battery stolen from a pickup at the Great American Food & Beverage.

Arrested were a 20-year-old male for minor in consumption of alcohol, and a 17-year-old on two warrants from municipal court.

Eight citations were issued and one minor accident investigated.

One fire call was reported at 627 Stanton, but the fire was out when firemen arrived.

LeGate to join tax board

Tom LeGate will take the oath of office for the Deaf Smith County Appraisal District board when the group meets at 7 p.m. Thursday. At the meeting, to be held at 402 W. Fourth, routine agenda items plus organization of the board are to be tended.

Local urologist says prostate trouble can lead to kidney failure

By DEBE GRAVES
Feature Writer

(Editor's Note: President Reagan is expected to be released later this week after a successful prostate operation performed Monday. The 75-year-old President underwent a transurethral resection, TUR, of the prostate to relieve blockage of the urethra tube responsible for draining the bladder.)

Hereford urologist Dr. David Baddour, who locally does the surgery President Reagan had Monday, explains, "The prostate is a gland at the neck of the bladder. The urethra, a channel for urine, passes through the prostate."

The prostate is usually very small from birth to puberty then undergoes a phase of rapid growth until the early 30's. At age 45 most men experience another episode of prostate growth.

Baddour comments, "Currently there are no good answers to the physiology of the growth but the best explanation is a change in the balance of hormones."

As the prostate enlarges it spreads inward as well as outward. It is this non-cancerous growth which restricts the urethra and obstructs the flow of urine. At present, there is no medicine that significantly relieves the obstruction. More than 350,000 American men annually undergo surgery for this problem. Because the urine flow is restricted symptoms include slow urination, reduced force of stream, hesitant stream, more frequent urination and necessity for night urination.

The added effort required to urinate causes the bladder walls to thicken and stretch out of shape. In time the bladder loses its ability to empty and urine is retained, eventually the overworked bladder may not be able to release urine at all. Though most prostate disorders are not life threatening, continued untreated this condition can lead to kidney failure and congestive heart failure. Baddour elaborates, "If surgery is unduly delayed there is a potential for damage to the kidneys and the patient may develop acute renal failure and congestive heart failure from the accumulation of fluids within their system."

Baddour states, "It is not normal for a man to have reduced flow of urine stream with age. The criteria is that the normal flow rate of urine should be greater or equal to 20cc per second. When it is below 10cc per second it is a clear indication for surgery."

to catch any problems in the early stages. Baddour feels that a specialist is better able to determine the presence of a lesion because they are more familiar with the physiology. He states, "Digital rectal examination is the most sensitive test to detect early cancer of the prostate and if done yearly could save many lives. A specialist is more familiar with smaller lesions in deep tissue. My greatest frustration since I came to Hereford, eight years ago, is that most patients who come to me with cancer of the prostate wait to see me until the cancer is already too far advanced." When present, cancer of the prostate usually starts toward the outside only. Because of its location it can mimic some of the symptoms of obstruction, though it frequently does not.

During an exam for enlarged prostate the urologist will use a flexible tube called a Cytoscope to view the inside of the bladder and the prostate. By inserting this lighted device through the urethra the physician

We lost another good'un from our community Tuesday. Judge Hank Williams gave up the battle after Alzheimer's Disease robbed him of his memories, his personality and his life.

Judge Williams had already been missed in the community because he was out of touch with friends for several years. We first came to know

Williams in 1972. He may have been the most colorful and controversial judge to serve this county. But no one ever doubted his integrity nor his goal of serving the county to the best of his ability.

Through his service, we will still have the memories of his vibrant personality, his unique sense of humor, and a respect for the life he shared with us in public office.

Senator Bill Sarpalis talks about state taxes in a recent newsletter to his constituents and lays it on the line when he warns that the new legislative session which convenes in January will spend most of its time trying to figure out ways to raise state revenues.

He points out that the state deficit has not gone away and that the only real way to get rid of it is through more tax revenue. The hope that the deficit can be reduced by slashing state spending seems rather far fetched even though a great many

Former county judge dies

Henry Curle (Hank) Williams, 75, former Deaf Smith County Judge, died Tuesday afternoon following a lengthy illness.

Graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in West Park Cemetery with Doug Manning, retired Baptist minister, officiating. Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Williams served as Deaf Smith County Judge for 13 years. He was first appointed to the post in 1961 to finish the term of Don Zimmerman, who resigned. He was then elected for three more terms.

Mr. Williams was born Feb. 18, 1911 in Oklahoma City. He was married to Delight Pinkenbinder in 1939.

They moved to Hereford in 1950 from Clinton, Okla. He was a farmer and rancher. Mr. Williams was a veteran, serving in the U.S. Navy in World War II.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Sheila Thames of Hereford and Charlotte Bowman of Bartlesville, Okla.; and two granddaughters, Laura and Delight Thames.

Memorials may be made to Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association, 1410 B. W. 8th St., Amarillo, Texas 79101.

The Deaf Smith County courthouse will be closed from 1-2 p.m. Thursday.

Negotiator brags on boy hostage

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — A veteran hostage negotiator who coaxed a gun-wielding man to release a 10-year-old after an eight-hour standoff said Tuesday the boy should be considered a hero.

"The boy was a great help. He was a hero in his own right. He was extremely calm. I wouldn't expect a 10-year-old child to respond in that manner," said airport police Sgt. Gary Pinkston, who used a piece of paper rolled up in a pneumatic tube to bring an end to the ordeal.

Pinkston said the hostage, Michael Caruso Jr., was calm during the time he was held captive at the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport Monday night by a man identified as Solah Kas Abou-Kassem, who told authorities he was born in Damascus, Syria. The man had threatened to kill the child inside the Delta Air Lines terminal unless he was given passage to Egypt or any other Arab nation.

It was Pinkston who in February 1985 negotiated the successful end of a hostage situation aboard a Delta jetliner. In that incident, a man held a hostage with a small knife.

The 12-year-veteran of airport police, said the gunman Monday at first was "very upset and agitated," but he calmed down as talks wore on.

Authorities said the man grabbed the boy at the ticket counter, fired a shot in the air, and forced his way inside a secured gate area.

In the end, it was a typed document purported to be passport papers that gained the release of the boy, officials said.

Neither Pinkston nor Len Limmer, airport public safety director, would say what the document actually contained.

Pinkston said he threw the document to the kidnapper.

"The situation was resolved almost immediately as soon as the document was in his hands," Pinkston said.

Pinkston was in plain clothes and wore a bullet-proof vest during negotiations, he said. He said he never displayed a weapon and was inside the terminal about 30 feet to 50 feet from Abou-Kassem and the boy.

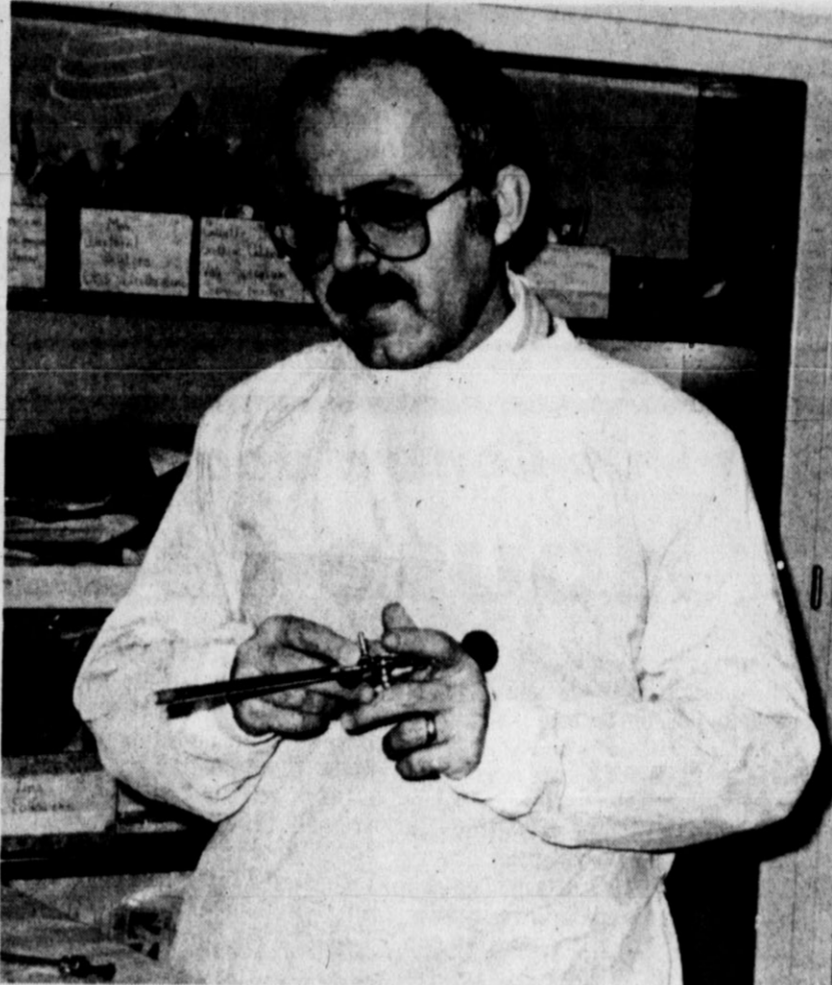

The boy appeared to have established a relationship with his abductor, Pinkston said. Michael frequently talked with the man, but Pinkston said he could not hear their conversations.

Pinkston said the gunman made various threats throughout the ordeal, and there were "some tense moments."

"By the same token, he was showing a willingness to cooperate with us," Pinkston said. "I became continually confident I could talk to him. We established a meaningful dialogue. He never gave any indication he wanted to break off the negotiations."

Pinkston said the talks were sometimes difficult because the gunman spoke broken English.

In the end, the man put down his gun and Michael walked to Pinkston, who whisked him to safety.

can assess the amount of obstruction. In cases of obstruction requiring TUR surgery the patient can expect a hospital stay of five days.

Dr. Baddour performs the surgery at Deaf Smith General Hospital. Registered Nurse, Renee Manning, of DSGH explains, "The patient enters the hospital the afternoon before surgery. At that time he will have some blood tests such as CBC, type and screening. Dr. Baddour also orders an EKG to be sure there are no heart problems which would contra-indicate surgery and a chest x-ray to make certain the lungs are clear."

Following the test the patient is allowed to rest. The anesthesiologist will visit with the patient at some point that evening to explain the method of anesthesia, Baddour prefers a spinal block with possible IV of a drug such as valium. At midnight the patient will be restricted from intaking any food or water.

The morning of the surgery the patient receives some medication to help relax the muscles and is taken to the surgery unit where additional anesthesia is administered. The surgery is performed without making an incision. An instrument called a resectoscope is inserted through the urethral opening with the aid of a cauterizing tip and water flush system the urologist chips away the excess prostate tissue. Baddour notes, "The surgery takes approximately 60 minutes for an average size prostate. It may take from 100 to 300 chips to remove the adenomous tissue."

Though patients may expect no post-operative pain from the procedure Baddour does advise, that there may be minimum to moderate discomfort due to bladder spasms and a Foley catheter which placed during the surgery. The catheter is usually left in place for 48 hours or until the bleeding has cleared. After the catheter is removed the patient remains in the hospital for one day prior to release.

Post-operative patients are advised to refrain from strenuous exercise and heavy lifting for one month and are given stool softeners to avoid straining during bowel movements.

Baddour noted that there is less than 5 percent impotence rate after the surgery and in a great majority of cases sexual performance remains the same or improves.

"Total cost of the operation is $1,280 for the physician fee and from three to four thousand dollars for the hospital expenses," estimates Baddour. The procedure is covered by Medicare and insurance companies.

Clements believes state's budget problems offer more opportunities

AUSTIN (AP) — Yes, the state faces a $5 billion budget deficit. Yes, prisons are overcrowded. Yes, the tax increase designed to ease the budget crisis is to be rolled back eight months from now.

But no, Bill Clements isn't worried about returning to the governor's office in such troubled times.

In fact, the former and future governor insisted during an interview that these are the times that can bring great accomplishments.

"If I had my druthers, I really would rather address the situation that has the most problems," he said.

"It's more interesting. It's more lively. It's a greater mental exercise and a greater challenge. In summation, it represents far greater opportunities."

Clements, the state's only Republican governor in 100 years when sworn in for his first term in 1979, will take the oath of office a second time at noon Jan. 20.

He will inherit financial woes so severe that Texas lawmakers spent two months of hand-wringing and tooth-gnashing during special sessions last summer before raising taxes and trimming spending.

He will face overcrowded prisons and a federal judge who demands reform.

He will face university lobbyists who insist that budget cuts and salary freezes have sent a flood of talented Texas professors flowing into more lucrative jobs in other states.

But the self-made millionaire, who built the world's largest oil-drilling company from a couple of used rigs, says the state's current woes could lead to big improvements in the way Texas is governed.

Clements said he went to work immediately after defeating Democrat Mark White on Nov. 4, appointing task forces to make recommendations on the budget, creating jobs, and overhauling the criminal justice system.

He laid down the law to state agencies, telling them in no uncertain terms how to handle budgeting: "What you can pay for, you can have, and what you can't pay for you ain't going to get."

He has been talking with top legislative leaders, including House Speaker Gib Lewis and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and key committee chairmen. He says they agree that the time has come for a "restructuring" of government into a leaner, more efficient, more productive operation.

"There is a solid feeling that because of the existing circumstances in our state fiscal matters, we have an opportunity — and that's the key word — we have an opportunity to do some of these things that perhaps two years ago, four years ago, 10 years ago, the timing was wrong. That opportunity did not exist (then), but I think it does today."

Seated in the conference room of his 15th-story transition office, with a panoramic view of Austin behind him, Clements declined during a wide-ranging interview to offer many specifics about how he hopes to accomplish all this after the Legislature convenes Tuesday, Jan. 13.

He has repeatedly answered "no" to questions about higher taxes. But he also has repeatedly refused to divulge his battle plan until he is sworn in.

"I am not going to make those kinds of disclosures or statements or ventilation of plans until I make my address to the Legislature in the latter part of January," he said.

What Clements will say is that the state's tax structure is under review. Experts are examining various proposals for changing the sales tax to apply to services as well as goods, he said, but nothing is final.

"We are making several different scenarios, looking at different options. I'm very flexible in regard to this whole issue of tax restructuring, but it has to be revenue-neutral."

Clements is aware of a bill filed by Rep. Mark Stiles, D-Beaumont, which proposes to consolidate the nearly 300 state government agencies into some 26 superagencies.

Philosophically, Clements said, there is merit in some mergers.

"I think we have too many departments, agencies, commissions, whatever you want to call them. There certainly is a sense of duplication and overlap that could be eliminated," he said.

"I have a completely open mind about this. Again, if you start talking in terms of priorities, there are some that are more obvious than others. There are also some that are easier than others."

But except to say that he thinks the seven or eight separate economic development agencies should be combined into a single department of commerce, Clements shuns questions about specific mergers.

"Restructuring means a lot of different things to different people," he said.

"Once you start that process, and you start stepping on people's toes and determining whose ox is going to get gored, a lot of these advocates of restructuring begin to get restless, a little nervous."

"I think the timing is right for us to do that now. We can do things now that in the past perhaps weren't possible."

Reagan healthy, eager for work

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan shows no signs of new cancer and is recovering normally from prostate surgery, his doctors say, and the 75-year-old chief executive is eager to leave the hospital to return to the White House.

Results of a computerized, three-dimensional X-ray given to Reagan early Tuesday evening showed no recurrence of the colon cancer the president had 18 months ago.

Doctors at Bethesda Naval Hospital near Washington also said the president was making a normal recovery from surgery that removed nearly an ounce of material from his prostate gland on Monday.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes described the president as "chomping at the bit to leave the hospital."

The CAT scan of Reagan's abdominal organs was designed to search for any spread of cancer, particularly in light of his 1985 bout with colon cancer.

The president's physician, Army Col. John Hutton, said the tests "showed no abnormalities or disease other than evidence of previous surgical procedures," including the prostate and cancer operations, and his emergency surgery in 1981 for removal of a bullet in the lung during an assassination attempt.

"The mineralization of bone and size and consistency of the liver were compatible with that of a man much younger than the president," who will be 76 in one month, Hutton said in a statement.

"This evening's post-operative blood tests and vital signs are normal," Hutton added.

First lady Nancy Reagan told reporters outside the hospital the CAT scan test results were "wonderful." When asked if the president had been given a clean bill of health, a beaming first lady replied, "Yes."

Mrs. Reagan, who had dinner with her husband before she left the hospital for the evening, said she did not know when he would be released.

Earlier in the day, Reagan, appearing for the first time since his prostate surgery, smiled and waved from a window of the hospital and called out answers to reporters' questions with gusto.

Asked how he was feeling, he said, "Fine." Queried when he might leave, Reagan replied that he might return to the White House as early as Thursday.

The president's mood turned somber when he was asked about CIA Director William Casey, who remains hospitalized at Georgetown University Hospital nearly three weeks after surgery for brain cancer.

"Well, my prayers are with him," Reagan responded in a soft voice.

Chamoun wounded by car bomb

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Former President Camille Chamoun was slightly injured today when a car bomb exploded in Christian east Beirut as his motorcade passed by. Three bodyguards and a pedestrian were killed and 35 passersby were wounded, police said.

"God is protecting us," Chamoun, 86, said on Voice of Lebanon radio after being released from a hospital where he was treated for shrapnel wounds on the face and hands.

Police said it was the fourth assassination attempt against Chamoun, a Maronite Catholic, since 1968. He was president from 1952-58, and currently is finance minister.

"I believe in the Virgin Mary, whose icon I always wear on my chest. She protects me," Chamoun said on the radio, speaking in a steady voice.

Police said a blue Peugeot laden with 165 pounds of explosives was detonated by remote control at 9:30 a.m. as Chamoun's motorcade passed by in east Beirut's Mattaheen industrial district.

The force of the blast hurled Chamoun's bulletproof gray Mercedes-Benz about 20 yards off the road, police said. "But it miraculously landed on its wheels and he survived along with his driver," said one police official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The bodyguards' car took the brunt of the blast, which carved a crater six feet deep and 14 feet wide in the road, the official said. Twenty-six other cars were destroyed, and glass shards littered the road for a 300-yard radius, witnesses said.

Police said Chamoun was en route to a meeting of the Lebanese Front. The Front is a coalition of rightist Christian groups involved in Lebanon's 11-year-old civil war against the Moslems.

Irrigation conference set

AMARILLO — When producers from across the Panhandle, High and Rolling Plains gather here Jan. 8 for the annual High Plains Irrigation Conference, they'll share their own successes and snags in crop irrigation, as well as those of scientists and Extension specialists.

One of the popular features of the annual meeting, conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is a panel of growers telling how they have fared using various irrigation practices and equipment.

"We have another outstanding panel this year," said Leon New, Extension irrigation specialist and conference coordinator. "You can be sure they'll tell it the way it is."

Panelists this year will be Jay Spearman of Pampa, George Sides of Dimmitt, Wayne Lidster of Dalhart and Joe Helms of Quitaque.

The conference will be at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. District Extension Director Paul Gross will open the program at 9:25 a.m.

"Irrigation Strategies for 1987" is the conference theme. New said the program will focus upon ways to achieve the optimum return from irrigation.

Speakers will include Dr. Michael Hickey, Extension soil chemist, Lubbock, on the proper match of soil fertility and irrigation water; and Dr. Stephen Amosson, Extension agricultural economist, Amarillo, with irrigation management guides for major crops of the area.

Dr. William Lyle, research agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock-Halfway, will report latest data on chemigation and research with the low energy precision application (LEPA) systems. Lyle recently was named "Man of the Year" by The Irrigation Association, an international organization which promotes good irrigation practices and procedures.

legislators are paying lip service to spending cuts.

Nobody seems to be able to come to grips with state spending and actually cut spending until it hurts. Gov. Bill Clements is going into office on a platform of no new taxes, no higher taxes and much less state spending. Whether or not Clements can carry out his campaign promises toward a lower state budget remains to be seen. We have to remember that President Reagan took office in 1981 with firm determination to reduce federal spending and now we find ourselves with a larger deficit than ever.

This cannot be blamed entirely upon the president, and neither can deficit fiscal policies be blamed on the governor. All we can ask is that they provide leadership and try and persuade the legislature and the Congress to do something about deficit financing.

What a number of members of the Texas Legislature are looking at is a "reform" of the sales tax structure which involves removing about everything from the list of exemptions. This means that Texans would pay sales taxes on all services if the proposal is carried out.

Maybe it will not come to pass and maybe we will have some big cuts in state spending, but it will take a miracle to accomplish it.

OBITUARIES

VIRGIE WALLACE
Jan. 5, 1987

Graveside services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at West Park Cemetery for Virgie Wallace, 89, of Fort Smith, Ark. She was the mother of Wilson Wallace, former pastor of Central Church of Christ in Hereford. Arrangements are with Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Wallace, a homemaker, died Monday. Her husband Foy preceded her in death.

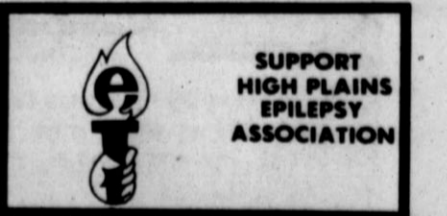

She was born in Heidenheimen, Texas. She was a member of the Church of Christ in Fort Smith.

She is survived by two daughters, Lee Ella Wallace of Yucca Valley, Calif., and Martha Jane Black of Fort Smith; three sons, Austin Taylor Wallace of Casper, Wyo.; Wilson Wallace of McEwen, Tenn. and William Wallace, Newport, N.C.; 15 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren.

Citizens 4-H planning wiener roast Thursday

The Citizens 4-H Club will hold a wiener roast in conjunction with their regularly scheduled meeting on Thursday, Jan. 8, at 7 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Community Center. Club members will be contacted on what to bring.

The program for the meeting will be presented by personnel from the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department on teenage and adolescent drug abuse. All Citizens Club members and their families are requested to attend.

Fresh ice cream with no machine

DEAR POLLY — I love homemade ice cream, but I don't have an ice-cream machine. Can you tell me the procedure for freezing ice cream without a machine? — SANDRA

DEAR SANDRA — The results won't be as smooth and creamy, but most ice-cream recipes can be frozen without an ice-cream maker. Recipes high in fat (lots of heavy cream, eggs, etc.) or recipes that include gelatin tend to be smoother when still frozen than recipes that rely on milk. (Sorry about that, calorie counters!)

To freeze the ice cream without a machine, put the ice-cream mixture into a shallow pan or a couple of ice-cube trays, and let the mixture freeze until softly frozen. Then break the mixture into chunks and put it in a bowl. Beat the frozen mixture until smooth and fluffy with an electric mixer, return the beaten mixture to the shallow pan and freeze until firm. The beating procedure may be repeated one more time to make smoother ice cream.

Here's a recipe for ice cream that doesn't need a machine and doesn't need to be beaten while freezing. It's delicious and easy.

Combine one 14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk with 2 tablespoons water, 3 beaten egg yolks and 4 teaspoons vanilla. Fold in 2 cups of heavy cream that has been whipped until fluffy. Pour the mixture into a 2-quart, foil-lined container such as a loaf pan. Cover with foil or plastic wrap and freeze for six hours or until firm.

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter "Homemade Ice Cream," which includes the above recipe as well as a similar recipe for chocolate ice cream. For those of you with machines (or who want to use the beating procedure described above), there are also luscious recipes for a variety of flavors of conventional ice cream — strawberry, vanilla, rocky road, chocolate, banana and more! There's even a low-cal frozen banana concoction that tastes just like soft-frozen ice cream.

Others who would like a copy of this issue should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

New Officers Installed

Lanette Leasure relinquished her position as president of the Women's Division during the organization's first quarterly meeting of 1987 held Tuesday evening. Approximately 65 people were in attendance for the annual event which was climaxed by naming Helen Langley as "Woman of the Year" for 1986. New officers installed were, from left, Betty Taylor, president; Sue Malaman, vice president; Jo Ann Hill, secretary; and Billie Hopson, Helen Eades and Adeline Cunningham, directors.

learned a lot and grown a lot." Leasure and outgoing directors Peggy Fox and Linda Daniel were presented plaques for their service to the organization. After offering praise for the assistance she received from Chamber employs and gratitude for family support, Leasure assisted with the installation of new officers and directors.

Mrs. Johnny Messer led the installation with a symbolic presentation of the wheel. Officers represented the hub and members of the rim which keeps the wheel rolling. Serving as the Women's Division's 1987 president will be Betty Taylor. Other officers installed were Sue Malaman, vice president; Jo Ann Hill, secretary; and Billie Hopson, Helen Eades and Adeline Cunningham, directors.

Taylor addressed members with her 1987 theme "Challenges and Rewards." She listed challenges of, "Membership, involvement, enthusiasm and positive attitudes to build a Women's Division which is a viable force in our community."

Taylor then announced committee chairmen for the coming year. Jane White will serve as chairman for the animal action committee; Avis Blakey, beautification; Bea Sciunbato, beauty spot of the month; Carol Kelley, blood bank; Keith Ann Gearn, Christmas Carousal; Anita Hampton, Christmas lighting contest; Betty Drake, Christmas tree ceremony; Sue Malaman, decorations; Norma Coffey, finance and budget; Teresa Dodson, Town 'n' Country Jubilee; Barbara Allen, fine arts; Claudia Wilson, Little Miss Hereford; Donna West, Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant; Connie McGill, membership; Lanette Leasure, public affairs and publicity; Georgia Sparks, regional meeting; Peggie Fox, telephone; Ruth Newsom, tour; and Betty Owen, welcome.

All Women's Division members will be notified of the committee to which they have been assigned.

Those wishing to serve on a particular committee are asked to contact Taylor.

General membership meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of April, July and October. Any woman who is a resident of Deaf Smith County may become a member by signing a membership application and the payment of the annual dues.

District record drops to 1-6

HHS girls suffer 37-29 loss

Hereford High School suffered its sixth loss in seven District 1-4A girls' basketball games Tuesday night in Lubbock, 37-29 to Lubbock Dunbar. The loss dropped Hereford to 6-14 for the season. Hereford's junior varsity team scored a 57-29 victory and is now 4-7 for the season. The HHS teams have an open date Friday. Their next games will be on Monday night at Lubbock Estacado, with the varsity game scheduled for 6 p.m. and the junior varsity game at 7:30 p.m. The Hereford Whiteface varsity played without six varsity athletes Tuesday night. Out of the lineup were three players because of injuries —

Susie Kalka, Jeanette Mumau and Cindy Tice, and three others because of illnesses — Carmen Brockman, Kathy Banner and Kamille Martin. Hereford trailed Dunbar at halftime 24-16. Each team scored eight in the third period, and each team had five fourth quarter points, with Dunbar winning by eight points, 37-29. Leading scorers for Hereford were Katie Ramey with eight points, Brandi Binder with six points, and Amy Coneway with five points. Binder led in rebounding with nine, Susan Gage had eight rebounds and Coneway grabbed seven rebounds. Tricia Kahlich led in assists with five, and Gage led in steals with four. In the junior varsity game, Susan Bell, Shea McGinty and Melissa LaFuernte combined for 30 second half points to lead Hereford to its 57-29 win over Dunbar. Bell scored 11 points in the second half, and totaled 13 for the game. McGinty, who had 17 points for the game, scored 10 of them in the second half. LaFuernte scored nine points in the game, all of them in the fourth quarter. Hereford held a 19-15 halftime lead, and then built the lead to 38-20 in the third quarter. As a team, Hereford 24 field goals, 18 of them scoring after assists. Bell led in assists with 5 and three other players each had three assists — McGinty, Renee Mercer and Maricella Ramirez. McGinty was the leading rebounder with 15, and LaFuernte led in steals with seven.

Bosworth's days at OU may not be over

By OWEN CANFIELD
AP Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Brian Bosworth's football career at Oklahoma may not be finished after all. Bosworth was informed by Coach Barry Switzer on Monday that he should not plan on returning for his final year of eligibility. But Tuesday, Switzer issued a statement that left the door open. "If Brian does not option to play pro football, he and I will discuss his possible future participation at a later date," Switzer said. The turnaround came after Bosworth, a fourth-year junior, issued a lengthy apology in which he said he was "terribly embarrassed" by the concern his actions and remarks had caused university officials. Repeated efforts to contact Switzer at his home Tuesday night were unsuccessful. However, reached at his office by The Daily Oklahoman, Switzer said Bosworth is "like a whipped dog. He's embarrassed. He regrets it, he knows he's wrong and he didn't realize the consequences. "He didn't realize anything like this could happen to him," Switzer said. "He doesn't want to leave the University of Oklahoma as an 'expelled' player." Switzer said Bosworth's apology "wipes the slate clean. I think it's something that can be positive for him and us."

recommendation that Bosworth not return was the linebacker's actions during the Orange Bowl game last week. Bosworth wore a T-shirt that, using the initials of the NCAA, read "National Communists Against Athletes." The T-shirt was Bosworth's final say about the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which barred him from playing in the Orange Bowl because he had tested positive for steroid use. "I know the drug program is in the best interest of the student-athlete and I should have been sensitive to the NCAA," Bosworth said in his apology, issued Monday night.

Walcott teams score wins over St. Anthony's

Walcott School basketball teams both recorded victories at home Monday against St. Anthony's School teams. The Walcott boys scored a 28-24 victory, and the Walcott girls won in overtime, 22-21. The Walcott teams will play in a tournament at Lazbuddie on Saturday, and then will play in a tournament on Saturday, Jan. 17 in Wildorado. The last games of the season for Walcott are scheduled on Monday, Jan. 19 at St. Anthony's School, starting at 6 p.m. Walcott led 16-6 at halftime Monday in defeating St. Anthony's 28-24. Greg Oakley led Walcott with 12 points, Goyo Chavez scored eight points, and Ricky Olmos had six points. The girls' game was tied 18-18 at the end of regulation time. Walcott outscored St. Anthony's 4-3 in the overtime period for its 22-21 victory. Michelle Meyer led Walcott with 15 points, and Amy Solomon scored four points. St. Anthony's held two-point leads at the end of each of the first three quarters. WALCOTT BOYS: Greg Oakley 6-0-0 12; Goyo Chavez 4-0-0 8; Ricky Olmos 3-0-0 8; Gary Billington 1-0-0 2. Pacers beat Spurs for 4th straight win

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — It took a little improvisation at the end and some bad shooting, but the Indiana Pacers have a four-game NBA winning streak. Pacers guard Vern Fleming scored in the final seconds on a play that wasn't supposed to happen the way it did and three poor shots by the San Antonio Spurs gave Indiana a 101-99 NBA victory over San Antonio Tuesday night. The Indiana point guard drove to the basket and took a shot with three seconds remaining. Artis Gilmore was called for goal tending and the Pacers came out victorious. "When I got the ball at the end, my man was playing me really tight so I went behind the back and took it to the bucket," Fleming said. The Pacers are now 17-15 while the Spurs dropped to 8-24, their poorest record at this stage of the season since they entered the NBA 10 years ago. "It was a gamble and turned out to be a good play," Pacers coach Jack Ramsay said. "Vern is really turning out to be a good point guard." Fleming took the inbound pass with eight seconds remaining. "San Antonio was overplaying the left side of the court so Vern just went to the hoop," Ramsay said. Spurs coach Bob Weiss said poor judgement hurt the Spurs at the end of the game as Alvin Robertson, Johnny Dawkins and Mike Mitchell missed consecutive shots prior to Fleming's heroics. "We wanted Alvin (Robertson) to shoot that last shot," Weiss said. "After he missed, my hand was up for Dawkins to hold it. I guess his shot was a mental mistake and those kind of mistakes keep hurting us." The Spurs had taken the ball with 34 seconds remaining and after Robertson missed, rookie Dawkins put up a quick with 15 seconds remaining instead of setting up another play. "I guess I just lost track of how much time was left," Dawkins explained. Mitchell then shot with 11 seconds remaining, but Steve Stipanovich pulled down the rebound and called for a timeout with eight seconds remaining. "We were looking to go inside, but when Vern got the ball everyone else was overplayed so he just went to the hoop," Ramsay said. "That shot really wasn't planned like it happened. This was a great win for the Pacers." "You really don't expect a goal tend in that situation, but I didn't see it happen, so I can't comment on it," said Fleming, who scored 14 of his 17 points in the second half. Robertson said the Spurs did lose track of time during the closing seconds. "I think we lost track of time down (at) the end," Robertson said. "It's the same old story." "We keep telling people we are a better team, but we still have to prove it," Robertson added. Stipanovich scored 19 for Indiana and Fleming added 17 and Wayman Tisdale had 16. Mitchell and Dawkins had 24 points each and Robertson added 16. The Spurs took a 45-39 halftime lead.

53-49 to Lubbock Dunbar

Herd boys lose in overtime

The Hereford Whiteface varsity boys' basketball team scored four points in the last six seconds of regulation to tie the game, but lost at Lubbock Dunbar in overtime 53-49 Tuesday night. The loss was the second straight for the Whitefaces in the district, after winning their first three district games. Overall, Hereford is 8-11. The HHS junior varsity boys used a balanced scoring attack to defeat Dunbar 65-48 on Tuesday. The junior varsity team's record is now 9-7. Hereford is open this Friday night. The next contests for the HHS varsity and junior varsity will be on Monday at Lubbock Estacado with game times of 6 p.m. for the junior varsity and 7:30 p.m. for the varsity. The Hereford varsity trailed 45-41 with six seconds left in regulation time. With three seconds left, David Manchee was fouled when attempting a shot. Manchee made both of his free throws, and Hereford was behind 45-43. The Whitefaces pressed the Panthers, and Weaver stole the ball in the corner of the Hereford end of the court. Weaver missed a field goal attempt, but Vincent Brown rebounded the ball and scored as the buzzer sounded to tie the game at 45-45. Dunbar hit eight of 10 free throws in the overtime period, outscoring Hereford 8-4 for a 53-49 win over the Herd. Manchee and Rodney McCracken each scored 13 points for Hereford, and Bobby Baker scored 11 points. The Whitefaces had to go into the overtime period without McCracken and Baker, since both fouled out of the game in the fourth quarter. Baker led Hereford in rebounds with seven and also in steals with six. Hereford hit only 18 of 49 field goal attempts for 35 percent, and made 13 of 21 free throws for 62 percent. Dunbar led 23-18 at halftime, and

Hereford led 40-39 at the end of the third quarter. Six of the Hereford junior varsity players scored six or more points each to power their team to its 65-48 win over Dunbar. Pat Mercer was high scorer with 11 points. Jerry McDonald scored nine points, Ross Torres eight points, Clint Cotten seven points, and Chad Clements and John Streun each added six points. Hereford held a 26-14 halftime lead and increased the lead to 37 points in the third quarter, 44-27. HEREFORD VARSITY: David Manchee 5-10 3-4 13; Rodney McCracken 6-11 1-4 13; Bobby Baker 4-14 3-5 11; Marcus Brown 0-2 4-4 4; Kevin Hansen 1-5 2-2 4; Vincent Brown 1-2 0-0 2; Kyle Streun 1-4 0-0 2. For major college football

Playoff plan to be studied by NCAA

By TIM LIOTTA
 AP Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — The public is clamoring for it, and the media has rallied behind the cause.
 Now, all they have to do is convince NCAA schools that a playoff to determine a major-college football champion is the right way to go.
 Two years ago, the Postseason Football Committee took the idea of a football playoff to the member schools, who overwhelmingly rejected it in a straw poll.
 Texas Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds, who will head a subcommittee that will reexamine the feasibility of a playoff, said circumstances have changed little since then. "One advantage we'll have this time is we'll know what happened with the Fiesta Bowl."

 The intense interest in last week's Fiesta Bowl, which matched top-ranked Miami, Fla., against No. 2 Penn State, prompted the Postseason Football Committee to assign the subcommittee to study the playoff question.
 Penn State beat Miami 14-10 in the Fiesta Bowl and was voted the national champion by voters in the Associated Press poll. Major-college football is the only NCAA sport which doesn't use a playoff system to determine a champion.

"In our discussions with the full committee this (Tuesday) morning, all of us felt just because of the interest in the Fiesta Bowl this year, the tremendous ratings and tremendous numbers of people watching ... our committee felt it was our responsibility at least to look into it," Dodds said.
 Joining Dodds on the subcommittee will be John Swofford, athletic director at North Carolina; Glen Tuckett, athletic director at Brigham Young; and Carl James, commissioner of the Big Eight Conference.

Rockets lose to Warriors, 118-100

By ERIC PREWITT
 AP Sports Writer
OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Larry Smith dished out plenty of frustration and felt some, too, against the Houston Rockets.

Citrus, Cotton, Sugar, Rose, Orange and Fiesta. This year's Fiesta Bowl was moved to Jan. 2.
 Said Paterno: "I'd like to see us work out a system that doesn't harm the bowls — in fact, enhances the bowls — and still lets the kids decide it on the field."

"I missed dunk shots, I missed layups, I missed everything," Smith said after contributing zero points in the Golden State Warriors' 118-100 victory over the team which reached the NBA playoff finals last season.
 But the rugged 6-foot-8 forward received a few standing ovations from Warriors' fans for his defensive work. His main responsibility was 7-foot Akeem Olajuwon, averaging 23.6 points per game, and the Houston star had a 2-for-11 shooting night, finishing with 15 points.

Olajuwon, playing his 12th game since recovering from an ankle sprain, said later, "I'm not 100 percent yet, maybe 95 percent. I was a little tired at the end."
 He added, "Larry Smith played me very physical."

Smith was 0-for-5 as a shooter but, otherwise, it was a good game for the Warriors' offense.
 "The jump shots were going, the penetration was going, and everybody was happy," leading scorer Sleepy Floyd said.

Rockets Coach Bill Fitch said, "Akeem got no help tonight."
 Coach George Karl of the Warriors said, "This team has courage and guts. We beat a very good team that's been playing well lately."

"I pushed him and shoved him, trying to frustrate him, and I had a lot of help," Smith said, referring to double-teaming on defense. "He just had one of those nights I guess anyone could have."
 "I'm not pleased that I didn't score any points, but I'm pleased that we won. Overall, I think we played terrific defense."

Rockets guard Lewis Lloyd with 23. Lloyd made 10-of-11 shots from the field but the rest of the team was 29-of-73.
 He had a 31-point performance, with a pair of 3-point field goals and Fueled by the popularity of the Fiesta Bowl, the idea of a collegiate football playoff has gained support.

 One of the biggest proponents of a playoff system is Penn State Coach Joe Paterno.
 "I'd prefer to have four teams coming out of the bowls, playing two semifinals, then playing a final," Paterno said earlier this week. "I'd just like to take my kids and play in that system. If you get licked, you get licked."

However, the membership of the NCAA doesn't seem to take to the idea as enthusiastically as Paterno.
 "The mood of the convention this year is such that it might not pass," Dodds said. "There seems to be a mood to pull back at this convention."

One thing the NCAA definitely doesn't want to do is "alienate the bowl games already in existence."
 "The bowls put about $41 million a

Baugh recalls 1943 games between Redskins, Giants

By TOM CANAVAN
 AP Sports Writer

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Six times in NFL history a team has lost two regular-season games to an opponent and come back to beat them in the playoffs.

Sammy Baugh is familiar with one of those instances. The year was 1943 and, ironically, the teams were the Washington Redskins and New York Giants.

Does it sound familiar to this year? "Slingin' Sammy" was the quarterback of the Redskins in 1943. Washington had things going its way until losing to New York 14-10 and 31-7 in the final two weeks of the regular season to force a conference playoff game with the Giants.

"I think we were in a position where all we needed to do was tie one of those last two games and we'd win the thing," Baugh said in a telephone interview from his Rotan, Texas home Tuesday night. "The second game we played terrible and I don't know why we weren't ready to play the game. It was kind of like what the Giants did to San Francisco on Sunday."

It was also kind of like what the 1986 version of the Giants did to the Redskins in the regular season. New York won the first game 27-20 and then scalped the 'Skins 24-14 in a game that was not as close as the score indicates.

Baugh, whose names is still featured prominently in the Washington record book, doesn't think beating the Redskins twice in the regular season proved an advantage for the Giants in 1943; in fact, he said it may have hurt them.

"I think it helped us really," said the 72-year-old Baugh. "We were real embarrassed in that second game. Some people say that teams who win two or three games before going into the playoffs are on a roll."

"A lot of times, the team that gets knocked down and gets embarrassed before going into the playoffs comes back and plays a good game," he added. "That was our position. It got us into a frame of mind where we played our best game."

The Redskins certainly did, blanking the Giants 28-0 to advance to the NFL title game against the Chicago Bears. In that contest, Baugh — who also played safety — suffered a concussion tackling Chicago quarterback Sid Luckman and the Bears went on to win 41-21.

"I think it happened in the first quarter," Baugh said. "I really don't remember much. I think I came back in and played the second half."

Baugh said he didn't remember much about the third Giants game that year, although he thinks he made an interception to set up a touchdown pass early in the game. The one thing he did recall was that Washington did not do much different in the game with New York, a team he said was equal in talent with the Redskins.

"Emotionally we were up for the game," he said. "After being embarrassed everybody was a little more ready. We wanted to show everyone that we weren't a bad ballclub."

Turning to the present, Baugh said the Giants and Redskins are the best teams remaining in the playoffs and the winner of Sunday's game at Giants Stadium will probably win the Super Bowl.

 "If the Giants play like last week I don't think anyone will beat them," Baugh said. "They looked great to me against San Francisco. I thought they played the best game I've seen them play in 10 years."

If healthy, Baugh said the Redskins could give the Giants a good game.

So where is the former Texas Christian star putting his money?

"If I had to just bet my money on it, I'd take the Giants," he said. "They look very impressive."

Say you aren't betraying the Redskins, Sammy?

"I'm not betraying anyone," he said. "I'm pulling for the Redskins. But you know what I mean, if I bet my money on it, I'd have to go with the Giants. They look that good to me."

Junior high basketball season resumes Thursday

The junior high school basketball season resumes Thursday for all teams from the two junior high schools in Hereford.

Thursday's games will all be played in Hereford, with the La Plata boys playing at Stanton and the Stanton girls playing at La Plata.

Action begins at both gyms at 4:30 p.m., beginning with seventh grade contests. The eighth grade games and ninth grade games will then be played.

Here are the season records for the La Plata and Stanton teams, as they begin the second half of the 1986-87 basketball season:

La Plata boys: seventh grade, 3-4; eighth grade, 4-3; and ninth grade, 3-4.
Stanton boys: seventh grade, 2-5; eighth grade, 0-7; and ninth grade, 0-7.
La Plata girls: seventh grade, 7-0; eighth grade, 3-4; and ninth grade, 5-1.
Stanton girls: seventh grade, 0-7; eighth grade, 4-4; and ninth grade, 2-4.

The seventh grade boys' and girls' teams from each school will compete in tournaments in Canyon on Friday and Saturday.

Mason directs school special

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marsha Mason, a four-time Oscar nominee as best actress, makes her film directing debut with a CBS "Schoolbreak" special about teenage bulimia.

The one-hour film, "Little Miss Perfect," will be broadcast the afternoon of Jan. 13. Mary Tanner (Mary Margaret of "The Cavanaughs") stars as Debbie Welker, and Diane Baker stars as her mother, Helen Welker-Summers.

Mason, who had directed in the theater, said she was asked to direct "Little Miss Perfect" by Alan L.

Gansberg, who wrote and produced the special with Judy Strangis.

Mason described the show as "the story of a 15-year-old girl who suffers from bulimia," an eating disorder generally characterized as "binge and purge" because the victims overeat and then vomit.

"It's so scary to read the research and interview all the young actors and actresses," she said. "I asked them if they knew anyone with bulimia and without exception they all did or had bulimia themselves.

"Young kids believe they can stop it any time they want. They don't relate to adults with bulimia, as in the movie 'Kate's Secret,' even though it's the same problem. They develop the habit of eating five sugar donuts because they know they can purge. It's hard to spot because they're usually never overweight.

"The androgynous look is in. It's not like when I was a child. Kids who have no reason to do it do it. What they don't realize is they are setting up a biological dependency. The body makes a negative adjustment."

Mason calls her film a cross between a docudrama and an educational film. "You have to explain a lot of things," she said. "You have to show the pressures on the girl. I think there are a lot of things in it that young people can relate to."

Mason also co-stars in one of the hottest current films, "Heartbreak Ridge." She plays Clint Eastwood's ex-wife.

HOUSING AND THE ECONOMY

ATLANTA (AP) — The housing industry has a large impact on the nation's economy.

Construction of 100,000 single-family homes generates 176,000 worker-years of employment in construction and construction-related industries, according to Georgia-Pacific Corp., a maker of building products.

This, in turn, generates $3.25 billion in wages and $1.5 billion in combined federal, state and local tax revenues, it says.

Genealogical Society to meet Thursday

The Deaf Smith County Genealogical Society will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Heritage Room at the Deaf Smith County Library. Visitors are welcome.

A panel will discuss the uses of U.S. Census in doing research. They will discuss what is found in the different census, when they were taken, and how to use the information that is found.

The Society is starting its yearly membership drive. Dues are $5 per person or $8 per couple. The Society is open to anyone interested in doing family research.

New officers for 1987 were installed in the November meeting. They are president, Jeanette Ramey; vice-president, Joe D. Rogers; secretary, Mildred Sheffy; treasurer, Nell Norvell; and reporter-newsletter, Pat Faulkner.

Amarillo College is offering a course in genealogy this month. If anyone is interested, you can contact the college for details. Sylvia Murray, who has given programs here, is the teacher.

DR. GOTT Heart problem may need surgery

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had rheumatic fever when I was 14. As a result, I have a grade III systolic murmur in the apex and mitral insufficiency. I have pain and burning in my left shoulder and arm, shortness of breath, weakness and fainting. Should I be on medication? Is surgery the only answer? What can I expect as I get older? I'm now 27.

DEAR READER — The mitral valve is one of the heart valves that prevents backflow of blood. Years ago, when rheumatic fever — a consequence of some streptococcal infections — was common, patients were apt to develop mitral disease, as you did. In most cases, mitral stenosis (a rigid valve that does not open readily) or mitral insufficiency (a flail valve that doesn't close completely) were complications that needed correction.

Murmurs are extra sounds in the heart, caused by eddy currents and turbulence as the blood either has trouble passing through the valve or is inappropriately squirted backwards through a valve that doesn't close completely. In both instances, the normal flow of blood is disrupted and the heart has to work harder to do its job.

New tests, such as ultrasound exams and cardiac angiography, enable specialists to determine with precision which part of the heart valve is malfunctioning and to what extent.

Your murmur is loud (grade III) and your symptoms seem to indicate that your circulation is faulty because of mitral disease. Surgery may be the best option for you. However, this decision can be made only after appropriate tests are made on your heart.

In my opinion, you need treatment: medicine to reduce the work of the heart or surgery to repair (or replace) the valve. As you grow older, the situation is likely to worsen, because few health problems improve with age; your heart eventually will tire after many years of trying to compensate for mitral insufficiency. I suggest that you seek a consultation with a cardiologist and agree to have the necessary tests to determine which type of treatment would be best for you.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My grandson, 7, is in the first grade. He's a sweet and willing boy, but his mind wanders in class. Would vitamin B-6 help his concentration?

DEAR READER — It would not, unless his diet is deficient. I'd pay more attention to what is happening in the classroom than at the dinner table. Does his teacher make the classwork interesting? Is your grandson bored? Is he being "mainstreamed" in a school where attention is lavished on poor learners rather than on the bright kids? On the other hand, could he be overwhelmed by the first-grade work? Most 7-year-olds' minds wander; that's a wonderful part of childhood that we adults tend to forget. I suggest that your grandson's parents ask for a meeting with the teacher to establish what is going on. Then the grownups can more effectively deal with the problem of concentration, if a problem exists.

Incidentally, high doses of vitamin B-6 can cause liver damage, riboflavin deficiency and nerve disorders.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 83 and my wife thinks I work too long in hot, humid weather. I do not work after 1 p.m. I do perspire freely and am soaked with sweat when I come in. Is it normal for someone my age to sweat this much, or am I overdoing it?

DEAR READER — Sweating is a way that an active person gets rid of body heat. Perspiration is not necessarily a valid indicator of whether you are overdoing. If you are used to hard physical work and if you use good judgment — such as stopping when you are tired — I don't believe that, at 83, you have to slow down.

Young women are divided as to what rights homosexuals should have regarding families and children, according to a recent survey of magazine readers. While a majority thought gay, divorced parents should be able to visit their children, most also thought that gay couples should not be allowed to adopt children.

Blue-chip venture goes awry

NEW YORK (AP) — When two of the biggest names in American business combine forces to capitalize on a promising growth market, you might expect fireworks. But that's not necessarily what you might get.
Instead, as International Business Machines and Merrill Lynch acknowledged the other day, the result might turn out to be an utter dud.
The two companies, the giants of the computer and securities industries, announced that they were shutting down a fledgling venture called International Market-Net, or Imnet, which was intended to provide information and communications services to participants in the financial markets.
When it was introduced at a press conference in 1984, the service was billed as the central element in the broker's "workplace of the future."
The unveiling rites for Imnet included demonstrations of a service that would be much more elaborate than existing systems providing stock prices and other information to brokers and traders using desktop computer terminals.
Neither IBM nor Merrill Lynch has had much to say about Imnet's demise, other than to declare in a terse statement that they based their decision on "a re-assessment of the financial viability of the venture."
But to outside observers, the situation looks like a classic case of new technology struggling to find a place in the day-to-day world.
Apparently, other investment firms were reluctant to buy something Merrill Lynch was selling. But few people, no matter what their affiliation, seemed to want Imnet at the price the seller required to justify providing it.
Such problems are common in many types of technological advances. As early as 1970, makers of video cassette equipment were holding expositions and trade fairs seeking ways to exploit the opportunity in their hands.
France established a protectorate over Morocco in 1912.

After a week Family awaits news

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — For six days, 12 hours a day, the family of Francisco Aponte sat on small wooden chairs in an unadorned, brightly lit hospital room, waiting for official word that he was dead.
They and other stoney-faced people in the hushed room, all relatives of the 96 people who died in the Dupont Plaza Hotel fire Dec. 31, rarely talked or stirred other than to stretch a leg or rub an aching eye.
"They don't move, it's like a funeral parlor," Health Secretary Luis Izquierdo Mora said Tuesday, watching about a dozen grieving people sitting in clusters, their silence undisturbed by television or radio. Guards shooed reporters and other unauthorized visitors away.
The lengthy process of identifying the charred remains of those killed in the New Year's Eve fire was winding down Tuesday, with pathologists able to make 82 confirmed identifications. Most survivors among the Dupont Plaza's approximately 800 guests have left the island.
Lesbia Aponte, 25, a medical student, said she, her mother, Maria, 48, and her brother, Javier, 16, knew from the start that Francisco Aponte, 49, was dead because he was in the Dupont Plaza's casino when the fire erupted. The family later found his car in the hotel parking lot.
The Apontes preferred waiting at the State Medical Center to staying home, where members of their large family telephoned incessantly. "We get tired of telling everybody the same thing," she said.
Despite their mourning, they laughed for a moment when Lesbia told how her father, a professor of accounting, had stopped by the casino on his way to the airport because he loved the game of blackjack.
Late Tuesday, pathologists from the Institute of Forensic Sciences positively identified Aponte. "It was a difficult case. They don't even have teeth," said Lesbia.
In one case, pathologists identified a man because he was born with only one testicle, and, in another, triple bypass heart surgery provided a clue.
Bits of clothing, jewelry and money found near the bodies were kept separate so they could be used in the process, said forensic director Dr. Pio Rechani, gingerly holding up a small plastic bag with wet, charred pieces of cloth inside.

"We found this on 'Body 57,'" he said, pointing to the smelly scraps that he said indicated "Body 57" was wearing a fuchsia-colored belt, a silver knit garment and a red item.
Rechani said all but a few bodies eventually would be identified through broken bones, dental records, fingerprints, previous surgery and other clues.
An American woman, clutching a package of medical records that was mailed special delivery from the United States, eagerly handed them to a nurse Tuesday so they could be turned over to the pathologists working four floors above.
A team of doctors, psychiatrists and, sometimes, a priest, individually notified relatives in small rooms when an identity was confirmed. "A lot of people cried, some got hysterical," said Izquierdo Mora. Several fainted and were given oxygen.
About one-third of the relatives asked to see their loved ones' bodies in the morgue, said Dr. Efrén Ramirez, a psychiatrist.
The staff advised against such viewing, but Ramirez said one woman told him: "I want to see the body because I want to close this chapter. Then I will know that he died and I won't be looking for him."
Another man showed mixed grief and anger when he viewed his father's body. He lovingly placed a red rose on his dead father's chest with his right hand, and then threw five gambling chips on the body with his left, Ramirez said.
It was as if the grieving man were saying, "We love you but we are angry because of your gambling, and because of your gambling, you died," Ramirez said. The man then knelt and prayed. Many of the dead bodies were found in the hotel's casino.

Reactor begins safety shutdown

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — The only U.S. nuclear reactor with a design like the Soviet plant in Chernobyl is being shut down for extensive safety improvements, and critics said they doubted it would be reopened in six months as planned.
Technicians at the Hanford nuclear reservation were to insert control rods into N Reactor's core this morning, and cooling was expected to be completed eight hours later, said Steve Irish, a spokesman for UNC Nuclear Industries, which operates the plant for the U.S. Department of Energy.
Opponents of the 23-year-old reactor, which produces plutonium for nuclear weapons and steam for generating electricity, say the modifications do not go far enough to address the most crucial safety issues.
Like Chernobyl, which was devastated by fire in April, the N Reactor does not have a concrete and steel containment dome to keep radioactive steam from spreading into the atmosphere during an accident.
But the $50 million in improvements will neither address that issue, nor the possibility of a potentially explosive buildup of hydrogen during an accident, the Energy Department has said.
Despite having recommendations from a panel of experts since early October, the department won't have a plan listing the scope or schedule of work for at least three weeks, Irish said.
"I think the DOE can't even answer its own questions with respect to making the N Reactor safe," Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., said Tuesday in a telephone interview from Washington, D.C.
"Unless (DOE officials) can address their own safety agenda, they're certainly not going to be able to come to Congress with any credibility about restarting in six months," Wyden said.
DOE spokesman Tom Bauman and spokeswoman Karen Wheelless did not return repeated calls by The Associated Press for comment Tuesday.
Energy Department officials announced the shutdown of the graphite-moderated, water-cooled reactor last month.
The announcement followed the release of analyses by six independent experts, led by consulting engineer and former Consolidated Edison of New York President Louis H. Roddis Jr., that made 88 separate recommendations for additional safety.

THE WORLD IS COMING TO AN END
But my heart is heavy with grief, for evil still prevails and treachery is everywhere. Terror and the captivity of hell are still your lot, O men of the world. When you flee in terror you will fall into a pit, and if you escape from the pit you will step into a trap, for destruction falls from the heavens upon you; the world is shaken beneath you. The earth has broken down in utter collapse; everything is lost, abandoned and confused. The world staggers like a drunkard; it shakes like a tent in a storm. It falls and will not rise again, for the sins of the earth are very great.
On that day the Lord will punish the fallen angels in the heavens, and the proud rulers of the nations on earth. They will be rounded up like prisoners and imprisoned in a dungeon until they are tried and condemned. Then the Lord of heaven's armies will mount His throne in Zion and rule gloriously in Jerusalem, in the sight of all the elders of His people. Such glory there will be that all the brightness of the sun and moon will seem to fade away. (Isaiah 24:16-23)
Therefore I will bring upon you all these further evils I have spoken of. Prepare to meet your God in judgment, Israel. For you are dealing with the one who formed the mountains and made the winds, and knows your every thought; He turns the morning to darkness and crushes down the mountains underneath His feet; Jehovah the Lord, the God of Hosts is His name. (Amos 4:12-13)
