Results finally came back on the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District elections held a couple of weeks ago. Carl Wimberly was elected supervisor of the Dawn district. Phillip Miller will be supervisor of the middle district running east and west across the county north of Walcott. C. F. Rickels was elected supervisor of the western district. Mal Stewart and T. W. Roberson were appointed supervisors in the other two districts to serve a short term until election next year. Supervisors serve staggered terms.

The Central School Choir entertained the Rotary Club at their weekly meeting Friday in Hotel Jim Hill.

Kester Jewelry opens Monday with the formal opening Saturday.

Hereford Jaycees thrashed up one side and down the other in a four-hour meeting Friday night in the District Court room. The 20 present came up with some ideas that may possibly increase attendance and interest in the club according to Paul Conaway, president. Included is a change of meeting time for two noon luncheon and two night meetings a month.

Four worthy citizens took off this week. Just like the other 7,000 some-odd wish they could go fishing. Jim Higgins, George Suggs, Bob Higgins and Leroy Price left for Rockport and Herman Neff's place on the Gulf about noon Thursday.

Two hundred and fifty were fed at the Davis-McCracken Farm Party Thursday noon. About 150 of these saw the two shows, "An American Journey" and "Weather Wins." Wyche Home Demonstration Club served the meal.

The Hereford Fire Department went to the old Swager place five miles north of Hereford at 3:30 Thursday morning where the dwelling half burned before it was extinguished, participating firemen said.

Another insecticide or shall we just say Greenbug exterminating outfit was in town this week checking on the situation. However, they won't try anything until temperatures get high enough to do some good, which may be too late.

Hereford Encampment No. 56 will entertain Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and wives or husbands and Theta Rho girls of Hereford and Dimmitt Wednesday night in the Jim Hill banquet room. Refreshments, music and a program are scheduled. It starts at 8 o'clock.

Check the theatre ad on cleaning up the town now, and give it a thought. After a winter like this when the weather didn't get cold enough to kill all the flies we are in for a bad summer of insects and bugs.

They've got the sign up at the Tower Drive-In theatre. Opening date is April 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rogers returned from a three week trip through New Mexico, south and central Texas, Kansas and Nebraska, and report they only saw four or five days of sunshine on the entire trip. Guess the sun has shone every day here for a couple of months, and one thing is sure, if it didn't it wasn't because of rain clouds.

J. E. Dean, VFW District 13 Commander, confirmed the fact that the annual District VFW convention May 20 and 21st will be held in Hereford, according to a letter Earl Woods received Saturday.

Wayne Williams is the new Good Housekeeping Shop Frigidaire salesman.

Jaycees Sponsor Third Local Boy Scout Troop

Boy Scouting in Hereford expanded this week with the announcement by District Commissioner Urin Streu that a third troop, Number 51, has been organized.

Streu said the reason for the third troop is that scouting has grown to where there are enough boys interested to justify organization of this troop. About 70 boys are now active in the three troops. The three troops can adequately handle up to 95 or 100 boys before a fourth troop will be necessary.

Troop 50 has been split almost in half to give the new troop a working nucleus of 19 boys, according to Neighborhood Commissioner Bill Phillips.

Jaycee Sponsored

Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the new troop and the Lions continue to sponsor troop 50 with Bob Wear, Lowell Sharp, Guy Lawrence, Ray Conaway and S. L. Harmon, Jr. as committeemen.

Committeemen for Troop 50 were named this week by Jaycee President Paul Conaway as being Roy Peet, Sam Nelson, Eddie Smith, Jim Wood and Debbs Knox.

Former Troop 50 assistant scoutmasters Wendell Burdine and Gerald Wilson will become scoutmasters as former scoutmaster Bill Phillips assumes the duties of Neighborhood Commissioner.

Burdine will lead Troop 51 with Ed Roberson and Jerry Stoltz as assistant scoutmasters. Gerald Wilson's assistants in Troop 50 have not been named.

Troop Officers

Troop officers will be Tommy Woodford, Senior Patrol Leader; Dwaine Wallace, troop quartermaster; Lee Drake, troop scribe. The troop will start with three patrols with Buddy Godfrey, John Benson and Otis Vaught as patrol leaders. Other patrol officers will be chosen Thursday night, as will patrol names.

Dabney Williams is Troop 50 Senior Patrol Leader. Lanny Wilkins is troop quartermaster and Melvin Lomenick troop scribe. The three patrol leaders are Doug Bartlett, Nelson Pierce, and Larry Kaul. The patrols are being reorganized and renamed in some instances.

As Neighborhood Commissioner, Phillips will relieve Streu of responsibility of coordination of Boy Scout troops, in training scout leader personnel, methods of instruction and items directly concerning the three Boy Scout troops, thus leaving the District Commissioner more time to coordinate activities of the entire scouting family of Cubbing, Boy Scouts and Senior Scouting.

Phillips took boy leaders of troops 50 and 51 swimming at Canyon Wednesday as a farewell gesture. Troop 51 met briefly Thursday night to organize and will meet at 7:30 every Thursday night in the Scout Hut.

A training program for all scout leaders will be initiated sometime this Spring Phillips said Saturday.

Man Accidentally Shoots Himself In Side Friday

R. S. Bennett was reported as not in a critical condition by Dr. L. B. Barnett after accidentally shooting himself in the side with a .22 pistol Friday evening on his farm south of Hereford.

Bennet said he was carrying the pistol in his belt and apparently it wasn't on safety. He was carrying a jumper on his arm and pulled the gun out to shoot a hawk, in doing so the jumper must have tangled with the trigger or something.

He is in Deaf Smith County hospital.

Will Direct Campaign

Rev. H. Parr Armstrong of Ft. Worth will direct the First Christian Church week of Personal Visitation Evangelism starting in Hereford today.

During the week members of the church will call upon prospective members each night, working towards a goal of at least 65 people by Decision Day, April 2nd.

Devotional services will be conducted each morning, Monday through Friday at 10:30 o'clock. The public is invited to these services.

Rev. Armstrong is State Director of Laymen's Leagues in Texas.

THEIR MAJESTIES, KING AND QUEEN OF COTTON—Miss Doela Schultz, junior Texas State College for Women student from Garland, and Nelson Brunneman, senior Texas T&M agronomy major from San Benito, will reign this year as king and queen of A&M's annual Cotton Ball, April 28. Brunette Miss Schultz was chosen recently from thirty-two TSCW nominees by nine A&M judges to accompany King Brunneman.

Compares Deaf Smith With 27 High Plains Counties

Reports from the 27 counties of the High Plains and a few below the Cap Rock from November 1949 to March 22, 1950, show the following conditions as to moisture and wind erosion damage:

Sand storms in the entire area, 17; Deaf Smith County, one.

Dust storms in the entire area, 17; Deaf Smith County, none.

Depth of moisture, average per county, 19 inches; Deaf Smith County, 24-40 inches.

Acres, active erosion, per county, 51,000; Deaf Smith County, none.

Acres, without effecting treatment, per county 48,500; Deaf Smith County, none.

Acres, not sufficiently protected by cover, 100,000; Deaf Smith County, 2,500.

Acres, native grass broken out since 1940, per county, 39,300; Deaf Smith County, 17,500.

From the above figures it would seem that, in general, conditions in Deaf Smith County are very good. However, we should not be lulled into a feeling of false security as a result of this report. Conditions are still critical and much damage could be done by blowing. A protective covering of good stubble, either undisturbed or left on or near the surface of the ground, is the best protection. Another preventative or remedial practice is listing or chiseling. Should the drouth or green bugs get the wheat there will be a real danger of blowing as soon as the wheat is plowed up. Incidentally the bugs are reported to be getting worse. Henry Hoffer stated that: "The dry weather is not hurting my wheat as much as the greenbugs. I'm afraid it's about gone."

Soil Conservation Service technicians report that green bug infestation on the Bernie Northcutt place is the heaviest they have ever seen. He also has a considerable number of red spiders.

Weathers Favors Work On Harrison Highway

Good weather keeps work moving at a fast pace on Harrison Highway, one of the better farm-to-market roads to be in the Panhandle.

C. B. Hudson of the Texas Highway Department said recently work was almost half finished. He said farmers can look to August for completion. At that time, Hudson stressed the importance of weather on construction work of any kind.

He Had The Right Idea But The Wrong "Breed"

Hereford or Holstein—they're both good cows and are "practically" the same.

But not to the United States Postal Service.

January 2 of this year, the executors of the estate of Monsignor D. J. Gillis on Prince Edward Island, Canada mailed a perfectly legible letter to Rev. Raymond Gillis who lives here.

The letter was addressed to "Holstein, Texas," though and that was just a little too much for the Post Office Department. They figured there was a little too much mixing of the breed to handle it, so they sent it back to Canada.

Of course, they probably knew what town they were talking about all the time. But, then, you know the Post Office.

City Residential Building Permits Reach Third Of Total During '49

Building permits for Hereford residences have already reached a third of the 1949 residential total, according to records in the City Hall, and not yet a fourth of the year is gone. All indications point to a year which might total 50 per cent more or close to a half million dollars worth of building for the present year.

City secretary Mabel Barnhart said not all builders have applied for permits and some building has been contracted which does not appear on the records.

Thus the present $173,800 registered is somewhat short of actual new residences. Total 1949 building permits issued for new residences totaled $382,850.

Other building permits such as business and business remodeling and residence remodeling swells the total to $208,700 for the year to date. New business permits total $10,200 and remodeling businesses permits amounts to $19,000. Remodeling residence totals $5,700.

Remodeling Permits

Three business remodeling permits were registered by Carl McCaslin for $7,500; Buckner Planing Mill, $700; Pinkner Welding Shop for $2,000.

Boosting the residence building permits are those of George Turrentine and O. G. Hill, Jr. Turrentine's is in Evans Addition, $20,000 and Hill's is in Welsh Addition, $18,000.

Others issued building and addition permits in various additions include B. E. Roberson, Evans, $15,000; N. B. Hood, Hereford, $1,800; C. J. Krug, Evans, $7,000; O. E. Hext, Hereford, $700; Gene Medlin, Evans, $3,000; C. L. Conklin, Evans, $3,500; J. D. Porth, Womble, $3,600; Otis Bulls, Allison, $8,000; W. H. Patton, Evans, $14,200; Faust Collier, Evans, $7,500; Glenn Anderson, Evans, $6,000; Red Merrill, Evans, $5,000; Ed Jesko, Evans, $5,000; W. C. Lowery, Womble, $1,000; L. B. Verrill, Hereford, $10,000; Vern Hill-ton, Evans, $12,500; J. R. Johnson, Evans, $2,000; Irving Wil-lowby, Mabry, $4,000; L. S. Kirkpatrick, Mabry, $8,000; Toy R. Hulse, Mabry, $6,500; Charles Corder, Evans, $1,000.

Rail Cattle Shipments Hit 12,952 After Light Week

Rail cattle shipments out of Hereford were light this week as only 1,558 head moved in 12 shipments to six states.

Six registered bulls went to New Mexico. The rest of the shipments were yearling stuff, steers and heifers. Kansas got 933 of Iowa, 106 and Missouri 72.

Total for 1950 to date is 12,952 head.

There's no way of knowing how many head have gone out of the county to Clovis and Amarillo sales rings, although there has been a lot of activity.

During the past week cattle-sales through Clovis' two Commission Companies exceeded all previous records, when 7,037 head were purchased; 1,105 more than were received the week before.

Dealers there are of the opinion that sales have now reached their peak, as it appears that most of the cattle from wheat pasture is in. Dry weather conditions have hurt this year.

Cash paid out in the two Clovis' Auction rings were: Ranchers and Farmers—$432,976.41 for 3,662; Clovis Cattle Commission Company $424,064.96 for 3,375 head.

Absentee Ballots To Be Used In City Election

Absentee ballots will be used in the forthcoming city election for the first time in history Mayor W. E. Dameron announced Saturday.

Mayor Dameron said that anyone who won't be here on the April fourth election day may obtain an absentee ballot at the City Hall and vote at any time from Monday up to three days before the election.

The ballots will be sealed and delivered to the election judges on election day.

Absentee votes have been cast in the primary and state elections for many years, but this is the first time they have been available in city elections.

Payments Are Due For Community Group

Blue Cross group 7535, The Community Group of policy holders, will have until between April 1 and April 10, to make their first payment of 1950 on their policies. These payments are made at the First National Bank.

Two pay dates each year are observed by the Community Group, April 1 and October 1. Each policy holder will make his payment at the bank, according to Elmer Mathis, manager of Deaf Smith County Hospital.

Mathis says the payments in the past of the Community Group has been about 95 per cent on time by the April 10 deadline. He said, while the cases were few, some had been dropped from Blue Cross for failure to make payments.

Court Acquits Somora Of DWI

One man was cleared of a drunken driving charge and another's verdict hung in the balance late Saturday afternoon as County Court continued to clear up some old DWI charges.

The case of Wilbert E. Carroll, charged in county court with driving while intoxicated in January came to trial Saturday morning after being delayed a week at the request of defense attorney James Witherspoon. This was the second trial on the present county court slate of 8 DWI cases to be tried at this session.

The Carroll case was postponed Tuesday because Witherspoon demanded a court stenographer to record the evidence.

Friday, Joe Somora was cleared of a DWI charge filed against him July 27 of last year. Jim Collins, Amarillo, was Somora's defense attorney.

A 6-man jury composed of Russell Hunter, J. Boston, Homer Brumley, E. C. Subanks, John Hicks and Paul S. Corbett returned a verdict of not guilty after hearing testimony from members of the Sheriff's office and friends of the defendant.

The State Highway Patrol picked up Somora.

The case against Carroll was filed by City Police officers.

Other DWI trials slated for action soon are Robert S. Barrett, filed December of 1947; Manuel T. Hawks, filed February 18, 1950; Charles B. Short, filed March 2, 1950; Leslie Weaver Williams, filed March 20, 1949; George O. Thompson, filed December 15, 1949; Clifford W. Boatman, filed January 18, 1950.

Install New PA System Throughout Church

A new combination broadcast- and public address system will be used for the second time in the First Baptist Church of Hereford this morning during their regular services.

Four speakers have been installed in the building. One is in the nursery parlor and three are in the extreme rear of the auditorium. Five hearing aids have been installed for the hard of hearing.

Bob Lawrence said no radio equipment transfer from the radio station is necessary now that the new equipment has been installed. All the facilities are there for immediate broadcast over the air.

The new system, installed at an estimated cost of $500, was used for the first time last Sunday, Lawrence said.

Where Business Men Often Fail

A recent public opinion poll, according to Hyman W. Steinkraus, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, reveals that only seven per cent of the people have the idea that business has done the most for their welfare. On the other hand, forty-nine per cent think that government has done most for them and forty-three per cent term the unions as their greatest benefactor.

With this introduction, Mr. Steinkraus suggests that business has been "out-sold" by the government and unions and that American business men are losing their fight against "statism" and eventual destruction of private enterprise. He thinks that business men have been so occupied with their own businesses that they have largely ignored the problem of selling the economic and social foundation upon which American business rests.

While we are not yet apprehensive that private enterprise faces eventual destruction, we are ready to admit that business men, as a whole, have ignored public relations and the human element in connection with national affairs. Obviously, most Americans are interested in their jobs and the opportunity afforded them to get ahead in life.

Business men have failed to point out that the American way of life and all jobs depend upon active trade, industry, and agriculture, according to Mr. Steinkraus. He could have added that business men, in their efforts to stifle competition and to secure unfair economic advantages, have lost sight of the necessity to police a minority that is willing to do anything for profits, including the stifling of opportunity to many average Americans.

There is substantial reason for the people of the nation, as a whole, to believe that government has done much for them. Moreover, it is obvious that members of labor union have solid ground for their belief that union organizations have helped them. It is up to business, as a vital part of the American scheme, to tell its story to the American people and not to overlook the fact that words are not sufficient, but that deeds must proclaim the principles upon which the American economic way of life depends.

"Full Of Hot Air"

Humphrey Bogart, the screen actor, says that the Movie Academy Awards are "full of hot air" and gives a few verbal blasts at the highly publicized award of the coveted "Oscars."

There is something in what Mr. Bogart says. Obviously, no person can, without fail, select the best actors or actresses out of hundreds and hundreds of performances during a year. Neither can they ascertain whether the credit for the performance belongs to the photographer, the director or to somebody else.

The promoters of the annual awards for the moving picture stars are not to be condemned. After all, the American people are prone to select somebody or something as the best of the year and we are a nation that worships champions. Moreover, we fall heavily for citations, plaques awards and any other superficial recognition that any group, non-descript or professional, awards to anybody.

It is all a rather silly undertaking. Who for example, is qualified to select the best dressed woman, the outstanding man of the year, the prettiest bathing beauty, the best athlete, and so on? The answer is, "Nobody."

GOLDEN GLEAMS

No one should be judge in his own case. —Publius Syrus.

A good and faithful judge prefers what is right to what is expedient. —Horace.

When a judge departs from the letter of the law he becomes a law-breaker. —Francis Bacon.

The judge is nothing but the law speaking. —Benjamin Whichcote.

Judges are apt to be naive, simple-minded men. —O. W. Holmes.

There are no more reactionary people in the world than judges. —Nikolai Lenin.

How To Cut Taxes

There is always a campaign for the reduction of taxes. Everybody wants the "government" to spend money on favored propositions and, at the same time, reduce taxes.

The way to reduce taxes is simple if that is what people want. Let government eliminate activities that are not essential to the functions of government. This will cost some people their jobs but it will cut the cost of government.

Investment Vs. Loss

The news services sent out a dispatch stating that the Federal Government's investment in farm surpluses, under its price support program, has climbed close to the $4,000,000,000 mark.

This sum is involved in loans on farmer-held surpluses and inventories of the Department of Agriculture. The news article does not state the security upon which the money has been advanced, nor does it go into the fact that, in the past, the Government has made money on some of its farm support program.

In this connection, it would be interesting if the same news association would give us a total of the money advanced by the Government to the support of airlines and shipping companies. If the tabulation would include the money advanced by the Government, over a period of years, the total would be amazing. Moreover, the Government would have little, or no, assets in support of the money advanced.

Edward G. Robinson, movie actor: "I'm against tyranny of any kind."

Guy Gabrielson, Republican National Committee chairman: "One way to get people to the polls is to start an argument."

Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman, Republican Strategy Committee: "We have failed repeatedly to offer the American people any reason to remove the Democratic Party from power."

John Foster Dulles, Republican advisor on foreign affairs: "The Communist political structure is over-extended, over-rigid and ill-founded."

Edwin G. Nourse, former Chairman, Council of Economic Advisers: "I'm just one of those old-fashioned girls who believe it is better not to take too much risk in questionable directions."

Anne O'Hare McCormick, newspaper columnist: "Production throughout Western Europe, outside of Germany, is above the pre-war level."

John H. Catt, retired business man: "Too many people roll out of bed on Sunday morning and lie around waiting for dinner."

Thomas E. Dewey, Governor of New York: "I am one of the few elected officials in the United States who have not asked for a pay increase."

Dwight D. Eisenhower, President Columbia University: "I'm going to talk about politics."

Oscar R. Ewing, Federal Security Administrator: "We Americans are committed to social progress."

Safety Precautions

REPUBLICANS will probably wise-crack at this one, but since Russia's discovery of H-bomb and A-bomb secrets, it's likely that the President and Vice-President of the United States will not again attend a Jackson Day dinner under the same roof.

Regardless of the political party in power, this is not a pleasant kind of internal security precaution to contemplate.

Nevertheless, after the Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner, someone began considering the gruesome question as to what would have happened if an enemy had sent a surprise plane over the Arctic Circle on February 18 and dropped an A-bomb on Washington.

Not only were the President and Vice-President under the same roof, but also every member of the cabinet, the Democratic governors of 18 states and a good part of the senate and house representatives. The speaker was also present, and if such a catastrophe had occurred, it would have been up to a speaker pro-tem to convene the house, while Senator McKellar would have had the power to convene the senate.

Whether congress would have then called for special elections, or whether the Republicans would have taken over the administration is a debatable question.

Undoubtedly, however, the Republicans would have had to take over for the time being, since few Democratic leaders would have been left, and since three to six months would have been necessary to make nominations and conduct the final balloting.

There also would be the question of who would declare war with part of congress gone, and who would make the vital decisions necessary to carry on a war.

Tragic Possibilities

These are just a few of the problems which aren't pleasant to think about but which have to be considered in view of the now definite fact that Russia has all our atomic secrets.

This is also why the administration, after inexcusably long delays, is finally and almost frantically working on civil defense, including an alternate capital of the United States. For, should a bomb be dropped on Washington, it would mean the destruction of all FBI fingerprints, all civil service records, all veterans insurance and pension records, all military defense plans, income-tax records, the Library of Congress and the government archives dating back to the beginning of the republic.

In fact, there is some doubt whether the government could function at all immediately after the destruction of these records. A period of chaos would be certain, military planners fear, unless careful plans are made now for an alternate capital, with microfilmed records stored there.

Speculation is that an alternate capital would be safest somewhere in the Rocky Mountains, possibly Denver or Salt Lake City.

John L. Lewis' Judge

Federal Judge Richmond Keach, the man who had been slapping John L. Lewis with those back-to-work court orders, was teetotal on law enforcement. His father was a District of Columbia policeman. However, the 53-year-old jurist is not a chronic "crack-downer," but a quiet, amiable man with a homespun air that belies his black robes. He also has a tremendous liking for people, particularly little people, a characteristic developed in the days when he used to fight consumers' battles against the public utilities as people's counsel of the district.

Later Keach became a member of the public utilities commission and served for a time as corporation counsel of the D.C. government before President Truman recognized his talents and made him a White House administrative assistant.

His automobile also is easily recognizable. For years Judge Keach's tag had been "18." A bachelor, looking younger than his years, Keach would be a big success in the Washington social whirl, but he shuns it. His only concession to "high society" is an occasional ride with a hunt club in near-by Maryland.

"Dictator" McCarran

Dictator Franco's friend, Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, has been using Dictator Franco's methods inside the senate judiciary committee.

In order to smear the displaced persons commission, McCarran held secret hearings without notifying other committee members. It was a virtual star-chamber proceeding. On the other hand, he refused to grant the displaced persons commission a hearing to defend itself.

DADS are "duds" as parents says a Texas lady educator. OK, let 'em get somebody else for the job.

Letter's To The Editor

Dear Editor, please print this: To the stockholders and directors of the Hotel Jim Hill and to all that are in favor of hiring Negroes to work at the Hotel Jim Hill and get their folks to move to Hereford, I for one am against any Negroes moving here. I own my home and do all I can to help our town. I think we have white folk enough here that are not employed to take care of any work there is to do around the Hotel.

I haven't got any stock in the Hotel myself and I am not looking for a job, I have one already and I sure think you directors should see after home folks first and give them a try at the work at the Hotel.
Respectfully yours,

Bob Bicknell,
P. O. Box 773.

Science note: "In explosions heard 100 miles away, there are still large 'zones of silence' much nearer the source of the sound."

BOOKS ON PARADE

Books For Lenten Reading Are Available In Library

By CORINNE JENNINGS | done for him. In the uncertain-
The Lenten season, perhaps, ties and turmoil of today, min-more than any other time turns isters, speakers and writers seem the thoughts of man to religion to be stressing the theme of hapand he ponders on what it has piness, hoping to aid mankind.

Norman Vincent Peale, minister, and Smiley Blanton, doctor, collaborate in a new book, "The Art of Real Happiness," in which they seek to combine the spiritual and the physical in aiding the mental, which in turn, will serve as a guide to happiness.
This volume is more or less a continuation of the theories, experiments, conclusions and case history stories which began in Peale's earlier book, "The Guide to Confident Living" and which has been a best seller for two years.

Because of some repetition in the style of his second book, and the simplicity of the psychology for application, those who have read the first book or who have delved in applied psychology may be disappointed. Otherwise the new book bids to be popular and well read.
A bit of philosophy quoted therein remains with us for thought, "Live one day at a time" by Sir William Oursler and though the idea was not new the manner in which it was presented by the authors started your reviewer on a new trend of thinking.

While this suggested way of living which has always seemed rather primitive to us and one we once ascribed as being suitable to the way of life of the Apache Indian on whose reservation we, once lived, we have decided they may have something we need to consider.
The earlier man might serve as a model in his simple ways for the lessening of tension and nervous disorders so prevalent today, for peace of mind, time for spiritual life, cultivation of friends and a better knowledge of our families.
Heading of the chapters in "The Art of Real Happiness" promise, "doorways of a new life," and understanding of "why do we love and hate at the same time," "how we can have peace of mind" tells us how to "relax and renew joyous powers," "how to stay healthy under pressure,"
"how to treat depression and anxiety," "how to have a successful marriage," "a solution for problem drinking," "comfort and understanding for the bereaved" and last, "how to grow older happily."
Another author, Ralph W.
Sockman, titles his new book,
"The Higher Happiness" and to us it offered much that is new in thought. Even the dedication and preface are important and should be read no matter how eager one is to get on and into the real content of the book.
The theme of attaining and holding happiness is based on the Beatitudes of the Bible and in which Sockman suggests that we try substituting the word
"happy" for the word "blessed" for a new meaning of that scripture. To be blessed and not be happy is like announcing a hymn, without stating the tune, he says.
The entire book, chapter by chapter, is based on and follows
the Beatitudes in order.
Sockman is the popular radio minister heard over the air each Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.
Another Sunday radio speaker, belonging to the church group is Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic Hour. His "Peace of Soul" is on the literary editors' suggested list of religious readings for this season.

Other books on the list which can be found in the Deaf Smith County Library are, according to Mrs. J. J. Boydston, librarian,
"The Man from Nazareth" by Fosdick; "Mary" by Asch; "Father Flannagan of Boy's Town" by Fulton and Will Oursler; and
"In Our Image" by Harie. We have added the two new ones summarized above and Garrett's "Growth in Prayer."

the Reserve Room or the top floor of the Court House.
Army's Organized Reserve Corps will continue in a non-pay status, similar to the volunteer reserve of the Navy and the Air Force Reserve.
Limited resignation of Reserve duty pay was made possible because of the fact that the recently completed program for active duty training disclosed a surplus of funds. Transfer of $2,700,000 of this surplus for reserve duty pay was therefore authorized.
Reduction in drill pay training periods was necessitated earlier when unexpectedly large numbers of reservists responded to training opportunities. This resulted in insufficiency of drill pay funds.

Col. Gomez Will Speak To Reserve Unit Monday Nite
Col. Vincent Gomez, Senior ORC instructor from Amarillo, will explain the future of the Hereford Reserve Unit and the announcement this week of restoration of a portion of the cut in Reserve duty training pay ordered for the Organized Reserve Corps last December.
The training pay restoration affects approximately 58,000 officers and 40,000 enlisted men in 25 ORC cadre divisions and low mobilization priority units.
Troop basis units of the ORC which were affected by the cut will now be able to engage in nine paid drills during the six months period ending June 30, 1950, provided no such units exceed a total of 21 paid drills for the entire fiscal year. These units were previously reduced from 12 to six paid drills for the last six months of fiscal year 1950. Funds for this increase in pay have been made available subject to the provision that no make-up be allowed for drills authorized but not conducted during the first half of fiscal year 1950.
Fully organized units and units designated for the early phases of mobilization were not affected by the training pay cutbacks last year. Training units of the

E. T. BURK FOR CONGRESS

18th Texas District

SCENE: A scene in an 18th Congressional District Town. A Farmer comes in for a little shopping. MERCHANT: "What do you hear about the Congressional race?" FARMER: "Quite a bit of talk. Hear a lot of people say they're for this man E. T. Burk of Amarillo. He's got a good platform and lots of common sense." MERCHANT: "I hear the same thing. Looks like Burk's got something on the ball. We need common sense. I'm for Burk."

Why Are So Many Voters Talking About Burk?

Because—

- Burk is a successful businessman.
- Burk knows the farm problem.
- Burk knows the labor problem.
- Burk is not after a paycheck or a political career.
- Burk is paying his own expenses.
- Burk is not shackled. He can represent everybody.
- Burk believes in economical government.
- Burk is for private enterprise; against socialism.

Bob Wear Speaks At Dawn On 'Citizenship Responsibility'

"It is apparent that there is a growing feeling of indifference toward the responsibilities of citizenship. It seems that most people enjoy and continue to expect the privileges of citizenship, but many are unwilling to meet the responsibilities which go with the privileges.

"In the last national election approximately 50 per cent of the eligible voters remained away from the polls. Recently, in the city of Dallas a few over 6,000 out of approximately 100,000 voted on a $22,500,000 bond issue. Last year in Deaf Smith County, less than 50 votes were cast in the school board election. There were 1,500 qualified voters. The voting was about 3 per cent. These statistics indicate the general lethargy of the people. This condition must be corrected. Our responsibilities are numerous and we must accept them.

If our way of life is to be maintained and preserved we must meet our citizenship responsibilities with energy and intelligence," said Bob Wear in addressing a large group of people at the Dawn School house Friday night.

ernment of the people, for the people; and by the people cannot survive where the people refuse to use their privileges and meet their obligations. We must be diligent in our efforts to preserve our freedom, of speech freedom of the press, the right to peaceful assembly, the right to petition our Government for a redress of grievances and our freedom of religion. Everything we do as citizens must be with the view of preserving and strengthening these basic liberties."

Plan For Range Deferment Now

College Station—Pasture planters need a rest period to regain their vigor and to allow them to produce a seed crop. Now is the time to make plans for carrying out deferred grazing practices for this year, says A. H. Walker, extension range specialist of Texas A & M College.

The length of deferment may vary from two to six months or longer depending on the rainfall, condition of the range and the kinds of grasses in the pasture. In areas of high rainfall where grasses get coarse and lose their nutrients upon maturity, a spring rest for vigor and a fall rest for seed production is best, says Walker. In north and West Texas where grasses cure well, a six month rest from May to November may be advisable.

He points out that many ranchers were surprised at the amount of grass that came back on their deferred pastures. Excellent moisture and good growing condition last year were contributing factors and many ranchmen found tall growing grasses in their deferred pastures that they had never seen before. The explanation, says Walker, the grasses never had a chance to grow up before heavy grazing got them.

More operators, he adds, are finding that there is a dollars and cents angle tied in with the deferred grazing practice and cites as an example the case of Mason county ranchman Elwood Kothmann. Kothmann, he says, has rested one pasture for three years during the growing season from May to November and has grazed it during the winter months. Last year this pasture produced 41 pounds of beef per acre on an annual basis and did it in just six months of grazing and Walker adds the grass is nearly waist high.

Walker suggests that you make plans to defer at least one pasture on the ranch this year. He says demonstrators have proved that deferred grazing is also a very effective aid in any range recovery program and with favorable weather deferred pastures have shown remarkable recovery.

McCall To Speak On Abundant Living

Announcement has been made by the Baptist Radio Commission in Atlanta, Dr. S. F. Lowe, Director, that the theme for the Baptist Hour messages during April, May and June will be "Abundant Living."

The speaker for this series of sermons will be Dr. Duke K. McCall, Executive Secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention. Dr. McCall has a world-wide reputation as a speaker, educator and a religious leader. He is a member of the Baptist World Alliance Executive Committee and Treasurer of the Southern Baptist Foundation. He has spoken on the Baptist Hour several times previously.

A native of Mississippi, Dr. McCall is the son of Judge and Mrs. John W. McCall of Memphis, Tennessee. He graduated with honors from Furman University, Greenville, S. C., and received the Th. M. and Ph. D. degrees from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. He also holds honorary degrees from Furman, and from Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

Dr. McCall left the pastorate of Broadway Baptist Church, Louisville, in 1943 to become president of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. He held the latter position until May of 1946 when he became executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention Executive Committee. ## Letters To The Editor

Hereford, Texas
March 24, 1950

To The Brand:
A gentleman from Midland, connected with one of the big oil companies, with branch office in Amarillo, was in my office this morning with a complimentary statement regarding the Jim Hill Hotel where he stayed last night.

He makes it a point to stop at the best hotels, and it was really an accident that he spent the night here—he did not know about our new hotel in Hereford, and had always made it a point to stop in Amarillo. He was most highly pleased with the Jim Hill, and stated that in all his experience he had never put up with a better managed and comfortable room than he had here.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

(Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher won't get anywhere with his proposal this week but you can't blame him for trying.)

Dear editor:
I was wanderin' around out here the other afternoon enjoyin' the Spring weather—ain't nothing that'll give a man a lift like Spring weather, out-side of a government check in the mail box—when I picked up a copy of the Globe which somebody had wrapped a lunch in and which, don't make no difference if it is a big paper, ain't no more ant-proof than yours, but anyway I shook the ants out of it—sat down and read where the city of New York has hired a man for $50,000 to produce rain to relieve the water shortage up there.
I notice the scientist who got this rain-making job says he can't guarantee to make rain every day, there'll be some days when he fails, some when he succeeds.
This seemed to suit those New York officials and they handed over their $50,000.
I been thinkin'. I believe I would be willing to undertake a rain-makin' job on that basis, not only for one city but for the whole country, and will do it for less money.
Of course like the New York scientist I can't be expected to succeed every time, and when it doesn't rain, the country doesn't owe me anything; but when I do succeed and it does rain, I collect. Figure if I get the rain makin' franchise for the whole country I ought to collect something from some part of the nation every month, maybe even every week.
The way this looks to me, it'll beat farmin' all to pieces. If those New Yorkers have got that kind of money to spend I'd sure like to get in on it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Mrs. Springer Leads Frio HD Club Program At Thursday Meeting

"It's smart to be lazy" might be another way of explaining the subject of the Frio Home Demonstration club program, when it met in the home of Mrs. W. A. Springer, on Thursday, March 23rd. "Simplify your work, through careful planning, to give yourself leisure time and save that tired feeling," was the gist of Mrs. Springer's talk. Mrs. Springer is Work Simplification leader of the club. She led members to discuss ways that they could save themselves unnecessary work. Ironing, washing and housecleaning were jobs that women could simplify, the majority thought. Mrs. Glenn Gripp assisted Mrs. Springer in demonstrating the simplified work saving way of making a bed. Each member volunteered to take a project of simplifying some part of her own work, and will report her progress at the next meeting.
The president, Mrs. D. E. Chisholm, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Gripp led the club song, "Song of the Open Country," and conducted a quiz on advertisement of popular products, at the recreation period.
Mrs. Chisholm was elected to be Frio's nominee as a candidate to the District meeting in Borger in April. Three women will be elected from the county at council this Saturday.
Mrs. T. L. Sparkman, Sr. took pictures of the club women for use in the club scrap book.
The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. D. E. Chisholm on April 13th, at her home in Apt. 7, at the Fullwood Apartments in Hereford. "Work Simplification" will again be the program subject.
Those present were Mesdames Glenn Gripp, T. L. Sparkman, Jr., Spicer Gripp, C. N. McClure, H. F. Benson, Gene Noel, T. L. Sparkman, Sr., Floyd Cole, E. F. Vogler, E. H. Little, Frank Robbins, J. H. Dobbs, Henry Andrews, D. E. Chisholm, Owen Andrews, E. M. Vincent, a new member, Miss Alma Andrews and the hostess.

"I WISH I COULD BE IN A PET SHOW"

SPRING'S A BUSTIN OUT ALL OVER

Surest Sign Of Spring -- The Youngsters Have Their Pets Lined Up And Showing Off

Signs of spring crowd the earth, the very air seems to sing, and there are but few who fail to respond to its insistings in some form or fashion.

One of the surest signs of spring is the outdoor interest of a boy and his dog and when a whole neighborhood of youngsters get together with one purpose in mind--A Dog Show--Spring's a bustin' out all over. It's here.

One of Hereford's few pet shows was held Saturday morning in Jimmy Conkwright's back yard and although patterned after the recent 4-H Club Calf show, it had many aspects that were lacking in the Calf Show.

The picture shows the owners and their dogs lined up for inspection. Jimmy, who fostered the show idea, presented ribbons and banners of merit which he had made the week before, and prizes were awarded to all.

Reading from left to right are Jerry Bybee, 5, whose pet turned out to be a turtle. Jerry tried to keep him in a can but he wouldn't stay and after the turtle scratched his hand, Jerry became disgusted and wouldn't play with him any more.

Boston Bulldog "Skipper" and Jimmy Conkwright 8, with his red Cocker Spaniel "Honey-Boy." Jerry Don McCaslin got separated from Butch and Quarter but he didn't care, he didn't want to help keep Quarter still anyway.

reserve champion prize because he behaved so well. Jeff Minton, who is 10, had about all he could do to keep Duke, his Springer Spaniel, in the picture. Duke, registered as "Duke of Herefordshire," had all the requirements to win grand champion but he was so frisky the award went to Wayne Hastings' Skipper who was the best behaved.

Only one dog fight, started the morning's events but a sad note entered into the scene with a wistful little cur, also pictured, looking longingly through the fence all during the show.

Mrs. Maurice Tannahill New Study Club Prexy

Mrs. Maurice Tannahill was chosen president of the Child Study Club when new officers were elected at the meeting held Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Worth Covington.

Other officers include Mrs. Lisle Woodford, vice-president; Mrs. N. D. Bartlett, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. John Robinson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dale Tinnin, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Story, reporter; Mrs. Earl Springer, parliamentarian and Mrs. George Tiefert, historian.

During the business session plans were made for the closing meeting which will be held with the El Niño Study Club.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Lisle Woodford on April 13. Mrs. Sam Nelson will present a musical program.

The program for the evening was in two parts with Mrs. Cawthon Bryant giving the opening discussion of "Stop Annoying Your Children" taken from an article written by Dr. W. W. Bauer. Quoting from the author she said, "There are no problem children, only problem parents.

The second half of the program was presented by Mrs. Dale Tinnin who told of "The Child Who is Different." She stated that, "Instead of struggling to make a child conform, we should search for means of helping him to develop the gifts he has in his own way and in his own time. He may be a little different but he can still grow up to be a useful and happy person."

Members of the club present were Mesdames Dale Tinnin, Gordon Witherspoon, Frank Watson, George Tiefert, John Robinson, Maurice Tannahill, Deward Roberson, N. D. Bartlett, Jr., Cawthon Bryant, Earl Springer, Merlin Kaul, J. C. Reese, Lisle Woodford, the hostess and a guest, Mrs. Coy Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Billingslea returned from Dallas and San Antonio this week after several days visiting.

Cameron Gault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gault returned to Colorado A&M Thursday after a few days at home between semesters.

If four rubber-tipped door stops are screwed into the legs of an ordinary chair, it will make an ideal high chair for kitchen work, or for a small child.

MRS. HARRY SEED

Shrimp Salad Is Suitable For Lent - Any Occasion

Mrs. Harry Seed has so many hobbies that it is hard to tell just which gives her the most pleasure. One of her favorite interests, however, is cooking and she has been experimenting with recipes since she was a little girl. Here are two of her favorite recipes you might like to try during Lent, although they may be served at any time with just as much ease and sense of appropriate planning.

Not new or novel in any way, but there's never a bite left on the plate when the hostess serves shrimp salad or when the family is allowed an extra treat. Here is Mrs. Seed's recipe.

- Shrimp Salad
1 5-oz. can shrimp
1 stick celery chopped fine
1/2 cup finely chopped onion or 3 small onions with tops
1/4 cup sliced stuffed olives
2 tablespoons lemon juice (or vinegar)
4 tablespoons salad oil (Wesson preferred)
1 tablespoon prepared mustard dash of Worcestershire sauce dash of Cayenne
salt and pepper to taste
dash of garlic salt

Mix all the ingredients and thoroughly blend with shrimp. Place in refrigerator and allow to marinate for 2 hours, or more. Thoroughly mix again before

Mrs. Frank Rickels Gives Club Program

Mrs. P. B. Sowell entertained members of the Farm and Ranch Club at a luncheon meeting recently.

Red carnations and white stock arranged in a crystal bowl formed the attractive table centerpiece and handpainted place cards depicted the club flower, the red carnation.

After the luncheon Mrs. Sowell conducted the business session as president of the club and introduced Mrs. Frank Rickels who gave the program for the day.

Answering the topic question "How Does Your Garden Grow?" Mrs. Rickels, who has a green thumb when it comes to raising vegetables and flowers, stressed the importance of preparing the soil well before planting. She told of interesting experiences she has had in raising cucumbers and beans and gave her method of canning vegetables that taste garden-fresh when opened.

Members present were Mesdames Garland Solomon, Herschel Burris, W. B. Nunley, Waldron Melton, Henry Melton, Ed Thomas, Woodrow Perrin, Frank Rickels, Tom Cotton, Phillip Miller and the hostess.

In her discussion of the subject she brought out the thought that if the emotional needs of a child are satisfied, with reasonable discipline other needs will take care of themselves.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Dick Gholson on April 3. Members of the club attending the meeting were Mesdames Eugene Bagwell, Roy Boyer, Dick Gholson, Howard Gore, W. D. Mrs. Newell Gives Study Of Modern Architecture

"Modernism in Architecture" was given emphasis during the meeting of the LaPlata Club Tuesday night when that group met in the home of Mrs. Bill Blood.

architecture. Functional order is its very essence," she stated and then discussed the style and character of architecture as displayed by the architects mentioned.

Frank Lloyd Wright is the father of modern architecture. He is a confirmed non-traditionalist, yet stands apart from other architects. "The order of the day of modern architecture cannot be carried out in disorder. This necessity is the root of modern MAID'S DANCING MOOD—The Maid of Cotton is in a dancing mood. She is the belle of the ball in her organdie evening dress. This fetching gown is one of the glamorous fashions in the wardrobe of Maid McGee of Spartanburg, S. C. for her fashion and goodwill tour.

MAID'S PARTY FROCK—The 1950 Maid of Cotton, 19-year-old Elizabeth McGee, has a bountiful wardrobe of cotton party frocks in her famous collection of cotton fashions. This chic two-piece was created by Margaret Newman in lustrous cotton satin. It is designed in shades of India pink and Cranberry.

Long Time Ago

45 Years Ago
On a Wednesday afternoon, an alarm was turned in to the local fire department that the house of M. W. Shelly in North Hereford was on fire. As usual the boys turned out and did some noble work in saving the barn and out houses but there was a high west wind and nothing could be done to save the house or furniture. One of the most expensive homes in Hereford, Shelley carried $3,000 worth of insurance which reportedly didn't touch the loss. However, Shelley said he would rebuild.

In talking and associating with out-of-the-state farmers, prospecting farmers, it became apparent that these farmers were paying for a farm here with the rent he would have paid on his farm where he came from.

The Hereford Brand took great pride in describing and boasting of the pride Hereford and its citizens had. Among the citizens who, in those days of long time ago, were noted for their pride was A. J. Lipscomb. He had just completed the beautification of his already beautiful home in the east part of town.

Of course he had to fence the trees to protect them from the incursions of the town cow but the trouble and expense to which he was put was insignificant when compared to the pleasure and satisfaction which he derived from his shaded home in later years.

United States President Teddy Roosevelt was due to sweep near Hereford one of his trips when he went to Bovina during March of 1905. Bovina was the only stop west of Ft. Worth Roosevelt was to make. The people of Hereford could, if they wanted something they had never received before and would never receive again, go to Hereford Mercantile Company and get 100 pounds of potatoes for 75 cents.

The consensus of opinion among farmers and stockmen was that the Panhandle was going to have the earliest grass that year than at any other time in the history of West Texas. There was already good grazing in the valleys and draws and, with the warm sunshine, it was only a question of a few days when cattle would find sufficient

St. Anthony's surging softball team chose the ninth inning to edge Shirley School on Shirley's home field Thursday afternoon. St. Anthony won, 10-8.

Pitcher Ken Walterscheid won his own ball game in the sixth inning when, trailing 5-8, with two on, he slammed a round-tripper tying up the score at eight all. St. Anthony added a couple more in the seventh which cooled Shirley off for good.

Third baseman, Jerry Noogler got a home run for himself in the first inning. Larry Walterscheid, second baseman, injured his knee in the initial inning and was out for the rest of the contest. David Erdman played out his game.

According to coach Father Nathaniel, this was St. Anthony's hardest game, so far, this season.

McMurry Band To Play At High School And Church

The McMurry College Indian band from Abilene will present an assembly program for Hereford High School students Wednesday morning starting at 9:15 o'clock, according to Don Martin, high school principal.

The 50-member Indian band, under the direction of Raymond A. Bynum, will be in Hereford as part of a six-day spring tour of the organization, which this year will take them to Big Spring, Midland, Andrews, Kermit, Levelland, Brownfield, Hereford, and several other West Texas high schools.

The group will arrive in Hereford late Tuesday afternoon. They will present a concert at 8 o'clock, that night at the First Methodist Church and will spend the night in homes of church members.

For their Hereford performance, the McMurry band will play selections of a semi-classical or popular nature, including a Latin American number and one or two novelty compositions.

Norma Sechrist of Spur and James Pollard of Vernon, popular young singers with the Indian band, will be featured in the local concert. Also to be featured will be the cornet trio composed of Pollard, Jimmy Aldridge of Plainview, and Bill Fyfeash of Abilene. They will play "The Three Jacks" with band accompaniment.

One of the most popular features of the McMurry group's concerts before high school and church groups this year has been the band chorus, made up of 25 voices. They will sing Fred Waring's arrangements of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" with band accompaniment.

Their appearance in Hereford will be the 76th of the year for the Indian bandsmen. On January 1 they accompanied the McMurry football team to Galveston for the Oleander Bowl game with Missouri Valley college. In February the band played at the Texas Music Educators Association convention in Mineral Wells.

The Women's Society of Christian Service will feed the band at the church Wednesday evening. Mrs. C. B. Williams is chairman.

This will be the first appearance of the Indian band since its reorganization in 1946. The two local concerts are open to the public.

Large Areas, Mainly Cropland, Have Reached Critical Stage

FORT WORTH—Large areas, mainly in cropland, in western Texas and smaller sections in western Oklahoma are critically near the stage at which high winds will mean widespread wind erosion, Louis P. Merrill, Soil Conservation Service regional director, said today.

These areas are, without enough plant cover or crop residues to prevent soil movement when hard winds blow, Merrill explained.

Merrill said that although field representatives of SCS report more land is protected now than at this time last year, the critical acreage could expand rapidly because of the lack of moisture for wheat and other winter-growing crops.

Merrill summed up the wind erosion picture for Texas and Oklahoma this way:

There are 2,500,000 acres in western Texas and Oklahoma without enough cover to prevent blowing.

Most critical spots at present are in the general vicinity of Littlefield, Lubbock and Lamesa, in Texas, and west of Guymon and around Boise City in the Oklahoma Panhandle. More than 1,300,000 acres in the Lamesa-Littlefield-Lubbock area are without adequate soil protection.

Many farmers have begun to chisel and list fields as a temporary guard against soil blowing.

Grain sorghum and wheat stubble from 1949 crops, where properly managed, is proving an effective control measure. Many thousands of acres of cotton lands in the South Plains are unprotected, however.

The regional Soil Conservation Service head said that reports from regional SCS office at Albuquerque indicate that the hazardous conditions extend into eastern New Mexico where 100,000 acres of cropland are without adequate plant or residue cover to prevent wind damage. Dust storms already have been reported in some of the New Mexico areas.

Reports to Merrill show that a total of 720,500 acres of native grass sod has been broken-out by plows in the western areas of Texas and Oklahoma since 1940. The regional director said that all but a few thousand acres of this land can be cultivated safely if applicable soil conservation measures are used.

Merrill said that conservation farmers are making rapid progress in the application of measures which prevent or reduce damage from wind as well as water. Stubble mulching, use of cover and soil improving crops, strip cropping, regrassing of eroded lands, with good pasture and range management, are among practices which are reducing the wind erosion threat.

Oklahoma field headquarters of the Soil Conservation Service show about 360,000 acres in Plains and Cross Timbers areas without sufficient wind erosion protection. Over-used grasslands and wheat on shallow, hard soils in the Guymon area are already suffering some damage. In the Anadarko area, about 150,000 acres of Cross Timbers sandy lands are unprotected.

At Guymon, District Conservationist John F. Bailey reported wheat planted soon after fall rains is in fair to good condition. Late planted wheat failed to make a stand or in poor conditions. Farmers are standing by to list or chisel fields which may begin to blow. About 5,000 acres already have been listed or chiseled in the area. Bailey said that the farm of Ed Brewer, a cooperator with the Texas County, Oklahoma, Soil Conservation District, is a good example of regrassing of formerly cultivated land and sandy range which had been in poor condition. Brewer each year since 1943 has been planting additional land in native or introduced grasses. His 2,000 acres now in productive grass are amply protected against wind or water damage. He expects to continue the re-grassing program on 3,000 more acres.

John A. Ferrin, SCS district conservationist at Littlefield, Texas, reported winter wheat and winter cover crops in poor condition on dry land farms as a result of prolonged dry weather in that High Plains area. Soil moisture has disappeared. Two dust storms already have occurred.

At Lamesa, District Conservationist Jesse D. Jenkins reported a dwindling supply of soil moisture with 405,000 acres of farm land without enough residue to plant cover to prevent blowing. Cotton land, peanut land and close-cut sorghum lands made up the acreage in hazardous condition, Jenkins said. Farmers have deep-plowed about 25,000 acres.

Marshall W. Howard, the SCS district conservationist at Lubbock, said much of the 310,000 acres in hazardous condition in his area consisted of sandy land having only cotton stalks as protection. Wheat and other winter crops have not made sufficient growth to afford protection.

In the vicinity of Wheeler, where 15,000 acres of cotton fields and late plowed land already have been blowing, District Conservationist Ervin Schmutz of Canadian reported a 50,000-acre total is without sufficient plant or residue cover.

Largest unprotected acreage in the Cross Timbers of Texas is in the Dublin area where District Conservationist W. R. Heizer reported 72,000 acres without adequate cover. However, winter cover crops for the most part are in good condition and wherever strip cropping, cover crops, stubble mulch and range management have been practiced the sandy soils are well protected.

Heizer said one farmer, Robert Stephan, has been strip-cropping, returning peanut hay to the land and planting rye cover for the last 12 years. On this land he produced more than 70 bushels of peanuts an acre in 1949, while on a tract adjoining where no soil conservation had been practiced he averaged less than 30 although on this land he applied 200 pounds of commercial fertilizer an acre.

"He always was smart, if you recall, at running from one good foxhole to another."

A crack on the inside of a range can be mended by using a filler made of equal parts of common table salt and wood ashes, moistened with water to the proper consistency. The filler will dry hard and will be lasting.

A way to test the quality of coffee is to put a spoonful in a glass of cold water and add a few drops of lemon juice. If the coffee is pure, it will remain on top of the water; if not, the water will become brown in color.

Hometown Girl Makes Good With McMurry College Band

One of Hereford's hometown girls has made good. At least, that's what Raymond T. Bynum, director of the McMurry College Indian band at Abilene, will tell you.

She is Mary Helen McGilvary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McGilvary of Hereford. And she has given Mr. Bynum and her fellow band members a mighty high opinion of Hereford folks. The director of the Indian band counts on her as being one of his most reliable members, and "she's always there, ready to do her job," he adds. She plays second chair solo clarinet in the band this year.

While a student in Hereford High School, Mary Helen was vice president of her freshman class and held the same office her senior year. She served as president of the Future Homemakers of America and was a member of the high school chorus and the sextet.

She was also drum major of the high school band. She was an honor student and was elected to be a member of Who's Who in High Schools.

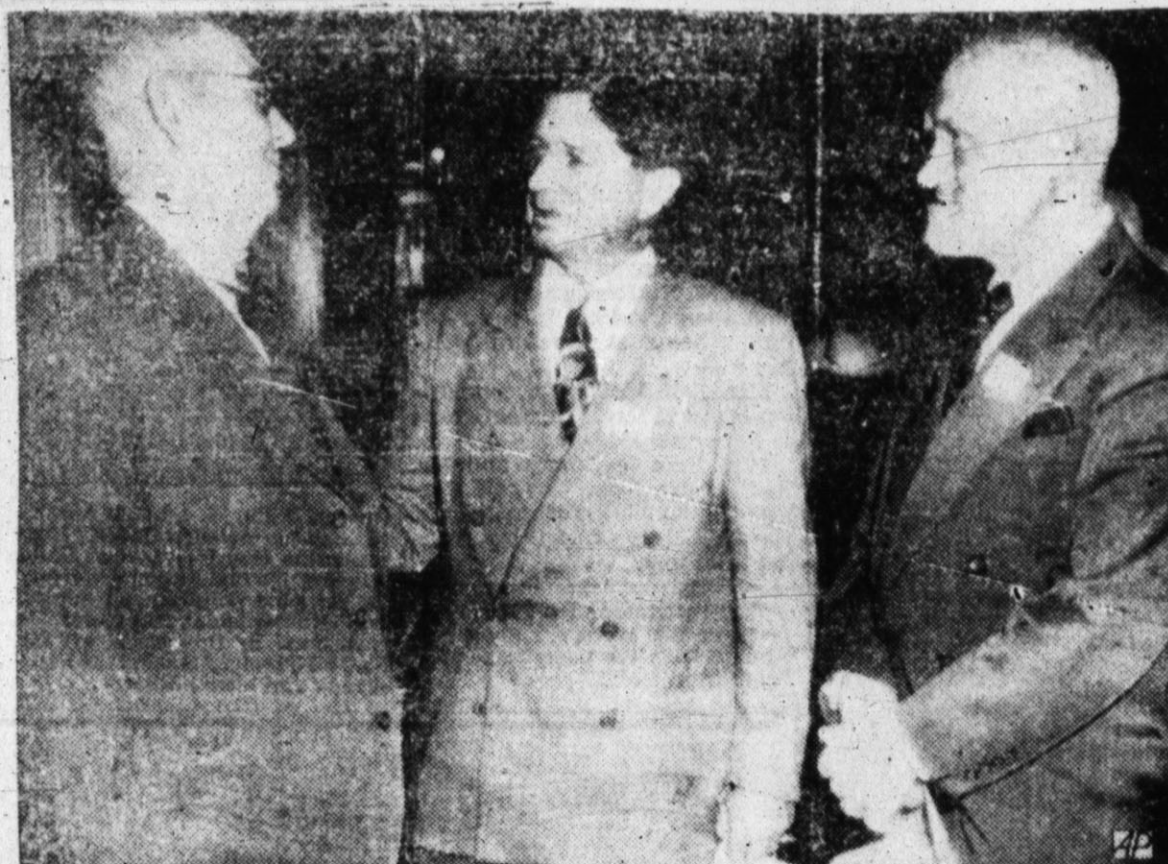

Mary Helen was also an active member of the Hereford First Methodist Church, serving in every capacity, at one time or another, in the local youth organization. She was president of the subdistrict Methodist Youth Fellowship.

In McMurry she has been a member of the Indian band, the Chanters, famous mixed chorus, and the Volunteers, an organization made up of young women going into full time church service.

A 1948 graduate of Hereford High School, she is a sophomore in McMurry this year. She is majoring in music education with a minor in English.

She will be with the McMurry band when it comes to Hereford on its annual spring tour next Tuesday and Wednesday, March 28 and 29. The group will play at the First Methodist Church Tuesday night and again on Wednesday morning for students at Hereford High School.

A most practical patch bag can be made from a yard or two of mosquito netting. This enables one to see the contents from the outside, and there is no necessity for emptying the entire contents to find the exact piece of goods wanted.

Mrs. J. B. Caraway Will Head Dawn Music Club

Mrs. J. B. Caraway was named president of the Dawn Music Club at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. N. R. Miller. Other officers who will serve with her include Mrs. Zed Stewart, vice-president; Mrs. J. M. Andrews, recording secretary; Mrs. Ray Kerschen, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Stewart, parliamentarian; Mrs. Eddie Reinauer, reporter; Mrs. Carl Wimberley, choral director and junior music club councillor.

Mrs. J. M. Anderson and Mrs. Norman Miller gave chapters 8-9-10-11-12 of the study book "What to Listen for in Music" and Mrs. Eddie Reinauer read poems from Texas poets.

Mrs. Robert Kerschen entertained with musical selections including "Have You Ever Been to Texas" (Lake) "LaPaloma" (Yardner) Rachmaninoff's Prelude and Serenade by Schubert.

Wanda Sue Wimberley played David Guion's "Turkey in the Straw."

Antonian Circle Plans Party During Meeting

The Antonian Circle of St. Anthony's Catholic Church met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Clarence Betzen. A short business session was held and an after-Lent party was planned.

Members of the group attending the meeting were Mesdames S. A. Fangman, Mark Koenig, Elmer Reinart, Edward Paetzold, Mike Betzen, Alfred Reinart, Tony Hoffman, F. A. ## Win One Class Plans To Give Easter Gift For Clothes For Girl

Mesdames J. E. Beyer, Andy Thomas, E. J. Hudson and John Jacobsen, Sr. were hostesses for the Win One Class in Ward Hall of the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon.

After a prayer given by Mrs. E. W. Solomon, members voted to send funds for Easter clothes to Betty Roath, whom the class sponsors at the Methodist Home in Waco.

Committee reports were heard and Mrs. Ward, teacher of the class, read letters from missionaries whom they had sent gift boxes. Mrs. C. B. Williams gave the devotional and Mrs. J. B. Jones conducted a Bible Quiz.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames E. W. Harrison, L. C. Thomas, D. H. Bryant, C. F. Davis, Don Davidson, H. M. Benefield, Clara Freeman, F. M. Faulkner, G. H. Whitaker, Mary

A novel way to water the hanging-basket, without spilling water on the floor, is to insert a small funnel in the dirt, as near the center of the basket as possible, and hidden by the foliage. Fill this funnel with water every day, and it will soak into the soil gradually.

Bear in MIND

When you sit right down and think about it, there is no difference between shopping for insurance and shopping for a piece of meat. When you drop in on the butcher and ask for a pot roast, you do not expect to unwrap a porterhouse steak when you get home. You have paid for pot roast and that is what you get. Unfortunately for everyone, many people think that insurance is all porterhouse steak. That is why we want every one of our clients to know and to bear in mind what they ordered and paid for—insurance-wise. It certainly saves a lot of headaches when a loss or a claim comes along.

Retail Credit Course To Be Given For Local Merchants

Ten-hour course in Retail Credit Procedures for merchants and employees of Hereford will be conducted here beginning April 3 to April 7, according to an announcement by Mrs. Ross, manager of Hereford Credit Association. Hereford is one of the fortunate Texas cities to be included this year in the Distribution Education training program offered by the University of Texas, Division of Extension, in cooperation with the State Board of Vocational Education. The course is to be taught by Mr. Sterling S. Speake of the University Extension Division. The course has been acclaimed by merchants throughout the state as a very practical and interesting study of current and future retail credit problems. It deals with successful methods used by many Texas business firms in handling their charge accounts. There will be no text book used, but materials and ideas presented will be those which are in successful operation.

Mrs. Ross pointed out that this course is being conducted just at the right time because of the big increase in open account and installment consumer credit. Fast changing economic and business conditions will create a tendency for merchants to sell on lower down payments and longer credit terms because of increased competition and aggressive credit sales promotion, Mrs. Ross believes. She continued by saying that merchants should waste no time in getting their credit accounts up-to-date by having employees in the correct line of handling charge accounts.

The topics to be included in this course are as follows: current and future problems in credit; credit applications; credit interviews; investigating and evaluating the applicant; rejecting the applicant; store credit policies; credit sales promotion; credit letters; collection procedures.

The course will be conducted in the County Courtroom each evening from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. Date: April 3-7, 1950.

A University of Texas Extension Division certificate will be presented to all those who meet the attendance requirements. A small enrollment fee is the only cost to the enroller. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Ross at the Hereford Credit Association of Hereford, Texas.

Local merchants who have felt the need of this information and are responsible for Hereford in securing Mr. Sterling S. Speake are Lyle Blanton, Blanton-Butane, Inc. and Carl G. McCaslin, Carl McCaslin Lumber Company.

Drought, Greebugs And Now Freeze Kills Fruit

The wheat in this community is suffering to a great extent, needing rain. Green bugs are also inflicting considerable damage. The freezing weather last week killed most of the fruit.

While there probably will be only good-natured banter between the greats, it would be a wonderful experience to listen in on a locker room pep talk by a manager telling each how to play his position.

For instance: "You Cobb, I want you to choke the bat and pull your hits."

"And you Speake, let's move around a little in the field."

"Baker, you'll bunt the first time up."

"Jackson, the position is short-stop. Stop those short drives."

"Cochrane, keep Dean mixing his pitches."

"Gehring, you and Grimm split the distance between second and first. I want every foot covered."

You can imagine the deep silence that would greet these directives.

But who can you imagine as the manager.

This is just a fanciful conversation between Dizzy Dean and Mickey Cochrane and there probably won't be a bit of argument between the nine greats of baseball's past when they gather as a "one batter" team in Dallas April 11.

Oilman Dick Burnett, who aims to see his Dallas Eagles break the Texas League opening day attendance record, has come up with a dandy idea, one that will probably bring out the greatest crowd the Class AA circuit will ever see.

With special permission of the powers that be in the Texas League and baseball, Dean, Cochrane, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Charley Grimm, Home Run Baker, Duffie Lewis, Travis Jackson, and Charley Gehring will start for Dallas in the opening game against Tulsa. This team will play one batter.

Fish Will Respond To Fertilizer Just As Any Crop And Pay As Well

COLLEGE STATION — Plenty of food for the fish in the farm pond will mean more and larger fish. A scant supply of food very often means poor and stunted practical source of food for the fish is that food which can be produced in the pond where the fish live, says R. E. Callender, extension specialist in wildlife conservation of Texas A&M College, and will consist of both plant and animal life.

The production of microscopic plant and animal life known as plankton or "bloom" is the first and most important step in the food chain. Ponds containing water that is high in plant food usually produce plenty of "bloom." This plant food gets into the pond by being dissolved from the soil as the water flows over the watershed. Water flowing over poor soil doesn't pick up any fertility and it must be supplied.

Farm ponds can be fertilized just as crops are fertilized and the same fertilizers can be used, says Callender. He says 400 pounds of cottonseed meal and 200 pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate make a very good mixture. He recommends the application of 300 pounds of the mixture about this time of the year; broadcast it on the surface of the pond and follow with a second, third and fourth application of 100 pounds each at 3 to 4 week intervals. The fertilizer program should be completed before extremely hot weather arrives and before July 1 if possible, he adds.

High grade commercially mixed fertilizers can be used in place of cottonseed meal at a rate of 500 to 600 pounds per acre per year. The first application should be from 200 to 300 pounds and 400 pound applications should follow at 3 to 4 week intervals until the total is used.

He says barnyard manure may also be used and recommends four applications of 500 pounds each per acre for a season. Damaged alfalfa hay works fine and may be used at the rate of 1 to 2 tons per acre for the season.

Properly fertilized ponds, he points out will have a greenish-brown color. When this color begins to disappear after the first application and objects can be seen 12 to 18 inches below the surface, it is time to make another application of fertilizer. He says plunge your arm into the water up to your elbow, and if fingers and nails are visible, fertilize.

The fertilizer program should be started early in the year and completed before hot summer weather. He says to avoid heavy applications during July and August, especially in ponds containing lots of submerged mosses. Here's why: the rapid growth of the "bloom" will murk up the water, shut off the sunlight from the submerged mosses, often killing them. The decaying vegetation then uses up the free oxygen in the water to such an extent that the fish may be killed. He says make the heavy applications early in the spring before the moss has made much growth. Then gradually taper off as the warm season approaches. Callender concludes that it is just as practical to grow fish by the acre as it is to produce pounds of beef, mutton or milk from an acre. Just another way, he adds, of making every acre on the farm productive, and you still have the fun of catching the fish.

TEXAS TODAY

Relics Of Old Republic Are Crumbling

By MARTHA COLE Associated Press Staff
Austin, Tex. (AP)—They'll have to start suspending pictures from the ceilings in the Senate. The walls are full up.

The last six portraits assigned to the honor of being in the Senate are still on their easels down at the front of the chamber. No more room on the walls.

In the Senate chamber proper there are 37 pictures. Counting six more in the lobby just outside the door and 17 along the walls of the gallery, there are 60 pictures.

The House has more room for distinguished citizens of Texas. Just 24 pictures are in its chamber proper, 13 more in the gallery and 13 in the lobby for a total of 50.

All of the pictures in the Senate gallery are panels of by-gone senators except one. In it old Sam Houston stands larger than life in the flowing red and blue robes of an Indian amid crumbling Roman columns and looks down from the gallery with a gimlet eye. His bare feet just skim the tops of the lobbyists that haunt the gallery during a legislative session.

In the place of honor in the Senate—right behind the president's rostrum but almost hidden by the six flags under which Texas has served—Stephen Fuller peeks out from behind the U. S. stars and stripes.

The two by three-foot busy portrait of Austin is 114 years old. It was painted from life in New Orleans in 1836, when Austin was Secretary of State for Texas.

To the left of the rostrum Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, stands life-size in the full dress uniform of a Confederate officer. To the right of the rostrum stands, life-size, John H. Reagan, last survivor of the Confederate cabinet, who served Texas 12 years in the lower house of Congress and four years as U. S. Senator.

are not plowing the land yet because of its hard condition and excessive costs of plowing under such conditions. However, they are furrowing in order to keep the land from blowing.

MIAMI—Roberts county farmers have taken inventory of the wheat crop and found that conditions are serious, says the Miami Chief. There has been little blowing in wheat fields in this immediate area so far, but the whole area is dry, with no appreciable moisture since early fall.

DUMAS — Fifty per cent of Moore County's wheat was estimated by County Agent J. B. Waide, Jr. to have passed the point where a good rain would save the grain. Very little green bug infestation was reported.

CLOVIS—Survey for a proposed Air Force Academy site was made in Clovis Friday by the District Engineer, U. S. Army.

Connally, Mirabeau B. Lamar and Jesse Jones.

By far the most awe-inspiring are the two huge, eight by ten-foot battle scenes at the back of the Senate.

One is a gory depiction of "Dawn over the Alamo," with Mexicans and Texans dying on outthrust sabers in wild confusion outside a crumbling Alamo. "The moral victory," the artist called it.

The other is "The Triumph of Texan Independence," another gory scene of Mexicans, Texans and horses dying on the field of San Jacinto April 21, 1836.

One teen-ager remarked to another staring at the picture: "Boy, that was tough."

In the place of honor in the house, behind the Speaker's rostrum, is framed the yellowing linen flag that flew over Goliad in 1836 during the massacre of Fannin's men. On the huge flag, about six by five feet big, is painted in oils a scantily-clad woman, one outstretched arm flinging a sword from which dangles a banner. On the banner are the words: "Liberty or Death." The flag was presented by the ladies of Newport, Ky., to Captain Sidney Sherman when he struck out to help the Texans fight for their independence from Mexico.

To the right of the rostrum in the House is Sam Houston in business dress, a robe over his shoulders, beaver hat in his hand, as he was when he was President of the Republic of Texas. To the left of the rostrum is James Stephen Hogg, Governor of Texas, 1891-95.

Portraits in the Senate include those of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, John Nance Garner, Tom

Hundreds of folks, who are benefiting every day from taking HADACOL meet at the Trianon Building in Oklahoma City where Bob Wills, famous band leader, and his Texas Playboys broadcast each noon for HADACOL.

"It looks like all my fans are getting wonderful benefits from HADACOL," said Wills. "It is a real pleasure to broadcast for HADACOL because the folks taking HADACOL are so enthusiastic that I feel like I am performing a real service for mankind."

Hundreds have told Wills of the blessed benefits of HADACOL and the following statement by Miss Betty Lou Lobb, 2400 College St., Bethany, a well known singer, is a good example.

"I was tired, run down and lost my appetite. I suffered with gastric disturbances. I had tried almost everything, but it didn't seem to help me. I had heard about the wonderful results HADACOL had been bringing to so many of my friends. Soon after taking HADACOL I was feeling much better, had no gastric disturbances and had a wonderful appetite. I am no longer nervous. I am sure that HADACOL has helped me a great deal and I recommend it to my friends."

Miss Lobb suffered with a deficiency of B Vitamins and important Minerals which HADACOL contains.

Lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances... Your food will not agree with you... You will have an upset stomach... You will suffer from heartburns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the result of other causes, they are surely and certainly the symptoms and signs of the lack of the

Texans in Washington

By TEX EASLEY

Washington (AP)—Some 100 Texas congressional aides have decided they ought to know one another better.

Taking a leaf out of the book of their bosses, who hold delegation luncheons, they met last week in a large room just off the Senate chamber in the Capitol.

With the amiable and quiet-mannered Arthur Perry of Austin presiding, they heard an interesting talk by Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Harold C. Stuart. Perry is administrative assistant to Senator Connally.

The AF official got off to a good start by saying he felt he was almost a Texan, having been born in Oklahoma, and that his father practiced law in Gainesville, Tex., before becoming a federal judge in what was then Oklahoma Territory.

The AF official got off to a good start by saying he felt he was almost a Texan, having been born in Oklahoma, and that his father practiced law in Gainesville, Tex., before becoming a federal judge in what was then Oklahoma Territory.

Stuart said the Air Force felt particularly close to Texas because of its numerous bases there, the fact virtually all the top-ranking officers have at one time or another been stationed in San Antonio at Kelly or Randolph Fields.

The idea of the luncheon was suggested by Warren Woodward, of the staff of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson. The former Coleman resident sounded out a few of his co-workers and found they favored such a meeting once a month.

"You know we're all acquainted," laughed Mary Cowles of Corpus Christi, "but only by telephone. It's nice to know the face that goes with the voice and to know another Texan."

Each secretary is continually calling other Texas offices to carry out some request. Often, constituents don't know who is their congressman.

"The newer ones among us get

WHAT, NO FEATHERS?—One of nature's oddities is this strange creature caught by coon dogs near Mount Enterprise, Tex. The animal's head resembles that of a fox, and it has a tail like an opossum and feet like a raccoon. Stranger yet is the complete absence of hair and an extra tail starting to grow on its back. Charles Hudson, of Dallas, shown holding the animal, above, was unable to get it away from his dogs before they killed it.

a lot of helpful suggestions from the old timers at these meetings," commented Latham Ables of Brownwood, secretary to Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo.

"There's Jules Leverett of Galveston. He's secretary to Rep. Clark Thompson and has been secretary to the congressman from that district for 30 years. What he doesn't know isn't worth knowing."

Around the Capital:

Odessa grammar school youngsters don't like the idea of another state larger than Texas, which Alaska would be if admitted to the Union.

"Fifteen of them wrote their wives in separate letters to Senator Connally. Apparently most were sixth graders.

Leland Young had this to say: "It wouldn't be fair to Texas because it has been the largest all this time. Many of our songs would have to be changed and so would books and many other things."

Kay Donald Baker observed that Texans had had to fight Mexico to win independence and that all Alaska had done was "to sit up there and freeze."

Several suggested that if Alaska is admitted, it be divided into three states.

Big, jovial Congressman Frank Boykin (D-Ala.) has closer ties with Texans now than ever.

Oil has been struck on parts of his vast tract of land in Alabama, which somewhat compares in size with the King ranch, so he is one of the leaders in the fight to prevent a reduction in the 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance on income tax returns of oil operators.

A lot of South Texas folk will remember Boykin from the trip he made about four years ago with a congressional committee inspecting waterways. Wherever he went his jolly voice called out the slogan with which he is identified here: "Everything is made for love."

On that particular inspection trip Boykin took a liking to Brahma bulls, so near Corpus Christi, he bought a car load on the spur of the moment and sent them to 4-H clubs in Alabama as a gift.

Recent visitors included Mrs. Chester A. Easley of Beaumont, her daughter, Mrs. Walter R. Taber of Corpus Christi, and Mrs. Emmett Fletcher of Beaumont. The three women, enroute to New York for a visit, were shown about the Capitol by Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont.

Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, author of the law repealing federal taxes on margarine, has no fear that the measure will harm milk producers. He has just gone into the dairy business himself in Waco.
