SHE'S LOOKING FORWARD TO A—

Healthy, Happy Future

By JOHN SCOTT
It is just possible that some of the Shirley School students would recognize Sandra Wakefield if they happened to meet her on the street. But they probably wouldn't.

morning looking out her front door at the kids as they stream by in front of her house on their way to school. She lives across the street from the school.

SANDRA WAKEFIELD

ground to normalcy. Dr. L. B. Barnett said the operation—a heart operation—is necessary. Without it, Sandra wouldn't be expected to live to be much more than 13 years of age. She is a blue baby and the operation is for a patent ductus arteriosus.

It Has Been Hard
Sandy's birth, August 9, 1944, "Sandy" has had it rough. She was 4 months old before anybody knew anything was wrong with her. She was born in Nashville, Arkansas. Little Rock doctors said she was artemic, Texas doctors hinted at the real trouble but said she would out-grow it.

It wasn't until she came to Hereford that, during treatment for pneumonia, Dr. Barnett decided her case was serious.

Sandy doesn't cry because of the danger of over-exertion. She can't walk across the room without becoming breathless. She appears normal in every way with the possible exception of her size.

Routine Won't Be New
But this operation next week is expected to end all her worries. Hospital routine won't be new—she took 400 shots of penicillin in 13 weeks last year. She has taken sulphadiazine every day for the last six months.

All but nine of her teeth were pulled because of decay. She expects better luck on the permanent ones that come in.

Dr. Barnett says Sandy's chances of coming through the operation are excellent. Of course it will be a delicate procedure because it will involve the operation on the most important organ of the body—the heart.

Will Start To School
When Sandy comes out of this she will have experienced one of the highlights of her life. If the operation is successful, she will be in school next year at Shirley.

And she will probably have some of a nice birthday party next August when she had last year. Last year she celebrated 2 in the hospital.

Once-A-Day Deliveries Start Soon

Postmaster Jim Lipscomb said Saturday to expect the one-a-day residential delivery service Wednesday or as soon as the schedules can be rearranged with the present carriers. The Post Office will remain open five and a half days a week, however.

"No carriers will lose their jobs but they will make less money under the new set-up," Lipscomb said, "and the change-over is permanent—not temporary."

Lipscomb said the four-foot carriers now working out of the Post Office are all temporary and, consequently, no overtime less will be felt.

He said the order came from the Committee on Appropriations in the House of Representatives. In the order, it was stated that the Postal department had a deficit of $551,129,528 last year. Lipscomb said if they continued at the present rate, the deficit would rise to between six and seven million dollars for 1950.

The orders which Lipscomb received Friday instructed him to re-adjust his routes on a permanent basis as rapidly as possible and that the new arrangement should be completed by July 1, 1950.

Only the larger offices will take that long to adjust and the smaller offices like Hereford require only as long as to name new hours.

Lipscomb said the morning mail is by far the heaviest and he didn't think the curtailment will be much of an inconvenience. The mail is very light on the afternoon trains.

School Board Re-Elects Officers For Next Term

Hereford Rural Independent School Board accepted bids on equipment for Shirley School, held an election of officers and discussed need and possibility of installing a Distributive Education course next fall at meetings this week.

Bids were accepted on Shirley School cafeteria equipment connected with plumbing installations during a called meeting of the board Thursday. The contract was awarded to Golden Light Coffee Company of Amarillo.

School superintendent George Graham said the equipment involved the dish washers, serving equipment and other similar items.

Graham said the board also discussed a landscaping program for both schools which might begin in the near future.

Be Ready In August
Actual work on the cafeteria and the other part of the addition—six additional classrooms—is in good shape, according to superintendent of construction, Walter Baird. Baird said he will turn the completed structures over to the school August 1.

The only item which might hold up construction is sheetrock which is scarce. Baird said work was retarded slightly because of a brick shortage but all the bricks they need are now on hand. Three-fourths of the masonry work is done.

Sidewalks will probably run north on the east front of the school to the corner and then west. Grass will be planted on the east side and some of the inner west and north sides of the present landscaping program is put in effect.

Modern And Complete
Shirley School, in the opinion of many building concerns, is as modern and complete as any school in North Texas.

If the need and facilities are here, the High School will have a Distributive Education course at the beginning of school next fall, Superintendent of Schools George Graham said Friday.

Area DE supervisor Roy L. Reinartz met recently with the School Board and discussed the possibilities and need for the course. Reinartz will be back in Hereford later to make a town survey to see if enough business exists to guarantee the success of such a program. He will make his report to the School Board.

Decision Rests With Board
Graham said the final decision will rest with the board. He added the program will go into effect next fall if the board accepts it.

A DE course provides the opportunity for a high school student to gain experience during the afternoons after attending classes in the mornings. He will receive credit for his DE classes just like regular courses. The student would go to work at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and work the required number of hours on the job.

Purpose of the course is primarily training in addition to wages and experience.

Re-Elects Officers
The Board also re-elected officers. They are listed with their dates of expiration. All terms expire in April of the years listed.

A. J. Schroter, president, 1951; Robert Yeigle, vice-president, 1951; Sylvester Slagle, secretary, 1951; W. T. Kelly, 1951; Lyle Woodford, 1952; Howard Gault, 1952; H. H. Miller, 1953.

Graham said a review of the Bond Assumption election April 8 showed 18 votes cast in favor of the bond assessment and 100.

Another step in Hereford's rapidly expanding facilities for church work will be official Sunday school as the First Baptist Church opens the doors to their new $105,000 H. G. Conkwright Memorial building.

The Open House coincides with the final day of the Week-long Revival the church has been conducting.

The new Educational building will be open for the public to inspect Sunday afternoon and members of the church will make a tour of the building during the Sunday School hour that starts at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning. Services have been moved up to 10:30 o'clock.

Seven departmental assembly rooms and 38 class rooms in the new building will increase Sunday School facilities by 50 per cent, according to Educational Director Bob Lawrence.

The building also contains the church offices at the front of the first floor for the pastor, education director, church secretary, and a reception room, work room and the Alec Thompson Memorial Library.

Three departmental assembly rooms on the second floor are divided by modern folding doors that fold back against the walls and provide a recreation room 34 feet by 69 feet. The room is equipped for visual aids and has a stage for dramatics.

The Sunday School rooms will be used for Boys and Girls 6, 7 and 8 years old, 13 through 16 and 17 through 24 married and single young people, Lawrence said.

The building which was started nearly nine months ago, is equipped with radiant heating throughout, and is the first building in this part of the country to have such heating on a floor other than the ground floor. It is the second building in Hereford equipped with such heating on the ground floor.

Approximately five miles of copper tubing was installed in the floors to provide this type heating. The system is fed from a boiler with 567,000,000 cubic feet output. The boiler is in the basement.

Foundation of the building is built for a possible third floor and the output capacity of the boiler would also heat a third floor, in the event another is needed.

Both buildings, the old and new, provide Sunday School space for 13 departments and 87 classes. The ground floor of the old building has also been extensively remodeled.

The building program was under the leadership of Delbert Kinsey, overall building committee chairman. He has a large committee divided into three smaller groups headed by the following: Finance—Wayne Evans; Construction, Owen Steiner; architect and equipment—Jimmie Allred.

Dr. Jackson Will Speak At Commencement Here
Dr. Doyle Jackson, acting head of Department of Education at Texas Tech, will be the speaker for High School Commencement exercises May 19 in the High School auditorium, the High School has announced.

Superintendent George Graham said between 75 and 80 seniors will receive their degrees this spring.

For May 14 Baccalaureate services, the senior students have chosen Rev. R. H. Cagle as their speaker. Rev. Cagle was chosen once before, by the 1946 senior class, to be speaker. It is a custom for the students to choose their own speaker for their Baccalaureate sermon.

Graduation exercises for the Junior High School will be May 18. The speaker hasn't been chosen for this event as yet.

Housing Project Votes A Return On Contributions

Voting to return 60 per cent of the original contribution of all contributing stockholders, members of the Hereford Housing Project met April 13 and elected the following officers: Ed Adams, president; W. N. Hodges, vice-president; J. K. Baker, secretary-treasurer.

The project, organized in March 1947, for the purpose of providing housing for itinerant labor, originally included 96 members. All but 35 members had previously been reimbursed in full, Mr. Baker said, and the project hopes to reduce all investments to a nominal amount. The project now includes 148 three-room apartments, located south of Hereford. Apartments rent for $4.00 per week. The camp is now 40 per cent occupied but until April was practically empty. Baker estimates that occupancy will continue heavy through the summer months.

Original assets included 80 barracks, which was reduced to the present 31 barracks two years ago due to forced removal of the camp to a new site. Site of the 49 barracks financed purchase of a location and removal of the remaining barracks. He said that the camp also includes a bath house, toilets and a tool shed.

The project is now operated as a non-profit corporation and future dividends will likely be used toward general improvement of the camp.

A. J. Schroter, chairman of the Deaf Smith County disaster committee, says they are trying to locate a 110 volt, AC, 60 cycle gasoline operated generator that would be available in case of disaster. They have a ham radio station lined up that operates on such a current and in case the electricity goes out after a tornado, or such disaster, they would be ready with the generator. Contact Dyalhia Brady at 336 or the Courthouse if you know of one.

C. A. Cryer, District 271 Lions Club Governor from Borger, will be in Hereford Wednesday for his official visit to the club.

Sixty-five attended the Hart High School Junior-Senior Banquet at Hotel Jim Hill Friday night. A lot of compliments were passed on the table decorations.

Incidentally, that brings up the fact that Paul Holland, hotel manager says a lot of people have no wrong impression about the bedroom. He says there is no charge for a banquet, the party only has to pay for the plates served. However, there is a charge for the room for dances, where the mistaken idea originated.

Anthony's Parish is having an old fashioned pie supper in St. Anthony School basement Wednesday. Everyone is invited—just bring a pie.

Star Theatre is inaugurating novel contest with this issue. It gives the lowdown on ten people can win free tickets to "The Nevada" and other shows in the future.

FUN AND FORMAL—Nearly 300 persons attended the banquet closing the day's celebration for the initiation of 24 Knights of Columbus members Sunday at Hotel Jim Hill. Father Colman had the crowd laughing in the top picture while on the right the parade marched to mass at St. Anthony's Church.

Final Rites Held For Mr. W. E. Bennett Fri.

Funeral services for W. E. Bennett, father of Mrs. Carl McCaslin of Hereford, were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Memorial Chapel in Tucuman, N. M.

Mr. Bennett, born Aug. 9, 1873, in West Point, Miss., died April 19, 1950, in a Tucuman hospital following an illness of several months. A pioneer merchant of the area, Mr. Bennett settled at Cuervo in 1908, and since that time has operated a mercantile store in the community, which at one time boasted a population of more than 2,000 persons.

He is survived by one son and four daughters. Incent was made in the Cuervo Cemetery.

"QUEEN FOR A DAY" VISITS HEREFORD

Plus Getting Her Wish

By JERRY STOLTZ
Tune your radio in on "Queen For A Day" either Monday or Tuesday, and you'll hear a "Queen's" impression of Hereford.

It isn't often a Queen visits this particular portion of Texas, but it actually happened Friday afternoon when Mrs. L. R. Schoedhoerster accompanied by her husband, who was a self-dedicated chaperon and not a king, toured Hereford and a few miles of Deaf Smith County.

"Queen" Marge as she was known, since under the circumstances an introduction with her last name was tongue twister, wasn't being that 14-letter last name much longer.

If you are acquainted with "Queen For A Day" you know they choose one person each afternoon as their queen on the basis of who made the best wish. Mrs. Schoedhoerster wished that their name might legally be changed to Schep, because their 5-year-old daughter Judy will start to kindergarten this fall and they felt their present name would be more of a detriment than anything else.

Twenty-five contestants started out wishing on the program Thursday and "Queen" Marge said they eliminated 20 of them down to just five. From there it narrowed down to just her and another woman and the audience decided the winner with applause.

She won a television set, a couple of watches and a host of items, plus a four-day trip to West Texas as a guest of Palo Duro Canyon Boosters Club for her and her husband. Incidentally, they didn't know yet what their status will be concerning income taxes on the money gifts.

They left Judy with some friends at their home in Burbank, Calif., Thursday night. Mr. Schep works for the Southern California Gas Company and is on a vacation of some kind or other.

Anyhow they landed in Amarillo and so came up to Hereford's part, City Commissioner-elect S. O. Wilson, Chamber of Commerce Manager Pete Cowart and Chief of Police F. S. Buckalew went up and had lunch with the Scheps at the Herring Hotel. They brought them back and had coffee and pie at Hotel Jim Hill with Mayor W. E. Summers, Don Zimmerman

J. C. McCracken, Bob Higgins, Paul Holland, O. L. Bybee, Earl Phillips, and Amarilloans Arch Cooper, manager of the Herring, Pat Ainslee, president of Palo Duro Boosters Club, and others.

The couple were driven on a short tour of Hereford, after a few hours of rest at the hotel, by Pete Cowart, who handed out liberal doses of propoganda concerning the town with the able assistance of Bob Higgins.

They appeared over K F A N on a short interview and then were driven north of town to drink water pouring from an irrigation well on the Floyd McGee place.

During the day the Queen received a Western belt and hat to remember Hereford by.

The best way to get her opinions concerning Hereford is just wait and listen, but for the few who won't be listening the Scheps were very appreciative of the many fine points of the town they saw and were particularly kind in their praise of West Texas as a residence.

FORERUNNER OF PUBLIC OPINION

Reduced Expenses Means Less Service

People who loudest demand for economy in government, are usually the first to protest any cut which may affect them as individuals. Today's "Current Question," however, disproves the old theory. The question based upon opinion regarding curtailment of mail delivery schedules within the city, drew five answers and the persons contacted were unanimous in seeking lowered governmental expenses.

Most of the persons did regret to see mail deliveries cut from twice daily to once each day. However, they indicated 100 per cent that the post office department should operate within its means—even at the sacrifice of personal convenience. Accuracy from these questions has been exceptionally high, a fact which leads us to believe that the feeling is probably general over the community.

This situation, although trivial to some, might well be construed as the forerunner of opinion which may soon sweep the entire country. On the other hand, actual effects of the measure may not be strong enough, or may not create sufficient inconvenience, to serve as a real test.

The point we are driving for is well summarized in the adage which says, "You cannot eat your cake—and have it, too." People who would reduce government spending must realize first of all that they will, of necessity, lose many present day conveniences and subsidies. Farmers, for instance, cannot expect support prices from the government without paying taxes; labor cannot draw high wages without high taxes and high prices; good schools, paved roads, nice parks, public buildings; and unemployment insurance all cost money. Since the government is the people, it is naturally the people who must ultimately pay the bill. Whether these things are right or whether they are wrong is entirely another question. The real point is that to have them we must pay for them and, consequently, the first step toward reduction of taxes must be in the form of curtailing government services and government expenses.

Our faith in the final triumph of the will of the American people is strong; it may be delayed or prolonged, but it has always, in the final analysis, been paramount. It is most important, therefore, that the people of this community and of this nation carefully study circumstances and final results before they jump on anyone's band wagon, regardless of the direction in which it may be traveling.

Lunchtime Logic

Joe and Harry had been sharing the same bench during lunch hours for many months, and usually their conversation was on such airy topics as baseball and bowling, or romances, real or imagined.

But today it was different. Joe was glum during his roast beef sandwich; he got glummer with his apple pie, and was too solemn for words over his coffee.

Getting tired of the one-sided conversation, Harry finally asked: "So, what's the matter with you, chum? Indigestion or something?"

"Nothing like that," answered Joe. "I've just been thinking—" he took a final swallow of coffee, "thinking about something I heard on the radio last night. About this 'welfare state' idea—let the government take care of you . . . take over the whole business. Just wondering how that would be?"

Harry chuckled. "Well, if that's what's on your mind, let me read you something I came across in a book last Sunday. My kid got it out of the library for some homework he was doing, and I was glancing through it when this part caught my eye. It was so good that I copied it down."

Fishing out his wallet, Harry extracted a piece of paper and began to read:

"They were fed and cared for from birth to the working period, and from the beginning of old age for the remainder of their lives. Never for a moment were they terrified by the . . . spectre of a friendless future, of want and starvation. . . . How does that sound pal?"

"Read on," said Joe.

Harry continued: "And during their years of productive labor, they could not be discharged . . . when business was poor." He folded the paper carefully and returned it to his wallet. The two men sat silent a moment.

Then Harry spoke again. "How's that sound, man? Fed and cared for from birth to no fear of want . . . couldn't be fired. . . . Sounds O. K.," said Joe. "Where is it—some kind of Utopia?"

"Nope," said Harry, smiling broadly. "And it ain't new either, chum."

"Well, where is it then," Joe asked. "Or what is it, or when was it?"

Harry laughed: "This will s-lay you! It was right here in the U. S.—in the day of slavery. This book the kid was studying was called 'Life of Lincoln' by a man named A. J. Beveridge. . . . And that part I read you—well that was the argument that the slave owners, and the people who sold them their slaves, were using in Abe Lincoln's day—to defend slavery and slave trading!"

The two men exchanged smiles. "Don't think I would care for it," said Joe. "Here and now suits me."

"You and me both," said Harry. —CHEERFUL NEWS

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Truman and Destiny

FOR SOME TIME there has been a running, private debate between the White House and the state department over the all-important question of whether the United States should make a new, dramatic peace overture to Russia. This dates back even to the days when Gen. George Marshall was secretary of state. Recently, however, with the advent of the hydrogen bomb and Winston Churchill's demand for a meeting with Stalin, the debate has become more acute. President Truman has long felt that if he could sit down with Stalin, they could thresh out a lot of the world's problems. Yet he can't help being irked at Stalin for being aloof, and for ignoring repeated hints that he, Truman, would be glad to talk to him if he came to the United States.

Overriding this, however, is Mr. Truman's mystic sense of his own destiny as a peacemaker. To old friends and members of his staff he speaks of this again and again. During the visits of White House callers he will sometimes walk to the world globe at one side of his desk and say:

"The nearest thing to my heart is to do something to keep the world at peace. We must find a way, or civilization will be destroyed and the world will turn back to the year 900."

Marshall Said "No"

This sentiment was behind Truman's move for a conference with Stalin two years ago. The President had remarked to a friend, "If I could just get to talk to Joe Stalin, I think we could stop a lot of this trouble. Stalin is a reasonable man."

Later he worked out with his intimate adviser, David Noyes, and Chief Justice Fred Vinson the idea of sending the chief justice to Moscow for a talk with Stalin. When this got back to the state department, it was immediately transmitted by Acting Secretary Robert Lovett to General Marshall, then attending the U.N. assembly meeting in Paris. Alarmed, Marshall flew home for a quick two-day conference, during which Truman agreed not to make any peace move until it was cleared with our western allies or until Russia gave some tangible sign that it wanted peace.

Jerky Mr. Truman

In the last few weeks, the presidential restlessness for a peace conference has been evident again. A shrewd diviner of public opinion, Mr. Truman understands the American public's desire for one more talk with Russia before going full tilt into a hydrogen arms race.

Yet many of his advisers were disappointed when he rushed out an abrupt press release telling the world that the United States would make the hydrogen bomb. They felt that he missed a great opportunity for a world-wide radio broadcast reviewing this country's many, many moves for peace, a broadcast that would put the onus for the arms race where it belongs—directly on the Russian doorstep.

The state department was also upset when Mr. Truman hurriedly granted an interview with New York Times correspondent, Arthur Krock, after Krock shrewdly cornered him at a dinner party given by Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut. The President, in festive mood, definitely promised Krock the interview, and kept his word immediately thereafter, despite a previous promise to Secretary Acheson that he would make no public statements on foreign policy without state department clearance.

While the state department isn't going to admit this publicly, what it objects to in regard to current White House peace thinking, are two things:

1. The jerky unexpectedness of Mr. Truman's ideas. There is no continuity. The president can be bawling out Stalin one day, as he did to the amazement of Winston Churchill and Jimmie Byrnes at the Potsdam conference. And later he can be telling friends that Joe Stalin is a man who would be reasonable if you could only sit down with him at the same table.

2. The Russians, in contrast, have a fixed, firm continuous policy—namely, to break the democratic systems of the free world.

Trouble Inside Russia These are the state department's ideas; and most diplomats and diplomatic observers believe these ideas are correct.

The inescapable fact is that the 14 men in the politburo, who really make Soviet policy, are not going to change, no matter what Truman or anyone else in the U.S.A. says or does. As previously pointed out in these columns, all is not well either inside the satellite countries or inside Russia itself.

Explosion or Dud?

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa:

I am a girl of nearly 17 years old, and I have fallen in love with a boy who is 21 years old.

I have talked to my parents about my going with him, or him coming to see me. My parents say, "No, you're not going to start running around with boys," and if I'm ever seen with a boy by anybody or if I sit in the movies with any boy, that it will be just too bad. They won't even let me talk to a boy or let one come to see me.

Everytime I see this boy, I want to be with him very much. But, I try to avoid him, but he sees me and starts over to where I am. I've told him my parents wouldn't let me date or go with boys. But, I want to be with him very much. He and other people who know him says he really does like me. I have known this boy for three years. I have liked him ever since the day I met him three years ago. I can never forget him or ever love anyone else. Everyone who knows him, likes him.

I have made many new friends with girls. But my parents don't like the girls I associate with. My friends don't ask me to parties or anything or include me in any of their doings, for my parents don't like any of my friends and, I'm ashamed to bring them home with me from high school. When I do bring them home with me, my parents won't speak to them, and treat them as they weren't wanted. I try to be friendly with my friends; for I'm the one who is and will be around them, not my parents. Please Louisa, you have helped many people, and also have helped me in some of your columns. I have read. This is the first time I have ever written you, so Louisa what should I do?

Always avoid this boy? Be friendly with him? It hurts me to see him. Go with him anyway? What should I do? I could never forget him, for I would see him at one time or another and I would be back where I started from.

Also, what should I do about my "friends?" (the ones I've got left. Should I turn them down? I am just crazy to make friends with everyone I meet. For, I like people and if you can't help me with my big "problem," I don't know what trouble I may cause. Please help me.

N.—GA.

Answer:

Really, I can hardly imagine such parents in this day and time. If a girl is not old enough at 17 to go to the movies with a boy, her parents must have been very derelict in their duty when bringing her up.

They are probably trying to protect her from the world but the best way to do that is to teach children as they grow what temptations and pitfalls they may encounter and how to meet these things and overcome them. The parents who try to overprotect their children usually have frustrated old maids on their hands or children who run away with the first scallawag who offers them freedom from despotism—which causes sorrow to all concerned.

To our out-of-town visitor who said to us a few weeks ago—'Hereford is growin' so fast that she isn't payin' much attention to Beautification.'

We would like to point out the work bein' done by the Garden Beautiful Club at present.

Too bad that individual civic pride doesn't always have enough spark in it to set fire to weeds on all the vacant lots around town.

James Schultz, very young son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schultz, whose chin hardly comes above the counter yet, likes to visit the Candy Kitchen as much as most any of their hungry customers.

A hot dog may be a little heavy for him but he enjoys Mr. Culpepper's solemn-faced kiddin' and sure exhibits a nice smile when Mrs. Culpepper comes along with a cockie.

We pass the Kirby Sales Co. at 107 Avenue "H" most every day and are always curious to see what new equipment they have on hand.

The tool we would like most to operate is the roller with stickers all over it that some implement companies list as a Rotary Hoe—looks as if it could break up a crust or give little weeds fits.

Time and again we've promised ourselves that we didn't intend to get entangled in any more fence fixin' but each spring when it comes time to take the sheep off wheat we find ourselves headed for the pasture fence loaded down with pliers, wire stretchers, staples, claw hammer and wreckin' bar.

When we try to wear leather gloves we can't make our fingers work right, if we put on canvas ones we spend all our time pickin' ourselves off the bars and if we don't wear any at all we come out lookin' as if we had lost in a hand to claw encounter with a wild cat.

Wonder if there is anybody who really likes to build a barb wire fence?

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

(Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher must be worried about something, judging by the impossibility of his letter this week.)

Dear editor:

Every once in a while I read about some convict who has been turned loose after completing a 20-year sentence by servin say five years and two days for good behavior, and then been picked up again a month later for a brand new crime and tied and given a couple of more sentences to run concurrently. That is, as I understand it, say he gets 15 years for holdin up a bank and 10 more for shootin the president in the leg for bein slow about openin the door as he left, the judge tells him the sentences are to run concurrently, which means he can serve both of em at the same time.

Now while I ain't never been able to figure out how a man can serve two sentences at the same time with a straight face, believe I could handle 15 or 20 that way as easy as one, the practice of doin it seems to be a common occurrence, with a good many judges dignifiedly issuin them kinds of terms, and I been thinkin.

The criminals and the lawyers may have something, and I been wonderin why we can't adopt somethin like that for the use of us law-abidin citizens. In a democracy, what's good enough for a convict ought to be good enough for everybody else.

What I would like to see is a system of payin your debts concurrently.

Say I'm a little behind at the grocery store, the meat market, the drug store, the lumberyard, the bank, and a few other places I can't think of right now. Why can't some Washington expert invent a method whereby I could pay off them debts concurrently? Just pay your money into a pot and everytime you pay a dollar to the lumberyard the meat market has to credit you with a dollar, too. By gettin a whole slew of Washington experts after this problem, there ain't no reason why they couldn't figure out a way to just pay the amount of debts, not pay two, at the same time with the same money.

Personally, I believe there would be a lot more debts paid under this system, and if it would work in private business it ought to work on the national debt, too and we could even rope in the European nations on it also and the whole world get out of debt 15 or 20 times faster than it ever will.

Why there ain't no limit to the amount of good feelin would be created if folks could pay all their taxes off every ten or 15 years concurrently.

If you think this system has any merit, let's try it out. I would like to pay my subscription to the Brand and Life, Newsweek, and two or three others, all concurrently. Please see that they all get here next week.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION:

Hereford Believes Cut In Postal Service Is OK

WHAT do you think of the proposed curtailed service of the Post Office Department?

Mrs. Troy Moore: I think, if it is necessary to economize, the curtailment should come on the residence delivery section rather than on the inside department work which might be more important. However, the two-a-day mail delivery system is sure convenient. They have to economize some place and I don't think it will hurt service very much.

Mrs. Glenn Snyder: Naturally, we don't want to lose the two-a-day mail service in the residential section. But I think the reduction of the expenses is more important. I don't think the residential mail is too important, generally, and we can do with one delivery a day if it were important it could be sent special delivery. I wouldn't want to see any men lose their jobs, though.

Mrs. Worth D Ware: I don't mind losing one mail delivery a day I seldom get mail in the afternoon and think the morning delivery would take care of that. I think the Post Office should remain open six days a week, though. Of course we hate to lose the good service but I guess they have a reason.

O. M. Dickey: Well, as I understand the problem, the Post Office department proposes to cut one of the delivery services and I think it is alright because they are losin money. The Post Office Department should be self-supporting and if they are losing money they should cut out some of their services. Personally, I am willing to pay more postage and retain the service. But if the people aren't willing to pay more, then a cut in service is the right way to save money.

R. P. Conaway: I certainly think the Post Office should operate within its means. I live in the country and only get one mail delivery a day now so I don't think that end of the curtailment will hurt much. They have a good idea, though, to cut expenses so that particular end of the system will pay for itself.

Special Chocolate Cake; A Good Standby Recipe

Being able to make one special cake well makes busy days easy for the hostess. Other portions of the party menu fall into place smoothly once the favorite confection is accounted for. Informal affairs call for as much daintiness in the refreshments and taste appeal as for a formal occasion and if you have a few fool-proof recipes in your files, ones that have become favorites through repetition, you are already well on your way as a successful hostess.

The first cake Mrs. Wilma Carnahan ever baked turned out so well and became such a favorite in her family through the years that she never tries any other recipe for chocolate cake. She found it in her first cook book and its unusual flavor has never lost its appeal. Here it is:

Special Chocolate Cake

- 1/2 cup butter
 - 2 cups brown sugar
 - 3 eggs
 - 1/2 cup cocoa
 - 1/2 cup hot strong coffee
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - 1/2 cup sour cream
 - 2 cups cake flour (level)
- Cream butter and sugar until smooth and add well beaten egg yolks. Add cocoa to hot coffee and when cool add to mixture. Dissolve soda in sour cream and add to mixture alternately with flour. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and bake in layers in molder's even.

Tasty Frosting

- 1/4 cup butter
 - 1 cup powdered sugar
 - 2 teaspoons cocoa dissolved in 2 teaspoons hot coffee
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Blend all together until very smooth and spread between layers and over the cake. Nut's rolled fine make a nice topping for the frosting.

Around Town

day, May 5th, will be one of the finest lectures ever to speak to a Hereford audience, according to those who heard him at the Amarillo Knife and Fork club a couple of years ago. He is going to speak on World Citizenship.

Picking up loose ends: We hear Alice Thompson had 77 inquiries concerning the hat he advertised for in the Brand classified section. And he actually got it back when W. T. Gunstenson read the ad and took it to him.—Earl Woods threatened a libel suit a few weeks ago when we ran a picture of his dog on the society page and called it a "wistful little cur" in the story. He says his dog isn't a cur, but doesn't know how to prove it.—We had a letter from Ralph Baker, 3618 Dodge St., Omaha, Neb., recently asking if anyone knows the whereabouts of Carl Baker or his wife.

Davis and Son Feed Store on Sampson has a half chicken, half pheasant on show. The bird, which is strictly for culinary purposes, doesn't breed or lay eggs. They got it from Iowa where the wingless chicken was recently produced, also.

Junior Chamber of Commerce members will be cleaning up Jaycee Park this afternoon in preparation for a Jaycee-Jayceette picnic this evening.

A grass fire at the Will Kerr place south of Hereford was the cause for the alarm Saturday afternoon. Returning firemen reported no damage.

A wreck in front of the Green Hedge cafe at 5:30 Saturday afternoon involved Bud Witherspoon, going north in a Chevrolet pick-up across the highway and a Chevrolet 4-door sedan going west on the highway.

Let's Cook Something

Witherspoon was knocked out of his truck when it was spun completely around on the street. Mrs. Dorothy Drye was driving the sedan. Her mother and another lady, Mrs. Crawford, were taken to Deaf Smith County hospital for examination. Witherspoon was apparently unhurt.

Future—

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wakefield, are at her side in Galveston. Her father is a welder at Poarch Brothers.

But she has two staunch supporters who are sitting it out on the home front. Rickey and Edgar are her brothers. Edgar has been looking out for his slightly handicapped sister since her birth. He is going to school at Shirley. Rickey can't help much. He is only two but his moral support is certainly where it should be.

Stay With Their Aunt
The two boys are staying with an aunt, Mrs. J. M. Terry, on H Street while the rest of the family is in Galveston with Sandra.

Another friend who misses Sandra is Tommy Lou Covington, one of Sandra's little girl friends.
Next year, if everything goes right next week, Sandra will be an active member of the student body of Shirley School. She will be a climbing first-grader.
Next year she won't be just a by-stander looking on as the other kids parade by in front of the house, going to school. She will no longer have to look through the front windows. She will be one of them.

Music Teachers Reorganize And Outline Program

A luncheon meeting for the reorganization of the Hereford Music Teachers Association was held at Hotel Jim Hill Saturday, April 15. Miss Mattie Mae Swisher served as temporary president during the short business session.

The Association which flourished in the past but which has not been active for the past few years, will be known as The Hereford Music Teachers Association, and while no meetings will be held during the summer months, regular meetings will be held once each month beginning September 9.

Plans for a constructive program were outlined to be in line with the purpose of the association, "Making Better Music Teachers for Hereford." Out-of-town speakers will be featured and programs will be of interest to both pupil and instructor, and teachers of surrounding towns will be invited to attend.

Officers elected were: Mrs. Ellis Coombes, president; Miss Thelma McMinn, vice-president; Mrs. Bill Brady, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Olive Hinds, reporter.

Teachers attending the luncheon meeting were Mesdames Bob Lawrence, Bill Bradley, Olive Hinds, Ellis Coombes, Glenn Snyder, and Miss Mattie Mae Swisher.

Coke Party In Brown Home Honors Visitors

Reviewing old times provided the keynote for the informal get-together given at the home of Mrs. Jack Brown Monday afternoon with Mrs. Brown's sister, Mrs. Dean Whitehead of Prosser, Washington named honoree for the occasion.

Springtime floral arrangements in yellow and green were used in decorations and Cokes were served to Mesdames: Delbert Bainum, Frank A. Gyles, Carroll Blanton, O. G. Hill, Jr., Walter London, Jr., V. C. Hopson, Hilcon Higgins, Lee Ken, Tom Robinson, W. L. Davis, Jr., Earl Stagner, Bill Waldrep, Clyde Rush and the honor guest.

Mrs. Whitehead has returned to her home after a ten-day stay here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fluitt.

Mrs. Charles E. Coombes Dies At Stamford Thurs.

Mrs. Charles E. Coombes, wife of Judge C. E. Coombes died Thursday in Stamford. Judge Coombes is well known all through the Panhandle. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Stamford and graveside rites were held in Abilene at 7 o'clock Saturday night.

A nephew, Ellis Coombes, attended the final rites from Hereford.

It's all right to make up your mind if you know why it is made up.

The implications contained in some of the jokes one reads are enormous.

April, it should be noted, is the first five-pay-day month of the year.

Montgomery Funeral Held In Littlefield

Funeral services yesterday afternoon were held for Clyde Montgomery, Thursday morning accident victim in Littlefield at the First Baptist Church.

Montgomery died when his car overturned near Clovis Thursday. He was a veterans vocational agriculture class instructor in Hereford.

A companion, Mrs. Alma Wallace, Hereford, was not seriously injured.

A veteran of the Army Air Forces, Montgomery had been in Hereford for two years. He was 35 and had formerly been connected with the Farm Security Administration in Lamb and Floyd counties.

Survivors include his mother and brother and six sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Ireland have returned from a 3-week stay in Florida. They spent most of their time in Miami Beach but got in some deep-sea fishing.

Almost anybody, who doesn't need the money, can borrow from the banks.

Then there is the intolerance of a minority which nobody ever hears anything about.

A good plan is a start but what happens depends upon other qualities and factors.

There is nothing wrong with the idea that looking ahead and planning for the future is smart.

Louisa's Letter

The above is written for your parents' benefit. N., but my advice to you is to try to persuade them to be nice to your friends and let you have a little fun. If they will not do this, try to have a little more patience. Finish your education and when you get to be 18 get yourself a job. You can then live some place where you can have your friends come and be welcome.

Cotton Country Fears Weevils

WACO, Texas, (AP)—Progressive Central Texas farmers are squaring away to battle what they fear will be the worst cotton insect infestation in years.

"Boll weevils are already crawling on the inside of our research cages," says W. P. Ewing of the Cotton Insects Laboratory here.

The exceptionally mild winter weather is cited as a good sign that weevils and worms will be thick in cotton this year unless farmers fight back.

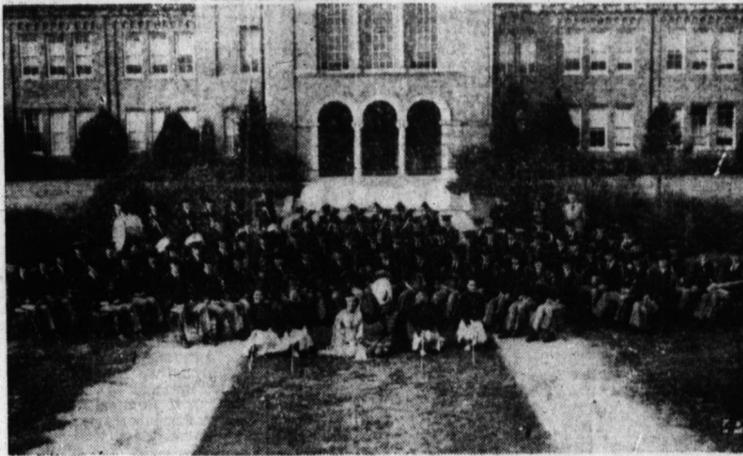

Insect infestation already has badly damaged the wheat crop.

Bell county Agent W. D. Seals is another who is predicting heavy cotton infestation this year.

A good many Central Texas farmers are expected to carry out control recommendations developed at the laboratory. This control program is based on early planting and early spraying and dusting.

Cotton should be planted in the area not later spraying and dusting April, according to the recommendations, and both spraying and dusting will help curb the insects. The program calls for dusting or spraying three times at weekly intervals beginning immediately after chopping or in the four-leaf stage.

Early season poisoning should be stopped at least four weeks before bollworms appear. This gives time for beneficial insects to reestablish themselves before bollworms occur. Tests have shown that 90 per cent of boll weevils are in the cotton by May 5 in Central Texas.

GOVERNOR'S BAND—Midwestern University band, formerly Hardin College, has been designed by Governor Allan Shivers as "an official staff band" of the governor of Texas. Band director Jim Jacobson (extreme right in last row) was appointed "chancellor superior of music." Gov. Shivers made the designations during "Governor's Day" ceremonies on the Wichita Falls campus of the university.

Mrs. Billingslea Leads Talk About Management

"The farmer plans his crops, hoping thereby to make a living. The business man, likewise, sets his house in order expecting to make a profit.

"Thus the house wife, with modern appliances, manages to save many dollars. When she starts a job she soon finishes it."

Home Management was discussed at length under the leadership of Mrs. C. C. Billingslea at the meeting of Progressive Home Demonstration Club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ira Ricketts.

Each member demonstrated old and improved methods in doing a job as a housekeeper.

Committee on field trips for June 20 reported as follows: Visitation; Hotel Jim Hill, County Jail and Telephone Office. Plans were made for the Dress Revue to help in celebrating National Home Demonstration Week to be held at the High School May 6.

"Meet Your Mind," by Dr. William C. Menninger, world famous psychiatrist, speaking on the mental health of the nation. Pomona Water Lubricated Turbine Pumps

AMERICA'S FINEST PUMP FOR EVERY PUMPING PURPOSE

Pomona turbine pumps are scientifically designed and precision built of the finest materials available. They have been developed to cover a wide range of capacities and heads to meet numerous requirements. Pumps of the Figure 6922 line feature highly efficient enclosed impellers and oil lubricated line shaft bearings.

To meet various service conditions, Pomona offers deep well turbine pumps arranged for electric motor, engine, or steam turbine drive.

To properly recommend a pump for a specific service, certain information is required. This includes: (1) Inside diameter of well. (2) Depth of well. (3) Depth to water when pumping. (4) Capacity required in G.P.M. (5) Drawdown when pumping desired capacity. (6) Length and diameter of pipe beyond discharge head. (7) Vertical distance from pump base to highest level water is to be raised. (8) Type of drive—If the pump is motor driven, give phase, frequency and voltage; if the pump is belt driven, give horsepower and speed in R.P.M. and diameter of pulley. In case the well is not straight, and of true diameter for its length, a complete description should accompany the inquiry.

DRIVE SHAFT—Pomona drive shaft is made in exact standard lengths of high-strength steel. A non-corrosive field replaceable sleeve of polished stainless metal is provided on every length at the bearings, and high-strength shaft couplings are accurately machined from bar stock. The close machine tolerances assure accurate shaft alignment and, also assure, absolute vibration free operation.

COLUMN PIPE—Column is cut in exact lengths for ease in handling and to assure matching with rotating parts. The thread is cut in a manner which offers the advantages of minimum reduction of wall thickness and assures that each column butts squarely in its coupling. The gussetwork relative to proper alignment, so inherent when using ordinary commercial pipe thread, is eliminated. The couplings are made from extra strong seamless tubing. Flanged couplings are available.

BEARING RETAINERS—These are of cast bronze and streamlined for minimum friction loss. Correct porting provides essential flushing of grit. An accurately machined streamlined bearing retainer cap is provided to complete the assembly.

THRUST BEARING—The thrust bearing of the heavy duty angular contact ball type is of ample rating to carry the thrust load. Its selection is based upon years of experience with various job requirements.

COLUMN BEARINGS—Water lubrication revolvable rubber bearings have been an outstanding feature of Pomona pumps for a quarter century. These spiral grooved rubber bearings are free to rotate on the shaft or in the correctly ported bearing retainer. Pomona engineered bearings assure smooth operation, long life, and enduring economy. Anything short of above features in rubber bearing construction is merely a makeshift bearing substitution.

NON-REVERSE RATCHET—The Pomona built-in motor undrive electric pump head incorporates the non-reverse ratchet. This feature is positive assurance that the shaft cannot be unscrewed by accidental phase reversal, and avoids undue stress caused by motor starting at time of shaft reversal. Both pumps and motor are built by one reliable manufacturer, thus, assuring the advantage of undivided responsibility.

Dr. G. W. Heard Is Guest Speaker At L.A.E. Club Annual Guest Day

Dr. G. W. Heard was guest speaker for the annual guest-day affair held by L.A.E. Club members Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. D. C. Kinsey with Mrs. Lake Dishman as hostess. Mrs. Bill Jones, vice-president, presided over a short business session and roll call was answered by members introducing their guests. Mrs. T. W. Roberson, program chairman for the day, introduced the speaker who spoke on "The Possibilities of Hereford" based on his findings in scientific study and scientific facts revealed to him during his long practice of dentistry in Hereford. Using his favorite verse of scripture "Choose ye then whom ye will serve," he developed his theory that man was created to serve and given the power to serve through gifts of nature. He then discussed the proven facts of Hereford's mineral value in her soil and told how it is being used. The next meeting will be in the form of the closing luncheon which will be held on May 2nd.

Dawn Study Club Meeting Tuesday Is In Neal Home

Mrs. Clarence Betzen was the first speaker on the Dawn Study Club program Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gayle Neal with Mrs. Zed Stewart as co-hostess. Mrs. Betzen's topic was "Silver—Past and Today." The first use of silver is mentioned in the Bible. At that time it was not used for domestic purposes, but for vessels and cups in the Temples. As early as 1620 America had registered silversmiths who produced silver of excellent design. Mrs. David Rodgers spoke on the topic, "Outstanding Contemporary Negroes." She told of the lives of five outstanding negroes. They were: Jackie Robinson from the field of sports; Duke Ellington, composer and band leader; Marian Anderson, world's greatest contralto; Paul Robeson, from the theatre and Richard Wright, author and lecturer. "Toscental hailed the magnificent voice of Marian Anderson as one heard only once in a hundred years," Mrs. Rodgers said. The spring luncheon May 2, at the Jim Hill Hotel will be the last meeting the club will have until September. Refreshments were served to Mesdames William Wimberly, Lloyd Albert, A. T. Frye, Alfred May, H. V. McCabe, David Rodgers, Melvin May, Floyd Walton, Carl Wimberly, Wesley Cox, Alfred Smith, Baker Womble, Zed Stewart and Gayle Neal.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Larmer of Ft. Worth visited their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Larmer in Hereford last week end.

Mrs. Gene Noel introduced the subject and Mrs. W. A. Springer led the discussion. At the close of the business meeting Mrs. D. E. Chisholm resigned as president, because she plans to move to South Dakota soon. Mrs. Glenn Gripp was elected president. Those attending the meeting were Mesdames Gloyd Cole, Gene Noel, Frank Robbins, W. A. Springer, Owen Andrews, Henry Andrews, E. Lindley and the hostess. The next meeting will be April 26—it will be on Wednesday, instead of regular Thursday meeting date, because of the District F. H. D. A. meeting at Borger on that day. From The Grandstand

Associated Press Staff

A lot of people are thinking about that vacation they'll get this summer.

And a lot of them are figuring on taking a fishing trip.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service takes a happy view of this line of thought.

The government agency in a recent gleeful statement pointed out that the popularity of fresh-water fishing in the U. S. last year reached a record high.

Albert M. Day, director of the Service, reported that sales of anglers' licenses last year amounted to 15,478,570 and that revenue from these sales was $32,657,940.

Of this amount Texans contributed $301,671. That was for 293,409 resident licenses and 5,239 non-resident licenses, or a total of 298,648 licenses.

Mexico is joining with the U.

S. in the 16th annual inventory of North American waterfowl resources. Important wintering grounds from Alaska to Guatemala are covered in the population estimate.

Ing. Luis Macias A., chief of the Mexican game department, is heading Mexico's efforts in this survey.

Most of Mexico's best waterfowl wintering grounds are so inaccessible to hunters, that they constitute excellent natural refuge for the birds.

This should make a count in this country fairly easy.

Boosters of Lake Texoma are out to make this spot one of the best known playgrounds in America. They've already hit on some unique ways to make the name known throughout the country. These include having prospective English Channel swimmers train in its choppy waters.

Carl Sundeen sang at the Annual Hale Center Spring Style Show Friday night. He reported much swooning and boozing.

Russell has been football coach at Baird for the past few years and Mrs. Russell and their twin daughters, Mary and Martha, will remain in Baird until August when they will join him in Big Spring. L. B., who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Russell of Hereford, was a star player on the Whiteface team in Hereford High School.

PORCELAINIZING

() DURABILITY

Porcelainize outlasts three or four average wax or polish jobs. A Porcelainize finish needs only to be kept clean to be kept beautiful. Coatings of scum, grease and dirt do not injure it. Ordinary cleaning and removal of such coatings reveals the Porcelainized surface in all its brilliance.

() ECONOMY

Naturally, Porcelainize costs slightly more than ordinary polishing. But the few extra dollars in the original price actually saves you money. Easier to wash, easier to clean, longer-lasting, Porcelainize costs far less over the months.

() PROTECTION

One of the greatest benefits of Porcelainize is paint protection. Owners everywhere under all conditions, (smoke, fog, traffic film, sun, salt air, alkali dust, ice, snow, etc.) have given testimony to the greater protective value of Porcelainize—to its longer-lasting lustre.

() MANUFACTURER'S Approval

Porcelainize is a factory-authorized service of many leading makes of cars. It's been engineer-approved after long tests. Performance proved by case records from thousands of dealers on countless automobiles over a period of many years.

() BEAUTY

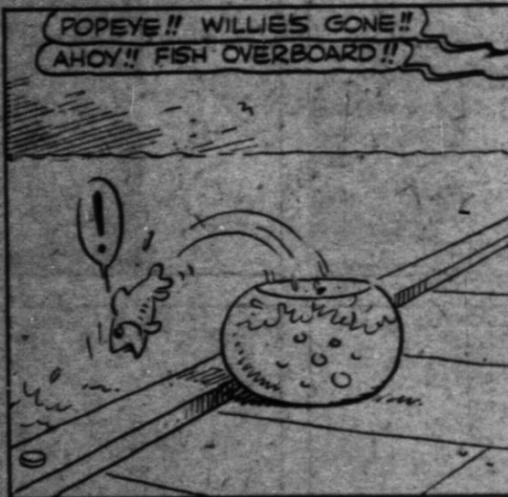

Outstanding, spectacular beauty, with a deeper richer color and increased brilliance—a beauty given to the finest of show cars for years. New cars sparkle newer than new, older cars take a new lease on good looks.

Porcelainize was developed in 1934 after years of research by men long experienced in the care of automobile finish. Since 1935, thousands of dealers have applied Porcelainize upon countless thousands of automobiles with outstandingly satisfactory results. It was first recommended by a major automobile factory in 1937—today more automobile factories approve and recommend Porcelainize than have ever approved any other method of automobile appearance maintenance. All such recommendations and approvals have been made only after thorough testing in their engineering laboratories. These engineers all can't be wrong—why not investigate the advantages of having YOUR car Porcelainized, soon?

Prince Valiant

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
by Harold R. Foster

Synopsis: PRINCE VALIANT RIDES TO HIS MEETING WITH JARL EGIL. HE DOES NOT FEEL THE FIERCE JOY OF COMBAT. FOR THIS DUEL IS A FOOLISH THING OF BAD TEMPER AND WOUNDED PRIDE.

EGIL IS THERE, WAITING. HUMILIATION AND DESPAIR HAVE MADE HIM A DEADLY ENEMY. FOR IF HE WINS HE WILL HAVE TO FLEE THE VENGEANCE OF THE KING.

ARMORED BUT UNARMED, THEY STAND BEFORE THE TABLE AND CHOOSE IN TURN THE THREE WEAPONS ALLOWED BY THE RULES.

EGIL SELECTS THE POWERFUL BUT CLUMSY LOCHABER, A MACE AND HIS SWORD. VAL TAKES THE WHIP-MACE, DAGGER AND A SWORD.

"YOUR SWORD, YOU FORGOT YOUR CHARMED SWORD!" CRIES ARF. BUT VAL SHAKES HIS HEAD. "ON THE BLADE IS THE INSCRIPTION: 'THE SINGING SWORD BEARS A CHARM FOR HIM WHO USES IT IN A GOOD CAUSE,' AND THIS," HE SAYS, "IS NOT A GOOD CAUSE!"

SO THEY MOUNT, SALUTE EACH OTHER, AND THE CONTEST BEGINS.

AT THE FIRST ONSLAUGHT VAL REALIZES HIS WEAKENED LEFT SIDE AND LIGHT SHIELD WILL NOT LONG WITHSTAND THE TERRIBLE BLOWS OF THE LOCHABER!

WITH SUPERB HORSEMANSHIP HE CROWDS HIS ENEMY. SO THE LONG-HANDLED WEAPON IS USELESS.

WHETHER BY DESIGN OR BY ACCIDENT A MIGHTY STROKE KILLS VAL'S MOUNT AND THEY CRASH TO THE GROUND IN A HELPLESS TANGLE.

Miss Gladys Pittner Is Bride Of A. Gene Smith

Miss Gladys Pittner and Mr. A. Gene Smith, who were married in the Rectory of St. Anthony's Catholic Church Friday, April 14, by the Reverend Dominic Kenny, will live in Pasadena, California after a short honeymoon trip.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pittner and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Smith of this city.

Only immediate members of the family attended the wedding and the bride's only attendant was the bridegroom's sister, Juneanna Smith. She wore a gray salina cloth dress trimmed in white lace with an off-the-face white hat and a white carnation corsage. William Pittner, the bride's brother, was best man.

The bride was attractive in a gray salina cloth dress with pink lace top and gray bolero jacket. The dress featured a wide pink sash and a small navy sash. Her shoulder corsage was of pink carnations surrounded with tiny white mums, tied with pink ribbon.

Reception Honors Couple

After the wedding the couple was honored at a reception held in the home of the bridegroom's parents where a hand-made bedroom cloth laid the refreshment table. The two-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and flanked by lighted white tapers. Appointments were in silver.

For traveling when the couple left on a wedding trip to points in California enroute to their new home, the bride chose a navy blue suit-dress worn with navy accessories.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Hereford High School and has been employed in the D&S Variety Store here.

Mr. Smith graduated from Escondido High School in California where his parents lived before moving to Hereford. He received his BBS degree from Woodbury College, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Smith will be associated with the Cornet Stores in Pasadena, California where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Strickland of Tulsa visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Winget, over the week end. Jack Winget, Mrs. Strickland's brother, a student at Tulsa University, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Lucas are visiting relatives and friends in Great Bend, Kansas and other Kansas points.

Bay View Meeting Is At Benefield's

The final study program for the year was presented at the Thursday afternoon session of the Bay View Club held in the home of Mrs. Lee Benefield.

Mrs. Paul Mathers conducted a business meeting when final plans for the closing breakfast to be held at Hotel Jim Hill on May 4, were announced. Active and associate members will attend the breakfast and a musical program has been arranged.

Mrs. Colby Conkright was named alternate delegate to the Seventh District, TFWC annual convention which will be held in Memphis on April 27, 28 and 29.

Mrs. D. H. Alexander gave the first part of the program, reviewing the book, "Hawaii, the 49th State," by Blake Clark.

"Statehood has been in the minds of Hawaiians since 1854 and they have been working hard at it ever since. When it was made a territory they called themselves a "step-child" country and Hawaii was spoken of as an alien land. America has never seemed quite ready to grant Hawaii statehood, although that bill has passed the upper House, and one understandable reason is the mixed races of the people. All nationalities are represented in the schools—Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese, Americans and natives and it might be difficult for any sort of harmony in political or social affairs to exist," she said.

Mrs. Alexander told of the influence of the missionaries, of the sugar plantations, business opportunities since Pearl Harbor and of the great changes.

The program for the evening was in the form of a forum led by Mrs. J. R. Johnson in a "Review of Personalities in Architecture" with discussions of personalities brought to view in previous programs during the past club year. Jaycee-Ettes Sponsor Musical Book Review

Jaycee-Ettes held a called meeting in the home of Mrs. John Kelly Wednesday night to make plans for sponsoring a book review. May 10 was the date set for the review when Mrs. Dolly Lynch of Amarillo will present "Tales of the South Pacific" at the Jim Hill Hotel. The general public is invited to attend the review and funds derived from the sale of tickets will be used for the improvement of Jaycee Park.

Speaking on the interworkings of successful club endeavor, Mrs. Allen advised "Keep up with the Jones' if the Jones' are going in the right direction." Communists are built, they don't just grow, she said, and urged each club to set about learning about Hopeford and its needs and to serve it well.

"The pioneer club women sponsored everything for their communities. Their history reveals that they did their share as individuals and as members of clubs. The best definition of a club could well be a group of organized women in any community who can be depended upon to strive for the best. If the school and home were identical in their efforts, it would be easy while the school is the chief instrument of education—the home is the greatest source of knowledge and the club women through only of purpose, which is the meaning of federation, must help make the home the strength of the nation.

Mrs. Allen struck out at Communism and warned the club women that they must do something about Health measures, youth centers, cleaner movies, welfare for the underprivileged, beautification of communities and roadides and safety campaigns, if the wave of communism is stemmed. "Tomorrow's accomplishments are possible only if today's make way for them. America must be moral, economically, politically and socially and it is through collective club work that women may help make it so," she concluded.

Mrs. Allen announced the annual Seventh District convention which will be held in Memphis April 27-28-29 with the convention theme, "Building Better Communities" and told of the outstanding speakers and visitors who will take part in the convention program.

The district officer was in charge of installation rites for new officers of the county federation. They include Mrs. Elmer Patterson, president; Mrs. Earl DeHart, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Hoff, recording secretary; Mrs. Walk Boston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Earl Phillips, treasurer; and Mrs. Ray Johnson, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Clyde Estes furnished the above picture of this fast moving 1911 football squad, that won six games and lost one that year.

Second row—Cliff Acker, T.; Bill Steiger, H. B.; Mike Baird, H. B.; Bob Elliott, T.; B. M. Thomas, Asst. Coach.

Three other top hands that are not in this picture were: Jim Carter, Abb Carter and C. D. Wright.

They smothered Amarillo High in one game there and one in Hereford, lowered Clovis' ears in two games, one here and one there; made Canyon Normal wheels in this final game. This made a pretty full season for this bunch, didn't take so long to go and come, but a long wait between trains, made for fewer trips.

At WSCS Meeting

Dallas, Texas, (AP)—The American Institute of Graphic Arts has cited, for physical excellence, a book published by the Southern Methodist University Press.

The book, "The Journey of Fray Marcos de Niza," by Clevé Hallenbeck, was designed and printed by Carl Hertzog of El Paso, who has gained much prominence in recent years.

The American Institute of Graphic Arts included the publication in its choice of "Fifty Books of the Year."

A factor in the choice was the type used in printing "The Journey of Fray Marcos de Niza." The type was Centaur, developed by Bruce Rogers. The type face was described as medieval in feeling and appropriate for the book, an account of exploration in the 16th century. The parchment-colored paper is reminiscent of old Spanish documents and the cloth used for the binding is deep brown, similar in color to the habits of Franciscan monks, the order to which Fray Marcos belonged.

The book was illustrated by Jose Cisneros, a young artist who lives in El Paso.

Allen of Prosser, Washington left Wednesday by plane after a ten day stay here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fluit.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Calloway and children have returned from Roswell where they visited relatives.

Regional Forester Visits
Several Deaf Smith Farms

Mr. H. E. Wells, Soil Conservation Service Regional Forester from Oklahoma was a recent visitor to the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District. Mr. Wells is in charge of the Regional Nursery which propagates planting stock for use in windbreaks on farms. He was very favorably impressed with farmstead windbreak plantings in this District, most of which have been sponsored by the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District and the Extension Service. Farms visited included Luther Lesley, Lewis West, Moody Stephan, Vick Brothers, Floyd McGee, H. E. Bippus, Mrs. Bess Werner, Alton Fraser and Andy Kersten.

In his opinion, which is based on years of experience and research, farmstead windbreaks are the most advantageous. He suggests that the best plantings should consist of one or two rows of Chinese Elm on the outside rows spaced ten feet apart and trees spaced twenty feet apart and staggered. Then two rows of evergreens or conifers such as Red Cedar, Austrian Pine, Arizona Cypress, on the inside, or near the house, spaced at 10 and 20 feet as above. Then after 10 or 12 years, when the evergreens have attained a decent height, the Elms can be pulled out since they are actually a short lived tree and offer too much competition to other species.

Furthermore, he strongly urges that trees for windbreak protection be left unpruned, with limbs growing near the ground and all skips or gaps in the windbreak promptly filled in with other trees. The rule for measuring protection from the wind is 10 times the expected height of the trees, that is, an elm or cedar which may be expected to eventually attain a height of 25-30 feet will afford protection for 250 to 300 feet.

Mr. Wells thinks that they will be able to furnish all the planting stock we may need in this district from now on. But it is strongly urged that requests for 1951 plantings be made by August 15 or before. This will assure you a preference in allotments of trees. Unfortunately the nursery does not yet have Arizona Cypress in production, though he hopes to have them within another year or two.

Mr. Wells also visited and advised with Mr. V. O. Hennen, who is starting a little nursery just south of Hereford on the Dimmitt Highway. He was well pleased with Mr. Hennen's plans and preparations. He says that the soil in this area is admirably suited to the growing of Cedar and strongly recommends more of such plantings, either in rows or in clumps.

He found at the old Broadwell residence at 540 West Third Street in Hereford some of the largest and finest samples of the White Poplar tree which he has ever seen west of the Mississippi River.

Sure! That's a fine word and makes you feel good whether you are playing baseball or the game of life. Nevertheless, it is a much more difficult thing to be safe in your everyday life than it is when the baseball umpire makes his decision. While insurance cannot keep you from being hurt or from having your property stolen or destroyed, it can see that you are safe from monetary loss. The many types of insurance protection available to you today make it imperative that you consult a good insurance agency.

BOOKS ON PARADE

'Home Town' Is For Anyone Who Wants To Write A Book

By CORINNE JENNINGS
If you have ever considered writing a book, and most people have, says Cleveland Amory in his new novel, "Home Town," then you will want to read this one.

The story of Home Town is all about how the book by that title gets published after the author gets it written. In it he gives the lowdown on the business of book publishing, reminding one of "The Hucksters" by Fred Wake-man in which he told of the radio profession and industry, though handled in a different manner.

Amory's book is an easy going satire full of humor and gaiety, with only a book publisher likely to give it adverse criticism or say it has a sting. For those who read his first book, "The Proper Bostonian," there is a decided change of style, presentation and locale.

Mitchell Hickok called "Scoop" in his home town because he works for a newspaper, lives in Copper City, Arizona. It has a sign outside the town which reads "The most unique City In the World." The town becomes the theme of the book which he writes and wants to get published. Therein lies the tale. A friend of his father, now dead, insists that a friend of his, who is Big Time Operator use his influence with Hathway Publishing House to accomplish this.

The publicity man very much bored and against his will stops over in the little town after making a trip to the coast to see a better known writer. With much effort he convinces Mitch that he must come to New York later to get publicity as a writer and for the book, after it is printed, in order to make sales.

Arriving in New York, Mitch falls to conform to a recognized pattern and trouble begins right away. Bill gets "a headache" from the start and does not loose it until Mitch leaves for home several weeks later. Bill is so happy when Mitch does leave unannounced to Bill that he mails him his mechanical watch with chimes because Mitch has admired it, and because that problem has ended.

Mitch is in and out of the Waldorf, which proves too much for his conservative ways since he has to foot half of the bill; he attends a book salesman conference and leaves it soon afterwards; he does the same thing for a cocktail party given for him, to take a mystery bus-ride so that he may write a column on it for his home paper; he steals the show on a radio program and manages to get a spot on television which amazes even Bill.

But he does not do so well at a woman's club meeting which is sponsoring him and some other authors. He and the authors have to buy each other's books to make sales.

His visit to a modern night-club with "the girl of the bomb-sight hair" is quite revealing to this unsophisticated westerner. The girl was so called because she gave her tresses during the war for that purpose, sights for bomber instruments.

Mitch grins his way through it all and writes columns for his home town paper about the east. His trip and publicity leaves him completely unspooled. His good nature and indifference to near fame, his doing as he pleased when he pleased, along with cow-man's phrases as comebacks, not only stumped the easterners but won them over as friends.

Mitch is representative of an ordinary American in a success story wherein west meets east, with sparks flying as a result.

Both of Amory's books are in the Deaf Smith County Library, says Mrs. J. J. Boydston, librarian.

Mettie Roots and Edward Young attended the Ice Follies Thursday evening. They were accompanied by Frances Young and Adeline Koelzer.

Martin Reed Moore spent last week end in Clovis visiting with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Singletary.

Rose Gardeners Find April A Busy Month

April is a busy month for the rose gardener. It is a little too late to plant roses unless you are using plants that have been held in cold storage, but according to Saddle Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A&M College, there are a lot of things that can be done to make those you already have growing more productive and beautiful.

Roses do best in a fertile soil. If fertilization is needed, now is the time to make the application, she says. Two or three pounds of 4-12-4 or 5-10-5 commercial fertilizer for each hundred square feet of space in the rose garden is about right but if you want to be more accurate, she suggests that you ask your local county agent about local fertilizer recommendations.

The fertilizer should be worked into the soil by shallow cultivation. Deep cultivation at this time of the year will destroy the young feeder roots that are near the ground surface and this may retard plant growth and cut down on the production of flowers. The rose garden can be mulched at this time and she says a good mulch of decayed leaves, straw, grass clippings, pine needles or well decayed barnyard manure will help hold moisture, keep down weed and grass growth in the garden and will improve the tilth of the soil.

She says roses should be checked now for new sprout growth. They come from the root stock; usually grow very rapidly and are easy to recognize because the leaves are small and light green in color. They should be removed for they can crowd - off the more desirable rose graft.

Roses require good drainage, yet they need plenty of moisture for heavy flower production. She says they should not be sprinkled because moisture applied to the leaves encourages black spot and mildew. Both diseases are likely

Plenty Of Boys To Practice On For Boy's Ranch Barbers

When it comes time for a mane-trimming session at Boy's Ranch at Tascosa the job usually falls to one of the boys in the vocational department of the Ranch vocational school.

Several of the older boys are learning the barbering trade, and with over 120 victims to practice on, they are becoming quite proficient. Only the art of shaving is neglected at present because no staff member is willing to risk an ear or Adam's apple.

With a properly-equipped vocational school, each of the more than 100 boys can learn a valuable trade he will be able to use when he leaves the Ranch. This will give him the chance to step into a good job and make a real hand.

The boys also have their own grade and high school with seven teachers, a full sport program that includes football, softball, basketball and wrestling, and plenty of opportunity for other recreation such as fishing, swimming and riding.

But it's not all school and play. The boys raise much of their own vegetables, beef and pork, and have their own particular jobs such as milking, hoeing in the garden, and clean-up details.

Charles Yancey, 12, of Mineral Wells, Texas, hesitatingly submits to a haircut given by Charlie Purviance, 17, of Wichita, Kansas. Both boys are hands at Boy's Ranch, Amarillo, Texas.

Gulf Fishing Starts Fast Because Of Mild Winter

PORT ARANSAS, Tex., (AP) — The summer fishing season has already started in this Gulf Coast area, thanks to a mild winter and early spring.

Usually, the first tarpon are not sighted in these parts until the middle of April. But the first was caught this year on Feb. 28. "Frank Rogers of San Antonio was fishing for drum off the fishing pier here, using two hooks," Carroll Wakefield, operator of the pier and a bait and tackle concession, said. "A big drum took one hook and a tarpon grabbed the other, knocking the drum free. Rogers landed the tarpon but was so disappointed at losing the fine drum that he threw the tarpon back into the Gulf of Mexico even before a picture could be made."

"It must have been one of the earliest tarpon catches on record here."

Lots of pompano, mackerel, jackfish, redfish, trout, sheepshead and drum are currently being caught, following the best winter tourist season this town, at the northern tip of Mustang Island, has ever known.

Up and down the coast anglers are taking to such bays as Redfish Bay, Aransas Bay, Rockport Bay and Copano Bay. Beach cottages at Aransas Pass, Rockport, and Bayside (on Copano Bay), and Port Aransas, report a good trade.

Tarpon Inn, a landmark at Port Aransas, is again in operation this year, managed by Mr. and Mrs. William Ellis.

Port Aransas has a big fleet of gulf fishing boats—for gamefish such as tarpon and sailfish as well as edible varieties. Veteran guides have been readying their boats for a predicted big season. Boats will be piloted again this year by such veterans as Bill Moore, Sonny Matthews, J. D. Littleton, Audrey Nelson, Kenneth Nelson, Florida Roberts, Henry Studeman and others.

Marlin have been seen at Port Aransas but none has ever been caught. The competition to land the first marlin here will be strong again this year.

Fishermen who prefer not to go out in boats fish from the jetties at Port Aransas or on the free fishing pier. Hundreds were caught by pier and jetty fishermen last year. In one day, 29 tarpon were landed on the pier. In pier and jetty fishing, heavier tackle is used than in fishing from boats.

Wakefield, who controls two and one-half miles of bathing beach at Port Aransas and operates a bath house and beach facilities, said swimmers have been plunging into the surf for weeks, attracted by the sunshine and balmy temperatures.

Also the party season is on—groups from Corpus Christi and other nearby areas have held shrimp boils and crab boils all along the beaches of Padre and Mustang Islands, driving sometimes 40 to 50 miles south of Port Aransas over the hard-packed sand near the water.

The Causeway from the mainland to Port Aransas has been improved during the winter. Also the landing field at Port Aransas has been improved and enlarged. Many persons with summer homes on Mustang Island in the Port Aransas vicinity travel by plane and use the airport.

In addition to barbering, the boys at Boy's Ranch have the opportunity to learn carpentry, automobile mechanics and shoe repair. The list of trades being taught now is small, but it is hoped that a vocational school can be built in the very near future where 12 or 14 trades can be taught.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

Carpets represent a major investment and should have the best of care and cleaning. There are a few simple points that every owner of good carpeting would do well to remember.

Before carpeting is laid, examine the floor thoroughly for protruding nails. Fill in between floor boards and around baseboards with filler. If such cracks are allowed to remain, they make a fine breeding spot for carpet beetles.

Rough or uneven floors and wide spaces between boards cause premature wear spots in carpets. A cushion under your carpet smooths out the floor's uneven spots and absorbs much of the friction. A cushion also aids to the sound-absorbing quality of a carpet.

Most new carpets "fluff" for a time at first. This is nothing to worry about for it is only the bits of lint left in the pile when the yarn is cut during manufacturing. Vacuuming a new rug every day will speed up this process.

If a carpet is to give long and original color, it must be kept clean. Sand and dirt particles allowed to remain on a rug will be worked down into the base and will gradually cut the very important threads that form the base of the carpet. It is important to keep the floor under carpets dirt and dust free.

It does not hurt a carpet to be vacuumed for a short time each day. Weekly cleanings should be more thorough. This is the time to get under big pieces of furniture to clean the carpet they hide. It is a good idea to air a carpeted room once each week.

Carpets should be cleaned by a professional once every two years. In the meantime, spot-cleaning can be done at home with carbon tetrachloride or any one of a number of dry-cleaning liquids with turpentine as a base.

If the family puppy is not housebroken yet—use warm water first, then a dry-cleaning agent followed by more warm water.
