Certificates of obligation sold Monday

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Certificates of obligation - totaling $1.5 million - for proposed work to the Deaf Smith County Jail were sold Monday to a Houston investment firm.

Underwood, Neuhaus and Company, Inc. had the lowest of 10 bids opened Monday afternoon during a regularly-scheduled meeting of the Deaf Smith County Commission. It offered the $1.5 million with an interest rate of approximately 7.76 percent, which means the county is to pay $516,756.25 in total interest.

The Houston company's bid was substantially lower than the other bids, which had interest rates ranging from 8.02 to 8.47 percent. The second-best bid was turned in by San Antonio's Kidder, Peabody and Company, which organized ed the sale of Deaf Smith's certificates.

Bob Davis served as Kidder's representative at the Monday affair, opening the bids and announcing them to commissioners and onlookers. He and several members of the county board outwardly expressed satisfaction over the accepted bid. Davis also claimed surprise at having received 10 bids; he said he had expected about eight.

According to David Ruland, county clerk, Underwood, Neuhaus and Company will attain the funds needed for Deaf Smith County by reselling the certificates in increments of $5,000. He said there should not be a problem in obtaining the complete $1.5 million amount.

Deaf Smith is to pay off the $1.5 million, plus $516,756.25 in interest, over seven years. The first installment is due in 1985 with the last to be in 1991.

Last month, all four county commissioners and Glen Nelson, county judge, met with representatives of Moody's Investment Services in New York, N.Y. to give information the firm would use to give Deaf Smith a credit rating.

On Dec. 2, Nelson learned

Moody's had given the county an "A" rating. Davis, who originally felt such a credit would result in an interest rate of 8 1/4 to 8 1/2 percent, said that was the same rating Deaf Smith had previously carried. "At least we didn't get dumped like some other counties did," he said Monday.

Late last summer, the Texas Commission on Jail Standards ordered the local jail to either make several changes or drastically decrease its maximum capacity. Additions and remodeling are to be done to the facility, which would have its capacity increased to more than 90 inmates.

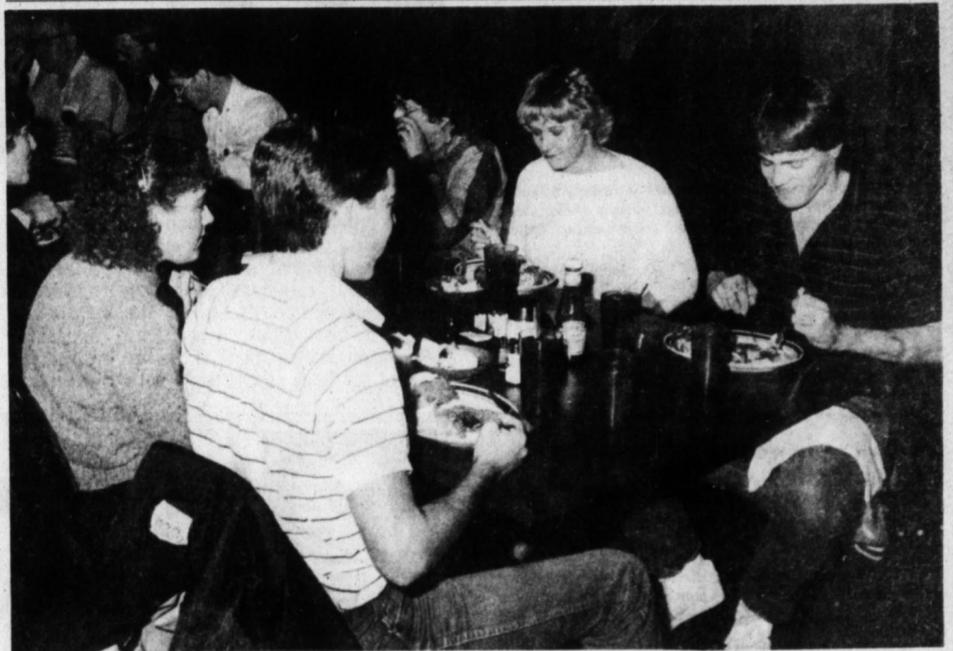

Also at Monday's meeting, commissioners met for around an hour in closed session to consult with Jerry Smith, former assistant district attorney who, along with current DA Roland Saul, is being investigated by the 22nd District Attorney's office. Ruland said the meeting was to discuss personnel and pending litigation.

Merit pay raises of 10 percent across the board were approved by the commissioners for county employees. There were a few qualifications, however, and a request by Sheriff Joe Brown he be able to save 1 percent of his department's pay raises for overtime pay, should he so decide.

In other matters, J.F. Martin was reappointed to the juvenile board for a two-year term. Ron Cook and Bill Johnson were assigned to serve on the child welfare board.

A limit of $500 was set on sheriff's fees for execution on orders of sale.

The next tentatively-scheduled gathering of Deaf Smith County Commissioners is Tuesday, Dec. 27 at 10 a.m. in the courthouse.

Honored At Rotary

Four seniors at Hereford High School were recognized Monday during the Rotary Club meeting for their outstanding achievements at HHS. Shown at left are Laura Thames and Bart Bartlett, who were introduced by Billie Farr of the mathematics department. Joyce Wartes, third from right with glasses, presented Tracy Shepherd and Melvin Kalka for their work in the vocational department.

Farm options told

Provisions of the 1984 farm programs for wheat, feed grains and cotton have been announced and signup begins Jan. 16.

County Executive Director John Fuston of the ASCS said there is a 30-percent diversion or set-aside required to go into next year's wheat program. "That means a farmer could plant a maximum of 70 percent of his wheat base in wheat for harvest and be eligible for deficiency payments and the loan program," he explained.

Fuston said the 1984 PIK program will allow a landowner to layout 10 to 20 percent of his wheat base in addition to the required 30 percent farm program diversion. "This would entitle him to a PIK payment based on 75 percent of the established yield, either irrigated or dryland, on the acres set aside," Fuston said.

For 1984 season

"Therefore," Fuston continued, "if he wanted to go 'full PIK' he could plant 50 percent of his base acres and lay out 50 percent. If the landowner plants less than the maximum acres allowed the 42.86 percent acreage conservation reserve factor is used. This percent is applied to the number of acres planted for harvest to arrive at the set-aside acres needed."

No PIK program is planned by the federal government for feed grains or cotton. Fuston said only a 10-percent diversion is required for feed grains, which allows farmers to plant a maximum of 90 percent of his feed grain base.

"This could be either corn or milo, or a combination of the two," he pointed out. That figure also qualifies the landowner for loans and target price protection. Fuston said those who plant less than the 90 percent maximum acreage allowed should use an acreage conservation reserve factor of 11.11 percent to figure the diverted acres needed for eligibility.

Target price protection and loan eligibility are offered the farmer who sets aside 25 percent of his cotton acreage. The acreage conservation

Bullock sends more checks

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday sent checks totaling $52 million in local sales tax payments to the 980 cities that levy the one-percent city sales tax.

For the second straight month, the city checks came earlier than usual, thanks to taxpayers meeting the state's new earlier-reporting deadline of the 20th of each month.

"This payment is up 23.3 percent over the payment we sent out last December," Bullock commented. "Part of this increase comes from our continued economic recovery and part comes from the cooperation Texas taxpayers have given this office in making earlier tax payments and that way avoiding a state tax increase."

The check sent to the City of Hereford was for $44,015.94, bringing 1983 payments so far to $512,875.99. The total to date is up 8.96 percent from 1982.

Dairy distribution Thursday

Dairy products are to be distributed Thursday to needy citizens at the local Bull Barn.

A spokesman for Community Action, which handles the affair, said 10 a.m. was the probable starting time.

Henderson worsens

Calvin Henderson, one of two men seriously injured Friday during a brutal murder-suicide, had his condition fall to "extremely critical" Monday, according to O.K. Neal.

Neal, Deaf Smith County justice of the peace and coroner, said the 32-year-old Henderson had been readmitted to the operating room at Deaf Smith General Hospital and was now on a life-supporting respirator. He had been shot from close range by a shotgun, suffering several wounds to the right side of his body.

Also injured during the Friday-night incident was Lewis Woolbright, 46, who Neal said was in improving condition. Sometime between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Friday, Dummitt resident Gene Wiggins, 51, shot the two men, killed Polly Woolbright with his gun and then, using the same weapon, killed himself. Neal said Monday testimony he gathered Monday along with Police Lieutenant Vernon Hope confirmed events occurred as reported in Sunday's Brand.

Hunter numbers decreases

While there were plenty of pheasant hunters converging on the Deaf Smith County this past weekend, the number was down slightly from recent years.

Game Warden Chuck Cosper estimated there were 5,000 to 6,000 extra persons in the three-county area while 10,000 were expected. Cosper said about half the hunters were in Deaf Smith County.

Castro and Parmer are the other two counties which make up what is considered the prime pheasant-hunting location in Texas.

Cosper reported no serious problems with illegal hunting and no accidents he knew of. He also said farmers mostly complied with the law requiring them to purchase a shooting preserves license before charging for hunting rights on their lands.

Several extra game wardens were on hand for the opening weekend, which is always the biggest. Hereford Young Farmers are to sponsor an organized hunt this coming Saturday and Sunday, as the season continues through Christmas Day.

Police report tool theft

An estimated $4,000 in tools and assorted other items were stolen sometime Saturday night from a truck owned by Harley's Diesel Service, 902 Maple, Hereford Police reported this morning.

Harley Waldrop, who had driven the truck, had it parked at the Blue Water Garden Apartments.

Saturday at about 10:30 p.m., a window was broken and about $47 taken from Super Cleaner Laundry, 104 N. 25 Mile Ave. Police said the window was worth about $250.

A rifle and shotgun, worth a combined estimated $200, were ripped off between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Monday from the parking lot at Price Less grocery store on W. Park Avenue. Victim of the crime was Route 3's Dale Pierson, whose 1979 Chevrolet's left window was broken, apparently by the thief.

Police also handled several other crimes since Friday, including eight minor thefts and two each of assault and criminal mischief. There were three non-injury accidents and several arrests, including seven for DWI and one for delivery and possession of more than four ounces of marijuana.

MONDAY'S HIGH: 64 (normal: 52 record: 78 (1921))

Ambush kills Frenchman

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Gunmen in a speeding car opened fire on a French peacekeeping patrol on a crowded west Beirut thoroughfare today. The French Defense Ministry said one paratrooper was killed.

The ambush came as President Amin Gemayel called the Lebanese Cabinet into special session to discuss security conditions in Lebanon before departing on a two-day visit to Britain. He was expected to encourage British leaders not to remove their contingent from the multinational peacekeeping force.

In Tripoli, PLO chief Yasser Arafat awaited word as to whether Saudi Arabia and Syria would provide protection for his fighters during their evacuation of the port city.

In Beirut, Lt. Col. Philippe de Longeaux, spokesman for the French contingent of the peacekeeping force, said four or five attackers fired from a car as the French patrol moved along the Corniche Mazraa during morning rush hour.

The "Voice of Lebanon"

Gemayel goes to Britain

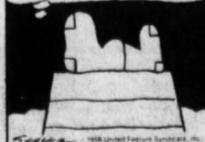

radio station said the gunmen, in a light grey Mercedes 200 without license plates, sped from the scene of the attack through a narrow side lane.

The Defense Ministry in Paris said the paratrooper died of wounds received in the attack. It did not identify the soldier and no other information was immediately available.

targets include Syrian-manned anti-aircraft missiles sites and areas populated by Iranian-connected terrorist groups.

CBS News reported Monday night that Pentagon officials are convinced that none of the recent suicide bombings in Lebanon could have taken place without the assistance of Syria.

Syria, which has an estimated 50,000 soldiers in Lebanon, backs leftist Druse and Shiite Moslem militias fighting the Lebanese army.

President Reagan, in an interview with the New York Daily News, said the Marines would stay in Lebanon despite attacks.

Local radio stations quoted Gemayel as telling a group of British reporters on the eve of his departure that he will argue with British leaders against withdrawing Britain's 100-man contingent from the 5,800-man peacekeeping force.

It is the first visit to Britain by a Lebanese president since Lebanon gained independence from France in 1943.

State CTA awards Bell

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Just a few weeks after being named Retiree of the Year by the Hereford Classroom Teachers Association, Margaret Bell has been given the same honor by the Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

This is the first year the TCTA has named a retiree of the year, which is designed to honor an exceptional teacher who has given in the course of a teaching career outstanding service to education, students, the community and professional associations.

"I have never been anything for the whole state of Texas in my life," Bell said. "I'm surprised and pleased."

A native of Canyon, Bell taught in Fort Stockton and Panhandle schools before coming to the Hereford Independent School District. She devoted 28 years to teaching, instructing children and youth from kindergarten through 12th grade as well as freshman and sophomore English classes for Amarillo college.

A member of TCTA for more than 20 years, Bell has an impressive record of service to the state and local classroom teachers associations. She has also been active in community and civic organizations.

"Teaching was my life other than my family," she said. "It was not easy to leave it behind and go on to other things." Bell retired last May from HISD.

MARGARET BELL

By "other things," Bell referred in part to her new position as lay leader of the First United Methodist Church in Hereford, a post not normally held by a woman. Bell will act as a liaison between the church's clergy and laity and has been asked to serve for the next three years.

In January, one of Bell's dreams is to come true as she travels to the Holy Land. The trip is a gift from members of the older adult Sunday School class at her church, which she has taught for the past 27 years.

Bell and her husband Charles have four children. Judging was conducted by a special TCTA committee composed of classroom teachers. The Retiree of the Year award will be presented during the annual state convention, Feb. 10 and 11 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Fort Worth.

Cigarette caused campus fire

AUSTIN (AP) — A fraternity fire that killed a female student and injured six other people was started by a smoldering cigarette in one of the rooms, a fire official says.

One of the two people who were in the room apparently dropped the cigarette onto a couch, where it eventually ignited the Sunday blaze that destroyed most of the building, Fire Capt. Danny Stamper said Monday.

"It smoldered until it had built up some pretty intense heat. We know there had to be intense heat for the fire to spread so quickly," said Stamper.

The fire killed Margo Helen McFee, a 19-year-old business major from San Antonio. Ted Pestorius, of Barrington, R.I., was in stable but serious condition today at Brackenridge Hospital.

Dr. Pepper faces takeover

DALLAS (AP) — Financial analysts say Dr Pepper executives fear they would be replaced under a $560 million purchase offer by Castle & Cook Inc. but may not be able to fend off a takeover attempt if it is more attractive to stockholders.

Dr Pepper's nine outside directors Saturday decided to reject the offer and proceed instead with an earlier $512.5 million bid submitted by the New York investment firm of Forstmann Little & Co.

Senior members of the 98-year-old company have an offer from DPCC Acquisition Corp., in which the Honolulu-based Castle & Cooke has a 40 percent interest. The executives met Saturday with the company's financial adviser, Lazard Freres & Co. for nearly three hours.

Joining in the meeting for two more hours of talks were the remaining board members, chairman W.W. Clements and president Richard Q. Armstrong, Dr Pepper spokesman Jim Ball said.

Con man confesses to greed

HOUSTON (AP) — A former FBI informant who changed his name and address with federal help and passed more than $82 million in bogus checks through Houston banks says he suffers the same problem as everyone else — greed.

The Houston Chronicle, in a copyright story published Monday, said the con man made more than $1 million kiting checks in 1978. When the scheme fell apart, he fled to the Bahamas. He was apprehended two years later after his return to the United States.

The man, identified only as John M. Bennett, 47, the name given him under the federal witness protection program, was fined $1,000, escaped jail time and was granted immunity from federal prosecution for fraud or tax evasion.

Spacelab means new era

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An eclectic group of scientists, toiling in a tin warehouse at the very frontiers of science, say the voyage of Spacelab is still taking them through "open doors that we never expected."

Days after the space shuttle Columbia dropped out of a cloud-streaked sky and rolled to a stop on the dusty lakebed, four members of its crew continue experiments that began during their 10-day mission, delighting the scientists in charge.

"It seems very much like a new discipline," researcher Helen Ross said Monday, noting that she and other scientists had never been able to conduct laboratory-quality research in orbit.

Ms. Ross and other scientists were interviewed during breaks from the tight experiment schedule both scientists and astronauts have maintained since the Thursday landing.

Heart implant surgeon angry

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Pioneering surgeon Dr. William DeVries is angry at the rejection of guidelines which would have allowed a second artificial heart implant, and some University of Utah heart team members have discussed going elsewhere, a spokesman says.

University Medical Center spokesman John Dwan said Monday he didn't know whether the board was rejecting specific parts of the proposal — which included implanting the device in a more healthy subject than the first recipient, Barney Clark.

Clark, a Seattle area dentist, died March 23 of multiple organ failure after 112 days on the device.

The decision by the Institutional Review Board came after almost nine months of debating ethical and medical questions involving the heart and repeatedly asking DeVries for revisions and clarifications of his proposal.

Kissinger meets with Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican officials said they will remind Henry Kissinger's Bipartisan Commission on Central America that they oppose military intervention as a means of solving the region's conflicts.

The 12-member commission headed by Kissinger arrived Monday night for a day of talks with top officials here.

"We have come to learn ... about the views of this great country about an area whose future is at least as important to Mexico as to us," Kissinger said at a brief airport news conference.

The commission's itinerary today included meetings with with President Miguel de la Madrid, Foreign Minister Bernardo Sepulveda and Treasury Secretary Jesus Silva Herzog.

U.S. would punish bombers

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz today said the United States would punish the bombers of the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait if their identities can be pinned down.

"If the offenders can be clearly identified then I think there will be ways of getting at them," Shultz said at a press conference here.

He declined to elaborate, saying, "Beyond that in terms of U.S. action I do not want to comment specifically."

A group calling itself the Islamic Holy War claimed responsibility for the deadly bombing of the U.S. Embassy, among a string of six targets attacked in Kuwait on Monday.

Paul Harvey News

This is Chicago: Within the next two weeks five criminal courts judges and perhaps 10 lawyers will be indicted.

Our government's Department of Justice has been three years quietly investigating allegations of dishonesty among Chicago's judges and lawyers.

An investigation known by the code name "Greyford" bugged the private offices of at least two judges, planted undercover FBI agents in the state's attorney's office and wires them with body microphones.

Sham criminal cases were created purposely to expose the manner in which a crooked defense lawyer might bribe a crooked judge.

This is Chicago — where for years cynics have insisted you could buy your way in or out of anything — including murder.

It was axiomatic that for one fee you got a "lawyer," for a higher fee you got a "fixer."

Chicago judges spent enormous sums to buy election and re-election to jobs that pay a modest wage. Nobody questioned why.

Some Chicago judges won lavish vacation homes in Florida or the Caribbean and such affluence was nonchalantly "accepted" by media and public as "a perk that goes with the territory."

FBI agents rented an office across the street from a suspect judge and photographed him counting money.

The judge, asked about it, said, "It's no crime to count money."

Much of the alleged corruption of Chicago courts relates to payoffs of "drug money," but one of the judges believed on the take sat in divorce court.

Federal wiretap law requires that notices be sent to people who've been bugged within 90 days of the end of the surveillance, but the judge who authorizes the wiretaps may withhold notification if he believes the case more thoroughly and will offer him (Geter) a polygraph test given by a local polygraph operator

Some of the judges and attorneys involved are expected to challenge the constitutionality of the surveillance.

One says he recalls no precedent for bugging a state judge's chambers.

You can imagine the chagrin of honest judges, inevitably stained by these disclosures and the protracted prosecutions which lie ahead.

It is a cloud over the entire Chicago judiciary.

Criminal Court Judge James Bailey notes that even the most highly respected judge rarely gets more than 80 percent approval on Election Day in an electoral process which requires 60 percent.

Next election there will be an inevitable tendency for voters to vote the "ins" out — regardless.

Black convict to get new trial

By PHILIP BRASHER Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Lenell Geter, serving a life sentence on a robbery conviction tainted by charges of racism, will be freed if he passes a lie detector test, District Attorney Henry Wade said.

Wade said Monday that he still believes Geter is guilty of the 1982 robbery of a Balch Springs fast-food restaurant, but said that even if Geter fails the polygraph, he will get a new trial.

"On behalf of this office, I am joining with the defense attorneys for Lenell Geter in asking that the courts grant him a new trial," Wade said in a prepared statement. "I have reviewed the record of the previous trial, which is lengthy. The evidence indicates his guilt, since all of the five witnesses who were robbed identified him as the guilty person."

"But in view of a recent television show, and other media reports, I believe some doubt has been raised in the minds of many people concerning the fairness of his trial as well as his guilt."

The case was the subject of a report on the CBS news show "60 Minutes" on Dec. 4.

Geter's case drew national attention because of charges by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that he was convicted because of racism and overzealous, shoddy police work.

"We intend to investigate the case more thoroughly and will offer him (Geter) a polygraph test given by a local polygraph operator selected by his local counsel," said Wade. "If he passes the test as to guilt or innocence, we will dismiss."

Wade called the "60 Minutes" segment "slanted," but said it and other press reports about the case influenced his decision not to oppose a new trial for Geter.

"I would like to do anything I can to improve the perception of the public in our criminal justice system," Wade said. "I believe that, should he be guilty and go free, it is much better for the criminal justice system than for so many people to feel that he is innocent due to a slanted television program."

Geter's attorney, Ed Sigel, said he expected the motion for a new trial to be granted today and said he hoped his client would be free on bond by the weekend.

"I just talked to him a minute ago," Sigel said Monday. "Of course, he is elated."

Geter, 26, is serving his sentence in a prison in Tennessee Colony.

His former roommate, Anthony Williams, also black, was charged in the robbery of a convenience store, but was acquitted by a Dallas jury last month.

Both men were recruited from South Carolina to work as engineers for E-Systems Inc. of Greenville, about 50 miles northeast of Dallas.

Nine of Geter's co-workers testified at his trial that he was at work when the robbery occurred. But five eyewitnesses identified Geter as the man who robbed a Kentucky Fried Chicken store of about $600.

Though unlikely crusaders, Geter's white, middle-class co-workers began raising money to help in his defense.

"We know the man, we know where he was when they say he robbed the restaurant, and we know he didn't do it. Why wouldn't we get involved?" said Wendell Crom, a 56-year-old, bow-tied engineer who worked with Geter.

Another of the employees, Charles Hartford, said Monday night that he also was pleased to hear of Wade's decision.

"Quite frankly, it was sort of surprising, although I had people tell me he would be out by Christmas," Hartford said. "He was one of them. I don't know how he knew. He just knew there would be a miracle. I think we've got one coming."

Geter came to the attention of police in Balch Springs because a Greenville police detective had distributed photographs of six recent recruits to E-Systems — all black.

The FBI is investigating the case to determine if Geter's civil rights have been violated.

Despite the fact that Geter had no prior criminal record, the jury was told by Greenville police Lt. James Fortenberry that Geter had a bad reputation and was suspected of committing more than 30 robberies in South Carolina.

Two South Carolina lawmen later refuted Fortenberry's testimony, saying they did not have any record of Geter, either as a criminal or a suspect.

Suicide bombs studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bombing at the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait is causing concern among State Department officials that determined terrorist groups have come up with a weapon that even the most stringent security precautions cannot deter.

The newest type of terrorism American diplomats face is one where practitioners are willing to sacrifice their own lives to make a political statement.

A decade ago, terrorist incidents directed at American diplomatic personnel were limited largely to kidnappings and occasional assassinations of individuals. Officials acknowledge those tactics seem almost tame in comparison to the new methods.

"It's definitely a new direction in terrorism ... and very difficult for us to act," said Michael LaFranchi, chief of physical security for the U.S. Agency for International Development, in an interview published today.

"It's hard to imagine any kind of complete guarantees no matter what we do," said Dennis Hays, president of the American Foreign Service Association, the organization of career diplomats.

The suicide technique was used against the United States again Monday in Kuwait.

Stress talk tonight

A professor from Americana Leadership College in New Braunfels will lecture in Hereford today about the Inner Peace Movement, a non-profit organization developed to educate the public about dealing with stress and depression.

Scott Doane will be at the Deaf Smith County Library beginning at 8 p.m. in the Heritage Room downstairs. The cost for materials is $3 at the door.

A graduate of Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, Doane worked with the mentally handicapped before joining the IPM. He now lectures in a three-state area and has recently worked extensively in Amarillo.

"The program is designed to show people how to release stress and tension and live a more fulfilling life," Doane said.

The IPM was founded in 1964 by Dr. Francisco Coll and now has more than two million members with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Doane said following the lecture he will present a workshop on putting what is learned into practice. There is an additional fee for that session.

"We've been impressed with the friendliness of the people and the warmth of the community," noted the Rev. and Mrs. John Daugherty, who moved to Hereford in October from Artesia, N.M., with their 2-year-old daughter, Rebekah.

Daugherty is associate pastor of Temple Baptist Church, overseeing the education, music and youth ministries in the church.

He hopes to build the youth ministry and reorganize the Sunday school and Bible study ministries, and he is currently finalizing the choral music programs for Christmas.

"I enjoy working with the educational ministry, which I feel encompasses the other two areas. It is the framework on which everything else is built," he commented. "We enjoy this work and feel that the Lord is leading us toward a pastorate eventually."

Daugherty is a native of Artesia, which his wife, Janet, also considers her hometown. The couple met in high school.

He attended Wayland Baptist University one year and went on to graduate from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales with a bachelor of arts in secondary education.

In July 1975 he was a member of the ENMU concert choir which was invited to be the resident ensemble for the Vienna Music and Youth Festival. "We were the only choir invited to attend; the others all had to audition," he stated. "We also sang in Venice, Florence, and Rome."

Daugherty served as minister of music and youth

Gypsies have supplied the background music for much of Hungarian history since the 15th century. Gypsy melodies helped recruit the army, and, for centuries, violinists led troops into battle.

at Emmanuel Baptist Church in Portales while in college. A year after graduation he entered Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest, N.C., where he received his master of divinity with religious education.

Janet, who is currently a homemaker, studied speech pathology at ENMU. While her husband was in seminary, she was employed for the editor of a small publishing company. "I earned by PhT, 'putting hubby through,'" she laughed.

Daugherty served as associate pastor of Parkwood Baptist Church in Durham, N.C., where he was ordained in 1978, and then as minister of music and youth at Baptist Temple Church in Reidsville, N.C., while the couple lived in that state.

In June of 1981 they moved to Roswell, N.M., where he assumed the position of minister of education and music at Calvary Baptist Church. Their daughter, Rebekah, was born there. From Roswell they returned to Artesia, where he was associate pastor of Trinity Baptist Church until coming here.

Daugherty has served on camp staff and faculty in New Mexico and North Carolina, and in 1980 he led a youth mission tour from North Carolina to Espanola, N.M., where his youth group conducted Bible school with the Picuris Pueblo.

The Daughertys enjoy reading and listening to contemporary Christian music. He plays the guitar, and occasionally plays golf. She enjoys doing counted cross-stitch.

The couple collect Southwest Indian objects such as pottery and wall hangings. "One of our favorite places is Santa Fe," they commented.

Daugherty has been a member of Kiwanis Club in the past. He and his wife are enjoying meeting new people and hope to meet many others in the community. They plan to attend a progressive dinner of Hereford Newcomers Club, which Janet has visited.

"I was glad to hear about that organization," she said. "It is sometimes hard as a non-working woman to get to know others in the community outside of the church."

IT'S THE INSIDE THAT COUNTS!

One of the Pharisees asked Jesus home for a meal. When Jesus arrived, He sat down to eat without first performing the ceremonial washing required by Jewish custom. This greatly surprised His host.

Then Jesus said to him, "You Pharisees wash the outside, but inside you are still dirty--full of greed and wickedness! Fools! Didn't God make the inside as well as the outside? Purity is best demonstrated by generosity!"

"But woe to you Pharisees! For though you are careful to tithe even the smallest part of your income, you completely forget about justice and the love of God. You should tithe, yes, but you should not leave these other things undone."

"Woe to you Pharisees! For how you love the seats of honor in the synagogues and the respectful greetings from everyone as you walk through the markets!"

"Yes, awesome judgment is awaiting you. For you are like hidden graves in a field. Men go by you with no knowledge of the corruption they are passing."

New cancer treatment

Insect virus altered to produce interferon

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M University scientists say they have found a way to inexpensively produce large quantities of the cancer treatment interferon by genetically altering an insect virus.

The insect interferon may be more like natural interferon than the substance produced artificially from yeast and bacterial systems, the researchers say.

Interferon is a protein used in fighting human cancer and viral infections such as herpes.

"The importance of the development is that the interferon we have produced may be more authentic and consequently would be safer and more effective," said Dr. Max Summers, a Texas A&M entomologist. "It can also be produced in larger quantities than has been possible before."

The research may mark a significant breakthrough in genetic technology that might have widespread applications for both the medical and agricultural professions, Summers said.

"There are a whole variety of protein products, such as growth hormones, vaccines and different kinds of interferon, that might be genetically engineered with our system and useful for treating a variety of diseases in both humans and animals," Summers said.

"Although the work so far has involved the production of a medically important protein, it also is feasible that we could genetically alter the viruses to produce new viral pesticides for controlling insect pests that destroy agricultural crops," he said.

The researchers have produced five billion units of the protein per liter of culture, about 100 times more than has been produced with other methods.

Using a cell from the ovaries of the fall armyworm, the scientists altered insect viruses to create a hybrid gene that produces far more human interferon in insect cells than is produced by human cells.

"That's the major new part of the system," Summers said. "No one else has ever used an insect virus and insect cells before."

The next step in the research will involve biochemical tests to determine how close the new product is to human interferon. If results are positive, it will be used in experiments with laboratory animals.

Hereford lands three on area 'Super Team'

Herd gridders Jeff Streun and David Parsons have been named to the Globe-News Football Super Team as announced Sunday in the Amarillo newspaper.

Hereford's Jerry Taylor was also named "Coach of the Year" on the Super Team, which included players from all classes in the Panhandle-Plains area. All six Texas classes, plus Clovis, Roswell, Portales, and Tucumcari, N.M., are represented on the team.

Amarillo Palo Duro and Hereford each had three representatives on the Super Team to lead the elite squad. Palo Duro had offensive linemen Anthony Jones (guard) and Tim Tucker (tackle), and sophomore-of-the-year Ernie Williams, a running back.

Streun, the 5-11, 155-pound senior safety was also named to the coaches' All-District team and the Globe-News 3-5A team. He intercepted five passes and returned them 120 yards, including a 70-yard return for a touchdown.

Coach Taylor said Streun

"quickly accepted the role of a leader, especially on defense," and that he "would have volunteered to do anything we needed." Taylor added that Streun not only "had great desire, but he had the want-to factor to go with it."

Parsons was called "one of the more pleasant surprises in a surprising Hereford season." The 5-11, 186-pound junior played nose-guard on defense was one of the reasons Hereford allowed only 76 points in the regular season. Coach Taylor called him one of the most improved players on the team. Parsons was one of two juniors on the Super defensive team.

In the tribute to Coach Taylor, the Globe-News reported one of the reasons Don Cumpston left Hereford for Abilene last year "was the depletion of talent." With Taylor on the hot seat, the Herd promptly won their first six games, then finished as quad-champions and faced Odessa Permian in the playoffs.

"Taylor is quick to credit his assistant coaches," reports the article, "but the buck stops with Taylor. It's no coincidence his record the last six years is an impressive 54-17-2. Taylor is a teacher, a motivator and a coach with things in perspective," states the article.

Offensive player of the year on the super team was quarterback Todd Lamberson of Panhandle, a 6-2, 200-pounder who was extolled for his leadership of the team. He edged Hereford's Mike Scott for the quarterback spot on the team, according to the Globe-News report.

Amarillo High's David Scott was named as defensive player of the year. Scott is a 5-9, 230-pound senior.

The Amarillo sports writers also picked Hereford High's band as one of the top bands in the area.

Ex-Raider coach killed in crash

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis State football coach John "Rex" Dockery, who died with three others in the crash of twin-engine plane near Lawrenceburg, Tenn., was a "super guy who lived every day of his life to the fullest," says Vanderbilt coach George MacIntyre.

MacIntyre, a Commodore assistant with Dockery in 1973 and 1974, was one of many Tennessee athletic figures stunned by Monday's crash.

Also killed were freshman running back-defensive back Charles Greenhill, Tigers' offensive coordinator Christopher D. Faros, 31, and the plane's pilot, Glenn W. Jones, 48.

"We lost three fine individuals," said Murray Armstrong, Memphis State's assistant football coach. "We are just going to have to collect our wits, get our thoughts organized and see what tomorrow holds. We don't know what to do right now. It's a traumatic moment for all of us."

University of Tennessee head football coach Johnny Majors said Dockery's death saddens "all coaches and Volunteers."

The four were traveling from Memphis International Airport to the annual awards banquet of the Lawrenceburg Quarterback Club at Lawrence County High School, where Dockery, 41, was to be a guest speaker.

The Piper Seneca nosedived in a heavy fog about 5:30 p.m. CST some 10 miles north of Lawrenceburg, authorities said.

Steve Sloan, Duke University football coach who grew up with Dockery in Cleveland, Tenn., said, "I have just lost my best friend."

"He had the most contagious personality I've ever experienced. He enjoyed living and was just plain fun to be around. The man did not have an enemy, only friends. Friends who know their loss today is certainly the Lord's gain."

MacIntyre said, "I was very close with Rex. He was a super guy who lived every day of his life to the fullest. He didn't back up from anything. I was just shocked."

A Cleveland, Tenn., native, Dockery took over the Memphis State football program Dec. 17, 1980, leaving Texas Tech where he had a three-year record of 15-16-2.

He compiled a 7-4 record in his first season at Texas Tech and garnered Southwest Conference and NCAA District VI coach of the year honors.

Dockery's Tigers struggled for two years, posting back-to-back 1-10 records, but showed signs of revitalization this season with a 6-5 mark.

Dockery served as an assistant coach at Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt from 1970-74 before moving to Texas Tech as the Red Raiders' offensive coordinator.

Authorities said the cause of the crash was under investigation.

Girls, Boys in District 3-5A games

Whitefaces host Plainview

Hereford still has plenty of basketball action before Christmas, and both the boys and girls will be playing at home tonight when the Plainview teams come to town for District 3-5A contests.

The girls' games are set at 4:30 and 6 p.m., and the boys' contests will be at 4:30 and 7:30. The junior varsity teams square off in the earlier games.

The boys participated in another tourney over the weekend, losing a close 53-52 decision to El Paso Bowie in the consolation finals of the Amarillo Invitational.

The Herd, earlier Saturday, had advanced to the consolation finals with a one-point, 44-43 victory over the Dumas Dumons.

After trailing El Paso by 31-23 at halftime in the final tourney contest, Hereford rallied for a 44-43 lead going into the final stanza. The Bowie team pulled out the victory, however, by outscoring the Herd 10-8 in the final quarter of action.

Jeff Streun and Lee Brockman paced the Whiteface scorers in the consolation battle by hitting 16 and 15 points, respectively.

Ray Rodriguez sparked the Bowie victory with 24 points.

In the Dumas game, Hereford held the lead most of the way. The Herd led by 25-18 at halftime and was up by 33-28 going into the final period. Brockman led Hereford with 13 points, and Kevin Redus added 9. Shawn Reed had 15 for Dumas.

Hereford lost to El Paso High in the first-round of the tourney, 39-32. El Paso went on to capture third place with a 40-30 win over Odessa High.

The tourney action left Hereford with a 4-6 won-lost record on the season. Hereford plays its first district 3-5A game at home tonight, taking on the Plainview Bulldogs. Hereford is 0-1 in district action.

The Junior Varsity plays at 4:30 p.m. today, and the boys' varsity game is set for 7:30

Cowboys now looking at another long haul on NFL playoff road

IRVING, Texas (AP) — After the worst regular season loss in their history to the Washington Redskins, the Dallas Cowboys have resigned themselves to another long haul on the National Football League playoff road.

Defending Super Bowl champion Washington crushed the Cowboys 31-10 Sunday and can salt away the National Conference Eastern Division with a triumph Saturday over the New York Giants.

"It was our worst game in a long time and we were playing for the championship," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It's hard to figure because this game meant a lot."

Dallas, which has lost three consecutive NFC title games on the road, will play at San Francisco next Monday night, knowing what challenge is ahead.

If Washington beats the Giants, Dallas will play a wild card into the playoffs as the home team on Dec. 26. A victory over San Francisco then would not matter only in that it would give Dallas a 13th victory, most in club history.

If Washington loses and Dallas defeats the 49ers, the Cowboys would be NFC champs because of a better division record.

"I have a lot of confidence in our team in the big games and we'll just have to wait and see how we react," Landry said.

There was talk that the two teams may meet again later in the playoffs.

"That would be fine but they'll have to come to our place and play in the mud," said defensive back Darrell Green.

Washington quarterback Joe Theismann, who had two touchdown passes against the Cowboys, said, "If we do what we have to do we will play them again but I'm not worried about it. It will get here soon enough."

Landry said, "It has been a long time since we played like that. It's surprising when you get dominated like that."

Dallas rallied from a 23-3 halftime deficit to beat Washington 31-30 in September but suffered a complete offensive breakdown in the second half this time after trailing only 14-10.

The Cowboys also lost their cool with a frustrated Tony Dorsett getting an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty for throw the ball into Darryl Grant's face mask.

"Dallas is human," Landry said. "You think we're not human out there."

Dorsett, held to only 34 yards on 14 carries, said of his loss of temper, "It was poor judgment on my part, more than anything. It was a hit I thought was a little late.

"It was just frustration. I apologized to him (Grant) after the game."

Dallas was held to an official 33 yards rushing, lowest in its history.

Dorsett said now Dallas was going to have to win the NFC title game the hard way.

"What that does is make us have to play one extra game," Dorsett said. "If we're able to survive two games in the playoffs before we play them, then fine. They were just a much better team than we were."

"They just completely outplayed us."

La Plata's Ninth graders win tourney

La Plata's 9th grade basketball team retained its unbeaten record while rolling to three triumphs and winning the championship of the Junior High Tourney in Hereford over the weekend.

The La Plata team recorded three one-sided victories in capturing the 9th grade title. Bobby Baker tallied 76 points in the three games to spark the scoring attack of the Mavericks.

Baker hit 33 points as the Mavs downed Canyon Purple, 80-67, in the first-round game Thursday. Three other players were in double figures—Arthur Valdez with 14, Mark Artho with 12 and David Manchec with 11.

La Plata downed Dimmitt, 69-42, in the next game as Baker hit 25 and Manchec and Valdez added 12 and 10 points, respectively. The Mavericks took the tourney title with a 81-42 win over Plainview Blue. Artho led the way with 20; Manchec hit 19, and Baker and Valdez added 18 and 10 points, respectively.

Stanton's 9th graders finished third in the tourney. No other game information could be obtained from coaches at press time.

Mavericks lose 4 of 6 to Plainview

Boys and girls from La Plata Junior High School played teams from Plainview Monday, with the locals dropping four of six contests.

At La Plata, La Plata's seventh-grade girls began the action by losing 30-22 to Plainview Red. The visitors also won the eighth-grade game, 38-21, before local ninth graders prevailed 48-39.

La Plata's oldest female squad is to play in a ninth-grade tournament Friday and Saturday in Dumas. The other two Maverick clubs will not resume action until January.

At Plainview Monday, the hosting "Blue" seventh graders won 39-29. Plainview also captured the eighth-grade tilt, 47-46, before going down to a 38-25 defeat in the ninth-grade match. The local ninth graders are now 7-0 on the season.

Oppenheimer Special Fund

As you can easily see, a little difference in the amount your IRA earns each year can make a large difference in the amount you retire with. Happily, the same law that allows you to start an IRA also allows you to switch it anytime you wish, with no extra tax penalty. This law gives you the opportunity to seek better returns for your investment, no matter where it is now.

You could, for example, switch to the Oppenheimer Special Fund. Just compare the average annual return on your IRA with the 26.7 percent average annual return on the Oppenheimer Special Fund as shown above. If you had been able to put $2000 a year into a Special Fund IRA, since its inception, it would have been worth $111,097 as of September 30, 1983. **

Stenerud kicks Packers by Tampa Bay, 12-9

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jan Stenerud knows what he plans to do, but won't tell. Bart Starr, meanwhile, is not about to encourage Green Bay's 39-year-old placekicker to call it quits after 17 National Football League seasons.

"He's a pro, a winner, a clutch player. He's all the cliches we could stand here and conjure up," Starr said Monday night after Stenerud kicked four field goals to beat the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 12-9, keep the Packers' playoff hopes alive and rewrite the NFL record book. "He's a great player and I'm very proud he is on our team," the Green Bay coach added. "He can play for me as long as he likes."

Stenerud, who climbed past George Blanda into first place on the NFL's all-time field goal list, was coy about his retirement plans after delivering a game-winning 23-yarder 5:07 into overtime.

"I know what I'm going to do, but I'll announce it at the appropriate time — at the end of the season, whenever it is," said Stenerud, who also converted attempts of 35, 32 and 23 yards and hiked his career total to 338, three more than Blanda.

"I was a little nervous before the game and I rarely am," added Stenerud, whose 23-yarder with 28 seconds left in regulation forced the extra period.

"I was extremely nervous before the field goal to take the game into overtime," he continued. "I tried to block it out of my mind, but it was difficult."

The victory boosted the 8-7 Packers into a first-place tie with Detroit in the NFC Central Division, and Starr's club has two possible avenues to the playoffs.

A triumph over Chicago combined with a Tampa Bay upset of Detroit next Sunday would give the Packers their first division crown since 1972. Green Bay also is in the running for the NFC's second wild card spot, and could get it if it beats the Bears and the Los Angeles Rams whip the New Orleans Saints.

The Bucs dropped to 2-13 before a Tampa Stadium crowd of 50,763.

Green Bay quarterback Lynn Dickey — who engineered the 11-play, 65-yard drive leading to the winning field goal as well as a 10-play, 65-yard march that forced the overtime — put on a 278-yard passing performance.

He became the fifth man — and second this season — in NFL history to throw for 4,000 yards in a season, boosting his total to 4,196, nine more than Kansas City's Bill Kenney, who reached the plateau Sunday.

The New York Jets' Joe Namath, San Diego's Dan Fouts and Cleveland's Brian Sipe are the others who have thrown for 4,000 yards. Fouts, who has done it twice, set the NFL record of 4,802 in 1981.

Stenerud is 338 of 509 — 66.4 percent — lifetime as a field goal kicker, and 59 of 73 — 80.8 percent — since joining the Packers in 1980 after 13 seasons with Kansas City.

"The record was very important to me," he said. "I'll admit it's something that crossed my mind the last couple of years."

N. Carolina still No. 1; Houston now ranked 3rd

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten North Carolina, a big winner over previously unbeaten Syracuse last Saturday night, remained No. 1 in the Associated Press college basketball poll Monday and increased its margin over No. 2 Kentucky, also unbeaten.

A four-point leader over Kentucky last week, North Carolina landed 37 first-place votes and 1,215 points from the nationwide panel of 62 sports writers and sportscasters compared to 25 No. 1 votes and 1,203 points for Kentucky.

North Carolina, which topped the Orangemen 87-64, running its record to 5-0, is idle until Dec. 21 when the Tar Heels face Dartmouth. Kentucky, 3-0 after routing Kansas 72-50, hosts the Kentucky Invitational, which also has Wyoming, Virginia Commonwealth and Brigham Young, Friday and Saturday.

North Carolina and Kentucky each landed 30 first-place votes last week.

Carolina and Hofstra last week.

Boston College, which beat Puget Sound and Brown for a 5-0 mark, moved to eighth from No. 12 with 658 points. Maryland, 4-1, beat Penn State and Duquesne to gain two places at No. 9 with 592 points.

LSU, 4-1, upended by Houston, rounded out the Top Ten.

Purdue, which downed Boston University and Tampa, jumped from No. 19 to No. 11. Georgia, St. John's, Oregon State, UCLA, Louisville, Michigan State, Iowa, Wake Forest and Texas El Paso completed the Top Twenty.

Iowa, which lost to Louisville and Oregon State, dropped from 19th, and UCLA, No. 7 last week, fell to 15th after losing to New Mexico.

Dropped from the rankings were Wichita State, Arkansas and Fresno State. Wichita State lost twice last week, while Arkansas won two of three and Fresno State divided two games.

Studley in dark about Oiler future

HOUSTON (AP) — Chuck Studley is in the dark about his future with the Houston Oilers and professes to be concerned only with winding up the season next weekend with a victory at Baltimore.

"I'm gonna leave that to the guys who are going to make that decision," Studley said Monday in response to questions about whether he'd be back for the next National Football League season.

"We're just going to go ahead and play the game and finish the season and see what happens."

Studley took over on an interim basis Oct. 10 after Ed Biles departed with an 0-6 mark. He is now 2-7 after the Oilers on Sunday dampened the Cleveland playoff drive with a 34-27 victory over the Browns.

And while he says he's had "no discussion whatsoever" with Oiler management about whether he will be retained, it appears he's thinking of returning.

For example, his thoughts on the Oilers' lack of pass rush: "Obviously, that's an area we're going to have to look at carefully in the off season."

Studley credited his team's victory Sunday to good performances from the offense and the special teams, very few Oiler mistakes overall and four turnovers by the Browns.

"I can't recall another game so error-free," he said. "For a change, the other team made the errors. We're thankful for their charity."

The Oiler defense, however, broke down again against the rush, allowing Cleveland running back Mike Pruitt 153 yards, and the pass rush was nonexistent, Studley said.

"It isn't often we can give up 27 points and win," he said. "Seldom do you win when you go through a game without a single quarterback sack."

As a general assessment, Studley said he believed his team was playing "about as well as we can play. We bent but didn't break."

Skins can 'smell' Super Bowl again

WASHINGTON (AP) — It rained at Redskin Park, but not hard enough to dampen the team's spirits or wash away the scent of the victory.

"I can smell the Super Bowl," said special teams coach Wayne Sevier. "You can feel it strong now, we are getting close to going back to the Super Bowl."

The defending champions took a giant step toward returning to the Super Bowl this weekend when they whipped the Cowboys in Dallas 31-10.

The victory, the Redskins' 13th in 15 games, puts them one game in front of the Cowboys going into the final weekend of the regular season. The winner of the National Conference Eastern Division race will get a week off going into the playoffs and enjoy the home-field advantage for each game up to the Super Bowl.

Head coach Joe Gibbs refused to be dragged into any discussion of the Super Bowl, at least not until the 3-11-1 Giants have been dispatched.

"Beating Dallas put us in a great position but everything is still on the line," Gibbs said.

Consumer alert sounds on portable phones

NEW YORK (AP) — Cordless telephones, one of the most popular electronic gadgets on store shelves this season, can cause serious hearing damage to careless users, the government's top product safety regulator says.

Nancy Harvey Steorts, chairwoman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission, issued what she called a "consumer alert" Monday during a stop in New York.

The commission has received numerous complaints and about 20 reports of hearing damage blamed on cordless telephones, Mrs. Steorts said.

About 3 million are expected to be sold this year.

She said all except a model from one maker — whom she would not name — ring by making a loud noise through the earpiece.

When a user is holding the phone to his head and is not expecting the loud ring, hearing loss can result, she said.

A user who answers the phone must be careful before placing the phone to his ear to move a switch from "ring" to "talk" to cut off the loud noise, she said.

Mrs. Steorts praised members of the Electronics Industries Association, a trade group, for agreeing to put warning stickers on the phones.

"If the information campaign doesn't work, we'll have to look at some change in the product itself," she said.

Mrs. Steorts is on a nationwide tour to promote safer toys.

She praised toymakers for what she called their dedication to safety, while cautioning parents that they bear the chief burden of making certain that toys are safe for the children who use them.

In the case of both the telephone and toy industries, Mrs. Steorts said she strongly prefers to seek voluntary action by manufacturers rather than have the commission impose new regulations.

"The toy industry really cares," she said as she stood amid a roomful of products chosen to illustrate various hazards. "The toy industry has worked very closely with us to create a safer marketplace."

CANCER ANSWER LINE

Question: Is the cause of esophageal cancer known?
ANSWERline: It is unknown although certain environmental factors have been linked to it. The disease has been found to occur more frequently among city dwellers than among persons living in rural areas. Smoking cigarettes, cigars and pipes along with the consumption of alcohol have also been linked to esophageal cancer. Case histories have shown that the majority of persons who develop this type of cancer have a history of heavy drinking, heavy smoking or both.

Ann Landers Midwestern style

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A pox on those purists who criticize the way you write. The day you caught heat for saying "beat up on" (your detractor claimed the word "on" was superfluous), I read a piece in the Wall Street Journal by Gary Putka which began, "After beating up on major foreign currencies for the better part of three years..."

It's OK to say "pocketbook." We know you mean purse. And who cares if you end a sentence with a preposition? It's no big deal. You are a splendid communicator and make no effort to impress anyone with four-bit words. Nor do you get tangled up in fancy language so that no one knows what you're talking about.

Your manner of expression is "pure Iowa," by your own admission. I happen to find it refreshing. In fact, part of your charm is the way you put words together. That Midwestern style has brought you a long way, Baby. To borrow a phrase that appeared first in your column, "It ain't broke, don't fix it."—Westchester, N.Y.

DEAR WES: I hear you loud and clear. Thanks for the back-up. To be perfectly honest, I couldn't change if I wanted to.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter in your column from the divorced father who wanted to make sure his child support checks were going to support the child made me so mad I almost lost my breakfast. In the face of what is happening in this country I don't know why you decided to give that dingbat space to sound off. Here are the facts according to my research:

Of the 4 million women in the U.S. who are supposed to be collecting child support, fewer than 46.7 percent are receiving the full amount. The reasons these fathers don't pay range from indifference, in many cases, to the shameful fact that our courts are disgracefully lax in enforcing the laws that make it mandatory. In other words, if a guy is fleet of foot, he can escape his legal responsibility by simply ignoring it.

Divorced women have always gotten the short end of the stick. When they have children, the stick is even shorter. It seems that if a man can lose his car because he didn't keep up his payments the law should be able to make these deadbeats pay to feed, clothe, and educate the kids they bring into the world.—Still Battling In Wyoming

DEAR WYOMING: Don't give up. Help is on the way. Bills are pending in Congress that would require states to put child-support enforcement mechanisms into effect. The Internal Revenue Service has already intercepted more than 323,000 tax refund checks of delinquent fathers to the tune of $170 million. So things are looking up for the distaff side. Thanks for sounding off. Hundreds of others wrote to echo the same sentiment.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How would you answer this question: Which is most important: labor, capital or brains?—Tulane Student (New Orleans)

DEAR TULANE: The same way Andrew Carnegie answered it — with another question: "Which is the most important part of a three-legged stool?"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell women who have hot flashes because of menopause, and are not allowed to take estrogen, that an ice bag in bed at night can be a godsend.—Relieved in York, Pa.

DEAR YORK: Thanks for the suggestion. It makes sense.

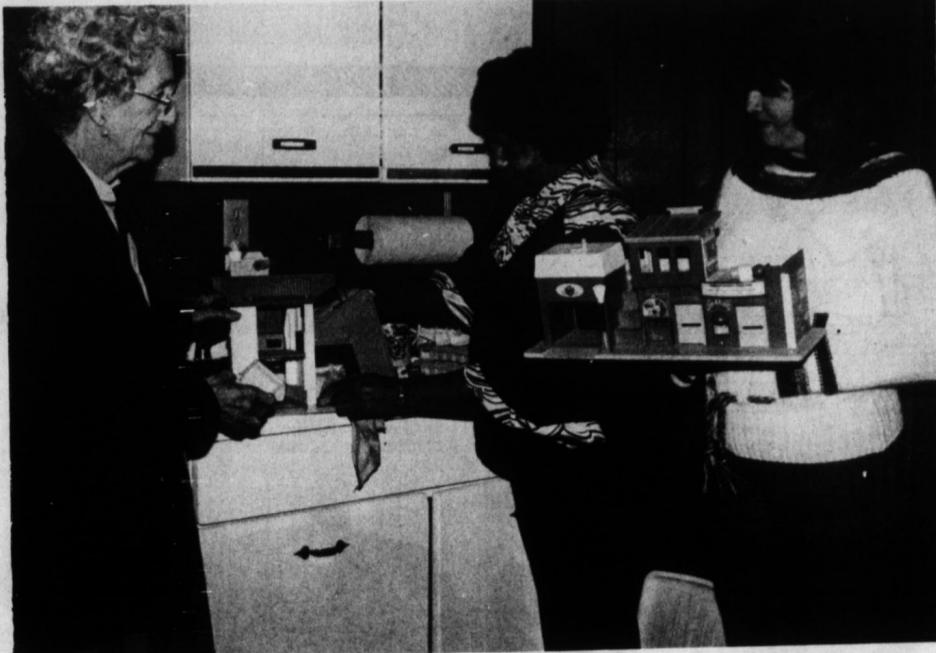

Style Show scheduled

The public is invited to a Holiday Style Show, sponsored by the Hall of Fame Rodeo Association, this evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Banquet Room of the Community Center.

Tickets may be purchased for $4 at the door or from any association member. Door prizes will be given away and refreshments will be furnished.

Mary Thomas will serve as mistress of ceremonies and fashions will be provided by Boots and Saddles, Little's, Louise's, Chip 'n' Dales and Pants Cage.

Money from the event will help defray expenses of sponsoring the Professional Rodeo Girls' Association All Girl Rodeo scheduled in Hereford next August.

Christmas Toys Program

Red Cross volunteers including, from left, Bertha Dettmann, Hope Torres and Sandie Bridges, have been busy cleaning and fixing toys which have been donated to the Christmas Toys for Tots program. The Social Services office is taking applications, Red Cross is accepting and refurbishing toys along with Hereford High art classes, and HHS Student Council members will help deliver the toys to needy families beginning at 1 p.m. on Christmas Eve. Toys in good condition will be accepted until Wednesday, Dec. 21.

Shower honors bride-elect

A bridal shower honoring Tamara Kaye Myers, bride-elect of Randy Lee Vogel, was held Saturday at the E.B. Black House.

Miss Myers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers of Adrian and Vogel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vogel of Hereford. The couple is to be married Dec. 30 at St. Anthony's Church.

Judy Myers and Elizabeth Vogel, mothers of the prospective bride and groom, were present at the shower. The bride's sister, Gay, greeted guests at the registry table, which was decorated with a single red rose.

The bride's color of Christmas red was featured at the serving table. The centerpiece, a wicker basket of green Jew, baby's breath and red carnations, was accompanied by two red candles in crystal candle holders.

These highlighted a table filled with an assortment of cookies. Serving at the table were Vicki Paetzold and Beth Gwyn.

Hostesses for the shower were Clara Reinart, Penny

Reinart, Opal Walterscheid, Roberta Last, Mary Schlabs, Marian Yosten, Genevieve Kuper, Josie Schulte, Carol Gerke, Ida Schumacher, Velma Warren, Susan Hicks and Elaine Brorman, all of Hereford.

Also, from Adrian, Charlene Hughes, Paula Fairchild, JoAnn Meyer, Priscilla Jacobson, Merlene Webb, Bea Fortenberry and Kay Blankenship.

Dip stale cake in cold milk quickly and heat in a moderate oven.

Monsoon

"Monsoon" is a name for seasonal winds (derived from Arabic "mausim," a season). It was first applied to the winds over the Arabian Sea, which blow for six months from southwest and six months from northeast. The term has been extended to similar winds in other parts of the world. Monsoons are strongest on the southern and eastern sides of Asia.

Around the County

By SUSAN N. RANEY

Each summer, the National 4-H Foundation sponsors a National Citizenship Short-course and Heritage Tour for senior 4-H'ers from around the nation. This two-week program is designed to supplement the citizenship educational and leadership development training that teenage 4-H'ers receive through their homes, schools, churches and other organizations.

Conducted at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Maryland, the short course is supplemented by several tours in Washington, D.C. It's an excellent learning experience that offers 4-H'ers:

- the chance to realize their potential as effective participants in the democratic system of government.
- the opportunity to develop a better understanding and appreciation of their American Heritage.
- the understanding of federal government and their relation to it.
- the leadership training to help implement newly realized abilities, responsibilities and programs back home.

Citizenship topics relating to the individual's concept and responsibilities of citizenship are covered in assemblies and opportunity sessions at the center. National 4-H Foundation personnel, summer staff, and guest speakers provide a broad spectrum of resources for each week's program. The nation's capital, the many branches of government and memorials to great Americans enhance the daily citizenship learning experience.

This summer, the short-course is offered from June 19 through July 3 and only 80 Texas 4-H'ers will be participating. Therefore, applications must be in to the State 4-H Office no later than Feb. 1, 1984—the applicants are numbered as they arrive so it's on a "first come, first served" basis. Both senior 4-H members and leaders may attend. The cost of the trip is approximately $760 (excluding personal expenses) and is paid in installments.

Contact the Deaf Smith County Extension office if interested in participating in this year's citizenship short-course and heritage tour.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Gary Stevens, Community Relations Manager

What will and won't change

With the separation — or "divestiture" — of AT&T now less than a month away, I'd like to use this column to review what will and won't change about your Southwestern Bell Telephone service come January.

Actually, the biggest change for many customers will simply be who will provide which services. The way you use your telephone won't change at all.

However, since customers no longer will be able to take care of all their telecommunications needs from Southwestern Bell Telephone, it's important to know where to go for a particular need.

With that in mind, here's a breakdown on how divestiture will (and won't) affect you:

Local service

Southwestern Bell Telephone will continue to provide local service after it is separated from AT&T. To start, stop, change or move local service, you will do the same as you now do — call your Southwestern Bell Telephone business office.

Long distance service

Beginning January 1, Southwestern Bell Telephone will also provide long distance service — but only within your surrounding area. Calls outside this area will be handled by other long distance companies, including AT&T.

Telephone sets

Between now and the first of the year, you have the option of buying single line and one-party telephones in your home that you now lease from Southwestern Bell Telephone. If you decide to continue leasing your telephone sets, ownership of this equipment will be transferred to AT&T January 1. Of course, you'll still have the option of purchasing new telephone equipment from a variety of suppliers. In fact, Southwestern Bell Corporation has formed a subsidiary, Southwestern Bell Telecom, which will market telecommunications equipment for multi-line business customers beginning next year. The company also is considering entering the single-line business and residence telephone markets.

Repairs

If you continue to lease the telephone(s) now in your home, repair of those sets will be performed by AT&T. Telephones purchased from Southwestern Bell Telephone before the end of this year also will be serviced by AT&T beginning in January, but you'll be charged for those repairs if your set is out of warranty.

Repair of telephone lines will still be handled by Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Billing

At divestiture, you'll continue to receive one monthly bill for all services you presently receive. This bill — to be produced by Southwestern Bell Telephone — will list charges separately according to the type of service received and who will provide that service. Since Southwestern Bell Telephone will act as a billing agent for AT&T, the total amount due on your bill will continue to be payable to Southwestern Bell Telephone.

We want you to know

If you have other questions about divestiture, feel free to contact me at the address below. Or, call Southwestern Bell's toll-free number for divestiture information — 1 800 555-5000 — anytime between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

At Southwestern Bell Telephone, we believe the more you know about what will and won't change with divestiture, the easier this transition will be for you.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Fisher

Whipping up a memory

DEAR POLLY — My mother used to make an imitation whipped cream from canned evaporated milk, but I can't remember how she did it. Do you know? — CAROL

DEAR CAROL — Evaporated milk will indeed whip like cream. Just whip the chilled milk as you would heavy cream. It helps to chill the bowl and beaters first. To perk up the flavor, you may add one-half teaspoon of lemon juice to each half cup of evaporated milk, a dash of vanilla extract and sugar or artificial sweetening to taste. The evaporated milk will approximately triple in volume when whipped.

Some cooks add a tablespoon of frozen apple juice concentrate to the evaporated milk instead of sugar or sweetening. Gives a good, sweet flavor and it's better for you. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Use a turkey baster to fill your steam iron. Many of them even have ounce measurements on them so you can be sure not to overfill the iron. — DEBBIE

DEAR POLLY — Here's a neat trick for storing pies for the freezer. Freeze the baked or unbaked pies first, then package individually in freezer wrap. Stack the pies in a five-gallon plastic bucket. Cut four long slots up the sides of the bucket first. These should be large enough for your fingers to reach in and lift out a pie when you need one. — ARVILLA

DEAR POLLY — When rolling out homemade noodles, I tape waxed paper to the counter or tabletop, then roll the noodles out on that. The tape holds the paper in place. When I'm finished, I can just throw away the paper with no mess to clean up. — NORMA

New officers installed at Christmas luncheon

Irene McKinster installed new officers of the Cultural Extension Homemakers Club Friday at the club's annual Christmas luncheon. The group met at the Flame Room.

Ms. McKinster used the bee hive as her theme of challenge, stating that the president was the queen bee and suggesting that she should have a group of busy-as-bee helpers. She encouraged each officer to be prepared for each meeting.

During a short business meeting conducted by President Bertha Dettmann, plans were made to make tablecloths for the King's Manor Easter dinner tables. It was announced that the club will meet in the home of Mary Lou Spinhirne on Jan. 9.

Gifts were exchanged among the members while a Christmas story was read by Nell Pope. The president presented gifts to this year's officers and committee chairmen.

Jacklyn Nikkel was welcomed as a new member. Guests at the luncheon were Ms. McKinster, Susan Raney, Louise Walker, Linda Caudle, Myra Mae Lowe, a former member and Ruth Gandy's mother.

Also, Tom Hargrave, John Spinhirne, Johnie Townsend, John Hunter, Jeremy Christine and Crystal Conaway, and Jim Gandy.

Members attending were Ruth Gandy, Tillie Scott, Ms. Pope, Vernis Parsons, Fannie Townsend, Winnie Wiseman, Mildred Lewis, Elizabeth Conaway, Jewell Hargrave, Jewell Rogers, Ms. Spinhirne, and Ms. Dettmann.

Bits of teak wood more than 2,000 years old have been found in Indian caves.

Officers Installed

Nell Pope, vice-president; Vernis Parsons, secretary; Mildred Lewis, treasurer; Jewell Hargrave, council delegate; and Fannie Townsend, reporter.

South of the Border

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A study by opposition party congressmen says the population explosion in the Mexico City area has deteriorated the quality of life to the point that emergency measures are needed.

Unemployment, pollution and services deteriorated as the metropolitan area expanded from 272 to 440 square miles (680 to 1,100 sq kms) in the past 10 years "in an unprecedented devastation of forests, land and water," the study by all opposition parties in Congress said.

"Only 29 percent of the population in this area is employed in industry; 64 percent is unemployed or underemployed; the rest has no possibility for progress," the congressmen said.

Air contamination — already considered dangerously high by U.S. standards — is increasing by 7.5 percent a year, the study says. It says the urban area's 17 million inhabitants generate 11,400 tons of solid waste every day and 36 percent of it is not collected, remaining in the open.

Sewerage systems serve 70 percent of the population, it says. The politicians made the study in connection with an analysis of 1982 public spending.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ten South Korean engineers are in Mexico for training in installation of rural telephone lines.

Jesus Silva, manager of Teleindustria Ericsson's training center, said the team will study installation, operation and maintenance of digital telephone centers. Mexican engineers trained at Ericsson's headquarters in Sweden will teach the courses in English.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A group of Arizona bankers and businessmen headed by Gov. Bruce E. Babbitt is meeting with Mexican officials this week to promote trade and cultural exchanges.

Babbitt said "our interest on both sides of the border is economic development, principally questions of development of infrastructure, of water systems, highways, airports and other questions of migration policy," the newspaper Excelsior reported.

Speaking after the mission arrived on Sunday, Babbitt said he believed Mexico was recovering from its economic crisis and that economic activity would improve "although it is a difficult process."

The mission was expected to meet with President Miguel de la Madrid and Mexico City mayor Ramon Aguirre Velazquez on Monday.

TESCO granted $72 million increase

AUSTIN (AP) — The Public Utility Commission's first round of major rate cases produced smaller-than-requested hikes for two companies and continued debate on how to charge customers for the cost of fuel used to produce electricity.

The three commissioners, appointed by Gov. Mark White when the previous commissioners quit under fire from the governor, on Monday gave Texas Electric Service Co. an increase of about $72 million.

To TESCO's 592,000 customers in West, Central and North Texas, it will mean an increase in their bills of about 7 percent in February. TESCO wanted $195 million, and company Vice President Ed Watson said an appeal probably would be filed.

West Texas Utilities, which serves 164,000 residents in the northern, western and central portions of the state, wanted $26.5 million more, but was granted about $14 million. That increase will mean about 5 percent more on customers' bills.

The TESCO hike includes only a part — perhaps a small part — of the overall increase faced by the companies' customers. TESCO also is looking for $695 million to cover 1984 fuel costs.

The company is one of the three Texas Utilities firms (Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light are the others) that requested $1.96 billion for 1984 fuel.

PUC Hearing Examiner Philip Holder recommended granting $1.9 billion, but the commission voted 3-0 Monday to order Holder to take another look at the case.

The vote came after Texas Municipal League lawyer Grace Casstevens complained the system used by Holder encourages careless spending by utility companies because it lets the companies guess how much they'll need.

For more than a year, the commission has been working on a system to replace the fuel adjustment clause that had allowed electric companies to automatically pass fuel costs to consumers.

Mrs. Casstevens said Monday that the system allowing projections of fuel costs is "even worse" than the old, automatic pass-through system.

"Now the companies have an incentive to spend more," she told the commission.

PUC staff lawyer Marianne Carroll agreed, saying, "The incentive is to overestimate the costs so they will be recovered through rates, and then to spend every dime of that."

PUC Chairman Al Erwin told Holder to calculate the fuel costs based on a "historic test year" rather than projections. Erwin said the test year data could be tempered by calculations for "known and reasonably predictable changes," such as the end of a fuel contract.

Texas Utilities attorney Robert Woodruff said the recalculation would reduce the fuel projection by $32 million.

The debate over a "fuel rule" has been on since White made the automatic fuel adjustment clause a top issue in his 1982 campaign. The 1983 Legislature banned the automatic pass-through.

The commission discussed a new rule for over a year, prompting Commissioner Peggy Rosson to ask Monday, "Is this our 'We really, really mean it' fuel discussion?"

A chum says his fussy boss could be kept busy in California trying to find out who's responsible for the San Andreas fault.

'Cook and Peary: Race' should be exciting, but isn't

NEW YORK (AP) — Any movie about exploration of the frozen unknown involving two intensely competitive men ought to be exciting. "Cook and Peary: Race to the Pole" isn't.

In fact, the most thrilling thing about "Cook and Peary," tonight on CBS, wasn't in the script. Richard Chamberlain, who plays Dr. Frederick A. Cook, and six members of the film crew were rescued by helicopter from an ice floe off the coast of Greenland when the frozen mass began to break apart.

Nothing that hair-raising happens in "Cook and Peary."

The two-hour "ITT Theater" production is marginally successful as a study of two men, each driven to become the first human to reach the North Pole: what is not clear is why.

Much of the film was shot on location in Canada's Northwest Territories, above the Arctic Circle.

Though the debate rages today over whether Cook, or Adm. Robert E. Peary, was the first to plant the American flag at the top of the world — indeed, there is some question whether either man actually reached the pole — it appears from "Cook and Peary" that the Brooklyn physician, and not the naval officer, won the race.

Cook, in fact, is the sympathetic character: an honest, dedicated family man convinced that the public will accept his claim without corroborating data. Peary, played by Rod Steiger, is portrayed as mean and unprincipled.

Distinguishing between the two men in such a clear-cut way might be unfair. Members of the Dr. Frederick A. Cook Society of New York State maintain the explorer was the victim of a "witch hunt," but Peary's grandson, Edward P. Stafford, says — admittedly on the basis of second-hand information — that the film mistreats his ancestor.

"It's a character defamation of a great and recognized man," said Stafford, himself a retired naval officer.

Neither man, by at least one well-researched account, was happy as a child, and that probably contributed to the kind of burning desire that only achievement and renown would satisfy. "Cook and Peary" doesn't get into motivation, beyond the most immediate. For the record, Cook claimed to have reached the "The Big Nail" on April 21, 1906. It took him a full year to get back to Greenland, and news of his achievement reached New York Sept. 1, 1909. Peary said he arrived at the Pole April 6, 1909, and his famous cable — "Stars and Stripes nailed to Pole!" — was received in the States on Sept. 5.

Cook left his instruments and the notes made during his expedition in Greenland and, unhappily for him, they never were recovered. Without them, he was unable to prove his claim. Peary, meantime, convinced the world, notably the National Geographic Society and, later, Congress, that he had discovered the North Pole.

A written message at the end of the film says that Cook was hounded for the rest of his life, and ultimately spent time in prison, but was pardoned, shortly before his death in 1940, by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The script does not say that Cook's imprisonment had nothing to do with Peary, or the North Pole, but was for mail fraud in connection with a stock promotion.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 13, the 347th day of 1983. There are 18 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Dec. 13, 1944, a Japanese suicide plane crashed into the U.S. cruiser Nashville, killing 138 crewmen.

On this date:

In 1918, Woodrow Wilson arrived in France, becoming the first sitting U.S. president to visit a European country.

In 1927, violinist Yehudi Menuhin made his New York debut at age 10.

Ten years ago: Thousands of truck drivers stayed home or pulled off the road to protest the effects of the fuel shortage.

One year ago: The Senate broke a conservative filibuster aimed at preventing consideration of a bill to increase the federal tax on gasoline.

Today's birthdays: Secretary of State George Shultz is 63 years old. Actor Dick Van Dyke is 58. Singer John Davidson is 42.

Thought for today: "The best way to cheer yourself up is to try to cheer someone else up." — Mark Twain, American writer (1835-1910).

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have bad breath and it's ruining my social life. I brush my teeth three to four times a day. I also use baking soda. Since it is such a good deodorizing product, I thought it might help. I try to avoid foods that will contribute to bad breath. I understand that stomach acids can be a factor.

Is there anything I could drink to stabilize this? Will drinking lots of water help? I don't usually buy mouthwash, since it only works temporarily.

I'd appreciate any answers at this point. I'm afraid I'm going to lose my friends and fiancée.

DEAR READER — I hope you have seen your dentist. Even outstanding efforts such as yours will not always eliminate some dental problems that cause bad breath. Diseased areas of the gums often need special cleaning and treatment. And you should see an ear, nose and throat specialist. Disorders in that area sometimes cause bad breath.

You also may be having problems in your upper digestive tract, stomach or esophagus.

Beyond that, the health profession has a difficult time coping with most cases of bad breath. Causes are not easily determined; therefore, cures are hard to find.

I was taught that the colon is not a cause for bad breath, and it is commonly taught that constipation or irregularity are not causes for bad breath. In fact, I cite this point in The Health Letter 9-4, Halitosis: The Breath Problem And What To Do About It, which I am sending you. But I suspect the colon is a much more frequent cause of bad breath than has been recognized. That doesn't necessarily mean constipation causes it.

How can the colon cause bad breath? Well, contrary to popular misconception, a lot of things are absorbed from the colon directly into the bloodstream. After all, doctors give medicines as suppositories. Just how active the colon really is, is just becoming appreciated.

Carbohydrates, such as lactose in milk, that are not digested are fermented in the colon. The products, hydrogen and carbon dioxide are absorbed into the bloodstream. The milk intolerance can be detected by breath analysis, measuring the excess hydrogen.

Now it also is known that short-chain fatty acids are absorbed from the colon. These may be manufactured by bacteria that live in the colon. That has many ramifications, including an unexpected source of calories that can be absorbed into the body. All of this simply points to the fact that not only hydrogen and fatty acids, but probably malodorous gases produced in the colon can be absorbed into the bloodstream.

The gas then is carried by the circulation to the lungs and exhaled, producing the same odor it produced in the colon. I hope that as these fundamentals are recognized, measures to control malodorous gases and other chemical disturbances that cause bad breath will be developed.

Meanwhile, follow the guidelines I have suggested for control of bad breath in The Health Letter. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You might try an elimination diet to identify any other foods that contribute to your problem. Intolerance to certain foods may be important in some people.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Every candidate needs a viable issue he or she can develop to stand out among the fad political issues which bloom prior to elections or legislative sessions, and Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock last week pinpointed one which may become a winner.

Pointing out that Texas produces 30 times more industrial hazardous wastes than it produces cotton, Bullock said the Lone Star State is "fouling its nest" and needs to crack down on waste disposal practices.

One of the first things Texans need to do is to raise the tax on the producers of hazardous wastes, to pay for cleaning up the mess already made and to deter out-of-state producers from shipping more of their wastes to Texas.

At $30 a ton, the Texas permit fee to dispose of hazardous wastes is the lowest in the nation. The typical range across the nation is between $500 and $1,000 a ton, with Tennessee topping the chart at $10,000 a ton.

Since Texas has a considerable number of waste sites, most of them near the Gulf Coast chemical plants, Bullock says, an updated hazardous waste tax could raise up to $50 million per year to clean up the dumps and still be among the lowest in the nation.

Not a Stunt

Bullock, of course, is planning to run for governor in 1986 and he needs good issues for that task. But his serious work on the development and presentation of this issue is not a stunt, and it hints of a departure from what is Bullock's usual style.

Generally regarded by friend and foe alike as one of the most knowledgeable state officials, and generally avoided and unmolested by candidates seeking higher office, Bullock can be cocky and combative with a dash of parody. Lately, the old Bullock has been seen less and less, and a serious, determined Bullock has emerged.

Teacher Pay Raise

Teachers' lobbyists are still pushing for Gov. Mark White to call the Legislature into special session this summer to raise their salaries, but Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby last week predicted the issue is dead until 1985.

Salaries cannot be raised unless legislators raise taxes, and Hobby doesn't consider that likely in an election year.

Veterans Home Loans

Last week the Veterans Land Board announced the sale of $85 million in bonds to provide mortgage financing at less than 10 percent for Texas veterans.

The winning bid was submitted by First Boston Corp. of New York. The sale represents part of a $500 million housing bond package approved by voters last month.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro called the low bid a "great Christmas present for our Texas veterans," and promised the loans will be available before the holiday.

AG Asked to Resign

The state Republican Party called on Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox to resign or step aside until he resolves his guilt or innocence on a commercial bribery charge.

Mattox won't do either, and responded that Republicans are too aligned with his nemesis, Mobil Oil and other big oil companies.

You're getting along in years if you can recall when "today's high" was a weather report rather than an invitation to a drug bust.

Relatives of sunken ship sue owners

HOUSTON (AP) — The father of a Texas man who is among 81 crewmen missing since a U.S. oil drilling ship sank in the South China Sea two months ago says some of the missing workers may be alive in Vietnam.

Douglas Pierce, whose 29-year-old son, John, of Stephenville, was working aboard the Glomar Java Sea, said a U.S. government official told him that at least 10 of the 42 Americans and 11 other crewmen are alive in Vietnam. He declined to identify the official.

But Dick Vermeer, vice president of Global Marine Inc., owner of the sunken ship, said "we don't know that information to be true."

Pierce and the family of another crew member have filed lawsuits totalling $13.5 million against Global Marine, which leased the vessel to Atlantic Richfield Corp.'s Chinese subsidiary. The Glomar Java Sea sank Oct. 25 during a typhoon. None of the 81 crew has been found.

Global Marine has denied responsibility for the sinking.

Pierce, an Austin attorney who once worked for an oil company, has sued Global Marine for $8.5 million in Houston federal court. A similar $5 million lawsuit was filed by Patricia Cates of Midland, wife of crew member Bernard Patrick Cates.

Relatives and officials of Global Marine hope crew members used two hardtop lifeboats to drift westward onto the shores of Vietnam. However, that country has reported it has searched unsuccessfully for survivors.

Pierce said he obtained a death certificate on his son in order to file the lawsuit, but he still hopes his son is alive.

"I hope Global will find it less expensive to continue the search than to discontinue it," he said of his legal action against the company.

Pierce said his son had asked for a transfer from the ocean drilling rig because of communications problems between English-speaking crew members and Chinese crew members.

"Obviously things happen very quickly on a drilling ship and communications are vital," the father said. "For the first time in four years (of offshore work), he was In Hong Kong, a U.S. Marine Board of Investigation reconvened Monday to hear testimony about the sinking. The five-man board is scheduled to hear more testimony on the sinking in Houston next month. afraid."

Global Marine has filed documents in federal court disclaiming responsibility for the accident, saying it did everything possible to make sure the ship was safe.

Imports weaken industries

NEW YORK (AP) — Once-healthy industries around the world have become weakened by a flood of Japanese imports: Television sets, machine tools, automobiles, cameras, semiconductors, consumer electronics.

Is this because of Japanese hard work, skill and shrewdness?

Or is it a consequence of economic totalitarianism, a conspiracy of the Japanese "bureaucratic industrial complex," organized and disciplined by the Ministry of International Trade and Industry?

Marvin Wolf maintains that the remarkable Japanese quest to become "itichiban," or No. 1, is supported least in part by a conspiracy in which unethical and illegal practices are subtly, secretly used.

Wolf, who spent many years in the Far East as an Army officer and civilian, has produced his thesis in a book, "The Japanese Conspiracy," subtitled: "The Plot to Dominate Industry World Wide — and How to Deal With It."

It is bound to offend the Japanese, and it will almost certainly anger many Americans, among them those who have lost jobs because their companies were weakened while American government officials protested — feebly, if at all.

This is how Wolf describes the attack on American and European machine tool industries, basic to almost all manufacturers and a key element in a nation's production efficiency or productivity.

In 1976, he says, the Japanese were a minor factor in the numerically controlled — which is to say computer controlled — machine tool market, holding less than a 4 percent share in both European and American markets.

But, having acquired foreign technology through, among other methods, the copying of American technology, they were ready to assault the market for numerically controlled (NC) machine tools.

As U.S. and European makers cut output, the Japanese stepped up production with "an enormous amount of new funds supplied from some unknown outside source." As the recession ended Japanese machine tools were unloaded cheaply at discounts of up to $100,000 on items that rarely cost more than $400,000.

By the end of 1981, the campaign had borne fruit: "Japanese makers of NC machine centers, the leading component of the machine tool market, had taken over a 50 percent share of the American market."

While the practice of copying might have relieved the Japanese of research and development expenses, their ability to undersell domestic manufacturers had to be accounted for by something else.

That was subsidies, arranged by the Ministry of International Trade and Industry, writes Wolf. He maintains it funneled almost a billion dollars a year to Japanese machine tool makers.

That's big money, hard to hide. MITI found a way, says Wolf, by using off-budget funds — funds that never appear in official accountings. In this case, he says, they siphoned a 25 percent share of the gross from cycling races.

MITI weeded out the least competitive companies, and encouraged mergers for several years, Wolf writes, by virtually exempting merging companies from taxes.

COUNTRY LIVING TOUR OF EUROPE

Planned especially for Deaf Smith County residents.

March 5-16, 1984

Hosted by: Juston and Ruth McBride

County Extension Agent — Retired / Texas A & M University

Holland, Germany, Switzerland, France and Belgium will be visited just when things are greening up and leaving out. The great International Livestock and Machinery Show will be in progress while we're in Paris. Interesting and educational farm visits are scheduled in Holland, Germany and Switzerland.

Use the coupon below to send for your detailed itinerary.

How different is Country Living in Europe as compared to the South? Come with us and see! We'll share unforgettable experiences with home folks...as we visit major tourist attractions as well as rural areas and farm villages rarely seen by tourists.

The professional, English speaking European Tour Director who will be with us has been selected for his knowledge of European agriculture as well as European history, customs, language, currency and geography. His job is to answer our questions, ease us past language barriers and currency problems, handle hotel accommodations, oversee our luggage and keep us on schedule. He'll also provide commentary on points of interest as we travel along. Part educator, part entertainer, and a full-time organizer, our tour director is at our service 24 hours a day.

Also with us will be a skilled driver who will thoroughly check and clean our deluxe motor coach, inside and out, at the end of each day. With these two professionals castle after another will slip into view! Winding roads will take us through the evergreen hills of the fabled Black Forest.

The German farm we'll visit is in an area of ancient, picture-postcard villages, some of which are brooded over by fortress-like castles. The countryside here is divided into a crazy quilt patchwork of small fields planted in grain and vegetables.

In Switzerland, we'll board a local train that chugs through high mountain passes and stops at colorful alpine villages.

We'll visit a friendly, English-speaking Swiss farm family.

Interlaken is situated on a neck of land between two beautiful Alpine lakes. We'll have a splendid view of the mighty Jungfrau, towering 11,000 feet above the town. The majestic Swiss Alps will surround us when we visit a dairy farm in the Simmental Valley, where Simmental cattle originated.

We'll explore old Amsterdam from a glass-topped canal boat.

working for us full time, we can relax and enjoy our tour to the fullest!

We'll visit a farm below sea level that was underwater not many years ago. Collect seashells? Look between the crop rows! An audio-visual presentation will explain how the Dutch push back the sea to create farmland.

In Germany, we'll cruise the most scenic part of the Rhine River. Here, well-tended vineyards cling to hillsides so steep they defy climbing, much less cultivation. And, as we round bends in the river, one medieval We'll cruise past castles on the Rhine... and one in the Rhine!

In France, we'll pass through premier wine country. In Paris we'll see the Eiffel Tower, Arch of Triumph, Champs Elysees, Louvre, Cathedral of Notre Dame plus the International Livestock and Machinery Show, a magnet for exhibitors and visitors the world over.

A walking tour will acquaint us with the medieval architecture of Brussels.

The price of this carefully planned trip is only $1,897 from Dallas. That's much less than you or I would pay for this trip if we could duplicate it on our own. When you consider that first-class hotels, most meals, farm visits and a deluxe touring coach are included in this low price, it's a great travel value!

The above is only a sampling of this deluxe, 13-day tour of 5 countries. For a detailed itinerary, please mail the coupon.
