SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

Attending the Methodist Youth Assembly this week at McMurray College in Abilene are Joan Moore, Retha Jo Godfrey, Colleen Brown, Betty Hamilton, Virginia Sigle, Marilyn Lewis, and Mrs. Caudie Ola Brown.

Four students of this area received degrees from Texas A and M college, College Station, on June 1. Included in the group are Mark Roger Corbett, Lloyd H. Manjeot, and J. L. McFarling Jr., business, Hereford, and Jack F. Kirk, doctor, of veterinary medicine, Dimmitt.

Dale Dickson, 404 Schley, found a boy's water-repellent quilt-lined jacket with a sheepskin collar Tuesday, across the street east of Jigg's Service station. The owner may claim the jacket at the Brand office.

Wayne Edwards came home Friday from Dallas, where he underwent major surgery about three weeks ago at Baylor hospital.

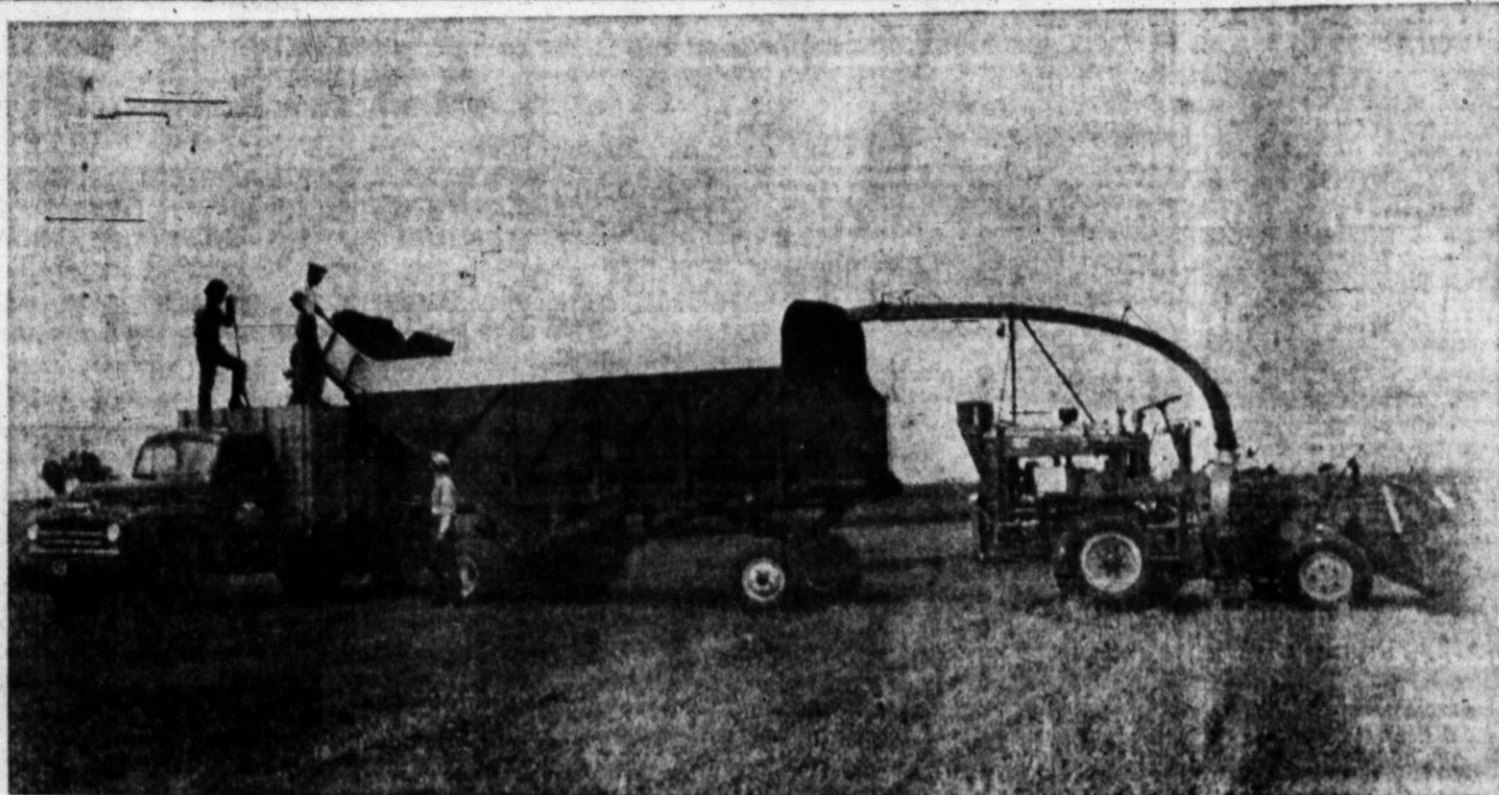

Mrs. H. E. Danforth of Hereford is winner of one of the three sewing machines as first prize in the "unscrambling" contest which was conducted through advertisements. Mrs. Danforth clipped the Standard Store ad from The Brand and entered the event.

A meeting of the Hereford Riders has been called by the board of directors for tonight at the city hall beginning at 8 o'clock. Plans for a rodeo or other activity will be discussed. The local club has been invited to participate in parades at Littlefield, June 14, and Lubbock, June 20. The group will decide at the meeting tonight whether or not they will go to both towns.

Members of the local post who are attending the 5th division convention of the American Legion in Plainview this week are: Arch Dobbins, Ralph Smith, Cecil Wilkins, Cecil Parker, and Monroe Parker. The annual convention is to be held Saturday and Sunday, June 9 and 10.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT—One of the five children "eating cherries through the fence" lives at the L. O. Gore place where the cherry trees are growing. The other five were lured to the place by the bright red fruit which is just at the "sour" stage—children love, but which would make adults sick. Water Erosion Now Number 1 Problem

Soil conservation emphasis in Deaf Smith county has suddenly shifted from the problem of wind erosion or blowing to that of water erosion, according to H. C. Pevehouse, work unit conservationist for the Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion District.

On May 15, the Soil Conservation Service technicians reported that approximately 15,000 acres of land in the district were being damaged by slight to moderate wind removals and accumulations. The problem and the emphasis changed overnight when the three-day rainstorm of May 15, 16, and 17 dumped from 5 to 11 inches of rain in various sections of the district.

The heaviest streak seemed to be from around the Bootleg-Garcia section northwest toward Ford school. Rainfall in this area ran from 6 or 7 inches up to as much as 11 inches in the two days and three nights.

Light to moderate gullying and sheet erosion (sometimes called silt) is widely prevalent as a result of the heavy rains. Most of this occurred on cultivated land with slopes of one per cent or greater.

Pevehouse said the very same practices which help in the prevention of wind erosion also aid in the combating of water erosion. Heavy vegetative cover, beginning with good native grass as the best, protects the soil from blowing and also retards water run-off. Any kind of growing stubbles left on or near the surface all aid in the fight against both blowing and washing of the soil.

Mechanical structures, or the permanent soil conservation practices, such as contour ridge lines, terraces, diversions, dams, dikes, ridges, spreaders, etc. not only aid in the prevention of washing and gullying but also conserve moisture on crop lands which in turn assures the growth of crops with their resulting heavy stalks and stubbles to leave on the ground.

In the recent heavy rains, many terraces in the district were damaged because the watershed above them (perhaps on another person's farm) was not adequately protected. Others were damaged because of the scarcity of good cover or stubbles. Of course, it must be recognized Pevehouse said, that the May rain storm was a "once-in-fifty-years" storm. And, it is much more economical to build these permanent structures to withstand the 20-30 year frequency rains AND repair the damage when we get these extra heavy rain storms.

Most all farmers in this District who had terraces damaged recently are planning up on repairing the breaks as soon as possible.

GUSEMAN ATTENDS BEEF PARLEY AT WHITE HOUSE

Cecil T. Guseman, local cattleman, and F. J. "Mike" Flynn, Kansas City feeder and commission man well-known in Hereford, were among representatives of the cattle industry meeting in the White House with President Truman Tuesday on meat price control problems.

The meeting with the chief executive lasted for nearly an hour and a half. A daily press report of the top-level conference said Mr. Truman listened attentively to the problems of the cattleman for 45 minutes and told his top economic stabilization officials to give full attention to what the cattleman had to say.

First Alfalfa Cut Hits Good Market

With the first good cutting of the approximate 3000 acres of alfalfa in Deaf Smith county now underway, farmers are hitting a good market both for baled alfalfa and dehydrated. Baled alfalfa is currently selling for $25 to $35 per ton, according to unofficial reports, while dehydrated alfalfa is bringing $15 per ton with the farmer paying no harvesting expense.

Usually the first cutting of alfalfa is about May 1 to 10, but because of the cool weather this spring and greenbug damage, the majority of the farmers are just now cutting their first crop, which is, reported good -- the only difficulty now being finding the right time to cut the crop so that it will not be damaged by rain.

At the very first of the season when alfalfa hay was very scarce, it was selling from $45 to $50 per ton with about the only alfalfa available being that which was stored.

The alfalfa dehydration plant, leased this year from George Heard by the National Alfalfa Company, is paying $15 per ton dehydrated alfalfa. Ordinarily the price of dehydrated alfalfa advances during the season, according to Dean Bishop, manager of the local plant, who said the opening price was unusually high this year due to the demand. The company cuts, loads and hauls the alfalfa to the plant; therefore the farmer doesn't pay any harvesting expense.

The local plant opened on May 27 and will run 24 hours a day when weather conditions permit.

Bishop said many farmers who had planned to bale their first cutting of alfalfa, are selling it to the plant because of the chance of rain falling while the hay is on the ground.

Harvesting equipment used here this year for the first time cuts and chops the alfalfa, blows it into a trailer which conveys it onto a truck for hauling to the plant where the crop is quick dried, ground into meal, and sacked, retaining a large amount of its Vitamin A, which is so valuable in poultry and other feeds.

In describing the alfalfa crop, George Heard stressed as its greatest advantage, the building up of the soil, explaining that other legumes do not yield the cash income which is gained from planting alfalfa. Heard cuts his alfalfa once a month through the summer, ordinarily beginning in May. Some years he harvests six cuttings. Many farmers favor the crop because of its early cash income in the spring and the continued monthly income until frost. Heard points out that alfalfa is never a complete failure, although it does not bring in huge sums. He estimated the crop yields from $30 to $75 per acre, depending on the care, but the greatest profit from the crop comes from its soil-building factors. Heard said.

Fields of alfalfa over the area vary in size from a few acres, used for hog pasture, to 220 acres, thus making it extremely hard to estimate the local acreage and the value of the local crop to the area. It is equally hard to estimate the extent of the market, which includes the dehydration plant, truckers, and wholesalers in addition to the large amount of hay used by individual farmers for feed.

Heard said he knows of some alfalfa fields here that are 12 and 13 years old and still in fairly good condition, but he prefers to plow up his alfalfa every three to five years in order to build up the soil. Alfalfa, because of its value to the soil, pays off years after it is plowed up, Heard stated.

Among the farmers raising large acreage of alfalfa are C. C. Stewart of Dawn, 120 acres; Gilbert, 220 acres; Floyd McGee, 175, and Heard 100 acres.

The class will be conducted in the Junior High school building where all Red Cross classes are to be located during the summer.

Test Plot on Dodson Farm For Castor Bean

A test plot to check the growing qualities of five different varieties of castor beans will be planted as soon as possible on the Virgil Dodson farm northwest of Hereford, County Agent Hugh Clearman said this week.

Results from the test plot will aid local producers in the future in selecting seed.

Planting of the test plot has been delayed for about three weeks due to heavy rains

Clearman said. The outcome of the test will be of interest to the producers here and to the Baker Castor Oil Co. and D. L. Van Horn, of the Department of Agronomy at Oklahoma A & M, donor of the seed used in the test plot.

Clearman said enough has been received from Van Horn for four applications, each one four 30-foot rows.

Varieties to be tested are: Baker No. 1; Cimarron; Baker No. 34; Number 74; and Baker No. 7.

Dodson volunteered to conduct the test on his farm, Clearman said. Dodson has been active in promoting interest in planting castor beans here in this initial year.

Freshe Agrees To Pay Qualls Youth $1500

The Freshe Bread company of Amarillo agreed in district court on June 2 to pay $1500 in damages to Silas Wayne Qualls Jr. for all injuries sustained by the youth in a car-truck collision in Hereford February 1, 1951.

At the time of the collision, the youth was riding in the Qualls auto with his mother when struck by a Freshe Bread truck driven by W. D. Jones, an employee of the firm, at the corner of Avenue E and union avenue.

Silas Wayne Qualls Sr. filed the suit in behalf of his minor son, James W. Witherpoon was attorney for the plaintiff.

Second OPS Clinic Scheduled Tuesday

Another OPS price clinic will be held in the Jim Hill hotel Tuesday June 11, from 1 until 5 p. m. Tom McFarland, secretary-manager of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce announced, Fidel Eggel will be in charge.

The clinic will be held every Tuesday until the new OPS regulations are clear to local businessmen.

American Legion Registers Team; Seeks Sponsor

Although the Junior American Legion baseball team is still without a sponsor, players are being registered to meet the June 10 deadline, according to Ben Sheppard, secretary of the local post. Anyone between the ages 14 to 18 who is interested in playing baseball should contact George Loerwald or Wendell Burdine this week.

Sheppard stressed the importance of Junior baseball, saying that about 87% of big league players started in Junior or American Legion teams. Two boys who formerly played for the Hereford team have already had an interview with a scout representing the St. Louis Cardinals. Those interested in sponsoring the team may contact Sheppard at the Whiteface Barber shop.

32 Scouts Leaving For Summer Camp

Approximately 32 Hereford Boy Scouts--members of Troops 50, 51 and 52 -- will leave Hereford Sunday afternoon at 2:30 for a week of camping activity at Camp Don Herrington, eight miles northwest of Canyon.

Gerald Wilson will accompany the Scouts as Scoutmaster. He will be assisted by Larry Slaughter, Lanny Wilkins, and Donald Zimmerman, who will act as senior patrol leaders.

At the camp, there will be about 10 adult leaders who will act as instructors in different handicrafts, swimming, and hiking. During the week, the Explorer Post members attending will take a hike and an overnight camp to Palo Duro Canyon.

Tommy Woodford, who earned the rank of Eagle Scout here recently, will act as one of the camp leaders at Don Herrington during the next two weeks.

The youths received their physical examination at the Hereford Clinic Wednesday and are scheduled to depart Sunday from the Scout hut for Don Herrington.

Bicycle Safety Movie Changed To Saturday

The date for showing the bicycle safety film has been changed from Friday, June 8 to Saturday, June 9 according to Bob Wear, president of the Hereford Safety Council.

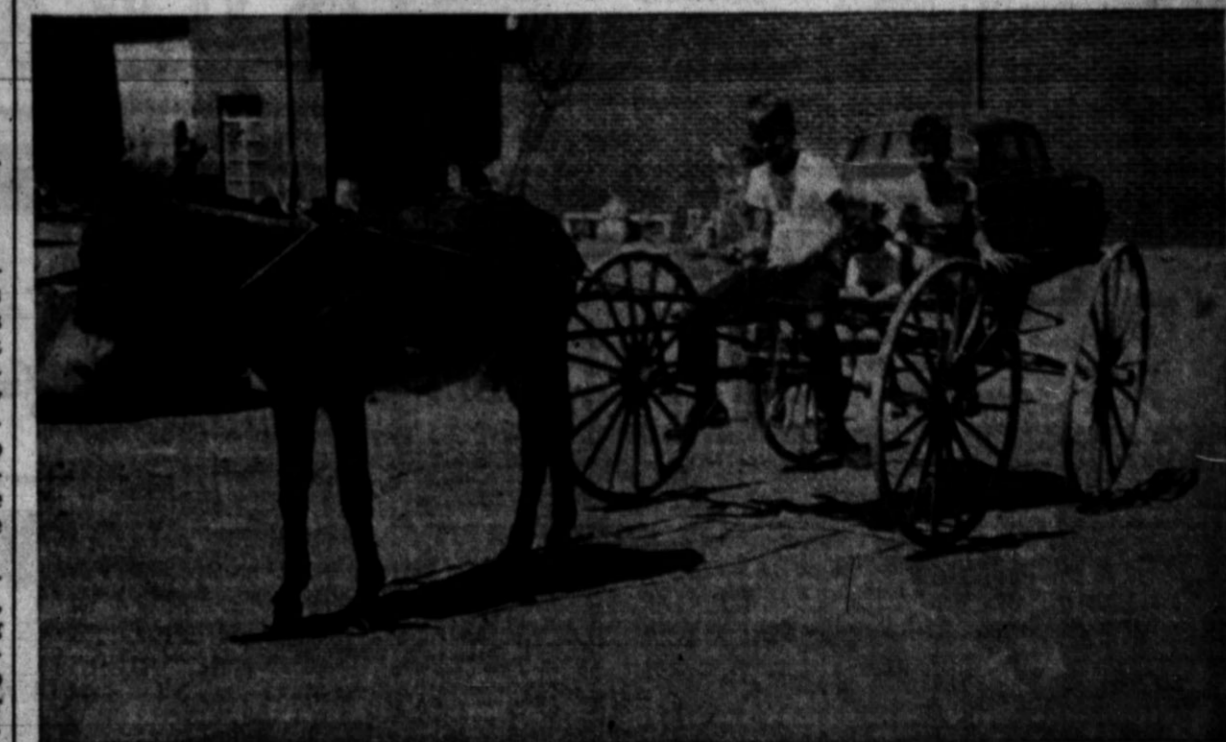

This change has been made because J. C. Reese, chairman of the meeting, is out of town on official business and will not return until Friday night.

As previously announced, the meeting will be in the county court room at 10 A. M. The Central and Shirley Bicycle Clubs are invited to be present. The program is also open to all other boys and girls of Hereford who may be interested in bicycle safety.

There will be refreshments and a comedy film in addition to the film "You and Your Bicycle."

IT ISN'T FALL, but the asters at the H. B. Whittington home are blooming nearly as profusely as if it were. Reece Whittington, age 17, shown above, has raised flowers as a hobby three or four years. Last fall, Reece planted aster seed in a bed on the west side of the Whittington home. All spring the flowers have been blooming despite the fact asters ordinarily bloom in the fall.—Brand Staff Photo.

JIMMY SEARS, 13, and his brother Wheeler, have been seen lately driving a good-looking burro around town. The boys say he was named "Geronimo" because of his hatred for white boys. Having obtained the animal from Woodrow Ireland some three weeks ago, the boys hooked him up to an old rig that had been around the place for about a year. The burro is also rideable according to the two brothers.—Brand Staff Photo.

Joe even hazarded a guess as to where the fire was. He placed it around Raton, N. M. Actually, we found out later that there was a forest fire near Ruidosa, N. M. Pretty good prediction, Joe.

Wallick, Overhuls Thrill Mat Fans

George Overhuls, popular young Amarillo grappler, and Leo Wallick, Detroit strongman, tangled in a match of muscle at the Bull barn Saturday night, much to the delight of local wrestling fans.

The match was a thriller until Wallick got rough and was waved out of the ring by Referee Jack Carter.

Overhuls and Wallick battled for 32 minutes in their main event bout before the chunky former Sandie griddler pinned Wallick with a body press following a full nelson and an airplane spin.

Spectators enjoyed the bout as Overhuls and Wallick forced each other by sheer brute strength into and out of hold after hold. Overhuls, a 200-pounder, showed local fans he had plenty of speed as he kept Wallick hustling all night.

After Overhuls took the first fall, Wallick was disqualified following four minutes of rough and tough action including knocking Referee Jack Carter to the floor with straight-arm blows. Wallick unloosed his fury on Overhuls and had him reeling when Carter came between them and awarded the bout to Overhuls.

Overhuls, a popular boy with the fans, returned to Hereford after a long absence.

In the first bout of the evening, also a best two-out-of-three fall affair for a one-hour time limit, Rolando Vera and Balk Estes wrestled to a draw.

Estes, took the first fall over the speedy Vera with a one-legged Japanese crab in 22

LEAGUE MEMBERS: C & R Cleaners, Hereford Hardware, Knights of Columbus, Summerfield, Magnolia Petroleum, and Dawn. FIRST GAMES START AT 7:30 P.M.

In the first tilt, Hereford Hardware was out hit 12-7, but got their hits when the men were on the bags and the chips were down. The winners held off a last-inning rally by the losers to take their first loop victory.

The second game was wild from the word go. The KC's got their 14 markers on 14 hits, but the winners had only three safeties to pull 16 runs and the game out of the fire. They counted on 12 KC miscues to help them do the job. Summerfield was guilty of nine bobbles themselves.

In league action tonight, Magnolia meets Dawn in the twilight affair starting at 7:30 p. m. and C&R Cleaners meets Summerfield in the nightcap.

"Some day I'm going to own a Roadmaster"

ONE thing that interests us mightily is the fact that so many people are stepping up, when they buy automobiles. We've been looking at surveys, and it seems that just about everyone wants a better car than the one he's now driving. So we know how you feel, and we'd like to help you make your dreams come true. We'd like you to discover how fine a fine car can be. We'd like you to stretch out in the room of a ROADMASTER—feel the luxury of its double-depth cushions—stroke the fine texture of its fabrics. We'd like you to know the proud levelness of its ride—and its gentle obedience to your hand on the wheel.

We'd like to show you the many extras this custom-built Buick provides—at no extra charge when we come to make out a bill of sale. But above all, we'd like you to experience two thrills found exclusively in ROADMASTERS. One is the smooth might of its Fireball Engine. The other is the supreme simplicity of Dynaflo Drive, which is, incidentally, one of the many features included in the price. We try to hold down our enthusiasm in talking about this masterful beauty. We might claim—you'll find more room—more comfort—more luxury—a smoother ride—more conveniences—more thrill in a ROADMASTER than in any other car in the fine-car field. But why spoil the thrill of discovery? Come find out for yourself how completely a 1951 ROADMASTER fulfills the dreams of the car you hope sometime to own. And let us whisper something to you: The cost of making this step to ROADMASTER ownership is less than most people believe. Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Life of Minister's Wife Revealed In Story of "The Reluctant Angel"

By Corrinne Jennings
 "The Reluctant Angel" is the story of a preacher and his family with the wife being forced to play the part of the reluctant angel. This warm vital story is written by Ennen Reeves-Hall.

Vickey's mother said, "The preacher doesn't work any miracles when he says a few words over you. You're two different people with different ways and different notions. What a woman has to do is take a man like he is or else not take him at all."

Vickey took Tom "like he was" one Sunny April morning and went to live with him in his lonely cabin on the West Texas Plains.

She had dreams of a great future, raising beef for market, getting rich on the Texas land, but her husband destroyed those dreams in short time with a single statement, "Vicky, I've been called to preach!"

She survived the first shock when her dreams came tumbling down about her. She learned rapidly to live with limitations such as life often imposes, especially in the early days and years.

Vicky was not particularly religious and could not help feeling bitter—at times—in the change of her plans and ambitions. But she did love Tom and went ahead with him determined that she would do all within her power to make him a great and famous preacher.

With that aim she drove forward taking him with her in spite of the fact that he didn't want just that either. He felt his call was to the raw frontier of the Indian Territory and away he went leaving Vicky behind with her growing family as he traveled alone to this rugged land.

The years of struggle went on and on until there came a day when Tom began to doubt himself—then it was Vicky, who dramatically arose to the occasion to make him see the rightness of his choice.

Besides Tom and Vicky, their children and their neighbors, there is the ever present religion and their beliefs, straight out of the past, yet immediate and timeless. For here are two continuing aspects of the American Dream—the search for material success and the search for God.

As you read "Reluctant Angel" you will realize all over again how inestimably the vigorous inspiration of our forefathers has helped us all to place certain accents on the right things of life.

It is indeed good to be re-

The George C. Wright Co. unloaded a car of from two to four seat hacks at this point this week to be used in connection with the settlement of their 100,000 acre tract in the Syndicate pasture northwest of town. From Hereford to the ranch, automobiles will be used for transporting the prospectors; and the new hacks will be used after they arrive at the ranch. This company evidently means business, judging from the vast amount of money which they are expending.

Hereford has no cause for complaint along the line of entertainment this week as there has been "something doing" at the Stone opera house every night during the week. Monday and Wednesday nights a play was given by home-talent. On the remaining nights splendid entertainment was furnished the public by Edison's moving pictures which is the best of its kind the Brand editor has ever attended.

A short drive of only thirty minutes brought us to the spot which is destined to become the most noted health and pleasure resort in all West Texas. Sulphur Park, in its present state of development, consists of two springs of crystal clear water, one of cold freestone and the other heavily laden with sulphur and other mineral supposed to be suited for medicinal purposes; a lake of water over a mile long, ranging from three to twenty feet and abounding with fish and affording an ideal opportunity for boating.

A call meeting of citizens and tax payers was had Tuesday afternoon at the law office of Geo. W. Barcus, who was elected chairman, the purpose being to devise ways and means of securing an equalization of taxes on Deaf Smith county property. Those present took a decided stand in their endorsement of a through readjustment of the county tax roll.

It will be noticed that "your Uncle Fuller" no longer advises the Brand readers to come to California. We rather think that when he felt the earth rocking under him he remembered the Panhandle, and devoutly wished himself back where he could sing "How firm a foundation"

B. J. Park this week sold his well improved ranch a few miles northwest of town to Messrs. J. T. Wilkinson and S. J. Williams of this city, consideration $10.50 per acre.

John Goley Veterinary Surgeon is prepared to pull and dress horses teeth and treat all kind of diseased. Will be in town next Saturday.

A Mr. Sinsheimer, representing the Holly Sugar Beet corporation, of Holly, California, was here last week, visiting E. H. Blood and looking into the possibilities of sugar beets here on a commercial basis. He pronounced the soil ideal and said he saw no reason why Hereford county should not develop into a major sugar beet producing section. He told Mr. Blood that he would buy a carload or two of the beets raised from the seed he distributed recently through Mr. Blood and would pay top prices for it.

Mr. Blood is enthusiastic over the prospects for making Hereford the center of a vast sugar beet field, and is working steadily toward that end.

Flagg, Texas, Castro County's baby town, will be one year old June 20. An old time picnic with barbecue at noon, a rodeo, baseball games, races of various kinds, and speaking by prominent men is being planned for the occasion.

County agent Dunkle has been searching for some time for a farmer in this county who is especially interested in the production of pure seed. J. R. Robinson, living just outside of the city limits of Hereford, is farming twenty-one acres of land, and is interested in the production of pure seed. He and the county agent intend to cooperate and establish a pure seed farm.

Qualification Exam May Be Given Later for Those Who Missed Test

Students who were scheduled to take the Selective Service college qualification test on May 26 and did not due to circumstances beyond their control may get a chance at a later test.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, was advised to this effect today in a telegram from Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service.

Previously, test rules made it impossible for any student to take the test if he missed it for any reason.

Text of the official telegram received is as follows:

"Students who were issued tickets for the May 26th test and were precluded from taking test by circumstances beyond their control should immediately write to the Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, N. J., explaining the circumstances and returning their ticket of admission, if available. New ticket will be issued for later test in deserving cases. Copies of this telegram mailed to local boards this date."

FACTS ABOUT MONEY!

UNUSUAL COINS

It was the custom of the Chinese, around the year 1000 A. D., to produce coins shaped similar to the things to be used for their purchase. Spade shaped coins, for instance, were used for the purchase of farming implements and when a Chinese needed clothing he would offer a coin fashioned from the human body.

Some Wheat Good In Friona Area

FRIONA (Special) -- Mrs. E. R. Day, Brand correspondent, reports some wheat in the Friona area is good. Mrs. Day observed farming conditions south and east of Friona for one week while serving as substitute mail carrier for Route 1.

One farmer, who has several hundred acres of wheat, estimates he will harvest about 20 bushels per acre. His land is located approximately 10 miles south of Friona.

Mrs. Day observed the speed with which farmers are now planting cotton and row crop. In one field three four-row lists were planting, while in another five one ways were going.

Some hail fell in Friona last Friday, but no damage was reported. Some fields, however, have been washed by hard rains.
