Begin Installation of $2334 Park Water System

Hereford's major 1951 park improvement project—the complete landscaping and equipping of the city's portion of the hospital block—will begin immediately. Mayor W. E. Dameron revealed this week.

First step in the program will be the immediate installation of an underground watering system at a cost of about $2334.

Risers for 45 snap-on head rotating sprinklers will be laid along the 969 feet of water pipe as part of the watering system. Included in the system will be a water fountain.

A landscape plan of the entire project—including a roughed-in plan of the present Deaf Smith county hospital grounds, was presented Thursday to the city commission by M. R. Smith, consulting engineer for Parkhill, Smith, and Copper, Lubbock engineering firm retained by Hereford.

All areas of the park will be planted to seed, the three shrub beds will be laid out, and the sprinkler system completed this fall.

Actual planting of the shrubs will be delayed until cooler weather.

Playground equipment at the west end of the city's portion of the block will be installed in the spring when the grass is along well enough to take the traffic.

A concrete tennis court will also be part of the playground equipment in the west end of the park.

This park, located at the intersection of Park avenue and Third street, will be the largest park in town to be equipped with a sprinkler system.

Mayor Dameron said this park would be especially vital because it is on one of the main entry-ways to the residential district. The park will be transformed into a beautiful spot for recreation.

"What I mean, we'll really dress it up," Dameron said. Approximately 450 shrubs and plants will be set out in the three shrub beds and throughout the park area. Approximately $5000 was allotted to improvement of parks in the city in the current budget.

Next year, Lake park will be the site of beautifying operations. Mayor Dameron said the park would be plowed up, graded, re-seeded to Bermuda grass, and a sprinkler system would be installed there too.

It is planned to make shrub beds along the parts of Lake park bordering on drives. The pipe laying for the sprinkler system by the hospital block will be done by the city. Hereford owns the trench-digger, and city workers will begin this first phase of the project immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Sharp and Shirley returned this week from a two week vacation to Yellowstone, Grand Coulee Dam, Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam. They visited the Dayton Chisums while they were gone, also.

Suspect Juveniles In Home Looting

The community has been plagued with a series of house burglaries during the past week, with four more occurring since Sunday.

Authorities here blame juveniles for the thefts and "have a pretty good line" on the culprits.

Another service station break-in was reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday morning. This one was at Jones Service station in East Hereford.

There is no connection between the house burglaries and the service station break-in, however, officials say.

Deputy Sheriff S. B. Berry warned householders to keep their doors locked while they are not in the house. All the burglaries have occurred while the owners of the house were out in the fields working.

The thefts are not "break-ins", they are merely "walk-ins", Berry stated.

The wave of thefts began at the Tom McFarland farm home last Sunday. That break-in was reported in Thursday's Brand.

Next place where the thieves struck was at the Mrs. Tom Barclay home on Wednesday. She reported $15 stolen out of her purse.

Mrs. Barclay reported that she went to a neighbor's house when a cloud came up and she was afraid to stay alone. She returned to find someone had taken the money "from her purse."

On Thursday, someone entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson sometime between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., ransacking drawers and closets.

The only thing the Johnsons were able to miss immediately was Mr. Johnson's watch, valued at $85. They felt sure, however, that greater loss would be discovered when they had time to make a thorough check.

The fourth burglary of the week was reported at the Jack Fambrough farm three miles northwest of Hereford on Thursday, where a wedding ring and band connected, a ladies' wrist watch, and $10 in cash was stolen. The Fambrough place is located about three miles out on the Gilbert road.

Another break-in of a business property occurred this week at the Jones Service station where thieves broke a glass on a lift door and opened the latch. All that was missed in that burglary was a new U.S. Royal tire for a larger-type passenger car.

The thief didn't gain entry to the main part of the filling station, just the grease house.

The sheriff's office is working on the house break-ins and also the filling station break-in.

Preston Gill Funeral Rites Held Thursday

Funeral services for Preston Gill, son of Mrs. Bess Gill of Hereford, were held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Baptist church of Groom.

Gill, who was 30 years old, died in the Veterans hospital in Amarillo Tuesday morning following an illness of several weeks.

Survivors besides his mother include: his wife, Margaret, and a daughter, Martha Kay, both of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Fred Kroft of Hereford, and a brother, Raymond Gill of Douglas, Ariz.

Commission Will Set Hearing on Gas Question

No action has been taken by the city commission as yet on the gas rate increase requested by the West Texas Gas company, Mayor Dameron said this week.

A formal letter requesting the increase was presented to the commission at a regular meeting last week and the matter was discussed briefly.

A hearing date on the request will be set in the near future.

County Hospital Showing Profit Following 1950 Loss of $12,000

The Deaf Smith County hospital is operating "in the black" once again.

Records for the first six months of 1951 show a profit of just under $5000, according to Business Manager T. E. Seigler Jr.

This is a marked contrast to the days when the hospital was losing proposition, drawing county funds out of the general fund to make up operating deficit.

Seigler warns of the psychological affect of the words "net profit." The profit figure on the hospital balance sheet doesn't reflect provisions for depreciation or for retirement of bonded indebtedness.

The Deaf Smith county hospital is in a healthy condition, but if it were a private institution, it would be losing money just from the above two accounts.

It was a little more than a year ago that a revision of hospital operations was made by the board due to financial difficulties. The actual operation of the hospital was turned over to Miss Pearl West, former superintendent of nurses who was at that time made superintendent, with complete charge over personnel.

A business manager had the entire operation of the hospital up until that time, but the board felt a person with a greater knowledge of the hospital business should take over the operation.

At that time, the hospital was considered overstaffed by hospital board. Collections were lagging, with an accumulation of approximately $50,000 on the books since 1941.

At the present time, collections are 93% complete on a six month volume of $69,474.31, Seigler said.

In the 1950 fiscal year, the hospital lost $12,000, the business manager reported. The reorganization of the hospital came to a head when, in June, there was not enough money to meet the payroll.

A business manager was employed and served until December, when he resigned and returned to Amarillo.

Seigler, a member of the board, took over as business manager and has served in that capacity ever since.

Collections were brought up, closer supervision over collections was maintained, and the staff cost cut about 20%.

Seigler says the credit for the successful operation is "primarily due to the organization we've got. We've got an awfully good staff."

"The doctors tell us we have the best nursing staff in the country," Seigler commented. The Deaf Smith county hospital has more graduate nurses than any other hospital its size in the Southwest.

This county's 40-bed hospital is one of the few county hospitals breaking even.

Seigler is proud of a letter written him by one patient who has been in the Deaf Smith county hospital for five weeks. The patient said he has been in hospitals all over the Southwest, but this is the best. It's something to be proud of, the patient told Seigler.

To those who feel the county can get along without a hospital, Seigler can point to the

All that remains to be determined in regard to the appearance on August 5 is the time of day. All other arrangements are agreed upon.

Members of the Hereford Riders hope to make the day an all-day outing, with a picnic in the park following their performance.

Those participating in the drill will be: Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Roberson, Ralph and Marie Sears, Harold Easley and Nell Spradley, and Mora Lawhon and Jeff Roberson.

Dr. Barnett Urges Local Analysis for Bone Study

Local financing of a spectrographic analysis of food and farm crops grown in this area was urged by Dr. L. B. Barnett before a group of local business and professional men at a special meeting held Friday at Hotel Jim Hill.

Such an analysis, Dr. Barnett told the group, would be used for medical research in determining the cause of superior bone-mending characteristics in residents of this area.

The chemistry obtained through local support, when added with a successful clinical report on the study of bone metabolism characteristics from this area, would be sufficient proof to get the United States Department of Health to spend a million dollars here on research.

The USDH would move a laboratory and personnel here and be on the spot studying for three years.

Dr. Barnett urged local men to sponsor—in some way—the spectrographic analysis so the chemistry of the area would be made available for local use.

If the Southwestern Medical college in Dallas were to make the analyses, the results of the tests would be kept secret and not released generally.

In any event, the clinical portion of the experiment on bone structure and its causes in Deaf Smith county would be kept secret until ready to release to the general public.

At the present time, Dr. Barnett is at Southwestern on a year's leave of absence from his duties here to devote his entire time to finding the answer to the superior structure of bones from this area.

Local sponsorship of making the analysis would save a year's time in the process of proving the medical profession's theories on the causes of superior bone structure here.

In addition, it would have its commercial values for local businessmen.

A spectrographic analysis of this area will be made, regardless of the decision by local business men. Dr. Barnett will make the analyses, but only on a limited scale in conjunction with his work at Southwestern Medical school.

Commenting on the national publicity given Deaf Smith county and its unusual mineral superiority, Dr. Barnett told the group, "This thing has been kicked around long enough. We may not have another opportunity to make use of the services of Dr. Carl Moyer, who is interested in what we have here."

Dr. Moyer, world-wide authority on body chemicals and fluids, will be leaving Parkland hospital in Dallas soon. He, like other noted medical men in Dallas, are extremely interested personally in the mineral content of this area and the resulting affects on bone growth and healing power.

Dr. Girard, a member of the Carroll group in Dallas, and the leading bone specialist in Dallas, has been urging Dr. Barnett to do work on the bone metabolism of residents of this area for about two years.

When Dr. Barnett went to Dallas, some years back, he took along several X-ray pictures of local fractures and breaks. One of them was of a broken hip break of an 88-year-old woman. The break, about four weeks old at the time, showed a tendency to heal in the picture.

Medical men there were amazed at the young bone age of the 88-year-old woman and said the frame was that of a heavy woman. The lady actually weighed 120 pounds, Dr. Barnett said.

There was nothing much else done on the matter for some time, according to Dr. Barnett. During that time, he accumulated X-rays of 14 hips, none of which were a particular type of fracture which occurs about 75% of the time in other areas.

That item also created a great deal of interest, he said. The main interest among medical men was the excellent healing characteristics of bones among residents of this area.

Dr. Barnett, on his last trip to Dallas, took X-rays of persons from this area between the ages of 76 and 101 who had bone breaks, and also a picture of a non-resident.

The X-rays were taken at two, four, and six-week stages. None of them were taken at the eight week stage, because none have taken longer than that to heal.

Medical men from Dallas viewing the X-rays readily picked out the picture of the lady that didn't live in this area. The medical men were not told the ages of the patients or where they lived.

Dr. Barnett said the meeting was in a turmoil before he was through and the men got into quite a discussion. They were amazed at the ages. One of the ladies, who lived here all her 78 years, was guessed at 40 by the doctors there.

The result of Barnett's trip to Dallas was that Dr. Girard, chief of staff at Parkland hospital, and Dr. Moyer urged Dr. Barnett to have residents here do something in regard to the spectrographic. They gave Dr. Barnett complete freedom of the 100 bone disease patients in Parkland to use in his clinical studies. This work alone costs about $400 per day.

The doctors also want a composite chemistry of the elements or compounds in this area's food, water, beef, etc.

Comparisons between groups will be made of patients in the Deaf Smith county hospital. (Continued on page 7)

Swedish Visitor Amazed at Youths, Customs Here

"America is wonderful, but it isn't home," is the impression of this country held by Karl Malmberg, 19-year-old Swedish youth visiting here in the home of his uncle and aunt Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Cooke.

"One of the things about the United States that amazes Monberg most is the fact that everyone has a car, even high school students. In Sweden, only the very wealthy can afford to keep a car because of the high taxes and insurance rates they have to pay. Should the family have a car, a Swedish youth would never think of asking for it.

"Texas is just like I expected it to be," commented Malmberg. He added that he always thought that it was flat where he lived in the southern part of Sweden until he saw West Texas.

Popcorn and American candies are either "too sweet or too salty" according to the youth, who adds that he likes "Cokes" though. Sweden is one of the few countries in the world that doesn't sell "Cokes."

After completing the eight years of required public schooling, Monberg entered a specialized middle school for four years. Until he came to the United States, he was employed in his father's plumbing shop. When he returns to Sweden he will enter a school of engineering. —N. G. L.

Texas Draft Quota For September is Set at 619 Men

The September draft call for Texas will be 619 men, Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, announced this week.

The Deaf Smith board quota has not yet been received, according to Mrs. A. Peterson, clerk.

General Wakefield said a telegram was received from national headquarters which said the Department of Defense had requested 34,180 men from all states and territories in September.

Texas draft headquarters was advised during the past week that its August call had been raised from 485 men to 772. The July quota, now being filled, is 367.

Local board quotas for September will not be available at state Selective Service headquarters before sometime in August, General Wakefield said. The September call brings the number of men called for in Texas since the beginning of the fight in Korea to a total of nearly 29,000. Around 75,000 Texans have been sent by draft boards for examinations since fighting broke out in the Far East.

"Whether or not a cease-fire in Korea is agreed upon, we expect to continue to get calls each month," General Wakefield commented. "The draft law has been amended and renewed for a period of four years, and the country seems determined to keep on a strong footing for any emergency which may arise."

Save Wheat, Oats for Seed, A & M Warns

COLLEGE STATION—In view of the short oat and wheat crops this year, farmers should save all possible seed for planting, particularly of the approved varieties, says E. A. Miller, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Enough oats were produced to plant the 1952 crop, but Miller warns that there will be a shortage if farmers use all their oats for feed. The situation is a little better for wheat than for oats.

"Save good planting seed," Miller advises. "There will be a demand for seed where no oats were made."

He recommends saving all the Mustang oats and Quanah wheat produced. Most of the seed of these two new varieties planted last year were lost because of the drought and insects.

According to the June USDA crop report, the 1951 Texas oat crop is estimated at 12,576,000 bushels. This is about half of the 1950 production. The 10-year average for Texas is approximately 30 billion bushels. Mustang, New Nortex, Fultex, Ranger and Stanton are the recommended varieties of oats for Texas. Recommended wheat varieties are Quanah, Wichita, Triumph, Comanche and Westar.

Don't get too excited about the gas well. It has significance, of course, but not so much as a lot of people think. Chiefly, the appearance of gas through the Norton irrigation well eight miles east of here, indicates one thing: that there is gas in the territory.

Actually, according to field workmen, the gas could have come from anywhere in the territory. Probably it came from one of the abandoned oil wells in the area. Maybe the Ponder well, maybe Garcia; probably some of the old holes in the Umberger area. Then, again, it could be a deposit in immediate area of the well where it made its appearance. When gas breaks into an abandoned oil well the pressure generally forces it out into water sands and it sometimes travels miles before conditions are just right for it to escape. This depends upon pressure, strata, sands and a lot of things. Jim Lipscomb was telling me the other day that he ran into much the same situation out on his place several years back. Later they checked the area and drilled several tests at the point where the gas appeared.

A few years back they brought in a gas well in Texas and capped it out for production. The pressure proved so tremendous that the gas entered sands and came out through hydrants on city mains in a nearby town. Cases have been reported where houses caught on fire from such flowings of gas. It is tricky. No one seems able to predict or to trace the source of such gas pockets.

Ezra Norton tells me he has turned the situation over to the Magnolia crew now operating in here—and they in turn have passed it to the geology department. A complete check will be made on the situation—but the field boys are not excited at all. They say it happens every once in a while. Anyway, it does confirm the fact that deposits are to be found in the area and this is more than has previously been publicly announced. Maybe it will get someone on the ball. All in all, though, the status seems little changed. Most of us firmly believe there is oil and gas in this country, but it is probably a matter of time before production will be seen in the area. Maybe 25 years, maybe 50 years. However, it will come some day.

Some of the boys at the post office really got "stuck up" last week. They received 200,000 stamps on trains from the Kansas flood area—and most of the stamps were damp or outright soaked.

Pack London came in to identify the old barber shop picture in the Thursday edition.

After making the identification, he got to telling about the big cuspidors they used to have in the shop, located at the site of today's Western Auto Store. Back in 1916 Pack says cuspidors were the rage and the two-gallon jobs in the barber shop got plenty of play. He says they would fill them about half full of water which was soon turned amber as the boys got going on their Tinsley and Brown Mule. Almost every Saturday when the house was full Pack recalls that someone would stumble over a cuspidor which would lean down to the floor and return with a jerk as the heavy weighted bottom swung it back into position. This situation, he says, often resulted in throwing of the contents across the shop sometimes saturating customers, to say nothing of the barbers.

The post office is one of the few places which still maintains the cuspidor. It takes special permission from the department to get them removed. About 10 years ago they got rid of approximately 100 cuspidors from the Deaf Smith County courthouse. They were stacked along the wall for a long, long time. Passing of the cuspidor certainly marks a transformation of the way of life in the United States.

It is due chiefly, I think, to advertising. The cigarette and cigar companies kept pace with the country and waged extensive advertising campaigns. Today chewing tobacco is moderately rare and snuff, once most popular of all, has practically passed out of the picture. I used to work in a grocery store and I'll bet I have sold a ton of Levi Garrett. Most of the snuff you see now days is "Rooster" and other brands I never encountered.

Jim Witherspoon was kind enough to send in the following excerpt. I agree with him about the factor of deficit spending. Even now, our children cannot be free Americans as we today know the term. It is from an article by Ralph W. Gwinn, Congressman from the 27th District of New York.

"Stratospheric Debt
Every newborn American baby opens his eyes to a debt of approximately $1,700 to the Federal Government. The total Federal debt is equivalent to an $11,000 mortgage on every owner-occupied dwelling in the Nation. There are two ways of saying that our national debt reached the staggering figure of $257,357,000,000 in the fiscal year 1950.

"It is time to make an honest effort to balance our budget. With a national debt of such magnitude and years of deficit spending, is it surprising that higher and higher Federal taxation is imminent?"

"The Democratic Party solemnly pledged in 1932 to reduce the cost of Government by 25 percent, and it promised to keep us out of war. But now Truman's bloody peace has already cost more than Roosevelt's war. Having the power to do almost anything and to tax without limit, the Administration and a majority in Congress is committed to a program of exchanging favors in return for votes. A government so dishonest and irresponsible at home can exercise no moral authority abroad. Without American moral leadership it seems peace is impossible and continued war inevitable.

"To correct the evils of such a government the people, themselves, must reduce the amount of government by re-enacting Constitutional limitations redefining the kind of government the people want. Without that Congress is defenseless against the interminable organized pressure groups that continue to increase."

It is hard, these days, to separate propaganda from facts. That's the real trouble the American people have in selecting good officials. By the time some politicians get through speaking situations can be so distorted that no one knows what to believe. The point Mr. Gwinn makes, however, is true. The people of our generation are saddling the children and grandchildren with indebtedness. Future progress and development will have to be paid out IN ADDITION to the heavy indebtedness we are leaving them. It is something to think about. It is far, far different from the heritage of free land, free education and the opportunity to go as far as your ability would allow, which, summed up, was the heritage handed to us by the heroes at the Alamo.

Testimonial Dinner And Dance

On Monday night July 23rd the Saint Anthony's Study Club sponsored a highly successful banquet. Friends, relatives and guests were invited to do honor to Miss Juanita Albracht. Miss Albracht is the daughter of C. J. Albracht Route 3, Hereford, who is leaving for San Antonio in September to take up studies for a higher calling in religious life, with the Sisters of the Incarnate Word. Miss Albracht was employed at Deaf Smith County Hospital as a nurse aid, and hopes to dedicate the rest of her life as a nursing sister.

The Jim Hill Hotel banquet Hall really had a transformation for the occasion. It basked, shimmered, and glittered in a sea of colored lights, green, red, blue, and amber being the scheme used to provide the dazzling effect. The tables were set diagonally towards the head table of honor. Each table was artistically decorated with daisies tinted in colors to blend with the lighting scheme and effect. The table of honor was most conspicuously beautiful with its lovely centre piece of gladiolas, truly a work of floral art.

Seated at the table of honor were Mr. and Mrs. John Albracht Sr. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brinkman, President of the Study Club. Reverend Father Dominic, Pastor of St. Anthony's, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Albracht, Reverend Father Colman Toastmaster, Juanita Albracht guest of honor, Reverend Father Nathaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kreighouser.

Reverend Father Dominic gave the invocation for the dinner. Afterwards Mr. A. A. Brinkman welcomed the guests, relatives, and friends on behalf of the club, and introduced Father Colman as toastmaster for the evening.

Father Colman welcomed all in his own inimitable way, then addressed the group as to the guest and the occasion. He said: "Many people thought it rather strange that a young man or young woman should give up all to follow Christ, but he was sure that such thoughts were due rather to a lack of knowledge and understanding regarding a vocation as such. For example a young girl does not marry without thought, without desire nor does she marry any old Tom, Dick, and Harry. No, the boy who is to be her husband must fit into her desires and her happiness comes from the possession of him that she wants. So it is with religious vocations, it is a desire implanted in the heart and soul by God for that person to give up all, and follow Him to carry on, in pure oblation to the Father, in Heaven, where He left off here upon earth. She hasn't lost anything, she has found something, she has found everything. She has found her true calling and the invitation by the Master to "Come and Follow Him." Her happiness therefore is bound to follow, for no one can outdo God in generosity. The offering is one of the whole being of self, with all its talents to the All Being, God. For to whom much is given, much is expected. If a man or woman are married then he or she must be solicitous for his or her partners that's part of the contract and must be fulfilled to be just, and so it is and must be with religious vocations. The call is from God. "I have chosen you, you have not chosen Me." There is no place in any monastery or convent for any person who does not make this offering freely, and I can assure you one can get out of either place much easier than one can enter it. Tonight ladies and gentlemen, I know that you join with me in paying full tribute to Miss Albracht. Personally she has been a great source of edification to me in youth and study club work, and it came as no surprise when I learned of her high ambitions. But dear friends, that honor and the blessing that comes from that service does not belong only to the immediate family, or church, but is one that descends on the community and city of Hereford. The Albrachts have been outstanding citizens of this community and tonight they have every right to be proud. In particular Mr. and Mrs. John Albracht Sr. whose hopes are being fulfilled in their grandchildren. For this latest contribution is one, I believe, that will bring innumerable blessings on the city of Hereford. Juanita, we are wishing you well in your new life. St. Anthony's parish and the city of Hereford, are staking their honor on you and we believe that you will always do your best."

The Reverend Father Dominic in his brief remarks complimented the Study Club on the dignified setting and manner in which the entire affair was conducted. "Congratulations," he said "were in order" for everyone who had contributed in any way to its success.

Entertainment followed, and as usual surprise was the element. Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Walliston Beach, Mass. provided a first class performance. Mrs. Adams, guest pianist of Boston Symphony Orchestra, gave two very fine renditions on the piano. Afterwards, she and her husband sang two duets, the first one Gounods, "Ave Maria" was dedicated to the guest of honor and they concluded with "Tumbling Tumbleweed." A real treat that no one will ever forget. Mr. Adams, incidentally is a native Texan. Hailing from Dalhart.

Miss Pearl West spoke on behalf of our city hospital. She had nothing but praise for the young lady who was leaving us. She stated that Hereford's loss was another gain, that Juanita had always done exceptionally fine work at the hospital, and had endeared herself to everyone. On behalf of the hospital, she wished Nita every success in her new life.

Then followed the presentation from the study club. Father Colman presented Miss Albracht with a beautifully engraved watch. The text of the presentation is as follows: "It is indeed an honor and pleasure to ask you to receive this gift, from your fellow study club members. It is a mark of their high esteem and affection for you. It is their fond hope that this gift watch will be invaluable in your future work, that in its constant use you will remember the constancy of the loving hearts that gave it. But a timepiece has another beautiful lesson to impart. To many people, a watch is just a watch. If I were to ask any one in this gathering tonight what was the purpose of the watch here she would probably feel somewhat provoked to anger, and say "Well the speaker doesn't give us much credit for much intelligence. Perhaps one of your number would say "Well, anyone knows that a watch is to tell the time. But you would be somewhat shocked to learn that your answer was not quite correct, for the real purpose of any watch is to tell the correct time, and if it fails to do that, it is no use as a watch. It might be made of the best gold, studded with precious stones, put together with finest mechanism, illuminated with the most artistic hand's wielded a brush, yet if it failed in correct time, it fails to fulfill its purpose. It might be a very beautiful ornament, but one doesn't buy a watch to be an ornament, if he does he should see a psychiatrist. As it is with the watch, so it is with us. We are made for a purpose too—"To know God, to love Him, to serve Him in this world, in order that we may be happy with Him in the next."

Nita, may your every inspiration thought, and action, be true to form, always. May every tick of your life spell God's will. If you do this, all will be well, for he or she who does God's work always receives God's pay.

The Reverend Father Nathaniel thanked the club on behalf of Miss Albracht, and assured them that she was deeply appreciative of the gift. He then concluded the banquet by saying grace.

Dancing followed immediately to the melodious strains of Dick Morton and his band, during the evening, the guests were entertained by all kinds of novelties. One of the most outstanding, was little "Dopey" playing on the trumpet. The evening concluded to the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" as the friends and relatives joined hands and encircled our honored guest in a last farewell.

Great tribute should be given to Mr. A. Brinkman and his hard working committee, the men who fixed the lights, and the women who arranged the flowers under the capable direction of Mrs. Frank Brinkman. And we are more than grateful for the generous cooperation given by the hotel manager, Mr. Pendergast, and we assure Dick Morton that his song is ended, but the melody lingers on. (Adv.)

1715 'Treasure' Restored

A good example of early colonial architecture to be found in historic Ipswich, Mass., is the John Kimball house. Restored to its original state, this home is protected by a roof of fire-resistant asphalt shingles.

The John Kimball house at picturesque Ipswich, Mass., is a shining gem in America's architectural heritage from colonial days. One of the fine old houses selected by Richard Pratt for a coveted place in his "A Treasury of Early American Homes," it was built in about 1715.
Acquired in 1947 by its present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Ross, the house has been restored to its original beauty and charm. "Quite unspoiled," the new owners began its restoration by removing several temporary partitions. The original rafters were uncovered and the paint removed from old wall paneling, now rubbed to a soft finish. Huge fireplaces, which provided heat and facilities for cooking in colonial times, were reopened.
Improvements included a new roof of fire-resistant asphalt shingles. Owners of stately old Ipswich homes fully appreciate the fire protection which asphalt shingles provide, Mrs. Ross points out, as a result of a fire a few years back. "The train goes near us," explains Mrs. Ross, "and one building in the neighborhood was set on fire by a spark some time ago. Now, all the roofs are fire-resistant."
Other renovations involved construction of a concrete basement and addition of a new kitchen—the "L" with awnings at the windows seen in the picture. The black asphalt shingle roof provides a pleasing contrast to the new white siding on the front of the house, the brown shingle side, and the red siding on the back of the house.
A brick terrace, extending from the "L" to the end of the house, was the final touch in combining the beauty and simplicity of this old colonial home with facilities to provide the comforts and conveniences of modern living.

HOW SAFE IS YOUR HOME?

Poor Housekeeping Voids Home Safety Precautions

COLLEGE STATION, July — The farm home is not the safest place on the farm. More farm accidents occur in the home than in any other single place on the farm and the kitchen ranks as about the most dangerous room in the house. According to Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, there are several reasons for the high accident rate in kitchens, but few outrank carelessness and household disorder.

She points out that a well kept kitchen, one that is provided with plenty of convenient cabinet and storage space, is most likely to be a safe room. However, a poor job of housekeeping can nullify the safety features of even the best planned and constructed kitchens. A fire caused by an explosion, spilled hot grease or from the use of worn-out electrical equipment or wiring will not only ruin the kitchen and probably the entire home but may even result in death or serious injury to the housewife and other members of the family.

In the well-managed home, all gas connections are checked regularly. Kerosene is not used to start fires in wood and coal burning stoves and all electrical equipment and wiring is kept in good condition.

Many accidents also occur on stairways and steps. The National Safety Council reports that most home accidents, 24 percent, result from falls. Faulty steps should be repaired and all steps and stairways should be well lighted. Scatter rugs should never be placed at the bottom nor the top landings of the stairway and loose or frayed runners on the stair steps are always dangerous.

The stairway treads should all be of the same width and risers the same height, says Mrs. Claytor, and the treads should not be polished. It's always dangerous to climb or descend stairs or steps when both arms are loaded and it's doubly so when the stairs and steps are cluttered.

Mrs. Claytor believes that a great number of home accidents can be prevented and at the same time fire hazards can be removed from the home if homemakers will dispose of worn out appliances, make repairs to equipment when needed and follow an orderly program of practicing safety every day in the year.

City Appropriates $200 for Kiwanis Resuscitator

The city commission appropriated $200 towards the resuscitator purchased by the Hereford Kiwanis club for the city fire truck at a recent meeting.

Inasmuch as the resuscitator was to be installed as part of the equipment on the new emergency truck for the fire department, the commission paid the balance of the cost of the unit.

Mayor Dameron said, "This (purchase) is a commendable thing for the Kiwanis club. The resuscitator is an important piece of community equipment."

Purchase of the resuscitator was financed through sponsorship of outdoor subject movies by the Kiwanians.

Mr. R. N. Cooke and Mr. R. C. Childers attended the dairy sale at the Stuart Condrot dairy farm 8 miles east of town Thursday.

The Workers 4-H club met in the home of Mrs. Sherman Dufer in the Walcott community Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. R. N. Cooke gave a step by step demonstration on the making of cinnamon rolls. The rolls were made, let rise, worked down, cut into rolls by the use of string, let rise again, baked and eaten. The leaders are preparing the girls for the 4H bake show which is scheduled to be held August 4 at the Hereford Locker and Cold Storage. Girls must bake whole wheat rolls and cinnamon rolls to enter the contest.

Members attending this meeting were Colleen, Sue, Jan and Carolyn Cooke, Joleen Dixon, Patsy Caywood, Patsy Childers, Mary Dufer and the two daughters of Mrs. J. B. Sneed. The girls names were not available to your correspondent.

BOOKS ON PARADE

Michener's "Return to Paradise" Is Book for Exacting Readers

James Albert Michener, Pulitzer Prize winner with his "Tales of the South Pacific" returns to his former location some years later to write his new book, "Return to Paradise".

Again he writes in his most distinguished style. Michener ranks with critics as one of the most gifted story tellers of our time.

He holds to his high standard and style of writing in this work which is informative, interesting in every detail and gives the reader a fresh, accurate picture of the islands and the ocean of which he writes. It is considered a brilliant book and a worthy successor of his first.

Everyone who hopes to see the play, "South Pacific", should read this book since they and all others will find a series of informal essays about the South Pacific which makes material painlessly available.

The essays alternate with short stories, each growing out of the central theme of the essay, thus giving two sides of the islands, — what the author thought of them and what the island thought of itself, as a people.

Michener conveys the beauty and the color of the islands with sensitiveness and with a keen perception. Both timely and welcome in thought and content is such a book when "the world is being discovered by Americans."

Saturday Review of Literature critics like the author's essays better than his stories but other critics, including your own reviewer, say that without the stories, the book would be only a group of essays, which as a rule are not too popular with the reading public.

Selected by this writer as the most outstanding in the chapter on Guadalcanal which begins "In the South Pacific there is an island, dark and brooding. It is not so large as islands go, nor yet so small as to be forgotten when one has seen it."

Following this, "The Story" which supplements the essay, is about a man who has lived many years on the island and who, upon hearing of Michener's arrival comes to him wanting him to write a story which will make them both rich. But the author refuses and says it is all made up and not even a good story at that. This goes on for days, with the islander doing all he can to get the author, to do the story. But Michener still says "no", but by now he has learned things about the man, himself which will make a wonderful story and he sets out to get it. But the man is against it to the last and fights for his own story to be written and published.

"New Zealand is probably the most beautiful country on earth. The official school history says that when Richard John Seddon, the great prime minister, died, 'he passed on to a better place than even God's Own Country,'" begins the descriptive essay of the island on which the map still has spots marked "unexplored."

The story tying into this chapter is titled "Until They Sail" and tells the story of a New Zealand family and what happened to them when World War II came.

With all their men in service and the Japs approaching island by island until they were dangerously near to the gateway of their own island home, the women faced their peril bravely. The American Marines arrive just in time. Their relief and gratitude were great, but their resentment flared at times at the easy and unthoughtful manner in which they were treated by the "Yanks". But the Americans did leave a permanent and lasting impression on their island and one never to be forgotten nor ignored.

"Return to Paradise" is a large volume recommended for exacting readers since it is of a style that demands every word be read with not one missed or skipped over—in

On the table before him are going away gifts he received from friends and fellow officers. He plans to go to Hollywood as technical consultant on the radio program, "Tales of the Texas Rangers." other words, it is not a book to be lightly scanned. Both of Michener's books mentioned are in the county library, according to the librarian, Mrs. J. J. Boydston.

PMA To Discuss "Family Farm"

The Deaf Smith Production and Marketing Administration county committee will meet in Amarillo on Tuesday with committees from five other counties to discuss the PMA position in the department of agriculture's proposed "Family Farm" program.

Attending this sub-district meeting will be representatives from Carson, Potter, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Randall, and Armstrong counties.

The purpose of the "Family Farm Policy Review" to be held Tuesday in Amarillo is described by the USDA as follows:

"Recognizing the importance of the family farm in the preservation and strengthening of democracy in this country and throughout the world, the Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Land Grant Colleges, farm organizations, and other interested groups, has initiated and expects to carry through, a nation-wide, department-wide review and critical analysis of its programs and policies to determine the ways in which they can provide more effective and efficient service to the family during this period of mobilization emergency as well as in peacetime."

From this meeting, the PMA personnel will bring information back to the county mobilization committee for their regular meeting on August 13 and discuss plans for farmers in the county to express their desires on programs and policies to be incorporated in the "Farm Family" plan.

Under the plan, all government agencies will cooperate in working for the farm family. This will represent a change in USDA policies dictated by "grass roots" desires, according to Faust Collier, EMA executive officer for Deaf Smith county.

When a county-wide survey is taken to determine what should be incorporated in the "Family Farm" program, that information will be tabulated by each agency in the county on the recommended changes and improvements in each program; portions of the program that should be retained; portions of the programs that should be abolished; etc.

Train Speed Limit Remains; Whistles Still Sore Spot

Train whistles and railroad speed limits came up for discussion at the last meeting of the city commission, held on Thursday.

Seems the noise made by Santa Fe train whistles has been a sore spot among residents of Hereford for some time, judging from complaints being received by city officials.

The superintendent of the company wrote a letter to the city this week, asking abolition of the city ordinance requiring trains passing through town to slow down to 30 miles per hour.

The request was turned down for two reasons, both of which received adequate support among the commission. Members felt that doing away with a train speed limit would be unwise from a point of safety.

They were also hesitant to rescind the limit because a faster limit through town would probably result in more and longer screeching from the train whistle as it roared through town at higher speeds. Mayor Dameron is replying to Santa Fe superintendent advising him of the commission's action. He also will ask that the city be given some relief from the train whistles.

following figures on patient care he has compiled during the first six months of the year.

A total of 1341 patients received care in the hospital in six months. Of these, 856 were actual bed patients, 486 were out-patients who received emergency treatment and then were released.

Direct expenditures of $69,474 were made here by the hospital in the first half of the year, $35,311.37 of this in salaries.

More money spent by relatives of patients in the hospital would add still more to the revenue the local hospital is bringing to the community, Seigler noted.

The business manager said he would compare the Deaf Smith hospital mortality rate with any in the country. Of the 1341 patients admitted here, there were only 12 deaths. Ten of these were due to heart attacks.

Seigler hopes to finish the balance of the year without a loss, so the profits can be used for several purposes around the hospital. They will try to send a staff nurse to school where she will learn indo-tracheal anesthesia—the newest form of anesthesia used today.

The physical part of the hospital is in good shape, too, the manager reported. In addition to the 35-40 beds, there is a well-equipped lab and X-ray, a good surgery department, and an excellent OB and nursery department.

In Seigler's words, "We think it is one of the best-equipped small hospitals in this part of the country."

The county hospital has "always been a loser." Especially in the last 10 years that Seigler has been keeping in touch with its operation record.

But the hospital is in better financial shape now and in good physical shape also.

With the record of community welfare compiled by the Deaf Smith county hospital, Seigler sees plenty of reason to differ with people who think Deaf Smith county doesn't need a hospital.

pital and the corresponding age groups at Parkland hospital. A close study of the chemistry of each patient will be used in making the comparison.

If the spectrographic analysis is made of this area by local financing, samples of produce here will be taken in spring, summer, and fall. The only laboratory that can make a spectrographic analysis is in Houston. The samples would be taken here and sent to Houston.

Dr. Barnett has gone over all the chemistry we have in the county, and there is one factor that sticks out—the extremely high phosphorous content of some foods grown in this area. Wheat grown here has six times as much phosphorous as that grown elsewhere. The same goes for lettuce and grain sorghums. That is not true with carrots, however.

In normal bones, there is two parts calcium and one part phosphorous, while in diseased bone, the phosphorous content drops.

The phosphorous load in what we have here is clear out of proportion with what there is in other areas, Barnett reported.

"The answer to this bone puzzle could be as simple as that, but I'm afraid it's not," Barnett said.

Barnett told the group that all of the disabling diseases, bone diseases were the worst. That is not so in this area, he reported. There has only been one case on record in this area of a disabling bone disease.

"Of 50 breaks in Parkland hospital, he stated, 12 or 15 of them will not grow together."

"If there should be anything to that, if we can prove good chemistry for bone growth, we will have done more good than penicillin," Dr. Barnett told the group.

If there is anything to it, chemistry will prove it, he said.

A chemistry of the area could be made for less than the cost of equipment, which would have to be furnished because Southwestern could not appropriate the money without a grant.

Estimated cost of the entire chemistry would be between $2,000 and $3,000.

The only way we can interest anyone in coming here is if we can furnish them with a convincing chemistry, Barnett said.

Methods of subscribing the amount of money needed to make the chemistry were discussed at the meeting. More discussion will be given the question at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Irene Solser and three children are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Buckner. They are also visiting with her grandmother, Mrs. Sally Carter.

MRS. EDGAR HOWARD PERRY III

Miller - Perry Vows Exchanged in Austin

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Miller, daughter of Mrs. George W. Miller of Beaumont, formerly of Hereford, to Edgar Howard Perry III was solemnized Saturday, July 21 in the University Baptist church, Austin. Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor university, officiated, assisted by Lee Freeman, student director of the Baptist Student Union at the University of Texas.

The bride attended Hereford schools before moving to Beaumont, where she graduated from South Park high school and Lamar Junior college. She has completed her junior year at the University of Texas.

The church was formally decorated for the double ring ceremony with palm trees banked above the altar, graduating at each side. The center white marble baptistry was topped with green waxed fern contrasted at the center with calladium leaves. Candelabra formed a pyramid of lights at each side. Candle arrangements marked the aisle which was laid with a white aisle cloth for the entrance of the bridal party. White satin ribbon marked pews for the family.

Mrs. A. M. Armstrong, organist played a prelude of wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Lester Benlezer, who sang "Because" and "O Promise Me."

Miss Georgianne Miller of Beaumont, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Miller of Beaumont, sister of the bride, Miss George Anne Perry of Austin, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Hugh B. Watters of Houston, cousin of the bride; Mrs. William D. Youngblood, Austin; Mrs. Mac S. Watson, Wichita Falls; and Miss Barbara Paul, Corpus Christi.

The attendants wore identical gowns of white nylon net, fashioned with bouffant skirts and shirred bodices. Matching stoles were attached to the gowns in Grecian style by velvet ribbons. Head-dresses were of white net with a pink Anthurum lily on the left side loops of velvet ribbon on the right. They carried crescent bouquets of pink lilies accented with green foliage and pink satin ribbon. Mary Martha Murphy, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl wearing a dress identical to those worn by the attendants.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, H. C. Patterson of Wilmington, O. Her bridal gown was of blush pink satin with a pearl leaf design outlining the close round neckline of the fitted bodice. Small covered buttons extended the length of the bodice in the back and the long fitted sleeves ended in petal points at the hands. The full shirred skirt ended in a cathedral train in the back.

Her finger tip veil of blush pink illusion fell from a satin half-hat trimmed with orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanotis surrounding a center of white orchid. She also carried a white Bible, gift from the maid of honor and a traditional bridal diamond cross owned by Mrs. Clyde Hayes of Beaumont.

William D. Youngblood of Austin was best man. Other attendants were William P. Hobby Jr., Houston; Donald D. French, San Angelo; and Robert F. Crawford, Kenneth K. Caswell, Jr., Marvin W. Crowe, and John Watson, all of Austin. Jack Waggoner and Henry Johnson, also of Austin were ushers.

Reception in Bridegroom's Home

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Frank L. Robinson, 3800 Kennebec Rd. Champagne, punch and cake were served on the lawn, which was lighted with

MRS. DONALD BOOKOUT

Ford - Bookout Wedding Read in Army Chapel

The post chapel of Camp Le Roy Johnson, New Orleans, was the candlelight setting for the recent marriage of Miss Evelyn Ford, daughter of Mrs. H. B. Ford and the late Mr. Ford, to Lt. Donald L. Bookout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Bookout.

The vows were exchanged at 8 p.m. Thursday July 12 with chaplain George Parks officiating for the double ring ceremony. A white and green background was provided with altar decorations of white gladioli mixed with fern.

Mrs. N. C. Mills served the bride as matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of navy crepe with white accessories and a corsage of tall-man roses. Lt. N. C. Mills was best man.

Given in marriage by Col. H. C. Bridle, the bride was attractive in a ballerina length frock of pastel blue chantilly lace over satin. Finished at the neckline with a small collar, the dress had short cap sleeves and the skirt fell in ballerina folds from the belted waistline. She wore white nylon gloves and a picture hat of white lace.

Other accessories were in white and the wedding bouquet was a single white orchid surrounded by lily of the valley with white satin streamers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bookout are graduates of Hereford high school. Mrs. Bookout is a graduate of Compton Business school, Amarillo and before her marriage was employed at Morrow-Thomas Hardware company in Amarillo.

Mr. Bookout is a graduate of the University of Texas, Austin. He was associated with several extra-curricular activities while there and was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. Before entering service, he was employed by the Amarillo Gas company in Amarillo.

Guests at the wedding and the reception which followed in the Officers' club included: Col. and Mrs. H. C. Brindle, Maj. and Mrs. C. H. Erskine, Maj. and Mrs. Heilburn, Maj. and Mrs. Charles Petite, Capt.

(Ed. Note - This is another in a series of articles being written on presidents of the various study clubs of the city.)

For the past several years, club women have been devoting much time during the summer months to club work, planning their winter season meetings and arranging projects to start with the study programs.

This summer many of them already have started to work on their contributions to individual club programs for the coming season which will see resumption of full scale cultural activities.

Mrs. Jim Higgins, president of the Lone Star Study Club, sees a good year ahead for the club and has been conferring with the year book committee chairman who reports much interest reflected in the coming year's program.

Mrs. Higgins was born in Nebraska, moving with her family to Moore county, Texas. One of 12 children, she learned the joys of a big family and how to cooperate for a happy home life. The every-day tasks of a home, still hold their charm for her and now that she has more time to read and study and pursue some of the arts, she hasn't found any interest as important and as rewarding as homemaking.

She attended Hartley high school and received a teaching certificate from West Texas State college. She began teaching at the age of 17 and was still very young when she accepted the position as teacher in the Ward school near Hereford. There she met Jim Higgins, farmer and rancher, and when they were married, they set up housekeeping on the ranch. Her mother had taught her to like working with flowers so she put her "green-thumb" to work. Later, when their children reached the age for school and they moved to their present home on Twenty Five Mile avenue, she employed her spare time with her flowers and garden there.

Her liking for club work stemmed from a desire to study biographies and historical novels and while living in the country she became a member of the L.A.E. club, a club organized by rural women. Now her reading list includes current literature, book reviews, outstanding newspapers and periodicals.

Former Resident's Engagement Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Hendrick of Tulla, formerly of Hereford, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Virginia, to Charles Ray Swain of Fort Worth.

The couple will be married at 8 o'clock August 25 in the 14th and Vine Church of Christ in Abilene. Don H. Morris, president of Abilene Christian college, will read the ceremony.

Miss Hendrick is a graduate of the Gould, Okla., high school and of Abilene Christian college. She is a member of Ko-Kai social club, was president of the home economics club, vice president of the Campus Service Organization, a member of the Women's Honor Society, reporter to the State Home Economics College clubs, and was listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Mr. Swain, who attends Abilene Christian college, is a graduate of Polytechnic high school. He is president of the 1952 senior class at the college, a member of the A. capella chorus, vice president of the Men's Honor Organization and was elected class favorite last year.

Mr. Hendrick was president of the Hereford State bank at the time they made their home in Hereford.

One of her childhood desires was to study art and recently she has been able to realize that ambition in the study of china painting, and she hopes to make some cherished dreams along that line come true. Her main hobby is collecting house plans. For years she has been collecting plans for homes and ideas on interior decoration. She has box after box of such plans stored away, and sometimes she gets them all together and draws blue prints of her own-for that new home they hope some day to build.

Her love of flowers led her to the Hereford Garden club, of which she was a member for a time, and she is a member of the First Baptist church. Her pride and joy are her two little granddaughters and she finds great pleasure in fashioning dainty little dresses and bonnets for them.

Theme of Study

This year, "Reflections At the Cross-Roads" will form the basis for the study course of the Lone Star club. A miscellaneous and varied program calls for current literature with book reviews, and covers the field of contemporary literature with programs on philosophy, economics, education, religion, fiction, drama, and poetry.

Organized in 1935, this club has continued to build its activities around the pledge "We will work and study, be honest and generous; we will help, not hinder; give praise to others and keep criticism for ourselves, and we will give of our best that we may be worthy of the club."

As has been the custom in the past, plans are also being made for social affairs in the club, guest day events and special speakers on topics of most interest to the twenty-five active club members. Opening date has been set for September 11.

Week-Long Owen Family Reunion Get - Together For 50 Relatives

A week-long reunion of children of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Owen has been held here the past week. All of the 10 children were present for the reunion, the first since 1946, when 76 members of the family attended. Fifty relatives have registered for the get-together this year.

The Owen family came to Hereford in 1908 and several of their children are graduates of Hereford high school. Many of their grandchildren and great-grandchildren have also attended Hereford schools. After Mr. and Mrs. Owen moved from Hereford in 1920, family reunions have been held periodically with the six sisters holding a get-together each year.

Most of the out of town relatives arrived Saturday and Sunday and activities for the entertainment of the group began Monday evening at a dinner given at the H. J. Roberson home, headquarters for the reunion.

The 10 children include: Mesdames Reber Howton, J. B. Harlin, H. J. Roberson, Hereford; Mrs. Tom Bilibrey, Avard; Mrs. George Hunter, Shawnee, Okla.; Mrs. O. R. Tipps, Wichita Falls; G. P. Owen, Hereford; J. Frank Owen, Oklahoma City; Dr. A. Hope Owen, Plainview; and T. D. Owen, Duncan, Okla.

The entire group attending the dinner included; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harlin, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bilibrey, Dr. and Mrs. A. Hope Owen, J. Frank Owen and Harriette, Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter, Mrs. Walter Owen, Chickasha, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roberson and daughter Sue of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. George Cameron and daughters Cindy and Lindy, and Mrs. Ray Palmer and son of Dimmitt; Mrs. Russell Poague and children of Friona; Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Gilliland, Mr. and Mrs. Art Manjeot, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Cassels, Dwaine, Jim and Pat; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilson and Diane; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Owen and Becky; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Owen, G. P. Owen Jr., Lawrence Owen, Homer Lee Owen, and the hosts.

Breakfast is given Mrs. Gerald Wilson, Mrs. G. P. Owen, and Mrs. Malcolm Cassels entertained with a breakfast at the Wilson home Wednesday morning honoring the sisters in the group and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Owen of Chickasha. They were assisted by Mrs. Warren Owen and Mrs. Bobby Owen.

Breakfast was served from a table laid with a yellow organza cloth embroidered in daisies and small tables for four were arranged for guests.

Attending were the honorees and: Mesdames P. H. Gilliland, A. L. Manjeot, Cliff Estes, Allen Powelson, T. W. Roberson, Carl Mouniz, and Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Thompson. Unable to attend the breakfast were Miss Mary Lou Roberson of Lubbock and Mrs. Ella Whitchurch.

Thursday a trip to Buffalo lake for boating and fishing entertained the group and Friday's diversion activities included spending most of the day in Palo Duro canyon. Thursday night the group was entertained at a ranch style bean supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Gilliland.

Saturday was highlighted by a wedding in the family. Dr. A. Hope Owen's son, Bruce Owen, was married Saturday in Plainview and the visiting and Hereford relatives attended.

Today marks the close of the reunion with the out-of-town members of the group returning to their respective homes.

"Since I Met You, I'm Not Afraid To Die"

Congressman Walter Rogers sent a copy of a Korean soldier's poem with his weekly newsletter from Washington last week. The poem previously appeared in the Hale Center American with an appropriate explanation:

"Pfc. Franklin Cargill, a first aid man with the 5th Cavalry Regiment in Korea attached to the First Infantry Division, recently sent his wife a poem which was found on the body of a GI fatally wounded in Korea. Pfc. Cargill, who was sent to Korea in March, has spent considerable time in front line areas in Korea picking up the wounded and delivering them to first aid station. The poem written by a soldier a short time before he was killed was submitted to the American by his wife. It is reproduced here:

Look, God, I have never spoke to you
But now I want to say, "How do you do?"
You see, God, they told me you didn't exist
And like a fool, I believed all this.
Last night from a shell hole I saw your sky.
I figured then they had told me a lie
Had I taken to see things you made
I would have known they weren't calling a spade a spade
I wonder, God, if you'd shake my hand
Somehow, I feel that you will understand
Seems funny I had to come to this hellish place
Before I had time to see your face.
Well, I guess there isn't much to say
But I'm sure glad, God, I met you today
I guess the zero hour will soon be here
But I'm not afraid since I know you are near.
The signal! Well, God, I'll have to go.
I like you a lot, This I want you to know
Look, now this will be an awful fight.
Who knows, I may come to your house tonight.
Though I wasn't friendly with you before
I wonder, God, if you'd wait at your door
Look! I'm crying! Me! Shedding tears -
I wish I had known you these many years.
Well I have to go now, God, Good-By!
Stranger, since I met you, I'm not afraid to die."

(Found on a fatally wounded G. I. in Korea)

"It occurs to me that if all the world would pay more attention to God and less to greed, there would be no battlefields and greater happiness," Rogers concluded.

OPS Survey To Start Soon on "Community Price" Program

In another week the Office of Price Stabilization will begin a nation-wide survey of food prices to lay the base for a program of posted dollar-and-cents "community prices" in grocery stores. It is announced by the Lubbock district OPS office.

The first step will be to survey prices of standard grocery items in 1,000 wholesale establishments. This will be followed by similar visits to over 2,000 retail grocery stores in the 84 district OPS offices. Information from individual sellers will be held in strictest confidence, said H. R. Gholson, Director of the District office.

A chief purpose of the survey will be to find out if there is enough stability in prices of a number of grocery items to make a community pricing program practicable. Community pricing is a system familiar in World War II under which the country is divided into relatively small market areas and grocery price ceiling set for each area on the basis of local transportation and other costs. These ceilings would be the same for all stores of each size class and would be printed on charts for posting in retail stores where all customers can see them, the District Director said.

"OPS is fully aware of the important part that a community pricing program can play in the Stabilization program, of the necessity of having published ceilings for consumers, and of the great help such a program can be to individual grocers in simplifying their pricing problems," he said.

He explained that the community pricing program during the last war had a lot to do with holding the line on wholesale and retail food prices from the time it was started in May 1943 to the end of that control program.

"Up to now," Gholson pointed out, "OPS is prohibited by law from controlling below-parity prices and has not had sufficient assurance that prices have been stable enough to make the printing and posting of ceiling charts practicable."

Mrs. John Kane and children, Carolyn and Phyllis, of Fayetteville, Ark., are visiting for five or six weeks in the home of her father, J. H. Miller.

Cecelia Wilkins is spending two weeks in the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Wilkins, of Temple.

The community has had a much appreciated rain the past week. The rain ranged from an inch to an inch and a half in the east part of the community and was some lighter in the west part of the community. Some fields of lettuce are up to a pretty stand and other fields have just been planted. Most of the farmers are watering their corn and grain sorghums.

New Books for Children at County Library

Books for school children from the second grade through high school make up the list of new books which arrived at Deaf Smith county library this week.

"The Swimming Hole" by Jerrold Belm is recommended for second grade reading by Mr. J. J. Boydston, librarian. A book which will be especially interesting to third grade readers is "Lucky Penny" by May Justus. It is a story of a boy who ran away from home and how a penny which he and a friend found proved to be a "lucky penny". Also on the third grade list is "Horace the Hound That Howled" by Ruth M. Collins.

A babysitter that can make a bathtub fly—that blows Christmas tree ornaments from his pipes—that drives his Ford, "Annabell", into the lake for fishing! "Mr. Pudgins" is the most remarkable babysitter since Mary Poppins. "Mr. Pudgins" by Ruth Christoffer Carlsen will be enjoyed by all fourth graders according to Mrs. Boydston. "Mr. Dawson Had A Farm" by R. O. Work, "Railroad Cowboy" by Catherine Woolley, "Scratchy" by John Parke, "The Roundhouse Cat" by Freeman H. Hubbard, and "Smoke Above the Lane" by Meindert DeFong completes the fourth grade reading list.

"A Race For Bill" is an exciting story of Bill Mason and the Hilledale Soapbox Derby, and is recommended for fifth and sixth grade readers. Also of interest to fifth and sixth grade readers will be "Rip Van Winkle & the Legend of Sleepy Hollow" by Washington Irving, "A Picture Book of Dogs" by Guy Withers, "Five Boys in A Cave" by Richard Church, "Josie And Joe" and "Josie and Joe Carry On" by Ruth Gipson Plowhead "Dollar For Luck" by Elizabeth Coatsworth, and "Violets Are Blue" by Mary Kennedy.

For the sixth to eighth grade level "Pirates, Pirates, Pirates" a collection of short stories about pirates by Phyllis Fenner is highly recommended by Mrs. Boydston. "Sunlight" by Elizabeth Meigs, "The Silver Wolf" by Merritt Parmalee Allen, "The Wabash Knows the Secret" by Elizabeth Hamilton

Friermood, "Pagan, A Border Patrol Horse" by Colonel J. P. Meek, "Lone Star Tomboy" by Allyn Allen, "Marooned in Du-Bu Cove" by Evelyn Cheesman, "The Base Stealer" by M. G. Ronner, "Three and One Picher" by Colin Lochlons, "Test Man On Pivot" by Duane Decker, and "Hot Corner" by Sidney Bowen are also recommended for this level.

High school reading includes: "Kay Ann", by Grace and Harold Johnson, "Dude Girl" by Doreen Foote, "Wild Hunter" by K. C. Randall, "Air Mission" by Frederic Nelson Litten, and "AWOL, The Courier" a story of AWOL in Korea, by Bertrand Shurtleff.

Buttermilk Desserts are Popular Summer Dishes

There seems to be no end to the many good dishes being made with buttermilk these days. We have buttermilk rolls, buttermilk salads and of course the many, many old favorites.

One of the best summertime recipes that has come to our notice is called Perfect Pineapple Sherbet and the name fits it splendidly, so perfectly smooth is its consistency. It is especially designed for those whose diet may include little fats or rich food. The buttermilk has all the milk value without the fat.

Mrs. Paul Dishman, a young bride, likes to keep this in the refrigerator for it keeps its smooth texture and is delightful to serve when one or more couples stop by.

- Perfect Pineapple Sherbet
- 2 cups buttermilk
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 9-oz. can crushed pineapple
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/4 teaspoon (1/2 envelope) Knox gelatine
 - 2 tablespoons cold water
 - 1 egg white beaten stiff

Political Antics Will Be Something To Watch Now

Politics, from now until the presidential election, will provide the American people with more humor than a three-ring circus.

Most of the fun will come before the actual heat of the campaign, though, as both parties begin to line up their candidates.

Americans who conscientiously seek a strengthening of the two-party system for the good of American democracy, are facing a stiff jolt in the current and anticipated antics of the Republicans in the fight for the GOP bid.

Just take a look at what they are up against:

First of all, they face the Eisenhower and Taft question. The camp is split, with the liberal side favoring that great American who proved so popular during and after World War II.

Ike could bring home the bacon for the Republicans, without a doubt. But are all the other party hopefuls going to stand by and watch their chances for the White House flit out the window?

Take Mr. Taft. His ambitions are no secret. He wants the nomination. But Taft is one of the "old-line Republicans." The voting public shies away from them. Taft's inconsistencies in public pronouncements and on vital national issues aren't doing him a bit of good.

Taft has the stigma of being "anti-labor." Whether he actually is or not makes no difference. The labor union interests will fight him tooth and nail all the way down the line.

Labor fought Taft vigorously in Ohio in 1950, but Taft's personal stock was higher at that time and his opponent wasn't senatorial timber.

If Taft would help the Republicans on a national scale, it would fool a lot of people.

Taft, such a power in the Republican party that he is called "Mr. Republican," started the public turning away from the party with his on-again, off-again stand on vital issues of American defense, especially since the outbreak of the Korean war.

The Democrats could well afford to have Taft run for president on the Republican ticket. They probably wouldn't have to campaign. Regardless, it would be an easy victory.

The Republicans need a name and a cause to make the American people follow them. In none of their campaign oratory during the last presidential election, did they offer any constructive programs. They just said they could administer existing ones better than the Democrats.

This confusion within the Republican party has done more to hurt the GOP in the last two presidential elections than anything else.

That was certainly no incentive for the American people to experiment.

To gain popular support, the Republicans will have to propose something on their own. You can't win just by being an "aginer." The GOP has been "agin" this and "agin" that for so long they have forgotten how to carry the ball.

You can't win the game by tackling and blocking alone. You have to get some points on the scoreboard.

As to the Democratic nomination, that at present is anyone's guess. Because of the GOP's tactics, a poor Democratic candidate (or even a hand-picked candidate), will be able to carry the country over an ordinary Republican candidate.

To win, the Republicans must not pick a GOOD candidate, but a SUPERLATIVE candidate. A known patriot, not a politician.

All fingers point to Eisenhower as the only choice for the GOP in this desperate attempt to revive the memory of a two-party system in American politics.

Just because the voters spilled Democrats in favor of GOPers in some states in 1950 is no indication that they (the GOP) will be handed the White House on a silver platter.

With no one person in the Republican camp who can get all the party faithful lined up on the same side at the same time, it looks as though it might be quite a chore to get the majority of about 80 million voters to agree on the line of the Republican high command's thinking.

There is definitely room in this country for Americans who are sincerely concerned over the future of their government. We have seen both parties drift too far from the principles on which they were founded.

We have seen political considerations take too high a precedence in both political camps.

From now on, both parties will be combining the past for every bit of political capital they can run across. Both parties will be searching for their best vote-getter. Charges are going to fly thick and fast.

Like we said, politics will provide the American people with more humor than a three-ring circus.—W. W. K.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

"Temporary Insanity" Plea Being Used Too Much, Readers Think

In your opinion, is "temporary insanity" just cause for acquitting a person or imposing a light penalty on them for committing major crimes? Do you think the "temporary insanity" plea is being overworked?

MRS. GLEN ANDERSON—I think if a psychiatrist says that they are temporarily insane that they should be more or less cured before they are given a sentence, but I think that they should be given a sentence of some sort. From what I read in the papers, I would say that the temporary insanity plea is being overworked. I think, however, that anyone would have to be temporarily insane to commit a crime.

FRED BAIRD—Yes, but the person should not be turned loose on the public. They should be committed to an institution and if they were released in a short time they should stand trial for the crime. I think that the temporary insanity plea is being overworked. I've read of several cases that in my opinion the lawyer pled temporary insanity just to keep his client from having to stand trial for the crime. Lots of criminals are being turned loose to commit another crime and plead temporary insanity again.

MRS. FLOYD WALTON SR.—No, I don't think that temporary insanity is any reason for getting out of a sentence for a major crime. I definitely think that the plea is being overworked.

A. J. SCHROETER—I would say that it would depend on what caused the temporary insanity. If it were drinking or something like that he should still be held responsible but if it was caused by some injury he should be given some consideration. Yes, I think that the plea is being overworked. The lawyer having his client's welfare in mind resorts to every technical-trick there is and I think that temporary insanity is one.

MADLINE BELL—No, I don't think they should be turned loose. There is a place for them if they are really insane. If they were turned loose they might have a lapse and do something else. Yes, I think the temporary insanity plea is being overworked. The lawyers are using it a little bit too often.

DON MARTIN—I don't see how we can hardly do anything but acquit them. However, I think that the plea of temporary insanity is being used too much.

Aiken Attacks Byrd

SEN. George Aiken was once governor of the rock-ribbed Republican state of Vermont, one of only two states voting for Alf Landon in 1936. Aiken is a frugal gentleman as are most Vermonters, but he writhed as he sat listening to Senator Byrd of Virginia lead a drive to cut appropriations for school lunches, juvenile delinquency, the Women's Bureau and The Children's Bureau.

Finally Aiken could stand it no more.

"An $80,000,000 ship is being built at Newport News, Virginia," he told Senator Byrd, who used to be governor of Virginia. "It will be turned over to one of the shipping lines for $28,000,000 or a gift by Uncle Sam of $50,000,000. That gift is 50 per cent more money than we plan to appropriate for maternal and child welfare work in this country under the budget cuts."

"Does a five-year-old child have any cash value?" continued the usually mild-mannered Vermont senator. "What is it worth to restore a crippled person to a place where he is self supporting? What is the cash value of a healthy mother, as compared to a sick one? Are we to determine this in terms of dollars and cents, and decide the fewer the cents the better off the country will be?"

"To hear the talk this afternoon," Aiken added bitterly, "one might assume that we ought to drown all our children and mothers and get them out of the way. Then they wouldn't cost us anything."

A Reason for Peace

Unquestionably one reason for Moscow's peace feelers is the effectiveness of a little-known U.S. weapon in Korea. For some reason, never explained at the MacArthur hearings, General MacArthur failed to use this weapon in the early stages of the Korean war. More recently, however, it has caused terrific Chinese casualties.

Peace Overtures

It is no longer a secret that U.S. delegates to the United Nations have been working with other U.N. members for some time on a Korean truce proposal and that Comrade Malik jumped the gun on them.

The most important issue in these discussions, however, has not leaked out—namely, the differences of opinion regarding two highly controversial points: 1. Disposition of Formosa; and 2. Seating the Chinese Reds in the United Nations.

The U.S. proposal, discussed with 15 other U.N. nations by U.S. Ambassador Ernest Gross, was to postpone any consideration of Formosa or seating the Reds until after all other conditions had been ironed out. The State Department was completely adamant on this, and maintained that we would not discuss these two points even until: 1. The whole Korean question had been settled, and 2. All troops had been withdrawn.

This was the chief stumbling block between ourselves and some other U.N. members.

The above terms were somewhat similar to those which President Truman sent to General MacArthur for his perusal just before Easter and which MacArthur subsequently issued as his own. MacArthur's jumping the gun was one fact which contributed to his ouster. The President, however, is in no position to oust Comrade Malik for likewise jumping the gun when he heard that the U.N. and the U.S.A. were working on a truce.

Stockpiling of Trifles Risky

With the nation facing a mobilization program of undetermined length, the amount of money spent for defense will mount rapidly.

During these times, we should be more cautious than ever that we get the most for our money in defense spending. We should insist, too, that government purchases be held to reasonable proportions.

Some of the recent purchases under the mobilization program include:

68,000,000 can openers since the start of the Korean war. There are about 1 1/2 million men in the army;

Army ordnance purchased 6,000,000 gallons of paint in quart and gallon cans. A full year's requirement, the army demanded delivery in 60 days. Paint suppliers also criticized this huge order in civilian-sized cans rather than in five-gallon cans;

The Army set up a requirement of 4,636,000 web belts for 1951. This is three belts per man, although only one is issued per man per year;

Army requirements for combat boots in 1951 was set up at 11,753,000 pairs, although the total consumption was estimated at 4,800,000 pairs;

In January, the Quartermaster service bought 5,000,000 of oleomargarine at 25 1/2 c per pound while the Department of Agriculture was selling 5,500,000 pounds of surplus butter to Italy at 15c per pound;

Government employment has increased by leaps and bounds, too, according to information supplied by the Byrd committee. Federal employment on December 31, 1950 rose from 2,184,681 to 2,409,121 on April 30, an increase of 224,440 in four months. Uncle Sam has been hiring federal employees at the rate of 1,870 per day, every day of the month;

Besides the above instances, the government purchasing agency reports it has 11,000 desks on hand in warehouses. The new Defense Transportation Administration is "stockpiling stenographers against needs of the future."

No one can argue with the bona fide defense expenditures asked for and needed by our government in this crisis. But, armed with our OK for defense expenditures, they should take special precautions against tying up money in needless stocks.

Our tax dollars can be put to better use than stockpiling inventories while the rest of us are asked to limit buying to head off inflation.—W. W. K.

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

We can hardly wait for the bike parade next Friday mornin'! The way the kids are gettin' steamed up it bids fair to be one of the most enthusiastic and unique parades that Hereford has yet witnessed.

The ten dollar bill offered by the Lions Club seems to look the biggest to most of the would be contestants but anyone of the prizes to be given is an unusually nice gift and a real credit to the donor.

We used to think about the best supper ever served was when we used to drive out in a buggy to our Uncle's and line up on a long bench behind the table with five or six cousins for corn bread and sweet milk but when we rushed into Ike's Cafe a few noons ago for a delicious hot chicken sandwich we certainly weren't expectin' to see Sully Gleaton finish off a meal by crumblin' his corn sticks into a glass of milk.

Anybody who has been out to our place lately knows we have an acute surplus of dogs.

We would like to find a good home for a pretty tan and white puppy about seven months old that would make somebody in the country the nicest kind of a dog.

As we don't have any chickens at present we can't guarantee her behavior around the hen house but she is already a good watch dog and takes a lot of interest in stock.

Panhandle Paragraphs

ONE WAY TO DO IT

A small Briscoe county girl was the only one who could remember the license number of the family car. How did she do it? Very simple—There were three children in the family; but when sister was at college there were just four in the household; when they were all on vacation there were 0 at home; and when they all returned home there would be five at home. Thus the license number 3405.

THREE MUSKETEERS?

Puzzled is the only word for a certain police department. Two imitation flamingos which were used as yard ornaments were stolen along with a bird bath. According to the Uvalde Leader News, the puzzling thing is the only clues—the tracks of three horses.

PRODUCTION SPEED-UP

The Colorado City Record reports that an aircraft plant has equipped their messenger girls with roller skates to speed up the delivery of blueprints to engineers. Now the girls are able to deliver the prints in less than half the walking time by sailing down long corridors on wheels.

WHO IS FOLLOWING WHOM?

Instead of the son following in his father's footsteps, the father is following in the son's footsteps, according to the State Line Tribune. The son took the mumps but father, who hadn't ever had them, wasn't afraid. If he had gone this long without taking the mumps, it seemed only reasonable that he wouldn't have them. Two days later and father was at home in bed holding his swollen jaws.

SUPER SNEEZE

This isn't a Panhandle Paragraph but it is good enough to be included among them. A 47-year-old man from Columbus, O. sneezed just as he was passing through his upstairs hallway. He lost his balance and fell, dislocating his back.

A NEW SLANT

Instead of picketing the dairy itself a group of union workers have been following the dairy trucks around. Every time the truck stops, the pickets get out a parade around the truck, according to the Hockley County Herald.

NO SUIT—CATTLE IN THE WRONG

The Moore County News tells about a man who refused suit for cattle that were killed by a train. He thinks that the cattle were entirely in the wrong as his letter to the railroad reveals. "It seems that two of my cows got out of their confines and tried to force one of your freight trains off its beaten track. My cows were definitely out of order and therefore you may consider the matter unconditionally closed."

DANGEROUS BUSINESS

Instead of burns for which most firemen are treated Blaine Kensley was treated for a broken collar bone which he received when water knocked him against an engine. Before he could fight his way out of the stream of water he almost drowned.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg has a glimmer of an idea this week, for a change.

Dear editor:
My neighbor went into town yesterday mornin' just before the mail carrier arrived and since nobody in this country believes in suppression of knowledge I helped myself to his newspaper and carefully put it back in the box after I got through with it, but one of the things I read in it before I did was about a Congressman in New Jersey who put on an apron and got behind a meat counter to find out what housewives think about the price of meat.

Now while I ain't never heard of a woman who complained because the meat in the meat market wasn't priced high enough, good times or bad, inflation or deflation, this Congressman got his name in the paper pretty prominently because he found women are hoppin mad at the present price of meat, and accordin to him this proves the government ought to roll back the price.

I ain't sayin necessarily that a lot of Congressmen would be of more service to their country behind a store counter than behind a desk in the halls of Congress, but if Congressmen are gonna go into this matter of what people think of high prices, I don't see no sense in stoppin just with meat.

I'd like to have some Congressman work a while in an implement store and hear what farmers think about the high price of tractors and tractor parts, tires and innertubes. While he was workin there, another one could be behind a drygoods counter and hear what farmers think of the price of work pants and shoes. Also, ought to be a good opportunity behind a counter in a feed and seed store to hear what they think of the price of plantin seed, fertilizer, poison, etc. Shouldn't leave out the drug counter, or the fillin station, or the lumber yard, appliance store, barber shop, cafe, etc.

In fact, if Congress wants a complete picture, they might as well adjourn and hire out, and when they get back in session after a few months of workin behind counters and listenin, they gonna find out meat ain't the only thing that's high in this country. Seems like everything in this country has gone up except my bank account.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CONG. ROGERS SAYS

Inflation Question Brought to Head in Defense Production Act

MORE ON THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT: This piece of legislation is one of the most important that will ever come before Congress. The debate has been long and at times heated. There is no doubt that the members of this congress will refuse to place unlimited powers in the hands of appointed officials. This is proven by the many amendments that are being offered. We hope to finish this bill today and it is possible that it will be in a conference committee by the time you read this letter. Much has been said about the fear of inflationary trends and all speeches indicate a desire to stop them. Congressman Jim Davis of Georgia brought the issue to a point by introducing an amendment that would freeze all prices as of July 7 of this year, the freeze to remain in effect for four months. This amendment carried the committee of the whole house and if it remains in the house bill, it will probably receive much debate

In the conference committee. It provides an immediate stop to inflation and an opportunity to solve the problems within the next 120 days. This is the most important amendment that has been proposed and I hope it stays in the bill. Cloak Room gossip is that unless this amendment stays in the bill, there may be no defense production act.

RESEARCH ON WHEAT AND OTHER CEREAL INFESTATION: I appeared before a senate appropriations committee a few days ago on behalf of an appropriation for research to fight the wheat and other cereal grain infestations. This is a serious problem, especially in our section of the country, and we must have research to protect our food supplies. Here is a portion of a committee report which I think expresses and explains the need for this research:

"Science saves our cereals: Stem rust and other diseases took an enormous toll until varieties developed through co-operative research with State agricultural experiment stations came into general use. When scientists learned that the rust organism spent part of its life on certain varieties of barberries, a large-scale campaign was organized to get rid of these plants. This proved to be a herculean task and is still going on.

Our temporary conquest of stem rust has not come easily. It was one of the earliest diseases to demand attention of cereal breeders. Scientists were puzzled to see a variety that had stood up for several years suddenly succumb. New varieties often met the same fate after a few years of successful resistance. For a while it looked as though we were losing ground as fast as we gained it.

One of the essential ingredients of science is ingenuity. It expressed itself in the mind and hands of a young scientist at Minnesota. He demonstrated that there are many races or forms of stem rust and that varieties of wheat or other cereals might be resistant to one race but not to another. This basic discovery explained many failures of the past and set up new guideposts for the future. It complicated the task of wheat breeders immeasurably because they were fighting not one organism but a host of organisms, all capable of causing stem rust.

Later on it was learned that the rust spores were hybridizing in nature (during the period spent on barberries) at a faster rate than we were able to hybridize wheat and other cereals. This race between man and nature is still going on. We are only a few steps ahead. If we slacken our pace the gains of a lifetime will quickly disappear and the rusts will take over.

The recurring problem of plant diseases is well illustrated with oats. In Iowa, farmers have had to shift varieties of this crop twice in the last 10 years because of diseases. Fortunately, new varieties were available because of research. Through increased use of these new varieties, Iowa farmers alone have harvested what has amounted to one extra crop of oats since 1940, and the total of this new wealth has added up to more than $100,000,000. And the benefits have extended over into other oat-growing States.

New races of oat-stem rust—2, 7, and 8—were found over a wide-spread area this summer (1950) with much damage in many States. These new races were found in the Dakotas, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Mississippi, and Florida. Present commercial varieties are susceptible to these new races. We have a resistant source of parent material in our breeding nurseries, but it will take time to breed this resistance into commercial varieties."

TELEVISION: Television is receiving perhaps more attention at the present time than any other field of communications. I think I can tell you that it won't be long before the Panhandle will have television. Great strides have been made in this field and the Federal Communications Commission will probably take action within the next few months that may result in the Panhandle having access to a television station. I can tell you that it is a great thing, as we have a set here in Washington. The only trouble is that during school time it is difficult to get the children away from the television set. You never know how many of the neighbors' children are in your house. The way people here find their children is to call some of the neighbors who have television sets. Usually the children are there. Many of the people here are able to get their children to eat most any kind of food if they put it in front of a television set. The child is so engrossed in Hopalong Cassidy, or Captain Video, that he automatically eats whatever is in front of him and never knows whether it is spinach or apple pie.

Housewives Must File Returns on Domestic Help

"Housewives must file social security tax returns for their domestic workers for the second quarter of 1951 by July 31 at the latest," according to J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo social security field office. Covered by the new law are household workers who are employed in one home on at least 24 days and earn as much as $50 in a calendar quarter.

Sanderson advised employers of domestics, who have not already done so, to immediately get in touch with the collector of internal revenue. "It is necessary to do this only once," he said, "thereafter the collector's office will mail your tax blanks to you each quarter."

"The new law," Sanderson stated, "covers domestics on a compulsory basis and for the first time gives workers regularly employed in a private household the same retirement and survivorship protection that other workers have enjoyed under the social security program."

Former Resident Writes of Great Kansas City Flood

(Ed. Note—The following letter was written to The Brand by a former resident of Hereford who has just gone through the Kansas City flood, the greatest flood in American history.)
 Hereford Brand,

and causing heartache and disaster to thousands of families who have worked and saved for years just to have everything taken from them overnight.

These are just a few of the tragedies that we, the people in Kansas City, are now witnessing.

city and the people is wonderful. Schools, churches, public buildings and homes are opening their doors wide to the flood victims. The Salvation Army and Red Cross are doing a magnificent job of helping these people also.

With all this cooperation and bravery, Kansas City can't help but come through all right, we think, but Friday, July 13 will be remembered always in our hearts. Sincerely, Mrs. Ina Mae (Hewitt) Hunsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hewitt Sr.

Fortunately, my family isn't in danger as we are residing in an apartment house which is on higher ground. Maybe being a Hereford girl, myself, has given us luck.

In comparing Hereford with Kansas City—I'll take Hereford any old day. Give me Hereford where the winds blow and the famous irrigation wells are! That's home.

The sights that I have seen here in Kansas City today will remain with me always I saw homes, lovely furniture, stoves, refrigerators, etc. being swept down the roaring Missouri river.

The negroes and a few whites were rescuing pigs and cows from the river banks and taking them home. The pigs and cattle were from the packing houses nearby, which were swept away in the flooding waters.

Stores and industries not engaged in essential work were ordered to cease operation to conserve water.

The public was asked to boil all water for cooking and drinking as the health and water department believes there might be impurities in the wa-
