

Saul object of reprimand

By prosecutors council

Action has again been taken against Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul, this time by the Texas Prosecutors Coordinating Council.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported this morning the council filed a public reprimand last Friday with the Texas Supreme Court, saying Saul failed to "properly supervise his staff and permitted conflicts of interest between his public office and his private law firm."

On Dec. 30, a state bar grievance committee filed suit against Saul in 22nd District Court, asking that Saul be "reprimanded, suspended or disbarred" for alleged violations of the Code of Professional Responsibility of the State Bar of Texas. A similar suit was brought against Hereford attorney Jerry Smith, Saul's former assistant, and both men later filed answers denying all charges made against them.

The reprimand reportedly pointed out at least four of the allegations made in the state bar law suit, including mention of an involuntary manslaughter trial that was dismissed by 22nd District Judge David Wesley Guiley. That case has been cited as representing a conflict of interests because Smith was representing the family of the person killed in the accident while Saul "caused the driver of the vehicle to be indicted for involuntary manslaughter."

Also mentioned in the reprimand is a misappropriation of state funds complaint in which Smith issued a $935.87 check for his work on the Abel Villarreal versus Deaf Smith County case. That check was deposited the same day to the checking account of the law firm of Saul, Smith and Davis, in which the district attorney and his former assistant were partners.

The district attorney's office also mishandled a delinquent child support case, says the council, because a member of Saul's firm defended a man found in contempt of a child support order while Saul again served as the prosecutor.

A suit and counter-suit involving labor leader Jesus Moya was mentioned as well, with the council saying Saul "failed to recognize a conflict of interest and take appropriate action to avoid the appearance of impropriety" by accepting a criminal complaint against Moya. Saul reportedly then knew his law firm represented parties who had filed a suit against Moya and others in Federal District Court.

The prosecutors council voted last month 8-1 to reprimand Saul, the Avalanche-Journal quoted chairman Tim Curry as saying. Curry could not be reached this morning, though reports were confirmed by Scott Klippel of the council office in Austin.

Klippel would not comment on the reprimand and how it would affect Saul as the district attorney. "The document is really quite self-explanatory," he said. "When you obtain a copy you will be able to understand what it means. It is a public record."

In today's Amarillo Globe-News, an investigative news story by staff writer Terin Miller suggested additional evidence that Saul knew about stolen goods stored in the barn of Hereford farmer Robert Strain as early as 1981.

An unnamed Hereford attorney reportedly took a sworn statement last August from Phyllis Bradshaw, then a prisoner in the Deaf Smith County Jail after being indicted on forgery and passing charges. Bradshaw claimed she informed Saul of the alleged fencing operation that year while he was questioning her on a welfare fraud case.

Saul told the Globe-News that he had heard rumors, but never received sufficient evidence to prepare a search warrant until last August.

Just Across The Highway

A graveled road and chain-link fence are the only improvements made so far on land purchased last September by Valley View Energy of Dallas. The company has announced plans to build a 40-megawatt per day electricity generating plant, using feedlot waste as a fuel. Residents who live not far from the site have complained about the company's intent to keep a 120-day supply of cow manure stockpiled at the location.

Residents oppose plant

Uses manure for fuel

Rural Hereford residents who live near the site of a proposed electricity generating plant have gone on record as being opposed to the construction and operation of the facility.

Monty Adams, Hereford High School vocational agriculture instructor and nearest resident to the site, has filed a formal complaint with the Texas Air Control Board against Valley View Energy of Dallas. The plant will supposedly use feedlot waste as fuel to produce the electricity. Adams said Monday his major complaint is that a huge stockpile of manure would be stored at the location.

Adams and other residents in the area reportedly obtained their information from B.R. Ferris, an operational manager for Valley View who visited them last week. He came after hearing residents did not like the idea of the plant going in when so little information had been made available publicly.

Valley View purchased 300 acres of land last September from the City of Hereford, and since then has been very secretive about plans for the land. About all city officials were reportedly told was that it would be some type of energy source that would utilize feedlot waste as a manufacturing fuel.

Adams said Ferris told him last week the plant would require 1,600 tons of manure per day, with 70 truck loads hauled in daily. He said Ferris also indicated there would be 400 tons of ash removed daily as a waste product, and catch ponds would be installed for runoff water for manure and waste.

Adams and others were told that while workers would be able on most days to haul manure from local feedyards, a stockpile would be maintained in anticipation of those days when weather or other circumstances would not permit a fresh daily supply.

"The manure pile will be likely breeding grounds for flies and will move as small dust particles during frequent heavy winds," Adams said in his Feb. 17 letter to the Regional Air Control Board in Lubbock.

Ferris is out of town until Thursday, and no one at the company could confirm or deny that the manure will indeed be left out in the open air. One spokesman did say he understood a 120-day supply would be maintained.

County Commissioner Bill Bradley said Monday he mailed a letter to the Air Control Board on Friday asking for a public hearing so that more information could be made available to landowners and the public in general.

"Nobody wants a pile of manure right outside their front door," he explained.

Gerald Hudson of the ACB in Lubbock said today that public hearings will be held, even without requests, as part of the legal process necessary for Valley View to obtain permits to construct and operate.

"Our permit engineer in Austin is now reviewing their application," he explained. "If it is approved, we will authorize the company to post public notice with the local media, announcing the date of a public hearing."

He said that approval would be granted only if "the review indicates the company will comply with our regulations."

"The only problem we see is with the potential odor," he said. "And that's subjective, a judgment call really. We have to remember that manure is not an unusual odor around Hereford."

He added, however, that the board has always been concerned with the location of the site. "We are a little reluctant about it being so close to the people," he admitted.

"This is probably one of these things where nobody will be real happy when we get through. We have to try to be as neutral and fair and reasonable as we can." He said he expects the permit engineer to finish his investigation within the next two weeks.

Hereford city officials say they haven't been in recent contact with the company, but indicate confidence in Valley View's intent to comply with clean air regulations.

"I can't believe they would pay $150,000 for the land, and $50 million or more to build the plant, and not build it according to state or federal guidelines," Hereford Mayor Wes Fisher said Monday.

Mondale's confidence boosted

By EVANS WITT AP Political Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Walter F. Mondale says his "perhaps spectacular" victory in Iowa will help convince Democrats that he is the man to defeat Ronald Reagan, but his opponents for the nomination say they will be ready for him next week in New Hampshire.

Sen. John Glenn, whose claim to be Mondale's prime challenger sank under the weight of a fifth-place finish, said, "We took a licking tonight but we are on to New Hampshire ... I hope we do much better than we did in Iowa. Obviously, we won't do much worse."

Mondale scheduled a quick trip to the Granite State today. Others were already at work there, preparing for the first-in-the-nation primary Feb. 28.

After the dimensions of his Iowa caucus victory became clear Monday night, former vice president Mondale told reporters:

"I think I'm going to be nominee and I think this win here in Iowa strengthens me considerably," said Mondale. "Tonight is the beginning of the end of the Reagan administration. Let the word go out from Iowa to the nation — to all Americans who want a safer world, I am on your side."

Iowa Republicans held caucuses as well on Monday, but Reagan had no opposition for renomination. To rally his troops and beat up on the Democrats, Reagan came to Iowa on Tuesday for his first political trip since he announced.

Mondale's victory was lopsided and long expected. Television networks projected his triumph while the caucuses were still under way, prompting an outraged state chairman, David Nagel, to complain that they had interfered with the process.

Mondale nearly shut out his opponents in the fight for national convention delegates. He took nearly half the raw vote at the 2,495 precinct meetings and led for 48 of 50 nominating delegates. Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado, whose second-place finish gives him a claim to be Mondale's top challenger, won two delegates.

"It will be a big boost. It will add additional energy to our effort here," Hart told supporters in Manchester, N.H. "Hopefully, it does turn this into a Hart-Mondale race ... It sets up a contest between the party's future and its past."

George McGovern, starting late and spending little here, finished a surprising third and called it a "minor miracle."

"A great many Iowa voters ... voted their convictions and voted their conscience," said the party's 1972 standard-bearer.

With the New Hampshire primary only eight days away, Mondale said the Iowa results stand as a "recommendation to the rest of the nation" to support him.

Iowa will send a total of 58 of the 3,933 delegates to the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco in July. Eight of the state's delegates are officially pledged to any candidate, while the rest will be picked to back candidates.

McGovern, just short of the required 15 percent, was close to winning Iowa delegates and could end up with a couple at the state convention in June.

The rest of the field — Glenn, Sens. Alan Cranston of California and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, the Rev. Jesse Jackson and former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew — were shut out. Jackson and Hollings made virtually no effort in the state.

Cranston had been looking for a strong finish to boost his long-shot campaign, but he came in fourth in the raw vote.

"We will not get the momentum that we had wanted out of Iowa, but that does not mean that we cannot build it in the week ahead," Cranston said. "I think we'll come in close enough that we'll be able to mount a strong race."

The delegates boosted Mondale's total to 118, far ahead of Glenn's 17. The House Democratic Caucus picked 164 of its members as delegates earlier this month.

Mondale labored long and hard to win in a state where he has ties going back many years. As a senator from

All the rest of the candidates were far behind, with "uncommitted" drawing some support. Here are the numbers for the rest of the field in raw vote:

Hart, 9,286, or 15 percent; McGovern, 7,896, 13 percent; Cranston, 5,617, 9 percent; Uncommitted, 4,701, 7 percent; Glenn, 3,310, 5 percent; Askew, 2,084, 3 percent; Jackson, 1,670, 3 percent; and Hollings, 154.

City donates $2,000 to center

Follows recent county offering

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Panhandle Alcoholic Recovery Center, pledged $4,200 last week by Deaf Smith County Commissioners, was granted $2,000 Monday night by the Hereford City Commission.

The move followed a lengthy donation plea by Glen Nelson, Deaf Smith County judge, and PARC Director James A. Anderson. The $2,000 figure, never requested by the two, was instead first mentioned when Commissioner Emory Brownlow made the successful motion. Ed Coplen was the one negative in the 3-1 vote (R.W. "Bud" Eades was the only commissioner not present).

Coplen contended city residents have already contributed to the center through their county taxes. In addition to last week's pledge of $4,200, county commissioners had earlier this fiscal year given PARC and a now-closed detoxification center approximately $4,000.

Nelson claimed the cost of treating Deaf Smith patients at PARC is greater "by a big shot" than what has been locally contributed to the center. He also stressed the request for city funds was a one-time plea, as money is needed only to help PARC operate from April through September, the end of the current budgetary year.

This need for emergency relief has so far resulted in $50,000 to $70,000 from county governments, Anderson said. Gov. Mark White's office, he continued, is looking into matching those funds. Assuming all that money comes to PARC, the center will still need around $20,000 to $50,000 to survive the coming five-month period, according to its director.

"I noticed just a short time ago it looked awful bad," Nelson remarked. "We thought we might have to lose the operation."

Hereford was the first Panhandle city approached about donations to PARC, Anderson and Nelson said, though they added all area towns would be contacted.

Prior to making his motion, Brownlow said, "I don't mind being the first to do anything, whether it be 'yes' or 'no.'"

On factor which apparently contributed to the donation was Nelson's assurance of future adequate funding was being worked out. A Thursday meeting of the Panhandle County Judges Chemical Abuse System Inc., which is to have complete control of PARC April 1, justices have control over what, if any, is given to the alcohol recovery center.

Nelson said he knew of at least two local businessmen who have been successfully treated at PARC. "This is the type of person we're helping and getting back into society," he said.

Forty people from Deaf Smith County have been treated at the Amarillo center during the last two years, Anderson said. Bad publicity caused the number to drop from 25 in 1982 to 15 last year.

In all, about 275 received treatment in 1983 at PARC, which the director said cures about two-thirds of its "clients." Patients — who may be either male or female — are most often volunteers and from the Panhandle, he claimed.

Anderson said the facility's operating expenses were about $310,000 last year and should run $20,000 less in 1984. Twenty-four of the 25 Panhandle counties "have been very supportive" of PARC, he added. Only Briscoe County has not contributed in the last five years, and that is due to a lack of identified alcoholics, he explained.

Blood drive's end coming

Wednesday is to be the last chance for those participating in the civic club blood drive competition to donate blood for their clubs' credit.

The Coffee Memorial Bloodmobile from Amarillo is to be at Hereford Community Center from 4 to 6:30 p.m. for the regular monthly blood drive.

All local residents are urged to support the Wednesday event.

Firemen answer two calls

Two fires were handled Saturday by Hereford Volunteer Firemen, including one which resulted in major damage to a bedroom. Fire Marshall Jay Spain said this morning.

An electric blanket in the 627 Stanton home of Pedro Serna caused the bedroom blaze at approximately 7 a.m. No one was injured during the fire, which caused minor smoke damage throughout the rest of the residence, according to Spain.

The other call was at 1:15 p.m., when a chimney fire broke out at 1002 E. Third St. Spain said only minor damage occurred in the home, occupied by Mary Waldrip.

Tailgate stolen from GMC

A 1983 GMC vehicle's tailgate, worth about $400, was stolen sometime Thursday night from 514 Willow Lane, Hereford police reported this morning.

Owner of the item was Mike Paschel of same address. The theft supposedly occurred between 8 p.m. and 7:15 a.m.

The front door window of First National Fuel on Holly Sugar Road, meanwhile, was broken sometime Friday evening between 9 and 9:30. Police suspect a rock was used to inflict the damage, estimated by owner Ron Crist to be around $400.

Among the many weekend arrests were eight for driving while intoxicated and five for public intoxication. There was also one case of attempted suicide and one minor, non-injury motor vehicle accident.

Two hospitalized, one dead

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A 24-year-old Vietnamese woman and her 4-year-old daughter remained hospitalized today after an apparent murder-suicide attempt in which another child died, authorities said.

Police said the woman's 3-year-old son was found dead on a bed, near his mother, in their two-bedroom apartment just before 10 p.m. Sunday night. The girl was wandering through the apartment, investigators said.

The mother was listed in serious condition today at Northwest Texas Hospital, while the girl was in satisfactory condition, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Several empty containers of prescription drugs and several written messages were found in the apartment, police Lt. Bill Kral said. But the woman does not speak English and interpreters were trying to decipher the notes, he said.

Lucas wants change of trial site

GEORGETOWN, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for Henry Lee Lucas, who says he is responsible for the slayings of more than 150 women, said they would ask State District Judge John Carter today to move Lucas' upcoming murder trial out of Georgetown.

Lucas currently is scheduled to go to trial March 5 in Georgetown in the slaying of an unidentified woman hitchhiker.

Carter has just completed presiding over the 4½-week trial of nurse Genene Jones, who received a 99-year sentence in the slaying of a 15-month child.

Farmworkers ask injunction

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas farm workers say they will try today to make their temporary victory on insurance coverage for injured workers permanent.

On Jan. 17, State District Judge Harley Clark extended his previous court ruling prohibiting the Industrial Accident Board from rejecting any on-the-job injury claim from farm workers. The board administers the state law on workers compensation.

"This order will restrain the board from finding that an injured employee is not covered on the basis that he is a farm or ranch employee if that employer is covered by some sort of insurance coverage on any other group of employees," the judge said.

It's a two man race

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Buoyed by a second-place finish in Iowa, Colorado Sen. Gary Hart says the key to his Democratic presidential bid is immediate recognition as the only alternative to front-runner Walter F. Mondale.

"I think you'll see the gap narrowed very, very quickly," Hart told reporters who crowded around him at his Manchester campaign headquarters Monday night.

"I think this will be a two-person race, and I'll win it." Hart said his No. 2 showing in Iowa's precinct caucuses will focus more attention on him, enrich his campaign coffers and persuade undecided voters in New Hampshire and other early contest states that his candidacy is alive and deserves their support.

Government pinpointed problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure of a crucial cooling system at the nation's largest nuclear power plant last week was forewarned by government researchers in a report 19 months ago.

But, as with so many nuclear mishaps, correcting the problem that triggered an "alert" last Tuesday at the Browns Ferry plant was postponed while officials, disagreeing over the earlier findings, await a new study.

Both the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority, which owns the Athens, Ala., plant, were told in July 1982 that its system to prevent overheating during a reactor shutdown was vulnerable to failure.

Researchers at the government's Idaho Falls National Laboratory said that vulnerability posed the single biggest risk of a core meltdown — the most potentially catastrophic accident possible — at the three-reactor Browns Ferry plant.

Campaign rekindles controversy

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The simmering controversy over broadcast vote projections exploded here with the state Democratic chairman angrily complaining that television networks interfered with Iowa's kickoff caucuses by reporting as they began that Walter F. Mondale was the winner.

David Nagle echoed the protests sounded after the networks projected President Reagan's victory over Jimmy Carter in 1980 long before West Coast polls had closed.

"I think they've interfered," Nagle said after CBS projected Mondale the winner in Iowa at 8:12 p.m. Monday — 12 minutes after the caucuses were scheduled to begin. "I think there's a line and I think they crossed it."

"We haven't even started the process," Nagle complained. "We haven't even started the game."

NBC's forecast in Iowa followed CBS' by six minutes, and both came before Democrats participating in the caucuses were supposed to begin registering their presidential preferences, at 8:30 p.m.

ABC's projection, based on reports from several "key precincts," came at 8:46 p.m.

Marines start to pull up stakes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Marine combat force began pulling up stakes at its Beirut airport base today and moving to Navy ships off the Lebanese coast.

Seventeen months after digging in with French, Italian and British troops, the Marines began flying out by helicopter and sailing out by landing craft from the Green Beach area where they first set up a landing dock.

"Today the support people have gone, and we're working on the combat gear," Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks told reporters. "Today is the first day of the relocation of the actual 22nd MAU personnel."

Brooks was referring to the 22nd Marine Amphibious Unit — the combat force holding frontline positions around the airport base, surrounded now by leftist militias claiming victory over the collapsing Lebanese army.

For days now, the Marines have been shipping out equipment and troops that served as support for the fighting men. Brooks said the support troops were "99 percent gone."

"We still have a few cats and dogs left and now we're getting to the combat force," he said.

Requesting City Funds

James A. Anderson (foreground), director of Panhandle Alcohol Recovery Center in Amarillo, attended Monday night's Hereford City Commission meeting to help

request funds for PARC. Also there to ask for money was Glen Nelson, Deaf Smith County judge. The commission donated $2,000.

Support people gone

Marines pulling out today

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. Marines began pulling their combat forces out of Beirut today to Navy ships offshore, and Israeli warplanes bombed and strafed suspected guerrilla positions in the Syrian-controlled central mountains.

"Today the support people have gone and we're working on the combat gear," said Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks. "Today is the first day of the relocation of the actual 22nd MAU (Marine Amphibious Unit) personnel."

Brooks said he did not know how many of the roughly 1,300 Marines based at Beirut airport would leave today. He said the evacuation would take "approximately a week, maybe two."

Brooks said all support gear and 99 percent support personnel had been evacuated since President Reagan disclosed his decision Feb. 7 to withdraw the Marine contingent from the airport.

The Marine base has been surrounded by Syrian-backed Druse and Shiite Moslem militias since the militias wrested control of mostly Moslem west Beirut from the Lebanese army 15 days ago.

The Israeli military command said its warplanes attacked "terrorist targets" — the usual reference to Palestinian guerrillas — in Mansouriyeh, Ain Jdeide and south of Bhandoun, a Druse-held town about nine miles southeast of the Lebanese capital on the Beirut-Damascus Highway.

There were no immediate reports of damage or casualties in the raid, the second this week and the fifth this year. All Israeli planes returned safely to base, the command said.

The raid coincided with reports the Israeli army has moved dozens of tanks and armored personnel carriers across its southern defense line toward Beirut over the past two days.

In Beirut, police said 11 people were killed today during clashes across the "green line" separating the capital's Moslem and Christian sectors and in fighting at the Lebanese army garrison in Souk el-Gharb, atop a mountain east of Beirut. At least 86 civilians and combatants were wounded, police said.

U.S. Navy jets made repeated reconnaissance runs over Beirut and the neighboring hills overnight and this morning, drawing no ground fire, Lebanon's state radio said.

Despite the fighting, and demands by opposition leaders for the resignation of President Amin Gemayel, two Saudi Arabian envoys were sent to Syria, reportedly to propose another peace plan that would keep Gemayel in office, impose a cease-fire and comply with Syria's demand that the Lebanese-Israeli troop withdrawal pact be scrapped unconditionally.

Once the Marines in Beirut pull out, only French troops of the multinational force will remain in the Lebanese capital, although some Marines are expected to remain ashore to guard the U.S. Embassy offices on west Beirut's seafloor.

The British and Italian contingents of the four-nation force have already pulled out.

Feb. 25th falls on Saturday. The Kent Hance Rally is scheduled here Saturday, Feb. 25. It is not set on Friday, Feb. 24, as reported in Sunday's Brand.

The fund-raising event is sponsored by the Parmer-Deaf Smith County steering committee for Hance and will include a reception and chili supper Saturday.

The Chili Supper Rally will begin at 7 p.m. in the Bull Barn, and tickets are $5 each. The reception to honor Hance will begin at 5:30 p.m. Saturday in the Community Room of Hereford State Bank. Tickets for the latter event are $100 each.

Reception planned Thursday for Evans

Buddie Evans, longtime district superintendent for Energas Co., is retiring April 1 after 36 years with the company.

A reception honoring Evans is scheduled Thursday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Energas Flame Room. All friends are invited to attend.

Evans is a member and past president of Hereford Lions Club and has 26 years perfect attendance at club meetings. He has also been active in the chamber of commerce, Little League baseball, and United Way. He helped organize and was the first president of the Hereford Bowler's Association.

BUDDIE EVANS

Evans began work for West Texas Gas Co. (later named Pioneer Natural Gas and now Energas) at Plainview April 1, 1948. He transferred to Hereford as district superintendent Sept. 1, 1954.

Consultant says

Job should be divided

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The Texas Department of Corrections is too complicated to be directed by one manager and the job should be divided in half, a firm studying the prison system's management has recommended.

The director's job should be replaced by a chief executive officer and a chief operations officer, representatives of a consulting firm reported to the Texas Board of Corrections Monday.

McKensie & Co. was hired about a month ago to make a progress report on the prison system, which recently has been the subject of investigations by the state attorney general's office and at least four other state agencies.

Those probes have uncovered fiscal mismanagement, improper purchasing practices, questionable hiring of consultants, excessive architectural and engineering fees, cost overruns in construction and brutality to inmates.

"One person can no longer manage this institution," George Norsig, a spokesman for McKensie & Co., told the board. "There are too many functions covering too many areas and too many things to do."

He proposed the chief executive officer develop policy, deal with legislators, oversee changes and select and develop a management team. A second executive, the chief operations officer, would deal with security, monitor compliance with court orders and oversee the inmate services program.

"At this stage, I'm so frustrated anything would be good," said Robert Gunn, chairman of the board. He described the recommendation as "very workable, very pragmatic. I think everyone would agree."

The board did not formally adopt the plan, but Gunn said the board's basic agreement would allow prison officials to

"start narrowing our search for a new director. Perhaps we can throw out as many as two-thirds of the names we've got."

He said he was hopeful a director might be named by next month.

The McKensie & Co. study is about one-third complete, the firm's Lee Walton said.

Walton compared the prison system's problems to those experienced by the oil and airline industries. All went through explosive growth, he said, then were faced with "sudden shears."

Nevertheless, "the TDC has not done a bad job,"

Walton said. He noted its costs are about one-third lower than other states and the number of homicides, serious crimes and escapes was low.

But Walton said the department has grown too fast and needs to develop a planning program that allows it to influence growth rather than just respond to it.

The department is in charge of 36,500 inmates, making it the nation's second-largest prison system behind California's.

The board met in executive session for four hours Monday afternoon.

week after a hospital stay, said he will attempt to talk to Ferris now that he knows what is going on. He said he was not aware of just how much action had been taken by residents in the site area.

"We have people all the way to Dawn writing these letters," Adams said Monday. Copies have gone out to the Texas Department of Water Resources in Amarillo, the Texas Department of Health in Canyon, Rep. Kent Hance and Sen. Lloyd Bentzen in Washington, D.C. and State Sen. Bill Sarpius in Austin.

"If this plant is allowed to locate here it will be a detriment to the surrounding homes, families, farms and the large quantity of livestock," Adams' letter stated. "I feel it is my constitutional right to live in my home without suffering the adverse affects of a multimillion dollar industrial complex in my front yard."

Adams also mailed the letters to the Public Utility Commission in Austin, Texas, Ferris, State Rep. Bob Simpson, the Hereford City Commission and Gov. Mark White.

Adams, 37, owns 18 acres directly across Highway 60 from the proposed plant location 6 miles east of the city. He and his wife, Cherry, also a teacher in the Hereford school system, have two elementary-age sons.

The commission also confirmed spring election procedures for Places 3 and 4, now occupied by Eades and Browlow, respectively. The deadline for filing is March 7, with elections set April 7. Absentee ballots are to be mailed March 19.

Americans tend to think of money as their only valuable resource.

However, it's important to look closely at another resource that we seem to have less and less of as we become busier and busier. That resource is time.

Time, money, energy, skills, material things, brain power: all are valuable resources. Learning to mobilize them to reach specific personal and household goals are girls and boys from 9 to 19 in the 4-H home management program.

4-H members in the program learn that decision-making is what management is all about. They might tackle family food bills and come up with cost-cutting techniques. They organize personal work scheduled that set realistic goals and conserve time and energy.

Whatever projects they choose, 4-H'ers can earn awards donated by Beatrice Foods Company and arranged by the national 4-H Council. Eight outstanding 4-H'ers are awarded national college scholarships of $1,000 each. one top program member from each state receives an expense-paid trip to national 4-H Congress in Chicago each fall, and four members per county are eligible for medals of honor.

All winners are selected on the basis of their records of accomplishment by the Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H program.

If you want to learn more about the 4-H home management program and how to use all your resources to the best of your ability, contact the county Extension office today.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

Two hospitalized, one dead

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A 24-year-old Vietnamese woman and her 4-year-old daughter remained hospitalized today after an apparent murder-suicide attempt in which another child died, authorities said.

Police said the woman's 3-year-old son was found dead on a bed, near his mother, in their two-bedroom apartment just before 10 p.m. Sunday night. The girl was wandering through the apartment, investigators said.

The mother was listed in serious condition today at Northwest Texas Hospital, while the girl was in satisfactory condition, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Several empty containers of prescription drugs and several written messages were found in the apartment, police Lt. Bill Kral said. But the woman does not speak English and interpreters were trying to decipher the notes, he said.

Lucas wants change of trial site

GEORGETOWN, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for Henry Lee Lucas, who says he is responsible for the slayings of more than 150 women, said they would ask State District Judge John Carter today to move Lucas' upcoming murder trial out of Georgetown.

Lucas currently is scheduled to go to trial March 5 in Georgetown in the slaying of an unidentified woman hitchhiker.

Carter has just completed presiding over the 4½-week trial of nurse Genevieve Jones, who received a 99-year sentence in the slaying of a 15-month child.

Farmworkers ask injunction

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas farm workers say they will try today to make their temporary victory on insurance coverage for injured workers permanent.

On Jan. 17, State District Judge Harley Clark extended his previous court ruling prohibiting the Industrial Accident Board from rejecting any on-the-job injury claim from farm workers. The board administers the state law on workers compensation.

"This order will restrain the board from finding that an injured employee is not covered on the basis that he is a farm or ranch employee if that employer is covered by some sort of insurance coverage on any other group of employees," the judge said.

It's a two man race

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Buoyed by a second-place finish in Iowa, Colorado Sen. Gary Hart says the key to his Democratic presidential bid is immediate recognition as the only alternative to front-runner Walter F. Mondale.

"I think you'll see the gap narrowed very, very quickly," Hart told reporters who crowded around him at his Manchester campaign headquarters Monday night.

"I think this will be a two-person race, and I'll win it." Hart said his No. 2 showing in Iowa's precinct caucuses will focus more attention on him, enrich his campaign coffers and persuade undecided voters in New Hampshire and other early contest states that his candidacy is alive and deserves their support.

Government pinpoints problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure of a crucial cooling system at the nation's largest nuclear power plant last week was forewarned by government researchers in a report 19 months ago.

But, as with so many nuclear mishaps, correcting the problem that triggered an "alert" last Tuesday at the Browns Ferry plant was postponed while officials, disagreeing over the earlier findings, await a new study.

Both the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority, which owns the Athens, Ala., plant, were told in July 1982 that its system to prevent overheating during a reactor shutdown was vulnerable to failure.

Researchers at the government's Idaho Falls National Laboratory said that vulnerability posed the single biggest risk of a core meltdown — the most potentially catastrophic accident possible — at the three-reactor Browns Ferry plant.

Campaign rekindles controversy

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The simmering controversy over broadcast vote projections exploded here with the state Democratic chairman angrily complaining that television networks interfered with Iowa's kickoff caucuses by reporting as they began that Walter F. Mondale was the winner.

David Nagle echoed the protests sounded after the networks projected President Reagan's victory over Jimmy Carter in 1980 long before West Coast polls had closed.

"I think they've interfered," Nagle said after CBS projected Mondale the winner in Iowa at 8:12 p.m. Monday — 12 minutes after the caucuses were scheduled to begin. "I think there's a line and I think they crossed it."

"We haven't even started the process," Nagle complained. "We haven't even started the game."

NBC's forecast in Iowa followed CBS' by six minutes, and both came before Democrats participating in the caucuses were supposed to begin registering their presidential preferences, at 8:30 p.m.

ABC's projection, based on reports from several "key precincts," came at 8:46 p.m.

Marines start to pull up stakes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Marine combat force began pulling up stakes at its Beirut airport base today and moving to Navy ships off the Lebanese coast.

Seventeen months after digging in with French, Italian and British troops, the Marines began flying out by helicopter and sailing out by landing craft from the Green Beach area where they first set up a landing dock.

"Today the support people have gone, and we're working on the combat gear," Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks told reporters. "Today is the first day of the relocation of the actual 22nd MAU personnel."

Brooks was referring to the 22nd Marine Amphibious Unit — the combat force holding frontline positions around the airport base, surrounded now by leftist militias claiming victory over the collapsing Lebanese army.

For days now, the Marines have been shipping out equipment and troops that served as support for the fighting men. Brooks said the support troops were "99 percent gone."

"We still have a few cats and dogs left and now we're getting to the combat force," he said.

Requesting City Funds

James A. Anderson (foreground), director of Panhandle Alcohol Recovery Center in Amarillo, attended Monday night's Hereford City Commission meeting to help

request funds for PARC. Also there to ask for money was Glen Nelson, Deaf Smith County judge. The commission donated $2,000.

Support people gone

Marines pulling out today

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. Marines began pulling their combat forces out of Beirut today to Navy ships offshore, and Israeli warplanes bombed and strafed suspected guerrilla positions in the Syrian-controlled central mountains.

"Today the support people have gone and we're working on the combat gear," said Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks. "Today is the first day of the relocation of the actual 22nd MAU (Marine Amphibious Unit) personnel."

Brooks said he did not know how many of the roughly 1,300 Marines based at Beirut airport would leave today. He said the evacuation would take "approximately a week, maybe two."

Brooks said all support gear and 99 percent support personnel had been evacuated since President Reagan disclosed his decision Feb. 7 to withdraw the Marine contingent from the airport.

The Marine base has been surrounded by Syrian-backed Druse and Shiite Moslem militias since the militias wrested control of mostly Moslem west Beirut from the Lebanese army 15 days ago.

The Israeli military command said its warplanes attacked "terrorist targets" — the usual reference to Palestinian guerrillas — in Mansouriyeh, Ain Jdeide and south of Bhandoun, a Druse-held town about nine miles southeast of the Lebanese capital on the Beirut-Damascus Highway.

There were no immediate reports of damage or casualties in the raid, the second this week and the fifth this year. All Israeli planes returned safely to base, the command said.

The raid coincided with reports the Israeli army has moved dozens of tanks and armored personnel carriers across its southern defense line toward Beirut over the past two days.

In Beirut, police said 11 people were killed today during clashes across the "green line" separating the capital's Moslem and Christian sectors and in fighting at the Lebanese army garrison in Souk el-Gharb, atop a mountain east of Beirut. At least 86 civilians and combatants were wounded, police said.

U.S. Navy jets made repeated reconnaissance runs over Beirut and the neighboring hills overnight and this morning, drawing no ground fire, Lebanon's state radio said.

Despite the fighting, and demands by opposition leaders for the resignation of President Amin Gemayel, two Saudi Arabian envoys were sent to Syria, reportedly to propose another peace plan that would keep Gemayel in office, impose a cease-fire and comply with Syria's demand that the Lebanese-Israeli troop withdrawal pact be scrapped unconditionally.

Once the Marines in Beirut pull out, only French troops of the multinational force will remain in the Lebanese capital, although some Marines are expected to remain ashore to guard the U.S. Embassy offices on west Beirut's seafont.

The British and Italian contingents of the four-nation force have already pulled out.

Consultant says

Job should be divided

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The Texas Department of Corrections is too complicated to be directed by one manager and the job should be divided in half, a firm studying the prison system's management has recommended.

The director's job should be replaced by a chief executive officer and a chief operations officer, representatives of a consulting firm reported to the Texas Board of Corrections Monday.

McKensy & Co. was hired about a month ago to make a progress report on the prison system, which recently has been the subject of investigations by the state attorney general's office and at least four other state agencies.

Those probes have uncovered fiscal mismanagement, improper purchasing practices, questionable hiring of consultants, excessive architectural and engineering fees, cost overruns in construction and brutality to inmates.

"One person can no longer manage this institution," George Norsig, a spokesman for McKensy & Co., told the board. "There are too many functions covering too many areas and too many things to do."

He proposed the chief executive officer develop policy, deal with legislators, oversee changes and select and develop a management team. A second executive, the chief operations officer, would deal with security, monitor compliance with court orders and oversee the inmate services program.

"At this stage, I'm so frustrated anything would be good," said Robert Gunn, chairman of the board. He described the recommendation as "very workable, very pragmatic. I think everyone would agree."

The board did not formally adopt the plan, but Gunn said the board's basic agreement would allow prison officials to

"start narrowing our search for a new director. Perhaps we can throw out as many as two-thirds of the names we've got."

He said he was hopeful a director might be named by next month.

The McKensy & Co. study is about one-third complete, the firm's Lee Walton said.

Walton compared the prison system's problems to those experienced by the oil and airline industries. All went through explosive growth, he said, then were faced with "sudden shears."

Nevertheless, "the TDC has not done a bad job,"

week after a hospital stay, said he will attempt to talk to Ferris now that he knows what is going on. He said he was not aware of just how much action had been taken by residents in the site area.

"We have people all the way to Dawn writing these letters," Adams said Monday. Copies have gone out to the Texas Department of Water Resources in Amarillo, the Texas Department of Health in Canyon, Rep. Kent Hance and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen in Washington, D.C. and State Sen. Bill Sarpalius in Austin.

"If this plant is allowed to locate here it will be a detriment to the surrounding homes, families, farms and city commissioners selected Brown, Graham and Company Certified Public Accountants, a local firm, to handle the coming city audit. Amarillo's Curtis Crawford has handled the audit for the past 22 or 23 years, City Manager Dudley Bayne guessed, and was praised for his service. David Emerick represented Brown, Graham and Company at the evening meeting.

The commission also con-

Wallon said. He noted its costs are about one-third lower than other states and the number of homicides, serious crimes and escapes was low.

But Walton said the department has grown too fast and needs to develop a planning program that allows it to influence growth rather than just respond to it.

The department is in charge of 36,500 inmates, making it the nation's second-largest prison system behind California's.

The board met in executive session for four hours Monday afternoon.

the large quantity of livestock," Adams' letter stated. "I feel it is my constitutional right to live in my home without suffering the adverse affects of a multimillion dollar industrial complex in my front yard."

Adams also mailed the letters to the Public Utility Commission in Austin, Texas, Ferris, State Rep. Bob Simpson, the Hereford City Commission and Gov. Mark White.

Adams, 37, owns 18 acres directly across Highway 60 from the proposed plant location 6 miles east of the city. He and his wife, Cheryl, also a teacher in the Hereford school system, have two elementary-age sons.

firmed spring election procedures for Places 3 and 4, now occupied by Eades and Browlow, respectively. The deadline for filing is March 7, with elections set April 7. Absentee ballots are to be mailed March 19.

Commissioners are to next gather at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 5. Public hearings on the 1984-1985 budget and disbursement of around $214,000 worth of revenue sharing funds.

4-H Around the County

By SUSAN RANEY

Americans tend to think of money as their only valuable resource.

However, it's important to look closely at another resource that we seem to have less and less of as we become busier and busier. That resource is time.

Time, money, energy, skills, material things, brain power: all are valuable resources. Learning to mobilize them to reach specific personal and household goals are girls and boys from 9 to 19 in the 4-H home management program.

4-H members in the program learn that decision-making is what management is all about. They might tackle family food bills and come up with cost-cutting techniques. They organize personal work scheduled that set realistic goals and conserve time and energy.

Whatever projects they choose, 4-H'ers can earn awards donated by Beatrice Foods Company and arranged by the national 4-H Council. Eight outstanding 4-H'ers are awarded national college scholarships of $1,000 each. one top program member from each state receives an expense-paid trip to national 4-H Congress in Chicago each fall, and four members per county are eligible for medals of honor.

All winners are selected on the basis of their records of accomplishment by the Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H program.

If you want to learn more about the 4-H home management program and how to use all your resources to the best of your ability, contact the county Extension office today.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

Coach gives views on recent season

(Sports Editor's note: The Hereford High School's boys varsity basketball team concluded its season with back-to-back victories over Palo Duro and Lubbock high schools. Coach Bobby Decker discusses his 9-17 season.)

Q: Despite ending the season 9-17, and 5-11 in District 3-5A, were you pleased with your season?

A: I was pretty well pleased with the progress we made after Christmas. I think we had two seasons, one before Christmas and one after. Before Christmas, we played pretty inconsistent and it took us awhile to start playing with a team concept. We'd perform well, then lose some of our consistency, due in part, to lack of workout time.

During Christmas break, we got into the gym and worked on a lot of things, and we were not pressed for playing time. After Christmas, we started playing real good as a team.

Q: Why was your team losing so many close ballgames?

A: I think probably because we really only had one person (senior Jeff Streun) on the floor with any kind of extensive varsity playing time. (Junior) Kevin Redus (played last year) but did not have enough extended playing time against varsity teams.

You got to play in these close ballgames to get a feel for them. Also, (the rule change) limiting a team to two timeouts in each half, restricted the coaching part of it. Last year, we had a total of five timeouts, if we didn't use any in the first half, we could use them in the second half.

Q: Were there any players which showed great improvement?

A: I think, probably the player that showed the most improvement during the course of the season was (junior) Lee Brockman. He kind of had two seasons, also. He didn't per-

"... we really only had one person on the floor with any kind of extensive varsity playing time"

- Bobby Decker

form up to his capability before Christmas, and after Christmas, he exceeded his capability. I think he did an exceptional job the latter part of the season, scoring and rebounding.

I think (juniors) Mike Scott, Sammy (Suarez) and Kevin all made improvement the latter part of the season, also. That goes back to the experience part. The more experience they got in varsity competition, the better they performed.

Q: What effect will there be losing leading scorer Jeff Streun?

A: He was steady all year long. Anytime you lose a player like Jeff, it's probably going to have some effect on your outlook for next year. But along the same line, there's always a player who matures and has the knack for assuming the leadership responsibility.

I think we will have two or three players that will assume that responsibility next year. And that can't do anything but help us.

Q: Will you be looking for a big man next year?

A: I've been looking for a big man every year. But, next year, it looks like 6-foot-3 will be as big as we're going to be.

Q: What does next year look like at this point?

A: We'll be along the same lines as this year - short, scrappy, and good shooters outside. Our post play will be stronger ... Redus and Brockman gained a lot of experience, plus some pretty good post people on the junior varsity will be coming up.

Q: Hereford's junior high schools had outstanding seasons. Do you anticipate any of those players jumping to the varsity level?

A: We'll probably start all sophomores at the sophomore or JV level to start out with. If some look like they can play at the varsity level, we'll move them up. I'm not afraid to do that.

I think it's a tribute to our junior high coaches at all levels that we got some quality young men and basketball players coming in. Our high school program is based on those two feeder programs (La Plata and Stanton junior high schools).

Q: Anything else?

A: I want to compliment and give credit to some kids that did not get to play a lot - (seniors) Gomer Garcia, Shawn Patrick, Coby Lassiter and (junior) Daniel King.

These kids started out the year playing for us and did not get a whole lot of playing time, but, what they contributed in workout, made our team.

Memphis makes bid for Top 10

NEW YORK (AP) — Memphis State, which dropped from eighth place to 12th in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll after having its 12-game winning streak ended by an 85-78 weekend loss to Louisville, is making a bid to return to the Top Ten.

Keith Lee tipped in a missed 20-foot jumper by Andre Turner at the buzzer Monday night to give the Tigers a 69-67 Metro Conference basketball victory in overtime over Southern Mississippi. The Tigers are 20-4 overall and 10-1 in the conference.

Meanwhile, the four teams rated the best in the preseason have returned to the top, although not in the exact order. North Carolina, Georgetown, Houston and Kentucky — ranked 1-4-3-2 in the preseason — are 1-2-3-4 in this week's rankings.

The No. 1 Tar Heels took out the frustration of losing their first game of the season — a 64-63 loss to Arkansas on Feb. 12 — by defeating Atlantic Coast Conference rivals North Carolina State 95-71 and Maryland 78-63 in the past week. North Carolina received 61 of the 62 first-place votes and 1,239 of a possible 1,240 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and sportscasters.

Georgetown, which received the other first-place vote and 1,169 points, remained No. 2 after defeating Providence 59-38. Houston replaced DePaul as the No. 3 team with 1,097 points. The Blue Demons, upset by Dayton 72-71 on Saturday, fell to fifth place. And despite withstanding a scare from Vanderbilt 58-54 on Sunday, Kentucky advanced two places to No. 4.

The major surprise of the week was Nevada-Las Vegas' 68-43 loss to Fresno State which dropped the Runnin' Rebels from fifth to seventh behind Illinois which inched up to No. 6. Oklahoma and Texas-El Paso each climbed one spot to eighth and ninth, respectively, while Tulsa entered the Top Ten for the first time this season as No. 10.

UTEP was in action Monday night, defeating Colorado State 62-55 as Fred Reynolds scored 16 of his 17 points in the second half.

Indiana and Louisiana State, tied for 17th last week, dropped out of the Top Twenty, giving way to Auburn at No. 19 and Oregon State at No. 20. Both had been in the rankings previously.

However, Auburn was upset by Tennessee 57-54 Monday night when Willie Burton hit two free throws to break a tie with 40 seconds remaining.

Also in the Second Ten, Arkansas, Duke and Temple continued to draw support. The Razorbacks, 21-4, advanced three places to No. 11 while Duke, a winner over Stetson and Wake Forest, soared five places to No. 14, one spot ahead of Wake Forest, which slipped from No. 13.

Temple, undefeated in the Atlantic 10 and 20-2 overall, moved up three to No. 17, while Purdue dropped from 12th to No. 13. Syracuse remained at No. 16 and Washington, a 64-52 loser to Oregon State, fell three places to No. 18.

First, the Tennessee Volunteers took their time. Then they took care of 19th-ranked Auburn.

Using the Southeastern Conference's 45-second shot clock to its advantage, Tennessee slowed down the pace in dealing the Tigers a 57-54 loss in college basketball Monday night.

"They ran 40 seconds off the clock and made us play defense for 40 seconds and then would get off a shot with five seconds left," lamented Auburn Coach Sonny Smith. "Tennessee did what it had to do to win. We didn't deserve to win."

The score was tied 51-51 with 40 seconds left when Willie Burton made two free throws to put the visiting Volunteers ahead. Rob Jones then tipped in Dan Federmann's missed free throw with 11 seconds remaining.

Top Twenty
Texas-El Paso, 23-2, spent considerable time at the foul line in downing Colorado State in Western Athletic Conference action.

The host Miners hit nine of 11 free throws in the first half and made 15 of 20 from the foul line after intermission. The visitors, meanwhile, attempted just three free throws in the game.

Senior Fred Reynolds, who scored one point in the first half, added 16 in the second half as Texas-El Paso avenged its first loss of the season, which came at Colorado State last month.

Southern Mississippi had chances to beat Memphis State near the end of regulation and again in overtime, but the Eagles did not take advantage of either opportunity and ended up losing the Metro Conference game at home.

With the score tied 67-67 in the closing seconds of overtime, Memphis State's Keith Lee stole the ball as Southern Miss tried to set up for a final shot. Lee passed to Andre Turner, who missed a 20-foot shot, but Lee tipped in the rebound at the buzzer to win it.

Lee led Memphis State, 20-4, with 27 points and 15 rebounds.

With 11 seconds left in regulation and the game tied, James Williams of Southern Miss missed the front end of a one-and-one to send the game into overtime.

"I want to keep good customers coming back, so I'm recommending XL-72aa again this year."

It takes a long time to build a good business reputation. So I only recommend a product if I know it works. That's why I'm recommending XL-72aa again this year.

Oh, I don't grow corn myself, but I do hear what my customers say about it. And when they brag about yields, even in a tough year like last, I know XL-72aa has to be good.

Come to think of it, they brag about XL-72aa no matter what the weather—or the soil type. Maybe that's why they ask for it year after year.

A long time ago, I learned that the best way to keep a customer is to keep giving him what he wants. Around here, that's XL-72aa.

Crawfish available earlier this year

COLLEGE STATION — Because crawfish are now being "grown" on farms, this year for crawfish-lovers.

Joint graduation dance held here Friday night

The Good Timers Square Dance Club held a joint graduation dance with the Country Singles Square Dance Club Friday night at the Community Center.

Scott Turner, who has been teacher to those taking lessons, was caller for the evening.

The graduates include Sharon and Larry Pennington, Jerry Hix, Daphne available earlier in the year, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service fisheries specialist, Dr. James Davis.

In the past years crawfish haven't been on the market before April or May, but this year they will be readily available in the major Texas cities and the southeast section of the state by early March.

The price of fresh crawfish should run about $1.50 per pound, adds Davis.

Crawfish provide a high amount of protein and other essential nutrients for your money, says Mary K. Sweeten, Extension foods and nutrition specialist. A 3½ ounce serving of the seafood contains over 19 grams of protein.

Each serving has less than a gram of fat and only 85 calories. This makes crawfish a good choice for a low-calorie, high protein dish which can add variety to your diet, she says.

Crawfish are delicious either boiled or mixed with an extender. Crawfish salad, bisque and etouffee are all popular dishes. They may also be substituted for shrimp in many recipes, notes Sweeten.

For more information on cooking crawfish recipes, contact the county extension office.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm depressed. I have four kids, who are five, three, two and 6 months old. They demand attention 24 hours a day. I haven't had a decent night's sleep since the last one was born. He wakes up two or three times a night, and then the other kids get up and I have all of them on my hands.

I was sitting in church last Sunday when I got the idea that if I broke my leg, and made it look like an accident while bringing in wood, I could go to the hospital and rest for a few weeks. I know my children would receive good care because my family would have no choice.

Club to make tablecloths for Westgate

Members of the Dawn Extension Homemakers Club voted to make six tablecloths for Westgate Nursing Home when they met Friday at the Dawn Community Center.

Other current business included a discussion of the upcoming appreciation luncheon.

Presiding at the meeting was club president, Lottie Wertenberger. Mary Alice Frye led the opening exercise, reading a poem entitled "Widen my Vision" by Helen Steiner Rice.

Roll call was answered with "a shortcut to sewing." Louise Walker, county extension agent, presented a program about sewing short-cuts, demonstrating several items which could be helpful when sewing.

Refreshments were served by Doris Johnson to Mmes. Wertenberger, Frye, Walker, Nelma Sowell, Lazelle Fowler, Hazel Stewart, Helen Caraway and Lula McCabe.

Before taking a side in an argument, make sure you have a foundation on which to erect it.

Who times it so that the icicle falls only on YOUR head during the February thaw?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have never seen this problem mentioned in your column before, but I am sure other Use a T-L in '84 without paying a cent until '85.

Now you can put a T-L irrigation system in your field — and money in the bank — without paying a penny on your lease until 1985. Conserve your working capital. Increase your 1984 production. And cash in on T-L's lowest prices ever.

Take possession of a T-L today. Your first payment on the seven year lease isn't due until January 15, 1985. So all the benefits of T-L's unsurpassed performance will pay off for you before you pay for them.

Only T-L gives you the smooth, continuous movement of hydrostatic drive. Continuous movement for more uniform water application, lower operating and maintenance costs, and longer system life. Hydraulics for greater simplicity.

This offer ends April 30, 1984, so you must act soon. Come see us today. And see why T-L's new lease plan and low prices simply can't be beat!

How to avoid candle droop

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — Do you know of any way to store candles not in use so they do not warp or melt? — EVELYN
DEAR EVELYN — Even at this time of the year, this can be a real problem in warmer climates or during warm spells. The candles can be stored in the freezer to keep their shape permanently; then let the candles come to room temperature before lighting them. If you live in a fairly cool climate, simply store in a cool, dry place, preferably in boxes or protected in some other way so that they will not be bent out of shape from other objects being piled on or shoved against them. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Save old window shades to make holiday decorations. Using an ice pick or anything that will poke holes, poke through the shade in an appropriate design. Any design can be made: Christmas trees for Christmas, flower designs for spring and summer, a jack-o-lantern for Halloween. Rehang the shades. In the evening, when the lights are on in the house and the shades are pulled down, people outside will see a lovely design of lights on your window.
GRACE

DEAR POLLY — I always carry two checkbook registers. I use one for routine purchases and bills. In the other I log all credit card purchases. This way I always know exactly how much I've charged and what my credit-card balance is.

To avoid impulse buying, my husband and I keep all credit cards frozen inside large blocks of ice in the freezer. That way, we must take time to consider the importance of the purchase while our cards are thawing out. — P.D.

DEAR P.D. — Your frozen credit card trick is certainly unique! It's a "cool" way to keep those cards from "burning" a hole in your bank balance. I can't resist naming it our Pointer's 1081 Helpful Household Hints for Making Everything Last Longer. — POLLY

Extension Service to hold older Texan camps

COLLEGE STATION — Older Texans looking for a change of pace can take a three-day "Spring Fling" this year to stretch their minds and their dollars.

Each spring, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service sponsors a three-day camp filled with activities and learning opportunities for people over 55.

The cost, including lodging and meals, is $69.50 for each camper.

Camping sessions will be held April 10-13, 17-20, 24-27, May 1-4 and 8-11 at the Texas 4-H Center on Lake Brownwood in Brownwood, Texas, where campers can enjoy natural surroundings with all the modern conveniences. Each camp is limited to 100 participants.

Campers will have the opportunity to hear feature presentations on gardening, lamb cuts and cookery, health in the later years, estate planning and improving one's memory.

At camp "learning centers" participants can learn how to do miniature oil painting, stained glass and woodworking through "hands-on" experiences. Some of the camp sessions will offer additional learning centers on wind chimes, chair-caning, homemade games and picture framing.

Card and table games, tennis, horsehoes and volleyball will be available at all times. Campers will also enjoy social activities such as sing songs and dances, omelets by the lake and a 1908 box social.

Fair tour underway

The 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans will be the destination of Hereford Senior Citizens Association's summer Trailways Tour. Dates of the trip have been set for June 29 to July 9.

Three nights are scheduled in New Orleans, with other sites including Look Out Mountain and Rock City Gardens in Chattanooga; the Biltmore Mansion and Gardens in Asheville; Smoky Mountain National Park and the Hermitage, Parthenon, Country Music Hall of Fame, Opryland Amusement Park and the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville.

A deposit of $50 per person is required at the time reservations are made and final payment is due at the Senior Citizens Center 60 days prior to departure. Cost will vary according to total number of passengers and single, twin, triple or quadruple room accommodations.

To obtain further information about the tour, contact Margie Daniels, Hereford Senior Citizens director, at 364-5681 or 364-0428 (evenings).

A thorough physical

DEAR DR. LAMB — What would you consider a good physical exam? I went to a doctor and he checked my heart, lungs and blood pressure — that was it. Shouldn't I expect something more?

DEAR READER — I hope your doctor also did a blood test to provide some additional information, such as your cholesterol level, the possibilities of gout, anemia — or any number of medical problems.

Doctors have different attitudes about regular physical examinations. In my opinion, if they are coupled with a good preventive program, they are one of the most important tools in medicine today.

The way to prevent many major illnesses from progressing or becoming a problem is to start preventive measures early. The leading causes of death today are heart attacks and strokes, and most of these are caused by fatty cholesterol deposits in the arteries, so it's important to stop the deposits as early as possible.

We know that risk factors such as high cholesterol, cigarette smoking and high blood pressure can damage the arteries.

Beyond that, finding early diabetes and checking your eyesight are important. It's important to make sure there's no evidence of developing glaucoma, which could later rob you of your eyesight.

I've outlined what a thorough physical should cover in the Health Letter 10-2. Your Valuable Medical Examination, which I'm sending you. You can use it as a guide during your next physical. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I injured my foot and had to have surgery. The doctor diagnosed it as permanent injury to the lymphatic vessels in my foot. My problem now is swelling of the foot and I wonder if I will ever get rid of the fluid that accumulates in my foot.

Could you please let me know the function of the lymphatic vessels? If they are damaged, is this something that will heal in time?

DEAR READER — I think the lymphatic circulation is the least understood part of the circulatory system. It includes all those lymph nodes under the arm, in the groin and just about everywhere. It consists of tiny vessels, with porous walls thinner than veins. The fluid that leaves your blood to bathe your tissues enters these vessels and passes through the lymphatic network to empty into the great veins.

When they're injured the flow is blocked. That happens in women after breast surgery when lymph nodes are removed from under the arm. The arm then gets swollen with fluid.

If your lymph vessels in the legs are obstructed the legs swell. That's what has happened to your foot. Depending on the circumstances, there usually is improvement with time. You might help prevent the swelling by using elastic bandages or pressure stockings, applied in the morning when you first get up.

Should You Consider Investing In Tax-Free Municipal Bonds?

Maybe the following comparison can help you decide.

*$10,000 Invested at 9.25% Tax-Free (Insured - AAA Rated)	*$10,000 Invested at 12% (Taxable) Assuming a 40% Tax-Bracket
$10,000 x 9.25% = $925 per year	$10,000 x 12% = $1200
No Tax	- 480 Income Tax
	$720 per year after tax

Remember: It's not what you MAKE that counts; It's what you KEEP, after tax.

Attractive Courtyard Living

OPTIONAL BASEMENT

HOME DESIGN

by Larry Farnsworth
Romantics will be captivated by Model C1708 at first sight. But even the most practical homeowner must agree after studying it that this design's charisma is fully balanced by its character and convenience. Of course, the exterior does have more than its share of old world drama, with its traditionally tiled roof, protruding beams, and arched windows and courtyard gateway. Even entrance to the garage is a deliberate maneuver, designed to enhance the romantic front elevation. But practicality is respected here. Note how the main entrance, at the far side of the courtyard leads directly into a double-duty foyer-hallway, conveniently connecting the rooms on both sides of the courtyard. Drama remains the keynote, however, introduced here by the delightful immediate view of the sunken living room and the large fireplace beyond. Beside the living room is a dining room and an efficient kitchen with a practical U-shaped work area. The washer-dryer installation in the adjacent utility room make convenience a key word. The garage at the corner of this wing has both a courtyard door and direct kitchen access through the utility room. The rearmost of the three bedrooms on the other side of the courtyard is the large master bedroom with a high dressing room adjacent to its private bath and an even larger walk-in wardrobe. The main hall bath backs up to the master bedroom unit. And the entire bedroom wing, separated as it is from the living areas by the courtyard, enjoys the ultimate in restful privacy. For a house with charisma and practicality combined, Model C1708 charmer is certainly the right choice. This model is also available with a big family room. Call 1(800)634-3401 if interested in House Plans...or send a post card with name, address and phone number to Farnsworth, P.O. Box 1841, Las Vegas, Nevada 89125.
