Housing Project Seeks Local Aid

An appeal for local support of the Hereford Housing Project was sounded this week by Toyce Carmichael spokesman for the group, in a talk before the Hereford Kiwanis club on Thursday.

Carmichael said the project seeks to erect five more barracks at a cost of $4,500 per barrack.

"We need your work and assistance," Carmichael told the group when he placed the problem before them.

In his appeal, he told his audience that the housing group tried unsuccessfully to give the project to the city and to the county, but both municipalities declined. "No one wants it."

"It's a sore spot, but we've got to have it," Carmichael maintained. He explained that the facilities at the camp now provides housing for 1,300 persons. "During the harvest season, we will have an overflow (migrant labor) here of 5,000 and more if we get all we want in 1952."

"These workers have to have a place to live or they'll go where there is one," he cautioned.

The Hereford Housing Project, the local farmer explained, "feels that we should have the help of the merchants. We feel the merchants have benefited immeasurably from the growing of vegetables. We feel the city should provide facilities for additional labor." He stated that 88% of the money earned is spent in Hereford.

Carmichael outlined the early history of the project and said that clean-up operations have been ordered. The stockholders in the project are going to buy a pick-up truck and police the camp area of its own and refuse to pay.

FIELDS

Luke Fields To Handle Fiddling Contest May 31

Luke Fields, old-time medicine show fiddler and winner of the 1951 Pioneer Day fiddling contest, will be in charge of this year's contest, according to Cecil Mussey, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. He will not compete.

Fields told The Brand he expects to have a long-up contest this year with a lot of outside interest stirred up in the event.

There are 28 persons whom Fields is trying to contact as entries in the fiddler's affair. No age limit will be placed on the contest this year. The entrant may present any fast number. It need not be a hot-down.

The contest this year will be held inside the Hotel San Hill ballroom at 7 p. m. Saturday, May 31.

Twenty of seats will be available for spectators. Mussey reported Wednesday that 12 or 15 Shalston points will be in Hereford on Pioneer Day for the kiddies to ride. They will be stationed directly south of Hotel San Hill.

Rotarians See Fishing Film

A film on fishing in Alaska was shown at the meeting of the Hereford Rotary club Friday.

A directors meeting will be held on Monday night at 8 o'clock. It was announced at the meeting.

Visiting Rotarian was Bob Lindsey of Amarillo. Other guests were: Virgil Dodson, Day McDougall, Lubbock, Mike Baird, Ernest Witherspoon, Dennis Baker, and Wayne Thomas.

New Irrigation Area Opened 27 Miles NW

Successful development of a 1,000 gallon-per-minute irrigation well on the Vernon Benson place, 27 miles northwest of Hereford, this week resulted in a flurry of activity almost parallel with an oil strike.

Wheat In County Well Recovered

Deaf Smith county wheat has made a remarkable recovery after the recent rains which dumped from two to four inches of rain on parched fields.

Furthermore, ideal growing weather on top of the rains has made for a better situation throughout not only Deaf Smith county, but the High Plains.

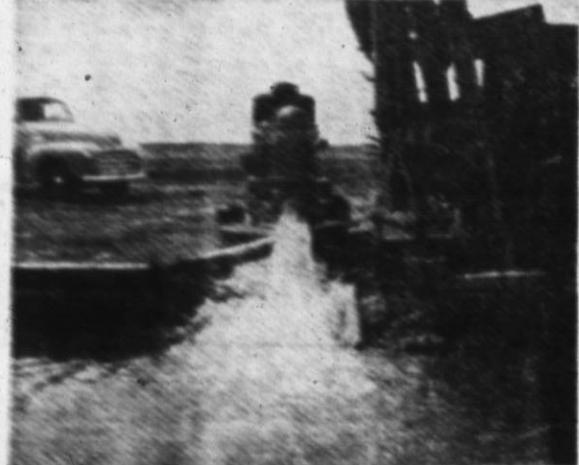

Of an estimated 30,000 or 75,000 acres lost so far this season to various causes chances are good for making a crop on the remainder of the 230,000 acres in the county, according to Hugh Clearman, county agent.

Feed T. Dimes, wheat marketing specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, released an optimistic wheat report for the area on May 1.

Dimes said "If the rains had not been received shortly after the severe frosts of April 4 and 8, we would certainly have poor prospects at this time. Spindly stalks and dry hot weather were rapidly hurting the wheat three weeks ago and the frosts just about put the finishing touches on some of the wheat. The good rains eliminated the spindly stalks and gave the wheat the means to make recovery."

Dimes estimated a 35,000,000 bushel wheat crop as minimum for Texas.

Dug infestation in the county has been reduced considerably, Clearman said.

PUMPING 1,000 gallons per minute, the new irrigation well on the Vernon Benson farm, 27 miles northwest of Hereford, is 344 feet deep and has a pump draw of 258 1/2 feet.

The northwest area, long considered outside the shallow water belt, has previously reported difficulty in securing water for drinking and household purposes. The area, considered practical only for dry-land farming and ranching, this week offered a potential of 50 sections of additional intensified irrigation farming land.

This figure increases the present 150 sections of irrigable land in this area by one-third.

Asking prices on land in the area also took an immediate jump — and even then owners doubted if they would want to sell.

Said Mr. Benson, owner of the new well: "I had my land priced at $90 an acre. Now I don't think I would sell for $150 an acre."

Other land owners, hopeful of irrigation possibilities, were more or less waiting to see for sure if they could successfully develop wells. The Box Car Ranch, joining the Benson's place, is talking about a well on each half-section.

Two More Local Soldiers To Korea

Two more Deaf Smith county soldiers are now serving—or will soon be serving in Korea, according to word received by parents here last week.

On Sunday, 2nd Lt. Roger Corbett Jr., left by plane for Seattle, Wash., where he expects to embark for Japan. He recently finished training at Camp Chaffee, Ark., and has been spending a short leave with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd London received word last week also that their son, 2nd Lt. Billy London has arrived in Korea. He is with the 116th Engineering Combat Battalion.

Another Hereford serviceman in Korea has written home that Texas Aggies fighting in that theater didn't have to miss their annual muster services held recently by A & M students around the world.

Word received here by the parents of 2nd Lt. Lloyd Manjeot, who is serving with the 2nd Quartermaster company of the Second Infantry Division, said 31 Aggies in his area answered the call at their annual muster on April 21. One hundred service men attended the service.

Main speaker was Brig. Gen. Bostner, formerly commandant of the military department at A&M.

Manjeot and another Aggie assisted with the program.

"Separating the water from the sand is the key to developing the new territory," Harkins declared, adding, "but it's easy when you know how."

Much land included in the northwest area is used for grazing and farming tracts are generally scattered. Some of the area's largest ranches are located in this territory, due chiefly to scarcity of water.

Old timers who can remember removal of the Deaf Smith county seat from LaPlatta to Hereford in 1898, will tell you that one of the chief reasons for the change was scarcity of water at the original location.

Remains of LaPlatta are within a few miles of the new well.

RICHARD TUCKER

Richard Tucker State Winner In Number Sense

Richard Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tucker, won the number sense contest at the State Interscholastic league competition in Austin Saturday, according to a phone call from his father Saturday afternoon.

Richard won first place in Class A and tied for first in Class AA. He scored 490 points out of a possible 500.

In order to be eligible to compete in the State meet Tucker won first in the district meet in Canyon and then went on to Regional competition at Lubbock to take first place there. This qualified him to enter the state competition.

1952-53 School Enrollment Of 2194 Indicated

There will be 2194 students in the Hereford schools next year, according to the annual school census which has just been completed.

This is an increase of 156 over last year's total.

Of the 2194, 651 of the students have moved here in the last year. Most of the additions will be in the first five grades.

Snare, Kelly Win 1952 HHS Honors

Katherine Snare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Snare, has won top academic honors as valedictorian of the Hereford high school 1952 graduating class, according to an announcement by George Graham, HHS superintendent.

Bill Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kelly, won salutatorian honors for the class.

Grade points, scored by each of the two honor students were not available.

Year-end activities for the graduating seniors were underway this week as the class went on its trip to Ruidosa, N. M.

Baccalaureate services have been set for Sunday night, May 18 in the high school auditorium.

Rev. H. V. Fields, pastor of the Avenue Baptist church, will deliver the sermon.

Johnny Winters, a member of the State Health Dept. staff, will be the commencement speaker.

Commencement exercises will be held on Friday night, May 23, in the high school auditorium.

There are 54 students in the 1952 graduating class.

GRASS ROOTS

It is now 9:30 a. m. Saturday, May 3, and this hunk of bologna has to be in the Brand Office by noon. All of my good intentions of having this column ready by Saturday morning seem to be in vain. I do have some excuse however. It seems that everytime I settle down to thinking about what I'm going to fill up space with in the Grass Roots column, someone wanders into the office and wants to buy something. That is, everyone but Jim Kirby, and he usually wants to argue. I honestly believe that Jim sets up all night reading high powered technical data to throw at me the following morning. Our latest quibble session was Friday morning. Jim was under the impression that he could mix a straight nitrogen fertilizer and a straight phosphorous fertilizer and come up with a product cheaper in cost and higher in nitrogen and phosphorous elements, than a complete fertilizer, of say 16-20-0 or 10-20-0. Jim wasn't the first one with this idea and on paper it figures out just that ble finding it because of the way. However in actual practice it is doubtful that it works that way. For the technical end of this question I quote Extension Bulletin 699 from the Federal Cooperative Extension Service, Oregon State College at Corvallis, Oregon, and written by LeRoy E. Warner and Arthur S. King. Quote "Many farmers and agricultural workers have noticed that 11-48 and 16-20 give better results on most crops than comparable amounts of straight nitrogen fertilizer and super-phosphate. There are two reasons or theories that may explain why 11-48 and 16-20 are good fertilizers. In the first place, from 85 to 90 per cent of the available P2O5 in either 11-48 or 16-20 is soluble in water. This high percentage of water soluble phosphate is more mobile in the soil than the phosphate in super-phosphate. Another explanation may be that some of the nitrogen in 11-48 and 16-20 is utilized by plants in the ammonia form and the phosphate in combination with ammonia is taken up at the same time. This stands to reason since it is known that most plants will use some nitrogen in the ammonia form, especially when they are young."

Another point to consider on this is the fact that the leading fertilizer companies have spent thousands of dollars developing the technique of combining nitrogen and phosphorous, pellet form and if the other scheme were the best I feel certain that they would have concentrated the work of their chemists and their bank accounts on producing more straight nitrogen and phosphorous fertilizers. Comparative results is the answer and there are men who have tried both.

MY RECOMMENDATION: Take a look at the results from 16-20-0 on all crops. Must stress the point again that without organic matter in the soil, inorganic fertilizers will not respond the way we would hope them to. Humam clover time is past, but vetch seeding is just around the corner. These legume crops serve as cover, soil breeding and fully furnish an abundance of high quality forage for grazing. Drive out to Howard Gault's farm and see the vetch that he planted in corn last August. You will have trouble number of cattle he has on it, and they can't keep it back, but it's there — tons of lush green forage per acre, comparable to alfalfa in food value and NO BLOAT.

Loans will be available to producers by the Commodity Credit Corporation through handlers who represent producers or producer pools. Handlers approved under the program will be located in all major wool marketing areas of the country.

Price schedules under the support program are based on a national average level of 54.2 cents per pound of wool, grease basis, for the 1952-53 marketing year, and are as follows:

NO ONE WAS INJURED when a train hit this 1941 Ford Thursday afternoon at the labor camp crossing. The car was driven by Julia Quirino Casarez. The engine died on the track and Mrs. Casarez was unable to get it started before the train hit it. Damage to the car was estimated at $300. Staff Photo

Price Schedule For 1952 Wool Loan Program Announced By PMA

Loans will be available to producers by the Commodity Credit Corporation through handlers who represent producers or producer pools. Handlers approved under the program will be located in all major wool marketing areas of the country.

Price schedules under the support program are based on a national average level of 54.2 cents per pound of wool, grease basis, for the 1952-53 marketing year, and are as follows:

LOAN SCHEDULE CLASS DESCRIPTION	BOSTON LOAN RATE (Per Pound Clean Basis)
Graded Territory & Texas Wool	Graded good French combing and staple 64s and finer .....$1.64
	Half-blood, graded, staple and good French combing 60s and finer ..... 1.51
	Three-eighths blood, graded good French combing and staple 56/58s ..... 1.30
	One-quarter blood, graded good French combing and staple, 48/50s ..... 1.17
Texas Wools	Original bag, 12 months, good French combing and staple, 64s and finer ..... 1.63
	Original bag, 12 months average and good French combing 64s and finer ..... 1.56
Graded Fleece	Fine graded DeLaine, 64s and finer ..... 1.66
	One-half blood, staple and good French combing 60s and finer ..... 1.46
	Three-eighths blood, graded 56/58s average to good length ..... 1.23
	One-quarter blood, graded 48/50s staple and good French combing ..... 1.15

Since the schedule is on a Boston basis, transportation costs to Boston will be deducted in determining the loan rate to individual producers. Loans will be made following an appraisal of the wool by USDA employees to determine value based on shrinkage, grade, and other factors. A nominal fee will be deducted from the loan for appraisal costs. Shrinkage will be determined by the core test method.

Because of the length of time required to grade and put wool into merchantable condition prior to the appraisal, an advance loan will be available. This advance loan may not exceed 70 per cent of the estimated loan value of the wool after it has been graded and appraised.

GRAIN COMPANY

How would you like to live in a community where you could not get a haircut? This would suit me fine, because it would provide a good excuse to give the little woman; besides, I always feel like I get cheated when I buy a haircut. They should make special prices for these old boys whose hair is beginning to slip. A lot of people see things different, however, and the Latin-American population has literally been up a stump in regard to tonsorial services.

Next week marks a new era in Hereford. A Latin-American barber shop will be opened here. Maybe Monday, Salmon Torres will be the proprietor and he seems like an unusually nice fellow. If business justifies, he may keep his shop here permanently. Anyhow, he will operate here this summer. The shop will be located in the building just north of the Texas Theatre. Mr. Torres is a licensed barber with years of experience. This is a real asset to the community and I feel sure that he will continue operating here all of the time. He comes from Stamford. It solves a real problem. Maybe a beauty shop and cafe will be added within a few weeks or so. All depends upon the demand.

Cecil Massey is the boy who deserves the credit. Like I have said before, he is on the ball. Results are much, much better than excuses—and Cecil is strong on results. He is doing things. However, the C. of C. is under-financed. How about some of you guys voluntarily raising your monthly dues. It's an investment, not a donation. Hereford and surrounding territory needs a good live wire Chamber of Commerce. We've got it, folks. Let's support it.

Have you noticed the "Good Neighbor" deal in Section 3? We think and hope that it will be something wonderful. I never saw as many elegant neighbors as there are in this country. We got to thinking and decided to choose, if possible, the outstanding Good Neighbor. The reward is, we believe, fitting: a free vacation at the Drowsy Water Ranch in Colorado — for the entire family, too. This will be the equivalent of $300 to $500, depending upon the size of the family. Earl Hendricks jumped right in and volunteered to let the family have a Roadmaster Buick in which to make the trip.

Now, the deal is up to you neighbors before they will be considered. If you have a good neighbor, why not fill out the blank? It is a chance to repay in a small way some of the wonderful things the family may have done for you.

The Panhandle is about the only place I ever hear of folks plowing the fields for sick neighbors, or mowing their lawns, or taking care of the children—or a thousand other things that happen every day right in this area. Help us out. Send them in. Every nominee will be checked, and the award will be announced June 8. It is going to cost The Brand considerable, and we are anxious to have all really good neighbors nominated. We felt that coming from the neighbors themselves was the fair way to handle the nominations. There is, of course, nothing to pay. No obligations. This trip is on us — and in one of Earl's topnotch Buicks.

What do you think? Is this a good idea? Should we make it an annual event? Around here we only know how folks feel by the things they write or tell us. Give us a little help on this one. We are trying to do something for the whole territory. We hope you think it is OK.

What? No potatoes! They just can't do this to us. The potato meca of the Plains — and you cannot buy a single pound of spuds in town. It's a shame and disgrace. Boy, someone could make a real killing if they had a warehouse filled with spuds. Down in Texas folks like their T-bones, but they definitely like them with French Fries. Can't someone dig up a few, measley, shriveled up potatoes?

What's the score on this fire extinguisher business? A bunch of high school boys and girls last Sunday afternoon waged a war on Main Street, shooting the extinguishers from moving cars. Again Friday night the extinguisher war spread into a free-for-all between ramps five and six at the Tower Drive In. A lot depends upon what the extinguishers contain. If they are filled with original fluid, they could be dangerous, if refilled with water perhaps not so bad. However, it would be mighty easy for someone to lose an eye as a result of this deal. Besides, it gives the appearance of a gangster mob. Mostly they are driving Buicks and Studebakers, maybe some other cars, too. If this situation continues, I'll bet it winds up with some mighty red faces.

Besides, fire extinguishers are expensive. They are kept for emergencies. Check your fire extinguishers, especially at the schools. It would be tragic to have a fire, reach for the extinguisher and find it gone.

the annual business meeting and installation of officers. The meeting will open at 7:30 p. m.

About 75 freshmen students and their sponsors were present at the freshman party Thursday night in Jaycee park. Following the wiener roast, group games made up the evening's entertainment.

A hillbilly play by the Hereford high school senior class will be presented Tuesday, May 13 at the Star theater about 9 a. m.

Plans for the public installation of DeMolay officers on May 7 have been completed. The Hereford DeMolays put on their degrees at a meeting of the Scottish Rite Masons.

County Judge Leonard H. Foster, C. C. Acker and George Le Grand were in Amarillo Saturday afternoon attending a reunion of Company G, 142nd Infantry Battalion, 36th Division.

Evelyn Benson Essay Winner

Evelyn Benson, Hereford high school senior, was named first prize winner Wednesday afternoon in the essay contest sponsored by the Hereford VFW Auxiliary.

The essay was on the topic, "What America Means to Me." Miss Benson's entry was chosen best out of approximately 20 in the contest.

Second place went to Gary Walker, also a senior. Pickens Moore, a freshman, won third prize.

Awards were made at a special assembly at 2:15 Wednesday. Mrs. LaVerne McMinn, VFW Auxiliary president, made the presentations.

Ted Williams sang a swan song typical of his major league career. He picked one in the seventh frame of his final game, and with the base tenant he played that was the ball game. . . . Similar deeds of his were legion and you can tab it that the big fellow will be sorely missed. . . . On his going away day they showered him with gifts so the press said. . . . I thought the shower was inept, how would you like to get hit with a Cadillac? . . . One of them was among the et cetera. . . . The word is extant that the Thumper never tipped his hat to the paying customers but a wire photo of his finale, showed him, schoolboy style, toting the dirt sams cap. . . . Tip your skimmer to him, baseball fans, he probably won't be back and they don't turn out many of his patterns. . . . The floundering Yankees have already lost their second baser, Coleman and Dr. Brown, still their best third baser, has passed his physical. . . . You can look for them to scramble for a center fielder and either for a second sacker or a hot corner guardian, before the trading dead line catches them. . . . The Phillips 66ers have signed Clyde Lovellette of Kansas, 6 ft. 9 and Chuck Darling of Iowa, 6 ft. 8, which additions probably presage Bob Kurland's withdrawal to the side lines. . . . Loy Doty has already joined the ex's. . . . Also note in a gazette that Bobby Jack Floyd has been suspended by TCU, for violation of a probationary status. . . . Glancing back to the Cotton Bowl fracas last, he may have been put on probation, on account of his being a Grade A, first water ball player and they put him on the watched list, so as not to embarrass the residue of the personnel. . . . This isn't along sports lines but I can't help but think that in addition to inflation that one of our national faults is egotiation. . . . Arid that applies to the nation as well as to a lot of individuals. Nationally we are pretty smug, we've won two wars and couldn't make either victory stick and now for some filmy reason we are not winding up a police action. . . . Further, nationally and individually, we are, as I said, egotiated, we're substituting conversation and money for performance. . . . I see where the bereft is going to hit the boys in Big D begging in 1957 — for after 1956 the Texas-Oklahoma annual hassle is going on a home and home basis. . . . The inn keepers, food bandits and liquid condiment brigands are going to have one less date on their "sky's the limit" calendar. . . . I also note that Bud Wilkinson rates his '52 Okie varsity on a par with Nebraska in their own hearth league, that's for third place behind Kansas and Colorado in that sequence. . . . And with a glance at South Bend and Austin, sidewise, that is, he further states the Jayhawks may be the best team his club will meet. . . . He also averred that Notre Dame had a bad season in '51, they lost two decisions. . . . Leave me say now I'll pick OU in the first five nationally next year. . . . In the apology division. . . . In the last squib, sans malice, I neglected to give credit to where it originated. Hereby, to the apothecary, who in the torn legal tender episode, as so printed in the diversion, he furnished the agglutinate, free for nuttin'. . . . Probable, so he could cash the thing. . . . Notwithstanding the logic, to him my humblest, for a right amicable turn. . . .

Estimate 5,000 Acres Castor Beans In County

Current contract negotiations between the Department of Agriculture and the Baker Castor Bean Corp. for purchase of the 1952 castor bean crop were announced by B. M. Beard, agronomist for the Baker Corp.

The estimated 5,000 acres of 1952 crop castor beans in Deaf Smith county will be vitally needed for defense purposes, Beard told The Brand.

A total of 200,000 acres of castor beans have been requested by the government for producing areas in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Arizona and California.

In Texas, county PMA offices and Baker will produce castor beans on a hulled basis from producers. Baker is installing a hulling center in Hereford, as well as a warehouse.

Deaf Smith, Parmer, Lamb, Swisher, Castro and Randall counties will be served by the local plant.

Under the contracts executed for Commodity Credit Corporation by County PMA Committees, Commodity Credit Corporation guarantees to pay producers 10 cents per pound or the market price, whichever is higher, for castor beans, hulled basis, delivered by producers to PMA receiving centers. During 1951 the market price for hulled beans varied from 10.5 cents to 11.8 cents per pound. Commodity Credit Corporation is now negotiating a contract with Baker Castor Bean Corporation under which this corporation will make the same guarantee of price to producers who execute growers contracts with them and deliver their beans to the corporation's receiving centers.

Mechanical harvesters for harvesting the castor beans after frost will be available through county PMA committees in counties in all areas where castor beans are produced. The machines may be available for sale to producers or will be rented to custom operators. Sufficient machines will be available to take care of the producers' needs.

MESSENGER HD CLUB

Disbanded During World War II, Club Re-organized Sept., 1947

By Mrs. Don Kennedy

The Messenger Home Demonstration club disbanded during World War II and was reorganized in September, 1947 with 15 present.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. J. T. Guinn, president; Mrs. T. J. Poindexter, vice-president; Mrs. Wilson Wyly, secretary treasurer; and Mrs. W. H. Clements, reporter. Present for the reorganizing of the club were: Mesdames L. E. Beene, E. A. Brown, N. A. Brown, Josie Busby, W. H. Evans, Bertram Jack, Earl Monroe, C. O. Northcutt, Alta Wyly and Bob Wyly.

The present membership of the club is 17 with five of its charter members still on the roll.

Some of the things the club has are: Secret pals, an annual Christmas party and an annual luncheon, where one club entertains another. Westway club was luncheon guests this year. Club dues of 10c are collected at each meeting. In case the club needs extra money, luncheons, suppers and 42 parties and Bingo are given. The club meets in the home of each member as the club house is being remodeled.

Since July and August are the busiest months, the club dismisses for these two months and meets again in September. By that time most of the harvest is over—or at least the rush period is over.

In 1948, the club studied and completed the following projects: How to sand and finish hard wood floors, new treatment for polio, new medicines, party sandwiches, landscape improvements, correct table setting and redecorating hats.

In 1949 subjects studied were: Glove-making, planting bulbs in the fall, pruning trees and shrubs and food preparation for frozen food lockers, aluminum tray making and glass etchings.

In 1950: Clothing construction, lamp shades, needlepoint work, canning fruits and vegetables, corsage making, demonstration, cosmetics, textile painting, flower arrangements and beadcraft.

In 1951: Clothing, marking patterns, home nursing, articles on posture, tailoring, beauty plans, hat demonstration and nylon corsages. Subjects for the current year are: Civil defense, how to buy plants, social security for farm labor and manicures.

Yearbooks are prepared in advance, outlining the meeting places, subjects for discussion and general plans for the year. These books also list the county, district and local officials and other information.

Mrs. N. A. Brown is now serving the club as president; Mrs. J. T. Guinn, secretary and Mrs. W. D. Howard, council delegate.

John D. Aikin Outlines WTCC 1952 Program

John D. Aikin, Hereford's director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, this week announced the immediate objectives of that organization.

Mr. Aikin said the WTCC's 1952 program of activities and services were developed from ideas and suggestions of individual members throughout its 132-county territory. He described it as "a grass roots expression of what the people want their regional chamber of commerce to do."

He appealed to the businessmen of Hereford to support the WTCC with their time and money.

The immediate objectives are:

1. A state-wide conference on surface water problems.

2. Continuation of a campaign to obtain a U. S.-Mexico labor agreement to meet needs of West Texas farmers and ranchers.

3. A long-range national advertising campaign to sell industrial assets and tourist attractions.

4. An exhaustive survey of Texas' highway problems.

5. Active cooperation with all forces devoted to soil conservation.

Blue Cross, Shield Now Available To Any Individual

For the first time in history, the Texas Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans for hospital and medical - surgical care have announced a continuing program for non-group enrollment for individuals, according to W. R. McBee, executive director of the plan.

The announcement was made at the State Medical Association meeting in Dallas May 4-6.

"This non-group enrollment for individuals will make Blue Cross -Blue Shield available to thousands of Texans heretofore not eligible. This enrollment will start immediately and will be continuous," McBee said.

This modern idea of prepaid medical care had its birth in Dallas in 1929 when it was first introduced for hospital participation in the Baylor University Hospital. It was first employed as protection for the public school teacher of Dallas who had operated their own private plan for several years prior to the Baylor adoption. From the beginning, this cooperative movement between the hospital, the doctor, and the plan was based on group enrollment to permit maximum coverage at reduced cost.

Throughout the years individual requests for enrollment have mounted until local experimental enrollments proved the plausibility of going forward with an individual plan on a state wide basis.

McBee expressed confidence that the next immediate goal of 1,000,000 members in Texas will be achieved during the year 1953. Last year Blue Cross and Blue Shield paid to doctors and hospitals almost $10,000,000 for services to members.

L'Allegra Club Members Visit Girlstown May 1

In place of the regular club meeting scheduled for L'Allegra club for May 1, members of the club made a trip to Girlstown near Whiteface which has been their benefit project for the past year.

The group left Hereford in time to reach Girlstown by 4 o'clock in the afternoon and were entertained by the girls themselves who demonstrated everyday living at Girlstown. They were shown through the building and about the grounds and had supper with the 36 girls in the huge dining room.

Miss Amelia Anthony, director, explained the routine of life at Girlstown. They assign a mother one of the assistants, to each group of four of the smaller children, the youngest there now is 13 months, and after the girls are twelve they do all their own laundry and taking care of themselves. ## LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Black - Bottom Pie Big Favorite For Spring

Black - Bottom pie is a big favorite in the South as elsewhere, and once you taste it you have an urge to try making it yourself. It's a dreamy, creamy creation with a snappy ginger-snap crust and a topping of whipped cream and chocolate flakes. It's wonderful for spring and all through the year.

Mrs. R. R. Wills makes Black-Bottom pie often to please her family. This recipe makes a big pie so Mrs. Wills doubles the filling and makes three crusts and has three pies. She says the pie has been recommended for storing in a deep freeze, and she plans to try it, but so far there is never any left to go in the deep freeze. Here is Mrs. Wills' recipe:

- Black-Bottom Pie
- 12 gingersnaps, graham crackers or chocolate wafers
  - 5 tablespoons melted butter
  - 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
  - 5 tablespoons cold water
  - 2 cups milk
  - 2 cups sugar
  - 1 1/4 tablespoons corn starch
  - 4 eggs separated
  - 1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla or rum flavoring
  - 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
  - 1/2 cup heavy cream
  - 1 tablespoon grated chocolate, semi-sweet
- Roll gingersnaps into fine crumbs and blend with butter.

Press crumb mixture into pie plate and bake at 275 F 8 to 10 minutes. Watch closely. Soak gelatin in cold water. Cook the 2 cups of milk 1/2 cup sugar, yolks of the 4 eggs and the cornstarch in double boiler until mixture coats the spoon. Remove 1 cup of mixture and add melted chocolate and vanilla and beat well with rotary beater. Cool and pour in pie shell.

Add dissolved gelatin to remaining mixture from which a cup was removed, while still hot and stir until dissolved. (Don't allow to stiffen). Beat the egg whites until foamy, add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Gradually add the remaining 1 1/2 cups sugar, folding in slowly. Add to gelatin mixture at once and pour all over chocolate mixture in crust. Top with stiffly whipped cream and sprinkle with the grated semi-sweet chocolate.

"Storm Center" Story About English Beauty In Malaya

Reviewed by Corianna Jennings
Just as the center of a cyclone is still and calm so was Diana as the events about her were stormy. Robert Standish's latest novel, "Storm Center" tells the story of the beautiful girl, Diana. Newly arrived from the homeland, England, Diana was visiting her soldier brother at Fort Mallet in the Malay Archipelago. She was a most welcome guest in a land where such young beauty was a treat for the men and her freshness a cause for envy and jealousy for the women. Beauty faded fast in this land and no woman could hold hers for long there.

From the very first, trouble seemed to follow Diana until she began to believe that she brought bad luck to all and eventually to herself. Only the reassurance of the priest kept her from thinking that she had become the "Femme fatale" as others reported her to be.

caused her to cut her visit short and go elsewhere to visit a friend. But even here the women soon grew to hate her and men turned against partners and wives to side with her. It was all without effort on her part and in fact against her will as she remained coolly aloof until the young Frenchman, whom she had met casually and earlier, returned. Again they felt the strong attraction of their first meeting and soon picked up the threads which rapidly grew into love.

But their love affair ended in tragedy with his accidental death and left Diana so distraught that even the kindly Father Courtney could not help her, when she returned to the fort to be with her brother. Diana grieved and independently went her way alone. She filled her spare time typing for the Father hoping to gain some peace by being of aid to others. Maggie Kennedy, the wife of the Resident of the post, who was usually friendly to all, grew to dislike Diana more than ever because of her aloofness and in time came to hate her because she could never break through the cool shell of reserve. Too, because of Diana's power over others, she felt less powerful herself and of her place in the life at the fort, and a loss of influence and prestige. It was she who could have saved Diana but refused to do so and it was she who saw her destroyed while others did not know it was to be. The author has done well in portraying a beautiful woman who was so strong and so very different from all others around her, without wanting to be. He will be remembered for his "Elephant Walk," which was a book of the month club selection one year. Both of these books are in the library says Mrs. Boydston, librarian, and for those who like to read of life in strange lands, the two offer something different to readers.

Retiring

Mrs. Essie Cardwell is being retired June 1 after 15 years of service as bookkeeper at the West Texas Gas company. During her years of service, Mrs. Cardwell has seen the gas company grow with Hereford and the personnel be increased from a few employees to a large company of officials and employees. Her plans for the future are more or less indefinite but summer plans include trips to Arizona and California. At a get-together held at the gas office Wednesday Mrs. Cardwell was presented with a gift of luggage from the office force.

The Public Warehouse
The public warehouse is like the pearl in the pig's mouth — most of us are not conscious of its value in our farm economy. Our farmers would be economic slaves to the buyers if they had to sell at harvest time on a glutted market. Or they would lose millions of dollars in a single crop year from "country damage" if they had to hold back their products by using the open yard as a storage place. Instead, they can store their products in a public warehouse and release them into consumer channels at a fair price as they are needed under the law of supply and demand. In the meantime, they borrow money from the bank to pay their merchants and finance their farm program. Negotiable warehouse receipts are collateral. The warehouse means the difference between profit and no profit for the farmer. If it were not for that simply constructed, barn-like structure, the farmer would have to sell at a loss, the bank could not make many of its loans, the merchant could not be paid, and the economy of the entire community would be affected.

The warehouse, therefore, is the key to the orderly and profitable marketing of our agricultural products.

There are about 3,300 warehouse units in Texas. Ninety-nine per cent of the state's 1,300 warehousemen are reliable business men worthy of the public trust they hold and of the vital role they play in our economy. But there is the one percent of unscrupulous operators who can cause the kind of scandals we had this year when a few warehousemen converted millions of dollars worth of stored grain to their own use.

A set of antiquated laws charge the Texas Department of Agriculture with inspecting and licensing the warehouses of the state for the protection of depositors. The laws have no teeth. Only two inspectors can be employed to cover the entire state. They cannot make more than superficial inspections. The amount of the bond required for a so-called "bonded warehouse" would not cover a fraction of the commodities stored in it. There are no adequate provisions for enforcement of regulations, and no penalties for violations — such as illegal removal of grain or other commodities from storage.

The farmers do not have effective protection for the products they store in our public warehouses.

Texas needs a new warehouse law.

SCHOOL CHILDREN FROM BOVINA had themselves an enjoyable time in Hereford Friday, April 25 when they were taken on a conducted tour of Hereford business and places and manufacturing plants by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. The youths had lunch in the Shirley school cafeteria and saw a moving picture on Hereford and Palo Duro canyon in the afternoon plus more tours. The above picture was taken while the children were visiting in the courthouse. Alex Thompson Photo.

Rainbow Girls and members of DeMolay are invited to attend as well as Masons and local Eastern Star members.

Farm, Ranch Club Plans For Coming Club Year Thurs.

Farm and Ranch club met Thursday for a regular luncheon program in the home of Mrs. Waldron Melton.

The luncheon table was laid with a brown and yellow cloth and centered with a Maypole from which extended yellow streamers fastened to miniature corsages at each plate. Brown and yellow china completed the color setting.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Woodrow Perrin, president, conducted a business session. Members of the yearbook committee presented amendments to the constitution which were adopted. A study course for the 1952-53 club season was presented and accepted by the club.

Members voted to sponsor two projects next year — The Veterans hospital in Amarillo and Girltown.

Mrs. Charley Burks was named historian to fill a vacancy in that office and was also appointed chairman of the cheer committee. Mrs. Frank Rickels won the club prize for the day.

In conclusion, members voted to entertain husbands at a dinner given in the home of Mrs. G. S. Solomon on May 15, instead of holding the closing meeting scheduled for that day.

Those present were: Mesdames P. B. Sowell, A. J. Walker, J. V. Perrin, G. S. Solomon, Woodrow Perrin, Hershel Burrus, W. B. Nunley, Henry Melton and the hostess.

Fleas do not have wings.

Class Is Entertained

English Exchange Teacher Tells Of Briton's Life

Miss Marjorie Curtis, exchange teacher from England to Amarillo, Wednesday held Lions Club members spellbound with a 25-minute talk in which she compared life in England with that in the United States.

"Hereford, England," is a beautiful, quaint city," said Miss Curtis. She said most of the houses are constructed from Red Sandstone, a native rock from which the old Hereford Cathedral was also constructed. She said Hereford, England has the worst railroad system in the British Isles.

Miss Curtis recalled that she had requested the State of Virginia in her exchange teacher application and said that she was disappointed when she discovered she was going to a place of which she had never heard—Amarillo, Texas. However, she said that she now feels about Texas much as do the Texans and she would extol virtues of the state in true Texas manner upon her return to England.

Royalty and the royal family are viewed with pride by Englishmen, according to Miss Curtis, who added, "the small tax cost to keep the Royal Family we consider well spent."

"I have seen more sunshine during my few months in Amarillo than during my entire life," declared Miss Curtis regarding American weather. She added, however, "in England we can tell when we get up in the morning what the weather will be that day, which, I am learning, is more than you can do in Texas." Rainfall in England she cited as ample and said that plants flourish.

"What you call yards, we refer to as gardens," she said, "and we do have some beautiful front gardens."

Citing lack of money and buying power as the cause, Miss Curtis said that home conveniences in England do not begin to compare with those in the United States. "We have no ice boxes (mechanical refrigerators), no washers, no vacuum cleaners," Automobiles, likewise, she pointed to as luxury items in England. She said heat is secured chiefly from coal and that chimney-sweeps are necessary. Cooking is done with gas secured from coal, which is also the chief means of creating electricity in the country. Since coal is scarce, she said these items were not extensively used as in the United States and cited "a bath each day" as an impossible luxury in cold weather.

Comparing foods of the two nations, Miss Curtis upheld "tea in bed" as the English method of beginning the day. "Children brew the tea in many families," she said, "while couples vie as to whether the husband or the wife will brew the tea."

"—and we do not have those horrible tea bags you see in this country," she vehemently declared. "There is an art to making tea. Tea in England is black and much stronger."

As to breakfast, she said the English do not mix sweets and savory foods. Waffles and syrup she endorsed, but said it took her months to become accustomed to eating sausage or bacon with the waffles. Likewise, scrambled eggs and strawberry preserves, considered a delicacy by Americans, she found revolting. Table manners she outlined as different, too, pointing out that the English hold the fork in one hand and the knife in the other, transferring food from the knife to the fork, thence to the mouth; dessert courses, she said are transferred from the fork to the spoon. People take a break at 11 o'clock for a drink, eat their main meal of the day from 12 to 1 o'clock, and close the day with tea in the afternoon.

"Furthermore," she continued, "banks observe only the national holidays in England. When the bank gets a holiday, so does everyone else."

Stating a definite preference for the English government-controlled radio programs over American commercially sponsored types, Miss Curtis said she finds the English programs far superior. Television, she said, is handled likewise. Persons owning a radio pay an annual fee of $4 per year for a permit. Television is much higher. There are no local stations in England, three nationwide networks serve the country and one television network is maintained. Newspapers, due to national coverage, she cites as carrying very little society news and only a small amount of local coverage.

Schools naturally comprised her chief interest and operate entirely different from schools in this country.

"Our children start to school at five years of age," she said. When they reach the age of 11 years they are divided into three groups, according to intellect and inclinations. The division is made from record cards, from teacher observation and from intelligence tests.

Those showing most intelligence are entered in secondary grammar schools, the next group in technical schools and the third group in Modern Form schools.

"This allows development along lines best suited to the student," she said, "and we think it is better. They learn the kind of English and math which they will actually use later." Only students with exceptional intelligence are allowed to enter universities and, regardless of finances, the select few can always find means to attend.

Another factor of American schools which she found distressing was the clothing worn by students. "Levi's and cowboy boots she found it difficult to comprehend; likewise the forward manner of American boys and girls.

"My criticism of American schools," said Miss Curtis, "is probably the fact that the students have too much and, perhaps, do not appreciate fully the advantages offered them."

Steel and Oil Fronts Flare As Seizure Issue Explodes

THE biggest controversy since the Great Debate raged across the land this week. It involved a President's powers.

Behind the stormy Constitutional conflict were cleavages between labor and management in the vital steel industry.

No sooner had Federal Judge David A. Pine handed down his decision calling President Truman's seizure of the steel mills illegal when CIO President Philip Murray sent some 600,000 steel workers out on strike.

President Against Wall

The Truman Administration sought with alarmed urgency to halt the paralyzing strike. The President was backed to the wall—for the moment at least—in the Constitutional struggle over his "inherent" powers to act in an emergency.

Government lawyers moved swiftly to get a postponement of the effective date of the formal give-back-the-mills order issued by Judge Pine which would restore the status quo, making the steel workers employees of the Government again.

The chief hope of Administration lawyers was to get Pine's decision reversed by the Supreme Court.

Embargo On Steel

When the vast steel industry shut down almost overnight, the Government slapped an embargo on shipments of steel from warehouses to producers of civilian goods in foreign countries.

The Administration felt that if Judge Pine's decision, stating "There is no express grant of power in the Constitution authorizing the President to direct his seizure; There is no grant of power from which it reasonably can be implied; There is no enactment of Congress authorizing it" were allowed to stand, Presidents would be forever bound from action in time of emergency.

That was the reason the Administration pushed its fight rapidly into the High Court.

President Truman seized the steel mills to avert a strike called by Philip Murray's CIO Steelworkers in a dispute, principally over wages, with the producers.

The Union insisted that the industry accept a Government recommendation for 17½ cents an hour more (wages averaging just under $2 an hour), about 8½ cents worth of fringe benefits, compulsory union membership, and an 18-month contract.

Basically, the tripartite structure of Government was designed, as James Madison, one of the framers of the Constitution, said, so "that its constituent parts may, by their mutual relations, be the means of keeping each other in their places."

The Government's chief attorney in the steel seizure case, Holmes Baldridge, said he did not claim that President Truman holds unlimited powers.

Oil Strike

Previously the attorney had asserted the President's power had only two limitations—the ballot box and impeachment.

Baldridge asserted this week that if the court had understood him to make the claim that the presidential power was unlimited, he desired to correct it.

More labor trouble cropped up in the nation's oil industry. The Oil Workers International Union (CIO), struck for a 25-cent hourly wage increase and higher differentials for night work.

More than 90,000 unionized refinery and pipeline workers were involved. Government officials indicated that the start they had no intention of intervening. The union had requested 10,000 members in California to remain on the job so as not to hinder operations for the Korean War effort.

The strike threatened the U.S. motorist. Even before the strike deadline at 12:01 A.M. Wednesday, Denver, long lines of cars were reported at filling stations in many cities.

Some shortages of natural gas were also threatened if the oil strike became a prolonged squabble. The petroleum strike originally was set for March 3, but postponed three times by Government request.

Japan

Diplomatic Gamble

In Tokyo this week there was no dancing in the streets, but there were new smiles and a quiet warmth as Japan became an independent nation again.

The U. S. is gambling that freedom and independence will make a better and more dependable ally of Japan in the struggle against Soviet Communism than retention of military controls would have made. This is a gamble which has a share of Republican support as well as the backing of the Democratic Administration.

The signing of the Japanese Peace Treaty at San Francisco last September was preceded by a squabble within the Government. The argument initially involved the State and Defense Departments. Some officials in each favored and others opposed an early Japanese peace.

State Department View
The dominant State Department view was that Japan could not be kept under occupation restraints indefinitely and that with basic reforms out of the way the nation should be given its independence.

This was one case, at least, in which Gen. MacArthur, as Allied Occupation Commander, and the State Department saw eye to eye. MacArthur argued that no occupation could profitably last much beyond five years and he pressed repeatedly for an early peace treaty.

The "military price" for the early Japanese treaty, was the security treaty drafted to come into force simultaneously with the peace pact. This was fully supported by John Foster Dulles, "architect of the treaty, and the State Department.

Up to Japan
The big new fact of Japanese-American relations is that from here on the United States can no longer tell Japan what to do. It can negotiate and request, and it has tremendous power because of Japan's economic and military weakness for the time being, but the Tokyo government has achieved real independence.

Hardly had the U. S. put the Japanese treaty into effect this week when Soviet Russia denounced it and the accompanying security pact as "treaties for the preparation of a new war in the Far East."

The WORLD This WEEK

POLITICS: Squabble in Dixie

WITH Chicago convention time about nine weeks away, the GOP race for the presidential nomination looks like a knock-down, drag-out battle between Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. In the Democratic camp it's still anybody's guess.

Gen. Eisenhower emerged this week from the Massachusetts primary with a ringing endorsement from the voters of that state. The general not only swept the Republican popularity contest from Sen. Taft, but also challenged the position of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee on the Democratic ticket.

While Massachusetts Democrats had less interest in their contest, for lack of a powerful candidate, those who voted made it a two-man race for popularity between Eisenhower and Kefauver.

In the Republican contest, such White House possibilities as Harold E. Stassen, Gov. Earl Warren, of California and Gen. Douglas MacArthur were left far behind in the battle between Taft and Eisenhower.

Crucial Florida Test

An outstanding contest in the Democratic race is the Kefauver-Russell bid for Florida's preferential vote coming up Tuesday.

Editors of Florida newspapers, canvassed in a special poll, believe the Florida primary will give Georgia's Sen. Richard B. Russell his first primary victory over Kefauver.

The Tuesday election will be Russell's first popularity test since he entered the Democratic race.

If the estimates of the Florida editors prove correct, Kefauver will have suffered his first setback in a primary contest.

Russell has the support of the entire Florida Congressional delegation, of Gov. Fuller Warren and of the leadership and most members of the Democratic state executive committee. The state's junior senator, George Smathers, predicts Russell will win by a 2-to-1 margin.

By contrast, Kefauver has waged virtually a one-man campaign for votes. His efforts have included the simple technique he has used successfully in several other states—a hand-clash and "madam-I'm-running-for-President-and-sure-would-like-your-help" routine.

Upcoming Maryland Primary

Maryland also has a primary coming up next week. In the May 5 primary election there Gov. Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin wants to consolidate his plans to pledge Maryland's 24 national convention votes to Eisenhower, his personal choice.

There will be no voting in the primary for any of the Republican presidential candidates, but the governor is deeply involved in a contest for the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate.

If McKeldin's man loses, Taft forces may slip some of those 24 votes from under McKeldin's thumb.

Most Democratic leaders feel Maryland will send an uninstruc-

Suspense In Korea

A STRONG sense of finality hung over the Allied truce camp at Munsan, Korea, this week. Some observers thought the U.N. had made its final offer for a settlement.

Officially, the secret Allied proposals made during full dress truce sessions at Panmunjon were described only as "an over-all solution for the remaining unresolved issues standing in the way of a military armistice."

That means it wrapped up in one package the dispute over how to exchange prisoners of war, the Red demand for the right to rebuild their war-wrecked military airfields, and Communist nomination of Russia as a truce supervisor.

Dispatches from Washington quoted Allied diplomats as saying the proposal handed the Reds at Panmunjon last Sunday was "about the last offer we can make."

Official Descriptions

Officials in Washington said the secret package offer was a three-point program keyed to the U.N. demand for "non-forcible repatriation" of prisoners of war, which the Reds repeatedly have called a "preposterous demand."

In a lengthy attack on the Allied prisoner proposal, Red China's official Peiping Radio said Tuesday night: "It certainly cannot be considered by the Korean and Chinese side."

Washington sources said the Allied package deal proposed to (1) allow the Reds to rebuild North Korean military airfields during a truce if (2) the Communists accepted the U.N. principle for prisoner exchange and (3) dropped their nomination of Russia as a "neutral nation" to help police an armistice.

Communist negotiators wanted to trade Russia off for the airfields and insisted that all POW's must be returned to their homes.

War Actions

Infantry action on the front lines picked up this week. Although the fighting was sharper, the engagements generally involved units under platoon size.

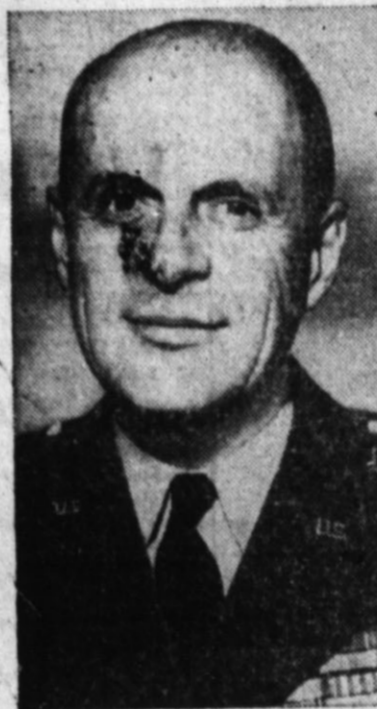

The Battleship Iowa, flagship of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, moved in close to shore and hurled its big shells at Red ground targets 17 miles inland. The U. S. Destroyer Thompson and the U. S. Destroyer-Minesweeper Doyle attacked Red troop and supply areas.

In the air, all-weather B-29 Superforts dropped hundreds of tons of bombs on rail bridges and other targets in Northwest Korea.

Sidelights

- In Providence, R. I., motorist Robert A. Martin, arrested for speeding, explained to the judge he was trying to catch an hour of time lost to daylight saving. The judge was sympathetic, but fined him $10 anyway.
- In New York the manager of a restaurant was shot in the mouth by holdup men. Casualty: One set of false teeth, which doctors credited with stopping the bullet and saving the restaurant owner's life.
- In Maidenhead, England, Mrs. Mercy Coffee celebrated her 100th birthday this week. The mayor sent her a birthday present—a plug of tobacco for her corncob pipe.
- This was a hectic week for the Japanese. The peace treaty went into effect Monday. It was Hirohito's birthday Tuesday. Nobody felt like working Wednesday. May Day came Thursday. Japan's war-renouncing constitution was due to be honored Saturday and "The Children's Day," a holiday for centuries, was slated for next week.

NEW SHAPE COMMANDER

GEN. MATTHEW RIDGWAY

GEN. MARK CLARK

There were grumblings, but comment generally was favorable.

GEN. MATTHEW BUNKER RIDGWAY is a foremost expert on airborne warfare—a soldier who likes combat command and only tolerates the complexities of administrative duty.

During the last five or six years, however, Ridgway has shown patience, tact and diplomacy in some of the toughest administrative posts in the Army.

Although passed over for the Nato post, Gruenther, who will continue to serve as chief of staff, the same post he held under Eisenhower, quickly commented: "It will be no strain of relationships at all to serve under Ridgway."

Said Gen. Eisenhower: "Things will be in good hands. We could not do better."

Replacing Gen. Ridgway in Tokyo will be Gen. Mark Clark, wartime commander of the U. S. Fifth Army in Italy.

There were grumblings over the big command shifts this week, but, generally, comment was favorable.

The Rapido Incident
Clark, 55 this week, has figured in a number of controversies, the most recent of which occurred when the President picked him as U. S. Ambassador to the Vatican last year. After a storm of protest, Clark adroitly pulled out of the squabble by announcing he would not accept the nomination.

Clark had other problems, the most celebrated of which involved the battle of Cassino in January 1944. The 36th (Texas) Division was badly mauled in an engagement at the Rapido River. The 36th Division Association of Veterans after the war adopted a resolution calling Clark "an inefficient and inexperienced officer."

Clark, backed up by former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, defended the Rapido attack as a "calculated risk."

In Good Hands
However, the Pentagon was known to favor Ridgway on the ground that he has had long battle experience while Gruenther, the youngest four-star general in the Army, has never held a major field command and is

Let's Finish Foundation Work, Support Fund Drive

Thursday was "F-Day" in Hereford.

On that day, a "call to battle" was sounded by the Deaf Smith Health Foundation in its bid for additional money to carry on soil analyses to prove the chemical superiority of locally-grown foods.

The work being carried on in Dallas on behalf of the foundation—of a necessity—been given general publicity only, but that publicity even has opened the way for great things in Deaf Smith county.

And there IS STILL MORE TO COME! The next 12 months can well be fateful ones not only for Hereford, Texas, but for humanity across the face of the globe!

We are being asked to contribute funds so that the work which has been carried on thus far may be brought through to completion in the coming year.

This appeal for funds has been made before, but the urgency was never more pronounced. To date, a total of $1259 has been received through VOLUNTARY contributions. This has all been spent for work done to date. Currently, the foundation is nip and tuck with expenses.

Why should YOU aid the financial drive of the Deaf Smith County Health Foundation?

In the name of our community, in the name of our children, we can make a donation to support the foundation for the benefit of ourselves and the entire world.

Yes, Deaf Smith county HAS SOMETHING. The full story cannot be told now for obvious reason that the theories which have been uncovered and developed thus far must be PROVEN WITHOUT A DOUBT before they are released to a waiting world.

But developments there are! We could go on extolling the virtues of Hereford, "The Town Without a Toothache," the way popular publicity has allowed since 1941.

But, as Dr. L. B. Barnett told the foundation directors on last Monday night, we need conclusive proof or we would be aiding and abetting quackery.

That's logical. That should be a good enough reason for bearing with the foundation until the medical profession has had an opportunity to evaluate the findings and probe the theories for itself.

Deaf Smith county crops have superior quantities of certain elements in them. There is no secret about that. That was brought out and substantiated by the chemical analyses run by the Houston laboratory and paid for by the $1258 previously donated.

Our next step along that line will be the comparison with crops of the same type grown in other communities so we can show interested parties in what specific elements Deaf Smith county leads the parade and why that inimitable chemical make-up is advantageous.

It'll be a BIG job. Something a handful can't do by themselves. Yeoman service has been performed along the early lines of research, but we must back up subsequent work with money.

People all around the nation are intensely interested in "The Town Without a Toothache" and bone-healing characteristics of Deaf Smith county chemistry. Stop in at the Chamber of Commerce office and read some of the letters. It'll open your eyes.

Interest in what makes Hereford, Texas, "different" is rampant not only among laymen but also among professional men. Their appetites have been whetted. We can perform the supreme service to our community and to humanity by paving the way for proving these theories.

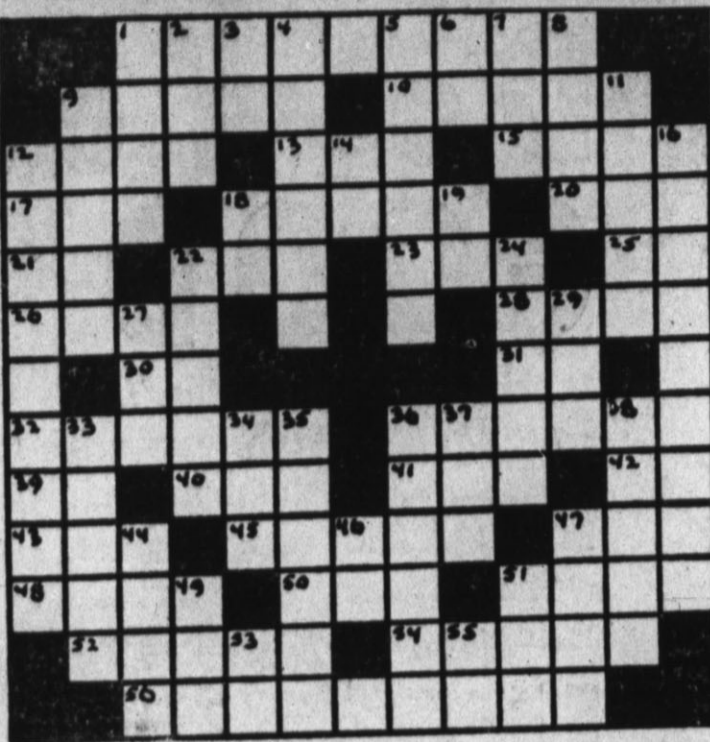

The cost of our support in this work will be infinitesimal compared to the rewards to be reaped. The immediate effect of the findings—when proven through extensive clinical tests—will be for the good of our fellowmen.

Eventually, the door will be open from this chemistry for financial returns for residents of this area. Hereford could very well become the "health mecca" for the nation.

We will all benefit from that. Support of the Deaf Smith Health Foundation is the one most important investment ANY of us can make in our community. It's not the SIZE of the donation, but rather the fact that we ALL support it.

When the mailman brings your pledge card for the foundation, fill it out and make your contribution. We already have a small start on our $4,500 goal.—W.W.K.

I'll Never Forget

The following narrative will contain many remote and disconnected events. This is necessary in order to explain my early rambling life which included many trips back and forth across Deaf Smith county. My Panhandle pioneering began in September 1889 in Hall county where my parents had settled on a school section about a year before the county was organized and about a year before Memphis was founded by Brice and Montgomery. The prairie was alive with snakes, tarantulas, centipedes, prairie dogs, coyotes and other pests. We could hear coyotes howl at night and see groups of antelope grazing in sight of the front door all day. After farming and stock-raising about five years my parents and several neighbors decided to make a trip to California in covered wagons. Accordingly, after due preparation, five wagons rolled out from my father's farm in western Hall county on the morning of July 23, 1890. We camped near Clarendon that night and the next night near Goodnight ranch where we saw herds of buffalo and elk. We followed the Fort Worth and Denver railroad to Amarillo. After passing through Amarillo—part of the way on Polk street where we saw but few brick buildings and no pavement—we headed westward

AUBREY JACKSON—Eisenhower. He's taken leadership. He's a good leader.

BRUCE MILLER—General Dwight D. Eisenhower. Since he is the only candidate that will appeal to the various and diverse pressure, religious, economic and racial groups found in this country. Also he has not had to make himself known on controversial issues of the day.

HAROLD CLOSE—I just imagine it'll be Eisenhower. He's probably as well qualified or more so than any of the other candidates, besides his popularity.

CLAUDE FRANCIS—Eisenhower if nominated and Kefauver if Eisenhower is not nominated. Eisenhower will be chosen because of his past military service and Kefauver would be chosen because of his popularity with the solid south.

BRUCIE ROSE—From all indications I would say that Eisenhower will be the next president.

MRS. REX TYNES—I think Kefauver will be. I believe that he'll go in because he is a Democrat and I think that they will win again.

and were soon traveling on Deaf Smith soil. There was not a mile of railroad in the county nor a mile of graded wagon road at that time. I'll never forget the largest drove of antelope I ever saw somewhere along the north line. There must have been a hundred or more.

Late one afternoon we camped near the old courthouse at La Plata. There was only one residence nearby. There was no Hereford at that time. Sometime the next day we crossed the New Mexico line. Soon we passed the spot where Tucumcari now stands, then on and on until we reached Albuquerque where we camped several days.

Albuquerque was a town of adobe buildings. The population was mainly Mexican. I do not remember seeing a single white person. Beyond Albuquerque we came in contact with four tribes (Continued on page 5)ve)

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg is not too worried about the President seizing the newspapers, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: I read in a newspaper which fell out of my neighbor's mail box after I pulled it far enough out so it would lose its balance where President Truman said last week it's a lot of hooey about his think of seizing the newspapers, only the steel mills come under that category at the present, and I sort of regret to hear it. First thing I did last week when your paper came out was to see if he'd taken over.

I was sort of interested in seeing what he would do with the Brand after he got it. You reckon it would be any improvement? Not that I'm sayin it needs any or that he'd be the fellow to do it.

About the last thing I believe I'd want to grab hold of is a newspaper, it ain't as easy gettin one out as some people think, but havin Truman sittin in as editor of The Brand would be something to look forward to, as I don't suppose he could run the paper and the White House at the same time.

However, seizin your paper probably would be about like seizin my farm out here at Bootleg. After you got it, it's possible you'd be worse off than you were before. There's too many attachments that go with it. Farmin is a easy life when every thing is goin smoothly, but that only happens in the pictures in the farmin magazines, and there ain't been no way perfected yet to pay your hands off with a government overdrift.

Consequently, you ain't never heard of a U. S. President seizin the farms of the nation, and it really ain't likely one is gonna seize the newspaper either. Wouldn't do any good. Most editors would move across the street and start another one. Be about like tryin to get rid of an ant bed by stompin on it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

You men can tell all the fish stories you want to but we think Mrs. Paul Hoff tells one that should end all fish stories. Mr. and Mrs. Walt Perkins who have moved here recently from Silverton bought their three year old daughter Joyce a brand new fishin outfit and took her fishin. When she hooked a little perch—the only fish caught by the party—she began to put up a howl and wanted that fish to get off of her new line.

From bitter experience we know that Mrs. Jimmie Giffentline is bein a very wise mother when she allows her son to get out on his own before he starts to school next year.

Buzz is quite proud of himself when he is able to go down to the library for a book for his mother and himself and announce

"I WALKED."

These young ladies named Marlene seem to be doin all right with their school work too as we noticed three of them on the eighth grade honor roll this six weeks—Marlene Allred, Marlene Gilliland, and Marlene Legg.

Usually people are advised to lock up to protect jewels, silverware, money, and furs but right now Mrs. Fred Saltzman had better keep a close watch on her fifteen pounds of potatoes.

'Lose With Taft' Slogan For Republican Campaign?

"We'd rather lose with Taft than win with Eisenhower" could be a distasteful mouthful of words a lot of would-be Republican kingmakers will have to eat before 1952 gives up the ghost.

The massbacks who feel that Robert Taft is the best chance for the GOP to reach the White House after an absence of 20 years certainly don't reflect the wishes of the American people.

And that is just why they've been kept out of the inner circle for these two decades.

A Republican victory this fall—if it comes—would be a good thing for the American two-party system. In fact, it will be the only thing that will save it from oblivion.

People have forgotten—for the most part—what a Republican administration was like. Those who DO remember more often than not wish they could forget.

The collection of politicians who are backing Taft—better still, "Mr. Republican"—are throwbacks from that same old regime that proved to be too conservative for the American people.

But there is a younger element surging through the GOP. One which is desperately fighting for survival among the high party brass.

We mean the Eisenhower liberals. This group is going to be the salvation of the American two-party system if it is ever going to be saved. But if the party brass insists on flouting the wishes of the American people as expressed in preferential primaries, they and Bob Taft can retreat—along with the remnants of the party—to the isolationist confines of the midwest.

The American people have expressed preference for Eisenhower in unprecedented fashion. Support for Eisenhower isn't limited to any party. In the Massachusetts primary—which Ike won in handy fashion with 27 of 28 delegates—more than 15,000 Democrats wrote his name in.

What other American would command such non-partisan support? But will the powers-that-be allow Ike's name to reach the voters in November? We shall see.

In the meantime, look for some real FIREWORKS in state conventions as the Taft and Eisenhower forces meet head-on. Being in disfavor with the Republican "do-nothings" should be enough for Ike to get a lot of Democrats to support him—in addition to legions of Republicans and independents—in the fall elections.

Eisenhower is a proponent—to a certain extent for sure—of the foreign policy of the current administration. That is good, because the foreign policy, basically, is good. The Russians are not going to drop all their murderous intentions just because Robert Taft wants to run for president.

Ike meets the test of being the man who could weld together the most popular support AMONG THE MAN WHO PUTS THE "X" ON HIS BALLOT than anyone else. He is the "man of the hour" for all those who put country above party. W. W. K.

of friendly Indians—Pueblo, Navajo, Hualpai, and Mohave. We camped at Fort Mohave on the Colorado river a day or two and were ferried across the river by five Indians.

After a hot tiresome drive across the northern part of the Mojave desert we camped several weeks near the foot hills of the Coast Range. Then my father sold his wagon and teams and bought tickets to Los Angeles. From Los Angeles we returned to Hall county on the Southern Pacific, Texas and Pacific and the Fort Worth and Denver trains.

During the next seven years I graduated from the Memphis high school and from the National Normal university at Lebanon, O. On October 1, 1901, I began my first term of school teaching at McDonoughville, La., very near New Orleans. I was principal of McDonough 26. I taught nine calendar months and then returned to the Panhandle where I taught several short term schools in Hall, Donley and Wheeler counties.

Late in the summer of 1904 we started westward again—this time in two covered wagons. We followed the Rock Island railroad from McLean to a point near Amarillo. Then we turned southwest, passing through Canyon, then along the Santa Fe to Hereford, which was at that time a very small town.

It had no pavement and few brick buildings—if any. The Santa Fe track lay almost flat on the prairie with shallow ditches on each side. There was hardly any embankment.

Leaving Hereford we went on to Roswell. I made the return trip by train. During the next two years I made a number of trips back and forth by train. I could not tell much about the growth of Hereford from a car window.

In the summer of 1906 I spent five or six weeks in Hereford while attending a summer normal which was conducted in the old college building. There were acres of open prairie between that building and the business center of the town. Hereford was still a very small town.

During this summer normal period I met Judge Russell and Mrs. Russell. He was county judge at that time. I visited him at his office in the old courthouse which had been moved here from La Plata. I also met Miss Pearl Turrentine (now Mrs. E. W. Harrison) and her sister, Miss Frances Turrentine, both attending the summer school. On the Fourth of July the school turned out for a picnic on the creek east of town. I spent most of the day rowing boats for the young women.

Some time in August I left Hereford and went to New Mexico where I did several more years of pioneering—chiefly in Chaves and Roosevelt counties. During this time I was census enumerator in a large district in the northern part of Chaves county. It lay on both sides of the Pecos. The settlements were very scattering and far apart. There was not a mile of railroad, nor a mile of graded wagon road in that area. I rode all the way on a Spanish pony.

After finishing this task I taught the Elida school through the fall months but we had to close on account of the lack of funds. Then I took the train for Groom, Texas, passing through Hereford once more. During the years 1911 to 1913 I was principal at Groom where my parents lived at that time.

During the school term of 1913-14 I was principal at Goodnight. I spent Christmas week of 1913 in Hereford with my parents—they had moved again. I spent the month of February 1914 in Hereford because the Goodnight school had to close on account of measles. This gave me an opportunity to observe the remarkable growth the town had made during the years between 1906 and 1914.

During the years 1914 to 1925 I taught school in remote places, but returned to "The Town Without a Toothache" each summer. This gave me ample opportunity to observe the gradual growth of our town. Before, during and after World War I, I taught five long terms along the Mexican border in Webb and Zapata counties. Just prior to World War I, I went out on two occasions with American soldiers to hunt Mexican bandits. I went as a driver, however, taking with me on one occasion seven soldiers with their equipment. We were out all night. We found no bandits. While living on the border I crossed into Mexico many times—the last time on May 5, 1922.

My teaching experience covered 31 years, but owing to short terms and temporary withdrawals it amounted to only 25 years counting nine months to the term. I was superintendent in several county seat towns.

Now, as I am about to close my teaching record, I want to digress a little and tell a funny story. In my early years I was very rigid on discipline. One day I reprimanded a girl rather sharply for some misconduct. Soon another girl wrote a note and tossed it over to a near-by desk. I saw it fall and said to the girl receiving it, "Now young lady bring me the note." As I read it I grinned. Some of the young fellows said "Read it to us please," which I proceeded to do. It read: "I hope Mr. Cottingham will marry a wife that will boss him the remainder of the days of his life." It created a big laugh. I said, "young lady, wait about 15 years and see what I do." I waited longer, however, but on March 28, 1934, I met the woman "I'll Never Forget" and married her November 30, 1935—Miss Floy Jenkins, a long-time resident of Hereford.

Now back to my theme. In 1925 my parents sold their home in Hereford and moved out to one of our farms north-east of town. Consequently, for the next two years, I farmed during the long summer periods and taught short terms during the winters—in central Texas. Three years later I taught the Wyche school one term. This was the end of my school work. I moved back to Hereford in 1935. I continued farming until 1946. In closing this story of going and coming I want to say good luck to all of my friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Brown and daughter Paula were in Lubbock the first part of the week visiting with friends.

Girlstown, USA Bippus HD Club For This Year

By Christine Fortenberry

Early in the year the Bippus Home Demonstration club decided to learn more about Girlstown USA, which is situated nine miles south of Whiteface, Texas. The club wanted to help them in any way they could and decided to take Girlstown as their club project. They intend to carry out this project for several years.

A trip was planned for our club members to visit Girlstown. Six members made the trip. Miss Anthony, the founder and director, was originally in social work. She said that in that time when they found a homeless boy he was very easy to place in a home but when they found a girl they had difficulty in placing her in a home. Hence the idea was born that she would like to establish a home for homeless girls.

Some of the things we learning about Girlstown:

1. Girlstown is non-demonstrational.
2. It was opened March 9, 1949.
3. Founder and Director is Amellia Anthony.
4. Mr. Duden of Lubbock gave ranch of 1425 acres.
5. Residence number 1 only permanent building.
6. It has 37 double bedrooms with twin beds. There is a bathroom for each four girls.
7. On May 9, 1951, they had 16 girls.
8. Girls attend school at Whiteface.
9. Girlstown will give college training at Texas Tech to all college material and will train each girl to care for herself.
10. Each girl is allowed to attend the church of her choice.
11. Helpers are called adult family members.
12. Their dream is to own 100 cattle, chickens and pigs and to have room for 500 girls by 1961.
13. Each girl is allowed to attend the church of her choice.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Allen and family and Miss Dorothy Dry spent Sunday in Lubbock visiting Wilma Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gordon of Klamath Falls, Ore. spent Sunday night and Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Benson. Mrs. Benson accompanied them to Dallas, where they visited their son and family. She visited with her daughter and son, Mary Lou Hardy, who are employed in Dallas. The Gordons and Mrs. Benson visited relatives in Cleburne. Morgan, Waco, Fort Worth, Hico, Whitney and Moshens. Sunday the group attended a family reunion for the Parks family. The Gordons and Mrs. Benson returned to Hereford on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Obed Caraway are in Vernon this week attending a horse show.

Make Your Farm Labor Count

COLLEGE STUDENT — Can farmers meet the high production goals set for 1952? That's a question that is causing a lot of concern not only among government officials but farmers themselves. According to C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, agricultural producers have demonstrated many times their ability to get and maintain continued high production from their operations. Last year, he says, the output of the nation's farms and ranches was almost 46 per cent above the average for the 1947-50 period. But despite the high production of recent years, U. S. reserves of cotton and food grains are now at five-year lows. The picture could be even darker after the 1952 harvest, adds Bates. According to the specialist, at least two important production factors besides the weather are getting serious consideration from producers. These are the relation of farm prices to production costs and the supply of labor available for handling essential operations. The price-cost ratio is less favorable to farmers now than it was a year ago and is resulting in declining farm profits. Defense industries are taking healthy chunks out of the farm labor supply despite the fact that farm wages are about 25 per cent higher than for that same period last year. The need for more efficient use of labor thus becomes obvious, says Bates, if profits are to be retained from the farm or ranch business. Effective methods of getting more returns from the available labor may involve such things as planning work well in advance in order to avoid delays and loss of time. Advance planning may indicate that additional or larger machines are needed or that by rearranging production operations full use of presently owned equipment can be made. Bates suggests training programs for laborers as an aid for improving efficiency and cutting down on repair bills and mechanical failures. The use of self-feeders and automatic waterers are labor savers for livestock producers. Locating the feed storage near the livestock feeding areas will also save time especially when hay or other roughages are involved, says Bates. Adequate housing for the farm laborers is a mighty important item and will pay dividends. A good farm hand is worth holding and anything done to make the surroundings more pleasant for him and his family will increase his value to the farm. Bates sees no reason for any slackening in the demands for agricultural products. Defense requirements continue to increase; exports are expected to remain near present levels and the growing population of the nation are all factors that point to continued strong demands. But Bates points out that good management will be required by farm operators, especially as related to labor, if the business is to be kept on the black side of the ledger.

Silage Cheapest Dairy Feed Next To Good Pasture

COLLEGE STATION — Dairy farmers who had an adequate supply of silage fared much better during the recent drought than those who went to the store for their roughage supplies.

R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says dairymen should make a special effort this year to put up enough silage to carry their herds through drought periods.

The ratio between milk and feed prices has put a squeeze on the producer's labor income especially where all feed supplies must be purchased. The production at home of roughage feeds is one practice, says the specialist, that will widen the price spread. Pasture, hay and silage crops are not only recommended for every dairy farm but adds Burleson, they are a must.

Next to pastures, silage is the cheapest source of feed for the dairy cow. It is the best substitute for pastures and is needed most when pastures no longer furnish good grazing.

Burleson has it all figured out on a per acre basis and suggests that plans be made now to plant the silage crop. He says there are a number of good silage crops that can be grown in Texas. Atlas sorghum is one of the favorites and he uses it to illustrate what a good silage program can be worth to a dairy farmer.

He says Atlas will produce from 10 to 15 tons of silage per acre but for the example he's using the lower figure of 10 tons. A ton of Atlas contains about 17 per cent total digestible nutrients — that's the part of the feed a cow can actually use in producing milk — and that means 3,400 pounds of total digestible nutrients per acre.

It is a known fact, he says, that after a cow maintains her own body, she can produce 139 pounds of 4 per cent milk from 200 pounds of TDN. So, he figures from the 3,400 pounds of TDN, she can produce about 4,700 pounds of 4 per cent milk and this all from one acre of atlas sorghum silage.

From the dollars and cents angle, he says the average price for milk in Texas is around six and one-half cents per pound and that times 4,700 is $283.50. He points out that silage can be produced and stored for about $8 per ton and this would mean the 10 ton crop would cost $80 per acre. It all adds up about this way; with $20 worth of silage, it is possible for a dairy farmer to produce $305 worth of milk and adds Burleson, it is also a cost of production cutting practice to feed silage.

No less than three tons of silage should be put up for each cow in the herd and Burleson emphasizes it's a good idea to double this figure to take care of the lean and unproductive years. It doesn't take many acres to produce the silage tonnage needed by most dairymen, but the crop must be planted, harvested and stored before it can be used. Now is the time to start the first operation. Last week's general rains have provided the moisture for planting.

Burleson suggests that dairymen confer with their local county agent regarding the best silage crops for their area and at the same time check on a fertilization program for the crop. Maximum yields are needed from all crops this year to meet the growing needs of the nation and the use of fertilizers will help get the top yields.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove red wine stains from table linen?

A. Cover the stain as quickly as possible with salt, and moisten with cold water. After thirty minutes, rinse in cold water and

Q. How can I remove annoying squeaks in my shoes?

A. Rub a little oil well into the soles. Then stand the pair overnight in cold salt and water, using barely enough to cover the soles.

Q. What can I do when I have scorched a white garment while ironing it?

A. Immediately rub the spot with a cloth dipped in diluted peroxide. Then rub the iron over it and it will be as white as originally.

Q. How can I mix a good walnut stain?

A. Mix one quart of boiled linseed oil, one quart of turpentine, one pint of whiting, one tablespoon of burnt umber, one-half teaspoon of Venetian red, and one half teaspoon of yellow ochre.

Q. How can I remove tartar from the teeth?

A. Rub the teeth vigorously with a piece of absorbent cotton wound on an orange stick, which wash out in warm water and mild soapsuds. Be sure not to let the salt remain on the linen too long, as it might damage the material.

Q. How can I prevent water bugs from infesting the kitchen sink?

A. Pour a little kerosene down the kitchen sink at night, and this trouble will be eliminated.

Q. How can I save time cleaning furniture?

A. Try using a soft paper napkin with a bit of polish on it to give a high luster to the furniture, the next time you are dusting. This saves quite a bit of time and gives pleasing results.

Q. How can I improve the flavor of French dressing?

A. It will have a delicious flavor if orange juice is used as a substitute for vinegar. Choose the thin-skinned oranges, as these are always the juicier.

Q. How can I clean a black straw hat and restore the faded color?

A. Mix well together two-thirds olive oil and one-third jet black ink, and go over the hat with a small brush.

Q. How can I clean tarnished rhinestone pins and buckles?

A. Allow the rhinestone pins and buckles to set in gasoline for about fifteen minutes, and then polish with a flannel cloth.
