

REPUBLICANS TAKE THEIR STAND

The 25th Republican National Convention

IT WAS a thunderous showdown as victory-starved Republicans took their stand for the 1952 presidential election.

The declared purpose of the GOP platform builders was to complete a campaign structure of triangular-planks. One side was concerned chiefly with winning voter support in November. It outlined the party's position on foreign policy, labor, civil rights, corruption, farm support and other key questions.

The other two sides were shaped and polished to mirror views acceptable to both moderates and extreme right wingers in the party.

Other Major Planks

The GOP platform backers also worked out promises of progressive relief from excessive income taxation and a plan to free the Federal Reserve System from the domination of the Treasury.

A prominent part of the platform was taken up with an attack on Democratic rule for the networks of crime disclosed in Congressional investigations and a promise of a cleanup.

Greater protection for private enterprise at lower levels and further States down" in supplying fighting forces in Korea.

Down With Democrats!

Even though this 25th Republican Convention was one of the bitterest national conventions in the 96 year-old party's history, the delegates agreed on one thing—1952 will be a winning year for the GOP.

The delegates and partisan spectators had a chance to join in shrieking denunciations of the Democrats who have been in power 20 years.

Dwight Eisenhower himself sounded the battle cry when he appealed for Republican harmony so the party can "kick the Democrats so far November 4 it'll take them about 20 years to get back."

Agriculture Squabble

One of the thorniest issues before the GOP platform drafters involved the Secretary of Agriculture's powers to fix farm price and other policies.

The platform builders, in a move to take farm problems out of politics, proposed stripping the Secretary of Agriculture of this power.

The alternative called for such policies to be determined by a non-partisan board, operating in the farm field much in the manner that the present Federal Reserve Board sets banking and other monetary policies.

The fact that Democrats have had better success than Republicans in winning farm votes in recent elections was a recognized motivation for the proposal.

Civil Rights Issue

The civil rights issue also gave the Republican platform builders some tough moments. The majority of a subcommittee on civil rights supported a plank endorsing a Federal fair employment commission which would carry on an education campaign against racial discrimination.

A minority of the subgroup, however, insisted that the platform take the stand that the problem of handling racial discrimination was purely a local and state problem and not Federal.

The question finally was ironed out in a closed meeting tussle.

Flood Family Exploits Narrated In Third Marguerite Steen Book

Reviewed by Corinne Jennings
Remember the Flood family in "The Sun is My Undoing" and "Twilight on the Floods"? A new book by their creator, Marguerite Steen, traces the exploits of the family to make a fine trilogy. Titled "Jehovah Blues," it originally appeared in England under the title "Phoenix Rising." Aldebaran Flood has the lead and is an unusual person. She has achieved her rank of a famous author living in England. And though she is no beauty she has attractiveness of her own and in a special way, "a face like gray bone with a corral slash across it." Her sophistication, background and a mysterious, manner appeal to Ford, Orlando. He belongs to the higher stratas of society in England and though he was once in love with one of his own kind he now wants Aldebaran for his wife.

She is half persuaded but cannot see herself as a lady and as living their kind of life, for after all she likes her own place in life, that of a writer. Then there is something linked with her past that she must solve before she becomes the wife of any man. Following the trail of the secret which includes Lee, Marion, pianist-composer of "Jehovah Blues," she comes to the United States. On the surface she makes lecture tours throughout the country to visit many towns searching for Lee and the missing links.

She had expected the end to come in Charleston where she visits a cousin from the Cuban side of the house. And it is there that an incident occurs which reminds her of one in her own past and one in which she is forced to take a part.

The cousin, Ruth Rodriguez, is a beautiful and capable woman caring for her own plantation. Her daughter, Diamond, young in age but old in the ways of women, caused her greater concern than did the running of the place which others thought was too big a job for her, and one that she should give up.

The mystery and suspense is held throughout the story to bring to a dramatic end the story of the Floods. One of the highlights of the book is the author's description in the thoughts of Aldebaran of her entrance into New York, "the city of the beautiful and the damned". Her visit to the South is quite authentic also.

"Jehovah Blues" will be found with the new novels at the county library.

Guests in the Lama Beavers home this week were Mrs. Beavers' sisters, Mrs. Joe Anastasio of Patterson, N. J.; Mrs. Hershah Johnson of Abilene; and Mrs. R. C. Blanks of Abilene, mother of Mrs. Beavers.

CONG. ROGERS SAYS

Closing Days Of Congress Told In Public Housing, Vets Fight

THE CLOSING DAYS OF THE SESSION: The drive for adjournment got under full steam during the last week of June and the first few days of July. This meant extra long sessions in both houses of Congress and in all committees. This is especially true in the conference committees between the House and the Senate. When a legislative matter passes both Houses but is amended in either House, the legislation is submitted to a conference between the House and Senate to adjust differences between the Houses.

Since the House and Senate have differed on most major bills this year, the conferences have had some tough and exhaustive battles. The GI bill for veterans of the Korean War hit this snag on one major explosive issue and several minor ones. The explosive issue was whether or not the benefits should go directly to the veteran and thereby permit him to make his own arrangements and attend to his own business in obtaining the educational benefits.

A select committee of the House known as the Teague committee made a detailed investigation of the program created under the World War II GI Bill. This committee uncovered some of the most unconscionable raids on the public treasury by educational institutions that could be imagined. These raids were not confined to fly by night schools, although these schools, contributed a substantial portion of these vicious practices. Many of the leading educational institutions in this country were permitting practices that were unbelievable. The victim was the American taxpayer. He was not only victimized through unnecessary and useless administrative expenses, but he was also victimized by institutions obtaining funds from the public treasury through various practices not anticipated by the Congress when the legislation was passed. These practices amounted to a federal subsidy of both State and private schools under what was intended as a program to benefit the veterans.

The Veterans Committee, working in cooperation with the Teague Committee, undertook to close these leaks in the treasury. An attempt was made in the Senate to revive the old practice of paying money to the schools rather than to the veterans. This proposal would have created an almost impossible administrative problem that would have required thousands upon thousands of dollars for administrative expense and federal employees and untold red tape both to the Veterans Administration and to the veteran. The House was able to prevent this. It is the opinion of most of the members of the House and most of the members of the Senate that the bill agreed upon will be a major step forward in cutting out red tape and measurably reducing administrative expense and federal employees in this program. There was one particular amendment that I insisted upon being in the bill. This was concerning GI home loans to veterans.

My amendment provided that a World War II veteran who was recalled to service in the Korean War would not lose his entitlements to get a home loan under the Korean Bill, merely because he had used his entitlements under the World War II bill. Many of these boys who have been called back in had just got started in civilian life and had a small equity in their homes. When they were called back in, they had to sell those homes and use that equity to pay up their bills and take care of their families. Had we failed to get this amendment in, a great injustice would have been done these boys who have been subjected to double service.

PUBLIC HOUSING: You will remember that the House of Representatives reduced the number of public housing units authorized in the original committee bill from 50,000 to 5,000. This was contained in an appropriation bill. When this bill reached the Senate, the number of public housing units was increased to 45,000. Since there was disagreement a conference committee went into the matter and finally agreed upon 35,000 units.

When this bill came back to the House for approval, a motion was made to send it back to the committee for further reduction in the housing units. However, as I have pointed out in previous letters, the coalition that was able to reduce the number from 50,000 to 5,000 failed to coalesce and the result was that the bloc of Southern Democrats were left holding the bag, and the House approved the 35,000 units. It was another case of what happened on the control bill. The House had done away with many controls on goods not in short supply. However, when the matter got to the conference committee, most of these controls were put back on for the ten months period, and the matter came back to the House and was accepted by the House simply because of changed votes.

OTHER MATTERS BEFORE ADJOURNMENT: Almost every member has some bill that he wants to pass before adjournment. There is not supposed to be a filibuster in the House because of limited debate. However, when an attempt is made to bring a controversial bill to the floor, the opposition can easily start delaying tactics by many parliamentary maneuvers. One of these is to force quorum calls at every opportunity. It takes about 40 minutes to call the roll of the House. Yesterday the roll was called 11 times. So, you can see what filibustering in the House means.

John Deere Dealer To Announce New Heavy-Duty Tractors

"Ike's the man."

For several days now, people in this Democratic stronghold have been literally enthralled with the radio broadcast of the Republican National convention. For the first time in history, the doors were literally thrown wide open, and the people of America knew "what, when, where, why and how" about the convention. The result is that instead of a passing interest, the people have a definite, fixed idea. Instead of getting a few scraps of information along with a highly propagandized report, they have had the facts as they happened and America felt that they were a part of the proceedings; they got mad with (and at) Gov. Fine of Pennsylvania, they laughed at the moment of comedy with the little Puerto Ricans. History was made -- and the people heard and watched it.

Today, the Republicans stand higher in the esteem of the American people than probably any other time in 50 years. They saw fair play replace steam rollers. They saw Eisenhower and his amateurs win a signal victory over one of the greatest political machines ever known. They were pulling for Ike, but they felt sadness and humiliation when he lost, then conceded like a gentleman. They found out that the people who pull the political strings are, after all, just ordinary people -- and that they make mistakes just like everyone else.

Texas, I think, will probably be Republican in the election next fall. That's a prediction. A lot depends, of course, on the Democratic nominee and the conduct of the party. If the Democrats also throw open their convention, it could make a lot of difference. I believe the Republicans have set a precedent in public information, that will be continued through the years. They washed their dirty linen in public. It was not an accident either. The Republicans have been "outside, looking in" for the past 20 years-- and the convention workings were thrown wide open after long, bitter debates. Some of the younger people felt that they should supply the facts, then let the people choose. They won out on this point -- and it will in all probability win for them in November. I truly think the Republicans named a president in Chicago this week. That's another prediction.

This could, and should, afford a cue for political sub-divisions all over the country. Even in towns, counties and school districts of the Panhandle. Even in Hereford. For a long time now, it has been the general policy of governing groups to meet discuss, and formulate plans, then

Ben Guill Will Run For Seat In Congress

Probability of a two-party general election in this district became apparent in the district following announcement of Ben Guill, Pampa, ex-congressman, that he would be a candidate if the Republicans nominated Eisenhower.

No candidates for local offices had been advanced Saturday, however.

Sub-Deb Girls Breakfast At Cowser's Home

The Sub-Deb girls had a "come as you are" breakfast, at Donna Cowser's home Thursday, July 11, from 5 to 8 a.m.

A breakfast of coffee, cocoa and doughnuts was served to Shirley Sharp, Earline West, Betty Hamilton, Kathryn Kester, Marilyn Lewis, Shirley McCullough, Sharon Moore, Toddy Pittner, Leona Urbanczyk, Virginia Sigle, Sue Smith, Gail Biggers, Mary Durham, Jane Houston, Patsy Jackson, Nan Longbottom, Margaret Phillips, Barbara and Jo Hall, Gwendolyn Jesko, Gwendolyn Wright, Barbara Rogers, Barbara Winget, Marcella Bezner, Dixie Young, Martha Jean Brown, Ruby Barclay, June Marjorie Smith, Pat Griffin, Doris Jean Smith, Lajean Latham, Joan Southern, Rosie Young, Sue Savage, hostess Donna Cowser and sponsor Mrs. Frank A. Giles Jr.

Another season has all but passed for Deaf Smith county wheat as a few fields of dryland wheat in the northwest part of the county are all that remains to be harvested.

Few Fields To Harvest In '52 Wheat Season

Yields were good, elevator operators reported. Most of the wheat is going into storage where it is being stored for $2.07 per bushel. Market is $2.02.

Individual yields reported were from 10 bushels to 70 bushels. Average for the entire county would probably be about 20 bushels.

Guests last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Boardman were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lund, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Keeton, Hollis, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Keeton, Lubbock; Mrs. R. C. McCollum, Amarillo. This group was joined for a barbecue picnic in the Boardman's back yard on July 4 by the following: H. H. (Dod) Boardman, L. C.

All-Star Game Weathered Out For Third Time

The secret of rain-making has been found, tried and tested in Deaf Smith county. Anytime the farmers want rain, all they have to do is have the Hereford Softball league schedule an all-star game, such as was washed out Friday. Not that they have any cause for complaint following the fall of the beneficial moisture, but this was the third time the tilt has been washed out.

League President Wendell Burdine said the game will not be played the week of July 14-18. Tentative plans call for the game to be played on July 23 after the season schedule is completed.

Estes Family Returns From German Residence

After spending three years in Germany, Lt. and Mrs. Clifford Estes are home again and, although they enjoyed every bit of it, the country, the army life there, the people and even the sharp contrasts between the ways of life, both are convinced they wouldn't trade one inch of American soil for all of Europe.

"There is one thing that gave us a jolt almost as soon as we landed though. The American people's seeming indifference to the Korean War. I was very much surprised to see the Korean War news on the second and third pages of the newspapers. Americans in Germany are more concerned about the War than the people of the United States," Lt. Estes declared.

It was not the first trip to Germany for either the Lieutenant or his wife. Lt. Estes served two years in the European Theater of Operations in World War II and was present when the German surrender was signed in the office of Chief of staff at Rheimo. Mrs. Estes was employed in the Office of Strategic Service and in the Office of War Information in Germany during the war. She recalls VE

Day in '45 and the celebration in Vienna. She was one of a party of five to drive out of Vienna to look at a monastery that day, and to be caught up short in the Russian zone by Russian officers. They thought they were being kidnaped when they were taken to the Russian command-ing office. After sharp reprimands and stern admonishments never to return, they were instructed how to get out quickly.

"The German people are in good shape, industrial plants have been restored and most of war's devastation has been replaced with new buildings, bigger and better than before. There's plenty of high priced luxury items in the shops and many, many automobiles. Their poverty is the same as they have had the past thousand years and probably will have for a thousand more," Lt. Estes said.

"Traditionally the German is hard-working and thrifty. The ones I knew worked for the U. S. Army and they were glad to be employed by the Army for their pay is better, but their attitude is one of arrogance and passive resistance. There is still much class distinction, although they are working on reforms, especially in the schools."

Highlights of their stay abroad included a trip to Italy. They visited Rome, Sorrento, Capri, Venice and they also made several trips to the recreation area at Garmisch. One thrill was walking from Austria back into Germany through a glacier.

In the fall of 1950 they witnessed the Passion Play at Oberammergau and sat for eight hours to see its conclusion.

When Army officers reach Germany, they are provided with domestic servants and the Estes' take great pride in that they were able to help a displacee from Poland get to America. Adella Schulz who was sent to them as a maid, is now making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wallace, Steubenville, W. Va., but it was only six years ago that the displacee was fleeing from the Russians in the dead of night. When she heard the Russians were coming she fled in her nightgown, bedroom slippers and coat. She walked and ran for hours and was finally picked up by a German Red Cross truck and taken into Czechoslovakia where she was cared for. Then the Polish displacee obtained work in the West Zone with Lt. and Mrs. Estes and it was through Mrs. Estes' godmother, Mrs. Julia Rosiek of Weirton, W. Va., a member of the national Polish organization for placing displacees, that Adella was brought to the U. S.

Lt. and Mrs. Estes arrived in New York on June 14 and have been visiting relatives in Ports-

Aid For Deaf Project Of Beta Eta Chapter

(Ed. Note - This is another in a series of articles being written about the presidents of various clubs in the city.)

If you should chance to hear a group of women discussing cultural and intellectual development and international philanthropic projects, it will probably be members of Beta Eta chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, for the objective of this chapter is to unite congenial young women of the community for purposes of friendship and fellowship through sorority affiliation. Also included in the chapter's objective is the promotion of cultural and intellectual development through constructive reading and membership associations.

Miss Beverley Barkley, recently elected president of the Hereford Beta Eta chapter, explains the meaning of Epsilon Sigma Alpha as translated from the Greek to mean "Pursuit of Learning", and lists the chapter's purposes: to search out and develop the best capacities of each member; to discover and use the opportunities for worthwhile recreation and entertainment; to develop ability of expression; to recognize leadership and to stimulate and encourage character building.

"Most young business" women like to feel that they are improving themselves through some form of study, and yet they have little time to devote to systematic study", Miss Barkley commented, "and that is why I am happy to be a member of Beta Eta. Our study isn't a burden but we do keep up with problems of the day. Then too, everybody likes to have a part in doing something for others and we take pride in participating in the national project "Aid for the Deaf."

Loveland, Colo., is the locale of the national office of the Sorority and the scene of its summer camp. Several members of the Hereford chapter have attended the camp which is open to all members of the sorority for their vacations at a nominal sum, with swimming, horseback riding, fishing and hiking on the program. Not to mention wonderful climate and good food. The national organization now has more than 23,000 business girls enrolled.

Founded in May, 1929, it was incorporated in the state of Missouri, starting a wide spread movement soon to reach into every state in the union and to some foreign lands.

The local chapter was organized in 1947 under the sorority motto, "All For One - One For All" and has cooperated with the national organization in the celebration of Founders Day on May 1, Mother's Day and Installation Anniversary Day by appropriate activities.

Officers include: Beverley Barkley, president; Lola Faye Brunson, vice-president; Betty Katherine Owen, recording secretary; Kathleen Brunson, corresponding secretary and Pat Homer, treasurer.

Corinne Jennings is the club sponsor.

Miss Barkley was born in Yakima, Wash., moving with her

-TO THE PEOPLE OF DEAF SMITH COUNTY

This is the first time I have asked the people of this county for an elective office. I entered this race on my merits as a citizen of this community and the 26 years of service I have rendered the people of this county. Those who have known me all these years know that I have been honest and fair in my dealings with all people.

To you who do not know me, I spent 19 years as a teacher in the Hereford public schools. In that time I had only a few students who called me Mr. Smith as most of the students called me by my given name—Ralph. They not only thought of me as their teacher but also as their friend. Several of these students are now in business in Hereford and I would be happy for you to ask them as to my character and fair dealings with them as a teacher. I resigned my position with Hereford schools in December, 1945, to take over the work of Veterans Service Officer in this county. I felt at that time I could not render a better service to the community than that of aiding the Veterans of all wars and their dependents, especially those boys of World War II who were coming home needing help in re-adjusting themselves to civilian life.

On returning home from World War I, we boys found no one we could go to for help and assistance. It was hard to find employment or re-adjust ourselves to civilian life. I have tried to help these veterans with all their problems and assist them in any way possible. I have assisted the parents, widows and orphans of those who were left on the battlefield after making the supreme sacrifice that we may keep and live our Democratic way of life, helping them to receive the benefits they are entitled to from our federal and state governments.

I have tried to see all of you personally, but in the limited amount of time I have missed some of you. I feel that I am qualified to hold the office and render the best of service or I would not have announced for this office. I ask that you consider me for this office and if you feel that I am qualified and entitled to your vote, I would appreciate your casting that vote for me on July 26, as I would certainly like to serve you as your next County Clerk.

Your Friend,
Ralph Smith

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Partying When Weather's Hot With "Summerized" Meat Dishes

If you are planning parties during the hot summer months, here are a couple of best-loved recipes that reduce toil and whet the appetite. There is something about a big platter of thinly sliced meats, attractively arranged and garnished, that gives a lift to the appetite even on the sul-lest of days.

Mrs. Colby Conkright uses these recipes often which really make it easy to entertain or get a satisfying dinner or supper on the table in short order with little effort.

Mayonnaise Chicken
2 to 3 cups cooked chicken cut small
1 cup celery

2 cups small green peas
1/2 cup nuts
2 tablespoons chow-chow, pickle or 1/2 cup chopped olives
3 hard-boiled eggs chopped
3 tablespoons Knok gelatine
3 tablespoons cold water

Soften gelatine in the cold water and dissolve in 1/4 cups hot chicken stock. Pour this mixture into 1 cup Miracle Whip mayonnaise and mix in rest of ingredients with salt and pepper to taste. Mold in flat large pyrex dish and cut in squares. Makes twelve generous servings.

If you prefer to serve chicken salad instead of the chicken loaf, which choice will likely depend on the rest of the menu for the meal, Mrs. Conkright's chicken salad recipe is fine for the cold plate.

Chicken Salad
4 cups diced cooked chicken
2 cups diced celery
1 teaspoon salt
1/3 teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons sweet pickles chopped
1/2 cup nut meats
1/2 cup Miracle Whip mayonnaise (more if necessary to moisten)

Mix all ingredients, adding mayonnaise and stirring just enough to blend. Serve when thoroughly chilled. Serves eight generously.

County Farmers Must Show Interest In Water Fight

The time is fast approaching when Deaf Smith county farmers are going to have to stand up and be counted for what they think is right. Their farms might be at stake. Like it or not, they are faced with a terrific problem in the preservation of their underground water supply. Amarillo has bought land in Deaf Smith county which is to be used for municipal water purposes. They have built a pipeline to Deaf Smith county which, engineers say, will take 85 wells to keep under pressure.

As Virgil Dodson, president of the county farm bureau said at a meeting of farmers in the county, "It certainly means they're not going to stop there." He was referring to Amarillo's current plans to drill four wells on the 1 1/2 sections of land they have purchased in the county.

Figure it out for yourself. They don't spend millions of dollars to drill four wells in the county.

It was appalling to see the turnout which was recorded at a county-wide meeting in the courthouse on Tuesday night to see what could be done about the threat to our farms by Amarillo's expansion plans.

One thousand irrigation wells in the county and 30 farmers took enough interest to show up at a meeting! Are we to assume—Amarillo to assume—that the farmers of Deaf Smith county are going to sit by and let their underground water go out from under the farms without even so much as a protest?

Aren't we really interested? Amarillo's action and the manner in which it was brought about is not being discussed at the present time in this article. What we are concerned about—the rest will come later when we find out their side of the story—is the lack of interest displayed by farmers in Deaf Smith county in a matter so VITAL to them.

At Monday night's meeting and at Tuesday night's meeting, representatives of the High Plains Water District asked the farmers, "What do YOU want us to do?"

There were no concrete suggestions at either meeting, only the trend of thought that the water district has been set up to protect the farmers, let them do it.

Now the water district has been set up only six months. They have no funds and must borrow money to operate from the old voluntary water district here on the Plains. The district itself is just an infant and must have the farmers solidly behind it to make an excursion into such a delicate matter.

Millions of dollars can be spent in a "show-down" litigation as was the case with Martin county.

Is our district prepared for it? The farmers of this district and this county who have so much at stake must take an ACTIVE interest in this fight and offer concrete suggestions.

THEY MUST TAKE AN INTEREST IN THE MEETINGS HELD TO PROTECT THEIR WATER SUPPLY.

One person cannot do it. A newly-born organization can't go the fight alone. It has to be a "grass roots" undertaking. If the stakes are high enough, we will do it.

A city like Amarillo can be expected to encourage industry. You know what industry will do to water. You know what industry will do to irrigation.

If Amarillo can get a multi-million dollar industrial program with water from Deaf Smith county and from Randall county, who is going to concern themselves over the small amount of trade from Deaf Smith county?

Any city is bent on one goal—to expand. Industry is the answer.

Deaf Smith county farmers and businessmen must meet with Amarillo, and soon. When we can find out where we stand, we know how to proceed.

But when our representatives meet with Amarillo, they must know they speak for the determined majority of Deaf Smith county farmers, not for about 5% of them.

Water is life out here on the Plains. Let's prove that we intend to keep it.—W. W. K.

Aid Promised In Safety Campaign

Previous editorials written in The Brand have told of the need—from a layman's point of view—of better cooperation on traffic safety.

We have tried to point out some of the gross violations on the part of speeding motorists.

The editorial has borne fruit, at least in the opinion of one Hereford businessman. This businessman has offered to donate to the Jaycees—or any other civic-minded organization—the cost of the advertising for carrying on a campaign such as Amarillo did recently to point out traffic violations and to try to effect some remedy.

The generous offer was made by a concerned citizen and property owner who is in no way connected with this newspaper except that he concurs with our view on the sometimes intolerable speeding and traffic violations thrust upon Hereford's over-taxed traffic system.

We repeat this offer. If the Jaycees or any other civic club wish to carry on a program to awaken the public to the need of traffic safety, a Hereford businessman will give you financial assistance in your advertising.

This is a good project for someone. Interested parties contact The Brand and we will put you in touch with the gentleman interested in the campaign.—W. W. K.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Readers Doubt Big Truman Role In Naming Democratic Nominee

Do you think the preference of Harry S. Truman will carry much weight in the presidential nominations at the Democratic convention on July 21 or do you think the opposition as lead by men like Shivers will forge ahead in naming the Democratic candidate?

JESSE CLICK—I don't think Truman will carry much weight. MRS. W. J. DICKSON—I just don't know. I hope we get a Democrat in there, that's all I hope. I'd rather think it would be some man of Truman's choice.

F. M. KESTER—Well, you asked a question that ought to require some thought. I'd be inclined to think that he'll have some influence, but I don't think he'll dominate the convention. I feel he'll have too strong competition to dominate the convention in men like Shivers and men who agree with Shivers. I think Truman has lost a lot of his prestige in the last few months. I don't think he'll ever have the power, the influence over people that he has had.

MRS. EDWIN PAETZOLD—I think he'll have a lot of competition. I think that his preference won't get nominated. I have no particular reason for thinking that way. I think a lot of people are rather tired of the way he has been making decisions.

CECIL MASSEY—I think a great deal of Truman's plans depend on what happens in the Republican convention. I think that Shivers and the type of opposition he represents will carry a lot of weight. I personally don't think Truman will take any part whatsoever in the convention.

MRS. F. E. WALTON, JR.—Usually the political machines carry quite a bit of weight. However, I don't think it will carry this time. I think we have had enough of his kind of government and the people are ready for something else.

MRS. HUBERT WHITE—I don't believe that Truman will have enough power to do it. There seems to be too many people against him from what I hear.

Texans In Washington

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Delegates to the Interparliamentary Union convening in Bern, Switzerland, August 28 may think Texas is a member nation.

Three Texans will be among the 14-member congressional group the United States is sending to this assembly of representatives of the freely elected legislative bodies of the world. The three are Senator Tom Connally and Reps. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco and Wingate Lucas of Grapevine and Fort Worth.

They were selected by Vice President Alben Barkley because of their roles in meetings of the Union in previous years. The Interparliamentary Union conducts panel discussion which encourage exchange of ideas and otherwise promote peace and understanding.

Last year's assembly emphasized increased world food production. This year the theme will be on promoting closer relationship between nations.

Lucas, who took an active role in last year's discussions, said in an interview that caution should be blended with diligence in tackling this year's theme.

"The world certainly needs more understanding between peoples," he added. "We should do everything we can to promote cooperation, but at the same time we should guard against surrender of our national sovereignty."

Poage, who has taken a lead in food production conferences at previous sessions of the Union says he will encourage greater use abroad of Texas-grown cotton.

Around the Capital

Dr. J. M. Dawson, former Waco pastor who is national executive director of the Baptist Joint Commission on Public Affairs, will leave shortly for Copenhagen, Denmark. He will attend a conference of church leaders.

The purpose of the meetings, said Dr. Dawson, is to advance full religious liberty of peoples over the world. The study will be conducted by the Baptist World Alliance Commission on Religious Liberty.

Former East Texas Congressman Tom Pickett of Palestine, now executive vice president of the National Coal Association, says he was eligible to participate in the congressional retirement plan but did not do so.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, like most of his colleagues, thinks Congress will have one of the longest adjournment periods since Franklin D. Roosevelt was president.

He added: "At present the danger of inflation appears as the biggest threat to our country from the domestic angle. In about 60 days we will really begin to feel the effects of defense production demands on our economy."

Will Inaugurate Honored Texan Award At Fair

The State Fair of Texas this fall will inaugurate an annual "Texan of Distinction" award, honoring a Texan who has distinguished himself in industry, the sciences or the arts on a national scale, Fair president, R. L. Thornton has announced.

Thornton also announced the appointment of a select committee composed of men who are themselves distinguished Texans; D. A. Hulcy, president of Lone Star Gas Co. and chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, chairman; Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist University; Stanley Marcus, president of Neiman-Marcus Co.; Fred N. Mayer, president of Continental Supply Co.; and W. G. Vollmer, president of the Texas & Pacific Railroad Co.

No member of the committee is either an officer or director of the state fair.

The honoree will be the speaker at the State Fair Banquet, held each year during the fair. The award will be made at the banquet.

The recipient must be a native-born Texan who has lived in Texas at least 15 years of his life.

"It is our intention to make this award by America's largest annual exposition one of the most prized honors that can be bestowed upon any man by his native state," Thornton said.

"The purpose of the award is to focus national attention on the achievements of distinguished Texans, especially in industry. It makes no difference whether they have made their mark while residing in Texas or in some other section of the country.

"Once a Texan, always a Texan."

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg seems a little baffled this week, his letter reveals. Probably the heat.

Dear editor: I was sittin out here on the Fourth of July takin a holiday, although understand I do not follow the general trend in this matter, if a holiday is good on special occasions it's good on ordinary occasions and I take one whenever I feel like it, under my policy, for example, no use takin one say just on Lincoln's birthday, take one every time you think of Lincoln, and you stretch this out over all the heroes and special days we got and at the end of the year you run up a total of holidays a man's entitled to; as I say, I was sittin out here no doin anything when a ripple of wind turned the page of a newspaper I was lookin at and had been wonderin for some time what was on the next page, and since it was as handy as it was I went ahead and looked at that page and noticed an article which reported that most Europeans are baffled by political events in the United States.

Accordin to this article, Europeans can't understand the system whereby American primary elections are held to pick a delegate who goes to a convention and votes as he chooses for a candidate who will have to run all over again in November.

In this connection, I would like to say that a man does not have to go to Europe to be baffled by American politics. I ain't never been out of the country and I been baffled all my life.

We Americans, when we get a chance to vote, generally do a pretty passable job, maybe we've made a few mistakes here and there, but the system we got for gettin something to vote for ain't always made too much sense. It puts too much power in the hands of a few people who very seldom come out here and ask me who I want. Maybe they ask you and other important people, but so far I been pretty generally ignored. Of course if they asked me, I ain't sayin I'd have any better ideas than theirs.

However, even if politics is bafflin to the average voter, he ain't by himself. I've seen lots of office holders, even Presidents, who at times was baffled themselves. It's a pretty popular state of mind.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. What is a good abdominal exercise to accompany a reducing diet?

A. Lie on floor with knees bent halfway and heels on floor. Bend elbows, head resting on your knees. Pull your stomach in and press the small of the back to floor as you push your hands with your head. Hold while you count to 10, relax, and repeat.

Q. How should the long-faced woman dress her hair?

A. Avoid a long hairstyle which accentuates the already long lines of the face. Don't pull hair severely off the brow, and back from the hairline. Instead, soften your face by filling it in with bangs, or hair curled softly over temples. Give the illusion of width to the face by fluffing the hair out softly at the sides.

Q. How are very round eyes made up?

A. With an eyebrow pencil, extend the line of the upper and lower lids at the outer corners of the eyes. Blend the lines until only a faint shadow remains. The brow should be extended a little, too.

Q. My face is youthful looking, but my hair is turning gray fast. Would you advise dying it?

A. If it makes you feel older, yes. But actually, gray hair can be very becoming to some types—even flattering. Just remember, that once you start dying the hair, it will take lots of time and money for upkeep. Nothing looks worse than a neglected dye job!

Q. What is generally considered the secret of successful make-up?

A. To call attention to ones good features with bright, light make-up, and to minimize poor features with darker makeup.

Q. The skin on my neck seems much darker than that on my face. What can I do to remedy this?

A. You can try bleaching the neck with buttermilk massages.

Q. How can I reduce my upper arms, which seem too big and flabby?

A. Try this exercise. Raise arms forward, shoulder high and shoulder width apart. Swing arms down and back hard, palms facing to rear. Keep this up for 50 times morning and night. It is good!

Q. How can I help prevent wrinkles around my eyes?

A. Try massaging gently a little mineral oil around the closed eyes each night. Avoid any eye-strain.

Q. Is it advisable to use nail polish on fingernails that are brittle?

A. It probably is better to refrain from polish for a time. Paint them, instead, with colorless iodine and buff to a gloss. Also, eat foods which give nails their beauty and strength -- milk, beans, cheese, eggs, fish, asparagus.

COST OF FURNISHING SERVICE

ONLY ONE TELEPHONE RATE INCREASE

There has been only one increase in local telephone rates here since World War II. Yet, the costs of furnishing service—wages, materials, taxes—have gone up not just once—but many times. Result—earnings on our property here are inadequate.

That's why it's necessary to ask for another increase, but the average cost of two local calls will be a nickel—still one of the best buys in the average family budget.

MRS. T. SULLINS, who observed her 80th birthday on Wednesday, is shown with some of her handwork. Despite her age, Mrs. Sullins is proficient with a needle and crochet hook. Bill Patton, Photo.

Mrs. T. A. Sullins' 80th Birthday Is Celebrated

Mrs. T. A. Sullins celebrated her 80th birthday Wednesday, July 9, at a covered dish luncheon arranged by a group of friends and neighbors. Gathered for the anniversary affair were: Mesdames A. H. Brooks, W. A. Campbell, D. W. Crawford, J. T. McGuire, R. A. Jacobs, Charles Dones, C. B. Williams and Malcolm Cassels.

Music, informal fun and visiting were enjoyed by the group in the afternoon when gifts were presented to the honoree. Mrs. Sullins was born in Murphreesboro, Tenn. in 1872, the oldest in a family of seven and was left to take over the job of mother and housekeeper at the age of 16. She first began her handwork at 13 when she became crippled with a bad foot and was unable to walk for awhile, and she was taught to weave the cloth and make her own clothes while very young. She was married to Tommy A. Sullins in Auburn, Tenn. They moved to Oklahoma where they adopted a nine months old baby girl in 1909 and in 1919 they moved to Hereford. The daughter grew to young womanhood and married, and at her death in 1934, she left a son, R. A. Spencer and a newborn baby girl, Addie Lamon, in Mr. and Mrs. Sullins care. They kept the children until Mr. Sullins had a stroke in 1946 and became an invalid, and then the children were placed in the Presbyterian Children's home in Amarillo. Addie is still in the home and will be a senior in Amarillo high school this fall. R. A. is serving in the U. S. Air Force.

Since Mr. Sullins' death, Mrs. Sullins has lived alone, and while she is able to maintain her home, she cannot work in her garden and flowers as has been her delight for years. Through the years she has done much beautiful handwork. She has made dozens of quilts and has given many of them to worthwhile organizations such as Boys Ranch, Orphanages and to needy and unfortunate families. The embroidered bedspread shown in the background of the picture has recently been completed and will go to her granddaughter Addie. Also shown is an embroidered picture of a peacock done in brilliant colors.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. McGee and family have returned from an extended vacation trip spent in New York, Washington and other points.

Dear Folks

In an effort to please everybody, particularly those who have been making critical remarks about the picture that I have been using in these ads, this week I am running one that was taken when I was fifteen years old. Of course, I have filled out some since this picture was taken, but you will notice that it is a good likeness of me, and I hope that you will approve.

It is impossible to please all of the people all of the time, but every successful politician must make an attempt. If you don't think that a politician has a hard time of it, just try sitting astraddle of a fence, with your nose to the grindstone, your ear to the ground and your shoulder to the wheel. He must be a leader in four or five different crowds, each going in a different direction, and he must take both sides of every important question.

In my case, it is not a matter of keeping up with the Joneses; keeping ahead of the Smiths is my problem.

I hope that you all will appreciate the effort I am making to please everybody, and that you will be kind to me when you make up your mind who you want for your County Clerk.

Sincerely yours,
Robert L. Thompson

Caldwell-Coats Vows Exchanged

BOVINA -- In a double-ring ceremony read by Rev. Bill Gipson in the Bovina First Baptist church, Miss Ruth Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Caldwell, became the bride of Harold Victor Coates, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Coates, Sr., of Seagraves.

Proceeding exchanging of vows, Miss Peggy Coates, sister of the bridegroom, presented piano selections with George Caldwell as vocalist. Traditional wedding marches were played for the recessional and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length dress of white cotton lace and nylon net, fashioned with a halter neckline and basque waistline. A short fitted jacket was worn over the shoulders. Her semi-colonial bouquet was of baby Calla Lillies and stephanotis. Miss Donna Furster, maid of honor, wore a mauve silk crepe sheath with a purple nylon net overskirt and a short jacket. The matron of honor, Mrs. Sidney H. Thompson, wore an identical dress in yellow. Their bouquets of white daisies were semi-colonial.

Wayne Coates was his brother's best man and David Coates was groomsmen. Ushers were Paul Coates and Tom Caldwell.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bedford Caldwell.

The bride was graduated from Texas Tech in Lubbock and TS CW, Denton. Mr. Coates is a graduate of the University of Texas. He is now with the Frontier Chemical company in Wichita, Kans., where the couple will make their home.

Former Hereford Girl To Marry New Yorker

News of the forthcoming marriage of Miss Vivian Olson of New York City, formerly of Hereford, is of interest in Hereford.

Miss Olson's engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Olson of Waco, who made their home here for many years.

The prospective bridegroom is Mr. John C. Pace Jr. of Mineola, Long Island, N. Y., son of Rev. and Mrs. John C. Pace of Thornton, Texas.

The wedding is planned for July 19 and will be held in the chapel of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church in New York. Dr. Henry S. Randolph will officiate.

Miss Olson is secretary with the Presbyterian Board of Missions in New York City. Mr. Pace is executive engineer with the Long Island Electric company. He is a graduate of Texas Tech, Lubbock and of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Miss Olson is a graduate of Hereford high school and of Trinity university, San Antonio.

OES Study Club

The OES study club met at Mrs. W. C. Hromas home Monday, July 7, for the first meeting since the election of officers. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Nell Culpepper. Plans were made for a salad supper for grand worthy matron Mrs. Flora Bess Boone, Tuesday July 8, at 8:00. Thirteen members were present in addition to the hostess.

Personals

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mathers over the Fourth of July weekend were their daughter, Paula, who is employed in the library of the University of Oklahoma at Norman, and her friend, Harry E. Wallace, also of Norman. Also here for the Fourth holiday was the Mathers' son, Bob, who is spending the summer on the Mathers ranch near Los Animas, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Mercer and Ann; Mr. and Mrs. Travis Caraway, Sandra and Carolyn; Mrs. Joseph Funderburg; and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mercer and Kenneth of Whitesboro, Ky., spent the Fourth of July holiday at McKenzie state park in Lubbock. Mrs. Funderburg remained in Lubbock to visit at the home of a cousin, Mrs. Minnie Sanders.

Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Cagle left Wednesday for Buena Vista, Colo., where they will visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelly.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Williams are the C. W. Humbles of Fort Worth. They are former residents of Hereford, where Mr. Humble was a county judge.

Lulu Childers Bride Of Tiny Walling Sunday

BOVINA -- In a double-ring ceremony at the First Baptist church in Bovina at 3 p.m. on Sunday, July 7, Lulu Belle Childers became the bride of Tiny Gyles Walling.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kelly, Texico, N. M., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walling of Bovina.

Jamie Tidenburg read the ceremony as the couple and their attendants stood before a background of palms, gladioli and daisies.

Music was presented by Mrs. John Wilson, pianist, and Miss Clara Derrick, vocalist. Miss Derrick sang, "It Had To Be You" and "Thine Alone."

Miss Nancy Williams, cousin of the groom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a white nylon dress over green taffeta slip with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Nickie Foster was best man and ushers were Ted Walling, brother of the bridegroom and Douglas Nix, a friend of the family.

The bride's street-length dress was orchid nylon over an orchid slip, made by the bride, with white accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with her birdy bouquet of gardenias and white carnations. For something old, the bride wore a bracelet of Mrs. Joe Wilson's, aunt of the bridegroom. Something new was her wedding ensemble; borrowed were earrings from Mrs. Nickie Foster; and for something blue, the traditional blue garter.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the educational building of the Baptist church.

Mrs. Bobby Englant, cousin of the bride, served the cake. Mrs. Glen Hromas poured the punch.

After a honeymoon trip into parts of New Mexico, the couple will be at home on the Gyles Williams ranch.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are 1952 graduates of the Bovina high school.

IT'S NOT HARD TO MAKE AN ELEPHANT DISAPPEAR. THE REAL TRICK THESE DAYS-- IS TO FIND AN ELEPHANT. HOWEVER--

Ah-- HERE HE IS! HE SEEMS TO HAVE LOST A LITTLE WEIGHT. MAYBE HE WAS ON A DIET.

AFTER THE SHOW, A FAMOUS SCIENTIST INTRODUCES HIMSELF. VERY CLEVER, MANDRAKE. YOU KNOW, I MAKE THINGS DISAPPEAR, TOO-- BUT I DON'T KNOW WHERE THEY GO-- AND THEY NEVER COME BACK.

I'D LIKE TO HEAR MORE ABOUT THAT, DR. BOYD.

THEY GO TO DR. BOYD'S LABORATORY--

YOU MAKE THINGS DISAPPEAR? HOW, DR. BOYD?

I'M NOT SURE HOW. THEY DISAPPEAR THROUGH THIS DOORWAY.

BOYD THROWS A SWITCH--THE DOORWAY SEEMS TO SHIMMER WITH LIFE OF ITS OWN AND FILLS WITH BLUISH MIST, AS POWER SURGES THROUGH IT.
