

Traveler....

"I know America better from every walk of life than anyone could," says Mr. Matthews, who has traveled all over the United States.

He went on to explain that he once tried his hand at politics. In Columbus, Ohio, he added one more accomplishment to his background, when he spoke for Cox against Harding; at the same time, Franklin D. Roosevelt was running with Cox for vice-president.

"Politics is fun, but it is dirty and doesn't pay off to a family man."

The Democrats printed material against Harding by the ton, but the worse mark placed on Harding by it was that he was part Negro, which was an untruth, for Harding was not. He remembers one time when he was driving his car and was stopped by a Republican and all his printed material for the campaign, was taken from him. He said he told the man, "That's all right, for we'll get it back one way or another." Matthews was married at this time and quit politics to better support his family.

Wife a Refugee

He was a school teacher in New York when he met and married his wife, a refugee from Russia. She and her family had run away from Russia and stopped over in Japan a year. There, they lost everything they had escaped with. "My family and I have been around the whole United States, but my wife now lives in Los Angeles with my two daughters. One of my daughters, Natally, married an Irishman named Herr from Texas and lives in L. A. My other daughter, Helen-Lola as we affectionally call her—lives in L. A. also. My son, John J. Matthews, lives in Odessa and is an engineer. I call Los Angeles my home but my heart is in Texas, too."

"I love America, but I see it follows the wrong pattern entirely especially where the education of its children is involved. Education in America is child's play, for children are not expected to learn much. Children in America are already conscious of their sex by the time they are six or eight years old and by the time a girl is in high school she thinks more of a comb and lipstick than a school book."

Much of his time is spent in the library, but he is very much interested in meeting the people here.

"I have found that people in this locality are the most natural people in the United States. The best people are the middle-class farmers."

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Marie of Davenport, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schraider of Lindsey, Neb., and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Albracht of Nazareth were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Albracht Tuesday.

A ladies' wedding ring has been found at the Hereford municipal swimming pool, according to Medford Hammon, manager. The owner can have the ring by identifying the engraving inscribed inside the ring, Hammon said.

Mrs. H. D. Tarleton brought in a double egg to show the staff at The Brand office on Friday. The egg, measuring about nine inches in circumference, was laid by a pullet on July 23, and had a hard outer shell with another egg about an inch in diameter. It was probably the first egg the pullet had laid, Mrs. Tarleton said.

Mayor W. E. Dameron went back to the Northwest Texas Hospital on Wednesday. Mrs. Dameron told The Brand this morning. Mayor Dameron is resting very comfortably, but will remain in the Amarillo hospital "at least a week" for treatment.

Three Hereford Jaycees and their ladies attended the installation services for the McLean Jaycees Friday night. They were: Mr. and Mrs. John D. Aiken, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Herring and Jay Sullivan and Beverley Barkley.

Gregory Allen Herring celebrated his second birthday with a party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Herring, on Friday, July 25. About 20 small guests attended.

F. F. A. boys will meet Monday, July 28, at the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Plans for summer trip will be discussed. Refreshments will be served to those present.

Fire at the Hereford Laundry temporarily put one washing machine out of commission.

The fire department was summoned to the laundry at 7:15 a.m. Saturday morning. Cause of the fire was unknown, but it started near the boiler. There was more smoke than fire.

summer cut fabricated from any primal cut of pork which is priced and defined in the regulation. The action was taken by issuance of Amendment 10 to Ceiling Price Regulation 74, the wholesale pork regulation. The seller is also relieved of a provision which required that he obtain a written order from the buyer on such sales. Before these changes, the seller was restricted to certain specified types of buyers.

The OPS has also widened the spread now existing between wholesale ceiling prices of veal hindsaddles and foresaddles. The hindsaddle ceiling prices are being increased while the foresaddle ceiling prices are being reduced. No changes are made in ceiling prices of meat graded as "calf."

The action is being taken, the agency said, to bring about a better balance between the prices for the two major cuts of veal. While this will reduce retail ceiling prices on such cuts of veal as steaks and cutlets, it will reduce ceiling prices for rib chops, shoulder cuts and breast of veal.

In another action concerning the meat industry, the Office of Price Stabilization announced that persons registered to slaughter one or more species of livestock are now permitted to slaughter all species of livestock.

Furthermore, persons registered to have one or more species of livestock slaughtered for them are now permitted to have all species of livestock slaughtered for them. Present record keeping and reporting requirements continue in effect, however.

Texans Examined In Korean Draft Passes 100,000

AUSTIN, Texas, July 23 — The number of Texans sent for physical examinations by Texas draft boards since the beginning of the United Nations fight in Korea was scheduled to reach the 100,000 mark Friday.

The number examined at the end of June was 97,092, state Selective Service officials pointed out Wednesday, and it was scheduled to have grown to 99,960 by Thursday night.

A total of 207 registrants are scheduled for examination Friday, bringing the figure by the end of the day to 100,167. The 100,000th man to be examined will be from among registrants from Brady, San Diego, Calyett, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Cuero and Pearsall.

The 100,000th registrant to complete his examination probably will be from among men living in Dallas, Harris, or Bexar counties. The first men scheduled for examination Friday morning will be from boards in those counties.

The office of Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, pointed out that Texas draft boards have a long way to go to equal the record number of Texans examined in World War II.

A total of 1,001,302 men were examined in World War II in Texas, 894,300 of these being from 18 through 37 years old, and the remainder 38 years of age and older.

The boards do not have so far to go to equal the record number examined in World War I, however. A total of 131,586 Texans were examined during that period.

A total of 10,463 men examined in 1948-49 can be added to the over-all total of Texas men examined since beginning of World War I. Through the end of June, 1,240,443 men had been sent for examination by Texas boards since beginning of World War I.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis and Sybil and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilder spent the week at Ruidosa and Cloudercroft, N. M. They also visited the White Sands near Alamogordo.

Lay Plans For FB Member Drive

More advanced plans for the Farm Bureau membership drive to be held in Deaf Smith county August 29-September 10 were discussed at a meeting of the board of directors held Thursday night.

Horace Vaughn was named publicity chairman for the drive, which will start off with community meetings to explain Farm Bureau and its policies on the nights of August 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 18 in the various community centers.

Goal of the drive, according to V. E. Dodson, president, is 500 members. The organization has 345 members now.

Dodson pointed out that anyone could be a member of the Farm Bureau, but to hold office, a person must have at least 51% of his income derived directly from farming operations.

He also said that 96% of the total income in Deaf Smith county is derived from farming operations.

Out-Of-Staters In Accident On Highway 60

Two out-of-state autos were involved in an accident at about 7:15 a.m. Friday, 4 1/2 miles west of UMBERGER on Highway 60. Damages amounting to about $1,800 resulted from the highway mishap.

A 1950 Chevrolet driven by Clyde S. Hankins, 50, of Cheney, Kans., collided head-on with a 1947 Pontiac driven by Charles L. Stokes of Long Beach, Calif. on the north side of the highway, according to Highway Patrolman James R. Kirkwood, who investigated the accident.

The Hankins auto was traveling west on Highway 60 and the Stokes vehicle was going east when they collided, Kirkwood said. Charges of driving on the wrong side of the road were filed in justice court in Canyon Friday against Stokes and he pled guilty, according to investigating officials.

Hankins was injured slightly. His wife is in the Neblett hospital at Canyon. Stokes, 28, was injured slightly and his wife, Betty Ogle Stokes, 28, was treated for minor injuries at Neblett hospital.

A daughter, Charlene Stokes, age 6, was uninjured.

 Dear Sir:
 Enclosed are two watches - one a nurse's watch for which I need a cleaning and there are no jewelers here that have a wrench to fit the back. My folks live there and I was formerly an employee at the Deaf Smith county hospital there and have had work done with you before. If possible, send it to my husband's address COD or send me the bill when the watch is ready.
 The other watch is a Gruen and was broken in an accident so would like it repaired and put a green or blue crystal in due to the scratches. You can send both at the same time if you can but the Gru-

Hereford Hdwe. Edges Closer To Loop Title

Hereford Hardware came a little closer to clinching first place in the Hereford Softball league Thursday night at Vets park by edging out the Knights of Columbus, 11-7 in a seven-inning game.
 The win puts Hereford Hardware 1 1/2 games ahead of Summerfield, who was skinned out by Dawn also on Thursday night, 11-10.
 The leagues leaders faced Dawn in a make-up game Monday night, a contest that was washed out previously. Rocky's also meets the Knights of Columbus in a make-up contest on Monday.

 A loss by Hereford Hardware on Monday would put them within one game of Summerfield and the protested game between HH and Summerfield could conceivably be re-played to determine the top spot definitely.
 In Thursday's contest, Tommy Albraht pitched one of the finest games of the season, coming in in the third and holding the heavy Hereford Hardware bats to two hits and no runs with his fast stuff and tricky curve ball.
 The totals gave Hereford Hardware 11 runs on 10 hits. The KCs had 10 runs on nine hits.

Former Hereford Man Discharged From U. S. Navy

A former Hereford resident — Daniel Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jones of Alexandria, Va., was discharged from the Air Force July 21 at Oklahoma City.

Jones, who was an airman, third class, was stationed at Okinawa from January 25, 1950, until November 12, 1951. While there, Jones met Capt. Castleberry, brother of Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine of Hereford. The two talked about life back in West Texas and finally discovered their mutual interest in Hereford.

Jones stopped in Hereford and "looked up" Castleberry's relatives, the Gillentines. The former Hereford resident plans to return to Virginia and enter the upholstery business. He was a ninth-grade student in the Hereford high school when his parents left for Virginia in 1945.

Earlier, Stevenson had worked to discover that lightning had led three of his calves the night before. The family went with to the pasture to see about other cattle. When Mrs. Stevenson returned to their home a 11 a.m., she found her house side-down. No signs of the culprit had been found as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCrack daughter Sylvia and son J. have returned from a two week stay in Nebraska with relatives at a resort in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Many side trips were enjoyed including a visit to the Homestead Gold Mine.

BOVINA — Mr. Stevenson's home was completely ransacked Wednesday morning while the Stevensons were gone. Practically all of Mr. Stevenson's clothes, several of Oakley Stevens' clothes and a watch belonging to Mrs. Stevenson's mother were taken.

By JIMMIE GILLENTE

The national conventions this year unquestionably served a good purpose. After listening to both the Republicans and the Democrats most people are more than ever in favor of establishing a preferential primary system in Texas.

People are beginning to wake up to the fact that instead of voting "their" choice for president they really have been voting for "the choice" of the slickest maneuverer or the most powerful machine. Public opinion did, after a hectic battle, triumph in the Republican convention, possibly with the Democrats -- but this is not always true. Preferential primaries would, of course present complications, but they could be worked out and are being successfully used in some states. Eisenhower, if you recall, was really drafted as the result of such primaries. Otherwise, it would have been a machine deal all the way. Henry Benson is one of the many, many Hereford people who favor a preferential ballot in Texas.

The Democrats this year did most of their dirty linen washing behind the scenes. Things are so messed up now days that it is embarrassing to do this "laundry" in the open, so most of the real politics went on in committee rooms.

John Aiken, Jaycee president, just called and volunteered to help with The Hereford Brand election board Saturday night. He said the Jaycees instructed him to volunteer their help. This was the most pleasant surprise I have encountered in a long, long time. It is cooperation above and beyond the call of duty. It is consistent with the national Jaycee program of community service and better government for America. We sure did appreciate it, too. These election return deals are more or less community service and sometimes it is pretty rough for such a few people to handle them.

Lots of people are asking about the school situation and the citizens committee, and what they are going to do. Nobody knows. Least of all the committee members. It is just a rough problem, but everyone seems to be applying himself and trying to learn all of the details. More and more, the members are coming to believe that the original plan was probably the best all around solution as to what the community needs -- and what would be the cheapest in the long run. However, they never can get around the fact that this proposal has been defeated not once, but twice. Moving the football field was a point of contention in previous elections. We asked the School Board about it and they say that it will cost only $3,500 and they can show you where it will be worth many times this much. Stories during the election got the figure as high as $50,000, but the board says they have a firm bid at $3,500.

Another confusing point that has been kicked around is that of classrooms in the proposed building. The story got around that the proposed million dollar building would have only 12 classrooms. This is seems, is misleading in view of the fact that study halls, laboratories, and home economics rooms are not considered classrooms. Actually, the number would run around 20; depending on liberality of the interpretation. Also, the gymnasium might well be considered a classroom, according to administrative members who say that a gym is necessary in physical education, which is a required subject for affiliation. Supt. Graham also pointed out that he would rather drop almost any other specification than an auditorium. This, he says is the most important for discipline, morale, speech classes and practice occasions. "General assemblies", declares Mr. Graham, "are Democracy in action." When it comes to cutting, the administration favors retaining the gym and auditorium over almost anything else.

Lawrence Straufus also came up with an idea for financing which sounds pretty good and might save a lot of money. Legality of the proposal is to be checked for future consideration. His idea is to raise the taxes and save up for a year or two, then get a short-term loan -- thus avoiding the interest which runs for 30 years or so. On a $1 million dollar building this would save around $1/2 million dollars in interest. There seems to be some state regulations, however, and the school dads were reluctant to go "whole-hog" on the plan until more information can be secured. El Paso is on a pay-as-you-go basis and seem to be saving a whole lot of money which most schools pay out in interest. School districts seem to have very little responsibility to money lenders -- unless it is voted by the district. Otherwise, the board members sign any notes as individuals and not as a district. State laws only allow 50 cents out of the $1.50 tax-rate to be applied on building retirements. It is a little complicated and might not work out, but sure is worth looking into.

I know that a lot of people disagree about the need for the auditorium and gymnasium but, after all, we selected these folks to do the best job they could and we should seriously consider their recommendations. They said Thursday night that unless something is done in the next three or four years that we will again be holding school in the churches or going a half-day basis, especially when the influx of students hits high school. I don't think there is a man on the school board who isn't sincere and honest, and they have worked very, very hard. If people really think they are getting something crammed down their throat I think it is their duty to vote against any proposed plan -- and I do know

Hunter Second In FFA Contest, Canyonite Veep

Joe Dan Boyd of Winnsboro was elected 1952-53 state president of the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America at the 24th Annual State Future Farmer convention in Dallas, Friday, July 18.

The new President succeeds Franklin Brandt of La Grange. The three-day meeting, attended by 3,605 Future Farmers, highlighted the election of officers, a public speaking contest, and the presentation of awards and scholarships. Fort Worth was chosen as the 1953 convention site.

New state vice-presidents of the Texas Future Farmers are: Donnie Stroup, Canyon; Joe N. Stephens, Lamesa; Oran Little, Schulenburg.

that a lot of people feel this way. However, they should follow through and get this situation straightened out. The very first thing anyone asks when moving to a new town is, "How are the schools?" Besides, it can mean a lot to our boys and girls.

Here's a suggestion. If you favor good schools and really think someone is trying to cram something down your throat why not see or call some member of the board and tell them why. Tell them the "real reason". If it's a matter of personalities, go ahead and spill it. If you are afraid to stick your neck out, do like you do The Brand. Write an unsigned letter or make an anonymous phone call. It won't of course, mean as much as if you stood up like a man and spoke your piece, but they will at least know the score. Robert Veigel is president, and Robert is fair minded and interested, and I am sure that he will listen to you and report in detail to the board.

If this is getting on your nerves, you have nothing on me. I will be glad when the committee submits its recommendations. Some seem to be emerging with fixed sentiments. To say the least, it is not the same open-minded group that started out to do their dead-level best to help solve the school situation in Hereford.

burg; Norman Evans, Graham; Donald Stodghill, Rockwall; Ralph Bachmayer, Taylor; Garland Carroll, Cleburne; Benny Hamilton, Nacogdoches; and Clyde Fischer, Victoria.

In a business session, two Future Farmers voted to send 200 pigs to Korea in order to help improve the breed of swine raised in that country. The project is being carried out in cooperation with CROP, Christian Rural Overseas Program, and the details are being worked out by the Vocational Agriculture state staff of Texas.

The young farmers also voted to add the following projects to their 1952-53 program of work: encourage each chapter to offer a special award for Chapter Star Farmer; encourage more cooperative projects on a chapter level; and to provide bulletins and plans for improving homes and farms.

Jack Earl Harrison of Huntington, winner of the state public speaking contest, will compete in a Tri-State contest August 1 at Oklahoma A & M college in Stillwater. Topic of his talk is "Protect Our Soil and Save America." Second, third, and fourth place winners in the state event were Bill Hunter, Dimmitt; Joe N. Stephens, Lamesa; and Larry Umberson of Pottsville, a member of the West Lamer Future Farmers.

The Texas Future Farmers selected Jerry Johnson of Nacogdoches to be nominee for a national committee which makes the nominations.

Lone Star Farmer degrees were conferred were conferred on 579 boys, and A. J. Kitten of the Cooper Future Farmers chapter in Lubbock was presented as Star Lone Star Farmer. Star Farmers of the 10 Future Farmer areas of Texas who were recognized at the convention are: Byron Wise, Brownfield; Leslie Opperman, La Grange; Damon Campbell, Hamilton; Jarrell Justice, Mansfield; Jeff White, Cooper; Oscar Racharz Jr., Sabin; Billy Vestal, Fairfield; Bobby Beathard, Kirbyville; John C. Muckleroy, Taft; and A. J. Kitten.

A report by the Chapter Contest committee rated the Nacogdoches, Clifton, and Lamesa Future Farmer chapters as the top three in the state.

Texas-New Mexico Water Men Discuss Mutual Water Basin

LUBBOCK -- A group of Texas water conservationists paid a good-will visit to the New Mexico state engineer, John Bliss, in Santa Fe last week.

The visitors included Tom McFarland of Lubbock, president of Hi-Plains Water Conservation District; Willis Hawkins of Hart, C. J. Taylor of Lockney and George Broome of Anton, precinct directors of the district, and Arthur P. Duggan, Jr., of Littlefield, legal adviser.

They talked at length with Bliss, E. G. Minton, a Portales water engineer; and Clyde Conover, head of the U. S. Geological Survey in New Mexico, on the two state's mutual water problems.

Texas High Plains farmers and Eastern New Mexico farmers both draw water from the Portales underground water basin, but under vastly different conditions. New Mexico has a rigid state ownership-control law which requires permits for drilling water wells, prorates the amount of water pumped for irrigation purposes, and provides stiff fines for all offenders. The Texas law, recently put into operation through the newly-organized district, gives each man uncontested title to the water under his land and puts him on his honor to abide by conservation rules set up by locally organized water districts. The rules may be enforced when necessary by court injunction to prevent such practices as waste and harmful spacing.

One suggestion advanced at this meeting, to avoid any possible conflict over pumping rights, was the spacing of wells one-half mile apart in a half-mile strip on each side of the Texas-New Mexico line. The New Mexico geologist expressed the tentative opinion that well spacing in the mile-wide border belt would insure against any measurable drawdown from heavy pumping on either side. The matter will be investigated further before any action will be taken. Hi-Plains district officials said.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Pink Velvet Pie, Lime Sherbet Chilly Desserts For Warm Days

Chilly desserts for the warm days ahead are suggested today. For an unusual change in desserts Mrs. Dalton Criswell's Pink Velvet Company pie provides inspiration to the housewife who has tried everything in her repertoire and is about ready to start the cycle over again. Sherbet is always an excellent idea—either at the beginning or end of the meal. Mrs. Criswell likes to use Mrs. Lester English's recipe for lime sherbet and hands it on to you. Both recipes emphasize the use of milk, which is important for the adult as well as the children.

Pink Velvet Company Pie
Graham Cracker Crust
1 package strawberry Jello
1/2 cup hot water
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 tall can Carnation milk, undiluted and chilled for whipping
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Crust
18 Graham crackers (rolled)
1/3 cup butter
1 tablespoon sugar
Put crackers in a paper bag and roll fine. Add melted butter and sugar and mix well. Line bottom and sides of pie plate with crumb mixture, saving out a little to sprinkle on pie, and place in 400-F oven for 5 minutes. Cool before filling.

Dissolve Jello in hot water and cool. Add lemon juice and sugar and let stand while whipping milk to a stiff froth. Add gelatine mixture to milk and continue whipping till stiff peak is formed. Pour in crust and top with crumbs, chill until firm.

Lime Sherbet
1 pint whipping cream
2 quarts whole milk
2 packages lime Jello
5 or 6 lemons
2 cups sugar
4 cups water
Dissolve Jello in 2 cups boiling water and add the 2 cups cold water and lemon juice from lemons. Whip cream and gradually stir in the sugar. Mix with Jello mixture. Pour in ice cream freezer and add the two quarts whole milk. Freeze as ice cream.

Mrs. Bob Hess and her brother, Richard Tucker, leave Sunday morning for Chicago. They will meet Bob Hess, who has been in school at Northwestern university this summer. He will finish the week-end after they get there. Richard Tucker plans to return after one week, but Mr. and Mrs. Hess will take a two-weeks vacation before returning. Mrs. Hess says their plans are incomplete now.

Members of the 1932 graduating class of Hereford high school recalled many of the "good old days" at a reunion held at Hotel Jim Hill Saturday evening.

The banquet table was arranged in a "U" shape and decorated in the class colors of red and white. Gladioli and daisies were used for the floral accent and placed about the table were the programs of commencement, senior play and baccalaureate exercises.

Pictures recalling the events of the year centered the table's length. Miss Irene Crawford, former English teacher in Hereford high school, now of Amarillo, was honor guest. She conducted an appropriate memorial service honoring deceased members of the class—LaVerne Womble, Johnnie Womble and James Cloyd.

Mrs. H. H. Caraway read letters from Supt. and Mrs. C. H. Dillehay, now of Bonham; the former high school principal, G. M. Hudson; and Mrs. Hudson of Rosenberg; Miss Fern Carlisle of Dallas, sponsor of the class; and Miss Neville Wrenn of Memphis, science teacher of the class.

Rev. Noel Bryant, pastor of the Methodist church of Borger, gave the invocation, and Keller Muse, president, gave the welcome. He introduced Carl Spratt of Lubbock who acted as master of ceremonies for the informal program. As he called the roll members of the class introduced his guest, husband or wife, and told briefly of his life during the past 20 years. Two of the members are grandparents, seven have married children and 70 future high school students were reported.

During a brief business session it was decided to hold another reunion in five years.

B. Noland, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Caraway, Mrs. Lois Smith Miller and Mr. Miller of Dawn, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCullough, Panhandle; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. ### Bill Phillips Guest Speaker, B&PW Club

Bill Phillips was guest speaker at the B&PW club meeting held at the Jaycee clubhouse Monday evening.

Mr. Phillips was introduced by Mrs. Ellen Carter, program chairman, and gave a timely discussion on "Legislation," urging the club members to cast informed votes in the coming elections. He stressed the importance of the woman's vote and commended the club members on their interest and participation in local elections.

During the business session, members planned to sponsor telephone calls to Hereford voters reminding them of election days

Happiness Program Theme For '52 Beta Sigma Phis

(Ed. Note—This is another in a series of articles being written about presidents of the various clubs of the city.)

"Happiness" will be the program theme of Beta Sigma Phi sorority for the 1952-53 administration, which already has made plans for the coming season. The sorority is a national organization with chapters throughout the United States, Canada, England, Scotland, Hawaii and Alaska.

Mrs. Ernest Wade, president, and other officers of the local chapter have completed plans and set up a schedule for fall and winter meetings. This summer members are making linens to fill a cedar chest which will be raffled in September for benefit projects of the organization.

The first Beta Sigma Phi chapter was formed in Abilene, Kans., on April 30, 1931 with only seven members. The idea was immediately successful, appealing to busy women who sought wider knowledge, deeper culture and the warmth of close and lasting friendships.

Through the Beta Sigma International Endowment Fund, contributions are made annually to the American Heart Association, March of Dimes, National Tuberculosis, corresponding secretary: Mrs. Hollis Puckett, treas-culosis association, American Cancer society, National Committee for Mental Hygiene, National Society for Crippled Children, and Girlstown. The local chapter has chosen the cancer drive for its philanthropic project and takes the lead during the cancer drive in April each year.

When a member has completed at least four years of active membership and the cycle of four year's programs of study, which are designed as the equivalent of two years of fine arts study in college, she is eligible to receive the Exemplar degree. Several members of the local chapter are eligible for the Exemplar club.

Mrs. Wade is enthusiastic about the work of the sorority for the coming year. She has been conferring with committee for the fall rush season which includes parties and other entertainment for the new rushees.

Other officers of the club include: Mrs. Ben Malone, vice-president; Mrs. O. L. Amrey, recording secretary; Mrs. John Harter, Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon is sponsor of the group. Mrs. Wade came to Hereford in 1935 and was one of the charter members when the local chapter was organized in 1949. She assists her husband at Wade Cleaners and has little time for other outside activities. In school she studied art and is interested in applying her artistic tendencies toward home making. She has time for a hobby—it is sewing and she enjoys making her clothes and carrying out her interior decorating plans. She also spends a good deal of time in her yard with her flowers.

"I think the year ahead will be both profitable and enjoyable and we are looking forward to some new members," Mrs. Wade said in discussing the plans for the new season.

Other club members, besides the officers, include: Mesdames Norman Moore, E. N. Johnson, Jimmy Sparkman, Pete Guinn, Byrdie Fellers, Charles Lang, V. O. Hennen, John Poole, R. J. Cramer, James Mercer, Paul Harvey and T. E. Prickett.

Former Residents Feted At Courtesy

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Nobles, formerly of Hereford and now of Dallas, were honored at a dessert bridge courtesy in the Paul Coneways home, Tuesday evening. The O. P. Cowarts were co-hosts with the Coneways for the informal party.

Attending the courtesy were: Messrs. and Mesdames W. L. Davis Jr., Les Combs, J. E. Kirby, Ivan Block, D. C. McWhorter, Dr. and Mrs. Nobles, the Coneways and the Cowarts.

Grandson Of Local Residents Is Killed In Crash Of B-29 Bomber

A San Angelo resident, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Holcomb of Hereford, was killed in a Kansas B-29 crash this week.

A-2c William Wayne Garrett, 20, of San Angelo, was one of the eight Air Force men killed Tuesday, July 22, in the crash of a B-29 Superfort near Topeka, Kans.

The boy's father, Fred Arthur Garrett, who is a painter in San Angelo, received a Defense Department telegram saying his son was killed in an aircraft accident 6½ miles east of Forbes Air Force base July 22.

According to Associated Press dispatches, the B-29 on which Garrett was a crewman had just taken off from Forbes AFB, near Topeka, when one motor caught fire. It banked to the left, then nosed into the ground.

The plane apparently turned over before it crashed and burned, witnesses said. All eight crewmen aboard were killed. The plane normally carries 11 or more crewmen.

Mr. Garrett said his son probably will be buried in Richmond, Ind., the family's old home.

The family moved to San Angelo in 1948. Young Garrett graduated from San Angelo high school in 1951.

Double-Boiler Quality

without the fuss and trouble!

Yes, that's right! With electric cooking you have all the desirable effects of double-boiler cooking WITHOUT the fuss, muss, and fear of burning your hands with hot steam. To make the following recipe on older cooking methods, you would have to use a double-boiler with its inconvenience. All you need with modern electric cooking is an ordinary sauce pan to get desirable double-boiler effects. This week we give you the 7-Minute Icing for the Chocolate Lost Cake that appeared in this space last week. It, too, is a recipe that would require a double-boiler on older cooking methods. But, with modern electric cooking all you need is an ordinary sauce pan.

CLIP AND SAVE THIS RECIPE

7-MINUTE ICING

1½ cups sugar	½ teaspoon Cream Tartar
3 egg whites	1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup water	½ teaspoon salt

Mix ingredients in a sauce pan. Place on small unit of electric range turned to low or fourth heat. Beat constantly with electric mixer until icing stands in peaks.

General Clark Says Enemy Strengthened

Buildups In Korea

ALLIED officers in Korea know they face an enemy twice as strong as the one which suggested armistice negotiations a little more than a year ago.

It's no secret that the Communists, far north of the 38th Parallel and screened by the drawn out truce talks, have doubled air and ground strength in the past year. How effective the Reds, thus revived, would be in full-scale warfare is a vital question.

This week, the United Nations commander in Korea, Gen. Mark W. Clark, admitted the Reds have vastly improved their position while talking truce but reasoned the enemy is seriously hampered by U.N. air attacks.

Stresses Training
Clark said the Allies, without increasing their numerical strength during the past year, have been trained intensively and improved their defenses to meet any eventuality.

"We are confident," Clark declared, "that we can make any future enemy offensive the most costly he has yet undertaken."

Communist ground strength now totals nearly one million men, Clark reported. The Reds have from 1,000 to 2,000 planes, half of which are estimated to be jets.

The Far East commander revealed that in the past year South Korean units have been pulled from the line and trained intensively until they have become "hard-hitting, efficient divisions."

Fight for "Old Baldy"
In the fighting in Korea this week, U.N. infantrymen fought Chinese Communists around "Old Baldy," a bitterly contested height west of Chorwon. The tactics were much the same as those used during the last 12 months—heavy artillery barrages against an objective, probing attacks by moderate-sized combat teams.

Allied forces estimated they had inflicted more than 1,000 casualties in blasting Chinese troops off the top of "Old Baldy." The bare hill was a pivotal point on the western Korean front. The area around it was a virtual no-man's land due to near-record shelling.

Artillerymen celebrated the 177th anniversary of the U.S. Army Artillery by laying down a "curtain of fire," as one briefing officer called it, on the hill. The fight for the scorched crest was reminiscent of other bitter battles for high ground along the twisting battle line in the last year.

In the air war, Navy carriers launched planes which raided Communist power installations in northwestern and northeastern Korea. Sabre jet pilots tangled with enemy jets near the Manchurian border and Air Force fighter bombers concentrated on troop positions on the western front.

Disaster

A Town Destroyed
In the early morning hours of July 21 a motorist approaching the little farming community of Tehachapi, in California, spotted a filling station and drove in.

Suddenly, while the attendant filled his tank, the motorist saw buildings across the street start weaving and buckle. In minutes the main street was filled with rubble. It was the second strongest earthquake in California's recorded history.

The quake, felt from San Francisco to the Mexican border, centered in the rugged Tehachapi mountains, 10 miles south of the town. Ten persons, nine of them children, died in Tehachapi as the walls came tumbling down. An eleventh was crushed in the collapse of a guest house roof at a nearby ranch.

Prison Damaged
At the women's state prison outside Tehachapi 417 inmates spent the night in tents on the grounds after officials declared the institution's buildings unsafe.

At Arvin, a community of 8,000, 18 miles west of Tehachapi, damage in the business section was almost as severe. The city's main street was a mass of wreckage. The fronts were knocked out of almost all buildings. Water, power and gas services were cut off. Despite the destruction, no serious injuries were reported.

Highways in the area of Tehachapi were buckled and blocked by landslides. Cave-ins blocked four Southern Pacific Railroad tunnels.

Los Angeles Shaken
In Los Angeles, the force of the quake sloshed water out of swimming pools. Water and oil storage tanks sprang leaks.

Scientists said the upheaval centered along the Garlock fault, an offshoot of the 1,000-mile-long San Andreas fault which runs almost the length of the state. In the earthquake, rock on the west side of the fault, or crack in the earth's crust, moved suddenly toward San Francisco, while that on the other side jolted south-east.

DEMOCRATS FORM RANKS FOR BATTLE

THE 31ST DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION

ADLAI STEVENSON WAVES TO DELEGATES

ILLINOIS DELEGATION CHEERS ADLAI

GOV. DEVER (MASS.) DELIVERS KEYNOTE SPEECH

SEN. KEFAUVER WITH TENNESSEE BACKERS

THE cows and pigs are ready to re-assume their rightful eminence in the Chicago stockyards. Bleats and squeals will replace the politicians' bluster, but the memory of the political battle royals staged there this month lingers on.

That's what worries experienced politicians of both parties. They can't be sure the deep wounds inflicted in the 'slam-bang intra-party' squabbles will heal by November 4.

The Presidential nominees of both parties are working on the assumption they will less vitally interested parties are not so sure.

In the case of the Republicans, the rift left by the all-out war between supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will take all the general's diplomatic skill to mend. There are plenty of people who doubt that Ike can pull off a complete rapprochement.

Democratic Troubles
In the case of the Democrats it was the familiar story of Southern realignment in following the Northern wing

In 1948, the Dixie bolt cost President Truman 39 electoral votes, but even so Northerners like Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and William Benton of Connecticut thought the best road for the Democrats in 1952 would be to spell out precisely how they plan to follow through on civil rights in Congress.

Filibuster Limit Sought
Southerners, for the most part, hoped for harmony but were clearly opposed to laying out the mechanics for carrying out civil rights proposals.

The Lehman-Humphrey-Benton group was aiming for a method to halt filibusters. Marathon speechmaking has been used effectively by Southern senators to block action on civil rights bills.

What Lehman and his cohorts wanted was a change to reduce the number of Senate votes required to limit debate. The rule now requires two-thirds of the total Senate membership, that is, 64 of the 96 total.

In the party loyalty issue, in which a Northern coalition sought to impose a Democratic party loyalty regulation on anti-Administration Southerners, the rift between Northern and Southern elements of the party was emphasized.

Basic Division
The purpose of the rule was to prevent Southern leaders from capturing the Democratic party emblem and designation, as they did in 1948, and using it to back third party candidates instead of the regular nominees of the party.

The tension between Northern and Southern Democrats was the result of a basic question: Which was to be the guiding motivation for the party, the liberalism of the Northerners or the

Mid East Flareup

THE Middle East, caught in a whirlwind of cabinet crises, and military coups, saw prime ministers come and go this week.

The handling of disputes with Britain was the background for the government crises in both Iran and Egypt. Until these lingering problems could be cleared up, governments in both countries would occupy uneasy seats.

In Iran's riot-ridden capital of Tehran, die-hard nationalist supporters of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, fearful that concessions were about to be made to the British in the crippling Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, threatened to assassinate Ahmed Qavam. Qavam had taken over as premier after Mossadegh's resignation last week.

Mossadegh's Request
Mossadegh had requested permission to rule Iran as he saw fit for six months in order to cope with the country's economic crisis. When Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi refused to consent to the formation of a new cabinet under Mossadegh, the ailing premier resigned and took to his bed—a standard procedure for him in times of crisis.

Qavam lasted two days, during which time he moved to settle the 18-month-old oil dispute. Violent rioting spread from Tehran to other centers and Qavam stepped down. Iran's parliament promptly renominated Mossadegh premier.

In Egypt Premier Hussein Sirry Pasha turned in his resignation to King Farouk after less than a month in office. An independent, Sirry Pasha was sworn in July 2, succeeding Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha, another independent.

After Sirry Pasha's resignation this week, Hilaly was again named premier.

The military coup which followed in Egypt pointed up the fact that the volatile Middle East situation still simmered beneath a surface which, up until a week ago, seemed relatively calm.

Sirry Pasha's resignation caused surprise since he had hardly come to grips with the problems of British evacuation of the Suez Canal Zone and Farouk's declared sovereignty over the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Polio

Encouraging Prediction

While the incidence of polio continued its annual climb this week, encouraging news came from an officer of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation, said in Washington that dramatic new discoveries indicate the means of preventing polio's crippling effects may be developed within the next three years, with an outside chance a vaccine may be developed for use next year.

Dr. Van Riper added, however, that it is extremely unlikely to come in time to halt what may be a record onslaught of the disease this year.

Much depends on current experiments with a blood extract known as gamma globulin, said Dr. Van Riper. Success in this field might lead to a vaccine for universal use.

In Sioux City, Iowa, meanwhile, the third and final test to determine the effectiveness of gamma globulin as a protection against paralytic polio got underway this week with the inoculation of 16,500 children.

In two previous tests, one in Provo, Utah, last year, and the other at Houston, Tex., this month, 38,905 children were inoculated—half of them with gamma globulin and the other half with a harmless substance employed for purposes of scientific comparison.

The gamma globulin contains polio-fighting anti-bodies. Scientists believe the injections will help them determine whether the gamma globulin, which in animal tests has proven effective, will prevent paralytic polio in human beings. The results of the tests will not be known for months.

WHILE DEMOCRATS TOILED

● Two matrons, stepping off the plane at Chicago airport just in front of President Truman's stand-in at the Convention, Thomas J. Gavin, were appalled at the crowd of waiting photographers and reporters, heaved sighs of relief when an attendant stepped up to shepherd them through the mob of newsmen.

"Thank you for taking care of us," said one of the women to the attendant. "We're Republicans."

● The Columbia Broadcasting Co. offered its make-up services to Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn so his expansive bald spot wouldn't reflect under the bright TV lights. This contribution to science was strictly bipartisan. CBS officials pointed out Sen. Robert A. Taft was offered a similar non-reflecting service.

● The 31st Democratic Convention was going to be different and start on time but the old political tradition—that no convention ever starts on time—held good. The kickoff was 31 minutes behind schedule.

● When Democratic delegates located their seats in the International Amphitheater, they found small tags pasted to their chairs warning: "YOU will be on television and 140,000,000 eyes will watch YOU. YOU may not know it, but television is showing a closeup picture of YOU."

● The admonition did little or no good. One of the things the Republicans were criticized for was their habit of posing for pictures down in front of the rostrum while a speaker was trying to talk.

So, while the first speaker at the Democratic Convention, Chicago's Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, was delivering a welcome speech, Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams posed for a picture with a pretty girl in front of the rostrum. He was followed by Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who had his picture taken with Sen. Blair Moody, of Michigan.

The mayor struggled on, despite the confusion down front.

● The manufacturer who began passing out his headache pills on the third day of the GOP Convention showed up the first day the Democrats met.

● Souvenir sellers in Chicago had a tough time this week. They were all over the place, but sales were sluggish. Nobody wanted to shell out a dollar or more for an ashtray bearing the likeness of a candidate who might be just a dim memory before the week was over.

● Supporters of Oklahoma's Sen. Robert Kerr set up a full-size model of the log cabin in which the Senator was born on the bustling mezzanine of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. An added attraction: Free coffee and doughnuts.

● In Cleveland, O., the local television station announced it would carry both the Democratic Convention and the Cleveland Indians' home stand—but in case of conflict, the Indians would get priority.

● In Moscow, the official Communist paper, Pravda, carried a few comments on the upcoming political campaign in the U.S. It charged President Truman and other Democratic chiefs were trying to rig the November election in favor of "Wall Street's favorite," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

● National Chairman Frank E. McKinney had every word of his speeches written down, even—in advance—the result of one of the votes that was taken.

Perfectly deadpan, his script ran: "All in favor of (accepting the secretary's report) signify by saying 'aye,' contrary 'no.'"

"They aye have it and the motion is carried."

● When Mrs. India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, addressed this week's Convention, she was annoyed by a background of noise which came from delegates on the floor. After a round of applause at the conclusion of her speech, Mrs. Edwards said: "I would have appreciated a little silence more."

● A radio announcer from a local Peoria, Ill. station approached Gov. Adlai Stevenson on the Convention floor and directed: "Say a few words to the folks back home, Governor."

"How I wish I was in Peoria," said the governor as he passed on.

● Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark, the first female U.S. Treasurer in history, brightened things up a bit by throwing kisses from the rostrum to her admiring home delegation of Kansas.

● Minister-to-Luxembourg Perle Mesta didn't let her reputation as a champion party-thrower lag during the Convention. She gave a wing-ding late-hours party for all Democratic presidential hopefuls.

● Despite pre-convention avowals to the contrary, the Democrats had as much trouble as the Republicans in getting sessions started promptly and keeping them rolling smoothly. It just goes to show that politicians are still politicians—Democratic or Republican.

Controls

Rent Hikes Loom

Unless local governments act soon to prevent it, more than six million families will face a steep hike in rents.

Tighe E. Woods, the Government's rent control chief, figures the increases will range from 20 per cent on higher priced homes and apartments to 50 or 100 per cent in the lowest brackets. Woods said he fears that many communities and many tenants will let the Sept. 30 deadline for rent control slip up on them.

Under the new economic controls law, rent controls will die on Sept. 30 except (1) in areas declared to be critical defense housing zones and (2) in communities where local governments specifically request an extension.

Britain

Laborite Showdown Pending

The inter-party struggle of the British Laborites will come to a head in September when the party holds its annual conference. Moderate, led by Clement Attlee, will square off against Aneurin Bevan's leftwingers.

The conference agenda of proposed resolutions shows rank and file Laborite groups want to vent their disapproval of almost every move Prime Minister Winston Churchill's Conservative government has made in the field of foreign policy. Attlee has gone along with the Conservatives on most of their foreign policy.

The resolutions reflect concern at what is called British dependence on the United States, the danger of war with Red China, moves to rearm West Germany, embargoes on East-West trade and Britain's rearmament burden.

Popularity Campaign For Local Produce Desirable

Farmers from the Deaf Smith irrigation area are learning what it means to have this vicinity emerge on the national market as a highly desirable "garden spot" for the vegetable industry.

This leadership, thrust out by the surface advantages offered by Deaf Smith county -- proximity to eastern markets and mineral superiority of this area -- is endangered from areas who are more adept through experience at exploiting the industry psychologically than we.

Deaf Smith county lettuce is the tops on the market. We had a good crop last year and we're looking forward to a better one this fall. Likewise, our spuds are doing exceptionally well with the market holding firm throughout the harvest.

Thus will it also be with other vegetable crops produced locally.

We have the superiority in the produce itself, but selling it to the rest of the nation is another problem.

What is being done along this line by growers around Salinas, Calif., should be an object lesson to us here if we want to keep up with or stay ahead of the rest of the vegetable-producing areas.

California lettuce men, aware of the terrific inroads Hereford lettuce growers are making into their lucrative market, have come out with a "glamorized" lettuce, brightened up with the cognomen, "C-7".

This high pressured campaign to popularize the "C-7" lettuce was given great play in industry papers recently. The growers and processors there are putting everything they have into the fight to popularize their product.

What they are doing, actually, is pointing out the mineral superiority of their product (the C representing one of the many vitamins in the lettuce) and the fact that it should be eaten seven times a day, thus C-7, for the high-powered product.

This mineral superiority is THE ONE POINT which Deaf Smith country growers have head and shoulders above anyone else in the running. Our current spectrographic analysis proves that point very emphatically.

These lettuce men are banded together to "build a better mousetrap", or at least proclaim it as such. Producers and growers in Deaf Smith county should do so, too. This could be done with spuds as well as with lettuce or any other crop that might be grown here on a commercial basis.

In California, they pay a per-crate assessment into the fund for publicizing the product and creating a national demand for the same.

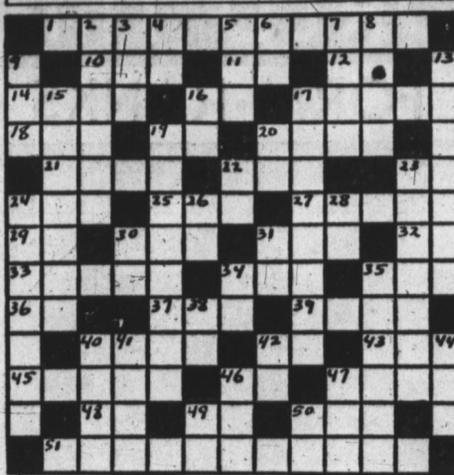

Deaf Smith could realize tremendous benefits from a similar campaign run through any agency the majority of industry men might desire.

A nominal assessment per unit produced with the total sum directed towards one gigantic effort of publicity can be the extra "push" to roll Deaf Smith county way ahead in the vegetable scramble.

Our competition is doing it. We, too, must follow. This course to be able to compete on an even basis.

No specific plans have been laid out on this venture, but it certainly should merit serious consideration by all concerned. It's a matter of business.--W.W.K.

I'll Never Forget

By R. L. Coconougher (As told to Mrs. R. L. Coconougher)

When I was a small boy, back in Collier county, my father and uncle heard of this new and wonderful country. In 1901 or 1902, they came out and looked it over. The land was cheap and it looked like a wonderful place to raise a family and prosper. They bought some land, my father buying one-half section. My uncle and family moved out here in a short time. It was some five years later when our family came.

On January 5, 1907, we loaded our household goods and livestock on an emigrant car, the family came by passenger train and headed for Hereford. My father stopped in Amarillo and leased a place north of Hereford known as the "Four Mile Place", we arrived in Hereford on January 7, 1907, and stayed with our uncle and family for a few days until the emigrant car arrived.

Not knowing the farming methods here, we sowed spring wheat, and in spite of dry weather we harvested a small amount of wheat.

The first two or three years we were here we had an awful amount of sickness in our family. At one time we had three cases of pneumonia in our home. But we managed to go ahead with our farming, so in the fall of 1909, we made a good maize crop.

My father passed away in November, 1910. I was the oldest child of a family of eight children so the responsibility of management was shifted onto the shoulders of my mother and me.

I remember we had an awful lot of snow and bad weather the winter of 1911-12. The year of 1911 was an awful dry year, so in the spring of 1912 I hauled grain with a wagon and team from Nazareth to feed our stock. I would go down one day, load my wagon that night and come back the next day. It was about a 75 mile round trip from our place.

The next date that is really outstanding in my memory is the hard winter of 1918-19. It was exceptionally dry in 1918. We had some snow in October and November that soon melted. On December 17, 1918, it came a snow and just kept snowing and freezing until there was 18 or 20 inches on the ground that did not melt until the first part of March.

I'll never forget in January 1919, helping Ezra Norton move his cattle from the Rutherford ranch 16 miles northwest of Hereford to Hereford to be loaded in cars and shipped to Toyah, Texas. He was out of feed and losing cattle every day. It took three days of long hours to move them. The snow was so deep the cattle couldn't travel. We had to build a snow plow out of lumber, hitch four horses to it, weight it down with cotton seed cake and burst a trail through the snow to the "Four Mile House". From there on the road was open to town.

I'll never forget the steel and big snow storm we had on April 7, 1919. The cattle were thin and weak from the hard winter they had just gone through. They tried to drift with the storm and people lost a large amount of cattle from this storm -- more than they had during the winter months.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg still has politics on his mind, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:
It's hard to realize, but some times national candidates don't display any more political insight into human nature than the county candidates. They can be taken in by promises the same as the voters.

Take Senator Taft, now. A pretty smart man, good in legal mind, but somebody sure did impose on him. If you recall, his managers wired all the Republican delegates ahead of the convention asking them for their support and they got back enough favorable telegrams to put him over, and Taft pointed to that stack of wires and said it was in the bag, but somebody must have been kiddin somebody, as he lost.

It reminds me of a situation over in another county a few years back. Follow by the name of Arthur Jones was running for re-election as county clerk.

He was down in a community in one end of the county one day on an electioneerin trip and before he got started he headed for Jake Wade's store, since Jake was sort of the king pin in that area.

"Why, Arthur, what are you doin campaign around here?" Jake asked. "It's not necessary. Everybody around here is gonna vote for you anyway. Go on back to the courthouse and save your money."

"Well, thanks, Jake," Arthur said, with a pleased look. "I felt that way about it all along, but I'm sure glad to hear you say it," and he put his campaign cards back in his pocket and went on back to the courthouse.

On election night, Arthur was bowled over when the election returns came in. He lost two to one, and in Jake's community he lost four to one. He was also flabbergasted to learn Jake had been his opponent's campaign manager in that area, in fact Jake's wife was his opponent's first cousin.

We learned long ago out here in politics you just don't take nothin for granted, but apparently this information ain't trickled up to the national level yet.

Candidates ain't the only people who make wild promises. Some times the delegates and the voters do a little of it too. It's just one of the hard facts of life.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Trend Endangers People's Rights In Public Matters

The daily press carried an account recently of a violent disagreement between two members of a Texas school board over whether or not a representative of the press should be allowed to sit in on a meeting where the future of the superintendency of the system was being discussed.

In fact, feeling over the matter ran so high that an altercation followed, resulting in fines for both sides and a lot of publicity.

The whole matter, it seems to this writer, was unjustly distorted. Of course, we don't know the details, but the principle of the argument speaks for itself. It just boils down to a matter of whether or not what goes on in a school board meeting -- or any other meeting where the public's funds are being used -- is any of the public's business.

We say it is. Our point of view is not shared by many people in the state of Texas. Yes, by people right here in Hereford, and in Deaf Smith county.

In our experience with the tax-supported administrative bodies on more than one occasion, we have come across the unsubstantiated argument, "The people won't be interested in that", all too often.

Who says so? Who is this czar of public information who decides what is good for the people and what isn't?

We say, "Let the people THEMSELVES decide!"

Every time we are asked to spend a red cent in taxes, we should have every right to know where and how that money is being spent.

Therefore, every executive session held by any tax-supported body -- or on behalf of any tax-supported institution -- is open to the public FROM THE BEGINNING TO THE END.

Those who would say otherwise are only trying to filch the public out of their right as citizens and taxpayers. Anyone who would support such an argument -- knowing that they are disenfranchising the public in principle by doing so -- is contributing to the decay of the democratic way of life we have so long enjoyed.

These "secret" meetings might uncover something controversial, but if those be the facts, let the chips fall where they may. Anyone who pays taxes is old enough to realize that a fusion among minds doesn't come without good, honest argument and horse-trading.

Anything designed to try to paint a different picture is pure hypocrisy.

Many people who are against free and open meetings feel that the press of the nation is trying to snoop around. That is not the case. It isn't a matter of "freedom of the press" as much as it is the "right of the PEOPLE TO KNOW."

If the people KNOW, freedom of the press, radio and other American institutions will come naturally, because there will be no conspiracy -- intentional or unwitting -- to keep the facts from them or the people they represent.

We would be misleading our readers if we said or intimated that there was complete freedom of the people's right to know everything in the U. S., in Texas, in Deaf Smith county and in Hereford. There are people in all these categories who, unfortunately, are honestly unaware of the public's yearning for ALL THE FACTS AT ALL TIMES.

These autocratic mis-conceptions of YOUR right to know will dissolve before the weight of public opinion.--W.W.K.

Bloodmobile Is Coming To Town

Deaf Smith county has been privileged to be named as a stop for the American Red Cross Bloodmobile, which will come here on September 26 seeking 300 pints of whole blood for the armed forces.

Possibly never before have we on the home front had such an opportunity to aid the boys fighting for our freedom, not only physically, but psychologically.

They offer their lives, the least we can do is offer a pint of our blood.

This is our chance to show them that we're behind them. This is, perhaps, our chance to save a life of some young American who, without our blood, might not survive.

This is OUR BATTLE.

We feel confident that when the pledge cards are distributed to every home, farm and business in Deaf Smith county, the citizens will respond and respond magnificently.

This insignificant action here on the home front will swell to tremendous proportions on the battle lines when the blood is AVAILABLE WHEN NEEDED!-W.W.K.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Readers Express Interest In National Level Politics Most

Do you think that elections this year will create more interest on the local, state and national level? Why?

MRS. J. ROY DAVIS--As to the answer to the question you asked, I would say there has been more on the national level. I think people have waked up to the fact that we need a change everywhere.

MRS. MAUDE HALL--You know a woman 80 years old doesn't have any business getting mixed up in politics, but I think we need a change all around. I'd like to see Eisenhower for president and speaking personally I don't listen to the conventions, because it would drive me literally crazy. You know, we need a change from the president on down to the street cleaner, don't we.

MRS. BILLIE GRAHAM--I think that all have created more interest this year than ever before. Personally I am more interested in the National election because I believe that part more or less governs our local governments anyway. I believe that on a whole the people on farms and the working class of people have more interest in this national election, because farm people produce to sell to the working people and if working people are not working, we all do nothing.

D. CULPEPPER--I think the national election should interest people most of all. I am sure most people realize this year more than ever there should be a change made, but are not sure whether to vote Democratic or Republican -- which would be the better for them.

MRS. RAY DOWNEY -- Of course, I am more interested in the National election, because of the Korean situation and everything that has happened in Washington lately. I think everyone is ready for something to happen.

MRS. O. Z. GOLDEN--National, naturally. Everyone feels that their future is more at stake than ever before.

Women are entering into politics more and more. People are going to be voting more independently for the man and not adhering so much to the party.

MRS. HENRY HASTINGS--I am quite interested in the local level . . . everyone realizes this is the time we should be doing something, but I am afraid no one knows exactly what to do.

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

Many of you will remember our cousins, Wilma and Phyleen Arthur who are almost in the big middle of the worst earthquake California has had since those of 1906 that destroyed San Francisco.

Phyleen, now Mrs. Gene Presley, writes that she was rudely awakened by bein' shaken completely out of bed and when she tried to get to where her little daughter was sleepin' she was thrown off her feet across Thama's bed.

Wilma's husband, Ralph Webb, who also lived here has a meat market in Maricopa where both families now live which was badly damaged along with a number of other buildings in the business district.

If the earth were still trembin under us as it is then we would go straight to what is left of the Post Office and leave a forwardin' address for good old Texas where we don't have a thing but blizzards, sandstorms, high winds, hot weather, and tornadoes.

It is too bad that Don Willoughby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Willoughby has to spend time in bed with rheumatic fever this summer but it makes it nicer when he can have his grandmother, Mrs. P. G. Clay of Tacoma, Washington for a visit.

With the Democratic Convention in Chicago and the primary election at home last week we should all be thoroughly saturated with politics.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. What facial makeup routine do you recommend?

A. First, of course, wash the face thoroughly. After rinsing and drying, apply skin lotion or tonic, and let dry. Then apply a foundation cream or vanishing cream, rubbing in lightly and evenly. While face is still damp, blend rouge into cheek toward the front. Then apply powder evenly and carefully, being careful not to use too much.

Q. How can I soften rough skin on my arms and elbows?

A. You can wash the skin regularly in warm water and soap, and scrub with a small brush or coarse washcloth—which removes the dead surface skin. Dry thoroughly, and then apply a softening cream.

Q. What remedy is there for superfluous hair on the face?

A. You can bleach this with a solution of two parts hydrogen peroxide to one part ammonia. Or, you can use your own tweezers if there are just a few unruly hairs. Or, for a permanent cure, you can have them removed by electrolysis—but only by a reputable operator.

Q. What is a good, safe home treatment for freckles on my face?

A. You can try lemon juice, and this should be removed from the skin with a little milk after about five minutes. The milk relieves any irritation that might occur. Buttermilk is good, too.

Q. Is cream rouge good for a girl with a very oily skin?

A. On this type of skin, it is much better to use the dry compact rouge. Apply it after the face powder, not before. Blend on a little more powder over the rouge before giving the face its final "brush-off."

Q. How can I prevent facial lines and wrinkles?

A. Daily applications of lubricating cream, to keep the skin soft, are good. A dry skin creases more readily than an oily or normal one. A daily routine of facial exercises, lubrication, massage along the lines, dark glasses when in the sun to avoid squinting, and elimination of any facial expressions you may have which make lines, will go a long way toward preventing lines and wrinkles in the face.

Q. How can I make my very oily hair more soft and fluffy?

A. Add a teaspoon of baking soda to your liquid soap shampoo.

Q. What is a good treatment for a badly broken fingernail?

A. Maybe in this case you should try an artificial nail. Simply file this to fit over your own nail, glue it on with special nail glue, then paint it like your other nails—and no one will be the wiser.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. King of Panhandle were visitors in Hereford the past week to visit with Mrs. King's mother, Mrs. E. J. Williams, who has been seriously ill.

Hereford Garden Club Has Called Session Tuesday

A called meeting was held by the Hereford Garden club in the home of Mrs. O. G. Hill Tuesday afternoon. Changes in the by-laws and constitution were discussed and projects for the coming year were planned.

Plans were made for the annual fall flower show with the tentative date set for October 24.

A spring flower show was also discussed with plans made to feature table settings. A paid lecturer will be an added feature to the show.

During the business session, Mrs. Lyle Blanton was elected to associate membership. A social hour was held after the business meeting.

Attending were: Mesdames C. C. Ferguson, E. E. Fridley, O. H. Herring, John Jacobson Jr., C. D. Kester, F. H. Oberthier, F. M. Kelton, A. L. Manjot, E. Ramey, Jack Robertson, Rex Tynes, M. T. Rutter and the hostess.

I'll Never...

I decided to start raising Hereford cattle in the fall of 1927. I brought my first cattle from C. O. Norton, who now lives in Weatherford, Tex. I was then living 16 miles south of Hereford, where I lived until 1933.

On April 29, 1933, I married Miss Iva Williams of Hereford and lived in Hereford until I brought our present home, eight miles east of Hereford in November, 1935.

We have had bad years and prosperous ones too. The Lord has been good to us through it all. When I drive over the pastures of this wonderful country and look at the beautiful Hereford cattle, I can always find time for recalling the past.

Screens

Mend a small hole in a screen by first trimming the edges until it is roughly square. Cut a new piece of wire cloth about an inch larger each way than the hole. Pull out several wires on each side of the patch and bend so that the wires stick out at right angles. Place over the hole and push the wires through the screen, bending back through the screening until the new piece is firmly in place.

Ink Stains

To remove ink stains from linen, silks, and cottons soak the stained part in canned tomato juice for about ten minutes, and then wash as usual.

When Ironing

Talcum powder dusted frequently over the hands while ironing prevents them from becoming moist, sore, and tired.

Radishes

Keep the radishes crisp by cleaning thoroughly, wrapping in a damp cloth or vegetable bag, or storing in a covered container in the refrigerator. Radishes used for garnishing should be firm, smooth, uniform in shape, and a bright red.

Drinking Water

To test drinking water fill a clean pint bottle three-fourths full of water and add a half teaspoonful of pure, granulated sugar. Cork tightly, and keep two days in a warm place. If the water then looks cloudy or milky, it is unfit to drink without boiling.

Shabby Umbrella

If the umbrella is beginning to look a little shabby, open it and wash with a brush dipped in ammonia water. Rinse under the shower. Open to dry.

Tooth Decay

A pinch of baking soda used on the toothbrush as a dentifrice will act as a preventive to decay of the teeth.

Prevent Shedding

To keep bristles from shedding off the paint brush first place it bristles up and pour some clear varnish into the base of the bristles. Keep the brush in an upright position until the varnish dries.

Handy Pencil

It is a good idea to tie a pencil securely to your telephone. Many steps and much time will be saved. It must be tied, however, or it will disappear just as any pencil.

Skimming Tomatoes

To skin tomatoes easily, pour boiling water over them, and allow to stand a minute. The skin can then be removed without any trouble.

State's Draft Call For Sept. Is 1,188 Men

AUSTIN—State Selective Service headquarters was called on this week to furnish 1,188 men for the armed forces in September, the state's share of a national call of 30,000.

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said quotas for local boards will be computed and put in the mail next week.

The September quota will be filled with men 20 years old or older. State Selective Service headquarters said that at present it appears Texas can furnish around 400 men in September who will be 21 or older. The remainder will have to come from the 20-year-old group.

The local boards will not be able to send any man for induction in September. Below the age of 20 with the exception of delinquents and volunteers.

The September call compares with an August call of 1-129, previously announced. The September 1951 call was for only 619 men.

State draft headquarters also announced a call for six physicians for military service in August. A call for three dentists in July has been announced previously.

There will be no regular physical examination of registrants in August, according to present plans at state Selective Service headquarters. Examination of several thousand men may take place in September. No call for examination of 4-Fs in August or September has been received from national draft headquarters.

Through June, more than 97,000 Texans had been given combined mental and physical examinations since the beginning of the Korean conflict. During the same period, more than 40,000 Texans were called for service.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and children have gone to Dove Creek, Colo., where he is employed by Fraser Milling company. They plan to spend the remainder of the summer in Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Doss of Aurora, Ore., have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Combs and sons and her brother, Jack Mitchell, spent the past week enjoying a vacation at Eagle Nest and other points in New Mexico.

Streu's Diary

July 25, 1952

DEAR DIARY:

I'm never, never, never going to let anyone else write this Diary for me again!! Let Jean write it a few months ago, and everyone—but everyone—commented on her cleverness, her originality, etc., etc. Last week, due to circumstance beyond my control I had to let "little Streu" write it for me. This week has been a deluge of comments on his wit, cleverness, originality—etc. I grind the darn thing out some fifty times a year and the only comment I get is "Why don't you do this—or that—or something else." Life is sometimes plumb discouraging. However, there is one bright side to the matter—I taught them how!!

Behold, the picnic and outdoor season is upon us. At Streu's we have most all the gadgets for outdoor cookery—including hamburger grills, hot dog toasters, long handled spoons and forks, steak broilers, and chef's gloves to protect the master of the house—or his lily-whites. Few things are as discouraging as cooking a steak rare and your hands medium or well done. Oh, yes, we do have hardwood charcoal in 3-lb. and 40-lb. bags.

GOODS RECEIVED: car refrigerators, thermos jugs and bottles, fishing tackle and boxes, master padlocks (these are getting hard to find), Coleman camp stoves, RCA Victor portable radios (good item for these conventions), big shipment of enamel dish pans and coffee boilers and buckets, bolts, Aeromotor windmill repairs—and a lot of other junk.

If someone wanted to steal a table-top, white enameled oil range, I have a couple to give away—almost.

I notice that the guy who writes the Pitch and Putt column has started picking on me—wants me to play the City Golf champ. Not going to do it—I've played him before—besides old Don Martin just might beat me—long as I don't play him, I am even—a good way to stay.

Now to politics—I know absolutely nothing about politics—except that I would bet anybody that whichever party wins, we, the taxpayers, won't.

All this stuff about conventions and pledges and whatnot—I note in this morning's paper that I can be fined $100 to $500 if I do or don't do something right.

All I have to say is that the country is coming to a fine end when a common citizen has to sign pledges and can be fined if he isn't enough of a politician to know just what to do. Small wonder that so many people hesitate to vote. Phooey.
