Task force reviews plan

The Prison Task Force met Tuesday evening at City Hall for an update on the progress of the application package being prepared for Hereford's proposal for locating a prison facility in Deaf Smith County.

The application must be submitted to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice before noon on Jan. 15, and task force chairman O.G. Nieman reported that all major requirements of the Request for Proposal (RFP) have been assembled.

Mike Hatley, coordinator for the RFP, gave task force members an update on the current status of the proposal. He said work was progressing on schedule and listed information which is still needed. He urged committee volunteers to complete the work by Thursday. Hatley expects to have a rough draft of the application ready for the executive committee to study Friday and make corrections and additions.

The task force reviewed and discussed the proposed incentives which will be included in the proposal. Because of the competitive nature of the applications, all of the incentives will not be announced to the public until later in the bidding process.

"Because of the time element, the task force faced a big challenge when we held our first meeting on Dec. 3," said Nieman, "but it has truly been a community-wide effort in bringing together all the factors needed to complete this project."

The proposed site is the north 300 acres of Section 3, Block K-3, which is located 4.5 miles northeast of the City of Hereford and 1.5 miles from US-60. The city land will be transferred to the TDCJ at no cost if Hereford is selected for a prison facility.

The site consists of 300 acres of farmland, part of which is currently in cultivation. The county will pave 2.5 miles of existing county road to the required FM road standards, should the site be selected. All utility connections will be provided to the site.

The application is being submitted with Hereford Industrial Foundation, Inc., as the applicant. This entity was named because it is incorporated as a non-profit corporation to promote the business interests of Hereford and Deaf Smith County. It was formed in 1975 for the specific purpose of making available the necessary resources to induce desirable industries to locate in the area.

Bush okay after collapse

TOKYO (AP) - President Bush collapsed at his seat at a state dinner today at Prime Minister Kiichi Miyazawa's official residence. He was taken to Akasaka Palace and spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the president was fine, but suffering from a bout of the flu.

Dr. Burton Lee, the president's physician, was attending Bush.

Bush, involved in contentious trade talks with Japanese officials, was expected to sleep through the night and then pick up his schedule, Fitzwater said. The spokesman said Bush was likely to miss the first event on Thursday, a session with U.S. and Japanese businessmen.

"All indications is that it is a normal case of the flu," said Fitzwater. He said Bush fell nauseous and vomited at the State dinner.

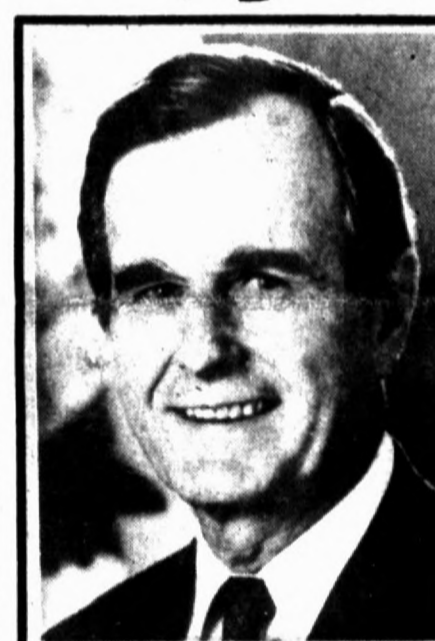

Fitzwater said Bush was given anti-nausea medication called tegin.

In Washington, Vice President Dan Quayle was notified of Bush's illness and planned to go ahead to New Hampshire for a previously scheduled campaign trip.

Bush, wearing an overcoat en route to the palace, said, "I feel good."

The quasi-governmental NHK television said Bush was able to walk on his own to the presidential limousine. Early reports that the president was hospitalized apparently were in error.

Bush walked out of the prime minister's home, looking pale. He did not get into a waiting ambulance,

About Bush...

"All indication is that it is a normal case of the flu." Presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, after President Bush collapsed.

"I just wanted to get a little attention." Bush joked with his security agents.

"I can't explain what happened to George, because it never happened before, but I'm beginning to think it's the ambassador's fault. He and George played the Emperor and the Crown Prince in tennis today, and they were badly beaten. And we Bushes aren't used to that. So he felt much worse than I thought." Barbara Bush at the state dinner.

choosing instead to leave in his limousine. First lady Barbara Bush stayed at the state dinner, and National Security Adviser Brent Scowcroft gave the toast in the president's stead.

Mrs. Bush said, "I can't explain what happened to George because it's never happened before."

Fitzwater said Bush told his security agents, "I just wanted to get a little attention."

Bush, on a 12-day trip to Australia and Asia, had been attending a state dinner at the prime minister's residence after a long day of meetings and diplomatic discussions.

Japan was his last stop after visiting, Australia, Singapore and Korea.

During trade talks today, Bush implored Miyazawa to "iron out" trade differences with the United States, but U.S. officials said Japan was "screaming" about pressure to boost sales of American cars and auto parts here.

Bush is under domestic political pressure to win trade concessions from Japan as a way to ease the $41 billion trade deficit between the two nations.

Witnesses at dinner said Bush was escorted out from Mizawawa's residence after complaining of feeling ill. Before leaving, he was examined by his personal physician, Dr. Burton Lee, and another White House doctor.

"He looked drawn. His hair was disheveled," the witness said.

Resolutions needed for prison pack

Resolutions of support for a prison to be located in Deaf Smith County should be returned no later than Friday to the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Resolutions were mailed last week to all chamber members, and may be obtained at the chamber office, Seventh and Main, or at the Hereford Brand office, 313 N. Lee, by any other interested persons.

The signed resolutions will be listed so they may be compiled as part of the package to be presented to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice next week.

The chamber board was one of many local entities to pass a resolution of support, and the chamber is assisting with the prison proposal preparation.

The Prison Task Force is also asking for resolutions of support from any business, organization, club or individual. O.G. Nieman, chairman of the local task force, said hundreds of businesses, organizations and individuals were listed in the successful applications from Lamesa and Snyder.

Smithee will seek re-election; Bivins plans new amendment

State Rep. John Smithee (R-Amarillo) filed today for re-election to his seat in the Texas Legislature, subject to the Republican primary.

Smithee is seeking his fifth term in the Texas house. His district, in the past, has included Randall and Deaf Smith counties, and will likely be expanded. Legislators are meeting in a special session in Austin to re-draw state lines, and the lines could possibly be changed by future court action.

Smithee first won election to the state house in 1984 when he defeated Hereford Democrat Justin McBride. To date, no opponent has filed.

If a bill waiting to be introduced by State Sen. Teel Bivins becomes law, Smithee could be nearing the end of his time in the Legislature.

Bivins plans to will co-sponsor a constitutional amendment to limit terms for state elected officials.

Bivins is co-sponsoring the bill with Sen. David Sibley (R-Waco).

Bivins said he will attempt to introduce and pass the bill during the current special session of the legislature. If the bill does not pass, he plans to re-introduce the bill in the next regular session.

"Too many politicians, once elected, begin to think they have a claim on their jobs," Bivins said. "Thereafter, they concentrate on winning re-election rather than serving their constituents. This amendment would give politicians incentive to make decisions based on what's best for the people rather than what will help return them to office."

Bivins' bill restricts statewide elected officials in the Executive Branch to no more than two terms in the same office. That would include the governor, lieutenant governor, treasurer, comptroller, land commissioner and agriculture commissioner.

State senators and House members would be limited to 12 years in office. Senators could serve no more than three, four-year, terms, while House members could serve no more than six, two-year, terms.

HHS plans new GED courses

Hereford High School students and others who may be interested in obtaining a General Equivalency Diploma (GED) are encouraged to enroll in a new program at Hereford High School.

The new, semester-long course will be taught during the afternoons at HHS. Students will attend "regular" classes in the mornings, then special GED classes during the afternoon.

Marylin Leasure, a HISD administrator, said the course is designed for students who wish to obtain a GED, and for students who left school for any reason that would like to obtain a GED.

Students currently enrolled in HHS should contact their counselor. Persons not enrolled at HHS may contact the school office for more information on the new program.

Fuhrmann is honored

Mildred Fuhrmann was named the 1991 Woman of the Year at the quarterly meeting of the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday night.

Fuhrmann is 1991 Woman of the Year

By DANEE WILSON
Lifestyles Editor

After many years of being a devoted citizen and serving her community, church and family, Mildred Fuhrmann was honored with one of the highest honors a woman in Deaf Smith County can earn when she was named Woman of the Year at Tuesday night's Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division's quarterly meeting.

She was presented her award by Betty Taylor, the 1190 Woman of the Year.

Fuhrmann moved to Hereford in 1956 from Adrian. After moving to Hereford, she began working at the First United Methodist Church and then moved to Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union.

She later began working at the law firm of Witherspoon, Aiken, Thomas and Langley. She was a secretary, manager of the home and Sunday school teacher at the church.

She has been a member of the Women's Division for 15 years. Her most outstanding accomplishment in Women's Division is her chairing of the blood drives over the past 10 years. The monthly blood drives are always successful, according to Coffee Memorial Blood Center.

"I am thrilled with the honor, but I believe Woman of the Year belongs to everyone who serves on the blood bank committee," Fuhrmann said.

Women's Division is not Fuhrmann's only interest. Over the years, she has held such positions as secretary to the legal counsel of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association; district officer of United Methodist Women; legal secretary of Deaf Smith County from 1976-77; Sunday school teacher; certificate of volunteer service, Texas Department of Human Resources in 1982; officer in Deaf Smith County Legal Secretaries Association and, in 1975, she received her Certificate for Professional Legal Secretary.

She has also been a volunteer for the Good Shepherd's clothes closet for two years, with Hereford Senior Citizens, King's Manor Auxiliary, and the blood bank. She is also a member of various city civic clubs and study clubs.

Her hard work in the community has made her a worthy recipient.

Mildred's life has been surrounded by some very interesting events.

Mildred married her husband, Ronald, on Dec. 1, 1940. Following World War II, they moved with their first two children to Mayfield, Kan., where Ronald began farming.

In 1954, two children and a dog later, the family moved to Adrian where they lived in an adobe farmhouse and the only method of washing clothes was from three washtubs and a wringer.

Mildred helped her husband out on the farm by driving the tractor and grain truck.

After the family moved to Hereford, their fifth child was born during one of the worst blizzards in 1957. Mildred was taken to the hospital in a wrecker because the family's pickup, car and a police car were stuck in the snow.

At the age of 43, Fuhrmann gave birth to twins. Her family feels that this feat was reason enough to be Woman of the Year.

Her children, who are proud of their mother's accomplishments, include Stanley, Glenda, Larry, Wanda, Joel, Nedra and Naomi. She also has five grandchildren.

Past recipients of Woman of the Year include Irene McKinster, 1971; Katherine Kester, 1972; Violet Reinauer, 1973; Wynell Robinson, 1974; Lavon Nieman, 1975; Inez Albright, 1976; Sherry Hoover, 1977; Susie McGee, 1978; Virginia Adams, 1979; Georgia Sparks, 1980; Leatrus Clark, 1981; Carrell Ann Simmons, 1982; Margaret Formby, 1983; Mary Herring, 1984; Lajeane Henry, 1985; Helen Langley, 1986; Betty Drake, 1987; Donna West, 1988; Bettye Owen, 1989; and Betty Taylor, 1990.

More news on the quarterly meeting, including new officers, is inside today's Brand.

Garrett reprieve blasted by DA Hill

AUSTIN (AP) - A prosecutor is blasting Gov. Ann Richards for granting a 30-day reprieve to a man convicted of raping and killing an elderly Roman Catholic nun, after Pope John Paul II and others asked for clemency in the case.

"It bothers me that we have a governor who would be influenced by such a thing. We are supposed to have separation of church and state. I think," said District Attorney Danny Hill of Armstrong and Potter counties.

Richards halted the execution of Johnny Frank Garrett, who had been scheduled to die by lethal injection Tuesday in the Oct. 31, 1981, strangulation of 76-year-old Sister Tadea Benz in Amarillo.

"He is the kind of person that the death penalty was made for," Hill said.

In addition to the pope, Bishop Leroy Mattheisen of Amarillo, 15 other bishops and the religious order to which the Swiss-born nun had belonged asked that the execution be stopped.

The governor noted that five executions had been carried out since she took office a year ago.

"In this case, there were a few questions in my mind, and then to be petitioned by the (Catholic) sisters who were really the only family that this victim had to grant this 30-day delay," said Richards, who is Methodist.

Bill Cryer, Richards' press secretary said the last 30-day reprieve was granted in 1972. One hundred and five Texas death sentences have been commuted since 1971, he said.

Bishop Mattheisen said in a letter from himself and the Franciscan Sisters of Mary Immaculate of Amarillo that they were the only family left to the slain sister besides "a few distant relatives" in Switzerland.

He rejected the idea that the Catholic leaders' pleas might jeopardize separation of church and state.

"We believe that we have a right to make our voice heard and we intend to do that," Mattheisen said.

A letter to Richards from Vatican officials had said, "The Holy Father prays that the sentence will be commuted through your magnanimity and mercy. Your gesture of clemency would obviously be of special significance in promoting nonviolence and in fostering the need for mutual respect and love in society."

The pope asked for clemency in a Missouri case last year and at that time a Vatican spokesman said the pope had acted similarly in other death cases in the United States. The spokesman couldn't say how many or where.

Amarillo lawyer Warren L. Clark, representing Garrett, said he would ask the State Board of Pardons and Paroles to recommend to Richards that Garrett's sentence be commuted to life in prison. Clark said he also may appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The lawyer said his main argument is that Garrett is insane. Garrett believes that his dead aunt will protect him from the lethal poison in the execution process, Clark said.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that a person who is insane and cannot comprehend an execution or the reasons behind an execution cannot be put to death.

Richards also mentioned Garrett's youth at the time the crime was committed - he was 17 - but Clark said that issue had been dealt a blow by a recent federal appellate court ruling.

In her order, Richards said she was granting the reprieve so that Garrett's defense counsel could "fully develop any unresolved issues relating to mitigating circumstances surrounding the crime or his background."

Bill Cryer, Richards' press secretary said the last 30-day reprieve was granted in 1972. One hundred and five Texas death sentences have been commuted to life since 1971, he said.

Sister Benz's Halloween night slaying nearly went unreported because it was believed her death was from natural causes. A mortuary was called, the nun's body was removed and only when police were called to investigate a broken window did officers decide the window and the nun's death could be related.

Officers spotted Garrett, who was well-known to them because of previous run-ins with the law, running from the convent the night of the slaying. It was only about two blocks from his home.

Detectives eventually matched his fingerprints with those found in the nun's room on a crucifix, on her bed and on a knife.

Garrett told police he broke into the convent earlier, accounting for his fingerprints, but he denied killing the nun.

Newspaper says Lewis to decline bid for re-election

DALLAS (AP) - Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis will not seek re-election to another term, according to a published report.

In a copyright story, The Dallas Morning News quoted a highly-placed confidant who declined to be named as saying Lewis is "hanging 'em up" at the end of his current term in December.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, would neither confirm nor deny the report. "Wait for the news to happen," he told the newspaper. "There's more rumors flowing now than water running down the Colorado (River)."

Lewis, scheduled to stand trial Jan. 27 on two misdemeanor ethics charges, said he's "had enough" and would not seek a record sixth term as presiding officer of the House of Representatives, the confidant said.

Other sources close to the speaker told the newspaper they were virtually certain he will not seek another term.

Lewis also told the newspaper Tuesday that he plans to be "involved in politics until I die," but declined to say in what capacity.

Lewis, 55, said his wife wanted him to spend more time at home and said he needed to pay more attention to his Fort Worth label business, a confidant told the newspaper.

"If you had asked me in mid-December, I would have said he is running again," said a lobbyist. "But in the past couple of weeks, I've completely changed my mind. I think he's had enough."

Two legislators say they expect Lewis to make his political plans known in a speech on the House floor just before lawmakers adjourn a special session on legislative redistricting.

Lewis said last week at a news conference that he has essentially decided what to do and promised to announce his plans before the current special session ends.

Lewis was elected to the House in 1970 after serving a term on the River Oaks City Council.

Report given Kiwanis on prison task force

Members of the Golden K Kiwanis Club heard a report on Deaf Smith County's bid for a prison facility when O.G. Nieman, prison task force chairman, appeared as guest speaker for the Tuesday noon meeting at Hereford Senior Citizen Center.

Nieman reported that a "unified community effort" will make it possible for the task force to have its proposal ready by the deadline, just a week away. The task force held its first meeting on Dec. 3 and the application for a prison must be submitted to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice before noon on Jan. 15.

The chairman said the major requirements for cities wanting new prisons include availability of medical services, at least 300 acres of land and a location within 100 miles of a city of 100,000 or more. Low-cost utilities, accessible roads and colleges nearby also are deciding factors, he said.

"We can only speculate on our chances of landing a prison site, but our committee feels we will meet all the requirements and have a competitive proposal for the TDCJ," Nieman added.

The chairman said the project had been a challenge because of the time element, "but the task force has been rewarded with great support from the entire community."

Cecil Oglesby, Golden K president, presided at the weekly luncheon meeting. Jerry Jackson served as program, chairman. The club invited guests from the senior center to attend the program.

WTRT committee sets January 18 meeting

A nomination committee for the board of directors of West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc., will meet Jan. 18 at 10 a.m. at the WTRT offices south of Hereford.

The terms of directors Carl Strauss, of the Milo Center exchange; Jimmie Cockerham of the Sharp exchange; and Ernest Brown of the Westway exchange, are expiring.

The nominating committee will propose two nominees for each of the positions. WTRT members will be notified of the nominees and will vote on them during the annual membership meeting March 26 at the Bull Barn in Hereford.

Members of the nominating committee and their exchanges include Bill Nichols, Hub; Joe Schumacher, Frio; Bud Euler, Summerfield; Marion Carson, Sharp; George Turrentine, Westway; Jerry Davis, Oklahoma Lane; Pat Smith, Dawn; Ed Rohrbach, Milo Center; and Danny Allen, Pamer.

Decision to affect 4 million in Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) - More than 4 million Texas women could lose their right to abortion if the Supreme Court reverses a landmark ruling and allows states to ban or strictly regulate abortion, a pro-choice group says.

Nearly 15 million women in 13 states would be "at immediate risk" of losing their abortion rights if Roe v. Wade is overturned, the National Abortion Rights Action League said Tuesday.

The 1973 ruling, which resulted from a Texas case, established abortion as a fundamental constitutional right based on a woman's right of privacy.

Roe v. Wade began in Dallas when Norma McCorvey, the then-anonymous "Jane Roe" plaintiff, sued then Dallas District Attorney Henry Wade.

NARAL expects the Supreme Court - increasingly hostile to abortion rights - to overturn Roe vs. Wade by June if it agrees this month to review a Pennsylvania abortion law.

Texas is not among the 13 states considered likely to immediately impose abortion restrictions if Roe v. Wade is abolished. That's largely because of the presence of pro-choice Gov. Ann Richards, said Kate Michelman, NARAL's executive director.

"I think Ann Richards would veto any anti-choice law," Ms. Michelman said Tuesday after unveiling a NARAL study of abortion issues.

The study ranked Texas 25th among the 50 states based on the abortion views of their governors and state legislatures and on state laws already in place.

Texas is a safe state for the pro-choice movement - as long as Richards remains at the helm, Ms. Michelman said.

The president of Texas' largest pro-life organization agreed.

"I think that certainly the presence of Ann Richards presents a formidable obstacle to passing any kind of pro-life legislation," said Bill Price, head of Texans United for Life, a Dallas-based group with approximately 100,000 members.

"I think they are correct in assuming that (Richards) is the reason for the ranking, however, that could change in several years," he said.

NARAL considers the Texas Legislature to be closely divided on the issue.

"I think we are a few years away from really being able to tackle some abortion prohibitions, but I think there are some abortion regulations we could pass in the state with a pro-life governor," Price said.

Price termed Texas one of the least restrictive states on abortion issues, but noted that if Roe v. Wade is repealed a state law already on the books will take effect. That pre-Roe law provides that no abortion shall be performed in Texas unless the woman's life is in danger.

"It wouldn't take any legislative action at all," he said. "It would be a great irony to see a 1973 law that was swept off the books during the administration of a pro-life governor reinstated during the administration of a pro-choice governor," he said.

The 13 highest-risk states identified in the NARAL study, by order of risk, are Louisiana, Utah, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, West Virginia, Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama, Nebraska, Wisconsin and South Dakota.

The seven "lowest-risk" states are North Carolina, Hawaii, Vermont, Oregon, Connecticut, Washington and California.

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division met Tuesday night for their first quarterly meeting to install officers and announce the Woman of the Year.

Mildred Fuhrmann was honored as Woman of the Year. She has been a member of Women's Division for 15 years. Fuhrmann has chaired the blood bank committee for Women's Division for the past 10 years.

Her election was based on fact sheets of her accomplishments and contributions to the community. A committee headed by the 1990 Woman of the Year, Betty Taylor, made the selection by secret ballot.

Past President Marilyn Culpepper installed Rita Bell, president; Linda Daniel, president-elect; Kim Buckley, vice president; Kristi Hollingsworth, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Fuhrmann, director; Debra Perry, director; and Ruth Newsom, past president, parliamentarian.

Culpepper presented each new officer with a different hat to wear representing what would be expected of them for the next year.

New committee chairs were also announced by new president Rita Bell.

The chairpersons are: Animal Action, Scrapbook and Membership Committees, Kim Buckley; Beauty Spot of the Month, Sonya Torbert; Blood Bank, Mildred Fuhrmann; Christmas Lighting, Barbara Yavornik; Decoration, Tommie Savage, Fine Arts, Pat Graham; Little Miss Pageant, Jan Page and Kim Rogers; Miss Hereford, Linda Daniel and Kim Porter; Publicity, Debra Perry; Retail Merchants, Jackie Murphey; Tourism, Virginia Adams; Town and Country Jubilee, Dee Hamilton; Welcome, Betty Taylor; Finance and Budget, Vicki McMories; Newcomers, Lacy Mueggemborg; Style Show, Janet Brigrance; and Telephone, Betty Owen.

Ruth Newsom, outgoing president, reviewed the year. Her beginning theme was "Cruising" and her ending theme was "Best of Years."

She said that all the committees and projects were the best they had ever been.

Newsom thanked all the committees for their hard work. She said that 180 people enjoyed the style show. The group had gained 17 new members over the past year.

The lighting of the community Christmas tree by member Kyla McDowell was also highlighted by Newsom.

Incoming President Rita Bell focused on the future of Women's Division with her theme on "Careers."

"All women have a career," she said. "Some have a career at home, others work as secretaries, accountants, bookkeepers, teachers and all are a part of the organization."

Bell said the organization is made up of all types of women and that she is looking forward to working together with the organization to make 1992 another "best year."

Breast Cancer often stays hidden for several years before it can be revealed through a conventional physical exam. A mammogram is the only way to discover breast cancer in its earliest stages. The test, conducted by a trained specialist, takes just a few minutes — a few minutes that could have life-saving results. One out of nine women will develop breast cancer. This year, 38,000 will die. Those who discover the disease early have a better chance of recovery.

Lady cagers victimized; boys also fall

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Both of Hereford varsity basketball teams lost on the road Tuesday. The boys fell 66-56 at Frenship and the girls lost 46-39 to Highland Park at Boys Ranch.

The girls' record drops to 7-15 going into district play, which starts Friday with an 8 p.m. game at Dumas. The boys' record goes to 5-13. Their district slate starts Jan. 17 at Pampa. They play at Estacado Friday at 7:45.

The telling statistic in the girls' game came from the free throw line, where Highland Park was 23-of-35 and Hereford was 6-of-10.

"We played zone defense because we got in early foul trouble. We played in a zone so we wouldn't foul," Coach Dickie Faught said.

He said the Lady Whitefaces got some "strange, strange calls," particularly in the fourth quarter, when HP made up a 34-30 deficit. For example, with 19 seconds left in the game and HP leading by three points, Hereford's Jill Robinson was called for a questionable personal foul, then for a questionable technical foul, Faught said. HP made all four free throws.

"I think we deserved to win that one, and I don't usually say that," he said.

Hereford's usual high-scorer, Jennifer Bullard, had an off-night, hitting only 2-of-15 from the floor.

"If she hits any of those, we win," Faught said. "She just had one of those kind of games."

On the bright side, Kara Sandoval led Hereford with 17 points and eight rebounds. "That was probably her best game of the year last night," Faught said.

Also: "We did get a little bit more scoring from our post players, which was encouraging to see," Faught said. Kyanne Lindley and Misty Dudley combined for 13 points.

The boys also got in foul trouble, particularly Richard Sanderson, Leo Brown, and Kyle Hansen, Coach Jimmy Thomas said. Although it wasn't quite like the girls' game: Frenship hit 13-of-25 while Hereford was 13-of-24.

The Herd led 24-16 after a quarter, but the lead slipped away after that. They still led 38-36 at the half, thanks to Kevin Kelso's buzzer-beater from mid-court, but a six-point third quarter--Thomas said they shot 2-of-12--put the Herd behind 49-44.

Despite the loss, Thomas said the "kids played super." Hereford had four players score in double figures: Brown with 19, Derek Mason with 15, and Sanderson and Kelso with 10 each. Mason also had 18 rebounds drawing praise from Thomas: "Derek Mason had a real good game."

The boys' junior varsity also fell, 56-49 to the Frenship JV. Like the varsity, the Herd JV had a bad third quarter. They were outscored 13-6, which was the difference in the game. Angel Orosco led the JV with 12 points, and Kirk Self added 10.

The girls' JV did not play Tuesday.

The boys' JV and boys' sophomore teams will host a tournament this weekend. The tourney will include 12 JV teams and 8 sophomore teams. They'll start at 3 p.m. Thursday, using all three courts at Hereford Junior High, and will finish with the championship game Saturday night.

Meet the Herd held tonight

A Meet the Herd night will be held for all Hereford basketball teams tonight starting at 5:30 in Whiteface Gym.

Seaver, Fingers elected to Hall

NEW YORK (AP) - Tom Seaver

came close to another perfect ending. Remember July 9, 1969? Seaver vs. the Chicago Cubs. On that night, Seaver came within two outs of a perfect game before little-known Jimmy Qualls broke it up with a single.

On Tuesday night, Seaver received 425 of 430 votes for a record 98.8 percent and election to the Hall of Fame in his first try. He was joined by all-time saves leader Rollie Fingers, who received 349 votes in balloting cast by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

A total of 323 votes were required this year for the 75 percent needed for election. Orlando Cepeda finished third with 246 votes, followed by Tony Perez (215), Bill Mazerowski (182), Tony Oliva (175) and Ron Santo (136). It was Mazerowski's last time on the ballot.

Pete Rose? He's still wondering what the Hall of Fame future holds for him. While Seaver was a shoo-in, Rose was a write-in.

Rose, banned from the Hall of Fame ballot, received 41 write-in votes. Three voters - Bob Hertz of The Pittsburgh Press, free-lance writer Bob Hunter and Paul Hagen of the Philadelphia Daily News - returned blank ballots. Two retired writers - Deane McGowen and Bud Tucker - did not vote for Seaver.

When Seaver and Rose retired following the 1986 season, fans looked ahead to what promised to be one of the biggest days ever at Cooperstown, with the two superstars walking in together.

But all that was dashed when Rose was banned from baseball for gambling by then-commissioner Bart Giamatti on Aug. 23, 1989.

The Hall of Fame voting is conducted by 10-year members of the BBWAA, and several writers were upset that the board of directors of the Hall voted last year to keep Rose off the ballot because he is on the permanent ineligible list. The writers wanted the choice of whether he deserved to be in Cooperstown or not.

Still, 41 BBWAA members made him a write-in vote, even though write-in ballots don't count. Last year, Rose asked the voters not to attempt any kind of protest because he didn't want to hurt the chances of the other candidates.

George Thomas Seaver won three Cy Young Awards for the New York Mets, pitched 61 shutouts and struck out 3,640 in his career, third on the career list behind Nolan Ryan and Steve Carlton. From 1967 to 1977, Seaver won 25 percent of the Mets' games.

Roland Glen Fingers was known not only for twisting pitches, but also for his twisting handlebar mustache. He was a sub-.500 pitcher as a starter before he found his niche.

"You never know what's going to happen," said Fingers, the first pitcher to make the Hall of Fame with a losing record at 114-118.

"Last year, people kept saying, 'I was in. I was in. I was in.' And then I wasn't. I'm glad it's over with, to tell you the truth."

Fingers, who finished in 1985 with a career ERA of 2.90, pitched nine seasons for Oakland, four for San Diego and four for Milwaukee.

Fingers joins Hoyt Wilhelm as the only relief pitchers in Cooperstown.

Rose controversy will continue to grow

By JIM LITKE
Associated Press Writer
The people who knocked Pete Rose's name off the Hall of Fame ballot thought hiding him would be the same thing as forgetting him. Just the opposite will turn out to be true. And then they'll have to kick him around forever.

When this year's vote was announced Tuesday night, it became known that 41 of the 430 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America had restored Rose's name to their ballots and three others had returned theirs entirely blank.

As it turned out, those disgruntled voters did nothing to hurt the chances of Tom Seaver - the 300-game, three-time Cy Young Award winner was named on a record 98.8 percent of the ballots in his first year of

Blazers whip Magic, but not by enough

By The Associated Press

Things have gotten so bad for the Orlando Magic that opposing coaches are worried when they win by 15 points.

After Portland handed Orlando its 17th consecutive loss, 104-89 Tuesday night, Trail Blazers coach Rick Adelman was concerned about how his team could handle an upcoming four-game trip. Most upsetting to Adelman was watching a 20-point lead trimmed to nine.

"I'm disappointed we couldn't hold the lead," Adelman said. "It's disturbing when they cut the lead. I was hoping our second unit would get it back for us."

The Blazers led 81-61 going into the fourth period and still had an 87-68 advantage before Orlando, with only nine players in uniform because of injuries, scored 10 straight points.

Terry Catledge scored six points during the run, and Nick Anderson's 20-foot jumper with 6:32 left closed the gap to 87-78.

"On a road trip as tough as the one we face, if you have a lead you'd better keep it," Adelman said. "It's disappointing that this has happened a number of times this season. We can't afford to have the dead periods we've been having."

While Adelman is worried about dead periods, Orlando's Matt Guokas has to contend with a dead season. The Magic, who haven't won since Nov. 30, are three losses shy of the NBA record for consecutive defeats in a single season, set by Philadelphia in 1973.

"We were never really in the game," Guokas said. "They made some mistakes at the offensive end and it got interesting for a while. But we couldn't sustain anything."

Anderson scored 19 of his 21 points in the second half and Catledge finished with 20.

Terry Porter had 23 points and 11 assists and Clyde Drexler scored 18 points for Portland.

Cavaliers 113, Timberwolves 98

Cleveland won its ninth straight game and for the fifth consecutive time on the road as Brad Daugherty scored 27 points and Mark Price became the Cavs' career assist leader.

Daugherty made nine of 11 shots for Cleveland, which shot 67 percent in the second half and 58 percent overall. Price added 16 points on 8-for-11 shooting and his six assists gave him 2,317, six more than John Bagley.

Pooh Richardson scored 18 points for Minnesota.

Hawks 109, Knicks 94

Atlanta won its fifth consecutive game and handed New York its third loss in 16 home games as Dominique Wilkins scored 24 points, leading six Hawks with 13 or more points.

Wilkins and Paul Graham scored eight points apiece during a 22-12 spurt that gave Atlanta an 86-71 advantage with 10:54 remaining in the game, and New York got no closer than 12 the rest of the way.

Patrick Ewing had 23 points and Xavier McDaniel 22 for the Knicks.

Lakers 104, Mavericks 80

Los Angeles won at Dallas as Terry Teagle scored 19 points and the Lakers took advantage of the Mavericks' 19 percent shooting in the second quarter.

Los Angeles went on a 15-0 first-half run, including the first 11 points of the second quarter. The Mavericks went scoreless in the first 5:51 of the second quarter before Rolando Blackman's 18-foot jumper.

Bulls 102, Bullets 89

Michael Jordan scored 21 points and Scottie Pippen 17 as Chicago won for the 11th time in 13 games.

Washington trailed just 76-67 early in the fourth quarter after a drive by Ledell Eackles, but the Bulls pulled away for their 14th victory in 16 home games.

Harvey Grant scored 19 points for Washington.

SuperSonics 106, Nuggets 99

Seattle won at Denver by scoring 13 of the game's final 15 points.

Ricky Pierce scored 28 points and Derrick McKey 26 for the SuperSonics.

Dikembe Mutombo had 27 points and 12 rebounds for Denver.

Spurs' Robinson injures kidney

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - San Antonio Spurs center David Robinson has suffered a kidney contusion, probably from an elbowing during a game, team officials said Tuesday as he was named NBA player of the month for December.

Robinson averaged 24.4 points, 13.3 rebounds and 5.4 blocked shots for 16 games during December.

Robinson came to practice Tuesday complaining about a sore kidney area following the Spurs game Monday night against the Detroit Pistons.

Robinson did not practice with the team and reported to a doctor for tests, which revealed he had a contusion that produced blood in his urine, said a statement issued by the Spurs.

A test for kidney stones came back negative, the statement said.

Robinson was expected to participate in the Spurs shootaround Wednesday morning. San Antonio faces the Los Angeles Lakers Wednesday night.

Robinson leads the league with 5.19 blocks per game, highest in the NBA since Mark Eaton's record 5.56 per game in 1985. Robinson is also the only player in the NBA among the top 10 in five statistical categories - blocked shots, scoring, rebounding, field goal percentage and steals.

Twice during December, Robinson set career highs. He had 24 rebounds against Sacramento on Dec. 3 and recorded six steals against Milwaukee Dec. 8. His best scoring game of the season came on Dec. 11 when he had 35 points against Minnesota. He shot .577 from the field and had double figures in scoring and rebounding 12 times.

Robinson beat out Detroit's Dennis Rodman in the computer rating for the month. Behind them came Denver's Dikembe Mutombo, John Stockton of Utah, Kevin Willis of Atlanta and Chicago's Horace Grant.

Funderburke' return sparks OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Lawrence Funderburke said it was worth the wait. So did the Ohio State crowd of 13,276 at St. John Arena.

Funderburke, playing his first college game in more than two years, contributed seven points, three rebounds and three blocked shots as seventh-ranked Ohio State rode a powerful defensive showing in the second half Tuesday night to a 62-46 victory over No. 9 Michigan State.

"That was most definitely the most nervous moment of my career," Funderburke said of the standing ovation he received when he first stepped on the court with Ohio State trailing 12-8 with 13:41 left in the first half.

Funderburke, a former Columbus high school star, played six games with Indiana before quitting the team in December 1989. The 6-foot-9 sophomore completed course work during the next year before enrolling at Ohio State one year ago.

Funderburke's contributions paled next to those of Jim Jackson, who had 17 points and team highs of four assists and nine rebounds. But his presence portends good things for the Buckeyes, Michigan State coach Jud Heathcote said.

"I think Lawrence Funderburke gives them a new dimension, an inside player who has quickness and finesse," Heathcote said. "He played well at both ends. He wasn't dominant ... but he might be the missing link that could make them more than a good team and into a very good team."

Ohio State coach Randy Ayers said he was relieved Funderburke's debut was behind him.

"I'm glad it's over," Ayers said.

"There was too much attention on Lawrence's first game. I'm glad that's behind us."

In the second half, Ohio State limited the Spartans to nine field goals in 26 attempts, a 35 percent average, while the Buckeyes were 14 for 26 for 54 percent. Ohio State outscored Michigan State 33-20 in the half.

Mike Peplowski led Michigan State with 13 points.

In other games involving ranked teams Tuesday night, it was No. 5 Connecticut 85, No. 17 St. John's 76; No. 15 Kentucky 78, Georgia 66, and No. 18 Seton Hall 64, Miami 52.

No. 5 Connecticut 85,

No. 17 St. John's 76

At Storrs, Conn., Chris Smith missed his first five shots, then made 13 of 17 on the way to scoring a career-high 37 points. Smith, a senior, went 106 games without scoring 30 points until he struck for 33 against Illinois last Saturday. Connecticut (11-0 overall, 2-0 Big East) handed St. John's (8-3) its first loss in three league games. Malik Sealy led the Redmen with 21 points.

No. 15 Kentucky 78, Georgia 66

At Lexington, Ky., reserves Deron Feldhaus and Junior Braddy each scored 15 points for Kentucky (11-2), which made 24 of 25 free throws in beating the Bulldogs (7-4). Georgia's Litterial Green was held to 11 points, 12 below his average, but still tied Alec Kessler's school career scoring record of 1,788 points. Green made only three of 15 shots. Kentucky built leads up to 15 points in the second half in going to 2-0 in the Southeastern Conference. Georgia is 0-1.

No. 18 Seton Hall 64, Miami 52

At East Rutherford, N.J., Seton Hall (9-2 overall, 2-1 Big East) got 23 points from Jerry Walker and 19 from Terry Dehere. The Pirates led only 27-25 at halftime, but opened the second half with a 15-6 burst that Miami (5-8, 0-3) couldn't answer.

Yankees pick up Gallego

NEW YORK (AP) - A day after the New York Yankees spent $25.5 million for outfielder Danny Tartabull, they spent $5.1 million for infielder Mike Gallego.

Considering the team's pressing needs are third base and pitching, it's unclear why they're finally making these moves.

"We think he can play third base, second base and shortstop," New York general manager Gene Michael said Tuesday after Gallego's signing was announced. "We feel he'll play a lot. He can play regularly at one of the positions."

Gallego, who made $565,000 last year, gets a $1.5 million signing bonus, $1.45 million in 1992 and $1,075,000 in each of the 1993 and 1994 seasons. He also can earn $500,000 in performance bonuses during the life of the contract.

In other free agent news, Mike Pagliarulo returned to the Minnesota Twins. The third baseman, who made $655,000 last season, agreed to a $1.2 million deal with the chance to make $570,000 more in performance bonuses.

And right-hander Jeff D. Robinson, who pitched for California last season, agreed to a $375,000 minor league contract with the Chicago Cubs. Robinson, who made $1 million last season, can earn an additional $500,000 in performance bonuses.

'Skins' Ervins makes running game run

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Washington Redskins have blended the old with the new to create a running game as potent as that of any of the four teams remaining in the fight for the Super Bowl.

The Detroit Lions have Barry Sanders, a real marquee player. The Buffalo Bills have the same thing in Thurman Thomas. When Denver's John Elway isn't throwing the ball, Gaston Green is running it.

But in eight-year veteran Earnest Byner and rookie Ricky Ervins, the Redskins have a running game that makes it impossible for defenses to concentrate solely on stopping Mark Rypien's passing game.

Washington finished the season with the NFL's seventh-best rushing attack and averaged 128 yards per game, even though the ground game faltered a bit in the closing weeks of the regular season. And in Saturday's 24-7 triumph over the Atlanta Falcons, the Redskins regained the running spark that helped key a 14-2 season as Ervins ran for 104 yards and Byner slogged for 57 yards on a wet, windy day.

Redskins coach Joe Gibbs, who has said it's nearly impossible to win in the playoffs without a good running game, is understandably pleased with the performance of Ervins and Byner.

"Both backs played extremely well," Gibbs said. "It gives me real confidence."

And Washington used some astute scouting and good hunches to rebuild their running game without giving up much in return.

Ervins was the eighth running back selected in last year's draft when Washington took him in the third round, after the 27 other teams in the league were apparently scared off by an ankle injury that hobbled Ervins during his senior season at Southern Cal.

The Redskins took a chance that he would recover fully and be able to contribute. He has.

Byner, whose 2,713 yards rushing in five seasons with the Browns were overshadowed by a fumble that cost them a trip to the Super Bowl in the 1986 AFC championship game, was a running back the Redskins felt would benefit from a change of scenery.

Now, Byner has racked up his second consecutive 1,000-yard season and is on his way to his second straight Pro Bowl. Mike Oliphant, a running back and kick returner who went to Cleveland in exchange for Byner, spent most of the season on the inactive list.

"It's about the best trade I've been associated with," Gibbs said recently. Meanwhile, Ervins gained 680 yards on just 142 carries during the regular season (a 4.7 yard average) and frequently provided a big spark when the Redskins needed a lift.

"From the time we got him, Ricky Ervins has proved he can play," Gibbs said. "He's really done a job for us."

The relationship between Byner and Ervins, where closeness and comradery have triumphed over the potential for conflict, typifies the unity and teamwork that Gibbs and others say is a key to Washington's success this season.

For now, Byner starts and Ervins provides the relief. That's fine with the rookie running back.

"He's really my mentor, and when he's on the field I watch him at all times," Ervins said of Byner. "When I go in, he encourages me. It's like a one-two punch."

Two apprentice jockeys have won the Kentucky Derby - Ira Hanford with Bold Venture in 1936 and Bill Boland on Middleground in 1950.

Count Fleet in 1943 and Citation in 1948 each paid $2.80 in winning the Kentucky Derby, the record low payoff.

eligibility - or Rollie Fingers. Nor could they be blamed for denying spots to Orlando Cepeda and Tony Perez, both of whom finished well short of the 75 percent (323 ballots) needed for election to Cooperstown.

Indeed, that same bloc of voters did not even succeed in making Rose look like a very good candidate for martyrdom. But that, like the fact that Rose's uniform and bats are already on display inside baseball's shrine, is beside the point.

Rose's vote total will only grow, not shrink. The memory of his accomplishments will swell and the heat of the debate swirling around will get hotter. Sooner or later, tinkering with votes is going to cost some other deserving ballplayer election or finally make Rose a cause celebre.

And then it's going to get really ugly.

"I'm not in his corner on anything. Anything. But man, let's stick to baseball," said Sparky Anderson, currently manager of the Detroit Tigers but formerly the manager of Cincinnati's "Big Red Machine" of the mid-1970s. "The way I understood it, you go into the hall based on the things you do on the field. ... If the voters consider his record and say that's not enough, that's their prerogative, though I think they would only be embarrassing themselves.

"But to not even give them a chance to say one way or another, well," he added, "the more I think about that the more I get steamed."

Shortly after saying this over the telephone from his wintertime home in Thousand Oaks, Calif., Anderson allowed how it hadn't been the best of days to begin with. He spent most of his morning in the clubhouse at his country club, watching a rainstorm wash out yet another round of golf.

But it didn't take long for his mood to lift. When he was asked to assess the three players who figured so prominently in the balloting and during Anderson's stay in Cincinnati.

He had Rose and Perez as everyday players in their most productive decade and Seaver for a little more than a season after the pitcher left the

New York Mets for the Reds in 1977. Anderson was able to provide numbers for any of them, but his impression of each were much more revealing.

About Seaver he recalled "that pitching was a business to him. He always knew exactly what he was doing and he was always in complete command. ... When you went out to the mound, you didn't have to play games. If he was out of gas, he'd let you know."

About Perez, Anderson said, "I always use him as an example when I talk to younger players about what a professional is. He wasn't a guy who, if he was going good Tuesday, would treat you one way; and if we going bad Thursday, would treat you a different way."

Anderson started to talk about Rose but didn't go very far. Instead he started to talk about injustice.

"No doubt, they both (Seaver and Perez) deserve to be in. But if they deserve to be in and somebody says Peter Edward Rose doesn't, then we might as well close the doors on the Hall of Fame."

Barney Google and Snuffy Smith By Fred Lasswell

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: About one month after my child started kindergarten, the students were given packets issued by the PTA containing a catalog of gifts and an order form. Each child was supposed to sell these items to family and friends. Also enclosed in the packet was a list of knickknacks designed to reward higher sales--the more the child sells, the better the quality of the knickknack. An element of peer pressure also is exerted--the class with the most sales gets a party as a reward.

Needless to say, the parents must foist this junk on family and friends. It's even worse when a parent happens to be the boss as well. The subordinates are subtly forced to buy, or else.

When I went to school, these sales were unheard of. Now each year the families of these students have to shell out hard-earned money to some greedy organization. Friends in other states tell me of similar practices in their school districts.

Ann, will you please contact the national headquarters of the PTA to ask why this racket is necessary? Maybe it will give an answer that will make us all proud of the PTA. Thanks.--Put-Upon Parent in New York who said the PTA is a child advocacy association that provides for the educational needs of children in cooperation with local schools. It does not encourage using children for fund-raising, but any money raised by local chapters goes back into the school or is used for community programs and parent-child education.

DEAR PARENT: My office spoke with Tari Marshall, director of communications at the national PTA,

No school should hold each student responsible for his or her class' performance. This is too much pressure.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old high school junior with a problem that may seem silly to most people, but it's turning into a major issue for me.

I don't wake up even with an alarm clock. Sometimes I hear the buzzing, but I often sleep right through it. I now have two clocks right next to me but it doesn't help. They still can't get me up.

My mother thinks the reason I don't hear the alarms is because I stay up too late and don't get enough sleep. This is not true. Even though I sometimes go to bed late, I don't feel tired once I'm up.

Ann, my mother has gotten so disgusted with me that she refuses to wake me up. She says, "If you don't hear the alarm, it's your tough luck."

I've been tardy for school twice in the last eight weeks and these black marks against me will hurt my grades. My mom says if I know I have no one to depend on but myself, I'll hear the alarm. So far she's been wrong.

This is causing fights between my mother and me. I've been reading your column for as long as I can remember and will go along with whatever you suggest.--Always Late in N.J.

DEAR N.J.: Shop around and find an alarm clock with a loud, shrill bell instead of the newfangled ones that buzz. Put the clock in a metal dishpan or tin bucket. This amplifies the ringing and makes such a racket it could wake the dead.

Also, try getting to sleep at least an hour earlier than usual. In spite of your protestations, I suspect one of the reasons you don't hear the alarm clock is because you're not getting enough zzzzzzz and are too tired to greet the morn.

An alcohol problem? How can you help yourself or someone you love? "Alcoholism: How to Recognize It, How to Deal With It, How to Conquer It" will give you the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Alcohol, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Garden beautiful club discusses Bible plants

Garden Beautiful Garden Club met recently in the home of Bessie Story and heard a program over plants of the Bible.

Guest, Nancy Hayes, gave the review on the book "Plants of the Bible," by Louise Untermeyer.

She stated the flowers referred to in the Bible were the rose and lily. Fruits and trees were apples, grapes, dates, figs, oak, cyprus and almond.

President Jerry Jackson gave the opening prayer entitled "A Prayer for January." Garden tips were given by Ruby Carmichael.

A report was given out the Christmas coffee. It was reported that a $100 gift was given to Girls Town USA. A thank you note was sent to the group from Girls Town.

The vice president thanked the social, cheer and telephone committees.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Story and co-hostess Louise Axe to Vada Axe, Doris Bryant, Ruby Carmichael, Marguerite Cole, Dottie Darden, Audine Dettman, Jerry Jackson, Dorothy Noland, Helen Spinks, Inez Witherspoon, Winnie Wiseman and guest Hayes.

The next meeting will be Feb. 7 at Inez Witherspoon's home.

Hints From Heloise

Q. Could you give me some tips on buying and storing onions? I waste so much money by having to throw away the rotten ones. -- A. Thompson, Fresno, Calif.

A. When selecting onions, look for dry ones that are hard and well-shaped. Don't buy any with moisture at the neck, or with a soft or sprouted bulb.

For green onions, look for bunches that are tender and crisp with stems that are white about three inches from the roots.

The best way I have found to store loose onions is in clean, "old" pantyhose. Cut a leg off the pantyhose and drop one onion in. Then tie a knot just above it and drop another in, tie a knot and continue these steps until the pantyhose leg is full, leaving enough hose at the top to form a loop for hanging.

One thing to remember: Don't store onions and potatoes together. The moisture from potatoes will cause the onions to start sprouting sooner and spoil.

Store onions unrefrigerated in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place. They should keep well under ideal conditions for several weeks. -- Heloise

Also performing were Jana Baird, Cheri Euler, Melissa and Stephen Cloud, Regina Gollighugh, Kelly Kelso, Amanda Sims, Julie and Janae Schlabs, Karon Harder, Beverly and Karon Harder played a duet. Guests were served refreshments.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The daughter of "Candid Camera" creator Allen Funt is among the celebrity offspring who appear in the new syndicated version of the TV show helping catch Americans in the act of being themselves.

Julia Funt, Jennifer Convy, daughter of the late Bert Convy, and Lewis Arquette, son of the late Cliff Arquette, are among the actors who play out roles in front of hidden cameras to catch people in awkward circumstances.

And Rac Clark, son of producer Dick Clark, is the field producer-director who tells Miss Convy, Arquette and Miss Funt what to do.

Dom DeLuise is host of the program. Allen Funt, host of the original "Candid Camera," is an adviser to the series.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

| TIMES | RATE | MIN |
|-----------------|------|-------|
| 1 day per word | 15 | 3.00 |
| 2 days per word | 28 | 5.25 |
| 3 days per word | 37 | 7.40 |
| 4 days per word | 48 | 9.60 |
| 5 days per word | 59 | 11.80 |

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

PLAY THE HOMELAND ANNIVERSARY COKE CAP GAME
$100 IN GROCERIES FREE!
LOOK FOR THE RED CAPS
INSTANTLY
NO PURCHASE NECESSARY. No purchase is necessary to play, however, a purchase is necessary to redeem the $25 off and $50 off prices. Free game pieces are available by sending a 3x5 card with your name and address to: Homeland Anniversary Caps, 1121 Hampton Lane, Suite 120, Richardson, TX 75080. You will be randomized $25 to cover the cost of your stamp. Free game pieces requests must be received by February 28, 1992. One request per person per day will be honored. Each mailed request must be hand written and sent only in a separate stamped envelope.
Game scheduled to end May 31, 1992 or when all game pieces have been distributed.
