Events planned on weekend for Cinco de Mayo

Food and fun will be featured at the annual Cinco de Mayo celebration Saturday at the softball park just east of Veterans Park in Hereford.

The celebration, open to the public from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., will highlight the annual celebration. Cinco de Mayo actually commemorates the official independence day of Mexico from Spanish rule. It is the same as the Fourth of July in the United States.

The theme for this year's celebration is "Let Go." Joe Soliz Jr., director of the Hereford Public Service Association, said the theme calls for all persons to "let go of the past."

"The celebration should signify the beginning of a new thinking process for everyone," said Soliz. "Many of us often segregate ourselves by lack of participation and involvement in all levels of community."

"We need to be people, not Hispanics, Anglo, Black or anything. We will not move forward if we continue to carry a cross. I am proud of my heritage and feel gifted for the two languages and cultures."

"I hope we can all use our gifts as tools to educate and teach respect to our next generation."

Hereford Public Service Association will announce its Citizen of the Year at 3 p.m. Saturday at the site, which is near the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post. Steve Cortez was the 1991 Citizen of the Year.

At 2 p.m., the Cinco De Mayo Queen will be named. The contest is among students in the Texas Migrant Council program. The queen will be crowned by County Commissioner Lupe Chavez. Contestants are:

--Adriana Carrillo, granddaughter of Lionel and Susana Gonzales.

--Jacklyn Gonzales, daughter of Tammy Gonzales.

--Stephanie Hernandez, daughter of Policarpio and Margarita Hernandez.

--Becky Jo Ozuna, daughter of Joe and Rebecca Ozuna.

Throughout the afternoon, events will include exhibitions by the Hereford Boxing Club and Rip Hawk's wrestling students, a dunking booth featuring the "Coors Girls," and live music with several local bands. Scheduled to perform are Briza Marina, Animacion, Correa Band, Supergrupo Universo and Los Arcos Hermanos Pena.

Various foods and beverages will be available at the celebration.

The weekend will include a 3-2 slow-pitch softball tournament Saturday and Sunday.

City election highlights vote

Contests for two places on the Hereford City Commission and one seat on the Hereford school board will be decided in elections Saturday.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Community Center for City of Hereford, Deaf Smith Hospital District and Hereford Independent School District elections.

If the early voter count is an indication of the turnout for Saturday, none of the three elections will attract large crowds.

Voters will choose two at-large Hereford city commissioners from a field of five, including incumbents, Emory Brownlow and Roger Eades, Robert Griego, Raul Valdez and Carey Black. Two other incumbents, Irene Cantu, Place 2, and Wayne Winget, Place 4, are unopposed.

A single race is on HISD's ballot for voters eligible to cast ballots in District 5. A re-match of 1991 run-off candidates, Steve Wright and Joe Flood, is on the ballot. Wright won the unexpired term. Mike Veazey is unopposed for the District 4 seat. He also was elected in 1991 to an unexpired term.

With four seats open on the hospital district board, four candidates are on the ballot. Seeking the board seats are incumbents Boyd M. Foster and John Perrin. Newcomers are Paul Abalos and Merle Clark who are running for the places being vacated by Dr. Stan Fry and Craig Smith. Fry and Smith declined to seek re-election.

Only residents holding 1992 registration certificates may vote in the Saturday elections.

Early voting attracted approximately 228 voters in the hospital district election, 220 in the city and 167 in the school district.

Three injured in accident

Three persons were hurt in a one-car accident Thursday three miles northeast of Hereford on Progressive Road. The car, driven by Jose Garcia, 31, of Hereford, rolled over one time before coming to rest along the west side of the road. The three persons in the car were treated at Deaf Smith General Hospital and released.

Ready, aim, fire

Employees of Holly Sugar in Hereford launch a catapult during a total quality management training session on Thursday at the Elks Lodge. The fun exercise was one of many methods used to help teach employees. All full-time employees will go through the training by the end of May. It is part of Holly's new commitment to top quality.

Chamber reviews raffle

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors heard committee progress reports, postponed appointment of a new director, heard reports on several projects and plans for upcoming events during a monthly board meeting Thursday evening.

Charles Greenawalt, C of C president, reported that the chamber netted about $17,000 from its first raffle project, which climaxed with the drawings for prizes at the Fun Breakfast last week. A total of 698 tickets were sold. The breakfast, sponsored by XIT Cellular, drew more than 250 people.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, reported that a July 4th Celebration is being planned again this year with Wes Klett serving as chairman of the project. Committee plans will be announced in the near future.

Carr also announced that Hereford will be a pit stop site for the Great American Race on June 30. Cars in the race, all a minimum of 50 years old, will stop at the Hereford Buick-Pontiac dealership. Ken Rogers is chairman of the local committee, and anyone wishing to help with the project can call him.

Greenawalt reported that the board postponed the appointment of a director to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of James McDowell. It was decided that further consideration was needed.

Mauri Montgomery, liaison director for the retail trade committee, reported that group was working on a Cinco de Mayo promotion and making plans for other special sales events during the year. Earl Brookhart and Janie Thomason are co-chairmen.

Rita Bell, Women's Division, reported the recent Little Miss Pageant was a great success, and plans are now underway for the Miss Hereford Pageant on June 6. Ten contestants will vie for the crown. The women's division is also involved in a membership drive, with the one signing up the most new members being honored as "Queen for a Day." The fine arts committee reported that Marguerite Newell is Artist of the Month for May.

Wes Fisher, liaison director for the legislative affairs committee, reported for chairman David Hernandez. The committee plans to hold some seminars this year. They have been studying trucking deregulation, product liability and workers' insurance compensation.

Directors present for the meeting were Greenawalt, Lewis McDaniel, Bill Lyles, Wes Fisher, Mauri Montgomery, Diane Hoelscher, Rita Bell, Waldo Baxter, and Elaine McNutt. Absent were Pat Robbins, Donna West, Ken McLain and John Sherrod. City Manager Chester Nolen was a guest.

Bush ordering Army to quash LA rioters

LOS ANGELES (AP) - National Guard troops and police moved today to try to take back neighborhoods lost to looters, brick throwers and arsonists in the worst urban rioting in the United States since the 1960s.

President Bush put 4,000 Army troops on standby and dispatched 1,000 federal law enforcement officers to Los Angeles. He will address the nation at 8 p.m. today.

A thick pall of smoke hung over the city this morning and fires continued to burn out of control in some areas. But authorities said a dusk-to-dawn curfew had partially succeeded in curtailing the rioting.

Police said at least 27 people died, 1,235 were injured, and more than 3,000 were arrested since rioting erupted following Wednesday's acquittal of four white policemen in the videotaped beating of black motorist Rodney King.

The mayor's office estimated damage at at least $200 million.

Bush called a morning meeting of civilian and military advisers to discuss the rioting. He then ordered law enforcement officials - including SWAT teams and riot police from the Border Patrol, the Bureau of Prisons and the U.S. Marshal's Service - to report to the riot-torn city.

"The U.S. Army will move approximately 4,000 troops from Fort Ord, Calif., to a staging area in Los Angeles where they can be utilized quickly and effectively if necessary," presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater added.

On Thursday, the unrest spread from predominantly black South Central Los Angeles to more affluent areas, adjoining communities and other cities.

More than 1,400 people were arrested in the San Francisco Bay area, and a state of emergency was declared in San Francisco - the first since the 1906 earthquake - when protesters began looting stores. Protesters rampaged through downtown Seattle early this morning. In Las Vegas, a police officer was shot during a protest.

By early today, with 4,000 National Guard troops fanning out to trouble spots in Los Angeles, there were indications that the worst of the rioting was being quelled.

Still, soldiers were nowhere to be seen at daybreak in Koreatown, an ethnic enclave just west of downtown that was the scene of some of the worst rioting Thursday. Several dozen exhausted firefighters, most wearing bulletproof vests, congregated at a 24-hour hamburger stand.

A few blocks away, smoke curled upward from gutted businesses.

Firefighters said the number of fires had declined overnight. But in addition to the fires still burning in Los Angeles, crews battled dozens of new fires in Long Beach early today.

Altogether, Los Angeles officials reported nearly 1,300 fires since Wednesday.

Gov. Pete Wilson said that he would request an additional 2,000 of the state's Guard troops. "We are determined that this city is not going to suffer (this) kind of terrorism," he said.

Fangman asks for removal of record

A Hereford High School student, Colby Fangman, has asked court action to remove the record of his arrest by a city policeman on April 10.

In a related move, the young man's attorney has advised the City of Hereford of possible legal action. An executive session item to discuss the letter from Jerry Smith is on the city commission's agenda for Monday night's meeting.

A petition for expunction of the record of the April 10 incident has been filed in 222nd District Court. A hearing before Judge David Wesley Gulley is set for 9:30 a.m. on June 17.

Fangman asks removal of any record of the arrest that may be in files of the criminal district attorney of Deaf Smith County, the city police department, Deaf Smith sheriff's department, Texas Department of Public Safety, Federal Bureau of Investigation and Hereford Independent School District.

The HHS senior was arrested in the school parking lot by an off-duty city policeman, Tim Travis, who had intervened in a water fight among students. HISD employs off-duty officers for lunchtime patrol on the school campus.

The officer allegedly searched Fangman's pickup without permission. He found a martial arts instrument, nunchucks, which the student said he didn't know was in his vehicle. Fangman was handcuffed and taken to Deaf Smith County jail by another city policeman.

In the petition, Fangman claims that he was arrested for the misdemeanor offense of carrying a prohibited weapon, but the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department recorded a felony offense.

Further, the petition states that no indictment or information charging Fangman has been presented and no charges are pending.

A complaint about the incident was filed by Fangman with the Hereford police department and he and his parents appeared at the April 20 meeting of the city commission.

An internal investigation was conducted and a report sent to City Manager Chester Nolen. Ordinarily, a conference between the complainant and the officer would be called but because of the lawsuit possibility, that step has not been taken, said Nolen.

Travis has remained on duty with the police department.

Coming Sunday: Handmade saddles are beautiful work

Probation is revoked on two men

Probation on two convictions of Ernest Lee Chance for felony driving while intoxicated was revoked in 222nd District Court Thursday.

Judge David Wesley Gulley assessed Chance two five-year concurrent terms in Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division.

Probation of Ralph Rios, convicted in October 1991 of burglary, was extended a year, to Oct. 9, 2000, during the District Court session in Hereford.

Another defendant, Jose Valentine Davila, entered a guilty plea to a charge of felony DWI and was sentenced to five years probation and fined $1,500.

Life!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "Kay" and I have been married for 40 years. We are semi-retired and have five grown children who are on their own. We are comfortable financially, active in the community, and by all outward appearances, happily married.

My problem is that there is no closeness in our relationship—meaning, no sex. We went for counseling about this four years ago. Kay admitted that the problem was hers and after several sessions things were better. Now, however, we are back to Square One.

We have had no intimate relations for the last 18 months. All my attempts to get close to Kay came to naught. Our religious beliefs do not permit sex outside of marriage, and I am becoming extremely frustrated. Although I've been tempted to have an affair and suffer the consequences,

I've decided not to go that route. I'm afraid I couldn't handle the guilt.

My last attempt to get back to a normal relationship was a coupon book for "One little hug," "One big hug," "One little kiss," "One big kiss," "One evening meal at a place of your choice," "One meal I would cook at home," "One romantic night in front of the fireplace," "One car wash," "One day trip to the place of your choice," and a few others. I gave her this coupon book as a Christmas gift along with several other gifts. I thought it was a unique idea. To date, she hasn't mentioned it.

I don't know what else to do, Ann, and I'm very unhappy with the situation as it stands. Any suggestions?—Married But Lonesome in Wisconsin

DEAR M. But L.: You sound like the kind of man a lot of women would kill for. Too bad you're running on empty at home.

Tell Kay you are frustrated and unhappy with the way things are and that you want to go back for more joint counseling. If she refuses, perhaps you should consider a trial separation. Drastic? Yes, but it sounds as if the marriage needs a serious jolt and this might do it. Good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to address a problem that many of us in the hotel industry are struggling with. Since your column has tremendous exposure I hope you will print this as a public service.

This is a first-rate hotel. For the second time in less than two weeks, a report has come across my desk concerning a hotel employe who was stuck by a hypodermic needle that had been disposed of in a wastebasket by a guest. When questioning these employes, I was struck by the fear that showed on their faces—not knowing where the needles came from or what they had been used for. The first thing that comes to mind, of course, is AIDS. Are they at risk or not? That's what they want to know.

Please, Ann, ask your readers with diabetes to watch what they do with their insulin needles, which is where both of these came from. While at home it might be OK to throw them in a wastebasket, but when traveling, please show some consideration for others by covering the point before tossing needles away. Thanks, Ann—Rick Jones, director of security, Southland Center Hotel, Dallas.

DEAR RICK: Here it is—a message that will be appreciated by a great many readers. I'm glad you wrote.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been teaching at a Philadelphia high school for nearly five years. When I read the letter from the mother who moved to Canada because of the danger to her children in American public schools, I decided to tell you how it is in OUR city. I will sign this letter with my name and address, but please keep my identity confidential for obvious reasons.

At least half of the students here arrive late. It is such a common occurrence that nothing is said. There is a constant level of noise throughout the building. It is more like a lunatic asylum than a place of learning. As I fight my way to the classroom, I try to avoid being knocked down by someone who is running, fighting, looking to start trouble or just being obnoxious. In the halls, you hear every four-letter word imaginable.

OK, I've made it to my room and most of the students are seated. Ding ding brrrr brrrr! There goes the fire alarm. Nobody budges because they know some goofy kid has set it off. That alarm goes off at least five times a day, just for fun. I have often wondered what would happen if there was a REAL fire in our school. I'm afraid everyone would get cremated because nobody pays any attention to the alarm.

When things settle down, I announce an assignment and the lights go off. No, it's not a power failure. Some kid is playing with the fuse box.

Teachers who drive to school never know what condition their cars will be in at the end of the day. The kids steal tires, hood ornaments, radios, stereos, anything they take a shine to. Teachers carry no more than a couple of dollars in their wallets because there is no safe place to hide them.

At least 50 percent of the students in this place carry a weapon. Usually it's intended for the street, not for teachers or fellow students, but there have been several assaults on faculty and students since I've been here. Three weeks ago, two students were nearly beaten to death for their sneakers.

When I read recently that two students were shot in a New York high school an hour before the mayor was scheduled to arrive, I knew the same thing could have happened at our school. And now I read that an 8-year-old Chicago child was shot in a classroom. Where is all this going to end?

There is an awful lot of lawlessness here because kids don't care about suspension, detention or grades. Teachers only meet half of the parents and it's always the wrong half. A lot of the kids come from single-parent homes, and that parent is often working two jobs and can never come to school. I see drug dealers hanging around the school all the time. If I see them, why can't the police?

Our schools need help and they need it now. Teachers can't do it alone. We already risk life and limb by coming in to teach every day. It's high time the board of education woke up to the situation. I don't know how much longer I can last.—Burned Out in Philly

DEAR BURNED OUT: While your letter may be a shocker to some, I can tell you that it could have come from any number of other places. Does anyone in that city of Brotherly Love—or anywhere across the country—want to tell me what is being done to rectify what sounds like a miserable situation?

Gem of the Day: Americans consume about 16,000 tons of aspirin annually. That statistic alone is enough to give you a headache.

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs, you need Ann Landers' booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

American Legion members attend meeting in Dimmitt

Ten Hereford residents recently attended the American Legion zone meeting held in the Dimmitt Post Home #445. The 35 Legionaries and guests were served a Mexican stack supper.

Commander Salvatore DiCuffa of Dimmitt called the meeting to order and introduced Jack Flynt. The program consisted of two video films on Boys State and securing the flag at the memorial service.

Boys State is an opportunity for high school young men to attend a week-long study in government on the community, state and national levels. Boys State began in 1935 and is held in all 50 states plus the District of Columbia. Texans Boys State is planned June 6-12 in Austin at the University of Texas. The chairman is Jack W. Flynt II, a former Boys State honoree.

Zone Commander Buck McCone of Tulia asked for various reports. The District Commander J.P. Sims of Friona presented an appreciation certificate to Bill Sava of Dimmitt for his Americanism presentations to area clubs and communities. Sava stated that his two daughters had attended Girls State and his son attended Boys State before entering the Air Force Academy. Sava thanked the American Legion and auxiliary for sponsoring these worthwhile projects for youth.

Division Convention will be held May 15-17 in Brownfield.

Grant Hanna announced that Jimmy Jesko has had open heart surgery and should be home next week. A card was signed by everyone.

The 18th District Zone II is the only zone still in existence in Texas.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: With four children I was always seeing the dishwasher filling up with dirty drinking glasses. I found a way to remedy this problem.

I took ordinary wooden clothespins and painted each one a different color. All family members chose their favorite color and now when they are through with a glass, they rinse it out, set it on the counter and clip the color-coded clothespin to it.

No more mixups as to where their glass is. Our glasses then get loaded one a day into the dishwasher. —Joyce Yount, Hot Springs, Ark.

MECHANIC'S GREASE

Dear Heloise: I am a woman mechanic with shoulder-length hair. It is very difficult sometimes to keep grease and oil out of my hair while working on a car.

One day I got transmission fluid in my hair and could not get it out with shampoo. So I tried a petroleum-based pre-wash spray and it worked. I might add that my hair is neither permed or colored. That may make a difference to hair that is treated in some way. —Vicky McGuire, Fort Worth, Texas

Next time, instead of using a prewash spray containing chemicals, use a light vegetable cooking oil. Rub in, let set awhile to work, then shampoo as usual.

It may take several latherings, but this should do the trick. —Heloise

POT HOLDERS

Dear Heloise: Just a note to let you know that old mattress covers (the quilted kind) make great pot holders. One rainy day I decided to recycle not only the mattress pads but I also put my scrap box of material to good use. I also took old pot holders and re-covered them and had a real good time on a cold and rainy day. —Merri Schoppe, Houston, Texas

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Kearns receives awards

Caroline F. Kearns, a senior at Methodist College in Fayetteville, NC, received several awards at the college's annual awards ceremony April 22. She is the daughter of Marvin and LaVerne Kearns of Hereford, Texas.

Kearns received the Fayetteville observer-times Publisher's Award for outstanding contributions to collegiate journalism as editor of Small Talk, the campus newspaper.

She also received Alpha Psi Omega awards for best writing, best directing, and best production of an original play which she wrote. Entitled "Painkiller," her one-act drama was judged in all three categories in a student playwriting competition held April 9.

Kearns was also recognized as Outstanding Female Technician by the Theater Department.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Please explain TIAs. I heard that 50 percent of people who had one have them again. I also heard that they may be followed by a stroke.

Twenty years ago I had a confused spell for five minutes. At the time I was told I had a TIA. Six months ago, I had an eye disturbance with partial sight lasting about five minutes. My blood pressure was 225/110. I was told that I had a TIA. My blood pressure now is 140/78.

I had a Doppler scan which was normal. I am 70 years old. I take a calcium channel blocker and an aspirin daily. I read that aspirin isn't as effective for females, also that aspirin makes you more susceptible to strokes. It is all rather confusing.

DEAR READER: A TIA (transitory ischemic attack) means an area of the brain had a transitory period of inadequate blood flow (ischemia). The reasons are not always evident. When it happens, it can cause transitory symptoms of a stroke, which does include mental changes such as confusion or transitory changes in vision, or even more striking symptoms such as temporary paralysis or problems with speech. The distinction between such an attack and a stroke is the short duration with no evidence of residual brain damage.

It is sometimes difficult to separate such an attack from some severe migraine headaches that are preceded by spasm of an artery in the brain.

I have explained TIAs in my new Special Report 202, Strokes: Prevention and Recovery, and am sending you a free copy. Others who want this special report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/202, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. It is essential for all individuals who have a TIA to be evaluated by a neurologist. The figure is that 40 percent of individuals who have a TIA and are untreated will have a stroke within five years. Clearly, prevention becomes important.

Since elevated blood pressure greatly increases a person's risk of a stroke, it is essential that your blood pressure be controlled. It can rise acutely during an attack or at the onset of a stroke.

Aspirin is believed to be more effective in men, but it is also useful in women. It may increase the risk of hemorrhagic stroke, but it decreases the risk of the much more common stroke caused by clot or occlusion of an artery.

DEAR DR. LAMB: It has been my belief that energy is not present in any specified form until work is being performed, that the only way to create energy is to apply force to mass.

I do understand proper levels of vitamins and minerals must be maintained as fuel for the body. To say that energy is released from the food is unfamiliar to me.

DEAR READER: Energy is best defined as the power to cause or perform work. You do not create it. A fundamental law of nature is "energy can neither be created nor destroyed." In our solar system, energy comes from the sun. You can't see it because it is radiation. The energy is used by plants to form chemical compounds out of the basic elements. That is how plants grow. And the solar energy is trapped in the compounds that form the plant. The plant is eaten and the chemical processes in the body break down the compounds, to release the energy. That energy in your body is used for physical work or the many bodily processes that require chemical energy. Energy can be transformed into physical energy, electrical energy or other forms of energy or stored by forming fat.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have been sleepwalking since childhood; I am a 34-year-old woman. I can recall being outdoors at night while sleep-walking at about age 9. I don't often sleepwalk to that extent anymore, but I do talk, yell and become physical while sleeping. I'll punch anything around, including my husband. I seem to act like this at least 75 percent of the time and do tend to wake up tired.

Eliminating caffeine, alcohol and tobacco has not helped. But if I take a sleeping medicine, which contains alcohol, it is worse — just the opposite of what you'd think.

Any suggestions for me? Exercise helps, but certainly not always. My poor husband never knows what to think when he gets yelled at or socked in the middle of the night. We've taken to sleeping separately a lot.

My father was notorious for his nightmares. I can remember him tearing a fingernail off after it caught on a bedpost one night.

DEAR READER: Strange things do happen in sleep. Sleepwalking occurs in 15 to 30 percent of children at least once, and about 3 percent have frequent episodes. It is rare in adults. In that case, it is often associated with medications or some medical problem.

Your present bizarre sleep reactions could be either night terrors or REM behavior disorder. More would need to be known about what actually happens. Night terrors and sleepwalking occur during deep sleep, stage 4. Night terrors may be associated with movements. The REM behavior disorders occur during the REM (rapid eye movement) phase of sleep which occur just before awakening.

I have discussed bizarre sleep reactions in Special Issue 36-12, A Good Night's Sleep. I'm sending you a free copy for more details. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/36-12, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. It will also explain the different phases of sleep for you.

MIAMI (AP) - Jose Canseco's wife doesn't want to press charges of aggravated battery against the Oakland A's slugger for allegedly ramming her BMW with his Porsche, her lawyer says.

"She doesn't believe anything intentionally happened. Nobody was harmed," Luis Delgado, an attorney for Esther Canseco, said Monday.

But John Hogan, chief assistant state attorney, said the prosecution hasn't decided whether to drop the case.

"It's not uncommon for victims of domestic violence to ask that we don't prosecute, but we don't necessarily follow that," he said.

Sonics complete upset of Golden State

By The Associated Press
Only three NBA teams won more regular-season games than Golden State. However, the Warriors won only one in the postseason and made a quick exit from the playoffs.
Ricky Pierce scored 27 points and Gary Payton sank three free throws in the last 40 seconds as the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Warriors 119-116 on Thursday night to win their first-round series 3-1.
"Ricky really had a big game," Seattle coach George Karl said. "Ricky was our first, second and third options."
The SuperSonics will play the winner of the Utah-Los Angeles Clippers series in the second round.

Utah leads the Clippers 2-1, with Game 4 scheduled in riot-torn Los Angeles on Saturday.
Cleveland also advanced to the second round on Thursday night, ending a 16-year first-round playoff drought with a 98-89 victory over New Jersey. The Cavaliers won the series 3-1.
Reserve forward John Williams scored 10 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter and the Cavs held the Nets to 29 percent shooting in the final three periods to win their first postseason series since 1976.
Cleveland will play Boston next, starting Saturday at Richfield Coliseum. The Celtics have been resting since Monday night, when they completed a sweep of Indiana.

The playoffs continue tonight, with New York playing at Detroit and Portland scheduled to visit the Los Angeles Lakers. A decision on whether to play the Trail Blazers-Lakers game won't be made until today. It will depend on the situation in Los Angeles, where riots broke out Wednesday following the acquittal of four white policemen in the beating of black motorist Rodney King.
The Knicks and Trail Blazers lead their series 2-1.
Brad Daugherty had 19 points and 14 rebounds for Cleveland despite playing with an air cast on his sprained right ankle.

The Cavaliers took their first lead, 76-75, on a layup by Williams with 8:16 left in the game. After the Nets regained the lead at 79-78, Cleveland went up for good with six consecutive points, including two jumpers by Larry Nance.
"We stressed not to be over-anxious," Cleveland coach Lenny Wilkens said. "We felt if we could be within 10 at the half, we could make a run. This win shows we have the mental toughness to hang in there and come back."
Chris Morris and Derrick Coleman each scored 22 points for the Nets, who made only three of 20 shots in the fourth period when Cleveland wiped out a 73-67 deficit.

The Nets, in the playoffs for the first time since 1986, continued to bicker among themselves in their season finale. Morris and teammate Drazen Petrovic exchanged harsh words in the fourth quarter.
"We have a couple of guys living on different avenues," said coach Bill Fitch, who is not expected to return next season. "They just have to learn to get along with each other."
Golden State played the final 5:45 against Seattle without All-Star forward Chris Mullin, who had to leave the game with a bad back. Mullin had only 11 points on 4-for-12 shooting.
Tim Hardaway led the Warriors with 27 points, but missed 21 of 29 shots from the field and seven of 15 free throws.

Reserve Eddie Johnson added 26 points for Seattle, which took the lead for good, 114-113, on a layup by Pierce with 39.2 seconds left.
The Warriors pulled within one on a 3-pointer by Sarunus Marciulionis with 4.6 seconds remaining. But Hardaway then fouled Pierce, who made both free throws for a 119-116 lead lead with 2.8 seconds left. Hardaway missed a desperation 3-point shot just in front of the half-court line as the game ended.
Shawn Kemp had 21 points and 20 rebounds for the Sonics, who outrebounded the Warriors 60-41.

Spurs glad season behind them

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The San Antonio Spurs finally can put to rest a fitful season marked by injuries, a coaching change, and squabbles over contracts, roster moves and airplanes.
"It was interesting," said forward Terry Cummings. "This season was a great character builder for us."
The wild year ended for the Spurs Wednesday night as the Phoenix Suns swept a first-round, best-of-5 playoff series from injury-riddled San Antonio with a 101-92 victory in Game 3.
San Antonio played without three usual starters: center David Robinson, guard Willie Anderson and point guard Rod Strickland. Robinson was recovering from thumb ligament surgery, Anderson was recovering from leg surgery and Strickland fractured a finger in the second game of the series.
Their battered condition seemed to typify their troubled season.
Strickland began the season as a holdout. He finally agreed to contract terms in December, but not until after the Spurs heard from angry fans about the release of popular guard Avery Johnson and about rumors that Anderson was being traded.

Also in December, Spurs players - led by Robinson - assailed Spurs management about travel to out-of-town games. Players complained that commercial flights led to long layovers because there are few direct flights from San Antonio to other NBA cities.
The players wanted charter flights, saying that most other NBA teams have them and that the Spurs were at a competitive disadvantage.
Spurs owner Red McCombs gave in and leased a Boeing 737 modified to accommodate 52 first-class-sized seats.
But the biggest distraction came in January when former coach Larry Brown and owner Red McCombs squared off. After varying accounts of what transpired, McCombs announced Jan. 21 Brown was leaving, marking the first time Brown had been fired in his 20 years of coaching basketball.
Bob Bass, Spurs vice president of basketball operations and a former coach, stepped in for the rest of the season.
The team's outlook began to brighten, and the Spurs continued to make a run for the Midwest Division title, which San Antonio had won the previous two years.

But inconsistency, then the injuries, made a repeat impossible.
Just before the season ended Wednesday, Bass reflected on the sorry predicament the team was in because of injuries.
"What is the worst frustration that you can ever have, that you can think of? That's what it is," he said.
Cummings, finishing his tenth year in the league, said he was proud, though, of the way his teammates dealt with adversity.
"We've been playing with a lot of different lineups. We weren't 100 percent, but that wasn't ever a complaint of ours. We played hard every game," he said.
McCombs had said he would not name a new coach until after the season, but just days before the playoffs he selected former UNLV coach Jerry Tarkanian to take the job starting this summer.
Tarkanian, entering the NBA for the first time, says he won't alter his coaching style. But other changes, such as hiring a new coaching staff, already are in the works.
"Hopefully we can put everything together here and have some great seasons. The Spurs have the potential to be an outstanding team," Tarkanian said upon his hiring.

The players, showing more emotion than usual during their playoff bid, seemed ready to look ahead, if only to leave this season behind.
Forward Sean Elliott said by the time Strickland was injured in Sunday's game, the Spurs were quite accustomed to losing key players.
"We're just kind of numb to it," he said.
Forward Antoine Carr, who started during the playoffs in place of the injured Robinson, kept his spirits up but couldn't help but shake his head at the entire season.
"I had one that was kind of crazy in Sacramento, but nothing that compares to this," he said.

HJH golfers compete Thursday

Junior high golfers from Hereford, Valleyview and Canyon gathered at Pitman Municipal Golf Course for a nine-hole match.
No team scores were kept. Sabino Grijalva of Hereford led all boys with a 39. Other Hereford boys were Justin Griffith, 49; Pete Vargas, 50; Todd Dudley, 51; Colt Perrin, 51; Julian Mungia, 52; Cory Schumacher, 54; Dustin Hill, 54; Jared Warrick, 56; Ryan Noland, 58; David Farr, 58; Chris Garth, 60; and Curt Sherrod, 64.

The Hereford girls were Katie Bone, 62; Krista Beville, 64; Jami Bell, 65; Sara Maclasky, 67; and Stephanie Bixler, 70.

Dragway hosts Race vs. Drugs

Amarillo Dragway will host a High School Race Against Drugs Sunday. All high school students with valid driver licenses are invited to compete for trophies. The event is jointly sponsored by Randall County Sheriff's Department, the Canyon Police Department, M.A.D.D., Life Care of Amarillo, D.A.R.E., Crime Stoppers, Organized Crime Unit and Teen Challenge.
Racers who are younger than 18 must have a 1992 minor release form on file at the Dragway before they can compete. The forms are available at two locations in Amarillo: C&B Printing at 2400 W. Seventh and the Texaco station at I-40 and Grand.
Amarillo Dragway is seven miles south of Amarillo between Washington and Osage off the Claude Highway. The day also will include the Dragway's regular fare: points racing, all trophy classes, King of the Panhandle and Run What Ya Brung.
Gates open at 11 a.m. The entry fee for adults is $10, to race or to watch. Kids 12 and under get in free. Teen and senior girls with identification get in free, and teen and senior boys pay half price with identification.

Arazi draws outside

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Now there's another reason to call Arazi a superhorse if he wins the Kentucky Derby on Saturday.
Arazi drew the 18th post position in a 19-horse field in Thursday's entries, and only one horse - longshot Gato Del Sol in 1982 - has ever won from that spot.
"I prefer 18 to one or two," trainer Francois Boutin said.

The French-based Arazi stamped himself a potential wonderhorse last Nov. 2 when he went from eighth to first in the final turn and won the Breeders' Cup Juvenile here at Churchill Downs. That lone race earned him 2-year-old of the year honors in North America.

Fernandez takes turn shutting down Astros

NEW YORK (AP) - It hardly seemed fair, not that Sid Fernandez, Jeff Innis or anyone else on the New York Mets was complaining.

Up until one pitch to Rafael Ramirez, Fernandez had worked one of the best games of his career: 7 2-3 innings, two hits, 12 strikeouts and no walks.

But because Ramirez hit a fastball out of the park for a tying, two-run homer, Fernandez was taken out. And because Innis relieved and struck out pinch hitter Eric Yelding, he wound up with credit for the victory in the Mets' 4-3 decision over the Houston Astros.

"I think Sid deserved the win, but I'll take it," Innis said. "I pitch to one batter and get the victory. Maybe that makes up for last year, when I pitched 84 innings and didn't get any."

Elsewhere, San Francisco beat St. Louis 9-3 and Montreal defeated San Diego 9-3. The Philadelphia at Los Angeles game was postponed because of violence in the city following Wednesday's acquittal of four white policemen in the videotaped beating of black motorist Rodney King.

Innis (3-1) got the win when Eddie Murray singled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning. John Franco pitched the ninth for his fourth save, giving the Mets their eighth straight victory at Shea Stadium and handing Houston its fifth consecutive loss.

For seven innings, it was all Fernandez. After seeing David Cone and Bret Saberhagen shut out Houston on a total of five hits in the first two games of the series, Fernandez started out even more impressively.

Fernandez fanned eight of the first nine batters, striking out the side in the second and third innings on just 24 pitches.

"You can't strike out everybody," said Fernandez, who nearly did that for awhile.

Through seven innings, only one batter reached for the Astros. That was Pete Incaviglia, who doubled to start the fifth and later scored on Casey Candaele's sacrifice fly, stopping the Mets' streak of pitching 36 straight scoreless innings at Shea Stadium.

Fernandez fanned Chris Jones to begin the eighth, but Candaele singled. After a fly out, Ramirez, batting only .192 at game time, hit his first home run since last June 28.

"That pitch wasn't out over the plate," Fernandez said. "It was inside, where I wanted it."

But after throwing ball one to Yelding, Mets manager Jeff Torborg went to the mound.

"He had a decision to make. I really wasn't tired," Fernandez said.

Still, Torborg signaled for Innis. "I was ready, but I didn't think he'd take out Sid," Innis said.

"He was pitching a great game, and Yelding isn't a guy who's going to hit a home run."

Innis quickly struck out Yelding, and watched as the Mets scored the go-ahead run.

Dave Magadan, who keyed the Mets' other two scoring innings, led off with a single against Doug Jones (1-1). Bobby Bonilla followed with a hard grounder that was headed for center field, but the ball hit second base umpire Dutch Rennert in front of the bag and became an automatic single, moving pinch runner Rodney McCray to second.

Murray then grounded a single to right field, and McCray scored easily. The victory gave the Mets their first sweep of at least three games against the Astros at Shea Stadium since June 1975.

Magadan's two-run single with the bases loaded put the Mets ahead against Mark Portugal in the third inning, and he doubled and scored on Bonilla's single in the sixth for a 3-1 lead.

Expos 9, Padres 3
Larry Walker and Darrin Fletcher hit two-run homers in the sixth to support the eight-hit pitching of Ken Hill and Jeff Fassero at Jack Murphy Stadium.

Hill (2-2) allowed three runs and six hits in seven innings, struck out six and walked two. His ERA rose to 1.42, still best in the National League.

Andy Benes (2-2) gave up seven runs and 10 hits in six innings.

Giants 9, Cardinals 3
Kevin Bass hit a two-run homer and John Burkett allowed six hits in eight innings at Candlestick Park as San Francisco won for the third time in four games.

Burkett (2-1) allowed all three runs - one unearned - struck out five and walked two. He also contributed an RBI double.

Jose DeLeon (1-2) gave up five runs and four hits in four innings, struck out three and walked four. The loss stopped the Cardinals' three-game winning streak.

Seitzer atones for blowing squeeze

By The Associated Press

Kevin Seitzer paid for not paying attention. Then he made the Toronto Blue Jays pay.

The Milwaukee Brewers third baseman looked right past a squeeze bunt sign with the bases loaded in the eighth inning Thursday night. The Brewers and Blue Jays were tied at the time.

"I didn't even realize it," he said. "I saw the sign and I didn't even know it meant anything until now. I found out the hard way."

He found out when Greg Vaughn was caught off third base and tagged out. That just compounded the struggles for Seitzer, who came to the plate mired in an 0-for-21 slump.

"It made me bear down a lot," Seitzer said. "I didn't have another choice. If ever in my life I wanted a base hit, it was right there."

Seitzer singled to right field, driving in the go-ahead run in a 3-2 victory.

In other games, it was Oakland 10, Detroit 6; Chicago 12, Texas 1; and California 8, Cleveland 5.

Brewers 3, Blue Jays 2

At Milwaukee, the Brewers got the decisive run on a double steal, with Franklin Stubbs stealing home. That gave them a club record seven steals for the game.

Candy Maldonado hit a two-out single with the bases loaded to score Joe Carter in the ninth. When Dave Winfield tried to score from second, B.J. Surhoff grabbed Darryl Hamilton's skidding throw and tagged out Winfield, ending the game.

Athletics 10, Tigers 6

At Detroit, where the Tigers are 1-9, Rickey Henderson and Mark McGwire each had two-run doubles in an eight-run seventh inning.

Alan Trammell booted what could have been an inning-ending double play grounder, and that led to the big inning. Mark Leiter walked in a run, another scored on a passed ball, and right fielder Rob Deer stumbled twice on fly balls that dropped for two-run doubles. The A's sent 13 batters to the plate, got five hits, five walks and an error.

Vince Horsman (1-0), who retired the only batter he faced, picked up his first major league win. Dennis Eckersley got the final out to record his eighth save in eight tries.

White Sox 12, Rangers 1

At Chicago, Nolan Ryan had nothing and the White Sox feasted on it. Ryan, returning from a stint on the disabled list with a strained left calf and an inflamed right Achilles tendon, allowed seven runs on five hits and five walks in 2 1-3 innings with three strikeouts. It was the first start since opening day for the 45-year-old Ryan, the oldest player in the game.

"Obviously the problem was my control," Ryan said. "I was wild in the strike zone and out of the strike zone. I never got in a groove to throw strikes. I was getting behind the hitters and not getting my breaking ball over. My change was inconsistent."

The Sox were consistent in their routing of Ryan. George Bell had five hits for the third time in his career - two singles, a pair of doubles and a home run. Craig Grebeck drove in a career-high six runs with a single, a bases-loaded double and a two-run homer.

Jack McDowell became the major league's first five-game winner with a three-hitter.

Angels 8, Indians 5

At Cleveland, Junior Felix drove in a career-high six runs and had four hits. Hubie Brooks also homered.

Felix hit his third home run in the third inning, then broke a 3-3 tie with a two-run single in the fifth. Brooks followed with his fourth home run.

Cleveland's Mark Whiten singled in each of his first three at-bats, giving him seven consecutive hits before he struck out in the eighth.

After interviewing the winners from more than 50 fishing tournaments, I have learned several important secrets that might help you catch more fish.

Never ask a successful fisherman, "Where did you catch the fish?" He really doesn't want to reveal the exact location of his honey holes. Better questions are "How deep were you fishing?" What kind of structure is holding active fish? "When were the fish most active?" Most anglers are so relieved that you are not trying to discover their holes that they will discuss in detail what, where and when the fish were biting.

Be a good listener. A good silent head-nod will encourage your source to keep talking. Finally, asking about his favorite line size will invariably lead to a detailed description of how to work his favorite lure.

If you know the depth of structure that holds active fish and learn how to work a proven fish-catching lure, then catching more fish is just a matter of time.

According to Dr. Loren Hill, Water Temperature is an important factor when deciding which gamefish you can expect to be actively feeding. 45-55 degrees: Walleye will move to the rip-rap one to five feet deep. Night fishing with a countdown Rapala can be excellent.

50-55 degrees: White bass (Sand bass) will roam up-stream looking for sandy creeks. A chrome RattleTrap or Little Georgia can load the boat.

55-68 degrees: Crappie will be found in brush on gravel banks 3 to 8 feet deep. Brush eats crappie jigs, but they are cheap. A jig-and-minnow can catch some of nature's best eating.

62-68 degrees: smallmouth bass are looking for calm water with large rocks in pea-gravel banks near creek channels with access to 20-foot-deep water. Jigs tipped with minnows can be slowly worked down the drop-offs.

62-75 degrees: Largemouth bass are looking for gravel spawning banks 1 1/2 to 4 feet deep. Spinnerbaits catch the active bass while lizards or gitzits work on the bigger fish. Try different line sizes. If you can see the bass, then use eight-pound or less.

75-78 degrees: channel catfish prowl the shoreline ledges searching for holes or submerged trees in 18-40 feet of water. Catfish will eat almost anything. Try chicken-liver, blood-bait, minnows or cutbait.

Warning—One of the attractions of fishing is its unpredictability. I have caught catfish in January and been skunked on bass during the middle of the spawn.

Spring Turkey Season ends Sunday, May 3, 1992.

TCU to hold hoop camp

Texas Christian University will hold boys' and girls' basketball camps this summer. Men's basketball coach Moe Iba and women's basketball coach Fran Garmon will conduct the camps.

The girls' camp will be June 15-19, and the boys' camp will have three sessions: July 5-9, July 12-16 and July 19-23.

For each session, there are three options: day camp, commuter camp and overnight camp. The overnight camps are $270 for both boys and girls. The girls' day camp is $100, the boys' day camp is $170 and the boys' commuter camp is $200.

Call the basketball office at (817) 921-7968 for an application to attend.

Benefit golf tourney set in Amarillo

The Amarillo Senior Citizens Association Benefit Golf Tournament will be held July 18 at Ross Rogers Golf Course. The tournament is a four-person Florida Scramble and is open to golfers of all ages. It is dedicated to the memory of the late W.W. "Windy" Nicklaus, an Amarillo educator, civic leader and ASCA supporter who began the event in 1985.

A wide variety of prizes will be awarded at the tournament. These include first, second and third prizes in each of three flights, hole-in-one prizes and dozens of other prizes.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE DIFFICULTIES OF TRAVEL

TRAVEL IN BIBLICAL TIMES WAS AT LEAST A CHALLENGE. THE ROADS, IF THEY COULD BE CALLED THAT, WERE NIGH IMPASSABLE IN PLACES. ADDED TO THE DANGER OF ROVING BANDS OF BRIGANDS, THE SCARCITY OF PALATABLE DRINKING WATER OR WELLS TO DRAW FROM, MADE MANY A WEARY INDIVIDUAL WISH HE HAD FORGONE THE DUBIOUS PLEASURE OF THE TRAVEL THAT BROADENS AND EDUCATES. CARAVANS, THAT SLOWLY TRUDGED AWAY THE TIRESOME MILES, WERE THE MAIN EXPEDIENT BY WHICH THE PEOPLE WERE ENABLED TO REACH THEIR DESTINATIONS. AS A POINT IN FACT, YOU CAN SEE THE TEDIOUS DIFFICULTIES WHEN YOU REALIZE THAT BEFORE NEHEMIAH, WHO WAS TRAVELING BY SPEEDY CHARIOT, COULD SEE THE RUINS OF JERUSALEM, WHICH HE WAS GOING TO REBUILD, FOUR MONTHS WENT BY FROM THE TIME OF HIS SETTING OUT UNTIL HIS ARRIVAL AT THE RUINED CITY!

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Rioters tearing up own neighborhood, set fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Impoverished South Central Los Angeles set fire to itself, then robbed its own.

In rioting that erupted after four white police officers were acquitted of brutalizing a black motorist, the thin line between the haves and have-nots in this predominately black area was obliterated by wholesale looting and burning of businesses.

"Why tear down something you own? We all have to make a living here. I just don't understand it," said Miles Taylor, 49, a black man who has lived in the neighborhood since 1965, the year 34 people died in the Watts riots.

The chaos following the Rodney King verdicts on Wednesday proved that 27 years have done little to erase this neighborhood's poverty and frustration. As in Watts, South Central residents responded to decades of racial tension by destroying their own neighborhood.

This time, though, the violence spread to white neighborhoods near Beverly Hills and to cities such as Long Beach.

Smoke billowed across blocks and intersections throughout South Central on Thursday. Highway Patrol officers, guns lifted and sirens wailing, escorted fire trucks to hundreds of blazes.

Families descended on stores, opened their car trunks and pitched in items ranging from a pair of purple pumps to a washing machine.

"A lot of it doesn't make sense," said Taylor, brushing ashes from his eyes and watching his friend's furniture store burn. "We've been through this before. They destroy their own community and then what do they do?"

The community was smaller on that hot August night in 1965. Watts and Compton are now just sections of the 7-by-15-mile area called South Central.

Blacks have since been joined by Korean and Hispanic immigrants. They don't always coexist peacefully; gang warfare is added to the mix.

the wall and cars careened into shopping center parking lots in a demolition derby of looting.

In a community heavily dependent on public transportation, people waited for buses that never came.

"The buses ain't running?" asked Willie Lloyd, 68, who had waited two hours. "I been standing here since 6:30 this morning."

Lloyd also lived through the Watts riots. "This is crazy. They had one in '65 and burned down Central Avenue."

At ABC Market, security guard Jeff Hattem stood watch, a gun handle peeking from the top of his pants pocket.

"Nobody messes with us," he said, surveying the looting next door at Payless Shoe Source. "We're loco. To be black and work in South Central, you have to command respect."

But by the afternoon, people wheeled in shopping carts and helped themselves to market merchandise, too. Outnumbered police officers and security guards leaned against a wall and watched.

Over at Vermont Avenue and 35th Place, 62-year-old Betty Young sat crying on a low brick wall and watched her local supermarket burn.

"This ain't going to help," she said. "All this burning. It's sad. The woman who runs the market, she's so sweet. She always cashed my disability check."

Lions reward Crimestoppers fund
Lloyd Ames, left, president of Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers, accepts a check for $100 from Hereford Lions Club President Tommie Weemes at a recent meeting. The money will be used to help pay rewards for tips that lead to arrests and indictments in Deaf Smith County.

Looter: 'Did I break door?'

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Toting a shopping bag stuffed with cartons of cigarettes, a looter rattled off the fruits of the day's pillage - a TV and camcorder for her kids, a microwave for herself.

"It's wrong. But if you see something there, you take it. If you saw a $1,000 bill lying there, you'd take it," said the woman, who identified herself as Tanya, a nurse's aide and mother of three. "Everybody else is getting it, so why can't I get it?"

She didn't consider it stealing. "Did I break that door?"

As she spoke Thursday, fire raged at a looted mini-mart down the street in South Central Los Angeles.

She smiled when talking about the spree at an appliance store, where men helped each other cart out big-screen TVs.

"I finally got my microwave. I had one on layaway. Now I can get the money back from it," she said. "No, I probably won't get my money back, because they'll be out of business."

She shrugged off how the destruction might hurt the neighborhood, saying blacks were already worn down by discrimination and a lack of jobs. The riots began after four white police officers were acquitted Wednesday of brutalizing black motorist Rodney King.

"We're always the ones who are going to suffer," she said, while a couple strolled past, pushing a shopping cart full of groceries and diapers.

A half hour earlier down the street, a crowd lurked around a shopping mall where about a dozen motorcycle police were posted. Then the police drove off, responding to a report of a crowd with semiautomatic weapons.

Within seconds, people stormed a music store. From out of nowhere, dozens of cars pulled in and people ran into the store, returning with armfuls of videos, cassette tapes, compact discs and storage trays.

"People are just tired," said one man waiting for friends to get what they wanted. "There are no jobs, no work. They have put up the right way. They played the game. It didn't work."
