After church on Sunday, most folks scraped snow before going home. The late-winter blizzard was accompanied by winds up to 60 miles per hour that allowed zero visibility at times.

Carter cops club honor

Mary Carter of the Ford Extension Homemakers Club was named Club Woman of the Year during the Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers Council appreciation luncheon Monday at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn.

Runner-up for the honor is Mariellen Homfeld of the Bippus E.H. Club.

Carter was presented an engraved silver platter and Homfeld was given a silk flower corsage by Linda Caudle, lifestyles editor at The Hereford Brand. The Brand sponsors the annual award to recognize club members of outstanding contributions to club and community activities.

Other nominees for Club Woman of the Year were Bertha Dettmann of the Cultural Club; Lottie Werthenberger, Dawn Club; Wanice Jones, Draper Club; Brenda Campbell, North Hereford Club; Martha Rickman, Westway Club; and Carol Odom, Wyche Club.

A 16 year extension club member, Carter is currently serving as president of her club. She has also held the offices of vice-president, secretary and council delegate. She is reporter for the county council and in the past served as corresponding secretary and recording secretary.

She has served on numerous committees in her club and in council, and actively supports her community, 4-H and other youth programs. She is past president of the Vega Garden Club, a member of the American Needlepointer's Guild, and does church work.

"This past year, I have grown through extension in my ability to organize a project, serve on a committee, delegate responsibility as a chairman and see a job through to its culmination. Extension has placed me among a group of women who have become my co-chairmen, my co-workers, but best of all, my friends," she stated.

Homfeld, who has been active in extension work for eight years, is the present secretary-treasurer of her club. In the past she has served as president, vice-president, reporter and council delegate. She is currently the recording secretary of council.

She has been active on a variety of committees in club and council, and has helped plan and lead programs. She has worked with children, both as a substitute teacher and in a volunteer capacity. She is involved in her church and in the women's organization there, and takes an active role in community activities. "The extension club is a real life saver for me," she noted. "It is a time for personal encouragement, learning and just a time to associate with other people. I have truly grown in knowledge this past year."

Johnnie Messer, vice-chairman of the county council, presided at the luncheon in the absence of Gayle Carter, chairman.

The invocation was given by Eldred Brown, and special guests, including the county judge and county commissioners, were introduced by Messer.

Mary Carter, E.H. Council education chairman, recognized the following members for 100 percent attendance this year: Kate Bradley, Flora Homfeld and Mariellen Homfeld of Bippus Club; Neil Pope, Jewel Rogers and Bertha Dettmann, Cultural Club; Anna Messer, Johnnie Messer, Sheri Blackwell and Wanice Jones, Draper Club.

Also, Maudette Smith and Emma Smith, Ford Club; Mary Bass, Elzora Brown and Keri Jack, Messenger Club; Evelyn Crofford and Martha Lueb, North Hereford Club; Nancy Nixon, Westway Club; and Carol Odom, Pet Ott and Clara Trowbridge, Wyche Club. Awards for three years perfect attendance in council were presented to Gayle Carter and Johnnie Messer. One year perfect attendance awards in council were given to Pet Ott, Carol Odom, Wanice Jones, Maudette Smith and Anna Messer.

Pins were also presented to Cindy Norvell, outgoing council chairman, and Anna Messer, outgoing Texas Extension Homemakers Association chairman.

Jo Anne Arasim, curator of textiles at the Panhandle Plains Museum in Canyon, was introduced by Johnnie Messer. She presented a program entitled "Historical Fashions," discussing the relationship between women's achievements through the years and the fashions which they have worn, as she displayed various articles of clothing from the museum collection.

She stated that the movement toward practical and functional clothing began when women started entering the work force.

Presentation of the Deaf Smith County agricultural service program was given by Louise Walker, county extension agent; Eldred Brown, county building committee chairman; and Susan Raney, assistant county extension agent, and 4-H coordinator. Johnnie Messer concluded the program with a poem.

Deaf Smith and Swisher Counties are among the nine final candidates being considered by the U.S. Department of Energy for housing the repository. Reducing the field to five choices, though slated for this year, has been delayed by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's examination of DOE guidelines used in the selection process. The NRC has said it will release its suggestions within the next month.

According to Dr. Julia Brody, special projects coordinator for the state agriculture department, the general consensus of Friday's meeting was current DOE guidelines do not go far enough in determining public opinions, though such determinations for future generations would admittedly be difficult.

The five experts, invited by the state office, included an agriculture economist from University of Michigan and a member of University of California at Berkeley's business faculty.

Big Daddy's victimized

Big Daddy's Restaurant and Motel on East Highway 60 was victimized to the tune of $360.10 recently, Hereford police reported this morning.

Monday, someone who had lived there since the middle of January left without paying bills of $215 for his room along with $111.10 for his food. He also allegedly lifted $34 worth of linen items from his room.

An 1982 Oldsmobile, worth about $8,000, was recovered Monday after having been taken from Deaf Smith County Bull Barn Saturday night during the Kent Hance rally. It was found at Dairy Queen, East Park Avenue, with only a spare tire and garage door opener missing and no damages, police said. Craig Smith, 304 Elm, is leasing the

Farmer's bid for wet-dry vote appears successful

By KIM THOGMARTIN

With more than 300 signatures left to verify, it looks as if Hereford farmer Art Reinauer may have been successful in his petition for a wet-dry election in Deaf Smith County.

County Clerk David Ruland said this morning that 1,325 of the signatures checked so far are valid, out of 1,670 collected by 5 p.m. Monday. Reinauer needed 1,571 to enable the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court to call for the election.

Reinauer is asking that sales of liquor at package stores be made legal in Justice of the Peace Precinct 1, which encompasses most of the county. That would allow him to legally operate a winery, a business he decided to establish after determining that grapes would grow well on his farm when watered with drip irrigation.

On Jan. 23, Reinauer attended a commission meeting to let the county fathers know of his plans to apply for permission to circulate the petition. On the following Friday he presented an application at the county clerk's office, thus beginning a 30-day drive to secure the needed signatures.

The 1,571 figure represents 35 percent of the registered voters casting ballots in the last gubernatorial election, a percentage required by Texas law before a county can hold a local option election. The issue was last voted on in 1956.

Opposition to the petition drive became apparent about halfway through Reinauer's campaign, with a committee that disapproves of the county going wet announcing its objections through local advertising.

The ads encouraged anyone having second thoughts about signing one of the petitions to have his name removed by obtaining an affidavit. Ruland said 15 persons chose to do so.

Discussion of the issue appeared as an agenda item at Monday's county commission meeting, but Ruland told commissioners he placed it there before realizing Reinauer would have until 5 p.m. that day to finish collecting signatures. It was first thought Friday would be the deadline.

If the required number of signatures is obtained, commissioners would consider calling for the election at their next regular meeting on March 12. The election would legally need to be held within 20 to 30 days of that date.

At Monday's meeting, Commissioner Bruce Coleman asked that his position on the matter be clarified. He said that although he did say at the Jan. 23 meeting that he "could not argue" with Reinauer's proposition, he later said it would be inappropriate for the court to take a stand as being in favor of the county voting on the wet-dry issue. He also said he did not now nor has he ever favored the county becoming wet.

Reinauer's application and petition sheets included the signatures of city and county elected officials, a physician, a dentist and a local minister.

Court allegedly considers suits

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Commissioners met in closed session Monday morning with Hereford attorneys Roland Saul, Jerry Smith and Don Davis along with A.W. (Bill) SoRelle from Amarillo.

Suits filed against the county claiming discrimination against Mexican-Americans in hiring practices and wage policies were reportedly discussed during the secret meeting.

Following that discussion, commissioners checked off a few routine items of business.

Behind closed doors

They then agreed to a request from Smith to again close the meeting to discuss the results of a telephone call Smith had made following the morning meeting. The second secret session lasted about 30 minutes.

The court next approved a resolution regarding funding of the Panhandle County Judges Chemical Abuse Service, approved a plan for a housing subdivision and agreed to advertise for bids for road maintainers and repair of the Deaf Smith County Library roof.

County maintenance supervisor Jack Nunley asked for permission to have courthouse furniture repaired by the Texas Department of Corrections. He also presented the court with a plan for purchasing fixtures for the new jail, a proposal he felt might save the county a lot of money.

Commissioners told Nunley to compile the necessary information and "use your own judgment" in the matter of furniture repair. Nunley is to talk with the jail architects about the purchase of fixtures and furniture.

The court also talked about the sale of typewriters, water and gas line permits and the recently published fire report.

In accordance with a new county personnel policy, department heads will be required to submit employee evaluations twice each year. The court approved one of several evaluation forms recommended by County Treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley.

Hance rallied Saturday

300-plus attend

By O.G. NIEMAN

Congressman Kent Hance basked in the glow from "hometown folks" and family here Saturday night in the Bull Barn, where more than 300 persons turned out to honor the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

They not only praised and honored the 19th Congressional District representative, but the Deaf Smith-Parmer committee handed over a check for $39,000 to help Hance in his campaign to succeed John Tower as the new senator from Texas.

While expressing his appreciation for the fund-raising event, Hance noted that "some folks expect special consideration for their support, but friends in this area ask only for good government and for me to call 'em as I see them."

"It sure feels good to sit here and listen to my friends brag about me," quipped Hance after Bill Clayton, former Texas House Speaker, Bill Sarpalus, state senator; and State Reps. Pete Laney and Bob Simpson made brief endorsement speeches.

"This rally tonight and the recent one in Dimmitt remind me of something LBJ once said about his neighbors," said Hance. "They know when you're sick, and they care when you die."

The day began with a $100-a-ticket reception at 5:30 p.m. in the Hereford State Bank community room, then moved to the Bull Barn for the Chili Supper Rally. More than 100 persons greeted the late-arriving Hance at the reception. Missed plane connections between here and

San Antonio caused Hance to be about 30 minutes late for the reception.

At the rally, Hance explained his decision to try for the Senate seat. He said many supporters wondered why he didn't keep the "safe" seat as U.S. representative, and he added that the decision to campaign for the Senate didn't come easy.

"Not many men have the opportunity to become a member of the Senate. The 100-member body is the most powerful decision-making groups in the world. I'm 41 years old; I've always trusted by instincts, and it seemed like this was the time to give it my best," explained Hance.

The congressman added that many friends keep pointing out that there are too many votes downstate for a West Texan to win. "I'll get my share of the votes downstate," stressed Hance. "Folks in the Panhandle and West Texas need to concentrate on a large voter turnout, because it can make a difference."

Hance, along with the other speakers, urged people to contact their relatives and friends in other areas of the state "and tell them how enthusiastic we are about sending Hance to the Senate!"

"I met a man in Orange who said he was going to vote for me, because a friend in Dimmitt had called him and sold him on Kent Hance," the congressman related. Hance said he had 334 coordinators working in almost every

The fruits of a Saturday evening fund-raiser for U.S. Senate hopeful Kent Hance are evidenced by this rather oversized check presentation. The amount is

NHS initiation slated

National Honor Society students at Hereford High School are to rehearse Wednesday morning for their formal initiation, scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the HHS auditorium.

Wednesday's practice is slated to start at 7 a.m., also in the auditorium. The Thursday initiation ceremonies are to be followed by a reception in the school's cafeteria.

One hundred eighteen students are to be members of the 1983-1984 NHS group, including 35 to be initiated this week.

Eades seeks re-election

R.W. "Bud" Eades has announced his intention to seek re-election this spring to Place 3 on the Hereford City Commission.

The other two-year position, Place 4, as yet has no candidates. Emory Brownlow now holds that spot.

Eades, the first to file for Place 3, operates Plains Insurance. He has been on the commission for five years, initially as a replacement for Dick Geries, who moved out of city limits halfway through his term.

The insurance agent said he hopes certain capital improvements are made locally, including work on storm sewers and streets. There also is a need for an adequate water supply to be assured, he claimed.

Earlier this month Eades was honored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce as "Citizen of the Year."

Family sues charter service

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A $11.5 million lawsuit has been filed by the family of a television station employee who died in the Nov. 26 crash of a twin-engine plane near Midland Regional Airport.

Ed Monette, 26, and five other KOSA-TV employees were returning from covering high school football games in Fort Worth and Wichita Falls on the chartered plane. Also killed were the pilot and a man who helped KOSA employees at the game.

Monette was an assistant engineer at the station. The lawsuit — filed last Wednesday in state district court on behalf of Monette's parents, wife and three children — alleged that Midland oilman Richard Gaddy, who owned the plane, and Texas Western Aviation, which chartered the flight, were negligent in entrusting the pilot, Keith Elkin, with the aircraft.

Trouble detected in advance

HOUSTON (AP) — A device which uses lasers to take pictures of internal organs may help detect heart disease a decade before a patient is in danger of suffering a heart attack, an official at the University of Texas Health Science Center says.

Equipment at the Positron Diagnostic and Research Center is capable of showing doctors early stages of artery blockage. Dr. Lance Gould, the center's director, said Monday.

"We hope to be able to detect heart disease five to 10 years ahead of time," Gould said in an interview. "All coronary disease can be reversed if we see it early enough. Most of the time, the ones we see now are advanced cases."

Bakery owner kills 17 women

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A "publicity shy" bakery owner has confessed to killing 17 women over 10 years, the worst mass murder in Alaska history, and the death count could go even higher, a prosecutor said.

Robert Hansen, 44, made the confession in "bits and pieces" over the past week before pleading guilty Monday to four murders along with theft and weapons violations, said Victor Krumm, a state district attorney in Anchorage.

Superior Court Judge Ralph Moody immediately sentenced Hansen to 461 years in prison and a life sentence, Krumm said. Alaska does not have a death penalty.

Hollings on strength of Notch

DIXVILLE NOTCH, N.H. (AP) — At the stroke of midnight, residents of the resort hamlet of Dixville Notch gave darkhorse Ernest Hollings a narrow lead over his Democratic opponents plus 5 write-ins on the Republican ballot in the nation's first presidential primary.

The Democrat vote was: Hollings 3, Walter Mohdale 2, Gary Hart 1, Reubin Askew 1. In the Republican primary, President Reagan received 15 votes while five more were cast as write-in ballots for Hollings.

A Hollings campaign worker who was at the Balsams resort hotel to observe the early-bird balloting said the outcome would help the South Carolina senator's chances later today.

Deficit decisions demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's governors say it is time to light a fire under President Reagan and Congress to get action on the federal deficit, even if that means massive new spending cuts and tax hikes.

But Reagan gave the governors little encouragement that changes might be made this election year when he met with them at the White House on Monday.

"He very clearly stated that 1984 is not the year to start a major campaign against the deficit. It has to wait until after the election," said Florida's Gov. Bob Graham, a Democrat, after meeting with Reagan. "That's a very serious mistake."

The governors pressed on, with a vote set at the closing session of the National Governors' Association conference today on a budget plan that would slash the deficit by $188 billion in 1989.

Hand grenades injure 21

JERUSALEM (AP) — Two hand grenades exploded in the entrance to a blue jeans boutique on Jerusalem's main shopping street today, injuring 21 people, police and hospital officials said.

Police spokesman Rafi Levy said two of four Soviet-made grenades placed in a box in front of Avi's Boutique on Jaffa Road exploded.

Levy said several people were detained for questioning. No arrests were announced and no group claimed responsibility.

The blast blew out the front window of the boutique, but merchandise inside the shop was intact. The owner, Avraham Hakkak, and two customers were not hurt.

Four Arabs and 17 Israeli Jews were injured by shrapnel or flying glass, according to hospital officials.

Soviets maintain hard stance

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko says the Soviet Union will not resume arms talks until the United States "shows a readiness" to dismantle its new nuclear missiles in Western Europe, according to an account today in Pravda.

After weeks of conflicting signals about the Soviet position on resuming the Geneva arms talks, Gromyko's speech Monday night in Minsk made clear the new Soviet leadership does not intend to ease the hard-line stand taken when talks broke off.

Gromyko spoke of Soviet readiness to "tackle the problem of nuclear arms in Europe."

But, according to the text published today in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda, Gromyko added that the Soviet stand has not changed on the issue that broke up the talks — NATO's insistence on deploying new U.S. missiles in Western Europe and the Kremlin's refusal to accept such deployments.

"The proposals of the Soviet Union on the reduction of rockets in Europe are well known and they fully retain their force," Pravda quoted Gromyko as saying.

Superpowers reported in disagreement

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Government troops battled rebel militia forces in Beirut and the neighboring mountains today, while the superpowers were reported at odds on how to deploy a U.N. peacekeeping force to curb the fighting.

In Jerusalem, a cluster of hand grenades exploded in a store on the main shopping street today and injured 22 people, according to police and hospital spokesmen. One Israeli police officer at the scene said several people were detained for questioning about the explosion.

Police in Beirut said six people were killed and 13 wounded in overnight fighting around the mountain top town of Souk el-Gharb and across the "green line" dividing the city's Christian and Moslem sectors. A boy and two adults died and 19 others were injured in mid-city clashes on Monday.

At the United Nations, the Security Council scheduled another round of talks today on forming a peacekeeping force for Lebanon. The United States declared its support late Monday for deployment of U.N. troops throughout Lebanon, but sources on the council said the Soviet Union wanted the forces restricted to Beirut.

The Security Council has been debating whether to send a U.N. force to promote a cease-fire and protect civilians now that most of the multinational force provided by France, Britain, Italy and the United States has withdrawn from Lebanon.

The resolution prepared by France, which still has about 1,250 troops in Lebanon would deploy the U.N. force in "the Beirut area" when the multinational force has left "the territory and waters under Lebanese sovereignty."

The blasts of shells echoed through both halves of Beirut during the night and gunfire kept thousands of inhabitants awake in residential areas close to the green line. The fighting pits the army and Christian militias against Syrian-backed Druse and Shiite Moslem rebels.

Warplanes swept over Beirut and the mountain ridge east of the capital on repeated runs today, but focal radio stations said they were unable to determine whether the craft were Israeli jets or American ones from the 6th Fleet squadron based off shore.

county in the state. "We're right on target with our campaign, and we are optimistic that we'll be in the runoff, if there is one."

Clayton, still addressed as Mr. Speaker by most people, recalled his long friendship with Hance and noted that he gave him his first political job. "I hear reports from all around the state, and his campaign is going great. His enthusiasm adds a supporter every time he meets them one-on-one. If he can talk to enough people, he'll win without a runoff."

Sen. Sarpalius said he had "looked up to Hance as a political figure to follow ever since I've known him." He urged everyone to get involved in working for Hance, and he also stressed the importance of telling friends in other parts of the state and nation," said Sarpalius.

He said Bob Krueger "has been looking for a job for about six years and hasn't found one yet. Senator (Lloyd) Doggett is a liberal and just opposite of most people in this area. The two are among Hance's opponents in the Demo primary."

Laney, from Hale Center, said he had known Hance since high school days and helped win election as president of the student body at Tech. "when I didn't think he had a chance," Laney added he didn't think Hance had a chance at winning election to the state senate, "but ever since then I have been a believer. He'll win this race without a runoff!"

Lynton Allred served as master of ceremonies for the rally. He was general chairman of the Parmer-Deaf Smith committee for Hance. Others at the head table with the speakers were Clint Formby, who introduced Hance, Leland Gustin, Parmer County chairman, and Carol Hance.

Mrs. Hance also spoke briefly, expressing appreciation to all who participated. "We know we can't do it without you, and we are so grateful for all that you've done." Her husband also paid tribute to Carol, noting that

Official warns

Iraqi plans destruction

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A high-ranking Iraqi official warned today that Iraqi forces would "destroy" all ships, whatever their nationality, approaching Iran's main oil export terminal at Kharg Island.

The warning by Information Minister Latif Nsayyef Jassem came one day after Iraq said its fighter planes attacked oil tankers anchored near the Persian Gulf island and announced a blockade of the sensitive area.

Iran today denied the attack claims, calling them "imaginary and without foundation." But one shipping agency source in Bahrain said "a number of vessels" — including a British tanker — had been hit.

Jassem, speaking at a news conference, said the Iraqi blockade was "serious and irreversible."

"Any ship of any nationality or of any company approaching Kharg will be destroyed," the minister said.

Shipping officials in the region say Japanese and Greek tankers have been loading at Kharg.

Earlier today, Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency quoted an unidentified "informed source" on Kharg, 130 miles southeast of Iraq's southern border, as saying, "There are no signs of a successful Iraqi air raid on oil tankers carrying Iranian crude."

"Witness to this fact is the completely normal movement of ships in the region and normal activity at Kharg island at present and during the past weeks," IRNA quoted the sources as adding.

The shipping agency source in Bahrain, who declined to be identified, said "a number of vessels were hit" by Iraq but reported that navigation in the area, including the strategic Strait of Hormuz at the south end of the gulf, was normal today.

In the 3½-year-old war, Iran and Iraq often issue conflicting claims about battle action. Most of the reports cannot be verified because Western reporters are rarely allowed into the war zone.

There was no immediate Iranian response to the report that a U.S. warship in the Persian Gulf area had fired machine guns to warn off an Iranian patrol plane that came too close to American warships.

Unidentified sources in Washington said the warnings were made Sunday — the first report of a U.S. warship opening fire in the area.

The latest Iranian offensive was launched last Wednesday in the southern sector of the battlefield near Basra, Iraq's port and second largest city. Iran said its forces have seized territory near the strategic Basra-Baghdad highway.

IRNA said today that Iranian troops scored fresh victories in "intensive fighting" Monday night, repulsing Iraqi counterattacks at two different places along the front.

IRNA said Iraqi forces, following their "crushing defeat" overnight, had started using chemical bombs "over a wide area, with the result the battlefield has become polluted."

Iraq said Monday that its attack on the oil tankers was in retaliation for the capture of Iraqi oil wells by Iran — the first official admission that Iranian forces had succeeded in punching across the border to register important gains. Iraq had been maintaining that all Iranian attempts to advance had been crushed with great loss of life.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Diane Kelly said the Iraqi attacks hadn't been officially confirmed, but, "We don't have any reason to doubt that the reports of attacks on Iranian tankers are true."

Iran has countered the Iraqi efforts to block its oil exports by threatening to close the strategic Strait of Hormuz, the gulf's only access to the open sea. An estimated 20 percent of the non-communist world's oil passes through the strait.

President Reagan has said he will not allow the strait to be closed.

The U.S. Navy has about 30 ships in the Indian Ocean and another five or so in the Persian Gulf area.

Meet Your Neighbor

BY LINDA CAUDLE
Lifestyles Editor
Although Richard and Mary Zinser moved here from Arkansas, it wasn't like coming into unfamiliar territory, since they had previously resided in Hereford for a number of years.

Richard, who currently farms and has cattle, was born in Washington and lived in both Arkansas and Texas while he was growing up. Mary was born and raised in California.

The couple moved to Hereford in 1963 and stayed here until 1979, when they moved to Conway, Ark. They came back here just before school started in August.

"We love the people here," said Mary. "My husband and I have both lived in several different places, and we do a lot of traveling, but I think it is good for the kids to get settled down and involved in school."

Their 13-year-old daughter, Dana, is a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High; son, Derek, age 9, is a fourth grader at St. Anthony's School; and daughter, Catherine, is 15 months old.

The family attends St. Anthony's Catholic Church and is involved in activities there. Mary is planning to help with the St. Anthony's carnival in the spring. She does not work outside her home, and hopes to get involved in some outside activities.

"I want to be available when someone needs me to help with something," she commented.

When the family lived here before, she taught swimming with the Red Cross program and did some volunteer work with the library.

She enjoys many outdoor activities, including tennis, walking, running, and swimming. Her family shares several of these interests.

Dana is on the La Plata tennis team, and Derek enjoys all kinds of sports. He plays football with the YMCA, and in Arkansas he played baseball and soccer. They both like to swim, and even little Catherine likes the water.

Mary and Dana also play the piano.

Clubs meet to complete joint service project

Members from Dawn and Wyche Extension Homemakers Clubs met with the Cultural Club last week in the fellowship hall of First Methodist Church to make tablecloths and bibs for Westgate Nursing Home.

This has been a project of the Cultural Club for a number of years. Bertha Detmann, club president, directed the work and presided over a short business meeting.

It was announced that the Family Living Committee will sponsor a seminar entitled "On The Road Again" at 9:30 a.m. March 6 in the Heritage Room of the library. Nell Pope, Jewell Hargrave and Wilma Goetsch will attend this training session.

A film on packing for travel will be shown and Jennifer Hicks, a local 4-H'er, will demonstrate packing for travel. Becky Saunders, clothing specialist, will give pointers on selecting a wardrobe for travel.

Hostess Vernis Parsons served refreshments.

4-H Around the County

BY BRAD MORRISON
County Extension Agent
Summer camping programs abound for Texas 4-H'ers this year.

The Texas 4-H Center on Lake Brownwood in central Texas offers unique camping experiences for 4-H'ers, 9 to 19.

For 9-11 and 12-14 year olds, a three-day camp is available. Dates for six camps run consecutively from June 24 to July 21. Each camp is designed to teach or improve youth skills in a variety of areas.

Daily sessions focus on shooting sports, canoeing and sailing, high adventure problem-solving, nature crafts and outdoor education. In addition, nightly camp activities feature parties, folk games, movies and other entertainment.

For the 14-19 age group, Special Interest Camp offers more of a challenge. It's a five-day camp for in-depth training in these areas: computers, shooting sports, swimming and diving, canoeing and sailing, foods and nutrition, or natural resources. This training is combined with the fun and excitement of camp life, and evenings provide "whole camp" activities.

Campers of all ages learn to adjust to a camp environment, share responsibilities and appreciate natural surroundings.

Experienced resource teachers and qualified collegiate counselors conduct classes. County Extension agents, adult leaders and collegiate counselors supervise campers at all times.

For applications or additional information, contact the County Extension office or the Texas 4-H Center, Route 1, Box 527, Brownwood, Tx. 76801.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

James Garfield, the 20th U.S. president, was both a canal bargeman and a professor of Greek and Latin before entering the White House.

The phrase "cosmic consciousness," which became popular in the 1960s, was first used by physician and author Richard M. Bucke in a paper read to the American Medico-Psychological Association in 1894.

Second and third team selections

Girl cagers honored in District 3-5A

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

Two Hereford girls varsity basketball team members were honored as District 3-5A coaches named them part of the All-District selections.

Senior Cathy Bartels was included to the district Second Team and junior Darla Alford to the Third Team.

Bartels, one of the top rebounders and scorers in HHS girls varsity history, averaged more than 14 points a game this past season and pulled down an average of nearly 10 rebounds.

"Cathy deserves some recognition, if we'd finished higher as a team in the district, she would have been a First-Team selection," girls varsity coach Larry Sowers said. The Whitefaces finished the season with a 11-11 record.

"I thought Cathy did well to get on the Second Team. She had some support for the First Team. I'm proud of her," the coach said.

Alford averaged almost 10 points per game, scoring mostly with medium to long-range jumpshots.

Bartels also received word that she has been invited to play in the National Women's Invitational Tournament All-Star game March 22 at the Amarillo Civic Center.

She will be competing on the north squad. Girls from the entire Panhandle from all divisions and districts will be competing.

"If she does well, it could very well mean a college scholarship for her. So it's an honor and an opportunity at the same time," Sowers explained.

Before Bartels can compete she needs a sponsor.

"Hopefully, some business or organization will help her out. This gives her a chance to be seen by college coaches in the area who have not seen her play during the season," Sowers said.

Sowers said the sponsorship fee helps cover the cost of the tournament. He estimated the fee to be in the area of $50, with the sponsor getting advertising space in the tournament program.

"Hopefully some business or organization will help her out. This gives her a chance to be seen by college coaches in the area"

Emerson pleased with recent girls track performance

Girls varsity track coach Martha Emerson said she was pleased the way her team competed in the Sweetwater Invitational Track Tournament Saturday.

The meet was the first of the season.

"No points were kept, but we scored 153 points which I think would have won the meet. We competed well against Sweetwater, Abilene High, Abilene Cooper, Snyder, San Angelo Lakeview, and Plainview," Emerson reported.

The girls took first in three events.

Bernice Thomas won the discus with a toss of 107-7. Selma Moreno took first in the 3,200-meter run with a time of 12:44, and the foursome of Liz Hays, Stacey Sanders, Judy Sanders, and Lisa Redmond won the 400-meter relay with a time of 53.2.

Devers, 33-4, in the shotput; and Yolanda Alaniz scored a time of 2:35 in the 800-meter dash.

Other results were; Francis Flores finished fourth in the 3,200-meter run, 13.32; Adelia Rodriguez fourth in the 400-meter run, 67.1; Donann Cummings fourth in the 100-meter hurdles, 17.2; and Stacey Sanders leaped 33-1 in the triple jump for fourth place.

The girls travel to San Angelo for the Concho Belle Relays Friday.

Individuals, businesses or organizations interested in sponsoring Miss Bartels should contact Sowers at 364-0617 or Athletic Director Jerry Taylor at 364-0616.

First Team All-District 3-5A selections were; Lori Bolk, senior, Amarillo High; Becky Boxwell, senior, AHS; Julie Embry, senior, Monterey High; Katrina Hardy, junior, Palo Duro High; and Marcia Mitchell, junior, Tascosa High.

Second Team; Veronica Thrash, senior, AHS; Angela Holland, junior, PD; Cathy Bartels, senior, HHS; Cyn Hemphill, senior, Plainview High; and Ramona Black, freshman, PLV.

Third Team; Darla Alford, junior, HHS; Albin Sydney, senior, Coronado; Yvonne Jackson, senior, PD; April Meers, senior, MHS; and Laura Supak, sophomore, MHS.

Most Valuable Player in the district was Vanessa Wells of Palo Duro, and Coach of the Year was Pearl Trimble, also from Palo Duro.

Moses deplures drug use

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Winning the battle against drug use in athletics is as important as winning races, says Edwin Moses, the winner of the Amateur Athletic Union's Sullivan Award for 1983.

Moses received the award, symbolic of amateur athletic success in the previous year, at the annual Sullivan Award Dinner held Monday at the Indiana Convention Center.

Asked about drug testing, the world champion hurdler said he thinks the world class athletes need to be tested.

"The main reason is because there are maybe 5-to-10 million amateur athletes in the country who are much younger than we are," said Moses, after becoming the 54th winner of the prestigious award which can only be won by an amateur one time.

"Young people are very perceptive," Moses said. "Sometimes we underestimate how much they can perceive and how much they pick up on... with all the publicity about drugs they hear, in some cases they're beginning to believe they can use it (drugs) and they're going to do them some good. I think it needs to be said that's not the way to do it."

Moses, 28, of Laguna Hills,

Calif., won the award after being a finalist two other years. The holder of the world record in his speciality, the 400-meter hurdles, he was honored after winning the world and U.S. championships last year while extending his streak of finals victories to 87.

Moses won a gold medal in the 1976 Olympics and sees a strong possibility of a United States sweep in his event next July in the Los Angeles Olympics.

The finalists included diver Greg Louganis, who was considered by the more than 2,400 participants in the nationwide voting for a fifth consecutive year. Figure skater Scott Hamilton and swimmer Mary T. Meagher were finalists for the fourth consecutive year.

Other finalists at the presentation included boxer Mark Breland, swimmer Rick Carey and golfer Jay Sigel. Skier Phil Mahre, a finalist for the third time in four years, did not attend the dinner. Women's skier Tamara McKinney and sprinter Evelyn Ashford were the other finalists who did not attend.

The AAU announced Monday a new policy that it would no longer reveal who finished second or third in the voting.

The award, first presented in 1930 to golfer Bobby Jones,

Information about your changing telephone service from Gary Stevens, Manager-Community Relations

"What's good about Southwestern Bell?"

While not addressed quite so bluntly, that was the main question we tried to answer in recent group sessions with our customers. These "focus group" meetings were held to give us a better idea of what people perceive to be strengths of our company.

We also asked for, and received, commentary on our weaknesses as seen by these customers.

Good service — particularly its dependability and reliability — was by far the main strength cited in these sessions.

Here are some of the comments made by our customers:

"We couldn't survive without the phone service. I have to have my telephone for communications. If you have an emergency or a fire, you need it. I could live without the service, but I wouldn't want to. It is a big part of everybody's life."

It's dependable

"I would stress the dependability. I would point out to consumers being able to rely on your telephone for just about anything; your business, your home life, your social life."

"I'd say they have good service. Their phones work, and you can depend on the calls. If you have any repair work, it gets done."

"I've called to ask questions about rates and bills, and the people I've spoken to have been very polite and willing to answer all my questions."

"The phone company is every day coming up with more efficient ways of doing things, or better ways."

"I think the strength of the telephone company is that they have been more economical as compared to other items in your household budget. They have not gone up proportionately as much. That has been a tremendous asset for the lower income people."

Rate increases in line

"In relationship to every other company's rate increases, they're in line. The regulated companies have more trouble than the unregulated companies because they have to go beg almost to get a nickel and unregulated companies don't."

"Compared to what other things cost today, I would say telephone service is a good value. It saves me money because I do a lot of comparison shopping through the phone book. I make the telephone work for me."

"You pay for contact with most of the world. You can use the phone to talk to anybody about anything, check on relatives, children, and you don't have to worry about it. It always works. What value would you put on that? A call to poison control when your child just drank a glass of bleach. What do you do? What's the value of that?"

"I like the bills because they come with a return envelope. It's one less address you have to write out and one less envelope you have to work up."

"I think the size of the company and the fact that it has been such a good company for people to work for has been a real asset here."

Divestiture confusion

Some customers did tell us they were still confused and uncertain about our separation from AT&T. Here are some of the comments about life after divestiture:

"I feel uneasy about it. I don't really understand what is actually happening and how it is going to affect me. I really can't say anything about it because I really don't know."

"We will be able to tell shortly how well Southwestern Bell Telephone will do on its own — whether in the coming years it is going to fall on its face or lay an egg. Or spread its wings and fly."

Well, the breakup has come and gone and I can assure you Southwestern Bell Telephone isn't laying any eggs. Our service in Texas has never been better. And we're going to work hard to keep it the best there is.

How about you? What do you think is good about Southwestern Bell Telephone? What faults do you find with us? I'd like to hear from you either way — just drop me a line at the address below.

HHS girl linksters capture 11th place

Hereford's girls varsity golf team placed 11th out of 12 teams in Thursday and Friday's Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament.

Despite the poor showing, girls coach Stacey Bixler remains optimistic.

"The girls are just getting started, they're on the right direction," Bixler said. "I think we'll see some improvement if the weather remains good. But I also think the girls are going to improve as they get more practice with competition."

the Whitefaces have had in recent years.

"Some years, there was only one (girl on the golf team). So I'm just glad to have a team," Bixler explained.

Leading scorer for Hereford was senior Julie Vick, who shot a 225 two-day total. Sophomore Whitney Drake was right behind as she scored a 226. Junior Laura Moore and senior Debra Schroeter followed with 248 and 254 respectively.

The team improved 61 strokes as they shot a 507 for the 18 holes Thursday, but scored 446 as a team Friday.

HHS begins its district season Friday when it travels to Lubbock.

Dupree reportedly signs

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Marcus Dupree reportedly has agreed to a five-year, $5-million contract with the New Orleans Breakers of the United States Football League and apparently could be signed this week if all the details are worked out.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune, the States-Item today reported terms of the contract which it said had been agreed to in principle.

The newspaper said the 19-year-old running back, who dropped out of Oklahoma and the University of Southern Mississippi, would get a $1.1-million signing bonus in a deal that could be worth more than $5 million over five years, with much of his salary in deferred payments stretching over 20 years.

Bock's Score

Center choice tough one

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

Shortly, college basketball's All America selectors will be faced with a tall problem. About 14 feet tall.

The question is how do you fit two dominant centers on the same five-man All Star team?

Do you prefer Georgetown's Patrick Ewing in the pivot, or Akeem "The Dream" Olajuwon of Houston?

This is sort of like picking between ice cream and layer cake for dessert. If you have a sweet tooth, you're not going to get terribly hurt — except in your waistline — either way.

If you're determined to pick just one, though, you won't get much help from the statistical comparisons. They simply do not do very much to separate these two talented giants.

Both are 7-foot juniors, a pair of imposing forces under the boards. Ewing is averaging 16.6 points and 10.3 rebounds per game. Olajuwon's numbers are 16.2 points and 13.9 rebounds per game. Ewing has 101 blocked shots, Olajuwon 158. Ewing is shooting 65.7 percent from the field to Olajuwon's 64.4. From the foul line, Ewing is 62.1 percent and Olajuwon 53.2.

OK, coach, what do you do with this dilemma?

"You can't put a postage stamp between them," said Al McGuire, the former Marquette coach who now broadcasts games for NBC-TV and calls giants like these two aircraft carriers.

"Olajuwon might have a greater area for improvement. Patrick has played longer. He is more domesticated. Olajuwon still has a lot of foreign aspects about his game."

"Right now, there's no French pastry at all (to him). He's strictly paint to paint, straight up and down, get the ball and hammer. Patrick will go outside and pop occasionally."

"I like Ewing's temperament. He's more spirited. That's an asset, not a liability. There's a little intensity, but it's softer in Olajuwon."

Then you would pick Ewing, Al?

"You're talking good and better," he said.

Frank McGuire, the Hall of Fame coach who is director of Madison Square Garden's college basketball program, had a novel solution.

"I'd pick Sam Perkins," he said.

Foul! Nobody said you could opt for the big guy from North Carolina.

"Hey he's got a 43 1/2-inch reach. You can shake hands with him from across the room," McGuire said.

C'mon, coach, Ewing or Olajuwon.

"Right now, Ewing has more finesse," he said. "But Akeem is coming so fast. The way he was blocking shots Sunday against Arkansas. And Ewing, what was he, 10-for-10 from the field against Boston College the other day?"

"I'd like to have both of them playing for me. You could do that. There's an awful lot of double post being played in college basketball these days."

Al McGuire doesn't think that's plausible.

"There's not enough room for both of them," he said. "When they widen the court — and I think that will be the only major rule change we'll see for some time — maybe. But not until then. There would be too much leaning."

Still, the game's evolution has created new strategies and alignments and teams with the appropriate personnel often use two big men underneath, even on the narrow court.

If you could have Ewing and Olajuwon as your double pivot, would it make sense to insist on one or the other?

Why settle for the Empire State Building when you can have the twin towers of the World Trade Center?

And what do you do with Perkins then?

Well, he wouldn't look bad working out of the corner, would he?

Houston moves to second in AP poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Houston, runner-up to North Carolina State in last year's NCAA championship tournament, moved into second place today in the weekly Associated Press college basketball poll.

Houston, 25-3, replaced Georgetown in the No. 2 spot after the Hoyas were upset by St. John's last week prior to beating Boston College in a brawl-marred game.

Georgetown, 24-3, dropped to No. 4 in the rankings behind Kentucky which advanced one notch to the third spot. The voting was completed before the Wildcats were upset Monday night by Tennessee.

North Carolina again was a unanimous choice as the No. 1 team. The 24-1 Tar Heels, who rolled over Clemson 82-71 last week, received all 62 first-place votes for 1,240 points by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The voting is based on 20 points for each first place vote, 19 for second, etc.

Houston, which inched up from third place, last week rallied to defeat Arkansas 64-61 for a record 38 consecutive regular-season Southwest Conference games. Kentucky edged Georgia 66-64 last week.

DePaul, now 21-2, collected 1,015 points to remain the fifth-ranked team.

The lone casualty of the poll was Auburn, formerly ranked No. 19. The Tigers were replaced by Maryland, which had fallen out the previous week.

Cotton prevents infection

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You were 100 percent right when you said pantyhose do not cause yeast infections in women. And now may I share some information that might be of value to your readers? I was subject to frequent vaginal infections that disappeared when I began to wear pantyhose with a cotton crotch. I learned this from a hosiery clerk. Never a word from my family physician or gynecologist who had examined me and prescribed medication. I've told this to several women. Most of them already knew it. I hope you will share the information with your readers. There must be other readers out there who were as uninformed as I. -- Anonymous in Eureka, Calif. DEAR CALIF: Thanks for the comment. Many who wrote said they stopped getting infections when they started to wear cotton briefs under their jeans and tight-fitting stretch pants. The next writer provided a welcome relief from the male chauvinists I've been hearing from lately. DEAR ANN LANDERS: When you printed that letter about yeast infections and pantyhose, why did you advise your male readers to "skip this letter and go directly to the sports page"? Since when is a woman's problem not a man's? If my wife has a yeast infection, it's my problem, too. Had I skipped that letter and your response, as you suggested, I would have missed an opportunity to learn something. Please don't sell us men short, Ann. We are better than that. -- Mike in Long Island. DEAR MIKE: Thanks for telling me off. I needed that. DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why do I read so many letters in your column from people in their mid-20's who are scared to death if they don't marry young, they'll be single forever? Is this an American sickness? Europeans aren't like that. Recently a 27-year-old man wrote to you, terrified that he would never find a decent woman because "all the good ones are gone when they get to be my age." Such tommyrot! Perhaps this accounts for the high percentage of divorces. Women feel they MUST marry in order to prove they can. Too often the men they pick (as the last resort) are disasters. I waited until I was 31 to marry because I wanted to do something with my life first. My husband is a gem and we have two lovely children. On my last birthday he gave me the mushiest card you ever saw. On the bottom he wrote, "And I mean every word of it." Am I sorry I didn't marry sooner? Don't make me laugh. -- Riverside Reader. DEAR RIV: All the studies I have seen show that women who wait until after 25 to marry have the best chance of success. Today, because so many females want careers, they are postponing marriage. This can be a healthy thing. I recommend it. Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism - Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611. Another nice thing about your newspaper: You don't have to wait till the commercial's over to get on with the story.

Woman stands by story under cross examination

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — A young mother spent six grueling hours on the witness stand, admitting she lied to welfare workers, denying she plans to sell her story, and calmly standing by her testimony that she was raped and jeered by strange men in a strange bar. The 22-year-old woman remained calm Monday despite intense cross-examination by three different defense attorneys, displaying the same composure she showed when she first took the stand Friday. Six men are charged with aggravated rape in the case, in which the woman alleges she had gone into Big Dan's tavern in nearby New Bedford last March 6 to buy a pack of cigarettes and was repeatedly raped on a pool table while onlookers cheered. Daniel Silvia and Joseph Vieira, both 27, are being tried in an afternoon trial. Victor Raposo, John Cordeiro, Virgilio Medeiros and Jose Medeiros (no relation), all 24, are being tried in a separate morning session. The trials were split to avoid the use of possibly incriminating statements by some defendants against co-defendants in the same trial. The woman, a mother of two, has testified that two men actually committed the alleged rapes. Defense attorney Kenneth Sullivan pointed out Monday that she originally told police she stopped counting after being raped by six men. "Total abstinence is easier than perfect moderation."

Miss Lyles honored Saturday morning

Lisa Lyles, bride-elect of Andrew Bardach, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday morning at the E.B. Black House. The couple will be married March 17 in First United Methodist Church of Hereford and plan to reside in Dallas.

Guests were greeted at the door by hostess, Mrs. Bobby Boyd, and presented to Mrs. William E. Lyles, mother of the honoree, and Miss Lyles.

Becky McAlaine of Amarillo invited guests to sign the registry book at a table decorated with a large shell filled with pink rosebuds and tiger lilies and a picture of Miss Lyles and the prospective bridegroom.

Leona Miller, hostess, served guests hot punch, coffee, fresh fruit and a variety of miniature pastries.

The serving table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with a large silver candelabrum which held a grape ivy plant accented with shades of pink azaleas and white candles wrapped with pink ribbon. Pink satin bows were featured on the arrangement. Shades of pink napkins were used and the table was appointed with silver and crystal serving pieces.

The honoree and her mother were presented with pink carnation corsages and the hostess' gifts included the table decoration and a solid brass fireplace accessory set.

Serving as hostesses were Mmes. O.G. Nieman, W.E. Sparks, Gene King, Wilbur Gibson, Armon Lauderback, Bill Walden, Charles Hoover, Ray Simpson, Charles Duvall, Frank Ford, Charles Bell, Paul Scott, Homer Rudd, Dean Herring, J.J. Durham, Boyd, Jim Mercer, Philip Shook, Wallace Kirby, Gary McQuigg and Buster Miller.

Congressman Kent Hance speaks during conference

"Effectiveness is the key to selecting a U.S. Senator," believes Kent Hance, and he thinks that factor will carry him to victory against his opponents in the May Democratic primary.

Congressman Hance held a short press conference here Saturday while attending a reception and rally in his honor. If he's in a runoff, Hance at first thought it would be State Sen. Lloyd Doggett, now he's not sure.

"I heard this week that Bob Krueger has borrowed $1 million for his campaign. But he tries to be a conservative in Amarillo and a liberal in San Antonio, and I think voters are catching on. If Doggett can get the money, he may make the runoff election," said Hance.

The Reagan administration has flip-flopped on the agricultural issue, said Hance. "The '85 bill is tearing up all the good that the PIK program did last year. We hope to get some changes made in the farm program. The secretary of agriculture has too much authority in some matters, and the State Department is making too many ag decisions."

Hance said he believes in growth as the best cure for the economy, and he supports a strong defense for America to maintain peace. "We need tax reductions for economic growth; a flexible monetary policy; lower interest rates, and a flat tax for equity and a sound budget."

He added that Congress must make the difficult decisions to cut federal spending. "To achieve this goal, I have proposed a balanced budget amendment to the constitution." The plan would require agreement by three-fifths of the House and Senate before the government could borrow a dime.

Hance said his effectiveness has been proven while serving in Congress. "Krueger served four years and never passed a bill; Doggett has yet to serve in the Congress."

Hance said his campaign was "right on target." The congressman added that he is receiving broad support across the state, and that "334 coordinators are working for us in almost all Texas counties."

Arid rangeland destroyed by fires

By SUSANA HAYWARD
Associated Press Writer

Thousands of acres of arid Texas rangeland lay blackened today from windswept grass fires that firefighters and residents called the worst in recent memory.

Between 5,000 and 10,000 acres of grass was ablaze from U.S. 183 to Farm to Market Road 2441 in Goliad County, about 15 miles south of Goliad, before firefighters brought it under control Monday afternoon after more than 27 hours, authorities said.

About 175 miles to the northwest, some 4,000 acres of land in a mostly rural region were burned in two separate blazes that engulfed the "entire north end of Blanco County," said Justice of the Peace Diane Barry of Johnson City.

In Travis County, adjacent to Blanco County, 800 acres of brush ignited as the Southeast Travis County Fire Department held a training exercise in the area about 3 p.m. Sunday.

Fire Chief Tony Beran said several firefighters suffered minor injuries in the blaze, whose cause remained unknown.

In Bexar County, 2,500 acres south of San Antonio were destroyed and about 30 structures, mostly homes, barns and sheds, were burned when winds of 50 mph "or better" whipped the region, said sheriff's Sgt. Ray Gerlach.

Bexar County sheriff's Lt. Robert Blunt said it took 12 hours to put out the flames out because the wind was "just killing us."

There were no immediate estimates of damage to the area, but Blunt said "everything in front of it (the fire) is gone."

Fire departments from Goliad, Refugio, Rockport, Beeville, Pettus, Skidmore and other towns battled through the night Sunday and into late afternoon Monday to control the fire south of Goliad.

"It's the worst grass fire I've ever seen," Goliad Fire Chief Mike Berger said late Monday.

"The wind was what was causing the big problem. With 50 mph gusts, it was really causing us trouble. That prairie grass was 18 to 36 inches high, and it was burning just like if you poured gasoline out of a can on it and made a trail. That's how fast it was burning. You could see it coming," Berger said.

Ranchers apparently succeeded in getting their cattle to safety, but a trailer house, a barn and two camp houses were destroyed in the fire, Berger said. No injuries were reported.

The fires in Blanco County also were the worst in memory, some residents said.

New drive begun for amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Although it faces a tough fight on Capitol Hill, a proposed constitutional amendment to permit prayer in public schools may have the best shot at winning congressional passage of any of the so-called New Right social issues long embraced by President Reagan.

That appears to be the consensus of prayer amendment backers, and some opponents as well, as the Senate prepares to take up the measure and House sponsors plan an all-night talkathon to dramatize their support for it.

To date, none of the social legislation advocated by Reagan and congressional conservatives in their 1980 campaigns has won congressional approval. Those issues include school prayer and anti-abortion amendments and prohibitions against school busing.

Now, with the 1984 campaigns well under way, conservatives are joining forces and focusing their energies on winning last-ditch approval of the prayer amendment.

The Senate is expected to begin debate on school prayer later this week. Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., a 1988 presidential hopeful, is personally leading the charge — although the proposal faces a determined liberal filibuster.

"He's trying to set the agenda for social issues. And on this one, there's more support than on the other issues," said Tom Griscom, a Baker aide. He said some national surveys have showed that as many as 85 percent of the American public supports a return of voluntary prayer to schools.

Debate could tie the Republican-run Senate up for weeks, but Baker has expressed optimism that he'll be able to eventually muster the vote necessary votes to choke a filibuster threatened by Senate liberals.

The amendment requires two-thirds votes in both chambers before it could be offered to states for ratification.

Reagan has made the prayer amendment a top legislative priority, telling Americans in a radio address last weekend that the prohibition on prayer in schools is "intolerance against genuine religious freedom."

Networks say

They'll wait to project winners

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — State politicians in New Hampshire say the television networks' controversial policy of projecting winners, and perhaps influencing the political process, does not appear to be a problem in today's primary.

The three commercial networks, two of which projected the results of the Iowa caucuses last week before participants officially began registering their preferences, say they will wait for the vast majority of polls to close before forecasting the outcome in the New Hampshire Democratic presidential primary.

Rep. Timothy E. Wirth, D-Colo., chairman of the House communications subcommittee, was so upset that CBS and NBC used "entry polls" to make early projections in Iowa that he held a hearing Monday in Washington to question network officials about the practice.

"The networks are once again engaged in telling the voters what they have done before they have done it," Wirth said, reiterating the issue that first surfaced in 1980, when the networks unofficially declared Ronald Reagan the winner over Jimmy Carter before the polls on the West Coast had closed.

With New Hampshire polls closing between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. depending on location, state Republican chairwoman Donna Sytek said: "I don't know that (projections) have been a problem here in the past. I'm not really concerned about it."

"I don't think it's an issue here," said Bob Ambrose, New Hampshire's deputy secretary of state. "I can see how they can do that in a caucus, but not in a primary state."

David Nagle, Iowa's state Democratic chairman, charged the networks with interfering with the political process. "I think there's a line and I think they crossed it," he said.

David Buksbaum, vice president for news coverage and operations for CBS, said the network would not call the New Hampshire primary "until the polls close. We may characterize the race," he said that might take the form of anchor Dan Rather saying "it looks like" this will be the outcome, "if we have a clear indication that (somebody) is the winner."

Roy Wetzel, general manager of NBC News' election information unit, said the network's "policy is to wait until the vast majority of polls are closed."

Gordon Manning, an NBC News vice president, said NBC might be able to characterize the primary before all the polls are closed. "Anybody should be able to make a reportorial judgment," Manning said.

George Watson, an ABC News vice president, said ABC would not make projections in New Hampshire based on exit polls. ABC will wait until the polls close and "we have counted enough actual votes to make the projection," Watson said.

Country Kitchen/Split Level

HOUSE DESIGN by Larry Farnsworth

*FRIENDLY COUNTRY KITCHEN *SUNKEN LIVING ROOM *MASTER BEDROOM SUNDECK *SPECIAL FIRST FLOOR BEDROOM AND BATH

Model AD1951--The 1,951 square feet of living space in this attractive two-story, four bedroom plan have been designed to include all of the amenities required for comfortable living, plus those extras which spell a distinctive home.

The exterior is dramatized by the sheltered porch and entrance and the sun deck over the big double garage.

coat closet just inside the front door, a stairway to the second floor and a good view of the attractive and large sunken living room with its charming fireplace and attractive railing separating it from the lovely formal dining room at the rear of the house.

Straight ahead from the entry is the big country kitchen which makes this model a perpetual favorite with all who enjoy practicing and partaking of the culinary arts. Good cooking and good family living come naturally to the family that selects this lovely home for their own.

The bedroom and bath and inside garage door adjacent to the kitchen area offer practical accommodations for a live-in maid and are equally adaptable as a private suite for a favorite in-law.

and two baths include a master bedroom suite with a roomy walk-in closet and convenient dressing area, plus sliding door access to the attractive sun deck which extends across the front of the house above the garage and over the covered entry as well.

To Model AD1951, add the option of a basement and the convenience of a laundry area inside the garage and adjacent to both the inside door and the garage side entry, and you have a plan that well deserves its continued popularity with knowledgeable homeowners everywhere.
