Wheat Growers Face Referendum Problem

Deaf Smith County wheat growers will go to the polls June 25

Around Town

Wheat growers will get together Monday night at 8 p.m. in the ballroom of the Jim Hill Hotel to discuss the forthcoming wheat referendum. The meeting, sponsored by the Farm Bureau, will feature a talk by John Ferris of Producers Grain Association, Amarillo. His topic will be "Markets and Exports." Other speakers will include George Heard, Farm Bureau vice president and Frank Ford. Heard said everyone is invited to attend the meeting and "find out just what they are going to vote on."

Members of the Citizens Committee will meet with the School Board Tuesday night to study plans for the new elementary school.

The Hereford baseball team will meet Plainview here Wednesday night. Hereford defeated Rath's Blackhawks of Amarillo last Wednesday in a major upset and are expected to give Plainview the same kind of unexpected trouble.

Jim Wiman of Hereford, Baptist Association Brotherhood president, will be one of the first to turn a shovel of dirt at ground breaking ceremonies for Brotherhood Hall at Wayland College in Plainview Monday night. The ceremony will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Thursday night softball action was postponed because of rain. The KC's and Cooper's were completely rained out, but Piggy Wiggy and Rutherford's were in the last of the second with the score tied 4-4. The game will continue where it left off at a later date.

Brand Is Winner Of Three Awards In State Contest

The Hereford Brand was winner of three first place awards in the annual Texas Press Association contests which highlighted the Seventy-sixth TPA convention at Galveston. The awards were presented Saturday.

Jimmie Gillentine, publisher, accepted the awards on behalf of the paper. First place honors came in column writing, editorials and news pictures. The Brand was first place winner of three of the six contests for semi-weekly and tri-weekly newspapers throughout the state.

along with farmers throughout the nation to determine whether or not the marketing quota program will be in operation for the 1956 wheat crop. County growers face two alternatives, neither of which they seem to be in favor of. They can vote against controls and have support prices dropped to 50 percent of parity, or they can vote in favor of them and lose another 17,000 acres of county allotment.

Wheat allotment data for 1956 supplied by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, indicates that the 1956 county quota will be 219,981 acres, as compared to 236,774 acres in 1955.

Fast Collier, ASC officer manager, said that no adjustments would be made in the 1956 county wheat base acreage for individual farmers. An overall county reduction factor of .788 will be used, however. For the third year in a row, Deaf Smith County has the highest reduction factor in this area.

Polling places will be as follows: Communities A and B, courthouse; community C, Walcott School; community D, Simms community house; and community E, Daniel community house.

Collier said each grower, in advance of the referendum, also will be advised of his farm's 1956 wheat acreage allotment and will receive a leaflet explaining program operations.

The ASC spokesman said that if the vote is favorable, the program will be in operation for the 1956 wheat crop, and price support for the crop in the commercial wheat area—depending on the supply situation—will probably be between 75 and 82 percent of parity. The support level is to be announced by the Secretary of Agriculture before the referendum. If the vote is unfavorable, the support will be 50 percent of parity, Collier said.

Two-thirds of farmers voting must favor the quotas. In last year's referendum the national vote was close, 208,823 for and 76,023 against—a favorable vote of 73.3 percent compared with the necessary 66.23 percent. In Texas, the vote was 10,856 for and only 1299 against, however. And in Deaf Smith County 216 for and only 14 against.

Weekly newspapers in this area also were contest winners. Farwell won first place in appearance, general excellence and news writing in the division for newspapers in towns under 2000.

The Canadian Record, edited by Ben Ezell, former member of the Brand staff, was first in general excellence and news writing and second in editorials and pictures in the 2000 to 3500 division.

Tulla, also in the 2000-3500 division, was first place winner in column writing.

Church Burglary Suspect Sought

Hereford city police Saturday were still searching for the burglar who broke into the First Methodist Church Monday night, taking two or three dollars and damaging two doors.

The burglar cut a screen on a window on the north side of the building to gain entrance into the church. One door was completely broken through the wall and another had the door knob pulled out. Matches were scattered over the kitchen floor.

A similar burglary occurred recently at the Tower Drive Theatre.

Firemen Busy With 3 Blazes

Two fires Thursday kept Hereford firemen extra busy, and brought to three the number of fires during the week.

Most serious of the blazes was the one Thursday night at 402 West Fifth. Two thousand dollars in damage was estimated following the fire which swept through Dr. C. D. Kelton's clinic. Firemen rushed to the scene after receiving the alarm at 9:15 p.m. The fire was believed to have started in a closet from spontaneous combustion. Firemen said it must have been burning three or four hours before it was discovered.

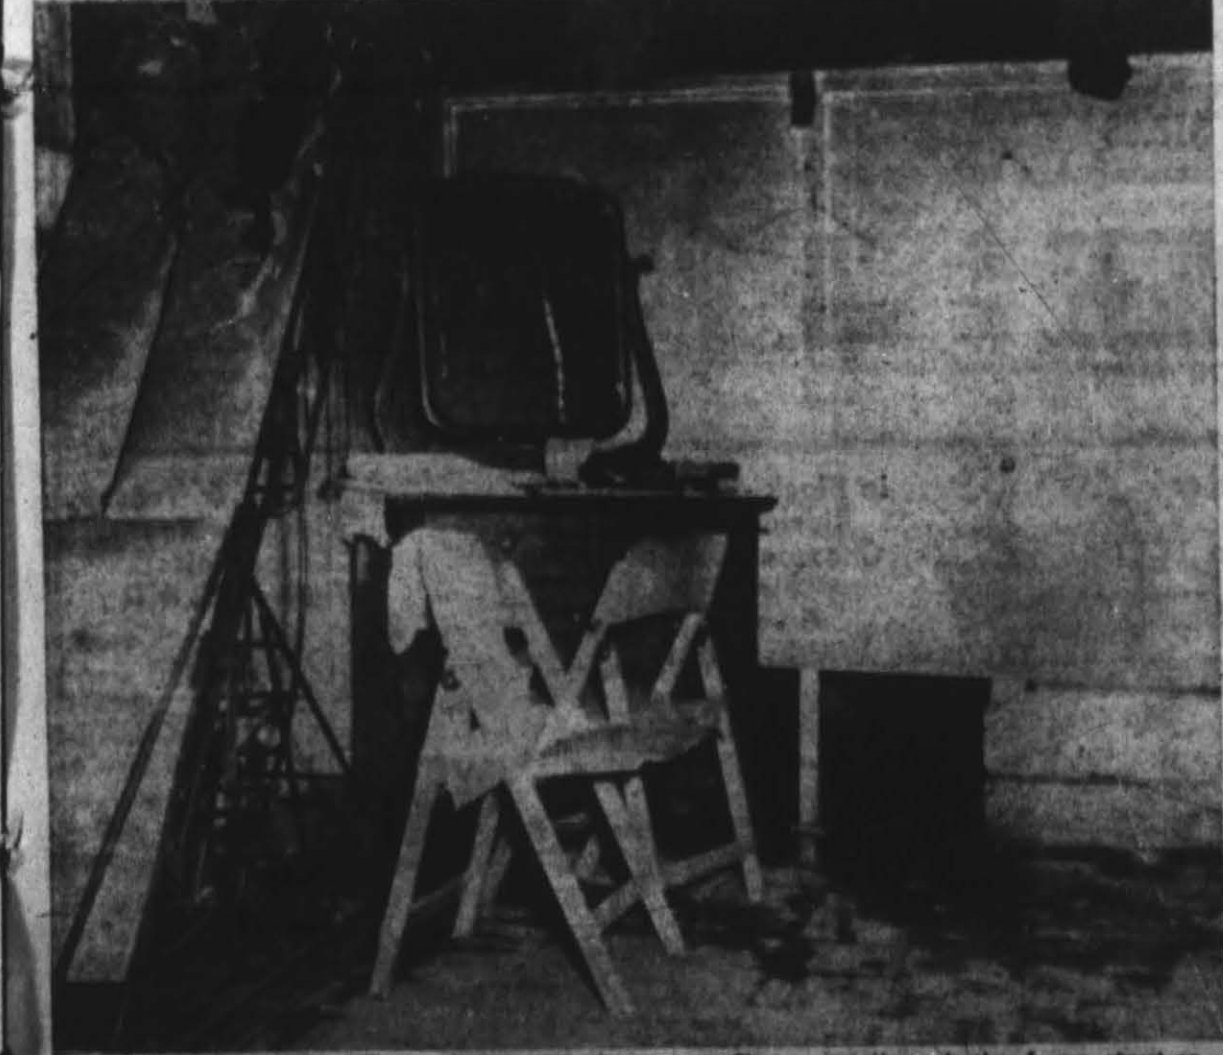

The alarm was turned in by the H. E. Wrights, who live next door to the clinic in the adjoining apartment.

The second alarm Thursday came at 1 p.m. from the El Patio Cafe. The floor under the dishwasher caught fire, but was out when firemen arrived. Damage was slight.

The other blaze last week was at 205 Avenue H last Sunday. The interior of the house was slightly damaged by fire.

TRAIN TROUBLE -- It took workmen 10 hours to get this locomotive back on the track Thursday after the heavy Santa Fe engine turned a track on a sharp curve and derailed in Hereford. The train backed onto a siding which wasn't meant to be used by such a heavy locomotive, a railroad spokesman said. (Staff Photo)

FIRE DAMAGE -- The photographer poked his camera through the window of Dr. C. D. Kelton's clinic to get this shot of fire damage. Fire swept through the frame structure Thursday night, causing an estimated damage of $2,000. (Staff Photo)

BIG MESS -- Fire left Mrs. H. E. Wright and son Don with a big mess to clear up Thursday night. Fire started in Dr. C. D. Kelton's clinic, 402 West Fifth, and spread to the Wright's apartment. All of their furniture was taken outside by volunteers. Here they overlook their kitchen range as it sits in the front yard. (Staff Photo)

Hotel Team Jumps Into Tie For First Place In League

By BILL KNOX
Hotel Jim Hill jumped into a first place tie with KC's for the top run in the ladder by pounding out a convincing 23-7 victory over Summerfield Friday night. Karl Hutcheson built a fire under Ruthersford as they rocketed to a 17-0 win over the Popular State.
Jim Hill led from start to finish. Johnny Winkler was pounded for 11 hits but was able to get out of jams with not too much trouble. Hotel batters were scuffling off with a continual volley of base hits. The game went seven but just missed being completed in five.

Summerfield was able to notch exactly nothing in the first three rounds, but Jim Hill made hay. Wendel Burdine led off with a single, and after Burdine had scored when Dick Ross received first by way of error, Bill Howard blasted a double to score Ross.
Then again in the second they duplicated their first-inning run output to make the count 4-0. Winkler struck out, but Timberlake blooped a single, and Onias Carroll lambasted a home run for the two runs.
Jim Hill was blanked in the third but Summerfield broke the ice in the fourth. Jamie Clearman led off with a double and capped all the way around when Gerald Hale fumbled the ball in right field. Two more hits in the inning failed to give them another run.
Hotel got the run back in the last of the fourth on Timberlake's hit, two errors, and a r-r-producing single by Dick Ross.
The top half of the fifth saw Summerfield score their largest total in one inning four runs. After one man was retired Horace Baize connected for a single, but Clearman popped up for the second out. Campbell walked, and Bill Lookingbill lashed a single. Hilton Davis' grand slam home run came next to send in the four runs and make the score 5-5.
But Jim Hill quickly remedied this situation with nine runs in their half of the fifth. Suttie led off with a single. Hale cracked another single and tripled. Johnny Winkler's triple scored both of them. Timberlake hit back to the pitcher for the first out, then Carroll scored Winkler with a single. The next three batters, Burdine, Ross, and Howard, all pounded out doubles. Barrett grounded out to drive in a run, but Suttie, Hale, and Winkler also got three more doubles. Timberlake ended the inning by grounding out to first base.
A double and a single sent one run across for Summerfield in the sixth, but Jim Hill bingooed with eight more runs in their half of the inning. This came off with the help of seven walks issued by Joe Streun. They got three hits. Roy Campbell's homer in the seventh made the final score 23-7.
Ruthersford was hot in the second game, racing past the Popular State 17-2. Jim Russell, Ruthersford pitcher, gave up only one hit in the five inning stint. His team mates got only eight hits for the 17 runs they scored.

GALVESTON, TEXAS — And what a relief! After San Antonio and Houston, it is nice to get away from the terrific heat but, best of all, is getting a little relief from the Davy Crockett craze which has a man-size strangle hold on that section of Texas. Davy has made a few inroads around here, of course, but nothing like the Alamo country, where they are commercializing him to the nth degree.

Right across from the Alamo is the remodeled Davy Crockett hotel. You can buy a 20-inch Davy Crockett doll at any respectable drug store, which will also have in stock Davy Crockett rifles, pistols, holsters and belts. All the rage, too, is the Davy Crockett soda, available at every place where someone has room to put up a stand. The stores have plenty of Davy Crockett hats at present, although the clerks tell us that they have been completely out of these hats until the new shipment just arrived. They say that coon skins are about all gone and most of the hats are being made from dyed rabbit, and this supply is fast diminishing. So far, we haven't bought one, but Buz is working on it and I may weaken at any time.

Honest, you have no idea how this deal is rolling around San Antonio, and Houston is just about as bad. Even the natives are getting tired of hearing his name.

Monday we went out to the San Jacinto battle grounds, then made a two-hour tour of the battleship Texas, which has been put in moth balls on the bayou adjoining the grounds. While we were waiting to get onto the ship, I was looking at an elaborate monument, erected by the Masonic Lodge of Texas in memory of Masons who lost their lives in the Alamo. Two other men were also looking over the list of names and I heard one of them say,

"Wouldn't you know it? There's Davy Crockett. He never passes up a chance to get his name before the public!"

After a while, I looked at the list myself and, sure enough, there he was, right along with Sam Houston, Stephen F. Austin, Travis, Bowie, and many of the others.

I also want to apologize to Carl McCaslin for the razzing I gave him about getting the side of his car bashed in a while back near Houston. Honest, no one with any sense would try to drive in this country in the first place. And don't kid yourself about these "E-ways" and "Free Ways." I can do without them. They just aren't for a country boy, especially when he doesn't know where he wants to go. I never got into such a mess in my life. I got lost 12 times, all in less than two hours in San Antonio and still don't know how we ever got back to that tourist court.

Being a native Texan, I always loathed the name of Santa Anna and thought of him only in the lowest terms. However, he has gone up in my opinion during the past few days. I don't see how he ever found the Alamo much less took it. We finally treated it though thanks to 18 policemen and seven service station attendants.

Back to the Free Ways. They are the coming thing. I was just born 30 years too soon. Everyone likes them but me. I am sure that I never will. We rode one after six or eight wrong turns off from Houston to Galveston and it was plenty fast. Nothing under 40 miles per hour. They are strictly for people in a big hurry. No traffic ever turns left, except when it first turns right, then comes out under an overpass. Like I said, it is much more difficult when you don't know where you are going in the first place. We haven't smashed into anyone yet but we are not home yet, either.

This is the first time our kids have seen the ocean—and they have gone hog-wild. They won't go out any further than ankle-deep—and they practically won't get out of the water at all. We went swimming this morning before breakfast, and it was "before lunch" before I could get them out. I even told them that Davy Crockett was making a personal appearance, but they weren't interested. Finally, some sort of large fish showed up on the swells—and I convinced them that it was a shark. After that, they left although reluctantly.

I practically dragged them down to the docks while they were out, however, and we saw a Korean ship in the process of being loaded with powdered milk. The guard at the docks said, "Sure, go ahead and watch it. It's some of that American lend-lease, so you're helping pay for it anyway." Then he hastily added that, for his part,

Grassman Of Year Chosen Early By Portland C Of C

By GORMAN HOGAN
PORTLAND, Ore.—Most everything can use a bit of glamor, even the humdrum business of growing grass. That's what the Portland Chamber of Commerce figured in opening a campaign four years ago to point up the value of grasslands to the economy of the Pacific Northwest.

Now livestock numbers have increased, the region's substantial grass seed industry has gained and better land management practices have made big strides.

The chamber's agricultural committee borrowed the slogan "Grass is Gold" from New England where it was coined and began choosing a regional Grassman of the Year.

Awards Offered
Banks, farm equipment companies and power companies in three states offered substantial awards to winners.

Others in the Northwest were concerned over the declining numbers of livestock which should have been increasing to meet the requirements of the rapidly climbing population. A large percentage of the meat consumed was being shipped in from the midwest.

Local groups, working with extension agents, took up the job of selecting county grassmen to compete for state honors and the three state winners went into the region.

Judging is based on development of the land, management of the grass, handling of livestock and service to the community.

The judging system was set up by experts including Dr. A. L. Hafenrichter, a noted agronomist with the Soil Conservation Service.

Broad Movement
"This regional grasslands program," Hafenrichter said, "is part of a movement which has been picking up momentum in the past 10 years." More has been accomplished in the past 20 years in land management, he added, than in the previous 200 years. "And we are only beginning."

Since the "Grass Is Gold" undertaking began, the number of cattle and calves in Oregon has gone up from 1,096,000 to 1,458,000. The number of beef cows has increased from 328,000 to 476,000 and dairy cows from 228,000 to 255,000. Washington and Idaho have made similar gains.

More beef is being finished in the Pacific Northwest than ever before.

In the seed industry, production of ryegrass a variety used extensively for seeding pasture and range land, has grown from 71 million pounds to 130 million. Other varieties have shown comparable increases.

Milt Branch is 1954 Pacific Northwest Grassman of the Year. He has 9,600 "up and down acres" near Midvale, Idaho, where he has been bringing together fine grass and good stock for 25 years, a good crop one year, and a bad one the next. He decided that grassland was the solution.

"There are two reasons I went in for grass," Branch said after winning his award. "I had an idea it would build a pretty good cattle ranch out of starved-out wheat farms, and I want to fix this land up so I can leave it to my children better than I found it."

The reason we're down here is to attend the 76th annual meeting of the Texas Press Association, which opened Friday and closed Saturday. We just saw a couple of days early to let the kids see the ocean and they are doing just that. If you are wondering why we came by San Antonio, then take one guess. That's right, they just had to see the Alamo—where Davy Crockett died! It's remarkable how much effect one song can have on the way supposedly intelligent Americans live.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
I am just wondering if the lady that was wanting wheat berries would be interested in buying some porcupine eggs. We have a pretty generous supply and would sell them at a very attractive price.

Yours truly,
Ole T. Larson
P. S.—Please keep this under your hat. I am sure you know what porcupine eggs are, but in case you don't know they are more commonly known as quackie burr seed. Porcupine eggs are a special Texas variety. I think I heard of a fellow that sold some to tourists for 25 cents each. In case you want to print this, it is all yours. Postscript and all!

JAPANESE WEDDING

1. Beautician gives final touch to bride's hairdo in dressing room of hall where wedding is to take place.

The modern Japanese wedding ceremony is a marriage of East and West. The bride wears the colorful, traditional garments which have been worn by brides of Japan for centuries. The groom wears the most formal of Western attire.

Like brides everywhere, a Japanese girl takes hours to prepare for the ceremony. The succession of kimonos she dons are exactly the same as her ancestors wore, complete to a hat to hide her "horns" and a dagger by her heart. The exact significance of the dagger and the hat is lost in history.

The hairdo is traditional, too, but something new has been added. Since most Japanese girls wear their hair in the short style they rent a wig for the ceremony.

Another bow to the past is the presence of the traditional "go-betweens." The go-betweens are the couple who arranged the wedding between the families of the bride and groom.

Pictured here is a Shinto marriage, but the costumes and preparations for the Buddhist or Christian wedding are similar.

2. She then dons the "Furisode"—long trailing sleeved kimono—in the universal white for the bride.

3. Prelude of Japanese music, called "Gagaku," is played at ceremony. Instruments, from left to right, are called the sho, hichiriki and fua.

4. Bride is first to toast a pledge of matrimony with a drink from cup of sake. Girls from Shrine then take vowing cup of sake to the groom.

THE BRIDE: Over long trailing kimono she wears outer coat embroidered with gold and silver threads. On her kimono she wears dagger, symbol of her resolution.

5. Go-betweens, or match making couple, go up to altar in behalf of newlyweds to give solemn pledge of matrimony. Bride and groom face each other across room. Priest is at left, next to shrine.

6. After curtain is drawn before the altar, the newlyweds sit together and join all others in drinking toast.

7. Now husband and wife, the newlyweds leave the Shrine to attend the reception.

Phebean Class Is Entertained

Phebean Class of the First Baptist Church held its regular business and social meeting in the home of Mrs. Tommy Braddy Thursday evening. Mrs. Ella Mae Childers directed the meeting with Mrs. James Roberts conducting the devotional lesson on "The Home."

Plans were made for visitation week and refreshments were served to Mesdames Wm. Powell, Ray Johnson, Wilbur Gibson, J. C. Harlin, John Winkler, Clinton Massie, Lynn Jensen, James Roberts, Ella Mae Childers, Miss Marquita Hutchinson and the hostess.

CARD OF THANKS
We desire to express our most grateful thanks to those who were so kind and thoughtful during Mrs. Terrell's recent illness. The many cards and expressions of friendship and the many beautiful flowers that came to the hospital were greatly appreciated. They served as material aid in recovery.

Signed:
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Terrell.

SOWEL'S HAVE SON
S-Sgt. and Mrs. John D. Sowell of Mt. Home, Idaho and formerly of Hereford announce the arrival of their son, Steven Barrett, born June 10. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Sowell of Hereford, and Mr. and Mrs. John Sexton of Nazareth.

Mrs. Barrett Sowell and Lynn left Saturday for Mt. Home, Idaho where they will visit with S-Sgt. and Mrs. John B. Sowell Jr., and their new son, Steven Barrett.

Cynthia Seed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Seed, and Rebecca Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson, were entertained for a few days by their grandmother, Mrs. R. R. Jackson. Cynthia left Friday with the Jay Boston family to spend a few days at Red River, N. Mex.

MRS. J. W. VICK . . . on eightieth birthday.

Mrs. J. W. Vick Honored On Her Eightieth Birthday

Mrs. J. W. Vick celebrated her eightieth birthday today. Dinner guests included all her living children: Mrs. Owen Noel of Dumas, and Harlin and Offis Vick of Hereford.

Mrs. Vick came to Deaf Smith County in 1924 from Collingsworth County. She was born in Putnam County, Tenn., and came to Texas with her family at the age of 18.

Though she has reached her eightieth year, Mrs. Vick is still very active, raising a large garden each summer as well as many flowers to grace her front yard. She also raises an ample supply of chickens for eggs and fryers for home use. She is known among her relatives as a fine cook, and still enjoys cooking savory dishes for company who come to visit in her home. She makes a special point of cooking the favorite dish of anyone who drops in for a meal. Mrs. Vick finds pleasure in making many of her own clothes and often makes aprons and bonnets for gifts.

At the close of the summer garden season, Mrs. Vick does her own canning, and many times she stores away extra jars of canned foods for friends and relatives.

Through the years, Mrs. Vick has retained an excellent sense of humor. She is in good health and her jolly disposition is an inspiration to those with whom she comes in contact. When asked how it felt to be 80, she remarked, "I can't tell that I feel any different than I ever did!"

Gay Malone, Gene Lewis Exchange Vows At Church

Before an improvised altar arranged with white gladioli and greenery in front of a picture window, Miss Gay Malone became the bride of Gene Lewis of Dimmitt Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Malone. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewis of Dimmitt.

The candlelight ceremony was read by Rev. Howard Scott, pastor of the First Baptist Church in a double ring service.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Jan Hargis who played soft raptorial melodies while Miss Rosa Lee Strange lighted the wedding tapers, and Bryce Dowell of Dimmitt, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" with accompaniment by Miss Hargis.

Miss Betty Buse served as maid of honor, wearing an orchid dotted swiss made with fitted waist with low neckline and bouffant skirt. Her small hat was of white daisies and she carried a bouquet of pink carnation and ivy tied with pink ribbons and tulle.

Burt Huggins of Dimmitt served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white length wedding gown of snow-white nylon net over tulle. The fitted lace bodice was designed with small collar at the high neck line and long fitted sleeves tapering to petal points at the hands. The low bodice was accented with tiny buttons down the center front. Joining this was a voluminous skirt featuring alternate ruffles of lace and net. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a coronet of lace and seed pearls.

The bridal bouquet, which was carried on a white Bible, was of white Frenched carnations and ivy showered with white satin streamers caught with love-knots.

For the wedding the bride's mother chose a lace dress in beige with white accessories and she wore a corsage of pink carnations and rosebuds. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dusty rose silk shantung with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Reception is held following the wedding a reception was held in the bride's home. The bride's table was laid with a pale pink brocade-satin cloth and

MRS. J. S. RATHORE . . . in Indian dress

Methodist Women Are Told How Women Of India Live

Mrs. J. S. Rathore of India spoke on the status of women in India Saturday afternoon at a tea sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. Colby Colwright.

Wearing her native costume which enhanced her charming personality, she told how the women of India live and think and dream, with all the love for her people, her faith and her ambitions radiating through her animation.

"Out of the 365 million people in India, nine millions are Christians. Four percent are protestants and four percent are Catholics. Only three percent of the women are educated with 97 percent unable to read or write."

The women do not mix with the men until they become educated, but now since many are coming to the United States to study, they are returning to India and even accepting jobs along with the men. Most of the women return as teachers and nurses, and in 1955 there were 2000 Indians in America seeking degrees.

There are the three classes or castes, the poorer class or untouchables, the middle class and the very rich. She herself is of the middle class and she hopes to do her greatest work with them when she and her husband return to India in 1956.

"As a whole the women of India are unhappy but they would die before voicing any opinion. After they accept the Christian religion, however, a great change is noticed. The majority follow the Hindu Religion which governs their homelife to a great extent. The middle class housewife likes to do most of her own work, but many have the untouchables doing the menial tasks.

The women of India desire most of all to please the men and they must prepare at least one special dish for the meal to keep the men happy. The housewife serves the men whenever they desire to eat, but everything must be eaten immediately, the men will not eat food prepared even five minutes before serving. They have no tables, but take their food from the kitchen and sit on the floor on velvet carpets to eat with the housewife replenishing their plates with freshly cooked foods.

Rice, curry and bread are their favorite foods and they like many vegetables and lots of spices. The untouchables rarely even have more than one meal a day, but the middle and high castes eat three or four meals daily.

The women love to entertain guests. Their social functions include dances and musical affairs. The Harmonium which is something like a hand-organ, is their favorite instrument and they also have many orchestras that provide entertainment. The women serve tea and Indian sweets especially made in the homes.

But the women depend upon their husbands for everything. They marry according to their parents' choice and they must have a dowry. The larger the dowry the better choice for a husband. The marriageable age is from 17 to 22 and if a girl reaches 23 without marriage, she is ridiculed. A man may have four wives at the same time, the wives living as sisters in the same house. But the woman can marry only once and cannot remarry if her husband dies. The widow must live a simple neglected life and dress in black or white, without adornment. She cannot attend social gatherings of any type.

All women wear long hair—if for any reason their hair is worn short she is looked down upon. They love to wear flowers and they keep their homes beautifully. Cleanliness is a sort of religion. Their brass eating utensils are kept shining like mirrors. Everyone must bathe and change clothing before eating.

Let's Cook Something

Mrs. Patterson's Favorite Is Pineapple Dessert
Fruits make the simplest yet most sophisticated desserts and salads you can serve. If you are hunting a new refreshment for meals at home here is a delicious version of a pineapple cake that makes delightful eating. Mrs. Elmer Patterson uses this recipe often and it is especially appropriate for hot summer days since it is light and fluffy and takes so little time in preparation.
The recipe was given to Mrs. Patterson by a former Hereford girl, Lyndall Brooks, at least 20 years ago, but it is still the favorite at the Patterson house, especially with the young people.

Pineapple Dessert
1 envelope Knox Gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
juice of 1 lemon
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 egg whites beaten stiff
1 cup whipped cream (about 1/2 cup before whipping)
Vanilla Wafers
1 flat can crushed pineapple
Soak gelatine in cold water, add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add pineapple, lemon juice sugar and salt and stir thoroughly. Place in refrigerator until the consistency of heavy syrup. Fold in egg whites and whipped cream. Line oblong Pyrex dish or glass bowl with wafers, and then add a layer of the pineapple mixture. Continue alternating layers of wafers and pineapple mixture until mixture is used. Top with crushed wafers and chill in refrigerator at least two hours before serving. Cut in squares and serve. This makes excellent party food.
Another recipe of Mrs. Patterson's that friends have requested, is Spaghetti and Meat Balls. As a contrast dish, nothing will do better than a good spaghetti concoction and meat balls. It provides the kind of meal-in-a-dish that needs only a green salad and dessert and beverage accompaniment.

Here it is:
Spaghetti and Meat Balls
1 pound hamburger meat
1 medium onion chopped
1 medium green pepper chopped
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 package cut spaghetti, cooked and drained
1 No. 2 can tomato juice
1 1/2 cups shredded cheese salt and pepper to taste
Saute the vegetables in the 2 tablespoons bacon drippings. Add drained spaghetti and tomato juice and allow mixture to simmer about 26 minutes. Season meat and make into about 15 balls and arrange in a long Pyrex dish. Add cheese to sauce and pour over meat balls.

Household Tips

The crowd coming over for supper? Serve a big hot potato salad with broiled frankfurters, buttered rolls and lots of fresh vegetables to eat out of hand. Choose radishes, carrot and celery strips, cauliflower-ets and strips of fennel for the fresh vegetable tray.

Making a number of sandwiches? Stack two or three of them and cut them all at once with a sharp bread knife.

Spread bread with butter and sprinkle with celery seeds cut into strips and place on a cookie sheet. Toast in a hot oven. Good with tea for that four-o'clock pick-me-up.

Good Sunday night supper fare. Serve a big chef's salad—assorted greens, thin strips of ham or tongue along with some of Swiss cheese and French dressing. For dessert have thin pancakes filled with hot cranberry sauce and dust.

Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) for 30 minutes.

What to serve for lunch-bothering you? How about a corn-pudding topped with crisp strips of bacon? Tastes delicious with a tossed green salad. Fruit and cookies for dessert will make everyone's happy!

You can use leftover liquids drained from cooked, canned or frozen fruits in gelatin dishes.

Cut that leftover frankfurter in thin rounds and add to almost any kind of soup—split pea, black bean, cream of celery.

Flour used in cake-making should always be measured carefully. Sift the flour onto a piece of waxed paper, then spoon lightly into the measuring cup and level off with a spatula.

Small fry like this dish. Cook chopped beef lightly in a skillet and mix with cream sauce. If lean beef is used, add a little fat to the skillet when you are cooking it, but not too much!

For weight-watchers: try yogurt over salad greens. The yogurt may be mixed with a little minced onion and paprika if you like.

Frozen brussels sprouts are widely available and so nutritious that they can be used often to good advantage in family menus. Try serving them with browned butter and toasted almonds. Or team them with cream sauce and a topping of crisp crumbled bacon.

Baked pears make a nice fruit change at breakfast time. Serve them with light cream, if you like, and a sprinkle of cinnamon.

Marinate cooked snap beans in a tangy French dressing. Serve on salad greens with sliced egg for a good luncheon salad.

That parsley you bought for garnishing languishing in the refrigerator? Remember it gives a wonderfully fresh taste to salads. Snip lots of it fine with your kitchen scissors and add to cabbage, or carrot-slaw, mixed greens, cucumbers or tomatoes.

Ever dress up everyday apple sauce with scoops of vanilla ice cream?

Barbecue sauce is delicious over duck. Roast the duck (cut in quarters) by your regular method, but baste often with the sauce.

Extracting Onion Juice
An easy way to extract onion juice is to cut a slice from the root end, draw the skin, and the press the onion, with a rotary motion, on a coarse grater.

Moths and Mice
A spoonful of turpentine dropped in the dresser-drawers and trunk is a good preventive against moths and mice.

Drying Clothes
The next rainy day, or sometime when you desire to dry some washed article quickly, hang it in front of the electric fan and see how quickly the garment is dried.

Crushed Corn
A different taste can be given to corn if a few squares of sharp cheese are added to the can of crushed corn. Let it cook until the cheese melts.

Preserving the Eyes
One should never read with the light shining into the eyes, or the sunshine falling across the print.

Protecting the Curtains
Sometimes the curtains beat against the window screens and become soiled. To prevent this, slip them through a wire coat hanger and place the hanger on the curtain rod.

Vegetables
Vegetables should not be left cool in aluminum or metal saucepans. The dish should be earthenware, as metal is likely to affect the flavor of the vegetables.

Fruit Closet
Mold will not form on the tops of the jars of preserves and jellies if a bucket of lime is kept in the fruit closet.

The Thermos Bottle
If making ice water for the thermos bottle, prepare the ice water first and then pour into the jug. The small pieces of ice that go in with the water will not hurt the bottle, but they will when poured in without water.

Grandpop Swan In The Cattle Tank

Announcements a few days ago heralded the opening of Hereford's modern, municipal swimming pool.

Strange as it may seem, though, the group of Hereford residents who appreciate the pool -- possibly more than the boys and girls -- is composed of men and women who seldom, if ever, go swimming.

Regardless of these things, however, the important fact is that Hereford does operate a swimming pool second to none in this area.

Discontentment Not Always Bad

Contentment can be a marvelous state of mind. It is one of the basic ingredients of happiness. It is a state of mind in which one has no criticism to make of anything -- everything is entirely satisfactory.

The kind of contentment that is willing to accept things as they are means accepting the bad as well as the good. It is not the contented people who add to the sum of human knowledge or who explore the new paths of sciences, invention, medicine and the arts.

Human progress comes from the right kind of discontentment. We would not be a nation were it not for the people who were discontented with "Taxation without representation."

Somebody once said, "Discontent is the first step to the progress of a nation or a man." There is a lot of truth in that. Education grew out of discontent with not knowing.

factors, does have its influence and weight.

This thought also brings up another important question: "What is the community doing today to keep abreast with the advancement and growth of neighboring cities and towns?"

A town, after all, is much like a business. It must remodel from time to time; it must offer as good, or better, opportunities to prospective citizens as do other towns.

Without such planning and initiative, the community will begin to slip. Real estate prices will sag. Interest will wane.

Happy Vacation!

Vacation time is here, since the conclusion of the school term and hundreds of Hereford families are scanning highway maps and making plans for their vacation trips.

We believe that more local people will make vacation trips this summer than during any other previous summer, because of better transportation facilities, better automobiles, better highways, generally greater prosperity, and longer vacation periods.

The greater part of Hereford families will depend on the family automobile for their transportation and we should like to make these suggestions for the convenience and safety of Hereford vacationers:

Plan to drive during daylight hours. It's considerably safer.

Start early in the morning and stop early in the afternoon for safer driving and for better choice of overnight accommodations.

Alternate drivers, if possible. Fatigue is one of the greatest contributors to accidents.

Avoid large cities in routing your trip. They slow down your driving and put you behind schedule.

If possible have your trip charted in detail before you leave home. The AAA and a number of large oil companies perform this service without charge to their members and customers.

If you do not have your trip charted by professionals, get the very latest highway maps and chart the trip yourself.

If you know you will be in certain cities at certain times, make your hotel or motel reservations in advance.

Happy vacation!

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Marketing Quota Program Is Favored By Majority

County wheat growers will vote June 25 to determine whether or not the marketing quota program will be in operation in 1956. Are you in favor of the program and why?

Spicer Gripp

I am in favor of it because I think they should keep the prices as high as they can.

Iley Barton

I'm in favor of the program because it will give us some profit for what we grow.

H. C. Baird

We have done okay so far by the program; I am in favor of going ahead with it.

Mrs. J. C. Simpson

I'm in favor of it because that way, you can depend on the prices and know we'll get something.

Ray Neel

I believe I would be in favor of independence for the farmer. They could plant what they wanted to, and take a chance on the price.

C. A. Saulcy

I think we should have the program to give us some guaranteed price on our crops.

Mrs. W. A. DeBuck

With the program, they will have some support while without it, they would not have as good a chance to make something.

Don Fudge

It seems that it could be worked both ways. If you had the support you could have a better chance on your acreage, but without it, you could have more acreage but would be taking a chance on the price.

Bill Parsons

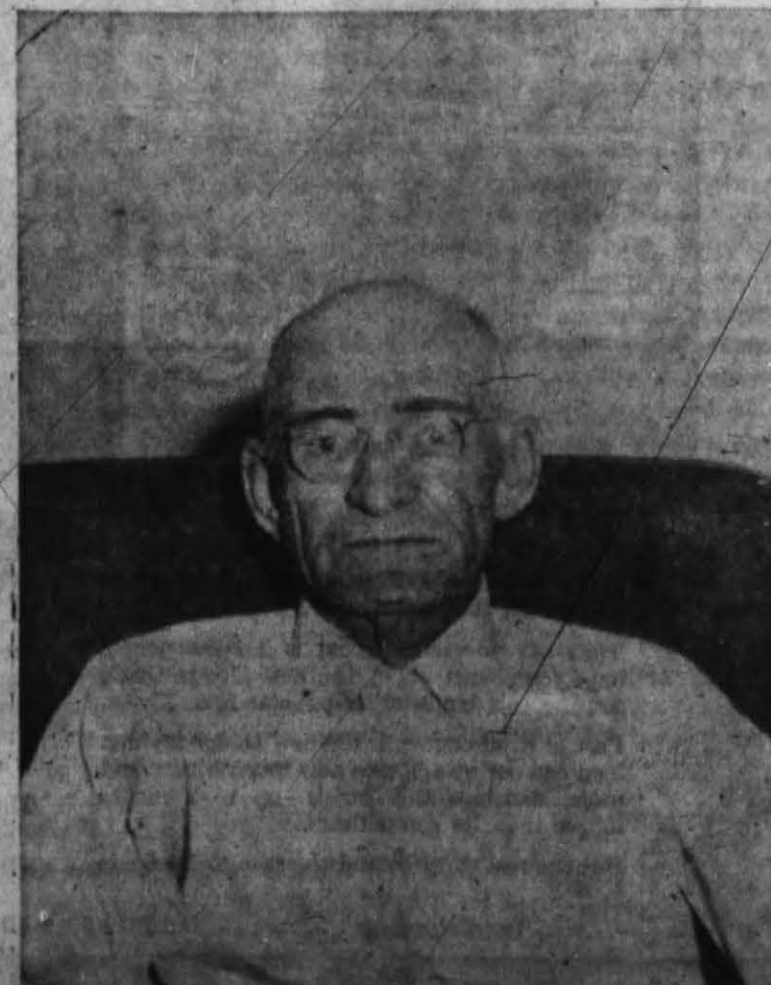

I would be in favor of anything that would help the farmers.

Felix Urbanczyk

I believe we need the program so-as to give us a price support for our wheat.

C. V. Burges

If we didn't have it, the prices would drop. This way we will get something.

Walter Hodges . . . Community Builder

Community Builders

By MARGARET ALSTON

How did potatoes come to be grown around here? I'll bet if you ask Walter Hodges he could sure tell you a lot about it.

Born in Montague County, Oct. 26, 1888, he came to Deaf Smith County in 1928 because of the irrigation that was becoming so popular and profitable.

While in Montague County, he attended a little red country school for eight years. Then in 1905, the family moved to Clarendon where he finished his schooling.

Mr. Hodges recalls the first work he was paid to do was when he worked on a farm for $20 a week. He has always been in the business of farming besides handling some livestock.

While at Hereford, he has lived both north and south of town but since 1935, he has been located one mile northwest of Hereford where he is farming a 160 acre farm.

A member of the First Methodist Church, he is also a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason.

Mr. Hodges is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and is chairman of the S. C. committee. In 1947, he was instrumental in establishing the Hereford State Bank. He is also on the board of directors of the Labor Camp.

A member of the Farm Bureau, agriculture is his main interest. He believes that here we have a wonderful land to work with and have irrigation which means so much to this section.

About 20 irrigation wells have been put in by Hodges, and so far as he knows, all are still pumping.

Feb. 19, 1911, Hodges was married to Miss Earlene Hedgcock. They now have five children, three girls and two boys.

A very interesting and different hobby of Mr. Hodges is that of bees. Another hobby of his not quite so different, but interesting, is fishing; and according to his family, he is quite a fisherman.

Mr. Hodges is not different from our other Community Builders in that he believes in Hereford and the good things we have here. Hodges says that it is due to the good people we have here and the way we work together. Being a farmer, he also has much to say about this wonderful land on which a person can grow most anything he would care to.

The salesman, a husky graduate of the University of Washington, worked his way through school as a longshoreman. Although he still varies his sales routine by taking on unloading jobs, he said he had not unloaded a car of lumber for four months before tackling Boozer's freight.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher discusses trimmed lawns this week, which is about like a prize fighter discussing Paris fashions.

Dear editor:

I read in a newspaper which one of my cows was chewing on and I took away from her before she'd gotten over to the editorial page, there's nothing worse than a cow with indigestion in hot weather where some scientists in England have been working on a liquid you spray on lawn grass and keep it from growing more than two inches tall.

If it works the article said it will be great news for the millions of people who have to mow their lawns at least once a week all summer long.

I guess so but the news leaves me cold. Out here on this farm, my problem has been getting grass to grow tall, not short, and as for my lawn, I figure out of thirty-five million neatly mowed lawns in the United States, one like mine won't have any effect on the national economy.

I tell you, there's a place in this world for a man who gives pleasure to others by letting them out-distance him. The efficient man must get some pleasure out of contrasting himself with the failures. It works in all phases of life.

Personally, I let my lawn work slide, as a horrible example to the people now sweating over theirs. It's a public service and it's good for the happiness of the lawn trimmers that there are people like me willing to make this public-spirited sacrifice.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Hereford Nips Amarillo With Last Inning Rally

By BILL KNOX

Hereford pulled a last-inning rally to sneak by the Blackhaws of Amarillo 10-9 Friday night. It was a surprise victory for the Hereford team who were definite underdogs since the Blackhaws are composed mostly of ex-West Texas-New Mexico League players.

Hereford trailed for the complete game, but it never was a runaway. They hunched their hits in the seventh inning after two were out to overcome the four-run deficit which confronted them. Gus Voequel, former Gold Sox, was the victim of the surprising. Leroy Bannister was the starter.

Terry McRight started for Hereford but never was able to master his control. McRight was not hit hard, but Amarillo turned bases on balls into runs to chase him. His reliever, Raymond Lueb, who made his mound debut, was a bit more successful in throttling them. Lueb allowed three tallies, while McRight allowed six.

Despite their run output, Rath's got only four hits two off McRight and two off Lueb. Hereford got 10 hits but were not gifted with walking papers to first quite so often as Amarillo.

After both teams were blanked in the initial two frames, Amarillo broke the ice in the top of the third. McLaughlin opened with a single, and Bannister walked. Winberg sacrificed them to second and third, then Ramsey walked to put the bases full, full of blackhaws. A wild pitch chased in two, and after Hill fanned Bobby Brown lashed a double to tally two more. Brown scored on a ground out.

Hereford countered in their half of the inning but failed to match Amarillo's total, scoring two runs. McRight walked to lead off the inning, and Sims grounded to third sending McRight to second. Brock singled McRight in, and when Corbett was gifted with first via the error route Brock went to third. He scored on Lueb's sacrifice fly.

One more was added to the Amarillo total in the fourth without the aid of a base hit. Two walks, an error, and a ground ball drove in the marker. McRight fanned two Blackhaws in the inning.

Hereford couldn't score in the fourth or fifth, but Rath's continued with one more in the fifth. Again they turned the trick without a base hit. Hill walked and stole two bases and was scored by the error route.

Scoring for the fourth straight inning, they made it 5-2 with two in the sixth. McLaughlin started with a single, and Voequel singled behind him, sending McLaughlin to third, but Voequel was retired trying to take second. He scored on a ground out. The other run came across by means of walks, stolen bases, and errors.

Hereford began their uphill climb in the sixth by sending across three runs. The first two batters, Hagar, and Burdine, fanned, but Bybee started it with a free pass. Taylor Sims, Ken Brock, and Timothy Hanna Corbett followed with a sequence of hits, driving across the tallies.

The actual rally took place in the seventh. Burrus received first on an error, and Suttle banged out a single. Burdine and Hagar fanned, but Bybee walked, loading the sacks. Taylor Sims lashed out his second hit, a double, to drive across two, then Ken Brock tied to count by driving in two more with a soft line over third. Tim Corbett sent a hard grounder be-

Beauty At Home

By LYNN CARTER

Q. What is a good exercise for the abdomen?
A. Sit on floor facing wall three feet away. Wriggle hips forward until they fit into angle formed by floor and wall. Now on back, raise legs up on wall and "walk" feet as high up on wall as you can.

Q. What can I do as an aid for dry and brittle hair?
A. Give your scalp frequent massages, being sure to move the scalp around with the fingers. A little warm olive oil rubbed into the scalp at least twice weekly also helps. Brush regularly.

Q. What is the best way to pencil light eyebrows?
A. Use little backward strokes against the "grain" of the hair, then brush down. Be sure to avoid drawing a line that will give you an artificial look and "harden" your eyes.

Q. How can I prevent much of the smearing of my lipstick?
A. If you will dust some powder over your finished mouth, it will absorb the excess lipstick oils and avoid smearing. Blot surplus on a tissue and for added staying power, apply your lip coloring a second time, just as precisely as your first. Blot again.

Q. How can I induce more glossiness in my hair?
A. One of the best ways is to give the hair a brisk towel-rubbing after your regular shampoo, and then at least 10 minutes of good, vigorous brushing.

Q. What can I do about enlarged pores in my complexion?
A. Keep the skin scrupulously clean, and use a good astringent daily. A sparing diet, of-icy fruit and liquids, and drinking water copiously should help to clear the skin of enlarged pores if it is kept clean and the proper astringents used.

Q. How should lipstick be applied to a mouth that is too thin?
A. Fill in the natural lip line, and draw a very thin line over the upper lip and under the lower lip. Extend this line slightly at the corners. Be sure lipstick is uniformly heavy. If only one lip is thin, draw the extra line for that lip only.

Q. What can I do about a throat which tends to be darker than the rest of my face?
A. You might try regular butter-milk massages on your throat.

High time you discovered the difference in Dodge!

New Dodge Custom Royal Lancer 4-Door Sedan—most beautiful car on the road today.

Next time you're driving around town, just notice the number of gleaming new Dodge cars you see on the street!

Then ask yourself: "What is it these people have found out about the new Dodge that's causing this landslide of popular favor?"

Part of it, of course, is the new Dodge styling. You can see at a glance how much bigger and more luxurious this car is—up to 9 inches longer than its competitors.

But the real story behind the rush to Dodge is this: People are discovering the difference in the way Dodge cars are engineered and built!

They discover it in the solid, substantial feel of the car—the way it handles and rides. They learn to appreciate it in the deep-down goodness of every part and feature: Doors that don't rattle. Body joints that don't squeak. Windows that work smoothly.

There is really no substitute for the dependability that is built into Dodge. Isn't it time you discovered this difference for yourself?

Your Congressman Reports

The Senate has just passed the President's foreign aid program by a vote of 59 to 18. This calls for 3.4 billion dollars in new money to supplement the present unspent funds in the foreign aid program.

You have been told from several sources that these unspent funds are in the amount of several billion dollars. The estimates vary from two billion to 12 billion. This is a wide variance. The reason for the variance lies in the fact that it is very difficult to get the entire story on a subject from a bureau. You do not receive false information, but you receive only such information as will barely answer the question that you ask. This procedure is not very enlightening. Unless you know how to ask questions, you will end up with no information at all. In any event, it presently appears that the 3.4 billion dollars in new money means that the foreign aid program will be available to it somewhere between 12 and 15 billion dollars. Part of this has been obligated

While studying this foreign aid situation recently, I came across an article written by a prominent Italian journalist, which was originally entitled, "The Americans and Us." Actually the article undertook to explain the resentment that many Europeans have for America. It was an excellent piece of work, and I wish I could print it in full. He points up that the many claims that Americans have on the gratitude of Europeans are obscured by one incurable defect in the Americans. That defect is the craze in Americans to improve foreigners, to make them kinder to each other, juster, richer and happier. He points out that good faith and honest intentions are such rare commodities on the European market that Europeans scarcely expect to find them anywhere else. He further comments that the United States as a victor in a war which was declared by Italy, asked for no colonies and no commercial servitude, but on the contrary, accepted further taxation in order to aid the demented. He says that the real trouble is: "The great inexplicable crime of the Americans is that they really are better than the Europeans." (Remember, this is an Italian talking; not an American.) The article is very soul searching, and I repeat I wish I could make it available in full to all of you.

Concerning our foreign problems it must be remembered that we also have the immigration problem, which has been in the news a great deal recently. No doubt, there are many, many foreigners who would give their eye teeth to come to America, and I might add that certainly as Christians, we would like to be of some assistance to them. However, we must face reality and appreciate the fact that the population recently passed the 15 million mark; that the United States is growing no larger in size. Every time a person is born or a new immigrant enters the country, the size of the country shrinks to that extent. This simply means that Americans are reproducing themselves at a rate much faster than was anticipated even five years ago. It would seem to me that it would be much better if people who live in other countries would put their shoulder to the wheel to correct their own governments and try to bring to their own countries the things that we in America have. A much better balance on a world scale could be maintained.

The Public Debt

It is anticipated that the Administration will ask for a new ceiling on the public debt. It presently stands at around 277 billion dollars, which is a figure that is among the all-time highs in the public debt of this country. You will recall that Congress authorized an increase in the public debt authority to 281 billion on a temporary basis. Incidentally, I voted against that increased authority. The debt will receive a few billion when corporation taxes come in, but will increase thereafter for several months. The Administration no doubt feels that they will need additional authority to borrow more money. Very little has been said recently about the public debt, probably because it has been increased rather than reduced, as the American people were told it would be. The Administration will have to make out an excellent case if they get the authority to increase it.

Near A Dull Moment

Last Sunday I was at home trying to catch up on some of the chores around the house. I had been trying to put up some awnings and almost fell off the ladder three times. At one point I had a screen in one hand, an awning in the other, one leg hooked over an upstairs window and the other foot on the ladder, when the ladder started slipping. I don't know just what happened, but I lost no limbs and everything worked out alright, except I didn't get the awning up. I had just come into the house and was resting when the phone rang. It was a friend of mine wanting to ask about some of the legislation that was pending before one of my committees. Just as I got into a full explanation, Susan came to the door and advised me that the kitchen was on fire. I excused myself from the telephone, went to the kitchen and found the stove on fire. Susan was baking a cake and something inflammable had spilled in the oven and caught fire.

It took me about 10 minutes to get it put out and get back to the phone. My friend was very apologetic and said that perhaps he should let me go, but I told him that we had put out the fire and Susan was back in the cake-baking business.

Something New About the Panhandle

I was attending a party the other evening and met a very charming and delightful person by the name of Mrs. Beale Thomas. She asked where I was from and I told her the Panhandle of Texas. She asked if that included Amarillo; I told her I did not think I would come out alive. You can imagine my surprise. It is the first time I have conversed with anyone discussing the weather who didn't say that the only time they had ever been to Amarillo it was so cold that they nearly froze in their tracks. I told Mrs. Thomas that she would certainly go down in history, and I wanted her to spread the word around as much as possible because we are a very warm people in that section.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spring and daughters, Mary Tom and Frankie from Friona, accompanied by Mrs. Merrill Christian, of Claude, came by the office this past week. They were sight-seeing in Washington and then were going to New York and wanted to visit the United Nations. I wired the UN to be sure that their tour of the UN would be complete. I later received a letter from Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., advising that he had been happy to see that these fine people were given tickets to a UN meeting and a guided tour of the buildings.

I also enjoyed a visit this past week with Tom Solomon, of Dallas, formerly of Pampa, and Marshall Formby, of Hereford and Plainview.

Ping Pong Exerting When 'Sharks' Play

By BILL KNOX
 Most people are inclined to think that table tennis is a lazy man's game, but the "ping-pong sharks" in Hereford can tell you differently. Table tennis can be just as exerting as you want it to be.
 And table tennis is fast blossoming into one of the more popular recreations in Hereford. Besides furnishing entertainment for the entire family—both as player and spectator.
 Now that plans for a tournament to be sponsored by The Brand have been announced it should move even more into the spotlight. The enticement of the trophies to be given away might even recruit some beginners besides displaying the town's better players.
 Ping-pong can be as technical as almost any other sport, or it can be vice versa. Players who put "English" on the ball can have the ball curving, dropping, rising, or doing the mambo to a Harry James number when it crosses the net. The latter might be termed "Spanish" instead of "English." On the other hand others prefer to play a strictly offensive or defensive game, slamming the ball at ninety to nothing across the net or returning ninety to nothing slams.

 And table tennis furnishes its great players also. For as long as records go back the world table tennis championship has gone either to Japan or Russia, but the United States is no slouch in producing stars. Buddy Blattner, television sportscaster, along with Dizzy Dean, is the United States ping-pong champion.
 As for that matter, Hereford also furnishes its quota of good players. Johnny Winkler, ex-resident of Detroit, was runner-up in the Detroit City Tournament; and as you may know, Detroit is no wide open in the road.

Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners!

162 HP V8
180 HP V8

See that fine fat mountain yonder? You can iron it out, flat as a flounder... and easy as whistling!

Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire")... and pull the trigger!

Barr-r-r-o-o-o-O-OOM!

Mister, you got you a flat mountain!

... At least it feels flat. For these Chevrolet V8's gobble up the toughest grades you can tackle out. And holler for more. They love to climb, because that's just about the only time the throttle ever comes near the floorboard.

And that's a pity. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo... built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Big-bore V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry, designed to gulp huge breaths of fresh air and transmute it into blazing acceleration.

So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, light and easy as a zephyr, purring out an effortless fraction of their strength.

An engineer instantly understands why these V8's are so hyper-efficient... how friction is held so low they need just four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more... how big valves let them "breathe" deeply for maximum power.

But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in, slip behind the wheel, and point the nose at the nearest hill. These V8's can do their own talking... and nobody argues with them!

That, for sure, is one reason why Buick sales go higher and higher and higher. More and more people are finding that you can buy a Buick for the price of a smaller car, so more and more people are getting this bigger buy for their money.

STAMPEDING With the Putter

By BILL KNOX

We hope we haven't scared anybody by our mention of Johnny Winkler as a table tennis player plus. Of course, we had never seen Winkler play a game, but the reports we have received thus far are quite favorable.

And we don't doubt that anybody who is runner-up in a city tournament in a community such as Detroit can hold his own. But Hereford, as we have mentioned before, furnishes its own quota of "burks," or some kind of fish.

Watching Leo Box play is quite entertaining. Or playing against him is even better (if you are a good loser.) He has every imaginable kind of "English," as they call it, but it looked to us like the ball had a French accent when it came across the net. Or it might have come from Hawaii. Sure it did.

It came as quite a surprise to us that the Hereford baseball team defeated the Rath Blackhawks of Amarillo Wednesday night. The Blackhawks with a pretty salty bunch of players including former Gold Sox Gus Voequet and Ray Faust.

And besides winning the game, Hereford may have made a "new find." Raymond Lueb pitched the last three innings and did comparably well. However, his services at shortstop or third base would probably be more valuable.

You always hear criticism on the use of "foreign" sports lingo by sports writers. We don't know whether this is constructive criticism or not, but here is one of the more humorous ones:

Big disaster,
So I heard
Team exploded
In the third.

Summerfield lost quite a rough game to Piggly Wiggly the other night—a nine inning affair. I can imagine their sadness at losing, but at 2 in the morning the lights at the ball park were still on. Maybe they thought they could re-pay the game—not that many improvements could be made.

A misprint in a magazine we saw the other day read: "The Ballad of Davy Crickett."

HEREFORD HOME -- This three bedroom home is located at 108 Beach Street. Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Harvey moved into the home in January after its completion. (Staff Photo)

How Can I?

By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I prevent scorching milk?
A. Rinse the saucepan in water before heating milk in it and it will not scorch so easily.

Q. How can I rid the house of red ants?
A. Try smearing a plate thickly with lard and leave it over night where the ants congregate. By morning, the plate will be covered with the ants, which can then be destroyed by pouring boiling water over them.

Q. How can I emphasize the flavor of fruit?
A. The real flavor of the fruit will be emphasized when making applesauce, cranberry sauce, or jelly, if a pinch of salt is added to it.

Q. How can I remove oil stains from washable material?
A. By rubbing with lard and allowing to stand over night. Then wash in cold water and soap, and dry in the sun.

Q. How should blisters from sun burn be opened?
A. Do not break sunburn blisters, as this only adds to their discomfort. A new layer of skin will form under the blisters and they will break of their own accord.

Q. How can I be certain that I am buying fresh corn?
A. See that the husks are dry and green, and that there are no wrinkles in the ears. These are indications that the corn has been picked recently.

Q. How can I economize when using soap flakes?
A. Few flakes will be required, and the result will be better suds, if one will beat the soap flakes into a foam with an egg beater.

Q. How can I remove discolorations from the interiors of bottles and other glassware?
A. Fill nearly full with the following mixtures, let stand for several hours, shaking occasionally, then empty and rinse thoroughly with clean hot water and ammonia—warm water, one tablespoonful baking soda, and a handful of potato parings or pea beans.
