followed a military salute. D. C. McWhorter, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, introduced Rev. Wingert, who spoke on the significant aspects of Memorial Day.

"The glory of those who have gone is like that of the setting sun; ours is reflected glory, like that of the rising sun. Only by dedicating ourselves anew to the causes and purposes for which they died, can we make their sacrifice worthwhile.

"When we take those values into our own lives in a spirit of dedication, can they truly 'Sleep in Peace'?" he said, pointing out that sacrifice, love, courage and faith were the best weapons in the struggle against hate, prejudice and evil which poisons men's hearts and digs graves for men in battle.

The VFW auxiliary choir sang "Star Spangled Banner" and the benediction was given by the Rev. Lester L. Jones.

Coffee and doughnuts were served after the ceremony.

friend; I mourn with you the passing of Alex O. Thompson.

"I can think of no better citizen than Alex Thompson has been. I know that Heaven is a happier place today, because Alex Thompson is there."

He went on to say that "We old-timers are all standing on the brink, on the shadows of the end of life. I appreciate the friendship and good will of people like you all over Texas."

Lauds Hard Work

Dr. Hill emphasized the fact that he feared the younger generation was growing up without having the hard work that the old-timers had to go through. "I'm afraid that many of today's youngsters will be lost when they get out on their own."

After the meeting the pioneers ate lunch from tables laden with home made food. The trees which furnished them shade were planted as these people were growing up.

Indian Dances

A group of colorful Kiowa Indians from Anadarko, Okla., drew very large crowds with their dazzling costumes and dances. Old and young alike composed the crowd as kids and grownups alike strained their necks, stood on boxes, and climbed buildings for a glimpse at the costumed entertainers.

An hour-long drawing sponsored by 70 Hereford merchants climaxed the full day's activities. Any person who had registered in one of the stores was eligible to receive a prize.

These were the pioneer's days. More than likely many people saw friends and relatives whom they hadn't seen for years. And maybe they saw friends whom they won't see for years.

Dr. Lawrence said, "It should also be emphasized that this bill is simply an effort to provide a benefit that has not been given to farmers, business men, professional men and many other self-employed persons," he continued.

Affects 11 Million

Dr. Lawrence said that there are 50 million employed people with retirement benefits and fringe benefits that are taken from their gross income and not net income. The 11 million who do not benefit other plans include 4 million farmers, 500,000 professional people and 6½ million other non-agricultural

Rain KO's Golf Tournament Here

Rampaging Tierra Blanca Creek had its turn at the tee box Wednesday as it violated its banks and spread a blanket of water over a portion of the Hereford Golf Course.

This caused postponement of the first round of the annual Club Championship Golf Tournament. The golfers were to play 18 holes Wednesday and shoot the final 18 Sunday, June 3, and the final 18 the next Sunday, pro Bud Posey said.

Charles Seed and Max Drever tied for medalist with an even par 72. The pair will play off the tie on the first 18 holes of the tournament. After tying for medalist the pair was installed as co-favorites for the tournament.

Defending champion Bob Lindsey did not qualify. Other low qualifiers were John Renner with a 73, Jeff Milton's 74, and a 75 by D. B. Roberson.

Letter To The Editor

I wish to take this way of saying "Thank You" to the staff at the Deaf Smith County Hospital. We had our daughter's (Barbara) tonsils out May 23 at the hospital. Everyone was so very nice. It was good to be welcomed into a place that was full of smiles; a happiness as all the staff spoke to you. One of the staff took me around the hospital. It was so nice and clean upstairs and down. You could see that everyone of the staff was proud to be a member of the family there. They took pride in their jobs to help clean and help heal the sick. The people of Deaf Smith County should be so proud of the hospital. Again we say thanks to Dr. L. B. Barnett and all the staff at the Deaf Smith County Hospital. For a nice visit in Hereford.

ment program, Carolyn Virden gave a short talk on looking into the future and Jimmie Auten spoke on the importance of the past four years of high school. After the commencement program was over, the seniors, their guests and parents, went to an all-night party at the Jim Hill Hotel.

There were approximately 200 attending, reported Mrs. Troy Moore, general chairman of the party arrangements. Games of dominoes, ping-pong, cards and bingo were provided and Weldon Bright's Orchestra of Amarillo played for the dance. At 2 a.m., the group went to a movie at the Star Theatre. Breakfast was served at 4 a.m. in the Jim Hill Ballroom, and afterwards most of the group returned to the movie.

Favors of senior silhouettes and small flowers on cards were given to the guests.

to guide them in the discovery that the church may be a friendly place where people love and help each other, and where they learn about God and Jesus, to provide opportunity to work and play in a group and give service to others, said the Rev. S. M. Dunnam, pastor.

Study Ideas

Other study ideas incorporated in the study include the Primary course designed to deepen children's understanding of, and appreciation for, the Bible by a few simple discoveries about its message, how it came to us and was carried around the world.

Purpose of the Junior course is to create interest in the old Testament, and give the boys and girls a better understanding of the people and their lives and experiences in their search for God. Old Testament stories and scenes will be re-enacted through dramatizations and other activities.

Rodeo Draws 2,000 Here Friday Night

Spills were a dime a dozen in the opening performance of the Hereford Riders Club Amateur Rodeo here Friday night.

Over 50 contestants participated in five events, calf roping, double mugging, bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, and the barrel race.

An estimated crowd of 2000 people were on hand to witness the event. Previously the Riders Club had sponsored an RCA sanctioned professional rodeo, but went to amateur this year.

Contestants were vying for saddles and prize money. A performance was scheduled Saturday night and another is set for Sunday afternoon.

Good Times Recorded

Several top-notch times were recorded in calf roping. Dick Ratjen of Happy recorded the best time of the night, a 13.0, but he was followed closely by former Texas Tech star quarterback from Post, Jack Kirkpatrick. Kirkpatrick recorded a 14.0. Jack Ratjen of Happy had a 15.8, while Earl Monroe of Melrose, N. M., recorded a 17.0 and Jack Harris of Kress 17.4.

The top calf roper is decided by the best average of two performances. However, the saddle is given only for the best average of four performances. To be eligible to win the saddle, the cowboy must enter both the calf roping and double mugging.

Two Hereford cowboys, Floyd Cole and Oliver West, each took "no time" in the calf roping contest.

Eldon Blackburn of Melrose, N. M., walked away with the best time in the double mugging, 21.7. T. W. Flenniken of Crosbyton had a 23.8, and Jerry Dean of Lovington, N. M., recorded a 28.0. Kirkpatrick had only a 42.

Three cowboys rode for the time

Crowds Throng Swimming Pool At Opening Wed.

Over 350 people thronged the Hereford Swimming Pool, contenting themselves in cool water and a blistering sun on the pool's opening day, Wednesday.

Pool Manager Jiers Hudson reported that about 375 entered that day. The weather, too, was ideal for the situation. A blistering sun, which made the air humid after the previous day's rain, sprayed numerous sun bathers and swimmers with its warm rays.

Life Guards Cubby Kitchens and Johnny Poindexter said that there were no accidents on the opening day.

The younger age group seemed to dominate the patrons, but there was no visible preference by either sex. The large turnout indicated that the pool will again be a success this year.

As a by-product of the swimming pool, the Red Cross will give free swimming lessons. A certificate will be given each swimmer upon the completion of the course. A charge of 25 cents per session will be charged for entrance into the pool. Overall fee will be two dollars, Hudson said.

There will be two sessions during the summer. One will start June 11 and the other July 9. Each student will be given three lessons per week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday or Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Three courses of instruction will be given at each session. The beginners class will begin at 10 a.m., the advanced at 11 a.m. and the seniors at 9 a.m. Should weather prevent a lesson, additional time will be given to assure each student the complete course.

It is 2300 miles from Gibraltar to the Suez canal.

Beauty At Home

Q. Is the application of alcohol good for facial pimples?
A. Yes. It has a tendency to dry up the pimples, and also serves as a disinfectant.
Q. What is the best way to apply facial rouge?
A. Remember that a warm glow is what you want, not a spot of color! To attain this result, place a bit of rouge under the center of your eye and blend it out to your hairline; then carry it very lightly from the center of the eye down no lower than the tip of the nose; from there work it upward to the hairline beyond your eye; and finally, blend the rouge smoothly and carefully into your skin tones.

Pioneer Day was a tremendous success, except for one thing—Alex Thompson wasn't there. Everywhere you went, the fact was mentioned by some of the old timers.

In this respect, however, Pioneer Day will be no exception. Alex Thompson will be missed in many walks of life around Hereford during the next decade. There is no other person, in fact, who could be more missed than Alex—or, differently phrased, there was never another person who actually did so many things, appeared in so many places or contributed so much to the life of this community as Alex Thompson. Day or night, Alex was always on the job with a smile and a kind word and usually with his camera. During the past five years, I would estimate that Alex gave away some 15,000 prints.

The wonderful thing about Alex, though, was the fact that he enjoyed life so much that he radiated his enjoyment to others and, first thing you know, everyone else was having as much fun as Alex.

Never before have I ever known anyone with such a wonderful personality, such a genuine outlook on life as Alex Thompson. To hundreds and hundreds of people, he was symbolic of Hereford, just as Uncle Sam is symbolic of the United States.

One thing about Alex was the fact that nothing ever happened to him in an orthodox or routine manner. Alex became superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School in 1917—almost four decades ago—but last Sunday was the day which the teachers, department heads and church set aside to present Alex with a new suit and to pay tribute to his long years of service and accomplishment.

Today, those same things will again be remembered and recognized in that same church and Sunday School—but Alex's jovial remarks and sincere happiness of last Sunday will be those by which his dearest friends will remember him as the years pass. It is truly wonderful that such a timely tribute could have been paid—and it is for all the world just like Alex would have wanted it, because he spent his entire life making things easier for his friends.

There are thousands of wonderful things which could be said about Alex Thompson, but those who knew him well will recall these many things from time to time, and many of them will remember him always as "Mr. Hereford." Without question, he was one swell guy.

The pioneers, men and women who faced untold hardship a half century ago know all of these things better than anyone else—and they swallowed their grief and went right along, just as Alex would have directed had he been on the scene.

Vern Witherspoon, in fact, got me behind the eight ball, to such extent that I have to eat my words—after two pieces of Vinegar Pie. Vern, who is a double-crosser from Old La Platta, wound up by putting me on with Bill Harris to help him judge. We were unanimous in giving the first prize to Mrs. J. D. Bourn, and I've got to admit that this Vinegar Pie is "super." I was telling Mrs. Ida Vaughn about it, and she says that the pioneers came up with the delicacy as a result of necessity. Often, says Mrs. Vaughn, the old timers were short on ingredients—so they substituted vinegar for a tart, wonderful flavor. She says back in the old days she often made the filling and that her nine boys would sop it up with biscuits at breakfast.

Anyway, I sure was wrong about Vinegar Pie! I can see now why Vern was offering the prize. The only thing wrong was that it slowed me down on chicken and potato salad later on. Beryl Elliston also came around with a piece of Butter Milk Pie—but I was too full to hold another bite. This is a treat to which I am looking forward in 1957.

I always thought that being on the school board was the worst possible office anyone could hold. However, I am beginning to wonder if being on the City-Zoning Commission isn't worse. These fellows get no salary, except in cutting remarks and gripes. They seem to be doing their dead level best—but they always wind up making someone unhappy. Anyway, it would be a close second to the school board job.

Thanks to the rains, several people are going to cut some dry land wheat. Not a whole lot, but more than most people expected. Robert Wagner says he has some that will go maybe 10 bushels. I signed as the town of Hereford. He helped the Masons, a group which he has belonged to since 1907, build their old hall over the First State Bank, and later, to acquire their present land.

Alex was elected Sunday School Superintendent of the First Baptist Church before it moved from its old location to the present building and has served in that capacity for 39 years—since 1917.

He has seen the Sunday School enrollment grow from about 150 to 1500, and has helped with the organization of three Baptist Churches and Sunday Schools. These missions have grown and become separate churches with a total Sunday School enrollment of 800.

The Dawn Baptist Church also started as a mission of the First Baptist Church of Hereford and, again, Alex was in on the organization and building of the group.

In the latter part of the 1920's Alex was a member of the school board for two terms. One term he served as president of the group.

One of the few charter members of the Hereford Lions Club that is still active in the group, Alex was a representative from Hereford to the international convention in Havana in 1941.

The first county fair that Hereford ever had found Alex in there with his sleeves rolled up trying to help get it organized and doing his best to make it go over. Then the exhibits were put in the courthouse and the livestock was housed at the livery stable. After the first year, Alex found himself serving on some committee each year to keep the fair going in the county.

About 1910 Alex decided that Hereford needed a baseball park so he proceeded to build one from lumber he had on hand. He also served as manager of the baseball team in 1910.

Alex attended the Wilson School in Gainesville. He also attended the Gainesville Business College before moving to Hereford at the age of 19.

He still thought he needed some more schooling, so he enrolled in the Hereford Christian College and went to school there until it was disbanded.

It was at the Hereford Christian College that he met Audrey Argo and the courtship during that particular phase of his schooling caused his mother to name the Christian College "the sparking school." They were married on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 26, 1908.

The first job Alex ever had was the foot route delivering newspaper also hear that G. W. Brumley has some that will run upward from six bushels. There seems to be quite a few patches here and there, all more the exception than the rule.

These rains could also make quite a difference in our long range economic picture. If we get sufficient moisture, it is logical that we may shift into high gear on wheat in 1957. We wouldn't completely forget grain sorghums, but they sure would take a back seat. All of which should make a lot of people happy, including Mr. Secretary Benson.

ers for the Gainesville Record. Then later he started to work in the Gainesville Clerk's office.

He quit that job when his father bought a farm near Hereford and Alex came to Hereford to work on the farm. It took him 13½ days to make the trip in a wagon in 1902.

In 1906 the family moved to Hereford.

About 1910 Alex started the A. O. Thompson Lumber Yard where Mrs. J. F. Ward lives now.

Elected county clerk in 1914, he served the county until 1921. After that he worked at the Dunlap Hardware Store for two years.

Alex later started selling Fords for Henry Wilkins, a job he kept until he bought the abstract plant in 1925, which was also the year he was elected county surveyor.

As an amateur photographer, Alex in his spare time built a modern dark room in 1940. Very few people over the county would think of having anything without asking Alex to come and make their pictures.

He had promised to make the Pioneer Day pictures Friday for the annual celebration.

Robinson Named Zone Chairman

Appointment of J. W. Robinson, Jr., as chairman of Zone 2, District 27-1, for Lions International was made this week by Don Stark, recently elected district governor. Robinson, a former president of the Hereford club, has been active in Lions Club work on a local and regional basis for the past five years. Clubs included in his zone will be those at Earth, Spade, Sudan and Hale Center.

Miss Phillips, Mr. Barbee Wed

Rev. James T. Pickens, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Vega, read the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. Tuesday evening in the First Christian Church, uniting in marriage Miss Earlena Phillips and William Garland Barbee of Amarillo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Phillips, 407 Ave. K. Mr. Barbee's parents are Mr. F. Barbee and the late Mrs. Barbee of Goodlett.

Tall baskets of white gladiol and blue carnations established the color theme of the wedding against a background of greenery and lighted tapers in candelabra at the altar.

Mrs. Ellis Coombes, organist, played a prelude of wedding music preceding the ceremony and accompanied Miss Collins Brown, soloist, who sang "O Promise Me," "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer." The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was used as the processional and Clair de Lune was played softly as the vows were spoken. Wagner's "Midsummer's Night Dream" was played as the bridal party left the church.

Bridal Attendants

Attending the bride were Miss Beth Beene of Vega, Mrs. Laverne Harwell of Vega and Mrs. Frances Phillips, sister-in-law of the bride, of Amarillo. They wore identically made dresses of sky blue crystalline fashioned along Princess lines with matching shrug jackets. They carried nosegays of pale blue carnations. Flower girls were Kathy and Sue Barbee, nieces of the bridegroom.

Glenn Barbee, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Roger Morris of Vega, Bennie Short of Crowell, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and W. B. Phillips Jr., brother of the bride.

Candlelighters

Dorothy Phillips and Elizabeth Phillips, nieces of the bride, lighted the candles. Their dresses of sky blue eyelet embroidered cotton, matched those worn by the flower girls.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a picture gown of white net over matching taffeta, designed with strapless lace bodice and full floor length skirt. Completing the costume was a lace jacket having a Queen Anne collar and three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a lace crown embellished with seed pearls and the bridal bouquet was a single white orchid carried on her Rainbow Bible.

Her only jewelry was a three-strand pearl necklace and teardrop ear rings, the gift of the bridegroom. Something old, new, borrowed and blue were included and she wore a penny in her slipper for luck.

The bride's mother wore a blue lace dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's step mother wore navy linen with white accessories and both wore a red rose bud corsage.

Reception in Bride's Home

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with a hand crocheted cloth over blue with the bride's bouquet forming the center piece. The two-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Glenn Barbee, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and his sister, Mrs. Bennie Short, poured. Mrs. Dean LaFever registered the guests in the bride's book of names.

When the couple left on a short honeymoon trip to points in New Mexico, the bride was wearing a navy linen suit complemented with white and navy accessories and the orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will be at home at 1941 South Aspen St. Amarillo.

Making up the receiving line were the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. Ed Jesko, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John Hacker. House party duties were assumed by the hostesses and Marcella Bezner presided at the guest register.

The couple will be married on Monday morning June 4 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Murphy of Gainesville spent the past weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Young. They were joined here by another daughter of the Youngs, Mrs. C. E. Leasure Jr., and family of Amarillo, for a trip to Palo Duro Canyon Sunday.

BROTHER DIES

TRADITIONAL—It is too, the old-time circus, says Michael Burke, shown with one of his props.

Old Time Circus Is Adult Show, Arena Boss Insists

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Michael Burke, a guy crazy for circuses, wishes folks would get over a couple of widely held notions about the world of tanbark, tumblers and tigers.

"We are always getting letters asking us to bring back the old-time circus," says Burke, "and people are always saying that the circus is chiefly for youngsters."

The first comment baffles him and "we tell them we have preserved the old circus." To the second he retorts:

"If it's so much a kid's show, how come 60 percent of audiences are grown-ups? It's like buying electric trains at Christmas. Pop just uses the youngsters as an excuse for something he wants himself."

Nostalgia so demonstrated causes Burke to glow happily. For as executive director of the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus which has started its annual cross-country tour, it is up to Burke to find the magic ingredients to keep turnstiles clicking and cotton-candy machines spinning.

Behind the tinsel, spangles and bareback riders there is an almost mathematical precision about the ingredients for a circus.

"What makes a circus go a way back now," Burke says, "Just what we do is try to keep all the parts properly balanced. Basically we keep that old format."

"All that we've done is embellished it with three or four specialties each season."

Burke has ready answers to a couple of other common questions he finds in circus mail:

"Why have three rings working, instead of just one? If we did the latter we wouldn't be the greatest show on earth."

"Why don't we parade when the circus gets to a town any more? Well, that is just because traffic has gotten so heavy in most places, the police won't let us."

Maybe that's what causes all the old-time yen.

Regal Look Is Warm-Weather Fashion In Cosmetics This Season

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor—If you've been wondering why your new hat doesn't live up to your expectations, perhaps it's because of that old makeup.

You wouldn't dream of wearing fashion colors that were popular seasons ago. Why wear makeup that's been kicking around that long?

A new hat and fur stole for instance, certainly justify a new wardrobe of makeup. Most women now also include eye makeup in their regular makeup kit. It has become just as accepted as lipstick and fingernail polish.

The look for warm weather will be the regal one. The hair is short (in spite of what hair-dressers have been plugging) and hats are large and ladylike. The silhouette is slim. Makeup is muted, except for the eyes, which seem to take more obvious decoration each year—the eye line may be just as apparent as you wish without causing undue comment.

The natural lip line is still with us, thank heavens. So lips will not cover the lower jaw or fall into an artificial rosebud for the rest of the season.

Lipstick shades are warm. Pink ones have more depth than ever before. One new shade, a pink fire, is said to be "pinker than red and redder than pink."

That sums up the pinks—they're all aglow to new fashion colors from pink to coral to red. Pink takes to navy, beige and gray too. The lovely thing about pink is that it is becoming to young and old. It gives a youthful complexion a radiance and the older complexion a real lift. A new rose blush foundation is a lovely undertone of pink too for this time of the year.

When applying makeup, don't forget your neck. You'll find if you change to a new makeup skin tone shade your winter neck will show up like a totem pole unless you include it in when you apply foundation and powder.

It's just about time, too, to treat your neck to a good oil bath. Apply a special neck cream, nourishing cream or any other good kind of cream to your neck each night until you've finally put it back in the smooth bracket. The after-winter neck takes a lot of hard work.

KING CRABMEAT SALAD

Ingredients: 2 cans (6½ ounces each) fancy King crabmeat, 1 1/3 cups finely diced celery, 1 cup of mayonnaise, 1 cup commercially prepared sour cream, ½ teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon finely grated onion (juice and juice), 2 tablespoons lemon juice, salt, pepper, salad greens, sliced cucumbers.

Method: Drain crabmeat; reserve claw pieces, pulling out tendons. Remove any cartilage from the rest of the shredded crabmeat—mix with celery. Stir mayonnaise, sour cream, sugar, paprika, grated onion, lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste together. Add enough of this dressing to crabmeat-celery mixture to moisten; spoon over salad greens. Garnish with crabmeat claws and sliced cucumbers. Pass extra sour-cream dressing. Makes 4 servings.

Note: If sour cream is not available in your market use an all-mayonnaise dressing seasoned with lemon juice, chili sauce and finely grated onion.

Velvet Feud Stirs Hatdom

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

IT SEEMS some milliners aren't speaking to other milliners, and store buyers are divided into warring factions, all over the question of whether American women should be allowed to buy velvet hats in summer.

With the world in its present state and a presidential election coming up, this may seem a frivolous subject for strong feelings, but in the fashion world things can get tense over the drape of a skirt or the slant of a buttonhole.

For many years, you see, millinery buyers had the seasons neatly catalogued: straws for spring and summer, velvets for early fall and felts for winter and satins for holiday wear. This made life easy.

Then along came some millinery designers who suggested that pastel velvet hats looked wonderful in early spring, and deep-toned velvets were dramatic in big-brimmed summer styles.

The trend has been going on a couple of years now, with velvet year-round wear.

SUMMER VELVETS—FIGHTING WORDS—Here are three velvet hats designed by Walter Florell for spring and summer wear, which set off a millinery war. Left to right are: toque beret in ice cream pink crushed velvet with dangling evel; burgundy velvet crescent with long-stemmed rose; ruby velvet Apache beret draped to form visor faced in black velvet.

Things arrived at their present boiling point after a recent showing of velvet hats for spring and summer by designer Walter Florell, who showed a series of 20 hats in all shades of red, from palest pink to deepest ruby. Some buyers protested that they couldn't sell straws if velvets were to be promoted for summer wear. An influential trade paper ran an editorial advising buyers to stick to their seasons and give straws a chance.

But milliners continued to sell velvet hats.

So if you want to wear a velvet hat this summer, go ahead. You'll have a lot of company. And besides, a little controversy makes life interesting.

Following the picnic lunch the children were taken to the Lion's Club Kiddie Park for a recreation period, before returning to afternoon classes.

CONTRAST IN GENERALS
FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—More than 100 United States Army generals were on hand for ceremonies honoring the retirement from active service of Lt. Gen. Floyd L. Parks' after 38 years in uniform.

In 1930, according to a historian present, there were exactly 65 generals in the entire United States Army.

NICKELS PAY OFF
SALIDA, Colo. (AP)—This mountain town charges a five cent fine for auto parking meter violations. City officials said enforcement has become easier because of motorists' cooperation under the nominal fine system. Few motorists have overstayed their parking time and those who have readily paid up, police said. Motorists who ignore the five cent fine are brought into court for stiffer penalties.

Vacations, Market Trips, Graduation Campaign Stops Keep Hereford Busy

By CAROL INMAN
And this isn't the end of the busy schedule either! John Aiken's brother, A. M., who is a candidate for Lt. Governor, visited with John and his family while on a tour of parts of Texas this week. A. M. gave the commencement address at Phillips Junior College Wednesday night at Borger, then spoke at the Lions Club in Dumas Thursday noon.

He stopped to visit with John Thursday while traveling through Hereford, Vega, and Dalhart. But even that was short-lived. A. M. then had to go to Tulla Thursday evening to speak, and caught a plane in Amarillo Friday morning for Brownfield.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reynolds were house guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Parker of Crosbyton recently. Mrs. Parker is the sister of Mr. Reynolds. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reynolds were also in Crosbyton, visiting from San Antonio for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ewing and family of Sunray visited Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Lundry. Then they all went to Dimmitt Sunday to visit Ewing's parents. The Lundrys also went to Seminole recently with Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Teague. The Teagues visited in the home of Mrs. A. J. Castleberry, and Clint and Dorothy Lundry went on to Andrews to visit her sister, Mrs. S. H. Stanford.

A family reunion for the A.B. Londons recently! Jack, his wife, and daughter Cheryl, who live in Kaufman, visited in his parents' home for a week, and then Bill, his wife, daughter Susan, and son Boyd came to Hereford from Lubbock to visit with Jack and family before they returned home. Bob and Charlene Lawrence and daughter returned home Thursday from Colorado, where they had spent a short vacation at their cabin.

Norma Hamby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamby, left Friday afternoon for Ruidoso, N. M. She plans to visit there with her sister, Pat Sparks, for the entire summer.

And off to the horse show! For O. G. Hill Jr., Foster Hill, Bill Kendall, Curt Barkley, and E. D. Hopson, that is. They went to Ft. Sumner Saturday to an annual horse show held there. O. G.'s horse, Hickory Ann, took first place as Grand Champion in the Mare Class. Alibi Hill, Kendall's horse, received second place in the "54 Studs" class, and Hopson's horse, Mr. Rand, received second place in the "53 Studs" class. Week after next they plan to enter their horses in a horsemeshow in Plainville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Taylor of Whiteface spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moad. Then Sunday they all went to Amarillo to visit the J. C. Simmons, who are friends of the family.

From California. . . Mr. and Mrs. Bill Heiman and baby of Los Angeles. . . visiting with aunt and uncle. . . Mr. and Mrs. John Albracht. . . Tuesday.

Among those from Hereford attending the American Fashion Association's Fall and Back to School market in Dallas May 27-June 1. . . Mrs. Arthur Thompson. . . Miss Helen McCauley. . . Bess Moore. . . Mrs. Irving Alexander. . . Gene Moore. . . J. R. Johnson.

Raymond Webb and Eldon Powell, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Powell are now visiting in his parents' home. They are stationed in Oklahoma. The J. N. Burgins of Sinton visited with the V. D. Powells Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett are probably having fun about now. They left recently for a fishing trip in Hot Springs, Ark.

Cecilia Wilkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wilkins, is arriving today for a three-week visit. She has been working at North-west Texas Hospital in Amarillo. And Rosemary Cronin, nurse at Deaf Smith County Hospital, is in Abilene this weekend attending a reunion of her class at Hendricks Memorial Hospital.

Gift Party Honors Mrs. James White

Mrs. John Sands and Mrs. Herbert Haseloff were hostesses at a morning coffee honoring Mrs. Jimmy White Tuesday.

The refreshment table was laid with a cutwork linen cloth and centered with a ceramic container, holding an arrangement of roses. Lovely gifts were presented to the honoree and coffee and breakfast dainties were served.

Those attending were Mesdames T. M. Cox, Richard Winget, Donald Shipley, Pat Robinson, W. B. Goates, Donald Frizzell, Hugh Clearman, J. N. Kingery, Jeff Robertson, W. H. Patton and the honoree.

Those sending gifts were Mesdames Preston Hagans, Ira Scott and G. S. Wheeler.

MR. AND MRS. JACK D. BURRUS

Miss Martha Jean Brown Is Married To Jack D. Burrus

Before a background of Emerald palms, fan shaped arrangements of Maroon daisies and gladioli and lighted tapers centered with a pedestal gold cross, Miss Martha Jean Brown and Jack D. Burrus exchanged vows.

The double-ring ceremony was read Friday at 7 p.m. in the First Methodist Church sanctuary. Flanking the satin covered kneeling bench at the altar, were fan-shaped bouquets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. White satin ties marked the pews designated for the families.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Caudie Ola Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Burrus of Dawn.

The Rev. S. M. Dunnam, pastor, conducted the ceremony and Mrs. S. M. Dunnam served as organist, playing a medley of nuptial music while guests were arriving. She also played the traditional wedding marches and gave soft musical background as the vows were spoken.

Colline Brown, sister of the bride was soloist. Her offerings were "Through the Years" and "My Hero" completing the ceremony with "The Lord's Prayer."

Attendants
Emma Jane Brown wearing an aqua crystalline street length dress and carrying a basket bouquet of cocoa brown daisies, served her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Colline Brown and Jo Hall. They wore cocoa brown crystalline dresses and carried basket bouquets of aqua daisies. Patricia Burrus of Dawn, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

She wore an aqua crystalline frock and carried a flower basket of daisy petals. All feminine attendants wore white gloves and shoes and crowns of daisies matching their dresses.

Candlelighters were Mrs. Pat McCullough of Lubbock and Barbara Sue Rogers. Their dresses were of aqua crystalline.

Buddy Godfrey served as best man and groomsmen were Ralph Atchley of Dawn and Lindley Davils of Lazbuddie. Ushers were Chas. Burrus and Bobby Burrus, brothers of the bridegroom, Keith Hodges and Charles Springer.

Bride Wears White Lace

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Emmett Brown, wore white lace over matching taffeta fashioned with elongated bodice having a low square neckline and short sleeves. The bodice was attached to a bouffant skirt of tulle tiers. Her waist length veil of illusion was caught to a pill box encrusted with rows of seed pearls, and she carried a white satin covered Bible topped with white orchid showered with satin streamers and maline.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece rose suit of Tropica sitting with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pastel blue lace dress with pearl and rhinestone trim. Both had a corsage of white carnations.

Reception in Ward Hall

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Ward Hall with the bridal table featuring the attendants baskets of flowers as the center attraction. Mrs. Pat McCullough and Barbara Sue Rogers presided. Miss Della Stagner presided at the guest register.

For the wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., the bride chose a fitted suit of wheat colored linen with white collar and dark brown accessories. The orchid from the wedding bouquet was used as a going-away corsage.

After June 3, the couple will be at home at 110 Lake St., until early fall when they will return to West Texas State College in Canyon, where both are students.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Hereford High School and have completed their freshman year at W.T. She was a member of Psi-Hi-Y, High School Band, M.Y.F. in high school and a member of The Order of Rainbow for Girls. He was a member of Hi-Y and played football, basketball and baseball in high school.

At W.T. she was a member of the College Band, the Student Senate and the Square Dance Club. Mr. Burrus was a member of the College Baseball Team at W. T. and served as president of the Square Dance Club.

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor,

Since the announcement came out in the Hereford Brand regarding a liquor election, I have had several calls, asking why I had signed the petition.

I wish to state that I did not sign the petition and I would not have signed had I been given the opportunity. As was stated in your column last Sunday, I like Hereford as it is and would not vote for legalized liquor in Deaf Smith County.

Very truly yours,
Sylvester Slagle

Beauty At Home

Q. How can a young girl best choose her most flattering hairstyle?

A. By giving herself a real "facial analysis." Brush your hair back and study your profile from each side; study the top and back of your head and your skull structure; look at your forehead, nose, mouth, and chin line; decide whether your face is oval, round, oblong, square, diamond, or triangular. Next, experiment with current hairstyles until you find one that counteracts your less desirable features and gives your face the illusion of being the preferred oval shape.

Q. What means can I use to prevent my gold or silver slippers from tarnishing?

A. Try keeping them well wrapped in old stockings, when they aren't in use.

Q. How can I minimize the ugly-looking enlarged pores on my nose?

A. By frequent and regular bathing of the nose with a little lukewarm water and borax.

Q. What can I do about bunions on my feet?
A. Not much, I'm afraid. Their only effective cure is surgery. You can, however, give yourself some relief by use of adhesive padding and the choice of well-fitting shoes. A compress of absorbent cotton, soaked in witch hazel, is also very soothing.

Q. How can I treat my hair, which seems to have taken on a dull and brittle quality?

A. You can help this condition with hot-oil and egg shampoos. Follow the shampoo with a drop of oil or a creamy lanolin rinse in the final rinse water.

Q. Can you suggest a good way for me to clean my pearls?
A. Rub some olive oil on them with a piece of flannel or chambray. Go easy, however, on the amount of oil you use and the pressure of your rubbing.

raise it as far up to the chest as you can. Lower left knee, and repeat same procedure with right knee. Alternate these two leg-raising movements like a drum major's jockey.

Q. What is a good treatment for a skin that is excessively oily?
A. The use of a complexion brush several times weekly, while giving the face its soap-and-water cleansings, is very beneficial. This helps to awaken those sluggish pores, and should in time counteract that oiliness.

Has Any Other Generation Seen Such Progress?

From Covered Wagons To Jet Planes In 50 Years

Did you ever stop to wonder what the old timers think about when they gather here on Pioneer Day?

No one will ever know, of course, except the individual pioneers. It is interesting to note, however, that these people have seen the greatest development and progress in the history of the world; also that they have moved from the "ridiculous" to the "sublime" in living standards of America.

Many of these same pioneers who came to Deaf Smith County in covered wagons in recent years stood on their front porches and saw vapor trails left by jet planes which travel at speeds well beyond 500-miles-per-hour. Women who lugged water in pails and who cooked over cow chip fires have lived through such an era of progress that they now take scores of household conveniences for granted. Men who rode miles to deliver a message now pick up their telephone and talk from their homes to cities and towns all over the world.

Everyone has a telephone, electric lights and running water. Today, these items are classified as necessities, rather than luxuries. Throw in a few other "necessities" such as automatic washing machines, clothes dryers, dish washing machines, air conditioners, central heating, electric refrigerators and freezer chests—and you have a striking contrast with the old kerosene lamp, the pot-bellied stove, and No. 2 wash tub which the pioneer settlers used in this area less than 50 years ago.

The conveniences of modern day living, no doubt, have far outdistanced the fondest hopes and dreams of the early settlers who drew up their wagons, picked out a spot to file, or to buy land as low as 50 cents an acre. Yes, the pioneers who gathered here this past week have, without question, seen the most revolutionary changes in the history of mankind.

As we said, only the pioneers can know what they think but, surely, some of them must review this era of progress with mixed emotions. Those who learned to live frugally no doubt ponder occasionally over the fact that the average utilities bill (electricity, gas, water and sewer) today costs the average family more each month than a family of eight persons spent for their entire living at the turn of the century. Others are bound to note with reluctance that the empire they worked and sweated to build could not efficiently operate today without government price supports and subsidies.

To those of us who follow along in their footsteps, however, it is apparent that the pioneers laid the foundation for these modern achievements. When we use our heritage to improve the living standards of America, we can rest assured that many of them will be pleased and happy. This is especially true of those who "came West" to face privation and hardships in order that their children could enjoy many advantages which they, themselves, were denied. This was the dream which motivated many of the pioneers.

Hereford Juveniles Have Good Record

In these days when black headlines continually scream with the deeds of juvenile delinquents, it is a refreshing circumstance to notice a trend in the opposite direction.

We do not mean to convey the idea that the youth of Hereford are blameless, far from it. However, when the ground observer corps was recently organized in Hereford a general call was sent out for volunteers—and the "teenagers" of the community answered the call by the ratio of two for each adult. This ratio, in fact, is that upon which the setup is operating today.

Since the ground observers are primarily organized as a method of air defense, along with tornado alerts, even the most critical of persons is bound to admit that our youth does recognize responsibility—and that they are willing to accept their part. The very fact that they volunteer on the ratio of two-to-one indicates that some of the more critical adults might well take a good look at themselves before casting too many stones.

For each juvenile offense on criminal records there will also be found several adult offenses. Some of the things for which our youth are arrested, in fact, might well have been classified as pranks when many of today's adults were growing youngsters.

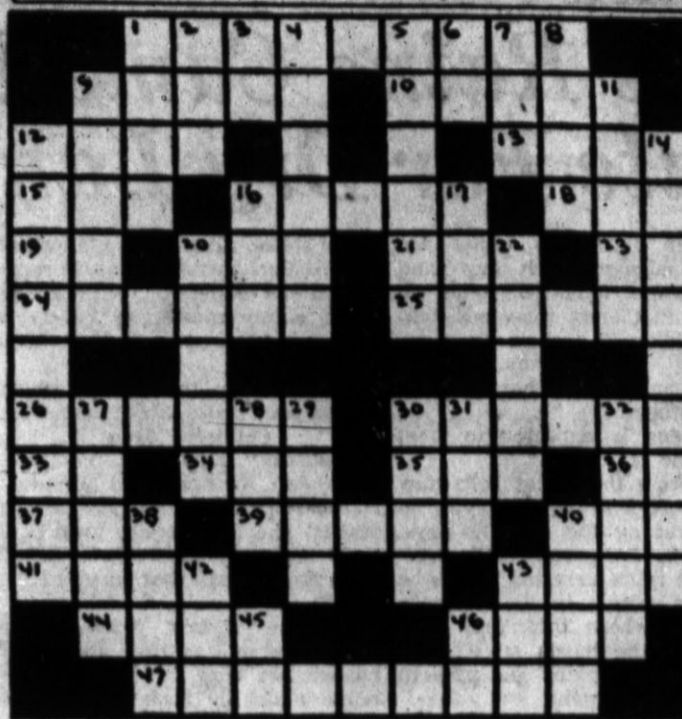

Certainly the juvenile population of today is more alert, better educated and has far more general knowledge than that of 25 and 30 years ago. That their interest in development and preparation for life has increased is indicated by the fact that 13 students of the 108 graduates in 1956 maintained an "A Average" during their entire four years of high school. This is phenomenal.

There are juvenile situations which deserve to be condemned and brought to a halt. On the other hand, most of us can look back through the years and recall how the "olders" of our era continually predicted that the "young folks were going to the dogs."

Curbing delinquency is important. Channeling it into worthwhile activities is more important. Also, it would appear of equal importance to recognize the good, along with the bad, in our juveniles—and to recognize these merits, giving credit where credit is due. When you sum it up, we believe you'll find a lot of good kids—and very few delinquents.

Community Builders

community builder

This week's Community Builder, Mrs. Urlin Streu, was instrumental in promoting the growth of the Camp Fire organization from its small beginning to one of the largest and most active groups in the county.

In 1938, Mrs. Streu took over the Camp Fire group, the Weconantawastewaste Camp Fire group, that Mary Elizabeth Stanford Barnard organized. At this time, Pioneer Camping stressed groups camping at Ceta Glen, when Hereford had only one Camp Fire group.

Then Council Pioneer Camps met in Gallegos Canyon near Las Vegas, N. M., after Hereford had several groups from which the older and more advanced girls were selected.

During her years with the Camp Fire girls, (which were many because Mrs. Streu worked with the Camp Fire girls until 1955), she received the Wakan Honor in 1947, which is a Camp Fire honor, and in 1956 Mrs. Streu received the Luther Halsey Gulick award.

Born in Virginia, she was born Yetta (known as Jean here) Hackworth Jan. 20, 1910 at Rossmore, Va. When she was less than a year old, her parents came to Texas, living first in Amarillo and then when Mrs. Streu was two years old, they moved to Memphis.

She attended school at Memphis, graduating from Memphis High School in 1927. In the fall of that year, Mrs. Streu entered West Texas State College at Canyon, which she attended for two years. In the 1929-30 school term, she taught the first grade at Childress.

On Aug. 14, 1930, she married Urlin Streu at Memphis and right after their marriage they moved to Hereford. The Streus have one son, Oliver. She has just been working regularly in their store for the last five years.

Outside of her Camp Fire work, Mrs. Streu has been a leader of the Horizon Club and was also den mother of Cub Scouts when Oliver was a Cub.

Charter Member
She is a charter member of the LaPlata Study Club, which was first called the Junior Pioneer Study Club, and was president in 1939. She is also a past president of the County Federation.

Mrs. Streu is a member of the Presbyterian Church and is a substitute Sunday School teacher.

When asked what she thought of Hereford, Mrs. Streu replied, "I think it is a very friendly and very clean and progressive town."

Her reply to what Hereford needs, talking about a youth center, is "In my opinion, a youth center should have crafts, arts and skills; not offer just amusement only." The way to get it, "For this community it would be best to have a professional worker with volunteers under them, but you couldn't depend on volunteers all together."

FAMILY JOB
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — The Grier family is keeping public service in the family.

Robert D. Grier was elected in 1954 as a Justice of The Peace of Precinct 4. He was a Republican then but switched to Democratic last April — too late to run as a Democrat under the state's new primary law.

So Mrs. Grier filed as a candidate for the post. She has no opposition in either Democratic or Republican parties and will be elected automatically. She is a Republican.

INFORMATION, PLEASE
PAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — It had been so long since it rained here that when moisture finally came weather observer Loyd Brumington was swamped with calls wanting to know how much fell. Instead of answering with "hello," Brumington was greeting everyone with a cheery "74 of an inch."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Local Pioneers Give First Impressions Of Hereford

What do you remember most about your first impressions of Hereford?

FRANK BARBER

When I came to this country in 1898 there wasn't any Hereford here and when I first knew this country there wasn't any railroad here. I think it's the best country in the world and we have the finest weather.

MRS. WIRT PHILLIPS

It just looked like it was out in a big open space far away from everything. I came to Hereford in 1906.

JOHN PATTON

I remember most about the tents. There were about as many tents as there were houses in the town when I came in 1900.

MRS. HUGH WITHERSPOON

Windmills in every back yard and so many trees impressed me in 1916. I felt like I was coming home. I had heard of Hereford and had always wanted to live here. Of course it made me very happy when I came here and I have been happy ever since.

MRS. O. G. HILL SR.

The friendliness of the people and the public interest in the educational system, school, etc., were the things I think that I was most impressed with when I came to Hereford in 1921.

MRS. CARL MOUNTZ

The windmills and the roof tops. The houses that were here then had gables and every family had a windmill. Our neighbors and everybody we met were so friendly and when you would meet people on the street they were friendly and would greet you with a "howdy." I came to Hereford in October of 1908 from Iowa.

We have been worried ever since eighth grade graduation exercises about how many of our girls in the class are stooped shouldered.

Most of the boys walked across the stage with square shoulders and sure step but a number of the young ladies, instead of carrying their heads up, had them forward as if they had to pull their bodies along after them.

Of course the high heels might have given them a feeling of being off balance and in loafers they may look different.

Here is Mrs. W. H. Russell's recipe for Meal Pie and in spite of the unromantic sound of the name it is one that we thought very good with an unusual topping. It has been a favorite in her family ever since she has been in the Panhandle and a bunch of boys make a good proving ground for food of any kind. She has had many requests for the recipe.

MEAL PIE

- 2 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup meal
- 1/2 cup butter
- 4 eggs

Cream butter and sugar, add well-beaten eggs and meal and mix well before pouring into an unbaked pie crust. Bake in a slow oven until set.

This recipe makes enough for two pies.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm probably has his banking terms mixed up, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I ran across an item in the paper the other day, well actually I didn't run across it, at the time I was sitting under a tree in the shade out here thumbing through a newspaper and it just showed up before me, which appeals to me.

According to it, a foreign affairs expert in Washington was arguing that the United States ought to get busy and loan some money to a list of countries he'd been investigating because, he said, if we don't Russia will. The fact that the loans might not be any good when the time came to pay them back didn't enter into it, the idea was to loan them some money before Russia did.

Now there's a type of banking I admire and I wonder why the banks in this country can't rise above their narrow, local viewpoint and get up on the international level.

Take two competing banks. If they'd practice international banking and try to beat each other to a shaky customer just to keep the other one from getting to him, you'd find the wheels of business around here beginning to spin.

Banking with an international flavor is what I need. How much lending business do you think Washington would do with other countries if it applied the narrow rules private bankers use?—Make the loan before somebody else does and worry about the paying back later . . . that's the system I'd like to see put into effect.

One week of this kind of banking and you'd see more merchandise moved off the shelves than you've seen in years, but most bankers just can't see it that way, and even if they could, their stock holders couldn't.

If you hear though of any banker getting up on the international level around here and trying to loan me some money before somebody else does, let me know. I'd like to get there before the money's all gone.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Indian Victory In Movies Is Still Navajo Boy's Hope

ALL RIGHT NOW—Paul Reinsch signals his confidence that Indians will some day win a movie battle.

SUN VALLEY Idaho — When Indians bite the dust in wild west movies it makes Paul Reinsch, 10, furious. But now he has met a real, live movie director and some actors and he's convinced that Hollywood isn't conspiring against the Indians. He even hopes he can do something about it some day. Paul is a Navajo Indian and the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reinsch who operate a lonely store at North Fork near here. Like most other American boys, he likes to see a shoot-em-up picture, especially since movies of any kind are scarce in this isolated area. But he has often told his mother that this time he hopes the Indians will come out on top. And his anger rises every time the film sequence lets him down. His live movie director is Josh Logan who arrived at North Fork with truck loads of actors and technicians and used the Reinsch store for a scene in a movie. Paul shot his own stills of the operation with his own camera

READY FOR PRACTICE — BOSTON — One thief can get plenty of practice in lifting things. The Greenwood Youth Center reported a thief stole its exercise weight lifts.

The Rains Came-But Too Late For Dry Land Wheat

Although the rains came too late to salvage much dry land wheat, some irrigated fields in Deaf Smith County show possibility of yielding 40 bushels per acre, according to the Texas Employment Commission's wheat harvest control office. Combining is expected to start about June 14. Throughout the wheat belt, they have received rains in varying amounts during the last 10 days. Generally, the control office reports, the rains were too late to be of benefit except in the northern Panhandle where they may help to fill out the heads on dryland acreage that remains and prevent further abandonment. Early hot, dry weather conditions have hastened the maturing of wheat over most areas. No Labor Needed There will be no demand for out-of-state labor or equipment and custom operators and workers should not come to Texas unless prior commitments or contracts with individual growers have been secured. According to the report, wheat in the area looks about like this: Childress Area Childress, Wellington, Paducah, Clarendon, Memphis and Matador: Harvest operations are just getting started and an average yield of 5 to 10 bushels per acre is expected from the acreage that survived the drought. Silvertown reports indicate dry land wheat will average about four bushels per acre and irrigated acreage about 20 bushels per acre when harvest starts about June 1. Lockney and Floydada: It is estimated that 40,000 acres of irrigated wheat in the county will yield about 20 bushels per acre.

The remaining dry land acreage is expected to yield about three bushels per acre when harvest begins about June 15. Plainview Area Plainview and Tutia: An estimated 80 to 90 percent of the dry land wheat should reach harvest with below normal yields expected. Irrigated acreage should average near normal production. Harvest should start by June 15. Littlefield, Muleshoe, Dimmitt, Farwell and Hereford: Little change since our last report. A few irrigated fields show possibility of a yield of 40 bushels per acre. Combining will begin about June 14. Amarillo, Canyon, Vega, Claude and Panhandle: Rains were mostly too late to help the dry land acreage. Most dry land wheat had been abandoned or grazed earlier. There are some scattered fields that were planted on summer fallow land that are expected to be harvested. The 23,500 acres of irrigated wheat was helped by the recent rains. Harvest should begin about June 10. Dalhart Area Dumas, Stratford, Dalhart and Channing: Rains during the last week were too late to benefit dry land acreage, but will help the irrigated acreage. Dry land acreage that will be harvested will average from three to five bushels per acre and irrigated wheat should average from 12 to 15 bushels per acre when harvest starts about June 10. Pampa, Shamrock and Canadlan: Recent rains have prevented further abandonment, however, they were too late to be of much benefit to the remaining acreage. Harvest should begin about June 15. Borger, Spearman, Perryton and Lipscomb: Recent rains received may help to fill the dry land wheat that remains, but production is expected to be far below normal due to early drought and high winds. Harvest should begin about June 15.

How To Apply for Irrigation Permit Explained in Three Easy Steps

Since permits are required for irrigation wells these days, a step-by-step breakdown on the easiest way to apply for a permit might facilitate matters for the landowner or his agent. He is required to submit the following information to the county committee of Deaf Smith County (or the committee of the county within which the proposed well will be located). 1. Owner and legal description of the land. 2. Measured yards from proposed well site to two (2) nearest property lines, quarter - section lines, or labor lines. 3. Measured yards from proposed well site to the three (3) nearest wells that are within 440 yards or a quarter of a mile. This information is obtained by the applicant and submitted to the County Committee.

Spacing for a proposed well site must meet the published rules and regulations for the size well desired before the application can be approved by three of the five County Committee members. These published spacing requirements are as follows: 4-inch or smaller well must be 200 yards from nearest well or pending permit. 5-inch well must be 250 yards from nearest well or pending permit. 6-inch well must be 300 yards from nearest well or pending permit. 8-inch well must be 400 yards from nearest well or pending permit. 10-inch well or larger must be 440 yards from nearest well or pending permit.

The various sized permits also specify a maximum yield in gallons per minute. These maximums are: 4-inch well or smaller 265 G.P.M. 5-inch well 390 G.P.M. 6-inch well 560 G.P.M. 8-inch well 1000 G.P.M. 10-inch well or larger More than 1000 G.P.M. A $10.00 deposit is required of each applicant. This deposit is refunded in full when the log of the formation and the description of the pump is furnished the County Committee. Forms for submitting this information are furnished the applicant.

The most important things to remember about drilling a well are to make application and have the County Committee approve the permit before the well drilling operation is begun. Also, the well must be drilled within 10 yards of the specified location for the permit to be valid. We hope that the above information will help all applicants who desire well drilling permits. If there should be questions in your mind that are still not clear, please contact your County Secretary or one of your County Committeemen who will be glad to go into your particular problem more thoroughly.

FAINTING BAD MAN
FORT WORTH, Tex. — Police sneaked into a store where three safecrackers were hard at work on a safe. "That's all, boys," announced Officer William O. Sharp, a 26-year veteran of the force. "The show's over."

Whereupon one of the three, Jimmy Olen Coffey, 22, fainted. "Later he came to and fainted again," related Sharp. "In all, he fainted three times before we got to city hall." Coffey, an ex-convict free on bond at the time after being charged with burglary, faced new charges.

Wheelchair Does Not Slow Pittsburgh Church Pastor

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — If you pick up a party line telephone in one Pittsburgh suburb these days you are apt to hear a minister earnestly praying or reading from the Scripture.

No one objects because it is one of the ways a husky 34-year old clergyman is proving that a wheelchair is not an unbeatable handicap. He's the Rev. John W. Pfahler, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

After a tour of duty as a Navy chaplain, Pfahler assumed the pastorate of the small church. He had been there only a year when he was stricken with polio in November, 1934.

Slowly recovering, he was in a wheelchair when he was discharged. His church was waiting for him and in 1935 he assumed his full duties.

Though he's unable to walk his church membership — now at 355 — has nearly doubled. Each Sunday he preaches from the wheelchair and, with the choir, leads the congregational singing.

On week days he holds conferences and conducts other church business. He reads the Scriptures and prays with shut-ins over the telephone.

The resource minister uses his auto for hospital and emergency calls. He reaches his specially equipped auto via a ramp at one end of his front porch. In his spare time he studies for a doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Pittsburgh.

Pfahler is married to the daughter of a Lutheran minister and the couple has four children. Commenting on marital responsibilities he says:

"I feel that we ministers don't have any right complaining about the divorce situation unless we do all we can to make lasting marriages.

As for his handicap, he says: "A wheelchair is no unbeatable handicap. In fact, the situation is developing a strong lay leadership that otherwise wouldn't have existed. I love the ministry. I will stick to it as long as The Lord wants me."

America Is Nation Of Homeowners

America is rapidly becoming a nation of home owners.

A Census Bureau survey indicates that a record 60 percent of the nation's households own or are buying their homes today, compared with only 55 percent in 1930.

Officials see in this trend one of the great social movements of our times and point out that it means better housing with a higher standard of living than ever before in U. S. history.

Americans are today demanding better housing with all the latest improvements for better living the lumber group noted.

"It was public demand which made the contemporary home the hottest selling item in the home industry," they assert. "It was public demand for former luxury paneling, exposed beam ceiling, storage walls, outdoor living areas and informal living which has now made these advantages available to homeowners in every price class."

Labor Camp Day Center To Have Two Workers For Summer Session

A young man and a young woman will direct the activities at the Labor Camp Day Center this year as the accelerated programs offered there during the summer have necessitated having two full time workers for the six weeks' session.

This year the workers will be Benny Zermeno of Houston, a sociology student at Southwestern University in Georgetown, and Miss Kay Caillet, a psychology and sociology major at Phillips University in Enid, Okla.

Attend Conference Both young people will attend a regional training conference session at Benton Harbor, Mich., between June 9 and June 14, and then come to Hereford to assume their work at the Labor Camp, according to Mrs. Earl Plank, who is chairman of the camp work for the local United Church Women's organization.

These workers are selected for their summer jobs after interviews with state and national directors of Migrant Work which is under the auspices of the nation-wide United Council of Churches.

Gets State Commendation Robert Sandman, state director of migrant work in Texas, has commended Hereford upon the success of their efforts in working with migrant labor. This is the third year of the program, according to Mrs. Grant Hanna, president of the local council. Last year Miss Shirley Root was the camp worker.

The summertime program will last six weeks and will encompass activities for pre-schoolers, as well as school-age children and even adults.

Local council pays the salary of one worker and provides room for another. The second worker's salary is paid by the national migrant council.

Costs $800

Mrs. Ray Coneway, treasurer, says the council estimates the labor camp program will cost in the neighborhood of $800. This money is all received through donations or through money-making projects which the council sponsors.

In addition to paying for a summertime employee at the camp, the program includes a year-round service project encompassing activities such as an Easter Egg hunt during the spring and a Santa Claus treat at Christmas.

Dollar Per Member Many women's clubs have donated a dollar per member to the project, and other donations have come in. However, they are, at this time, far short of their goal, Mrs. Coneway pointed out.

Last summer the pre-schoolers were taught supervised play activities, they learned how to play together and how to work together. The program also included instruction in basic sanitation.

How To Pack Fine China

AP Newsfeatures If you're worrying about packing fine china and valuable glass when you move, better make up your mind that time and patience pay off in the project. Well-qualified to give advice on the subject is Charles B. Smith, a Philadelphia expert on antique Wedgwood. Mr. Smith, who has been packing his own fine china pieces for a trip to the New York Coliseum and the International Antiques Exhibition, and Sale offers these tips...

1. Keep cartons small and pack light. No matter how well china and glass are padded with newspaper, weight increases pressure on bottom pieces and chances of breakage are greater.

2. Be sure to pad the bottom of the carton with crushed newspaper. Eight double pages are a minimum for a two-foot square box. Open the newspaper fully, then crush.

3. Be extra careful to pack sides of pieces so that they do not touch or rub. Corrugated paper is the best bet for packing between objects. If newspaper is used, be generous with it.

4. Do not pack a carton until it bulges. This causes rocking and unevenness which may result in damage.

5. The carton should be sturdy and well-sealed at corners.

6. Finally, back plates on edge with several folds of paper wrapped in opposite directions under each piece. That way each plate bears its own weight and is protected on all edges.

Years ago Smith had a $30 breakage loss because of careless packing. It was an expensive lesson then, but now he thinks it was worth every penny — he hasn't had a damaged piece since.

The partition of India in 1947 caused the greatest mass migration in the world's history, says the United Nations.

If you're saving for a big event...

Where you save does make a difference

Big events like weddings are worth saving for. And as over 15 million Americans know, saving in an insured Savings and Loan Association offers important advantages. Excellent returns from your money is one advantage. Another is modern, efficient, forward-looking service. And, of course, your money is safe because in insured Associations your savings are protected by sound management and substantial reserves. They are insured up to $10,000 by the FSLIC—an agency of the U. S. Government. These are the reasons why Americans are putting more of their savings account dollars into insured Savings and Loan Associations than anywhere else! Whatever event you're saving for, start right now to enjoy the worthwhile advantages offered by your nearby insured Association.

Older students learned handicraft, art work, songs, etc. The program even included some adult education classes. Always the events are arranged so that persons living at the camp can take best advantage of the program. For instance, when workers go to work early in the morning, but are off during the heat of the day that's when the day camp schedules activities. Members of the council point out that since the program's inception three years ago, it has increased tremendously in scope. Last year there were approximately 150 children who participated and even more adults.

Summer Camp For Junior?

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Are you trying to decide whether or not to send your youngsters to camp this summer? Ask yourselves some basic questions:

"Is there something our children need this summer that we cannot supply them at home?"

"Would the children get more out of a good camp experience than they'd get out of a good family vacation?"

"Do the children need a vacation from their parents? Do the parents need a vacation from their children?"

If you live in a city, and especially if you live in a small apartment it's going to be hard to arrange for wholesome outdoor activities during the long summer holiday. Camp for city youngsters is often the answer. But if you live in a small place or in the suburbs of a larger city you may have plenty of outdoor possibilities nearby. However, children need more than mere physical surroundings. They need companionship of other youngsters of about the same age, and they often need leadership of some friendly, interested adults.

Maybe one of your children lacks age mates in the neighborhood and rather unhappily tries to tag along with the older children. Perhaps you can invite a cousin or a friend to spend at least part of the summer with you, or maybe camp for this child is in order.

Another important consideration in this camp or no camp decision is whether mother is at home to keep an eye on the children during the long, school-free days.

If mother has a job — as so many mothers do these days — the children will lack the necessary supervision. Some provision needs to be made for them during the hours the house is empty. Again, maybe camp is the answer. But there is another very important consideration for the children of a working mother. A mother with an out-of-the-house job sees less of her children than the full-time mother. A summer holiday with the whole family gives both children and parents a real feeling of togetherness and bustle of heavy daily schedules. A few weeks or maybe even a whole month spent at the beach, camping in the mountains or in a motel near a lake with Mom and Dad may mean much more to children of a working mother than a separate vacation for the children at even the most ideal camp.

On the other hand for the mother who is at home all day every day with her children a little vacation from each other is often good for both.

Many camp directors feel that a child should be at least seven before he is ready for camp. However, there are a few kindergarten camps for younger children. For the homebound mother of two 4 or 5-year-olds, a month without the children might rejuvenate her and make her a much better mother for the coming year.

Wheat Drill Box Survey Conducted In Deaf Smith

Deaf Smith was one of three counties in Texas which participated in a wheat drill box survey last fall, designed to determine the varieties of wheat being planted, and the amount of weed seed, insect material and other crop seed in batches planted.

The survey was undertaken last fall while farmers were planting their winter wheat crop. Members of county agriculture agent's staffs in Deaf Smith, Parmer and Sherman counties obtained seed samples, listed varieties which farmers indicated they were planting.

These samples were sent to College Station along with the identification as to variety that farmers thought they were planting. At headquarters they were tested as to variety and the number of seed per 30 pounds of wheat was

Spotted Alfalfa Aphid Is Posing Serious Threat to Texas Crops

The spotted alfalfa aphid is posing a serious threat to alfalfa in all areas of Texas.

County Agent Hugh Clearman says the spotted alfalfa aphid is whitish-yellow. It is 1/16 to 1/8 inch long, or about 1/2 the size of the pea aphid. They have four to six conspicuous rows of dark spots on their back and winged adults have smoky areas along the wing veins. These insects, says Clearman, can be found, to some extent, in alfalfa fields throughout the year. At first, aphids can be found on lower portions of plants or in debris on the ground. As populations increase, they may be found on all parts of plants. Aphids feed in groups, usually on the underside of lower leaves, sucking juices often causing leaves to turn yellow and shed.

Heavy infestations of aphids cause a reduction in stand and yield of hay, adds Clearman. Honey dew produced by aphids supports sooty mold on hay causing poor quality while making it difficult to dehydrate, cut or to bale the crop.

Control measures should be started as soon as signs of aphids are found in the crop by using malathion or parathion, the only recommended insecticides. In some cases an application of one of these insecticides may be effective for a period of only 7 to 14 days.

Recommended strength is to use one half to one pound of active material per acre on malathion, and to use one quarter pound of anti-parathion per acre in that spray.

A large initial kill may be obtained with the insecticides but the insects have a tremendous capacity to build-up after poisoning, states Fuller. It may require two or more insecticide applications to protect plants between cuttings or to produce a seed crop.

Forage crops treated with parathion should not be grazed or cut for hay for 15 days after treatment while those treated with malathion may be grazed or cut for hay 7 days later, says Clearman. This time lapse is necessary to assure the absence of any poison residue when the crop is cut.

Heroes This Week Include Ulysses, School Teachers, Policemen, Cowboys

ULYSSES
Thousands of years ago, a blind Greek poet first spun the thrilling tale of a great warrior and sailor who fought and won a war and then wandered the Mediterranean for 10 years trying to reach home and his waiting wife and son. The glorious saga, taken by all the world to his heart, became the most widely-read and loved of all epics... and now Paramount Pictures has brought it to the screen in the magnificent "Ulysses," the most lavish motion picture ever filmed abroad.

Portraying Ulysses in Kirk Douglas; Silvana Mangano is excitingly cast in the dual role of the enchantress, Circe, and Ulysses' patient wife, Penelope; Anthony Quinn plays Antinous, the most formidable and demanding of Penelope's suitors; and Italian beauty Rossana Podesta is featured as Nausicaa, the lovely maiden with whom Ulysses falls in love when he is shipwrecked on her father's shore. Several well-known French, German and Spanish performers and many hundreds of extras round out the tremendous and talented cast.

"Ulysses" will show Sunday and Monday at the Tower Drive-In.

JUBAL
Three of Hollywood's most exciting stars in their top performances, that's "Jubal," which will show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Star. The stars are Glenn Ford, Ernest Borgnine and Rod Steiger. To match the surge and spark of the star trio, Columbia Pictures' "Jubal" introduces to the screen sultry Valerie French, a British beauty, and demure blonde Felicia Farr. Basil Ruysdael and Noah Beery, Jr., are others featured in the cast.

"Jubal" is the story of a range drifter who never has to look for trouble; it clings to him like a wanton woman. In fact, Ford, as "Jubal," does his level best to keep away from trouble, even to the point of not wearing a gun in a gun-roaring country. A wanderer who winds up with a job on Borgnine's lonely Wyoming ranch, Ford is the unhappy target for the restless attentions of Borgnine's vixenish young wife, and the sharp hatred of the man who immediately drops, Steiger. Ford wants no part of either.

Those Wedding Pictures
Also, a 30 minute subject, in CinemaScope and in color, the "Wedding in Monaco." The exclusive, official motion pictures of the wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III of Monaco. These are the films which could not be shown in newsreels, on TV, etc., the real thing, close up — in fact the viewer has the feeling of being right in the middle of all ceremonies — close enough to touch the bride and groom.

DOUBLE FEATURE
The new screen offering showcases three bright new screen star prospects, William Campbell, Mammie Van Doren and Kathleen Case, in co-starring assignments with recognized comedy star Keenan Wynn in "Running Wild," that will show Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Drive-In.

Wynn is seen as the ex-convict and mastermind behind a gang of youthful automobile thieves who, as a sideline, also deal in various forms of mayhem.

Young William Campbell, tackles his most exciting screen role to date cast as a young police officer who is called upon by his superiors to pose as a 19-year-old hoodlum, join the nefarious gang and bring about the downfall of its leader. A thread of romance is woven into the melodrama when Campbell falls in love with Kathleen Case, the latter a virtual captive of gang leader Keenan Wynn.

Tarantula
Motion pictures have produced a raft of monsters calculated to frighten theatergoers out of their wits, but in "Tarantula," which stars John Agar, Mara Corday and Leo G. Carroll, U. I. has come up with what may well be the granddaddy of them all. The giant tarantula in "Tarantula," which will also show Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Drive-In is easily the size of a two-story building — a terrifying thing to behold, even on film. The huge spider, plus the excellent performances of Agar, Miss Corday and Carroll in a finely woven science-fiction plot, make this film top adventure fare.

OUR MISS BROOKS
"Our Miss Brooks," starring Eve Arden and all the principal cast members from the radio and TV series, will show Wednesday and Thursday at the Star in a full-length feature presentation of the comedy.

Bringing to the screen what promises to be a laugh-a-minute comedy, are Miss Arden and Gale Gordon, Don Porter, Robert Rockwell and many others from the radio and television series.

The story deals with the problems of Miss Brooks, an unmarried high school English teacher, and her efforts to corral a handsome and eligible biology teacher.

LEAVES JUNE 25

Ted Moore Is First Local Student To Participate In Exchange Program

Ted Moore, Hereford High School, a junior who will spend the summer visiting with a French family, is the first student from here who has participated in the mutual exchange program.

For the past two years Hereford High School has invited a student from some foreign country to spend the year here, attending classes and getting to know the American way of life. This year it was Helga Thor, from Germany. Last year, it was Jean Chapman from England.

Under provisions of the exchange plan, American schools who sponsor a foreign student for the winter season are eligible to participate in the exchange and may send one of their students abroad for the summer.

Only for the Summer According to Bill Phillips, assistant principal at Hereford High School, foreign countries, handicapped by matters of economy are not equipped to sponsor a student for the winter school term. However, they do invite American students to visit them for the summer.

Qualifications for acceptance under this program include the fact that a student must be 16 years old, have completed his junior year in high school and have at least two years of foreign language. He must be in good health, be recommended as a good citizen and have a well-developed social adjustment.

First to be Interested Ted, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Moore, is not the first student to be qualified from Hereford High School, but he is the first of the qualified students to indicate an interest in the program. He will leave here June 25 joining a boatload of students from America. Ted, who will spend the summer in France, got his first year of both French and Latin when he was a student at Hotchkiss during his Sophomore year. He completed second year French and Latin by correspondence.

Other Panhandle Students There are, apparently, other students from the Panhandle who will be joining this tour abroad, but local school authorities do not know their names nor their schools at this time.

Ted will be abroad about two months, returning home early in September. While overseas he will be the guest of some French family, living with them, working and playing the way they do.

He is responsible only for his transportation expenses, which amount to approximately $700.

County Agent Warns Cotton Farmers To Look Out for Thrips, Fleahoppers

County Agent Hugh Clearman advises cotton farmers to keep a close check these days on such cotton-invading insects as thrips, and fleahoppers.

He points out that if they are spotted and controlled when small they can save the entire crop, because the first crop of cotton is the money making crop.

Recent studies show that control of thrips and fleahoppers resulted in gains of 310 to 602 pounds of seed cotton an acre in the High Plains area of Texas in 1955. Average gross value of the increased yields was $50.44 an acre, says Clearman.

Two or three applications of toxaphene, dieldrin and heptachlor proved effective in control of thrips and fleahoppers. Although differences were not significant, toxaphene and dieldrin gave somewhat better control than heptachlor at the dosages used. Two applications, held fleahopper infestations to low levels in one test. In the other tests, a third application was necessary to control rapidly increasing infestations of fleahoppers.

Control of thrips and fleahoppers resulted in economical increases in yields in all three tests. Two applications of the materials produced gains of 310 to 370 pounds of seed cotton per acre, states Mr. Clearman. Three treatments produced increased yields of 321 to 381 pounds of seed cotton per acre in one test and 565 to 602 pounds per acre in the other. Gross value of gains in production ranged from $36.62 to $71.32 per acre.

Treated cotton set fruit earlier and showed less growth than the plants in untreated plots. The increased number of forms set by plants in treated plots shed fruit excessively when insecticide applications were followed by too early or delayed irrigation, says Mr. Clearman.

Good Range Practices Pay Off Says County Agent

"Proper use and stocking of range land has proven to be profitable from pounds of livestock produced as well as from conservation of soil and water to withstand droughts," says County Agent Hugh Clearman.

In speaking of the practices, Clearman referred to them as the tools of range management. Each individual should choose the range management tool that will best help him maintain a long lasting, profitable ranching business. These range land practices are: proper use and stocking, deferred and rotation grazing, brush control, re-seeding, cross-fencing, salt and water distribution and walkways in marshlands.

Clearman says the rancher should graze only the number of livestock that he has grass for, with stocking rates figured on using half and leaving half of the current year's growth. Another good practice is deferred grazing. The deferred pastures can be mighty important as a feed reserve during winter. Or, by rotating livestock, one pasture can be deferred while grazing others, says Hoffman.

"By controlling brush, water ordinarily sapped from the ground by trees is left for grass. Brush control should always be followed by deferred grazing. Clearman cautions. Cross fencing should be planned where each area has the same grazing potential. This will mean that an acre of bottomland may graze as many livestock as 5 acres of upland.

When it is not profitable to fence, then proper salt and water distribution can give the rancher a chance to use grasses in the ungrazed corner.

Livestock do not need water and salt together as once thought. Livestock will find salt when it is moved into ungrazed areas if they need it.

"Practice of these conservation methods will assure a more profitable business in the future," says Clearman.

Cat Spring To Celebrate A Century Of Agricultural Progress in Texas

CAT SPRING, Austin County — The oldest continuously operating agricultural society west of the Mississippi River, Cat Spring Agricultural Society, will pause on June 8, 9 and 10 to observe 100 years of service to agriculture.

The Cat Spring Society was organized June 7, 1856 with 40 members signing the original charter for the organization. The community of Cat Spring is even older. It was the site of a settlement made in 1832 by a hardy group of Germans who came as a part of Austin's original colony.

The Society was organized by the early settlers as a mutual aid for studying agricultural problems of the day. They studied available printed material and conducted experiments to find better ways of doing things on the farm. The leaders worked closely with the U. S.

Patent Office which handled agricultural matters prior to the establishment of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Among the early experiments conducted were those dealing with the use of green manure crops and the conservation of water. The first tank for conserving water was constructed in 1870. They also worked with a fiber producing crop, ramie, and started the registration of cattle brands in the 1860's and conducted programs to control grass fires. Early experiments involving cotton had to do with the amount of seed to plant per acre and the spacing of plants in the row.

Through the years, this Society has played a leading role in developing agriculture in the area. Its members are always among the first to demonstrate new crops or

Miss Donna Sue Guseman Is Hostess For Slumber Party at Her Home

By MRS. S. N. THWEATT
Donna Sue Guseman honored Miss Susie Loerwald, Marilyn Slagle and Linda Sue Parker with a slumber party Friday night. They are members of the Home Making Class of the Hereford school.

They enjoyed the evening by watching TV and playing records. They concluded their party by going to Amarillo in a bus from Hereford with their home making teacher, Mrs. Joel Hodges, Saturday. About 30 girls went and were on Cotton John's TV show Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock in a style show.

The group looked very nice; the show displayed things made in the home making classes.

Rain Is Welcome The rain was really welcome Tuesday afternoon and night, but there was lots of hail in different parts of the community.

Bootleg Corner caught 1.7 inches of rain; small hail covering the ground. Some stones big as golf balls, of course, no damage; except a few had gardens started. Walcott received 3; Don Guseman had 1.3. Glenn Burrus reported a nice rain; while Doug Timberlake at Guseman Bar 7 only had a shower. The Roberts Camp had one-half inch. To the east at Ira Scott's they had heavy rain and lots of hail.

We could use a lot more rain because there are fields that are still dry.

Some of the farmers have planted a few acres. As soon as they can get in the fields the tractors will be humming from all directions.

At Home Council Mrs. N. A. Brown and Loyce and Mrs. Ruth Coleman attended council meet at Hereford Monday.

Mrs. N. A. Brown was elected delegate from Messenger Club by a land slide to attend the state and national meet at San Antonio in September. Congratulations to Mrs. Brown. We wish her an enjoyable trip.

Graduation Exercises The Walcott School had their graduating exercises Wednesday night. Class of eight fine girls and boys, who were Royce Lee Pruitt, Gary Guseman, Mary Dufur, Bobby Sessums, Janell Weaver, Geo. Lockhart, Margo Roubison and Sidney Hutson.

They wore white caps with red tassels and white gowns. They looked very nice.

This was our third class to graduate from Walcott. Last year we had a class of seven.

The first year we only had a class of six, which we were very proud of. This class contained five boys and one girl, who was none other than Donna Sue Guseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Guseman. We are very proud of Donna Sue, she must have had a trying year to have only boys as classmates.

Mrs. S. N. Thweatt was in Friona Tuesday. They have some cotton up that way. The wheat looks good; harvest should get underway in three weeks, as some of the wheat is beginning to turn.

Of the larger whales, only the sperm whale has teeth in the adult form.

CONVENTION CITY
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—One of the key factors in Atlantic City's economy is the convention business.

The resort's convention bureau predicts that some 300,000 convention delegates will spend more than $5 million dollars during 1956.

TWIN SAVES TROUBLE
LATTA, S. C. (AP)—The time and trouble saving of being a twin is pointed out by Hubert Taylor, high school student. Hubert has never tasted coffee. His twin, Herbert, once "tried to drink a cupful and he said it was awful," he explains, "so I'll take his word for it."

36 Months to Pay If You So Desire

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT

- that's what it is!

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow!

IT TAKES a new word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick - with the newest transmission of them all.

It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time - with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflow can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.

And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflow's newest marvel. It's something the engineers call "double regeneration." Lets you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)

There's more big news, too; that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.

Sure - you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.

But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new might of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.

It handles easy as butter to a warm knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.

And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.

So why not come in and see - and feel - the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet - and the best buy yet, by far.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century - optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*
