Around Town

Anybody around here who has ever eaten one of Walter Jetton's famous meals — and that's practically everybody around here — will be particularly interested in a biographical sketch of this famous Texas caterer which appears in the April 21 issue of the Saturday Evening Post under the title "He's Kingpin of the Barbecue Men."

Hereford's newly formed Little League will get underway quicker than everyone may think. An application blank, if your son hasn't already gotten one at school, appears on page six, section two, of today's Brand. All blanks must be turned in at school or the Chamber of Commerce office by April 25. The season is officially slated to open sometime in May.

An area meeting on high school guidance programs will be held at Hereford High School next Wednesday, Dr. J. B. Roberts of W.T.S.C. Canyon, is serving as consultant for a series of such meetings being held in the area, with Tulsa as the pilot school.

Western Week Plans Boom Along

A committee to study advertising and publicity plans for the forthcoming Western Week celebration was appointed when the Retail Merchants' Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met Friday morning in the Jim Hill Ballroom.

TEC Office To Be Set Up In Hereford

After a year long effort to secure Hereford a branch office of the Texas Employment Commission, confirmation was received Friday morning that a local office would be opened up as soon as personnel could be found to man it.

Wayne A. Grant, district manager of the Amarillo office, came to Hereford Friday to complete arrangements, according to Townsend Douglas, Chamber of Commerce president.

"We hope to find an available office at the Court House," said Douglas, "and there is a good chance the local office will be open in a couple of weeks."

Officials hoped to get it staffed and able to operate by the end of school in order that it might help find agriculture workers for wheat harvest and assist school students in obtaining summer jobs. It will list both full time and part time jobs.

"This is a branch of Texas Employment Commission offices throughout the state," Douglas pointed out. "Applications filed here will be referred wherever there is such type of employment. It will not only assist local farmers and merchants in obtaining workers, it will also help people here secure jobs wherever they might be available."

As Hereford's only employment office, it will serve all types of businesses, industry and agriculture. Bill Lenderman, CC manager, appeared before the Friday morning meeting of the Retail Merchants Committee to urge that they use the services which will be available, and let the employment office assist them in finding clerks, stenographers, etc., because unless the office proves beneficial, it will be closed.

Crippled Children Asked to Register

Scottish Rite Clubs in the three-county area of Deaf Smith, Parker and Castro, are making plans for the first Crippled Children's Clinic which will be held May 19 in Hereford.

Tentative plans call for future clinic every three months. Final plans will hinge on the number of children who will visit such a clinic, so officers of the Scottish Rite club have asked interested parents to contact a member of the organization if they wish their child examined at this time.

President of the organization is Dr. L. B. Barnett, and other officers are Bill Howard, secretary.

Williams Home Is Damaged By Fire

Extensive damage resulted Saturday, when fire broke out in the kitchen of the home of Mrs. Chas. Williams, 106 W. Sixth Street. Mrs. Williams was not at home at the time, but the fire was reported by neighbors and the fire department was able to halt the blaze, preventing total loss of the house.

Charred areas above and around a cook stove indicated it to be the origin of the fire, which also spread into the ceiling of the stucco-frame home. Smoke filled the entire house, making it difficult to combat the blaze. Fire Chief Earl Phillips said it would be impossible to estimate total damage on the house, and spectator estimates ranged from $1500 to $4000.

TOP REA MOGUL—Ancher Nelsen, national administrator, found horseback riding "novel" and relaxing for a brief time following his arrival here Friday afternoon. Above he is mounted on one of local REA Manager Leo Forrest's palominos. Nelsen is wearing Texas cowboy boots, an Idaho shirt and an Oklahoma hat. He liked the palomino very much, but doubted if the animal would do well on a Minnesota gang plow "back home."

DURING MILITARY RESERVE WEEK

Public Is Invited To Attend Open House At New Armory

Open house will be held at the new armory Monday night beginning at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to visit the building and also to learn how young men can fulfill their military obligations while completing their education or working at civilian jobs.

Open house is being held in conjunction with Military Reserve Week. The Armory is located on Avenue E, just off Park Avenue. Plans for the event were made last Monday night when members of Company A, 975th Engineer Aviation Battalion met with officials of the 4163rd USAR school, to hear Lt. Col. Robert W. Edwards, unit advisor for the Amarillo Area of the US army reserve and Master Sgt. Roy Lewis, also of Amarillo, explain the reserve program.

Also present were many young men from this area who will be affected by current military regulations of the Reserve Forces Act. Invite Parents, Too. "We especially invite all high school junior and senior boys who are going to have military obligations to attend this open house, and see the advantages a program of military reserve training offers," said Lt. Robert Leinen of Dimmitt.

Exhibits of army equipment will be displayed and officials will be on hand to explain the program as well as illustrate the activities of reserve units.

Emergency Feed Applications Drop

With 36 emergency drought feed applications already on file, it appeared Saturday that the April demands will likely run close to the March quota, according to Walter Johnson, FIA manager. He pointed out, however, that applications will still be taken through Friday, April 27.

In February a total of 113 applications were approved through the Deaf Smith FIA office, but the total dropped to 45 in March.

Mr. Johnson was at a loss to explain why the drop occurred. "A few came in after the deadline," he said, "but this would certainly not account for such a large drop."

When 50 men have joined the program, the United States government will finance construction of (Continued On Page 2)

commander of the battalion. "And we want their parents to attend, also," he said.

Exhibits of army equipment will be on hand to explain the program as well as illustrate the activities of reserve units. Lt. Leinen, who took over as acting provisional commanding officer when Lt. J. R. Kirkwood was transferred to Amarillo, has been head of this unit since its inception in March. There are 25 members already enrolled, including men from Hereford, Dimmitt, Hart, Friona and Nazareth. However, it is open to young men in other surrounding areas such as Bovina, Vega, Dawn and Adrian.

M. O. Moore Is New City Engineer

Approval of Monroe O. Moore of Lubbock as City Engineer was made Monday night by members of the City commission. Moore is slated to assume his duties in Hereford around May 15, and will succeed Earl Jones, who created a vacancy in the office last November, when he returned to Dallas.

"We are hopeful that Mr. Moore will arrive in time to make inspections on the new water installations," said Cecil Massey, city manager. "This will result in substantial savings to the City since we would otherwise have to hire an outside engineer on a retainer basis."

Moore, who is 38 years of age, has been with the City of Lubbock since 1951 as assistant utility engineer. He is a graduate of Texas Tech, since which time he has been associated with Lubbock. He is a member of the Baptist Church, Masonic Lodge, American Society of Civil Engineers and Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

In addition to engineering duties, Moore will also supervise the city tax assessments, and will be employed on the basis of $6000 per year. "As pointed out in the past, Hereford's retainer fees to outside engineers averaged more than $8400 over a three year period," said Massey. "The commission feels that employment of a local engineer will actually save money for the city and, at the same time, will provide better service for the tax payers of the community."

National Leader Annual REA Feed, Draws Big Crowd

Deaf Smith County REA members turned out in droves Saturday as exactly 1771 responded to the unbeatable combination of "free barbecue, a headline speaker, $90,000 in dividend checks, $350 in free prizes, and fair weather."

Ancher Nelsen, national REA administrator, was principal speaker at the annual meeting in Hereford's High School auditorium on Saturday afternoon. He expressly complimented members of the Deaf Smith Co-op for good services provided, and for the excellent repayment record.

"The Deaf Smith co-op has made more than $750,000 in principal payments, including some $350,000 paid in advance of due dates," Nelsen said. "It has also paid $200,000 in interest." The meeting opened at 10:30 a.m. in the high school auditorium with West Texas Rural Telephone members in session. Lunch was served at the noon hour by Walter Jetton catering service. In the afternoon, REA swung into business session centered around Nelsen's headline talk, and distribution of $89,293 in dividend checks, ranging from 25 cents to $1000 each.

Due To Drought. "Special permission was secured through the Washington office to pay out these dividends," said Leo Forrest, Deaf Smith REA manager. He also pointed out that the checks came as a result of having estimated the annual co-op budget on the basis of 42,000 kilowatt hours, which was far short of the 73,000 kilowatt hours actually used by members.

"This was due to the drought," Forrest continued. "Such checks cannot be expected every year. In case of heavy rainfall, resulting in lower use of electric energy, the situation would be far different." Forrest also stressed the difficulty in estimating the number of kilowatt hours to be consumed, due to weather variations.

Balance sheets included in the annual Deaf Smith REA programs showed the local co-op to be in excellent condition.

Condition Is Good. Total loans were reported at $3,894,454.53, of which the co-op has paid $757,224.96, leaving a balance of $3,127,229.57. The local co-op, in addition to regular payments and interest on the REA loan, has paid advance repayments in the amount of $300,000. The co-op also showed $626,992.50 in government bonds, held in reserve for depreciation. Net value of the system was listed at $3,064,489.34. Total income to the co-op during 1955 amounted to $902,999.29, according to the statement.

Approximately $350 in door prizes were also scheduled for distribution during the afternoon, ranging from toasters, mixmasters and electric irons to other small appliances, all contributed by suppliers to the local co-op.

Texas REA Operations Are Cited As Credit To Nation by Ancher Nelsen

Further expansion of rural electrification in Texas is assured because rural electric cooperatives have the know-how and the credit rating to do the job, REA Administrator Ancher Nelsen said here today.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, Nelsen forecast that Texas electric co-ops will continue to keep pace with the growing demand of power on the farm.

"Where or when the growing use of power in rural areas will stop cannot be predicted, but we can predict that cooperatives will keep pace with it," Nelsen said. "Here in Texas your co-ops have the know-how and the credit rating to do it, and in Washington loan funds are available. The expansion of rural electrification here is assured."

Serve 319,000 Units. Texas REA cooperatives have paid $20 million in interest and repaid $38 million of principal on their government loans of about $242 million. Of the principal payments, nearly $7 million represents payments ahead of schedule. The Texas co-ops serve 319,000 farms, ranches and other rural establishments.

The REA programs now are moving along at their highest level since 1951, Nelsen said. He said that loans of $180 million will be made in the electric program this year, highest since 1951. Telephone loans, he predicted, will reach $80 million, highest in the history of the program.

Nelsen complimented the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative for the good service it has provided rural people of this area and for its excellent repayment record.

The co-op has made more than $750,000 in principal payments, including some $350,000 paid in advance of due dates. It also has paid $300,000 in interest. Strong financial position of this (Continued On Page 2)

Crime Never Pays But Taxpayers Do Statistics Prove

"Crime never pays" they say—and the statement is definitely true when seen from the standpoint of the taxpayer.

Take, for instance, the recent trial of Harold Leo Roberts, charged with murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. The trial was held in district court in Deaf Smith County on a change of venue from Moore County. Since Moore County ultimately picked up the check, accurate records were retained for billing. The total cost was $1566 broken down as follows:

Table with jury costs: Jury Cost $804.00, Lady Bailiff 60.00, Jury rooms at hotel 164.00, Jury meals 282.25, Special deputy 19.25, District clerk fees 22.65, Prisoner food cost 71.25, Total $1,556.00

Students To Attend Career Sessions

Seniors of Hereford High School will have an opportunity to get first-hand information on planning their future careers in "Career Day" activities to be conducted at the high school Tuesday morning. Principal Buck Overall announced Friday.

Local and out-of-town consultants will be present to discuss their respective professions with the students. Professions covered will include medicine, law, secretarial, business, agriculture, engineering, homemaking and nursing.

Regular classes for the seniors will be suspended during the morning, and senior students may choose to attend any three of the discussions, which will occupy the regular class periods. The resource people will give a talk on their respective profession; then they will answer questions from the students. A teacher will be assigned to help in each room, and the guest speakers will be introduced by a member of the class.

Mrs. Claude McDaniels, high school English teacher, has planned to make arrangements for the career-day program.

Jury cost, the big item, included a special venire of 240, some one day and some two days at $2 per day. The 12 jurors served six and seven days, depending upon time selected, drawing $4 per day.

The lady bailiff, another unusual item, was required to remain with the one woman on the jury at all times. She drew $1 per hour for a 60-hour period.

Jury rooms and meals are self explanatory. The special deputy was required on this particular case, as were the clerk's fees on special filing. Roberts was lodged in the Hereford jail for a period of 57 days at a meal cost of $1.25 per day for a total of $71.25.

The costs, although possibly more than most people would have estimated, still include no remuneration for services of deputies, sheriff, clerks and other courthouse personnel, nor do they include any pro-rata part of the salaries of district officials. Likewise, no rent is included for courthouse facilities, lights, utilities or janitor services.

With Ronald And Linda, The Fogles Are A Family

Since Dec. 20, 1955, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fogle have been about the happiest couple in Hereford.

On that day a little Indian boy and a little Indian girl arrived to make their home with this unusual couple who believe that love of parents for children transcends all races and creeds. Mrs. Fogle is a teacher in Shirley School and he drives a school bus.

Their story goes back many years when the Fogles, having no children of their own, began to think of adopting one or more. Before their plans could materialize, her aged parents came to live with them, and for many years were invalids in their home.

Plans for children had to be shelved, but after her parents' death a couple of years ago, the Fogles again began to make plans to bring some children into the home. Many applications were sent to various homes for children, but now their age entered into the story and it began to look like they might never be able to share their love and care with little children.

Shortly after they moved to Hereford in 1954, a friend told her of adopting an Indian child and almost immediately, the Fogles began to hope again.

At the Indian Reservation school at Anadarko, Okla., they found the answer to their desires. A brother and sister whose mother had died, were available just in time for Christmas. Soon the adoption papers will become final and Ronald, 10, and Linda, 8, will be their very own.

It is hard to tell who is the happier, the parents or the children, for the family unit is already welded together in love and harmony. Ronald is in the sixth grade at Stanton Junior High School and

Linda is in the second grade at Central School. They all attend the First Baptist Church and Ronald has joined the church. The children are members of the junior choir and the Training Union. They love everything and everybody in Hereford and the other children like them too. They already have many playmates, but best of all is the shared fun of happy home-life.

HAPPY FAMILY—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fogle and their two children, Ronald, 10, and Linda, 8, are just one big happy family these days. The children formerly lived at the Indian Reservation school at Anadarko, Okla.

BE ALL AMERICAN says Earnest Langley as he reminds teen age boys that Military Reserve Week will be celebrated April 22-28.

co-op and other Texas rural power systems makes them good risks for future loans, Neisen said. He pledged to continue to make loans wherever needed and feasible.

Results of a recent survey of borrowers intentions indicate that Texas distribution co-ops plan new construction to cost $65 million. Neisen feels this estimate is on the conservative side.

Progress of the REA program in recent years has not made it immune to political sniping from critics who are manufacturing issues, Neisen said.

Major Accomplishments

The Administrator listed six major accomplishments of the past three years in support of his contention that the REA program is stronger than ever before in its history:

1. Ample funds are being budgeted and loaned to meet needs of co-ops. Loans for generation and transmission have been made where necessary to solve power problems.

2. Red tape has been cut. As a result of streamlined loan procedures, borrowers get a quicker answer and the backlog of applications has been reduced.

3. More farms are being served. Nearly 95 percent of the Nation's farms now have electric service. Since this administration took office, some 150,000 farms have received electric service for the first time.

4. Electric borrowers have improved their financial condition. During the past three years, delinquency has been reduced by more than one-third. More than 700 out of 1000 REA borrowers are ahead of schedule in repaying their loans.

5. Power costs are down for consumers on REA-financed lines. The average farmer served by an REA system paid three cents a kilowatt hour for power in 1955 as compared to 3.6 cents in 1951.

6. REA is working closely with the Atomic Energy Commission on plans looking toward use of atomic power by rural systems.

As to the rural telephone program, Administrator Neisen said record-breaking progress has been made since 1953. Telephone loans this year will be the highest in history. Funds are being advanced at nearly double last year's rate because of the rapid rate of construction progress.

In New Budget
"I am pleased to report to you," the Administrator said, "that the President in his budget message last month indicated strong and vigorous support for the program. The new budget provides for electrification loans of $185 million in 1957, which is the same as for 1956 and $20 million higher than in 1955. It also provides for loans of $80 million for telephones, the same as for 1956 which is $27 million higher than for 1955."

"That is what the President recommended, and I likewise pledge you that our efforts of the past three years will continue and that we will work without fear or favor in the interest of the American farmer."

Speaking of plans for the future of rural electrification, Neisen said: "I foresee a future of unlimited progress. The fully electrified farm is coming. So is atomic energy on the farm. To meet the challenge of tomorrow calls for stronger co-ops. But fortunately co-ops today are stronger than ever before."

Great strides which the state has made in providing electric power to its farm residents, was noted by the REA Administrator. More than 92 percent of Texas farms had electric service in 1955, as compared to 2.3 percent in 1935 when REA was established.

"BRING THE LINIMENT" was the comment of REA Manager Leo Forrest when he finished signing the huge stack of dividend checks, right, which totaled near $90,000 in refunds to members who went "way over" the estimated kilowatt consumption for 1955.

an armory, estimated to cost approximately $45,000.

Any boy 17 years old or older can enlist in the Reserve program. If he joins the local unit he will attend weekly meetings each Monday night from 8 until 10 p.m. At these sessions, he will receive basic training in military drill, study first aid, learn military discipline and the manual of arms. Later he will try his skill on the rifle range. For two hours time invested he receives a full day's pay based on his army rank level.

He will wear uniforms, which are issued to him, and he is responsible for their care. Other equipment, such as field packs, which he needs in his training will also be issued to him. It costs him nothing to belong.

Annual Field Training
Two weeks each year he will spend at annual unit field training. These boys go to Camp Wolters in Mineral Wells. For these two weeks he receives full pay and allowances including transportation costs.

Other benefits accrue, also, Major Earnest Langley, branch director of the school pointed out. Under this program, the boy who is between 17 and 18½ may take his choice of serving six months on active duty and 7½ years in a military reserve unit or he may serve two years active duty at such time as he finishes his high school or college education. In the meantime, he can complete the necessary three years reserve training.

For College Boys, Too
Boys who are interested in attending college and taking ROTC training can still join the military reserve program and participate in it during college. Then when they are graduated and receive their commission, they can serve two years as officers and when discharged will have completed their military obligations.

Since the law went into effect last August, every boy who was drafted or has enlisted, still has three years reserve duty to complete. If he fails to attend the reserve meetings regularly after his discharge, he is subject to recall into the armed services.

"We are not just looking for new boys, we also have good openings available to prior service men who want back in the reserve," said Lt. Leinen.

Everywhere you go people are talking about the Presidential veto of the farm bill. Ezra T. Benson, the long-time scapegoat, is getting a breather, however; many, many people are, for the first time putting the agricultural woes of the country at the feet of President Eisenhower, rather than Mr. Benson.

Jack Renfro says this is bad for the newspaper editors. He says folks used to cuss the editor, but in recent years have shifted their vehemence to Mr. Benson. He says the county commissioners, school boards, mayors and councilmen all over the country also owe Mr. Benson a deep debt of gratitude in this respect.

He may be right, but there are always a few exceptions. George Heard dropped in this week to point out that the Brand was all wet in making the estimate that passage of the farm bill would benefit the Deaf Smith grain sorghum growers to the extent of $1.5 million. "Taint so," says George, whereupon he borrowed my own pencil and proved it. "According to the bill itself," George declared, "we would have to leave out 15 percent of the acreage, which would eliminate 15 percent of the total income, thus making quite a dent in the net profit."

In fact, by the time he got through, I figured that he should run for Congress. At least, he has the basic qualification of a successful politician. Chiefly, this is being able to convince people that your side is the one and only side. I can listen to one of these boys on TV and be thoroughly convinced; then, along comes one from the other side and I find out that the whole thing was wrong. Fact is, I sometimes wonder how I could have been so stupid in the first place.

Well, George has this knack and he might do real well. Besides, he might as well confuse everybody, then I wouldn't be an exception. Also, his hair is slipping pretty fast — and I have thought for a long, long time that we need more bald headed men in Congress. This would probably do more toward curing the world's troubles than any other single thing.

Meanwhile, the farmers don't have a corner on all of the troubles. Not, at least, according to Francis Hardwick, theater operator. He says the best one pulled on him in quite a while occurred this week when Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Ebeling took their three-year-old son, Stanley, to the drive-in. The picture didn't have enough cartoons to suit Stanley's immediate fancy, so the three-year-old started a one-man riot in an effort to get Francis to "change the channel."

Jack Paar who, incidentally, has one of the best catch-as-catch-can comedy programs on the air, made a survey of his cast the other day. The survey centered around how many of them had studied music as kids — and what it cost their parents. Out of five persons on the show, it developed that all had studied some instrument for around four years, which cost mom and dad from $2000 to $7000. Each performed on the instrument — and was just about as adept as the average business man or the average housewife in Hereford. Total spent on the five was $16,000; only one pursued music as a profession — and he played the piano rather than the violin on which he trained.

They wound up playing a $16,000 tune. However, Mr. Paar did point out that the chief advantage lay in developing a "love for music" in the hearts of our children. I guess he must be right, too. Without music lovers how in the world could Elvis Presley draw twice as big a crowd in Amarillo as President Eisenhower?

Which reminds me! Some of the kids are a little bit unhappy with my recent comment on Mr. Presley. According to grapevine reports, the subject came up in chemistry class at school the other day — and wound up in quite an argument. My information has it that the division was about 50-50, pro and con. Personally, I think that biology class would be a much better place to consider Mr. Presley. I also hear that he can only strum the most simple tunes on his guitar, and does them very poorly. Also, I stand corrected. His Cadillac isn't purple. It's char- treuse. He weighs 190 pounds, not 250.

Add Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Malone to the Hereford folks who have served a sentence in Colorado and come back home. Or, maybe we should call it an even swap. The Malones sold their Drowsy Water Ranch near Granby and are building a big dairy barn south of town. The ranch finally wound up in the hands of Jack Payne, another Hereford man, however. The Paynes are already on the job in Colorado.

Things are also happening to a lot of former Hereford residents down Friona way. Ralph Roden recently purchased the City Drug store from O. J. Beene. Both formerly lived here. Bert Neeley, former Brand advertising man, this week announced sale of the Friona Star to W. H. Graham Jr., of Farwell, and Joe Osborn of Friona. Osborn outsmarted him, however; he headed immediately for Germany, where he will finish a hitch with Uncle Sam. Joe is the son of Sloan Osborn, Deaf Smith REA director, and Graham is the brother of Mrs. Vance Crum, present deputy clerk in the Deaf Smith office.

E. R. Combs gets my nomination as Hereford's No. 1 good humor man. Mr. Combs visits around quite a bit and I have never seen him without a smile and a friendly word. He may be an old grouch at home (although I doubt it), but he is probably the most amiable person I know when he is circulating around town.

Once in a while when I am down in the dumps I run into Mr. Combs and, always, I leave in a more cheerful frame of mind. I never did figure out how or why, but he has a faculty for spreading goodwill among people.

GRACE KELLY got married not once, but twice. Alex Thompson came up with a pretty good joke about the deal. The thing that worries me, though, is that she will maybe follow the Rita Hayworth pattern and get a divorce. What I want to know is, "Will she have to have two divorces — or one? Also, "Would she be ousted like Edward and Wally?"

Boys and rocks never mix too well, especially when the boys are around three years of age. Recently, Mrs. J. W. Robinson was somewhat shocked when her small son, Jay, came in to report that he had been out in the yard throwing rocks at cars. The real joint came, though, when she went to get into her own car and found that young Jay had "rocked a hole" through one of the windows. Doc Cowan, chairman, says we should tell everyone to cooperate in the big Pioneer Day-Rodeo giveaway which the local merchants are promoting. The committee is planning quite a deal, it seems. If you haven't been solicited, give him a ring and he will take care of it for you.

ATTEND CONFERENCE Hereford school officials were in Austin this week to attend a session designed for principals of elementary and secondary schools. Attending from here were Fred J. Cunningham, superintendent; D. C. Martin, who will be principal of Elia Aikman School next year; L. C. Thomas, who will head Central School; Dalton Criswell, assistant principal at Stanton Junior High; and Dan Trew, principal of Shirley School.

West Virginia University won its first two Southern Conference basketball titles the last two years. Fred Schaus was the coach.

Jones Condition Reported Critical

William Oren Jones Jr., was still in critical condition at Veteran's Administration Hospital in Oklahoma City at press time Saturday, after being shot with a 12 gauge shotgun when a city marshal mistook him for a burglar suspect.

As he lay fighting for his life after a four hour operation his grief stricken mother at his bedside was asking, "Why did it have to be him? He's a good boy. He's never been in trouble. He doesn't even smoke or drink." Doctors said if he lived the next 24 hours, he had a good chance to recover.

Shot by City Marshal

Son of Mr. and Mrs. William Oren Jones, long time Deaf Smith County residents, the 23-year-old veteran was injured early Wednesday morning when Stratford (Okla.) City Marshal Jess Abney blasted away at him with a gun loaded with large number four shot after Jones had refused a command to "Halt" at the one man road block Abney set up outside Stratford.

The accident occurred about 3 a.m. Jones, who, with his parents, was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shults in Stratford, was returning from a movie in a 1951 Pontiac.

Abney says he received a call from the Police Department asking him to stop a car with a Texas tag that probably would be through Stratford within minutes. Then he hurried to the highway and parked his car in the middle of the road, heading it south toward Sulphur.

Hollers 'Halt'

"These headlights came over the hill," he said, "and I turned my siren and red light on. He slowed down and pulled to the right but he didn't stop. I hollered 'Halt' but he still didn't stop so I shot. Then he got out and came toward me. I thought he was going to die any minute and he collapsed."

"It's a terrible mistake," I regret it with all my heart," the city marshal was reported as saying. He said he ran a block to his son-in-law's house for help but about that time the highway patrol came and radioed for an ambulance. Jones was first taken to a hospital at Paul's Valley and later transferred to the larger hospital in Oklahoma City.

Garvin County Attorney Raymond Burger, said Abney faces possible charges because physical evidence at the scene shows Jones was driving slowly when shot and that his car stopped within 10 feet after the blast. Charges will depend on the statement Jones makes when he recovers. Jones' uncle, Jim Shults, is a Garvin County commissioner.

"I don't see how he's alive," Burger said. "The slugs entered right under his arm, on the left side, and went into his chest."

He said he hadn't been able to get a clear statement from Jones who kept mumbling, "Why did he shoot me? why did he shoot me?"

Can't Tell Cars

The city marshal said he had been asked to watch for a 1951 Ford or Chevrolet bearing a Texas license. "I can't tell one car from another," he was quoted as saying. "I guess that's one of my failings. I particularly couldn't tell in the dark."

pupil, Mrs. Eugene Naugle, as J. V. Davis, minister of the Church of Christ also approves the landscape. The scene is of an irrigation waterway in Nevada. (Picture on right)

MODERN ART—The fields of interpretative art are varied and the resulting pictures are as different as the personalities which create them. A good example are these two pictures of grain elevators in the area. Mrs. Vir-

OF TEXAS SOIL—Last May, Mrs. Ray Smith was traveling between San Antonio and Austin and the lovely fields of bluebonnets sparkling in the sun were so pretty she stopped to make a color snapshot. She caught on film a picture which she cherished and after she learned the fundamentals of oil painting, she decided to reproduce her photograph on canvas. Mrs. Suits also does stills and florals. (Picture lower left)

PORTRAITS—One of the more difficult forms of painting is portraiture, but ambitious students in the art classes have attempted them with commendable results. Here Mrs. Ernest McGee, left, displays a painting made from a picture of her son, Leslie Leon, then 8. She plans to do another of son Michael because

"I'd rather put my children on canvas than do any other art work." Mrs. Henry Weemes shows an oil of her husband. This picture was painted from life and from photographs, and was the fourth portrait which Mrs. Weemes painted. She hopes to do a self portrait later. (Picture lower right)

"Art Is Long And Time Is Fleeting"

The Hereford Art Guild has made gratifying progress in promoting interest in creative art since its organization in 1954.

There are now 25 members in the group, headed by Mrs. Ernest McGee as president. Response to a series of lessons last year under the direction of Prof. A. J. Kieselbach of West Texas State College, indicated increasing interest and the project was repeated this year with Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the art department at W. T. as the instructor.

This program, based on a variety of media, is designed to aid the individual in developing his or her special talent. For the beginner this is more or less explorative, and for the advanced group the study provides an expansion of what they already know.

The series of lessons have included portrait painting, water color and oil painting. The last lesson in the current ten-session series will be held Friday in the High School art classroom. Last Friday a field trip was held. During the summer months regular meetings are held which take the form of workshops to put into practice the knowledge gained in winter classes.

ASPARAGUS SALAD
 Ingredients: 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) all-green asparagus, 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1 tablespoon salad vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon Bahama mustard, salad greens.

Method: Drain asparagus and place in long narrow container. (Asparagus liquid can be refrigerated and used in a soup.) Snare together olive oil, vinegar, salt, pepper, sugar and mustard in a small jar with a tight cover until blended. Pour dressing over asparagus; chill for 1 hour or longer. At serving time, arrange asparagus on salad greens and drizzle marinade over.

SPICY CHICKEN AND TOMATO
 Ingredients: 1 can (1 pound) of stewed tomatoes, 1 tablespoon corn starch, 1 large clove garlic, 1/4 teaspoon dried crushed thyme, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, chili powder, 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup dried cooked chicken, salt, pepper.

Method: Turn stewed tomatoes into a saucepan — 1 or 1 1/2 quart size. Stir cornstarch and 3 tablespoons of the juice from the stewed tomatoes together in a cup until smooth. Heat tomatoes to simmering; add cornstarch mixture, crushed garlic, thyme, curry powder, a pinch of chili powder, and Worcestershire sauce. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and clear; be careful to break up tomatoes as little as possible. Add chicken and salt and pepper to taste; reheat slowly to blend flavors.

MANDARIN PORK CHOPS
 Ingredients: 4 loin pork chops (about 3/4-inch thick), 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder, 1 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) pineapple chunks, 1 tablespoon American-type soy sauce, salt.

Method: Trim fat from around pork chops so there is only a thin layer left. Mix together the flour, celery salt, nutmeg and garlic powder; dip chops into mixture to coat. (A teaspoon or so of flour will be left; reserve.) Melt fat trimmings from chops in a medium-sized skillet until there is a generous film of fat; remove the trimmings. Brown pork chops very quickly in fat; stand chops on edges against sides of skillet (or hold with tork) to brown edges. Arrange chops in oven dish — 8 by 8 by 2 inches. Stir pineapple juice and soy sauce together; pour over chops; add pineapple chunks in oven 350 degrees (moderate) bake until meat loses all trace of pink — about 45 minutes; cut fat near bone to test. Remove chops and pineapple and keep warm; sprinkle chops lightly with salt; in a small saucepan mix reserved seasoned flour with 1 or 2 teaspoons of water until smooth; stir in all liquid from pork chop dish. Cook and stir constantly while quickly bringing to a boil; continue to boil gently until sauce is partly reduced — about 5 minutes. Add salt to taste to sauce. Pour hot sauce over chops and pineapple. Serve at once.

What's This

—By Chris

Dear friends, once in the life of every column writer there comes a time when material on which to elaborate just isn't! Do you dig me? To my poor aching brain, it seems our town must have stood still this last week. People come and people go, but do they do anything out of the ordinary?

Isn't that? You'd think people could be a little more considerate; after all is said and done, it's mighty easy for a column writer to starve. Right now I'll say that you may as well go on to the next item because what I say from here on out will be of little or no interest at all to you. But just as I figured, you're still reading, so therefore I'll have to furnish something for you to read or Jimmie will be peeved at me.

I'll tell you a little secret about Arol Acton and Don Weeks. They are a menace to traffic and pedestrians alike! The least I can say to warn you, my loyal readers, is this: If you see either of them coming down the street, run for the nearest man-hole or telephone pole! It's the only possible way!

I told you that what I have to say wouldn't interest you, but you have to look out for yourself, so you are still reading. If I were you, I'd stop right now! I wouldn't read another word. Well—no! No, I can see that you won't take my advice so don't blame me if you are bored.

Gerald H. and Margie were playing "pony express" at the Circle Inn last Wednesday. I think that was what they called it. I'll bet Bill Colby never

It still isn't too late to stop reading you know, but of course you're still "eyeballing" this little "nothing much" with all you have. So therefore...

Maxine Ware broke a few necks Sunday afternoon. Not literally of course, because she didn't touch anyone, but only in a sense of the word. What they saw was hard on their reflexes. Do you follow me? That was quite a sight, wasn't it Ralph? Which reminds me of a vague feeling I had that Ralph and Joan were where they shouldn't have been one morning not long ago. Don't get me wrong, it wasn't bad at all. In fact, I wish I'd been there instead of where I was. You know??

Well, I see you followed me clear through to the end, and this is THE LITERAL END

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Me Or Ezra's Gotta Go—and It Looks Like Me," Says Local Farmer

Star Route, Vega, Texas.

The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas.
 SIRS — Enclosed is a letter which is like the one I have just mailed the President of the United States. I have just moved to Deaf Smith County from Lamb County, where I sold my farm which was about paid for in order to buy me another farm which cost less per acre than the Lamb County farm sold for. This enabled me to pay most of my debts and allowed me to farm this year. There are thousands of farmers who share my problem. We must be able to see a way out if we keep faith.

Please urge all farmers to write the President and their Congressman, too. Plain spoken words do a lot of good. Thanks.

Yours Truly,
 G. W. Simmons
 April 16

I have just listened to your speech concerning the veto of the farm bill. It was a good speech, as speeches usually go, but please help us. I have talked today to several farmers, who probably will not be farmers next year unless something is done quickly in our behalf.

I am a typical West Texas farmer, a war veteran with a wife and two children. When I began farming after World War II in 1946, I received three dollars ($3) per hundred for my grain. With a Farm Security loan, I bought a 4-row tractor and equipment for $2400. A 4-row tractor and equipment will now cost in the neighborhood of $5000. Grain is $1.50 per hundred. Please show me how I can replace my tractor and equipment if it costs twice as much as in war time—and I am only receiving half as much.

Last year was disastrous, in a way, for most of us because we are in debt, due to farming losses of last year. If we cannot pay some of the accumulated debts this year, we will have to move to

Dr. Jack Walker Reviews Book For Guest Night Fete

Dr. Jack Walker, head of the speech department at West Texas State College, was guest speaker Tuesday evening for the annual guest night program of Young Mothers Study Club.

Dr. Walker, who was introduced by Mrs. Leroy Aven, reviewed the book, "High Calling" by James Street, detailing highlights in the story of a Baptist minister who gave up a big city pastorate to return to the town where he had started out. The story unfolded the interplay of lives which the minister had effected.

Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. H. A. Cavness and co-hostess was Mrs. Bill Lawrence. The serving table was laid with a green cloth and accented with a yellow and gold centerpiece.

Guests attending were Mesdames Deon Saul, Travis Hendrick, Wayland Smith, Charles Hill, John Seed, Buck Overall, Stanley Slagle, Herman Paetzold, Kenneth Weaver, James Edmondson, H. W. Thomas, W. D. Gibson, Leroy Aven and Dr. Walker.

Members present were Mesdames Gerald Hale, Harold Banks, Jimmie Bownds, Bill Bradley, L. J. Jones Jr., W. G. Owen, Hugh Clearman, L. H. Lookingbill, Clinton Masie, Rex Lee, Wayne Wallace, Craig Johnson, Floyd Walton, Gid Brown, the hostess and the co-hostess.

At The Movies

VERA CRUZ
These days, pictures are (most-ly) better and (unquestionably) bigger than ever. The return to expanded and expensive — Hollywood movies is exemplified by color — Superscope film, which will show Sunday and Monday at the Tower Drive In.

Filmed entirely on location in Mexico, "Vera Cruz," co-starring Gary Cooper, Burt Lancaster, Denise Darcel, Cesar Romero and Sarita Montiel, deals with the violent and bloody pageantry of the historic struggle for Mexico between Maximilian and Juarez.

RANSOM!
A nerve-taut drama that will keep everyone who sees it rooted to the edge of his seat will show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Star. It is M-G-M's "Ransom" starring Glenn Ford and Donna Reed in a story of almost unendurable suspense, the story of a father who has to make a heart-tearing decision when his young son is kidnapped.

D. G. Stannard, wealthy industrialist in a typical American city, is the man who finds himself in this terrifying position. When the kidnapper contacts him with the demand for a ransom of half a million dollars, he liquidates all his assets with the intention of meeting the demand. It is then that a casual remark from a news paper reporter makes Stannard change his mind.

Despite the anguished pleas of his wife, Edith, the urging of his brother, the contempt of police officials and the condemnation of the press and public, Stannard makes his irrevocable decision. On a nation-wide television program he openly displays the money, warning the kidnapper that not one cent will be paid for ransom. Instead, the half a million dollars will be used for one purpose — to track down the kidnapper if his son, Andy, is not immediately returned unharmed.

DOUBLE FEATURE
A Mickey Spillane story, with its blondes, blood and beatings, has once again been excitingly transcribed to the screen in "The Long Walk," which will show Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Drive In. Starring Anthony Quinn, Charles Coburn, Gene Evans and Peggie Castle, along with a liberal quota of luscious females headed by Mary Ellen Kay, Shawn Smith and Dolores Donlon, the Spillane story tells of the valiant effort of an amnesia victim to clear himself of a framed murder rap.

Anthony Quinn, is husky, handsome and hard-boiled as he goes about trying to prove who he is and what he didn't do, namely bank-robbery and murder. In the course of his search he comes across many a luscious babe, which doesn't exactly disconcert him. In fact, it fits in with his plans ideally, for he is looking for an ex-girl friend whom he thinks can clear him of the rap — and the one way that he can identify her is by the way she kisses. But his search is not all love and kisses. On the other side of the ledger, he tangles with one of the roughest, meanest, unscrupulous gang of crooks and gamblers to have ever been created by murder-master Spillane.

Wild Bill Elliott goes on a lone and relentless search for the killer of his brother in "Bitter Creek," his latest drama of the early west, which will also show Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Drive In. The role of the girl is played by Beverly Garland, who can ride and shoot as well as any western star on the screen.

When Elliott arrives in the Bitter Creek country, where the murder had been committed, he finds that the entire area is dominated by a wealthy and avaricious cattle baron. Elliott's suspicions mount, and in the fighting climax he proves who was responsible for the murder to grab the brother's grazing land.

THE GIRL IN THE RED VELVET SWING
"The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing," which will show Wednesday and Thursday at the Star, was a shocker back in 1906, but the most remarkable feature about her story is that 50 years later it still invites widespread conjecture and controversy. In bringing this great social scandal of the 1900's to the screen, Charles Brackett, producer — writer for Twentieth Century-Fox, discovered every element of stunning romantic drama fairly crying to be visualized in CinemaScope. There was the girl — Evelyn Nesbit, famed as the original Gibson Girl and as a member of the much publicized Florida Sextette; there was the man she loved, Stanford White, America's foremost architect; and there was the man she married, Harry K. Thaw, young playboy heir to one of the nation's greatest fortunes. From that triangle which is the distorted mind of a jealous husband became a frantic obsession, came cold-blooded, flamboyant murder during a musical comedy performance in the roof theatre atop the old Madison Square Garden. The astounding revelations at the resultant trial with two of the nation's foremost legal

Miss Sanders Is 1st Place Winner In Essay Contest

Verita Sanders won first place in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary - sponsored national essay contest and was given a check for $15 Monday morning in special ceremonies at Hereford High School.

Garden Club Program Is Pruning, Mulching, Drugs

Members of the Hereford Garden Club heard a program on mulching and pruning and chemicals for the garden, when they met April 13, for morning coffee at the country home of Mrs. Roy Lee Wilson.

Mrs. O. H. Herring, talking on "Wonder Drugs and the Gardener" said, "There are wonders and miracles in the chemical world that do as much for plants as other miracle drugs do for people."

Suggesting a few newer ones, she said that Molathion was a good insecticide, Blossomset or Fretone was good for setting use and Sodar was a good spray for crab grass since it was dependable, fast and safe. She also pointed out that liquid fertilizer acts more quickly than dry fertilizer since it reaches to the heart of the plant quicker and does not burn as readily.

Special guest was Mrs. E. M. Hix of Wellington. Others present were Mesdames Herring, Brinkman, Draper, O. G. Hill, E. W. Young, John Jacobsen, Bill Hromas, M. T. Rutter, E. E. Fridley, S. S. Williams, Harry Lomas, F. M. Kester, E. Ramey, Glenn Boardman, Ralph McCullough and the hostess.

Mrs. Bobby Gene Burden To Make Home In England

Mrs. Bobby Gene Burden and her 17 months old baby daughter, Deborah Elaine, plan to leave South for England where they will join their husband and father stationed there with the U. S. Army.

As soon as passports arrive they will leave Amarillo by plane for New York, going by helicopter from the air port to Idlewild Field (to save time) and from there will go by plane to England where they will be met by Mr. Burden.

Burden has been stationed in England since last December. Mrs. Burden has been making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Duncan. This will be her first flight but she is looking forward to the trip and to her stay abroad.

About half U. S. income is spent on food, clothing and shelter.

TO BE MARRIED—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jesko, 800 Union, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gwendolyn Ann, to Morris Hacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hacker, 142 Roosevelt.

The meeting was adjourned with a prayer by Mrs. H. D. Goldston. Mrs. R. L. Criswell was co-hostess.

Miss Gracie Fotheringham, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fotheringham, was a house guest of her parents last week. A student at Northwest Texas School of Nursing and of Amarillo Junior College, she was accompanied by two classmates, Miss Martha Keck, Borger, and Molly Stringer, Plainview.

'Nectar in a Sieve' Outlined To Class

'Nectar in a Sieve' by Kamala Markanda, was reviewed by Mrs. Roy Calvert when the Faithful Workers Class of the First Baptist Church met Monday in the home of Mrs. O. H. Herring.

The book is the story of an Indian girl, Rukmani, whose marriage was arranged by her parents, according to traditional Indian principles. Her husband, Nathan, was a poor peasant farmer but he proved to be a gentle and understanding husband, so, although life was full of hardships and sorrow, the couple's bonds deepened as they worked their land together and rear their family of six children, Mrs. Calvert said.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Sank Ramey and roll call was answered with scriptures from the Bible. Mrs. G. P. Owens read the devotional and the

Miss Clara Pittman Describes Travels To Far East At Tea

Miss Clara Pittman described her travels in the Far East and showed souvenirs of those countries when members of the Summerfield Study Club held its annual Guest Day Tea Thursday afternoon in the Baptist Church for members of the County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Introduced by Mrs. Chester Wiggins, with whom she used to teach school, Miss Pittman detailed experiences in Thailand, Singapore and Hong Kong, where she visited four months with a nephew who was stationed there with an oil company.

She also described her air flight over and the cruise back to America, telling of ports visited on her return trip.

Chorus Sings

Also on the program was the home demonstration chorus directed by Mrs. Cecil Parker and accompanied by Mrs. Dick Godwin. Guests were greeted at the door of the sanctuary by Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., and registered by Mrs. Earl Lance. As the group gathered, a soft musical prelude was played by Mrs. K. W. Neill, pianist and Miss Ann Lookingbill, organist, who presented a series of duets.

Mrs. Euler welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Wiggins, who presented her house guest as the speaker for the afternoon.

Pink and Orchid

After the program, guests adjourned to the Educational Building where refreshments were served from a table decorated in pink and orchid. A pink cloth, overlaid with pink organdy trimmed in white lace and rhinestones was centered with a floral arrangement banked by pink candles in crystal holders.

The flowers, also in a crystal arrangement shading from deep orchid to palest pink in spring flowers featuring lilacs and tulips. Appointments were in silver and crystal.

Receiving Line

In the receiving line were Mrs. Euler, Mrs. Alice Cox, federation president; Mrs. Wiggins, Miss Pittman and Mrs. Mitchell Massa, also of Hooker, who accompanied Miss Pittman to Hereford.

Bayview Club Discusses Peacetime Atomic Energy

A program on "Science" was given for Bayview Club members who met Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. C. McCracken.

Mrs. Leo Forrest read a paper on the "Use of Energy in the Field of Medicine." Quoting from several well-known scientists she said, "For the first time in the history of the world, we have a weapon that is reversible. All through history we have been able to turn plowshares into swords, but only today do we have a sword that we can turn into a plowshare."

Mrs. Howard Gault read a paper prepared by Mrs. Lee Benefield on "Peace and Atomic Energy." She used parts of an address by Harold Stassen and pointed out, "Last year's Atomic Energy Act states that the development, use and control of atomic energy shall be directed so as to promote world peace, improve the general welfare, increase the standard of living and strengthen free competion in private enterprise."

Mrs. George Heard, president, conducted the business session when committee reports were heard and announcements made.

Members present were: Mesdames D. H. Alexander, Philip Barkley, Colby Conkright, Leo Forrest, Howard Gault, Jimmie Gillentine, Francis Hardwick, Geo. Heard, W. S. Kerr, J. W. Kirby, Paul Mathers, Ansel McDowell, R. B. Miller, Eugene Naugle, J. P. Slaton, J. W. Spradley, James W. Witherspoon, Carl Perrin, Miss Frances Turrentine and the hostess.

UNHATCHED FISH COUNT

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—It's all right to count fish before they're hatched. In fact, it's the thing to do, says Dr. H. C. Hardy, English marine biologist.

The Oxford university authority on fishery predictions told an international symposium: "We can count fish by counting fish eggs. This is so, not because we can predict how many eggs will become fish, but because the number of eggs is an accurate indicator of how many fish there are in the breeding stock."

FAMILY OPERATION

CROOKSTON, Minn. (AP)—As Wilfred C. Nimens came out of the ether after an emergency appendectomy, he made out a familiar face. It was that of his wife, who had been assigned to her husband's operation on her first day of hospital service in five years.

'Good Morning, Miss Dove' Reviewed For Les Meres

"You could count on Miss Dove as you could count on the sunrise; she was proud, and she was loved, and every student would never forget the experience of six years of proper posture, neat appearance and good manners," said Mrs. D. H. Alexander, as she gave the guest book review for Les Meres Study Club's Friendship Night program.

The event was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Howard Gore with Mrs. Bill Simpson and Mrs. Delmo Williams as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Alexander, guest speaker, reviewed "Good Morning Miss Dove" by Frances Gray Patton, the heart-warming story of the little lady who taught for 36 years at Liberty Hill School and who became "a very real part of every man, woman and child of Liberty Hill."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. T. E. Brisendine Jr., president.

Floral arrangements of apple blossoms, iris and tulips decorated the serving rooms and a refreshment plate was served to members and guests.

Guests present were Mesdames E. A. Albracht, T. L. Bryant, D.H. Alexander, M. L. Simpson Sr., M. L. Simpson Jr., Robert Lemons, Glenn O. Edwards, C. N. McClure, Eugene Noel, Albert Maxwell, Harold Rudd, Joe McNelly,

KNOX'S KNOTTINGS

By BILL KNOX

We were looking over the official list of work records in track and field and it was interesting to note how many of these champions the United States of America furnished.

Out of 17 events, the United States has or had 12 champions. This sovereign country holds records in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 880-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, 440-yard low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, and discus.

Mal Patton holds the record of 9.3 in the 100 and the mark of 20.2 in the 220. Mal Whitfield sped the half mile in 1:48.6 to set another mark. Richard Attlesley wrote the 120-yard high hurdle mark of 13.5, and the great Harrison Dillard ran the 220-yard low hurdles in 22.3. Charley Moore sprinted the 440-yard low hurdles in 51.6; lanky Walt Davis of Texas A&M high jumped 6'11 1/2". Jesse Owens unleashed a broad jump of 26'8 3/4".

A guy by the name of Cornelius Warmerdam vaulted 15' 7 3/4", and Parry O'Brien putted the 16-lb. shot 60 feet and 10 inches. Fortune Gardien set the discus record of 194 feet and six inches.

It is also very interesting to note that most of these records were in 1942 or after. Only one, the 440-yard relay, was earlier. In 1936 the U. S. team led by Jesse Owens sped the oval in the magnificent time of 39.7. Man, that's fast! Then in 1935 Mr. Owens broad jumped 26 feet eight and 1/4 inches.

One of these records and maybe another is being threatened today. Much heralded Bobby Morrow, sensational Abilene Christian athlete has run a 9.1 100—but it didn't count. It so happens the wind was blowing about six miles per hour and for an official world record the wind can't be blowing more than 4 1/2 miles per hour. He has recorded a couple of 9.3's (that don't count) and several official 9.4's.

The University of Texas 440-yard relay team sped a 40.0 quarter mile, .3 of a second off the record. This team is anchored by J. Frank Daugherty of Olton. Keep going and they might do all right.

man to make a hole-in-one in four years. Mrs. A. A. Foster was the last woman to score a hole-in-one.

Joe Holup of George Washington University, led the nation in collegiate basketball rebounds with 604 last season.

Spring football drills began in earnest this week for the first time in three years.

Previously AA teams were not allowed spring training, but the Hereford Whitefaces inherited this right when they jumped up into the newly formed District 1-AAA with Levelland, Phillips, Dumas, and Littlefield.

Coach L. B. Russell said that workouts will be basically centered around fundamentals. The Herd lost seven starters and 15 lettermen from last year's club which finished second in the rugged 1-AAA. Only losses of the year were to Phillips and an upset loss to the Porton Rangers.

Returning starters will be all-regional and Danny Elliston, leading pass catcher in 1-AA last year; Bobby Veigel, crisp blocking end who will probably be switched to backfield this year; Eugene Waits, 185-pound tackle who will compose the nucleus of the line; and John Bryant, smooth operator of the Split-T.

Last year's starters who won't return are Martin Moore and Walt Kaul, both all-district tackles. Arol Aeton, Don Parsons, rapid Wayne Smith, G. C. Merritt, and Little Tommy Weemes, a demon on defense.

Russell emphasized blocking and tackling during early workouts with short scrimmage sessions at the end of workouts. "You can not tell what's going to happen in the new district," Russell said, "but we know one thing — it's going to be plenty rough."

Levelland's Lobos, who finished second in 1-AAA last year, will be top-seeded to take top honors next year. Dumas' Demons will be rated a very close second, however, with a good chance of knocking off Levelland.

Dick Sisler, whose home run for the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Brooklyn Dodgers out of the 1950 pennant on the last day of the National League campaign, is back playing first base with San Diego in the Pacific Coast League.

Grass Roots Democracy Goes On Trial

Hospital 'Bargain Offer' Presents Local Challenge

The people of Deaf Smith county this week were brought face to face with a challenge which, in many ways, reaches down as deep as the very roots of American democracy. If the answer is affirmative, the people will have taken care of a community need at home, and now, if it is negative, they will wait several years and hope that the federal government will ultimately do it for them.

We have reference, of course, to the remarkable offer made through the Jim Hill estate to match, dollar for dollar up to $50,000, local contributions for the purpose of adding a children's wing to the Deaf Smith County Hospital. Local contributions already amount to around $36,000 which, matched by the estate, means $76,000 for the project. The general idea would be to raise another $14,000 locally and, therefore, secure the full maximum allowed in matching funds. This would mean $100,000 to be used on the project.

There are, of course, some objections and quite a few objectors. Dollar-wise, however, even these people are bound to admit that the offer provides the opportunity of a lifetime.

If $100,000 were voted in county bonds to make the same improvements the actual cost would be around $200,000—with the extra $100,000 going out in the form of interest payments. In addition, the taxpayers would still have to pay back out of the original $100,000. This was the manner in which the hospital was built, and for which the county still owes a portion of the original debt. Under the Hill estate offer, the $200,000 is automatically cut to a total of $50,000, which would pay the entire bill in full, leaving no future obligations.

This puts things squarely up to the people. If they follow the principles by which Mr. Hill lived and prospered, the community will have a better hospital, a wonderful bargain, and no additional debt.

We recognize that some people can contribute large sums, while others cannot. We also recognize that many of the large donors have been heard from in the present $36,000 local contributions. The remaining $14,000, however, represents approximately $1 per capita in the county—and this is certainly within the means of every family.

While large donations may afford tax deduction possibilities, the small donations would have come from the heart—and we can think of no situation which would have been more appreciated by J. E. Hill, who made the $50,000 possible. This community has always been generous in its contributions to relief, cancer and other drives which often benefit outsiders. It seems only natural that we should want to help ourselves.

All in all, we feel that the public will want to participate in the remaining $14,000. We think that they should be given the opportunity through an organized drive. We also believe that the response will be sufficient to make the new hospital wing a $100,000 success.

"HEREAFTER, HIGGINS, LET'S REPAIR LEAKS WITH SOMETHING MORE SUBSTANTIAL THAN BUBBLE GUM."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Barbecues, Advertising Suggested For Festivities

The merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce is planning a week-long Western Week Celebration to be climaxed with Pioneer Day on Friday and a series of rodeos. Do you have any suggestions about activities or events they might incorporate in this celebration?

HUGH CLEARMAN

I have a lot of confidence in the merchants and I think that they will plan a good program.

GLENN WILLIAMS

I think a method should be found to welcome the new comers as well as honoring the old pioneers.

JIMMIE ALRED

I think to make it as appealing as possible for the old timers and old settlers of this area, and I have no further suggestions, so I would leave it up to the committee.

HOWARD GAULT

Give the old timers a good old fashioned western chuck wagon feed.

CLYDE TRULY

I think it's a good idea to have the people down town wear Western attire; it serves as a constant reminder to townspeople that a special celebration is being held, and for people passing through it advertises the fact. Then I think that we should put up banners at least a couple of weeks before the event, advertising Western Week. I used to be chairman of the Rodeo Association in the town I came from and we sponsored their annual celebration. I had charge of publicity exclusively, and I found we had better luck with our celebration when we advertised it well. Newspapers and radio ran reminder type ads at least two weeks before the event. And we used bumper advertisements. These were distributed about two months before the celebration and they were one of our best media. I sincerely advocate using them here.

By ROBERTA CAMPBELL

For the second time within a week heart disease has taken a member of our family. This time a cousin in his early fifties with two teenage children.

Those nearest him grieved for a reason for his being taken away from his family but we wondered if the answer wasn't with the mother and two old aunts, all over eighty, that stood at his grave.

They had lived deliberately and serenely. All the urging and fuming of the younger generation has failed to impress them and when they go for a visit they also have plenty of time to wait for a meal and to make a final round to say goodbye until the next time.

Ever since we can remember they have been on time for church services or anything else they were attending. No dressing on the way and slipping in the last minute to occupy the last vacant seats.

They never kept any tensions bottled up within themselves. If they knew any thing they passed it on, because, to them, it is a major sin to know something you haven't told your brothers and sisters.

We repeat they have lived serenely and deliberately.

After the services two of them packed their bags and left for San Antonio to visit, while our mother accepted an invitation to visit her eighty-seven year old brother at Electra.

Of the ten children in my mother's family, five are still living and not one of the ten ever gave up a tonsil or an appendix. The youngest, now well past seventy, did have major surgery.

Remarkable people say—but perhaps the answer to a hopper way of living.

12. Stop before coming out of driveways or alleys?
13. Have a front light and rear reflector?
14. Use extra caution on sidewalks?
15. Wear light colored clothing at night?
16. Go completely off the roadway when you make repairs?
17. Keep from stunting and showing off in traffic?
18. Watch carefully at railroad crossings?
19. Want to ride safely?

20. Watch out for parked cars and suddenly opened doors?
- Every "yes" answer on the quiz is worth five points. "If you scored 100 points you are a safe rider and you're helping to make Hereford a safe city for cycling. A score of 90 points indicates that you may find trouble in traffic. With no more than 80 points you had better stay off busy streets. And with 15 points—well, that bike rider is very likely to land in the emergency ward of a hospital!"

Community Builders

By JIMMIE LEE

This week's Community Builder, Hereford's only optometrist, is not only interested in people's vision, he is also enthusiastic about their scouting and their speech.

Since moving to Hereford in April, 1946, he has been active in all phases of scout work, and in the Toastmaster's Club, as well as serving as vice president of the Panhandle Optometric Society and a member of the Grievance Committee of the Texas Optometric Association.

"I think Hereford's a fine town. I moved here because I don't like city life and I have never regretted the move," he declared when asked what he thought of the town.

Dr. Adams was born May 16, 1918 at Sweetwater. When he was six months old his parents moved to Plainview and later they moved to Lockney where Dr. Adams attended school for nine years. Then they went to Lubbock and Milton was graduated from high school there in 1934.

After high school, he entered Draughon's Business College at Lubbock where he took a business course. In 1935, he did extension work at Texas Tech.

In 1937, Dr. Adams entered the Northern Illinois College of Optometry at Chicago, Ill., where he was graduated with an O. D. degree in 1940. Licensed by the Texas State Board of Examiners in optometry, he started practicing in August of 1940 at Lubbock.

On June 15, 1941, he married Virginia Lee Barr at Lubbock and they have one son, Bryan, born Aug. 5, 1944.

Dr. Adams practiced at Lubbock until June of 1942, when he entered the Army Medical Corp and was stationed at Camp Barkley, until December, 1942, as a volunteer officer candidate. When the initial six months period was up and time came for discharge or commission he was in the hospital so he was discharged. He then entered the Navy in January of 1943 and was stationed at the Naval Hospital at San Diego and the Marine Corp Base Dispensary at San Diego, in the Optometry Department.

In April 1946, Dr. Adams was placed on inactive duty.

Dr. Adams who earned the Eagle Rank in scouting in 1935 is now serving as District Commissioner and in the past, he has been assistant Scout Master, Neighborhood Commissioner and Scout Master of Troop 52 here in Hereford. He also was District Advancement Chairman and District Commissioner. The highlight of his scouting life was being awarded the Silver Beaver for distinguished service to boyhood in January of 1953.

He has been an active member of the Lions Club since 1946, having served on their Board of Directors. He is a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Scottish Rite.

A charter member of the Toastmaster's Club here, he has served in offices of educational chairman, president, area governor, it governor, which includes all of Texas and the western half of Louisiana. He served as provisional governor of District 44 and as District governor of 44. Now, Dr. Adams is serving as educational vice-president for the local club.

When asked what he thought Hereford needed, Dr. Adams replied, "Rain, I think we have everything else we need." He said "we have fine weather, barring the sandstorms, and they are minor nuisances compared to the hazards elsewhere."

BANK MOVES DURING REMODELING

The First State Bank of Happy will open Monday morning in its temporary location, the Harman Tale building. This move is being made while the bank building undergoes a complete interior remodeling and redecoration. ### WATER TOWER UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Chicago Bridge and Iron Company workmen from Tulsa, Okla. Tuesday began unloading sections of Dimmitt's new water spheroid off the train. The spanking new water tower arrived in town about a week earlier than was originally expected. Work of actually building the tower has begun just west of Dimmitt Public Schools. It had originally been slated for delivery in February, but tight production schedules of United States Steel caused a delay of about one month. June 15th is the present target date for completion of the tower. When finished it will hold approximately 200,000 gallons and provide much increased water pressure particularly to the west part of town.—THE CASTRO COUNTY NEWS.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm, as best we can figure, must have been looking at somebody's television set, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

The trouble with science is that it never can live up to its claim.

I came around to this conclusion once more this week while I was reading a newspaper article about the preferential primaries as they're called which are being held in some states to keep the people in the habit of voting. I guess, as I've never been able to see anything else they accomplished.

If you recall, when the radio was invented it was supposed to revolutionize politics, it was going to enable every man to sit in his own home and listen to the candidates and make up his own mind and this would result in a better quality of office-holder, the same as happened when they gave women the vote.

Well, radios kept getting better and better, but the quality of the office-holder remained the same. That is, some good ones got elected all right, but about the same proportion of sorry ones got in—also.

Well, they said, radio does allow you to hear a candidate, but where it failed was in not giving you a chance to see him. You've got to see a man to really size him up, they said.

So, here came television. And what happens? As you know, this fellow from Tennessee put television back on its heels by coming up with a new weapon, the common handshake. No picture tube, not network interruptions, no antenna, just a handshake.

I never have understood the political magic of the handshake, but I know it works, as I've seen lots of men who got into office with no other qualification.

Now you'd think that television would be the answer to the handshake, but television may be one of the worst enemies a candidate ever had. When he comes up to you in person and grabs your hand, you don't have much chance to really study him, by the time you get a good look at him he's already moved on to the next hand, but when he's talking on television, you don't have much else to do except watch him pretty close, as there aren't over four or five politicians in the world who can read a speech and hold your attention longer than two or three minutes. Half the time you figure somebody else wrote his speech, and the other half, you figure he wrote it himself, and neither method is guaranteed to build confidence. When it comes to elections, about all science has achieved is the ability to tell you today who won yesterday without waiting a week or so.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

New Meters Sure To Alter Parking Habits Of Many Downtown Employees

"Where do we go from here?"

The question, certainly not presented in the form of criticism, is one which has already been formed on the lips of scores of downtown store employees over the entire business section. What's more, it poses a community problem which is bound to become worse, rather than better.

Growing from proposed installation of 40 additional parking meters, the situation emphasizes a local condition, which is now considered a major problem in most large cities. Actually, the 30 to 40 people who have previously used the open parking on Main, Third and Sampson streets, do have a problem. It is apparent that the half block, east and west off Main on Second and Fourth streets, cannot begin to take care of the cars parked daily by downtown store employees.

This leaves two answers: "Get further away on Second, Third and Fourth"—or "Fill the courthouse square." So far, the courthouse square has been possibly the most popular. However, when the entire west and east sides are completely filled, the courthouse area increases the walking distance by a large measure for most Main street employees.

This brings up a point where cooperation from the courthouse employees could possibly help. The person working in the courthouse has no further to walk, regardless of which side he chooses to park his car. From all four sides, the distance is from the curb to one of the four entrances. The downtown clerk, on the other hand, adds from one to one and one-half blocks to his distance if he parks on the east or north side. A parking space is still a parking space, however, and any improvement along this line would have to be voluntary.

Some few firms have solved the problem by renting vacant lots for employee parking. Most of them would find such a procedure impractical, however—and the availability of such lots are becoming more and more difficult.

The problem is almost certain to extend to the retail merchant who is still to be located on no-metered space. Employees will naturally seek these spots on a "first come" basis and literally "snow the merchant under" with long-time parking in four-hour stretches, running from "eight to noon" and from "one to six." All of which means that his parking space is practically null and void for use by his own customers.

Complicated as the situation appears, however, it is still far better than most cities, where the employee either rides the bus, or speeds 50 cents to $1 each day to park his automobile in a commercial parking lot. Either route, of course, is quite expensive and still demands more walking than that faced by Hereford employees and business men.

Meanwhile, the question still exists for the downtown employee: "Where do I go from here?" The only answer appears to be: "Get up earlier" or "Take more exercise"—neither of which are supposed to be fatal.

Are You A Safe Bicycle Rider?

Bicycle Safety Week is ordinarily one of those occasions which comes and goes without too much fanfare. This year, however, it is emphasized by the death of a 14-year-old boy who, Monday night lost his life while riding a bicycle.

The accident was unusual. The fact that it occurred simultaneously with Bicycle Safety Week is ironical. It is natural, however, that he is survived by heart-broken parents, brothers and sisters. It is also natural that many of his friends, along with other boys and girls of the community, are definitely more than ever interested in bicycle week.

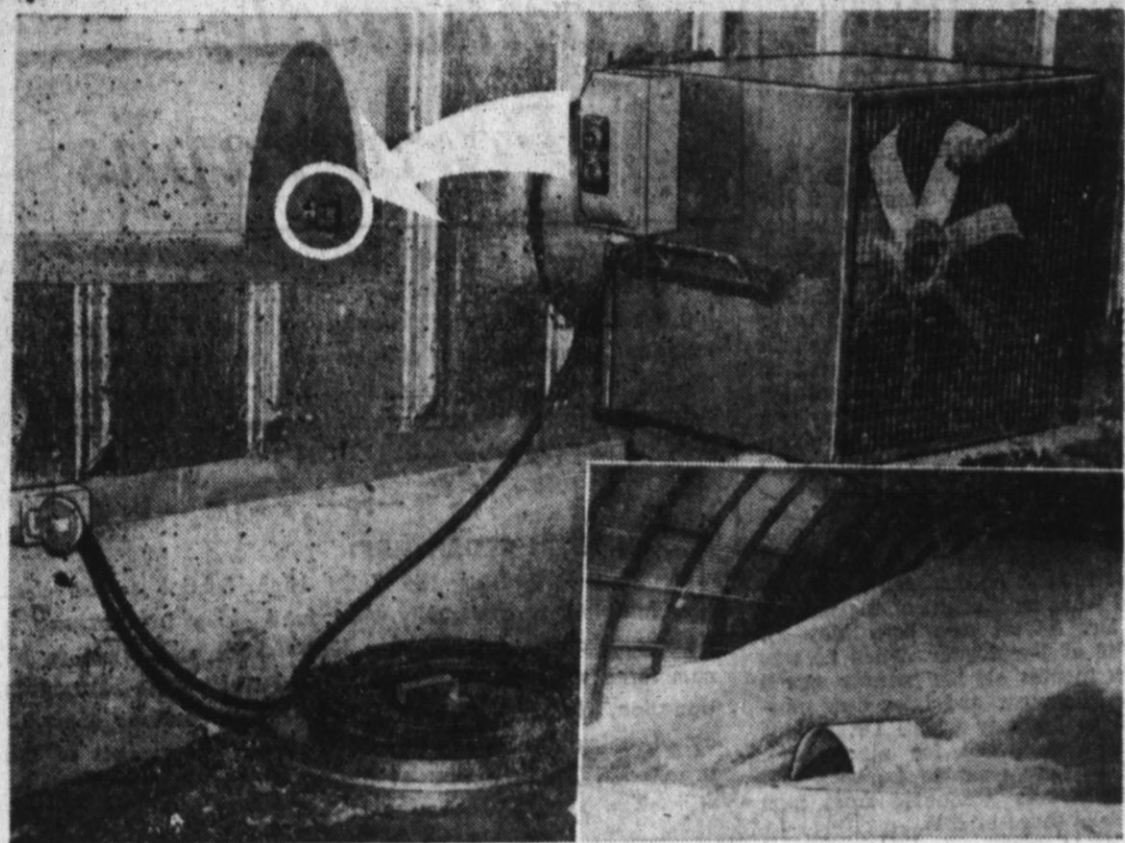

Bicycle Safety Week is sponsored here by members of the Optimist Club. It features safety inspections, training, rules and regulations for safer bicycle riding. In addition to the fatality here, statistics show that 449 other boys and girls were killed in the United States while riding bicycles, while another 29,999 are injured in bike accidents.

The Optimists warn motorists, as well as bicycle riders, to exercise extreme care and to remember that children are often thoughtless and impulsive.

Summarized in quiz form below are 20 rules recommended by the sponsors to help cut down and eliminate bicycle accidents:

DO YOU . . .

1. Observe all traffic rules?
2. Ride single file at all times?
3. Signal when you're ready to turn?
4. Keep to the right?
5. Keep your bike in good mechanical order?
6. Have a bell or horn in working order?
7. Refuse passengers?
8. Never hitch rides?
9. Carry your packages in a carrier?
10. Walk your bike across heavy traffic?
11. Keep out of street car tracks?

McGee's Grain Storage Equipment Uses Aeration

"The wise grain producer will investigate the opportunity available through on-the-farm grain storage," according to Taft McGee, who has in use well developed grain aeration equipment on his farm.

This equipment was featured in a recent story from the Agricultural Development Department of Southwestern Public Service Department which says "Elimination of risk with greater assurance of profit from flat storage of grain or seed on the farm, is possible where the farmer has made provision for aeration of the stored grain."

Such aeration prevents excessive moisture from forming on top of the grain, and, in addition, cools the grain, thereby preventing insect and small rodent growth, according to the article, which points out that grain is usually cut with percent, and it is practical to maintain that percentage with aeration equipment.

The story explains "The easiest way to accomplish aeration is to have a well advised installation consisting of a wire mesh tunnel running the length of the storage building, at one end of which is an electrically driven fan capable of pulling or pushing large volumes of air through the grain. Since aeration is simply a matter of cooling and maintaining quality after the grain has been dried to desirable moisture content, good aeration equipment can be used successfully for fumigation.

"Some grain growers have attempted to dry high-moisture-content grain with aeration equipment however, this practice is not recommended because upwards of 10 to 25 times greater air moving capacity must be employed. In drying, air is "pushed" through the grain rather than "pulled" through as in aerating.

"Farmers have found that by storing grain on the farm, with proper anti-spoilage equipment, they have good returns for labor performed, good return on investment through saving the usual storage fees and grain handling costs. In addition, the grower maintains control of his crop, and he can sell whenever the market looks best."

Information on grain storage equipment is available through the college agricultural departments and equipment suppliers.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

By JIM WIMAN

A lot of conservation activity has been going on during the week in the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District. Farmers signing cooperative agreements with the District were W. E. Uselton, whose farm is operated by Pat Ranspot; George Herbert, whose farm is worked by J. N. Snead; D. E. McGee, with A. E. Edwards as operator; H. H. Rowland, Parker Brothers, I. H. Pickens and Carl Berend, who operate the farms they own.

Underground concrete irrigation lines were installed during the week on the farms of Jack R. Vincent, John Kalika, Jack Renfro, Carl Perrin and Ira Scott, Gifford Hill-Western of Hereford, made the installations.

Concrete lined irrigation ditches were completed during the week on the farms of Henry J. Kuper, Howard Gault, Hicks Roberson and Bill Dameron. George Byrd, local contractor, did the work.

A couple of waterway seedings were made this week. John Lewis, on the Zimmerman Farm southwest of Adrian, planted a mixture of blue grama, western wheatgrass and vine mesquite grass on a waterway that was shaped last year. The seeding was made in standing sorghum stubble left from last season's planting.

The other planting was made by Charles Hoover on his farm near Walcott. He used a mixture of blue grama, intermediate wheat grass and buffalo grass. When these waterways are well covered with grass, diversion terraces will be built to catch and turn run-off water from the adjoining area into the protected watercourse and safely conduct it to lakes nearby. Grass drills owned by the District were used in making the seedings.

Much contour listing is being done in preparation for the rain we're expecting. George Brumley was among those receiving help through the District from the Soil Conservation Service in laying out a system of guide lines this week. He's planning on holding the rain when it does come.

Luther Lesly, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District, told us this week that he, along with the other board members, received an invitation to attend a

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

By JIM WIMAN

A lot of conservation activity has been going on during the week in the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District. Farmers signing cooperative agreements with the District were W. E. Uselton, whose farm is operated by Pat Ranspot; George Herbert, whose farm is worked by J. N. Snead; D. E. McGee, with A. E. Edwards as operator; H. H. Rowland, Parker Brothers, I. H. Pickens and Carl Berend, who operate the farms they own.

Underground concrete irrigation lines were installed during the week on the farms of Jack R. Vincent, John Kalka, Jack Renfro, Carl Perrin and Ira Scott. Gifford Hill-Western of Hereford, made the installations.

Concrete lined irrigation ditches were completed during the week on the farms of Henry J. Kuper, Howard Gault, Hicks Roberson and Bill Dameron. George Byrd, local contractor, did the work.

A couple of waterway seedings were made this week. John Lewis, on the Zimmerman Farm southwest of Adrian, planted a mixture of blue grama, western wheatgrass and vine mesquite grass on a waterway that was shaped last year. The seeding was made in standing sorghum stubble left from last season's planting.

The other planting was made by Charles Hoover on his farm near Walcott. He used a mixture of blue grama, intermediate wheat grass and buffalo grass. When these waterways are well covered with grass, diversion terraces will be built to catch and turn run-off water from the adjoining area into the protected watercourse and safely conduct it to lakes nearby. Grass drills owned by the District were used in making the seedings.

Much contour listing is being done in preparation for the rain we're expecting. George Brumley was among those receiving help through the District from the Soil Conservation Service in laying out a system of guide lines this week. He's planning on holding the rain when it does come.

Luther Lesly, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District, told us this week that he, along with the other board members, received an invitation to attend a home in her apron for a nice meal. Oil-rich doodoo nuts are strung together one above the other to make torches in Polynesia.

zone meeting of soil conservation district supervisors at Borger next Wednesday. Bankers in the area are playing hosts to the group at noon by providing a barbecue luncheon at the Borger Hotel. Members of the local board in addition to Lesly, who plan to attend the meeting are Hardy Benson, Charles R. Hoover, Carl Wimberley and Ira Scott.

Exchange Student from Germany To Be Guest Speaker for P-TA

By MRS. T. L. COLLINS
P-TA will meet Friday, April 27. First and second grade children have a nice program worked up. We will also have a guest speaker, Miss Helga Thome, the exchange student in Hereford High School this year from Germany. Plan to attend.
A nominating committee to select officers for another year will be appointed. It is also time for us to be thinking of a "last day of school picnic," if we're to have one. Each family is asked to bring a pie for refreshments.
Comedy Presented
On Friday, the eighth grade class presented a one act comedy, "Love Hits Wilbur," in the Walcott School auditorium. The audience also had a chance to hear the declamations our students prepared for the interscholastic league, which were given at this meeting.
Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Cupell have moved from Vega into the Walcott Community. They have these children: Don and James, are enrolled in the third grade; Roger Dale, almost five years old; Charles Edgar, soon to be three; and Brenda Lue, a baby. The Cupell family are living in the first house west, across the road, from Simms Community house.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Minks, Diane, Ricky and baby Mark of Greensburg, Kans., recently visited the Norman Minks family.
Honor Adair
Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Melton gave a slumber party to honor their little daughter, Adair Friday night, in their home. These girls from her school room rode the school bus home with her: Sue Northcutt, Linda Gay Lumpkins, Shirley Cates, Norma Roberson, Kay and Gayle Minyen.
These hungry little girls were fed their evening meal. Games were played. Then one long bed was fixed for the whole group. Can you imagine how long it took these girls to settle down, and go to sleep? Anyway they got some rest and had lots of fun. Breakfast was served before each girl began to separate to her own home.

Has Birthday Party
Mrs. Valton Hutson and little children at home came to school Friday afternoon. Her second grade son, Terry, was nine on Friday, April 13, and was honored with a birthday party in his classroom. Mrs. Hutson served cup cakes, Dr. Peppers and bubble gum. She read them a story. They played "pin the trunk on the elephant."
Boys and girls 4-H Clubs both had meetings Friday afternoon.
Royce Lee and Merry Kay Prull gave their 4-H demonstration well enough, in Hereford on Saturday that they'll do a repeat of it in Canyon April 28. Congratulations!
Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shelton spent this weekend at their home in Amarillo.
Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Collins and Bruce really got in a dust storm at Plainview Saturday. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Otho Sanders and family in the Lockney area and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Price, and sons of Floydada. Returning home on Sunday, a short stop was made in Canyon, where they visited with their son, Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoover and children were supper guests in the N. E. Tyler home on Sunday night. Ice cream, cake and chicken were the main features of the meal, to honor N. E. Tyler in a pre-birthday meal.
Mr. and Mrs. Wade Seward and sons, Edgar and Phillip, of Lovington, N. M., visited in the A. L. Roberson home this weekend.
BAR FOR TEACHER
PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Theodore Colton has a choice between two professions: Teaching school or tending bar. Colton has been teaching by day and bartending by night. But a member of the Board of Education protested Colton's part-time occupation, and the teacher's contract for next fall requires him to give up bartending.
Colton hasn't decided which job he will take.

After Winning District, Community Prepares for State Judging in May

By MRS. DICK ROCKEY
Undergoes Surgery
Black Community, overjoyed at having won first place in the district contest of the Rural Neighborhood Progress program is hard at work making preparations for its participation in the state-wide contest.
It will be judged sometime between May 7 and May 21 in state competition.
The day the judges came to review our work for the past year was quite a day for the community. We met at the community house on Tuesday and prepared a big dinner for the judges who included Garland Smith, Amarillo; Mrs. Mona Hildreth, Randall County Home Demonstration agent; John Brazzil, Randall County agricultural agent. With them were Knox Parr, district agent, and Miss Doris Leggett, district home demonstration agent, both of Amarillo.
Judges arrived at 11:30 a.m. and were promptly taken on a 37 mile tour which took an hour and a quarter. After the tour, visiting dignitaries were introduced and a cafeteria style dinner served. A 15 minute film of the community was shown by Bruce Parr.
Committees were called in for short discussions, the judges gave their comments and talks, and then left here about 2:15 p.m. to judge Sunnyside Community.
Guests attending were Miss Roberta Campbell and Jess Stanford, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Graham Jr., and Joe Jones, Farwell; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spring, Charles Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stewart and Rev. and Mrs. H.M. Fields, Friona.
Visitors in the John Benger home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Terry and son, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Latta, all of Friona.
Mrs. Howard Elmore returned home Sunday from the hospital where she had been for four days. She is doing nicely.
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Price and sons spent Sunday at Hereford visiting Mrs. R. E. Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Price.
Enter Livestock Show
Those from Black that had cattle at the Junior Livestock show at Friona Saturday were Tommie Tatum, who won reserved championship on a lamb; Jim Greeson, champion on a pig, and Jimmy Patton, grand champion on a Durock.
John Benger has been ill the last few days. We are wishing him a speedy recovery.
Betty Deaton of Hereford spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Deaton.
Visiting in the Travis Stone home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Butler from Lamesa.
HAVE NEW DAUGHTER
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirkland of Dumas have announced the birth of a daughter, Kimmie, who arrived April 15. She weighed 7 pounds, 11 1/2 ounces. Mrs. Kirkland is the former Kay Jowell. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Jowell and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kirkland, all of Hereford.

EATING RECORDS
LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Crabs, starfish and snails are big eaters, Gunnar Thorson of the University of Copenhagen's zoological museum told an international meeting of marine scientists.
They eat 20 to 30 percent of their own weight in food daily during their growing period, he said. A 90-pound boy would have to eat 18 to 27 pounds a day to match that.
Twenty-seven percent of all drivers involved in fatal auto accidents in the U. S. last year were under 25 years of age.

Makes Friends with the Meanest Roads
(Have you tried Buick's great new ride?)

THE SWEET WAY a '56 Buick rides on all sorts of roads. It is something you find nowhere else on wheels.
Capricious roads that twist and turn—unruly roads that rock and roll—tired roads, battered and beaten—they all seem to wear company manners the moment a Buick approaches.
Why? Simply because Buick comes with what it takes to put any road on its best behavior—the completely ride-engineered combination of chassis, engine and automatic drive that is obtainable in no other car.
And that's gospel truth whether you drive a new SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER or ROADMASTER.
No other car matches the firm, true tracking of Buick's own ride foundation—buttressed by brawny X-braced frame and torque-tube drive—cushioned on coil springs and deep-oil shock absorbers.
No other has such width of tread and length of wheelbase within dimensions so trim and tidy that Buicks turn, park and garage more easily than smaller cars.
No other duplicates the assurance of steering, brakes and rear axle so precisely geared and galloped for the nimble handling that's a safety "must" in modern cars.

And certainly no other name plate promises the soaring sweep of power that wells from the big 322-cubic-inch V8 beneath every new Buick bonnet.
Nor does any other automatic drive put power to its car's rear wheels with the swift, unruffled pace of Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—and that goes double every time you "switch pitch" for whip-quick, safer passing.
But why stop to count reasons—when results are what you're after?
Wouldn't you rather really feel Buick's new "sense of direction" on straightaway, curves and corners?
Wouldn't you rather relax in supreme comfort while tooling this powerful performer over roads you always hated to travel?
Well, sir, we cordially invite you to drop in on us and do just that.
Make it this week, won't you? Sample the ride that has charms to win any old road—and get first-hand figures on prices that make Buick owning a more positive pleasure.
*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

AUSTIN, Tex. — "An all-out campaign to elect Texas' Senior Senator, Lyndon Johnson, to the presidency of the United States, is under way.

It isn't just a drive to name him chairman of the Texas delegation. It isn't just a "favorite son" compliment. It definitely is an all-out effort to elect a Texan as President, on the Democratic ticket.

Held high as proof that it can be done is the 1952 election to the Presidency of Texas-born Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Republican ticket.

Popular Tom Miller, Austin's mayor, has been chosen to co-chairman the campaign, with Austin philanthropist and realtor E.H. Perry Sr.

Endorsements already received from out-of-state national figures indicate that the "favorite son" movement, which had been gaining momentum, has outgrown its Texas boundaries.

Johnson also is being boosted as chairman of the Texas delegation to the Democratic national convention in Chicago. Selection of a chairman will be made at the May 22 state Democratic convention in Dallas.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who also has been recommended to lead the delegation, pointed out Johnson as presidential timber as far back as 1954. However the two have clashed over the chairmanship.

Johnson said he would accept both the designation as chairman of the delegation, and as Texas' favorite son candidate for President.

Shivers said he would serve as chairman, but is not interested in the favorite son role.

Over the state both sides are working to get their supporters to the May 5 precinct conventions.

Races Taking Shape
A rapid-fire series of announcements is fast bringing the summer political campaign into focus.

James P. Hart will not run for governor. The former Supreme Court Justice said he did not find enough financial support. Barring the unexpected, Austin Attorney Ralph W. Yarborough will be the only Liberal candidate for governor.

Will Wilson, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, announced for attorney general. John Ben Shepperd is vacating that job. Judge James R. Norvell of San Antonio promptly announced for Wilson's post.

Now campaigning for Congressman-at-Large is W. F. "Bill" Elkins, formerly of Killeen, and now a Dallas real estate man.

In the Lt. Governor's race for the first time, and with a strong organization, is Sen. A. M. Alkin of Paris, one of the sponsors of the Gilmer-Alkin school bill.

Busy campaigning for re-election are Judge W. A. Morris of the Court of Criminal Appeals; and Supreme Court Justice Meade F. Griffin.

Actively seeking Jesse James' post as State Treasurer is Warren G. Harding of Dallas.

High Polio Rate Feared
Texas may be headed for a major polio epidemic in 1956 unless vaccinations speed up, say state Health Department officials.

Doctors have been urged to use all available supplies of Salk vaccine, immediately.

Number of cases already has hit 181 as compared to 114 for this time in 1955. Only four of the victims had received shots. Of the 1956 cases, 96 were paralytic.

Some 90,000 new polio shots have been earmarked for shipment to Texas. Less than one-third of Texas children under 20 have received shots, says the Health Department. An estimated 962,415 children and pregnant women have had at least one shot, but there are 3,542,200 who are eligible.

Work Law Action Taken
Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd had moved to protect Texas' "right to work" law.

He asked the U. S. Supreme Court to postpone ruling on a similar Nebraska case until fall. By then he hopes the Texas law, now involved in a suit in the State Supreme Court, can be considered jointly. He also filed a "friend of the court" brief supporting the Nebraska law.

In the Texas suit unions contend the National Railway Labor Act authorizes closed shop contracts, which Texas law prohibits.

State Streams Dwindling
Rainfall which statewide averaged only 23 percent of normal has brought many Texas streams and wells to all-time lows.

"Deficient streamflow and the dwindling conservation storage has magnified the seriousness of the persistent drought," said the State Board of Water Engineers.

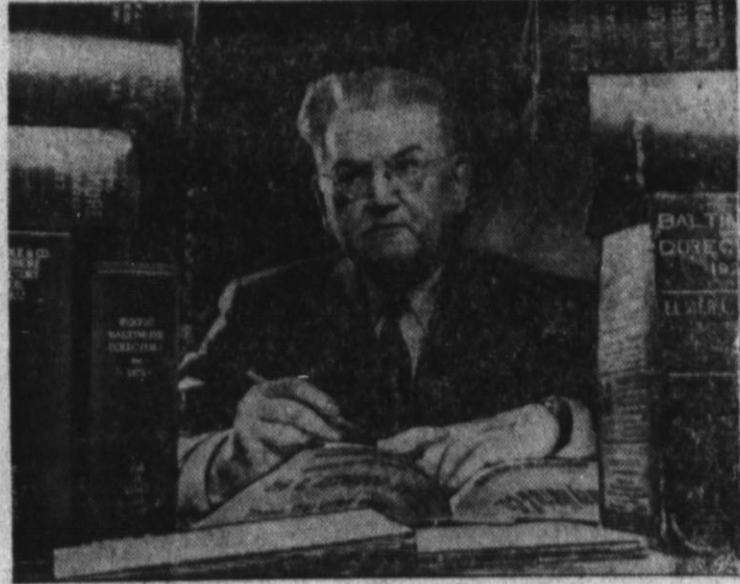

Rural Co-op Wins Suit
A Texas rural electric co-operative may continue to serve an area after it is annexed by a city. So ruled the Third Court of Civil Appeals.

Upshur Rural Electric Co-operative Corporation was aligned against Southwestern Gas and Electric Company. At issue was whether the co-op could operate in an area annexed by the city of Gilmer.

Fifty-four other REA co-ops joined Upshur in the suit. They won not only the right to serve the customers who were members at the time of annexation, but to serve new customers along their lines, even in the city.

SHORT SNORTS: April 22 to 28 has been designated as Military Reserve Week in Texas by Governor Shivers. Some 19 patriotic organizations will conduct a drive for enlistments in the Armed Forces Reserve. District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Duval County won his fight against disbarment, in the State Supreme Court.

H. H. Coffield of Rockdale has been named executive committee chairman for Region 9 of the Boy Scouts of America, which includes NAMES MAKE MONEY—Joseph A. McCabe checks directories for the names of people entitled to forgotten funds.

As A Hobby, Joseph McCabe Traces Forgotten Men's Forgotten Money

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Tracing forgotten men's forgotten money is Joseph A. McCabe's hobby.

Now retired, McCabe was for years a certified public accountant for an oil company while he pursued his spare-time interest in probate genealogy — tracing surviving relatives of deceased people who have left forgotten bank accounts.

Now he has a job as a book checker at the Enoch Pratt Free Library, where he had spent much of his spare time anyway, running down forgotten relatives in old records.

Here's how he works: At each year's end, banks publish a list of the accounts which have been inactive for 20 years. Some of the banks will supply McCabe with the amount of such accounts, the last addresses of account holders and other available information.

McCabe then goes to work searching through new and old city directories at the Pratt Library and at the Library of Congress in Washington, where directories from all over the United States are kept. He also checks the city register of wills, the census records at the National Bureau of Archives in Washington, church baptismal records, old newspaper obituaries and many other sources.

When he finally finds a relative of the deceased account holder and has talked with him long enough to determine that he is the closest survivor, he tells the good news. Usually the surprised relative is glad to sign an agreement which appoints McCabe administrator of the legacy. With an attorney, McCabe goes into probate court, establishes the facts and gets an order for the money.

McCabe has not grown rich on DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—That blood alcohol test which indicated a high alcoholic content could have been all wrong, motorist J. M. Thayer argued in Police Court.

A miner, he claimed he was exposed to atomic radiation in 1953. Its effects may have caused an error in the alcohol reading, he said. Judge Erwin R. DeLuche wasn't convinced. The fine for drunk driving: $142.

WRONG TERM
LUMBERTON, N. C. (AP)—Superior Court Judge Raymond B. Mallard of Tabor City showed up here as scheduled to preside over a term of court — and ran into an order committing him to prison for two years for manufacturing whisky illegally.

Mrs. Dixie Adams, assistant clerk of court, was typing a commitment order for another man when the telephone rang. The caller asked who was conducting the court. And Mrs. Adams typed in Judge Mallard's name as she replied.

She signed the order, too. But the judge beat the rap.

More than 41 percent of the deaths and more than 35 percent of the injuries due to motor vehicle accidents last year occurred on Saturdays and Sundays.

Deaf Smith County Wheat Brightest Spot In Picture

The Deaf Smith County wheat belt continued to be one of the bright spots in Texas wheat outlook this week.

According to the latest farm labor bulletin supplied by the Texas Employment Commission, Wheat Harvest Control Office, the wheat is suffering from drought and insects to such an extent that much acreage has already been abandoned.

The report says, "During the last two weeks, crops have deteriorated rapidly over the entire Texas Wheat Belt, due to the continued drought, high winds and the blowing dust. Some insect infestation is reported over most areas ranging from light to severe. The light scattered rains received on April 15 from Clovis, N. M., to Perryton, will be of little benefit unless more moisture is received in the very near future."

Pinpointing the Littlefield, Muleshoe, Dimmitt, Farwell and Hereford areas, the report says "Dry land wheat has suffered during the last two weeks due to winds, blowing dust and insects. Moisture is urgently needed however irrigated acreage is in good condition and progressing rapidly."

The survey, which reaches into Dallas, San Angelo, Abilene, Wichita Falls, and other wheat growing areas, accents the fact that throughout the state wheat needs moisture. Around Dallas there is noticeable insect infestation which seems to be decreasing. In Haskell and Throckmorton rapid deterioration is prevalent due to the continued dry weather, high winds and infestation.

In Abilene prospect for a wheat and small grain crop has dropped to 50 percent of normal although part of the area received up to one inch of rain April 3. But due to high winds and dust storms, the moisture disappeared nearly as it fell.

Around Crosbyton and Dickens, moisture is urgently needed. Some insect infestation is reported and heavy abandonment has occurred over much of this area.

At Childress hot blowing winds, dust and drought has caused further deterioration of the wheat crop during the last two weeks. If adequate moisture comes within the next two weeks a near average yield can be expected from only about 25 percent of the planted acreage.

San Angelo reports some benefits from recent rains; however, most fields are already being grazed. Very little harvest activity is anticipated.

From Wichita Falls reports indicate that wheat has obtained satisfactory growth, but is beginning to deteriorate due to lack of moisture and some insect infestation. Around Vernon, moisture is badly needed but no abandonment is reported though there is considerable infestation.

At Plainview and Floydada, dry land acreage is still holding on, but moisture is urgently needed. Irrigated acreage is making steady and normal growth. From Amarillo, Panhandle and Vega, the indication is that, although dry land wheat has been severely damaged by dust storms, some of it can be saved if adequate moisture is received within the next few days. Irrigated wheat has been damaged to a large extent by dust storms, but prospects of some harvest remains.

At Pampa and Canadian the dust storm April 8 caused heavy damage. Only 80 percent of the seeded acreage remains and unless rain is received soon, further abandonment will occur.

Dalhart and Dumas report that for all practical purposes, dry land wheat is a complete loss. Two severe dust storms within the last two weeks have also caused severe damage to irrigated acreage in this area.

Borger, Spearman and Perryton report prospects for a wheat crop have deteriorated rapidly during the last two weeks due to wind, dust and drought conditions. It is estimated that 45 to 60 percent of the seeded acreage is already gone and the remaining acreage needs adequate moisture now. There are also reports of some infestation of insects, but this is minor compared with the damage from the drought.

Carlyle Pledges Sigma Delta Chi

DENTON, April 20 (AP)—Gilbert Carlyle, Hereford, has been named to pledge Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity for men at North Texas State College.

Carlyle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel W. Carlyle, 805 Lee, is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity. He is a junior journalism major.

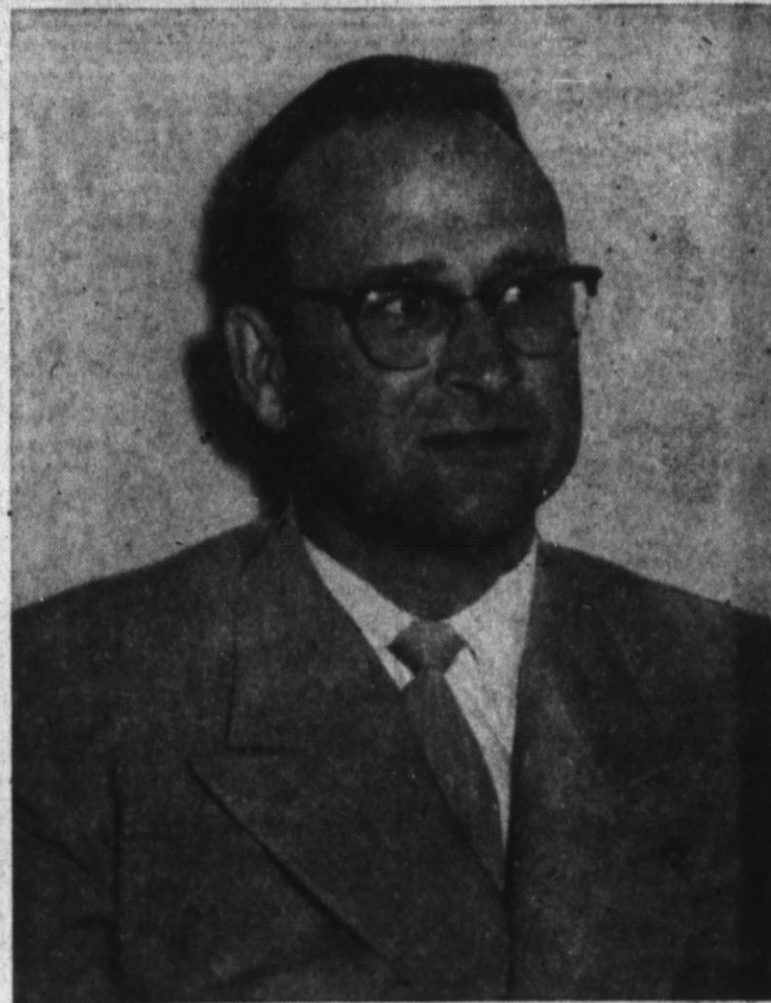

MOSQUITO ATOMS NEWARK, Del. (AP)—A swarm of radioactive mosquitoes is invading Delaware, but the sting will be no better or worse than that of an ordinary mosquito.

As part of a University of Delaware research project, mosquito larvae are being tagged with radioactive isotopes and released in remote marshes.

Researchers will prowl the marshes with Geiger counters to see how far the pests travel from home. Armed with this migratory information, they hope to arrive at better means of mosquito control.

More than 766,000 persons were injured in weekend traffic accidents last year.

The pedestrian record reflected the 5th consecutive year of improvement for motor vehicle accidents in 1955.
