Sparkling Redbirds Flash Past Giants

Superb Fielding, Hurling Garner Cards 7-5 Victory

Chalking up runs in every inning except the third, the fast-improving Cardinals romped past the Giants Thursday night, 7-5. The Redbirds had a scare though. Held scoreless for five innings, the battling Giants came to life in the last of the sixth frame and produced five tallies before going down with the tying runs on base.

In his first hurling assignment, Dick Coombs handuffed the Giant batsmen with one hit in the first five frames. The Redbird starter weakened in the sixth, giving up six base knocks before being relieved by Joe Mack Hale with two away.

The Cards stepped out front in liams, Claude Ricketts, A. M. the first frame when John Willoughby stole home on a passed ball after reaching base on a Giant error. Ronnie Welty went out swinging for the first Cardinal out. Then Royce Turner was safe at first on a Giant miscue. Joe Mack Hale also was safe on a Giant error, pushing Turner to the payoff plate with the second Card counter. Redbirds Tommy Coffman and Bill Nelson struck out to end the Card half of the first.

Ronnie Duncan grounded pitcher to first and Larry Hair fled out to right field to register two outs for the Giants in the bottom of the first. Giant right fielder Paul Moreno missed a third strike, retiring the Giants with no runs.

The Cardinals loaded the bases in the top of the second as the first three batters, Jimmy Bridges, Dick Coombs and Warren Sparks were issued free passes by Giant pitcher David Dowell. Card second baseman John Willoughby again was safe at first on a Giant fielding misplay, scoring Bridges from third.

Ronnie Welty was safe on a fielder's choice, Coombs being forced out at home base.

Warren Sparks scored the fourth Card run on a passed ball. Giant hurler Dowell then struck out Royce Turner followed by Joe Mack Hale who filled the bases, reaching first on a Giant error. Next Card batter Tommy Coffman sent a slow roller to second, forcing out Hale at the Keystone sack.

Sparkling outfield play by the Cardinals in the bottom of the second had the spectators gasping. Giant catcher Eugene Jennings boomed a long fly to right field. Tommy Coffman grabbing the ball one-handed on the run.

Mike Kelly walked but was out while attempting to steal second base. Then Randy Dowell stepped up and banged a long drive to deep center field, Card center fielder Bill Nelson hauling in the slash with a one-handed stab to end the Giant half of the second.

Bill Nelson lead off for the Cards in the third, reaching first on a Giant error. Jimmy Bridges followed with a one-bagger, sending Nelson to third. With runners on first and third, Dick Coombs and Warren Sparks went down via the strikeout route. On an attempted steal, Bridges was put out to end the Card half of the third frame.

Jamming the sacks with runners the Giants again failed, to muck in the bottom of the third. Dwight McGee grounded pitcher to first base for the first Giant out. Ken Loerwald walked but was forced out at second when David Dowell bounced a grounder to second. With two away Ronnie Duncan was safe at first on a Card error. Larry Hair walked to fill the bases. Hitting a grass-skinner to second, Paul Moreno forced out Hair at second for the third Giant out.

The Cardinals scored a single run in the fourth when Ronnie Welty came home on a Giant overthrow at second base. Willoughby singled to open the Card fourth, followed by Welty who was safe on a fielder's choice. Royce Turner was also safe at first, loading the bases. Lining to pitcher David Dowell, Joe Mack Hale made the first Card out. Dowell threw to third on the same play, doubling Bridges off for the second out. Tommy Coffman registered the third out, second to first base, just after Welty scored from second.

The Giants went down scoreless again in the bottom of the fourth but Mike Kelly collected the first base hit off Card pitcher Dick Coombs. Dick Coombs scored the Card's sixth run in the fifth. After doubling into center field, Coombs raced home when John Willoughby singled with two away. Ronnie Welty grounded out second to first to end the Card fifth.

In the bottom of the fifth the Giants were set down one-two-three, Ken Loerwald whiffing, David Dowell going out pitcher to first base and Ronnie Duncan grounding out second to first.

With two away in the last inning, Tommy Coffman walked for the Cardinals and scored the seventh Redbird tally when Bill Nelson followed with a slashing one-bagger to right field. Jimmy Bridges towered a high fly to right field for the third Card out.

Boom! The Giant's exploded for five runs in the last half of the sixth on a walk and six base hits. Hits in the inning were recorded by Larry Hair, Don Sheppard, Mike Kelly, Dwight McGee, Ken Loerwald and David Dowell. With two away and the tying runs on base, Joe Mack Hale came on to handle the hurling job for the Redbirds, getting Hair to ground out to first base to preserve the Card victory.

Yankees Grab 16-9 Verdict Over Bums

Blasting across 10 tallies in third inning, the Yankees roared past the Dodgers Friday night in a free-scoring contest, 16-9. The Yankees paraded 15 batters to the plate in the third, eight walking, three getting base hits and one reaching first on a Dodger error.

Jay Boynton led off for the Bombers in the first inning with a walk. Then Butch Hoff popped up to Dodger starting pitcher Lynton Alired for the first out. S. D. Baize walked to put Yankee runners on first and second. On an attempted pickoff play at second a Bomber overthrow into center field allowed Boynton and Baize to score the first two Yankee runs. Singling into left center field, Danny McDowell tallied the third Bomber marker on a two-base overthrow. Ronnie Greenway came through with a stand-up double but John Buck and Drew Kershen followed with outs to end the Yankee half of the initial frame.

Battling back in the bottom of the first, the Dodgers scored two runs when Charles Calloway, Judon Fambrough and Jerry Curt-singer all received free trips to jam the bases with one away. Shortstop Lee McMurray stepped to the platter and crashed a one-bagger, scoring Calloway and Fambrough. Dennis Rickman and Jackie Lee viewed third called-strikes, ending the Dodger's bid to knot the count.

Dodger starting hurler Lynton Alired set the Yankees down with one run in the top of the second stanza. Dickie Slaughter struck out to open the second. After slashing a single, Van Smith raced home with the fourth Bomber run on a two-base miscue by the Dodgers. With two away Butch Hoff walked. Then S. D. Baize hit a ground ball, forcing Hoff out at second to retire the side.

McCaslin Baize Hastings Buck Hoff Smith

The Dodgers were able to send only four batsmen to the plate in the bottom of the second. Appearing in his first hurling role of the season for the Yankees, Van Smith walked Jimmy Haney to begin the action. Dodger pitcher Lynton Alired fled to shortstop for the first out. Striking out Barry Gabbert and Charles Calloway, Smith downed the Dodgers with no runs. Yankee machinery began to operate in the top of the third, runs coming in mass production proportions. Having difficulty with his control, tosser Lynton Alired issued six bases on balls and gave up two single-base hits before getting Danny McDowell on a fly to left field for the first Yankee out. David Gray came in to relieve Alired with one away in the third. Before the inning was over, 10 big Yankee runs rolled off the assembly line, giving the Bombers a 14-2 lead.

The Dodgers came back in the bottom of the third to counter three runs. Four walks and a single by Dennis Rickman aided the Dodger attempt to close in on the Yankees. With the bases loaded and two away, Bill Krumbain bounced Dodger reliever David Gray got the Yankees out in the top of the fourth with no runs. In the lower half of the fourth, the fighting Dodgers bounded back for four more runs on two walks and a trio of Yankee fielding mishaps. Drew Kershen relieved Van Smith on the Bomber mound in the fourth. At the end of the fourth inning, the Yankees lead had been cut to 14-9.

Adding two runs in the top of the fifth, Ron Greenway and John Buck scored on a stinging double into deep left field by Dickie Slaughter. With two away and a runner on second, Yankee catcher Jay Boynton went down swinging to end the Yankee fifth.

Trying to overcome a seven-run deficit, the Bums failed to mark in the last of the fifth canto. Four Dodger batters came to the plate, two being forced out at second after reaching first safely. Watching a third strike go by, David Gray made the final Dodger out to end the game.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS By GIL CARLYLE

Football fever is in the air. It may seem a little too early to start writing about the gridiron sport, especially since baseball is still in the national spotlight. But in just 38 more days, 730 schoolboy teams will take to the practice fields across the state of Texas. A few days later 173 teams will begin action.

Professional football squads will begin practicing this week for the 1956 gridiron season which promises to be the greatest in history. The annual College All-Star-Pro game will be coming up in the latter part of next month.

Three more teams will enter district competition in Texas this season, breaking the 1955 record of 900 active schoolboy teams. There will be 87 teams competing in class AAA football in Texas this season.

Hereford will be one of the triple-A teams, moving up for the first time this year. Many fans have requested the official Hereford football schedule for the 1956 season. Here it is:

Sept. 14, Canyon, away; Sept. 21, open date; Sept. 28, Tulia, here; Oct. 5, Olton, away; Oct. 12, Plainview, here; Oct. 19, Portals, here; Oct. 26, Clovis, away; Nov. 2, Littlefield, away (conference game); Nov. 9, Dumas, here (conference); Nov. 16, LoveMond, here (conference); and Nov. 23, Phillips, there (conference).

The college football B teams of West Texas State and Abilene Christian will play a game at Whiteface Stadium on September 21st. Hereford has an open date on this day. More about the 1956 football season later.

Hereford Little League baseball fans are wondering about playoffs at the end of the Little League season on August 10th. Nothing official has been announced. Little League team managers are scheduled to meet soon and determine just how the playoff will work and how a season champion will be declared.

The Hereford Little League champions will not play in any official post-season tournament this year. All Little League teams are on probation their first active year in the Little League organization.

Rocky's Bounce Over Knights; Piggly Wiggly Takes Victory

Hot-and-cold Rocky's swept past the Knights of Columbus, 11-3, on Tuesday night at Veterans' Memorial Park to kill any hopes the KC's might have had about an undefeated season. It was the first loss of the season for the Knights in five outings.

Rocky's ace moundsman Karl Hutcheson baffled the Knights' batsmen with his right-handed tosses, allowing only five hits and a single walk. Hutcheson buried the route to gain his second win.

Ken Walterscheid started on the mound for the Knights, giving up five runs before Gerald Gerber took over the pitching chores in the fourth. Rocky's greeted Gerber with a powerful hitting barrage to score six more runs in the last two innings. Rocky's batters collected a total of nine hits and 10 free passes off Walterscheid and Gerber.

The seven-inning affair was close up to the fifth inning. Rocky's holding a 2-1 lead. Rocky's hitters came to life in the final three-innings, scoring a trio of runs in each. The victory boosted Rocky's to third place in the league's standings.

Piggly Wiggly jumped back on the winning trail Thursday night, sweeping past the Jr. Odd Fellows in a marathon affair, 30-23. Big inning for Piggly came in the third when the Pig batsmen pounded out five base hits to push across 12 tallies. It was the first win for Piggly after three consecutive losses.

Piggly pitching was somewhat erratic as starter Ralph Atchley and reliever Gil Carlyle gave up a total of 21 bases on balls. Ten hits were given up by the Piggly hurlers while Jr. Odd Fellow moundsman Jim Curt-singer allowed the Pigs 16 base blows including booming home runs by Raymond Dement and Marshall Wilson.

Remember how John Kelly got all soaped up — and the city water suddenly went off? The same thing happened to Ivan Block at the same minute and the same second. The big difference was that Ivan solved the problem efficiently and with the greatest of ease. He simply walked over, lifted the lid from the storage compartment on the commode and got enough water to remove most of the soap temporarily.

In addition, this puts Ivan in a class all by himself. Most people use only a few drops of "toilet water" at a time, but Ivan says he is one of the few men who ever took a bath in the stuff.

Earnest Langley brought in an ad for Judge James R. Norvell, who is seeking a place on the Supreme Court of Texas. It was signed 100 percent by the eight lawyers in Hereford. Earnest was giving me quite a sales talk about Judge Norvell who, it seems, out ran his opponent by a margin of 4-to-1 in a recent poll among members of the Texas Bar Association. Both of the candidates live in Austin and Earnest says there is absolutely no comparison between the two men.

When he finally ran down a little bit, I told him that he was wasting his breath. I was already sold. Anyone who can get all eight of these local lawyers to agree on any one given subject at the same time automatically gets my vote — regardless of his known ability and qualifications. I've heard them argue in court and out of court, and the only mistake they are making is not running Judge Norvell for President.

Honest, though, it is always a task for me to choose good men for these judge posts. The job is highly technical one, based on qualifications rather than political ability, and sometimes I wonder if they should not be appointed rather than elected. Besides, all of us in recent years have had reason to properly evaluate the importance of these Supreme Court judges. Personally, I am mighty happy to have the opinion of the Hereford lawyers on this face.

Anyway, it won't be long. By this time next week all of us will know about all of the races, including the local offices of sheriff and commissioner of precinct 1, which are creating considerable discussion around town.

J. W. Robinson and Bill Decker will be in their new offices on Third Street Monday. These offices, without question, are the most modern in town. They are air conditioned, carpeted, well furnished and complete down to the last detail. They have one drawback, though, it's going to be rough when quitting time comes and the boys have to go home.

For a church man, Bob Lawrence sure isn't very cooperative. When the announcement came out about his forthcoming mission work in Alaska, I asked him about taking me along to do his fishing, since he will likely be busy with his evangelistic chores most of the time. Bob figures, however, that if there is any fishing done he will do it himself. Besides, he says that he already has several propositions better than mine.

This dime coffee is changing the habits of a lot of people. You can't blame the dealers, though; by the time they pay for washing the dishes, breakage, overhead and other expenses it is questionable if they can make any money on coffee, even at 10 cents. The actual price of coffee, they say, isn't much of a factor.

The Lions are growing again. They say that we left the impression in some sort of write-up that the price of kiddie rides is 10 cents — while the rides actually cost 20 cents. The kids, it seems, are inclined to argue.

This new five-man City Commission sure changes the aspect around Hereford. Raylan Evans and Neil Cooper, the two boys with long, bushy locks, are now in the minority. Mayor Henry Sears, Dr. R. R. Wills and Troy Moore swung the balance of power back to the "level headed" boys—and I can't think of three better examples to represent the bald headed clan.

Vacation Travelers Must Watch Speed Combat Fatigue

AUSTIN — Reunions. Rodeos. Fishing trips. From now until the beginning of school, vacationing Texans will take to the highways by the thousands. They are likely to find the roads more crowded than at any time in the state's history. From year to year, total traffic volume has climbed steadily, surveys from the Highway Department show. In addition, vacation months bring a steep jump. August especially is a headache for the Department of Public Safety. Accident rates climb sharply. During the past five years August accident rates have been from 3 to 27 percent higher than in July.

"People try to over-drive on a long vacation trip," says Asst. Chief C. G. Connor of the Texas Highway Patrol. "Fatigue is a particular problem. Speed is another."

They can't do much about people who drive when they're too tired, Connor admits. But something can and has been done about speed.

"Installation of radar detection devices has had a tremendous impact on driving practices," said Connor. Studies made before and after radar use was begun on state and federal highways in November, of 1954, show: 1. excessive speeding dropped from 21 to 15 percent, 2. accidents dropped 3.4 percent and 3. deaths dropped 1.9 percent.

During the same period accidents on the non-radar - patrolled stretches — farm to market roads, city streets, etc. — climbed 13 percent. A similar increase could have been expected on the state and federal highways, Connor believes, especially since total mileage increased also — nearly 5 percent.

Had normal trends continued, 181 more lives would have been lost in 1955.

ing applications and complying with regulations has been extended one week, the state ASC committee still has not released to county offices the procedures to be followed in measuring soil bank acres and making payments.

Grazing Prohibited As previously announced, wheat land "banked" for 1956 can be reseeded this fall for harvest in 1957. But all grazing or other use of the land is prohibited under the law until Jan. 1, 1957.

In extending the application date for the 1956 program, the USDA also announced that farmers will have until Aug. 3 to plow up cotton, and advanced the wheat disposition date through July 27.

Applications now on file with the ASC office in Hereford are expected to bring the total soil bank payments for wheat growers in this county to over $300,000.

that you can't beat 'em for comfort and versatility of wear and there are too few types of feminine clothes that can be so pretty and yet so practical. (However, for further comments on this topic see what Barbara Hooten, in her new book "Guestward Ho" has to say on the topic of fiesta dresses.) Frankly, though, I am glad that we women of the Southwest have introduced the design to other sections. It adds to our reputation as a growing fashion center.

Thelma Axe, for instance, is one woman who makes her own squaw dresses. One in particular is a casual cotton of simple pattern, unadorned, but interesting in its red and black color scheme and Elizabeth Bonoso has a stunning fiesta dress which she wears appropriately for both daytime and evening activities. The time of day dictates her choice of jewelry and accessories. Incidentally her dress is a mixture of honey-gold and rust brown, (I'll call it a bright golden adjective) and is trimmed with gold hued rie-rae. It's really an especially pretty dress. The sun has played tricks with Elizabeth's hair this summer, and she's been accused of dying her lovely locks just to match this particular dress, since colors of her hair and dress practically match.

is designed for primarily a passing game. A beach-type ball, 13 inches in diameter, is employed in the sport. Twenty feet apart, two goal posts are located at each end of the playing field. Points are scored when the ball passes between the goal posts, from the playing area.

Five players make up a team, with each confined to a zone on the field during the course of the game. Players attempt to pass the ball from one zone to another toward their respective goals.

A horseback referee determines when a horse exceeds the boundary of its zone, calling a foul in case of a violation. A guard stands duty at each goal, his job being to block opponents shots and reverse the direction of the ball toward his own goal.

Scoring
Scoring is recorded with one point for a pass through the goal posts from the zone closest to the goal, two points from the second zone and three points from the middle zone.

A scoring shot from the center zone is a rarity. In order for a pass from the middle zone to count it must be a direct shot untouched by a player or horse.

A complete game consists of four 15-minute chukkers, with a three-minute intermission between each chukker. Free substitution is permitted during the course of the game.

During the last two years, the Hereford Riders Club has played Palmetto Polo exhibitions at the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, the 1955 Rodeo at Amarillo, Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N. M. The team also participates in tourneys at San Angelo.

Crowds Are Small
Fan and player of Palmetto Polo, Faust Collier says, "Palmetto Polo is sharing the same fate as regular polo. The game never attracts great crowds."

"But for people who like fast-action and are interested in horses," declares Collier, "there is no finer sport in the world."

Whether or not the horseback sport ever draws large crowds, there will always be persons like members of the Hereford Riders Club who put their whole heart in the game.

The general appearance and complete arrangement also will be considered.

Federated clubs are expected to cooperate with district, state and general federations in projects outside the individual club field of interest.

These include Cooperation with Americanism department, contributions to both Penny Art and Penny Music funds, contribution to the TFWC Latin - American scholarship fund some participation in youth direction, some worthwhile community project and contribution to TFWC headquarters maintenance fund.

Program chairmen are asked to send copies of outstanding programs to the TFWC headquarters, 2312 San Gabriel, Austin, for use in the state program service.

Deward Robersons Observe Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Deward Roberson marked their silver wedding anniversary at an open house for relatives and close friends in their home 402 Union Ave., Sunday afternoon. Approximately 70 guests signed names in the memory book.

The house was decorated throughout with flowers from the Roberson garden carrying out a pink, white and silver theme. The anniversary table was laid with a pink net cloth over pink and centered with a tiered arrangement of roses, snap dragons, bells of Ireland and gladioli dusted with silver glitter. Rising from their midst was the silver numerals "25."

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. B. E. Roberson, Mrs. Earl Springer, and the couple's three nieces, Mrs. Joe Benson, Mrs. Clyde Swartzell of Florida and Mrs. D. H. Harman of Happy. The couple's children Sandra, age 14, and Gary, age 9, assisted in receiving the guests.

Miss Tiny Lee Springer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Springer, and Deward Roberson were married July 16, 1931, and lived in Hereford one year before moving to Amarillo. In 1942 they moved to Liberal, Kans., where he was supply inspector in World War II. After his service there they returned to Hereford to make their home.

Her husband shares these hobbies with her, and adds a couple of his own. When time permits he takes off on a fishing trip or gets in a few games of golf. He is owner and operator of the Continental Oil Company.

Roberson is a member of the Hereford Lions Club and is now serving as junior warden in the Masonic Lodge. He is Rainbow Dad and takes active interest in other civic enterprises. Mrs. Roberson is treasurer of the Hereford Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, is past president of the Garden Beautiful Club and has served on the Chamber of Commerce Citizens Committee.

Marcella Bezner, Doyle Vaughn Exchange Vows In Church Rites

Before an archway, decorated with greenery and white daisies, flanked by Cathedral tapers in candelabrum and baskets of white gladioli, Miss Marcella Bezner became the bride of Doyle Vaughn of Tulla in St. Anthony's Catholic Church Monday.

The Rev. Father Bartholomew Paytas performed the double ring ceremony and read the nuptial mass at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bezner. Mr. Vaughn is the son of W. L. Vaughn of Carlsbad, N. M., and Mrs. Pearl McReynolds of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Morris Hacker, organist, played the wedding marches by Rossini and accompanied Edward Dziuk Jr., who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "Pania Angelicus." "O Perfect Love" was exchanged softly as vows were exchanged. At the conclusion of the rites Mr. Dziuk sang "Mother At Thy Feet We Are Kneeling" as the couple knelt before the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Sisters Attend Bride

Carol Ann Bezner, maid of honor, and Bernadette Bezner, bridesmaid, were their sister's attendants. They wore identically made dresses of net over taffeta in two shades of orchid. The strapless bodices and the very full ballerina length skirts, worn over hoops, were fashioned of small net ruffles.

A second skirt, also made of ruffles, accented the bouffant effect. A taffeta shrug jacket completed the costume and they wore small shell headpieces of matching taffeta with circular veils. Their flowers were white feathered carnations, fashioned in colonial bouquets with cascades of satin ribbon and lace.

Arnold Fangman of Friona served as best man and Bill Hill of Hart was groomsman. Ted Fangman of Friona and Gerald Curtis of Farwell were ushers. Acolytes were Jodie Bezner and Billy Ray Betzen, cousins of the bride.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a formal gown of nylon lace and net over taffeta. The basque of lace featured a deep sweetheart neckline finished in wide scallops, and met the skirt in large bound scallops. Her bouffant skirt was fashioned with tiered ruffles of lace and pleated net at the sides and terminated in a chapel train. Lace gauntlets completed the costume.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and rhinestones and her only ornaments were a strand of pearls with matching ear rings. The bridal bouquet was a nuptial orchid surrounded with white bud roses and she carried a blue rosary belonging to her sister. She also wore her maternal grandmother's wedding ring and a six pence for luck.

The bride's mother wore a navy silk-linen sheath with white lace jacket trimmed in rhinestones, and she wore a large navy and white hat with a pink carnation corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a beige linen suit with white hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Reception in St. Anthony's Hall
The bride's parents were hosts at a reception in St. Anthony's School Hall with members of St. Anthony's Guild making up the house party. Sharon Brinkman presided at the guest register.

The bride's table featured a tiered wedding cake and arrangements of purple and white gladioli. Baskets of gladioli were placed about the hall.

When the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs and other points in Colorado, the bride was wearing an avocado green sheath dress with short box jacket. She wore a yellow straw hat and yellow accessories with the orchid detached from the wedding bouquet as a corsage.

The bride attended Hereford High School and graduated from Sacred Heart Academy in Wichita, Kans. She belonged to the Press Club and sang with the Girls Octet both in Hereford High and the Academy. She served as treasurer of the Catholic Youth Club and was a member of St. Anthony's Church choir.

Mr. Vaughn was graduated from Farwell High School and attended West Texas State College. He served two years in the U. S. Army and is presently engaged in farming near Tulla where the couple will make their home.

MRS. DOYLE VAUGHN . . . the former Marcella Bezner

Pearl Jesko, James Acker Wed In Formal Ceremony

Miss Pearl Jesko and James Acker of Nazareth were married on the morning of July 10 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Bartholomew Paytas conducting the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jesko of Friona and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Acker of Nazareth.

Decorations on the high altar carried out the bride's chosen colors in pink and white gladioli. Bouquets of multi-colored gladioli and daisies were at the side altars with accents of bells of Ireland. Pink and white candles burned in seven-branched candelabra. Candlelighters were Paul Jesko of Muleshoe, and Arnold Fangman of Friona, both cousins of the bride.

Appropriate marches, as the bridal party entered and left the church, were played by Miss Joesetta Acker, sister of the bridegroom, who accompanied Ed Dziuk Jr., soloist, who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "To Kneel at Thine Altar" and "O What Could My Jesus, Do More?"

Sisters Are Attendants
Mrs. Fritz Hoffman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mary Ann Acker, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Betty Bagley, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids.

They wore identical dresses of pink lace net over taffeta with matching lace boleros. Their head dresses were calottes to match their dresses and they wore silver slippers. They carried identical bouquets of white carnations tied with white satin streamers.

Charles Acker served his brother as best man and Lawrence Acker and A. J. Jesko, brothers of the couple, were groomsmen. Usher were John Warren, Eugene Kern of Nazareth, George Jesko of Muleshoe and Ted Fangman of Friona. Acolytes were Jerry Acker and Wayne Jesko.

Wears Taffeta and Lace

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and taffeta of her own design and fashioning. The fitted bodice had a rolled pointed collar and long sleeves that came to petal points at the hands.

Tiny lace buttons fastened the bodice in front of the sleeves. The princess fullness of the skirt was accented in the back by a detachable chapel-length train trimmed in lace. Her heirloom tiered veil of Witchcraft lace, which was attached to a calotte of lace studded with pearls and sequins, was borrowed from a friend, Mrs. Julia McEvoy Sillence of Winchester, England.

She carried a white Prayer Book, the gift of a cousin who is studying for the priesthood, topped with a purple orchid surrounded with white carnations cascaded with white satin streamers. She wore an imported pearl choker and her mother's cameo ring worn by her sisters in their weddings.

The bride's mother wore an orchid print with avocado green accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue and white faille dress—with blue accessories. Their corsages were of pink asters.

Warrens Host Breakfast

Following the wedding a breakfast was given for the bridal party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren. A dinner at high noon was given by the bride's parents in St. Anthony's Parish Hall for the immediate members of both families. For the reception in the late afternoon, also in the Parish Hall, the bride's table was centered with a heart-shaped wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple. Miss Billy Jean Jesko registered the guests. A dance in the late evening concluded the ceremonies.

For the wedding trip to points in New Mexico the bride donned a navy nylon dress with white accessories. She wore the orchid from the wedding bouquet.

The bride was graduated from Lazbuddie High School as valedictorian. She is also a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, majoring in home economics. She has also served as treasurer of the state FHA organization.

The bridegroom was born and reared in Nazareth. After graduating from High School he entered the service for two years. He is now engaged in farming at Nazareth where the couple will make their home.

Miss Doris Russell Marries Mr. Joe C. Neely Of Amarillo

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Russell have announced the marriage of their daughter, Doris, to Mr. Joe C. Neely, son of Rabv Neely, 1806 Chama St., Amarillo, and Mrs. Juel Mae Proctor of Denver, Colo.

Vows were exchanged Saturday, July 14, in the Mont Vista Christian Church in Albuquerque, N.M., with the bride's uncle, assistant pastor, Rev. Glenn W. Ricketts, reading the double-ring ceremony.

As a setting for the ceremony white gladioli and chrysanthemums, and pink carnations banked the altar. The lighted gold cross above gave illumination for the scene.

Mrs. Glenn Ricketts, aunt of the bride, provided the wedding music and played the traditional wedding marches.

Mr. Russell escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. For her wedding she chose a white street length dress of nylon lace lined with white taffeta. Fashioned along princess lines, the bodice featured a low sweetheart neckline, accented with a narrow band of taffeta forming a soft bow in front. She carried out the bridal custom of wearing something old, new, borrowed, and blue, and she wore her mother's pearl ear rings.

The bridal bouquet of white Frenched carnations cascaded with white satin streamers, rested on a white Bible, the gift of her grandparents, and she carried the lace handkerchief made for her by her maternal grandmother when she graduated from high school.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Linta Russell. Her dress was in yellow dotted swiss and she wore a half hat of white starched lace. She wore a corsage of white carnations outlined in pastel blue.

Robert Russell, brother of the bride, served as best man.

MRS. J. F. WARD . . . taught Sunday School 50 years

Class Honors Mrs. Ward On 84th Birthday Event

Members of Win One Class of the First Methodist Church honored their teacher, Mrs. J. F. Ward on her 84th birthday Tuesday. It was their way of saying thanks for serving as teacher of the Win One Class for the past 19 years.

She has taught a Sunday School class in the Methodist Church for over half a century.

The birthday luncheon was held in the home of Mrs. G. W. Newsom. Flowers, which Mrs. Ward loves and grows so successfully, were everywhere, and the birthday feast was topped off with two birthday cakes. A shower of lovely personal gifts were presented. Mrs. Newsom was assisted by Mrs. Hank Williams, Mrs. Ed Warren and Mrs. E. W. Hobson.

Panhandle Pioneer

Mrs. Ward's interests have been many since she came to the Panhandle long ago. She has given much of herself in every community in which she has lived and today, at 84, she has a business of her own, and has large property holdings, works actively in welfare and religious interests, looks after the orphan and the homeless, collects clothing and contributes large sums for charity interests abroad and at home, keeps up her interest in young ministers of the Methodist Church and in all young people, aiding and abetting them in worthwhile projects.

Mrs. Ward said she had lived long because "I put my religion to work and began living for others." She scoffed at the idea of retirement "I'll never retire and I don't like the word." She said, "Always, her days are full and she expects to keep them that way."

Wrote Autobiography

In 1952 she wrote the story of her life, giving the proceeds from the book to McMurry College, Abilene, to help ministerial students prepare for life service. Now she has taken on a new project, a cottage at the Methodist Children's Home in Waco.

She built Ward Hall in the First Methodist Church as a memorial to her late husband who shared her interest in young people, and dedicated it to the use of all young people. Many a down-and-outter has knocked on her door to find food and lodging, and before sending him away, she would reach into her welfare box for clean, warm clothes as well.

"When the Lord gets ready for me to quit, He will let me know" she commented.

Special Program Given

A special program honoring Mrs. Ward was presented following the luncheon. Mrs. D. H. Bryant gave the devotional lesson from the Twenty Third Psalm and an appropriate reading was given by Mrs. D. W. Hawkins. Special music was provided by Rev. Alby Cockrell, pastor, Mrs. R. P. Conaway and a vocal duet given by Mrs. A. C. Thompson and J. E. Beyer.

Shella Williams and Jane Newsom played informal piano music during the luncheon hour and Charlotte Williams secured the names of all present for the honoree's memory book.

They included special guests; Rev. and Mrs. Alby Cockrell, Mrs. T. J. Stoy of Fort Worth, Mrs. J. P. Slaton, Mrs. Elva Bailey of Oklahoma City, Elna Bishop, Colleen Brown, Joe Beyer, J. L. Collins and Mrs. Frances Mathies of Reseda, Calif.

Class members included the honoree, Mesdames M. F. Cherry, president, B. J. Stoy, D. H. Bryant, Sam Lesly, H. M. Benefield, Ida Ricketts; E. W. Harrison, F. A. Millard, W. H. Awtrey, A. C. Pierce, I. H. Spratt, J. E. Beyer, J. P. Funderburg, M. M. Beavers, Clyde Cocanougher, D. W. Hawkins, J. L. Collins, Dorothy Ross, A. C. Thompson, W. A. Gearn, S. L. Easley, Liston Wilson, Misses Frances Turentine and Nettie Green.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlors.

For the wedding trip to the Pacific Northwest, the bride traveled in a pale green linen suit with white accessories. Her corsage was

B-PW Club Members Hear Stories About Social Worker's Experience

"Come with me and meet Jose, who has just broken his arm," said Kay Caillet, worker at the Labor Camp, as she introduced her talk on her activities for the Business and Professional Club Women.

She explained how Jose had broken his arm while his mother was working in the fields. The nurse at the camp recommended medical attention and the seven year old boy was brought to the doctor here in town. He was X-rayed, treated and taken back to the camp where Miss Caillet and other workers took turns comforting him until his mother returned home.

This and other experiences of camp social workers formed the basis of her talk, as Miss Caillet outlined also the possibilities for constructive work available at the Labor Camp.

Miss Della Stagner gave a talk on women at work, emphasizing the great demand for more employed women.

During the business session, the members voted to contribute to the Prayer Room at the local hospital, to purchase a filing cabinet for club use and to sponsor the sale of fruit cakes again this year.

"It shall be my purpose to vigorously enforce the law" means ALL types of cases to be tried in District Court, not merely "hot check" cases. EXPERIENCE has shown that felony (over $50.00) "hot check" cases represent a minor portion of cases handled by your District Attorney; that misdemeanor (under $50.00) "hot check" cases are one of the biggest problems of your County Attorney. Two Candidates Worth Considering

With the Democratic primary scheduled for next Saturday, it is logical to believe that most people have made up their minds regarding the candidates for whom they plan to vote. Certainly, if they have not, they are considering the merits of the various candidates.

In this light, it appears appropriate to recall and briefly review the activities of two men who have befriended the Panhandle and Deaf Smith County. The two men are Price Daniel, candidate for Governor of Texas, and A. M. Aiken, candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Price Daniel, according to reports from Grain Sorghum sponsors, was the one man in Washington who did the most to help include grain sorghum supports on the farm bill which passed in both the House and in the Senate, but was later vetoed by the President. Through his untiring efforts, Senator Daniel was able to still get a price boost of approximately 19 cents per hundred over the 1955 support for the coming year. Senator Daniel, in addition, represents non-radical thinking, states rights and, so far, has appeared to run on his own record and merits, rather than upon the faults of others. These things, without question, merit his careful consideration upon the part of all voters in this area.

State Senator A. M. Aiken, co-sponsor of the Gilmer-Aiken bill, which revolutionized education for Texas boys and girls, also maintains a close tie with Deaf Smith County in view of the fact that his brother, John Aiken, is a long-time resident of Hereford. Possibly no other political figure in Texas has worked more unselfishly or more untiringly than has Senator Aiken in behalf of this state. Furthermore, we doubt if any other political figure has made equal contribution to the long range welfare of the state. Like

About Health

The egghead planners in Washington still don't like the American system in which the physician and scientist cooperate, in an atmosphere of incentive, to improve health conditions. The eggheads think the government ought to take over all health—control of disease, of doctor and of hospital.

In the meantime, the non-governmental system makes quiet but impressive progress. Metropolitan Life Insurance's latest bulletin reveals that in 1935—just two decades ago—there were 8,000 cases of smallpox in the United States. In 1955 there were none. In 1935 there were 137,000 cases of malaria. In 1955 there were only 477, many of which were acquired by soldiers overseas. Mortality from tuberculosis and pneumonia and influenza fell 90 percent from 1933-35 to 1953-55. Death rate from childhood diseases—measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough and diphtheria—was only 0.2 per 100,000 in 1953-55.

But there is still pressure to change the system, to take health out of the hands of those who are competent and let the politicians handle it.—Dallas News.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Inferior Physical Fitness Need Program To Combat

A recent report for the National Committee on Physical Fitness indicates that American youth rank far behind European youth in general physical fitness. How do you think we can help combat this problem?

MRS. O. E. SHERMAN

If the women would stay home and take care of their children, they would be better off.

STANLEY KROPFF

More stress on physical training in high schools.

OLIVER STREU

Most colleges have compulsory physical training programs. I think better organized games in grade schools, even organized gymnastics classes would help alleviate the problem. Also high schools should have required physical training programs the same as colleges.

JOHN POINDEXTER

I believe one way is through an overall physical education program to include all age groups of children. Summer programs would help too. In order to be effective, these programs would have to have the full support of parents.

CUBBY KITCHENS

A tremendous amount of cooperation between the public and school system is needed to solve this problem. It would take a lot of work and organization to design physical education programs to include all children up to the ages of 15 and 16. Summer recreational programs with all types of sports included would be of tremendous value.

WAY TO MEET JUDGE

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—While Helena Mayor Otto Brackman was away on vacation, K. V. Ingersoll was appointed a police judge and the two never met until—

Mayor Brackman got an overtime parking ticket and a summons to the judge. The mayor paid his $1 fine, saying: "We've never met before and I thought I would come in and shake your hand as well as pay my fine."

MISSING COOKIE JAR

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton police, unable to find a crumb of evidence in the case of the missing cookie jar containing $900, were about ready to give up when they got a call from the jar's owner.

She sheepishly admitted getting out of bed one night to put the jar where no one could find it. No one did, until the woman cleaned behind a chair.

Two University of North Carolina trackmen are 1956 Atlantic Coast Conference champions. Jim Beatty is mile ruler and Charlie Yarborough is broad jump titlist.

TIMBER MARKING

CAMDEN, S. C. (AP)—Forester Roy Cummings apparently inadvertently included something other than trees when he marked a timber tract for cutting with a blue paint-spraying spray gun.

When workmen went into the tract to cut the marked timber they discovered and killed a large rattlesnake with the tell-tale blue spray.

PERSONALITY TRAITS

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Personality traits should be rated one at a time, and over a period of time, not all at once.

A Michigan State University psychologist, Dr. Donald M. Johnson, says a person may appear to be a mental genius, and you, impressed by this trait, may overlook how he measures up to such things as kindness, courage, usefulness and personal appearance.

Dr. Johnson calls this partial impression the "halo effect" and says it can be reduced by rating traits one at a time and over a period of time.

A man whose hand rests steadily on the pulse of Deaf Smith County, Fred W. Baird sees the community's heartbeat reflected in its children.

"Our young folks—despite our proud talk about the fine vegetables, grain and the other crops we grow here—are the greatest thing ours or any other community produces," Baird observed recently.

And as financial secretary for the Hereford Rural High School with considerable budgetary responsibility, Baird has to figure day by day and one, two and three years ahead on the dollars our youngsters will need to continue their education in a properly equipped and staffed school.

Perhaps he realized, when he accepted his present position, during the last week of 1947, that the newly consolidated school system would double its enrollment during the next eight years.

Schools, Churches Spark Growth
At any rate, he was aware that Hereford's growth has been sparked through the years by its reputation for having good schools and churches.

Having moved from his native Grayson County to a farm and ranch a short distance southeast of town back in 1900, Baird himself is a product of the Hereford environment. And today, at 68, he firmly believes stable people, "the kind interested in raising children, rather than with an eye always on the dollar, have moved here because of our good schools and because we are a church town."

Members of the school board of trustees are cited by Baird as representative of the best citizens this community has produced. "They are solicited to run because of their established interest—having children and property—in the schools. Perhaps during their first meeting, the school's affairs may look rather complicated. But you let a new member sit through two sessions with the trustees and by then he is going to be so interested in seeing that the school's business is properly operated that he will be neglecting his own work.

Pure Public Service
"It seems that when a man is elected to the board, knowing that his salary is going to be a flat zero, he has to have a keen sense of responsibility. A salary, even a token payment," Baird feels, "might disrupt this entire system. Right now it is the purest form of public service and the no pay factor attracts the higher caliber men."

His regular and special meetings with the board of trustees appear to be highlights in the life of the financial secretary. The board has been "sitting late" during some recent sessions, but he remains alert and ready to supply any advice or information requested—from 8 p.m. until 2 a.m. and later. When the board lingered particularly long one night several months ago, Baird left the meeting, stopped by his "bachelor quarters" in his home at 134 Ave. B for a spot of coffee and to refresh himself, then went straight to work without ever touching a bed. "Had some work that had to be done," he explained later.

Former County Judge
A bookkeeper most of his life, Baird's career has been unusually colorful from the viewpoint of rendering public service. He was for four years County Judge here, from 1943 through 1946.

And he formerly served for almost 10 years in the Army. He received a disability discharge in 1930. A staff sergeant and electrician, he served with Coast Artillery units on both coasts and served two years in the Territory of Hawaii and two years in the Philippine Islands.

Although nearly three decades have passed since he was stationed at Ft. Rucker, Honolulu, Oahu, his memory of island names and places is as bright as though he had visited the colorful islands yesterday.

"When I make my first million, I'll take a trip back to the islands," declared Baird. But right now he's tied-up with tax assessment and collection and school fund disbursement details.

ALL WAS WELL

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP)—Jim Avlis posted two youths as guards for the night at his tavern when he saw a bolt had been removed from a window and figured burglars were preparing for a call.

At three a.m., pretty late for any burglary work, the guards decided all was well and went home. That is when thieves showed up, and made off with seven or eight cases of beer and the cash register, containing a small amount of money.

HYBRID GRAIN SORGHUM INTRODUCES NEW ERA

Not only are Terry county crops looking better than anytime during the last seven years, but a new era is also dawning with the advent of the hybrid grain sorghum, says County Agent Jim Foy. The real optimists say this could be the year that cotton yields will surpass the 79,211 pulled in 1949, and even the more conservative prognosticators foresee a 70,000 bale harvest. The two big "ifs"—bugs and rain—hold the answer. However, rainfall has been good over practically all of Terry county so far. In fact rain has helped with the insect problem, coming at intervals to keep down thrip infestation in particular. Terry county cotton is definitely 10 days ahead of normal cotton growth and maturity, which from past history of cotton crops in advanced stages indicates an increase in quality and price.—THE BROWNFIELD NEWS.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN GETS ENTHUSIASTIC SUPPORT

Clean-up in Littlefield started with a rush Friday, ahead of the scheduled July 16th official opening, as aroused citizens showed clean-up officials they're just as anxious as the campaign leaders to beautify Littlefield. Apparently citizens took Campaign Chairman Howard Horne's remark of "No town in Texas needs to be cleaned up more than Littlefield" to heart as local people were seen mowing, chopping, raking, and burning weeds Friday. Civic clubs guaranteed their full-fledged support of the clean-up campaign this week and each club was given one section of the city.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS.

FLOYDADA LITTLE LEAGUE TO GET NEW PARK

A group of Floydada Little League enthusiasts who have been wishing for a new ball diamond and park for the boys to play on are beginning to make progress toward that goal. The group met Monday night with the city council and aired their views on the matter before them. Results of the discussion were an OK by the council to proceed with their plans and the permission to use Floydada park property for the Little League field. Building site will be the southwest corner of the park property given to the city by the Massie estate just to the east and south of the new high school building.—THE FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN.

ADDITIONAL RIGHT-OF-WAY ASKED

A map showing extra right of way needed between the underpass at Canyon and the top of Canyon Hill was presented to the county commissioners Monday by Byron Reese, expressway engineer for the highway department. The map shows an additional six and one-half acres to be taken from five property owners for an interchange at the top of the hill to provide for traffic from the proposed West Texas State Stadium, and for an interchange just north of Palo Duro Creek. The one just north of the creek will not be built at the present time, Reese told the commissioners, but would be needed sometime in the future.—THE CANYON NEWS.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm apparently has water on his mind, or brain, as you prefer, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
While coming back from town the other day I found a newspaper some roadside picnicer had used to wrap his lunch in, newspapers are a lot better and a far cry from the models we used to get 25 years ago even if they aren't any more anti-proof now than they were then, and I brushed the crumbs and the ants off and brought it on home with me and headed straight for a shade tree in the pasture without going by the house, women have no sense of intellectual values and consider household chores like patching the floor or emptying the garbage as important as mental nourishment.

I hadn't been reading long when I ran across an article that got my mind off the international situation and down to common ordinary living.

According to it, the time may come when man will whip the water shortage situation, not by producing rain but by figuring out a cheap way to eliminate salt from sea water and piping the stuff inland to wherever a dry spot shows up. Have a network of pipe lines running all over the country.

According to the expert making this prediction, it may be around 1990 or the year 2000 before this takes place, and while I don't believe my crops can hold out that long, still I think somebody ought to be giving some thought to the matter and while I'm waiting on a rain and don't have anything else to do, that's what I've been doing.

As I see it, say they get the thing perfected and there's a 12-inch water pipe running by my farm ready to turn on and make the present crop surplus look like the sixth year of seven years of want in Egypt. This will be fine, except that some bureaucrat will come along and put in a water meter just ahead of my hydrant, and the result that all the fun will be taken out of turning it on and financially I'll be broke with green crops instead of broke with dry ones.

Before this pipe line network gets started, while it's still in the talking stage, is the time to get Congress to outlaw the water meter. Freedom of the seas has got to be brought inland, all the way to my farm. I think you ought to get our Congressman to working on this right now. Time is short. You've got to consider how long it takes Congress to thresh out a problem.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

PROS AND CONS LISTED

Should Hereford Schools Offer Elementary Spanish Courses?

Does Hereford need to offer Spanish courses in its elementary grades?

It's a problem local educators have debated for quite some time. The new approach to teaching foreign language is to create an ear for sounds, teach the conversational approach and throw away the old classic amo-amas-amat recitation.

Fred J. Cunningham, superintendent, pointed out also that research shows that any child, offered a foreign language before he is 14 years old, finds other languages much easier to learn in college or later years.

Again, research indicates that children, given instruction in Spanish in their primary grades and carried on through the elementary school years, find it easier to learn, become more proficient at it, and remember it longer.

These are the educators arguments for introducing it early. There were other suggestions: Hereford, with its increasing number of Spanish American residents, either seasonally, or as permanent citizens, creates a demand for knowledge of the language that wasn't as necessary years ago. But there are drawbacks, too. These were emphasized this week in a report received by Mr. Cunningham. A private survey, conducted by the superintendent of a school, similar in size to Hereford Rural High School district, showed that of 49 schools (with enrollments between 2500 and 3500) only six offered elementary Spanish.

They were Angleton, Uvalde, Wharton, Mission, Eagle Pass and Weslaco, all of whom have a high percentage of Spanish students. What were the biggest drawbacks that kept the others from offering such courses?

Mainly it was the teacher problem. It was difficult to find enough qualified instructors to conduct a comprehensive program in Spanish.

Another problem was an already crowded curriculum. "We do not have time to include elementary Spanish with other subjects we offer," said T. C. Wilemon of Waxahachie, and others echo his sentiments.

Another major reason was, as W. R. Wilkerson of Conroe pointed out, "We have a difficult time getting people to master English, and since our elementary curriculum is so full we think it best to stress these subjects."

Another idea, along the same line was, "We have a major problem teaching English to Spanish speaking children," said C. T. Gifford, Raymondville.

A. O. Bird, Gonzales, summed up the situation with, "We have come to the conclusion that it is better to offer Spanish in high school. Two problems for us were that we could not afford extra teachers in the elementary school and we did not do too well with the regular classroom teachers."

And these considerations, balancing the advantages, are what give pause to educators, to superintendents, board members, faculty and parents, all of whom have an interest in the curriculum at Hereford schools.

Because Miss Blanch is not only a traveler and discriminating collector of recipes but also a delightful writer, her introductions to each dish are fun to read. Carolyn Coggins, who wrote "Successful Entertaining at Home" has a new collection of recipes called "Fabulous Foods for People You Love" (Prentice-Hall, New York). Artichokes Are A Summer Offering

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor SPRINGTIME Artichokes are a delight this time of year. So attractive to serve, such fun to pull off the leaves one by one and scrape away their succulent ends with willing teeth! Now you are down to the choke, a thisty affair that you carefully remove with a fork and knife. Then at last something worth working and waiting for—the artichoke heart. Fleshy but delicate, it leaves a haunting after-taste.

The usual way to cook artichokes is in salted boiling water. Then the vegetable is drained and served hot or cold with a hollandaise when you've had your fill of one of these delectable duets, try our recipe for spicing the artichokes during the cooking, and serve them hot with plain melted butter; or chill the spiced artichokes and serve them with a mayonnaise dip. The spices come through beautifully, mingling with rather than obliterating the artichoke flavor.

SPICED ARTICHOKE

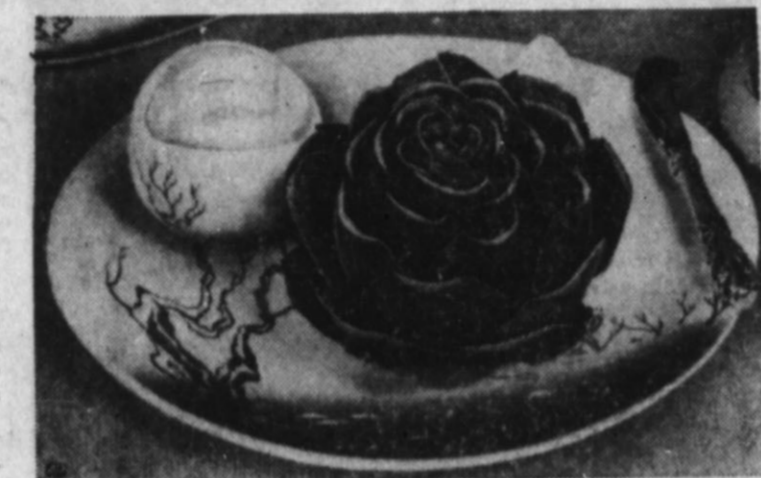

Ingredients: 6 medium-sized artichokes, 1 stick cinnamon, 12 whole cloves, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1 tablespoon wine or cider vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, water, melted butter or mayonnaise dip.

Method: Trim stems from artichokes and pull off any of the lowest leaves that seem tough, or are damaged. Cut off about 1/4-inch of the top leaves; do this at one time with a sharp kitchen knife. Put artichokes, cinnamon, cloves, olive oil, vinegar, salt and sugar in a kettle. Cover with water; bring to a boil; cover kettle and simmer for 45 minutes or until artichoke hearts are tender when pierced with a fork and the leaves will pull away readily. Remove artichokes from cooking liquid and drain well upside down. Serve hot with melted butter as a dip. Or chill and serve cold with a dip of homemade mayonnaise well seasoned with lemon juice and prepared mustard. Makes 6 servings.

RECENT COOK BOOKS

If summertime spurs you on to new culinary efforts, here are a number of recently published cook books that you may enjoy looking into.

known people. The author has put all these rules into standard form, with ingredients clearly listed and preparation directions in numbered paragraphs. Chosen with taste, these recipes should give lots of eating pleasure. An introduction to the book and a check-list of cookery books by Helmut Ripperger are a delightful addition.

"Around the World in Eighty Dishes" by Lesley Blanch (Harper & Brothers, New York). Although Miss Blanch put these recipes together for young Americans from 10 to 20, they will also be of interest to seasoned cooks. The recipes represent the cuisines of Europe, The Balkans, The Middle East, Africa, The Far East,

This is five bushels higher than the average of the 16 years of hybrid corn testing. Four of the 12 districts in the state averaged more than 100 bushels an acre. The tests are designed to compare various hybrids grown in Iowa.

Coffee, Favorite Local Beverage Is Now A Dime In Hereford

Coffee is now a dime in Hereford.

And so, as local merchants, fore- ed by rising coffee prices abandon the friendly - nickel drink, Hereford's army of coffee drinkers digs deeper for a dime.

They may drink less coffee, time alone will tell.

But one thing is sure, local merchants say; they won't give it up entirely.

Coffee Versus Tea

Oh, tea is fine. It's warm and re- freshing and stimulating. But there's something sort of feminine or British, about a cup of tea, and it just doesn't have that good old Western masculine approach.

Who ever heard of taking a clean tin can, throwing in a handful of tea leaves, filling it with cold water up to here and letting it boil till it was black as sin—and just as inviting?

Even the most imaginative can never visualize a group of begrizled cowhands or soil-stained farmers drinking TEA that way, settled with a raw egg tossed casually in. But COFFEE, why coffee served that way is traditional.

And can you honestly imagine the farmer or rancher, in cowboy boots, low slung trousers and two days growth of beard saying, "You-all come on in, I'll buy you a cup of tea."

Or take businessmen. Imagine what would happen if the bright little secretary answered the phone saying, "Mr. Jones isn't in now."

He's out for a cup of tea; may I help you?" Even if he is, he'd better not let the word get around.

Or the employer who announces to his workers, "Tea-breaks will be at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m." No sir; not in Hereford.

No Beans in USA

But the fact remains that coffee, well loved American drink that it is, is one product which nearly self-sustaining USA does not produce.

We are dependent upon the care- fully nurtured coffee plants from South America. And now there is a shortage of coffee beans so the price goes skyrocketing up again.

American housewives have been warned that if they just boycotted coffee, South American distribu- tors would be forced to bring the price down. It hasn't been a popu- lar idea.

Public Relations Campaign

And to combat the exorbitant prices, and still keep the American public drinking coffee, one of the fanciest public relations jobs in many a moon is underway. Month- ly they come forth with the Coffee Newsletter, which regularly re- echoes the sentiment: "There's a story in your coffee cup."

They efficiently query people on the cup of coffee they enjoy most each day, the worst cup of coffee they ever had, the way they like to drink coffee best and what they prefer with their brew.

But they also list tempting recip- es to lure housewives into finding more and more ways to serve cof- fee, and thus have to buy more and more cans.

However, the fact remains, cof- fee does taste good, it is stimulat- ing, its flavor is delicious.

Recipes to Experiment With

And therefore, we pass on two of their latest recipes all for strict- ly summertime dishes—icy cold and so delightful.

GRANITA DI CAFFE'

When the mercury hovers in the eighties or nineties, and the hum- idity becomes a major topic of conversation, only the coolest, most delicate desserts appeal to the palate. Such a dessert is this coffee sherbet, which comes to us from sunny Italy. In spite of its sophisticated flavor, the dessert is made quickly, easily in a refriger- ator tray. And if you want to match the sherbet's cosmopolitan feeling—call it Granita di Caffe'.

To complete this delightful pic- ture, fill dainty cups with demi- tasse coffee. The subtle brew com- plements Granita di Caffe' as no other kind of coffee can. And if you're feeling a big ambitious, you might offer your guests crisp, freshly baked Lemon Wafers, too. Here's the recipe:

2 measuring cups hot demitasse coffee
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
Whipped cream (optional)

Dissolve sugar in the hot coffee. (You may use more or less sugar, to taste.) Cool. Pour mixture into refrigerator tray and let freeze un- til almost hard. Beat well, return to refrigerator and let freeze until sherbet consistency. Turn into the sherbet glasses and top with whip- ped cream, if desired. Serves 4.

When you brew demi-tasse coffee for Italian Coffee Foam, be sure that you make enough to serve as a beverage to your guests. Natu- rally enough, this confection and demi-tasse coffee are perfection to- gether. In case you'd like to brush up on the fine points of making this coffee, here are a few hints.

Demi-tasse coffee is usually made in a vacuum or drip coffee-maker, rather than a percolator. For eight demi-tasse servings, use 3 measur- ing cups of fresh, cold water to 6 Standard Coffee Measures (or 12 level measuring tablespoons) of coffee.

The next time you entertain, do serve delicious Italian Coffee Foam and robust demi-tasse coffee. The combination is a truly unforgetta- ble treat.

ITALIAN COFFEE FOAM
4 egg yolks
4 tablespoons granulated sugar
10 tablespoons demi-tasse coffee
2 tablespoons brandy

In the top of a double boiler, combine egg yolks, sugar, coffee and brandy. Over hot, but not boil- ing water, whip with wire whisk until mixture is thick and light. Do not let mixture boil. Pour into decorative glasses and serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

One word of caution, be sure the ingredients never, ever boil. Boil- ing will separate the mixture and curdle the egg yolks, so it is best to cook Italian Coffee Foam over hot water—below the boiling point.

Beauty At Home

Q. What is a good makeup pro- cedure for the square type of face?

A. Taper the eyebrows off to- ward the ends, and place the rouge high on the cheekbones, and blend it into the lower circles of the eyes. Dress the hair back and away from the temples, close to the sides of the head.

Q. What do you think makes a man most conscious of a woman's "fight" against her age?

A. Mostly, poor makeup. The too vivid lipstick, the red-red cheeks, and the overly-tweezed eyebrows restored with a harsh pencil line. And, perhaps tops on the list, the blatantly dyed hair.

Q. How can I remove shine from some of my navy blue and black dresses?

A. You can rub the material with a piece of flannel dipped in turpentine. Or, first sponge the garment with hot vinegar or am- monia (add one and one-half tea- spoons of ammonia to one pint of water), cover the garment with a damp cloth, and press on the right side.

SURVIVAL REPORT HOLDENVILLE, Okla. (AP)—The driver walked away from this accident reported by the Oklahoma Highway Patrol:

The car went out of control, travelled 390 feet and jumped a 12-foot ditch. It went on another 228 feet and tore out a 75-foot stretch of fence.

Then the car broke a power-line pole and three 7,200-volt lines fell. One hit the top of the car and arced out. The other two became entangled with the fence which was wrapped around the car.

The flag is about 8 by 12 inches. It is red, white and blue and carries 13 stars as did the first American flag. The stars are arranged in a manner different from the first official flag.

Eight white stars are in a circle surrounding a large star that is centered in the flag. Four other stars are arranged in the corners of the blue field. There are six white and seven red stripes.

Local research failed to identify it, Mrs. Godby said.

SPACE MAN LAGS WINNIPEG (AP)—The man from Mars can't hold a candle to the western cowboy when readers pick books from the city library. Books about spacemen caught on for a time, says chief librarian A. F. Jamieson. "But the western is right back on top and will always be with us."

PRAY FOR RAIN ORLO VISTA, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Myra Bean, who has a 12-acre watermelon patch here, believes in praying for rain when her crop needs water.

STREU HARDWARE

After Seven Exhausting Weeks, 125 New Garments

It's been an exhausting seven weeks, but it's nearly over—and some 125 Four-H Club members now have new costumes to prove it was a successful venture.

Since June 8, Mrs. Dorothea Prowell, assisted by club leaders and the girls' mothers, has conducted 11 three-day workshops in which girls ranging in age from nine to 16 cut, basted, fitted and stitched, turning out new garments ranging in design from simple gathered skirts to colorful cotton school dresses.

Half Were Novices

Almost half of the girls had never before made a garment. Six, on the other hand, are veterans of three years sewing ventures in their clubs and are now constructing dresses to be modeled in district competition later in the year.

But imagine 50 little girls faced with the prospect of constructing a garment—for the first time!

There was a fair share of first-time errors. One small girl for instance, never having operated a sewing machine before was shown how to get the portable working, and then was left alone.

When next supervised, her instructor discovered she had sewn up two entire side seams with the machine on reverse operation. Nobody had bothered to check whether the lever that indicates forward or backward sewing was up or down; and the little girl thought that was the way the machine worked. So she sweat out sewing two entire side seams—backward.

No Armholes
Another little girl was making a boat-necked blouse, a fairly simple operation, but not too easy when you are nine years old. She very enthusiastically sewed up the side seams right, on into shoulder seams, completely forgetting to leave a place for the armhole.

In fact "learning to rip as you learn to sew" was accepted as an axiom of the course, and some of the girls spent half their time ripping out what they had just sewed up.

There were plenty of right-side, wrong-side combinations which had to be corrected, and a fair share of other normal mistakes, but all in all the workshop was deemed a success and plans were tentatively formed to make it an annual affair, according to Mrs. Prowell.

Nine-Hour Course

Each workshop was conducted for three hours, three days a week either morning or afternoon. It started out with the instructor giving demonstrations on laying and cutting, marking, stitching darts, pressing, etc., with emphasis on the grain line of the material. Other demonstrations followed in time, on zippers, facings, waistlines and hemlines.

The Singer Company loaned two portables to the girls and club leaders rounded up other available machines in the community. Some mothers even loaned cabinet models into the workshop for the three-day program.

Halfway through each day's session there was a refreshment break as little girls laid down their patterns and their needles, and discussed the problems of creating your own clothes.

Gathered Skirts for Beginners

Nine year olds and other beginners made gathered skirts, and, if they wished, boat necked blouses, both without a pattern.

The skirts were made by cutting three lengths of fabric, taking enough off the side for a waist band, and then adding a placket.

Blouses were made by measuring across the shoulders to determine the width, cutting two straight pieces, sewing up side seams and shoulder seams, (allowing for armholes and necklines and then facing the openings.)

"If we can keep our nine year olds interested in the sewing program as they grow up, we will certainly have some fine seamstresses by the time they are 16," Mrs. Prowell said.

More experienced seamstresses made school dresses, usually simple, tailored blouses, sleeveless, with full skirts either gathered, pleated or flared. Some were long torso dresses, some shirtwaist styles.

Learn Flattering Styles

Before the actual workshops got underway, clubs conducted programs to help the girls learn what colors, materials and styles would be most flattering to them. On this basis they picked their patterns and fabrics.

The final workshop ended Saturday afternoon. Girls who did not complete their garments in class were encouraged to work on them out of class. As always, some of the girls took to sewing like a cat takes to catnip, others spent their whole time and couldn't stop and start the machine where they wanted it.

But all in all, leaders, sponsors and girls were well pleased with the results.

Some Advanced Seamstresses

Six of the girls, advanced sewing students who are all over 14, with at least three years' club experience, completed their cotton school dresses and are now making tailored wool dresses to enter in district competition.

They include Pat Dawson, Mar-

WORLD IN MY CORNER

Boxing is a sport usually not treated with kindness in motion pictures, but "World In My Corner" shows the game in a new light as it traces the life of boxer Tommy Shea, excellently portrayed by Audie Murphy, from his youth in the slums of New Jersey to his position of world champion welterweight.

Jeff Morrow is a millionaire meddler in the lives of his associates, who nearly upsets Audie's ideals and almost succeeds in destroying the life of his lovely daughter, Barbara Rush, who is the girl of Audie's dreams. At first she scorns him, then learns to love the fighter with the face of a kid and the punch of a killer. This movie showing Sunday and Monday at the Tower, will be enjoyed by all, but could be considered somewhat "bloodthirsty" for children.

THE FIRST TEXAN

A highly recommended movie, "The First Texan," shows Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the Star Theatre. Joel McCrea portrays a celebrated historic character of the Southwest, General Sam Houston. This is a rousing action story of the lengthy struggle of Texans for freedom from Mexico. Other stars in this first run movie are Felicia Farr and Jeff Morrow. The production is in big outdoor adventure production in CinemaScope and color. Everyone will enjoy this movie, which is made in true Texas style.

THE DESPERATE HOURS

"The Desperate Hours" is a motion picture that stands with its feet on the solid ground of superb fiction entertainment. (An excerpt from the Logan and Carlynn Williams, of Happy Homes Club; Royce Lee Pruitt, Walcott; Jaquita Miller, the Merry Maidens; and Peggy Browning, of Jolly Girls.

To give you some idea of how experienced these girls become, Jaquita is just now completing a red rayon faille dress designed with the new empire waistline and a full pelon-lined skirt. Peggy Browning is making a moss green rayon shantung.

Sewing workshops were held in community houses or in people's homes. Happy Homes met in the J. M. Dawson home; Sadie Lee Oliver in the J. C. Morrison home; Happy Workers with Mrs. Dick Barrett; Willing Workers with Mrs. Earl Plank (there were 10 beginners in this course) Merry Maidens with Mrs. Clinton Jackson; the County-Wide with Mrs. W. H. Wiseman; Daniel with Mrs. Joe Gill.

Argen H. Draper met at the Dawn School house; Caprock at Adrian School; Jolly Girls at Ford School and Walcott at Walcott School.

rather than furnish merely a musical interlude. As for the characters—they range from reality to fanciful.

Among the creature figures, Jimmy Cricket plays the lead, because of his gay personality, his efforts to be Pinocchio's conscience and his red umbrella. Other characters in this movie are Giddy and the fox (the villains), Figaro the Kitten, Cleo the Goldfish, the blue Fairy, and Monstro the Whale. Geppetto the Woodcarver, Lampwick, and the Coachman are the human figures in the movie.

the Paramount Showmanship Manual. The movie is the story of the forty-eight hours of terror imposed upon an everyday family when their home is invaded by brutal escaped convicts. It stars Humphrey Bogart and Fredric March.

co-stars Arthur Kennedy, Martha Scott, Dewey Martin, Gig Young, and Mary Murphy. Men who like murder mysteries and detective stories will probably enjoy this movie, but it isn't recommended for children and young teenagers.
