Potato Move Is Over Peak

Activity slowed yesterday for growers, packers and brokers who since July 2 have enjoyed Hereford's 24-karat potato year.

White onions have registered the greatest improvement, price-wise, and have brought prices above the yellows in recent days.

Lions Install New Officers

Lions Club members installed officers, presented attendance pins and recognized past officers when they conducted their regular meeting Wednesday noon at Hotel Jim Hill.

With Don Stark of Amarillo, governor of district 2-T-1, conducting the installation, a new slate of leaders officially took over.

Headed by Earnest Langley, president, they include Ed Line, first vice president; Rex Lee, second vice president; Homer Brumley, secretary; treasurer; Jimmie Allred, tall twister; Neil Cooper, lion tamer and Gid E. Brown and H. E. Wester, members of the board of directors.

MOORE AND WILLS ARE ELECTED TO COMMISSION

Only 300 Apply For Soil Bank Payments

With only five days remaining before the July 20 deadline to put 1956 wheat and cotton crop acreage into the government's new soil bank program, only 300 Deaf Smith County farmers have signed applications at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here.

With 230 applications processed to date, Faust Collier reports agreements 40,449 acres have been "banked." Payments on these applications are expected to total $242,214, the ASC office manager said.

Measurement and payment details have not yet been completed. Completion of the last 70 applications made is expected to push the total for payments under the program to over $300,000 in Deaf Smith County.

The greatest rush of applicants came immediately after the program was announced, but few applications have been received in recent days.

The soil bank program provides for payment of $6 per acre on wheat not harvested due drought or other causes.

The amount of land which an individual may place in the program is half his allotment.

VOTE JULY 20 Set Support Rate For 1957 Wheat

A support rate of $2 per bushel for 1957 wheat has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here.

If approved by two-thirds of the nation's wheat growers, farmers who comply with farm allotments in all commercial wheat states will have the $2 available as an average loan rate.

Failure of the marketing quota system to carry would result in dropping wheat support rates to 50 percent of parity.

Announcement of the support rate was followed by announcement of the "unit" rate for determining payments under the wheat acreage reserve of the soil bank in 1957.

Election officials at the Daniel box will be J. F. Matthews, L. B. Fowler and Robert L. Campbell.

324 Voters Cast Ballots In Election

Troy Moore and Dr. R. R. Wills were elected Saturday to fill the two new city commission posts. Their installation will give the city its first five-man rate in its history.

A total of 324 voters—considered a "good" turnout by election officials—cast their ballots in the special election to determine who will fill the recently authorized places three and four on the commission.

The newly elected commissioners will take office Monday night following the official canvass of votes by members of the present commission, according to Mayor Henry Sears.

The officials named in the special election will represent the entire city rather than a particular section according to provisions of the charter amendment.

Present members of the commission, Mayor Sears, Raylan Evans and Nell Cooper are serving terms due to expire in April, 1957.

The staggered two-year terms will mean that at no time can a complete new board of officials be elected.

The special election in May provided for the first amendments to the City Charter since it was adopted in 1952.

The campaign for the commissioners' posts was carried out with a minimum of fanfare. The only public appearance in behalf of his candidacy was made by Bowman who appeared at the political rally on Main Street on Thursday night.

The candidates included two farmers, Bowman and Combs; Moore is an oil distributor, and Dr. Wills is county health officer.

One of the first pieces of business to confront the new five-man board may be action on the proposed new airport for Hereford. County commissioners have scheduled a joint meeting Monday night with the City Commission and the recently organized Airport Committee.

Near Half-Million Mark for Hereford Building Permits

Eleven building permits were issued by the City of Hereford for the month of June, totaling $81,800. This is an increase of $13,359 over the permits given out for the month of May.

Over half of the amount is contributed to the erection of new residences in Hereford. Permits issued were as follows: William L. Bradley, $7500 to build addition to home; Edwin Skypala, $15,000 to erect residence; Jim Woods, $10,000 to erect residence; Mrs. E. A. Herr and Wilfred Herr, $4800 to erect residence; W. B. Boyd, $8000 to erect residence; Flo Dickinson, $700 to erect garage; James H. Bradley, $4000 to erect residence; Mrs. Ethel Layman, $500 to erect garage; Wayne Wallace, $18,000 to erect dry goods store; Dwight L. M. Stubblefield, $12,000 to erect dry goods store and $1500 to Deaf Smith County Hospital to enclose breezeway for storage.

The June total raises the year's total to $421,941. Mrs. Ronald Babione and four children left Wednesday for Clinton, Okla., to spend this weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buff Burtis. They also planned a visit with an aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Ivan Overton of Altus, Okla.

Veterans Offer 18 Park Acres As Agricultural Building Site

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion in Hereford voted unanimously Wednesday night to deed a tract of Veterans' Memorial Park to the county as a site for the agricultural exhibit building proposed as a replacement for the damaged Bull Barn.

About 18 acres south and east of the entrance gate at the park are included in the tract. The Commissioners Court had asked for a 20 acre tract.

The commissioners on Monday began a "hurry-up" program that may get construction of the new building started before the steel strike forces its indefinite postponement. But "nothing definite" is seen by a spokesman for the court until it is determined that the county has adequate funds for the structure.

County Judge Homer Henslee, at the conclusion of the joint veterans' group meeting on the park land question, assured the 48 members in attendance that the commissioners court will use wisdom in any future development that they may undertake on the site in question.

But the court has not yet taken any action on the proposed grant. Ray Cowsert read a written resolution in bringing the proposal to deed a portion of Veterans' Memorial Park as a site for the Bull Barn's replacement.

In addition to designating boundaries, the resolution included several restrictions on use of the property. As approved in the meeting, the deed would prohibit construction on the grounds of any building for carnival and circus use; the deeded property shall always be used for public purposes and should this point be violated the land grant will revert back to the original owners. In addition, the veterans ask exclusive use of the building on two days a year, Memorial and Armistice days.

As explained during the meeting, the proposed new agricultural exhibit building will be 100 by 200 feet, and have an 18 to 20 foot high ceiling. The walls will be of masonry construction, the roof of steel.

The Hereford Lions Club has agreed to furnish and equip the interior of the "coliseum," after the county completes construction. Preliminary plans call for a seat-

Political Rally Poorly Attended

The political rally on Main Street Thursday night might be said to have shone by comparison; a similar gathering at Grand Prairie reportedly drew just one listener for every five candidates.

The score here was slightly better than three listeners for each of the 16 speakers. Francis Hardwick, theater manager, sponsored the old-fashioned "speaking."

Top name personally represented was the candidate for lieutenant governor from Lubbock, Jim Lee Smith. Two candidates for governor, Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough, were represented by backers who took the microphone to explain why their man merited the listeners' vote.

Smith shared time at the microphone with John Aiken who spoke in behalf of the candidacy of his brother, A. M. Aiken Jr., of Paris, for the state's second highest office.

The closest approach to old-time political oratory registered during the rally was the speech made by Smith. Recounting accomplishment scored during his previous service as lieutenant governor—1943-47—he declared that then, "Texas had an honest government."

He asked to be returned to the office "to help restore honesty and integrity in government."

The two candidates for district attorney who appeared on the platform, Archie McDonald of Duris and Frank McCown of Dalhart, made strong pleas for election and carefully detailed the programs they propose to follow if elected.

C. C. Bowman, candidate for election Saturday to city commission place number three was the only city candidate to appear, and was the first speaker to take the platform.

County office candidates who appeared were Ed Line, J. D. (Jim) Neill, Lowell Sharp, Berry Miles, Bernie Northcutt, Virgil Dodson, John Hastings and Sank Ramney.

Earnest Langley spoke in behalf of James Norvell, of San Antonio, candidate for Supreme Court justice.

POLITICAL RALLY — Curbstone listeners at Thursday night's political rally on Main Street heard a total of 16 speakers—candidates and their representatives. R. G. Peeler, standing, took the microphone in behalf of gubernatorial candidate Sen. Price Daniel.

Officers Leave Search To Leo

Texas Rangers and the county Sheriff's office have reportedly withdrawn from investigation of a reported rape case said to have occurred here early Wednesday. Their action apparently followed a study of lie detector tests voluntarily taken by the woman who reported the alleged attack, said Chief of Police Leo Box.

Several leaders of the colored community here have volunteered their help in the search for the alleged assailant, Chief Box reported. He added that City Police are continuing their investigation pending a report from the state crime laboratories at Austin regarding analysis of materials taken from the house where the alleged attack occurred.

Damron Death Case Investigation Continued by Chief

Chief of Police Leo Box issued a statement Thursday on the death last April 22 of A. B. Damron. "We may be able to bring the case before a grand jury again within two weeks," he declared.

Box said he has been working on the case in his off-duty hours since April 26 with the approval of the Mayor, City Commissioners and City Manager. Analysis of evidence, tests of the death weapon, and "inconclusive" lie detector tests have prompted the continuous work on the case, Box explained.

Damron was found in the wreckage of his car after it struck a utility pole late in the evening of April 22. There were two .32 caliber bullet wounds in his head.

It was later established that he had been gambling earlier that day at the home of Jess Twiner. The game ended in an argument, punctuated, witnesses said, by Damron's firing a shot at one of the players. The shot missed and lodged in a door facing, according to Box. Only three of four shots believed fired from the .32 caliber death weapon.

Coroner Berry Miles returned a verdict of suicide in the shooting on April 25.

When the Deaf Smith County grand jury reviewed the case a few days later, its only action was to commend county and city police on their investigation of the case.

Chief Box said Thursday that as his investigation has continued four witnesses have left town.

Water Pressure Due For Boost From New System

Low water pressure in many Hereford homes is expected to climb on Thursday to match the blood pressure recorded by house holders who have recently been taught without "a drop" for dishes and baths at midday.

Dudley Bayne, city manager, said Saturday that the new million gallon reservoir on McKinley Street and a booster pump should be in operation by Thursday. "We think this will relieve most of the low water pressure troubles," he said.

Scheduled for completion July 15, the water system improvement was delayed a few days by slow delivery of fittings and electrical equipment, Bayne said. Another million gallon reservoir and booster pump station, being constructed just off Park at Avenue C is expected to be completed late in August to further supplement the city water system.

The two reservoirs are expected to ease Hereford's mid-summer water "pains." But for at least four more days, unless showers cool the air and cut high water usage, Bayne fears pressure at the tap will be unduly low in some homes.

Rites On Saturday For Archie Scott

Archie Scott, 44, of Hereford, died early Thursday morning in Deaf Smith County Hospital, following an illness of several weeks.

He was a native of Vega where he married the former Lola Cox on Jan. 1, 1939, a year after he moved to Hereford. At the time of his death he was a farmer but had previously been in the implement and automobile business in Hereford.

Funeral services were held in Rose Chapel at the Gilliland Funeral Home Saturday morning. The Rev. L. E. Godwin of Amarillo officiated at the last rites. Interment was at West Park Cemetery.

Mr. Scott is survived by his wife, three sons, Archie Wayne, John Waldon and Lewis Jay Scott; a daughter, Linda Joyce Scott, all of Hereford. (Continued On Page 3)

Bank's Expansion Plans Underway

Hereford State Bank officials announced Friday that Lloyd Sharp will head the firm's new installment and personal loan departments. Addition of the new and expanded services by the bank were cited by Townsend Douglas, president, as a part of the bank's expanding services program.

Officials of the Hereford State also on Friday received bids from five contractors on their proposed new building to be located at Third and Sampson.

The low basic bid of $60,904 for the 6600 square foot structure was made by Robert Thompson, Hereford contractor. Other bids ranged upward to $78,473. Douglas indicated the construction contract will be awarded within a few days.

Sharp, a resident of Hereford for the past 10 years, was previously associated with Sharp - Edwards Motor Co.

Infant Dies In Accident

A 21-month-old boy died at his farm home near Dawn Saturday afternoon after his head caught between the mattress and footboard of a bed. He was Daniel Artho, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Artho.

The youngster was discovered about 1 p.m. by his mother shortly after she had placed him in the bed for an after-dinner nap. The parents rushed him to Deaf Smith County Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Survivors besides the parents are four brothers and sisters. The Artho family resides nine miles north and three miles west of Dawn.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Dysentery, Typhoid, Encephalitis Are Health Hazards in Hot Weather

Hot weather and health hazards walk hand in hand, said city health officer Dr. L. B. Barnett this week as he warned people that the season for amoebic dysentery, bacillary dysentery, typhoid, polio, and encephalitis is now at hand.

Explaining that the best preventive measures were the practice of good individual health measures plus an all-out war on flies and mosquitoes he pointed out that many of these diseases have only been prevalent in Hereford for the last three or four years.

Dysentery Reported — Five or six cases of amoebic and bacillary dysentery have been reported in Hereford already this season. No cases of typhoid nor encephalitis have been seen this year, although they have appeared in the past.

The Saint Louis type encephalitis which first appeared here about three years ago, was believed to have been carried to Hereford from the Rio Grande Valley. It is transmitted by mosquitoes, a special type that is known to breed around irrigation ditches and other moist areas.

Have Had Epidemics — In the past, regular epidemics have occurred in August and September, the worst months for the disease, Dr. Barnett said. It is characterized by headaches, excessive drowsiness and temperatures, and seems to effect both adults and children equally often, Dr. Barnett pointed out.

Amybiasis, or amoebic dysentery, is usually considered a disease of the tropics. It can be fatal, if not treated in time, and has been seen locally in children of school age.

The best way to combat these ills is to require proper washing of raw vegetables and fruits, proper sewerage and garbage disposal, and for each individual to maintain his peak efficiency, health-wise, so that his body can effectively combat infection.

He cautioned people to get plenty of rest, avoid over-exhaustion, to eat correctly and get fresh air and exercise.

Cards Snap Yankee Winning Streak; Giants Gain Win

Redbirds Display Hitting, Hurling Power In Victory

Cardinal pitching, fielding and hitting finesse derailed the crack Yankee express 8-6 Thursday night in a chilling, spine-tingling fashion. Trailing 5-1 going into the top of the fifth inning, the never-say-quit Redbirds unleashed a furious attack which produced a 7-5 lead before the frame was over.

It was a dramatic victory for the Cardinals, snapping an unbeaten, eight-game winning record chalked up by the Bombers in the past four weeks.

Leading off for the Cards in the first frame, John Willoughby singled. Then Ronnie Welty went down swinging followed by Card catcher Royce Turner who popped up to Yankee third baseman S. D. Baize. Joe Mack Hale grounded out to pitcher to first to end the Card first stanza.

Redbird starting hurler Joe Mack Hale faced only three Bomber batters in the bottom half of the first. Yankee lead-off hitter John Buck hit a slow bouncer to the pitcher and was thrown out at first for the first Bomber out. Jay Boynton and Ronnie Greenway both were set down via the strikeout route, terminating the Bomber half of the first.

With one away, Wayne Hastings hit a slow roller to Card hurler Joe Mack Hale who threw home, forcing McDowell out but on the attempted double-play relay, the ball went astray and Overall raced home to knot the count. Baize was nipped at the plate while trying to steal on the same play.

In the Cardinal half of the third, Ronnie Welty grounded out followed by Royce Turner who walked. Joe Mack Hale sent a drive deep into right field which Bomber right fielder Wayne Hastings hauled in for the second Card out. Bill Nelson struck out, retiring the side.

Bill Nelson walked to begin the Cardinal second inning. Tommy Coffman struck out and Card third baseman Jimmy Bridges was issued a free pass. With runners on first and second, Dick Coombs delivered a one-base smash, scoring Nelson with the first Card run.

Bill Overall, Yankee starter, baffled David McNelly and John Willoughby with his righthanded tosses, sending called third strikes by both batters to conclude the inning for the Cards.

The Yankees tied the game up in their half of the second. Danny McDowell doubled down the left field line to start the Yankee second. Following with a single, Overall sent McDowell to third. S. D. Baize walked to jam the bases.

Bombers a big 5-1 advantage. The quartet of tallies came as a result of base hits by Ron Greenway and S. D. Baize, a walk and a momentary fielding lapse by the Cardinals. Remaining calm during the Yankee uprising, the Cards finally retired the Bombers when Joe Mack Hale whiffed Drew Kershen.

The Yankee four-run margin loomed safe as the Redbirds went down 1-2-3 in the upper half of the fourth canto. Jimmy Bridges grounded out to first base while Tommy Coffman and Dick Coombs both missed third strikes.

Joe Mack Hale made quick work of the Yankees in their half of the fourth, striking out Wayne Hastings and Jay Boynton and getting John Buck on a towering fly to center field.

Disaster Strikes
Disaster struck with unbelievable suddenness for the Yankees in the top of the fifth frame. With one away for the Cards, John Willoughby singled to open the fateful stanza. Ronnie Welty was safe on an error while Willoughby came home on a Yankee overthrow.

Then Royce Turner walked to put Card runners on first and third base. A ringing double off the center field fence by Joe Mack Hale, scored Welty and Turner. Bill Nelson followed with a walk and Tommy Coffman banged a single to load the sacks for the Cards. Jimmy Bridges was safe on a fielder's choice while Hale bounded home with the tying run.

Singles by Dick Coombs and John Willoughby produced two more Redbird runs, giving the Cardinals a 7-5 lead at the end of the top of the fifth.

Both pitchers in the game went the full route, Joe Mack Hale for the Cardinals and Bill Overall for the Yankees.

With Buck on first, Jay Boynton singled to keep the Yankee hopes alive. Realizing victory was only one out away, Joe Mack Hale adjusted himself on the Cardinal mound and blazed three strikes past Yankee left-fielder Ronnie Greenway, concluding the game.

Dodger Rally Falls Short, Giants Gain Triumph, 6-3

A snappy-fielding, rejuvenated Giant team rolled past the Dodgers Friday night, 6-3. A last inning rally by the Bums had to be snuffed out by the Giants to gain the victory.

Dodger starting hurler Jimmy Haney looked sharp in the first three innings, setting the Giants down with no hits and no runs. But in the final trio of frames, the Giant batsmen solved Haney's right-handed slants to produce six runs for the triumph.

To open the initial stanza, Giant batters Ronnie Duncan and Tommy Powell struck out while Larry Hair walked. With two away, Giant catcher Eugene Jennings lofted a high infield fly to Bum second baseman Charles Calloway to end the Giant first.

The Dodgers jumped into a one-run lead in their half of the first inning on singles by Bill Sands and Dennis Rickman. Charles Calloway scored the first Dodger run when Rickman singled, sending the Bum second baseman home from second base. Lynton Allred went down swinging to end the Dodger scoring.

In the top half of the second canto, the Giants sent four batters to the plate. Mike Kelly fled to first base for the first out, followed by Randy Dowell who grounded out second to first. Issued a free ticket to first, David Dowell was left stranded when Dwight McGee's towering fly ball was caught by Bum center-fielder David Gray for the third out.

Bum Threat Dies
Jerry Curtsinger opened the Dodger second, grounding out to first base. David Gray stepped up and popped an infield fly to Giant first baseman Larry Hair for the second out. After Lee McMurray singled into right field, Jackie Lee walked to put runners on first and second for the Bums. The scoring threat died when Jimmy Haney viewed a third called strike, terminating the Bum second frame.

Dodger pitching stifled the Giants again in the third. Three Giants went down in order, all bounding out to the infield. Bill Sands was out on an infield dribbler to the pitcher mound to begin the Dodger third. The next two Bum batters, Charles Calloway and Dennis Rickman, whiffed to cut off the Dodger frame.

After the Dodger failed to score in their half of the fifth, the Giants came back in the top of the sixth to add an insurance run. Dwight McGee scored the final Giant run from third base when Tommy Powell singled with the bases loaded. The Dodgers attempted a comeback in the last of the sixth, scoring one run before Larry Hair went down swinging with the bases jammed to end the game.

After the Dodger failed to score in their half of the fifth, the Giants came back in the top of the sixth to add an insurance run. Dwight McGee scored the final Giant run from third base when Tommy Powell singled with the bases loaded. The Dodgers attempted a comeback in the last of the sixth, scoring one run before Larry Hair went down swinging with the bases jammed to end the game.

At Melbourne, Australia, in November Bobby Morrow, Abilene Christian College's great sprinter from San Benito, will have the opportunity of taking two events—the 100 meters and 200 meters. Morrow has shown he is the world's top dashman and there is reason to believe that he will win both of these races. He's big, strong, tough and smart—he knows how to conserve himself and when to turn on the steam.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

By GIL CARLYLE

Was glancing over the Brownfield News the other day and discovered an interesting item. The Little League mothers at Brownfield are planning a baseball game all of their own—players, coaches, umpires, bat-retrievers and scorers.

It sounds like a terrific idea. Just wonder what the Little League mothers of Hereford think about it. If such an event were staged in Hereford, there should be quite a turnout of spectators. The proceeds from the game could go to the operation of Little League.

Maybe the Little League dads would like to play a game. It would be a fine way to raise funds for the Little League. It's something worth thinking about.

Glory came to the Cardinals on Thursday night. The scene immediately following the Card victory over the Yankees was one to be remembered. Tears, smiles, shouts, bewilderment and silence are the only words necessary to tell the story of the joy and sadness. The Cardinals were glorious in victory but the Yankees were just as glorious in defeat. Rushing to the Cardinal dugout, the Yankee players were the first to congratulate the victorious Redbirds.

IT'S OUR 9th BIRTHDAY in Hereford AND WE WANT TO SAY: 'THANK YOU'

Honest, Folks . . . as we look back down through the years, we feel mighty fine over the fact that we chose Hereford as the one town in the United States to make our home. When we moved here in 1947, we were filled with ambition, hopes and dreams—and during the past nine years the people of the community have been wonderful, even to the point of making some of those dreams come true.

Your patronage, of course, is deeply appreciated. But of equal importance has been your friendship, your acceptance and your encouragement. In return, we have tried to give you a complete, modern hardware store and gift shop, at the same time doing our best to make the type of citizens which this community wants and needs.

Therefore, as we say, "Thanks Friends," you can rest assured that it comes from the depth of our hearts.

Ranch Foreman Is Recovering From Fall With Horse

ADRIAN — Injured seriously when his horse reared and fell on him, Lloyd Heaton, is reported recovering in Deaf Smith County Hospital. He suffered two broken vertebrae.

Heaton, foreman of the George Portor Ranch, located 30 miles north and west of Hereford, was herding cattle into a pasture Wednesday when the accident happened.

Members of the family who were helping him move the cattle at the time the fall occurred called a Hereford doctor and for an ambulance. They then rushed him toward Hereford in an automobile, but intercepted the ambulance about halfway between the ranch and city.

Few complications have been noted in the harvest now underway, with good harvest conditions and plenty of labor on hand to help market the onions and potatoes.

Payment of only $6 per acre for acreage not seeded, and about $35 per acre for cotton "not to be harvested" is provided. Tricycle Set Gets Traffic Training; But So Do Their Grandparents, Too

EUGENE, Ore. — Traffic training starts in this city of 35,000 with the primary school set, but its effects extend all the way to grandparents.

For the last four years police, schools, physicians and automotive dealers have cooperated in operating a tricycle training course.

Sgt. Wesley Smartt says the school teaches pedestrian safety as well as how to keep out of trouble on a tricycle. What's more, Smartt says, parents and grandparents often find themselves the objects of lectures by the young pupils, who are quick to point out traffic law violations of all kinds.

A half hour traffic talk is followed by an equal time for practice by traffic school equipment includes 20 heavy-duty tricycles, a model traffic light controlled from a switchboard, rubber mats to serve as sidewalks along with wooden curbs and property markers. Traffic lanes are brushed on the floor with paint that can be washed off.

Household Tips
Cream butter with a little crushed garlic and spread over the cut surface of halved tomatoes. Bake or broil. Delicious with chicken, fish or meat.
Sliced cucumbers, black olives and canned pimientos make a delicious and attractive first course. Serve with cruet of olive oil and wine vinegar, salt and freshly-ground pepper. French or Italian bread, or crusty rolls to accompany this of course.
Next time you make up a package of fluffy white frosting mix tint it pink.
Whip a cup of cream and fold in two tablespoons of sugar and one-quarter cup of undiluted frozen tangerine juice. Serve as a topping for apple pie.
Hearty sandwiches: top buttered bread with canned baked beans and sprinkle with grated cheddar cheese. Criss-cross partially-cooked half-slices of bacon over the cheese and bake in a hot oven or broil.

COYOTES ON THE RUN

Johnson's Job: To Catch Wolves Where Wolves Have Never Lived

Texas AP Supplemental Service Denison, Tex., July 5 (AP) — The task of Luther L. Johnson of Denison is to hunt wolves in Grayson County, Tex., where wolves have never lived.

Johnson, whose official title is United States wolf trapper, firmly states that "there are no wolves around here. Technically the animals are coyotes, but everybody calls them wolves."

Johnson credits the wolf as being the smartest animal in Texas. "Everybody talks about something cunning as a fox, but the fox is dumb and easily caught compared to the wolf," he says.

Started Ten Years Ago The chase started for Johnson in the Grande Valley in 1946, and two years later he was transferred to Denison to become Uncle Sam's official protection for farmers and ranchers in Grayson County. The methods are used by Federal wolf trappers: The steel trap, cyanide shell, and ouzel trap, with the latter used only as last resort.

The steel traps, according to Johnson, are always set by trails, paths or pasture roads since the wolf always follows a trail. The bait that gets the best results is wolf urine, extracted by the hunters themselves. Concealment is one of the main factors of the trade, Johnson said. "Most of our time is not spent in setting the trap, but in making the area around the trap look natural."

Try Cyanide Shell The cyanide shell is one of the most effective methods used to rid farmers of livestock-killing wolves, Johnson says. Constructed on a steel pipe that is driven into the ground, the shell is rigged and cocked in such a manner that it necessitates a pail to explode the shell and send the cyanide gas into the lungs of the wolf. The victim gets away only about two percent of the time, Johnson says.

As a last resort of the wolf hunters "use what they call a "buried set," the most difficult and most effective of the traps.

To set a buried trap the hunter uses canvas gloves and a mat of canvas to work on so that his scent won't be left on the ground. As the wolf comes by, he smells the chicken heads used for bait, thinking it is the cache of another wolf since wolves bury food the same way that dogs do, and go over to investigate. On his way to the bait, he passes over the trap and is caught.

Wolves Are Smart "The reason that this type of trap is used as a last resort is that we don't want the wolves to get wise to such a good trap. They are smart and don't forget easily," Johnson said.

Hunting wolves can be profitable in Grayson County as a bounty of $5 is paid for every pair of wolf ears brought to the county auditor's office. "But we work on regular salary and don't get the bounty," Johnson explained. "All we want to do is rid the county of livestock killers."

Miss Euler Named Teacher At Taos

Miss Jeanette Ovella Euler of Summerfield, has been appointed teacher of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades at Presbyterian-owned Ailee Hyson Mission at Ranches of Taos, N. M.

Miss Euler will also develop a community program for this day school, which is one of more than 3600 projects operated by the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. The school includes kindergarten through the sixth grade classes for its more than 60 students, most of whom are Spanish Americans.

Miss Euler was validatorian of her graduating class at Hereford High School in Hereford, and an honor student at West Texas State College in Canyon. She received her master's degree in church social work this year from McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, Ill.

She has been summer camp counselor for five summers and a sixth grade teacher for two years in Sam Houston School in Pampa. Miss Euler is a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Pampa.

Boys Outnumber Girls In Stork Race Again In June

Boys outnumbered the girls by four births in June, according to records in the Deaf Smith County Clerk's office.

There were 28 births recorded for June of 1956, with only 24 recorded for the same month of 1955. Eight more births were recorded in June than in May, when 13 boys and 7 girls were born.

133 Babies for 1956
This brings the total for the first six months of 1956 to 133 babies, with 73 male births as compared with 60 female births. So far for the first half year, the average monthly birth rate was 22 babies, a lower rate than 1955 when the year's total was 314 and the monthly average was 26.

Boys are way ahead in the stork race this year. There are almost one and one-fifth as many boys as girls. However, the race started out the year as a draw. There were 10 boys and 10 girls born in January. In February, girls led 13 to 9; but starting in March, boys took the lead in the stork derby and have kept it up ever since.

In June there were 16 boys and 12 girls born.

Household Scrapbook

Furnace Registers
Many articles can be prevented from going down the furnace pipe if a piece of fine wire netting is inserted inside the register hole and the register plate placed over it. This is especially advisable if there are children in the home.

Marking Linen
Starch and iron the linen articles before marking them. If this is done, the name or initials can be written very small, and yet will be distinct.

The Gravy Boat
Try using the gravy boat for filling jars with preserves and jelly. The long spout can be inserted into almost any tumbler and will prevent spilling.

Wrinkles
To help the small wrinkles on the face, apply the white of an egg to the face and allow to remain for about 20 minutes. This is an astringent and has the tendency to draw the tissues together.

Stains on Teeth
If you have fruit stains on your teeth rub a small quantity of salt on the stains. Then rinse the mouth immediately with hot water.

Tinware
Rub a freshly sliced onion over the tinware and then rub vigorously with a dry clean cloth, to give it a high polish.

Waterproof Shoes
Keep a comfortable pair of shoes on hand that are waterproof for outdoor use. Apply a dressing concocted by melting together two parts of beeswax to one part of mutton fat. Apply at night and remove the next morning by wiping with a piece of flannel.

The Rubber Plant
A little sweet oil around the roots of the rubber plant, every few weeks, will make the leaves green and glossy.

White Paint
A little soap in some milk makes an excellent wash for white glossy paint.

Soiled Wall Paper
Soiled wall paper can be cleaned by using starch. Sprinkle liberally on a damp cloth, and apply to the paper, using a circular motion. If there are some particularly bad spots go over them several times.

Cake Tins
It is better to use lard for greasing cake tins, as salt in butter will often cause the cake to burn, or stick to the pan.

If present trends continue, California will have more people than New York state in 1967, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. statistics indicate.

The Sunday Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, July 15, 1956 Section Two

Nuptials Are Read July 2, For Ruby Dell Morris, Homer Owen

In the Finney Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. July 2, Miss Ruby Dell Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Morris, became the bride of Homer Lee Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Owen, of this city.

Dr. A. Hope Owen, president of Wayland College, Plainview, uncle of the bridegroom, read the double ring ceremony before a large assembly of friends and relatives.

Tall wedding tapers in branched candelabra gave illumination and baskets of yellow gladioli flanked a center arch of greenery, yellow chrysanthemums and white asters in front of the satin covered chancel rail.

Miss Quita Jefferson, pianist, played a medley of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony and accompanied Donna Erwin, soloist, of Canyon, who sang "I Love Thee" and "Walk Hand in Hand." Miss Jefferson also played the traditional wedding marches.

Attendants Wear Amber

The bride's attendants were Miss Peggy Cobb, Plainview, maid of honor, and Marjorie Williamson and Louise McCaugh, Plainview, bridesmaids.

All of the bride's attendants wore dresses of pale amber crystalline, styled with fitted bodices with rounded necklines and bouffant skirts. They carried crescent bouquets of white asters nestled in pale yellow tulle, tied with yellow satin streamers.

Rebecca Gile Owen of Hereford, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Jack Wesley Morris of Petersburg, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

Lawrence Owen of Amarillo served his brother as best man and groomsmen were Jesse West of Amarillo and Wayne Stagner of Hereford. Mr. Stagner and Allen Calhoun of White Deer served as ushers.

MRS. HOMER LEE OWEN

Bride Wears Lace and Satin

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace and tulle over slipper satin. The molded lace bodice featured a deep yoke of tulle having a Mandarin collar of lace. The long fitted sleeves and the bodice were fastened with tiny lace covered buttons.

The full skirt of satin and tulle was enhanced with an overskirt of tulle with three tiers of gathered lace. The shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a heart-shaped halo encrusted with pearls and silver beads. Her crescent bouquet was carried on a white satin and lace covered Bible.

The bride's mother wore a dress of orchid silk cotton with pink and white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother wore an eyelet imported cotton in black with accents of pale blue. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Reception in Morris Home

The reception following the ceremony, was held in the home of the bride's parents, where the couple's parents assisted in receiving the guests. Guests were registered from Matador, Amarillo, Tulla, Lubbock, Dallas, Lockney, Hereford and Plainview. Attending from Hereford were Mr. and Mrs. Bobb Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Gwynne Owen, and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. John David Owen, John David and Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Owen Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilson, and Dianne, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Owen, Mrs. Jack Roberson and Joe Pat and Dwyne Cassels.

The couple will make their home at Williamsburg, Va., where he is stationed at Fort Eustis.

Mrs. Owen graduated from the Plainview schools and attended West Texas State College at Canyon, where she was a member of Kappa Pi, national art fraternity, and Pi Omega, social sorority. Mr. Owen attended the Hereford schools and also attended WTSC. He is now serving enlistment in the U. S. Army, attending helicopter school at Fort Eustis.

Ten Of Wedding Party Attend Golden Anniversary Event

Ten of their relatives and friends present at their wedding were guests of honor when Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ricketts celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, July 8, in the home of his brother, J. C. Ricketts, 311 Roosevelt.

The reception was attended by many out-of-town relatives and friends of the pioneer residents, as well as by their Hereford friends and associates of half a century.

The 10 who attended that long-ago wedding of Miss Annie Hughes to Ira Ricketts Aug. 26, 1906, were Mrs. Walter Easter, Mrs. Harry Lomas, Miss Nettie Green, J. C. Ricketts, Mrs. B. R. Anderson of Borger, Alfred Hughes, Van Horn; Frank Hughes of Morango Valley, Calif., Aubrey Hughes of Alhambra, Calif., Mrs. Dee Gardin of Silverton, Calif., and Ernest Hughes of Abernathy.

Marry in Bride's Home

The couple was married in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hughes by Rev. J. N. Wooten, pastor of the First Christian Church and one of Hereford's first ministers.

Mr. Ricketts had moved to Hereford with his family in 1900 from Ellis County, and Annie Hughes came to Hereford in 1902 from Mertens. They met at a party during the holidays in 1903 where all the young people of the community had gathered at a Christmas party.

After their marriage they lived in the Jumbo Community until the fall of 1908 when they moved to Portales, N. M., living out a claim and wresting a living from the soil. It was hard in those days, but they stuck it out for seven years, then decided to move back to Hereford. They now live on their farm north of Hereford in the Progressive Community where they have resided since 1923.

It took a special kind of courage and fortitude for people in this area to withstand the many years of drought, the black northers and the depression, but like all the rest who weathered those trying times, the Ricketts gathered their family close, worked hard and never looked back.

Today as they look back on half a century spent together, Mr. and Mrs. Ricketts count their blessings and look forward to reaching future milestones. Both are life-long members of the First Christian Church, have been active in organizations working for the improvement of the community, and have served in various leadership capacities for many years. "Hard work" must be his hobby for that continues to be his main interest. She claims all types of fancy work, sewing, crocheting and making quilts among her hobbies.

Besides their six children the couple has 28 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

Children Entertain

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Ricketts who hosted the golden anniversary party Sunday afternoon (that date was used for the celebration instead of the Aug. 26, wedding date so that all the children could attend) are Mrs. Archie Daugherty of Clovis, N. M., Mrs. L. L. McBrayer of Dalhart, Mrs. Howard Higgins of Texline, Glenn Ricketts of Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. Clyde Russell and Jim Ricketts of Hereford.

Others in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ricketts, Mrs. B. R. Anderson, Borger; Mrs. Don Kresge, Melrose, N. M.; Mrs. Fred Mercer, Stratford; Mrs. David Johnson, Mrs. Jim Hall and Mrs. C. W. Daniel, Dalhart; Mrs. Jay Ricketts, Lubbock; Mrs. Howard Armstrong and all grand daughters of the couple.

The anniversary table was done in deep yellows and gold. The crocheted lace cloth was made by Mrs. Ricketts for her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Russell, on her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, and featured an underlay of yellow. White tapers in candelabra flanked a center arrangement of yellow and white rosebuds. Tiny golden wedding bells and orange blossoms in sugarpun icing topped the anniversary cake. The daughters and daughters-in-law presided alternately at the service table.

Out of town guests attending the reception were Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McBrayer, Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hall and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Daniels and family of Dalhart, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mercer of Stratford, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Daugherty, David, Wylie, Allyn, Neil, Bill and Jane of Clovis, N. M.

Hereford Classroom Teachers Plan To Attend WT Reading Conference

Many Hereford classroom teachers are planning to attend the fourth annual Reading Conference July 30-Aug. 2 at West Texas State College. Some 350 teachers and school people from throughout the Panhandle and West Texas are expected.

Two of the originators of the Texas Association for Improvement of Reading will participate. Mrs. Jewell Askew of Houston, president of T.A.I.R. this year, and Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, chairman of the department of elementary education at the University of Houston, will be among presiding officers and speakers for the conference. They were among the organizers of the association in 1947. Three other reading consultants will join the Houston women on the program for the week. They are Dr. Paul McKee, professor at the Colorado State College of Education; Dr. Arno Jewett, consultant for the United States Office of Education; and Bill Martin Jr., St. Louis lecturer and storyteller. The conference opens July 30 with registration at 8 a.m., and the first general session starts at 9:30. Each speaker will appear once a day during the four-day meeting except Dr. McKee who will speak only the first two days. Question and answer periods follow each session.

Lions Annual Carnival To Start Next Saturday

Lions Club carnival time is right around the corner. Scheduled to start Saturday night and run every evening for a week, the annual carnival will feature kiddie rides, refreshment stands and entertainment booths. Tentative plans are to hold it on the lot behind the Bull Barn where it has been in the past, according to Earnest Langley, who serves with Dub Reeves and Don Zimmerman as the committee in charge.

Profits for Projects
One of the major financial undertakings of the club, the carnival is held each year with profits earmarked for certain club charities or projects. Last year the proceeds went to buy material for the Kiddie Park.

The carnival, which has been a favorite club project for many years, has been used to supply funds for such community activities as recreation, the score board at the football field, etc.

Strictly a club-wide affair, Lions Club members man booths, sell tickets, get dunked, peddle refreshments, etc. The club owns all the booths, and rents only the equipment for the kiddie rides.

Committees Named
Those who will participate this

Speakers will talk on such topics as a balanced reading program, the teaching of reading skills, storytelling, children's literature and use of supplementary reading materials.

A conference fee of $10 is charged for the four-day session, and fee for each day is $3. Registration and sessions will be held in the Administration Building at WT. Evening entertainment for conference members includes a picnic at Palo Duro State Park and a watermelon feast on the campus. Mrs. Askew, who will preside at the opening meeting, is director of elementary education for Houston schools.

Holder of two degrees from the University of Houston, Mrs. Thompson expects to receive her Ed. D. degree in August from Colorado State College of Education. She has taught at the University of Houston since 1940.

In addition to her teaching duties on the campus, Mrs. Thompson has served as reading and literature consultant for a number of schools in the Houston area. She has also been a consultant for the Atlanta, Ga., schools. During the summer sessions from 1932 to 1935, she had a teaching fellowship at Colorado State College of Education, and her column, "Children's Books," has been a regular feature of the Houston Chronicle since 1948.

Remember the No. 2170 -- THE BIG RED BARN

By Jimmie Gillette
Often I have heard of people getting worked up into a lather and then burning to a crisp. The neighbors all say it really happened to John Kelly the other night.

John, it seems, is an old boy who likes to take a shower, but first he likes to cover himself from head to foot with lather. You can imagine his surprise, therefore, when he got all soaped up, turned on the faucet — and nothing happened. Like most men, he started yelling for his wife, who was working in the kitchen. When she finally heard him, she came in with the news that the water had been going off and on all day, due to installation of a new city well in the north part of town. By his time, John was beginning to get and burn a bit here and there — and was far from being the happiest man in the world. Things got worse for about 10 minutes, and John finally went for the telephone.

He was really burning now—in more ways than one. He tried to locate city officials and, for the life of him, couldn't recall the name of the new city manager. The operator couldn't remember, either. Finally, he found out that the manager's name was Dudley Bayne and got through to the Bayne home.

The irony of it all, according to John, was when Mrs. Bayne answered the telephone, and said: "Yes, Dudley is here, but he can't come to the phone just now. You see, he's taking a bath."

About this time—John says 45 minutes after he first applied the soap—the water came on with a splash. He was real happy, despite the burning. He also says he can understand why those Hollywood movie stars will pay 50 cents a gallon for "Hereford Water."
"After the first 15 minutes, I would have paid a dollar a gallon—and not haggled one bit," says Kelly.

Bruce Miller attended the State Bar Association meeting recently and was telling me that they had quite an argument concerning the broadcast of court trials over TV. The majority of the barristers, it seems, frowned on the practice and voted against the broadcast. Their general feeling was based upon the theory that defendants come into criminal court seeking "justice" and a "fair trial." They feel that the trials should be open to the public, but that TV broadcasts shift them into a different category. Personally, I would go along with the lawyers. I think it might be good to broadcast some of the sessions of our Legislature, but when a man is on trial for his life you have a different situation.

Besides, the grease paint and make-up costs would be an added expense for the legal profession.

A queer quirk on this question centers around the fact that fewer and fewer people are attending trials these days—yet folks like to see them over TV. Littlefield built a new courthouse a year or so ago and the district courtroom was made to seat around 100 people. This is much smaller than the older courthouses — and the same trend seems to be evident in all of the newer courthouses around the country.

The boys around Kinsey-Roberson are still laughing about a friendly feud which developed between D. C. and Bernard a few months ago. Bernard was custodian of some candy jars placed in the office and, for some reason, kept coming up short on his number of nickels. Finally, he put up a sign which said, "Drop in your coin before you take out the candy." Kinsey would always walk up to the jar, let his coin ring out loud and long, then get his candy. Still, the bars and coins never seemed to check out. One day Bernard was observing a jar carefully when Kinsey walked up and "rang" his coin. Bernard noticed, however, that Kinsey was merely slapping his ring against the jar to create the ringing sound.

Even Bernard thought it was pretty funny — but he went out of the candy business.

Melvin Young, Brand Advertising manager, has been on vacation — if you can call painting your house a vacation. It used to be pink and Melvin has just finished applying two coats of blue. I don't know if the fact that the Youngs have two girls and no boys figures into this color scheme or not. If it works, though, I'll bet Earnest Langley takes off and paints his domicile blue; maybe Jim Kirby, too.

Snow cones, now free at many food stores, are about to take the town. Gaston Baer even gives his employees a "snow cone break." They have a regular board to carry the cones and send one of the boys over to get a supply for the whole crew. It may eventually eliminate the "coffee breaks," according to Gaston.

The Ralph McCulloughs are now fishing in Wyoming. They got tired of Colorado and decided to migrate a little further west. This is the thinking of a lot of trout fishermen. Understand Ralph is on the Madison River. This sounds like a good deal, and I will try to get a complete report when he returns.

Even Dr. A. T. Mims went fishing a few days ago. He was running a trot line and got a hook embedded in his finger. Dubb Reeves whetted up his pocket knife and was going to cut out the hook, but Mims protested so long and so loud that they had to take him into town for surgery. Doc says he just didn't trust Dubb, but Dubb says that Mims is just a first class sissy.

The parade of store building construction marches on. The Hereford State opened bids Friday afternoon. Also understand that the Credit Union will open bids next Friday. F. H. Oberthier says we are getting too many vacant buildings around town. He attributes the situation to "high rent," rather than to over-construction, however.

Meanwhile, you hear very little talk about politics — and the July Primary is only two weeks away. Maybe things will pick up.

POTPOURRI

Summertime Always Brings Family Reunions, Complete With Big Dinners

By CAROL INMAN

Family reunions are always fun. Moms and Dads get a chance to see how much taller Junior has grown than a certain nephew. Children renew acquaintances and try to decide which cousin they like best. Grandma exclaims over the new babies, and Grandpop has a swell time telling the stories of his younger days to spellbound boys and girls.

This past week, several Hereford families have attended reunions, complete with BIG family dinners, trips to local points of interest in and around Hereford, and trying to find time to visit old friends.

In the Jim and Brit Clark homes last weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Clark of Dallas, and Mrs. Stella Baxter of Pittsburg, Tex., all brothers and sister of Jim and Brit.

Saturday the entire group loaded water jugs, picnic baskets and suntan lotion and went to Palo Duro Canyon. After several hours of picnicking, sunning, climbing, wading and talking over old times, the group returned to Hereford and had a backyard supper at the home of Jim Clark.

Attending were Richard Clark,

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Clark and Scottie, and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Curtis and family, Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Clark of Gladewater arrived to be with the group. He is a nephew of Jim.

The T. H. Teagues' granddaughter, Terry Lynn, got her first glimpse of Hereford last week. Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Laney (the former Martha Teague) and daughter Terry Lynn arrived Saturday night and visited relatives and parents for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Laney, Herschel's parents brought Herschel and Martha to Hereford and went to Arkansas for several days visit with friends and relatives there. Tuesday, the entire group left Hereford en route to Fullerton, Calif., and Herschel and Martha will stay with his parents there for a few days visit.

During their stay here, the Laney and Terry Lynn were also guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Landry and Mr. and Mrs. Roxwell Stewart.

Sunday was the day designated for the BIG family dinner, held at the T. H. Teagues' home. Present were the Teagues, Laney and Terry Lynn, Clint Landry, and Roxwell Stewart.

The Laney's are now living in Sacramento, Calif., where he is stationed in the Air Force.

Mrs. Urlin Streu and Mrs. Maude Hackworth returned Wednesday from a three day trip to Dallas. While there, they attended a merchandise mart of Christmas in July—in the sweltering temperature of 107 degrees.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Minor of Hereford had as guests in their home Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. A.O. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Drake and daughter Erma Lou all of Friona. Erma Lou has been visiting in the Minor home.

Abel Ruga returned last week from Alaska. He had been there since the first of the year, working for a construction crew.

He and his wife, Katherine, and daughter, Diane are now in Denver, Colo. "Just looking around" and having a vacation at the same time. They now have tentative plans to live in Denver, but nothing's definite yet. The Rugas will return from Colorado early this week. Mrs. Ruga is the former Katherine Acker who made her home in Hereford while her husband was in Alaska.

At Ruidoso for the Fourth of July, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCauley and Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCaslin. The McCaslin and Mrs. McCauley returned home, but McCauley plans to spend several weeks in Cloudercroft and Ruidoso.

It was a trip to Carlsbad Caverns for the Ray Bosleys last weekend. With them were their children, Lois and David and Miss Cecilia Bosley of Canyon. They all had a fine time sightseeing through the Caverns, the museum and the town and parks.

Betty Buse left Wednesday for a two weeks vacation to California. She will make her headquarters at the home of her brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Buse in Daughtery, Calif., but will also take in all the sights of Los Angeles.

Says Betty: "I have been there before, but always with somebody who wanted to go different places and see different things from what I was particularly interested in. This time I'm going to see exactly what interests me most."

Bob Lawrence and nine little R.A.'s, ages 9-12, returned Friday afternoon from the Plains Baptist Assembly near Floydada. Each year the boys attend the three day camp which provides mission study, handwork, and recreation an allotted time each day. In the meantime, Sharleen Lawrence joined her father who lives at Breckenridge for a big family reunion. Her parents are the C. W. Wallers.

The Rev. Russell Wingert is back in town after a two weeks vacation with friends and relatives in and around Chicago, his former home.

Mrs. Henry T. Wedel this week has been entertaining her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Herman G. Dettman of Elgin, Ill., who arrived Tuesday morning and left Friday.

Mrs. Wedel, now in her eighties and still as active as a spry as a cricket, set out entertaining them in the genuine old-fashioned way. The Dettmans, who had been vacationing in the north, went home to Elgin via Texas—the long way around. While in the Panhandle, they also visited Mrs. Wedel's son in Amarillo.

Hereford Wins AAA Safety Plaque For No Traffic Fatalities In 1955

Hereford won the American Automobile Association's traffic safety award for the third time recently when it racked up a record of no traffic fatalities within the city limits of the town during 1955.

For this record it shares honors with Canyon and Dalhart for their 1955 traffic safety programs. Guy Lawrence, vice president of the Panhandle Automobile Club, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association, and Dudley Bayne city manager, participated in special ceremonies over KFDD-TV Sunday night when the safety awards were made.

Mr. Lawrence, representing AAA presented a plaque to Hal Warrick, Amarillo traffic safety director, for the progress which Amarillo had made in pedestrian traffic safety. Mr. Warrick in turn presented representatives of Canyon, Dalhart and Hereford with plaques in recognition of their success in having no fatal traffic accidents within 1955.

Mr. Bayne accepted the plaque for Hereford.

Dalhart, senior member of the trio, won special commendation for having no traffic fatalities for six years in a row.

Participants in the program pointed out that traffic safety was the number one hazard, demanding the consideration of people today.

"We believe that only by making people aware of the traffic safety problem, and by keeping them conscious of what they can do to promote safety, will we ever be able to combat this growing problem," Mr. Lawrence said.

Of the motion pictures shown in West Germany in the first three months of 1956, there were 48 from West Germany; 14 from France. A single Russian produced picture was shown.

FLYING LAWN CHAIR
MUSTANG, Okla. (U) — Five-year-old Garland and 3-year-old Paul Dalton, snug in their grandfather's storm cellar when twin tornadoes skidded over Mustang, started a search for their miniature metal lawn chair. The boys found the chair twisted about a fence post a hundred yards from the home of their grandpop, E. G. Dalton.

Dalton said the chair had been behind a small game-bird house that was wrecked in the storm.

Shower Favors Doris Turner

A miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Doris Turner, bride-elect of Neal Crist, was given recently in the home of Mrs. J. E. Cockrell. Hostesses with Mrs. Cockrell were Mesdames Louie Olson, Barrett Sowell, Charley Sowell and Larry Paschel.

In keeping with the bride-elect's chosen colors of blue and white, the lace covered refreshment table had an underlay of blue. It matched the table centerpiece which was a large blue wedding ring with tiny white wedding bells leading to a cluster of blue chrysanthemums at one end of the table. A fan shaped bouquet of gladioli and daisies and blue and white tapers completed the decorations.

Mrs. Harold Meacham and Mrs. Doyle Turner presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Larry Paschel registered the guests. In the receiving line were the bride-elect, her mother Mrs. John Turner, and the bridegroom elect's mother, Mrs. F. B. Crist.

Approximately 50 guests attended the shower courtesy.

HER POINT OF VIEW

By PARDY LINER

As someone said that someone said, "It isn't the heat; it's the humanity."

But thank goodness that's true, because we would never get an entire column out of heat alone; we do better with humanity.

Such as: Dorothy Duval is still hearing favorable comment on the participation by her three offspring in the Rock N'Roll sessions recently held down town.

Teenage son, Milton, and his partner, Linda Russell, were contenders for cash prizes, while Diane, age 10, and Gene, age 8, took the spotlight and performed by themselves — with enthusiastic audience ovation. Dorothy says that dancing to the record player at home has proved to be a favorite form of family fun.

Helen Langley is sporting a becoming tan after her return from Miami, Fla., with Earnest and the children. Helen complains that she was so busy with Lions convention activities and her family that she spent little time on the beach. The Langleys were delegates from the Hereford club, Earnest being the now-newly installed president.

Joan Yarbro is among those bridge clubbers who have rushed to grocery stores when bridge session is over late grateful for frozen chicken pies and the like. But she always meets others in the same predicament.

Norilyn Frizzell's husband, Bill, took a fancy to a particular pair of earclips in a local store and purchased them as a special surprise for his ever-lovin'. Norilyn was quite delighted with the earrings but moaned that they didn't match anything in her wardrobe. Not to be thwarted by such a mere problem, Bill hurried down town to purchase a dress to match the earclips—and he did!

While on the subject of ear rings, I've noticed recent reminders by Emily Post and her rival author-ty, Amy Vanderbilt, to the effect that only very small rhinestone ear rings or ear rings with dainty rhinestone sets are in good taste for day time wear; also the wearing of other articles of rhinestone jewelry, whether the stones be clear or colored, is taboo before the evening hours; exceptions: buckles and coat lapel brooches.

In spite of the variety of style changes in women's clothes, I believe the full skirt will continue to be as popular as it is now. Feel doubly safe in this prediction after viewing the window displays in local apparel shops. Hereford merchants are showing an array of dark cottons for the transition into late summer and fall, most of them featuring full skirts!

Clarice McCaslin was wearing a very smart casual dress as she went about her shopping Tuesday. It was a two piece effect, black sun back top with bouffant skirt of white cotton, interwoven with designs in gold metallic thread. Incidentally metallic thread and ornamentation in materials is really the rage these days—a very welcome aid to brightening feminine apparel. Also noticed how Clarice's shoes complimented her costume. They were made of white straw mesh with a dainty stub. They were made of white straw mesh with a dainty stub of wooden heel, not only cute but comfy looking.

Oh, this modern day youth and its modern day interests: ala television, Little League and Marilyn Monroe. I understand, Ray Cowser has been telling about a conversation he overheard between two Little League players at the ball park recently; seems one young man says to the other, "I think Little League is the best thing that's happened to Hereford since women."

And speaking of women, according to current fashion periodicals, shoe styles are due to change more than any other item in lady's wardrobe. The trend is toward modern facsimiles of the hobble skirt shoe of Grandmother's day. The closed pump will still be basic in fall footwear; most shoes, whether casual, "flats" or evening slippers will be ornamented with all manner of buckles, buttons, laces and bows.

And that brings us down to earth for our conclusion!

Coffee Break, Social Security, Pay Day Are Significant Words to Teen Ager

It's Work-A-Day World For Soda Jerks, Clerks, Baby-Sitters

By CAROL INMAN

Hereford does take care of its teenagers!

Terms like "coffee break," "social security," and that all important "pay day" are suddenly beginning to become alive this summer as Hereford teenagers get their first glimpse of the working world.

Stock boys, package boys, and delivery boys are probably the largest group of working teenagers in Hereford. Each summer local grocery stores employ over 25 students who will return to high school and college this fall, with several working after school hours and on weekends.

Singer and Stock Boy

One teenager now working at a grocery store as stock boy and checker is Raymond Wells, a recent HHS graduate. He has worked part time and full time in grocery stores for about three years, in order to earn expense and spending money. Raymond has also gained something else — experience in meeting the public.

He will enter Texas Tech this fall, and major in music. During his high school years, Raymond was a member of the Mixed Choir for four years; Boys' Choir for four years; and the Boys' Quartet last year.

Raymond has often sung at weddings, installations of clubs and recitals. During April, he was selected as one of the top 20 voices in Texas to participate in the United States National Choir in St. Louis, along with talented Gene Streun, another HHS graduate, who will attend West Texas State College this fall.

Secretaries Second

On the list in second place for teenage employment is secretarial work.

Dolores Loerwald, who was selected as the Hereford High School Honor Student for 1956, can be considered one of the top teenage secretaries of Hereford.

She is well trained in typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand courses that were included in her high school schedule. This is offered to more than 100 students each year.

"And I certainly couldn't get along without my speech and English courses I had in high school either," says Dolores. She was elected high school annual queen her junior year, worked in the principal's office, and held the offices of point keeper, treasurer, and president of FHA three years.

Eighteen year old Dolores plans to continue working as a secretary instead of going to college this fall. She believes that working is the best experience a girl can have.

Theaters Hire Teenagers

The business in Hereford which employs the largest number of teenagers is the theater industry, managed by Francis Hardwick. At the present, he employs 22 teenagers in theater work consisting of art work, operating projectors, advertising, and mechanics for the boys, and making change, keeping reports, cashiering, and some bookkeeping for the girls.

Two of the theater-employed teenagers, Gav and Joy Morton plan to enter TSCW this fall. The others will continue their work there after school hours and on weekends.

Francis Hardwick specializes in hiring these teenagers — which is usually their first job — and making their work there act as a stepping stone to develop their personalities and securing better positions after graduating from high school.

Clerks and Coffee Breaks

Clerking also comes high on the teenage working list. Many teenagers are learning the importance of good appearance and self-confidence by working in variety stores and department stores this summer.

The teenage workers know the "coffee break" is one issued by the employer as a special privilege to them, and seldom take advantage and abuse their allotted time.

Wardrobes are making a change too. As teenagers first begin working out in public, they soon shed their conventional bobby sox and loafers to more conservative flats or hose and heels.

Clothes are changed from the sloppy pullover sweater and jeans, to dress shirts and slacks for the boys, and girls take extra time to fix their hair and lipstick, as they too, don their "more mature clothing."

Delores Hernandez and Joe Landers, two 1956 HHS graduates now working in a downtown department store, say they are gathering experiences that will enable them to begin their college semesters on the "right foot." Delores plans to enter nurses' training in the fall, and Joe will enroll in Highland's University at Las Vegas, N. M. Both students were enrolled in the high school PE classes.

Soda jerking is also popular in the teenage field, say Betty Ferguson, Fran Goldston, Dora Fern Goldston, Carol Sue Sparks, and Annette Box.

Smile—When Feet Hurt

These girls soda-jerk in various drug stores, and really enjoy the work. Experience is racked up in dish washing, a little cooking, pleasing people, and learning to smile, even when feet are sore, and a back aches!

Being the more outdoor type, Bill Calloway, high school football player, prefers to work at a filling station to earn his spending money. Carroll Sparks also prefers to earn college money by helping to manage the miniature golf course.

If you like children, why not try baby-sitting?

Linda Inman, Lovella Finley, and Carol Alston find that this work is made easier by their high school homemaking courses. It gives them self-confidence in caring for children, and they earn summer spending money.

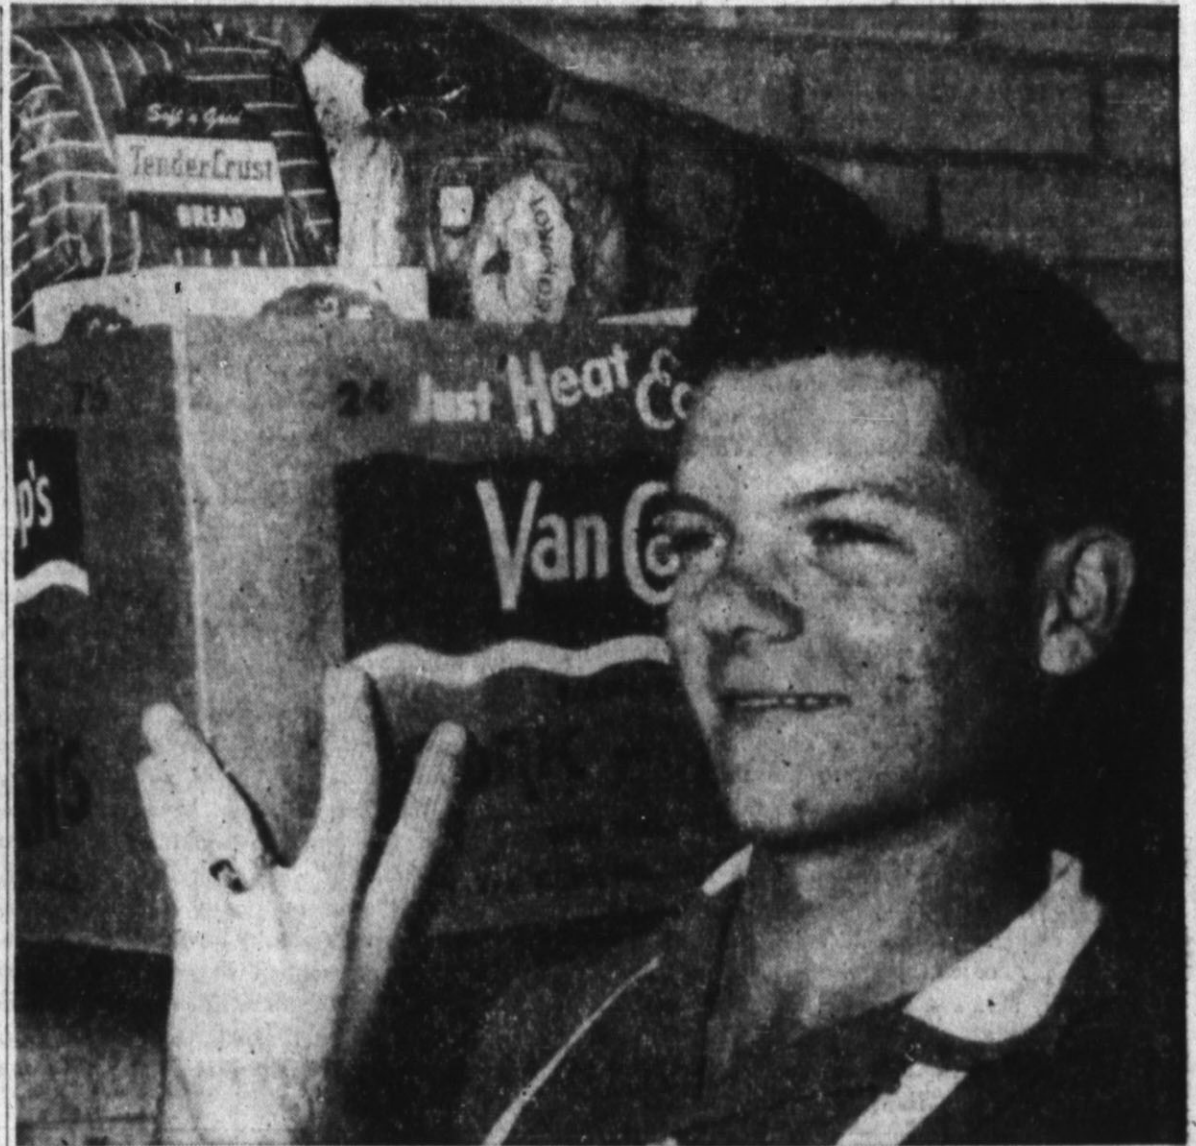

For the Married Folk

Several Hereford teenagers have chosen to make their profession that of a housewife or husband.

High school courses and homemaking training also help these young people in their vocation. The girls find that their homemaking schedules are made easier by the cooking, sewing, and housekeeping tasks they learned in high school.

Some of the Hereford teenagers who are now in that field are Sharon Burk, Donna Gabbert, Martha Jean Brown, Jackie Burrus, Doyle King, Tenna Witherspoon and Bill Reinauer.

Among the soon-to-wed teenagers are Karen McGee, Dalene Tinnin, Doris Turner, and Faye Noyes.

DELIVERY BOY for a local grocery store, Doug Womble says it's "o.k." as he earns his spending and expense money. He will be a junior in HHS this fall.

And Uncle Sam

Uncle Sam also needs his share of the boys and several teenagers have already joined up for their military obligations.

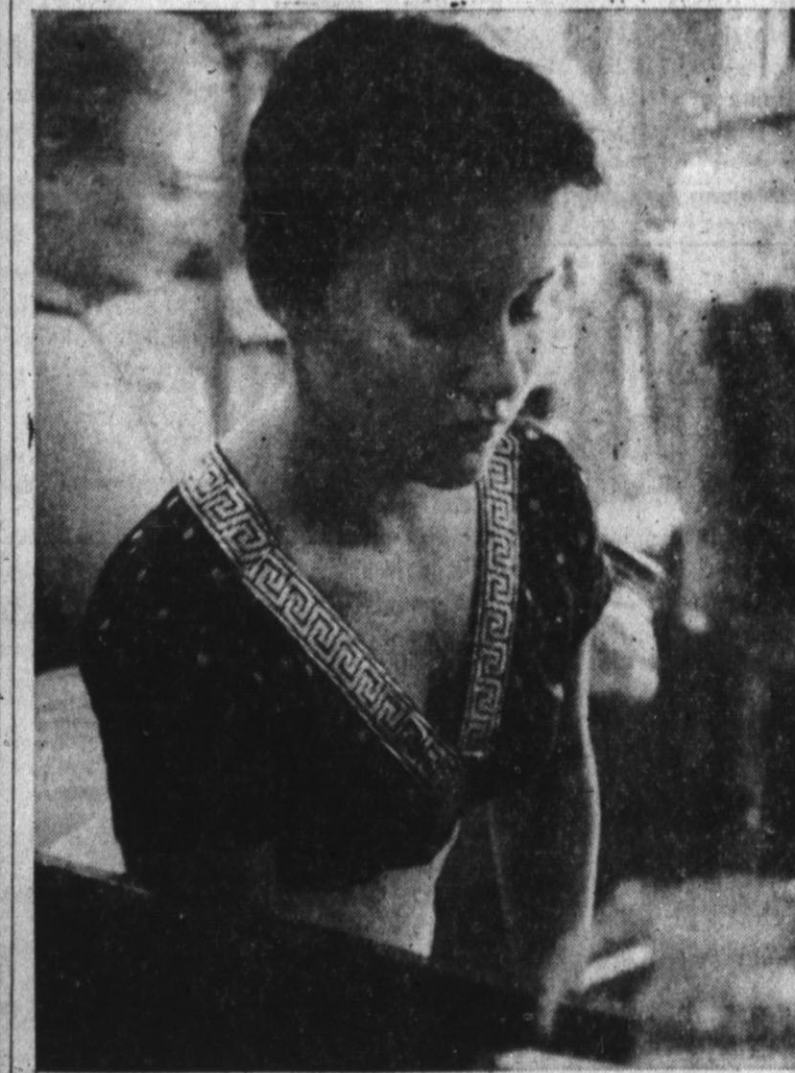

Gary Slaughter is now in Naval training in California, Dick Larsen and Danny Janssen are at Army boot camps in Arizona and Texas, Ralph Morrison and David Heck chose the Air Force field and are now training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

Whatever way you look at it, Hereford is taking care of its teenagers. Several towns have made repeated requests to the businessmen to find employment for its teenagers so they won't leave town to work elsewhere.

So far, thanks to the businessmen and employers, Hereford hasn't had much worry about this problem of losing its future citizens and developers of Hereford—the teenagers!

LIBRARIAN DUTIES are Dorothy Williams' pastime this summer as she works at the Deaf Smith County Library. Dorothy will be a junior in Hereford High School this fall, and is helping to earn her spending money.

SUMMER WORK—Betty Ferguson enjoys her summer work at the fountain in a local drug store, which consists of soda-jerking, and even some dishwashing and sweeping. She will be a junior in HHS this fall, and is earning her spending money early. (All Staff Photos)

DOROTHY DANIELS helps earn expense money and get experience at the same time. She's working this summer helping in her father's cafe, something she's always wanted to do. Dorothy will be a senior in HHS this fall.

AS A CLERK it's sometimes hard to please everyone, but Sammie McLallen tries with a ready smile and helpful suggestions. She was graduated from HHS this spring, and plans to go to Hardin-Simmons College in September, on the Betty Crocker Homemaking Scholarship she won during her senior year of high school.

Section Three

BABYSITTING is one of Dora Fern Goldston's favorite ways of earning money. This 16-year old girl babysits with Terry, Jan, and Kim Johnson each morning, and soda-jerks in a local drug store in the evenings. She is saving money to buy school clothes and to use for spending money during her junior year in high school.

Area Health Picture Reflects Many Changes, Brings Newfangle Diseases

Time changes everything, they say, and certainly the statement is true concerning the health problems of this area.

Appearing in a recent issue of The Brand was a warning from local health officials against such diseases as amoebic dysentery, bacillary dysentery, typhoid, polio and encephalitis. Add to this the fact that minor epidemics in recent years were cited by the officers, and you have a situation worthy of more than passing interest.

Approximately a quarter of a century ago, typhoid was the only one of these five diseases of which the average resident of Deaf Smith County had ever heard—much less experienced. Polio, of course, became widely known during the past decade. The other three diseases are still not widely known and in the mind of the average layman would generally be classified as tropical diseases. This is especially true of encephalitis which until its recent spread into the United States was generally considered a disease of Africa, spread chiefly by the tse-tse fly.

Amoebic dysentery, often found in Mexico and other tropical areas, is considered by many residents to be a result of the influx of Latin American population into the area. However, it is often spread in the distribution of vegetables and fruits from other areas and can best be combatted through careful washing of all fruits and produce, along with adequate garbage and sewerage disposal.

St. Louis type encephalitis, now frequently carried by mosquitoes, is considered a by-product of irrigation in view of the fact that open ditches and standing water provide excellent breeding places for the insects.

As the health officials point out, there seems to be little that people can do except to follow the general health rules of cleanliness, correct eating, proper disposal of garbage and sewerage, lots of exercise, fresh air and general horse-sense methods; this includes elimination of flies, mosquitoes and other carriers. We might also add that persons showing symptoms could well check with their personal physicians or, if necessary, with county or city health authorities.

Three of the five diseases have long, strange-sounding names, but they can be just as serious as typhoid or polio. We may not like them, but we do have their possibility with us—and we might as well face the facts, whether we like it or not. So far, their spread has not been extensive and, consequently, their results have not been sensational. A continuation of past methods as outlined by the health officers, will do more than anything else to keep them down to a minimum—and certainly that is the way we all want it.

Veteran Policy Of Distributing Park Land Shows Interest In Community

Announcements this week state that the Veteran's Park Board has made available between 18 and 19 acres of land to Deaf Smith County for location of a proposed coliseum, which might well be the forerunner of a community fair center.

The land, exceedingly valuable at the present time, will make possible the continuation of a recreation program which could prove invaluable to the entire territory. The big point, though, is the cooperation extended by the veteran groups, both American Legion and V. F. W., in a program calculated to make Deaf Smith County a better place to live.

Realizing full well the value, the veterans carefully investigated all angles and, instead of selling at a high price, chose to distribute the Veteran's Park land in such a manner that it will most help the entire population. Acting in the same spirit, they have previously traded out tracts with the City of Hereford in an effort to help the city comply with well spacing—and still maintain an ample water supply on an efficient working basis.

Several years back the veterans, as we recall, purchased the park site from the county at public auction on a bid of something like $7,500. Since that time they have maintained the property and have, with only one or two exceptions, made sales to private individuals. They have, in addition, been sharply criticized from time to time, chiefly on grounds that the property was purchased on a token payment.

When you boil it down, however, it appears that the group has made a sincere effort to act in behalf of the welfare of the community. They have made some mistakes, which is to be expected. In addition, they have frequently faced turmoil within their own ranks over the distribution of the park property. This is also to be expected when you stop to consider the large number of people involved.

Since the park went from public ownership into the hands of the veterans, it appears to us that their current thinking on "giving land for community service, rather than selling at a high price" is the only logical conclusion.

The veterans, in addition to their classification as such, also represent a large portion of the citizenship of the community today. They proved their loyalty and interest to the community and to the nation when they took up arms in its defense a decade ago and, it seems to us, that they are still working for those same goals today. All in all, it appears that the entire county owes the veteran groups a vote of appreciation and approval.

Certainly, when you boil it all down, the park land has been handled in the interests of the people and of the county in general. This was the thinking of most veterans and of most other citizens in the original transaction. More important, however, it signifies a genuine interest in the community among all citizens—and is one of the reasons Deaf Smith County and Hereford have grown in scope and population, while many other Panhandle counties and towns have seen sharp decreases along the same lines.

Meter Maids Are Possible Answer

Recent approval by the City Commission of "Meter Maids" to service parking meters in Hereford follows a pattern already seen in many cities, large and small, across the nation. Possibly more important, however, it also marks the large scale entry of women into the police profession for the first time in our history.

Without question, there are many jobs which women can do more efficiently and more successfully than men. Parking meters, it appears, is one of these jobs. Late motorists are generally more considerate and more polite with the maidens than with regular cops. The ladies, in turn, are not so inclined to "chew out" erring drivers as are men policemen. Women, in addition, often show a more clearcut interest in details than do men. The biggest reason, though, appears to rest in the fact that most "Meter Maids" are proud of their jobs, while the average policeman looks on parking meter work as an undesirable chore.

Costwise, Meter Maids will no doubt prove an excellent investment. Our prediction is that more people will put more money into the meters from day to day and from week to week, chiefly because they know that the

PERSONALITY PROFILES

Spend Trading Stamp Money For Youth, Suggests Druggist

GRADY ROGERS . . . Personality of the Week

Why couldn't businessmen here in Hereford devote "trading stamp" money during the next two years to a fund for a community youth center?

This is a question posed by druggist Grady Rogers. Building a center for boys and girls activities is one way he sees in which the community could grow and prosper.

"There's nothing wrong with kids. What we need to do to keep them right is to give them the right incentives," Rogers believes.

It is nine years now since he came to Hereford to enter the drug business. He's had plenty of time to access the city's merits.

Likes Little League

And what he sees, generally, he likes: The school system, the parks, Little League—particularly Little League. "One of the best things we've ever done here for our boys—and the people.

But looking into the future, Rogers sees additions he would like to see made for the benefit of the community.

"Hereford needs some industries. With two or three plants bringing in stable payrolls every year, this would supplement our farm economy and would give us one of the best small cities in the country," Rogers declares.

He's scratching his brain, though when it comes to the problem of attracting those industries.

Airport Might Help

"An airport just might help," Rogers believes. He points out that large corporation executives who scout the nation for new locations for expanding plants seldom give Hereford a second thought or a first look.

"Traveling mostly by air," he explains, "those fellows just aren't likely to come through here if they have to land at Friona or Amarillo and then hire a car just to drive over to Hereford."

An airport, he figures, is a necessity for cities that would keep up with "the times." And he's quick to agree that the acquisition of a modern "landing field" is much easier for the citizens of a region than was usually the case in getting railroads to "build through" that same region a half-century ago.

Born in Floyd County

It was in 1905 that Rogers was born. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rogers, a Floyd County farming and ranching family. Educated in Crosbyton schools, he turned to drug store work upon graduation and four years later enrolled in the Danforth School of Pharmacy in Fort Worth.

A licensed pharmacist since 1930, he worked in Lubbock, Amarillo and finally Pampa before moving here.

Pre-packaging medicines has done much to simplify the work of a pharmacist, Rogers observes. "When I first started in the work, we had to compound many prescription items that now come in capsule or tablet form."

He's still old-fashioned enough to consider it a happy duty to get out of bed in the wee small hours to fill emergency orders. "And I wouldn't want ever to be anything but a druggist," he declares.

But drug stores themselves, he readily admits, have been transformed from pharmaceutical houses into general mercantile houses. Drugs as a main stock in trade have been edged out in drug stores by cameras, costume jewelry, gifts—just about every type of merchandise except "a section harrow and a godevil," says Rogers.

And speaking of home-remedies "Very few people call for the old-fashioned remedies anymore. Increased incomes enable them first to consult doctors for diagnosis of their ills. Then they come to the pharmacy for specific items," Rogers said.

Not Since Hadaacol

Since the Hadaacol—thing swept the country—"folks bought it by the case but now we don't even stock it"—tonic sales have been slow.

Rogers likes to take time from "business" to visit with friends and customers. He's a Methodist and a Rotarian—was a director of Hereford Rotary last year.

With his family, he attends the First Methodist Church. His wife is the former Claudine Farn of White Deer. Married in 1932, they have one daughter, Barbara Sue, 18, and a student at Texas Tech.

The Rogers recently took a scenic vacation through the Northwest, but when it comes vacation-time you'll generally find him fishing trout streams at Red River, N.M., or Gunnison, Colo. "There's nothing like speaking in a fast stream," he smiles.

No one likes to get a ticket, but everyone admits that they would rather have one at the hands of an efficient, attractive young lady than from a tired, over-worked policeman. Besides, if you don't like it, you can always "tell it to the judge."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

People Site Benefits Of Arguments Against Airport

Of what benefit would a modern airport be to Hereford and Deaf Smith County?

REV. HOWARD SCOTT

I think an airport would be definitely beneficial. There were times when people didn't believe that super service stations were a necessity but look at them now. I believe that in order for a community to progress, an airport is a must.

WENDELL BURDINE

I think an airport would be all right, but at this time, there seems to be more things Hereford needs than an airport. It certainly couldn't hurt us though.

MRS. E. C. EUBANKS

I think that an airport would be too great an expense for the few people who would benefit from it.

REUBEN KNOX

I think probably it would benefit Hereford business but I don't consider a commercial airport a necessity for a city this size.

DR. H. A. CAVNESS

The benefits derived from an airport would not be an immediate thing but a development of long-range planning would greatly enhance possibilities for an influx of business and trade in the future. I look at it from a standpoint of the future and not the present.

MRS. BESS GIVAN

I think an airport would be very appropriate for the city of Hereford.

POETRY FOR GOLF

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Not wishing to arouse the ire of golfers nor dictate fashion to them, Dayton City Welfare Director Alfred P. Strozdas turned to poetry instead.

Now, at the first tees of three city-owned courses, signs read: "We don't mean to preach. This isn't the beach. Will you kindly wear golfing attire? Shorts to your knees and full tops please. It's the costume we most admire."

Margaret Mitchell's novel, "Gone With the Wind" has sold more than 8 million copies in more than 27 languages.

AMATEUR BEEKEEPER

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An estimated 8000 to 10,000 bees swarmed atop a downtown traffic light and sent pedestrians scurrying.

Charles McGhee, a lens grinder for an optical company, cleared up the jam when he got a box and ladder from a nearby store and after about half an hour coaxed the queen and her followers into the makeshift hive.

McGhee, an amateur beekeeper later transferred the swarm to a hive at his home.

meters will be checked regularly and accurately. The situation, in fact, could well cut down on the number of fines which the city annually collects from meter violations.

All in all, we believe everyone will be happier when the "Meter Maids" take over.

LITTLEFIELD VOTES ON CIVIC DEVELOPMENT

City commissioners are expected to be presented with two petitions tonight both of which aim to let Littlefield voters decide on two different aspects of this city's future welfare. One will call for an election to let voters say whether they favor the continuance of parking meters in Littlefield. The other will ask an election for a citizens' decision on whether a Board of Civic Development should be established. One citizen told the News and Leader early this week that "approximately 500 people have signed their names to five separate petitions" on the parking meter question. In order for an election to be called on parking meters, 10 per cent of the qualified voters in Littlefield must sign the petition. —LAMB COUNTY LEADER.

THREE NEW WELLS IN OCHILTREE

Ochiltree county provided hie big news in Panhandle oil circles this week with three new oil wells completed for a total of 1,908 barrels of oil, plus several more encouraging tests. All of the new wells are south of Farnsworth. Biggest oil well of the three was the Sinclair Oil and Gas No. 2 Jones in Section 41, Block 13, T&NO Survey, which flowed 694 barrels of oil through perforations at 7,926-32 feet. COTTON ALLOTMENT REVIEW UNDER ADVISEMENT

In a surprise move Tuesday, Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley adjourned his court in Amarillo, which was hearing the controversy on the action of area cotton allotment review committees, and declared he would take the case under advisement. The trial was one of the Department of Agriculture against 12 West Texas cotton producers to restrain them from acting as a review committee to make adjustments in county cotton allotments for complaining cotton farmers. The committees met twice and upped the allotments on both trial hearings.—THE MULESHOE JOURNAL.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm discusses banking this week, a subject he's invariably confused on.

Dear editor:

Sometimes you have to read some news out of Washington two or three times before it soaks in.

The other day I read where Congress had voted 800 million dollars for the air force to build more jet bombers and Defense Secretary Wilson said he didn't need it, didn't want it, take it back. I didn't pay too much attention to this at the time, figured the next day's paper would have a denial in it, saying Sec. Wilson had been misquoted again. But as sure enough, Sec. Wilson was still resisting that 800 million, luck would have it, I got hold of a paper the next day and sure enough, Sec. Wilson was still resisting that 800 million, and a few days later I got hold of still another paper, somebody had used it to wrap up a piece of ice and while it was pulpy and a little hard to read, I managed to find out it was a fact, one department in Washington was actually complaining because Congress had voted it too much money.

I can't understand this, I know it's been hot in Washington, the same as it has here, but this is the worst effect of the heat I've ever seen.

At any rate, I've been thinking. As I understand it, Sec. Wilson says he will have to accept the money, but that since the defense department has no use for it now he'll put it in the bank.

Now here's my point. He didn't say what bank, and I was just wondering, why couldn't he put it in the Soil Bank? As I understand it, the Soil Bank is turning out sort of like some other phases of banking. That is, occasionally a bank will advertise that it has money to loan, but when I go in and inquire about it, the story is a little different from what I had hoped for. The size of the loan, and its terms, fall considerably short of what my situation demands.

This Soil Bank sounds fine, but when they get down to the size of the check they can write out for you, the story is a little different.

And I was just thinking, why can't Sec. Wilson turn this unwanted money over to the Soil Bank? That's one department that could use a little more. This country may be producing jet bombers at a satisfactory rate, but right now the production rate on solvent farmers is a little low.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Hereford Mermaids Warn: Swimtime Is Beautytime, Too

By CAROL INMAN
What makes a bathing beauty? And how do you stack up in that category?
Hereford mermaids find that the best answer is to "like the water." Bette Roberts, who swims every day, says "I love water and I love to swim, although a person can get too much of it, if he doesn't get in and out fairly often."
The first rule is to be shapely with a rounded bosom, judging by photographs that are popular with the male. You do not have to be featherweight. The important point is shapeliness.
Flat chested girls can look chic by wearing a suit with a built-in bra arrangement, so if they have no disfiguring bulges otherwise, they may still fall in that shapely category.
Be Sure to De-Fuzz
All eyes focus on your legs and thighs when you are in a playsuit, so you must put that exposed area in as smooth a shape as your face. De-fuzz your legs and don't forget the area behind the knees—hard to reach, but important to the sleek leg.
Leg beauty goes to the toes, especially if you are the barefoot type. Repair corns and bunions. The residue of a corn might be neatly patched by covering the area with a neat piece of adhesive tape and then covering it over with some foundation cream and powder.
"I think polished toenails and fingernails look very nice with a tan," declares Bette Roberts. For that fresh look, try a light pink or red, and forget about the darker shades of scarlet and raspberry. If you don't care for the colored polish, the clear fingernail polish will make your nails sparkle.
Clear Skin, Too
Clear skin is important to your outdoor play glamour, too. Small pimples and other face blemishes should disappear like magic if you eat properly. Sometimes faddish diets are responsible for that as well as other beauty problems.
The cosmetics that are especially made for covering up the blemishes might be used to conceal them as they heal. Body blemishes such as tiny pimples that appear on the chest and back must be obliterated for glamour's sake.
Use that Bath Brush
A bath brush is helpful in reaching the back area. Cover the brush with suds and scrub that area carefully. Pat it with witch hazel or ask someone else to help you pat it on to help blot away oiliness that sometimes causes those little bumps. Do this frequently and watch your skin glow.
A bathing cap is a good bet for the modern mermaid too, says Textie Gyles, another water fan. She prefers to use a cap, but sometimes leaves it off.
Bette Roberts uses her bathing cap all the time, although it doesn't keep her hair completely dry. Both mermaids have decided that the caps are a great help to keep hair out of their eyes just after diving.
For a tanning lotion, Bette Roberts prefers to use an iodine and baby oil mixture that she learned about some 11 years ago. She tried it and liked it so well that she's used it ever since.
Tanning Lotion Important
Mrs. Gyles has also used iodine and baby lotion mixture, but at the present time she is using a commercial lotion for tanning the skin.
"There are so many different lotions for different types of skin now that I feel it foolish to wear heavy makeup for swimming," says Textie.
"They let you tan, but don't let you burn. And are obtainable in plastic bottles, which are very easy to use, and have no danger of breaking."
For an all-over smooth look, smooth oil over your arms before going to bed and rub your regular hand lotion up the arms in the morning. Arms need special treatment and often are neglected by would-be bathing beauties. De-fuzz the entire area, too, if it is needed.
Casual Hair-Do Preferred
If you are rehearsing for the bathing beauty parade look be sure you do not neglect your face. A casual hairdo, (a short cut is popular with most Hereford mermaids), and light makeup are all that you'll need to complete the picture.
Textie and Bette both limit their makeup to just lipstick, because that's all they need. They feel that heavy makeup will help prevent blistering—but so will the lotions on the market today.
For swimming time, it's agreed that 30 to 45 minutes at a time is enough for anyone. These women stay at the pool every day to give swimming lessons, and try to rest a short time every half hour or so.
The pool has been busy this summer and Textie sums it up with just a few words, "Swimming is a real wonderful sport and everybody ought to try it."
CHASTISE THE MACHINE
PORTALES, N. M. — The Portales Daily News, apologizing for leaving out two names in the list of Eastern New Mexico University graduates, blamed it on the typesetting machine.
The newspaper added "we shall chastise the machine for its willful neglect, especially since one of these two graduates is a former reporter and proof reader for the Daily News and hence the machine should have known better."

TAKE MORE CARE OF CARS, TOO

Women Are Better Drivers Than Men Think They Are

Just how bad are women drivers? In spite of the average male's point of view, statistics prove that women are better drivers, as a group, and that they have fewer accidents than men. And according to a survey made in Hereford, women probably take better care of their automobiles than men do. After interviewing police officers service station operators, service managers, body shop owners and the American Automobile Association manager, the Brand reporter comes to this conclusion: Women and their automobiles are better acquainted than most people think and women are better drivers than they get credit for being. Statistics at the police station show that, for the period of time from Jan. 1, 1956, through March, there have been 24 traffic accidents involving 36 men and 11 women and one unknown subject. Police Chief Leo Box says that, as a whole, he believes women are more conscientious drivers than men are; but when you get a careless woman driver, she is the world's worst, he declares. Women Take Care of Cars Men who work with automobiles say that women actually take better care of their cars than men do. According to Odis Bulls, for instance, who has been in the service station business in Hereford for the past 30 years, women don't usually understand the mechanical workings of their automobile like men do, and they frequently leave it up to the integrity of their service station operators to take care of their cars, seeing that they are lubricated when necessary, etc. But they get the car washed and greased more often.

"There are a great many more women driving now, than there used to be," he said, "and they are pretty interested in their automobiles."

Don't Understand Mechanics Most men agree that women often don't understand mechanical difficulties with their automobiles, but then Elby Kendrick, service manager, points out that frequently, men don't understand it either. "We find women who know how automobiles operate, and we find women who don't; but they don't have any priority; there are plenty of men who don't understand automobiles, too," he said. He pointed out that, as a general rule, women were probably more interested in mechanical failures, while women were more interested in little, annoying things on their cars — things that might not effect its running, but do effect its comfort, perhaps.

All Careful of New Cars Car dealers agreed that women were extremely conscientious about getting new cars inspected during warranty periods — but pointed out that most men are, too. Service managers agreed that, as a general rule, they operate on the theory that women don't know anything about mechanics and try to explain any potential problems or difficulties, in simple language, so women can understand it; with men they don't bother so much. Women are most particular, also, about scratches on the paint, keeping the car washed and clean, etc.

Sam Long says that women are more conscientious about getting necessary repairs on their cars, but are also more demanding. When they want something done, they want it done right now. Usually their first remark is "I'll talk it over with my husband," and then they return and say, "Can you fix it this afternoon?"

Men Dent More Fenders Pat Neill says he hates to admit it, but more men bring in dented fenders to be repaired than women do. As to who is harder to please, he says women pay more attention to the paint job and men to the metal work in repairing fenders.

Guy Lawrence, Hereford's American Automobile Association manager, says women drivers aren't all black, but he has seen a few dark complexioned ones—however, he insists that that goes for men drivers, too. He said the one thing most drivers, men and women, neglect, is service on their automobiles. "It's easier to drive on another 1000 miles than to stop and take the time for service work."

He agrees that most women leave the care of their cars to their service station operators, and thinks this is a good idea. No Imbred Aptitude Bob Wilson, manager of school bus operations for Hereford Rural School District, says women have a desire to know about mechanics, but no imbred aptitude. He recently completed an instruction course for Red Cross Volunteer workers in which he taught women how to operate and care for their vehicles.

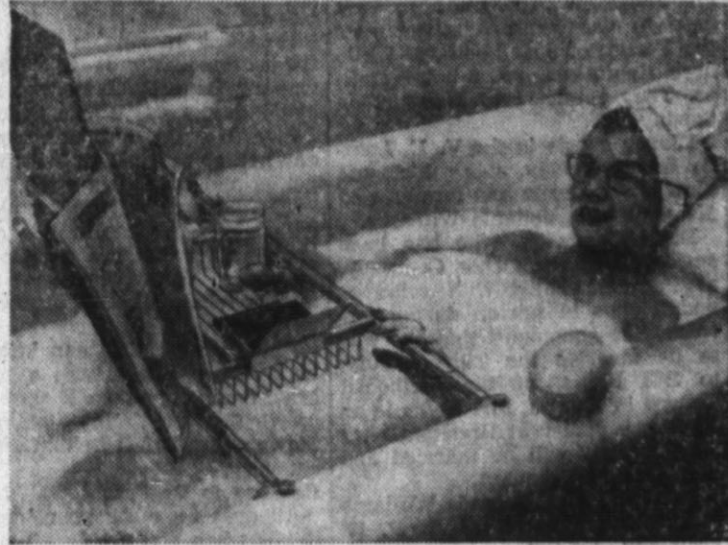

"I found them eager to learn, and they did learn quickly; but they didn't have any real aptitude," he said, explaining how, in the lesson on tire-changing at the bus shop the women were instructed how to block their car, jack it up, remove the tire and put another one on. Then he left them alone so they could actually practice what he had preached. He went outside to talk to some friends. When he returned, he found that at least six of the women had jacked up the car all right and removed the tire, but when they put the other tire back on, they reversed the nuts which hold the wheel secure. These lug nuts, being slanted, are designed to lock the wheel in place; when put in backwards, the wheel would rock back and forth when the brakes were applied.

Are Good Bus Drivers However, Bob's experience with women drivers has been most pleasant. He has had several women who served as bus drivers in the past and he commends them highly. "We like women as bus drivers because they are more careful in the first place, and in the second place, whenever they think there is something wrong with their bus, they don't hesitate to have it looked over; anything questionable in its operation is caught at once," he declares.

Women bus drivers have been so successful, in fact, that next year three women will drive school busses. They are Bea Hutson, Mesdames Bill Hutson, R. L. Dawson and Alton Biggers. Mrs.

RELAX IN THE TUB—Read a newspaper or plan the week's menus while soapsuds help beautify you.

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor If you're not up to sulphur and molasses, try relaxation to help foil springtime's low ebb. The daily bath is one of the most soothing treatments at hand for frayed nerves. Business girls will find it the perfect set-up before an evening date. Housewives may indulge while Junior and Sis are at school or napping. If the housewife doesn't want to spare the time for this interlude in the busy day, she can justify it by doing a few chores while she bathes.

Max Stipe, has, in the past driven school busses, too. Who gets the most over parking tickets? That's hard to answer, because, as Ellie Watts, in the city clerk's office says, "We can't tell; all the men who pay over-parking tickets say 'This is for my wife'; and all the women say 'My husband got this ticket.'"

MANNERS FOR MODERNS

Going Away For The Weekend? Here Are Tips On What To Do

The busiest people in Hereford are teen-agers. They are eternally going somewhere or just coming back from or getting ready to leave again.
Because the success of their social life depends, in the long run, on their basic good manners, Vivian Brown, AP news features writer, gives some pointers on how-to-be-the-perfect-vacation-guest, or how-to-be-invited-back-for-the-weekend.
A house visit obligates a guest. The fact that you've accepted an invitation indicates you've made a contract to be on your best behavior, and to observe the household routine. Here are some points to remember.
1. Arrive on the train, plane, bus or other conveyance at the time they expect to meet you. If you do change your plans, inform your hostess immediately.

2. You should have all the necessities with you — toothpaste, your comb, brush, nightgown, negligee, slippers, cosmetics. If you forget something, buy a replacement at the first opportunity.
3. Keep your room clean. Do not expect your hostess' mother to clean up after you. Make your bed each day as soon as possible. Pick up your clothes, put them on hangers and put them in the closet.
4. Use cleansing tissues to remove your makeup. Do not smear lipstick on towels or use them for shining shoes.
5. A good hostess will tell you the mealtime schedule the first day. If she is kind enough to suggest you sleep late in the morning, try not to overdo it. She may want you to eat breakfast in your room if the family eats early, however.
6. They should tell you what the household plans are insofar as entertainment goes. If the family invites you to go dancing or swimming, it's a good idea to fall in with the plan. Don't hold out for bicycle riding even if that is your fondest exercise.
7. Observe good table manners. If you are unsure of yourself, borrow an etiquette book from the library. Learn to butter small bits of bread instead of the entire slice, to eat your soup with the spoon scooping it up away from you.
8. Try to keep out of the way in between times. Your hostess' mother would like you out of sight when the house is being cleaned, and she'd like you out of your room long enough to vacuum it during your stay, no doubt.
9. It's a good idea to get in the habit of being helpful. Offer to remove the dishes from the table, to wash or dry them, if it is that kind of household. If the family has help, they'd probably like it if you'd stay out of the kitchen.
10. Be sure to take a warm sweater or stole, low shoes for play your own notepaper and fountain pen.

11. It's a good idea to bring your hostess' mother a little gift. If you do not, be sure to send her a bouquet or nosegay of flowers when you get home. In any case you should get your thank-you note off as soon as possible.
12. If you and your hostess date in the evenings, it's wise to observe the curfew laid down by her parents. You can be assured that you will never get another invitation to their household if they must be put in the position of unusual responsibility for you.

13. If they invite you to extend your stay, be sure to let your parents know by telephone or telegraph if a letter will not arrive home in time.
14. You should tell your hostess the train you plan to get on the day they expect you to leave, so that they do not have to ask you.
15. A cheerful attitude should be maintained throughout your stay, and when you leave act like you've had a glorious time even if you haven't.

MOVIE NEWS

Screenfare Pairs Westerns With Fabulous History, Hysterical Plots

THE LIEUTENANT WORE SKIRTS
Tom Ewell and Sheree North are teamed in a breezy CinemaScope laugh hit, "The Lieutenant Wore Skirts," showing Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the Star Theatre. People of all ages will enjoy this delightful movie, although it may be a little dense at times for the younger kiddies. The story of a husband whose wife is accepted for military service while he is rejected, "The Lieutenant Wore Skirts" is the comedy of Ewell, as a TV writer and World War II hero who fights against tremendous odds to stick with his wife, Sheree North, who is accepted as a WAF lieutenant and sent to the American Air Force base in Hawaii.
LAND OF THE PHAROAH
"Land of the Pharaohs," showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Star Theatre, was filmed in Egypt with a cast of 11,500. Not recommended for children, this CinemaScope production is the fabulous tale of a barbarous love that left Egypt's greatest pyramid as its wondrous landmark. It is the story of the pharaoh who used 100,000 workers and 30 years to erect one of the seven great wonders of the world. Jack Hawkins portrays the Pharaoh, Joan Collins is Princess Nellifer, who "tore the Pharaoh down kiss by kiss."
RED SUNDOWN
Small boys will especially enjoy "Red Sundown," showing Sunday and Monday at the Tower Drive In. It has quick action and lots of suspense, with Rory Calhoun, Martha Hyer and Dean Jagger as the stars. When one of his best friends is killed, professional gunman Rory Calhoun vows never to touch a gun again, but is induced to become a deputy sheriff and unlimbers his guns again. Martha Hyer plays the sheriff's daughter who falls in love with Calhoun.
DOUBLE FEATURE
A tale of intrigue and danger is the new Paramount picture, "Secret of the Incas," showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Drive In. Charlton Heston and Nicole Maurey are teamed for the first time in this movie. The plot concerns a group of people searching for a fabulous fortune that has been lost to civilization for centuries.

Also showing on the same program is "The Last Command," starring Sterling Hayden, J. Carroll Naish, Anna Maria Alberghetti, and Richard Carlson. This is the story of the preamble to the fall of the Alamo; the bitter plight of the Texans under the coldblooded yoke of Santa Anna; the personal tragedy of Jim Bowie.
Farmers in Ceylon are using firecrackers to frighten off elephants from their crops. Formerly they used deadly weapons, but this method thinned out the elephant herds which are profitable tourist attractions.

Melons Are Cool Eating When Hereford Temperatures Soar

Hereford homemakers, looking for something cool and different when the temperature spirals up to 98 degrees, may find this suggested menu by Cecily Brownstone, Associated Press food editor, solving several problems.

It features a cantaloupe-gelatin mold, cool as a lettuce leaf and shimmering like an evening star, Hereford markets carry delicious melons now.

The basic menu foods, ham, cantaloupe mold and hot biscuits, would also adapt as well to a morning brunch as to a family lunch or supper.

For refreshing taste-treat try a mold of jellied lemon and orange juice flavored with mint; add pale apricot-pink cantaloupe balls so they will be suspended in gleaming splendor.

Serve this mold at your best company buffet. Cold ham and hot biscuits will accompany it beautifully. Add a bowl of romaine and water-cress sprigs dressed with olive oil, wine vinegar, prepared mustard and, if you like, a touch of garlic.

For a first course on this menu, creamy clam chowder sprinkled with chives is perfect. Serve the soup hot or cold. For dessert offer both vanilla and coffee ice cream with a coffee or chocolate sauce. Or if you're energetic, serve a home made mousse or Bavarian Cream instead of the ice cream, making it coffee, chocolate or maple-syrup flavor. Crisp cookies and coffee (hot or iced) will top off the dessert course delightfully.

MINTED CANTALOUPE MOLD
Ingredients: 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 3/4 cup hot water, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons corasely chopped fresh mint, 3/4 cup fresh strained lemon juice, 1/4 cup cantaloupe juice or cantaloupe juice and water, 1 cup fresh strained orange juice, 2 1/2 cups of fresh cantaloupe balls, fresh mint leaves for garnish, 2 cups cantaloupe balls for garnish if ring mold is used.

Method: Soften gelatin in cold water and set aside. Mix hot water, sugar, salt, chopped mint and 1/4 cup of the lemon juice. Heat to boiling point; strain and pour over gelatin; stir until dissolved. Strain cantaloupe juice from pulp around seeds. Pour into a cup and add enough water to make 3/4 cup. Add to gelatin with remaining 1/4 cup of the lemon juice and the orange juice. Refrigerate, stirring often, until mixture is about as thick as fresh egg whites and has begun to set. Fold in the 2 1/2 cups cantaloupe balls. Turn into a 5-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with mint leaves; if ring mold is used, fill center with 2 cups cantaloupe balls. Makes 8 servings.

Note: If you haven't a French ball cutter, use the 1/2 teaspoon size from a set of round-bowl measuring spoons to make the cantaloupe balls.

FOR WEIGHT WATCHERS
Despite cantaloupe's satisfying hint of sweetness, half a melon contains only 37 calories. The melon is high in vitamins, particularly vitamin A.

How Can I?

Q. How can I launder white silk garments and prevent them from turning yellow?

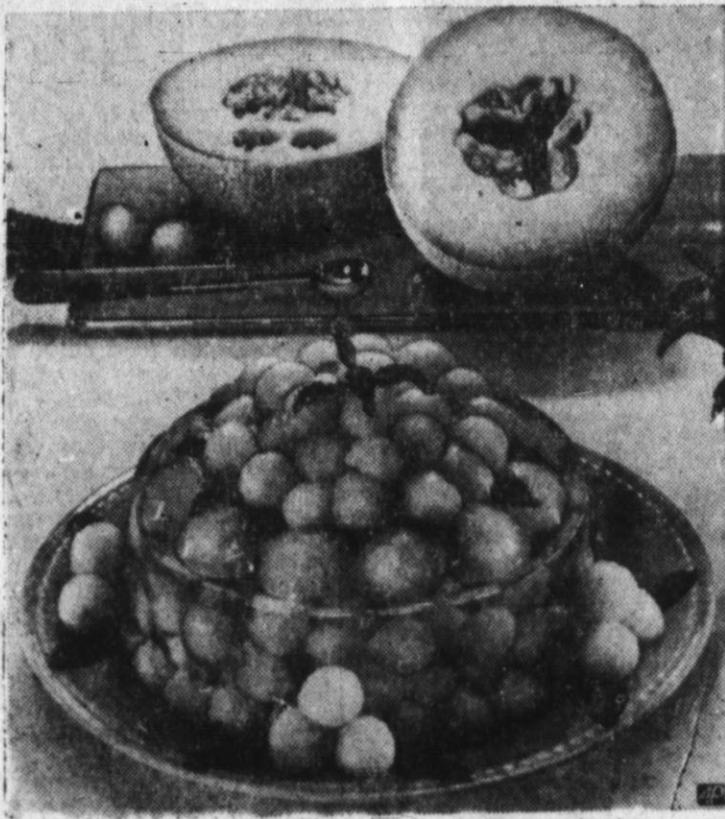

A. Dissolve a teaspoon of powdered borax in enough cold water to cover the article that is to be washed and let it soak for about an hour. Wash in tepid water and white suds, and the silk will not turn yellow.

Q. How can clothing, curtains, and other fabrics be fireproofed?

A. Soak the materials for five minutes in a solution of ammonium phosphate. However, this process must be repeated after each washing.

Q. How can I soften and whiten the hands?

A. Mix one ounce of glycerin, three ounces of bay rum, 1/2-dram oil bergamot, and apply. Or, rub well at night with olive oil and wear sleeping gloves.

Q. How can I treat scratched furniture?

A. Several remedies are as follows: Boiled linseed oil rubbed over the surface of the furniture; rubbing with camphorated oil; rubbing with iodine; rubbing a shelled walnut on furniture scratches and following with the usual polish.

Q. How can I eliminate the sticking of windows, doors, or cabinet drawers?

A. Rub a piece of laundry soap at the point of friction. If you cannot reach the point where it sticks, as in a window, pour a small amount of hot lard into the casing.

Q. How can I clean a chimney which has become clogged with soot?

A. Burn potato peelings in the furnace or range, which ever it may be. Or, get a few scraps of zinc from any tinner and sprinkle it over a hot fire.

Q. How can I remove pencil marks from white woodwork?

A. These marks can be easily removed by rubbing them with a piece of cut lemon, and then with whitening on a damp cloth.

Q. How can I serve cheese in a novel manner?

A. Grate some cheese and moisten it with mayonnaise or cream; add a little minced parsley. Shape into finger-length pieces and serve with raw fruit.

Q. How can I clean gold teeth?
