Shaking Hands

Democratic presidential hopeful Gary Hart greeted some 600 supporters following brief remarks Wednesday at the fountain courtyard of the Amarillo Civic Center. The catered barbecue was arranged by Potter County Democratic Chairman Mel Phillips, Panhandle campaign coordinator for the Colorado Senator. Phillips introduced Hart by calling him "the third senator from Texas."

Democratic hopeful feels our courage to be tested

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

"America is being tested," Sen. Gary Hart said Wednesday in Amarillo. "I believe this nation's courage is going to be tested in the 1980s."

The Democratic presidential candidate, the first to stop in the Panhandle since John F. Kennedy campaigned in Amarillo in 1960, spoke before a crowd of around 600 people outside the Amarillo Civic Center.

"We cannot afford to go back to (Walter) Mondale's policies of the past," he claimed. "We must look to the future." Hart, a senator from Colorado, emphasized energy independence, arms reduction and continued federal support of student aid programs.

"I think we need a president who has the courage and leadership to say no." That turned out to be the theme of Hart's brief remarks, which he followed by moving through the crowd, shaking hands.

"We need a president who

has the courage and leadership to say no to powerful unions," he said, "to say no to individual weapons contractors that do not make us stronger." The candidate claimed the nation "will not be strong until we reform and modernize national defense and negotiate for arms reduction with the Soviet Union."

Hart said this nation can only secure itself by having the most effective-not expensive-system of defense.

"We must say no to oil imports," Hart told the crowd. "We must have a policy of energy independence."

Hart repeatedly told supporters that the future is at stake in this election, as he concluded by saying, "We can recapture government of the nation for all the people."

Hart answered questions for the press at Amarillo International Airport, prior to departing shortly before 2 p.m. He then left on a tour that was to include the cities of Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Austin and Tyler.

Repeating his desire to have the nation energy independent before the year 2000, Hart proposed to do that by returning to policies adopted in the 1970s and abandoned by President Reagan.

Asked to comment on the possible location of a nuclear waste dump in the Panhandle, Hart said that "should be a scientific issue, not a political one."

He said scientists "must be the ones to say where the safest places to dump are," and that he agreed with those who say the safest method is to encase the rods in glass or ceramic material and "bury it in salt domes in the southeastern part of the country."

Hart told reporters that his campaign and his personal philosophy are "based on the premise that we cannot solve our problems based on the policies of the past."

Asked why he chose to visit Amarillo, the candidate claimed, "Votes here are as important as in Houston, Dallas or anywhere else." He said the campaign trail has been long and hard, but that he has maintained consistency in his remarks.

"You cannot run a campaign that says one thing in one part of the country and one thing in another," he explained.

"I'm absolutely convinced I'll get the nomination and defeat President Reagan," Hart announced quietly but firmly near the end of the 15-minute press conference. He also said he thought he would do well in Texas.

Panhandle Democrats are currently finalizing plans to bring Democratic candidate Jesse Jackson and Joan Mondale, wife of Candidate and former vice-president Walter Mondale, to Amarillo.

Committee to take final action

DALLAS (AP) — Members of Gov. Mark White's select committee on public education gathered today to take final action on a comprehensive package of recommended reforms for Texas' public schools.

H. Ross Perot, chairman of the 18-member committee, said the panel would have to decide in its 2 p.m. meeting which recommendations should be modified or dropped so the cost of the reform plan can be reduced to what legislative leaders say the state can afford.

White is expected to call the Texas Legislature into special session in May or June to approve funding for the reforms.

One member of the committee, attorney Tony Bonilla of Corpus Christi, said Wednesday night that he expected today's meeting to be the last for the group. But he said he expects committee members to play a major role in selling the program to the taxpayers and in lobbying the Legislature.

"If these recommendations are enacted, they will bring Texas into the 20th Century," Bonilla said. "The recommendations emphasize qualty teachers, early childhood development and better management of our tax dollars."

White and other state officials have said they expect the Legislature to approve $1.6 billion for improvements next year. The governor is pushing for a tax plan to finance education expenditures over the next three years.

The recommendations before the committee today were scaled back after it was determined that the initial proposals would have cost about $2.5 billion to implement, Bonilla said.

"We tried to prioritize those recommendations and in the process tried to reduce the cost of the package so that it could have a reasonably good chance of being implemented," Bonilla said.

"This priority list represents expenditures of under $1 billion. The state comptroller has indicated that we could raise $1 billion with a one cent sales tax (increase)," he said.

The recommendations include:

Bull Chip award handed to Moon

Mike Moon got the Bull Chip award; Bub Sparks won the $150 drawing, and Bobby Owen won a goat to highlight the bi-monthly Fun Breakfast Thursday morning at the Community Center.

Mayor Wes Fisher proclaimed today as "Deaf Smith Day" in the city, in honor of the birthday of the county's namesake, Erastus "Deaf" Smith. Approximately 200 persons attended the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce meeting, sponsored this time by Summerfield Fertilizer Co.

While Sparks claimed the chamber-member drawing for the third time over the years, Suzanne Stephens was the lucky winner of the $75 drawing which is open to everyone attending. Jenny Buckner also won a "rabbit" cake from Troy's Sweet Shop. Winners of bags of lawn fertilizer from Summerfield, the sponsor, were Jim Arney, Judy Watts, Wayne Williams, and Charlene Sanders.

Moon, director of the Family Services Center was cited for his "dedication to his job, his clients and the community" when Speedy Nieman presented him with the Bull

Chip award. "While he works with a low profile in the community, he has done so much for so many people and is continuing in this objective," said Nieman.

Owen, president of the chamber, was the winner of a baby goat in a drawing that was apparently "rigged." Emcee Doug Manning boasted of a "big, surprise drawing" before naming Owen as the winner of the goat. He reportedly gave the goat to some youngster before the event was over.

A number of community events and projects on the schedule in coming days were announced. Those making the presentation and the events:

Donita Rule — Presentation of portrait of Deaf Smith to the county, 10 a.m. today at Northwest Elementary; Donna Jones and Joyce Skelton — Little Miss Pageant, April 28 at HHS Auditorium; Jerry Morgan — C of C candidates' forum next Tuesday in Community Center;

Hit, run suspect released

The Amarillo Police Department said this morning that a 48-year-old man suspected in the hit-and-run traffic death of a Hereford woman has been released from jail pending further investigation.

The man turned himself in to police early Wednesday morning, ending a search that began early Tuesday when 18-year-old Norma Jean Perez was pronounced dead at the scene of a two-vehicle collision in the 8700 Block of the Canyon Expressway.

The pickup driven by the suspect reportedly crossed the center median about 1:40 a.m. Tuesday and plowed into the vehicle in which Perez was a backseat passenger. That car was driven by Dave Blea of Hereford and his brother Obed was also a passenger.

Amarillo police said the accident occurred in Randall County and that charges are being prepared by the Randall County Sheriff's office and district attorney. An investigating officer said the man is also wanted for an unspecified crime allegedly committed in Potter County.

Services for Perez, a housewife with a young son, were to be held today in the First Mexican Baptist Church.

'Hotline' offered by DOE

Sketchy information about meetings between the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the U.S. Department of Energy is being offered on a toll-free, DOE "hotline."

The recording, reached by dialing 1-800-368-2235, does not address a proposed "public information exchange" to occur sometime next month. Vega, to host the session, is located approximately 10 miles northeast of a nine-square-mile site being considered for the nation's first nuclear waste repository.

Three meetings between the NRC and DOE are to address the Hanford (Wash.) site basalt repository project, according to the recording. The public is invited to attend the gatherings, two of which are to be held in Maryland. No exact times have yet been established. Also mentioned is the salt repository project, for which meetings have tentatively been slated for May 14-18. They will at least in part be held in Columbus, Ohio.

Money sent to city, county

Deaf Smith County and the city of Hereford were each mailed more than $2,000 Monday for their share of the state's 10 percent mixed drink tax collected during the first quarter of 1984.

According to a news release from the office of Bob Bullock, state comptroller, Deaf Smith was to receive $2,718.29 as a 15 percent remittance for the $18,121.45 it collected. Hereford, meanwhile, was to get back $1,194.33 of the $15,296.54 in total revenue.

Monday's checks reportedly totaled $11 million and were sent to 221 counties and 419 cities. Approximately Kaul and Juston McBride. The opposing team included Joe Brown, Paul Ramirez, Ron Crist and Nancy Hill. The idea was to empty the baby bottles of the water, doing it the old-fashioned way!

Machine blasts away stones

HOUSTON (AP) — A $2 million experimental machine being tested at the Texas Medical Center is leading the way to eliminate surgery for most forms of common kidney stones, the director of the project says.

The machine, called a lithotripter, uses shock waves on a patient seated in a tub of water to literally pulverize kidney stones, which annually affect more than 2 million people.

Dr. Donald P. Griffith, a urology professor at Baylor College of Medicine and director of the lithotripter project at Houston's Methodist Hospital, said Wednesday that similar shock wave research has been conducted in Europe for 10 years. The Houston project, along with similar experiments at five other U.S. hospitals, is designed to duplicate the European successes and ultimately win approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

"This will make stone surgery considerably less frequent," Griffith said. "I think traditional stone surgery is on the way out."

Much of Texas land gone

HOUSTON (AP) — A dry spell and spring winds have created a "scary situation" by damaging topsoil on more than 1.6 million acres of Texas farmland, according to a soils specialist.

Dr. B.L. Harris, with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, says relief is still a long way off because there are six weeks left in the state's "blow season," which lasts from March through May.

He said 1.3 million acres of cropland were damaged through the end of March and 52,300 acres of crops destroyed. Another 300,000 to 500,000 acres were damaged, he said, by the middle of April.

"This year is very much like last in that we are going in to it very dry, but it may be a little worse because of the lower crop production last year," said Harris.

Seabrook work halted

Protesters said they would continue to fight California's Diablo Canyon nuclear plant even as workers prepared today to activate its first giant reactor, but money problems halted all construction at the equally controversial Seabrook plant in New Hampshire.

A spokesman for the utility with the largest share in the twin-reactor Seabrook project said it was uncertain if the shutdown could keep Public Service Co. of New Hampshire from bankruptcy.

In San Francisco, cheers went up at a shareholders meeting at Pacific Gas & Electric Co., owner of the $5.9 billion Diablo plant, as word arrived Wednesday that a federal appeals court in Washington had rejected opponents' latest bid to block the long-delayed start-up.

"The timing couldn't have been better," said PG&E chairman Frederick W. Mielke Jr.

Crime drops 7 percent in 1983

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of serious crimes reported to police in the United States dropped 7 percent in 1983, the FBI said today. It was the second significant decline in two years and the largest drop since 1960.

"This marvelous news proves we are beginning to win the battle against crime with some of the most significant initiatives and results in years," Attorney General William French Smith said.

The 1983 preliminary figures, which are subject to revision, showed declines in all seven major crimes on the FBI Crime Index, in every region of the nation and in every size community.

The 7 percent decline compares to a 3 percent overall decline in 1982, which was the first significant decrease since 1977.

Defense compares prosecutors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Undercover government agents mercilessly stalked John Z. De Lorean like sharks "in a feeding frenzy" when they've "smelled blood," the automaker's lawyer told jurors in his drug-trafficking trial.

"This case is a sick case. It is a tragedy and a travesty of justice," attorney Howard Weitzman said Wednesday of the government sting operation that brought the silver-haired De Lorean to trial on charges of conspiring to distribute $24 million worth of cocaine.

The prosecutor, however, promised to prove that DeLorean was desperate enough to plan cocaine and heroin deals as his dream of building a gull-winged sports car in Northern Ireland turned into a financial disaster.

No end to conflict in sight

LONDON (AP) — With the dignity and aplomb that so often carries Britons through tough spots, citizens caught up in the Libyan shooting drama say their morale is good despite the death of a spunky policewoman and resulting sieges in Tripoli and London.

"We have plenty of food, everything is perfectly normal, we are happy, the dog is happy, the sun is shining," said Julia Miles, the upper-crust wife of Britain's ambassador in Libya who spent 24 hours besieged in her Tripoli home while her husband and 24 other Britons were trapped in the embassy.

"We have water and electricity. We are carrying on as normal," Mrs. Miles told The Associated Press in Rome by telephone.

Soviets testing 'Monster' for Navy

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet navy is testing the "Caspan Monster," a Buck Rogers-style surface skimmer designed to whisk assault battalions on their way to surprise attacks, a Jane's yearbook reported today.

Also being developed by the Soviets are hovercraft warships to build a high-speed fleet by the year 2000, said Jane's, which publishes authoritative source books on military systems.

Ray McLeary, editor of Jane's Surface Skimmers, said the U.S. Navy is moving toward its own version of the "Monster," which cruises over water at heights of between 11 to 45 feet.

The craft, with speeds of up to 345 mph, or 300 knots, would radically alter the rapid deployment concept and allow commanders to swiftly land large numbers of assault troops with battle tanks and full support almost anywhere in the world within days.

Khadafy reportedly orders Libyans to sit out siege

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy was reported today to have ordered the Libyan diplomats and student radicals in his country's besieged London embassy to wait out the British police "even if it takes a year."

In Libya, up to 500 chanting demonstrators gathered today outside the British Embassy, said Western diplomatic sources in Tripoli, the capital.

Libyan police, fire engines and a water cannon were sent to the area, but the crowd did not appear "particularly hostile" and the staff was able to move in and out freely, said a diplomat who declined to be identified.

As the standoff in London moved into its third day, police sharpshooters appeared to be preparing for a long siege of the five-story building, which has been cordoned off since Tuesday evening. Trucks carrying heaters, office equipment and hatstands arrived on the scene this morning.

"We'll wait as long as necessary," said Richard Wells, the deputy assistant commissioner at Scotland Yard. "We want to choose the way ... to bring this matter to an end without any further bloodshed."

The Times of London quoted unidentified Libyan sources in London today as saying Khadafy was in hourly telephone and radio contact with the embassy, where a gunman on Tuesday fired on a peaceful demonstration by 70 anti-Khadafy protesters.

A British policewoman was killed in the attack and 11 protesters were injured. Six of the wounded were reported in stable condition today at Westminster Hospital.

Shortly after the shooting, uniformed Libyan guards encircled the British Embassy in Tripoli, but on Wednesday the British ambassador and 24 other Britons were given permission to leave the mission, the British Foreign Office said.

Scotland Yard said it could not confirm the Times' report that Khadafy had ordered the Libyans inside the London embassy to sit out the siege, "even if it takes a year."

Khadafy has demanded that the British back off from the embassy and promise never to allow exiles to demonstrate against his regime. There has been no indication that Britain would agree.

"We ask them (the trapped Libyans) to come out peacefully and thus enable us to go in and search for weapons and explosives," said the British minister of state, Richard Luce. "We are doing our utmost to resolve the problem peacefully."

Libyans who answered reporters' telephone calls to the besieged embassy said they were not responsible for the shooting Tuesday. Police officials have acknowledged that they no longer are certain the gunman is still in the embassy.

One of the Libyans told a reporter: "We have got no arms, none whatever ... We're just doing our job. We are innocent."

Wells, the Scotland Yard official, told reporters that police chiefs were conducting "fairly cordial" talks with the Libyans inside the embassy on a special field telephone link. At the same time, intense diplomatic negotiations were under way.

Police said they could not confirm an ABC News report Wednesday that an American spy satellite had intercepted a radio message from the Libyan government telling the embassy in London to use force against the anti-Khadafy demonstrators.

U.S. State Department spokesman Brian Carlson said he could not comment.

Rebel operation reported

By ARTHUR ALLEN
Associated Press Writer

JOCORO, El Salvador (AP) — Lefist rebels staged simultaneous attacks on four towns in northeast El Salvador near the area where a U.S. Army helicopter carrying two U.S. senators was struck by gunfire and forced to land in Honduras.

Five Salvadoran soldiers were killed, nine were wounded and at least seven guerrillas died in the fighting Wednesday in Morazan province, military sources in the area said. Two civilians also were killed, the sources said.

The helicopter carrying Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., and Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., was en route from a Honduran air force base to a U.N.-operated camp for Salvadoran refugees in southwestern Honduras.

They landed at Marcala, 55 miles west of the Honduran capital and 10 miles from the Salvadoran province of Morazan.

A second helicopter carrying Diana Negroponce, wife of U.S. Ambassador John Negroponce, also was fired upon but was not hit in the attack, U.S. officials said.

No injuries were reported among the nine passengers and six crew members aboard the two aircraft.

In Nicaragua, rebels fighting the leftist Sandinista government attacked a Misquito Indian town in the northeast, killing four civilians and one government soldier, the official newspaper Barricada said Wednesday. It said 14 people were wounded and 32 kidnapped.

The rebels, themselves Misquitos, attacked the village of Sumbilla, 24 miles west of the Caribbean port of Puerto Cabezas, on Tuesday, the newspaper said.

Of the clashes between Salvadoran rebels and government troops Wednesday in Morazan, the heaviest fighting was at Jocoro, said

Col. Jorge Alberto Cruz, army commander in Morazan. The fighting continued into the night as the army tried to recover heights seized by the rebels from a company of 180 government troops early Wednesday, another military official in the area said later.

A 15-year-old boy was killed in crossfire at Jocoro and rebels shot a bus driver when he went through a roadblock near the town, military sources said.

Guerrillas attacked Jocoro, 100 miles northeast of San Salvador, early Wednesday, simultaneously attacking the towns of El Divisadero, Osicala and Guatijaigua. They also attacked Chapeltique, 100 miles northeast of San Salvador in San Miguel province, which borders Morazan, military sources said.

Cruz told The Associated Press the assaults were "the largest in this province in more than a year."

Paul Harvey

It's a first!

For the first time there are more Americans over 65 than under 20.

We are older than we have ever been and still getting older.

Medicine, nutrition and sanitation have added another 16 weeks to the average life span in the past 24 months.

One of the fastest growing segments of our population is made of those 65 and older.

And there will be a million more of those a dozen years from now.

The population pyramid is being turned upside down.

As we stay healthier longer, traditional retirement at 65 is less necessary and less attractive.

But for those who do elect retirement — at whatever age

— the Academy of Family Physicians is seeking now to anticipate problems which our nation has never experienced before.

The American Medical Association's Committee on Aging has a generally negative prognosis for retirees, believes compulsory retirement has negative health effects.

Not necessarily. A Cornell study of occupational retirement followed 3,000 retirees for six years, found retirement did not seem to have an adverse effect on health. Many enjoyed improved health after retirement.

What did seem to make a difference was the person's attitude toward retirement. Whether retirement was voluntary or otherwise, the prior attitude was crucial.

If a person believed retirement would work out all right, it did. If retirement was dreaded as a stressful experience, it was.

Three personality types appear best able to adjust to retirement.

Mature men who move easily into old age and find new activities, new interests.

Second, generally passive "rocking chair men" who welcome freedom from job pressures and responsibility.

Third, men who make careful plans for retirement and old age, who make special efforts to remain active.

These tend to find new jobs after retirement or plunge in to new hobbies. The "poor adjusters" are the angry men who fight getting old and the others who drown themselves in self-pity.

Paul Harvey will retire the day he finds something to do that's more fun than what he does — but that is unlikely.

Instead, he sat down on his last birthday and drew up a schedule of things he wants to accomplish over the next 25 years. Then he left the list where he can refer to it if necessary and went back to work.

Jewelry is topic of club program

Tuesday evening was guest night for members of La Plata Study Club. The group met in Kinsey Parlor of First Baptist Church.

Mary Bartlett, program chairman, introduced the three guest speakers from Barnes Jewelry of Amarillo who gave a most informative program.

In charge of the program was Vess Barnes and assisting him were Vess Barnes III and Price Pomeroy. Slides were shown of colored jewels and an explanation on each one was given.

Barnes said colored jewels should have an inclusion in the stone for them to be valuable. "Ask all the questions you want to about jewels when making purchase, it takes the mystery out of buying," he said.

Pomeroy's contribution to the program dealt with diamonds. He told the history of the Hope Diamond—the romantic diamond which is on display at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. Once known as the "Blue Diamond of the Crown," it is a blue diamond and over the years has been cut down to 45 carats.

Beautiful sets of jewelry and diamond rings were modeled by several members and guests present. Each one in attendance was presented a lovely jewelry pouch, compliments of Barnes Jewelry.

Sarah Hazelrigg, president of the club, greeted guests and each member introduced her guests.

Following the program, cookies, nuts and punch were served from a beautifully decorated table accented with a large arrangement of pink and rose colored flowers.

Serving as hostesses were Dorothy Mercer, Mozelle Neill, Patti Brown and Peggie Fox. The club's last meeting of the season will be May 15 when new officers will be installed following a salad supper.

PLAINVIEW -- The graduating class of 1984 at Wayland Baptist University includes John Kelly Kitchens of Hereford, who will be awarded the bachelor of science degree in physical education at Wayland's 74th spring commencement Saturday at 10 a.m. in Harrah Memorial Auditorium.

Dr. D.L. Iowrie, pastor of Lubbock's First Baptist Church and immediate past president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will bring the featured address at Wayland's earliest spring commencement ever.

A record total 255 students will be awarded degrees on the associate, baccalaureate, and master's levels, in addition to four other students who will receive certificates of completion.

This year's commencement is an extra-special one at the Plainview campus, since it marks the end of Wayland's 75th anniversary celebration. The institution opened its doors for the first time for the 1908-09 year and held its first graduation exercises a year later.

Lubbock graduate, Sandra Ann Burrell, will lead the salute to the U.S. flag in Saturday's ceremonies, while Amarillo Center graduate Terry Neal will direct the salute to the Christian flag.

Dr. Fred Meeks, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Plainview, will bring the invocation, and the scripture will be read by Dr. Floyd C. Bradley, director of missions for the Caprock-Plains Baptist Area.

Special music for the commencement will be provided by the Wayland Pioneer Symphony Band, under the direction of Dr. Jim Hanstford; the Wayland International Choir, with W. Duane Harris directing; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Batsel, both members of the class of 1984.

Representing his class as senior student speaker will be David Begin of Clovis, N.M., president of the class.

Dr. Fred Teague, academic vice-president, will present the candidates for degrees, while WBU president Dr. David L. Jester will officially confer the degrees and present a charge to the graduates. The closing benediction will be brought by Dr. Charles Vandiver of Dimmitt, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

A special highlight of this year's commencement will be the conferring of an honorary doctor of laws degree on Virgil Claude Wit-ten of Plainview, a Wayland trustee and chairman of the Trustees-Former Trustees Division of the university's "Celebrating Excellence" fund-raising campaign.

Plainview attorney and former WBU trustee Gene V. Owen will read the citation for the honorary presentation, while Jester will confer the degree upon Witten, named earlier this spring as Plainview's Man of the Year.

Hereford senior gets scholarship

The women's basketball coach at Frank Phillips College in Borger recently announced that Hereford senior Cathy Bartels has signed a letter of intent to attend his school on an athletic scholarship.

Miss Bartels, 5-10, is a two-year starter on the HHS girls varsity caging team and was recently named to the second team of the All-District 3-5A selections.

She averaged 14 points and 10 rebounds this season for the Whitefaces and also played on the winning North squad of a women's all-star game in Amarillo.

Cathy Bartels

"Some of my personal observations are she's an adequate scorer; a very good rebounder; a real solid player with a good team concept; she's going to get better and better; she's not anywhere near her potential and she has great enthusiasm for the game," according to David Murphy, women's basketball coach at Frank Phillips. "She's the kind of person a coach likes to have on a team."

Bartels played strictly post in high school but Murphy said he hopes to have her play in the forward position when the Western Athletic Conference begins play in the fall.

"She will have to work some to make that transition (high school center to college forward). She will have to work on her ball handling and outside shooting but I have confidence that she will work at it real hard," said Larry Sowers, who coached the HHS varsity girls this past season.

"It's been a while" since a girl from Hereford won a basketball scholarship. "She does not have a lot of natural ability...she's always impressed me by how hard she is willing to work," Sowers added.

Reggie Jackson is back in a familiar role, only now it's "Mr. April" instead of "Mr. October."

Once known as "Mr. October" because of his record-making World Series exploits with the New York Yankees, Jackson is hitting the ball with old-time ferocity these days.

Wednesday night, the rejuvenated California slugger hit a two-run homer and figured in a couple of other rallies to help the Angels beat the Minnesota Twins 9-2.

"It's a combination of mental and physical things," Jackson said of his current power surge which includes an American League-leading 15 runs batted in and four home runs which tie him with Oakland's Dave Kingman for the league lead.

Last year, Jackson hit only 14 home runs with 49 RBI and was thought to be near the end of his baseball career.

"There are certain things you've got to do physically, but there's always someone out there who will yell .194 (Jackson's batting average last year)," Jackson said. "The difference this year is that I'm concentrating better and working a lot harder at the plate. It just feels good to contribute, even hitting .240. I've been productive with runners on base."

In other AL action, the undefeated Detroit Tigers won their ninth game with a 4-3, 10-inning victory over Kansas City, Toronto whipped Baltimore 7-1, Seattle edged Oakland 5-4, New York turned back Cleveland 5-0 and Texas tripped Boston 4-3.

Jackson knocked in a run for the Angels with a groundout in a four-run first inning before his homer in the third off Larry Pashnick, who had relieved Al Williams, 1-2, with two out in the first. Pashnick allowed an RBI double to Brian Downing in the fifth, after Jackson had doubled.

Geoff Zahn and Doug Corbett combined on an eight-hitter for the Angels. Zahn, 2-0, earned the victory without a strikeout, walking just one. Zahn gave up a leadoff home run to Darrell

Brown in the first, Brown's first major league homer, and allowed just five other hits in his eight innings of work.

Tigers 4, Royals 3
Alan Trammell scored the winning run from third when Kansas City second baseman Frank White bobbled Larry Herndon's two-out grounder in the 10th inning.

Knepper leads Astros past Dodgers with 3-0 shutout

By BOB GREENE AP Sports Writer

Bob Knepper had a lot to prove to himself, and he made believers of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I did a lot of thinking in the off-season, but I didn't feel I had to prove anything to anyone but myself," the Houston Astros pitcher said Wednesday after hurling his second straight complete game, a 3-0 victory over the Dodgers. "You can't go through life trying to prove things to other people. I just had to learn to stay within myself and not let outside things bother me."

Last season, Knepper had a 6-13 record and reportedly was on the trading block early this year. But on Wednesday, he tossed a four-hitter, striking out five and retiring 11 batters in a row in one stretch.

In other National League games Wednesday, Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 6-3, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 5-4 in 10 innings, New York nipped Montreal 5-4 and St. Louis and Chicago split a doubleheader, St. Louis taking the opener 5-0 and the Cubs winning the nightcap 6-1.

Redmon qualifies for girls state track meet in 100 dash

Hereford's Lisa Redmon qualified to run in the girls state track meet by running a 12.59 100-meter dash in Wednesday's Region 1-5A, 1-2A Girls' Track Meet in Lubbock.

Redmon finished second to Palo Duro's Annie Heager (12.39). She will compete in the State Qualifiers meet Saturday and then go to the State meet in Austin May 4 and 5.

Meanwhile, the Hereford boys varsity track team travels to Dick Bivins Stadium in Lubbock today for its District 3-5A track meet.

The top two qualifiers in each event will advance to the boys regional meet with an opportunity to go to state.

Q. A sudden bright red light from the oil pressure warning signal on my dashboard has caused me to do a fast pull over, only to find that the oil level is fine. Once on the road, the light goes out. What could cause this?

A. Check the obvious first. It could be a defective warning light. Check for a short in the wiring. Secondly, low engine oil pressure could result from using oil which is too light. Simple remedy: Switch to a heavier weight oil. Also, a clogged oil intake screen could cause low oil pressure. This screen, which rests in the bottom of the oil pan should be cleaned if you have not changed oil in a long time, but should be alright with regular changes. There are a number of reasons for a glowing oil pressure warning light and you were absolutely correct when you got off the road as quickly as possible and shut off the engine. Low oil pressure can do immeasurable harm.

Nets defeat defending champs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Buck Williams said he was out to save face.

The 6-foot-8-inch New Jersey forward scored 25 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked three shots Wednesday night as he led the Nets to a 116-101 humbling of the champion Philadelphia 76ers.

The victory gave the Nets a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five, first-round National Basketball Association playoff series.

In other first-round playoff games Wednesday, Los Angeles beat Kansas City 116-105 and Phoenix defeated Portland 113-106.

Williams said he had been humiliated the past two seasons when the Nets were eliminated in mini-series without a victory.

"I didn't want to be embarrassed again," he said.

"They are going to have to drag me off the floor on Friday," noted Williams, who played 46 minutes.

"There is no reason to save any energy now and I want to give 100 percent," he said. "I can rest all summer."

New Jersey Coach Stan Albeck said it was a typical Williams game.

"He's just a tremendous athlete. If there is a better power forward in the league he should step forward. He plays with tremendous enthusiasm and goes after every rebound."

Coach Billy Cunningham of the 76ers agreed with Albeck. "Williams was truly awesome," said Cunningham. "It seemed everytime there was a defensive rebound he hauled it in."

The Nets also got 24 points from Otis Birdsong and 18 points, nine assists and six rebounds from Micheal Ray Richardson. Darryl Dawkins and Mike Gminski held Moses Malone, the Sixers' 6-foot-10-inch center, without a field goal in the second half.

Malone scored 20 points, including 16 in the first half, and collected 11 rebounds.

The Nets took command in the first period, scoring nine straight points and 14 of 16 in a rally that gave them a 33-21 lead. They were ahead 39-29 after one quarter, 64-56 at halftime and 86-75 at the end of three quarters.

In the last period, the 76ers closed to 97-91 with 6:56 left. The Nets then scored 15 of the next 17 points to take a 112-93 lead. During the rally they scored 12 straight and held the Sixers without a point for 4:35 and without a field goal for 6:10.

Andrew Toney scored 24 points and Julius Erving 18 for the 76ers, who absorbed their worst playoff beating since being drubbed 129-108 by Los Angeles in 1982. It was the worst opening-game playoff loss for the Sixers since they lost to Boston 115-96 in 1966.

The Nets won their first playoff game in the eight-year history of the franchise.

Stadler says he will win

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Craig Stadler, golf's leading money-winner in 1982, hasn't won a tournament in 1 1/2 years.

But the former Masters champion is not overly concerned.

"It's just a matter of time," Stadler said before teeing off today in the first round of the $400,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

"I played well last year. And I've played well — up until the last couple of weeks — this year. I've had some opportunities to win. I've been in position to win. It just hasn't happened."

"It will. It's a matter of time, that's all. If I keep on playing well, and there's no reason I shouldn't, it will happen eventually," he said.

Stadler was in position to make a run at the prestigious Tournament Players Championship, but took himself out of it with a poor front nine on the final round.

"I didn't play very well the last two weeks (Greensboro and the Masters) and I really don't know why. I just wasn't comfortable over the ball."

"But I've been hitting the ball well this week. I feel like it's turned around. I'm comfortable again. I'm confident that I can have a good tournament this week," he said.

He faces a strong international, invitational field of 120 that will be chasing a $72,000 first prize over one of the most demanding courses the touring pros face all season, the Harbour Town Golf Links.

Chief among his rivals are Tom Watson, twice a winner here and the runner-up in last week's Masters, defending title-holder Fuzzy Zoeller, PGA champion Hal Sutton and Gary Koch, the only two-time winner on the PGA Tour this season.

Knowing the importance of "planting those first seeds" in a child's life, Priscilla Power is grateful for the opportunity to stay home with her three young sons and spend precious hours teaching and guiding them.

Priscilla and her husband, Michael, are the parents of a first grader, 7-year-old Michael who attends St. Anthony's School; Spencer, age 4; and 18-month-old Jacob.

"We love to spend time together as a family, and often do special things, like going to the track together on Sunday afternoons," noted Priscilla.

photography, working out of her home. She calls her business Photography by Priscilla Power and specializes in portraits of families and children.

"My father is a photographer, so I've always taken pictures, but I only recently realized that this is a talent which God has given me to use to glorify Him," she said. "Somehow, through photographing families, I can hopefully reveal some of the awesome beauty of His creation.

"It's exciting to capture a special moment in time, especially in a child, and then to be able to keep that moment through a photograph."

Priscilla was on the staff of First Presbyterian Church, where her family attends, until last month as director of Christian education. She had held this position since 1978 and was in charge of all adult and children's programs, Vacation Bible School and other related activities.

"I loved working with the children," she commented. "I was able to do a lot of the work out of my home, and the job helped to develop my organizational skills."

Michael and Priscilla taught the kindergarten Sunday school class at First Presbyterian six years, and presently attend an adult class together. She is involved in the women's groups, and he attends men's breakfasts and sings in the church choir, as well as being involved in a community choir, Hereford Chamber Singers.

Priscilla is active in Church Women United, having served as treasurer in the past, and she also attends three Bible studies. In addition to photography and writing, her hobbies include walking, reading and listening to Christian music.

She and her husband both play tennis, and he runs five to six miles a day. "He ran in his first 10-K race at Clovis recently and came in ninth in his age group," said Priscilla proudly.

She is also looking forward to an exciting event - a trip to Europe with her parents and sister next month. It was a complete surprise when her folks called and invited her to go along, and she is eagerly anticipating the trip, with stops planned in seven different countries.

"Just think, no responsibilities," she grinned. "Everybody needs a break. And Priscilla almost gets tired now when she has visions of cooking for three boys after they reach the teen years! She's already started practicing, and shares three hearty chicken recipes which are favorite family traditions. She suggests doubling the chicken salad recipe.

The young mother also takes her children along when she goes to visit residents of Westgate Nursing Home. "They love going out there, and they always make new friends," smiles Priscilla. "The older people really enjoy them too - it takes so little to make them happy."

"I've felt drawn to visit the elderly ever since I was a child and I feel like the compassion which God has given me for them is a special gift," she added.

A native of San Antonio, Priscilla had resided in large cities until 1975, when she married and came to Hereford.

"It took me a whole year to adjust to a small town, but now I wouldn't trade it for anything. I love living here, and although I like going back to the city to visit, I am always glad to come back to Hereford," she noted.

Michael was raised in Carrizo Springs. He graduated from Southern Methodist University in Dallas with a degree in sociology, and Priscilla also earned her degree at SMU, majoring in broadcast film, which covers all aspects of writing for radio, T.V. and film.

Currently associated with the family business, T.J. Power & Co., Michael is a grower, packer and shipper of vegetables. He works out of Muleshoe, and his brother and uncle have companies located in Dallas and Carrizo Springs.

Although Priscilla is not employed full-time outside of her home, she is involved in several business endeavors. After taking a leave of absence since Jacob was born, she is back into

Today in History
Today is Thursday, April 19, the 110th day of 1984. There are 256 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On April 19, 1775, the American Revolutionary War began with British defeats at Lexington and Concord, Mass.
On this date:
In 1968, the FBI identified a man wanted in the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr. as James Earl Ray, a fugitive from the Missouri State Penitentiary.
And in 1971, Charles Manson and three female companions were sentenced to death for the murders of actress Sharon Tate and six others.
One year ago: President Reagan endorsed the proposal to deploy 100 MX missiles in existing silos.
Today's birthdays: Actor Don Adams is 57 years old. Actor Hugh O'Brian is 54. Actor Dick Sargent is 51. And actor Dudley Moore is 49.
Thought for today: "There is no substitute for hard work." - Thomas Edison, American inventor (1847-1931).

In ancient times, people thought that thought came from the heart, rather than the brain.

NOT SO OLD
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - The famous English epic "Beowulf" may not be as old as most people think, according to an authority on Old English at the University of Rochester.

Professor Rowland L. Collins, who has studied the many theories about the age of "Beowulf," believes that at least part of the poem was composed about 200 years later than previously thought.

Collins says his research indicates that some of the work was composed in the late 10th century, less than 100 years before the Norman Conquest in 1066 A.D., and not all in the 8th century, the generally accepted date.

Natural mother wins custody of child

HOUSTON (AP) — A woman who says she had a choice of giving up her very ill newborn daughter for adoption or letting the child be transferred to a charity hospital has won the right to take the 2½-year-old girl back from her foster parents.

Jurors awarded Eileen Cochran to her natural mother, computer programmer Patty Cochran on Wednesday, finding that the Homes of St. Mark used duress and undue influence in persuading the mother to let foster parents care for the baby. The child is to go home with her mother for the first time Friday.

Ms. Cochran said officials of the adoption agency pressured her to give up Eileen because the child's medical bills exceeded $10,000.

Eileen was born Nov. 24, 1981, with incomplete lungs and intestines and is deaf. Ms. Cochran signed legal papers allowing her to be put up for adoption about a week later.

But the child's condition improved in about a month. "A little before Christmas, I was told she was going to make it," Ms. Cochran said. "I realized I couldn't leave my baby, that I really could make it and there was no reason for me to not raise her."

But, she said, the adoption agency refused to let her reverse her decision and the child was turned over to Jim and Peggy Fore, who have raised the baby since.

"That just blew me away, because (they had) told me (they) could just rip up those papers" if she changed her mind, Ms. Cochran said.

"Girls in this situation should have a legal time period when they can change their minds," Ms. Cochran said. "We have a 30-day period to return a refrigerator, but we don't have even a minute to change our minds about where our children will be spending their lives."

An attorney for the adoption agency, Don Royall, said he doubts Ms. Cochran was ever threatened, certainly not by the agency's executive director, Joann Caldwell.

"I've known her for 20 years and it's not within her capacity as a human being to do that," Royall said.

Ms. Cochran said she was told the Homes of St. Mark "needed a guarantee of who would pay her (Eileen's) hospital bills."

"I signed because they told me that if I didn't, they would have to move her to a charity hospital," Ms. Cochran said. "But I was with her every minute in intensive care because she needed someone to be with her."

The Fores filed suit in September under a new state law allowing foster parents to sue for parental rights.

Fore said he and his wife are crushed by the decision.

"Two years ago, Missy was placed in our home for temporary care," he said. "We have loved and nourished this child and watched her grow into a beautiful person who considers our home her home."

Ms. Cochran said she has sympathized with the Fores, who attend her church throughout the trial.

Prosecutors seek to revoke probation

HOUSTON (AP) — Prosecutors say a drunken driving charge should lead a state judge to revoke the probation of a man convicted of shooting his comatose father in what was called an act of mercy.

Assistant District Attorney George Godwin asked state District Judge Ted Poe Tuesday to revoke the three-year probated term given to Billy Ray Clore.

Clore, 26, was convicted in July of attempted murder in the shooting of his father, 62-year-old Robert Clore Sr. The elder Clore, whose kidneys had failed, had been comatose for several weeks when he was shot March 21, 1983. He died 12 days later, but medical experts disagreed whether the gunshot wound was the cause of death.

Godwin contends Billy Ray Clore violated a term of his probation which forbade him to drink and another which required him to ask permission before leaving Harris County. He was arrested March 3 in the parking lot of a convenience store in Euless, near Fort Worth, where he asked two police officers for directions.

Officials said Clore was visiting his grandmother in Fort Worth at the time of his arrest on the drunken driving charge.

Clore, in his testimony at the trial, wept and told jurors he said a prayer asking for forgiveness if what he was doing was wrong and then shot his father in the head.

Clore was originally indicted on a murder charge, but the charge was reduced to attempted murder.

Poe gave Clore probation under terms that strictly prohibit use of alcohol.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — There is a possibility the United States and Mexico can reach an "understanding" on their political and economic differences, the official government newspaper said Wednesday, commenting on bilateral talks in Washington.

On Tuesday, Mexican Foreign Minister Bernardo Sepulveda met with President Reagan at the White House and then spent much of the rest of the day conferring with Secretary of State George P. Shultz.

With Sepulveda were Mexican Treasury Secretary Jesus Silva Herzog and other cabinet-level officials.

Mexico and the United States have disagreements on a number of issues related to foreign affairs and commerce. While the Reagan administration is taking a hard-line, anti-Communist stance in Central America, Mexico defends the leftist leaders in Nicaragua.

Also, Mexico has been trying to get the United States to allow the importation of more Mexican goods.

El Nacional, the Mexican government's official newspaper, ran an editorial Wednesday on the Washington talks, saying, "There appears to be open the possibility of understanding, or at least the elimination of some of the discrepancies that now exist."

After the meetings in Washington Wednesday, a U.S. official said the two sides have a "better understanding" of each other's positions concerning Central America but that basic positions were unchanged. The official spoke on the condition that his name not be used.

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — If hotels and restaurants here do not stop overcharging clients, the Pacific coast city will lose its place as the country's top tourist haven, a senator from Guerrero state said Wednesday.

Many hotels, restaurants and other tourist outlets are guilty of price-gouging, said Filiberto Viguera Lazaro, the senator.

He said the overcharging eventually may "kill the chicken that lays the golden eggs."

Viguera did not offer figures to show how many businesses here are violating official price guidelines.

"The abuses should not be permitted for any reason, especially since the economic situation is now so difficult," the senator said. He did not say whether he believed authorities currently were making serious efforts to stop the price abuses.

He said excessively high prices will drive away not only Mexican tourists but foreign visitors, a result he said could seriously hurt the local and national economy.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — One hundred fifty-seven people have died in highway accidents since Mexicans last weekend began their traditional Holy Week vacations, Excelsior reported Wednesday.

Excelsior, a Mexico City daily newspaper, reported there have been a total of about 645 road accidents since the weekend. Three hundred eighty people have been injured, the newspaper reported. Millions of Mexicans are traveling by car, bus and plane during this week, taking advantage of the weeklong pre-Easter holidays that are a tradition here.

The average daily issue of the Congressional Record carries more than four million words — about equal to 20 novels — yet it's printed and published overnight.

HOUSE-HUNTING
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Utility bills account for an estimated 15 percent of total monthly housing expenses and have become a large factor in influencing a home purchase decision.

Shopping for a home in the winter can give a potential buyer a good picture of a home's energy efficiency and the size of utility bills, according to the U.S. League of Savings Institutions.

It says potential buyers should test for drafts around doors, window and electrical outlets for inefficient insulation; heavy frost or ice on windows, which indicates a lack of or ineffective storm windows, and they should note varying temperature levels as they walk about, a sign of an inadequate furnace.

Also ask for utility bills to get an idea of how much it will cost monthly to heat or cool the house.

Ann Landers

Daughter in first place

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am planning to marry a wonderful man but as the time draws near, I am becoming increasingly fearful that things may not work out.
Harold's daughter is a carbon copy of his first wife, who passed away a few years ago. The young woman is married but you would never know it by the way her father behaves in her presence. I sometimes wonder what her husband thinks.
The caressing and hand-holding is one thing. The lap-sitting and kissing is another. Harold doesn't take his eyes off the girl whenever she is in the room. He keeps asking, "Isn't she the most beautiful thing you ever saw?"
The gifts he buys her are out of this world. I have yet to receive anything so expensive. Maybe I am jealous. He says I'm behaving childishly.
What are my chances of being elevated to first place after we are married?—Heavy Competition In Florida you are in control of the deck. But not all women have the courage to leave home at an early age, nor are they wise enough to determine in advance that the joker may be wild.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was amused by the brouhaha that resulted when you printed the letter from the young man who brought several hundred dollars worth of pennies into a bank and was upset because no one wanted to take the time to count them.

Now I read where the owner of a taco restaurant in Austin, Tx., who has been saving pennies for two years, brought in 25 gallons worth. It came to $1,165. He deposited the money in his children's savings account.
While I think this is fine and dandy, I would not care to be behind that guy in line during my lunch hour. Would you?—A Toe-Tapper In Topeka was a counting machine on hand.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995 Chicago, Illinois 60611.
