Health Research Program Is Planned For Hereford

$175,000 Grant Follows Reports Of Early Studies

Preliminary plans for a long range health research program in Hereford and Deaf Smith County were announced this week by Dr. L. B. Barnett, local physician.

"Sponsoring the program here will be two nationally known foundations, along with at least one major university, and one veterinary firm," said Dr. Barnett.

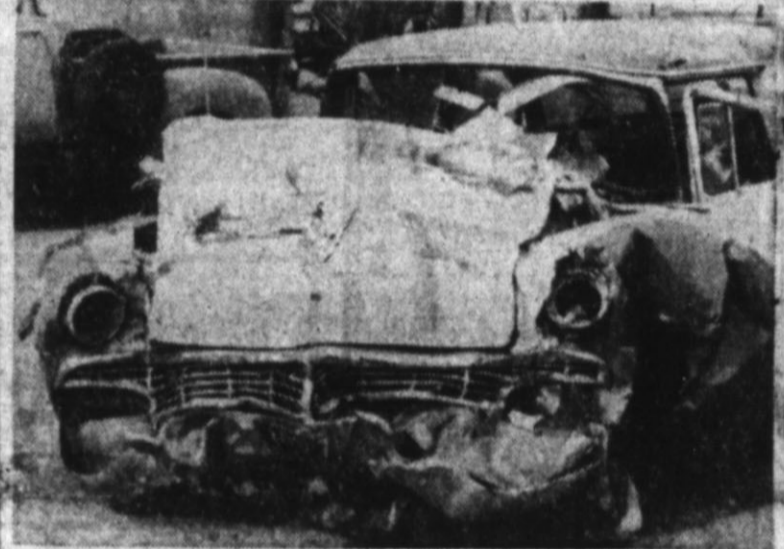

Study Classifications Like the sponsoring foundations, the original studies to be conducted here will be classified under four divisions:

"Bone Healing," especially in relation to children. "Epilepsy, and related nervous diseases of children.

"Livestock research, based upon nutritional studies and on wheat poisoning." "Basic research work will be done in Hereford," Dr. Barnett pointed out.

The laboratory will be complete in every detail, Dr. Barnett said, including any and all types of soil analysis.

Mrs. J. E. Jones, a long-time resident of Hereford, has returned for a several months stay.

Crash At Friona Claims Two Lives

A highway accident which occurred at 2:15 p.m. Wednesday seventh mile west of Friona on Highway 60 has claimed the lives of a Hereford man and an Oklahoma A.&M. College student on his way home for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Just a half hour before the crash, Larry Kaul, a student at the Oklahoma school, had bid farewell to his friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kaul, of the Westway Community.

Crashed Headon According to the report of highway patrolmen who investigated the accident, the vehicles crashed head-on when the pickup truck driven by Davis crossed into the path of the car driven by Hensley.

Davis died in the crash. Both Hensley and Hensley were taken to the Farmer County Community hospital at Friona where Deming succumbed to his injuries Tuesday. Hensley is still a patient here.

Kaul and Deming were fraternal brothers at Oklahoma A.&M. living together at the Farm House fraternity house. A senior at the school, Deming was a student leader in campus affairs.

FOOTBALL SEASON ENDS AS:

HAWKS STAMPEDE HERD

By BILL KNOX Phillips' Blackhaws, proclaiming their might, coasted to a 34-0 victory over the hapless Hereford Whitefaces, thanks to a part of an offering of nine Hereford fumbles, in Blackhawk Stadium Friday night.

The game closed the season for both teams. At the same time Littlefield was decisioning Levelland, 13-7, for the District 1-AAA championship.

Emerson Rowland Is Injured When Switch Explodes Emerson Rowland, line superintendent of Deaf Smith County Electric Company, received flash burns on his face and eyes Saturday morning while investigating a magnetic motor at the Friona Gin.

The company has been having considerable trouble with reports from the northwest part of the county, according to Leo Forrest, manager of the electric company. Residents in the Bootleg area have been calling in to report flickering lights for several days.

After a technical engineer from Lubbock was called in, Rowland traced the trouble to a short in the magnetic switch of a motor in the Friona Gin. While he was investigating it, the switch exploded, causing mild electric flash burns on his eyes and face.

Whitefaces finished the season with three wins and seven losses to their credit. Victories were over Tulla, Portales, and Clovis. The Herd failed to win a conference game, losing to Littlefield, Dumas, Levelland and Phillips.

The Blackhaws never had a hard time with the Whitefaces. They scored with less than a half-minute gone and almost at will from then on. Chesty Walker's reserves and scrubs held Hereford scoreless in the final quarter.

The Whitefaces apparently forgot about their passing attack which has been their most effective offensive weapon throughout the year. Quarterback John Bryant stayed basically on the ground, throwing only 10 passes and completing three.

Phillips quarterback Tommy Newman, probably the best field general in the district, aptly guided his team, scoring two touchdowns himself and passing for two more. Whenever the Hawks ground attack showed signs of slowing down Newman resorted to the air. The result: two touchdowns via the aerial route plus six touchdowns on the ground.

With only 25 seconds gone, the Blackhaws were handed their first touchdown on a silver platter. On the first play of the game after the kickoff, a Hereford back started off tackle with the piskin, and meeting a swarm of tacklers, tossed the ball back into the arms of Phillips' Donnie Gaines who had but to trot 26 yards for the first Phillips touchdown. Ralph Dobbins converted.

MILO PROMOTION MONEY—Ralph Hastings, left foreground, and Dick Ellis were among farmers who paid $1,000 in dues Thursday night to get the county Grain Sorghum Producers Assn. research, sales and legislative program underway for the second year. Milo growers agreed in a general meeting to pay a voluntary assessment of a quarter-cent per 100 pounds of grain produced to launch the program, and to encourage their neighbors to join the group.

MILO PRODUCERS GROUP GAIN STRENGTH, MONEY

New strength and a firmness of resolution — a firmness backed by cash dollars — was apparent on Thursday night in the general meeting of the county Grain Sorghum Producers Assn.

The Thursday night gathering, presided over by newly elected President Ivan Block, was in marked contrast to a regular meeting of the group one week earlier when just 13 people were present to select directors.

A year ago, the first annual meeting of the county association was attended by less than 50 persons, a good percentage of them being merchants and businessmen.

But the emphasis to be given the objectives has changed. The need for better legislation is still recognized. However, the farmers generally agreed here Thursday, "We better do something for ourselves. We want to produce more milo for a lower unit cost and to see the product moving in the open market."

There was hearty agreement among farmers in the meeting that a quarter-cent per 100 pounds of milo produced would be an equitable annual dues for farmer-members of the GSPA.

Dues and membership contributions may be deposited in either of the two Hereford banks, or paid at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce offices in the Jim Hill Hotel.

Block put his finger on the difficulties realized before Thursday in the collection of the voluntary quarter-cent dues assessment: "The banks and the grain elevator men are afraid that they will make their customers mad."

There was hearty support from the audience for a suggestion that the assessment details be handled in the future as is the case for cotton and cattle.

MILO PRODUCERS GROUP NEEDS ARE OUTLINED

R. G. Peeler, who made the principal talk during the meeting, said that GSPA has been successful in obtaining a better price support for milo in the current year, but that there will be no protective legislation in 1957 unless action is taken to offset the unfavorable attitude of the Secretary of Agriculture which has expressed toward grain sorghum support programs.

Peeler cited advertising and sales promotion as prime needs for grain sorghum growers: "Less than 10 per cent of the people in the United States know what grain sorghum is. We are losing some good bets for sales."

missed the conversion this time. Strike Through Air

The first aerial touchdown came two minutes later. Newman hit end Ted Jolly on the first play after the Blackhawks had recovered a Hereford fumble on the Herd 49. Dobkins' conversion split the up-rights to make the score 27-0 at halftime.

Six minutes of the third quarter had lapsed when Billy Wilson made it 33-0 with a dash from the 13. Dobkins' conversion failed.

Phillips finished their third quarter scoring with 1:37 left in the period. Halfback Ned Jolly, twin brother of end Ted, plunged from the three for the score. Dobkins' conversion again was good.

Final Scoring
The Hawks scored two more times before the game was over. The seventh touchdown came with 10:45 left in the game. The Hawks acquired the ball by the — you guessed it — fumble method on the Hereford 47. It took only five plays to score with Newman climaxing the drive with a sneak from the two.

Phillips' last scoring play came with 3:52 left in the game and covered 68 yards. Bryan Carper, third string fullback, was on the receiving end of a prodigious heave off the arm of Newman. Dobkins kicked good.

Boot Two Chances
The Whitetails missed scoring opportunities twice. Once Hereford fumbled the pigskin into the end zone to have it recovered there by an alert Blackhawk. Another time the Hawks pounced on a fumble inside their own 10.

Statistics indicated the lopsided score. Phillips had 25 first downs compared to Hereford's eight.

'Our Lady Of Light' Theme For Marinette Installation

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
I, as a fairly new resident of Hereford, was rather taken back by the letter that appeared in the Thursday issue of The Brand. I think this letter by another newcomer to Hereford was unkind and unjust. Personally I don't blame them for wanting their name kept secret.

My family and I moved to Hereford a year ago last July and I must say we had hardly crossed the City Limits until people were calling on us, inviting us to parties, taking us out for coffee and all the things that are nice and friendly. The merchants have also been very cordial to us and made us feel like we were welcome in their stores.

In fact, it all adds up to one thing, we think this is a most friendly town and that the townspeople have gone out of their way to make us like them and their town.

As for the churches, we attended church the first Sunday we were here and there above all, we were treated most friendly.

WE LIKE YOUR TOWN AND

Installation ceremonies for new members into the Marinette organization were held recently in St. Anthony's School auditorium.

"Our Lady of Light" was the theme chosen for the ceremony with 10 new girls each receiving a lighted candle to represent the everlasting light, Jesus Christ, which Mary, mother of God, gave to the world. Rosary beads were awarded to the girls for accomplishments toward their work projects.

Leaders for the groups are Mrs. Arhart Reinart, chairman, Mesdames Meinard Loerwald, Matt Jesko, Alban Benzer, Forrest Marnell, Norbert Skypala, Ed Hoffman, Vincent Meyers, Ed Jesko, Joe Peters and C. W. James.

Girls joining the organization were Claudia Loerwald, Beverly Betzen, Phyllis Husmann, Loretta Hoffman, Dorothy Marnell, Jane Tjerina, Mary Horbnycki and Sylvia Tjerina.

Refreshments were served to the mothers attending the ceremony.

YOUR PEOPLE, and all of this adds up to making it our town. Emerson said "To have a friend you must be one" or words to that effect.

Sincerely,
R. L. Pool

Maybe it is just the type of people I associate with from time to time, but I hear less of conversation about the proposed airport. Sometimes it is "no" and the next time it is "no."

I don't know why, but newspaper folks are invariably for progress. This is generally true, regardless of the question, whether it be schools, paved streets, highways, airports. Consequently, I am for building an airport and — while I see no need of getting fancy or going overboard — I think we should go first class. By this, I mean an approved airport which would meet minimum CAA specifications and be on the air maps. This outlook gets me into lots of arguments. People throw a lot of questions at me which I can't answer. However, deep down in my heart, I know that I am right.

Old La Plata is an unmarked boothill cemetery in a Deaf Smith County cow pasture because Hereford got a railroad. The location of highways has made and broke more towns in the United States than any other single factor in recent years. Airports will ultimately do the same thing as time passes on. Right after World War II there was a flurry of private flying and "GI flying lessons" which got folks all a'twitter over the "flying age." It was a good thing. It separated the men from the boys! Many people who thought they wanted to fly found out that they didn't — or couldn't. Those who stayed with private flying have made it into a permanent thing. Mostly, they are business men whose time is valuable. They have a lot to bring the communities where they visit and operate.

Today, when a private plane lands on an airstrip, the pilot — costwise — has done the equivalent of driving up in four Cadillac automobiles. He wants a telephone and a taxi. He must be near town. He is in a hurry and has a reason for coming, or he would not have flown in the first place. If you give him a safe, moderately comfortable airport he will come to your town. If you don't, you have isolated your town from the rest of the world. You never know who these folks are and you never know when they will drop into your town. One of the best examples in recent times is President Eisenhower's purchase of a farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

If Gettysburg had not had its simple little flying field (comparable to the one CAA recommends for Hereford) would it today have the President of the United States as a resident and citizen?

No one could foresee this consequence when Gettysburg built its airport. They had no remote suspicion and certainly no guarantee that it was to attract a citizen of such calibre. They merely had a progressive community — and nature took its course. Despite the handicap of not having an airport, the Vahlsing Corporation added several million dollars gross income in the Hereford area this year through development of carrots as a base crop. The next time, it might be a different story. The deal may go to some other community, which does have an airport. Like a business firm, a community will generally do more volume if it opens its doors and invites customers than by keeping its doors locked 24 hours a day.

Airports are like telephones. With one, you are helpless. When you have two, you are in business. The more you have, the better things are. I think it is highly important that . . . Someway, somehow, we make Hereford accessible to the rest of the world by air.

No connection with the above was an interesting conversation with Nell Spradley, ardent horse-lover and member of the Riders Club. Nell's favorite mount recently died and I asked her if she had insurance. She says it is too high to be practical. She also said that you cannot finance a horse like folks do their automobiles. Horses can serve as collateral, but the situation has never been developed down to the point you find on automobiles, washing machines, ranges, TV sets and the like.

I also hear quite a bit of conversation resulting from a recent Letter to the Editor which branded Hereford as being an "unfriendly town." A lot of people agree, and a lot of them do not. This feeling seems to extend into the ranks of newcomers as well as the old timers. Honestly, there are more newcomers than old residents. Hereford has more than doubled in population since World War II. In 1940, the population was less than 2,900. This means that the very folks who complain are the ones who are setting the pace. Friendship, like government, is "Of the people." I think the letter was fine. It got all of us to thinking a little bit more about an important subject. It is sort of like taking inventory. We find out where we stand and, consequently, many of us will be more polite and friendly. We will strive a little harder to be more polite and friendly.

My complaint is in reverse. There's another side to it all. These friendly cusses are always costing me money. I bought my first life insurance policy from an old boy who was as friendly as a hound pup. You can still find a few friendly fellows if you wander into an automobile agency and even act like you are interested in a new car. I believe these auto boys are the very friendliest of all. Anyhow, a lot of chiropractors have gotten filthy rich straightening out the vertebra of folks who had them dislocated by back-slapping automobile salesmen. This, of course, makes an unfriendly guy out of your banker when you show up with an overdraft each month. I guess you just can't win. Personally, though, I'd be a lot better off with fewer "friends" and more money.

If it is a problem, why don't the Merchant's Association make up a $100 pot, then select someone to visit the stores. They could award the 100 bucks to the 100th clerk, or local resident, who shook the mystery woman's hand. The churches might do the same thing, only confine their hand shaking to church activities. I'll bet this would be the hand-shakingest little city in the world. Besides, I might win — and I sure could use $100 to stand off some of these friendly characters who are always unloading white elephants on me.

Meanwhile, Townsend Douglas, and V. O. Hennen are slipping. They kept the banks open Thursday, Nov. 22, instead of closing for the federally designated holiday. Instead, they will observe Nov. 29. However, I am surprised they didn't take both. Jim Lipscomb says the post office had no choice: Nov. 22 was a mandatory holiday

HARRISON HIGHWAY ACCIDENT—Billy Roberts, 27, Route 1, Friona, was injured at 7:55 a.m. Friday, when his pickup truck, background, collided with a car, crumpled front shown in foreground, driven by Alice D. Cooper, 32, Route 4, Hereford. Investigating Highway Patrolmen Kenneth Maxwell and Joe O'Rear said Roberts reportedly ran a stop sign as he attempted to cross Harrison Highway at a point 5.6 miles west of town. The injured man was treated in the county hospital for bruises and cuts and was released Saturday morning. Mrs. Cooper received only a minor cut on the knee. The pickup was demolished, while damage to the car was estimated at about $300. (Staff Photo)

as designated from Washington.

This business of the United States having one Thanksgiving and Texas another has been slightly confusing. However, being a "States Righter," I am for it. They may tell us how much to plant, what we will get for our crops, how much oil we can pump and who can attend our schools but, by Golly, we can celebrate Thanksgiving when we please! We sure showed 'em that!

It may have been a little bit confusing to listen to our radios and TV's Thursday night about how everyone was chuck-full of turkey and dressing and cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie, but we really don't have much to yell about. The turkeys are the ones who maybe have a legitimate gripe. Getting past one Thanksgiving is nerve-racking on any thoughtful turkey; two are too many! The turkeys are going to get it in the neck by Christmas, anyway, so I guess it's about all the same.

A certain Hereford youngster (name withheld for obvious reasons) had his parents in a dither after the family ate lunch in a local restaurant last Sunday. As the family piled into the car, the mother noticed that Junior, age four, was chomping away on some gum. "Where did she get that gum?" she asked. "Under the edge of the table, Mother. Didn't you get yours?"

Renfro Contracts Potato Acreage In Tulia Area

Swisher County farmers will grow potatoes under contract to Jack Renfro of Hereford during next year's growing season, according to reports received here. Renfro was in Tulia Tuesday to inspect acreage on which the potatoes will be produced. The land was checked for slope, type of soil, water availability and suitability of the land for the growing of potatoes by Renfro and Tulia Chamber of Commerce officials. The acreage, which includes 339 acres on 19 farms, ranges from a minimum of 10 acres to the largest plot of 41 acres. Five acres will also be planted to onions. Seeding of the potatoes is slated to begin in March with harvest expected in July. The Plainview potato shed will be used to process the crop.

Japan has seven people per arable acre of land. The population of Argentina grew from 9,996,467 in 1914 to 18,928,536 in 1954.

POTPOURRI

Double Thanksgiving Treat For Many Hereford People

By CAROL INMAN

Even the odor of roasting turkeys, dressing, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pies will fill the homes of Hereford folks, as they prepare for the customary huge Thanksgiving dinner.

Although many folks around here celebrated Thanksgiving last Thursday, many Herefordites will close their place of business, take the day off and spend Thanksgiving at home with their families or visiting relatives and friends out of town.

La Hutson was one person who celebrated Thanksgiving last Thursday. She spent the holiday weekend in Sequin with her son and daughter-in-law, Keith and Phyllis Hutson. Keith is the assistant superintendent of the Coast Manufacturing Co. there, which produces fiber glass. Recently he has been awarded several honors by the company.

Also celebrating Thanksgiving on Thursday was Fred Inman, of the Westway community, who traveled home from Seminole, Okla., to be with his family. He is employed by the Soil Conservation Service there.

Mrs. D. C. Allmon celebrated Thanksgiving in the home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sparkman of Brownfield. When she returned home she found her son and family, M. Sgt. and Mrs. Bobby Gene Allmon and children David and Susan were there. They returned Sunday to their home in San Angelo.

Ducks for Dinner

But... instead of turkey adorning the Thanksgiving table this year... it might be duck! Judging from the amount of early morning and late afternoon hunters who have been braving the cold weather lately, many families will have a sufficient amount of ducks in their freezers for several weeks.

Among those that are STILL hunting ducks... Jackie Allmon, Melvin Young, Jimmie Gillentine, Lloyd Brooks, Jim O'Hair, and L. J. Mueller.

Mueller, by the way, is a newcomer to Hereford. He and his wife, Pat, moved here Monday from Stamford, L. J. is employed at the Brand, and Pat works at Twentieth-Century Beauty Salon.

Allreds Visited South Texas

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allred have certainly been having a wonderful time for the past two weeks! They returned Saturday from a vacation in Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley.

Speaking of Deaf Smith County... which lots of folks in the northern part of the United States are... the J. C. McCrackens had as houseguests this week her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. Don McCorkindale of Odessa, Ia. The McCrackens and McCorkindales did quite a lot of touring and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCullough of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Steele of Fort Sumner, N. M.

Take "Exports"

When the McCorkindales returned, they also took back an unusual souvenir of Deaf Smith County... 50 pounds of flour. Folks in Iowa had requested that they bring some of "Famous Deaf Smith County flour" back with them.

People in that part of the country really seem to know and hear a lot about our county, according to the McCorkindales. They are quite enthusiastic about the products grown here, and also speak quite often about "The Town Without a Toothache" wondering if everything they hear is really true.

Visiting in the R. W. Sparks home last weekend were Mrs. Naomi Elmore, a school friend of Robert's and her daughter. They had been visiting in California.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dale Kelly Jr., of Panhandle are the parents of a daughter, born Nov. 24. Mrs. Kelly is the former Clara Jane West. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd West of Hereford are the maternal grandparents, and paternal grandparents are the Dale Kellys of Panhandle.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dale Gantz, 619 Irving, on Nov. 24. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gantz of Pampa are the paternal grandparents, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Garrett of Deming, N.M.

Beth Gets A Thrill

A real thrill came to little Beth Ballard on Friday as she introduced her grandmother, Mrs. Irene Ballard of Haskell, to her fourth grade classmates at Central School. Mrs. Ballard, who teaches in Haskell schools, was in Hereford for an early Thanksgiving visit with her son and family, the Laby Ballards, and she made a most interesting talk to the class about her last summer's trip to Europe.

Mrs. Ballard brought her colored slides and projector along to give the children a true picture of all the beautiful sights she visited in the lands across the seas.

Dawn Musettes Program Treats Mozart's Work

The Dawn Musettes met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Bill Tucker for a program on Mozart. Guest speaker was Mrs. R. L. Johnson.

"Both Mozart and his father breathed music," stated Mrs. Johnson in discussing Mozart's life. "He began composing at the age of three and traveled all over Europe by the time he was seven. No money was paid him, so he lived in poverty and was buried in a pauper's grave. Mozart played with such force that the instrument had to be re-inforced underneath to keep it from falling apart. 'The Requiem' was his last composition. In all he composed 609 pieces of music, although he was but 35 when he died."

Mozart's compositions were featured on the program. They included: "Allegro," Kenneth McClung; "Minuet in F," Nan Neal;

"Eighteenth Century Flower Garden," Audri Miller; "Rondo" Ted Wimberley; "Andante," Lucy Beth Miller; "Minuet in B Flat," and "Kontretanz" Phyllis Ann Wimberley; and a song "Lullaby" sung by Mrs. Orval Galley accompanied by Mrs. Carl Wimberley.

Lucy Beth Miller, president, presided over a business session when members voted to send homemade candy and cookies to the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo at Christmas time.

A committee made up of Phyllis Ann Wimberley, Betty Tucker and the president, was appointed to work with the counselors in planning the operetta "Hansel and Gretel" which will be presented by the Musettes in February.

Plans for the annual Christmas recital were completed and a report on the Seventh District, Junior Music Club convention in Quannah was given by Gail Miller.

Dear Lord We Thank Thee

Mr. and Mrs. Don Moore and their children, Sandra 13, Amanda 8, Ted 17, and Cy who is 5, typify the Thanksgiving scene enacted in hundreds of Hereford homes, when families give thanks for each other, for health and food and shelter, for all the good things of life, and most of all for America and American freedoms. The Moores also have another son, Pickens 20, a student at NTSC, Denton.

Miss Betzen, Mr. Weinzirl Nuptial Rites On Saturday

Miss Gertrude Mary Betzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Betzen, and Patrick Joseph Weinzirl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weinzirl of Pierce City, Mo., were married in an early morning ceremony Saturday at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Father Michael Sugrue S. A. officiated at the double ring service.

Yellow and white chrysanthemums and pyramiding wedding tapers in seven branched candelabra decorated the church. Traditional wedding music was provided by Gwendolyn Hacker, organist, and Edward Dziuk, vocalist. Mr. Dziuk's offerings were "On This Day," "O Perfect Love," "Ave Maria," "Veni Jesu," and "Mother at Thy Feet is Kneeling."

Miss Clea Betzen of Amarillo, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of gold crystalite fashioned with fitted bodice, scoop neckline and full skirt. She wore a tiny band of gold in her hair, matching mitts, and carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Alyce Krotendofer and Kathleen Murphy, both of Kansas City, Mo., were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of emerald green made identical to that worn by the honor maid, and carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Wayne Weinzirl of Kansas City, Kan., served his brother as best man and groomsmen were Alferd Bartkoski and Norman Bartkoski, both of Kansas City. Ushers were Joseph Betzen of Fort Sill, Okla., and Edward Lucas of Kansas City, Kan.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white wedding gown of bombazine satin styled with a smooth fitting bodice featuring a rounded, scoop neckline applied with hand clipped chantilly lace, with the lace treatment repeated on the short sleeves. The floor length bouffant skirt, worn over hoops and erinolines, also featured the applied lace motif. Her veil of imported illusion was edged in a wide band of chantilly lace and held in place by a crescent tiara enlustered with seed pearls. She wore matching satin half-mitts and carried a white prayer book topped with a single orchid surrounded by stephanotis tied with cascading satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

The bride's mother wore a deep lavender silk dress with matching hat and a corsage of gold and yellow rosebuds.

The bridegroom's mother wore a dark blue silk frock with matching hat and a corsage of gold and yellow rosebuds.

Dinner Honors Couple
Following the wedding a dinner for relatives honored the couple at high noon in St. Anthony's Hall with the bride's parents as hosts. Mrs. Charles Schlabs and Mrs. Leander Reinart were in charge of a reception held in St. Anthony's Hall on Saturday evening. A large crowd of friends and relative attended. Mrs. Raymond Schlabs was in charge of the bride's book of names.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a navy blue suit with blue and white accessories and the orchid detached from the wedding bouquet. After Dec. 1, they will be at home at 4727 Park, Kansas City, Mo.

MRS. PATRICK JOSEPH WEINZIRL (Angel Photo)

The bride is a 1949 graduate of Hereford High School and a graduate of St. John's School of Nursing, Tulsa, Okla. She is employed at St. Mary's Hospital in Kansas City.

Mr. Weinzirl is a graduate of Pierce City, Mo. high school and served with the armed forces, in the United States and Korea for two years. He is employed with the Johnson Furnace Co. in Kansas City.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Weinzirl, Monett, Mo.; Rev. L.L. Engeman, Ben F. Weinzirl and Jess Roberson, Pierce City, Mo.; Mary C. Weinzirl and Mrs. Louise Wessell, Joplin, Mo.; Kathleen Helen Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Koetting and daughter of Kansas City, Mo.; Mary Riestine, Amarillo, and Edward Lucas, Kansas City, Kan.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapter Entertains Husbands At Thanksgiving Dinner

Xi Epsilon, Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority entertained husbands of members at a Thanksgiving dinner party held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moore Monday evening. Mrs. R. J. Cramer was assistant hostess.

The formal table was laid with an ecrú cut work linen cloth, centered with a large mirror on which was reflected a crystal swan holding pink and purple grapes. Double candelabra holding yellow tapers flanked the arrangement. Small tables were laid with white linen cloths and centered with tiny wrought iron lamps holding a single candle surrounded by assorted fruits.

bunches of grain, colorful foods and autumn leaves.

Following the supper, games of bingo and 42 were enjoyed. La Madre Mia Has Plans Ready For Dec. 3 Toy Parade

La Madre Mia Study Club met with Mrs. Dean Herring Tuesday evening with Mrs. R. V. Hale as cohostess. Roll call was answered by members repeating their children's favorite blessing.

During the business session final plans for the Toy Parade which will be sponsored by the club on Dec. 3 in the Park Avenue Shopping Center were made, and the members decided to maintain the booths downtown for sale of tickets on Nov. 24 and Dec. 1.

Mrs. Dean Herring was appointed to head the committee to make plans for the Thanksgiving dinner party to be given at the Jaycee Clubhouse on Nov. 26. Members also voted to extend the membership limit to 25 instead of the present limit of 20.

Mrs. Troys Riddle presented the program on "Why Children Get Colds." Summarizing an article written by William O. Anderson for Parent's Magazine, Mrs. Riddle said in part: "Bacteria and viruses are always around ready to attack, however, the body has many defenses. When the virus attacks, the body immediately sets up its defenses and the infection is usually overcome quickly. Babies have few colds because they have less contact with people. After children start to school more frequent illnesses occur for several years. The record shows that after their ninth year, children have little trouble with colds, except in an epidemic."

Members attending the meeting were Mesdames Don Fudge, R.V. Hale, Ted Hardwick, Dean Herring, Glenn Hopson, Cubby Kitchen, Dennis Lomas, Hershel Miller, Bobby Upton, Troys Riddle, Donald Shipley, Eugene Sparks, Arthur Tinsley, John F. Dexter, and the hostess.

The United States has about nine million skilled workers and technicians.

Although the United States produced only 10 per cent of the dyes it used in 1914, it is self-sufficient today.

Chas. Hill were the winning couple for low score.

Those making up the party were Messrs. and Mesdames John Douglas Pitman, Chas. Hill, Wayne Phillips, J. A. McWhorter, Bill Hardwick, Gerald Hale, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Lawrence, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnett and the hosts.

Final Report On Football Fashion

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By PARRY LINER

Well, I dug out the long woolies and set all set for the snow that never came. It's strange the way preparation seems to scare bad weather away; but when you least expect it (like when you have three lines hung with laundry, an outing planned with the Camp Fire Girls, the exterior of your house in the process of being painted, a fresh wash-job on the family carriage, and the realization that little Mary Lou didn't even take a sweater to school) . . . cause the forecast said fair and warmer, that's when the dependable can be depended on — to be BAD.

I'm not complaining mind ya—merely philosophizing. It's just changed. To be chic, we place our hats at right angles with our ears — or as flat across the top of the head as we can get them. Previously we would have worn them on the back of the head or tipped to the right or left over the brow. The popular cloche has moved from the back of the head or the crown to the top of the head or over the brow-line. In fact, they are made so you couldn't wear them any other way if you wanted to.

One thing about it, a gal really has to be more careful in the selection of her chapeau these days. A particular style may be very smart but not in the least becoming to an individual. Some of the Best

Have observed among the femininity here any number of women who look especially attractive in their new hats. . . such as: Freda Beauchamp, Nadine Blanton, and Wilma Hill in their huge, black velvet creations; Dorothy Buck in a large, "coolie" type of white velvet; Frances Early and Mozelle Childers bedecked in snow-white feathers (wonder what Mozelle's daughter thinks about it?). Also in white: Tessie Barnett and Lucille Bookout who chose medium brims.

Elizabeth McDowell, who is wearing a different hat every time I see her, has one that I simply rave over: black with a wide brim, adorned with a myriad of colored flowers. Another beauty in the large hat category is a beige number in shirred beaver worn by Mrs. T. M. Cox. Pretty as always is Mrs. Bill Messick in a wide-brimmed, blue sailor trimmed in tulle. And I mustn't leave out Gwen Davis, who I should have mentioned back there with the other large, black hats.

Then there is Victoria Rockwell in a gorgeous, grey, crushed satin; and Mrs. Stanford in a cute, red sailor.

Ann Line and Gladys Cavness are wearing Molly Fitcher type bonnets — full, gathered crown with a narrow brim all the way around. They are among the prettiest we've seen, and both girls wear theirs becomingly! Ann's is turquoise velvet and Gladys's is beige brocade.

There are certain types of hats that our menfolk poke fun at and call names like "bucket" and "lampshade." They are, of course, variations of the cloche; and some very pretty ones are those worn by Lou Davis, Clarice McCaslin, Mrs. Wayne Thomas, Mrs. Ernest Langley, Mrs. R. G. Peeler, and Mrs. Robert Veigel. I can imagine what Helen Kent's hubby calls it, but I just love her blue-feathered topper.

Oh, I could go on and on with my list, but every column must have an end or it could easily become a novel. . . I'm not paid for writing novels. . . yet. . . anyway. Happy Thanksgiving!

How They Change!
This is a drastic change in subjects, but I've been wanting to expound on hats for some time now. It's been several years since styles in head apparel have changed as they did this fall. And even though types such as the large picture-hat and the narrow-brimmed sailor are not new, the angle at which to wear them fashionably has changed. To be chic, we place our hats at right angles with our ears — or as flat across the top of the head as we can get them. Previously we would have worn them on the back of the head or tipped to the right or left over the brow. The popular cloche has moved from the back of the head or the crown to the top of the head or over the brow-line. In fact, they are made so you couldn't wear them any other way if you wanted to.

Reisdorph - Springer Vows Are Exchanged

In a candlelight service Thursday evening, Nov. 22, at the First Baptist Church, Canyon, Miss Marjorie Mae Reisdorph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Reisdorph of Clarendon and Plainview, became the bride of Mr. Franklin Earl Springer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Springer of Hereford. Dr. A. Hope Owen, president of Wayland College, Plainview, read the double-ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with white tapers in wrought iron candelabra, baskets of white chrysanthemums, and greenery. Pews were marked with white satin ribbon. Candles were lighted by Miss Twila Springer, sister of the groom, and Miss Dava Nafzger, cousin of the groom. The candlelighters wore blue brocade dresses and wristlets of white flowers.

Miss Georgetta Rohan, organist, played a nuptial prelude and the wedding marches.

Musical Selections
Miss Coeta Fields, cousin of the bride, accompanied Miss Kathleen McLaury as she sang "I Love You Truly" and Mr. Gene Strauss, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. W. E. Reisdorph of Dimmitt, the bride's sister-in-law, attended the bride as matron of honor. She was attired in a dress of heavenly blue brocade with a fitted bodice and a gathered full circle skirt. She wore a shoulder length veil of heavenly blue attached to a velvet headpiece, sprinkled with sequins. Her gauntlets of French illusion terminated in points over the hands and buttoned at the wrist. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and mums. Mrs. Paul Wallace of Lawrence, Kan., sister of the groom, Miss Jo Ann Schneider, and Miss Nella Neis, both of Plainview, wore dresses of heavenly blue brocade and carried bouquets of white carnations and mums. The bride's ring was carried to the altar on a white satin pillow by the small Miss Ginger Fields of Amarillo, cousin of the bride. The groom's ring was carried by the groom's little cousin Master Randy Jones, Best Man, Groomsman

Attending the groom as best man was Mr. Paul Wallace, Lawrence, Kan., brother-in-law of the groom. Groomsman were W. E. Reisdorph, Dimmitt, brother of the bride; Charlie Springer, Hereford, cousin of the groom; Carlos Garner, Canyon, and Jay Shaw, Canyon.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered tulle and lace over white satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a yoke of French illusion. The long sleeves terminated in points over the hands, buttoning at the wrists. The bouffant skirt of tulle, cascaded to full length in front and a short train in back.

MRS. FRANKLIN EARL SPRINGER

Her chapel length veil of French illusion fell from a Mary Queen of Scots headpiece, showered with seed pearls.

She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of stephanotis, white orchids, and white satin streamers, tied with love knots. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, her Cinderella glass slippers had silver-heels. All the traditions of something old, new, borrowed, blue, and a penny in her shoe, were carried out.

Mother's Dress

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Reisdorph wore a semi-formal gown of rose-mauve chiffon with a yoke of embroidered lace and sequins. She wore a matching velvet hat, heavenly blue sandals, long white gloves, and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Springer, mother of the groom, wore a sheer wool rose dress with purple shoes and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception honoring the bride and groom, was held in the church parlor. Guests received by Mrs. Ruth Reisdorph and were presented to Mr. F. S. Reisdorph, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Springer, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Springer, Mrs. Earleen Reisdorph, Mrs. Gwyn Wallace, Miss Sue Springer, Miss Jo Ann Schneider, and Miss Nella Neis, Miss Sherry Cates, Canyon, presided at the register.

The bride's cousin, Miss Coeta Fields, Amarillo, provided a soft musical background throughout the evening.

Refreshments Served

The refreshment table was laid with a linen and lace cloth, and a floral arrangement of white carnations and mums. The tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was decorated with pink rosebuds. Miss Barbara Hoverton presided at the silver service, and Miss Jane Nixon served the wedding cake. Assisting at the punch bowl was Miss Anetta Evans.

Wedding guests attended from Lubbock, Plainview, Olton, Hart, Dimmitt, Amarillo, Hereford, Canyon, Clarendon, Lawrence, Kan., Albuquerque, Clovis, Hobbs, N.M., and Oklahoma.

Mrs. Springer is a junior student at West Texas State College. She plans to continue her school career at West Texas until she graduates. Mr. Springer is a graduate of the same college, and is an instructor at the Amarillo Air Base.

For traveling, Mrs. Springer wore a royal blue velvet sheath dress with matching jacket and matching beaded bag. She wore orchids from her bridal bouquet, white gloves, and white and silver shoes. Her hat was heavenly blue velvet with ice blue sequins. After a trip the couple will be at home at 1906 1/2 6th Ave., Canyon.

George Burch and Stella Turner were married on Sunday, Nov. 4, 1906 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Turner, in Dimmitt. The ceremony was performed by Judge M. F. Barber. Members of the wedding party were honor guests at an infare dinner immediately following the ceremony.

Those of the wedding guests who attended the anniversary observance were Mrs. Katie Turner Noble, Mrs. Dora Turner Johnson, Mrs. Maggie Turner Gollehon, Mrs. Clara Turner Williams, Mrs. Mattie Burch Turner, Mrs. Luna Turner Ayers and John Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Burch moved to their present home, eight miles south of Dimmitt, soon after their marriage. They are the parents of two sons, Elvis of Dimmitt and Aubrey, now of Toppenish, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Burch have one son, Jess, who is a Naval Cadet, stationed at Pensacola, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Burch are the parents of two children, Crystal and Ellis, both of Toppenish.

Cost Of Government Welfare Programs Up Over 400 Per Cent In Last Decade

The cost of government-sponsored social welfare under civilian public programs in the United States has risen fivefold in the last decade.

Compilations made by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare show that expenditures for these programs from the public purse — Federal, State and local combined — rose from $4½ billion in 1945 to some $21½ billion in 1955. This is a far greater rate of growth than the economy has shown in the period. National income, for example, gained 79 percent between 1945 and 1955 as against a rise of some 400 percent in social welfare expenditures for the decade.

Measure of Cost

Right now the bill for these programs comes to the equivalent of about $125 for every man, woman and child in the population, and is still heading upward under the pressure to expand and to liberalize benefits. The comparable figure

Mrs. Bob Myers and long-time friends, Mrs. Lester Dowell and Mrs. Floyd Copeland.

More than 100 guests called during the receiving hours, and others unable to attend sent congratulations. The gifts and good wishes received by the couple will be treasured throughout the remainder of their lives, they commented.

a decade ago was little more than $30 per capita. As far as combined Federal, State and local expenditures are concerned, social welfare outlays alone currently represent approximately a fifth of the government spending dollar. About 60 percent of the aggregate cost comes from Federal funds.

If education is included, as is done by the Department of Health, Welfare and Education in its compilation, then the total cost of Government-sponsored programs in the welfare-education field adds up to $32½ billion for 1955 as compared with less than $8 billion in 1945, a rise of over 300 percent. Public expenditures for education, however, have shown a substantially smaller rate of growth for the period than social welfare benefits.

As a result of the trend, social welfare has become one of the big and inflexible elements in the cost of government in this country, with a built-in growth factor besides.

The high cost of government continues to be one of the major problems facing the nation. It is the direct cause of the magnitude of the tax burden borne by the public. Furthermore, the level of government spending today represents a force that is contributing significantly to the inflationary pressures in an economy that is straining its resources of man-power, materials, and capital and investment funds.

The Threat of Inflation

Obviously, further dilution of the dollar's buying power will depreciate the value of a social welfare benefit as well as impair the savings and protection programs that tens of millions of Americans have voluntarily built up for themselves in life insurance, pension and retirement programs, and other thrift mediums.

Rising social welfare expenditures are superimposed on the need of maintaining a costly national defense establishment, yet pressures for further spending are in the ascendancy and economy is in retreat. This is the reverse of what the times and conditions call for.

The Federal Government alone, for example, is slated to spend some $69 billion in the current fiscal year which ends next June, the fifth highest budget on record and exceeded in the past only in wartime. State and local outlays are rising to new records at the same time to meet the needs of an expanding population. Taking the three levels of government together, the latest figures show that combined public expenditures now add up to more than $100 billion a year and are taking a quarter of the entire output of the American economy.

Leading Areas of Growth

The biggest welfare classification, and the one showing the largest rate of growth, is a number of government-sponsored retirement and allied programs backed by the taxing power. The group includes OASI, Railroad Retirement, public employee retirement insurance, and workmen's compensation. Expenditures under the programs aggregated practically $10 billion in 1955 as against little more than $1¼ billion in 1945, a rise of over 600 percent in the period. OASI alone represented 45 percent of the benefit total of this group in 1955 as compared with only 21 percent in 1945.

A series of veterans' programs, led by pensions and compensation, ranks second. Expenditures under these programs totaled about $4.4 billion in 1955 as against less than a billion dollars in 1945, a rise of close to 400 percent for the period. However, expenditures under veterans' programs were substantially higher during the early post-World War II years when outlays under readjustment allowances, and the GI education bill reached their peak.

The other major elements of the social welfare bill are: public aid, primarily public assistance, $3 billion in 1955 as against a billion dollars in 1945, up 200 percent; public health and medical services, $3.3 billion as compared with a billion dollars, up 230 percent; and a miscellaneous group of other welfare services, $324 million as against $210 million, up 340 percent.

The Panel also aims to show "how the market can be a democratic, free-voting process in which the buying housewife can make or break the producer."

Stunt Night Activities Play To Record-Size Crowd

By CAROL INMAN

Smeared lipstick, crepe paper skirts, "Elvis Presley," cheerleaders, jazz, and fashions helped to make Stunt Night activities a successful Tuesday evening as high school students performed before an over-capacity crowd.

It was necessary to have two performances of the "Stunt Night" this year for the first time, because so many tickets were sold by the four classes.

Before stunt activities began, Miss Nancy Godwin was crowned Annual Queen of Hereford High School by Jim McDowell, her escort. The junior class sold the largest number of tickets to Stunt Night, electing Nancy as the queen. Senior Jackie Brown, escorted by Chick Weemes, was the second place winner, Freshman Marilyn Newell, escorted by Pat Parker, was third, and Sophomore Carol Alston was fourth. Her escort was Ed Wakefield. Crown-bearers were Becky Godwin and Larry Lomas.

Sophomores Win First Award
The sophomore class won first place with their stunt of "Friday," which depicted an interview with Principal "Buck" Overall and the press. It was a typical Friday morning with cheerleaders, "love-birds," band students, and "hepcats" strolling through the halls of high school.

"The Crowning of the Football Queen," performed by members of the senior class, won second place. Senior girls were dressed as football players, and the football players were dressed as girls. Doing the honors of being the "queen" was Bill Calloway, and Alvena Ritche acted as "football captain."

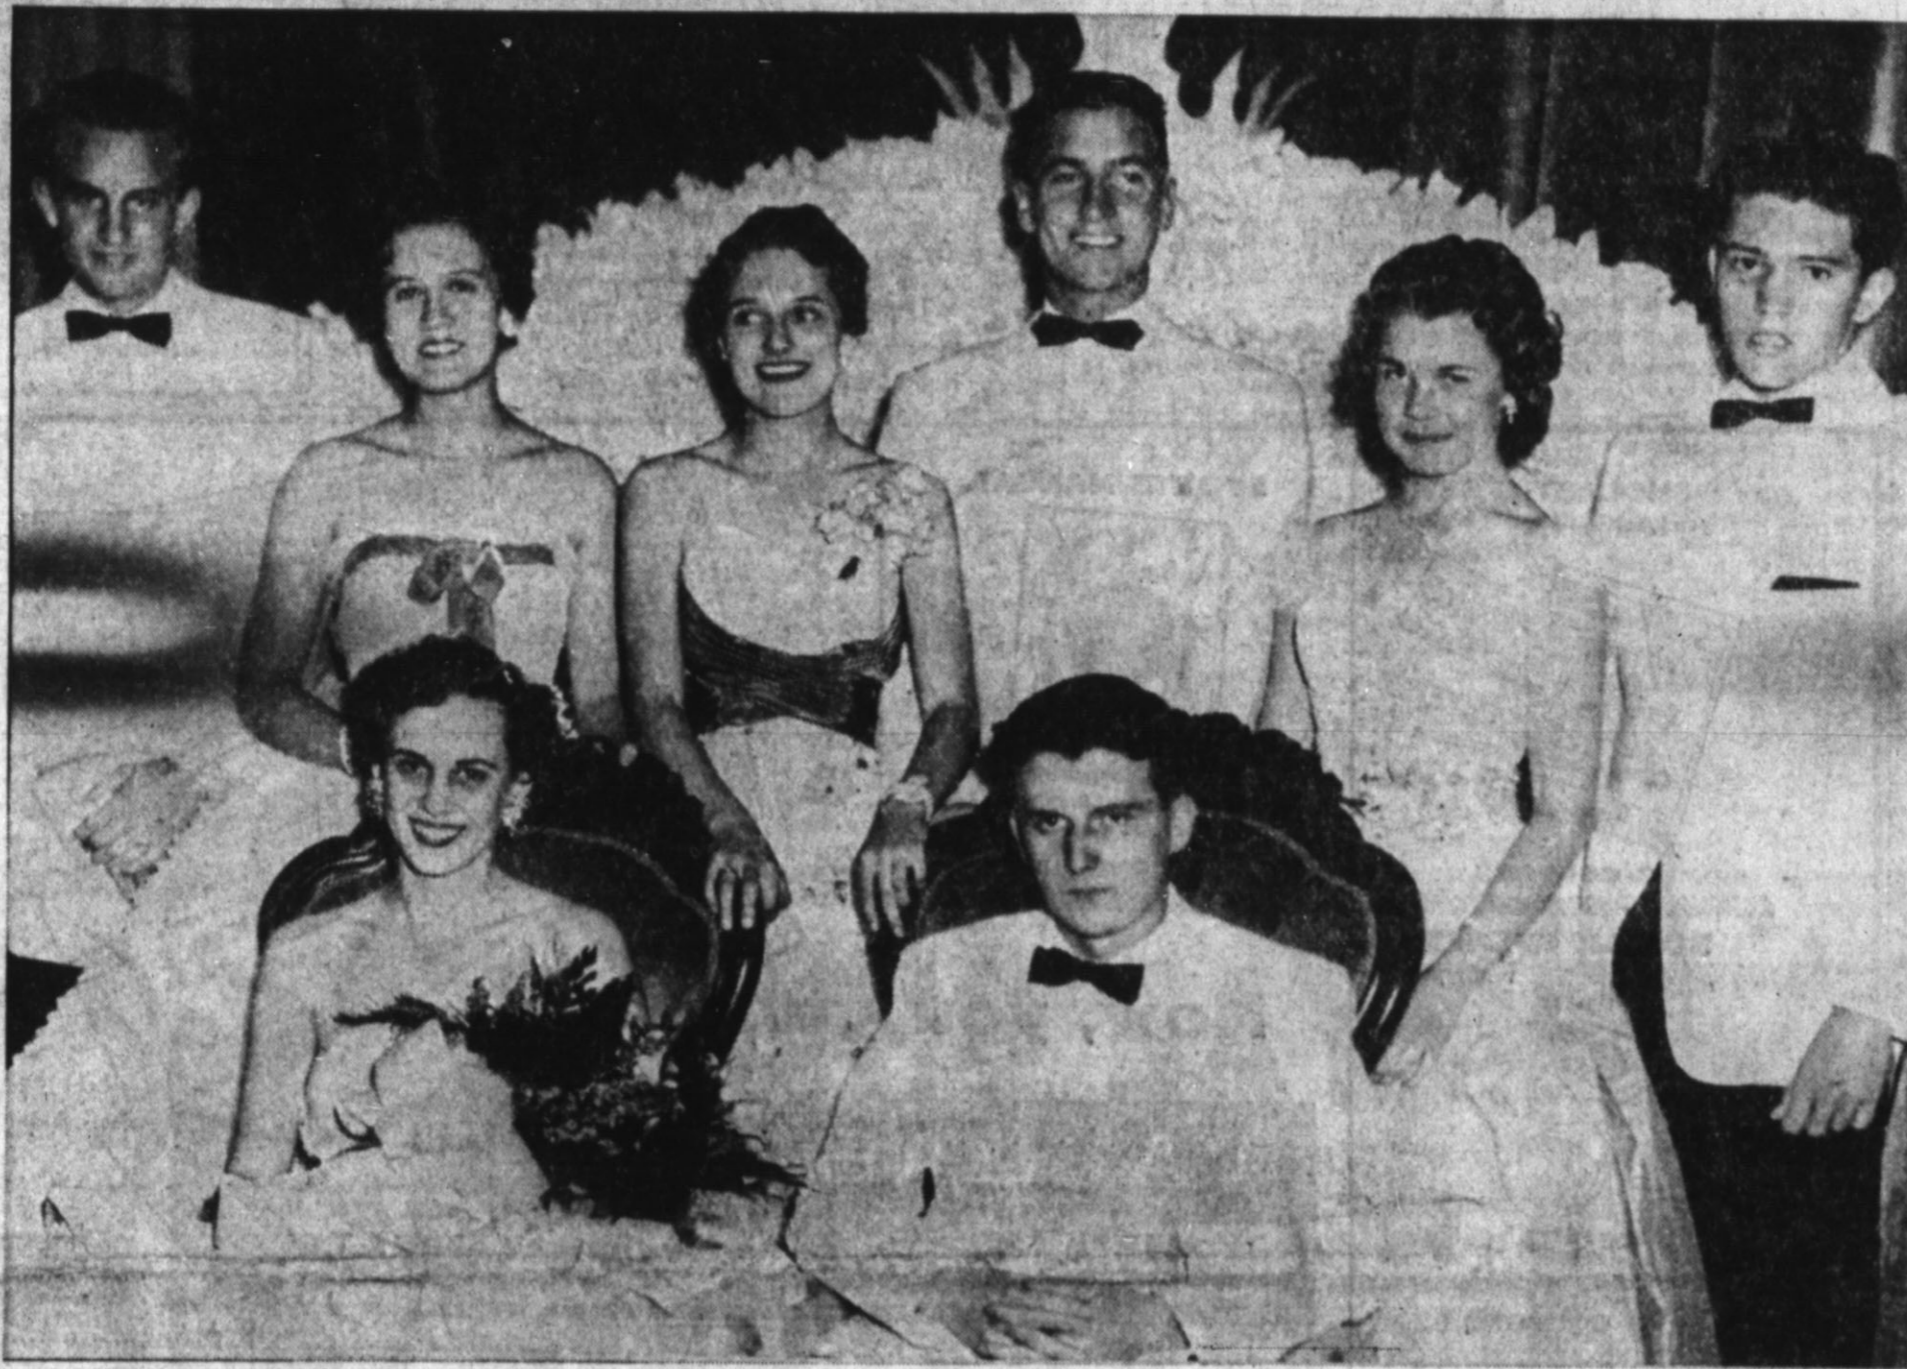

Winning third place awards was the freshman class, with their interpretation of the George Gobel show. This was a fashion show with students modeling everything from the typical Eastern students' clothes to orchid nylon shorty pajamas modeled by Danny Cleveland, the "boy with the red, red hair," and Barbara Jacobs impersonating Jane Russell modeling a black sheath dress, with all the customary blowing of kisses to the audience.

Other stunts were "Well, uh," by the Distributive Education Club; "Sandwich," by the F.F.A. club;

"The Story of Florence Nightingale," by the Tri-Hi-Y club; "Gullity," by the student council; "Too Short On One End," by the Library Club; "Fit To Be Tied," by the junior class; "????", which was a version of the modern-day teenagers' impressions of Elvis Presley, complete with Robert Kinsey as Elvis, the all-important policeman, and the "mad about Elvis" teenagers; "The Marriage of Homer Economics and Aggie Culture," by F.H.A.; and "Hound Dog," by the high school band, with David Larsen imitating Elvis Presley, and Jimmy Bradley as the "hound dog," complete with a red flannel outfit with floppy ears and a long tail.

To complete the program, the girls' sextet made their first public appearance of the year, and entertained with several numbers. Members of the sextet are: Alvena Ritche, Sylvia Wimsin, Verna Kay McBroom, Dorothy Williams, Helen Edwards and Linda Noland.

All proceeds from the Stunt Night activities will help pay for the 1957 Round-Up, the high school annual. The program was sponsored by the annual staff.

Marilyn Newell, Jackie Brown, Chick Weemes, Carol Alston and Ed Wakefield.

THIRD PLACE WINNERS—The freshman class won third place with the George Gobel Show. This was a fashion show, with "models" showing the fashions of today, along with an excerpt by a freshman "George Gobel." (Staff Photos)

FIRST PLACE WINNERS in the Stunts was the sophomore class, with "Friday," a typical day in Hereford High School. This scene was complete with cheerleaders, "love-birds," nagging teachers, and band students lugging a huge brick along behind them.

THE SENIOR CLASS was awarded second place with their stunt, "The Crowning of the Football Queen." Above, the "football players," are on the field awaiting the arrival of

Cranberries In Four Recipes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Any raw cranberries in the house? Then don't forget about that favorite of all present-day relishes — cranberries put through the food chopper along with unpeeled orange and then mixed with sugar and a dash of salt. You've probably tried this basic combination, but have you thought of serving it in four variations? Offering different versions of the relish at the same time guarantees to make that roasted turkey — hot or leftover — wonderfully festive.

If you have four similar pretty bowls, turn the relish variations into them. In our own household, we sometimes use Chinese bowls with matching soup spoons as small ladles. We got the idea for this Four-Boy Cranberry Relish from a Javanese meal where, after meat and rice were served, four trays with all sorts of enticing additions were offered in quick procession to complete our main course.

You might also wish to serve a new version of cooked cranberry sauce. If so, we suggest the following recipe using cider.

FOUR-BOY CRANBERRY RELISH
Ingredients: 4 cups fresh cranberries, 2 unpeeled oranges (quartered and seeded), 2 cups sugar, salt.

Method: Put cranberries and quartered unpeeled oranges in the food chopper, using coarse blade. Stir in sugar and a dash of salt. Chill until ready to serve, then prepare the following variations. One quart will be realized.

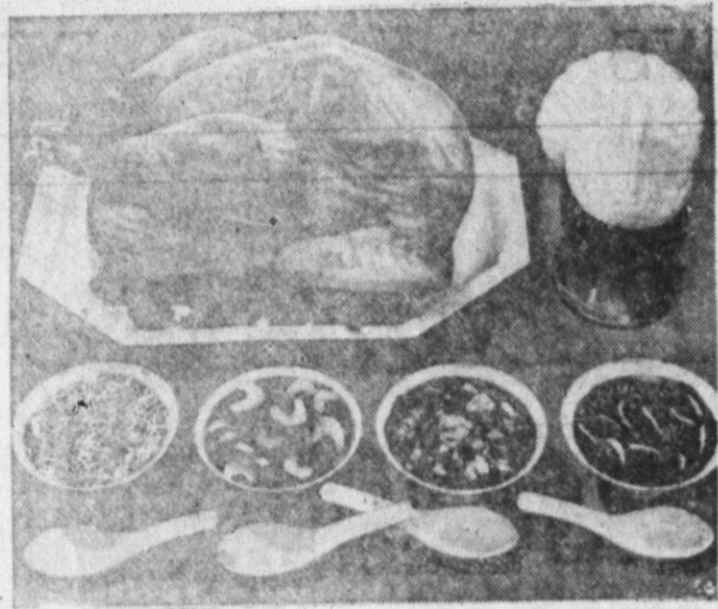

One-boy: To 1 cup of the above relish, add 1/4 cup shredded thinly flaked moist coconut. Garnish with coconut.

Two-boy: To 1 cup of the above relish, add 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 1/2 cup thinly sliced crisp celery. Garnish with thinly sliced celery.

Three-boy: To 1 cup of the above relish, add 2 tablespoons finely chopped seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained) and 1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnut meats. Garnish with chopped walnuts.

Four-boy: To 1 cup of the above relish, add 1/4 teaspoon finely sliced lemon or orange rind. (Remove white membrane from rind before slicing.) Garnish with sliced fruit rind.

Note: Drained canned mandarin oranges and silvered preserved ginger may be added to the basic relish to substitute for the variations given, if desired.

CRANBERRY SAUCE—Enhances turkey served hot or cold.

CIDER CRANBERRY SAUCE
Ingredients: 1/2 cup tart cider, 1/2 cup water, 2/3 cup sugar, whole cloves, 2 cups fresh cranberries.

Method: Mix cider, water, sugar and a few whole cloves together in a saucepan. Bring to a rapid boil. Add cranberries and continue cooking over moderate heat for about 5 minutes, or until all the berries pop. Remove from heat and allow to cool in saucepan; do not stir. Remove foamy top with a spoon. Chill before serving. Makes about 1 pint.

ORANGE CRANBERRY CUPS
Save orange halves from which the juice has been extracted and cut away any protruding membrane with a kitchen scissors. Notch edge of orange halves with scissors. Use orange cups to hold cranberry relish or cranberry sauce.

FREEZING NOTE
Raw cranberries freeze well, with or without added sugar or syrup. If you have a freezer, you may wish to store some of the berries in it. Cranberries lose only a little weight and volume through freezing.

MOVIE NEWS

It's Marilyn Monroe at the 'Bus Stop,' Then Vic Mature vs. The Mau Mau

BUS STOP
Displaying as much of her universal discussed body as censorship could possibly permit, Marilyn Monroe again demonstrates that when she is cast as a bird-brained sexpot — she needs apologize to none for her talents as an actress and comedienne.

This delightful performance of William Inge's stage comedy, "Bus Stop," will show Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the Star Theatre. Also starring in "Bus Stop" will be newcomer Don Murray, who portrays the raucous, uninhibited cowpoke who at first sight falls in love with the honky-tonk nitery nightingale. The youthful cowboy falls in love with the first girl he meets, who just happens to be M. M. His straight forward romantic approach, which includes roping the blonde into a bus ride back to his corral, provides a rollicking vehicle for the "new" Marilyn.

WORLD WITHOUT END
Four scientists leave Earth in a space ship and crash the time barrier in "World Without End," showing Wednesday only at the Star Theatre.

They crash the time barrier and the next thing they know it is 2188 and they are back on Earth again. Just a few humans are alive, and they are living in caves to prevent their annihilation by Surface Beasts, products of radium mutation.

This is probably one of the most imaginative tales of its kind thus far devised. Though extreme in concept, it is a subject most people are interested in.

SAFARI
Victor Mature, Janet Leigh, John Justin and Ronland Culver star in "Safari" showing Thursday and Friday at the Star Theatre.

A white hunter, who lost his child and sister at the hands of the murderous Mau Mau, accepts a safari with an Englishman and his fiancée, in order to get revenge on the leaders of the killer. During the hunt, the girl falls in love with him, and he wins the girl and also carries out his intent.

Household Tips

Skewers for outdoor cookery may be rusty when you take them out after their winter's storage. Working each skewer in and out of sand will usually remove spots.

Cut wells out of English muffins; butter the cut surfaces and toast the muffins in a hot oven. Fill the wells with scrambled eggs mixed with diced ham.

Add a cup of grated cheddar cheese to a standard baking powder biscuit recipe and serve with an asparagus salad for lunch.

Canned figs team well with fresh orange sections for a dessert.

Add milk or tomato juice to that meat loaf if you want it to be juicy.

Scoop out tomatoes and bake until tender; fill with hot French-style green beans or whole-kernel corn. Or mix beans and corn and fill the tomatoes with both.

Any maple sugar in the house? Shave it over the morning oatmeal. Small fry will go for this combination.

Split a homemade or bought sponge layer and fill with a mixture of whipped cream and crushed chocolate almond brittle.

Serve Worcestershire sauce with buttered cooked green cabbage; it will add zip!

Good go-along for tomato juice: Cream soft cheddar cheese (it comes in a roll) with butter and add finely chopped shrimp, onion powder and chili sauce or catchup. Spread over toast and broil.

Add chopped raisins and walnuts to part of that 7-minute frosting (homemade or packaged) and use as a filling for layer cake. The rest of the frosting goes over the top and sides of the cake.

Thicken canned cherries with a little cornstarch and layer over packaged vanilla pudding.

Melt currant or grape jelly and use as a quick sauce for cottage pudding.

Mash ripe bananas fine and mix with maple syrup and milk for a cool beverage your children will enjoy. Nourishing, too!

Hearty luncheon soup: add some chunks of canned salmon to tomato bisque.

Tasty Thanksgiving Stuffing

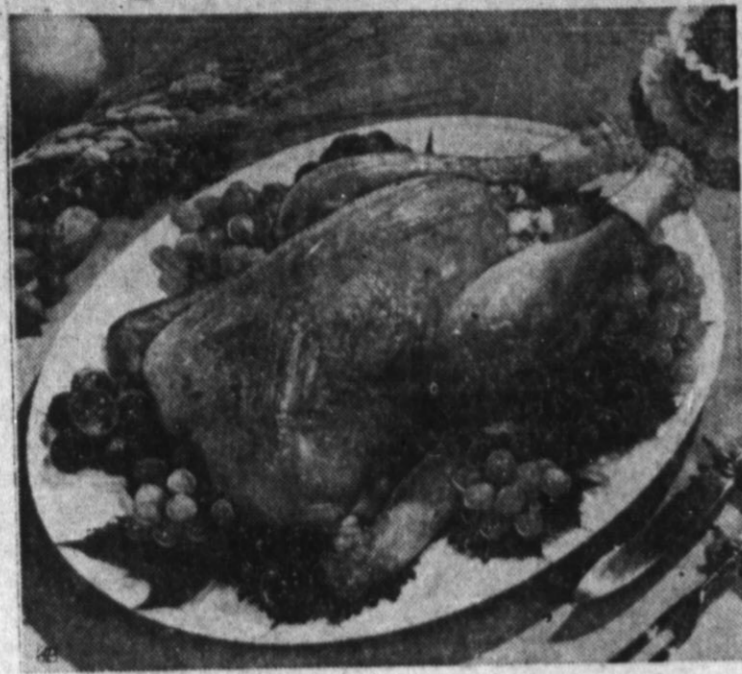

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Feel adventurous this Thanksgiving? Then here's a new turkey stuffing recipe you may wish to try. It includes sesame seeds — an ingredient that has become popular of late.

Frosted grapes make a garnish that tastes delicious with this turkey and stuffing. At serving time, surround the roasted turkey with the grape clusters and present it to the carver; remove the grapes to a small serving dish before the carving is done. Then as each person is served, a cluster may be added to the plate along with slices of the bird and spoonfuls of its stuffing.

ROAST TURKEY WITH SESAME STUFFING

Ingredients: 8 pound ready-to-cook turkey, 1 teaspoon minced garlic, 1/3 cup butter or margarine, 2 1/2 quarts soft 1/2-inch bread cubes, 1/3 cup minced parsley, 2 tablespoons sesame seeds, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup white grape juice.

Method: Rinse turkey in cold water and pat dry. Refrigerate turkey while stuffing is prepared. Add garlic to butter and melt butter. Mix soft bread cubes, parsley, sesame seeds, salt and pepper. Add garlic butter and grape juice to bread mixture; mix well. Rub neck and body cavities with salt. Spoon the stuffing into neck cavity, using enough to fill the skin so that turkey will look plump when served. Fold neck skin over and skewer it to back. Twist wing tips and fasten them "akimbo" style, bringing tips onto back. Complete stuffing body. Close body cavity by skewering skin together and lacing it closed with heavy cord. Tie drumsticks to tail. Brush skin thoroughly with melted butter or shortening. Place turkey, breast up, on a rack in a shallow open pan. Insert a meat thermometer through the membrane between the first and second ribs, so that bulb end reaches into center of stuffing. Roast uncovered in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 3 hours or longer — until stuffing temperature reaches 165 degrees and turkey meat is cooked through. Do not sear and do not add water during roasting period.

Note: To test turkey for doneness press fleshy part of drumstick between fingers; if meat is very soft, it is done. Move the drumstick up and down; if the bone moves easily or twists out of joint, the bird is done.

NEW FROSTED GRAPES
Ingredients: Purple and green grapes, 1/2 cup water, 1/4 cup white corn syrup, granulated sugar.

Method: Wash bunches of grapes in cold running water; cut in small well-shaped clusters; drain well. Mix 1/2 cup water and corn syrup together well. Dip grape clusters in mixture; drain; sprinkle with granulated sugar. Arrange frosted grapes on grape or ivy leaves around turkey platter.

STUFFING NOTES
Be sure to use a light hand when you are adding a fluffy bread stuffing for your turkey because the dressing will expand during the roasting period. If you pack stuffing in tightly, it will lose its fluffy texture and the bird may burst!

Test kitchens usually recommend that a cup of stuffing be allowed for every pound (ready-to-cook weight) of turkey. A very large turkey will probably need no more stuffing than a medium-sized bird because the difference in weight is due to the amount of meat on the carcass and not to the size of the bird's cavity.

COLOR IN BATHROOMS

The Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Assn. says more than 30 percent of all houses built in the past year featured colored plumbing fixtures in bathrooms.

On The House

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

New products for the home always draw crowds. Sometimes such products are not the first off the assembly line, but they are new to us until we have used them.

Electronic ovens, for example, demonstrated at the recent International Home Building Exposition in New York's new Coliseum, almost stole the show. We ate some apple pie baked in 14 minutes in one of these ovens and Man, it was pie. One manufacturer reminded us that he had such an oven on the market several months ago. Well, there are at least three different makes now.

The manufacturer who got in first, however, wanted us to straighten out the record about oven doors. We recently reported the complaint of a certain missus who wanted inventors to make a kitchen range with a lift-off oven door, so she could scrub out a grease-spattered oven without standing on her head. The gentleman said his firm has been making such detachable oven doors for several years.

So there you have it. What's new?

A lot of fuss was made at the Coliseum over magnetic self-closing refrigerator doors. These doors have no latches. They close by magnetism. They open as easily, or more so than a latched door. So they have a foot treadle in addition to a handle. When you have something in both hands to store in the refrigerator, you just step on the treadle and the door opens. It opens so easily that a child inside could push it open.

Although a few refrigerators were equipped with magnetic doors almost six years ago, the Korean trouble interrupted the use of the critical materials involved and it took a long time to get back into production.

We got a handout — that is a description — of a new paint remover which makes paint soluble in water, so that it washes off the surface. Makers say it is safe for the hands.

You flow this remover on with a brush, let it stand 10 to 30 minutes, depending on the type of paint test the softening with your finger, and when you can see the bare wood, wash it off with water. The stuff is supposed to pull stains out of wood without raising the grain, but keep it off plastics, linoleum and asphalt or rubber tile.

PERSONALITY PROFILES

West Hereford Club Leader Actively Pursues A Hobby

By MARGARET BELL

MRS. W. H. AWTRY, SR.

Women of the West Hereford H. D. Club, many of them pioneers of this area, elected Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr., to serve as its president for the coming year. A comparative newcomer, Mrs. Awtrey came to make her home here in January of 1955, moving from Muleshoe where she had lived for 21 years.

Mrs. Awtrey then is a newcomer to Hereford but not a newcomer to home demonstration club work. She and Mr. Awtrey were married 37 years ago and her club activities began just a short while later. Her first membership was in a Wheeler County club but when the Awtreys moved to Muleshoe to make their home, there were no organized groups anywhere in Bailey County. Due to her interest and confidence in the value of the home demonstration club to women, Mrs. Awtrey soon set about organizing the first group in that area.

Certainly, this enthusiasm was a basis for the choice of Mrs. Awtrey as the new president for the West Hereford Club.

Other Officers

The slate of officers who will be working with Mrs. Awtrey includes Mrs. Mary King as vice president; Mrs. Grace Witherspoon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary Denton, recording secretary; Mrs. H. A. Douglas, treasurer; Mrs. Douglas, marketing chairman; Mrs. Carlos Vaughn, council representative.

In addition to studies prescribed by the council yearbook, the club will contribute to the American Red Cross and other worthy causes.

Social Activities

The social life of the West Hereford Club includes regular "42" parties with the husbands as special guests. Food for the occasions is provided by each member bringing a covered dish so that the group may enjoy fellowship as they eat together.

The Christmas season will be marked by a covered dish luncheon with secret pals to be revealed during the gift exchange. Contributions to the furnishing fund of the new children's wing to the hospital are also planned by the various members as they participate in the "Project Christmas Card."

Works With Ceramics

When asked what her special interests were as a homemaker, Mrs. Awtrey answered that she enjoyed doing anything with her hands. And the many beautiful pieces of art work which add to the decor of her home, located on the Dimmitt Highway just out of the city limits, show that her hands are seldom idle.

The recent Hobby Show staged by the La Plata Study Club awarded a blue ribbon to Mrs. Awtrey for a ceramic clock and she also copped other ribbons with her glorified pictures.

Actively Pursues Hobby

A look into her ceramics room shows that this homemaker is well prepared to pursue her hobby. The electric kiln for baking the finished art pieces, the shelves of paints, the large jars of clay and the wide assortment of greenware pieces are all readily available.

The molds drying in the den and the work in progress on the dining room table tell that this is indeed an active hobby for Mrs. Awtrey.

And she states that she first became interested in ceramics when she realized how many pretty things she could have in her home as the result of her own handwork.

Other Activities

Her other activities include the raising of flowers, a small garden and a few chickens. She also sews, cooks and does the many other things a homemaker enjoys.

A native of Texas, Mrs. Awtrey was born in Collin County. She has lived on the farm with her husband who has been a farmer for the 37 years of their marriage. They now own a farm near Hereford which he supervises.

Their two sons are W. H. Awtrey, Jr., of Hereford and Deon Awtrey of Friona. W. H. lives with his wife and three young daughters on a farm north of Hereford. The little girls' names are Rondha Kay, Sheila Ray and Gena Gay. The Deon Awtreys live in Friona and farm near there. Their children are Ronnie and Sharon.

GOOD EXCUSE

PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Debbie Lynn Colson had a good excuse for not answering a summons for jury duty mailed her by Sheriff J. I. West. She wrote:

"Dear Mr. West: I appreciate your confidence in me. I beg of you to release me from jury duty... as I am only seven years old and am attending third grade."

PROOF POSITIVE

RHINELANDER, Wis. (AP) — A boy, accused of trying to steal a tape recording machine, was arrested in a department store here. He denied the charge, but police turned on the recorder and heard the youngster's voice saying, "I guess I'll steal this machine."

PLANS MADE TO MOVE STADIUM

Littlefield school trustees made plans Monday night to move Seely Stadium, den of the Wildcats, to its new headquarters near the intersection of Highways 84 and 54. Approximately $30,000 is available to trustees to move present facilities from the location at the school to the new site. The field will run north and south with the new $20,000 fieldhouse to be situated at the north end of the field. Present stands at Seely Stadium, which include a seating capacity of 3,000, will be transferred to the new site, and hopes are to enlarge the new stadium to about 4,500 seating capacity. Also planned for 1957 is the addition of new lights, which, when installed, will double the candlepower presently used at the stadium.—LAMB COUNTY NEWS.

SCHOOL BOARD REJECTS BOND BIDS

All bids for the purchase of an estimated $500,000 worth of bonds were rejected by the Muleshoe Independent School Board in a meeting earlier this week. Supt. Jerry Kirk said all bids were considered too high on the amount of bonds under consideration, and the board is hopeful of selling at a better rate of interest at a later date. The bonds would be sold provided that school patrons approve a bond measure to pay for constructing 24 additional elementary classrooms, an addition to the high school plant, a new elementary school building, a new cafeteria and a band hall. The board is also considering the construction of new bleacher seats for Benny Douglass stadium at an estimated cost of about $70,000 to be included in the bond issue.

MANY FARMERS TO PLANT NEW TYPE GRASS

Many farmers in the Shamrock area are planting a new type grass called sorghum alum, this grass is highly drought resistant and is very good feed for livestock. Many farmers and cattlemen are raising this grass for the purpose of obtaining seed because seed is so scarce. Most of the farmers plan to put the grass in their soil bank acreage, others plan to plant it for the purpose of obtaining seed, and still others want from a few to several acres of the "miracle grass" for grazing purposes.—THE SHAMROCK TEXAN.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm probably is misinterpreting somebody's speech, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

With the north wind picking up speed recently, I've been getting more newspapers than usual blown onto my farm out here, and there's nothing more satisfying than a good newspaper to read on a chilly day in a warm spot.

Yesterday I found one caught on a barbed wire fence—a barbed wire fence is one of the greatest inventions in the history of man when it comes to snagging a blowing paper, and while maybe there are some papers worth chasing after all over the pasture as the wind scoots them along the ground, it's a lot more pleasant to let the fence do the work for you—and I pulled it off and took it home and settled down to my main occupation.

I hadn't read far before I ran into an article that made me smile. According to it, an agricultural expert made a speech recently and declared that "agriculture is now a business, requires business methods, and a few acres of land is no longer a haven of refuge where a man can sit and dream."

Well, I'll tell you. It looks to me like somebody has been sitting and dreaming about what farming maybe ought to be. There's some business connected with farming, all right, but most of it is applied to what the farm produces, after it leaves the farm. You take a Jersey steer from my farm. Very little business administration goes into getting him ready for market, outside of what he's picked up on his own, but the minute he leaves my hand at a price set by somebody else, not me, then business takes over, and a 10-cent steer turns up a little later on as 40-cent hamburger or 60-cent round steak.

I know that not all farms are run like mine, or there wouldn't be a surplus, but the surplus itself demonstrates somebody is failing to be very business-like in agriculture. You don't hear of the U. S. steel industry producing four times as much steel as the country needs. This country has more oil than it needs, but you don't hear of any surplus gasoline depressing the price you pay at the filling station.

As far as a farm being a haven of refuge where a man can sit and think, that's what mine is exactly, and if it comes to a choice of installing a business administration out here or giving up sitting, you know which one I'm gonna choose. I haven't got anything against business or business methods, but if I wanted to go into business, the best place to do it is in town, not in the country.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Toothache Or No Toothache . . .

Research Foundation Could Open New Vistas For Area

Announcement of proposed plans for a long-range, foundation sponsored research program in Deaf Smith County comes as a climax to ten years of confused floundering over the nutritional condition which gained for Hereford its "Town Without A Toothache" slogan.

The program, as we understand it, will be financed and handled through reliable foundations. It will be independently conducted for the sole purpose of determining possible health advantages enjoyed by the people of this area in order that these same advantages may be adapted for use by other peoples in the United States and over the world. Such findings, of course, will be checked and rechecked to the point where they will be accepted as facts.

In addition to the humanitarian approach, the research program will also solve a definite problem for local citizens, many of whom are now critical of the highly publicized health conditions of the area.

For a long time, it has been apparent that bone structure in this area is unusually hardy, mending rapidly even for elderly citizens. This factor, many people believe, is directly connected with the low dental decay rates reported here some decades back as the result of a state sponsored dental survey.

The chief local benefits from a long-range research program will, therefore, necessarily tie in closely with any possible world-wide benefits, due mainly to the fact that they will be authentic and proven beyond doubt before they are released. Catch phrases, sometimes misleading, have caused many residents of the area to adopt a tongue-in-cheek attitude concerning the situation; in addition, they have even caused a few people to consider all of the possibilities as a hoax or of unfounded nature.

Meanwhile, the very fact that reliable foundations have investigated the "Hereford situation" to the point where they are convinced that it has possibilities is an indication that some outstanding findings may result. Add to this, the fact that they are willing to invest several hundred thousand dollars in the venture—and the condition ceases to be a laughing matter. Already, "Deaf Smith" formula capsules are in advanced testing stages, providing one of the incentives which drew outside interests to consider the research program.

Despite controversies, it is obvious that the Hereford and Deaf Smith territory does have something to offer the world. Just how much and what this something is remains to be discovered. The only way, of course, is that now under consideration. All in all, the research program could easily become the most important step ever seen in the history of our community.

Are We Too Busy To Say, 'Hello'?

Roundly scoring Hereford citizens, churches and mercantile firms as being unfriendly, a newcomer this week wrote a letter to The Brand, carefully pointing out that many other people have encountered the same situation upon moving into the community.

Whether the lady is 100 percent right, partially right or all wrong, we cannot say. We do know, however, that we hear similar comment from time to time—and that is exactly the reverse of the situation most people found in existence here some 15 to 20 years ago.

If business firms are driving away business from their doors with unfriendly attitudes, they are strictly stupid. Churches, likewise, are considered to be the most friendly of all organized gatherings—and most of them at least make a pretense of striving toward that goal.

Newcomers, on the other hand, are generally lonesome upon first moving to a new town and are often highly critical. It takes several months for them to become well acquainted and to form close friends. A kind word, a neighborly gesture or an act of friendship goes further with a newcomer than possibly with any other person.

One reason for the criticism might be due to the fact that most people are honestly busy. This is the chief reason many cities find little time for strangers and, truly enough, Hereford is a busy place. On the other hand, it takes only a little time to be kind, polite and neighborly. In addition to making a newcomer happy, it is also well to remember that the people who extend these little courtesies are the ones to generally benefit most from such effort.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Query On School System Shows Favor For Change

How would you change our schools if you could reorganize the system?

MRS. MAURICE TANNAHILL—We might start having school the year round to relieve some of the housing problems with 12 months needed for the classes to do the work now done in nine. Each group would go to school one-half day. I would also set up a standard of grading with all teachers grading the same in all the classes so that the child would really know whether he was doing passing work. We also need closer contact between the parents, teachers and children, especially the parents and teachers.

MRS. J. M. WHITE—I have no children in school and haven't been connected with the schools here in any way so that I just don't feel qualified to answer that one.

MRS. M. D. HENSON—The 12-month-year would certainly be more revolutionary and it would provide a chance for persons to go more thoroughly into the subjects they are interested in. I think it bears looking into.

MRS. FRANK ZINSER, JR.—I don't believe I would change them. Our children are in grade school and we are satisfied with the way the schools are conducted.

MRS. O. E. STEVICK—No, I'm not in favor of the 12-month school-year, and I don't think other people would like it. The students could use longer lunch hours because they have to run home, bolt their food and rush back.

MRS. TED R. ROYAL—If I could change the schools, I would have the buses get to school at 8:45 a.m. with the classes beginning at 9:00. When you live as far out as we do (16 miles), some of the children have to get on the buses before 7:00 which really works a hardship on everyone.

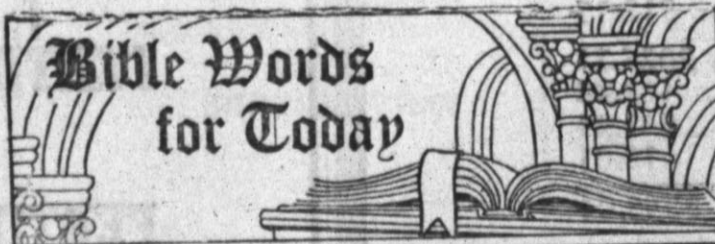

School Traffic

"We've been getting excellent cooperation from drivers in our school zones this year," said Police Chief Leo Box, who added lavish appreciation in behalf of the department.

And to his words of thanks go those of every mother, father and child in the district. Scores of parents go even a step further and say kind words in behalf of the police department, and the exceptional job which the officers are doing. In addition to being intelligent, efficient and thorough in their duties, most of the patrol officers also appear courteous and polite.

It is possible, in fact, that the two situations could well go hand in hand. An efficient, courteous officer invariably meets with a reaction of general cooperation from most of the people with whom he deals.

Best of all, though, is the fact that accidents have been few and minor this year while, in years past, the school areas have had several serious accident reports. The patrol system is beyond doubt effective and is the answer to our school traffic problem. The fact that it is being carried out harmoniously is a tribute to all concerned.

MATTHEW 28:20 — "I will always be with you, to the very close of the age." (Goodspeed)

Early in my first pastorate I was called to the home of one of our church members late one afternoon. Upon my arrival I discovered the husband and father of three small children had ~~died~~ ~~been~~ ~~found~~ ~~dead~~ as he walked in his front yard after his day's work was finished. You may easily imagine my feeling as I went in the home to try to offer comfort to that young mother who so suddenly was left a widow with the responsibility of providing for her children. My feeling of apprehension was soon assuaged by that noble Christian mother's statement to me: "The Lord is with me and will help me through this trying experience."

It is so wonderful to live the kind of Christian life that enables one to claim the promise of the Lord when He said, "I will always be with you. . ."

Antiques Can Give Needed Storage Spaces In Rooms

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you're looking for more storage space, consider old furniture. Back in the days of their manufacture people faced up to the problem of the lack of storage space, they didn't cry about it. Manufacturers of the time cooperated by producing some good looking storage units of all sizes and shapes and in all price ranges.

Antique exhibitors recognize the problem, judging from the displays in the first International Antiques Exhibition and Sale opening at the New York Coliseum.

Country furniture pieces may be used individually or combined to make handsome storage walls. Old apothecary chests with 10 to 20 drawers to house anything from silver to nails are popular. Old dental cabinets of pine or maple have numerous shallow drawers offering excellent filing space for artists' or architects' drawings, or may be used for linens, place mats, pillow cases, dish towels. Barber's cabinets (which had a division for each customer's shaving mug) may be used to display choice bibelots.

Some country pieces serve as storage units and room dividers as well. A handsome and unusual piece with simple lines is an American stable rack, circa 1850 that has drawers on two sides. The design is very much like some Scandinavian pieces, 1956 vintage.

One exhibitor suggests using two country pieces back to back for room-dividers. A dry sink may serve in the living room area as an apothecary chest does service on the kitchen side.

The French baker's rack of wrought iron and brass is popular in modern as well as traditional interiors. Made between 1860 and 1890 these racks come in a variety of sizes — longer ones of 6 or 7 feet may be used as room dividers. They may serve as bookcase, flower stand and bar or a combination of the three.

Also to be found are the miniature chests of drawers that European and American cabinet-makers used as samples of their work. These are wonderful for storage of accessory items — jewelry, gloves, scarves, perfumes and cosmetics. The little chests may be used as end tables besides sofa or chair. Ditto the old spool cabinets from country stores, often made of beautiful woods.

A portable doctor's kit of mahogany with brass hardware, circa 1800 makes an unusual cosmetic chest with small drawers and original glass jars and medicine bottles. One is now being used as a bathroom medicine chest.

Blanket chests may double as storage units and window seats. A foam rubber cushion and a gay fabric may turn the chest into a decorative piece. Gay polychrome festoons of early Pennsylvania Dutch chests offer handsome decoration of their own.

Long grain bins of American pine and maple are helping to solve the radio, phonograph and television storage problem. The double division bins hold both TV and record player combinations. One of the most popular nests for the TV set is the deep provincial-style cabinet. The shelves above hold books and accessories.

Hand-painted tin spice bins used in country stores may be located and used as bathroom clothes hampers, kindling or wood basket, depending on the size of the bin.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Sgt. Henry D. Patterson's "welcome" talk to 20 new arrivals at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here was repeatedly interrupted by a waving arm.

They had boarded the wrong bus at the airport.

White Collar Workers Are Now Largest Group In Our Nation's Work Population

The white collar worker has caught up with and passed his blue collar counterpart as the biggest single group in our working population.

The April employment breakdown this year of the U. S. Bureau of the Census shows that the number of persons with white collar occupations—those in the professions and related tasks, proprietors and managers, and clerical and kindred workers—exceeded the total number of craftsmen, operatives and laborers, who make up the blue collar classification, by about a half million.

Trend And Its Factors

This may be a comparatively small margin considering the numbers involved, but it marks the first time on record that the April incomes and their standard of living.

The occupational figures likewise give a cue to the manpower pinch that has been cropping up in an increasing number of areas in recent years. Along with the growth of the economy and rising production needs, here is a major factor in the increasing size of the plant and equipment expenditures made by business and industry over the last decade. All indications are that such capital expenditures will stay high in the foreseeable future.

Need for More Saving

The people's savings in life insurance and other thrift mediums have become a major source of the nation's capital and investment funds. The changing manpower and occupational situation, therefore, reinforces the need for more personal saving to support the continued growth of the economy.

The Census Bureau's employment figures show that there were 25.4 million persons with white collar jobs in April of this year as compared with 24.9 million blue collar workers. By contrast, there were almost a million more blue than white collar workers in April, 1955, 24.7 million as against 23.8 million; and back in 1945, when World War II was drawing to a close, there were 21.6 million blue collar workers as compared with only 17.5 million in white collar jobs, a blue collar margin of over 4 million.

Taking the 1945-56 period as a whole, the figures show that the number of white collar workers has increased 45 per cent as against only 15 per cent for the blue collar group.

One of the most significant areas of occupational growth is provided workers classified as professional, technical and kindred workers. Numerically, the leading occupations here are scientists and engineers, teachers, and those engaged in medical services (doctors, dentists and nurses, etc.). Their growth trend mirrors some of the great changes that have occurred in recent years—the tremendous emphasis on scientific research and development, the spectacular population growth and particularly the baby boom, and the accomplishments on the health front dramatized by the conquest of disease and the rise in the average life span.

Growth of Professional Group

The figures show that the number of professional and allied workers has shown a greater rate of growth than other occupational groups, increasing from 3.3 million persons in 1945 to 6 million this April, a rise of more than 80 per cent. Right now the professional classification accounts for more than 9 per cent of all workers as against little more than 6 per cent in 1945, and this proportion is expected to increase.

Outstanding in the blue collar classification is the continuation of the long-term trend to increasing skills. This is particularly true in the case of craftsmen, the most highly skilled of all, who now number 8 1/2 million workers as against

He said a service station attendant told him the animals "belonged to a sawmill nearby."

The other two principal occupational classifications are service workers and those engaged in farming. The former group has been showing a steady increase while the number of farm jobs has continued its long-term downward trend and is now at the lowest level in many years.
