Junior Livestock Show Entries Arrive Today

11th Annual Show Attracts Youth of Four Counties

First entries in the 11th annual Hereford Junior Livestock and Poultry Show sponsored by the Rotary Club, will begin arriving today.

Some excellent entries in all classes are expected for the livestock events, according to Hugh Clearman, county agent.

Judging Calendar

Douglas Wythe Jr., of Amarillo, extension service animal husbandman, will judge all livestock classes.

Poultry judging will start Friday morning, said Mrs. Dorothy Frowell, assistant home demonstration agent, division superintendent.

Bull Barn Holds Everything All animals and birds entered in the show are to be housed and exhibited in the new Bull Barn.

Following a two-day tour of six drouth area states, President Eisenhower on Tuesday revealed administration plans for a 76 million dollar program of additional emergency relief for Great Plains farmers and ranchers.

His proposal was outlined in Wichita, Kan., following visits to farms in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona and Colorado.

Several thousand people behind rope barriers waited quietly on the ramp at Clovis Air Force Base for the arrival at 1:30 p.m. Monday of the President.

IKE'S TOUR OF NEW MEXICO DRAWS A CROWD TO CLOVIS

Following a two-day tour of six drouth area states, President Eisenhower on Tuesday revealed administration plans for a 76 million dollar program of additional emergency relief for Great Plains farmers and ranchers.

His proposal was outlined in Wichita, Kan., following visits to farms in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arizona and Colorado.

the Air Force band's playing of "Hail to the Chief," were hardly over before Mr. Eisenhower, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, and Secretary of the Interior Seaton drove quickly away on an eight-mile tour of dryland and irrigated farms just north of the air base.

There was enough dust in the air to give emphasis to the drouth conditions apparent along the road.

Visits One Farm The only stop made by the President during the 30-odd minutes he devoted to the spot survey was at the farm of Raymond Worrell, president of the Curry County Farm and Livestock Bureau.

Worrell, a dairyman and hog-breeder, has one irrigation well and operates two half-sections of farmland. Since 1950, his debt total has increased from $1,700 to $20,000.

There was enough dust in the air to give emphasis to the drouth conditions apparent along the road.

Private Talk What did Worrell tell Mr. Eisenhower? Mrs. Worrell was at her husband's elbow. Benson and Seaton were close beside the President.

Some 200 spectators, including about 180 press representatives were kept several feet from the participants by a score of Secret Service men.

After some 15-minutes in the company of the Worrells and their three children, the tour was on again.

act route the party was to take from Clovis AFB had been a top secret until late Monday morning when it was revealed to members of the press who had been invited to accompany the President's party.

Back at the base, the Chief Executive stopped at the Officers Club for a brief conference with a select few of New Mexico's farmers.

Rubinoff and His Violin Here Today

Rubinoff and his Violin will play two performances here today on the high school auditorium stage.

The universally acclaimed musician will appear under sponsorship of the Hereford Lions Club.

He will play first at 2:30 p.m. in a special student matinee. The regular performance starts at 8:15 p.m.

Recognized by music critics as one of the greatest living violinists, Rubinoff has been acclaimed for his ability to give performances that appeal to all listeners rather than to specialized audiences.

His program here reflects his choice of music calculated to please an audience possessing wide ranges in taste.

After a short intermission, Rubinoff will conclude with the playing of six numbers reflecting his great range of ability on the instrument.

Around Town

The Chamber of Commerce banquet is a sell-out. Manager Bill Lenderman said Wednesday morning that the only tickets available now for the event will be those that are turned back by early purchasers.

Bill Dameron's Hereford Ranch will be among the entries from over 11 states which will compete for honors and $49,860 in cash prizes at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth Jan. 25 through Feb. 3.

An SOS for scout masters in Hereford was issued this week by Jack McCracken, who reported that Troop 51 is now operating without a scout master.

The public is invited to attend a March of Dimes Benefit Coffee under the sponsorship of the Homebuilders Class of the First Methodist Church.

Johnnie Haney is back in his fix-it shop at 200 Grand Ave. His stay at the Veteran's hospital was a short one after officials decided his injuries were healing better than they had expected.

Bracero Housing Subject to New Standards Rule

LUBBOCK, Jan. 16 — More specific minimum standards for housing Mexican National Workers, effective immediately, have been issued by the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of employment security under the authority provided by Public Law 78 and the Migrant Labor Agreement of 1951, as amended.

Charles E. Johnson, field representative for the Bureau here, received a copy of the amended standards yesterday.

Employers who do not meet these amended standards will get no more braceros," he said, "and those who now employ braceros must meet the revised standards within a reasonable time or lose their braceros."

The amended minimum housing standards include some 50 items dealing with six aspects of bracero housing including living and sleeping quarters, cooking and eating facilities, sanitary facilities, lighting, laundry, and general standards.

Regional Director Ed McDonald of the Bureau of Employment Security in Dallas is mailing a copy of the amended standards to all approved employers and associations of employers of Mexican National workers.

On-the-spot housing inspections by Field Representatives of the U. S. Department of Labor will be made to determine whether employers may keep the Mexican workers they now have, or be eligible for the contracting of Mexican workers in the future.

Trustees Approve New 3-Year Term for Cunningham

Fred J. Cunningham, superintendent of the Hereford Rural High School system, was given a new three year contract Tuesday night by unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees.

Robert Wagoner, president of the board, said that its members expressed approval of the present staff of school administrators and took the action as a step in securing the future stability of a steadily improving school system.

Voters' Deadline Near; Jaycees to Collect Poll Tax

When the roll of public spirited citizens is called, the young men who belong to Hereford's Jaycees will step forward among the first.

"We plan to call every number in the telephone book," declares Dennis Lomas, project chairman. And the Jaycees aren't going to be content just to remind telephone subscribers of the importance of being a qualified voter.

"If a person wants to pay his poll tax," said Lomas, "we will send a deputized collector out to collect the $1.75 fee and issue a receipt."

"But if anyone wants real prompt service during the drive, we will accept telephone calls at number 1100, Sunday afternoon," Lomas added.

Reject Bids for School Property; Discuss Growth

All bids on an 8.68 acre plot just north of Texas Ave. were rejected Tuesday night by the board of trustees.

Board members noted that the highest bid, $15,365 by Carl McCaslin and Ben Childers, was the only one equal to the school's investment in the land.

Other Business In other action, the trustees approved the sale of 12,000 surplus brick owned by the school at $55 per 1,000 to Virgil Hennen.

Entries by youngsters from 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters in four counties, Oldham, Castro, Farmer and Deaf Smith, will afford spectators a view of the best products of modern-day breeding and feeding science.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Skelton got "coon bit" and wore blisters on his hands, but he — along with Sheriff Lowell Sharp and Deputy Doc Wilson — dug up the "goods" in a Hereford yard Monday afternoon.

Hereford Girl in College Glee Club

Stanton, Va.—Miss Irene Witherspoon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Witherspoon, 410 North Lawton, is a member of the 65-voice Mary Baldwin College Glee Club, which will make its seventh annual appearance at the National Cathedral, Washington, D. C., Sunday afternoon, Jan. 13, in the famous church's Choral Evensong. Since the group first sang in a similar service in 1951, it has received a standing invitation to re-reached a total of $159,368.37. turn in subsequent years.

Under the direction of Professor Gordon C. Page, the Glee Club will sing three sacred motets of Brahms as the Offertory, as well as two Christmas carols by Praetorius in place of the lesson response.

members that enrollment at the Parkview Elementary School for colored children has now risen to 47 students, including four eighth graders whose parents have indicated they prefer their children attend the segregated school. To meet accreditation standards, Cunningham said it may become necessary to hire a third teacher for the school if attendance continues to increase.

Other bidders on the school property were Dr. W. D. Lawrence at $14,100, J. R. Allison at $13,600 and Ralph McCullough at $12,501.

Hereford Youth on Radar Escort Ship

NEWPORT, R. I. (FHTNC) — Lenard D. Smith, fireman, USN, of Hereford, Texas, arrived at Newport, R. I., Jan. 13, aboard the radar picket escort vessel USS Wagner.

Stationed off the Atlantic Coast, the Wagner has been providing early warning against possible air attacks through use of modern radar detection devices.

Former Resident, C. L. Gifford Is Buried at Hobart

A former resident of Hereford, Cecil Loyd Gifford, died Jan. 9, 1957 in Phoenix, Ariz. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 13, in Gish Chapel, Hobart, Okla.

Mr. Gifford had been in poor health for several years. He lived in Hereford from 1951 until August, 1956, before moving with his family to Tempe, Ariz. He was born Feb. 25, 1913, at Marietta, Okla.

Survivors include his wife, Letta, of Tempe; three daughters, Lois and Emma of Tempe, and Mrs. Corienne Self of Stamford, Ariz.; a son, Clyde, of Tempe; and two granddaughters.

SCRIBBLING TRIO

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Kilroy wasn't in the near Eastern city of Dura-Europos in 253 A.D., but Artva, Rasnak and Apsaram were. They can prove it.

They wrote their names on the wall of a synagogue and the signatures are still there, 17 centuries later.

Archaeologist Carl H. Kraepling tells about it in a new book published by the Yale University Press. Not accusing Artva, Rasnak and Apsaram of being mere "Kilroy was here" wall scribblers, he surmises that they were officers with the Persian army which overran Dura-Europos in 252. Apparently, says Kraepling, they were impressed by Jewish murals in the synagogues and signed their names as a warning to soldiers not to damage them.

Dura-Europos, abandoned in 256, eventually disappeared beneath desert sands until its re-discovery in 1921.

RESCUED AND ESCAPED OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Clarence Galloway, 29, still is wondering whom he rescued from the Ohio River.

Galloway jumped into the water to save a floundering lad and was aided by a fisherman in lifting the boy to a moored barge.

By the time Galloway, who's not an expert swimmer, got onto the barge, the boy had disappeared.

DEER CONSCIENCE

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — The Wyoming Game and Fish Dept. returned $60 in cash from an anonymous donor.

An accompanying letter, postmarked Denver, read: "This is to pay for deer licenses that I don't think I needed under the circumstances at the time. But my conscience has bothered me."

Now that dads are doing K.P. duty in something like 75 per cent of American homes, Juniors also have discovered that it's fun to cook.

Male chefs, senior and junior, are serving up barbecued hamburgers and charcoal-broiled steaks with a flourish these days, while Mom sits back and applauds. The trend has extended to Toyland, where some of the most popular toys of the year are junior cooking sets designed for the cowboy-and-Indian crowd. There's a new show-time set featuring miniatures of famous brands of soup, baked beans and spaghetti, including recipes with a western flavor. Junior size barbecue equipment and soup chef sets also are available and in high demand.

To prepare these viands there are miniatures of famous brand appliances, such as a battery powered electric mixer. There are brand-name cooking utensils in the culinary kits, also. Even handsome copper-bottomed pots and pans just like Mother uses are available in miniature.

There's a fiberglass insulated top stove, and a new electric sauce pan for junior cooks. New also is a line of toasters that pop up and light up like the real thing, although they don't actually work.

The boom in playroom food equipment extends to the grocery store. A new favorite is a fiberglass supermarket with ample shelves stocked with brand-name packages.

Jelly making is another new enterprise for the younger set. And there are panekaks and pizza mixes available in junior sizes, for the greater glory of the pint-size chef.

The superintendent cited the increases as needed to "keep in step with what other schools our size are paying."

He said the increases are essential if the Hereford system is to retain its present staff against the pressure of outside bids, and to attract executive caliber personnel. See Need for Increases

Board members generally expressed agreement in their views of the need to revise the pay schedule of administrators. Biggest boosts under the proposal would go to school principals.

The board took no action Tuesday evening to boost the superintendent's salary, although it is probably the lowest now afforded the head of an AAA school in the Plains region of the state. Wagoner indicated that the board will soon consider a raise for Cunningham along with the recommended changes for other administrators.

Cunningham's new contract is scheduled to become effective July 1, 1957. It will then replace and supplement his present three-year contract which had been scheduled to end on July 1, 1958.

MISSING CAR FOUND FAST

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Jim Madaris walked into police headquarters here to report his car stolen, and was followed in a few minutes later by another motorist who wanted to know if anyone had reported a lost car.

The second motorist said he was driving down Fourth Avenue in his heavy pickup truck when he noticed something dragging along behind. It was Madaris' car — caught on a trailer hitch on the rear of the truck as the two vehicles bumped during outside parking.

Madaris settled the case by accepting $40 to pay for a dented front end on his car.

ON SCHEDULE

DETROIT (AP) — Bigger and better locomotives posed a problem at the Henry Ford Museum. Nine locomotives were all right. But the tenth was too much.

A railroad gave the museum a huge Allegheny type locomotive, one of the largest ever built, to add to its collection of nine rail way engines.

The Allegheny turned out to be some 15 inches higher than the huge oak doors of the museum. So rather than dismantle the locomotive, engineers removed part of the train's superstructure and re-assembled it after giving the locomotive a lift.

Motor vehicle accidents in the United States passed 50,000 in 1956. In 1957, there were 25,228 motor vehicle accidents in the U. S. and 35,350 deaths.

U. N. Mideast Operations Called Step Toward World Police Force Formation

By MAX HARBELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Middle East crisis appears to have set the United Nations on the road toward a long-time goal — the creation of a permanent international police force.

A number of U. N. diplomats have hailed the establishment in November of the emergency Middle East force as an important step in this direction.

While all acknowledge the temporary nature of the unit now in Egypt, delegates like Brazil's Cyro de Freitas - Valle felt that the ice has been broken. He suggested action should be taken now to follow up the advance by asking all U. N. members to earmark milita-ry units which might be available to the world organization "on a permanent basis."

Freitas - Valle suggested that these units "could perhaps some day fly the flag of the United Nations together with their own national flag." The establishment of such a permanent force, he said, would create a greater respect for the United Nations.

Judging Contest

A livestock judging contest will be a special feature of the show for FFA and 4-H teams. Their contest will be held immediately after Judge Wythe completes placements in the calf division.

Division superintendents include Mrs. Prowell for poultry, Ed Dwyer for calves, J. O. Seale for swine, and Marvin Sims of Dimmitt for sheep.

Omen to Cry Bids

Auctioneer Lloyd Otten of Clovis, N. M., will open bidding on the prize animals for the 11th consecutive year. Otten has served without charge as auctioneer for the Hereford show since its organization in 1947 by the Rotarians.

Committeemen appointed by Rotary President Henry Benson to work in the various phases of the show include J. C. McCracken, Henry Sears, James Witherspoon, V. O. Denning, a No Party Candidate

A number of Texas farmers and ranchers had sought unsuccessfully to take part in the closed conference. Several were at the air base but had to be content to watch from the sidelines.

The President held no press conference. His press aide, Jim Hager, stepped into the large room at the club that was equipped for newsmen's use, and said, "I have nothing for you."

A disgruntled publisher of a South Plains weekly, Troy Martin of the Otton Enterprise grunted, "That's what they've been saying to the farmer and small businessmen ever since the Republicans took over."

Few Disappointed

But few members of the press had expected anything more. Most viewed the stop in Clovis, as well as the remainder of the President's tour which brought him to San Angelo, Woodward, Okla., Tucson, Ariz., Pueblo, Colo., and finally Wichita, Kan., as merely a means of focusing public attention on the drought problem and a stage from which to announce a program for increased drought aid.

Shortly after 3 p.m., Mr. Eisenhower was back at his plane. He walked back down the row of steepled airplanes who turned his honor guard, stopped briefly at the foot of the aircraft leading ramp to bid farewell to his top-ranking hosts. Climbing the ramp alone, he did not look back or pause before entering the door of the Columbine.

San Antonio

There was a terrible traffic jam at the sign of the air base as citizens sought to return to their homes. Stan Sigman of the Farm Bureau office at Hereford said a delegation from Deaf Smith County was in the line to leave the base when the President's tour party left the base and "we were still in the line when the party came back on the base."

Mr. and Mrs. James Millian and little daughter Julia of Lubbock were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCullough, over the past weekend.

MARCHING TOWARDS PERMANENCE? Danish soldiers move off the airfield at Abu-Suweir, Egypt, wearing helmets and armbands identifying them as members of the U. N. Emergency Force. Men without helmets are members of Egyptian welcoming committee. Some U. N. diplomats believe the Middle East unit may prove to be the embryo of a permanent United Nations world police force.

heavily on the United States both for command and for fighting forces. Participation by other countries was little more than a token.

Former U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie proposed shortly before the outbreak of the Korean War that the General Assembly establish a U. N. legion which would be a truly international body operating under the U. N. flag.

The plan got some support, but failed to gain the necessary momentum. The United States later proposed that all members of the United Nations earmark specific units for possible use by the world organization, but this too was soon forgotten.

These forces were intended, at least partly, for combat purposes, while the present U. N. Middle East force is strictly a police force.

A permanent force could be limited to police duties or it might be given broader powers to enter combat, if necessary to maintain or restore peace.

Valuable Pattern

Delegates are agreed it would be much easier to establish a permanent force if it were patterned closely after the emergency force.

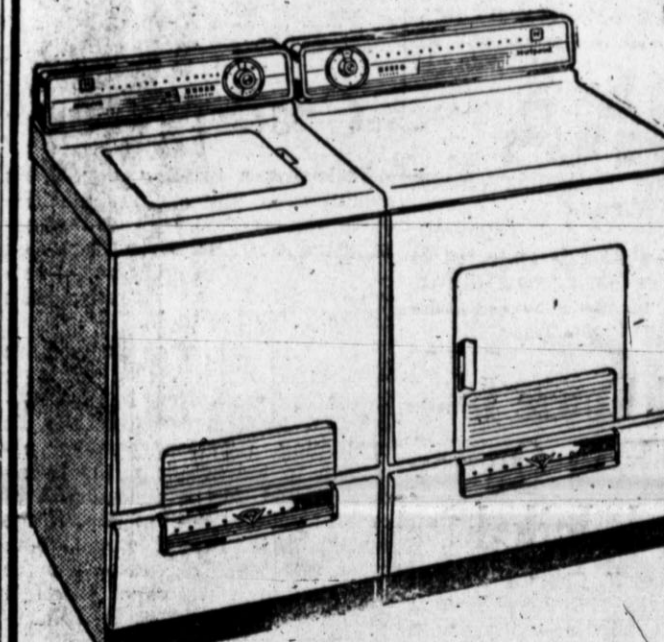

The main characteristics of the unit now operating are:

1. It is primarily a police force, as opposed to a combat organization.
2. It is made up of units contributed by small nations.
3. It is balanced geographically.
4. It is completely controlled and directed by the United Nations.
5. It is not authorized to enter any territory without the consent of the parties concerned.

PSALM 85:10 — "Steadfast love and faithfulness will meet; Righteousness and peace will kiss each other." (RSV)

Here is the irresistible and inevitable rendezvous; "steadfast love and faithfulness will meet." They belong together and their tryst will be kept, come weal or woe.

How profoundly true is the poetry of the psalmist as he next exclaims: "Righteousness and peace will kiss each other." No wonder; they are in love with each other. They will be together, they must be together. And what an attractive pair they make for mankind. Let's help them stay together.

It has been said: "In time of peace prepare for war and in times of war prepare for peace." Let us say: "In time of peace, prepare for more peace." War may be necessary again, but with the destructive potential available today let us pray; God forbid.

"Peace and righteousness will kiss each other." These two lovers can't be separated. Call them together in your own heart. Righteousness is only what is right and that which is right is Peace.

Why Not Sew a Robe?

On the House

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

The most popular type of house is something worth knowing about whether you plan to build, buy or sell. For many years the one-story, so-called ranch style has been way out in front of the more economical two-story house. Today the split-level structures stand virtually side-by-side with one-story ranches.

Just about the same number of people show interest in split-levels as in ranch houses. The difference in popularity is only three in 1,000 in favor of the one-story home.

This is based on an analysis of 383,260 inquiries to newspapers about house plans within the past year — a very impressive response when you compare it with a year's total construction of about one-million homes.

The same analysis shows that one-story houses are about 8 per cent more popular than 1½ story homes — the expansion attic, dormer window style — and fully 24 per cent more popular than two-story dwellings.

However, thousands of families are interested in each of the four types. All types are being built in volume. So no matter how many stories you like, you are not out of step with everybody.

When the women held their housing congress in Washington last Spring, they set off a little bombshell among architects and builders. The 103 housewives said, among other things, they preferred one-story houses with front living rooms and rear kitchens. Apparently that congress represented a fair cross-section of opinion.

Analysis of the 383,260 newspaper readers' inquiries shows front living rooms are 20.7 per cent more popular than rear living rooms. Preferences are not so strong when it comes to kitchen location. House plans with kitchens at the back of the house showed only 7½ per cent more popularity than plans with kitchens facing the front yard.

The fact that these differences in popularity are not greater, indicates that everybody does not agree, by a long shot. Also none of these studies takes into consideration individual site characteristics. People building on city lots may be more or less obliged to choose front living rooms and rear kitchens. Families building on rural acreage may have more choice in planning a house to exploit certain views, exposures for sun and shade, prevailing winds and land contour.

A growing appreciation of the importance of orienting a house — turning it at a slight angle from sun or wind — obviously will bring further changes in opinion regarding front vs. rear living rooms and kitchens. When you know what big sums you can cut off your heating bills or air conditioning operation merely by proper orientation, you are not apt to plan a house arbitrarily lined up with the road, unless archaic codes compel it.

But all big changes take place gradually. Even though cottages always were popular, the spread of the ranch house exceeded all expectations. This type called for more land, more foundation, more roof and more heat than the two-story home. It could boast of eliminating stair-climbing. Now stair-climbing seems to be making a

Associated Press Women's Editor

Even the youngest ladies like to look pretty at bedtime. That last half-hour, devoted to watching a favorite television program or just hearing a bedtime story, is an important time for the kindergarten set, demanding a pretty robe.

Local sewing center experts suggest a robe of terry cloth, for snuggling into after the evening bath. Mothers appreciate the care-free quality of terry, which can be dunked in soapsuds just like the towels. It never needs ironing and will stand up to countless sudgings in the washing machine, impervious to both soap and detergents.

A standard pattern for a kimono robe is made with only two major pattern pieces. The inch-rulers on the pattern pieces make size adjustment easy and accurate. Make it full-length to give a little girl a grown-up feeling, or a little shorter to show a pair of pretty slippers.

To add color to a white robe, use decorative stitching in bright red to outline collar and pockets. Pick a showy stitch, such as the ball stitch or the solid scallop, which may be done with a flick of the finger on the new automatic swing-needle sewing machines with finger-tip control.

For a bit of pure whimsy, use color-fast embroidery thread to make little figures like tassels to decorate collar edge and pockets. Start by making an ordinary tassel, then tie a loop of thread at the top to form a head and tie off two side sections for arms. For a girl figure, leave the rest of the tassel free to form a skirt; for a boy doll, tie off the bottom in two sections for legs.

GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY

MEDORA, Ill. (AP) — The good-neighbor policy was put into action here when 26 farmers moved on Leo Scott's farm with three corn pickers, trucks and tractor-wagons and picked his 40-acre crop of corn. Scott received this assist when he was confined in the Macoupin Area Hospital with a broken leg he got in a fall. Mrs. Scott and a newly-born infant daughter had just returned from the hospital when the accident happened.

School Officials Meet in Tulia

Administrators of the Hereford Public Schools are in Tulia today attending a workshop for the inservice program on "Individual Differences among Children" being conducted for administrators of the area.

Supt. Fred J. Cunningham is chairman of the project, and Miss Della Stagner, local grade school coordinator, is secretary.

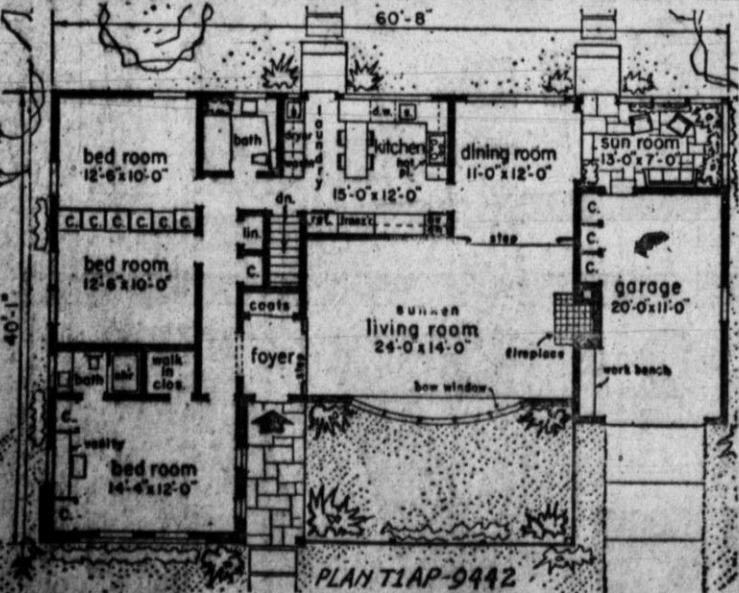

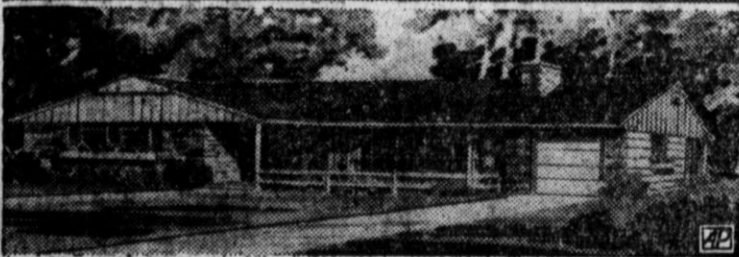

Broiled canned peaches, to be served with meat or poultry, look especially pretty when their cavities are garnished with sprigs of parsley or watercress. Add the garnish, of course, when the peaches come out of the broiler.

comeback in split-levels. And in many sections of the country two-story homes are gaining in favor.

However, for every 700 two-story houses built, there apparently will be 1,000 new ranch houses, 97 split levels and 920 Cape Codders or other 1½-story models.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A LARGE SUNKEN living room, bright and airy sun room, extra large combination kitchen and laundry, and an abundance of closets are outstanding features of this three-bedroom house. This is plan T1AP-9442 by Edward R. Tyler, 586 Mason Place, Uniondale, L.I., N.Y. The house covers 1,592 square feet, excluding garage.

SUMMERFIELD NEWS

LOOKINGBILL FAMILIES SWAP HOMES; A TOWN-FARM SWITCH

By BETTE JEAN NOLAND

Mrs. Carl Lee underwent surgery in the Deaf Smith County Hospital on Wednesday. She is reported to be doing satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frye of Dawn visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thomason. Mrs. Frye is Mrs. Thomason's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Noland and Bette Jean attended a supper Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Traweck in Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wiggins and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Clark of Hereford were in Clovis Monday for the visit of President Eisenhower and party for the inspection of the drought area. Clark was the news reporter for KPAN.

Rev. and Mrs. Don Larkin and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gene Cotton left Sunday for Fort-Worth where they attended the Evangelistic Conference. They returned Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Miller and family who have lived in the teacherage for the past several months have moved to Olton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Curry were in Plainview Saturday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., have moved to Hereford in the home formerly occupied by their son and family Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr., and family have moved to the farm and home formerly occupied by his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacks have moved to Dimmitt. Mr. and Mrs. DeRusha of Plainview have moved into the house formerly occupied by the Jacks.

Jennie McCathern and Kay Lynn Scott of Hereford spent Friday night with Betty Walser.

Mrs. J. C. Clearman honored her daughter Nanette with a birthday party in her home on Monday afternoon. Those attending were: Anna and Fayrene Evans, Nelda Botkins, Cheyl Niell, Kenny Walser, Billy Bolinger, Joe Wright and Diana and Mary Jo Clearman.

Mrs. Jack Streun returned home from the hospital Saturday.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuper were Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Roach and daughter and Clara Acker all of Hereford.

Mrs. J. A. Noland is still in the Deaf Smith County Hospital and is getting along nicely. Her visitors Sunday were her brother and wife Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nance of Plainview and Mrs. Wiley Nance of Lockney. Other recent visitors were her son Jim Noland and her brother and wife Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Nance all of Amarillo.

Mrs. Darrell Thomason and children of Hereford visited Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. D. L. Thomason.

Bob Noland and Buster Thomason were in Spur Tuesday on business.

When computed on a man-hour basis, farming is nearly four times as hazardous as all industrial occupations, according to a survey conducted at the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station.

To be sure of proper balance and correct fertility, re-run soil tests every three to five years — or about once every rotation.

Cover the soil with growing plants in the winter to reduce erosion and frost damage. Soil experts advise planting cover crops on ground just cleared of cultivated crops.

Dairy scientists have discovered that dairy cows will consume much larger quantities of hay than is generally believed and still support a high level of production. This information will be used to try to increase forage consumption by cattle.

Clean, bright shining milk cans not only look better, but are necessary to proper protection of milk in transportation, dairy experts say.

MRS. CLYDE MERCER

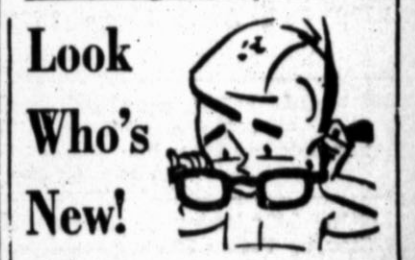

Miss Sullivan and Clyde Mercer Say Vows in Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Odom of Hereford are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Cora Mae Sullivan, to Clyde Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mercer of Silverton. The wedding ceremony was performed in the Trinity Methodist Church of Lubbock on Jan. 10.

The vows were read by the Rev. C. Melvin Reathel.

Attending the bride as bridesmaids were Lois Roland of Idalou and Nita Harbison of Lubbock. Jim O'Shanahan accompanied the groom as best man.

The couple will be at home in Silverton where he is engaged in farming.

Look Who's New!

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Urbanczyk announce the birth of a daughter, eight pounds, 10 ounces, Jan. 14. A son, eight pounds, 6 1/2 ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Alapiz, Jan. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Greenwood—a daughter, five pounds, eight ounces, Jan. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Hamilton—a son, eight pounds, four ounces, was Jan. 15.

Correction: In The Sunday Brand, the maternal grandparents of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Greenwell's baby, daughter, were listed as "Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Green." It should have been "Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith."

Bible Words for Today

I JOHN 3:10 — "By this it may be seen who are the children of God, and who are the children of the devil: whoever does not do right is not of God, nor he who does not love his brother." (RSV)

Fellowship with God involves walking in love. If we are born of God, we love people. If we know God, we love for God's very being is love. If we love one another, God abides in us. This is New Testament reasoning.

What is love? "It is a positive force which creates the moral climate in which problems can be resolved."

How do we get it? By God's grace, begin with the aggressive forces within which are enemies of love: self-seeking, pushy greed, wanting our own way, proving we are right. All are like this. Only Christ has power to cleanse these evils and sweep our channels clean. Ask Him to reach out your channel.

How can we use it? "Real love is wanting the best God has for the other person, and living so that he finds that best." Our love is meant to be shared. If we hoard it, God withholds it.

When God's love begins flowing through us to others, fact is, we are satisfied. Life — our destiny — seems fulfilled. We were made for that!

This is a test of whether you belong to God or not. Dr. Ansley Cunningham Moore Sixth United Presbyterian Church Pittsburgh, Penn.

CALIFORNIA CASSEROLE

Coat 2 pounds veal or beef round steak, with mixture of 1/2 cup Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour and 1 teaspoon paprika. Pound mixture into steak, cut into 2-inch cubes.	Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 45 minutes until meat is tender. Top with 15 dumplings.
Brown meat thoroughly in 1/4 cup salad oil or other shortening. Transfer to a 13x9x2-inch pan, or large skillet, and add 1 3/4 cups small cooked onions (1-lb. can).	Increase oven temperature to 425°; bake for 20 to 25 minutes until deep golden brown.
Combine 1 can cream of chicken soup and 1 can water in skillet used for browning. Bring to boil and pour over meat.	Serve with Sauce made by heating 1 can cream of chicken soup and 1 cup sour cream just to boiling.
Sift Together 2 cups sifted Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour 4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning into mixing bowl. Add 1 teaspoon celery seed, 1 teaspoon dry, onion flakes and 1 tablespoon poppy seed, if desired.	Add 1/4 cup salad oil and 1/2 cup milk. Stir just until moistened. Drop rounded tablespoonsful of dough into a mixture of 1 cup melted butter and 1 cup bread crumbs; roll to coat with crumbs.

Grapefruit Starts Day Right

With all the emphasis on winter health and better breakfasts, it's a wise woman who sets her table for the first meal of the day with the proper components for good health and energy. And every woman knows that nothing has a cleaner, wake-up taste first thing than a juicy half Florida grapefruit.
 Florida grapefruit is right at the peak of its goodness and flavor now. You'll find both seeded and seedless, white and pink grapefruit in your markets. Fix them properly, separating each section from the dividing membranes, and serve with various toppings every day while they're so good. For they're so good for you! Low in calories, high in vitamin C, they're your ably whether you're fighting the battle of the bulge or just plain colds. Besides your daily citrus, a well-balanced breakfast should include eggs in some form (here's an omelet, a pleasant change and easy too), sausage or bacon or ham; toast and butter, and of course, milk. Remember that adults need milk just as children do.

Dufek: He's One Admiral Who Sweats

By SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures

Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, busy commuter to the ends of the earth, first man in history to step from a plane onto the South Pole and tactical commander of the current U. S. expedition in the antarctic, is a big, genial man who more resembles a winning football coach than a rank-conscious admiral or epic explorer.

Although he has made two trips to the arctic and now is on his fourth to the antarctic, the 53-year-old chief of Operation Deep-Freeze declines to play the role of an explorer.

"I'm an operations man," he says. "You might say I push ships and planes and men around but I am not an explorer. Admiral (Richard E.) Byrd is an explorer. He is Mr. Antarctica. Me, I'm an operator."

On Nov. 1, Adm. Dufek arrived with the first plane to land at the South Pole, where the expedition is now trying to erect one of a half dozen scientific stations in the Antarctic. The admiral was the first man to step on the South Pole since 1912.

Heavy Responsibility
He is a man with heavy responsibilities who modestly tries to minimize his role. Asked to describe his job as expedition leader, he once said, "I just sweat and drink coffee."

But in the unpredictable antarctic, where a sunny day can change to a blinding blizzard in minutes, where ice airports can start breaking up suddenly under the force of hurricane winds, the boss-man has many crucial decisions to make. Adm. Dufek makes his quietly, delegates authority, and then sweats invisibly.

To hide his concern during a crisis — such as the one last year when seven fliers were missing for a week — the admiral begins reading detective novels on an assembly-line basis. Or he plays poker, wild poker for low stakes, and sees to it that the conversation stays far from the one subject uppermost in everyone's mind.

Despite his two stars, Dufek rarely chooses to confine himself to "admiral's country." More often than not he can be found talking and drinking coffee with the officers and men, on ship or land.

Although he has seen much danger in World War II, in Korea (where he skippered a carrier) and on his polar expeditions, the admiral is embarrassed by any attempt to picture him as a hero.

Once during last year's expedition, a Navy artist presented the boss with a symbolic painting of himself. There was Dufek big in the foreground, on the ice, holding an icebreaker in one hand and a plane in the other.

Subtle Command
The admiral warmly thanked the artist, praised his technique and later asked an aide to ask the painter to reduce the heroic proportions of the central figure in the picture. "My wife," he said, "would laugh me out of the house with that one."

A 1925 graduate of the naval academy, Adm. Dufek has been a submariner, aviator and skipper of fighting ships. By special act of Congress he was retained on active duty beyond his retirement date in 1955.

A man who has built bases in both the arctic and antarctic, Dufek is a commanding officer who knows well his men, his equipment and the bleak, dangerous country they must operate in.

Corporal Vernon Burge became the U. S. Army's first enlisted air pilot in 1912.

Cheer Up Your Window Shades

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Window shades are playing a comeback. You may find ready-to-make shades in charming textures — scalloped, hemmed and tasseled to your liking — or you may make your own to match or contrast with your room decor.

One room that gets a lift with the make-it-yourself shade is the kitchen. A shade may be rolled up to give you light when you need it and pulled down when you want to get the effect of privacy and coziness.

If a light fabric is selected for the project, it may be given added stiffness by gluing it to an ordinary window shade. Heavier fabrics may be stapled directly to a spring roller. An added decorative touch may be enjoyed by using knotted fringe at the bottom of the shade and a short cafe-style curtain in the same fabric.

To make the shade measure the width and length you wish your shade to be. Hand-sew one inch side hems and 1 1/4 inch bottom hem, leaving the sides open to insert the bottom rod. Hand-sew a half-inch hem at the top of the shade and attach it to the roller with a staple gun or small tacks. Be sure to keep fabric straight on the roller, taut without stretching. Attach the fringe of your choice. Insert narrow, inch-wide bottom rod and hand-stitch ends. Add a shade pull and roll your fabric taut and even so that it pulls smoothly.

Although in bedrooms you may wish to use pastel and fancy fabrics, kitchen fabrics should be more on the whimsical side. One delightful design in glosheen, "grandma's kitchen," sets the color scheme for an entire kitchen. Warm tones of persimmon, olive green and mocha in the shades may be repeated in kitchen accessories such as pottery, ceramics and brass wall plaques. A small chest may be placed beneath the window, ideal for plants that need

Any number of novelty cottons may be found that will coincide with your kitchen decor. The bride who is starting from scratch furnishing her kitchen, may find a pattern that will set her on the road to a color scheme. These days when there is so much colorful kitchen ware and utility accessories, a ready-made color scheme selected in advance may solve the decorating problem.

Too often one buys a few items for the kitchen in a color that proves to be unsuited to the window fabric and other furnishings — one reason it is a good idea to plan the kitchen window treatment, wall color and countertop colors before there is thought of other items. That way there will not be a ho-ho-podge of colors, and perhaps it may all be limited to three or four colors or hues.

RELIGIOUS CONVICTION
FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP) — When an ex-prisoner got religious all of a sudden Sheriff Jim Brimhall got a little suspicious.

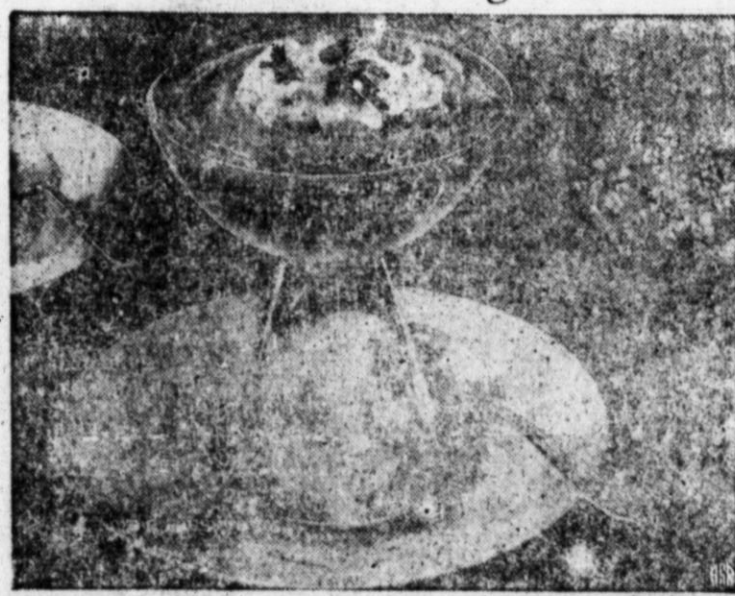

The former prisoner showed up for church services five days after he was released. Sheriff's deputies started a check and found four hacksaw blades which they suspected were slipped into hymn books during the services.

Off The Shelf Elegance

Amazing... and so gratifying... to know that a dessert of this elegance can be made, literally and entirely, from ingredients right off the kitchen shelf! A package of butterscotch instant pudding, a can of evaporated milk, instant coffee from a jar — all stored without benefit of refrigeration — combine quickly into a dessert of interesting flavor and rich creamy texture.

And, since making it calls only for shaking it, you can prepare this Toffee Pudding at a moment's notice for drop-in company, or plan to serve it to family or guests in a sophisticated manner, with an attractive topping of chocolate "curis".

Shake-A-Toffee Pudding
1 tall can (1 1/2 cups) evaporated milk
1 cup water
1 tablespoon instant coffee
1 package butterscotch instant pudding mix
Toasted chopped almonds or shaved chocolate (optional)

Combine evaporated milk, instant coffee, and pudding mix in a shaker, quart jar, or other container with tight lid. Cover and shake briskly for 1 minute, or just until well mixed. Pour into serving dishes and let stand to set — about 5 minutes. Garnish with toasted chopped almonds, or shaved chocolate. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Thrifty Meals With Pork

Pork is one of the richest natural sources of vitamin B1. It has the same high quality complete protein found in all meats. Whether it be a regal loin roast or pork or homey spareribs, every cut of pork has the same important nutrition. Old-fashioned favorites are those pictured.

Bacon and Corn Sauté
12 bacon slices 1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn
1/4 cup finely chopped onion 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup chopped green pepper 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place bacon slices in cold skillet. Cook over low heat, turning occasionally, until desired degree of crispness. Remove bacon; drain on absorbent paper. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of the drippings. Add onion and pepper; cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Drain corn; add liquid to skillet and boil rapidly until reduced to approximately 1/4 cup. Add corn, salt and pepper; top with bacon slices. Heat to serving temperature.
YIELD: 3 servings.

Sausage and Apple Grill
1 pound sausage meat 3 apples, cored and sliced
1/4 cup brown sugar

Form sausage into 6 patties. Place in skillet. Brown on both sides, pouring off fat as it accumulates, about 15 minutes. Remove sausage; pour off all but 2 tablespoons drippings. Add apple slices; sprinkle with brown sugar. Cover; cook over low heat 10 minutes. Add sausage; heat to serving temperature.
YIELD: 3 servings.

PRESIDENT'S ARRIVAL AT CLOVIS—After the Columbine landed at Clovis Air Force Base on Monday, spectators surged forward, giving many of their fellows "a good view of the back of a head" but most of the viewers were lucky enough to catch a glimpse of President Eisenhower as he descended the plane ramp for a short tour of farms in the Clovis area. (Staff Photo)

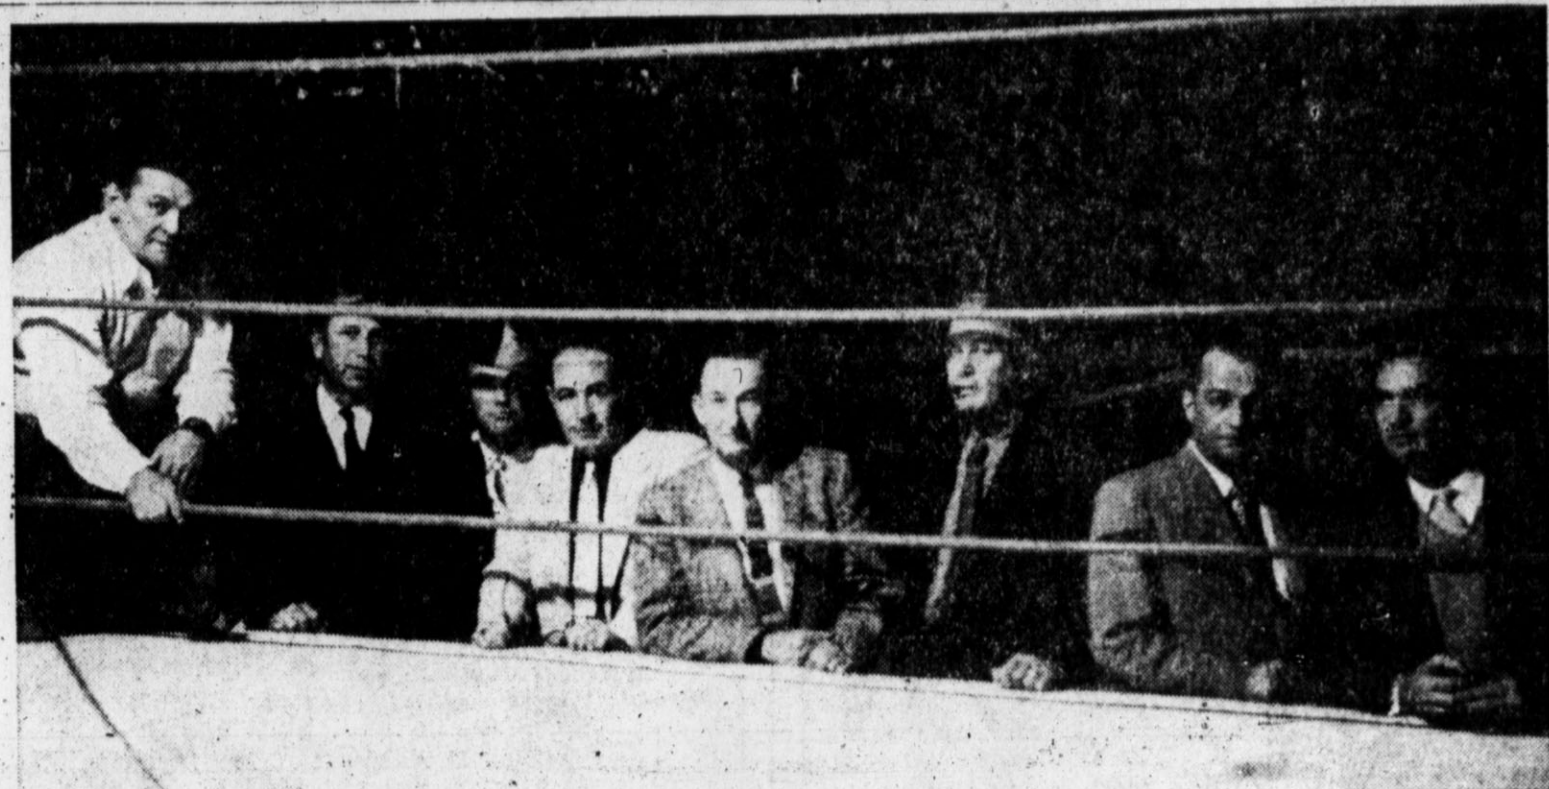

PRESIDENT SEES "CANNED" COW FEED—At the Raymond Worrell farm a few miles west of Clovis, President Eisenhower examined ensilage in a trench silo, looked at young Guernsey dairy cattle, Duroc hogs, and farm equipment—none of which was built after 1948—during a short talk with Worrell. Walking up from the silo are Mrs. Worrell, Worrell, President Eisenhower, Mary Worrell, 4, Secretary Benson, Wade Worrell, 17, and Terry Worrell, 8. (Staff Photo)

FLYING LIONS VIEW HEREFORD ARENA—Six members of the Del Rio Lions Club made a flying trip to Hereford last weekend to view work of the local club and to observe the wrestling match operations that have enabled Hereford Lions to play a leading role in contributing to civic projects. Wrestler Dizzy Davis, left, greeted the visitors at ringside, after Dub Reeves, second from left, and other members of the Hereford Lions had discussed the work with them. The visitors were, left to right, L. A. Brumley, Dr. A. L. Kline, Harry Pierce, R. C. Robertson, Hilary Doran and Glenn Scallorn. (Staff Photo)

30 Per Cent of U. S. Copper Comes from Giant Pit at Bingham, Utah

By FRANK WEITZEL BINGHAM, Utah (AP) — "Man," said the tourist, "Dig that crazy golf divot." And crazy it was, man, for the tourist stood on the lip of the world's largest open pit copper mine, one and three-quarters miles across and 2,210 feet deep.

WORLD'S BIGGEST—The Bingham open pit, 30 per cent of the nation's annual yield of mine, 30 miles from Salt Lake City, produces newly mined copper.

There are 175 miles of railroad track on the various bench levels in the mine. The pit, shaped like a bowl or cup, looks similar to a giant football stadium. No Crowding If the bench levels were covered with bleachers, all the people in Utah and Texas could be seated comfortably. It would take all the people in Nevada to sell the hot dogs, peanuts and popcorn. The spectators could watch as many as 10 separate football games going on at the bottom of the pit. The pit is owned by the Kennecott Copper Corp. and is operated by the company's Utah Copper Division. Operations continue around the clock. About 3,220 men are employed at the mine.

Electric shovels load the material into side-dump railroad cars. The shovels, weighing from 200 to 250 tons, load a 100-ton ore car in about seven minutes with dippers taking 10 to 14 tons of material at a bite. If the material contains enough copper, it goes to the mills. If it doesn't it is hauled to the various outlying waste dumps. The waste mined over 51 years — 927,700,000 tons of it — has filled in branch canyons and gullies and it is necessary to haul the waste farther and farther to new dump sites. The ore is hauled over the company-owned railroad to the Arthur and Maga mills near the shore of the Great Salt Lake. Here the ore is processed into a concentrate containing about 30 per cent copper. Purity Increased The copper concentrate goes from the mills to a nearby smelter where anode copper is produced. The anodes contain 99 per cent copper. From the smelter the anodes go to a refinery at Garfield, where the copper reaches 99.96 purity and is cast into marketable shapes and sold to a variety of customers. For the entire mine-to-refinery operation, the Utah Copper Division employs 6,300 men. During

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Our Solons Hold Power in Congress

By TEX EASLEY AP Special Washington Service Washington, (AP) — Although outnumbered by New York and California, Texas probably has the most powerful single delegation in Congress. For one thing, Texas members of the House hold many important committee assignments, including three chairmanships. And most of the real work of Congress is done in the committees. For another, there is the power held by Rep. Sam Rayburn of Bonham as speaker of the House and by Sen. Lyndon Johnson as Senate Democratic leader.

New Assignments As the 85th Congress got underway five Texans were affected by the reshuffling of committee assignments brought on by retirements and defeats among members of the last Congress. Three of the returning Texas House members got what they regard as improved committee positions: John Dowdy of Athens moved to the Judiciary Committee, leaving the Post Office and Civil Service Committee. He also is a member of the District of Columbia Committee. Joe Kilgore of McAllen went to the Public Works Committee while remaining on Government Operations. Beginner's Luck J. T. Rutherford of Odessa got a place on Banking and Currency, while remaining on Interior and Insular Affairs. For a first timer, Rep. John Young of Corpus Christi, got a good assignment, one especially appropriate since his district stretches along the Gulf coast. He was assigned to the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladeview, back in the House after an absence of four years was assigned to the Post Office and Civil Service Committee. He had to take what he could get, being a freshman member, even though he previously had served 14 years in Congress. He was next to the chairmanship of the House Commerce Committee when he left the house to make an unsuccessful race for the Senate. Republican's Slot Rep. Bruce Alger of Dallas, Texas lone Republican is a member of the Republican "Committee on Committees." He served in the last Congress on the Public Works Committee. Committee assignments of the other Texans: Brooks — Judiciary and Government Operations; Burleson — Foreign Affairs and House Administration (Chairman); Dies — Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Fisher — Armed Services; Kilday — Armed Services; Mahon — Appropriations; Patman — Banking and Currency; Small Business (Chairman); Poage — Agriculture; Rogers — Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Interior and Insular Affairs; Teague — Veterans Affairs (Chairman), District of Columbia; Thomas — Appropriations; Clark Thompson — Agriculture; Thornberry — Rules; Wright — Public Works.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures For the first time in our postal history, the United States is issuing a stamp commemorating the struggle against the crippling poliomyelitis. On Jan. 15, 1957 a 3-center will be released to help publicize the campaign as well as to honor the 20th anniversary of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the March of Dimes. Depicted on the stamp are figures of a woman, boy and girl. The caduceus emblem, symbol of the medical profession and the U. S. Medical Corps, is held in the woman's hand. Sad to relate, however, this design is not one of the better ones issued by the post office department. The figures of the children are distorted and their clothing is outmoded. Many philatelic organizations probably will have more to say on this matter when the stamp is released. Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send their addressed envelopes, together with money order remittance, to the Postmaster, Washington 13, D. C. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers Polio Stamp." A reminder to cover collectors—this is a vertical stamp and envelopes should be addressed in the lower left corner, particularly if blocks are desired. The final four stamps of Jamaica's new definitive set have been issued. The 8 pence blue and orange depicts Blue Mountain Peak. The 1 shilling green and blue shows the Royal Botanic Gardens. The 1 shilling 6 pence blue and purple pictures boating on the Rio Grande. The 2 shillings blue and green illustrates Fort Charles. Each stamp bears a vignette portrait of Queen Elizabeth at the right. A new airmail stamp has been issued by Mexico to honor the 4th meeting of Latin American nations located on the Caribbean Sea. The 25 centavos, blue stamp shows a map of the area. Also issued by Mexico was a new 35 centavos violet special delivery stamp illustrating a dove and a pair of hands. Finland has issued four new stamps honoring the Finnish Red Cross, reports the New York Stamp Co. The adhesives also commemorate the 50th anniversary of the last meeting of the former Finnish Diet. Each stamp bears a portrait of a leader of this final Diet. The 5 markka plus 1 depicts Pekka Afulin, 10 plus 2 — Leonard von Pfalin, 20 plus 3 — Archbishop Gustaf Johanson, and 30 plus 5 — Viktor Magnus von Born. The Israel Philatelic Agency reports a new issue of three stamps coming soon to be known as the "Defense" series. The stamps will be of identical design — the insignia of the Haganah (the volunteer defense force of the Jewish community in Palestine prior to the establishment of the state and the creation of a national army). IF A BODY — HOBBS, N. M. (AP) — To this Hobbs city policeman a body is a body — whether it's standing up or lying down. The patrolman was dispatched recently after a telephone caller reported a man lying in the street "who may be injured." The policeman's laconic report of the incident: "I was unable to find anyone lying in the street but I saw a man nearby staggering along who appeared as if he might have just gotten up from the street. I took him into custody." The man was booked for drunk-

Pheasant Selling Proves Pleasant

TIVOLI, Tex. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Webb started raising pheasants for a hobby three years ago and wound up in business, selling them for market. Starting with seven hens and a cock, they have increased their flock to more than 600 which, as potential dinner material, are valued at about $1,500. The pheasants are kept in portable pens of wire mesh so they can be moved to keep the birds on fresh ground all the time. Mrs. Webb says pheasant raising is a lot of work, but the longer you keep at it the more you learn and the easier it becomes. One of the biggest hazards in the business, the Webbs say, is cannibalism. To combat this, they say the only sure way is debarking the birds. The Webbs have a 10,000 bird production as their goal for 1957.

Deadline Is Near for Tax Forms

District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell Jr. is asking for the cooperation of all employers in the early distribution of withholding tax statements, Form W-2, to their employees. The forms must be issued by Jan. 31, 1957, and penalties are provided for employers who fail to distribute them on time. Director Campbell explained that the Form W-2 is a necessary part in the filing of a Federal income tax return by an employee. Taxpayers who have these forms at an early date will be able to file their returns well before the deadline of April 15. Returns resulting in refunds will receive special handling to expedite the refunds. Blank Forms W-2 are available at the Internal Revenue District office located at Amarillo, Texas. The form is to be made out in triplicate, showing the wages paid to the employee during 1956 and the amount of income tax withheld from his wages. Employers are reminded that they must issue a Form W-2 to each employee whose income was subject to withholding and also to any employee who would have been subject to withholding if he had only one exemption. Production of beef cattle in the United States has increased and improved every year since cattle numbers took an upward turn in 1949.

WHEN JESSE JAMES CAME VISITIN' SIX-GUN EXHIBITION PROVED POINT FOR SHY CONSTABLE

WOODLAND, Tex. (AP) — People around this little town say that Jesse James paid his last visit to these parts when he came to Grandma Victory's old home place. While there, so the story goes, the legendary badman left something for his sister-in-law and all the rest of the settlers to remember him by. Jesse and the Ford brothers, Robert and William, had planned a robbery while staying on Grandma Victory's place. She was kin to the Ford brothers. They left for Oklahoma to pull the "job" and were to return to the ranch. After the robbery, which was successful, the old-timers recall, Jesse and the Ford brothers met the Dalton boys, and Cole Younger of the infamous Younger brothers and went back to Grandma Victory's place to hide out and let things simmer down. While there, the story goes, the citizens of a neighboring town influenced their constable to arrest Jesse. The citizens had some trouble convincing the constable that he could arrest him, but after considering that Jesse's brother Frank was not around, he decided to try. The old timers also recall that he rode a mule all the way from the neighboring town to Grandma Victory's ranch. People who have heard this down-through the years say that when the constable rode up to the ranch, Jesse was in the yard, and that the conversation went this way. The constable asked Jesse if it was the Victory ranch, and Jesse said that it was. After a few minutes of silence Jesse told the constable who he was and that he had come to visit Grandma Victory because he had known her in Missouri. Now when Grandma Victory saw the constable come into the yard she felt there would be trouble. So she went to the front porch and told Jesse she needed some chickens for the coming meal. Jesse whipped out his guns and shot two chickens through the head. After this exhibition, the constable turned around, got on his mule and without telling his business — or his reason for leaving — rode off. Later that same day when Jesse was preparing to leave, he decided to leave something for his sister-in-law who lived with Grandma Victory, and the rest of the folks around the community to remember him by. He drew his guns and leveled a black locust tree that stood in the front yard, waved goodbye and left. One thing sure, the tree is still there, and you can see where his bullets hit. This is the last time Jesse James was ever seen around this little community.

Living Dolls Win Careers

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

"They're real living dolls, regular and pint-size," beams handsome young Andrew Arkin, one-half of an astute father-and-son team which turns out dresses by the carload for the average American woman.

The objects of his approval are Jean Johnstone (regular), a glamorous brunette, wife of a New York business man and mother of an 11-year-old son, and Grace Horton, (pint-size) a ravishing blonde and former personnel assistant in a business office.

The two young women now are embarked on a new and exciting career because they look like sketches of "the Arkin girls," two cartoon figures which have been used to symbolize the wearers of Arkin fashions.

Jean now is "Lee Arkin," the regular - size Arkin girl, who fits exactly into dresses made by Leonard Arkin, senior of the father-son team. Grace is "Andie Arkin," who is a perfect size 10 petite, the specialty of son Andrews. Neither ever has been a professional model, and that's fine with the Arkins.

"We wanted to find a couple of average American girls," explains Andrew. "My Dad and I figure the model doesn't look much like the average customer. It could get discouraging to a woman, always seeing clothes shown on those bean pole glamor girls. We think beautiful women come in all sizes, and not all of them are thin as rails, either."

"This is the most exciting job I ever had," says Jean - or Lee. "Now that my son is away at school all day and my husband is at his office, there isn't much to do, just running a New York apartment. I still don't know how they happened to pick me - except that some friends decided I looked like the sketches of 'Lee' and told Mr. Arkin. All I know is, I'm having a wonderful time."

"This beats working in an office all hollow," says Grace (Andie). "I always liked to wear pretty clothes and now I get paid for it."

The two girls take trips around the country, appearing in stores where Arkin clothes are sold, appearing on television shows in, and out of New York and, of course, wearing Arkin clothes all the time. "Aren't we lucky?" chorus Jean, Grace and the Arkins.

Spring Fashion Cuts a Fine Figure Now

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

The shape of new spring fashions depends on the inside story.

The girl who hopes to cut a fine figure in her new 1957 dress should consider the problem from the inside out. For much of the effectiveness of the new clothes depends on correct line and fit - and the wrong underpinnings can ruin the whole effect.

So specialized has become the business of foundation garments, that you need a number of different combinations of girdle and bra to create the proper line for various kinds of clothes - the peg-top dress, the backless evening gown, the princess line dress and the many kinds of pants, from skin-tight slacks to high-tide shorts.

The current importance of the low-cut back has brought on a rash of low-back bras, to take one example. Naturally you can't wear a regular bra with a backless dress. So designers have been experimenting with various engineering devices to produce a bra that exercises the proper restraint without having a band across the middle of the back. Their results have been highly successful.

The high-waisted Empire line has necessitated high-rising girdles, to take another example. You can't have a bulge around the middle if you're going to look like Empress Josephine. The proper effect may be achieved by wearing a long-line bra and high-waisted girdle or an all-in-one corsetette, increasingly popular with women who want to be sure of smooth unbroken line with no bulges.

The popular princess line dress, which will still be around this spring poses a different problem. It has a wide, open neckline, so you can't have shoulder straps showing. It also needs an undershirt with a little flare, so that the flaring line of the dress is properly supported. The best answer to this one is the strapless bra-slip, cut on long-torso lines so that the figure is molded smoothly from bustline to hipline, the skirt flaring toward the hem.

Every girl wants skinny slacks this year, but if she wears a short

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

With the start of a new year, camera fans close their 1956 albums and resolve that their photographic efforts for 1957 will be better. One of the best spurs to more creative work is to become interested in photo contests.

When you are competition minded, there is bound to be improvement all down the line from taking the picture to the final display print. It forces photographers, sometimes for the very first time, to scan their own work carefully and critically. Even if it is too lenient, self-criticism is a start in the direction of taking better pictures.

The necessity of presenting one's pictures in the best possible form is another advantage of photo contests. Camera fans must study their negatives carefully and usually see that their entries are enlarged, cropped and printed to perfection. Their efforts become a visual achievement, good enough to hang up in the home if they don't wind up in the winner's circle. Possibly one of the first things to do as the new year gets under way is to list all the contests that make possible targets to shoot for.

Secondly, you should get and study the rules for each contest. This seems like an unnecessary bit of advice, yet it'll save many contestants a great deal of time and trouble. For instance in some cases it is necessary to have a model release if a winning entry shows any recognizable person. In most cases, an original negative must be produced.

Most snapshots take their best pictures on vacations or trips where it is often impossible to identify the people shown, much less get a release from them. Sometimes, they misplace their original negatives and can't produce them when they are needed. When all the conditions in a contest can't be fulfilled, it's better to channel your efforts elsewhere.

Don't send in technically poor prints or ones that are stained or spotted. While story-telling subject matter is all important and weighs heavily with the judges, these factors might tip the balance against an entry in the final round.

Some camera fans can ruin all their contest work by the inadequate way they mail in their entries. I've seen it happen. Pictures that are sent without proper cardboard protection are received bent, cracked, torn and mangled. They are among the first to fall by the wayside in judging.

Each print should be identified on its reverse side and have all necessary information. Then if it gets separated from others in a group or from an entry form it won't be a lost soul.

WHAT'S NEW? — A roll film twin-lens reflex camera with complete lens interchangeability is now in production in Japan according to Associated Press correspondent Forrest Edwards.

Called the Mamiyaflex Professional Model C, the camera is available with 80mm f/2.8, 105mm f/3.5 and 135mm f/4.5 lenses. Each has its own compur shutter with speeds up to 1/400th second.

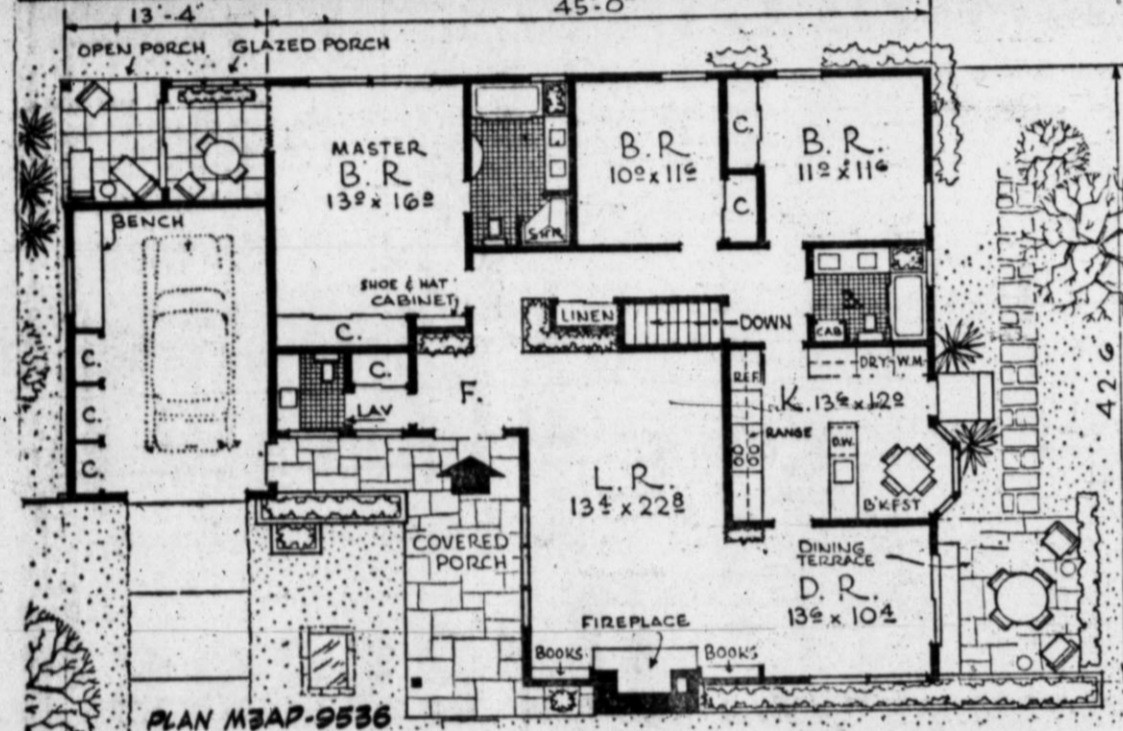

Each pair of taking and viewing lenses is mounted on a metal lens-board which clips onto the front standard of the camera and connects with a shutter release in the camera body.

When lenses are changed, a light tight slide in the camera protects the film. A semi-automatic film winding knob turns the 120 roll film to produce 12 pictures each 2 1/4 by 2 1/4 inches. An accessory back for cut film is also available.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Navy Has Million-Dollar Collection

By MARTY SUTPHIN
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — An old naval tradition, "Don't Give Up the Ship," has real meaning for the staff of the U. S. Naval Academy museum.

The museum curator is charged with maintaining a fragile fleet of 108 sailing ships, some of them three centuries old and all of them dating back at least 150 years. The fleet comprises what is probably the country's finest collection of ship models.

It is the Henry H. Rogers collection, willed to the academy in 1938 and valued at one million dollars.

Curator Joseph Bruzek says the ship models are so delicate that vibration from a passing truck may snap a brittle string serving as a shroud or halyard on an ancient frigate. It would be Bruzek's job to replace the damaged line with silk dyed to the precise color of the original.

Capt. Wade DeWeese (Ret.), who heads the museum, says the wooden vessels suffer greatly from changes in humidity. Bowls of water are placed in each glass exhibit case during the winter to prevent drying damage from the academy's steam heat.

Thirty-four of the ships are "admiralty" scale models, so named because English ship builders used them to obtain commissions from the Navy Board of Great Britain.

The admiralty models are complete in every detail, including masts, ladders, gun positions, rigging, mess rooms and cabins. They even include carvings and paintings done by the best known artists of the day.

Fourteen admiralty models have been identified as specific ships. These include the "St. George," which has not needed repair since its completion in 1702, and the "Royal William," constructed in Portsmouth in 1719 and valued at $50,000.

Another is the ill-fated "Royal George." This 100-gun first-line ship of the British fleet capsized in 1792 when her captain ordered weights shifted during a repair operation.

There is also a model of the Royal Barge of Charles II. History says the king used the barge to reach great ships anchored in the Thames, then charged the ladies aboard a kiss for the visit.

The Rogers collection also has ship models believed to have been carved from beef bones by French sailors who were captured by the British.

Most of the models are kept in the museum but some are on display in other academy buildings. They may be viewed year around by visitors.

Spirits Traveled by Mail, Back in 'Good Old Days'

COLORADO CITY, Tex. (AP) — John S. Williams retired recently as Colorado City rural mail carrier, and it reminded Chester Thomas of how the Postoffice once did a flourishing business in whiskey.

Thomas, now a real estate dealer, was the first rural mail carrier for the area.

"The biggest steady sales in those days," he says, "was money orders to H. Brann and Co."

H. Brann and Co. was a Fort Worth liquor dealer. Mitchell County was dry and Thomas' patrons ordered their whiskey shipped and picked it up at the express office.

Route 1 was the first route established at Colorado City (then simply called Colorado) and service began Nov. 2, 1908, at an annual salary of $900 "including horse hire."

Thomas used a horse and buggy and later shifted to a motorcycle in 1912. Thomas says that he got tired of bucking the cold northers and sand beds and resigned in 1916.

Disappearing Gadgets Aid New Kitchens' Appearance

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Culinary science someday may include constant temperature storage for foods preserved by gamma-irradiation rays produced by atomic energy.

Illustrating advances in electronics and design, an all-plastic kitchen shown at the annual winter furniture market features appliances that appear and disappear under pushbutton control. It was created for a chemical company for display at Disneyland Park, Calif., during 1957.

Its simplicity might well rearrange home-making thinking.

In the refrigerator and range area, the two-section 50-55-degree irradiated food refrigerator is located in a wall cabinet above the base cabinet. Press a button and the 7-foot fresh food storage compartment lowers for easy delivery of its contents.

The storage compartment is divided into two sections, each operating independently for reach-easy selection. Beside it is a normal 40-degree refrigerator.

The electronic range beneath it is "zoned" for cooking different food simultaneously. Glass door and side panels are coated to keep microwaves inside, giving a mirror-like effect to the exterior of the unit.

Nearby, a seven-cubic-foot freezer is mounted in a similar over-the-counter unit that drops down to convenient reaching level at the touch of a button. Its shelves and compartments are designed to store commercially packaged frozen foods, soups and juices.

An island unit houses an ultrasonic dishwasher that serves as a desk and communications center when the dish-washing unit is lowered into the base cabinet.

Called an "Atoms For Living" kitchen, the design utilized the scientific principle that foods can be preserved by bathing them in gamma-irradiation rays.

IN THE SHADOW OF THE ALAMO

Many Old Soldiers Busy in Retirement

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Old soldiers don't fade away — not in San Antonio.

Here, where so many like to come when they've retired, they're a vigorous part of the city's life.

More than 1,000 retired officers live in this south-central Texas city. But they didn't come here from 31 states just to sit in the sun and tell of the battles they won.

Most of them have carved new careers in industry and business, are leaders in civic enterprises, or are enjoying their retirement, with strong pursuit of their hobbies.

Tomme Call of the San Antonio News conducted a survey of these officers to find out why they came here, what they are doing, what they like about the city and what changes they'd like to make.

Most of the officers who moved here from such states as Kansas, New York and Minnesota said they came here because of the pleasant climate. The next most important reason was that friends lived here. A third reason was the advantage of living near the city's numerous army and air force bases where they can take advantage of medical privileges, the officers' club, post exchanges and commissaries.

Here's what the retired officers like about this city Call found: They like the friendly people, the low living costs, the recreation facilities, historical charm, tourist attractions, expressway development, cultural activities and expanding oil industry.

But they don't like the deficiency of industry, inadequate water resources, the large amount of crime and juvenile delinquency. And a few are moving to other cities because they say San Antonio is getting too big.

Some said that industry takes advantage of them because they get pensions and it is felt they need less pay because of the pension.

The average work week of those who hold regular jobs, though, is 44 hours and the average income from civilian employment is $445 a month.

The general fields in which the officers are active include selling, service and repair of equipment, banking, teaching, public relations and credit control. Most feel they are making full use of their training, but about one fourth feel they are qualified for better positions.

Relations between the civilian and retired military population is "generally excellent" — a phrase used often by the ex-officers. About 70 per cent of them said they had no trouble with civilians and enjoyed living near town.

Some complained that the civilians were "a bit distant," "a little cool," or "just tolerant."

As far as community service is concerned, 25 per cent of the retired officers said that opportunities to take part in constructive activities are extensive. But 30 per cent said they do not care to take part in such activities and the same per cent said no opportunities exist for civic activities.

About 10 per cent said they are too old for such activities.

Call, after talking with the officers, concluded that "many more retired officers would contribute their time to civic activities and community projects, if they were

Mom Is Recognized as Best Teacher of Cleanliness

Teach your youngster good habits in the first four to six years of life, and they'll be of lifetime benefit.

positively encouraged to do so."

The retired officers do a great deal of reading. Almost all read both afternoon and morning papers, plus out of state papers and many read foreign papers.

In books, history seems to be the favored topic. In magazines just about everything is read from military topics to westerns.

The retired officers want about the same improvements made in the city as the civilian population.

They suggest more crosstown bus lines, construction of a proposed new medical center, a special community center for recreation hobbies and social activities of retired people, and an effort to obtain more regional headquarters of national firms in the city.

fit. That's the opinion of many psychologists — and worth observing.

Some mothers neglect to teach their children the rudiments of good grooming and good manners while they are young, and then expect them to absorb it all when they are ready for school.

Cleanliness should be taught early, from the time a child can use a washcloth, cleansing tissue or towel, even though he uses it in hit and miss fashion. A little girl still in the high chair may make an effort to wipe her mouth as Mom does. At three a young one may make faint motions with a hairbrush, and the effort should be encouraged.

A twin beauty facial with Mom and daughter, participating will help in the good grooming department. The little girl may strip down to a terry cloth sarong just like the one Mom wears. Bobby pins, ribbon and an improvised towel turban will draw the hair back from the face. This is a cleanliness measure that daughter doesn't yet need but she'll remember it later on when her hair is all set for that big birthday party.

A bowlful of good warm water with a favorite soap that may be worked into a dense lather are ingredients for the twin beauty facials. Show the little girl how to pick up two handfuls and massage it into her face, starting at the chin and stroking it firmly outward over the cheekbones.

This is a good time for Mom to make little circles over those tension lines on the forehead, and smaller feather-like pats around the outer corner of her eyes where crowsfeet etch their way.

Let the suds set on her face a few minutes while she massages down her neck, a good way to start her on the all-important job of keeping the neck clean.

The suds facial may be climaxed by dipping a clean towel or cotton in warm water and pressing it to the face. After all the soap has been removed, turn on the cold water and let her scoop handfuls of it onto her glowing skin to close the pores and make the blood tingle.

Nut Meats
Soak the nuts in hot water for a few hours, and the meats will come out whole, and are less trouble to extract. This is a big help when making nut cake or candy.

Crisp waffles need a thin batter and longer baking than waffles that have a softer texture.

Whitefaces Rout Littlefield Cats

By BILL KNOX
The Hereford Whitefaces did much as they pleased with the Littlefield Wildcats Tuesday night, winning with ease.
New Scoring Record

Cuby Kitchens' cagers set a new scoring record for the Littlefield gymnasium, running up an 89-40 lopsided decision with a spectacular last half scoring spree. The previous record for the Littlefield gym was 84 points.

The Wildcats were vastly improved from the start of the season when they played in the Hereford Invitational Tournament, but the Whitefaces had too many horses.

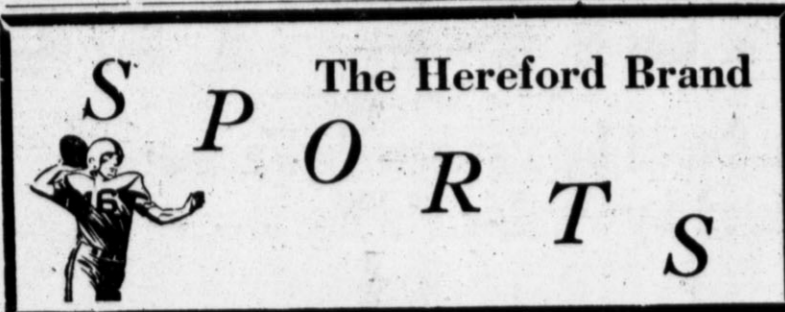

Slow First Half
First half action, however, didn't indicate the lopsidedness of the rout. Throughout the initial stanza the Wildcats stayed within five points and Hereford led by 13 points at halftime.

Then Hereford tallied 53 points in a wild second half, while Littlefield was scoring only 17. Until the scoring exhibition it looked as though the Herd would have trouble running up a score to match the 60-20 win they gained over Littlefield in the Hereford tournament.

Five in Double Numbers
Five Hereford players scored in the double numbers. Littlefield just couldn't cope with the Hereford height and shooting accuracy.

The one factor which probably contributed most to the easy win was the full court zone press thrown at the Wildcats. One time Hereford scored six points without Littlefield even getting the ball past the center line.

Jim Curtisinger, Fred Lookingbill, Bill Dufur, Leroy Morrison, and Terry Higgins all counted more than 10 points for Hereford.

while Vern Stephens was the only Wildcat to pass the 10-point mark. He scored 17 points, all in the first half.

He Tried, But...
Kitchens was apparently trying to keep the score down. Reserves got their share of action. They were inserted midway in the first quarter and finished out the first half. They also played the entire fourth quarter.

Littlefield started out almost matching Hereford shot for shot in the first quarter. The Herd was on the long end of a 15-10 at the quarter's end and increased the lead by eight points in the second quarter.

What Was Happening?
In the second half Littlefield didn't know what was happening against the press. Hereford scored a prodigious 31 points in the third quarter alone and 22 more in the last period.

Jim Curtisinger was the game's leading scorer with 24 points. Fred Lookingbill had 14, Bill Dufur 13, Leroy Morrison 12, and Terry Higgins 11. Higgins was also a defensive standout.

For Littlefield, Stephens was

Oiler-Texas Tech Game for Saturday

LUBBOCK — Plenty of good tickets to the Phillips Oiler-Texas Tech game in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum Jan. 19 are available, according to Jimmie Wilson, business manager of athletics.

Since the doubleheader, which also matches the Wayland College Flying Queens and Nashville Business College, is not included on the season ticket, these seats are being sold to the general public on a first come, first served basis. Regular prices of $2 for reserved seats, $1.50 for general admissions prevail.

Texas Tech's great Jim Reed of Brownfield and Pine Bluff, Ark., is in the star-studded Phillips lineup that also includes four players who helped win the Olympics championship for the United States in Australia. Other Oilers are Chuck Darling of Iowa, Burdy Hal-derson of Colorado, Bill Houghland of Kansas, Jim Walsh of Stanford, Olympic members: Jim Buchanan of Nebraska, Joe Dean of Louisiana.

SPORTS GLANCES by Bill Knox

The Hereford Whitefaces got off to a fine start against the Phillips Blackhawks and played better than average ball the rest of the time, but Phillips was hot. They always are when they play Hereford.

It Happens Every Time

That may sound like an alibi, but it's the dying truth. Everytime Hereford gets hold of Phillips they seem to be having one of their very best nights.

Just like the time a year ago when Hereford was scheduled to meet Phillips on the gridiron. The game was rated close — Phillips was a 10-point favorite. It was also Phillips' homecoming.

They didn't do anything but wipe the Whitefaces out, 73-27. Phillips coach Chesty Walker said that it was the team's best performance all year.

They Couldn't Miss

Phillips defeated Hereford, 69-53, in the finals of the Hereford Invitational Tournament a while back. But the Herd wasn't playing its best ball there. They still weren't playing their best ball at Phillips, but they were doing all right. After their shaky start, it seemed like Phillips couldn't do anything but pop the net for two points.

Hereford has several top shooters — good enough to match anyone in 1-AAA. But as a rule only one of these top shooters is hot for each game. If all of them would get hot at once, any team in this region would have trouble handling the Herd.

All At Once, Or Else!
If Hereford defeats Phillips when they play in Hereford, they're all going to have to be hot. Put that together with the full court zone press, which worked well at Phillips, and you can defeat Phillips.

court advantage. Not very often will a team beat Phillips on their home field. Even the 1954 Herd lost there. Of course, they couldn't hold a candle to the Whitefaces in Hereford's cracker box gymnasium.

Looks Good For A While

Things surely looked encouraging when the Whitefaces had five and Phillips had a big fat zero on the scoreboard. The lead faded, but there was still hope at the end of the first quarter when Phillips lead, 23-19. The second quarter saw all these hopes doused.

Hereford quit pressing for a spell in the second quarter, and apparently that was just what Phillips needed. That's when they ran up the score. All the pressing in the world couldn't have made Hereford catch up after that.

Still Going Strong

Hereford's bowling alley is still going like a turpentine cat. Owners Glen Watts and B. E. Roberson report that there hasn't been a let up since it opened.

With almost 40 teams entered in the new league at last report, there may be more teams than can be handled successfully and smoothly. There won't be much chance to bowl for those who aren't on one of the teams, and then each team just bowls once a week.

A person might get in more bowling if he gets on one of the teams.

SATURDAY NIGHT WRESTLING

Funk and Joe At It Again in Grudge Go

One of the best — and probably bloodiest — battles in Hereford wrestling annals is promised for Saturday night at the Bull Barn. Dory Funk — wise, witty, and rugged foreman of the Flying Mare Ranch and presently Southwest States Junior Heavyweight Champion — will attempt to dismember Tokyo Joe, the Japanese karate expert.

Colorful Rivalry

The Funk-Joe rivalry in Hereford is a colorful one. More than once the pair have met, and more than once has the match ended with the blood flowing freely. Funk has the edge in matches won and probably in the most blood spilled. In the most recent Funk-Tokyo Joe match in Hereford, Funk came out winner. The match ended with Tokyo Joe in the middle of the ring shielding himself from Funk who was wielding some wicked metal chairs.

Asked for Rematch

In the dressing room after the match, Funk asked promoter Harold Wester for a rematch. He got it and on the terms he wanted.

That is the match which will be the feature event Saturday night. The provisions: best two of three falls, no time limit, disqualification, winner take all.

Funk has held the Southwest States junior heavyweight championship more than any other person. He presently holds it. He is also a member of the team which owns the world's tag-team championship. His buddy, Bob Geigel is the other member.

Not A Crowd Pleaser

Tokyo Joe is not a crowd pleaser but he has gained the reputation of being one of the toughest wrestlers in this area. It took a disqualification for Ray Gunkel to defeat Joe in Amarillo.

The other match on the agenda for Saturday night features Rip Rogers, the bad guy turned good, against Iron Jaw Donovan. The match is for the best two of three falls with a one hour time limit. Turned Nice Already Rogers is the former co-holder of the world's tag-team championship, but since then he has split with Art Nelson. He's turned good, believe it or not, and since has been winning with consistency.

Iron Jaw Donovan boasts of never being knocked down by a blow on the jaw. However, he lost two of three falls to Dizzy Davis last Saturday night. In the other match last Saturday, Rip Rogers won two of three falls over Tommy Phelps in a cleanly fought match.

LABORIOUS PRANK

In England the Mute Swan has had the status of a royal bird ever since 1482.

40 TEAMS EXPECTED

Qualifying Starts In Bowling League

Qualifying and handicapping in the Hereford Bowling League opened Monday according to Glen Watts, co-owner of Sunset Lanes.

About 35 teams have entered with the deadline two weeks away. Several more teams are expected to enter including delegations from Friona and Dimmitt.

Watts said plans for the league are now being formulated but are still indefinite. League play will consist of 18 weeks of action, each team playing once a week. Each team will consist of four players and an alternate.

With the large number of teams entered, we'll probably have to have league bowling five nights a week with two lanes left open for non-league bowlers," Watts said.

The league will be run by Watts and B. E. Roberson, owners of the alley.

Trophies will be given to the winning team, the high bowler for the season and the high bowler each month. A city secretary will be elected or may volunteer to keep complete records of each night's bowling. The first go-round of 18 weeks will not be under ABC (American Bowling Congress) sanction, but the second round, which will open two weeks after the conclusion of the first, will be.

Next, we want to remind all of you that if it's a P. G. C. FED CHAMPION, you're in store for a GRAND PRIZE from Hereford Grain Corporation. If your calf PLACES in the show, be sure to let us know.

And . . . whether your calf placed or not, you'll be wise to start preparing for next year now, by starting your calf on PGC.

The same prizes offered this year by Hereford Grain Corporation will be in effect for the 1957 show.

We Are Sincerely Interested In The Future Of Our Farm Youth

Youngest '57 Belles Prefer Elegant Look

Party dresses are as important as orange juice and vitamins to the morale of small girls. This is a point thoughtful mothers do not overlook.

This year the choice is so varied that any pint-size glamor girl should be able to find her dream dress with no difficulty. New styles and fabrics also make life easy for Mom. Some of the most elaborate concoctions of organdy, frills and lace turn out to be the miracle-fabric kind that can be dunked in the washbowl, hung on a hanger and worn without ironing, as crisp and fresh as new, with every ruffle and pleat in place.

Railroads' Taxes Were $20,833 in County for 1955

Texas railroads paid $20,833 in 1955 in taxes to Deaf Smith county, according to the Texas Railroad Association.

That amount was Deaf Smith county's share of the $9,244,570 the railroads paid throughout the state.

In addition, of course, was the large total in taxes the railroads' more than 50,000 employees contributed on their own property. The vast majority of railroad workers, many of whom live in Deaf Smith County, own their own homes.

The largest railroad contribution in Deaf Smith County was for the support of education. The school tax for 1955 totaled $13,092.

City and village taxes amounted to $1,728, while the share of the county government's operating expenses paid for by the railroads totaled $2,859. The road and bridge fund gained $2,947 from the railroads in 1955. All other taxes brought the total for Deaf Smith County to $20,833.

"I am glad to note that nearly half of the taxes paid by the railroads, $4,161,052, went for the support of Texas schools," said Kenneth McCalla, general counsel for the Texas Railroad Association. "Now, more than ever, the future of our country and state depends upon the education of our youth. Many of our railroads recognize this fact and, in addition to contributing toward education with tax money, have made numerous scholarships available."

Visibility Hazard in Winter Driving

"Poor visibility is one of the most serious problems facing the motorist in winter driving!"

That was the warning issued today by E. C. McFadden of Dallas, vice president of Employers' Casualty Company, and president of the Texas Safety Assn., in connection with the state-wide campaign for safe-winter driving sponsored by the Texas Safety Assn.

"In addition to the hazards of skidding that winter presents to the motorist, the problem of reduced visibility can make driving especially treacherous," McFadden said.

"Motorists must be able to see danger to avoid it," he emphasized.

"A basic requirement is that the windshield wipers be in top-notch condition. Summer sun or age bake the life out of rubber blades and cause them to streak the windshield," McFadden said. "When they do, they should be replaced."

"Another important precaution is to see that heaters and defrosters are working properly."

Fewer hours of daylight, rain, snow, sleet, splattered windshields, the glare of the sun on snow or ice, fog and frequent overcast all serve to reduce the distance a driver can see to a dangerous minimum, it was pointed out.

"And after a storm be sure to clean all the snow off your windshield and other windows of your car. It is also a good idea to wipe off the headlights, turn signals and tail lights at the same time."

"Keep the inside of your windows clean and free of smoke or steam and be sure you can see through the side windows. Danger may approach from the sides or rear as well as from the front."

Statistics show that in almost one out of seven fatal accidents, the driver's vision was obscured. In two out of five of these cases, the obstruction was on the vehicle itself, such as rain, snow or sleet on the windshield.

RESUME OF BUSINESS IN 1956

Records Fall; Boom Continues

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
NEW YORK — "Soft spots" popped up in the economy in 1956 but total business activity smashed all prior records. All signs indicated it would thrust still higher in 1957.

There were two main forces behind the boom. One was the record rate of spending by business firms on new factories, new machines and new equipment. The other was the record rate of spending by Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Consumer on necessities, and luxuries of many kinds.

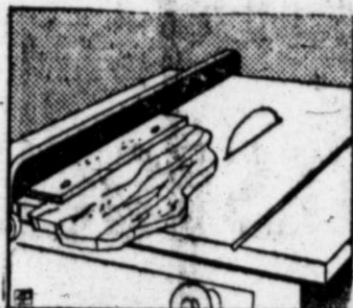

Wage boosts and record employment powered the consumer spending splurge.

Consumers' buying habits in 1956 took a new twist, however, and it was this changed pattern that accounted in part for "soft spots" here and there. People spent less on automobiles, television sets, home appliances and bought fewer homes; but they spent more on food, clothes, gasoline, entertainment, medical services, education and travel.

The result was more overall spending, but less in some fields. Housing slowdown

"Tight credit" was blamed by

Simple Trick

AP Newsteatures
When using a table saw, it is impossible to rip a piece of wood which has two irregular edges.

To solve the problem, first find another piece of wood which does have a straight edge. Nail the 2nd piece of wood to the top of the first... so that the straight edge sticks out a little. Now use that straight edge to rest along the rip fence as you saw. This will produce one perfectly straight side on the original piece of wood. Take off the straight edge, turn the original wood around and this time use the newly-cut edge for moving along the rip fence. The result: two perfect edges.

some economists for slowing down the housing boom. It will unquestionably influence business trends in the year ahead. Bankers and industrialists were pretty well agreed that the pinch on credit would probably get worse before it got better.

The tight credit policy of the Federal Reserve Board was described by banking experts as unpleasant but effective medicine for the economy's inflationary ills. Its most vividly apparent outward sign was the rise in interest rates.

Another big "if" in 1956 was the tangled foreign situation. War jitters in the Middle East and the blocking of the Suez Canal posed difficult problems for many businessmen.

Uncertainties over "tight" money and a potentially explosive international situation had a resounding impact on Wall Street. The stock prices eased back from previous peaks. Traders wondered if the great postwar bull market had finally run its course, or was getting set for another long rise.

The auto industry was plagued in most of 1956 by a surplus of new cars and a lack of eager buyers. This situation reversed itself in late fall when the sleek, new low-slung 1957 models came out. Sales perked up immediately; for the first time in months, dealers had more customers than cars. Looking ahead, Detroit predicted jubilantly that 1957 would be a banner year with Americans buying 6,750,000 new cars against the past year's total of less than six million.

Record Employment
Employment reached new highs in 1956 with some 65 million Americans holding jobs. Settlement of a month-long steel strike triggered a new round of wage increases. Pay of industrial workers set records. Consumer prices also touched new highs.

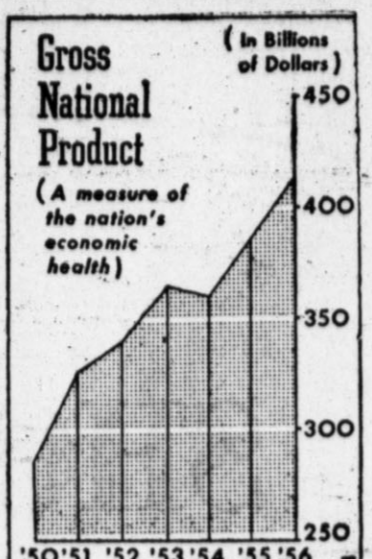

Here are some other figures in the 1956 business box score:

Gross national product (total dollar volume of goods and services produced) — estimated at 412 billion dollars, up 3 per cent from '55. Forecast for '57: about 418 to 420 billions.

Retail trade — 193½ billions, up percent.

Steel production (hobbled by a five-week strike in July) — 115½ million tons, down 1½ per cent.

Housing — 1,100,000 new homes started, down 15 per cent.

Total new construction spending — 44 1/8 billion dollars, up 3 per cent.

Progressive Club Will Use Novel Programming Idea

By ARGON DRAPER
On the way to club the other day I was listening to the radio and heard "Mule Train" which is the musical theme for local news programs from the Muleshoe station. Some enterprising person has thought of this slogan: "This news is being brought to you from Muleshoe, the world's largest town named Muleshoe."

The program committee of the Progressive Club which is composed of Mrs. H. L. Hershey, Mrs. Harold Beauchamp and Mrs. Frank Walterscheid have had a good idea about the program for clubs in November. The November program is a choice one. The club decides on the program for the day. This committee listed five people who will not be on the program for the day. This committee listed five people who will not be on the program before November and are asking those five club members to present anything on the program which they think will be of interest to the club.

The November program of the Chorus can be club choice or program committee choice but it seems to me giving every club

Reminds Farmers Social Security Taxes Now Apply

Farmers and ranchers who hire workers on their places are reminded by James Z. Pearce of Internal Revenue Service that social security taxes apply to cash wages paid to every farm-ranch worker to whom the employer pays $100 or more in cash wages for 1956.

"The taxes, two per cent employer and two per cent employee, apply only to cash wages paid covered farm-ranch hands," Mr. Pearce said.

Employers owing these taxes must file a tax return on Form 941, and pay the taxes, on or before Jan. 31, 1957. Farm-ranch employers are advised to file returns promptly to avoid penalty for late filing.

Employers of covered workers who haven't already registered with the IRS district director's office must do so at once. The registration form, SS-4, can be obtained from any Revenue or Social Security office. All registered employers will receive their necessary return forms and simplified instructions by mail.

My sincere thanks go to Charles Gresham of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Last Wednesday when the sand and wind was at its worst, I had car trouble and Charles came along and brought me into town. People like Charles, Nelson McRight and Ed Cardinal keep me on the road and help get me to club on time.

Last Thursday, it looked like we were having some kind of a club meeting. Marie Boydston, Essie Cardwell and I met in the library. All three of us had on flaming red dresses.

Curtain Call

Mrs. Ray Barkley showed some print curtains which she had made for the kitchen. They were half kitchen curtains which covered the top of the window. The top rod was a regular straight rod but the rod at the center of the window was curved. She did this to keep curtains from blowing when the windows are raised. And because she wanted to see out of the windows. They were of a pretty blue background material with black figures. The edge was scalloped with the scallops lined. Since the curtain demonstration in club, Lois Brown has made cafe curtains for her kitchen. The living room demonstrators did an excellent job all over the county in teaching curtain making.

Hereford's School Bands Appear in Annual Coronation Concert

TECH ENGINEER

Says Water Sands May be Recharged

LUBBOCK, Jan. 16 — The High Plains water table may possibly be raised by taking water from lakes formed in shallow hollows after hard rains and draining it to underground storage.

This observation was made by Dr. George A. Whetstone, Texas Tech professor of civil engineering, in the Journal of the American Water Works Assn.

According to Dr. Whetstone, these "ephemeral lakes" could be drained to underground storage with the double benefit of easing the rate at which the water table is dropping and of releasing for planting, land otherwise covered by the shallow ponds.

"Speed would be of utmost importance," Dr. Whetstone says, "to minimize evaporation losses and to drain the land promptly, as the rainy season and the planting season often coincide."

Dr. Whetstone cites examples from Farnagusta, Cyprus, where lake water was discharged into six wells over a period of 52 days. The result was not too satisfactory because of the high salt content of the silt beds.

"By using some 900 feet of tunnel connecting the wells about 60 feet underground, the water absorption was increased 4.5 times, he pointed out.

Cost Is Factor
"Recharge tunneling probably merits most serious consideration in city areas where cooling water is returned to the ground, as on Long Island, N. Y., or where treated river water at low temperature is pumped into the aquifer, as at Louisville, Ky., in winter," Dr. Whetstone points out.

"It might also find practical application in areas like the High Plains of Texas with drainage of the ephemeral lakes. Because of the cost, again application would be most practical in city areas where land costs are high. Economically, open-pit spreading is still more practical in rural areas, than the tunneling method."

Beauty At Home

Q. My thighs are somewhat on the flabby side. How can I exercise to develop and firm the muscles in this part of my legs?

A. Here's a good one which may be called the "fencer's lunge." Stand with legs wide apart, toes of right foot forward, top of left foot pointed to side, arms up. Put weight on right leg and bend right knee as far as it will go, the left leg remaining straight. Stretch and bend right leg 20 times or as often as possible. Then repeat with left leg.

Q. What special care can I take of the skin on my arms and elbows?

A. Use of a brush while bathing helps to keep arms and elbows soft and clean. After drying, massage well with cream or lotion. Go after elbows that are rough, stained or callused with a cuticle-softening preparation, and then rub with pumice stone. Bleach elbows with cream or lemon juice, and keep them lubricated with hand cream or lotion.

Q. What is a good bleaching lotion for the hair on my legs?

A. One part ammonia mixed with six parts of peroxide.

Q. How can I make the chore of tweezing my eyebrows easier?

A. A magnifying mirror will help you to see better what you are doing — also a little cream or petroleum jelly rubbed on the brows first will soften them for easier plucking. Keep the cream on a few minutes, then remove. Pluck out only one hair at a time, pulling it out in the direction in which it grows, so that when it grows back it will lie flat. To avoid the plucked-chicken look, try not to tweeze the top side of the brows; concentrate on the underside. This gives your brows a clean-cut look, and also makes your eyes look larger by widening the space between them and the brows.

Q. How do I determine the correct shade of powder I should use?

A. It should exactly match your skin tone, or be the slightest shade darker. Lighter powder is permissible only under artificial lighting in the evenings.

Q. What hair arrangement will seem to add length to the face?

A. Hair worn off the brow, with either a center or very high side part.

Q. What makeup technique will help "bring out" a rather weak chin?

A. You can highlight it with lighter foundation than you use on the rest of your face, and be sure to blend this in nicely.

Q. What are some of the things a dry-skinned woman should avoid?

A. Use of glycerin, which is hygroscopic and will draw moisture from the skin. She should also avoid coconut oil soaps which tend to be irritating to dry skin. She should avoid undue exposure to the sun's rays, which can aggravate the dryness of her skin. And she should avoid remaining too long under hair-dryers, because of the fact that the heated air draws moisture from the skin and thus increases the tendency to dryness.

Q. Do you have any comments regarding the types of shoes women should wear?

A. For one thing, few women look well in fancy shoes, and in any case such foot-wear should never be worn unless a special costume definitely calls for it. The average woman and the average foot is displayed to best advantage in a simple, well-cut pump. Women with heavy ankles or big feet should NEVER wear fancy shoes!

Q. How can I remove ice cream stains from one of my unwashable dresses?

A. Sponge with carbon tetrachloride to remove any grease in the stain. Allow to dry, then sponge with cold water to dissolve the sugar and egg.

EXAMPLE
COLUMBIA, S. C. — There may have been a few red faces amongst teachers at Columbia High School recently.

At the height of a teachers' meeting, the principal was forced to reprimand the group for being too noisy.

"If we don't have a little silence," he scolded, "I'm going to keep all of you half an hour longer."

Household Scrapbook

Making Cold Starch
In making cold starch, mix the starch with just enough cold water to dissolve it. Then take 1/2-cup cold water, fill the cup with boiling water and stir this into the dissolved starch. It will be hot, but not cooked. Dip collars, cuffs, etc., in the same way, wring, and roll up for about 15 minutes. Also add a small quantity of lard to keep the iron from sticking.

Discolored Pans
Rub discolored aluminum pans or kettles with very fine emery paper. Use a new piece of emery when one is worn off. In a short time your pans will look like new.

Black Stockings
Black stockings will keep their good color if a little vinegar is added to the last rinsing water.

Preserving Tennis Rackets
Tennis racket strings should be covered with petroleum jelly before putting away for the winter. This will prevent the strings from snapping during the time they are not in use.

Candied Carrots
To make candied carrots, scrape new carrots, cut in 1/4-inch slices, boil in salt water until tender, drain, place in a pan, cover with brown sugar and butter, then proceed to brown.

Soot on Rugs
Never attempt to sweep up at once soot that has fallen onto a rug. Cover the soot with dry salt, let stand for a short while, then sweep.

To Soften the Hands
When the hands become hard and roughened, soak them in warm water, and while they are still wet rub them in olive oil until the skin has absorbed as much of it as it will; then dry the hands thoroughly.

White Sweaters
Wash and rinse white sweaters in warm, not hot, water. Wash in warm soap suds, then rinse in clear warm water. Do not hang to dry, but spread, and pull to shape.

Resolutions Are Made To Be Fulfilled

AP Newfeatures
It's 1957 and you should feel a year older even if your birthday was in December. It's "psychological," say the 19-year-olds; "practical" claim the 16-year-olds who want to feel older.

If you've been on the fence about resolutions, not trusting yourself to keep them, because perhaps they're too strict for poor little you, here's a set — suggested by one who has tried — that can't help but intrigue you into a course of action. After all...

1. You want to be popular... so observe all the ethics involved in social antics. Avoid gossiping about your best friend or trying to snatch her seat.

2. Stress the chic look... dress to your age, let the other girl wear the plunging front or back neckline.

3. Emphasize the lady like appearance... speak in a low voice, tone down your makeup.

4. Be agreeable... try to be kind to your roommate at school. Sit at home or perhaps a friend you live with. Avoid the terse reply, snappy rebuff or argumentative sequence that causes real tiffs.

5. Be unselfish... give your family more of your time if they want it. Don't be so overwhelmed with outside duties and chores that you never see your parents except at mealtime.

6. Be helpful... lend a hand to others less likely to succeed mentally, physically, morally, financially. It'll make you feel better if you can learn to be kind to others.

7. Be a "Faithful Date"... this one is suggested by a young man who says he's dated many a girl who has spent the evening with another guy. Stay at your own table, dance with your own partner unless you pre-arrange your dances with him, avoid ogling the other girl's date. Make your date feel you are enjoying the evening.

8. Learn to say thank you... it

H. D. Study Topics Cover Wide Range

Home demonstration club meetings held recently ranged in their study topics from wardrobe planning to civil defense. Program leaders included the county agents and some specialists like Mrs. Jewel Cassels, a beautician.

Reports from various club meetings include the following:

Frio Homemakers
The Frio Homemakers Club met Jan. 8 in the home of Mrs. Owen Andrews with 20 members and two visitors present. New officers for 1957 presided for the first time.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Jewel Cassels, a beautician from Hereford who presented a talk and demonstration on cutting and setting hair styles.

New yearbooks were distributed to the members.

Present were Miss Alma Andrews, Mrs. Clark Andrews, Mrs. Henry Andrews, Mrs. Owen Andrews, Mrs. Jim Brooks, Mrs. Ed Clark, Mrs. Clark Dobbs, Mrs. Henry Dobbs, Mrs. James Dobbs, Mrs. Glenn Grigg, Mrs. Earnest Harder, Mrs. Eugene Noel, Mrs. Frank Robbins, Mrs. Herb Schmidt, Mrs. Leonard Schmidt, Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Jr., Mrs. Annie Springer, Mrs. Weldon Stephan, Mrs. B. M. Sudduth, Jeff Terrell and Mrs. E. F. Vogler. Visitors were Miss Veradelle Andrews and Mrs. Lila Mason.

Cultural
Mrs. J. T. Richardson was hostess of the Cultural H. D. Club on Jan. 9. Feature of the program was a talk and demonstration by Mrs. Argen Draper on planning a successful wardrobe.

The roll call was answered with "My rule for wardrobe planning." Suggestions given to the club were those of spending clothing money to better advantage and getting old clothes into the hands of people who can use them.

Mrs. Edgar Telchik conducted the business meeting and the refreshments were served during the social hour which followed the business meeting.

The club will meet next in the home of Mrs. Hugh Witherspoon, 310 W. 5th, on Jan. 22.

West Hereford
The West Hereford H. D. Club met in the home of Mrs. W. H. Awtry Sr., on Tuesday, Jan. 8. Two visitors, Mrs. Verna Sewell and Mrs. Wayne Wallace, were introduced and invited to join the club.

Mrs. Mabel Vaughn, program leader, gave a talk on health, safety and civil defense.

Members present were Mrs. Leonard Denton, Mrs. Hugh Witherspoon, Mrs. A. E. Douglas, Mrs. N. W. Livesay, Mrs. Edna Bowe, Mrs. John Jacobsen Sr., Mrs. Vern Witherspoon, Mrs. Carlos Vaughn, Mrs. Robert Boyd, Miss Evelyn Bell and the hostess.

Refreshments were served during the social hour which followed the business meeting.

The club will meet next in the home of Mrs. Hugh Witherspoon, 310 W. 5th, on Jan. 22.

Willing Workers
Hear Party Tips

Mrs. Doratha Prowell gave members of the Willing Workers 4-H Club pointers on planning a successful party when they met Jan. 8 in the home of Mrs. Earl Plank. She explained what refreshments should be served and how to decorate in planning for a party.

After the program was complete, the group practiced the stunt to be presented at the Share-the-Fun Festival.

Sharon Bezner and Priscilla Vines were introduced as guests. Members present were Ann Gentry, Shari Carmichael, Caroline Brumley, Lou Ann Higgins, Patricia Schulte, Delores Brorman, Dorothy Reznik, Janice Higgins, Helen Davis, Peggy Lemons and Toni Beachamp.

Security Guards at SAC Bases Play Rough, Dangerous Game

AP Newsfeatures

Memo to a foreign spy: Are you planning to break into one of the U. S. Air Force Strategic Air Command bases? Take a little advice: Don't try it. Any attempt to sabotage a SAC base, home of the atom and hydrogen bombers, faces million to one odds of failure. At the very least, you will wind up stark naked with a rifle butt in your teeth five minutes after you try to slip in. And if the guards don't get you, vicious sentry dogs will. They're ready for you. Really ready. For SAC is at war already and they trust no man — not even their own.

Security is more than a word with the Strategic Air Command — it's a way of life. It's a daily program.

Practice alerts at all hours of the day and night are commonplace — and the men alerted by pyramid phone calls never know if it is a practice affair or the real thing.

Frequent Alerts

Phones ring at 4 a.m. Doors slam. Tires squeal as colonels, majors, sergeants and airmen race to wake others in a pyramiding alert, then dash for the base to stand by on duty for five or 10 or more hours, as planes take off on mysterious missions.

But that isn't the whole story — it's only part of it. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's Strategic Air Command goes to fantastic lengths to be sure their bases are safe from infiltration and sabotage. The stories of their daily exercises in security read like a cloak and dagger thriller — yet they are true. SAC bases this very minute live under the security restrictions of wartime. Officers and men wear I.D. cards on their shirts and blouses. Areas to which a man may be admitted are defined. If someone thoughtlessly crosses a line to a zone where he doesn't belong he is arrested instantly — and not always pleasantly.

Quick Work

"I stepped over a line once," a sergeant said. "I didn't belong there — I just wasn't thinking. Before I knew what had happened two air policemen grabbed me by each arm and hustled me off to an interrogation room."

"They stripped me naked; broke my pencil and pen in two (searching for tiny but patent thermite bombs), and stood me against a wall — those guys don't care who you are if they catch you in an area where you don't belong."

An Air Force man in charge of a security patrol in a very hush-hush zone said he had specific orders to do that.

"One of my men caught an officer in the area. The man wasn't cleared for the zone and had no business being there. The officer started to pull rank — give my airman a bad time. He got a rifle butt slammed into him and we hauled him away. Orders are orders and we're playing for keeps."

The officer tried to prefer charges against the guard for assaulting a superior. The charges were dropped and the airman got a commendation.

Intelligence agents from Washington keep base security forces on their toes by sending teams around the country to try to sneak into SAC bases. They go to fantastic lengths in their spy-pretense.

At one base they bought an old laundry truck from a firm that had been using it for pickup and delivery on the base. They got in to the base and planted rolled-up sheets of paper on a half-dozen B47 jet atom bombers.

Embarrassing Tour

Next day the team returned — officially — and took the base commander and the base provost marshal on a tour and showed them the "bombs" they'd planted.

The provost marshal, so the story goes, was transferred in 24

Horseshoes Return More Than Luck To This Lady

Paris, Tex. (AP) — A silvered horseshoe which has brought luck and happiness to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Scott Hammond for 17 years was the inspiration for an idea which is bringing in dollars to the Holy Cross Guild of the Episcopal Church of Paris.

In a dilemma over a project idea she might undertake as a member of a working guild, Mrs. Hammond was cudgeling her brain in the middle of the night last February.

"The horseshoe over the door just flashed through my mind," Mrs. Hammond related. "I thought 'glamorized' horseshoes for luck would make clever gifts. We had enjoyed ours so much."

The Hammond horseshoe had been a gift from a friend who owned a string of race horses in Kentucky.

Mrs. Hammond scrouged a rusty horseshoe; washed it; scraped it and sanded it and sprayed it with silver paint.

Thus the business got started. Now it's burgeoning.

During eight months of sales, climaxed recently by a Holy Cross Bazaar the "gilding guild" netted over $400.

From February to May, a handful of guild members would drop in and gild a horseshoe or embellish one. The simple gold or silver treatment expanded to encrusting them with jewel-like stones.

In May business boomed. Formal appointments in the Hammond dining room were relegated to china closets. The table and buffet were spread with heavy thicknesses of newspapers and plastic.

Pushed against the walls were cardboard boxes packed with finished novelties. Card tables were groaning beneath piles of just-completed works. The dining table, one or two small serving tables and long buffet were piled with raw materials.

Jewel encrusted horseshoes were so successful orders for gilding and ornamenting other articles came in.

Most unusual product has been the jewel bedecked railroad spike ordered for a railroad executive.

The inventory of jeweled novelties shows sea shells, horseshoes, can openers, picture frames, bobby pin boxes, jewelry boxes, bubble bath bottles and piggy banks.

People, in the church and out, have given their junk jewelry.

Around the table sit nimble-fingered guild members diligently pasting and arranging ornaments on their project of the moment.

The workshop is open all hours. There is no hourly production maximum rate; no time clock.

Workers point out that each item is "exclusive." No two designs are the same.

"You just start arranging one or two stones. Soon the design works itself out," they agreed.

"Sometimes you're so disappointed with the result, you pull all the stuff off and start over," Mrs. Hammond admitted.

PLAN BANQUET DECORATIONS—Members of the decorations committee of the Hereford Garden Club are shown discussing plans for decoration of the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. hours. Infiltration exercises by intelligence agents have gotten SAC base security men to a high peak of efficiency. They no longer even trust their own mothers.

And it has now become a game — a deadly game — between intelligence men and SAC guards. "We don't take any chances," a security man said. "If there is any thing phoney about a guy, he's in for trouble."

He grinned. "And if we think he's an American intelligence agent trying to sneak in, he's in even worse trouble."

Long Time Ago

45 Years Ago

The stockmen of Hereford do not report any losses during the severe spell of weather just past, the grass having been covered by snow for nearly a month. Nearly all the stockmen had feed stuff and cottonseed cake to feed their cattle. J. H. Williams, Jno. L. Wilson, R. J. Kibbe and F. W. Curtis all report no losses from the effects of the cold and snow.

Hereford will be well represented at the Older Boys Conference to be held at Wichita Falls Jan. 29-31, according to G. M. Hudson, sponsor of the Hereford Hi-Y organization. Planning to attend are Noel Bryant, Carl Spratt, W. R. Scheihagen, Leslie Culwell, Billy Phillips, George Smith, Burl Alexander, Stanford Knox and others who will be chosen later. Five groups in Hereford are working toward or have completed arrangements to send boys to the meeting, among them being the Methodist, Christian, Baptist, Presbyterian, and Church of God.

Simple Fruit Dessert Treats

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A fruit dessert will make a superb end to a celebration dinner if you coddle fresh apples and serve them with a special sauce. You'll find this delectable combination is a welcome change after those holiday mince pies and plum puddings.

If you haven't time to prepare the vanilla sugar called for, use pure vanilla extract as suggested. If fresh grated coconut — wonderful as it is — is beyond you, substitute the moist thinly flaked shredded coconut now available in cans.

STEWED APPLES WITH COCONUT SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 cups vanilla sugar, 1 1/2 cups water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 4 medium-sized or large tart apples, coconut sauce.

Method: Mix vanilla sugar, water and salt in a 10-inch skillet that is at least 2 inches deep. Mix well and heat slowly, stirring often, to dissolve sugar; bring to boiling point. In the meantime pare, core and cut apples into eighths. Add to boiling syrup. Cook, uncovered, until tender and transparent, turning carefully to cook uniformly. Time will depend on variety of apples. Remove apples from syrup and cool. (Reserve syrup and use for cooking another batch of apples.)

Serve apples warm or chilled as dessert with coconut sauce. (Apples may also be served as meat accompaniment with pork or with ham.) Makes 6 servings.

Note: Plain granulated sugar and 1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract may be substituted for the sugar called for.

COCONUT SAUCE

Ingredients: 1/4 cup vanilla sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 eggs (slightly beaten), 2 cups milk, 1/2 cup shredded moist coconut.

Method: Mix vanilla sugar and salt together in a heavy saucepan or in the top part of a double boiler. Blend in eggs lightly with fork or whisk. Stir in 1/4 cup cold milk, heat the remaining milk and stir gradually into mixture. Cook and stir constantly over very low heat or over hot (not boiling) water until the custard coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat. Add coconut; cool. Serve with stewed apples. Makes 2 1/4 cups. This sauce may also be used over sliced bananas and oranges.

Note: Plain granulated sugar and 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract may be substituted for the vanilla sugar called for.

VANILLA SUGAR

Ingredients: Split 2 vanilla beans down the center. Place in a tightly covered canister containing 5 lbs. granulated sugar. Store for at least 2 weeks before using so sugar will pick up the essence of the vanilla bean. Add additional sugar to the canister as the vanilla sugar is used. Use the vanilla sugar in fruit desserts, fruit compotes, cakes, cookies and over cereal.

ANTI-FEMINIST

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Jason H. Smith quit work as a city employe and began drawing social security payments — at the age of 94. Except for eight years as a prison warden, Smith was an active farmer until he was 84 when he took a job supervising the planting and care of shrubbery in city parks. He says he's pretty well satisfied with life except for one thing: "Passage of the amendment ratifying woman suffrage is the most damnable act the government ever did."

Skin Care May Save Your Face

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
The fight for beauty is eternal. At every age the fair sex encounters a challenge to beauty. Budding womanhood, 13 to 18, and the over-40 set are likely to have one thing in common: complexion woes. The young set worries about oily skin, pimples, acne and other blemishes; the older women fret about dry skin, crow's feet, wrinkles in general. Women are aware they may neglect hair, fingernails, even their figures, but complexion is another matter — it is staring at them constantly from the mirror through sickness and health, for better or worse. These reflections may elate or distress them.

One important beauty chore for the young modern is proper cleansing of the skin, insurance for a good complexion. A model agent says the trouble with young people and their first makeup is that they do not learn how to "make down" (remove it properly.) That is the key to a pretty complexion, he says. Remove all the goo when you are ready to go to bed and certainly before applying new makeup.

Makeup removal must be a thorough job. One beauty authority noted for her famous coverage for troubled skins now has devised a liquid that is said to free pores completely of imbedded dirt that forms blackheads. It is good for blemishes when applied to disturbed areas and allowed to dry of its own accord.

This particular liquid also is good for women with combination olly and dry skin, excessively oily around the nose, forehead and chin but dry on cheeks and near the eyes. The liquid in that case is applied only to oily areas.

Blemishes may be treated with the liquid before any other outbreaks occur. Pimples and blackheads should dry and heal. The liquid has been tested for more than 10 years and contains antiseptic properties such as hexachlorophene, resorcinol, and sulphur oil compound.

The skin product mentioned above is L.O.L. manufactured by Lydia O'Leary.

COSTLY CONFUSION

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A man came before Superior Court Judge J. C. Rudisill on charges that he had taken a second wife, who bore him two children, while he remained married to his first wife, mother of four.

"How old are your last two children?" Rudisill asked him.

"Why, the oldest is a year and six months and the youngest is 14 months," said the defendant, apparently a bit flustered.

"That can't be right," the judge grinned. "When was the older of those two born?" "June 35th," said the defendant.

He got 12 months, suspended, and orders to support all six children.

Good with boiled beef: whipped cream mixed lightly with grated raw (peeled) apple and bottled drained horseradish. Add salt to taste.

How Can I?

Q. How can I keep the skin of the face clean?
A. Instead of using soap and water, a good way to cleanse the skin is to wet a piece of cotton in cold water, squeeze it dry, moisten it with a tonic made of witch hazel diluted with a little toilet water, dip into cold cream and apply, rubbing upwards. Use a fresh piece of cotton when the used piece becomes soiled.
Q. How can I prevent the grease of candles from dripping down the sides?

A. Give the candles a coat of white varnish and put away to dry for several days. They will also last twice as long.
Q. How can I clean the stained nickel on the kitchen range?
A. Try rubbing with a cloth dipped in vinegar.
Q. How can I make a polish for refinishing varnished surfaces?
A. Mix one quart of good vinegar, 2 ounces butter of antimony, 2 ounces alcohol, one quart of oil. Always shake thoroughly before using.

Q. How can I avoid watery custard?
A. Watery custard results from too hot an oven. When baking custard, set the dishes in hot water and be sure that the oven is a slow one.
Q. What is a good remedy for an inflamed nose?
A. An excellent remedy is to apply equal parts of witch hazel and pure alcohol.
Q. How can I make a good homemade paste?
A. Paste made with potato finely grated is more satisfactory than either flour or cornstarch paste. Add enough boiling water to make it clear, and then boil for five minutes.

Q. How can I make the meats of nuts come out whole?
A. Soak the nuts for an hour in hot water before cracking, and the meats will come out whole, and with no trouble.
Q. How can I keep the linoleum shiny and new looking?
A. Try washing it occasionally with skim milk.
Q. How can I renovate an oil stove, or any other japanned article, that has become unsightly due to the finish wearing through?

A. Smooth the surface by rubbing with emery paper or steel wool, and then paint with japan or asphaltum.
Q. How can I prevent the juice of meat from escaping?
A. One way is not to pierce the meat, as this causes the juice to escape.

PENETRATION

Drive the nail into the board... that is penetration! You may be sure it won't enter of its own accord. It must be driven with sufficient, well-concentrated, properly directed energy. It takes a real artisan to wield a hammer like that. It takes a genuine God to penetrate some of our lives the way He does, too. Jesus "hit the nail on the head" when he said, "There is a way that seemeth right to a man, but the end thereof is the way of death." The Great Carpenter teaches us the fine art of living... how to flex the wrist to give the proper blow... to hold the tongue and protect a good name... to give a faithful witness and save a soul... to lose yourself in a cause infinitely bigger than yourself. Go to church Sunday and drive that nail straight and true. That's penetration!

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that the young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" - GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

A Gleaming Kitchen Is Easy

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Add to the Order of Home-making another possible degree—Kitchen Mechanic. The average kitchen looks more like a control tower than a workshop these days, and the housewife who masters automatic gadgets certainly deserves a badge of merit.

In addition to keeping everything in tip-top running order, the modern housewife should keep her equipment as sparkling as the day it was installed.

A simple cleaning plan is necessary in the kitchen that must look like a model room every day. Here's one you may try:

1. Before you leave the kitchen after a meal, after dishes are washed and put away or stacked in the dishwasher, all surface counters, stove and oven tops should be washed and dried, chrome and other metals wiped clean, refrigerator door washed. If pots are displayed, bottoms should be polished after use.

2. Keep excess paraphernalia out of sight. Avoid exposed shelves that are likely to become cluttered with junk. These shelves usually start out with a planter and some canisters and wind up as the haven for all the junk in the house. Everything from the hammer to the toothbrush should be found in a box.

3. Mop the floor every day. It'll only take a few minutes that way but if left until the dirty stage may be a real chore.

4. Take advantage of new cleaning materials to make work easier. Copper polishes that may be whisked over pot bottoms. Special polishes for porcelain kitchen equipment, stainless steel. New pot cleaning gimmicks.

5. A new spray oven cleanser is ideal for quick use. You spray it over an area that has been used, let it set for 10 minutes or more and then wipe it clean. The thin film of foam that sprays out of the can attaches to grease and dirt, dissolving it quickly. It also cleans stove burners.

6. If the wall behind your stove

KEEP IT CLEAN: Shiny modern kitchen must remain clean is always being splattered with grease, put up a backsplash that may be wiped clean easily. Some of the plastic coated wall papers are ideal for this purpose and lend a colorful note. If you do not want that addition in color you may find solid color papers to match your kitchen color scheme.

7. Peg board on one wall may solve a multitude of small kitchen problems. It may be the answer to where to hang the knife rack, cellophane tape dispenser, home stapling machine, pots, trays, aspiric molds, and even the kitchen clock.

8. Two sets of kitchen curtains will keep you alternating them so there won't be a temptation to leave them up for just another day of them, straightening one out whenever it looks like it needs it. Ditto refrigerator shelves.

9. You may keep cabinets and kitchen drawers neat by using them for categories of things. Stove and oven cabinets should hold only bake, roast and cooking equipment. One cabinet may be reserved for casserole dishes. Cabinets above the work center may house constantly used kitchen ware such as measuring cups, staples — flour, sugar, salt, vinegar. It's a good place for table ware also.

SANTA FE'S CHIEF

Says Inflation Is Hard on Railroads

Inflationary forces now at work in the nation's economy have been a substantial burden to all business interests, but the railroads of the United States have been hurt more by inflation than many other businesses, Santa Fe Railway President Fred G. Gurley recently told a joint luncheon of the Midwest Shippers Advisory Board and the Traffic Club of Chicago.

"This is true primarily by reason of the tremendous sums of money required in the railroad plant," Gurley said, "and it is particularly burdensome with reference to the more matter of replacing freight cars."

Wants More Freedom

Gurley said he hopes for prompt congressional action on the President's cabinet committee report on transportation policies which is before the Congress now. This report, he said, favors the railroads being permitted "to move more freely than they have under past practices in meeting the actualities of competition."

"The time has come when the regulatory philosophy should recognize that railroads no longer have a monopoly in the transportation field, and for ending regulatory policies resting on that false premise," he declared.

Growth Difficult

Santa Fe has borne its "fair share of the burden of maintaining an adequate freight car supply," Gurley said, by purchasing during the decade from 1946 to 1956 a total of 23,600 freight cars, representing an expenditure of $167,500,000. These additions not only kept up with retirements but made a net increase of 4,800 cars in the Santa Fe fleet while the total revenue freight car ownership of Class I railroads declined during the same period by 33,000 units of equipment.

Santa Fe today owns nearly 85,000 cars in commercial service and has on order and undelivered or programmed for delivery about 5,800 cars representing an additional capital outlay of over $56,000,000.

Discussing the burden of replacing freight cars under original cost depreciation accounting prescribed by law, Gurley continued: "A standard boxcar purchased in 1930 cost about $2,500. A comparable car at today's inflated prices costs about $7,500. When today we retire a 1930 freight car and purchase a replacement unit, we have available from our depreciation accrual fund only $2,500 with which to buy a car that costs an additional $5,000."

Wants No Subsidies

To obtain the additional $5,000 needed to purchase the replacement unit, there are only three sources to which a railroad can look for capital funds — from investors, from borrowings or from retained earnings, Gurley explained.

"Some other private enterprises, so-called, are able to look to government subsidies to meet financial needs, but the railroads cannot, and for my own part I do not want them to," he declared. "In this context, the word earnings is not synonymous with profits. There is no profit in a business enterprise until all expenses have been paid, including the expense of staying in business."

At The Movies

Hereford's teenage pop fans are in for a real treat with the Friday and Saturday showing of "Rock Pretty Baby" at the Star Theater. John Saxon, as Jimmy, has new ideas about music and old ideas about love. Saxon seems destined to become a movie idol of the younger set.

Songs and romance, teen-age style, are the feature of this gay, luring rock 'n roll film from Universal-International which is about generally happy and normal youngsters for a change. The movie will have as much appeal for adults as for the younger generation. The story is about the trials and tribulations of a high school orchestra struggling to become recognized.

CAN'T WIN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — William Washington's water was turned off because he didn't pay his bill. Then he was fined $25 because he didn't have any water.

Judge Stephen A. Damico told Washington to pay the $19.80 bill.
