THIRD TRY UNSUCCESSFUL

Two Burglaries Net $700

More than $700 in cash and merchandise was taken in burglaries of a service station and fruit market here sometime Monday night or Tuesday morning, and an attempt at a third burglary was prevented by bars across the window frame of a Hereford jewelry store.

Police Chief Henry Aycock said he thought there was no definite connection between the two burglaries and the break-in attempt.

which was hidden in the oil room of the service station. Lynch said that the checks were left on an oil case, where the sack was emptied.

Lynch said the burglars gained entry at Hereford Fruit Market by kicking through a screen which covered the framework at the south side of the building.

said, the prowlers found a cigar box containing three rolls of nickels and five rolls of pennies. A total of $9.50 in cash was taken.

NEW COMMERCIAL CROPS, including these sugar beets, were viewed by a German couple during their brief visit to Deaf Smith County last week. Leo Hoefter and his petite blonde wife, Eleanor, spent last Friday night visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bedford Forrest. They were accompanied by Mrs. Al Hacker of Stratford, who, as a 4-H student, spent some time with Hoefter parents in Germany in 1951.

Quarrel Ends In Gunshot Wounds

A quarrel in a two-family home resulted in gunshot wounds to James "Waco" Harper, 301 Grayson, between 8:30 and 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Witnesses to the incident said that Jackson shot Harper two times after Harper had attempted to strike Jackson's sister, Mrs. Jewel Harper, with a beer bottle.

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department and Hereford Police joined in arresting 11 Philippine men after raiding a dice game Sunday morning in the Progressive Road barracks.

Although not big as modern high school teams go, Roswell runs and runs, with pin-point passes to keep the defense honest.

le Damage In Minor Fires

City Reimburses For Water Service Cost; To Continue Pioneer Gas Co. Franchise

The Hereford City Commission Monday evening approved the reimbursement of $506.25 in favor of Otis Hall, owner-manager of The Big Red Barn, west of the city limits on Highway 60, for partial payment of a 750-foot water line and cost of a fire hydrant which Hall had installed outside the city limits in 1956.

missioners considered a 10-year extension of a franchise for Pioneer Natural Gas Co., and a proposed grant was read at the meeting.

John Simms, manager of Pioneer Natural Gas in Hereford, asked that a 10-year extension of franchise be granted to his company.

20 Winners Net Gentry Grid Win

It's getting tougher to win the Brand's annual football contest. This week it took 20 correct picks for first place, while second and third places had 19 each, with the places decided on the tie-breakers.

Hall based his request on the fact that he paid a total of $562.50 for 750 feet of two-inch line, $225 for a fire hydrant, and a $30 fee for a water tap.

Commissioners agreed that Hall should not be charged for the fire hydrant as it was of benefit to properties near the location of Hall's business.

Kansas Immigrant Founded Kerrville's Largest Industry

By JOE BENHAM

Kerrville, Texas (AP) — A 40-year-old Kansas immigrant has used Pennsylvania engines, Washington state lumber, West Texas money and hard work from all over to give Kerrville its largest industry and the nation its fifty-largest producer of private aircraft.

Mooney Aircraft, Inc., has moved two ways since its founding in 1918 — from Wichita, Kan., to Kerrville geographically, and from obscurity to multi-million-dollar sales financially — while quickly and quietly making a name for itself.

The company attracted notice outside of aviation circles last year with an attempt by one of its pilots to fly non-stop to Rome from Galveston, Tex., forcing the plane down over the Atlantic near Spain. And in recent days, two Mooney planes have been involved in attempts to circle the globe in record time.

Mooney moved to Kerrville in 1953 to find room for expansion, taking over an unused hangar and office space at the local airport. Riding the boom in private flying, the firm has added five buildings, remodeled the hangar into a two-level factory and made plans for further expansion.

As with the round-the-world attempts, it hasn't been smooth all the way. In 1954, following the death of financier and chief backer, Charles G. Yankey of Wichita, the plant closed for nine months and bankruptcy threatened.

Midland attorney Hal Rachal and his partner, flying service owner Norman Hoffman, supplied needed capital, however, and the plant returned to production in 1955. Rachal became president and Hoffman vice president in charge of sales as Mooney began turning out its most successful plane, the Mark 20, in August 1955.

The Mark 20, modified this year as the Mark 20-A, was put into production at the rate of four or five per month. A year ago, the rate had climbed to one plane every three days and last month Mooney announced that its production rate had reached one Mark 20-A per day.

In dollars and cents, this gave the company sales of over a million dollars in 1957, and Secretary-Treasurer Ed Hunkle says sales are due to go over the two million dollar mark in 1958.

Mooney's 210 employees, with a few exceptions, have been recruited and trained in the Hill Country of Southwest Texas. The firm brought a key work force of about a dozen men to Kerrville when Mooney left Wichita, but the majority of them took other jobs during the financial trouble in 1954.

Acceptance of private aircraft by businessmen has been largely due to the interest in flying developed during and since World War II, and the time saving and money saving features of aircraft.

Prospective customers are shown figures indicating that private planes can be operated and maintained for as little as 3.3 cents per mile or $5.95 per hour.

The attractiveness of Mooney's particular models of private planes lies in what the company calls its "high-performance, low-cost" product. Mooney claims its Mark 20-A has the highest cruising speed, highest rate of climb and lowest cost per mile of planes at competitive prices.

The Mark 20-A is a sleek mixture of spruce, steel and aluminum. It seats four, cruises at 180 miles per hour and has a range of a thousand miles.

Mooney builds the plane almost from scratch, fabricating over 90 per cent of each craft at the factory. The 180-horsepower engines, tricycle landing gear and propellers come ready-made, as do the individual instruments.

The single wing is bonded spruce, which arrives in Kerrville as raw lumber from the state of Washington. It is trimmed, glued, dipped in preservative, covered with fabric and painted, and when it's finished, Mooney engineers claim it is as strong, pound for pound, as a metal wing would be. The fuselage is aluminum on a tubular steel frame.

The company expects to put a Mark 20-B model into production next year, which will resemble the present model but will have a cruising speed of over 200 miles per hour. In 1958, Mooney's Mark 22 is expected to be ready for the market. Its most significant features will be twin engines and five-passenger capacity.

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — A hotel guest, who took her pet poodle to Del Mar horse races wearing a diamond-studded collar, decided he was too cramped sharing her room. She rented the adjoining one for him, at $35 a day.

ABINGDON, Va. (AP) — Sam Campbell, ambulance owner lost a race to the stork and delivered a baby girl at a rural residence. But he got no praise from nurses when he brought mother and baby girl to a hospital — they completed the job by delivering a brother to the little girl. The twins were born 30 minutes apart.

HARVEST RESUMES—Grain harvest in this area showed a considerable pick-up this week. The harvesting operations of other crops also are starting again. SKUNKED
DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Only an optimist would think of it. Joe Taft, president of the local Optimist Club, presents a skunk to an absent member to keep for a week so he will come to the next meeting to get rid of it. Names of absent members are drawn, and the hapless one gets the skunk.

GOOD TEETH CARE
OMAHA (AP) — Dr. Cecil G. Mueller reports that an eighth grader told to prepare a list of things important in care of teeth replied: "Brush your teeth after every meal. See your dentist twice a year. Stay away from fountains where they push."

PLUGGING PADRE
HONOLULU (AP) — A Catholic priest has turned to the music business with disarming wit. Plugging an album of songs by a teenage choir he directs, Father John McDonald wrote in a circular letter: "The enclosed brochure is somewhat flamboyant, but readable. Because I composed it, it is to be suspected of bias — to say the least."

'Safety After Dark' Project Being Conducted This Month

AUSTIN — "In traffic, as in football, a strong offense is the best defense," against traffic hazards!"

This statement was made recently by J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, as he discussed the association's "Safety After Dark" program which is being conducted throughout October.

"Darkness hides danger," he said. "More accidents occur during early twilight hours and at night than at any other time, because cars, pedestrians, cyclists and stationary objects cannot be seen readily in the dark."

"Light, then, is the best offensive weapon to use against the enemy — darkness."

Musick said such an offensive would be effective if pedestrians, cyclists, and motorists would make sure that they and their vehicles are visible on streets and highways. He advised motorists to adopt the following rule for nighttime driving:

1. Double check all lights, making certain they are properly focused.
2. Use headlights correctly, with upper beam on rural highways when no cars are approaching. And lower beam when overtaking another car or when driving in cities.
3. Be the first to dim for an oncoming car. Maintain control, if the other driver lacks the courtesy to dim for you, by looking at the right shoulder of the road.
4. If it is necessary to stop on the highway at night, pull completely off the road and be sure parking and dome lights are on. For added safety, carry flares for such emergencies.

"Cyclists and pedestrians can also make themselves visible at night," Musick said. "The cyclist should have a good headlight and taillight on his bike (the same for motor scooters). It is also a good idea to trim the bike with reflectorized material and always wear light-colored clothing after dark."

"As for pedestrians," Musick said, "they should remember that motorists can't see them if they wear dark clothing at night. Their best protection is to wear light-colored clothing and carry a flashlight."

PERSONALS — Dr. G.W. Heard of Alabama, who was here recently, has bought a quarter section of land from J. W. Wagner. The land is located south of town and Dr. Heard intends to put the quarter under irrigation.  Deaf Smith county's first allotment of salt pork, furnished for the needy here, arrived this week. There was 1,575 pounds of meat in the shipment.

There will be further shipments of pork and other foodstuffs furnished from time to time. The pork is being distributed by the Federal Government and is given in addition to the county's regular cash allowance for relief work.

Pigs bought by the government in the pork reduction program furnished this meat. The county was allowed a quota of 450 pigs, sold by farmers here two weeks ago.

The meat was shipped to Amarillo for distribution to Panhandle points.

TIME RUNS OUT
LEE HALL, Va. — Time has run out for 19 ships in the fleet of some 300 in the James River reserve fleet and they will go on the auction block. They are Liberty ships which once were potent weapons in the war of supply for troops overseas. Others will be kept for use in a future national emergency and in the meantime are used for storage of some 15 million bushels of grain.

By JIMMIE GILLETTE - Dub Hair is just back from Denver, where he and Mrs. Hair have been visiting with the Morris Thompsons. Dub says a story is making the rounds up there that Eisenhower has landed federal troops in the area around Lake Texhoma. Naturally curious, he wanted to know "why", and was told: "They want to be sure that the schools of black bass integrate with the schools of white bass."

Lester Galley left Tuesday morning on his first vacation in four years, and his trip is a novel one indeed. Lester is going to Trear, Iowa; where he will attend the 50th anniversary of his high school graduating class. They sent out a printed slip showing a list of 15 Trear High graduates in 1908 — and 10 of them are still alive. Lester says that present plans call for all 10 to be present.

Dick Ross, Dub Reeves and Ray Godwin said for me to put something in the paper about J. W. Robinson collecting old felt hats. They wouldn't say what he is doing with them, but they did offer to swear that he uses them for a good cause. Considering the source, I thought at first that it was some sort of gag, but the trio said: "No, Sir! He really has a use for them — any size will do, but the bigger the better." Apparently, it has something to do with his flying; anyway, this trio of well-wishing friends did say he isn't likely to show up again soon in the one he wore on a plane trip to Dallas last weekend.

Diets seem to run in fads, and the current diet fad features the main dish as bananas. I was talking with a lady this week, who confided that she had eaten so many bananas she was sick of them. At first, the whole thing sounded a bit absurd but, after thinking it over, I decided they may be on the right track. In all my life, I never did see a fat monkey. Did you?

The World Series always creates a lot of conversation, and this year has been no exception. Dr. B. M. Wiltshire says he heard on a recent program that Yogi Berra is classified as a stick-in-the-mud. The reason, in all his life, Yogi has never yet seen a World Series on TV.

Casey Stengel, the long-time Yankee mentor, is somewhat of a teller of tall tales, and one of his favorite stories is about an enthusiastic rookie from Alabama. Casey says he signed the boy up — and never saw any one so happy in his life. Naturally, he was somewhat surprised when the youth failed to show up for scheduled Spring training. Finally, he sent a wire to the boy's parents and next day got the following telegram from the rookie's father:

"Don't worry about that youngun of mine no more. He got to bragging about he wuz gonna wear a Yankee uniform — and I had to shoot him."

Emmett Milburn says there is one thing for sure, when he and C. C. Rockwell drink coffee, they sit on opposite sides of the booth.

Pack Brogdon figures what we need around here most is a first class Quarterback Club. He came from a little town in Oklahoma, and says they always had 200 members in attendance. Personally, I never did cotton much to anything they had in Oklahoma, but Pack might have something, despite the source.

A complaint: Why didn't they go ahead and put the grey paint all of the way to the top of the old First National building? I thought anything would improve the yellow, but the mixture strikes me as being even worse.

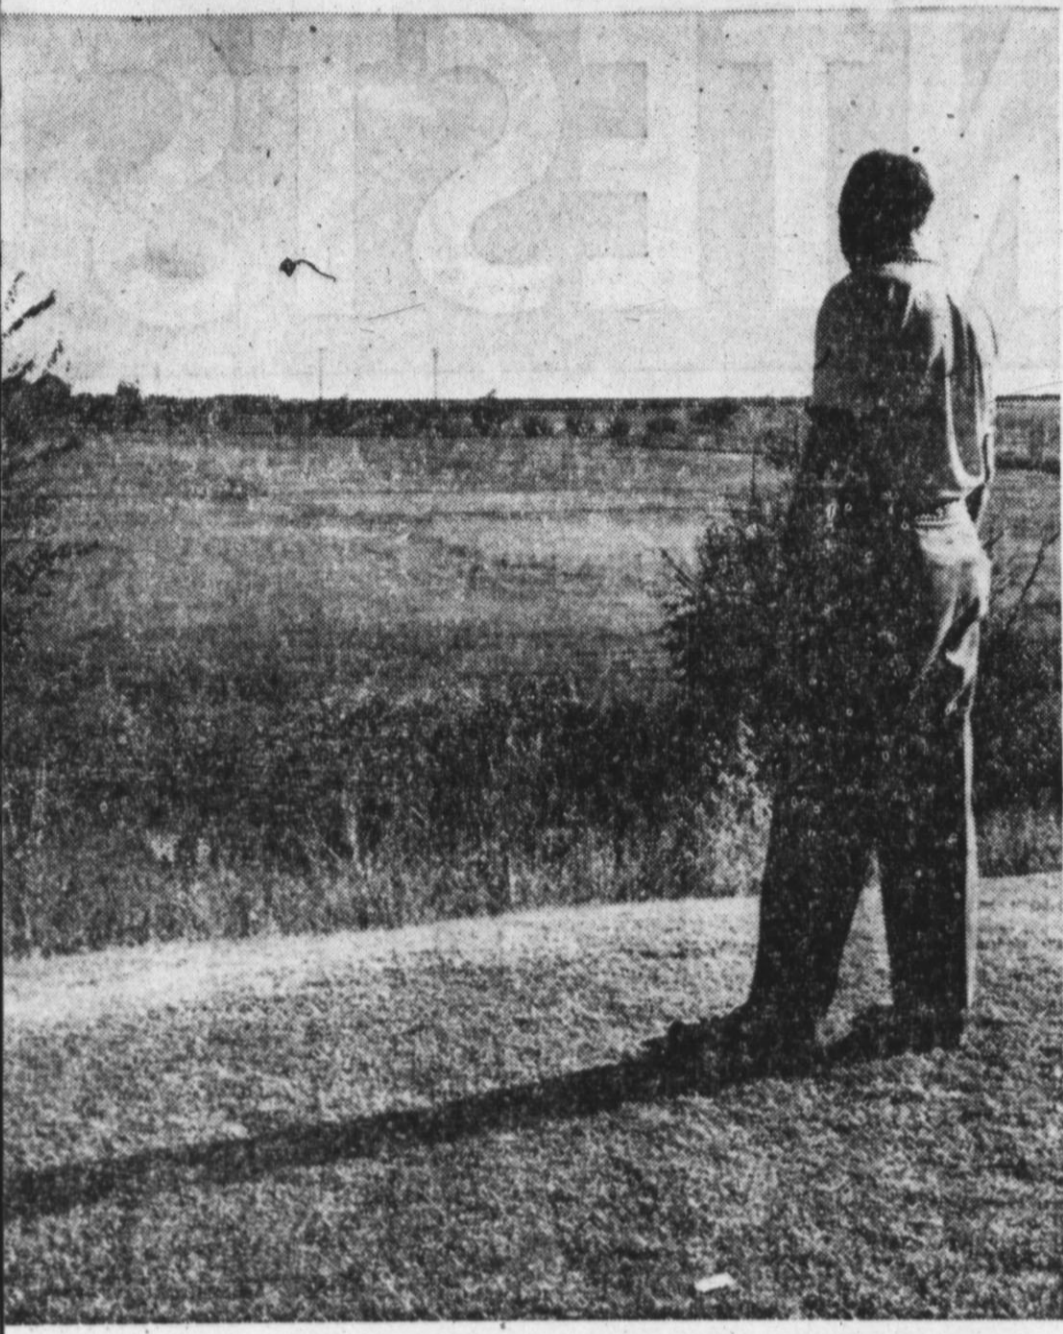

Grain sorghum is really rolling — and there will be a lot of it before harvest is over. The weather, incidentally, has been ideal the past few days.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — This watchdog almost did too good a job. Firemen who answered a call at a residence here not only found a stubborn blaze awaiting them but a stubborn Doberman Pinscher.

They had to fight a bedroom fire through a window until a neighbor was able to call the dog away from where he was barring firemen from entering.

ALT Slates 'Stalag 17' This Week

Exposing a Nazi agent posing as an American prisoner in an enemy camp during World War II, whose betrayals have doomed many escaping GIs is the suspenseful theme of "Stalag 17", the next play to be given by the Amarillo Little Theatre, Inc.

The attraction, which ran for a year on Broadway, will be presented for four performances beginning next Wednesday, Oct. 8, at the Amarillo Little Theatre building in Wolfen Village.

As this melodramatic story unfolds, the play also lives up to its billing as a comedy by showing that, even under the grim conditions of life in a prison camp, American soldiers are wise-cracking and high-spirited. The ingenious ways they develop to defeat the boredom of waiting out a war in idleness and hunger, their bickerings and bleak dreams of returning home — provide some of the funniest situations and lines ever to be found in a play about soldiers.

Heading the all-male cast for "Stalag 17" will be Bob Antrim of Canyon. Other roles are filled by E. Duane Byars, Freddie McKee, Gordon Suits, Joe Russell, Buck Altman, and Jack Corley, all of Amarillo.

All seats are reserved and tickets may be obtained by writing Amarillo Little Theatre, Inc., P. O. Box 2424, Amarillo.

FIRE departments work for PREVENTION not just for one WEEK

... BUT EVERY DAY. The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department is dedicated to saving lives and property. The members all give freely of their time to training and fire prevention work. Their equipment is the best, but it would be of no avail if personnel were not schooled in proper techniques. The days are long since past when a bucket brigade and a crude hand pump constituted a fire department. Today both men and equipment are better suited for the job. All firemen are training in rescue and revival methods, whether the emergency is electrical shock, drowning, smoke or fire. Constant drill and classes assure a well-trained department. But all the equipment and classes cannot make a volunteer fire department. This task takes men . . . citizens who are willing to devote hours to preparation and prevention work . . . tireless workers who rush to aid fellow citizens in time of need—whether it be freezing cold or blazing hot; regardless of the hour. When they answer the alarm, there is no thought of compensation, no question of the person's nationality or creed in time of crisis. They are willing to risk their lives to save the lives and property of others. Can others do less than cooperating to make Fire Prevention Week a 52-week project?

OF WATER can be thrown in the battle against fire by the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department. As a part of Fire Prevention Week, they illustrated the amount of water which one of their trucks could pump. This truck also can pump water while moving, if it is necessary. The arrival of this new truck coincided with the week set aside to emphasize the need for fire prevention.

THE OLD DAYS are remembered as a Hereford fireman tries on an ancient leather helmet which now rests in the fire station. It has been replaced with safer, more comfortable gear. At right is a hose cart which is permanently retired. Many old timers can remember when it was rushed to a blaze by a team of horses or maneuvered into position by manpower.

FIRE PREVENTION starts with the youngsters. The youngsters also received plastic replicas of fire hats. This program of education is just one of the many continuing projects carried on locally.

CONSTANT TRAINING for every member is the aim of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department. Here, members practice with a resuscitator, used on smoke, shock and drowning victims. Speed must be combined with a reflex knowledge to use this apparatus. Other training includes work with Scott Air-Packs, worn by firemen into smoking buildings, ladder drills, classes on rescue and firefighting techniques and practice with all mobile equipment. CELEBRATES 70th BIRTHDAY—The granddaddy of Texas folklore, J. Frank Dobie, celebrated his 70th birthday in Austin with little fanfare. He said his health is good, he is still writing and talking, although he uses a dictating machine for most of his work. "Now I'm wanting to learn about life," he said in an interview. (AP Photo)

Hereford B & P W Club Joins National Salute To The Working Woman

The Hereford Business and Professional Women's Club is joining about 3,400 sister clubs in observing National Business Women's Week, Oct. 5-11. This week is designated to pay tribute to the 28,000,000 women who are in business and the professions. The theme for this year is "More Power with Woman Power".

The Hereford B&PW Club, organized in 1936, has been interested and active in all civic affairs in Hereford, participating in many of the projects. B&PW Clubs are not "money raising" clubs; they establish two or three projects each year, in which all members participate, from which money is raised. The projects are planned for the benefit and enjoyment of the entire town as well as to provide funds for the club projects. An annual Style Show in the spring is the main project through which funds are raised. Another annual project, which is currently going on, is sale of fruitcakes.

An educational fund has been established and is maintained by depositing a percentage of all income from the different projects and annual dues each year. This fund provides scholarships for girls who could not otherwise go to college, business school or other higher education. They also assist in bringing exchange students from other countries to our schools.

The Hereford B&PW Club contributes to many other projects, both money and time. For the past several years, they have assembled, addressed and mailed the March of Dimes contribution literature, participated in the Red Cross and other drives, assisted with the Blood

Hereford Garden Club will meet Friday at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. G. W. Newsom. The meeting will take the form of a goldenage tea, honoring members who have contributed materially to the welfare of the club or the com-

Bank program, with many donating blood. The club makes annual donations to Girls Town and sponsors one group of Campfire Girls.

Future projects, to which the B&PW hopes to contribute, include the proposed Youth Center and a home for the aged which is being discussed.

HOT HOUSEWARMING STILLWATER, Okla. — It was a real housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graham, when they moved into the Oklahoma State University apartments for married students. There were plenty of guests, mostly uninvited. A fire broke out in a closet and firemen and hundreds of students rushed to the aid of the Grahams.

VISIT COUNTY JAIL—Fifteen members of the Ford Home Demonstration Club visited the Deaf Smith County Jail Wednesday afternoon. The group made visits to several other buildings and businesses in Hereford as a part of a club project. Sheriff Charles Skelton conducted the tour of the jail. (Staff Photo)

Recreation Workshop Scheduled In Fairview

By ARGENT DRAPER

A recreation workshop has been planned for three delegates from each county. This workshop will be held in the Community Building at Fairview in Armstrong County.

The delegates to this workshop will be chosen in the same manner in which delegates to district and state conference are chosen. Each club will present a nominee to the council Oct. 27. From these nominees, three will be chosen.

Those who attend the workshop will be expected to give training to local club leaders and 4-H representatives. Also we ask these leaders to help with county-wide events. This is one of the recommendations which this county has made for several years.

Home Demonstration Club women seem to be busier than ever this week. They report cooking for harvest, running errands, and hauling grain to the elevators. Women must be very good managers to get all the work done these days.

E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, reminds us to make preparations for lawns for winter care. Fertilizer should be applied no later than now. Winter watering of lawns is necessary for good underground seasoning.

Program material is in the office and library for the clothing program in October. Home demonstration clubs are reporting very good tours to Hereford industries. The clubs which have visited the jail have expressed amazement at the conditions.

In Jeanette Faulkenberry's absence from the county while attending landscape training meeting in Panhandle, I met the Argent Draper 4-H Club at Dawn. The club had two new members, Alice Ann Caraway

The 1958 Annual West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf Association tournament will get underway at the local golf course Tuesday, Oct. 14, with a West Texas Pro-Am match. Entry fee for the Pro-Am is $3 for amateurs and $5 for pros. It will be played on the low ball system. There will be a professional and three amateurs in each foursome.

The annual tournament starts Wednesday at 9 a.m. It will be a 54-hole medal play event with 18 holes on Wednesday, 18 on Thursday and 18 on Friday. There will be five divisions: A Pro division, "A" division, "B" division, "C" division and a Ladies division. The Ladies division will be played with handicaps with a limit of 18 strokes. Entry fee for the event will be $10.

About 40 professionals and 80 amateurs are expected to start arriving Monday, Oct. 13, for practice rounds.

Iverson Martin of Carlsbad, N. M., won pro honors last year in the tourney at Carlsbad, but it is doubtful whether he will be on hand to defend his title, since he has moved out of the West Texas area to El Paso.

Favorites for the professional division will be Dick Turner, San Angelo; Fred Atkins, Carlsbad; Horace Moore, Plainview; Hardy Loudermilk, Jal, N. M.;

About Your HEALTH

Almost 12 million meals will be served in 15,000 Texas restaurants this week. If you're average, you'll eat at least two of them.

You could go into the vast majority of those restaurants and be assured of getting a wholesome meal — totally oblivious of the fact that you're eating food cooked and served by complete strangers.

How can this be, especially since some 26 different diseases can be spread by improperly handled food? Included in the list are such scourges as trichinosis, the deadly botulism, strep infections, and salmonellosis (food poisoning).

There are many reasons of course, but among the main ones are the four-day short courses in sanitation conducted by the State Department of Health for persons engaged in food preparation and service. In the past five years, according to official records, some 30,000 persons have taken the instruction.

The subject matter, presented in a non-technical, easy-to-understand style with films and demonstrations, covers such essential points as basic bacteriology, insect control and personal hygiene.

Two public health instructors from the department's division of public health education, assisted by local health officials, will put on a course anywhere in the State on request. Attendance is open to anyone, but usually those who come to the two-hour daily sessions are cash

Adventures in ADVERTISING

The story of P. K. Wrigley and THE LOCOMOTIVE

One day P. K. Wrigley was riding on a train with a friend and the conversation turned to the chewing gum business. The friend, who had an eye for saving a penny, suggested now that Wrigley chewing gum was so well known and had such a large distribution that it might be wise to dispense with the advertising, save that expense and make that much additional profit.

"I could ask the conductor of this train the same question," replied the financial genius, "This train is now going 60 miles per hour, so why not disconnect the engine? Advertising in merchandising is what a locomotive is to a train. It is the power which keeps it going."

Elevator Operators Report Large Amount Of Grain

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY

A considerable quantity of grain was being received at the local elevators Monday. The grain was reported to be quite wet, a moisture content from 14 to 16 points.

The yields are reported to be varied. Some farmers are harvesting more grain than expected, others not so much as anticipated, but the average seems to be above that of last year.

Mrs. W. W. Wimberley Sr. returned home Saturday from Amarillo, where she has been staying in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wimberley. Mrs. Wimberley, who has had encephalitis, is reported to be somewhat better, but is still in the hospital. She can receive visitors now.

The Dawn Home Demonstration Club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Muri Little, with 10 members present. The meeting was scheduled to meet at the home of Mrs. Orval Galley, but was changed because Mrs. Galley was ill.

Mr. and Mrs. George Veel of Fort Worth arrived Saturday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Drake. The Veels and Drakes were neighbors for years near Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oglesby of Mobeetie visited with relatives here over the weekend. They spent Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reece Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spicer and daughters visited here Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Muri Little. Mrs. Spicer called in the homes of Mrs. Jessie Sisco and Mrs. Marion Russell in the afternoon.

The Dawn Musettes will have a bake sale at the grocery store Saturday. Proceeds will be used to buy permanent yearbooks and records as needed for the programs. These will be kept as a permanent record library for the club.

Mrs. Jessie Sisco and Mrs. Quentin Sisco and their children went to Bovina Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilcox.

Harvest time is a very busy season for the women of the community. Because of the scarcity of workers during the war years, many women drove grain trucks and pick-ups and have continued this through the years. The wives of the local business men help their husbands. With the carrot harvest on and extra workers required for the job, quite a number of the other women have been helping with the rush hours at the local cafe.

Work has been underway the past week on redecorating the living room and kitchen at the parsonage. The walls have been textured and painted, and the old linoleum has been taken up. Among those who have donated their time are the members of the committee for the church for this work. They are Mrs. C. C. Stewart, Mrs. Edgar Lemons and Carl Wimberley. Others include Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lemons, Mrs. William Wimberley, Mrs. Carl Wimberley, Mr. and Mrs. Rea Cox and Edgar Lemons.

OFF THE Shelf

By V. J. SANDERS

Sironia, Texas (Houghton Mifflin, 1952, 2 vols., $10.00), by Madison Cooper, is the longest American novel ever published. The Atlantic Monthly, Dec. 1952, states the book contains $40,000 words, "almost twice as long as Gone With The Wind, one and one-half times as long as War And Peace, and slightly longer than the Old and New Testaments combined."

Following these factual quotes the Atlantic presents a scathing, uncomplimentary review of Sironia, Texas, as do other magazines of the same year, the New York Times Book Review, The Saturday Review, Time Magazine and the Library Journal.

But the average reader must remember that these high-salaried critics, although having achieved some recognition as being experts in their particular field, can offer nothing more than flowery-written opinions of supposedly normal human beings.

The book, Sironia, Texas, was 10 years in the making; Its business author, Madison Cooper of Waco, states firmly in his author's note that his story bears no resemblance whatever to any real or living persons. There is no need for Mr. Cooper to copy real people — his characters exist as unforgettable people within the pages of his book.

As its title suggests, Sironia, Texas, is the story of a town. The story covers a period of 21 years, from 1900 to 1921. It revolves around more than 30 main characters who are given full meaning and understanding as the story unfolds.

For obvious reasons of its great length, the review for this article, the first week being devoted to volume one. In the first volume the reader is introduced to the town and its outstanding factors. There are four levels of society — the three Hills, Thaxton, Storrow and Hadyn, all related aristocrats left over in a time which has no more need of them; the "commoners", the Lipscombs, Lanes, Elliotts, Blys, Rogans and the Thorntons, all businessmen; the poor whites, the Rascziks, Temples and the Timkins; and the Negroes of various mixed blood.

If there could be a main character in all this maze of characters it would be Tam Lipscomb, the son of Sironia's richest merchant. With all the varied and numerous troubles of the other people, Tam seems to be completely average, the one everyone wants most to achieve happiness.

Of the others there are the Hill Families. Thaxton Hill sports Milly and Calvin Thaxton and their half-witted son, Lance. When Milly followed her family's advice and married her second cousin, Calvin, Tam's father, Marshall Lipscomb, who had been in love with her for years married one of her family's maids, Maira, to spite Milly. From then on, Marshall worshipped Milly from afar, always keeping his wife in the background and although he was perhaps the richest man in Sironia, he still kept his family on the outskirts of town and never made any attempts to bring Maira into society.

On Storrow Hill live Carietta Cahoon Storrow and her son, Charles. Carietta rules the town, not through money, of which she has little, but through her "civic" efforts and the fact that she represents the cream of society.

And on Hadyn Hill lives the most dramatic character in the book, Jed Hadyn, and his sister, Nella. Jed is, in his mind and in the minds of the townspeople, "God's gift to women". It seems they just can't leave him alone.

The conflict that causes more strife in the town is that the Hill families can't help becoming involved with the "commoners". Jed Hadyn falls in love with Laurine Lane, kills her self-respect and is the main reason she leaves town and becomes a prostitute. She is gone from Sironia for ten years, during which he shuffles through two unpleasant marriages.

Tam falls in love with Nella, but she feels she owes it to the Hadyn name not to marry beneath her. Charles, because of his discreetly domineering mother, is quickly becoming a useless figurehead of the South that is no more. Jared Henderson, a half-white Negro, is showing the first signs of the tragedy the town causes him.

Jed has become a drunkard and Mrs. Lane, Laurine's mother, is mentally sick and exhibiting a feeling that is not at all motherly toward handsome, downy-cheeked Charles Storrow.

While all this is going on Marshall Lipscomb has taken a mistress to spite his thwarted life and is involved in countless investigations after her body is found floating in the river. His wife, Maira, keeps a secret that is slowly driving her mad and the first volume ends with all these plots and sub-plots gaining more interest.

Some of the things the unkind critics said about Madison Cooper are true, but in one instance they have overlooked the most outstanding quality of the author. The critics stated that Cooper is not a literary genius, but he is a genius of another and far more important type. His great genius and the most compelling aspect of Sironia, Texas, is his infinite love of people.

Cooper's great understanding and love of people in general allows him to see their faults and their assets and to make the two phases inseparable. The reader finds himself at times disgusted, shocked, touched and angry. But he also finds that he wouldn't have the characters change for the world.

Next week the second volume of Sironia, Texas, by Madison Cooper, will be reviewed.

CLEANING WITH GASOLINE Is Just As Dangerous!!

Every year, hundreds of women lose their lives attempting to clean clothes in gasoline, naphtha, or benzine! Ethics Code For Hereford Police Hereford Police Chief Henry Aycock this week announced that the local police department had adopted a "Law Enforcement Code of Ethics".

"This code has been adopted by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the National Conference of Police Associations and the Texas Police Association," Chief Aycock said. "We, in Hereford, have voted unanimously to adopt the code for our own personal and professional conduct."

The code states: "As a Law Enforcement Officer, my fundamental duty is to serve mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the Constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality and justice."

"I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn or ridicule; develop self-restraint; and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the laws of the land and the regulations of my department. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature or that is confided to me in my official capacity will be kept ever secret unless revelation is necessary in the performance of my duty.

"I will never act officiously or permit personal feelings, prejudices, animosities, or friendships to influence my decisions. With no compromise for crime and with relentless prosecution of criminals, I will enforce the law courteously and appropriately without fear or favor, malice or ill will, never employing unnecessary force or violence and never accepting gratuities."

"I recognize the badge of my office as a symbol of public faith, and I accept it as a public trust to be held so long as I am true to the ethics of the police service. I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession... law enforcement."

Program Given By Dawn Group

The Dawn Home Demonstration Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. Muri Little, with a program presented on "Man-Made Fabrics and Their Care."

Mrs. Leo Hoffman told the group that "wash and wear" indicated the material could be washed in the low or short cycle of a washer and dried in a dryer, but "drip dry" should be hand washed and never wrung dry by hand or dryer. Best results are obtained if there is a very light load or if dry terry towels are tumbled with one or two articles.

Mrs. Little suggested when sewing synthetics, the length of the sewing machine's stitch should be shorter as a general rule and pressure should be increased on the presser foot. Whenever possible nylon or dynel or good quality mercerized thread should be used on synthetics. She then gave a brief description of some of the more popular synthetic fabrics and their more suitable uses.

During the business meeting the club agreed to change its Thanksgiving supper night to Thursday, Nov. 20, rather than the following Friday night as originally planned.

The finance committee presented a plan to sell pressurized Christmas snow, and the members agreed to take as many orders as possible in the next two weeks. Council plans for the use of the flatware at the Bull Barn were read and accepted.

Those attending were Mesdames Zed Stewart, Leo Hoffman, J. B. Caraway, Ray Stewart, Marion Russell, Norman Tucek, Leroy Johnson, H. S. Fuller, Miss Lulu Botsford and the hostess.

High Plains Farmers Discover Gelatin-Like Substance In Wells

According to the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, many High Plains farmers have discovered that a slimy, gelatin-like substance is growing in their irrigation wells.

The substance is reported to be a combination of blue-green algae and iron and sulphur bacteria. This report comes from Dr. J. K. G. Silvey, director of the Department of Biology at North Texas State College in Denton.

The Water District is gathering samples of the slime and shipping them to Dr. Silvey for analysis; however, the District has not published recommendations for control and prevention of the growth.

The importance of the algae and bacteria contamination of irrigation wells is the fear that it may become concentrated in a well and clog the perforations in the well casing or even the pore spaces of the water-bearing formations itself. Should this occur, and it may well be that it has occurred, the well would not yield the quantity of water it normally would be capable of producing.

Word has been received from almost every section of the Southern High Plains reporting that the substance has been observed. Included are the Lockney, Tulla, Slaton, Tahoka, Levelland and Springlake areas. Also, the growth has been noted in central Farmer County and in southern Bailey County.

The Water District further reports that a meeting will be held in the very near future to discuss plans for launching a large-scale research program. Research is needed to formulate recommendations for treatment of wells that are now contaminated and for prevention of the growth in wells not yet contaminated.

Anyone who discovers a foreign substance in his well or pump, or who notices alien matter suspended in his well water can assist in the research program by contacting the High Plains Water District at 1628-B 15th Street in Lubbock. Have you read the Class

After Recess, High Court Wades Into Pile of Issues

By VERN SANFORD

JUSTICE — Into and out of the State Supreme Court flow the most controversial issues of the day. Public or private, large corporations and individual persons often are involved in the cases, and the lives of many less-celebrated persons frequently are affected by decisions.

After a two-months summer recess, the high court resumed its work this month and waded into a stack of disputes among interesting cases, either decided or due to be decided, are these:

Water rights are involved in a case filed by Southern Canal of Houston against the State Water Board. Southern wanted a permit to take 110 acre feet of water per year from the Trinity River industrial use in the Houston area. Water Board refused request, and the company appealed to the courts.

Water rights are also involved in a case filed by the State of Texas against the City of Houston. The city had refused to pay for water from the Trinity River industrial use in the Houston area. Water Board refused request, and the company appealed to the courts.

Water rights are also involved in a case filed by the State of Texas against the City of Houston. The city had refused to pay for water from the Trinity River industrial use in the Houston area. Water Board refused request, and the company appealed to the courts.

Oral arguments were centered on whether the courts have the right to review Water Board decisions. Supreme Court's ruling will have implications for every person interested in the course of Texas' water development.

KEEPING ROOMERS and setting up a church in a residential area were the cause of contention in two cases from Houston. In both cases certain property owners in university neighborhoods argued that other property owners were violating covenanted restrictions.

Lower courts ruled in favor of the room renters and church builders. Supreme Court agreed to review the roomers' case and denied a motion to force the lower court judge to move the student religious center.

Office-seekers had their inning in the usual contests arising out of the year's elections. George Parr, a familiar figure in the courts, won the right to a new trial in his effort to be certified winner in a 1956 election for Duval County sheriff.

Laredo Attorney William Wright lost out in an attempt to force Secretary of State Zolzie Steakley to place his name on the general election ballot as a Constitution Party candidate for district judge. Steakley had refused on grounds Wright voted in the Democratic primary.

MYRON LOVE, choice of Houston liberals, won out in a dispute over the legality of his selection as Democratic nominee for district judge. Harris County Executive Committee had ruled that no candidate filed in time for this office, and Love was nominated by the one-man District Executive Committee. Conservative forces had contested this method.

Damage suits, labor-management controversy also commanded judicial attention. A gas explosion in the basement of Dallas' Baker Hotel, back in 1946, is the basis for one suit in which 83 petitioners ask some $1,000,000 for deaths and injuries. High court sent it back to district court for new trial.

In Houston 311 workers of the AFL-CIO Office Employees Union picketed a construction project to protest the firing of one man. A lower court granted an injunction against the picketers, and the Supreme Court refused to interfere.

no help from Secretary of State Steakley in their efforts to break into the first column on the general election ballot.

In the past the Secretary of State's Office has sent out the list of certified nominees, to counties, with the Democrats listed in the first column. GOP protested, demanded a drawing for position.

Steakley said he was not authorized to set up such a procedure. His office mailed out ballot forms this year, without comment. Democrats were in the first column on the forms.

Short Snorts — An Austin district court ordered forfeiture of the charter of Walker - Texas Investment Corporation which had refused to allow the Attorney General's staff to inspect its records. Walker - Texas operates five loan firms in Houston. Fall pick-up in Texas business activity may gather momentum, develop into a "decisive break-through," says the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Optimists see complete recovery from the recession by the end of 1959; pessimists, later in 1960. State Board of Health has upped standards on fire prevention measures and space requirements for state-licensed nursing homes. There are 560 such homes in Texas. Board must approve all plans for new homes or re-modeling. W.E. (Bill) Arpe of Weslaco was cited by Gov. Price Daniel as Handicapped Man of the Year in a

Hardin-Simmons Enrollment Is Up

Equaling the largest freshman enrollment in Hardin-Simmons University's history, the 1958 fall freshman class totaled 602. The record of 602 was established in 1948, when many veterans were enrolled, according to university officials.

The large frosh enrollment boosted the overall fall enrollment to 1541 which is over 10 per cent gain compared to figures.

The total of freshman registering for the first time in any year was approximately 475, as reported from freshman officials. The 1957 figure for beginning frosh was 425.

Men's dormitory accommodations of 410 beds are completely full and the 432 beds in women's dormitories are about 90 per cent filled. These dormitories recently completed a cost of about 2 million dollars were planned to be sufficient dormitory space until 1962.

However, student inquiries already on file in the university state that the men's dorms will be overflowing next year and there will be a crowding situation in the women's dormitories.

Cotton Growers Invited To Meet

Residents of Deaf Smith County who are interested in the cotton crop in this area are invited to attend a meeting in Plainview Oct. 9.

Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., will meet in Plainview at 6 p.m., Oct. 9, at the Hilton Hotel for their first board meeting since directors were installed at the organization's annual meeting Aug. 29, W. C. Fortenberry, president, announced.

Items on the agenda for directors consideration include discussion of cottonseed prices, a report of gin sign-ups to the PCG for 1958 memberships, a report on the and Conservation meeting on behalf, a report on the State Agricultural Stabilization 1959 allotments at College Station Sept. 25 and other routine business matters.

John McQueen and J. O. Bass, Hale County Directors, reminded other directors the meeting is open and visitors are invited. This will be the second PCG board meeting held in area towns. The group met in Lamesa in July.

HOLDING PROMISE OF BETTER TRAVELING DAYS AHEAD IS THE PLANNING PROGRAM ANNOUNCED BY THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

Commission authorized the preliminary engineering studies for 235 miles of new interstate highways, consisting of 45 projects in 22 counties. Included in the advance planning will be completion of the gaps in the interstate highways between Dallas and Houston, Dallas and Texarkana and from Denton to Fort Worth to Hillsboro.

Cost of the program is forecast as $36,500,000 for land purchases and $166,500,000 for construction.

SOME 280,000 Texas boat owners will have to obtain licenses for their craft if a proposed Uniform Water Safety Act is enacted by the 1959 Legislature.

Representatives of sportsmen's organizations, trade associations and safety groups drafted the measure. It is introduced by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas.

State Highway Department would have responsibility for registering boats. Enforcement of safety regulations would be the job of the state's various peace officers and game wardens.

Zoning — the restriction of skiing, racing, fishing, etc., to various areas — was omitted from the bill.

The Greatest of Everything New! New things, great things, reward you in this '59 Dodge. Seats swing out to invite you in. New HC-HE engines — high compression, high economy — deliver more thrust, use less gas. Orderly rows of buttons on a gleaming panel welcome you to the first all-pushbutton car, with fingertip control of driving and weather. New Level-Flite Torsion-Aire introduces you to three dimensional comfort—ride control, road control, load control. Outside mirrors adjust from inside. DID you ever visit Never, Never Land? Perhaps you need to go there. Here are a few of the things you should know about: —
 NEVER take God too lightly...for granted. NEVER underestimate the value of His church in the community...it is the center of good influence. NEVER desecrate her walls... they have been scarred by sincere worship of good people. NEVER fail to uphold the hands of your pastor... he is God's Under-Shepherd of the flock. NEVER detract from good influence... don't spread false rumors. NEVER withhold from His church your solid financial support...give Him His tenth,—give gladly,—regularly,—systematically. NEVER let your pew be unoccupied for the regular worship service...your presence, your prayers... barometer your soul. NEVER fail to acknowledge 'it all comes from God'... without Him we can do nothing.

You In The Church

WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Grim Reaper Starts March In December

the states. And, it can be said that this was at least one facet of states' rights which the federal government had been willing to leave to the states. But the traffic toll continued to increase, and the federal government decided to try to be of assistance in solving it. The Congress created a Subcommittee on Traffic Safety to look into the problem. This we did in an effort to uncover some means by which the over-all problem could be attacked effectively.

tions, bad weather, etc. The federal government already has the power to make certain requirements concerning safety standards to be met relative to vehicles being transported in interstate commerce but, being confronted with the figures indicating that defects in the vehicles themselves constitute only a small percentage of the cause of accidents, it would probably be assumed that safety legislation as to the vehicle itself would not be much aid in the solution of the problem.

We found, among other things, that there was a great deal of confusion with relation to the different laws, rules and regulations prevailing in the several states, as well as within the several communities within the states. Realizing that the matter rests primarily within the jurisdiction of the states, because most of the traffic is intrastate, we did not make any effort to pass federal legislation to supersede and override the laws of the several states. The Congress did pass a law authorizing interstate compacts to be entered into, hoping that this would provide a means by which the states could work together toward a degree of uniformity in the laws, rules and regulations. This would serve measurably in helping to curtail accidents. I sincerely hope that the states will take some affirmative action under this compact authority. I have always been a strong advocate of states' rights, but I do realize that unless effective action is taken by the states, there will be a great clamor for the federal government to move in and adopt traffic legislation on interstate highways that would constitute a further encroachment on states' rights.

The point is that if the operator is responsible for eighty per cent of the accidents, something must be done to effectively deal with that part of the cause. Some do not believe that 80 per cent of the accidents are the result of the operator's fault, but that argument is really beside the point. What is needed is some action to halt the march of the Grim Reaper. Unless the states do take some action to provide uniformity in the operation of these vehicles, it can be expected that the people will do as they have done in several other instances. They will come to Washington and demand that the federal government take over. It is for that reason I hope the states will act without delay.

Once this is done, it can be expected that further centralization of power concerning vehicles will follow. I have reference to title certificates, registrations, driver's licenses, etc. The cause of 80 per cent of the fatal accidents is being charged to the operators of the vehicles, and only 20 per cent to the vehicles, the road condi-
