School Enrollment Begins Today

Registration in Hereford Public Schools will open today and end tomorrow. Fred Cunningham, superintendent, said he expects opening enrollment for the 1958-59 term to start with 2,600 to 2,650 students, which would exceed the 2,500 last year by 100 to 150 students.

Registering today will be high school juniors and seniors, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; eighth grade students, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and elementary grades, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tomorrow the registration schedule includes freshmen and sophomores, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and seventh grade students, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Cunningham said that Friday was dropped from the elementary grades schedule in order that parents would not be required to come both days, where they had children in different grades.

The St. Anthony's parochial school enrollment was reported complete with approximately 230 pupils registering Sunday. Sister Aloysia, principal, said the first day of school at St. Anthony's would be Sept. 2.

High School students will pick up their schedule cards in the principal's office, and junior high students will receive their cards in the school library and study hall on the second floor of the building.

Cunningham said that schedule changes for high school students would be considered Saturday morning and all day Monday in the principal's office.

It was announced that junior high school boys will be expected to check out football uniforms from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday. "Students who may have previously registered will be expected to attend registration at the time designated for their classes," Cunningham said. They will be issued cards and can discuss any other measures which might come up regarding the student or school curriculum.

Cunningham said the students in all elementary schools will enroll Thursday, Aug. 28, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the school which they will attend. This includes Dawn and Parkview, along with the elementary schools in Hereford.

Cunningham added no changes have been made in school zoning.

First day of school will be Sept. 2, at which time busses will begin operation.

Approximate school hours were also given by the superintendent for various schools in the district, although he said that the schedules might be altered five minutes, either before or after the hours shown:

Lumber Company Is Burglarized

Burglars failed to crack a safe at Rockwell Bros Lumber Co. office sometime Saturday or Sunday night, but 12 or 14 paint brushes were reported missing when the business opened at 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Police said that hinges of the safe were broken off, however the prowlers failed to reach the contents of the safe. They said the method of gaining entry to the lumber company office, 104 S. Main, was the same as that used in four other burglaries reported here in a four-day period.

The prowlers broke the glass of the door on the south side of the building, reached in and turned the latch, officers said.

Manager of the lumber company, D. R. Vandever, discovered the burglary Monday morning when he opened the business. He said the paint brushes were valued at about $80.

Officers said a filing cabinet, located next to the safe, was pulled out to the middle of the office by burglars in their attempt to break into the safe. The cash register was not touched, they said.

Also under investigation are burglaries of a store room at The Green Hedge Cafe and the building occupied by Crum-Linder Printing Co., which were burglarized the latter part of last week. Police are also continuing investigation of (Continued On Page 7)

SACKS AND SACKS OF SPUDS are causing Hereford City officials to scratch their heads. Culls and seconds are being thrown out at the city dump faster than the city can cover them up. City Commissioners have had to lease as many as three bulldozers, at an estimated cost of $900 last month, to handle the potatoes. Note the huge mound of potatoes in foreground of picture. Fire Hits Residence On Farm

A fire of unknown origin completely destroyed a six-room home on the Charles Hill property, three miles north and one mile west of Hereford, Sunday morning. Volunteer firemen fought the fire for about two hours.

Residents of the home were Mr. and Mrs. Jess Holder. An employee on the Hill farm, Holder and his wife left the house upon discovery of the fire.

Value of the home was estimated at $7500. The fire was reported by W. W. Hill, father of the owner, at 11:55 a.m.

One fire engine answered the call and when it reached the fire, according to Fire Marshal Clay Angelo, the interior of the house was completely in flames.

The house was built of cement blocks, and the inside portion was of wood.

A complete loss was reported on furniture and contents of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Holder owned their own furniture.

To prevent the fire from spreading to baled hay located close to the house, firemen soaked the hay with water.

Three Hurt In Wreck Sunday

Two Latin-American youths were hospitalized and another received minor injuries in a one-car accident about 3:45 p.m. Sunday on a dirt road about three miles southwest of Hereford.

Joe Reyna, 16, Hereford, driver of the car, and Severo Gonzalez, 16, Rt. 2, Hereford, a passenger, were reported in improved condition at Deaf Smith (Continued On Page 7)

Assault Charge Nets Guilty Plea

Roy Lee Mosley, 21, Negro laborer of Hereford, pleaded guilty to an aggravated assault charge in County Court at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. Judge Homer Henslee presided.

Mosley was fined $50 and costs in court. He was arrested by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department Monday evening in the 300 block of S. Main.

A complaint against Mosley was filed by a Negro woman Monday. In court, she claimed he had forced attentions on her at about 10 p.m. Sunday after entering her house while she was asleep. The woman said she had lived with him for about two months and then moved to an apartment.

'Segregated' Phone Book Draws Merchants' Wrath

Integration became a local as well as a national problem Tuesday.

In Hereford, the integration problem differs basically from that of Little Rock, Ark., in that it concerns telephonic books rather than public schools, and the upshot may well be two different phone books.

Announcement that Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will drop the integrated type directory, used in Hereford the past two years, brought protests and a unanimous vote on the part of some 25 merchants and professional men toward "every possible step to keep the telephone directory in its present form."

'Integrated' Gets City, County Aid

The door is still open for negotiations on integrated rural and city telephone listings in the 1959 directory, according to C-C Manager Bill Linderman, who said Wednesday that he had talked with R. A. Acker, general commercial manager for the Bell company in Dallas.

"They have promised to look into the Hereford situation again," said Linderman. He added that members of the Commissioners Court and the City Commission had joined merchants and citizens with official orders endorsing an integrated directory, strictly on the basis of community service.

City, County Aid

The dissatisfaction of Hereford merchants centered around the fact that the 1959 directory, instead of appearing with integrated listings between Southwestern Bell numbers in Hereford and West Texas Rural telephone numbers, will come in two or more sections in the new Bell book, due to appear in January, 1959.

"We like it as it is now!" This phrase summarizes the feeling of merchants who attended the meeting Tuesday, and they indicated a belief that most rural subscribers would hold the same feeling.

The meeting was called by C-C Manager Bill Linderman and, in addition to the merchants, was also attended by A. O. Thomas, Bell district manager of Amarillo, Leo Forrest, West Texas manager, and George Stambaugh, assistant manager.

Forrest opened the discussion by pointing out general income (Continued On Page 7)

Nelson Delivers First Fall Grain

Deaf Smith County's first load of grain sorghum roared into the Community Grain elevator Wednesday morning, the advance guard of a predicted large grain harvest this fall.

Dan Nelson, who lives two miles north of Hereford on Star Route, brought in 11,460 pounds which had been cut from an irrigated field.

Elevator officials said the grain tested 18 per cent moisture and was good quality.

Grain harvest is not expected to get in full swing for another two or three weeks in the area.

Deadline Nearing On ASC Ballots

Less than a week remains in which to return mail ballots for County Committeemen of the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, according to ASC manager F. G. Collier.

Ballots must be in the ASC office no later than Wednesday, Sept. 3. Nominations have been mailed to all farm owners and operators. They and their wives are eligible to vote from the proposed list. Five persons will be elected from each community.

Those nominated for office in Community "A" include: C. F. Newsom, T. L. Sparkman Jr., George W. Duncan, V. P. Walker, Dale C. Hallows, J. D. Gilbert Jr., Claude R. Dameron, Billy J. Paetzold, Alfred Reinhardt and A. H. Husman.

'Domino Band' Starts Practice

About 100 band students attended the first marching practice of "Domino Band" Monday at Whiteface Field. Another marching practice has been set for 7 p.m. Thursday at the football field, according to Charles Bell, Hereford High School band director.

First marching performance of "Domino Band" will be at the Canyon-Hereford football game Sept. 13, Bell said. Bell said that the high school's stage band will participate in a Lions Club-sponsored show at Boys Ranch Sept. 11.

County Approves Budget For 1959

Deaf Smith County Commissioners Monday approved budget for 1959 which is less than $14,000 lower than 1958 budget.

One appeared during the budget hearing, according to County Judge H. E. Steele. Commissioners read and endorsed the coming budget which contains little change from the current one.

Total expenditures for the coming year are estimated at $682,113, compared with the forecast $696,404 which will be spent during this year. Expenditures for 1958 include estimates for the final four months, since the new budget will not take effect until Jan. 1, 1959.

There will be no change in the tax rate, according to the budget.

Only major increase noted in the proposed budget is a $12,000 jump in the Road and Bridge Fund. The General Improvement Fund is up about $5,000, and the Hospital Interest and Sinking Fund jumped about $10,000.

A small decrease, about $4,000, is shown for the Permanent Improvement Fund, and a huge drop of nearly $39,000 is planned for the Road Bond Interest and Sinking Fund.

Kansans Arrest Wanted Forger

Charles Robert Stuart, 24, has been charged for forgery by Hereford police, and is now being held in Deaf Smith County Jail in lieu of $1000 bond.

Stuart was picked up by police in Wichita, Kan., Friday, and was turned over to the county Monday. The case will be put before the Grand Jury at its next session.

Stuart had been arrested by officers in Wichita, and notification of his arrest was made to Hereford police last week.

Small Children Beg At Houses

"Several people have brought my attention to the fact that small children have been begging house-to-house, in Hereford," Mrs. Jewel Smith, administratrix of the Deaf Smith County Welfare Department said Monday.

Mrs. Smith said that residents should not give the children money or household goods, but should refer the children to the Welfare Department.

She said the situation had become worse in the past two or three weeks, and urged residents to contact her immediately if a child should attempt to beg goods or money from them.

"CROSS-OUT" RULES

- "Cross-Out" is just like Bingo. Put an X on your card if that number appears ANYWHERE in the symbolized number in the ad. (That is . . . the order in which the numbers appear in the ad layout do not have to match the order in which they appear on the cross-out card. Example: If the number (4) is printed in a column of numbers in the paper, the number 4 may be X out on the cross-out card, regardless of the location of No. 4 in the card.
- In each week's SAFEWAY newspaper ad 30 numbers will each be enclosed in a square-circle-diamond, etc. You can match these numbers with numbers on any card.
- If you have five consecutive numbers in a row—down, across or diagonally—you have a winning card. To receive your gift, return this card as instructed on the back.
- Numbers on this card are to be matched against numbers in the SAFEWAY newspaper ad. Check the SAFEWAY newspaper ad or reprints in SAFEWAY stores carefully.
- This card can be played on any of the newspaper ads or reprints during the twelve weeks but cards are winners and redeemable only if played on an individual week's newspaper ad or reprint in stores and all 30 numbers that week in the newspaper ad are surrounded by the same shape-circle-square-diamond, etc.
- We reserve the right to correct any typographical or other error or errors which might appear in any published matter in connection with this game, and to reject winning cards not obtained through legitimate channels.

burglaries of Hereford Bakery and Wade Cleaners Thursday night.

A quantity of meat, valued at $31.65, was taken in the burglary of the Green Hedge store-room, 513 E. First St., sometime Friday night.

The burglary was reported by Marie Mayfield, employee, at 8:30 a.m. Saturday. Police said entry to the storeroom was gained when prowlers pried off the lock of a door.

Employees of the cafe reported that two boxes of steak, a breakfast ham, a box of frozen shrimp and a package of pork chops were taken by the burglars.

In the Crume-Linderer Printing Co. burglary, 120 E. 2nd, which was reported by Harry Linderer Friday morning, about 16 ball point pens were taken.

Police said entry to the printing business was gained through a window on the south side of the building. They said the window had been pried open.

Two business, the Hereford Bakery and Wade Cleaners, located next to each other in the 500 block of Park Ave., were burglarized late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning last week.

Considerable vandalism damage was reported at bakery. Entry into both businesses was gained by breaking out the windows of doors leading to the alley in back of the buildings.

A total of $58.41 was reported stolen from two cash registers at the bakery, and a total of $15.30 in change was reported stolen from the cash register at the cleaners.

venience resulting from the segregated listing of exchange subscribers and numbers; he stressed importance of clearing long distance calls through the Hereford exchange, and referred to a recent Dallas meeting in which Bell officials had stated that the 1959 directory will be divided, listing Hereford in one section and rural exchanges in others.

"We tried this once, and found it unsatisfactory," Forrest said. He further indicated that West Texas Rural Telephone Company might put out their own integrated directory, but added: "We absolutely do not want to go in to the directory business if it can possibly be avoided."

Thomas, speaking in behalf of the Bell corporation, reported that only "three or 19" operating co-ops in Texas now have integrated listings, including Hereford, Canyon and Tullia.

"There are some advantages, and there are some disadvantages," Thomas declared. "Our company has experimented with both, and have made up its mind that it must keep a standard in telephone books."

He cited "mistakes and errors" for which Bell was blamed by co-op subscribers, along with "legal liabilities" in which the company might become involved.

"We will have a Hereford book," he stated. "Naturally, we would hate to see the co-op go out and solicit our advertisers, but that would be their business."

Thomas continued: "Our officials have weighed the problem, their decision is that we will not integrate the Hereford directory — and I make this as a flat statement."

Merchants discussed the directory and frowned on having two separate books, if at all avoidable. On motion of Ray White and a second by Bill Davis, the group voted unanimously to seek assistance from the Commissioners Court, City of Hereford and Chamber of Commerce in petitioning Southwestern Bell to reconsider issuing the Hereford book in its present integrated form.

Thomas did say that the 1959 book could be in two sections, rather than four. This would mean complete Hereford listings, plus integrated co-op listings. In a previous book, listings showed Hereford, Dawn, Westway, and Frio exchanges.

Regarding the student insurance program, Cunningham said that it will be offered again this year. Cost will be $2 per student per year with blanket coverage on all students the first week. He said that students will bring home forms for inspection of parents who, by signing, may keep the insurance in force.

He added that the insurance is optional with parents and that it is not operated by the schools — only sponsored. He further said that the schools are not responsible for accidents "any further than making statements regarding claims which may occur within bounds of school operations and activities."

In other County Commission activity, ten ladies from Home Demonstration clubs in Precinct One made a report of their recent activities.

Bids for construction of sidewalks, around the Bull Barn were opened by the Commissioners. The contract was awarded to the low bidder, Price and Carroll, for $1220.20.

The other bid, $1406, was submitted by H. E. Wester. Commissioners also discussed the problem of irrigation tail water which is turned out of fields along county road right-of-way. They pointed out that the excessive water is causing large growths of weeds and Johnson grass which cannot be mowed often enough to maintain clear, safe vision, particularly at road intersections. They took no official action on the problem.

Summer Meant Play, Work For Many Youngsters

Vacation Time To End September 2

With the opening of School Sept. 2, summer vacation will officially be over for youngsters in Hereford. The past three months have been important to the development of lives for many of tomorrow's leaders.

The youngsters spent the summer playing, working, engaging in hobbies, and many other activities too numerous to mention. Summer, to some, meant a time of learning, as noted by the number of children taking part in the Red Cross Water Safety program and various other programs such as Boy Scout and Camp Fire Girls encampments.

Some spent the summer helping their parents with chores. Others went on a diet of play and hobbies. Some found new hobbies to work at during the more leisurely hours.

Sports played a main role in the lives of the majority of the youngsters. The baseball fields in the city were seldom vacant. The parks were usually filled with energetic children.

To some, a trip was the highlight of the summer. But to all, it was a lot of fun and served as preparation for the next nine months.

SUMMER FUN—At top left, children of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hair spent the summer engaging in several activities. Larry, 13, built a miniature oil field; Linda, 17, spent a part of the summer helping with Baptist Mission school; Christy, 6, played with her pets, and Don Bill made a scrap book for the Cub Scouts. Gary Story, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Story, and Bruce Miller Jr., top right, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller, were at the baseball field most of the summer. Eddie, Robert and Freddie Thompson, at left, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, built a "push and pull" car this summer. Pamela and Katherine Miller, above, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller, played with dolls on the patio. Susie Woodford, bottom left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Woodford, mixes work with play as she baby sits with the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Davis. Doug, Mark and Judy Roberson, below, children of Mr. and Mrs. Hicks Roberson, rode bicycles often this summer. At right, James Keese, son of O. B. Keese, helped his father, a blacksmith, this summer. Family Treated Well By Iraqis

By GEORGE HEARD
August 9, 1958

Dear Folks:

Three weeks have passed since the revolution and we are still here. It has been very interesting to experience a situation of this sort and to observe the reaction and hear the interpretations that are given it by both the people from the US and the Iraqis. I want every one of you to know that we have been treated well by all of the Iraqis that we know and that we do not feel that we are in any great danger.

We have received a few clippings from newspapers from the US and some of the information given is rather distorted. Some of the home town papers of the people here have run articles saying that a person is missing in action and whereabouts unknown. It is true that we did have trouble getting mail in and out of here and still do and lack of contact with families and friends has caused people here a lot of anxiety. Some of the clippings that we have seen have stated that this is a purely local affair and to some extent that is correct.

The influence of the communists is greatly exaggerated and the influence that they have is because the US state department has followed such a crazy course of action since Roosevelt's time that they have either actually helped many countries to be taken over or have driven them that way as they have been doing the Arab countries and Iraq. As I have stated before, and almost all the people I knew wanted the King removed and almost all are in favor of the new government, and none of these people are communists.

The flights for the frantic people are over and regular airline flights are now leaving Baghdad. It was really amazing how many people were trying to get on these evacuation flights. These flights were sponsored by the US Embassy before regular service was available. The cost of a flight to Rome was about twice the fare for less than the service one would expect on a tourist rate ticket.

Pan American Airways furnished the planes and got a lot of good business, but they also lost business for the future because the airlines of other countries took people of other nationalities out at the regular tourist fare. But because it was a privilege to have one's name drawn to get to go first, many women and children took the expensive way out of here.

Some men took the attitude that they would not be doing right if they did not send their women out. Some women took the attitude that any woman that stayed would be jeopardizing the life of some man when a real forced evacuation took place. Some good friendships were broken over this difference of opinion as to whether wives should leave or not.

One woman actively campaigned to get as many people as possible to leave here. This caused a lot of families to be separated and will soon have unhappy men here and unhappy women in the States. Many people had planned leisurely trips through Europe at the end of contracts, but now the family is separated because they allowed panic to influence thinking.

There was much talk that no man would be allowed to go home and there was a lot of talk that we were being held as prisoners of war. In the last few days, 29 men have been told they could resign. The irony of this is that several are missing a trip home with family by only a few days and the family paid the double fare to a frantic flight.

You may have heard about the fact that at one time we were told that we could not resign. To many, this was a bad omen, but I did not consider it so. Employment over here is not on the same basis as that in the states. All of us are on contract, we are not free to quit and we know how long the contract job is to last. It seemed to me that the only course the management could take when so many got scared was to tell them they were expected to fulfill the contract. The country had to have the refinery operate, they could not do it with local labor. They announced over their radio to the Iraqis that they must keep us. The insistence that we must stay plus some other examples of mismanagement put out by our management caused a lot of labor dissatisfaction.

We do not feel as comfortable as we did before the revolution. It makes one uneasy to know that a government is having trouble controlling mobs of the mud hut dwellers. Things were going fine until a few tanks of fuel oil and kerosene caught on fire. People flocked to the fire as it was the biggest fire in Baghdad since the Mongols sacked the city.

When the people congregated, rumors began to fly that foreigners caused the fire. Soon the mobs were roaming again and curfew had to be called and the army had to disperse the crowds. This unfortunate fire set things back several weeks as far as easing tensions.

Two men from the refinery who were sent in to help fight the fire had a narrow escape with the mob and were taken into custody by the army. After the officers found out about it there was much apologizing.

The new government of Iraq is acting very rapidly in trying to get started the reforms they have promised. The reduction in prices is now general. They claim they are stopping all graft in government and increasing efficiency. Almost all are happy with the reforms. As I am from a different world, I can not endorse all of the policies as being good. Too many of them are following the course that we followed in the US under the New Deal and later after the war in our rationing and price fixing fiascos.

I suppose one would say the reforms here are more like those regulations that have hampered England since the war, and it could be said that the reforms here are the direct opposite of many of the reforms that contributed so much to the rapid recovery in West Germany and Holland.

Rents have been much too high here for the quality of the housing. A few people own property so it has been easy to maintain high rent. Rents have now been reduced 20 per cent. As an example of high rent, a young engineer who works for me pays half of his salary for a small apartment on an unpaved street. A mechanic that I have shares a four-room apartment with four other families in order to keep his rent within 30 per cent of his wages. These programs are good for the renter in some respects, but it does not provide adequate housing.

The prices of many things have been fixed at a definite amount. The price of bread was already low, but it was lowered and fixed. Gasoline has a 10 per cent reduction. It came as a surprise to the new group in power that some petroleum products were selling below cost. We had pointed this out before, but no action has been taken because these were products for special users who could afford to pay more, but were politically powerful.

A per cent of cost has been set on many items as a profit allowed. This includes cars, trucks, radios, appliances, industrial goods. This lowered the price on these goods immediately because the profit was so great. In the past imports were controlled but profit was not.

The price on automobiles is lowered about 20 per cent, but the dealer is still allowed to make 20 per cent so you can get an estimate on the former profit. The regulations now in effect of limited supply and fixed profit look to me to be a good setup for a black market and bonuses to be able to buy. Time will tell.

A German engineer who works with me went into a shop the other day to buy fruit and was told that they did not sell to English so he had to look elsewhere. Such happenings are the exception. Margaret finds that the stores where she buys are more friendly than ever since so many foreigners have stopped buying.

The matter of security is an item that is a puzzle to me. The second day after the revolution the army was sent out to guard the refinery. They arrived during the night and set up shop. The shock to us was to find that all guns were pointed toward the refinery, particularly the housing area. Who was protecting what and from what?

Security relaxed very soon and for a few days things were almost normal. Then we had the unfortunate tank fire mentioned previously. Security immediately tightened up and it was a major chore to go to work. We had to pass numerous check points and searches of cars and people reached a maximum of four times. Needless to say, we were very late to work.

We now have two search points now and it is better organized. As yet, all bridges have guards, and there are numerous soldiers in the refinery. I do not know who the potential enemy is supposed to be. I have asked many people about this and get many answers. Some say they are guarding against communists, some say the old regime has hired saboteurs, some think there are irresponsible and ignorant people who would cause trouble. Some even think there are English and Americans who would cause trouble. If I ever reach a conclusion as to who is the enemy, I'll tell you.

The following personal mention in the Daily Ardmoreite will be of interest to Hereford people as it gives an idea what our visitors write back home when they are visiting here. Mr. Redfield is Mrs. Broadwell's father and his visit here has been much appreciated.

In a letter from Col. Redfield, who is at Hereford, Tex., he states that the Ardmoreite visits him daily and he is proud to show the paper to the citizens of that town. He states that he is enjoying the luscious peaches and is drinking water from the big gushers. A good crop of plums and grapes have also been grown there this year. The country is high and healthy and he and Mrs. Redfield are both enjoying their vacation very much.

Teachers in Deaf Smith county's rural school will meet in the office of County Judge C. W. Humble, ex-officio superintendent, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Schools will open Monday, Sept. 4. Teachers named for this year:

Summerfield, Wilbur Edelman, principal; Rudy Thompson and Oleta Boling; Dawn, L. N. George, principal; Mary Lydents. I dread to think what may prevent the next showing. I also suppose we will have to see the British news with the Queen riding a horse. Judging from the news reels one would believe that woman spends the greater part of her life on a horse.

One of the Iraqis who lives at the refinery had a terrible time the other night. It was almost curfew time and he was trying to reach home before the deadline. He had in his car a cake and a can of gasoline. He was stopped by soldiers so often he was about to be too late. At each stop he had to explain the cake and the can. He finally had to pour the gasoline in the tank, throw the cake away, and have his cake cut open to show there were no bombs so he could get home without undue delay.

OFF THE Shelf

By V. J. SANDERS
For years, many critics and people who think they know about books have laughed at the works of Zane Grey. They giggle sarcastically when they think of the fact that he could polish off a novel a week. They reach hysterics when they think of his carbon-copy cowboy romances. But in the noise of their laughter, one fact remains about Zane Grey's work. They read it.

When the reader's mind is so befuddled with the modern novels about psychos, hypnos and hometown gossip, he invariably hides in a dimly-lit corner and squints through an average, restful book. Most of Zane Grey's novels are average, light, restful books, none of which cause too much tax on the brain matter or the emotions. Thus, in the middle of all the cowboys who chase numerous rustlers, horse thieves, bank robbers and save countless rich rancher's daughters, Zane Grey's best book has been lost in the shuffle.

If the snickering reader will take a second look at his 30,000 on the Hoof, he will be surprised to find one of the best stories ever written about the West.

30,000 head of cattle and a man's ambition to raise 30,000 head of cattle and how he devoted his life, his wife and his sons to that ambition.

This is not a cowboy story. It is a pioneer story about a man, his wife, three sons and adopted daughter.

Logan Huett, a young scout for the army, resigned his post and decided to homestead a tiny valley in the wilderness of Wyoming. He immediately proceeded to write back east to a girl whom he hadn't seen in years and asked her to marry him. The most surprising thing is that she accepted him, hopped on a train and before we know it, there she is, all decked out in Eastern finery ready to become a pioneer's wife.

Well, they set out for his valley, equipped with their household in a wagon, a dog and a couple of cattle, presumably one of each sex, and before long they arrive and are now faced with the task of building a log cabin.

Logan builds his house, he closes up breaks in his valley, he plants his few acres of farm and his wife bears a son.

Everything seems to be going along fine for a while. The house is built, the cattle begin to multiply faster than the Huettets and the corn and potatoes reach a good stand, when all of a sudden, along comes a storm that wipes out the corn and batters the house and cougars begin nibbling at his tiny herd.

One of these brazen cats had the audacity to invade the stockpens and select the only remaining calf for his supper. Logan sees red. He neglects to run for a gun, grabs a pitchfork and plows in.

When the dust settles, there's one dead mountain lion, one dead calf and one half-dead Logan Huett. His wife, whose name, by the way, is Luce, drags him to the house and nurses him through the infection left by the claws of the cat. The reader might cringe when he sees how she treated his wounds. She poured whiskey in the open cuts.

Well, the years fly by and Logan can never seem to get a good stand of cattle. Something is always cropping up to deplete his slow-growing herd.

But finally, when his three sons are old enough to help him, Logan's dream begins to materialize. And soon, he has almost reached his goal of 30,000 of the hoof.

World War I arrives. The boys march off to war. Logan is becoming a rich man. The cabin is now a house and cows are everywhere.

Logan decides to sell his herd. He does so, only to find he has been cheated and he is exactly back to where he was in the beginning.

He goes to Washington, D. C., to try to get his money back, and while there, he receives word from Luce that two of his sons are dead and the other is missing in action.

Logan returns to his little valley, now made all the more lonely because of his losses. He loses faith in himself and becomes an old man overnight. Luce, the typical pioneer wife, tries to bring him out of his depression, but he refuses to take interest in anything.

Just when Logan is despairing more than ever, he looks up and spies a familiar man walking up the path. His oldest son has returned and together, they begin again the long fight to accomplish—30,000 on the Hoof.

CLUB ADVERTISING
NEW YORK (AP) — A new touring night club act has been produced as a new kind of sponsorship of entertainment by a manufacturing firm.

Stars of the cafe act are Florence Henderson and Bill Hayes, who both have appeared in Broadway shows and are currently under television contract to an auto maker (Oldsmobile).

There is to be no product advertising in the act, but it is expected that constant association of the performers will subtly promote the products with which they have become identified on TV screens.

ing amateur champion. Representatives from 45 courses from an area, covering 500 square miles, will be in Hereford for these four days. The tournament is a 54-hole medal play affair, with divisions classified as Pro, "A", "B", "C" and Ladies.

Golf tips:

When you address the ball, you put a bit more weight on your left foot. This is natural when you have to hold the right hand lower than the left on the shaft, with the right knee flexed and the right shoulder lower than the left one. This is approximately the position you will be in when you hit the ball, so actually when you are addressing the ball, you are taking aim at it.

With your weight a bit heavier on your left foot when addressing the ball, a player cannot smoothly swing the club around and up in a full swing, so almost all fine golfers start the swing with a forward press.

The forward press is merely a slight motion of the right knee toward the left. Immediately after that the unlocking action of the knee position is reversed and balance is transferred more to the right foot. Then the backswing can proceed smoothly.

No degree of head rigidity, no amount of trying to keep the vision glued to the ball will correct the fault of poor footwork that probably is the actual cause of the poor swing you made when they told you that you took your eye off the ball.

GET BACK LITTLE DOGIE—Here is an example of the action which took place Thursday afternoon at the cutting horse contest on the O. G. Hill stock farm, six miles west on the Harrison Highway. The contest was headed by O. G. Hill Jr., who hopes to make it an annual event. A total of $653.75 was given away in prize money. The contest attracted top horses, a good crowd and, on the whole, was a success. (Staff Photo)

Labor Day 'Last Fling' Is Safety Council's Headache

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — Labor Day week ends, by custom, summer's last fling. For millions it's a chance for a little more swimming, fishing or boating before school starts.

But for safety officials, it's a headache. They spend the weekend picking up the pieces, totaling up the score of those for whom this "last fling" was really the last.

Department of Public Safety statisticians, who base their "guesses" on grim experience, predict 29 traffic deaths in Texas over the holiday weekend.

Out to beat the odds is a combination of public agencies and private organizations cooperating in a drive spearheaded by Gov. Price Daniel.

Texas Traffic Safety Council, the Governor's Highway Safety Commission and DPS will be assisted by several statewide civic organizations and trade associations in emphasizing the importance of careful driving.

DPS will have 700 patrolmen on duty with two radar speed units in each highway district.

Governor Daniel has proclaimed the Labor Day weekend as "Deathless Days in Texas" and the following week as "Back to School Highway Safety Week." Through school officials and assisting groups safety tags and programs will be brought to millions of school children.

would not call a special session of the Legislature to extend unemployment payments to jobless Texans.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson recently ruled that Texas could not take advantage of a new federal plan to advance states money for 12 additional weeks of unemployment pay without a special law by the Legislature.

Governor Daniel pointed out that (1) the recession seemed to be easing, (2) the Legislature would be in regular session in less than five months and (3) more than half of the some 54,000 who had used up all their unemployment benefits were housewives, students or others only temporarily in the labor market.

But State AFL-CIO President Jerry Holleman sharply criticized the governor's position. He declared the state's unemployed workers have already lost $8,500,000 by Texas' failure to act.

Said Holleman, "If the oil industry or the insurance industry or any other industry were losing that kind of money and the governor had the power to stop it, I believe he would act."

Daniel retorted that the additional federal benefits were offered as a loan, not a gift, and would have to be repaid by Texas taxpayers. "It is not a material," (Continued On Page 2)

The J. R. Pattersons have quite a garden on a small plot. They have some yard-long beans that are really a yard long. Mrs. Patterson is an enthusiast for organic gardening. Sometime, if some of you are interested, we will get her to give us a program on organic gardening.

Here's a good punch recipe that you will like at the end of the summer. It makes 25 small servings; of course, you can use frozen juices:

ORANGE BLOSSOM PUNCH
6 cups fresh orange juice
1 cup fresh lemon juice
4 cups water or ginger ale
½ c. maraschino cherry juice
½ cup sugar

2 trays ice cubes or 5-pound block of ice
1 fresh lemon, sliced
1 orange, sliced

Combine ingredients and pour over ice cubes or ice block. For a special treat, add 2 quarts of lemon or orange sherbet to punch bowl just before serving.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Most Bills On Calendar Could Rest A Few Months

To the people of the 18th District:

This letter is being written on what I hope is the day before adjournment. I have wished this so many times that I doubt it will be true this time. The ever expectant adjournment is like a sword of Damocles hanging over the heads of those having pet bills they desire for the Congress to pass this session.

The constant buttenholing that you undergo during these last days would lead one to believe that this is the last session of Congress that will ever be held. The fact is that, if we do not hurry up and adjourn, we will overlap the 86th session of Congress which is scheduled to be convened on Jan. 3, 1959. Most, if not all, of the bills now on the calendar could very well rest for a few months without great danger to the nation. In fact, many of the problems sought to be solved by these bills would probably solve themselves during the four months interim.

The Congress last week unanimously approved a resolution calling for the award of a Special Congressional Gold Medal of Merit to Admiral Hyman G. Rickover. Admiral Rickover is recognized as the father of the nuclear-powered submarine. His efforts to push the project were blocked on several occasions by his superior officers. His extreme dedication to the project prompted him to go over the heads of his superiors in order to salvage it.

In the military, such action is considered unforgivable. However, Rickover did save the project and the result is that the development of the atomic undersea vessel is one phase of military defense in which the United States can claim exclusive leadership. Many people felt that Admiral Rickover's previous activities had placed him in a position of personal non grata with the high brass in the Defense Department; that because of such situation, Rickover was not invited to the White House for the commemoration ceremonies relating to the undersea crossing at the North Pole.

Whether or not the Admiral was deliberately snubbed by the White House and high defense brass is a question for those departments to answer. But the Congress, the representatives of the people, have recognized Admiral Rickover's great contribution to this country and the world.

THE ADMISSION OF ALASKA into the sisterhood of states has brought forth a deluge of schemes, projects and what-have-you concerning this great area. Advertisements are appearing all over the United States indicating great opportunities with high pay and high return in Alaska. I have discussed this matter at length with my good friend, Bob Bartlett, the present delegate from Alaska, who is running for the United States Senate seat in the new state.

Mr. Bartlett advises me that it would be well for everyone to thoroughly examine all such schemes, plans or projects. He tells me that there are no unfilled high-paying jobs in Alaska and that people should not go there with the expectation of grabbing off a job with high pay.

Anyone wanting to go to Alaska should have ample funds to sustain themselves, just as they would in any other state in the United States. It is expected that many fraudulent schemes will be attempted. I sincerely hope that anyone desiring information on the subject will request the information from my office and not depend upon some unknown and possibly false organization that might have been set up to bilk the people.

The world is definitely moving into a new era in which there will be opportunities that will challenge the credibility of man. An entirely new field of technology is being opened as earthman prepares to move into outer space and to explore the other planets.

These operations will require a vast amount of high heat resistant metals and minerals in which the United States is rich.

Funk to Wrestle Nelson Saturday

Art Nelson defeated Tito Carreon in the first event of the featured double main event at the Bull Barn last Saturday night, two falls to one.

Nelson took the first fall, Carreon won the second with an abdominal press and Nelson came back to win the third and the match with a shoulder press.

In Saturday evening's final event, Iron Mike DiBiase defeated The Great Bolo, two falls to one. Bolo took the first fall in nineteen minutes with an arm lock, and DiBiase won the final two falls.

Another double main event is scheduled for this Saturday night, with Ricky Romero battling Tokyo Joe, and Dory Funk vs. Art Nelson. Both matches are best two out of three falls or one hour time limit events. Matches begin at 9 p.m.

Farm Employers Required To Pay Social Security

COLLEGE STATION — Any farm and ranch employer who pays $150 or more to a laborer or who hires a farm hand 20 days or more during a year must pay social security taxes on the wages involved, according to Cliff Bates, extension farm management specialist.

For the 150-a-year test, Bates says the cash wages for both piece-rate and time-rate work count. The total number of days worked does not matter so long as the employee is paid $150 in cash by the employer in the year.

For the 20-day test, the total amount of cash wages does not matter so long as the employee works for one employer 20 days or more for cash wages based on some unit of time, such as an hour, a day, or a week.

Bates points out that it is not necessary that cash wages be paid the worker be earned during one continuous period. Wages paid to children or to parents of the employer are not subject to the tax.

Records of each worker's earnings along with his social security number should be kept, advises the specialist. The farmer must withhold $2.25 from each $100 of wages paid and then must match this amount. This tax must be paid by the employer.

Range Riders Scheduled At Boys Ranch Rodeo

Two of Amarillo's most colorful attractions will be featured at the 14th Annual Boys Ranch Rodeo at Boys Ranch rodeo arena Labor Day week end.

For the eleventh consecutive year, the Will Rogers Range Riders will introduce each afternoon's performance with a grand entry and presentation of colors. Ben Andis will be in charge of the western group.

Playing for the rodeo will be the 39-piece 332nd Air Force Band from Amarillo Air Force Base. The AAFB band is under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer Guy L. Stone, bandmaster.

BOYS RANCH RODEO

ACROBATS—The performance above has all the earmarks of that of an acrobatic team, but Cal Farley promises many tumblers of the same type at the Boys Ranch Rodeo, to be presented at 2:30 p.m. Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at Boys Ranch Rodeo Arena. Only Boys Ranchers will appear in events for the fourteenth annual presentation of the rodeo.

ter of picking up free money." For the third straight month, Texas oil production will inch up. Railroad Commission set the September allowable at 3,173,736 barrels a day on a 12-day producing pattern.

This will be a 228,302 barrel-a-day increase from August.

Oil production, cornerstone of the state's economy and prime source of tax revenue, was in a deep slump for more than a year. As demand dwindled and crude oil stocks piled up, the Railroad Commission was forced to make deeper and deeper cuts in permitted production. During April, May and June an all-time low of eight producing days was maintained.

Upturn began in July with nine days of production, continued in August with 11 days. At the hearing to set September production, one major buyer asked for 14 days, saying his company's crude stocks were at the lowest level in 19 years.

The metal that will probably be most in demand is tungsten, which has a melting point of 6143 degrees F. and columbium, with a melting point of 4379 degrees F., both of which are highly important in the manufacture of high temperature alloys and electronic equipment.

A total of 99 per cent of the columbium and tantalum processed in the United States is imported, and the world supply has seldom been adequate since before World War II. Another is chromium, which has a melting point of 3434 degrees F. Virtually all of this metal consumed in the United States is obtained from foreign sources.

employer during January of the following year. However, if as much as $100 in taxes, including the employer's portion, becomes due the Government, the employer must send in a report earlier. Remittance must be made within 15 days of the end of the month in which this amount of tax was accumulated.

Farmers who employ laborers should have an employer's identification number. This can be obtained by filing application form SS-4 with the District Director of Internal Revenue Service.

More strict enforcement of these requirements has been announced by District Directors recently. More information can be obtained by contacting the nearest Social Security office, or by ordering OASI-35 from the Social Security Administration. County agents also can help.

University of Texas Bureau of Business Research labeled the June decline as probably a "random variation."

"On the whole," observed BBR staffer Francis B. May, "this recession has manifested itself in Texas primarily as an interruption of the upward progress of the economy, a leveling off, more than a decline." Diversification of the economy has helped, said May, with an improvement in agriculture helping to offset the decline in oil.

Looking ahead, May could see "nothing in the immediate future to augment the recession; consequently, recovery seems the most likely course of events."

BBR noted that Texas building is at a level approaching the "boom" stage with permits for the first six months of the year two per cent above the previous January-June record.

Burmese Clan of Deputies Has Fighting Lady Member

By MURRAY FROMSON
RANGOON — Everknow a woman who could keep a secret?
 Introducing the Mahadevi of Yawngshwe...
 Don't let the title stop you. It means queen, wife of the chief or, if you prefer the Sanskrit: great goddess. Yawngshwe is one of the several Shan states where the proud hill tribes of the Burmese frontier have lived for centuries.

The Mahadevi's secret was simply that she refused to tell anyone how she planned to vote in a recent parliamentary "crisis" facing the Burmese government. To the pundits, that wasn't cricket. All the votes had been figured out. All except one, that is. Hers.
 You see, the Mahadevi is a real politician.
 "And a big windbag, too," says a male counterpart in the Burmese Chamber of Deputies.

"They're all a bunch of gangsters and thugs," says the diminutive but witty and outspoken Mahadevi. You know she's talking about the politicians when she says it.
 That's pretty strong language coming from a lady; especially one who was the first lady of the land only a few years ago. Her husband, Sao Shwe Taikhe, was president of Burma from 1948-51. Now he sits in the upper house as speaker of the Chamber of Nationalities. Unlike his wife, he does not stand for election.
 The Mahadevi is in her late 40s and graciously entertains visitors at her rambling Rangoon home which was originally built by an Indian merchant for his harem. She wears typical Burmese dress, including a beautiful silk longyi — a garment worn by both men and women and wrapped around like a skirt or sarong — but no jewelry.
 "If my people can't have jewelry, why should I?" she asks. "Besides, I don't like it."
 Waving her hands expansively and speaking with a clipped British accent, she explained in an interview that politics have taken precedence over her 12 children.

Supermarkets Spur Variety Bread Sells

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
THE SUPERMARKET, with its crowded shelves, has already changed a nation's shopping habits. Now it is broadening the American's taste in bread.
 True most shoppers demand the spongy, fine-textured, paper-wrapped baker's loaf — deliberately made spongy because the housewife cannot be disabused of the once-true idea that softness to the squeeze is the only test of freshness.

But increasingly we Americans are coming to know and to love the specialty breads — hearth-baked, raisin, cracked wheat and rye breads; French, Italian, Vienna breads and pumpernickel; bread with few calories; bread which stimulates the old-fashioned home-baked look and flavor, and many others.
 None of this, however, has worked to make the nation's bakers happier or richer.
 For one thing, consumption of flour and cereal products has been dropping over the past four decades as higher incomes have enabled more people to buy fruits, vegetables, meat, fish and eggs in greater quantities. And bakers have been harried always by health enthusiasts shouting that in supplying the demand for the softer, finer-grained loaf of commerce they have refined most of the nutriment out of the staff of life. Today about half the states have laws requiring that bread be enriched.

Now there is a need for them to provide a variety of breads.
 "With supermarkets stocking their shelves with many types of breads, people are exposed to them, become curious and are buying them," explained Edwin Gilbert, marketing research expert for Continental Baking Co., one of the industry's giants.
 And if one bakery won't provide variety, the supermarket finds another which will — and the reluctant baker loses precious supermarket display space for his product and product name.

Trying to find out what type of specialty bread will go over with the public is quite a problem. And the risks are great, since American taste for bread appears to vary by region. Fortunately for the bakers, a sort of national barometer exists in Southern California.
 "That's where trends show up fast," says one bakery executive. "That's where they started cellophane-wrapped bread — and sesame seed bread. It's a fast-growing place, the population is mobile, and they come from all over so there are no problems of regional preferences and food habits."

 Some bread-tips:
THE CONSUMER can get more out of bread by proper storage. It should be kept in the original wrapper, closed tightly after each use. To prevent staling, store it in the home freezer or freezing compartment of the refrigerator. Next best place is, a well ventilated breadbox in a WARM part of the kitchen. (Exception to this rule are the crusty breads — French or Italian — which are best kept unwrapped in a well-ventilated box.) While bread can be prevented from molding if kept at ordinary refrigerator temperatures, it will stale quickly.

How Can I?

Q. Can window shades be washed successfully?
 A. Yes, the majority of them can be washed satisfactorily by placing them flat on a table or the floor, with several newspapers beneath, and using tepid water and mild soap, applying with a small hand brush. Hang the shades in place to dry, but of course leave them drawn full length until absolutely dry.
 Q. How can I prevent moths in a piano?
 A. Make two bags of gum camphor and hang inside the piano, near the felt. Be sure that the bags do not touch the resounding keys.
 Q. How can I remove the socket of an electric light bulb, when the glass bulb has broken off?
 A. This can be easily done by pressing a large cork firmly into the socket. This will enable you to unscrew the metal part.
 Q. How can I boil clothes properly?
 A. Five minutes of actual boiling is usually enough to give clothes a good color. If boiled too long, it has tendency to turn the goods yellow. The juice of one lemon added to the boiler will help produce a real whiteness.
 Q. How can I treat tiny wrinkles since I was a child?

A. Massage muscle oil gently into the skin with the finger tips every night before retiring.
 Q. How can I remove grease spots from fabric?
 A. This can often be done by placing a piece of brown paper over the material and applying a hot iron.
 Q. How can I keep small rugs from wearing out so quickly?
 A. Small rugs will always wear out quicker if they are not changed frequently. The wear will not always be in the same place if they are turned occasionally, or interchanged with other small rugs.

Q. How can I remove the stiffness from a tooth brush, that causes the gums to bleed?
 A. Soak the brush in hot vinegar for a half hour, then wash in cold water, and much of the stiffness will be removed.
 Q. How can I make use of the vinegar from bottle pickles?
 A. Save this vinegar and use it when making French dressing. It will add a pungent, spicy flavor.
 Q. How can I prevent dough from sticking to the fingers when kneading it?
 A. By rubbing the hands with a little fat or lard before beginning the work.

MAN'S STRUGGLE

Throughout the ages man has had his struggle. Ambition kindles a fire that sends him in search of higher and greater achievements. Too bad if his course deviates and his efforts become knotted in unethical procedure. If we are to attain higher ground—if we are to scale the heights placed before us—then our efforts must be seasoned with the highest moral intent. It is all too simple to get along when we compromise with evil and set up our code of rotten rules for attaining our selfish, material desires. If this man's climb is to be really successful—his efforts crowned with glory—he will need God as his guide in his struggle. You need the help of the church in your struggle.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that the family and alike are showered with benedictions of stronger democracy for a better citizenship and a more religious character. Statesmen and ministers are the affairs of state can furnish leadership to handle with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular church-goer and a daily BIBLE READER.

Age of Whale Told by Ears

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
WORMLEY, England (P)—
To tell a whale's age, some experts look at his teeth.
But to tell a whale's age, scientists look at the ears. For many whales have ear plugs which show markings somewhat like annual rings in tree trunks.
And the ear studies yield ominous signs that whales are getting scarcer.
Whales being caught nowadays are a bit younger in average age than they used to be. Years ago, quite a few whales were 30 or older when caught. Now the catch contains very few approaching this whale middle-age, report Dr. Richard Laws and Sidney Brown of the National Oceanographic Institute here.
Their work is part of a study of whales, their life span, their food, and habits, all begun by sea-going British scientists more than 30 years ago. Known as the Discovery Reports — after the ship Discovery which sailed Antarctic waters on many stormy voyages — this work now centers on the oceanographic institute.

meal, meat extracts and other products, though not any more for whalebone for ladies' corsets.
Whale catches are limited to 30,000 a year by international agreement. A bureau in Norway receives radioed reports of catches, and signals all whalers when to head for home when the limit is reached.
"It's one of the few international agreements which really works," says Dr. George E. R. Deacon, director of the institute.

Ear plugs found in the middle ear of baleen or whalebone whales are one means of determining a whale's age. The ear plug, made of a horny material, helps conduct sound. In female whales, the plug develops laminations like tree rings.
The markings apparently are tied in with changes in the female whale's hormone cycle with each breeding season, Dr. Laws explains.
Ages can also be judged by scars produced when an ovum or egg is released from the whale's ovary. Some whales can be dated by ridges on a bone from the upper jaw.
Whaling ships, and also scientists who go with factory ships, collect this kind of evidence and ship it here for analysis and compilation in whale longevity studies. Similar studies are carried on in Norway and Japan.
Last year the institute received 700 parts of ovaries and 1,000 sets of ear plugs for analysis.
Some years ago, the whale catch averaged about six years in age. Now the average is somewhat less.
This can't be taken as positive, conclusive evidence that whales are not living so long, Dr. Laws cautions. For you can't be sure that the whales caught each year are proportionately distributed among the actual whale age groups.
Very old age in a whale, incidentally, is about 50 years, not the 100 and 150 or more ascribed to whales by legend. Rusty harpoons up to 40 years old have been found in whales.
Whales, the world's biggest mammals, have been important catches for hundreds of years. They still are, for oil used in margarine, for meat

Made $15 an acre grazing wheat—cut a 40-bu. crop

Bill D. Wood, who farms 640 acres, says: "My records show the dollar profit in applying Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia pre-plant to wheat land. On my irrigated wheat, I paid for my seed and fertilizer and made $15 net an acre grazing it, when I used Phillips 66 Ammonia. The next year, I cut a 40-bushel wheat crop."
Other successful Southwestern farmers use Phillips 66 ammonia to give them higher grain yields... and more profitable grazing. The 82% nitrogen in Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia gives young wheat a fast start, supplies plenty of lush, protein-rich forage that puts on more beef at less cost per pound.
Many of these farmers plow down Phillips 66 ammonia in the fall on maize land. They know that the 82% nitrogen helps decompose crop residue, to provide extra plant food and make the soil more productive. Remember, Phillips 66 ammonia gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer—a full 82%.

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION

for advertising, too!

There are standards

- Coal—by the ton
- Lumber—by the foot
- Wheat—by the bushel
- Land—by the acre
- Gasoline—by the gallon

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising investments on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

Statistics (Not Service) Show Reds Are Modern

By ANGELO NATALE
MOSCOW (AP)—Hey, Capitalists! Quit bragging about your frozen foods, sleek self-service stores and automatic vending machines.

The Soviet Union has them already, and lots more of the same is planned for the future. At least so says Minister of Trade Dmitri Vasilyevich Pavlov. And he's got figures to prove it.

But there's many a slip 'twixt the figure and the Real McCoy. It's no cinch for the busy Moscow housewife, hurrying home from a day at the factory, to stop off at the corner supermarket and pick up a few packages of frozen borscht.

Reason No. 1: There's not yet a visible corner supermarket.

Reason No. 2: There's not yet a very large visible supply of frozen foods.

Reason No. 3: The Moscow housewife probably isn't ready for an innovation like frozen foods. "Eat fresh," she says with the faintest flavor of sour grapes about the frozen food which aren't found at the corner supermarket which isn't there.

All these incidents, aside, Pavlov said in a recent interview with the newspaper "Trud" that customers spend 50 per cent less time shopping in self-service stores than at conventional stores.

In those Moscow bakery stores which have been converted to self-service, he says, personnel efficiency has risen 20 per cent. And Pavlov adds that some 6,000 retail establishments will convert to "progressive service forms" next year, raising the productivity of shop workers to such a degree that it will be "tantamount to opening 750 new stores."

For the benefit of the consumer, Pavlov notes that the trend of home deliveries of staple products like milk, bread, potatoes and vegetables is on the upswing in big cities.

He does admit, however, that only one per cent of bread sold in Moscow is delivered to homes, and less than that in Leningrad.

But "we intend to extensively expand this form of service," he says. "House delivery of milk is to be increased in Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev to no less than 25 per cent of total sales by the end of 1959."

"Motorcycles, scooters, bicycles and minicars will be equipped for this purpose."

While boosting the forthcoming era of frozen foods and the like, Pavlov talks of another innovation which may put the Soviet Union one up on the West—the "neighborhood house kitchen."

He says some 200 of these house kitchens currently are in operation throughout the country. It's in these establishments that "one may order and receive meals to suit any taste," Pavlov says, adding that these kitchens make it possible to "fully relieve families of low-productive and labor-consuming household chores."

More than a thousand kitchens of this kind are planned from the end of 1958 and into the following year of areas where there are large concentrations of apartment buildings. Here, Pavlov says, the working people will be able to buy and take home not only dinners but breakfasts, suppers and semi-finished food products.

It all seems to boil down to a double-barrelled pitch to keep the Soviets happy—a combination of "less work for mother" and "the best way to a consumer's heart is through his stomach."

Educator Fighting For Old Three R's

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Over-indulgent parents and "progressive" schools are turning out a generation of undisciplined illiterates, says Isabelle Buckley, who has fought for old-fashioned methods of teaching for the last 25 years.

"There has been too much spoon-feeding of children by today's parents, who are among the first products of progressive education," says Mrs. Buckley, who has three schools in the Los Angeles area and another near Detroit under her supervision. "They have permitted a dictatorship over-indulged children to grow up around them."

Mrs. Buckley takes a "no nonsense" approach to education, and believes every child should be able to read and write by the end of the first grade. Says she:

"If the public schools abandoned sight reading in favor of phonetics there would be no such problem as why Johnny can't read. "When children in our schools ed the first grade they can read a newspaper and write. They also can spell."

Buckley classes start with nursery school for children aged two and continue through the fifth grade. The two-year-olds start a course in French that continues until they are 12. Before they reach the first grade they are taught the addition of numbers and a smattering of phonetics in addition to a course in reading readiness.

"Children are eager to learn," says Mrs. Buckley. "It is a basic impulse that must be satisfied if it is to survive. That's why they ask questions from the time they are able to talk."

"Children are also eager to learn," says Mrs. Buckley. "It is a basic impulse that must be satisfied if it is to survive. That's why they ask questions from the time they are able to talk."
