Latin-American Group Gives Benefit For Oasis Shrine

Shriners are well-known for their willingness to spend money on worthy causes, particularly children. The Oasis Shrine Club of Hereford is no exception, as it annually sponsors a free clinic for crippled and handicapped children.

But Tuesday, the Oasis Shrine Club was presented with $130 in appreciation for its efforts, in a switch of recipients.

The funds were the profits from a benefit held Saturday, Aug. 15, by the Latin-American Progressive Association of Hereford.

"We just wanted to show that we sincerely appreciate the work that the Oasis Shrine Club is doing," commented J. B. Aguilar, Association secretary, as he presented the money to Shriners Dub Reeves and Doc Kirby Tuesday morning. "Many of our Latin-American children have attended your clinic each year and have received treatment and help their parents couldn't afford."

The association is made up of permanent Hereford residents who maintain a fund for use in case of emergency or disaster among the Latin-American population.

Officers of the Oasis Shrine Club received special permission from the Khiva Temple, its higher governing body, to be on the receiving end of a benefit.

Local Shriners said it was the first time in their memory that they had ever received such a gift.

"We are very touched by this gesture," Kirby said. "All of this money will be used to help finance our annual clinic, which has furnished free examinations and arranged treatment for almost 400 children during its three years of operation."

Shriners who worked as a committee to arrange a place for the benefit were Kirby, chairman; Ross Latham and Harry Bennett. Father Aloysius Craven helped them arrange for a building.

Officers of the Latin-American Progressive Association include: Ernest Tijerina, president; Isalas Gamez, vice president; Raul Lopez, treasurer; J. B. Aguilar, secretary; Joe Soils, investigator; and Daniel Aguirre, assistant investigator.

School Accepts Local Bread And Milk Bids

Hereford school trustees awarded contracts for bread and milk supplies during a regular meeting Tuesday night.

A report on building progress indicates there will be a race between school opening and completion of the Northwest Elementary School.

After opening and reviewing bids, the board awarded a contract to Ed Skypala, Borden's distributor, for milk and milk products for the 1959-60 school year. Hereford Bakery won the bread service contract.

Borden's bid 5.24 cents on both half-pint bottles and cartons. Skypala also made the same bid for both types of containers.

Also submitting a bid was Cream-O-Plains, which turned in a price of 5.5 cents on cartons and made no bid on glass bottles.

Hereford Bakery won the bread bidding with the following prices: 20 cents for one and one-half pound sliced loaf, white bread; 15 cents on 1 pound sliced white bread; 15 cents on 1 pound slice whole wheat; and 15 cents on package of six hamburger buns. There will be a 10 per cent discount on the entire bill.

Meads Bakery bid: 23 cents, 1 1/2 lb. white; 17 cents, 1 lb. white; 18 cents, 1 lb. whole wheat; and 17 cents, six hamburger buns.

American Baking Company (Cookbook Bread) bid: 23 cents, 1 1/2 lb. white; 18 cents, 1 lb. white; 18 cents, whole wheat; 17 cents, buns; and Fresh Bread Company bid: 23 cents, 1 1/2 lb. white; 17 cents, 1 lb. white; 18 cents, whole wheat; and 17 cents, buns, less, 10 per cent.

Trustees voted to call for new bids from Continental Oil Company and Farmers Drive In, after those two wholesalers submitted the same bids for gasoline for school use.

Also submitting bids were R. J. Richardson, Texaco wholesaler; and Allred Oil Company.

Tax rate for the 1959-60 school fiscal year was officially set at $1.70 per $100 valuation.

tion, which includes $1.15 for local maintenance and $0.55 for bond retirement. This is the same rate which was in effect during the past year.

Earlier approved, a contract was officially signed with the Goldenlight Coffee and Equipment Company for new cafeteria equipment. The contract is for $8,503.20, with installation to be complete by Nov. 1.

Band Rehearsal Starts Thursday

Hereford High's Big Domino Band starts rehearsals Thursday, Aug. 20, in preparation for its first appearance on Sept. 11.

Directing the band will be George Hill, who replaces Charles Bell as High School and Junior High band instructor.

First music rehearsal is set for 7 p.m. Thursday with an informal get-together party at the band hall Friday at 7:30 p.m. Hill urges all returning bandmen and those interested in joining the band to be present.

As instrument check-outs started Monday, there were 49 band candidates on hand. More are expected after school opens.

Hill came to Hereford this summer from Jal, N.M., where he was band instructor for four years.

A graduate of Portales, N.M., high school, he was graduated from Eastern New Mexico University with a Bachelor of Mus-

City Warns Of Trailer Sites

Hereford City Commission in regular meeting Monday night issued a warning to all property owners in Zones A and B who permit location of a house trailer on the same lot where a dwelling already exists.

In accordance with a city ordinance, City Manager Dudley Bayne said, a trailer house may not be placed where a permanent dwelling or another house trailer is located on the same lot in either of the zones.

Commissioners warned that warrants would be filed against property owners who ignored that ordinance.

In other business, the commissioners rezoned a house in the 300 block of Ave. D from Zone B to Zone C for purpose of remodeling for apartments. The recommendation was submitted by Hereford Zoning Commission.

Bayne announced that pay meter lights at the city tennis courts in the 100 block of Ave. D were scheduled to be placed in operation Tuesday night.

He said lights for both courts would operate at 50 cents an hour placed in a single meter.

HEAD TWIRLER in the Hereford High School Big Domino Band, Jeanne Rayburn, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rayburn, 217 Ave. B, was named "Twirler of the Week" during the final week of the annual West Texas State Music Camp at Canyon. The high school senior has been a twirler with the band for three years, and twirled with the Stanton Junior High School band for two years. About 250 twirlers from the Panhandle area attended the summer clinic. (Staff Photo)

Swimming Meet Begins Friday

Fifteen Hereford youngsters will compete in a Junior Olympic Swim Meet at Lubbock Friday and Saturday. The meet, sanctioned by Amateur Athletic Union, will be held at Clapp Pool, Ave. U and 46th St. in Lubbock.

Events for children 10 years and under and 11 and 12-year-olds will begin at 9 a.m. Friday, and final events will begin at 7 p.m. If the further eliminations are necessary.

All other events, for swimmers between 13 through 16 years, will be held Saturday. Winners at the meet will go to state eliminations.

Competing in the 10 years and under division from Hereford are Oran Davis and Kathy Miller.

To participate in contests for youths 11 and 12 are Helen Davis, Sheila Sheppard, Gary Roberson, Bruce Miller, Bill Jack Gilliland, Jimmy Cooper and Robert Higgins.

In the 13 and 14 years division, entrants include Barbara Barrett, Karen Fletcher, Bill Steele, Randy Carver and David Dowell. John Drake is Hereford's lone entry in the division for 16 year olds.

Local team coaches are Wayne Lawrence, Don L. Zimmerman, Bill Hardwick and John Matt Gilliland.

Overalls Uniform Of Day As County Starts Move

Deaf Smith County employees went to their jobs Wednesday morning in bib overalls or other workclothes to move equipment, books and records to new County Courthouse headquarters on Miles Ave., just south of City Hall.

The offices have been departmentalized by work activities in the new building.

Occupancy of the building will be the offices of the Sheriff, Highway Patrol, Employment Office, Justice Of The Peace, Probation Officer and Driver's License headquarters.

Offices to be housed in the north building will be the County Tax office, County Clerk, District Clerk, County Treasurer's office, Home Demonstration Agent, County Agent, State Welfare, County Welfare, Red Cross, County Library and a school tax assessor-collector's office, which will be housed on the second floor of City Hall.

Shrine Circus Booked Sept. 9

Second annual Shrine Circus, sponsored by the Oasis Shrine Club, will be held at Whiteface Field on Wednesday, Sept. 9. The two performances are set for 2:30 and 8:15 p.m.

Ross Latham and Harry Bennett have been appointed co-chairmen of the event, with Dick Ross serving as finance chairman.

The outdoor show will be presented by Gil Gray, one of the country's foremost producers of Shrine circuses. This year's two-hour show will open with a "Storybook Land" spectacular.

A committee from the Oasis Shrine Club will start immediately to contact businesses and professional officers to help sponsor children's tickets for the matinee performance. Goal of the Shrine Club is to secure tickets for all grade school children in Deaf Smith County.

Around Town

Back from vacation, it is wonderful to be in Hereford again. We wandered around Texas, catching up on our visiting, but always seemed to hit at the hottest time of the year. Next year we're planning to head for the mountains and some cool weather.

One of the most interesting things I saw was the extensive modernization that is nearing completion in downtown.

Rivera Infant Rites Conducted

Graveside rites were conducted in St. Anthony's Cemetery at 10 a.m. Wednesday for Maria Estrella Rivera, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Rivera, 25 miles west of Hereford. Officiating was Father Raymond Gillis, pastor of St. Joseph's Mission at Hereford Labor Camp.

The infant was born Monday at Deaf Smith County Hospital and died there at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Survivors include the parents, one brother, Mike, and the grandparents, Mrs. Alehanda Juarez of Weslaco and Mrs. Juanita Villareal of Hereford. Burial was under the direction of Kreig-Marcum Funeral Home.

Hereford Cattle Tour Set

More than 400 persons from eight states are expected for Hereford's first livestock inspection tour, a day-long trip around "The Hereford Capital."

Representative Hereford cattle will be viewed by breeders and raisers on Monday, Aug. 24, during a tour of eight ranches around Hereford.

Sponsored by the Hereford Livestock Committee, some 800 invitations were sent out to men in cattle-raising states. Reservations for the tour already have been received from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Missouri and Texas. Registration will start Sunday in the Jim Hill Hotel for the early arrivals. A buffet breakfast for out-of-town guests at 7 a.m. in the hotel ballroom will start Monday's activities.

A caravan will leave the hotel at 8 a.m., lead by police escort, for the all-day tour. Order of the tour during the morning will be: Howard Gault and Son, Lee Cocanougher Ranch, Walter Graham Ranch, where refreshments will be served.

Jack Frost's Eskimo Ranch and Jack Renfro Ranch. The tour will stop at the Bull Barn in Hereford at noon for a barbecue for invited guests.

The afternoon itinerary includes visits to H. D. Robbins and Son and Colby Conkright and Son. Tour is slated to end at the Dameron Hereford Ranch where the group will have a watermelon feed.

In addition to the many breeders and commercial cattle operators, livestock specialists from Kansas State University, Oklahoma State University,

New Mexico A&M, Texas Tech and Texas A&M will be on hand.

Other distinguished guests will include Paul Swaffar of Kansas City, secretary of the American Hereford Association; Sandy Newsom of El Paso, field representative for the American Hereford Association in Mexico; Henry Elder of Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas Hereford Association; Cotton John Smith, KGNC radio and television agriculture reporter; and Mason King, area historian and writer for the Amarillo Daily News.

Lincoln Center Champions American Cultural Feits

By W. G. ROGERS
NEW-YORK, Aug. 1 (AP) — "What difference," I asked John D. Rockefeller III, "will New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts make to the people in Chicago and Salina and Kalamazoo?"

Rockefeller, president of the general committee, and dedicated to this general idea ever since his father hoped to move the Metropolitan Opera to Rockefeller Center, said it amounted, outside New York, to "encouragement of cultural activities in local feits."

"Here is one indication of it," he went on. "Recently I was asked to speak in Winston-Salem, N. C. They wanted to hear me for just one subject: News about Lincoln Center. It is a plan that matters directly to them."

At the ground-breaking ceremonies in May, New York's Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson believed the Center would "become the cultural heart of our country," and New York Mayor Robert Wagner was even more optimistic: "It would turn his city 'truly into the cultural capital of the world.'"

It will certainly attract tourists the year round, not only in season for the scheduled activities of the six principal members of the Center but also for supplementary programs in air-conditioned halls that are the newest in architecture and the most conveniently and comfortably equipped, and centrally located.

It will also attract attention not only in smaller American cities but in the capitals of Europe, and in Moscow. It promises to become the essential, tangible symbol of the intensity of American devotion to the higher things of life. When somebody accuses us of thinking of nothing but money, we can answer:

"Lincoln Center proves you're wrong."

Americans are having to think a great deal about money, and a great deal of money, too, in order to finance the 12-acre project that noses into Broadway at 64th and 66th streets. They have collected 47 million dollars, of which almost 28 million comes from 16 different foundations. Next year there will be an intensive campaign for public support.

Most expensive single building, as well as largest and most elaborate, will be the Metropolitan Opera House; original estimate of its cost was $24,500,000; runner-up is Philharmonic Hall, $8,500,000. But since those figures were computed, costs have risen; the Philharmonic Hall for instance will now run to $1,350,000 more, and presumably the Opera House in proportion.

Paradoxically, though it isn't easy to raise such staggering sums, it may be easier to raise a lot than a little. It is better, that is, for all the art and music organizations to pool their efforts in a single drive than for each one to try all by itself. It's a sort of Community Chest of the Arts; a community-wide appeal is based on the needs of half a dozen eminently worthy groups that operate for the benefit of the entire locality.

It is the European custom, and has been the American, to spread cultural buildings all over the map. The visitor to Paris, for instance, finds much of his pleasure there is due to the dispersion of the historic monuments, museums, opera houses and theaters he wants to enjoy.

They have been dispersed that way here, in fact; but they had found it necessary to move. Some had their quarters sold out from under them, some had quarters inadequate for their purposes, some were crowded by the growing city.

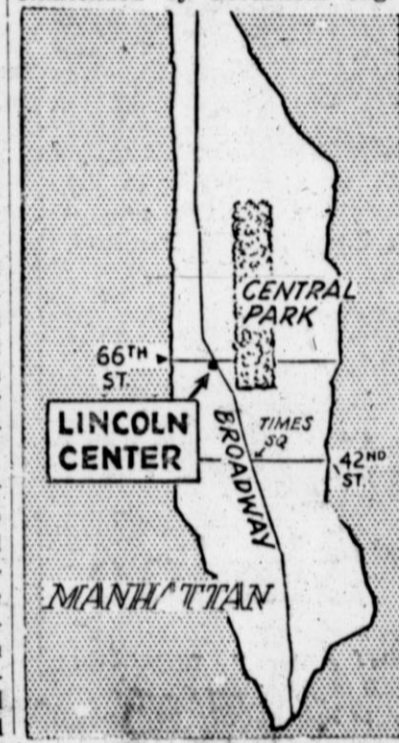

The American music "consumer" may prefer opera for sentimental reasons in the glamorous old house at 39th and Broadway. But for all its splendid traditions, its gold curtain and diamond horseshoe, it has not anywhere near enough backstage room, and can't dig down for more because it is blocked by a subway — put in years after the Met began functioning. Carnegie Hall's owners want to sell and get the financial return that 7th Ave. and 57th St. corner can collect better from offices than from orchestra.

The Center will include, besides the Metropolitan and the Philharmonic, the Juilliard School and dormitory, a repertory theater, a theater for the dance and opera, and a library-museum as an extension of the New York Public Library. Fordham University will face the Center; a shell for band is planned, and also a high school of performing arts. There will be room for parking 750 cars underground; all the buildings can be reached by car underground, and on foot underground from the 66th St. and Broadway subway station.

Chief architect is the firm of Harrison and Abramovitz. Wallace K. Harrison is architect of the Opera House, and Max Abramovitz, of the Philharmonic Hall. Among consultants are Alvar Aalto of Finland and the Americans Marcel Breuer and Henry R. Shepley.

Women Are Called 'Very Reliable' Fire Spotters

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — "When there is a bad fire, it seems to still the air. And the loneliness creeps in," the middle-aged widow says.

As she stands in her lofty perch atop Sugar Hill in Schuylar County northwest of Elmira, N. Y., Mrs. Lorna Dewitt watches for forest fires as do three other women in other parts of New York State.

The four, among New York's 108 fire-spotters, have been keeping vigil for a total of 35 years.

The veteran is Mrs. Helen Ellett, 45, who has watched near Troy for 12 years. Mrs. Sophia Anderson, 60, has been on duty southeast of Syracuse for 10 years; Mrs. Leona Borst, 53, has watched west of Albany for nine years, and Mrs. Dewitt for four years.

"They are real experts at scanning the horizons for fire," says Solon J. Hyde, head of the New York State Conservation Department's Bureau of Forest Fire Control. "They are very reliable."

When the trees are green, the grass lush and fire danger low, the women occupy themselves with planting trees, reading, fixing screens, cutting brush, neers, should be ready in 1961, first of all the buildings; construction has already started. The Metropolitan will seat 3,800.

In a recently issued progress report, Rockefeller noted, "In city after city, arts centers are flourishing, or are being planned and built. Lincoln Center is a part of this national movement; it is our city's and our nation's response to a present need."

The Center's president continued: "Lincoln Center from its conception has been a venture in faith, of faith in the ability of the performing arts to meet a need of the American people, of faith in the ability of the Center to represent the importance of the arts to all of us."

mending the family clothing, painting, watching creatures of the forest or tending the recreation sites the state has built at many towers.

Mrs. Anderson has spent up to 18 consecutive days on the job in or beside her 90 foot tower.

"No one relieves me," she says. "I just go on duty until a rainy day, then I call in and get the day off."

To Mrs. Ellett, "All fires are exciting, and not to be taken lightly."

Hyde discourages assignment of women to isolated towers, even though there is a cabin at the foot of each observatory. Watchers, who earn $61 a week, are not required to live at their posts but many do during very dry spells. They work about seven months a year.

Few cabins have electricity. All have telephones to spread word of danger.

Mrs. Ellett's home is 5 1/2 miles from her tower. When spring and fall mud discourage motor travel, she mounts a horse for the trip.

"But the ones where the wardens call the tower and ask for all the help they can get are especially exciting," she says. "I call the stores and other places and ask them to tell the men who are there of the fires, and call the wardens and rangers to get all help available and take them to the fires."

Mrs. Borst has worked 70 hours a week in critical times.

But to Mrs. Dewitt, the "unsung heroines" of the fire control service are the wives of the rangers.

"While their husbands are on duty, they take reports, locate help, direct and receive countless telephone calls."

town Abilene. About 80 blocks in the heart of the city got some face-lifting. Streets were widened, new storm sewers were installed and old brick streets were re-paved. But the thing that caught my eye was the sidewalk coloring. They are black and flecked with tiny pieces of glass. Theory is that they cut down on glare, reflected heat, stay cooler in summer and help melt snow and ice faster in the winter. After walking on them a couple of blocks, I could tell the difference in the amount of light reflected. Besides, they look pretty jazzy.

Football enthusiasts are encouraged by the size of the Herd candidates who have reported for practice. Some of the boys have really grown this summer and Coach Bobby Williams is acting somewhat more optimistic about the team. There were 56 boys out the first day, with more expected after school starts. Work-outs will be at 6 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., with 90-minute practices at each session until school starts.

C of C manager Bill Thompson will be in Lubbock Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the annual meeting of West Texas Chamber Managers. During the short course for new managers, Bill will make a talk on Saturday concerning "The Scope of Chamber of Commerce Activities." Bill summed up the talk by saying, "Really, there just isn't any limit!" Chamber secretary Lynn Grinnell will attend a secretary's short course in Lubbock on Saturday.

Candidates in Community B include Andrew S. Batterman, Joe B. Wagoner, Jake Gregory, Mike Betzen, A.R. Dillard, Lawrence Carlson, Eugene Fangman, A. F. Huckert, Charles Schlabs and A. F. Marnell.

Community C candidates are Elmer Northcutt, Harold Head, J. F. Ford, Phillip Miller, J. S. Stocks, Glenn Burrus, Ralph W. Mitchell, Lewis Smith, Ira Scott and Chester Wiggins.

Community D candidates are Elmo K. Pinnell, J. V. Perrin, H. D. Fowler, Marion Ferguson, J. Archie Love, Glenn B. Allred, E. R. Artho, Melvin Henderson, Bruce G. Richardson and M. W. Blankenship.

Ballots may be mailed or taken to the ASC office anytime before Sept. 8. Collier said if ballots are mailed, the voter's name and address must be indicated on the envelope for the purpose of listing those participating in the election and the envelope must be plainly marked "Ballot" so that it will not be opened until the day of the election. In order that the ballot be cast secretly, it should be sealed in a small envelope which in turn should be placed in the self-addressed envelope mailed to voters.

All county farmers and their wives are eligible to vote in the election.

NEW IDEA: The Newark Airport control tower is a "first" in aviation.

Tower Built In Middle Of Busy Newark Airfield

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Busy Newark Airport has just completed a new jet-age control tower in an unlikely spot — in the smack middle of the flying field.

Port of New York Authority, which operates the airport, says the 150-foot tower is the first to be located in the center of any major flying field. In this position it gives an unobstructed view of the 2,300-acre airport. Control towers usually are on terminal buildings at the airport fringes.

The tower is another "first" for the Newark airport, which has been one of the major testing grounds for new aviation ideas. Instrument approach equipment was first tried here as the Civil Aeronautics Administration approved centerline flashing approach light system.

To the 2½ million passengers passing through Newark Airport each year, the tower will resemble a thick concrete pillar rising out of a round dish, with three pie-shaped floor levels. At the very top are glass control cab and radar bubble.

All occupied portions of the $1,750,000 control tower are sheathed in translucent plastic identical to that which roofed over the U. S. Pavilion in the Brussels World Fair. The translucent material, developed by the Kalwall Corp., of Manchester, N. H., glows at night when interior lights are on — making the tower its own warning beacon.

Inside the tower 75 Federal Aviation Administration employees operate the maze of electronic equipment needed to control the airport's traffic. The tower is the airport's fourth in its 31-year history, and is twice as high as its predecessor.

Twelve airlines serve the airport — one of three major fields in the metropolitan New York City area.

TREE DETOURS HIGHWAY
CHICAGO (AP) — An expressway will make an extra curve to spare a pine, the last survivor of 60 trees planted in 1860 to mark the Indian boundary lines which extended southwestward from Lake Michigan.

The surviving tree, south of Chicago, was in the path of a projected leg of a metropolitan expressway. Before bulldozers approached, amateur historians and garden club members persuaded the highway planners to curve the road and save the tree.

The two lines of trees once showed boundaries of a 20-mile wide strip which was ceded to the United States in 1816 by the Chippewa, Ottawa, Pottawatomie tribes.

HOW BOUT THAT

Drawn for The Brand By Ralph Tee

Beauty At Home

Q. What is a good facial beauty mask for a discolored skin (after a sun tan, etc.) or a skin that is clogged with impurities?

A. A yeast facial. After washing and rinsing face well, combine with one cake of yeast one tablespoon of milk and 10 drops of oil of lavender or oil of lilac (either of these to counteract the unpleasant yeast odor). Spread this evenly over the face, and let remain for a half-hour. At end of 15 minutes, you can put a second coat over the areas most discolored or blemished. Rinse off with warm water and a soft cloth, then apply good, chilled astringent to tone up the skin. Repeat this treatment at regular intervals.

Q. How much tweezing of the eyebrows do you advocate?

A. Only the stray hairs that spoil the natural arch. Above all, keep your brows NATURAL looking! That brittle, artificial look that goes with over-plucked brows is anything but attractive. What you want is a neat and natural appearance.

Q. What shampooing aid will induce more gloss into my hair?

A. Try adding the beaten white of an egg to your regular shampoo.

Q. Please tell me how I can help to bleach my facial freckles.

A. Lemon juice is a good bleach. Apply it with a small brush, allow to remain on for 15 to 20 minutes each day, then wash off with a good soap and warm water. Because lemon juice tends to be drying, apply a little lubricating cream after washing, and allow that to remain on for an equal period of time. Steer away from the prime cause of prominent freckles — over-exposure to the sun!

Q. How can I mix my own toilet powder at home?

A. One good recipe consists of two parts borie acid mixed with eight parts starch.

Q. What is an easy method of keeping those "trouble" areas clean — the elbows, the knees, and the backs of the heels?

A. By adding a little powdered pumice to your soap lather and scrubbing these areas with a brush, you'll have the abrasive action needed to eradicate the grime from these "tough-skin" spots.

from rusty nails, etc. Wounds should receive medical attention and possible immunization against tetanus.

TRANS PORTATION: New methods are complicated. The key is proper instruction and practice.
Breton says there are "thousands of cases where people have done things that called for first aid skills. . . skills they read or heard about or saw on television." But he says by far the best way to prepare for an emergency is to take a first aid course.

Free courses are offered by 3,700 chapters of the Red Cross. Breton says every home should have the 241-page Red Cross first aid textbook, and every home and automobile a basic aid kit. He adds:

"The price of your life may be 75 cents for the textbook and the time it takes to study it."

Changing First Aid Makes Old Methods Useless

By WILLIAM C. OWEN WASHINGTON — Today, a week or maybe a year from now you may have only seconds to save a life. But if you are like most Americans, you're not well trained to take action.
The crisis would require instant, correct first aid. You may have had the training long ago. But now it's outmoded. This is especially true if you're one of the 15 million living veterans of World War II or one of the millions of women who took the training as a patriotic war-time duty.
Since the war, four major first aid techniques — control of bleeding, artificial respiration, cold injuries and transportation methods — have been reversed. What was formerly the thing to do is now the dangerous thing to do.

A host of other minor treatments have been changed and some new techniques initiated.
But the public's knowledge has not kept pace.
"The majority of people have some first aid knowledge, but while some of it is good, some of it is bad," says Earl H. Bre-

Girl Combo Finds Harmony At Home And On The Bandstand

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Five girl musicians who team up nightly as a progressive jazz combo achieve as much harmony at home as they do on the bandstand.

"We get along so well together we don't even fight over the one bathroom in the house," they'll tell you.

The group was organized 10 years ago in Indianapolis by Flo Dreyer, its leader and trombone and trumpet player. Now it's playing nightly under a year's contract at a suburban hotel.

Other members are Fagle Liebman, drummer; Greta Gibson, saxophone; Stella Mattern, piano; and Jean Bangor, bass.

The five rent a house where they live together and do their practicing. They share household chores except for cooking which is Flo's domain.

"In leaner years we couldn't afford to eat dinner out," says Fagle. "Now we're used to Flo's home cooking. Her lasagna is terrific."

CHANGING FACE: The 41-story Prudential building, the tallest of Chicago's new buildings, is in the background and the Art Institute of Chicago on Michigan Ave., at right.

Chicago Changes Face For GOP

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — Delegates to next year's Republican National Convention will see Chicago's new face — one shaped by the plastic surgery of the building trades.

The surgery has been a slow, gradual process that makes little impression on workers and shoppers who make regular trips downtown.

But the changes will be noticeable at once to the delegates who haven't been back to the Windy City since 1952 or 1944 conventions.

Ten new office buildings have risen in or near the Loop since World War II, the loftiest being the 41-story Prudential building on Randolph east of Michigan.

There are the Inland Steel building at Monroe and Dearborn, the Borg-Warner building at Michigan and Adams, the new home of the Chicago Sun-Times on the north bank of the Chicago River, and the United States Fidelity and Guaranty building at Jackson and Wells.

But the biggest transformation has been along Wacker Drive, a broad thoroughfare that parallels the river as it flows along the edge of the main business district.

New structures along Wacker Drive are the Executive House, a 40-story hotel just west of Michigan, Sinclair building at Randolph, Morton building at Washington, Mutual Trust building at Monroe and American Fore building at Jackson.

Almost as many more are planned or under way in the downtown section.

It's no boom, in the opinion of Lowell Baker, executive secretary of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards. Instead, he says, the downtown development is "a substantial, needed addition."

But in the city's other districts and suburban areas, apartment houses and factories are fairly popping up.

The Chicago metropolitan area ranks first in the nation in new and enlarged plants since World War II.

The GOP delegates probably will be most interested in the new 34 million dollar convention hall, the Exposition Center, now under construction on the Lake Michigan Shore at 23rd St. It will open in the late summer or fall of 1960 and because of the uncertainty of the completion date, was by-passed by the Republicans who met July 25.

The hall in the architect's drawing resembles a sprawling factory. It will be almost three blocks long and a block wide, will contain meeting rooms, a theater and such extras as skating rinks and swimming pool.

The 1,325 GOP delegates and about 12,000 other visitors will return to the 25-year-old International Amphitheatre for the convention, located in the South Side stockyards four miles from the heart of the loop, where the GOP convention was held in 1952.

The amphitheatre looks much like a college fieldhouse or oversized cow barn. The Democrats used it for their 1952 and 1956 conventions, but in 1960 will meet in San Francisco.

Republicans will be returning to the city where 100 years before Lincoln was nominated amid the roar of a booming cannon; where William Jennings Bryan told the 1896 Democratic delegates: "You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold"; where Franklin D. Roosevelt won the Democratic nomination in 1932 as an organ pealed "Happy Days Are Here Again."

The GOP convention will be the Republican's 14th convention in Chicago. The Democrats have held nine here.

Police Chief Gives First Aid Talk

Hereford Police Chief, Henry Aycock, presented a demonstration of artificial respiration at the regular noon meeting of Hereford Optimist Club Tuesday at IOOF Hall.

Aycock discussed the annual Deaf Smith County Red Cross chapter's First Aid program, of which he is an instructor.

He gave examples of people whose lives have been saved as result of "common, basic First Aid." He stressed the "how to do and when to do" phases of the program.

Members of the club and their families were urged to become interested in the program by Aycock. Classes will be offered during the first part of the winter, he said. He gave a demonstration of methods of artificial respiration as highlight of his talk.

Other honors Miss Gandar has received include being named Most Ideal Student Nurse, dorm chairman, region delegate and Student Council representative.

How Can I?

Q. How can I best wash a flour sieve?

A. Don't wash the flour sieve in soapy water. Instead, use bicarbonate of soda in the water, since soda does not stick to the fine meshes, as soap does.

Q. How can I prevent the empty compartments of my muffin tin from getting burned when I don't have enough batter to fill all of them?

A. Fill the empty compartments with water before putting your muffin tin into the oven.

Q. How can I, when applying new wallpaper over old, prevent any grease spots on the old paper from "bleeding" through and spoiling the appearance of my newly-papered walls?

A. You can avoid any danger of "bleeding," if you first cover the grease spots with some shellac.

Vacations, Trips Continue To Highlight Area Activity

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY

Vacation trips continue to highlight the community activities. A number of families returned home this week while others have just left.

Mr. and Mrs. Muri Little and sons returned home Wednesday from a two weeks vacation trip to points in Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

They visited relatives in Fort Worth and Dallas and visited Little's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Little at Lawton, Okla. They attended summer graduation exercises at Oklahoma University at Norman. Little's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little received their Master's Degree. Both will teach in Derby, Kan., next year.

The Muri Little's went as far north as Springfield, Mo., then returned home through the Ozark Mountains which they reported to be very beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Russell and children came home Friday from a two weeks vacation visiting relatives in Oklahoma.

They took Sharon Combs home to Oklahoma City and visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Owen and family.

At Durant, they spent some time in the home of Russell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. McCabe went with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carthel and sons to Red River, Taos and Santa Fe, N. M., this week, returning home Friday. The Carthel family went on to Colorado.

The McCabes reported that it rained on them all the way until they got almost to Friona on their return trip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stewart and family, Dorothy and Bud, left Friday for a trip to points in Colorado. They plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller at Delta, Colo., while they are gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Carathers and family, Linda, Charles and Kathy of Houston, visited friends here and in Hereford from Tuesday until Saturday of this week.

On Thursday evening, the members of the Dawn Home Demonstration Club and their families had an ice cream supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Caraway in honor of the Carathers' family. About 50 people were present.

Other guests were Mrs. Argen Draper and her mother, Mrs. Hicks of Hereford and Miss Bertha Frye.

A slumber party honoring Linda Carathers was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Beavers Thursday night. Girls present were Linda Walteen Beavers, Dorothy Stewart, Lucy Beth and Gail Miller.

On Friday night the girls had another slumber party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Carathers and daughter Kathy were guests for lunch in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCabe Thursday.

Guests at a party Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. T. Beavers were Mrs. Charles Davenport, Mrs. Zed Stewart, Mrs. L. L. Airhart, Mrs. J. B. Caraway, Miss Bertha Frye, Linda Carathers and Mrs. Jim Gandy of Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Tooley went with an ambulance Friday to Ardmore, Okla., and brought his mother, Mrs. A. W. Tooley, who has been in the hospital there, and his father to their home at Kress.

The Tooleys drove his father's car to Kress.

Linda and Marlene Tooley visited last week from Monday until Friday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Moore at Kress.

This week Linda is attending the Methodist Camp in Ceta Canyon, which is southeast of the city of Canyon. Linda went with a group from the Wesley Methodist Church in Hereford.

Mrs. Jim McCabe and children left the latter part of the week for Friona where she is staying several days with her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Shuck, who recently had surgery in the Deaf Smith County Hospital in Hereford.

Mr. L. E. Storey of Raymondville arrived Saturday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. W. W. Wimberley Sr.

A group of young people went to Palo Duro Canyon Sunday for a picnic. Those going were Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Beavers of Hereford, Gail Miller, Walteen Beavers, Lucy Beth Miller, James Gentry, and Bobby and Billy Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller and sons, Mrs. Kate Wilson, Miss Aleene Wilson of Bilton, Johnny Cummings of Temple, went to Conchas Lake Sunday for a picnic.

Work is progressing nicely on the new post office building which is being built in Dawn.

Mrs. R. T. Stewart went to Mobeetie over the weekend to get Linda and Jerry Stewart who visited there last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oglesby.

While the children were there, Eluel Perry, 1951 Ford; Daniel J. Mudd, 1959 Austin Healey; Alfonso G. S. Martinez, 1954 Ford; Baltasar Perales, 1949 Chevrolet; Doyle Cox, 1955 Chevrolet; Tom W. Mr. and Mrs. Oglesby took them to Lake Marvin where they went fishing.

Mrs. Stewart, who is the Dawn School Cafeteria chairman, reports that Mrs. Preston Jackson, who lives on the H. H. Miller farm has been secured as the cook for the coming year.

Mrs. N. R. Miller, who had this position last year, decided not to accept it this year.

Mrs. Jackson has had considerable experience in cafeteria work. The cafeteria kitchen was repainted last week by the men who were doing some other work on the school building. The school grounds have been moved.

Mrs. Alfred Smith, her brother, Addison Cammock of Nara Visa, N. M., attended funeral services in Matador last Wednesday for their uncle, McKinley Cammock, who had been living in Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Joe Baird of Clayton, N. M., came and stayed with their mother, Mrs. John Cammock, while the others went to Matador.

On Friday, Mrs. Vashti Teel of Dallas visited for a while in the Smith home. She is Mrs. John Cammock's sister-in-law.

Mrs. Teel had come from Matador to Canyon to visit relatives before going back home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Benson and daughter of Lubbock spent the weekend here with Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Visitors in the home of Mr. & Mrs. H. V. McCabe Monday were Mrs. J. K. McKenzie of Miami and her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Day of Tucson, Ariz. Mrs. McKenzie is Mrs. Mary Byrd's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fogle of Hereford stayed Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Caraway and left early Monday morning, moving their furniture to Missouri, where they will live.

Mrs. H. D. Weter and family, Rosanna, Vicki and Rita Jo of Borger, visited here last Monday with Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith.

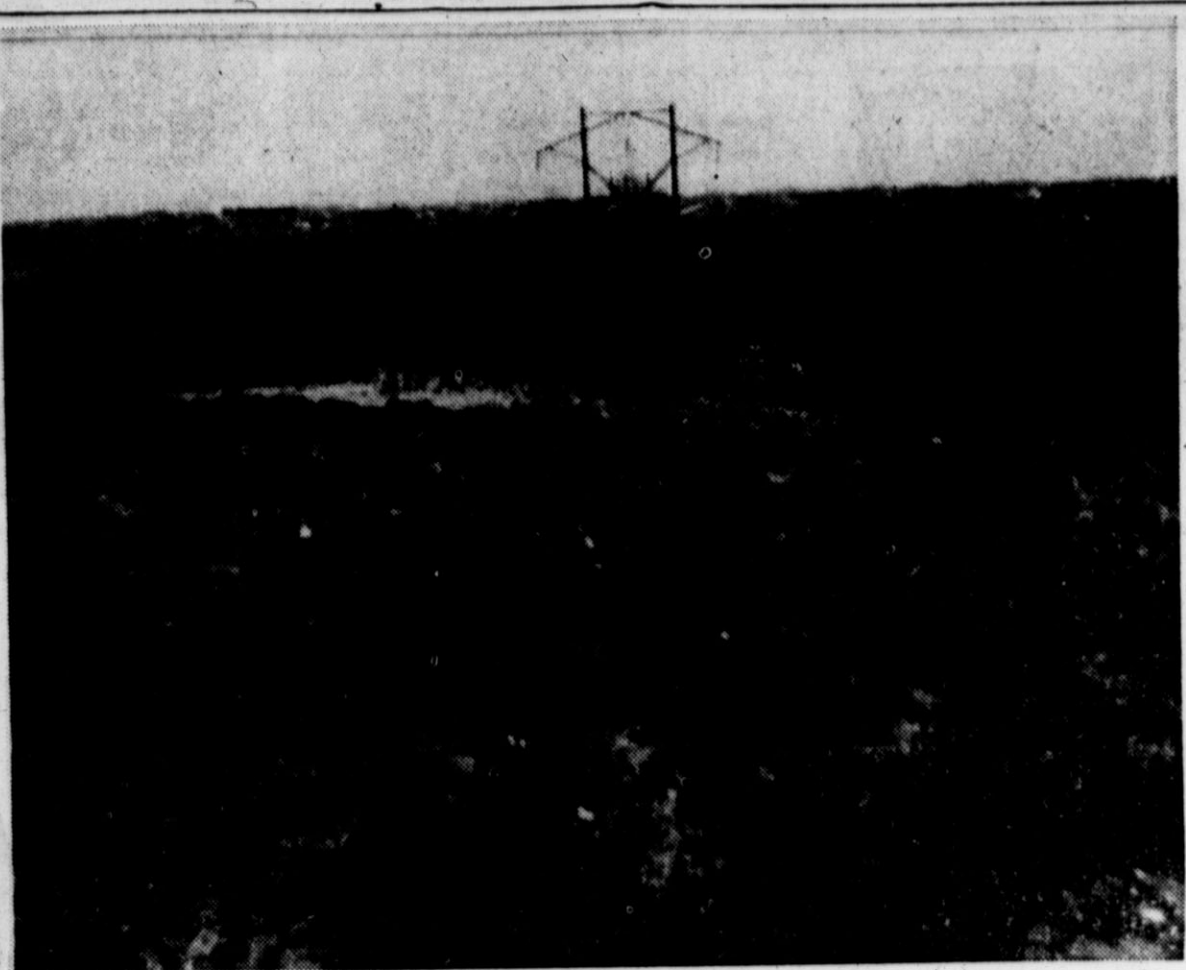

The farmers in this area are very busy irrigating milo which is about all headed out. The ground is so dry in some places that there are large cracks in it.

The women are busy with freezing and canning of fresh fruits and vegetables.

VISITORS HERE
Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Voyles over the weekend were their children and grandchildren, a daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McNeal Jr., a son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Voyles all of San Angelo, a daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sims of Hereford, also a daughter, Shirley, of Hereford, who has been visiting the last two weeks in San Angelo with her brother and family and sister and family.

NEW ELECTRICAL SOURCE for Hereford Hereford. Poles are set 720 feet apart, holding up cable which weighs a pound per foot. (Southwestern Public Service Photo)

New Electric Transmission Line Utilized By SPSC

A 60-mile electrical transmission line has gone into service for the Hereford area. Cost of the line was about $1,200,000, according to Cleo Meharg, manager of the Hereford office of Southwestern Public Service Company.

Continued growth of the area was the primary reason for installation of the line which runs from Nichols, near the SPSC Plant X, to Hereford.

The line carries 45,000 volts, but may be converted to carry 230,000 volts, when required.

Design of the line is of a type capable of withstanding winds of hurricane velocity. This type of installation was first used by Southwestern Public Service Company.

Huge poles, from 75 to 85 feet high, are used for the line in pairs, with an average of 720 feet span between poles. The crossarms are 22 feet long and capable of supporting the weight of four full-size automobiles at the ends.

Each individual structure along the 60-mile line will have a total weight of 10,000 to 14,000 pounds. Electrical conductors are 1 1/2 inches in diameter, made of 26 strands of aluminum and seven strands of steel. This weighs one pound per foot.

Each of the three conductors is supported by seven insulators at each pole. These insulators weigh 11 pounds each. Poles are placed 20 feet apart.

How Can I?

Q. How can I discourage house flies from gathering on the screens of my windows and doors?

A. Rub the screens with a cloth dampened in kerosene. Flies dislike the odor and will soon leave.

Q. What can I do when the stays on my husband's shirt collar turn up missing?

A. Small hairpins, inserted in the collar-stay pockets, will hold the collar wings nicely in place.

Q. How can I remove shellac stains from clothing?

A. Alcohol will work on most shellac stains. Dilute it with two parts of water for use on rayon or colored materials.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Al Leach, Manager

I had the pleasure recently of presenting Opal Elliston, one of your Hereford Service Representatives, with a bracelet for 13 years of perfect attendance. Opal started to work for the telephone company in 1946 and since that time hasn't missed a day's work, except for her regular vacations. Of course there are other people in the telephone company with longer records of perfect attendance—but not many. We're all proud of Opal and proud of the record she has set by being on the job—ready to serve you, the telephone customer, every day.

THE CALL THAT'S APPRECIATED

About this time of year, most of us are back from vacation with memories of good times fresh in our minds.

I've always thought that the best way to relive a summer vacation—and be courteous at the same time—is to call the people who helped make your vacation so much fun.

If you spent it with other members of your family, they'll be glad to know you arrived home safely. If you vacationed with friends, they'll enjoy hearing your voice again.

So why not make the call tonight that's really appreciated? Rates are lower after 6 p.m., and you can talk longer for less by placing your call station-to-station.

A NEW HAT OR A COLOR PHONE

A friend of mine remarked the other day that August is a pretty hectic month around his house.

The kids are getting a little restless for school to start even though they'd never own up to it. And this restlessness doesn't exactly help his wife's attitude, either.

I know how restless the small fry can get, and it's hard to solve that one. But I did have a tip to offer my friend that would perk up his wife's morale.

"Since it's too early for her to buy a new Fall hat," I said, "why not order an extension telephone in her favorite color."

The happy ending to this story is that he perked up his wife's morale AND brightened their kitchen with a new color telephone.

P. S. It was an easy sale, because my friend is like most men. He's not exactly crazy about women's hats.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

YES Project Has Successful Season

Operated by young people for young people, Hereford's Youth Employment service had a successful initial year this summer.

Boys and girls from 13 to 19 years worked at various jobs in Hereford acquired through the service. Receptionists were Jeanette Rayburn and Linda Renfro.

Employment headquarters was on the second floor of City Hall. The program began early in June and ended Aug. 12.

Four Combines Cutting Grass On Area Ranch

By MRS. W. R. MOORE There are four combines cutting native grass seed on the Colby Conkright Ranch. The grass reportedly looks good. Donald Troy Moore, who has been living in Austin through the summer, is visiting in the home of his folks, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. McClain and children. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dean Axe of Albuquerque, N. M., are visiting in the home of Ray Dean's mother, Mrs. Zelma Axe. Mrs. Mammie Cogdell visited Mrs. Ledbetter, who is ill in her home in Vega, Sunday. Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moore Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Billy L. Moore and daughter, Terri Linn, and Mrs. M. G. Ballow of Amarillo. Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Oechsner and Mrs. E. J. Churn and sons Rixie and Steve of Wichita Falls. Mrs. Blackie Russell has returned home from a two weeks' visit with friends and relatives in parts of Oklahoma and Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Moore visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Moore of Amarillo Saturday night. Mrs. J. D. Ware of Lubbock and Mrs. James Ware were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McBroom Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shenck and Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Ortho attended the wedding of Miss Marcella Pircillias last Wednesday. MISS HARRIS IN COMEDY NEW YORK (U) — Julie Harris, a star who has spent this season on an extended Broadway tour with her new play "The Warm Peninsula," is booked for Broadway premiere in the comedy on Oct. 22. Miss Harris' husband, producer Manning Gurian, has obtained the Helen Hayes theater for the presentation.

SMOOTH OPERATOR WICHITA, Kan. (U) — Someone jimmied the trunk of a car owned by sales man Blanchard T. Morris of Kansas City and stole $1,495 worth of razors and blades — enough to keep the thief clean shaven for 700 years, police calculated.

Valentino, Garbo Still Attractions

By CYNTHIA LOWRY NEW YORK (U) — Every time a film starring Greta Garbo, Rudolph Valentino or Douglas Fairbanks Sr. is shown at one theater here, the "standing room only" sign goes up. And this is in spite of the fact that Valentino died in 1926; Fairbanks in 1939, and Garbo has not made a picture in almost 20 years. Their old films constitute, however, only a fraction of those shown by the Museum of Modern Art in its 485-seat auditorium. The serious student of the cinema — and they increase in number yearly — may, by attending weekly showings over a two year period, view all the industry's milestones from the first "Execution of Mary Queen of Scots" made in 1893 by the Edison Co., to something choice and comparatively recent, like "The Snake Pit," now only 11 years old. Big attraction for the 250,000 theater-goers who attend Museum showings each year is the superb collection of old movie classics like D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation," Edwin S. Porter's "The Great Train Robbery" and pre-World War I Mack Sennett and Charlie Chaplin comedies. Some, middle-aged and nostalgic, turn up regularly to review long-remembered and well-loved favorites — "Beau Geste" (1926) with Ronald Colman and Mary Brian; "What Price Glory?" (1926) with Victor McLaglen, Louis Wolheim and Dolores Del Rio; "Safety Last" (1923) with Harold Lloyd, for example. There are two new and growing groups of old-movie fans which mystify the entire museum staff. One consists of boys and girls in their teens and tender 20s who are rabid Valentino fans. They turn out in force, like bobby-soxers for a singing idol, to see over and over their hero in "Blood and Sand" and "Monsieur Beaucaire." "It seems a little morbid," confessed Richard Griffith, curator of films. "They do everything they can to get us to show Valentino films more often — write letters, plead in person. And it is none of this woman-in-black publicity nonsense. They even contributed the money for a new print of 'Blood and Sand.'" The other is a cult of young men and women who find it crass to look at a movie made later than 1930. "They aren't beat generation exactly," said Griffith. "Maybe they think things were nicer in the 1920s and wish they had lived then instead of now. Anyway, all they are interested in is D. W. Griffith, films directed by Erich von Stroheim, Josef von Sternberg and F. W. Murnau, who made 'Sunrise' and 'The Last Laugh.'" Arrangements were made so the museum could make a print of available and desired films. Donations of old film started coming in from attics, cellars and other unlikely storage spots all over the country. "The Execution of Mary Queen of Scots," was rescued from a garbage can, spotted with tobacco juice. Today, the library has a collection of important American and European film, much of it available for circulation to educational groups. Occasionally, a professional will request that a special film be run off. The Gish Sisters, Dorothy and Lillian, are supporters of the library, but Lillian will never come near a rerun of "Broken Blossoms" which she made in 1919 with Richard Barthelmess. The audience is invariably gripped with compulsive laughter although the film was definitely not a comedy. Except for some very early pictures, and "The Taming of the Shrew" made with Fairbanks in 1929, the museum has been unable to get hold of any of Mary Pickford's films. "Some of her full-length pictures are very important," says Griffith, "but she is very sensitive. She doesn't want the audience to laugh. She owns her own pictures, so that is that." The range of the collection is broad. It includes pioneering acting by such old favorites as Wallace Reid, Fatty Arbuckle, Flora Finch and John Bunny. There is the first Walt Disney cartoon — never shown publicly, in which Mickey Mouse made his debut. There are the early westerns of William S. Hart and Tom Mix; "Underworld", a British film which was the prototype of all those public enemy films which flowed from Hollywood in the 1920s. There are also old reels in which can be seen the acting of such famed performers as Sarah Bernhardt, Minnie Maddern Fiske, Eleanora Duse and Gabrielle Rejane. Griffith says that interest in many middle-aged films drops off sharply when they are widely exposed on television, but that the usual cutting of full-length movies for TV is so casual that the true-blue movie aficionado spurns them.

Nehru: A Beacon Light To India

NEHRU: A Political Biography. By Michael Brecher. Oxford, $8.50. This is the story of a boy who had everything — two swimming pools at home, indoor and out; an indulgent father, the best education abroad, the highest social status — and chucked it all to reach his goal through prisons and incredible hardships. More, it is the definitive, panoramic story of India's long fight for independence by Gandhi, Nehru and the many more who on Aug. 15, 1947, saw their 400 millions liberated from the British and the beginning of the end for other Victorian-style imperialists. It is a straightaway, factual account of nearly 700 pages on the epic struggle over the most exasperating odds. Dr. Brecher's painstaking research seems as patient as the erosive campaign of non-violence that dissolved the British rule on the Indian subcontinent. If this suggests that Dr. Brecher is as dusty as the Punjab in August, take another look. His writing of sober and often tragic history races along like an adventure story — this one peopled with names that drop easily. Whatever did it, Dr. Brecher has mastered the art of readable writing in what might be heavy going. The story of Jawaharlal Nehru, born a pandit as a Kashmiri Brahmin and thus the highest of the high, is a character study of a patrician who gave up riches to reach the masses for an ideal. He spent more than nine years in British prisons. His father, the great lawyer Motilal Nehru, also eschewed wealth and endured prison, but to his credit he did not try unduly to influence the son. They took somewhat different courses to the same end — independence for India. Nehru differed also with Gandhi but they carried on to independence and the partition that produced Pakistan — and incidentally led to one of history's most deadly international communal conflicts. Gandhi's historic role essentially was completed with independence; he was assassinated at a New Delhi prayer meeting half a year later by a Hindu fanatic. That left Nehru — long a loner in the problem-solving business — alone again with one of the world's toughest jobs, and as a beacon light over Asia to many. Charles A. Grumich

Collegian Jet Jockey Has Final Exam A Mile High

By PHIL GUNBY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It was Sunday and his Ohio State

University classmates were enjoying the day away from classes. But 24-year-old Don Oberbeck bled up for a final examination — the last step to his becoming a combat ready jet fighter pilot.

Like hundreds of other young men across the nation, Oberbeck devotes many of his

Air Force Regular assigned to the Air Guard unit as an advisor.

The major got his pilot's wings during World War II when Oberbeck was in grade school. Now a second lieutenant in the Air Guard, Oberbeck got his wings as an Air Guard cadet in July, 1958, and has been training since to be classified as a combat ready pilot in the F84F fighter-bomber.

He had met all the other standards for proficiency in flying and understanding the plane and its mission, and this was the last hurdle. To satisfy Clower and other officials, Oberbeck had to reach the bomb range at Aterbury, Ind., by flying at 5,000 feet and sighting certain landmarks. No radio navigational aids allowed.

Clower had him give a run-down on takeoff times, radio channels and the like, quizzed him briefly about what to do in certain emergency situations, and tripped him up on one item (armament) a pilot is expected to check before a mission.

A half hour later, Oberbeck was hurtling down the Lockbourne runway in his F84F, closely followed by Clower in another jet. In a matter of seconds they flashed over nearby Circleville, Ohio, and in a few minutes did a long, steep turn over Ironton, Ohio, to spot the first checkpoint, a hangar near Ashland, Ky.

Other points followed—a bend in the Ohio River, a small community near the Indiana border — and then Oberbeck radioed for permission to go over the Aterbury range.

This granted, the two jets streaked in — as they might in combat after dodging radar at around 500 feet — and Oberbeck released a bomb with a small charge. The smoke could be seen from the air and by range officials for scoring purposes.

The two jets then roared up to 23,000 feet and flew toward Columbus in tight formation.

But nearing Lockbourne with Oberbeck using only instruments for "blind flying" training, they were warned of heavy rain over the base. With fuel running low, they raced the on-rushing storm to Port Columbus Airport, bumped down through turbulent air masses and rolled in just ahead of the rain.

Driven back to Lockbourne by a squadron mate, Clower and Oberbeck soon were changing clothes and preparing to go to supper. Clower suddenly looked up at the younger man and grinned.

"Oh, by the way," he said, "You passed."

Puccini Records In Stereophonic Are Best Sellers

By L. J. KRAMP

RENATA TEBALDI does "Madama Butterfly" and "The Girl of the Golden West" in stereo as sumptuous as any grand opera so far put on discs, and the only question is which of these London albums a Puccini opera lover would want to buy first.

The two albums are the cream of the current stereo opera discs. "Butterfly" is superb sound, spacious and realistic. Tebaldi made a best seller of it for London in 1951 in monophonic form. This one, made last year in Rome with Tullio Serafin directing the chorus and orchestra of the St. Cecilia Academy, is strengthened by Carlo Bergonzi as Pinkerton.

Puccini's "La Fanciulla Del West," or "The Girl of the Golden West," is even more of a treat because it is rarely heard in this country, and because it is a sort of stereo sound version of a television western. Written in 1910, it tells the story of Minnie, a saloonkeeper; an admiring sheriff and an outlaw who vie for her favor, and a poker game in California gold rush style. Even Wells Fargo gets into the act before Tebaldi, as Minnie, and Mario Del Monaco, as the outlaw, sing their way to a happy ending.

Bergonzi and Del Monaco also have turned out separate "Operatic Recital" stereo discs for London, with items from 10 operas. Two other excellent new singles in this category are "Jussi Boerling in Opera" (RCA Victor) and "George London" singing Wagnerian scenes for bass-baritone.

Three other impressive stereo opera albums are RCA Victor's "Lucia Di Lammermoor," by Donizetti, and "La Gioconda," by Ponchilli; and London's version of "Arabella," by Richard Strauss. The "Lucia" is sung by Roberta Peters, Jan Peerce and George Tozzi with the Rome Opera Orchestra under Eric Leinsdorf. Zinka Milanov, Giuseppe di Stefano and Leonard Warren sing in "La Gioconda," which also is available in a single disc of highlights. Hilde Gueden, George London and Lisa Della Casa lead the "Arabella" cast with the Vienna Philharmonic under Georg Solti.

Another single disc of highlights is London's "Nozze di Figaro," by Mozart. Cesare Siepi and Hilde Gueden top a fine weekends and evenings, and at least two weeks each summer, to the Air National Guard. The pay he receives goes toward his college education.

On this Sunday, Oberbeck left the Phi-Gamma Delta Fraternity house at Ohio State and drove to nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base where the F84F Thunderstreak jets of the Ohio Air National Guard's 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron are kept.

There, he pulled grey flying coveralls (with a stenciled "Tiger for Hire" across the back) over his stocky, near 6-foot cast with the Vienna Philharmonic under Erich Kleiber. These singles should be more popular, not only because they cost a third or fourth as much as albums of three or four discs, but also because the condensation can be heard and handled so much more easily.

Modern opera also is represented in the new stereo albums. Columbia offers a first rate performance of Marc Blitzstein's "Regina," based on the "The Little Foxes," by Lillian Hellman. It is sung in English by the New York City Opera and chorus with Brenda Lewis, Elizabeth Carron, Carol Brice and Joshua Hecht.

Canning, Other Food Preservation Continues

By Argen Draper

Canning and other food preservation is continuing in larger amounts. Mrs. A. C. Stengel, Rt. 3, Friona, has sent the following recipe for pickles. She recommends these highly.

Sweet-Sour Dill Chunks or Slices
Medium-size or dill size cucumbers
Onion slices
2 celery stalks quartered
8 heads fresh dill or pickling spices
4 cups sugar
½ cup salt
1 quart vinegar
2 cups water

Wash freshly picked cucumbers and cut in 1 inch chunks or in quarters enough to fill 4 sterilized quart jars.

To each jar put in 3 or 4 slices onion, 2 pieces of celery and 2 heads of dill or in place of dill 2 tbs. pickling spices. Dissolve sugar and salt in vinegar and water; bring to boil. Pour while still hot over cover, seal at once. Store in cool place. For best flavor, do not use for 30 days.

Variation: Slice cucumbers ¼ inch thick just right for hamburgers.

Here is a special spice pastry that you and your family will enjoy with fruit pies and egg custard. Try it and see if you are not pleased with the results.

Spiced Pastry
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
2/3 cup shortening
1 tablespoon vinegar
3 tablespoons orange juice or other citrus fruit juice.

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Mix together vinegar and fruit juice and add to dry ingredients. Mix lightly with a fork. Roll dough 1/8 inch thick and line two 8-inch pie plates. Cut off pastry one inch beyond the edge of the pan. Turn the border under to make

Korstjens Visit Unique Caverns

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Korstjens of Hereford recently were visitors at Carlsbad Caverns National Park in southeastern New Mexico.

The unique Caverns contain vast sizes of chambers. Four elevators which can accommodate 1200 persons an hour are in operation between the surface and the 750-foot cave level. An underground lunchroom seats 1,000.

Camera tours are conducted twice daily in the summer and once daily in the winter.

Change In Family Life Is Discussed

Changes in family life were discussed by Charley Dean Hardwick of Clovis, at the Hereford Rotary Club meeting Monday at noon.

Hardwick told of his experiences and observations during a summer as a staff member of a Long Island, N.Y., youth day camp.

Transition of dwellings from the city to the suburbs has brought about a drastic change in family living, Hardwick said. He cited the children in this camp, whose parents pay $600 for their children to attend the camp seven hours a day for eight weeks.

Parents of these children, he declared, often have no time for the children. The fathers usually commute to work, while the mothers are taken up with other activities.

One aspect he mentioned was that many children in the camp, products of middle and upper-middle class homes, use assumed names to forestall possible kidnapping.

Hardwick a graduate philosophy student from Southern Methodist University, also told of taking three canoe trips into a rugged Canadian lake area which has been set aside as a provincial park by the government, reserved only for canoe trips.

Club President Leo Forrest announced by Rotary District Governor, Floyd Hemphill, of Amarillo would make his official visit to the Hereford Club on Sept. 21.

a rim around the pan. Press rim between thumbs and forefinger to make scalloped edge. Set aside.

Mrs. W. S. Fluit served these cookies for refreshments and you have never heard so much comment. They have hot-weather appeal as they require no cooking.

Melt 2 pkgs. German Chocolate, while still warm add:
1 pt. jar marshmallow cream.
Let cool and add ½ lb. coconut
1 cup chow-mein noodles
1 teaspoon vanilla

FRIO NEWS

Church Elects New Officers

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS

The Frio Baptist Church recently elected new officers and teachers for the coming Association year.

Elected Sunday School Superintendent was Weldon Stephen, choir director was Clark Andrews and Mrs. Johnnie Robinson as pianist. Training Union Director elected was Homer West and Bill Warrick was elected assistant to the Director. Those elected will assume their duties on Oct. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Glenn and several of their children attended funeral services on Sunday, Aug. 9, for Mr. Glenn's brother. The funeral and burial were at Clarendon.

Mrs. Glenn Gripp and children returned last week from a several days visit with Mrs. Gripps parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tait Moring, at Stevenville. Glenn went down to bring them back and visited two days.

Spending Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews, Veradelle and Joe, were

Funk Referees Farce Saturday

Wrestler Dory Funk was the first man out in a five-man battle royal Saturday night at the Bull Barn and he was to become referee of the match. Tony Morelli won the first fall in twelve minutes over Danny Shane with a body press and shoulder pin.

Shane came back in the second fall to win in seven minutes with a half-crab hold and Shane and Morelli fought to a draw during the last fall.

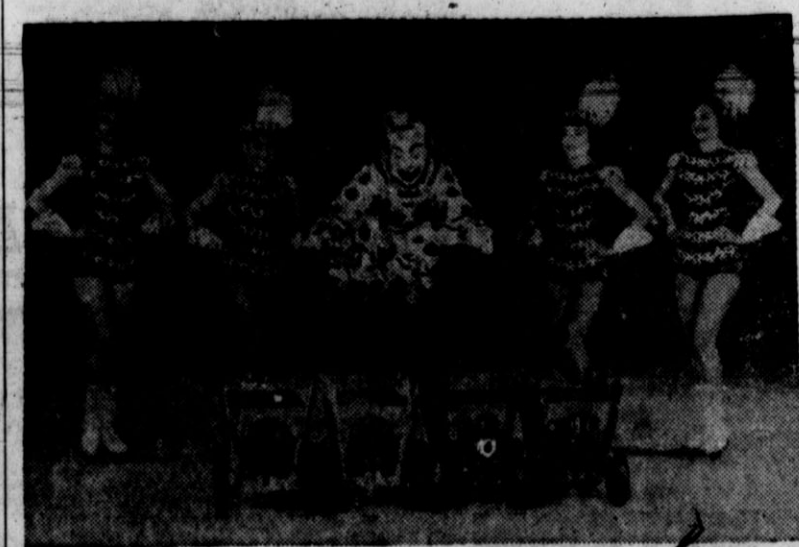

Ripper Leone against Enrique Spindola made up a match with Funk as referee. Funk disqualified Leone for throwing the referee from the ring. Leone then refused to wrestle any further with Funk as referee and H. E. Wester took his place for the rest of the match.

Leone took the second fall in 11 minutes with a body press, and both wrestlers were disqualified in the last fall. A decision was then reversed and the fall was given to Spindola after Leone slugged Wester.

Cowboy Carlson returns to the Lions Club Wrestling Arena Saturday night to team with Funk in a tag team event to take on Leone and Wild Man Nick Roberts in a two out of three falls or one hour time limit match.

The preliminary will be composed of Carlson against Leone in a one fall or 20 minute time limit event.

The second match of the evening will be made up of Funk against Roberts in a one fall or 20 minute bout.

ICE CAPADES FEATURE — One of the many scenes from Ice Capades, world's largest ice show, to be featured at the Tri-State Fair Sept. 22 through Sept. 27, is Paul Castle and the Ice Ca'pets. Tickets will go on sale in Amarillo Aug. 31. Tickets bought in advance include free entry to the fairgrounds.

TIERRA BLANCA SOIL Conservation District supervisor Carl Wimberley, at left, was presented a certificate of merit for leadership in his field recently. He has been a cooperator with the local soil conservation district for more than 15 years. The award was presented by Gerald Caskill, at right, representing the Texas Bank and Trust Company of Dallas, sponsor of the award.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Bills To Reappear If Fourth Session Held

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — None of the money-raising bills that failed to pass the Legislature during the past seven months were put away to gather dust.

They'll be on parade again if a fourth special session is held to raise money to increase public school teachers' salaries.

Gov. Price Daniel has said he will call the session if the public demands it. Texas State Teachers Association has its campaign rolling to create this demand.

TSTA's goal is a program that would cost $63,000,000 over a two-year period. Of this, $36,000,000 would go for a $405 increase in annual base pay for teachers.

This would bring teachers' base pay up to $3,610 a year. Hale-Aikin Committee recommended a minimum of $3,800 a year plus a number of other school improvements that would have totaled some $200,000,000 for a two-year period. But TSTA decided that getting that big a tax bill would be too tough. For the time being, the 70,000-member teacher lobby will settle for a package one-third this size with emphasis on the item it wants most — pay raises.

Time most discussed for the new special session is the politically crucial month of January. This will give the teachers, scattered in summer, time to get organized. It also is the month for poll tax paying, with Jan. 31 as the deadline. (Governor Daniel said, "January or February would be the time.")

Next year, for the first time, January will be the month for candidates for office to make their announcements. New law makes Feb. 1 the deadline for filing for state primaries.

There's talk that Governor Daniel will announce for a third term if teacher raises are turned down. On this the governor says, "I'm not closing any doors."

Privately, many legislators are glum at the prospect of being boxed in by another round of tax-and-spend pressures, particularly right before their campaigns begin. They expect to get a lot of static anyway, from the tax measures they've already voted.

But few will oppose teachers openly. As one said, "If you're against teacher raises, they'll say you're against good schools and little kids and motherhood — it's suicide."

Scores of new laws passed during the regular Legislative session ending in May go into effect this month.

From here on, anyone convicted of four moving traffic violations within 12 months will be classed a "habitual violator", subject to drivers license suspension for any period up to a year. Same rule applies to anyone convicted of 7 or more violations committed within a 24-hour period.

New, tightened laws are in effect on the waterways, too. Now against the law are: operating a boat or skiing while under the influence of liquor, skiing at night and "reckless or negligent" boating and skiing.

Now required by law are: a life preserver for every passenger on a boat and a lighting system, according to size, for every boat. Boat registration fees will not be required until next April.

Another new law makes taking a ride in someone else's car without his permission a felony offense. Previously, it was hard to get more than a misdemeanor or conviction for car stealing.

Ranchers and farmers will be required to fence land along state and U. S. highways to prevent cattle from roaming on the road. Law does not apply to farm-to-market roads.

Retail merchants no longer may advertise goods at "wholesale" prices. Only firms that sell only to refiners may claim wholesale selling.

Other new laws won't be noticed until later. For example, the new "stick with the party" law requires that a poll tax holder have his receipt stamped "Republican" or "Democrat" the first time he participates in a primary or convention. From then on, in effect, he's stuck with the party stamped on his tax receipt — until he gets a new poll tax.

D. Westbrook In Field Training

Army Pvt. Dale R. Westbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bee Westbrook of Friona, is participating in a lengthy large-scale field training exercise with the 4th Armored Division in Grafenwohr, Germany.

The training is designed to test the combat readiness of the 4th Armored Division, part of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

A track driver in Company D of the division's 54th Infantry in Heilbronn, Westbrook entered the Army last December and arrived in Europe last May.

The 23-year-old soldier attended Friona High School. His wife, Mary, is with him in Germany.

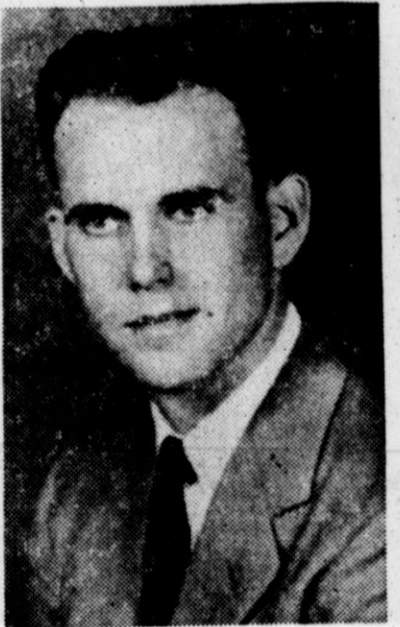

A new program to inspect for cattle disease at live stock auctions was authorized, but is expected to be very small scale for the first two years, at least. It was given only a fraction of the money supporters said was necessary.

One of next year's campaigns is already going strong with two of the candidates claiming victory.

Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen declares he has "more than a majority" of the present House members pledged to elect him as next speaker. Rep.

Mrs. Hennington Gets Scholarship

Mrs. Robert L. Hennington, a former resident of Hereford, sharing this year's Ives Memorial Scholarship at the University of New Mexico.

Now a resident of Albuquerque, Mrs. Hennington will receive the income from a $15,000 trust fund along with two other residents of the Duke City. The award was set up in memory of Mrs. Julia Louise Ives and Mrs. Helen Andres Ives pioneer residents who for years took an active interest in the progress of education in New Mexico. Each will receive about $200.

Candidates are judged on the basis of health, moral character, scholastic standing, an intent to teach. The winners are named each summer by UNM President, Tom L. Popejoy.

Mrs. Hennington resumes her studies this fall for the third year with a major in elementary education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.G. Witherspoon, formerly of Hereford, now residing in Albuquerque and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Varn Witherspoon, 201 Jackson St. The former Jo Ann Witherspoon, the scholastic winner was valedictorian of her high school class in 1949 from Hereford High School and attended Amarillo College. She has an eight-year-old daughter, Suanne, is active in the Apologetic Club, a campus religious organization, and the Inter-Religious Council.

Dr. Earp belongs to the National Education Association and Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi, education fraternities.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Most Controversial Laws Passed; Seek Adjournment

To the people of the 18th District:

Now that the controversial labor legislation has passed the House, we can begin to look toward adjournment; or perhaps it would be better to say that we can now get a dim view of adjournment.

Many of us have been looking toward adjournment for some time but it was impossible to see it. It was anticipated the labor reform measure would require several more days than were actually used. The shortness of time utilized was perhaps due to the parliamentary situation which developed.

The big test on this controversial issue was to come on a vote to determine which of the pending measures the House of Representatives wanted. Most everyone was anxious to get to that vote. Therefore, fewer amendments were offered than would otherwise have been the case. When the vote finally came and resulted in the adoption of the substitute measure, there was only one thing left to do — to vote the adopted measure up or down on final passage.

This situation, in my opinion, cut at least one week off the remaining time that Congress would have been in session.

The other important matters pending before the Congress were referred to in a recent news conference by President Eisenhower. They included a housing measure, lifting of the interest rate on government bonds, civil rights legislation, and a pay-as-you-go financing program for the federal highways.

Before the end of the week in which he had made these observations, three of his suggestions had been met for all practical purposes. The labor reform bill had passed the House, the House Ways and Means Committee had authorized a limited authority to increase the interest rate on government bonds, and the same Committee had authorized a 1c gasoline tax increase to meet the President's request for pay-as-you-go financing the highway program.

It might be said that another situation had developed to answer his suggestion on housing. I refer to the failure of the Senate to override his veto of the pending housing bill. This meant that Congress must get together on housing legislation suitable to both the Congress and the President before adjournment. Housing as an integral part of our economy probably affects more segments of the economy than any other single item, the reason being that the modern house or apartment includes so many different things which are accepted as daily necessities of life.

It is my prediction that an acceptable housing bill will be forthcoming promptly. I do hope that proper provision is made in the bill to meet the growing need of proper housing facilities for the aging. It would be highly preferable if this need could be met by private enterprise and I hope this can be done. However, if such is not the case, then something else must be done to meet the challenge. Few people realize how serious this problem is becoming throughout the United States.

The approval of authorization to permit the President to increase the interest rate on government bonds does not mean that the members of Congress do not realize this could be a very highly inflationary move. It was done primarily, in my opinion, to help pull the President off the spot which he has gotten himself into in relation to the finances of this country. That is one reason why certain strings were attached to the authority.

The call for civil rights legislation is a continuation of the same old drum beating which is being promoted by those who believe in centralized government. Some sponsor this falsely labeled legislation conscious of what they are doing, while others are misled by the title and do not appreciate what the final result will be.

The highway program was anticipated to be troublesome and it is proving that way. In my opinion the increase in the gasoline tax is not keeping with what the people were led to believe to be the method of financing the highway program. I regret to see the federal government move further into encroachment upon a tax source that has been about the only thing left to the states. We are, of course, (Continued on page 2)

New Law Provides License Suspension

AUSTIN — The Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety cautions that a new law provides for the suspension of the license of any driver convicted of four moving traffic violations within a 12-month period.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., said the new law passed by the recent session of the Legislature and signed by Governor Price Daniel August 5, for the first time defines the term "habitual violator." The definition is as follows:

"The term 'habitual violator' as used herein, shall mean any person with four or more convictions arising out of different transactions in a consecutive period of 12 months or seven or more convictions arising out of different transactions within a period of 24 months, such convictions being for moving violations of the traffic laws of the State of Texas or its political subdivisions."

Garrison said if a justice of the peace or other designated magistrate finds a driver to be an habitual violator the Department of Public Safety is authorized to suspend the driver's license for any period up to one year.

The new law also establishes detailed procedures for appeals of persons whose licenses have been suspended and requires the courts to give priority to the setting of such cases. It designates local prosecuting attorneys to represent the state in such appeals cases.

Raymond Schlabs was named publicity chairman.

Participating In Field Exercises

Army Pvt. Jerry L. Hix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Hix of Hereford is participating in a lengthy large-scale field training exercise with the 4th Armored Division in Grafenwohr, Germany. The exercise is scheduled to be concluded later this month.

The training is designed to test the combat readiness of the 4th Armored Division, a part of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

A cannoner in Battery B of the division's 78th Artillery in Craillsheim, Hix entered the Army last November, completed basic training at Fort Hood, and arrived in Europe last April.

Parental Threat Gives Cop Fear To Children

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.
"Watch out, the cops will get you," said Dad sternly to 4 year-old Freddy. "Better put it back quick."

Freddy turned toward Dad, fear sweeping across his round little face. He put the hammer back in the tool box.

"What would the cop do to me, Daddy," he whispered.

"Cops put boys in jail — boys who take things that don't belong to them," said Dad very seriously.

"What's jail?" asked the child.

"It's a place for bad people. They lock you up and don't give you anything but bread and water to eat."

"I should say not, it's no fun in jail, no toys and no friends. Most of the time you are all by yourself in jail."

James Turman of Gober claimed enough pledges "to practically assure my election."

Victory statements are a common technique for speaker candidates since House members are prone to join a winner's bandwagon to get good committee assignments.

Actually, the speaker can't be officially elected until January, 1961, when the 57th Legislature convenes. A large turnover of House members in the primary could upset the apple cart by removing many of the speaker candidates' pledged supporters from office.

Other candidates are Reps. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi and Frank McGregor of Waco. Reps. Jerry Sadler of Percilla and W. T. Oliver of Port Neches are regarded as possible candidates.

First $10,000,000 in bonds to raise money for local water projects has been sold by the State Water Development Board.

Lower Nueces River Water Supply District of Corpus Christi may be the first beneficiary of the new program. Water Board has tentatively approved a $3,000,000 loan to the district to complete the $21,000,000 Wesley E. Seale Dam and Reservoir.

State will pay slightly more than 3.5 per cent interest on the bonds and charge the borrower slightly more than 4 per cent.

Texas highway builders are holding their breath over threatened halt of the huge federal road building program.

Continuation of the interstate road building, now going full steam in Texas, hinges on Congress' finding a way to get more money for the highway trust fund. Federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of these projects.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said the Highway Department is "proceeding on confidence that something will be done by Congress to avert such an economic blow."

Most Texas officials, including Governor Daniel, are opposed to getting the money through a hike in the federal gasoline tax, as recommended by the President.

MONTREAL — The Quebec Safety League has presented its achievement award to 90 communities in the province that were free of traffic fatalities in 1958. The year previously, 56 were honored.

but he has made money in the cement business and they have servants, plus television and a Lincoln convertible, wear Mickey Mouse socks, and American corduroy, believe in Santa Claus and have a Christmas tree. But the kids are young hellions who maltreat the help and fight among themselves; the father is often away with a mistress; the mother has casual affairs.

All the worse aspects of this family life, and none of its conveniences, are found in the families of the four other men, a farmer, bus driver, restaurant manager and a handyman who repairs bicycles, sells old bottles and does other odd jobs. They drink Pepsi-Cola with their tortillas; they buy a television set and pay for it by collecting an admission fee from the neighbors; they buy a wing of a chicken at a time; they think it's dangerous for a pregnant woman to see a rainbow, or cover the mirror at death in the belief it reflects the tragedy, and they treat an ill person for sorcery; they beat the wife, kiss the hands of elders and priests, bring the water in pails on a shoulder pole, borrow and pay back and borrow again.

"If a woman has what she needs at home, she has no reason to keep an eye on her husband," says one abused and resigned wife whose husband leaves her and her children to go off with other women and visits the children he has by them. "He had a right to hit me, he was my man," says still another docile wife.

Most of the wives are common-law, most of the husbands slap them around, most of the children are underfed, most of them are underfed. There are moments of affection, but they can do as much harm as good and the offer of love sometimes heals less than the capricious withdrawal of it hurts.

This has the fascination of fine realistic fiction; La Farge suggests Zola, though to say this is to urge you to read it for what is a false reason — I'm not too scrupulous, however, and don't care why you read it as long as you do. This is a terribly human record. And as the foreword reminds you, this may be the story of the great part of mankind, the particular mankind which looks at us and our riches with awe and envy. You admire Lewis for what must have been the real hardships of research, and for his masterly objective handling of this unique material.

The Hereford Brand and The Sunday Brand

A.B.C. REPORTS — FACTS AS A BASIC MEASURE OF ADVERTISING VALUE.

The first is the moral one. We want our children to grow up with a set of ethics that are as much a part of them as the air they breathe. We do not want them to steal or lie or cheat, not because of fear of being caught but because there is something within each child that tells him not to do such things. A person who behaves only out of fear will try to get away when he thinks no one will know. This is certainly not the kind of ethical values we want our children to have.

The second reason why children should not fear the police is the practical one that the child who is scared of a policeman is not likely to seek one out, should he be in trouble.

Instead of teaching children to fear the police, the better policy is exactly the reverse. Teach a child that the policeman is his friend. Tell the child that should he ever become lost, be locked out of his house, lose his money, or have anything happen to him where he needs an adult's help, the policeman is the one to go to.

The policeman is the friend to children. Get to know the policeman in your neighborhood. Make sure your children know him, too. Call him by name, stop and talk as often as possible.

To a little child a policeman should be known as a friendly grown-up who is always around ready to give a youngster a hand if he needs help. If the child knows a few officers personally this will make it much easier for him to generalize about all policemen everywhere.

Years later the child will come to know that policemen also "catch law breakers." But by this time the child's own sense of right and wrong is so firmly established that he does not need the fear of getting caught to tell him how to act. In addition the child's feeling that the policeman is his friend helps protect everyone from the wrong-doer.

J. L. Pope, assistant agricultural demonstrator for the Santa Fe, was in Hereford Tuesday, having accompanied his wife and sons this far on their way from Amarillo to Dimmitt in which latter place they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alexander and other relatives.

Asked concerning crop conditions in the Panhandle and Plains country of Texas, Mr. Pope said: "The crops have never been better than at present. Kafir, milo, feterita and sorghum are for the most part fully headed, and each one of the crops will doubtless establish a new record for yield."

"Land preparation for wheat is claiming attention of the farmers just at this time, and the indications are that the acreage will be increased during the oncoming season over that just harvested. While this is true the Agricultural Department of the Santa Fe is not strongly advocating wheat as a general crop for this section, believing rather that the row crops handled in connection with livestock by way of the silo, will give far greater and surer profits."

"H. M. Bainer, chief agricultural demonstrator, is specializing just now efforts tending to show the worth of the livestock-silage combination, including the dairy cow, the beef animal, hogs and poultry, and believes that this is the best combination for farmers throughout all this section, and if wheat must be raised, it should be included as but one of the items of the diversity scheme."

THE GAME GOES ON

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — John W. Ulmer takes his bowling seriously, as reflected in this testimony in traffic court: "They paged me and told me another car had smashed into mine. I came out and looked at the wreck. About $1,000 worth of damage had been done my car. So I told my wife to see what could be done about getting the names and addresses of witnesses while I went back and finished my game."

TRIPS PAY OFF

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — It pays for Nogales merchant Harlan Capin to take his wife along on buying trips to New York City. Last August, Mrs. Capin won $3,350 on a television quiz show. On a later trip to New York she won a 1959 convertible car.

DOUGLAS PLAYS POLITICIAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Melvyn Douglas plans to make his next Broadway appearance in the role of a political bigwig in "The Gang's All Here," which is on Kermit Bloomgarden's production agenda. It will be Douglas' second association with the play's authors, Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee. He stepped into their shoes in "Inherit the Wind" when Paul Muhi was stricken with an eye ailment, later toured in the drama.

Stew fresh pear halves in orange juice sweetened with sugar; serve hot or cold.

Use a few drops of orange food coloring in meringues for apricot or orange pie.

"Previously Owned by a Little Old Lady..."

Surprisingly, that gentle little old lady who never drove over 30 miles an hour was really tough on her car's motor. The fact is that start-and-stop driving at low speeds means the motor doesn't warm up enough for its own good. Sludge forms in the motor oil. Damage to the engine will result.

Most of us do a lot of start-and-stop driving these days, and that's why it's wise to protect with Phillips 66 Trop-Artic Motor Oil. It flows quickly in a cold engine ... resists sludge formation ... then keeps on protecting your motor on long, hot drives.

Trop-Artic is an all-season oil. Get it from your Phillips 66 Dealer.

Top hands on high-country hauls!

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,850 feet up in the San Juans—a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamosa, Colorado, has a 6403 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year round, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment—and they're going stronger than ever! Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscled and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going, without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. He'll be glad to supply details and specifications on the type of models you need.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

STOP, MAN!

... where goest thou? Your struggle is for naught. One can't run away from duty nor from God. The strong arm of conscience, the love of a friend or the power of God won't let one go. Make no mistake: He is able to hold his children and bend their wills to His. This man is desperate because his aim is low. He is a timid coward whose church attendance record is now non-existent. But wait. God can still perform miracles and does touch us on the shoulder every time we would go astray. Business successes and friends in big numbers won't help much when the end of the way is nigh. It takes a touch on the shoulder from God to satisfy man in his last hour. Stop, right now!
That may be God touching your shoulder

High Level Talk Under Ground

THE CLOCK WITH FOUR HANDS. By James Leasor. Reynal, $5.

The war was won in the air, says this author, but it was directed from beneath the surface of the earth in "The Hole in the Ground," in London. The Chiefs of Staff met there, about 100 feet down out of reach of bombs, to decide the fate of the Western World, indeed, the whole world. Among its many conveniences were sleeping quarters for Gen. Sir Leslie Hollis, military secretary to the war cabinet, who from 1936 to 1945 attended 6,000 top level meetings and on whose experiences this book is based. Another convenience was the four-handed clock which showed Greenwich time and the time in Washington.

Leasor, with Hollis in the background, tells of the problems of Britain and her allies, from the days of Chamberlain, the pacifism of the 1930s and the disastrous unpreparedness to the outbreak of war, the calamities in the Far East, around the rim of Europe and the Mediterranean, in France, Greece and North Africa, down to Alamein and Stalingrad and the turn of fortune that led to the Second Front.

There is a great cast — Alanbrooke, Montgomery, Gort, Dill, for the English, and Roosevelt, Marshall, Eisenhower, Stimson for the Americans, and Churchill for us all. Any book with new Churchill anecdotes is a good book if for that reason alone, and there are funny ones here, as for instance the bulky and not too well prime minister helped up a steep hill from a picnic by two soldiers who stretch out a tablecloth as a sling to give him the extra needed hoist from behind.

Much of this is scattered incident, interesting perhaps but supplementary to the known record, not plowing new ground. There are occasionally sharp characterizations, the sharpest being reserved for Americans — Eisenhower saved London, yes, and we were good at procurement, but we were mediocre strategists, we thought England too imperialist, Roosevelt and Truman alike were too glib about the Russians, and if it hadn't been for our "infatuation" with the Communists, England's former empire wouldn't have fallen so extensively into their hands. You've heard all this before, too, and know by now whether to take it or leave it.

W. G. Rogers

ERROR CHANGES MEANING PARNEL, Mo. — The Rev. Louis V. Hubbard, a Methodist minister, in announcing special services, concluded his mimeographed message with this sentence: "If you can sin or play we want you to come and bring a special number." Of course, he meant to say "sing or play."

Hogg Biography Is Good Reading For Politicians

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, (AP) — Robert C. Cotner's biography of James Stephen Hogg should be required reading for one group of Texans, recommended reading for another.

Hogg, the first native Texan to become governor, set an example for integrity, forthrightness, and political courage that present day politicians might well emulate.

The book should be required reading for all legislators, district attorneys, even judges and members of congress.

In the recommended reading class would be all Texans interested in public affairs. Students with an eye on future state service, should study it, along with members of Republican and Democratic county and state executive committees and campaign managers.

Cotner's book is the product of more than 10 years of painstaking research into the personal and public life of Gov. Hogg.

Hogg made his name in Texas history as the foe of land-grabbers and securities crooks. He fought discriminatory rate and other practices by the powerful railroad interests of the 1880-1900 period of Texas growth. Hogg brought the railroads under state regulation and was the father of today's railroad commission.

Hogg has become almost a legendary figure in Texas government and politics. Cotner has spiced some of the legends and by careful documentation traced his career from through days as a farm hand, country editor, justice of the peace, prosecutor, state attorney general and finally governor and big-time oil operator.

In the process, Cotner interviewed scores of persons who knew Gov. Hogg in all phases of his life. He read and re-read Hogg's public utterances and areas of newspapers.

His greatest difficulty in putting the book together was eliminating the non-essential from the mass of raw material. The end product is both authoritative and interesting.

The Hogg biography follows Cotner's earlier publication, "Addresses and State Papers of James Stephen Hogg", published in 1951 by the University of Texas Press.

The University of Texas History professor used it extensively in tracing Hogg's political career.

One passage in the book perhaps summarizes Hogg's political philosophy.

He was attacked by conservatives as a "communist" — even in that distant day. And the left-leaning populists considered him to be an over-cautious conservative.

In the heated campaign for governor in 1892, Hogg summed up the issue: "Shall the corporations or the state control Texas" in these words:

"Nugent (the populist candidate) is for government ownership of railroads; Clark (the conservative democrat) is for turning them loose. I want neither, but advocate their just control and regulation through the Commission."

Hogg won in what Col. E. M. House, Woodrow Wilson's close adviser, called the first firm stand by "the people of any American state against the privileged classes."

MAJOR MENDELSON

Girl Surgeon Joins The Army

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP) — Some people think a woman is as out of place in the Army as — well, as a woman in medicine.

Don't tell that to Dr. Mendelson. Or Maj. Mendelson, either. Because Janice A. Mendelson is both and loves every minute of it.

She is one of only eight woman surgeons in the U. S. Army.

Formal schooling began in China, continued in England and wound up in the United States.

Her father, J. A. Mendelson, was an old-line Army doctor now superintendent of Dayton State Hospital in Dayton, Ohio.

After three years in China, he took a stateside assignment in Wyoming. Then he retired from the Army, bundled up his well-traveled family and returned to Tientsin, China, to set up private practice.

Janice got a high school diploma from Roosevelt High School in Washington, D. C. Then came a bachelor of science degree at Wilson Teachers College, an M. D. from the University of Pittsburgh and a degree in surgery from Ohio State University.

Just four years ago she was a practicing surgeon in Dayton. So why join the Army?

"There are several reasons," says Maj. Mendelson. "One was travel. It's in my blood, a hold-over from childhood."

"Also, while working in hospitals I saw many young male doctors, most of them with families, called into the Army. I had no family responsibilities and I didn't need the money — which is certainly better outside, of course."

"So I decided that by coming into the Army I might replace one male doctor — who couldn't so easily afford to come — on the list of those to be called."

Football Season Anticipated By More Schools

A total of 914 high schools are poised for the start of the fortieth Texas football season.

This is one more than made the race in 1958 and there may be several additions before the official registration with the Interscholastic League closes.

The Class AAAA division, the top race, is responsible for the increase. Whereas 100 schools were in this class last year there will be 103 next season.

New Schools are Bel Air of Ysleta, Irvin of El Paso and Permian of Odessa. Only one of these will compete in the championship race this year.

That is Permian, which enters the Abilene district on competitive basis.

Class AAA is unchanged with 87 teams. There is one fewer in Class AA where 178 will toe the line and there also is one less in Class A where 187 will start the campaign.

Class B has 219, 6-man football 94 and 8-man football 46.

This is the first year for the separate 8-man football division but it is showing indications of taking over altogether from 6-man football.

Abilene, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth Carter-Riverside Corpus Christi Ray and San Antonio Jefferson are among the teams that should be among the top 10.

Much is heard of Ray, whose coach last year promised 1959 would be the time for the boys to howl. Jefferson still has its brilliant all-state back, Hix Green.

Wichita Falls, The defending state champion, has a strong nucleus but does not appear at this time to be as good as last season. However, more than half of the 36-man squad of 1958 returns as seniors and there also are plenty of high-grade sophreaches of Chesapeake Bay last November, she did general surgery at Valley Forge Army Hospital, Pa., and Fort Bragg, N. C.

Now she's chief of traumatic investigations in the Chemical Warfare Laboratories.

"This type of research is new to me," says Dr. Mendelson. "But our job — finding better ways of treating mass casualties — is vitally important."

"If I find that I'm doing work that is not helpful or is of poor quality, I wouldn't want to stay."

It doesn't seem too likely. She heads a research team that announced encouraging results in April with an anti-gangrene vaccine to cut down on casualties resulting from the massive open wounds of atomic bombs.

Nautical Ice Breakers Are Fun For Sewing

By DOROTHY ROE

Want to stay light-hearted and cool-headed this summer? Make your own crazy cap and matching tote bag. These novel accessories are as easy on your pocketbook as they are to make. All you need are one yard of denim, colored plastic tape, a sewing machine and an hour or so of time.

The sample set made up by local sewing center experts used faded blue denim with appliqued fish shapes cut from red and white plastic tape, but many color schemes are possible.

To make the hat, cut a 19-inch half circle from paper and use as a pattern. Fold fabric double, pin pattern in place and cut around edge, giving you two half circles. Stitch the two rounded edges together. Turn right side out and slip-stitch straight edges together. Cut three fish from colored plastic tape and apply to one side. Adjust button and loop at back to fit head.

For the bag, cut a circle 10 inches in diameter and a strip of fabric 17 by 36 inches. Stitch the 17-inch sides together. Now stitch one open end around edge of circle, forming bottom of bag. Cut lining from clear plastic, in just the same way as you cut the pieces for the bag. Make bottom circle 10 inches in diameter, but make side piece 16 by 36 inches. Join sides of long piece and stitch to bottom circle section. Insert in fabric bag. Fold top of fabric over two inches, folding raw edge under and catching top of plastic lining, and stitch. Make a second row of stitching one inch from top to form casing. Run a thick white cord through top for draw-string. Then decorate the sides of the bag with five or six plastic-tape fish, to match hat.

The hat is perfect for wind and sun protection and will lie
