Dear Santa, Here Is Our Gift List...

I know it's probably too late, but there are some gifts that really shouldn't be forgotten.

Please, Santa, bring us another reminder that we really are celebrating the birth of Jesus and all that we do during this holiday season should reflect this birth day celebration.

Now, our list for Hereford is still bulging, so please take pity on an overworked shopper.

First of all, the gals in town need some skirt-stretchers, so they can cover their knees when they sit down. All of them are getting cricks in their arms trying to keep the stylish-brief skirts down.

It's far too late of course this year, but could you possibly arrange a balmy fall day when the Jaycees put up the Christmas decorations? They keep falling off the ladders, entwined like mummies in gold garlands and red light bulbs.

For Jim Witherspoon, we need some more letterheads and carbon paper to replace all that he has used writing Congressmen about the Sugar Act. And while you're at it, how about bringing us some horseshoes for luck to go along with all the hard work that is being done to get a beet refinery here?

Jim Wiman and his Booster Club could use a few more winning games and some trips closer to home. But, gracious, (Continued on page 5)

Kovacs' Best Present Is Due In January--US Citizenship

BY DAN MUDD
BRAND STAFF REPORTER

For most families, Christmas comes but one time a year. And like other Hereford residents, the Ludwig Kovacs family Sunday morning will open their packages beside the lighted tree in their cozy home at 709 Knight St.

But next month, the family will have their biggest Christmas ever--when they become full-fledged citizens of the United States.

Ten years ago, the family came to Hereford from Austria. They had known a lifetime of sorrow, and little happiness.

Today, Mr. and Mrs. Kovacs remember the early 1940's which were the most unpleasant years of their lives. But a lot of their sorrows have been covered by nearly a decade of living in Hereford.

In mid-January, Mr. and Mrs. Kovacs and their two children, Annaliesa, 13, and John, 14, will receive their citizenship papers at 47th District Court in Amarillo.

Another son, Jacob Kohler, received his citizenship last January. He is now in the U.S. Air Force, stationed at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, Mississippi.

Life was not so happy on Easter Day, 1941, when the Nazis marched into Yugoslavia. Kovacs had a 650-acre farm near Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and he and Mrs. Kovacs had been married for less than a year.

In June, 1941, Kovacs got a notice that he had to join the German Army. When he refused, his farm was confiscated and he was placed in a German concentration camp.

"The only Christmas I can remember having while I was in the concentration camp was when the International Red Cross gave each prisoner a small gift," Kovacs said.

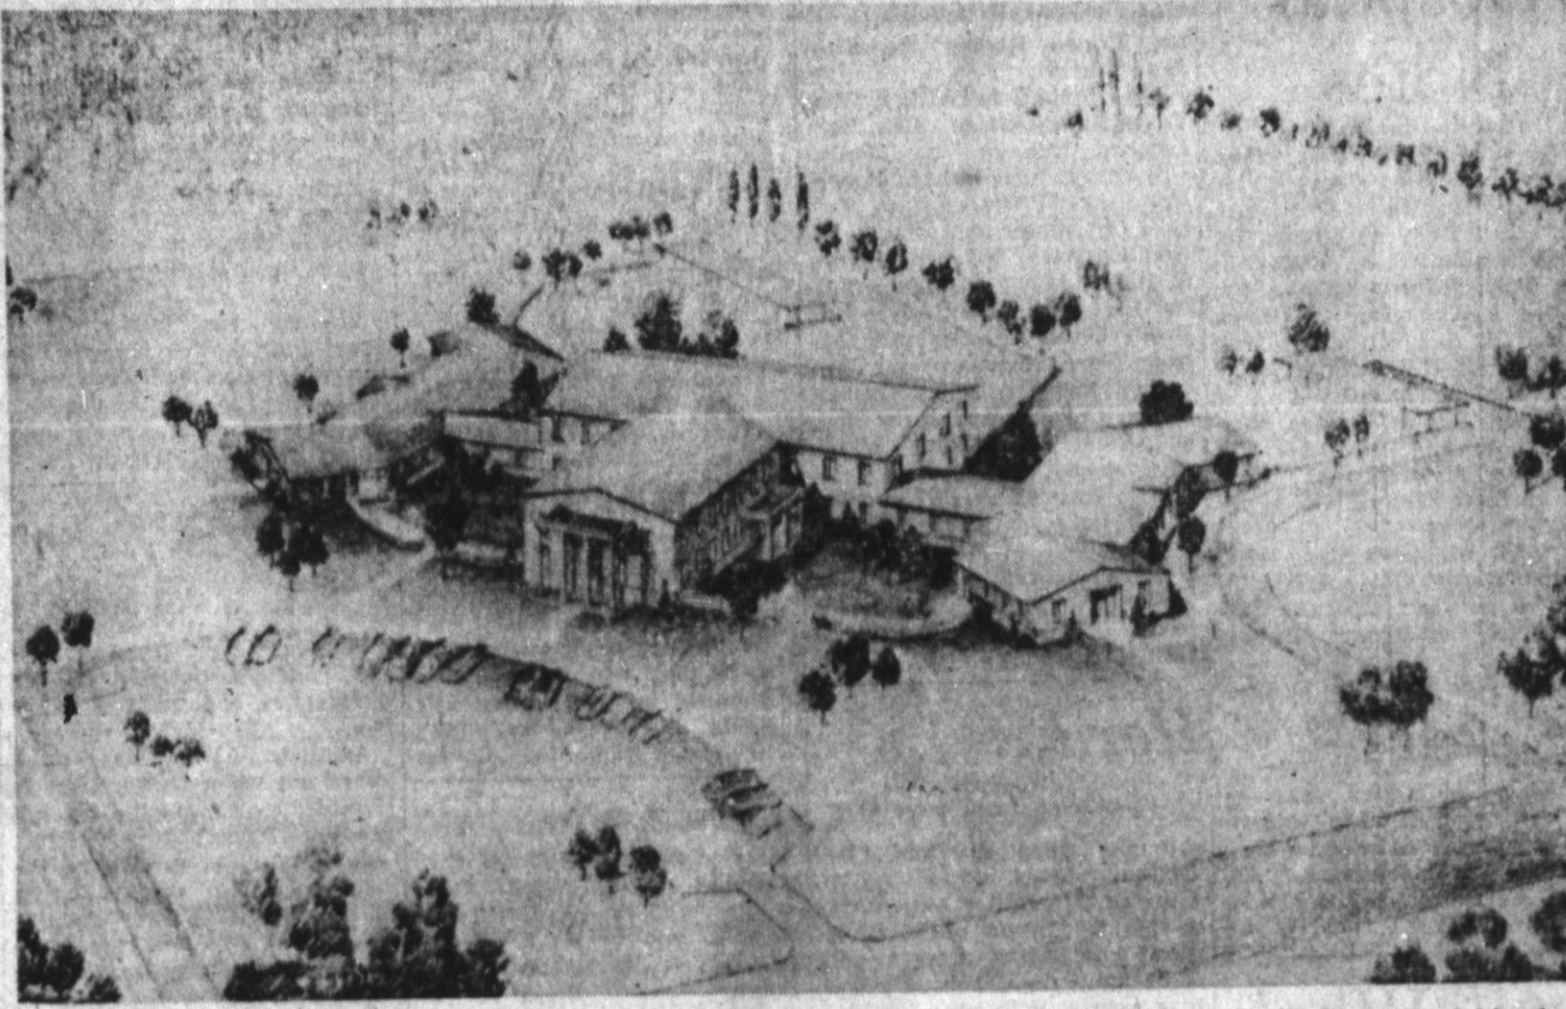

When he was released on April 28, 1954, after American forces occupied the country, he was joined by his wife. They went to Salzburg, Austria, where Annaliesa and John were born.

Kovacs worked with the U. S. military governmental station in Salzburg, where he served as house master for Gen. Lawton Collins.

They made their first move to come to the United States in 1951 by making application for obligation for a visa. Through Church World Service and the Presbyterian Church of Hereford, they finally arrived in Hereford Nov. 9, 1951.

For a while, Kovacs worked on the L. M. Simpson farm near Hereford. Later, the Kovacs moved into the city.

PROPOSED HOME FOR THE AGED is shown in this sketch by Haynes and Kirby, Lubbock architects who are designing the building. Set at an angle to gain the most sunlight for each room, the building is arranged with central service facilities as close as possible to each resident's room. Trustees now are at work revising the plans although the main plan will remain as designed.

Students Vie To Name Home For Golden Ager

Junior and senior students in Hereford High School will compete to choose a name for the proposed Methodists home for golden age citizens, with a $200 college scholarship at stake.

Architects' drawings and perspectives have been released and are being studied and revised now by the board of trustees for the home which is to be located in Hereford.

Rules for naming of the home are as follows: Any junior or senior in Hereford High School may write in a suggestion for the name. The amount of the scholarship is $200 and will be sent directly to the college of the student's choice.

No award will be given unless the student does enroll in college within two years.

The letter submitting the name suggested must bear the name of the high school principal, certifying that the student carries a regular load.

No two names may be suggested by one student.

Any adult anywhere may help a student choose a suggested name. All names may be refused and all suggestions become the property of the board of trustees, whose decision is final.

No name including either the name "Hereford" or the name "Methodist" will be considered. Names suggesting the end of life, such as "Sundown," are not favored. Historical Methodist names, such as Wesley, Asbury or Epworth, are favorable if used in a new arrangement. Such words as Manor, Lodge, Home, Garden, Park, or Hermitage, are popular for such homes and might be good.

Even to name it for a Bishop of this area, with such a name as Martin Manor or Galloway Gardens, might be good. Suggestions of happiness, such as Morningside Manor, would be good. Imagination and individuality are wanted in this contest.

Landrace Group Honors Rowland

H. H. Rowland of Hereford this week was given national recognition by the American Landrace Association for a star litter production.

The noted purebred Landrace breeder received the following Star Litter recognition: Four-Star on nine pigs weighing 480 pounds, 56 days old; and Four-Star on ten pigs weighing 481 pounds, 56 days of age.

To qualify for an award in the Landrace Production Tested Star Litter program, eight or more pigs must be raised with a total litter weight of 400 pounds or more at 56 days of age.

The awards were based on weights recorded on the 19 pigs submitted to American Landrace Association headquarters in Noblesville, Ind.

Rowland, a director of the Association, in past years has received national recognition in various Landrace stock shows. He is a past president of the Texas Landrace Association.

Rowland lives one mile north of Hereford.

Oklahoman Held In Forgery Case

Jason Clark, 26, of Oklahoma City was returned to Hereford Wednesday evening after arrest by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department in Medford, Okla., Tuesday.

Clark was indicted for forgery by the 69th District Grand Jury on Dec. 6 of this year. His bond was set at $1,000 by District Judge Harry Schultz of Dalhart.

The case is pending action of 69th District Court.

Practices, Cost-Sharing For 1961 Conservation Plans Set

As the new year is only a week away, Deaf Smith County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office manager Ernest Faust Collier has announced 1961 Agricultural Conservation Program practices for this county.

After Jan. 1, local farmers will start making application for practices which will be carried out in 1961. Practices were approved recently by the County ASC Committee, which includes Walter N. Hodges Sr., chairman, Frank J. Bezner, vice chairman, P. B. Sowell, member, Faust Collier, secretary-treasurer, and County Agent J. W. (Lefty) Thomas, ex-officio member.

Specifications and rates of cost-sharing for practices listed are applicable to practices performed on or after Jan. 1, 1961.

"It is hoped that the assistance offered by this program may serve as added encouragement for all of us to meet our responsibilities to future generations on good soil and water," Collier said.

The program was developed in cooperation with the Farmers Home Administration, with Walter Johnson as county supervisor; Don Newman, work unit conservationist, Soil Conservation Service; the board of supervisors of Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District; and J. W. Thomas of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Establishment of additional acreages of vegetative cover in crop rotation to retard erosion and to improve soil structure, permeability or water-holding capacity is applicable only to land which needs such cover.

Federal cost-sharing will be limited to that acreage which the county committee determines represents a desirable increase over what would be

$250,000 Feedlot Operation Set

"Hereford Feed Yards, Inc.," a $250,000 cattle feeding expansion recently completed purchase of 196 acres of land from Homer Brumley, and expects to begin construction in the immediate future. The location, immediately east of the alfalfa dehydrating plant on U. S. Highway 60, lies on the south side of the Santa Fe tracks.

Heading the corporation as manager will be Paul Engler of Wisner, Neb., who plans to move to Hereford as soon as he can locate housing for his family, which includes Mrs. Engler and five children. He is currently in California negotiating the purchase of a $100,000 feed mill. Engler has been associated with the Dinklage Cattle Company in Nebraska for the past 10 years, and has been active in operation of a 25,000-head feed lot at Wisner.

In addition to Engler, the executive board of the local corporation includes Joe Reinauer and Owen Seamands, both of Hereford.

The Hereford lots will be constructed to handle 6,000 head of cattle, and the corporation expects to turn out this number each 120 days, ready for slaughter. Long range plans call for an operation to handle 25,000 head of cattle as the project expands, and stockholders point out that the 196-acre tract can easily accommodate this expansion.

Grain sorghum will provide the basic feed in the local program, offering an important local consumption of grain and competing with feed lots in Iowa, Nebraska and California.

"Market demands will control the specifications of our output," Engler said, "and we will market the cattle to the best advantage of the operation."

Resident Held On DWI Charge

John Cannon Trotter, 51, 213 25 Mile Ave., Wednesday afternoon was charged with driving while intoxicated, first offense after arrest five miles south of Hereford on a rural road.

Trotter was arrested at 5 p.m. Making the arrest were Deaf Smith County Sheriff Lowell Sharp and Texas Highway Patrol officer Charles Skinner of the Hereford Unit.

The case is pending action in Deaf Smith County Court.

Around Town

At long last the rush is over and a quiet peace seems to descend upon the world and all its inhabitants. Even for those travelling to be with their families and friends, the majestic swell of "Joy To The World" or the lilting rhythm of "Jingle Bells" brings a feeling of happiness and solemnity.

Driving to Canyon on Friday night, we heard a radio commentator talking about how world news seems to slow to almost nothing during the Christmas season. This, strangely enough, happens each year, although only a small part of the world is celebrating the birth of Christ. And he is right. Those of us who are engaged in gathering and reporting news know this quite well. At no other time during the year is there so little "real" news.

We thought we kept up with the area pretty well, but we got caught Friday, along with a lot of other folks from Hereford. Arriving in Canyon, we were shocked to see the high school building dark and locked. After driving around a while, we eventually were directed to Canyon's new high school. And it is a beautiful building. Dean Herring was kidding us at half-time during the ballgame about (Continued on page 2)

WAITING FOR SANTA is an exhausting business and many a child falls asleep by the fireplace while waiting for him to arrive with his sleigh filled with toys and goodies. Bob Lomas, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lomas, and Carolyn Langley, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Langley, found the wait too much for them. But when they awake, the carefully-placed plate of candy will be gone and their stockings will be bulging. (Staff Photo)

Although Hereford had more fans on hand for the game than Canyon, I wish everyone could have seen Carl Miller. He scored 37 points, but just seemed that everything he shot went in.

For those of you seeking entertainment on Christmas Day, here's a reminder that the Star Theatre won't open until 3 p. m. Sunday in order that employees might have a little more time at home.

A 1960 Hereford High School graduate, Virginia (Gager) Isbell, appeared on the Truth or Consequences TV show Friday morning. The daughter of Mrs. Charles Digby, Virginia is attending airline hostess school in Los Angeles, Cal., now. She sat on Santa's lap and asked for a Cadillac, a mink coat that would drag the ground if she were four feet taller and a diamond bracelet. Apparently Santa, or the sponsors, didn't have such items in stock, but she did get a Polaroid camera and a bottle of perfume. Virginia, who's 19, was to arrive in Hereford Monday for a visit with her mother and other relatives.

Many Hereford churches have scheduled special music and sermons for Sunday's services. Some of the churches held their main service on Saturday evening, observing Christmas Eve. And what could be more appropriate than to celebrate Christmas than by attending church services?

We'd like to add our greeting for a very Merry Christmas to each of you. And please remember Police Chief Henry Aycock's holiday wish when you drive, "Drive towards others as you would have them drive toward you!"

We are going to forego our usual limrick this issue with the suggestion that you read "Twas The Night Before Christmas" and St. Luke's story of the birth of Christ.

Kovacs'...

Annaliesa, who was three years old when she arrived in Hereford, is now in the seventh grade at Stanton Junior High.

John, a ninth grader at the same school, also is a member of the Stanton school band.

"About all I can remember before coming to Hereford is dropping my milk bottle in the ocean," Annaliesa said. Johnnie got sick on the ship," she giggled. "We all got sick," John reported.

"That first Christmas we spent with the Simpson family seemed to be our happiest," Kovacs said.

After living in Hereford for five years, the family applied for American citizenship. Recently, they passed all requirements required for citizenship.

Annaliesa and John are looking forward to getting a record player this Christmas. But even if they did not receive one, they wouldn't mind. They'll get their big present next month.

Story Of Christmas Told At Yule Party

Elaborate Christmas decorations were used throughout the home of Mrs. J. R. Allison at the annual Christmas party held Monday by the Music Study Club.

Mrs. Cliff Estes led the program, which was in the form of a Christmas sermon. Mrs. Allison read Luke 2:1-14 and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. W. E. Dameron. Mrs. Dick Godwin sang "O Holy Night," by Adams and Mrs. Estes read Luke 2:7, "No Vacancy."

At the close of the scripture readings, the club joined in singing a number of Christmas carols. Mrs. J. C. McCracken played "Silent Night," by Gruber Kohlmann.

Mrs. A. O. Thompson led the closing prayer.

There was a gift exchange and Miss Marilyn Barkley presided at the silver tea service during the serving of refreshments.

The tea table was centered with an arrangement of miniature pink reindeer surrounded by silver and pink Christmas Balls. Silver candelabra embellished with silver and pink baubles and holding tall pink taper flanked the centerpiece.

Present were Mesdames J. R. Allison, James Aiston, Bill Brady, W. T. Carmichael, Ellis Coombes, B. Y.

Crosthwait, W. E. Dameron, Cliff Estes, Dick Godwin, Joe Hacker, Paul Lyons, J. C. McCracken, George McLean, C. J. Mountz, T. W. Robinson, A. J. Schroeter, Lowell Sharp, W. Jesse Stanford, A. O. Thompson, Dale Young, C. W. Parker, R. P. Coneway, J. T. Gilbreath, Glenn Snyder, S. O. Wilson and Misses Frances Dameron and Marilyn Barkley.

HARVEY WALKER, assistant agronomist at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock, exhibits results of studies in the influence of fertilizer on root development of cotton plants. These plants were grown under hot house conditions in sandy soil from the Brownfield area. The plant on the left received no fertilizer, while the one on the right was treated with the equivalent of 240 pounds of nitrogen, 200 pounds of phosphate and 200 pounds of potash per acre.

Proper Fertilization Necessary To Plants

Proper fertilization is necessary for efficient use of irrigation water, research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Substation No. 8 in Lubbock reveals.

While plant leaves, with the aid of sunlight, perform the vital function of processing plant food, a sturdy root system is essential to obtain sufficient raw materials -- water and plant nutrients -- from the soil. The role of fertilizer in root development is evident from this test, as the above photo illustrates.

In other tests with grain sorghums, greater returns per acre inch of irrigation water were obtained when the crop was properly fertilized. In 10 different fertilizer trials, yields varied although the same amount of irrigation water was applied in each case. An increase of 76 pounds of grain for each acre-inch of water was obtained with proper fertilization. "The important conclusion to be drawn from this fact is that soil fertility must be balanced in order for growing plants to efficiently utilize water applied," Walker said.

Many questions on the use of commercial fertilizers are still to be answered, according to Charles E. Fisher, Superintendent of Substation No. 8. "Facilities at the Texas Agricultural Extension Service's soil testing laboratory here in Lubbock will permit us to increase our research efforts," Fisher said.

Leaves of Labrador Tea, a small evergreen shrub in Northern United States, are sometimes crushed as a substitute for tea.

NOT ENOUGH BITE

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Safe-cracking was as bad as pulling teeth for Butte burglars.

In fact, worse. They left empty-handed after trying to crack a medical office safe with dental tools.

We wish this salutation were a personal "thank you" to each of our good friends!

Members Of Class Feted With Party

The Golden Circle Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church held their Christmas party recently in the home of Mrs. S. H. Sides, 119 Centre. The house was decorated throughout in keeping with the holiday season. Mrs. Hardy Benson, class president, presided. Miss Della Stagner gave a selection of readings taken from the book, The Prophet, by Gibran.

Mrs. Goldie Criswell had charge of the social hour and Mrs. Gladys Miller gave a pantomime depicting different members and their head-wear. She used sofa pillows as hats.

Lundry Home Is Scene Of Party

The Sunshine Club met Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Clint Lundry for its annual Christmas party and gift exchange. Highlight of the evening was the secret pal gift exchange and the drawing of names for the coming year. Mrs. Edith Sheppard, Club Mother, was surprised with a duplication of "This Is Your Life" in her honor. Members presented Mrs. Sheppard with a gift of a winter hat.

Mrs. Lundry's home was decorated throughout with a gay holiday theme. The serving table was centered with a white lace cloth and centered with a Santa Claus arrangement. Club members brought toys, linens and canned goods to be presented to a needy family on Christmas Eve. Those attending were Mesdames Willodine Brooks, Alice Bryant, Doris Burgess, Clois Kemp, J. C. Mays, George Minor, Edith Sheppard, Buck Watts, Pat Murrell and Elmer Frye.

Practices...

ing operation is 70 cents per acre.

Seeding rates for grasses are recommended for seed in pure stand. When grasses are seeded in mixture, the recommended rates are reduced proportionately. Sales receipts for seed must be filed in the county office, showing germination and purity.

Furrowing or chiseling non-crop grazing land to prevent soil loss, retard runoff and improve water penetration must be performed as nearly as practicable on the contour.

Chiseling must be at least six inches deep. Furrowing must be at least four inches deep. Spacing must be more than three feet or more than eight feet apart. Federal cost-share of furrowing or chiseling is $1.10 per acre.

Dams, pits or ponds must be constructed at locations which will bring about the desired protection of the vegetative cover through proper distribution of grazing or better grassland management or make practicable the utilization of the land for vegetative cover.

Under this practice, farmers and ranchers are assisted in providing a proper distribution of livestock water in relation to available forage that can be taken without damage to desirable plants.

Where there is already sufficient water for the number of animals that the surrounding grazing area will support, additional water developments may merely encourage overuse.

No cost-sharing will be allowed for constructing a dam or reservoir on cultivated land, except where a stand of perennial grass has been or will be established concurrently, the land is or will be primarily used for grazing, and is plowed only when necessary to re-establish the grazing cover.

The dam or spillway must be seeded or sodded if such measures are determined by the SCS technician to be necessary to protect the dam. All earthen dams and reservoirs must be constructed to meet the requirements of Soil Conservation Service conservation practice specifications.

Under initial establishment of permanent sod waterways to dispose of excess water without causing erosion, cost-sharing is provided in completing water disposal systems so that runoff water from agricultural land may be conducted to safe points of release with a minimum of erosion.

It may be used in connection with terrace systems or field diversions, for safe disposal of storm runoff from irrigation systems, or for the protection of natural waterways through farmland. It may also be used in connection with drainage systems, where applicable.

Federal cost-sharing will not be given for seeding waterways which average more than 150 feet in width, unless the design shows need for a greater average width to handle the expected runoff. There must be obtained in the waterway a uniformly distributed stand of plants sufficient to produce a good vegetative cover.

The seedbed should be plowed, disced or harrowed. Forage sorghums, sudan grass or millet should be planted in the spring or early summer, drilled in rows not to exceed 24 inches. The crop must not be harvested and seed maturity should be prevented.

Triple dwarf grain sorghum and volunteer crops will not qualify. Payments will not be made for seeding less than 80 percent of the recommended rate.

Seeding should be done with a regular grass seed drill. Not less than 75 per cent of the recommended seeding rate must be used. No cost-sharing is offered for seeding more than 125 percent of the recommended rate. Seeding rates must be reduced proportionately in mixtures.

Construction of terraces to detain or control the flow of water and check soil erosion is recommended only on land suitable for cultivation. Necessary arroyo protected outlets and waterways must be provided.

The county committee will require that necessary outlet protection be provided before terraces are constructed where it is technically determined that this is necessary to prevent erosion. Federal cost-share is $1.75 per 100 linear feet.

Construction of diversion terraces to intercept runoff and divert excess water to protected outlets is used to divert excess water from erodible, from gullies in pastureland, and to break up the concentration of water on long, gentle slopes. It may also be used to divert water into or away from earthen reservoirs or into a system of water-spreading terraces on cultivated land.

Diversion terraces should not be substituted for standard terraces as an erosion control measure.

Necessary protective outlets and waterways must be provided and diversion terraces must be constructed to meet SCS specifications. Federal cost-share is six cents per cubic yard.

The practice of reorganizing farm irrigation systems to conserve water and prevent erosion is used to assist farmers in the conservation irrigation of irrigable land. This includes the uniform application of required amounts of water without erosion, excess leaching or waste; maximum use of available rainfall; orderly disposal of excess water at nonerosive velocities; and maintenance of soil fertility.

No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for cleaning a ditch or for structures installed for crossings or for other structures primarily for the convenience of the farm operator. No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for reorganizing an irrigation system if the primary purpose of the reorganization is to bring additional land under irrigation, or for reorganizing a system which was not in use during at least two of the last five years.

Federal cost-share is 45 per cent of cost of pipe only, limited to $1500 per farm.

Another practice, leveling land for more efficient use of irrigation water and to prevent erosion, is to alter the slope or land in such a manner as to don't take that to mean that they wouldn't be happy to go hold erosion damage to the minimum, make maximum use of rainfall, obtain efficient use of irrigation water and facilitate water and soil management.

No Federal cost-sharing will be allowed for floating or restoration of grade, and no cost-sharing will be allowed for leveling operations on land leveled under a previous program. This practice is not applicable in connection with irrigable land for which suitable water is not available. Federal cost-share is 50 per cent of cost, not to exceed $23.50 per acre.

Another practice is stubble mulching to improve soil permeability and to protect soil from wind and water erosion. Tillage operations must be such as to leave sufficient crop or weed residue on the surface or mixed in the upper part of the soil to provide protection against wind and water erosion.

Stubble mulching must be done with a sweep type plow or rod weeder during the growing season, between May 1 and Sept. 30. No cost-sharing will be allowed if the acreage has been burned over, if the straw has been removed or if a one-way plow has been used. Federal cost-sharing is $1.25 per acre.

Contour listing, contour chiseling, cross-slope chiseling or listing or chiseling not on the contour for wind erosion control is applicable only to land subject to irrigation.

Contour listing or chiseling must follow level guidelines at not to exceed twice the terrace interval, or must follow terraces. Cross-slope chiseling must be performed as nearly on the contour as is practicable. Operations which are a part of normal farming operations will not qualify.

Chisel furrows must be spaced not less than 18 inches nor more than 36 inches apart. List-er furrows must be spaced not more than 42 inches apart.

Federal cost-share of chiseling at least five inches deep is 60 cents per acre and for listing at least four inches deep, 60 cents per acre.

Another practice is control of bindweed as a necessary step in the control of wind erosion. The practice may be approved only if the county committee determines that bindweed control is a necessary step in the control of wind erosion.

The practice may not be approved where the county committee determines that there is a likelihood of reinfestation. The area of each infested plot is considered to extend 10 feet in all directions from the area on which bindweed plants may be seen growing.

The entire infested area in a field must be treated. Approved herbicides must be evenly distributed over the infested area at not less than 90 per cent of the recommended rate.

Federal cost-share is 50 per cent of the cost of the approved herbicide, not to exceed 47 cents per square rod.

Additional information on all practices is available at the ASC office in Hereford, Collier said.

to Austin for a state finalist team of any kind.

Our basketball coach, Cuby Kitchens, needs some sort of black magic to wave against the Palo Duro Dons. They seem to have a spell when they play Hereford. Be careful what kind you send, tho, since Cuby might use it against some other opponents. Ansel McDowell, we feel, needs more customers who buy magazines before they read and blot up coffee with them.

Dr. C. E. Hicks, we understand, is wishing real hard for a winterized bicycle, since his present model has neither windshield nor heater.

For our Girl Friday, Ruby Brewton, who is getting married Jan. 7, I would like a whole sleigh-full of happiness.

Although our law enforcement officers are among those who have to work on Christmas Day, please don't deliver them any violence.

Our school teachers aren't working right now, but they will be at it again soon. So bring them the response to their devotion which richly rewards them for their work. And don't forget a few switches for the few who just can't seem to behave.

Paul Stevens, it seems, is wishing for his private weather forecasting bureau so he will know early each morning whether the buses should go out. Can you arrange it for him?

Seems like the only thing the B&PW Club needs is another project or two. They were whizzes, you'll recall, when they bought their own storefront decorations and got things rolling for the old folks home.

We thought about something extra special for the staff at Deaf Smith County Hospital, but just can't seem to find the right gift. But bring them something wonderful to repay their devotion and gentleness throughout the year.

And, Mr. Santa, you must have something extra nice for Mrs. Jewell Smith and Mrs. Corinne Neely, who have worked so hard making other people happy at Christmas that they have neglected themselves.

I would have thought that Don Steele didn't need a gift after setting a new bowling record here, but he says he needs a perfect, 300 game to keep up his average.

Santa, somewhere up in that frozen North Pole region, you must have a large supply of patience. If so, please send it to all mothers of pre-school children. They need it every winter when the winds blow and the snow falls.

It's a rather unusual request, but our city manager, Dudley Bayne, says he has been a good boy this year and that he really needs some new paving next spring.

Bill Thompson, the one who manages the Chamber of Commerce here, is in desperate need of some new brushes to replace those worn-out while painting his new house. His wife, Pic, writes that she needs another color for her bathroom, so it won't clash with the color of the hall.

Mrs. Eula L. Cave says to send smaller people to the Hereford Community Center, so they won't jump up and put fingermarks on the ceilings.

Clint Formby asks that you not send him any more radio stations right now; he's too busy trying to keep Texas Tech in line to worry with the FCC.

I don't agree since she's usually playing against me, but my wife insists that you bring her some better bridge hands. Guess maybe you'd better keep her happy.

With checks flowing like water from a Deaf Smith County irrigation well, the bookkeepers at both banks ask that you bring them their balances. . . they seem to have lost theirs.

Baseball coach Joe Smith said not to bother you, unless you happened to have a good left-handed pitcher.

Bill Decker also writes that he has been a good boy this year and would really like you to send him another hundred members for the Country Club. His PS said they didn't even have to be gift-wrapped.

Judge Don Zimmerman seems to have a good supply, but you might bring him a small reserve of patience, wisdom and good humor.

Joe Kerr, Wayne Lehrer and Gene Moore, Hereford's three musketeers of bachelorhood, say they don't need anything, but a lot of matchmakers have written about getting some wives for them.

Please bring Tom Robinson a new top. I understand he blew his off last week. He didn't ask for this, but he did ask a year when so many teacher replacement wouldn't be needed.

And Santa, the Lions Club wants to know if you have another gold mine. Their old one, named "Weekly Wrestling," seems to be exhausted. Santa, we've been pretty selfish about wanting things for Hereford and Deaf Smith County. All of these gifts would be nice, and the recipients really do need them. But what all of us need, Santa, is more tolerance, more understanding, more faith and more courage. We need a lot more individuality and devotion to our freedom. We need more religion in our daily lives.

If you could bring us these, Santa, we could get along without the others.

Oh yes, we'll leave some cookies and milk out for you and some hay on the roof for your reindeer.

Among the nation's foremost designers of public buildings, they drew plans for the Lubbock municipal coliseum-auditorium, the unique Andrews elementary schools, the Methodist Hospital and its new addition in Lubbock.

The building is planned with its main axis running northeast-southwest so that each room will have maximum sunlight.

Central area of the building includes service facilities. These include two guest rooms, lobby, library, conference room, offices for the secretary, administrator, social director and nursing director.

There are to be two crafts rooms, staff lounge and dining room, large dining room, kitchen, living room and a multi-purpose room.

Also included are two visitors' waiting rooms and five lounges for guests.

Part of the second floor is devoted to a large infirmary area, which includes patients' rooms, and examining rooms. The building as planned will have 49,000 square feet of space. Wings are planned so that the home can be expanded from its original size to care for more residents.

Copies for the perspective, blueprints and typical room arrangements are in the hands of Earnest Langley of Hereford, for those who are interested in seeing the prospective plans.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK

For sheer adventure, few books can surpass From Raft to Raft. The book was written by Bengt Danielsson after extensive interviews with a daring seaman named Alain Brun.

old Uncle Lew, His arm in a sling and one leg. I think, too; He'd helped little Oscar try out a new sled, And had quite a gash on the top of his head. He'd also been playing with Theibert's skis, And murmured quite weakly, "The ambulance, please!"

BY JIMMIE GILLENINE
Clement Clark Moore's immortal poem, "The Night Before Christmas," is one which all Americans know and love. There have been numerous sequels, but the one which Guy Williams read recently at The Brand office party comes fairly close to the way things sometimes turn out. Anyway, a lot of mothers, fathers, uncles, aunts, grandmothers and grandfathers should appreciate it:

The Night AFTER Christmas
'Twas the night after Christmas, and all through the home Raged a terrible headache wherever you'd roam. The house looked a wreck; there were signs everywhere To prove to the world that St. Nick had been there. The children were still having fun with the toys - And breaking all records for long-sustained noise, When out of the hall there arose such a clatter, I opened the door to see what was the matter. And what to my wondering eyes should appear, But a man in distress and devoid of all cheer. He lay on the floor of the "corridor narrow, And out of the small of his back stuck an arrow! It had come from the bow of his own little lad - I knew in a moment it must be poor dad! I rushed for the phone, and had just turned around When mother crashed into the room with a bound, Pursued by a child with a rifle. Oh, well, It seems that, to please him, she played William Tell; The apple was okay but mother was not - There wasn't a shadow of a doubt she'd been shot; The kid was still shooting his air gun - how merry! He yelled, "Play some more ma! It's funny, ma, very!" Then out of his room tottered

Next grandpa came wallowing out of the bath - I never had seen any man in such wrath. He looked all awash; he was all dripping wet, His clothes were all soused; he was angry, and yet It served him quite right; a man is a dub When he tries to sail children's toy boats in the tub!

I stood there aghast when my aged Aunt Nell swooped through on Ned's roller skates, going pell mell; She upset the tree, there were sparks from a wire, I knew in an instant the house was on fire! Then things all went black, and when next I came to I was out on the lawn with a pullmotor crew; The house was still burning, the kids, every one, Were dancing and cheering and having such fun! The fire chief stood and completed his work; He snickered a bit, then turned with a jerk And, laying a finger aside of his nose, And, giving a nod, said, "Roll up the hose!" He jumped in his car, sounded siren and whistle, And away he then flew like the down from a thistle. And I heard him exclaim to his smoke-eating boys, "Well, big kids WILL play with little kids' toys!"

If nothing in the above poem rings even a semblance of familiarity, don't feel too sung. You'll probably have some kids around on Christmas someday, and you'll know what we were talking about. Meanwhile, Merry Christmas to you and yours!

Almost from the outset, de Bisschop was ill and able to do more work. Brun took command, but found the crew uncooperative much of the time.

The huge cypress logs that formed the raft's framework sank lower and lower into the water. Unlike the Kon-Tiki, the Tahiti Nui II was pushed almost due west rather than southwest.

By June it was apparent the raft would sail far north of its destination.

But steering was limited and the communications equipment did not operate. The crew was in the depths of despair. Food and water were running low and the cabin was awash in two or three feet of water. The crew lived on top of the cabin, a tiny space of about 15 by 9 feet for five people.

By the middle of August, the desperate crew had partially dismantled the raft and made a still smaller raft, optimistically christened the Tahiti Nui III. Brun used his navigation knowledge to fix the raft's position almost at the west end of the chain of islands.

Almost ready to sink below the surface and give up their six-month battle, they steered toward the island of Rakahan-

'DOODLEBUG' HUNTS OIL

HANOVER, Ill. (AP) - A. A. Potter, a veteran of 47 years of wildcat oil drilling, used a variation of the "witching stick" to locate the present drilling site he has drilled to a depth of 750 feet. "Most people laugh when I tell them about my 'doodlebug,'" the elderly Texan said. Then Potter took a capsule from a plastic box and slipped it into the end of a curious-looking object. "The capsule," he said, "contains a secret ingredient which attracts to electricity given off by oil. That's what makes the 'doodlebug' act up when there's oil in the area."

Bradleys Host Shipwreck Party

The theme of "Shipwrecked in Hawaii For Christmas" prevailed at a dinner dance hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley at the Hereford Country Club Monday evening.

A South Sea motif was used to decorate the ballroom, with draped fish nets and a life-saver inscribed "S. S. Bradley" as focal points. The buffet table, centered with an enormous roast pig with an apple in its mouth, was also decorated with tropical fruits. Christmas arrangements of candles surrounded by frosted greenery were placed at intervals along the table.

Guests, who came attired in sarongs, clam-digger pants, gay Hawaiian shirts and other "shipwreck" apparel, were given leis as favors.

Sitting on pillows placed before low tables, guests were served a buffet supper of sliced roast pig, fruit and chow mein from a big black pot. Punch was served in halved coconut shells.

Between 50 and sixty couples enjoyed dancing to recorded music.

L'Allegra Members Have Meet, Party

The home of Mrs. Joe Easley was festively decorated in a Yule theme at the recent Christmas party for members of L'Allegra Study Club.

Mrs. Gilbert Davis presented the program on "Christmas Wrapping" and used packages in unusual wrappings to illustrate her speech.

Mrs. Davis demonstrated the many ways a person can decorate an everyday gift and proved that with a little love and care, a small gift can be made to mean much more to the recipient.

The date books soon to be on sale were also discussed and it was decided to sponsor a needy family at Christmas.

Mrs. Joe Lyons acted as Santa Claus and distributed gifts from the tinsel tree.

Those attending were Mesdames Ronald Babione, Gilbert Davis, Clarence Hicks, James Ellis Higgins, Hilton Hig-of Diehlstadt, Mo., was wed to Keith D. Savage, son of Mrs. Alwyn Savage of Hereford, in a simple double ring ceremony performed Thanksgiving Day at 11 a.m. Vows were exchanged in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sanders, 102 Vine St., Charleston, Mo. The Rev. Dennis Hale, pastor of the Diehlstadt Baptist Church, officiated.

Traditional wedding marches provided the nuptial music as the couple stood before an improvised altar. A large arrangement of white mums, white snapdragons and fern was flanked by stately seven-branched candelabra holding tall wedding tapers. Lacy fern entwined each candelabrum. The bride was attired in a light blue wool sheath dress with matching hat. Navy blue accessories complemented the lighter blue of her wedding ensemble. She carried a bouquet of tallisman roses arranged on a white Bible.

Mrs. Bill Russell of Charleston, Mo., dressed in a blue wool suit with matching hat and accessories, served as her sister's matron of honor. Bill Russell assisted the groom as best man.

Miss Linda Summers of St. Louis, a sister of the bride, served as candlelighter. She wore a light blue wool sheath dress and a corsage of white carnations.

At the reception following the ceremony, the bride's table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and centered with a large three-tiered wedding cake, topped with white rosebuds and miniature white confectionery doves. White tapers glowed in double-branched crystal candelabra. Silver and crystal appointments completed the table setting. Miss Linda Summers served.

A Merry Yule Tide To All

BY MONA JETTE
WOMEN'S EDITOR

Nineteen hundred and sixty years ago, a young woman gave birth to a son... not in the efficient maternity ward of a hospital, but in a small humble stable meant for the shelter of animals.

She had no fine linen in which to wrap him, so he was carefully covered with swaddling cloth. She had no fine mattress in a sturdy crib on which to place him... he lay in a manger filled with soft fragrant hay.

This Child's lullaby was the songs of angel and his visitors were shepherds and three men who had traveled from far away to worship at his feet.

The Babe's back was straight and strong, but would one day be bent low by the weight of a heavy cross as he stumbled through the streets of an unfriendly city.

Tiny baby fingers curled warmly around the mother's thumb... tiny hands that would one day be pierced by nails as he was placed on a rude cross.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Parris, 712 Blevins, was the setting for an open house Sunday honoring Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Yandell on their silver wedding anniversary.

The refreshment table was laid with a bright red tablecloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake. The cake was iced in white and accented with miniature rose buds, silver leaves and tiny silver cake decoars.

Topping the cake was a miniature bridal couple standing under a flowery wedding arch. Crystal candle holders holding tall white wedding tapers flanked the centerpiece and the remaining table appointments were in crystal and silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Yandell were married Dec. 21, 1935, and have one daughter, Mrs. John C. Robinson of Hereford. The family moved to Hereford in 1944.

Mrs. Robinson greeted guests as they called and Mrs. Parris presided at the coffee and cake service.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stone of Tahoka, family friends of long standing, were among the many persons who called during the afternoon.

A Merry...

son of Joseph and Mary were a soft blue, just as most newborns are... but the day would come when these same eyes would be able to look into the very heart of Man.

Today, another glorious Christmas is here and almost gone again.

It is the most wonderful day of the year, and in a way, the saddest. You think of people on this day that have been forgotten for the preceding year. It is a time of love and companionship... and a day for children, in honor of the Blessed Child of so long ago.

All the hustle and bustle is finally over, heaped in a corner with the shredded wrapping paper and dilapidated holiday bows.

Families sit contented around the living room, conversing quietly with friends and relatives as children play delightfully with their new-found Christmas treasures.

Could it be that just a little of this Yuletide magic could be held in the palm of the hand for the coming year?

Could it be possible to stretch the goodwill and benevolence not through just a few weeks, but for fifty-two weeks?

Yes, the day has finally come. After endless hours of preparation, Christmas is here. But it's still not late to way with utmost sincerity.

"We wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

Anniversary Fete Is Held In Home

Children and close friends attended an open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brice Glass Sunday afternoon as the couple celebrated their silver wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass were married Dec. 22, 1935, in Paducah, Tex. They have two children, Lloyd of Vega, and Jean, now Mrs. Albert Ricketts of Hereford.

The tea table, laid with a white crocheted table cloth over red linen, was centered with a red candle surrounded by white and silver bells and silver greenery.

A three tiered cake was iced in white and trimmed with white confectionery flowers and silver cake decors. It was topped with a white satin wedding bell against a ruffle of white net.

Mrs. Lloyd Glass and her daughter, Cheri, presided at the cake and silver coffee service. Miss Melanie Glass greeted newcomers as they signed the white leatherette guest registry.

Over 40 persons were present at the celebration.

Hunting Season End Is Nearing

AUSTIN — It was a short hunting season, after all! Most of it will be over in a little more than a week.

The deer season will end for the entire state Dec. 31. The quail season will end in the trans-Pecos area, and in a number of individual counties Dec. 31.

Duck season will end Dec. 30. Goose season will continue through Jan. 8.

Javelina season will be over Dec. 31 in most of the counties covered under the general laws which have closed season on the javelin.

Turkey season will end Dec. 31 throughout the state.

In most of the counties under general laws the quail season will continue through Jan. 16. It will be best to check with your local game warden on open counties.

For the most part, the hunting season in Texas this year has been successful, according to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. Deer hunters have had the best luck in years.

Westway...

Early quail shooting was extremely good in some areas, but is beginning to taper off. Many hunters have been able to get their limits of both ducks and geese.

Community Room Scene Of Party

Soft candlelight and a gaily decorated Christmas tree formed the setting in the Community Room of the First National Bank building Monday night for the annual Optimist Club Christmas party.

The buffet table was laid with a green linen cloth, carrying out a holiday motif, and was centered with an arrangement of greenery and colored baubles sprayed with snow.

Dinner was served at quarter tables centered with a red lighted candle surrounded by small greenery.

President Cliff Galley made the welcome address and introduced Mrs. Galley, who presented a reading of selected Christmas poems, read against a background of soft recorded carols.

Bill Phipps doubled as Santa Claus and distributed gifts during the gift exchange.

The evening was ended by those attending playing bridge and other games.

Meaning Of Christmas Stressed At Meeting

Veleda Study Club's annual Christmas party was held Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Hugh Clearman, located on the Dimmitt Highway. Mrs. Clearman's home was decked in yuletide splendor with a beautiful Christmas tree as the focal point in the living room. Pink and silver baubles shone brightly on the silver tree and gaily wrapped packages brought by each member were at the foot of the tree. A high school student will receive the gifts on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Dale Young presented the program designed to keep the true meaning of Christmas. Scriptures prophesying and telling of the birth of Christ were read.

Between verses, an appropriate tradition carol was sung by a trio. Mrs. Bill Bradley accompanied the group at the piano and comprising the trio were Mrs. Dick Godwin, Mrs. Dale Young and Mrs. James Alston. Berry-red punch and Christmas delicacies were served from the gaily decorated table in the dining area to the following:

La Madre Mia Has Yule Party

The Community Center was the scene of a regular meeting and annual Christmas party Thursday evening for members of La Madre Mia Study Club. Mrs. Charles Frye was hostess.

The refreshment table was centered with a frothy white net Christmas tree decorated with silver and colored glass baubles. Gifts were attractively arranged under the tree.

Unknown to those present was a hidden tape recorder. Recordings of the evening were recorded and played back to members, offering a different but delightful program.

During the business session, it was decided to take a Christmas dinner to a needy family.

Mesdames Dennis Lomas, Dean Herring and Homer Lee Owen performed a pantomime on "I'm Getting Nothing For Christmas."

Present were Mesdames Doug Bartlett, Charles Frye, Rob Groves, Joe Hacker, Ted Hardwicke, Joe Henry, Dean Herring, Dennis Lomas, Homer Lee Owen, G. C. Merritt, Bobby Owen, Richard Pickens, John Smith, Eugene Sparks, Lee Drake, Paul Schroeter, Bobby Williams and a new member, Mrs. Gerald Martin.

Christmas Cantata Presented Sunday

SUMMERFIELD — A Christmas Cantata, compiled and directed by Miss Thelma McMinn, was presented by the Summerfield Baptist Church choir last Sunday evening.

The Cantata consisted of the following songs: "Hail Christmas," "Fear Not, Mary," "Away in a Manger," "And There were Shepherds," "Neath the Starry Heavens," "The Christmas Song," "Above the Silent Hills," "Cradle of Bethlehem," "The Lullaby," "Mary Watched Lands Afar," "Under the Starlight," "He Came to Redeem the World."

The benediction was given by Mrs. Ky Lawrence.

The choir presented the same program at the Avenue Baptist Church Wednesday night.

and two hours on the telephone. "We can make room for Christ in our Inns," the Rev. Davis said in concluding his talk.

The Rev. Davis was introduced by program chairman, the Rev. Hershel Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hereford.

The Puritan Parliament banned Christmas carols being sung in England in 1647.

Program Given By Rev. Gilbert Davis

The Rev. Gilbert Davis Jr., pastor of the First Christian Church of Hereford, was speaker at the noon meeting of Hereford Rotary Club Monday in the ballroom of the Jim Hill Hotel.

"There is no better known story to the world than that of the Christ Child's birth," the Rev. Davis said.

"There was no room in the Inn for Christ's birth, as there often is not enough room in our lives for God," he pointed out.

Pre-occupation and non-recognition of God, he said, is common in the world today. "We do not recognize God when he answers us in the simple phases of our lives," he added.

"The Innkeeper did not know that Christ would have been born in his Inn, or he would have made room for Him," the speaker said. "All the rooms in our lives become filled, and we often find little room for God. Therefore, God often gets our 'leftovers'."

He pointed out that recent survey showed the average American spends 50 hours working, 50 hours sleeping, 15 hours eating, five hours in recreation

Townsend-Combs Vows Are Exchanged Sunday

Miss Sandra Kay Townsend and Carl Eugene Combs were joined in marriage Sunday, Dec. 18, at 3 p. m. in the chapel of the Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. Clarence Powell, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Townsend. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Combs of Westway.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white nylon taffeta floor length gown, featuring a bouffant madras e overskirt. Her wedding dress was fashioned with a basque waistline and scalloped bateau neckline. The sleeves tapered to petal points and were accented with tiny heart-shaped buttons. She also wore a string of pearls, gift of the groom, and her mother's engagement ring. In keeping with the tradition of something old, something new,

The bride's finger-length veil of illusion was caught to a small Juliet cap fringed with seed pearls. She carried a white satin covered Bible topped with a bridal bouquet of an orchid surrounded by feathered white carnations to complete the wedding ensemble.

Vows were exchanged as the bridal pair stood before an altar decorated with a massed arrangement of giant white mums. Seven-branched candelabra entwined with greenery and holding white votive candles flanked the flower arrangement.

Mrs. John Burns of Bakersfield, Calif., served as matron of honor and Miss Terri Townsend acted as junior bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride. They wore identical red crystal peau de soie dresses styled with bouffant skirts and low rounded necklines. The dresses featured wide red sashes which trailed to skirt length in back and both wore red head bands and red shoes. The attendants carried bouquets of white carnations highlighted with silver glitter.

Billy Don Combs, brother of the groom, served as best man and was assisted by R. C. Welty and Robert Brown of Hereford; Marvin Welty of Dimmitt and John Burns of Bakersfield, Calif., as ushers. Johnny Burns, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Lee Ann Higgins, pianist, and Miss Lynn Thomas, who sang "Because," "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

At the reception following the ceremony, the bride's table was covered with a red net ruffled tablecloth over white. A four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table and was flanked with tall white tapers in silver holders. The base of the holders held the attendants bouquets.

Mrs. Carl Eugene Combs . . . Nee Sandra Townsend

Acting as hostesses at the reception were Miss Linda Thomas, Miss Mary Patton, Miss Carolyn Lee, Mrs. Bill West and Mrs. Lewis Neal of Dimmitt. Mrs. Robert Brown presided at the guest registry.

The bride is a senior at Hereford High School, where she is a member of F. H. A. and active in the 4-H club. She is presently employed at Safeway. Combs has attended Hereford

High School.

The bride wore a grey suit with red accessories and carried the orchid from her bridal bouquet when they left on a short trip to points of interest in New Mexico and West Texas. Upon their return, they will live in Westway, where Combs is in business with his father, Elmer Combs.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Combs Sr., Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Combs Jr. and Bert O'Conner of Plainview; Mrs. Harry Denges of Vega and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neal of Dimmitt.

Jack Rogers Speaker At Dawn Music Club Meet

The home of Mrs. E. D. Reinauer was the setting for a recent meeting of the Dawn Music Club, with Mrs. N. R. Miller and Mrs. Carl Wimberly assisting as hostesses.

Jack Rogers was introduced as guest speaker and presented the program on opera. Rogers told club members that vocal music offers as much variety and charm as that made with instruments. He also stressed that it is a natural inclination to sing and opera is the chief vocal music of high quality to which people are exposed. Opera, which began in the seventeenth century, was first performed for the nobility and later for the middle classes in Italy. Four main types of opera discussed were: Italian, which possesses a high degree of emotional quality; French, which is more artificial and uses considerable orchestral and visual display; Wagnerian and Mozart.

Rogers, who has attained considerable knowledge and love of opera purely as a music lover, also told the women that if they liked opera, to listen to it more and if they didn't like it, to listen with an open mind.

Selected recordings of various operatic airs were used during

REMEMBER WHEN?

BY CHARLIE SEEDS

They called him the "Wild Bull of the Pampas," and he was Argentina's man of the hour. On one night famous in boxing annals, he almost became the heavyweight champion of the world.

His name was Luis Angel Firpo. On that September night he stepped into the ring against scowling Jack Dempsey, the champion. From the start the fight was like a dockyard brawl. Dempsey was to say later that he didn't remember a thing after Firpo hit him the first time—he just started a slugging back, fighting for his fistie life.

Then Firpo came close to fame. He caught Dempsey with a tremendous blow that knocked him through the ropes. The champion landed among the reporters at ringside. A lot of boxing men argue that he never could have got into the ring in time by himself—but reporters shoved him back, and he climbed through the ropes in time.

Dempsey went on to club the "Wild Bull" into insensibility in the next round, to win one of boxing's wildest fights.

Remember the year? That was a year when hard bargaining was still in fashion, and a man buying a car drove a good bargain, shopping for the best savings.

Herd Squeeks Past Dimmitt 59-58 In Thursday Thriller

Hereford's hustling Whitefaces erased an 11-point halftime deficit here Thursday night to drop the Dimmitt Bobcats 59-58 in a thriller. The victory was sweet revenge for the Herd, which had lost an overtime decision to Dimmitt earlier in the season. Four free throws in the waning seconds of the game gave Hereford its win. Hereford trailed at the half-time, but cut that to five points in the third quarter. With 1:55 left in the game, Jackie Oldham sank two free throws to give the Whitefaces a 57-56 lead. With 40 seconds left, Carl Miller added two more free throws for a three-point lead. Hereford lost possession of the ball with four seconds left as Dimmitt called time out.

Miller returned as the third quarter opened and went on a scoring spree. He tallied 11 points in the quarter to take the pressure off Dennis Hodges. He climaxed the exciting period with a 39-foot field goal as the quarter ended. Trailing 45-50, Hereford went to work with a vengeance. Oldham got two free throws and Hodges a pair of field goals as Hereford trailed by a single point. Miller got two free throws and two field goals to offset Coffey's two charity tosses, and Kent Hance's field goal. That set the stage for Oldham and Miller to drop in two free throws each to put the game on ice.

Yule Trees In Los Alamos Slow Down Erosion Of Soil

By JOHN B. CURTIS
LOS ALAMOS, N. M. — Experts have written that one of this nation's greatest threats is the loss of priceless soil to erosion.

A little band of Los Alamos people, enlisting the aid of the honorably discharged Christmas tree, have been doing their bit for several years now in an effort to fight erosion here. They would like to see the idea catch on at a statewide level and more.

Instead of casting the Christmas tree into bonfires or the incinerator or the neighbor's back yard, people in Los Alamos save theirs for the members of the Isaac Walton League and the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts. These organizations see to it that the old trees are dumped systematically in places where they can contribute to soil conservation.

Dave Shaffer, a leader in the Isaac Walton League, estimates that the Christmas tree plan has resulted in the conserving of several hundred tons of soil in the last three years.

As people of Los Alamos have become acquainted with the plan, cooperation has increased to the point where they practically demand that their trees be collected, Shaffer said, and the task of collecting has become much easier and requires less time.

The collecting plan begins at the Cub Scout pack level, with members of the dens and packs collecting the trees placed in the yards of their particular neighborhoods.

They are taken to a central location, from where the Isaac Walton League members and Boy Scouts truck them to arroyos in the Los Alamos or Banderier Monument areas.

The trees are dumped into arroyos with their trunk ends facing upstream. They are packed down thoroughly, thus providing a trap for drifting silt and pebbles and sticks.

Shaffer says that one big arroyo about five or six feet deep and a mile long has become overgrown with grass and weeds since the plan was begun four years ago, silting has practically ceased, and the arroyo has filled up to the stage where in another year or so it will be about levelled over.

Shaffer said league units in Colorado and in Las Vegas and Espanola are pursuing similar programs.

"We are real proud of what we have done, and there is no doubt about the program's benefits," he said.

"We would like to see the idea catch on elsewhere. With a little volunteer effort by such groups as the Scouts and the league, it seems like such a wonderful thing to do with the discarded Christmas trees — so much better than burning them up."

When They Have Everything, Try Money, Honey

ONE GIFT that's always sure to hit the spot is plain old money.

People who get gray hairs worrying over the Christmas gift list would save time and trouble by simply sending a check and letting the recipient decide how to use it.

There are new and imaginative ways to send a gift of money this year. Banks throughout the country now have special - occasion gift checks, available at almost any bank. These may be enclosed with your regular Christmas card or in a seasonal envelope, also supplied by the bank.

Another bright idea is to open a bank account in a friend's name, and send the passbook in a gift envelope. This is especially good for small fry.

For a grown - up you could open a checking account and send a checkbook with his name and address imprinted on each check. Just go to his bank to place the order.

Or, as an off - beat gift, pay a year's rent on a safe deposit box for a friend who is careless about his valuable papers. Great idea, money. Everybody appreciates it.

Make Family's Holiday Bright

By VIVIAN BROWN

Newsfeatures
'ONE OF THE JOYS OF Christmas is the lovely lighting — in church, outdoors, in the home.

Through the years the possibilities for unusual lighting arrangements has grown, what with outdoor lights with weatherproof plug — in outlets, and safety lights indoors.

Lights are employed to achieve enchanting effects at doors and windows. Even on the table new ideas for centerpieces are suggested by lighting experts.

Some of these arrangements are made in combination with styrofoam and inexpensive props from variety stores. One captivating unit for small fry may be assembled to show Santa's helpers at the North Pole.

Mountains and base are made of styrofoam and happy elves and wheelbarrow are placed around the "snow." Behind one mountain and hidden is a string of C - 7½ red lamps.

Another effect may be achieved by creating a manger scene with inexpensive figures, concealing a couple of C-7½ inch white Christmas lamps in the roof of the manger.

A couple of Christmas trees fastened to the styrofoam base adds to the effect of the design, along with small stars fastened to the backdrop. The styrofoam is handy too in creating wall plaques. One such unit was a jolly snow man with a red hat, nose, eyebrows, mouth, tie and button, using a mounting D-25 and D-26 lamps in the rear of the snow man.

You can have a real whirl at the door, sending your imagination into orbit to achieve spectacular Yuletide effects. A pair of angels may have their wings brightened with lamps in the D - 14 size.

On either side of the door aluminum foil may be crushed and worked into a border into which may be buried star reflectors and lamps. These same star reflectors may be used across the roof to carry out the heavenly idea.

One chic and unusual door decoration may be made merely by criss - crossing pieces of soft pine until you have a tree shape.

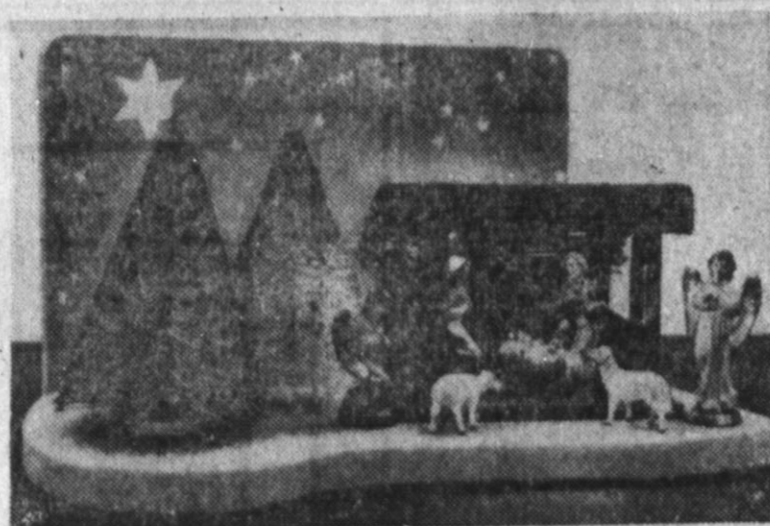

Start with a 3 - inch strip and work up to a 24 - inch cross bar, all of ¾ - inch pine. Nail the strips 3 inches apart on a strip of wood about 48 inches long. It'll take about 12 strips. Lights should be on either end of the cross bars and spaced evenly apart.

String sets may be stapled or "add - on" type sockets may be wire - taped to the undersides of each "branch." It's a good idea to paint the wood before you start the wiring.

If you plan to outline a tree with lights, plan on at least one light per square foot. Multiply the height of the tree by its width (at the bottom of the tree) by 1½.

For example: A 6 X 4 foot tree needs 36 lights to outline it properly. If you'd achieve solid mass lighting, double that number, but don't exceed it. Too many lights may be an eyesore.

STILL SAILING
COLONIAL BEACH, Va. — Capt. Billy Sanford, 82, sailed the seas for 71 years before he retired here to take up the art of painting. What does he paint? Pictures of the ships on which he sailed. Where does he paint? On the 43-foot boat he bought to live in.

THE MANGER: Make it yourself with nativity figures, styrofoam and lights concealed in the roof of the manger, suggest General Electric lighting specialists.

SANTA'S HELPERS: A table centerpiece that has real child appeal can be assembled with figures from a variety store. Lights may be concealed behind one of the styrofoam mountains.

A SCORE! — Hereford Whiteface Carl Miller nets the ball in the Hereford - Seminole game here Saturday night. Miller scored 10 points in the Whitefaces' 55-53 victory over the visiting team. (Staff Photo)

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley
Q. How can I give felt hats a good cleaning job?

A. Keep them neatly brushed and remove the surface dirt and soil with a clean rubber sponge. For a special beauty treatment, steam gently, using the tip of your steam iron or the spout of a teakettle. Steam the crown first, turning the hat slowly until the surface has been covered, then brush it lightly in the direction of the nap. Then steam the brim and brush it. Avoid getting the hat too wet, or it will shrink.

Q. How can I give first aid to a torn rubber girdle?

A. Buy yourself a tire - patch kit at a service station, then cement a tire patch on the rip in your girdle, and you should be "well contained" again!

Q. How can I keep low - necked dresses from slipping off wire hangers in my closet?

A. By the placement of a bob - pin on each side of the hanger.

Q. How can I improvise a good movie screen for some home movies?

A. A card table will make a very fine screen. Open up just two legs of the table, and use these to hold the table on edge on top of another table. Then, if the card table is dark - colored, you can cover it with some white paper or sheeting.

Q. How can I make a better and more legible job of addressing my packages for Christmas mailing?

A. Try using a regular wooden kitchen match stick, dipped in India ink, instead of a pen. Your printing will be much heavier, and much more easily read by the postal clerks.

JOLLY SNOWMAN: He's made from styrofoam and lighted from behind.

Cooks Take Sides Over Ham Glaze

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Food Editor
MANY A HAM will be baked during the holidays. And many a cook will swear by her particular method of glazing the roast so it looks handsome and tempts tasters.

What do cooks take sides over?

First off, there's the matter of scoring. (Scoring a ham means to mark the fat with a sharp knife into a desired pattern—usually diamond shapes—making sure the cuts are no more than 1/4 inch deep.)

Some kitchen experts say a ham takes a glaze best when

It's a good idea not to take more luggage with you than you need, giving the impression that you will stay for the winter. Then too, there may not be room in the car for all your luggage to the embarrassment of the hostess. You'll make the best impression with the minimum of luggage, providing you have the essentials.

Don't just throw things in willy-nilly, "just in case." Plan everything carefully. As one luggage designer, Murray Leeds suggests, take the smallest bag you can without crushing your clothes, and you can find a bag for every occasion. "If it's a long visit the most practical bag is the 44-inch all-purpose to keep dresses wrinkle-free the ice.

Tips On Visiting During Holidays

By VIVIAN BROWN
Newstrends Beauty Editor
Comes the time for Yuletide visits—days away from home, perhaps visiting classmates or a beau's family.

Travel brings with it obligations and involves courtesies, however, and some times we thoughtlessly act indifferent to them.

There is, for instance, consideration for the hostess: You should arrive and depart on trains that are suggested.

Don't say: "I think I'll take a later train" or "I'd just as soon go home tomorrow." If she suggests it, fine. But don't be the one to bring it up.

If you are visiting a beau's mother for the first time, give her a little gift when you arrive—candy or a small bouquet of flowers may help break ded? You'll find rules that direct you to plaster the sugar mixture onto a fully-cooked ham before it goes into a slow oven for heating.

Other cooks like to heat the ham through in a slow oven, pour off the drippings, then add the sugar mixture and put the meat back in a hot oven for 15 to 30 minutes to glaze and brown.

Whatever method you prefer, here's a spiced sugar and fruit juice mixture that will give a 6-pound fully-cooked ham a beautiful ruddy color.

Be sure to use a roasting pan that's just big enough to hold the ham so the glaze runs down in a thick layer, and add extra fruit juice or water to the sugar mixture if it gets too dark.

Beauty At Home

Q. How can I whiten or subdue little scars left on my face by boils and pimples?

A. Try this: Mix one ounce alum, one ounce lemon juice, and one pint rose water. Shake Ingredients: 1 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, 3 teaspoons paprika, 3 teaspoons dry mustard, 1 teaspoon ground allspice, 3 tablespoons pineapple juice.

Method: Make sure sugar is free of lumps. Mix all ingredients together and spread generously over a fully-cooked ham.

Use method desired for the oven glazing.

well, and apply to the affected skin regularly with some absorbent cotton.

Q. What is a makeup suggestion for the girl with a very pointed chin?

A. If she will use a highlighting (lighter) base at the sides of the point, she will impart the appearance of fullness to her chin.

Q. Why can't I make my fingernails look nice and smooth after my polish jobs?

A. You nails are probably in need of a good, vigorous buffing before hand, which will aid in a much smoother application of your polish. Buffing is also a wonderful stimulant for the nails, encouraging their health, beauty, and strength.

Israeli fishing fleets today work the waters of the Sea of Galilee where Jesus told his disciples to cast their nets.

It is left unscored during the baking because then "the tender fat tissues are not broken down."

Others disagree; they say that the fat tissues break down anyway during the meat's oven stay.

Then there's the glaze itself. What should go along with the sugar that's used as a covering for the meat? Some cooks like the old-fashioned way of mixing it with equal parts of fine bread crumbs; others like to add a little flour. Many cooks these days add neither crumbs nor flour.

And there's a school of cookery that says dry mustard is a "must" in a ham glaze. What about the liquid that moistens the sugar concoction?

When you get to this you have a variety of preferences. Most popular of all are the fruit juices, pineapple and orange; but there are also devotees of ginger ale, elder and sherry.

When should the glaze be ad-

This may give a better appearance, he says, than two large bags although the 21 inch or 24 inch suitcase are very practical week end bags. Train cases will hold accessories and makeup for an overnight trip. Or use the 17-inch hat box for that purpose. The swag bag is another popular travel bag these days.

It's the one fashion models use to carry accessories. It has a large pocket in the center, a side zipper, handy for last minute packables, and a zipper on top that opens the main compartment.

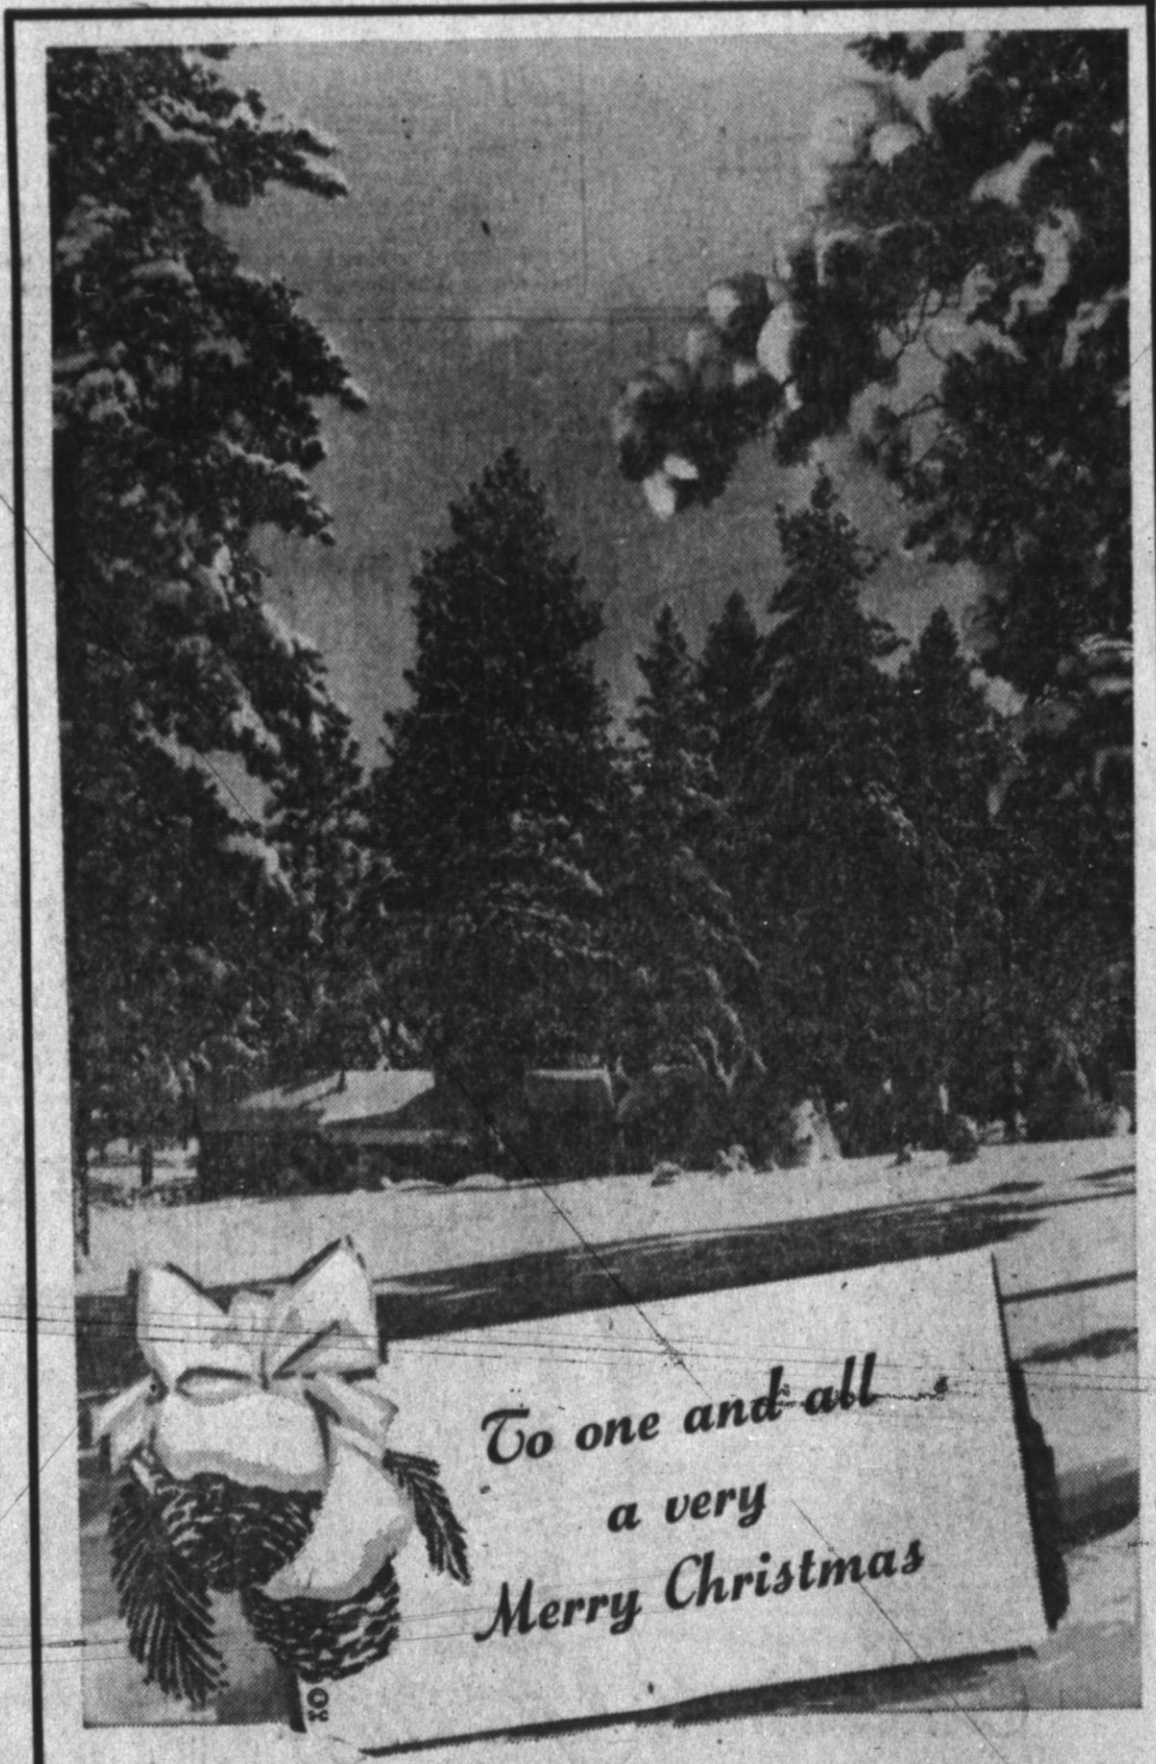

These resemble tote bags, only they are bigger and may be used for overnight or week end trips. Some of them are so big they could serve as sleeping bags, but they do get away from that "I'm going to stay forever" look.

Newer luggage is lightweight resembling vinyl plastic or fiberglass, in youthful tweed or plaid motif, and fun to have in matched sets so that you can take your choice for any occasion.

When you arrive at your destination, don't put luggage on the bedspread. If a luggage rack is not supplied, use a chair.

Keep track of your clothes, and don't drape laundry in the family bathroom.

Ask where you may hang hosiery or lingerie if you must, but it is better to have clean things to last for your stay, if possible.

AT THIS TIME of the year come queries from cooks who are planning gifts for other kitchen devotees. Which new cook book is suitable for a friend? If there are epicures on your holiday list, you may wish to consider these two nominations.

"The Classic French Cuisine" by Joseph Donon (Knopf) — for almost 40 years the author was America's most famous and reportedly highest-paid chef to a private family. Since his retirement M. Donon has given much of his time to helping along the graining of young professional cooks; the same zeal with which he aids them has gone into the working out of his book.

There are enough simple recipes in "The Classic French Cuisine" to encourage novice cooks and plenty more to keep accomplished chefs happy. Covered in gold cloth and handsomely printed, this book is an authoritative and pleasant guide.

"Classic Cooking" by John Marshall (Duell, Sloan and Pearce) is subtitled "A New Approach to French Cuisine." It was written at the request of his daughter, on the occasion of her marriage, by a man whose hobby is cooking. Its menus and recipes were tested for a privately issued version of this book and again when the present edition was being prepared.

Beginning chapters on such important subjects as shopping, seasoning, menu-making and serving are interestingly knowledgeable. Menus number 30 and exact directions for preparing them are given; most of these are for dinner for two, but some are for luncheon and supper, and a buffet for 10 to 15 is also included.

Short chapters on hors d'oeuvre, soups, sauces, special dishes, salads, aspics and desserts make good reading and should result in fine cooking.

BRICHOE
(From "The Classic French Cuisine" by Joseph Donon)
Ingredients: 1/2 cake or envelope yeast, 1/2 cup warm water, 3 cups flour, 1 tablespoon powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sweet butter, 4 eggs.

TAKE A HOLIDAY from everyday cooking and try your hand at French cuisine with a famous chef's recipe for Brioche.

Method: Dissolve the yeast in the warm water and mix it with 1/2 cup of the flour. Knead the dough well and put it in a bowl two-thirds full of warm water to rise. Sift the remaining flour in a mound on a pastry board and make a well in the center. Add the sugar, salt, and the eggs, lightly beaten, and knead thoroughly to make a smooth dough. When the sponge rises to the surface of the warm water, work it into the dough. Soften the butter by kneading it with the hands, and work it into the dough.

Put the dough in a bowl, sprinkle it lightly with flour, and set it in a moderately warm place to rise until it is double in bulk, from 2 to 3 hours.

Punch the dough down and chill it overnight. Cut off one-fourth of the dough and form it into a ball. Shape the rest into a large ball and put it in a buttered, bowl-shaped brioche mold. Cut a cross in the top of the large ball and insert the small ball in it to make the head, or crown of the brioche.

Let the brioche rise in a warm place until it doubles in bulk. Brush with lightly beaten egg yolk and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for an hour, until the brioche is browned and tests done.

Individual brioche may be made, if preferred, and baked for about 20 minutes.

USE FOR WOOD WASTES

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The high, dome-shaped burner that used to mark nearly every sawmill is continuing to vanish as more and more uses are being found for wood wastes, the Western Pine Assn. says. Last year in the 12 western states, western pine sawmills had 5 1/2 million tons of leftovers-sawdust, short ends and the like-and 3 1/2 million tons was salvaged as fuel, pulp chips and other by-products.

To Rate With Girls, Just Give Her Pearls

DOROTHY ROE

ANY KIND OF JEWELRY is all right for Christmas — just so it's pearls.

That's the word from the jewelry industry, whose members say they've never seen a season when pearls of all kinds, shapes and sizes, big and little, real and fake, have been in such demand.

Perhaps it's because this is a season when femininity and elegance have reached an all-time high — and pearls always have been favorites with great ladies, starting with Cleopatra, who not only wore them but is said to have swallowed them.

For Christmas giving and wearing, pearls are appearing in new sizes, shapes, finishes and colors, in new combinations and dramatic designs. Colored pearls are important in the holiday picture, ranging from fabulous cultured or oriental black pearls to costume pearls in tones of sable, smoke, jade, sapphire, burgundy, amber and gold. Often two or more shades of a color are blended for an effect of color graduation that is subtle and effective.

There are new finishes for costume pearls that would astonish an oyster. They range from a simulated cultured pearl finish to a dazzling white. Some pearls have a dull metallic gleam, and others a silky sheen.

As to sizes, you may choose anything from tiny seed pearls in multiple strands to jumbo pearls the size of marbles. There are many shapes, also — round, oval or flat.

Necklaces run the full gamut, from choker collars to long ropes. Sometimes pearls are paired with other gems or with gold or silver for a new look. Sparkling cut crystal combines with pearls with dramatic effect, as to jade, turquoise, emeralds or rubies, real or simulated.

'STING' WAS BULLET
GENEVA, N. Y. — Linda Russell, 14, thought she had been stung by a bee last summer when she felt a sharp pain in her right foot.

She treated the area with lotion and forgot about it. Recently Linda jumped off a bench at school and got such a terrific pain in her foot that she had to go home.

An operation uncovered a .22 caliber bullet.

Many lakes in Italy are in extinct volcano caps.

PEARL PARADE . . . All sizes of pearls star in this year's lineup, from the delicate seed pearl necklace to the jumbo size.

JADE CONTRAST . . . Pearls are used in combination with other jewels this year, as in this pearl-and-jade choker and bracelet.

PEARL WAFERS . . . New in the holiday picture are big, dramatic necklaces of pearl discs or wafers combined with gold or crystal beads.

BLACK PEARLS . . . These are rare and priceless oriental black pearls, used in a necklace that looks modest but costs more than mink.

HIGH-RISE NECKLACE . . . A new version of the pearl dog-collar is popular this season. These are combined with gay aurora crystals.

Give A Duckling The Midas Touch

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Newsfeatures Food Editor
ONE FINE FLAVOR deserves another, so the French created their Caneton a l'Orange. Fortunately for busy American cooks, the recipe takes no great culinary skill to prepare.

For this dish a duckling is roasted and the good brown drippings in the pan are teamed with orange and lemon, sugar and vinegar, to make a small amount of an exquisitely flavored golden sauce.

Then the duckling is arranged on a serving platter, coated with the sauce, and surrounded with sections of fresh orange.

Although French chefs are traditionalists, they have more than one version of this dish. No two restaurants in Paris prepare it in quite the same way.

Often a few tablespoons of matchstick size pieces of orange zest (the yellow rind without any white membrane) are scalded and added to the sauce.

Make sure you place the duck on a rack in the roasting pan. Nowadays v-shaped racks are available; a new one locks into various positions over its shallow heavy-gauge aluminum pan.

Make the V wide when you put the bird on the rack so no part of the duckling will be cramped and kept from the heat.

DUCKLING A L'ORANGE
Ingredients: 1 duckling (about 6 pounds ready-to-cook weight), salt, 1 tablespoon water or brandy, Sauce Mixture, 2 oranges (peeled and sliced).

Method: If duckling is frozen, thaw completely, remove giblets and liver, wash and dry. If necessary, cut off neck and neck skin. Place duck, breast side up, on a oiled grids of a V-shaped rack in shallow roasting pan, on the middle rack of a very hot (450 degrees) oven for 30 minutes.

Remove duck; pour off fat and any liquid in pan; return duck, breast side down, to rack over pan. Continue roasting in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for about 1 hour or until back skin is crisp and brown. Turn duck, breast side up; roast 20 to 40 minutes longer or until this side is crisp and brown and leg joint moves easily.

Remove duck; cut into quarters with poultry shears; sprinkle with salt; keep warm. Pour off fat from roasting pan, leaving all the brown drippings in pan. Add water and Sauce Mixture to pan; stir over very low heat to loosen brown particles on bottom; strain through muslin. Surround duckling with orange slices and pour sauce over bird.

Makes 4 servings.
SAUCE MIXTURE: Grate the rind from 2 oranges and reserve; squeeze juice from oranges and from 1 lemon.

In a small skillet over low heat, stir sugar and vinegar until they begin to thicken. Add the orange and lemon juice; simmer about 10 minutes; add the grated orange rind.

Christmas At A Ghost Town

BY STEVE HODGES
It was three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Christmas was only two days away. Mr. Neal got off work at four o'clock. He usually didn't do anything in his last hour. Mr. Neal was sitting there thinking where his family could go for Christmas. Their folks lived too far away to visit. He jumped up and went to the phone hurriedly. "Mary! Mary! Let's spend Christmas at the old ghost town about forty miles from here." Mary wasn't for sure, but she said, "All right."

They arrived at the ghost town about ten thirty. It looked haunted and scary. The Neal family picked the largest building to stay in and then unpacked the car, put up their cots, and got enough firewood to last them while they were there.

Steve Hodges

Mike and Bill explored the old town. After looking it over to be sure there were no ghosts, they started looking at the country. The family needed a Christmas tree so the boys went to a nearby mountain to get one.

For the past ten years, The Hereford Brand has printed Christmas stories and poems written by seventh grade students at Stanton Junior High School. This year, the outstanding group of seasonal stories and poems was selected from among those done in Mrs. Fred Welch's language arts class.

Where Is Christmas?

BY RANDY HOPSON
Carol looked desolately at the big Christmas tree in the living room of the children's home. When her parents died, she had been left all alone. Only if her parents hadn't died.

since she had been at the home. She was barely finished packing when Mrs. Clark came to her room.

After they cleaned the old timer up, the family decorated the Christmas tree. Then it was past the boys' bedtime. Mother tucked them in.

Then she introduced Mr. Clark. "Hi," he said, "are you the young lady who put roses in Vivian's cheeks?"

Carol thought she was all alone. There was no one to care for her so she had been sent to this children's home in Lubbock. Everyone was kind and her houseparents adored all eleven of the children in Cottage 2. But Carol felt all alone.

That night she dreamed of being Carol Clark. The warm happiness in the house let Carol know that she was loved.

Carol answered the knock at the door with a casual "come in."

Carol was happy the next morning.

Carol do you want me to help you pack? Mrs. Bennett, the housemother, asked her.

Carol was happy to see the house again too. She liked the Clarks very much.

Christmas Before Christmas

BY PHILLIS WARRICK
"Hey! Sis, look what I found!" exclaimed Jack, an eleven-year-old boy.

"What are you all doing?" asked Jesse, their five-year-old brother. "Can I help?"

"Don't be so nosy! Just go on and mind your own business!" Judy said as she was coming out of the closet.

"For Pete's sakes, it's nothing of yours! Yet! Anyway!" retorted Jack.

"No! Just go on!" shouted Jack as he finished putting the packages back just the way he had found them.

"All right, come on and we will play something," agreed Jack as he closed the door.

"Christmas presents!" stormed Judy. "Whose are they?"

"I don't know," whispered Jack. "I just found them! Let's see what they are."

"After they had finished unwrapping all the presents, they decided they were all for Jesse."

"But! What if Mother found out?" stuttered Judy.

"She wouldn't find out. Besides, she won't be back until about 6 o'clock and it is just 3 o'clock," disagreed Jack.

"I wonder where our presents could be?" Jack questioned as he finished re-wrapping the last present.

"Here, you open this one and I'll take this one," Jack said as he was removing a wrapper.

"Uh oh!" squealed Judy. "Here comes Jesse. Put the presents up, quick!"

"I don't know, but there is Mother and Daddy!" Judy stuttered as she handed Jack the boxes.

"What? If it's something of mine, give it here!" shrieked Judy, Jack's twelve-year-old sister.

"Here, you open this one and I'll take this one," Jack said as he was removing a wrapper.

The TOC Plan

BY ROGER OWEN
"We'd better be going," Steve remarked. "I promised Mother I'd be home at 4:30."

"But there are only three of us," lamented Jerry Lynn. "How can we do anything to help anyone?"

"Can't we play just ten more minutes?" begged Jerry Lynn.

"I think we might do something to help the reverse children who are not going to get any presents for Christmas unless somebody does something about it," suggested Tom.

Tossing the ball into the basket Tom said, "We had better go. Maybe we can play late tomorrow afternoon."

"That's a good idea," Steve agreed.

As the three boys walked down the street together their conversation drifted toward the subject of Christmas. Abruptly they all realized that their ideas

The boys agreed to meet at 7 p.m. in Tom's basement. They were on time and since the idea was Tom's, they made him chairman. The name of the drive was to be the TOC Plan. Every day after school they would collect toys. After supper each night they would repair them in Tom's basement.

concerning what constitutes the real Christmas spirit was a little warped to say the least. They realized that they had been selfish, and they decided that this Christmas would be different.

They got wagons, dolls, boats, trucks, cars and all other kinds of toys. Many of these were in excellent condition. Before they realized it they had their dads helping them. Jerry Lynn, who had a driver's license, drove the pick-up around to get the toys. There was a big write-up in the paper about what they were doing and what they had planned to do.

Everything was going well until one afternoon while Tom was playing basketball. He fell and hurt his ankle. The doctor said he would have to stay off his feet. Then Jerry Lynn called Tom and said he had three-day messages and would have to stay in bed for a few days.

Christmas In Heaven

BY SHERIAN SEIVER
"Sandra, Sandra!" called Aunt Franke.

"Please run to the store, dear, and get a loaf of bread for me, and hurry."

As Sandra walked toward the store, she thought of the many things she would like to have for Christmas, but she knew that her aunt hadn't the money for any of those things.

"Mother and Father would have enjoyed this Christmas," she thought aloud. "If only they had not been in that train wreck." Cold tears ran down her face as she went into the store.

When Sandra returned home, the evening meal was on the table. After supper, she cleaned up the kitchen and went to her room.

As she lay on her bed, she suddenly fell asleep. Now she was walking on clouds. Presently Sandra saw a marvelous golden gate, ten stories high it seemed, and it was opening. She ran inside and there in the center of the golden streets and palaces was a large Christmas tree with many presents under it. Presently she heard singing coming from all of the palaces.

As she lay on her bed, she suddenly fell asleep. Now she was walking on clouds. Presently Sandra saw a marvelous golden gate, ten stories high it seemed, and it was opening.

Perfect Timing

BY EDWARD MIMS
"Oh no! The torpedo misfired!" shouted Bob Baxter to his pal Jim, who was operating the controls.

"That warhead could go off any minute and blow us all to kingdom come," Jim yelled back at the top of his voice.

Bob shouted, "I'm going out and try to disarm that thing."

"You've never even seen that kind of warhead before. You're liable to get your head blown off!" argued Jim.

"I know it, but it's our only chance!" exclaimed Bob. "Wish me good luck," said Bob as he opened the hatch and disappeared into the water.

"I always replied, 'I want a Saint Bernard to draw my little sled.'"

Just Before Christmas!

BY JON MILLER
'Twas two weeks before Christmas and we sat huddled around a small gas heater in a basement room with only the light of a small, flickering candle.

Our shadows loomed like giants on the walls around us. The atmosphere was of depression if not gloom.

The reason? There had been an ice storm and we were in an all-electric house and the electricity was out. The telephone lines were down and we were without communication from the outside world.

The men worked until eleven o'clock that night. They came back early the next morning, on the seventh day, and by noon we had electricity.

By, was I thankful! Now I could have a nice hot bath; I was even thankful for that. But first we had to prime the electric water pump to get it started.

THE CORRIDOR OF Deaf Smith County Hospital received a holiday look Friday as members of the Future Nurses Club at Hereford High School decorated the Christmas tree. Adorned with white angels and accented with blue twinkle lights and blue sequins, the colorful tree is sure to bring joy to many patients during the holiday season. (Staff Photo)

His fingertips touched it, and he slowly pulled it out of the firing position. A moment later he was heading back toward the hatch. He crawled down it and was met by the happiest bunch of men he had ever seen.

Bob answered, "I just have to find out what's in that big green package under the tree."

"Who's going to pick the toys up?" asked Tom.
"We could get our dads to do that," Steve replied. "I'd better be getting to school, I'll see how you all have done this afternoon when I get home."
That morning Tom and Jerry Lynn, by way of the telephone, divided up the phone book and started calling. By six o'clock they had many addresses of people who had toys to donate.
When Steve got home from school and saw what they had done, he was very happy.
The boys feared the things that had happened to Tom and Jerry Lynn would hurt the drive, but their handicaps were help in disguise. They got more toys over the telephone than they would have otherwise. "It is two weeks till Christmas," Tom said as they were having a meeting after the boys were all right. "We're going to have to send the toys."
"I can get some big boxes to send them in," added Jerry Lynn.
The next day the boys packed the boxes and sent them off. Then they went over to Jerry Lynn's house where they made hamburgers and had a feast.
"I had forgotten that a Coke could taste so good!" exclaimed Tom after taking a big gulp.
"We've been working so hard these past three weeks we've hardly taken time to eat," said Tom. Then he added, as he admired the juicy hamburger he was about to devour, "Boy, What a hamburger! What a Christmas!"

Sandra turned and ran toward her mother and father with outstretched arms. They greeted her in the same manner. Those hours which were spent with them were the happiest of her life.

As she opened her eyes, she said, "Thank you, Lord, for such a wonderful dream, such a wonderful Christmas present."

ply, "A Saint Bernard and if I cannot have a dog, I do not want anything."
When Christmas eve came, I thought I would never go to sleep, but finally I dropped off in a light sleep.
As soon as my sisters and I awoke, we ran into the living-room to see what we had gotten. Under the tree were piles and piles of gifts. My sisters were squealing over their gifts, but I could not find my dog or anything else for myself.
The next thing I knew I was in my bed crying. After a while my sisters came in and offered to share their presents with me. "No," I growled.
After a while I got dressed. Oh yes, my puppy was a girl.

BY MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
There was to be a community Christmas Eve program at the Frio Baptist Church dining room. A short program and the appearance of Santa will highlight the evening's activities. The Home Makers Club at the church sponsored the event.

The Frio Home Maker's Club met Tuesday in the Community Center in Hereford for the annual Christmas party. The president, Mrs. E. F. Vogler, had charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Frank Robbins read a Christmas story and gifts were exchanged. Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Jr., was hostess for the party.

Those attending were Mesdames Vogler, Robbins, Edgar Vinson, Ed Clark, Glenn Andrews, James Dobbs, Commie Smith, Clark Andrews, Henry Dobbs, Harlan Barber, Owen Andrews, Earnest Harder, Floyd Cole, Miss Alma Andrews and the hostess.

The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 10 in the home of Mrs. Glenn Gripp.

Harlan Barber went to Abertown Tuesday to help Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams move to the Neumeyer place on the Dimmitt Highway. The Williams have leased the place which has been farmed the past three years by Owen Norris. The Williams have four children - Richard, Leroy Robert and Lapreal, who will attend school at Dimmitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harkins went to Plainview and Floydada during the week end. Mrs. Harkins' grandmother, Mrs. Tilda Huckabay of Plainview died Sunday at 4:10 in the Floydada Hospital. Funeral services were held on Monday at the Floydada Calvary Baptist Church at 3 p.m. The Harkins spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chaddix in Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harkins spent Friday night in the home of his sister, Mrs. Gene Welch, HOLLYWOOD — Ray Stricklyn rides horses all the time in westerns, but he rode a horse only once before he came to Hollywood.

"That was back in Houston; it ran away with me," says the 26-year-old Texan. "I didn't ride again until I landed some western roles out here. Actually getting on a horse was a big mental block."

In earlier roles Stricklyn always portrayed eastern boys, he said.

CASA DE AMIGOS NEWS

Workers Continue To Leave Camp

Many more farm laborers have moved from the Labor Camp this past week.

Snow and cold weather have halted most of the agriculture work. Between now and the middle of February, there will be little work done requiring Latin Americans.

Very few attended the supervised activity at the Casa De Amigos this past week.

There was a movie Thursday night, Dec. 22, at the Casa De Amigos.

Herbert Boardman and Virgil Dodson went to Perryton Monday night, Dec. 12, to tell of the organization and program of the Hereford Migrant Ministry Committee. The Men's Fellowship of the First Methodist and the First Christian Churches of Perryton were sponsors of the meeting. There were about 45 men present.

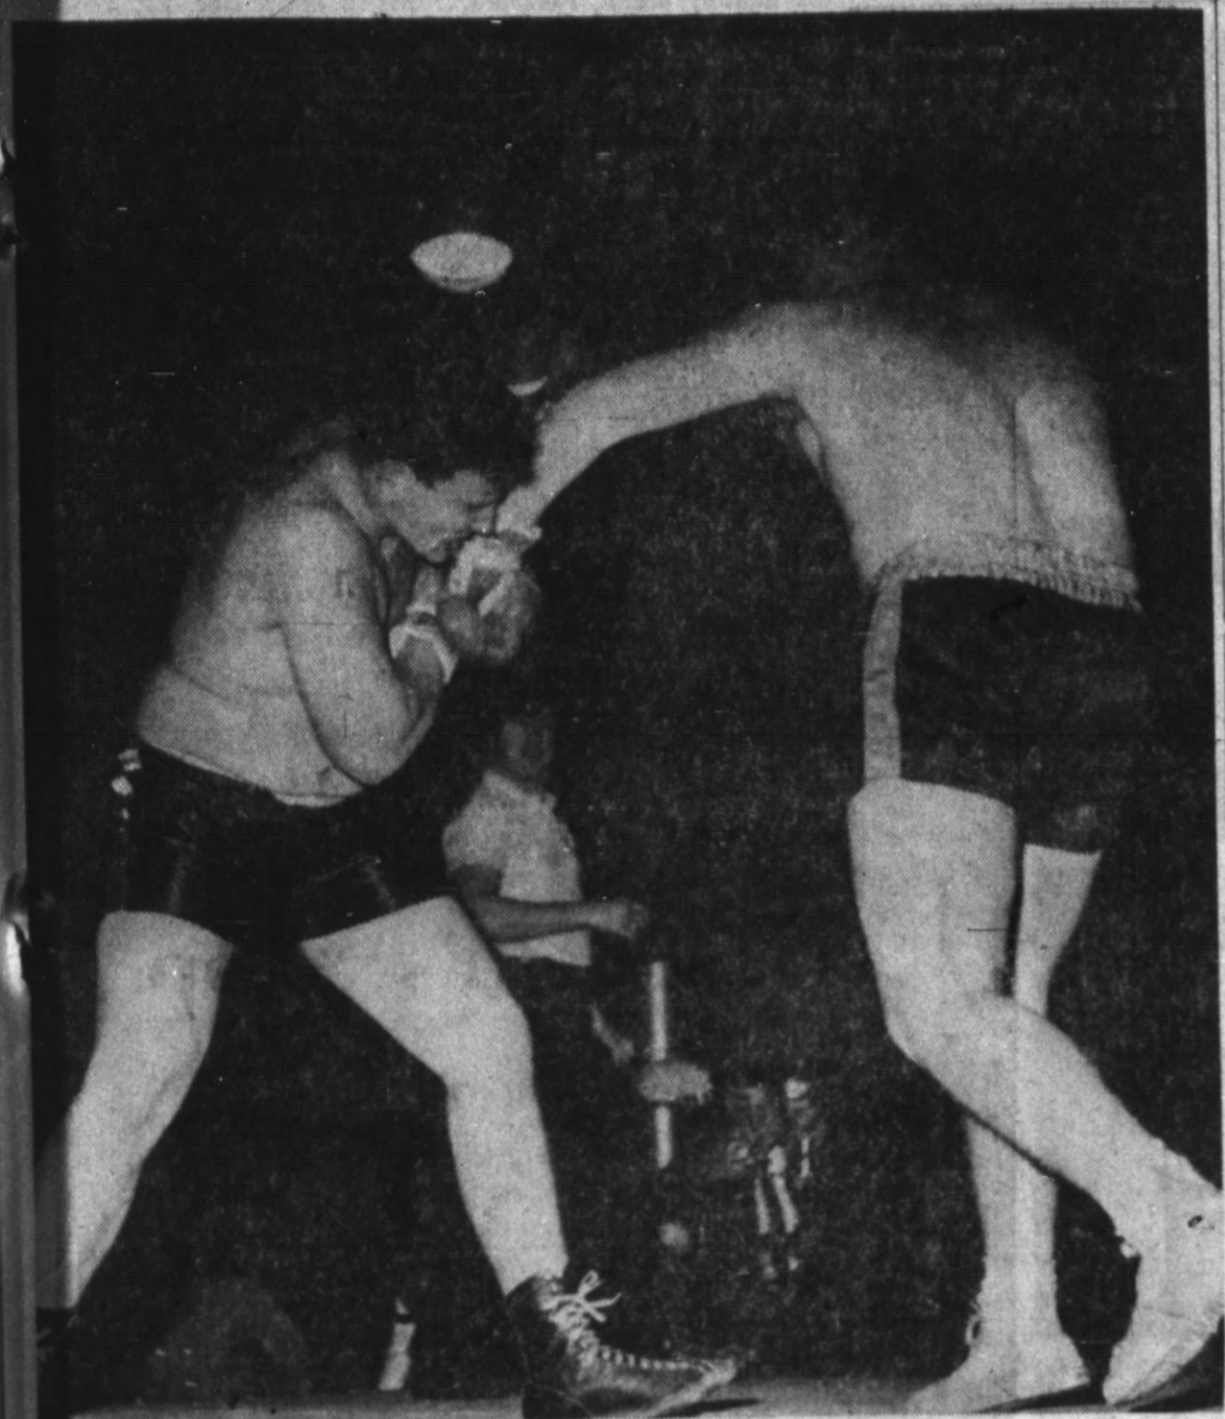

Sunday, three of the Blue Birds of Casa De Amigos sang in the Blue Bird Choir at the Hereford Community Center.

Members of the Mary Ward Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church sent two baskets of food that was delivered to needy families of the Labor Camp.

PIZZA PIES, YET

COLUMBUS, Ohio — When a television station failed to find some program film left on its back porch by a deliveryman, an investigation was started.

It was found that some youngsters had taken the film, which was found in fields, garbage cans and in one youngster's home. To top it off, a station official said, "The boy's mother was using the containers to bake pizza pies."

People's Right To Know

Any immediate probability of a point tax equalization survey program between Deaf Smith County and other governmental agencies appears to be a thing of the past following failure of County Commissioners to consider the plan Monday. Like many other citizens and tax payers, The Brand feels that the Commissioners Court overlooked an opportunity to correct a bad situation.

Cost-wise, Deaf Smith County will never again have an opportunity to get so much for so little. Present survey contracts call for $14,000 from the school district and $3,500 from the city — at total of $17,500 to survey approximately 700 sections. The same survey firm offered to complete the remainder of the county, including some 800 sections, for $7,500.

If the county makes a local survey, previously proposed, it seems to us that one man, plus expenses, will cost this much in one year; but it will take one man from two to four years to complete a comparable survey, which even then will likely be far less thorough than the service offered Monday. In addition, any man from the present tax office force will have to be replaced — or our commissioners have been operating with more help than they needed all these years past.

The surprising thing about the failure of the Court to grab the offer rests in the fact that our commissioners are usually more astute business men than their snub Monday indicates.

Frankly, it is beginning to look to many people as if our commissioners do not want equalization of county tax values! It is possible that they could be a bit skilful about the subject, considering previous approaches, but we doubt if any of the commissioners would be so childish as to let his personal pride or opinion jeopardize the welfare of the county.

In an effort to be fair in the matter, The Brand once again offers to print a statement from the group without charge. In fact, we would like to know their position and reasons in declining to accept the low-cost method of correcting a bad situation, based on unjust and inequitable tax evaluations in the county.

Certainly, the school district and the City of Hereford have gone well beyond the halfway mark in an effort to serve all of the people in this matter. If the County Commissioners have a good reason for their action, and surely they must have, it seems to us that the time has come when the people have a right to know what it is.

Christmas Is A Challenge

Christmas 1960, is unusual in that it occurs on Sunday. To many people, it is highly probable that the situation holds no significance, but to many others it will provide a challenge.

In all of our Christian heritage, no other event compares with the birth of Christ. We celebrate His birthday from year to year, and train our children to follow the same pattern. This year, in addition to the phase of exchanging gifts, we can delve even deeper into the true meaning of the occasion by attending church, whether it be here in Hereford, or in some community where we will be visiting relatives and friends.

When you stop to consider the ever-growing magnitude of the battle of Communism vs. Christianity, it seems that every church in the United States should be filled to overflowing today. To say the least, we can expect for better attendance upon the occasion of Christmas, 1960.

The occasion should settle for once and all the age-old criticism that Christmas has been too highly commercialized. If people find an excuse for not attending church today, it's apparent that we have truly lost the real meaning of the occasion. On the other hand, if record crowds do attend services this Christmas Day, it will be obvious that Christian principles run far deeper than the tinsel and glitter which so many people criticize.

Most churches will plan special services for the occasion, and the true outlook of America will be reflected through our attendance this Christmas.

Deaf Smith Population

We notice with interest that a professor of sociology wonders why Deaf Smith County expanded in population, while the general trend in agricultural areas of Texas and the nation followed exactly the opposite pattern.

The answer, of course, is simple. It contains one word, "Irrigation". Among other counties which showed an increase, we will likely find another one-word answer, "Oil".

In our particular instance, irrigation has enabled the farmer to produce more on a small space and, despite acreage cuts and low farm price on supports, to make a decent living. Agriculture in this particular area is still better than a job in a factory or a white collar post in some large city. So long as this condition exists, it is logical that the area will continue to attract more farmers and small business men.

Even more startling than our own condition is the tremendous growth of irrigation areas in Arizona and Nevada. Primarily, the reason is the same.

Power machinery, along with ill-advised farm program planning has literally shifted the population of America into the cities and congested centers. Very few land owners willingly assign their incomes to tenant farmers, especially when they can buy a tractor and hire the work done more efficiently.

Very few farmers leave the land by personal choice; instead, they are leaving through economic necessity to properly clothe and feed their families. Until Washington recognizes this situation, things will undoubtedly become more congested and more complicated.

Hereford and Deaf Smith County, along the same line, should continue to add population. The proposed sugar refinery, along with extensive cattle feeding, afford a bright picture for this area, indeed.

Merry Christmas To One And All

Found in this issue of The Brand will be many Christmas Greetings from firms and individuals. These messages are a trademark of most small papers and small communities, and they provide a circumstance in which all of us can take pride.

In the larger cities and tremendous circulations newspapers, you seldom see greetings of this type, chiefly because most of the big firms are more anxious to "get the dollars" — and let the people worry about themselves.

Out in the grassroots, the average merchant knows his customers, and considers them his friends. He honestly and sincerely desires to wish them the best, especially upon the occasion of Christmas. Such friendship and personal interest rank high among the reasons we like to trade with the old boy; add a dash of fair treatment and honest endeavor — and you'll realize why so many large cities are shifting from downtown stores to shopping centers.

When you come to think about it, these things do make a lot of difference.

Hotel Is Still A Focal Point

Announcement of the proposed change in stock ownership and management of Hotel Jim Hill this week came as a surprise to many people. It also recalled a phrase frequently heard when the hotel was originally being promoted: "No matter what comes along, we will still have a hotel."

Looking back over 10 years of operation of the hotel, this will be the third change, and that isn't a bad record, as hotels go. Some people were quite unhappy when the hotel lost its community ownership status through foreclosure, but very little difference in its community service angle has been noted since the change.

This situation, it seems to us, is due in a large measure to the fact that the hotel was purchased and has been operated by local people who are interested in the welfare of the community. In addition, we are most happy to note that a continuation of this policy has been approved by the

50 YEARS AGO

Enterprising Youths See Profits In Cats

A new industry for Hereford is under promise. Four boys, Willard, Elton, Hal and Louis Taylor, whose home is on 25-Mile Avenue, have conceived the idea of raising fur-bearing animals. The oldest boy, after reading a book on furs and fur-bearing animals, selected the cat as the one most likely to serve their purpose. Their plans include the enclosure of a 5-acre block with a cat-proof (and dog proof) fence. Small cat houses will be built in different parts of the grounds. While the black cat fur brings the highest market price, this cat ranch will be stocked with spotted cats, brindle cats, white cats, grey cats, tom cats and blacks, from which the enterprising young manager, Willard Taylor, proposed to evolve a high-grade fur-bearing cat. These boys will start with about 100 cats, which they expect to be contributed by their good neighbors, and a liberal contribution from the backyard fence chorus may add some special midnight prowlers to their collection. Once a year, the grown cats with good coats of fur will be killed and their skins prepared for market. The young manager expects to declare a handsome dividend even the first year.

25 YEARS AGO

The sixth annual Tri-County Poultry Show was held here last weekend, ending Saturday night as one of the banner shows of the event's history. Five hundred and thirty-seven birds were entered in all events for prizes that totaled approximately $250 in value. The attendance for the three days was estimated as high as 2,500 to 3,000. Nearly 2,000 visitors registered, and many attended without registering, especially on the final day when the crowds overflowed the show room at the Rosson Implement Company. Although interest was at a new height and birds were entered from many points as far away as Roswell, N. M., the main success of the show was seen in the improved quality of the birds entered. During the six years, poultry exhibitors have grown and their desire for well-bred stock has increased annually in this section of the country, reaching a peak this year and forecasting still finer production in years to come. Vocational agricultural students also showed great strides in the production of prize poultry. Boys entered approximately 200 birds this year. They showed greatly improved quality.

stockholder group. Unfortunately, the hotel has never been a lucrative investment, and the fact that the stockholders place public welfare first speaks well indeed for their good intentions.

Meanwhile, the hotel is still here. Each month, each week and each day it continues to perform important functions and services. Through the hotel, our produce business has grown and flourished; through the hotel, the entire territory has been provided with a meeting place and a focal point for activities. Most of the people who lost their initial investments in the project are bound to agree that the indirect returns overshadow the loss from direct returns.

The hotel has been a good thing for the community, and it is fortunate that we can look forward to a continued operation along the same line.

It brings to mind the other Christmases, the delight of Childhood, the joyous watching for that great day of joy when all the family would gather together for the reading of the Christmas story on Christmas Eve and many secrets which would be secret no longer on Christmas morning.

As one grew from childhood to manhood and womanhood it brought thoughts, long thoughts of the Baby in the Manger, God's Son that was sent into the world to bring eternal life.

There are many legends of Christmas, from all countries or nations, and always these have been handed down, the same and yet not the same. And they all begin—long ago and the legend of the first creche, (pronounced kresh) and it is the first manger scene.

Long ago there lived in Italy a woodcarver. His name was Luigi and his hands were so talented that he could do many wonderful things with them. With a piece of wood, gray and rough with the weather; the magic hands could turn it into a thing of beauty. He had created many pictures of wood, so delicate in detail that they were indeed works of art. His friends marveled at the beauty that came as it seemed from his fingertips.

The woodcarver accepted his talent matter-of-factly as a sign of God's favor, and had carved many things of beauty for the church. His life was happy and he went often to the little church to pray and it seemed that his happiness must be complete when a little girl came to bless his home. How he loved that little mite of humanity; so perfect, so like a rose. He named her Mary after the mother of Jesus.

Tragedy was there in the little home but it had not been recognized as such. But one day he noticed that his little girl did not move her eyes as others, that there seemed to be a

COTTON QUOTAS GET APPROVAL

Olton and area cotton farmers joined the rest of the nation Tuesday in approving marketing quotas on the 1961 crop. Lamb County as a whole voted for the quotas, 704-28. The turnout was about 100 more than voted in 1959. Olton farmers unanimously endorsed quotas, voting 68-0. At Springlake the vote was 27-1 for quotas, and at Spade and Hart Camp, the vote was 68-2, for. Marketing quotas have been proclaimed both upland and extra long staple cottons as required by law. However, the quotas would not have become operative unless approved by at least two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum.

BAND TO APPEAR IN DALLAS

The Dimmitt High School Band is one of five bands in the state to be invited to participate in the pre-game activities at the 1961 Cotton Bowl Classic between the University of Arkansas and Duke University on Jan. 2. Under the direction of Ralph Smith, the band was selected on the basis of an outstanding record in contests, its size, marching and musicianship. Other high school bands to perform in the pre-game and half-time shows are Lufkin, Garland, Odessa and W. W. Samuell of Dallas. The band will appear in a pre-game pageant titled "Cotton Bowl Memories." In tuneful formations the massed bands will present unusual events of the past games in a history of the Cotton Bowl Classic, which marks its Silver Anniversary with the 1961 game. The formations are all in keeping with the 25th Anniversary of the famous football bowl series.

CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED

A campaign for greater farm profits, based on soil testing, balanced fertility, water management and crop management, which, it is confidently believed by the Extension Service personnel, can increase the net income of Floyd County farms by 10 per cent, was launched here recently at a breakfast at which more than 30 people in farming and allied industry and commerce took part. The meeting, held at the Colonial House, was a 7 a.m. breakfast affair. Attendance, in spite of bad roads and snow, indicated high interest. County Agent Cecil Lewis, his assistant John Schlittler, and Jim Valentine, Extension Service Chemist, made brief talks. "Agriculture in Floyd County is young," said Lewis. "With know how and ability that is prevalent on the farms of this section there is no reason that the gross income from the 1,184 farms in the county can not be raised materially. These farms now average 521 acres in size. The gross income has been averaging $46 million."

HARVEST MAY HIT 176,000 BALES

Lamb County will produce substantially more cotton this year than had been expected. This was revealed Saturday by the Texas Employment Commission's final 1960 ginning report which shows that the year's cotton output already has exceeded expectations with some 10,000 bales yet to be ginned. This would mean a total production in 1960 of better than 175,000 bales, or only 8,000 bales less than were ginned in the county last year, a record-setting year. The optimistic figures are in keeping with the more hopeful predictions by farm experts, but are considered above those by more pessimistic forecasters after a series of set-backs hit the crop during the summer and fall months.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm will never get anywhere with this idea, but he keeps on trying.

Dear editor:

A neighbor of mine claims Christmas comes too often, says it couldn't be over a couple of months since the last one and here another one is at hand.

This is because he works too hard. No day is ever long enough for him to get in all the work he feels he ought to do and by the end of the year he feels like he's 3 years behind, but I don't look at it that way. A day is about exactly the right length to suit me, a week is about right, nothing wrong with the length of a month, and I'd hate to see Congress start tampering with the size of a year.

Consequently, I'm ready for Christmas, and as is my usual custom, I'd like to once more argue for a piece of legislation I've been advocating for years.

It's called the Christmas Gift Equalization Act, and I hope it gets more attention from President-Elect Kennedy's Administration than it has from the past three or four administrations.

Here's the thing. When a person starts out buying gifts for his required list, and the people on his required list start out buying gifts for the people on their lists, with him included, nobody has any notion of how he'll come out. Somebody is bound to buy more gifts than he gets, and that where my Equalization Act comes in.

What Congress ought to do is set up a fund for deficit payments to anybody who spends more than he gets. All you'd have to do is keep track of the money you spent, set up a fair value on the gifts you receive, and then if you spent more than you got, Congress would pay the difference. And if you got more than you spent, forget about it. Ain't Congress capable of the Christmas spirit?

I think this would be a great boon to getting gifts to the people who otherwise might not get any, and probably would increase the number of gifts to those who don't need anything in the first place, and as any economist knows, the more we spend, the more the country thrives and the more we thrive the more taxes there are, and the more taxes there are, the more we can demand of the government.

I will appreciate your using your influence to get this legislation passed. Merry Christmas.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Eighth Grade Wins First In Golden Spread Tourney

BY WAIN MILLER
BRAND SPORTS WRITER
The Stanton Dogie eighth graders outdistanced Estacado Junior High of Plainview to take first place honors in the annual Golden Spread Conference Tourney held here for the first time last Friday and Saturday. The Dogies were top dogs in the game which they won over Estacado 32-23 Saturday night, Dec. 17.

Dogies Frank Cain and Johnnie Dowd were named as members of the eighth grade All-tournament team. Other members were Peritt and Graham of Estacado, and another Graham of Coronado of Plainview.

Hereford downed Levelland 46-30 to give them the right to continue in the tournament. Frank Cain and Johnnie Dowd netted 12 points each to pace the Dogies. Gary Don Roberson also added nine to the Dogie total.

Estacado of Plainview won over Littlefield to give them a chance at their cross-town rival, Coronado. They erased Coronado from the competition by the score of 37-20. Peritt canned a total of 33 Estacado points in the two games. Stanton jumped to a 9-2 lead during the first quarter. Robert Strange, Johnnie Dowd, and Lynn Cook all sank field goals in the first round, as Gary Don Roberson totaled three points to give the Dogies their first quarter lead.

Estacado scored eight points in the second quarter as they fell by the wayside as Stanton ended the quarter with a 25-10 advantage. Roberson, Cain, and Charlie Moreno totaled four each, as Dowd hit a two-pointer, and Robert Strange and Gary Stagner tossed in free throws each.

Both teams matched each other at 13 points each in the third period, but Hereford still maintained a 38-23 advantage. Cain scored six points for the Dogies in the fourth quarter while Estacado scored seven, and they were forced to settle for a 46-30 ticket to second place in the tourney.

stare there, not sight. When he learned that his child would never see he almost lost his mind. How? he asked, over and over. How could God make a little child blind? How could He do such a thing, not to him but to the little baby girl?

He rebelled against God; he refused to go to church or to pray. He would not listen to his wife—he angrily told her to go ahead and pray, that her prayers would not go higher than the spire of the church. So rebellious was he that he changed the name of the little girl from Mary to Rosa and would not carve religious pictures again.

He worked on secular things and became a changed man. He would scarcely speak to his friends and neighbors, but stayed alone or near the cradle of the baby for his love for her was even greater than before he had learned of her affliction, but he worked harder than ever.

His work and the little girl became his life. He gave her everything that would bring her the slightest happiness, for to him, an artist who searched for beauty with his eyes, the thought of blindness was like unto death. But the little girl was not unhappy. He bought a pony and taught her to ride, to recognize puppies and kittens as he put them in her arms. The village grew accustomed to seeing the man of dark visage and the smiling little girl that was blind but had beautiful golden hair and blue eyes.

As time went on a group of traders came by to show him their wares and in among them he found a piece of ivory, so beautiful that he held his breath in the fear that the traders would not sell it to him. For as his fingers touched the smooth surface he could see a doll, a doll so lovely that his daughter's tiny fingers would caress it in each little detail and love it very much.

He hurried home with the ivory and began to work on it at once. At first his fingers were clumsy; he had never worked with ivory, but with the loving touch of the artist he soon overcame that and the doll began to take form. So much like a baby, one must touch it to believe that they were only looking on the work of art by man and not of God.

He must keep his secret, for it was almost Christmas and his wife would clothe it. He wrapped it carefully in a work cloth, placed it upon a high shelf and hurried to the village to buy cloth for its clothes. As he came to the village, he learned of the new preacher that had come to the little church.

His wife loved the preacher and begged him to go to church, just one time to listen to him. But he refused, and when she asked if she might take their child, he yelled at her in anger and said "No," and brought no more of it until he missed the ivory doll from the shelf.

When he learned that his wife had taken it to the little church, he was furious and set out for the village in a rage. As he neared the little church he noticed a train of animals being driven along the path by three men and as he looked toward the church he saw the animals go quietly into the door as if directed by an unseen man. Wonderingly, he followed them and saw them take their places about a wooden cradle and become very still. In the cradle lay the doll he had carved so carefully of ivory for his small daughter.

As he stood in awe the people saw what the scene represented; a reverent hush came upon them and they began to sing, not read the Christmas story. Never in his life had it sounded so beautiful; he bowed his head in shame that he had been so spiritually blind. A strange peace came upon him. The woodcarver learned that the Lord could indeed cure blindness, his own spiritual blindness that had cost him so much happiness and had almost cost him his soul.

And so the first manger scene was made and with live animals and a baby carved of ivory instead of the little Lord Jesus. And it is said by some that on Christmas Eve at twelve o'clock all the animals of the animal kingdom kneel in homage to the "King of Kings" and who among us can say that is isn't true?

The first Creche began the carving of figures for the manger scene by artists from all over the world; the carving so delicate and detailed that one could see the richness of the materials and the fine brocades of that era in the carving of many lands. None alike, but all with the same thing in mind—the commemoration of the birth of Jesus Christ the Lord.

In the commercialism of Christmas in the many colored trees and wrappings, let's not forget that the evergreen tree represents life everlasting, the red candles and their light represent His blood and the Light of the world.

The Knights Of Columbus Oath

Notwithstanding the indisputable proofs of its falsity, certain newspapers, organizations and individuals continue to print and circulate a certain bogus "oath" and to represent that the same is taken or subscribed to by the Knights of Columbus.

This so-called "oath" is false and libelous and is part of a propoganda based on bigotry. No proof that the Knight of Columbus take this alleged "oath" is offered and none can be produced.

If you have received a copy of this bogus "oath" and have believed it, perhaps you have received anti-Catholic literature and have believed it. ### White Felt Hats

To clean a white felt hat, mix equal parts of cornmeal, salt and flour, and rub the powder well into the white hat. Let stay overnight, then brush out thoroughly in the morning. Or, make a paste out of plaster of paris and benzine, rubbing this over the hat, and allowing to remain for awhile before brushing off.

Seat Cover Repair

You can treat snagged and worn places on your automobile seat covers with some starch. Allow this to dry thoroughly, then press heavily on the worn areas.

Goldfish Bowl

If you'll place a few pennies in your goldfish bowl, this will prevent that familiar green scum from forming on the surface of the water.

Gift Wrappings

If you're one of those persons who like to save your Christmas wrapping paper, ribbons, and the like, for future reuse, you can renovate these by wiping the paper on the wrong side and the ribbons with a damp sponge, and then ironing them.

Quick Cleaner - Upper

A small suction-cup towel bar stuck to the back of baby's high chair is a handy place to keep a dishcloth and dampened facecloth for those inevitable spills and splashes.

Furniture Scratches

Machine oil is often effective for eradicating light scratches from furniture.

Furniture Polish

A good formula for homemade furniture polish consists of equal parts of kettie-boiled linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar. Rub on all that the wood will absorb, then rub off the surplus with a clean cloth. Rub dry, and polish with a chamois or soft woolen cloth without lint.

House Plants

When watering house plants, it is better to use warm water rather than cold. Cold water can shock some plants to the extent that the roots are damaged and growth is retarded.

Piano Keys

Change your piano keys from yellow to white by rubbing them with a cloth dipped in cologne water. Don't touch the black keys!

Christmas Tree Lights

Make some reflectors (round disks) of aluminum foil and slip these around your electric light bulbs on your Christmas tree. These serve the double purpose of being decorative and also protect a dry tree from an overhead bulb.

How Can I?

By Anne Hubley

Q. How can I make a "homemade" ink eradicator?

A. Just whip up a solution of one part of chlorinated laundry bleach and 10 parts of water. This is best kept in an old iodine or mercurochrome bottle with a rubber stopper to withstand the destructive effect of the bleach, and with a glass rod as an applicator. Use it along with a blotter, just as with commercial eradicator - and don't, of course, expect this to work on typewriter ink.

Q. How can I cope more easily with drippings on the floor when I am painting a room?

A. Wear an old sock over one shoe. Then, if the paint drops on the floor, you can save much spending and sweating simply by "toeing the mark."

Q. How can I be sure of eradicating perspiration odor when laundering sweaters or blouses?

A. By adding a little ammonia to your wash water.

Q. How can I make tighter packages for mailing this Christmas Season?

A. When tying your packages, try moistening your string before winding it about the packages. Then, after the string has dried on the packages, it will shrink and tighten up your knots.

Q. How can I keep a gardenia corsage fresh for a second wearing?

A. Fold several layers of tissues, dip them into water, and lay them on each gardenia blossom. The corsage will keep for several days without turning black.

Last Second Goal Enables Herd To Win Over Seminole

Two high-scoring quarters and a last-second field goal by Ronnie Norton gave the Hereford Whitefaces a narrow 53-53 victory over the Seminole Indians here Saturday night.

A sparse crowd saw the Herd win to end a three-game losing streak.

After Ronnie Norton opened with a field goal for the Indians, Hereford rolled up an 8-2 lead with only two minutes gone in the first period.

Both teams became erratic in the second quarter. Hereford scored just four field goals while the Indians got five, the last with just ten seconds to go in the half. Hereford went to the dressing room with a 28-24 lead.

Carl Miller, Dennis Hodges and Thomas paced the Whitefaces during a 21-point surge during the third quarter, but the Indians got 18 to remain in contention. Hereford led 49-42 at the end of the third quarter.

Norton popped in a quick field goal and a free throw to cut the margin to 49-45.

During the dismal finish, Hereford got just three field goals during the fourth quarter, while Norton, Walter Billings and Tommy Patton added 11 for the Indians.

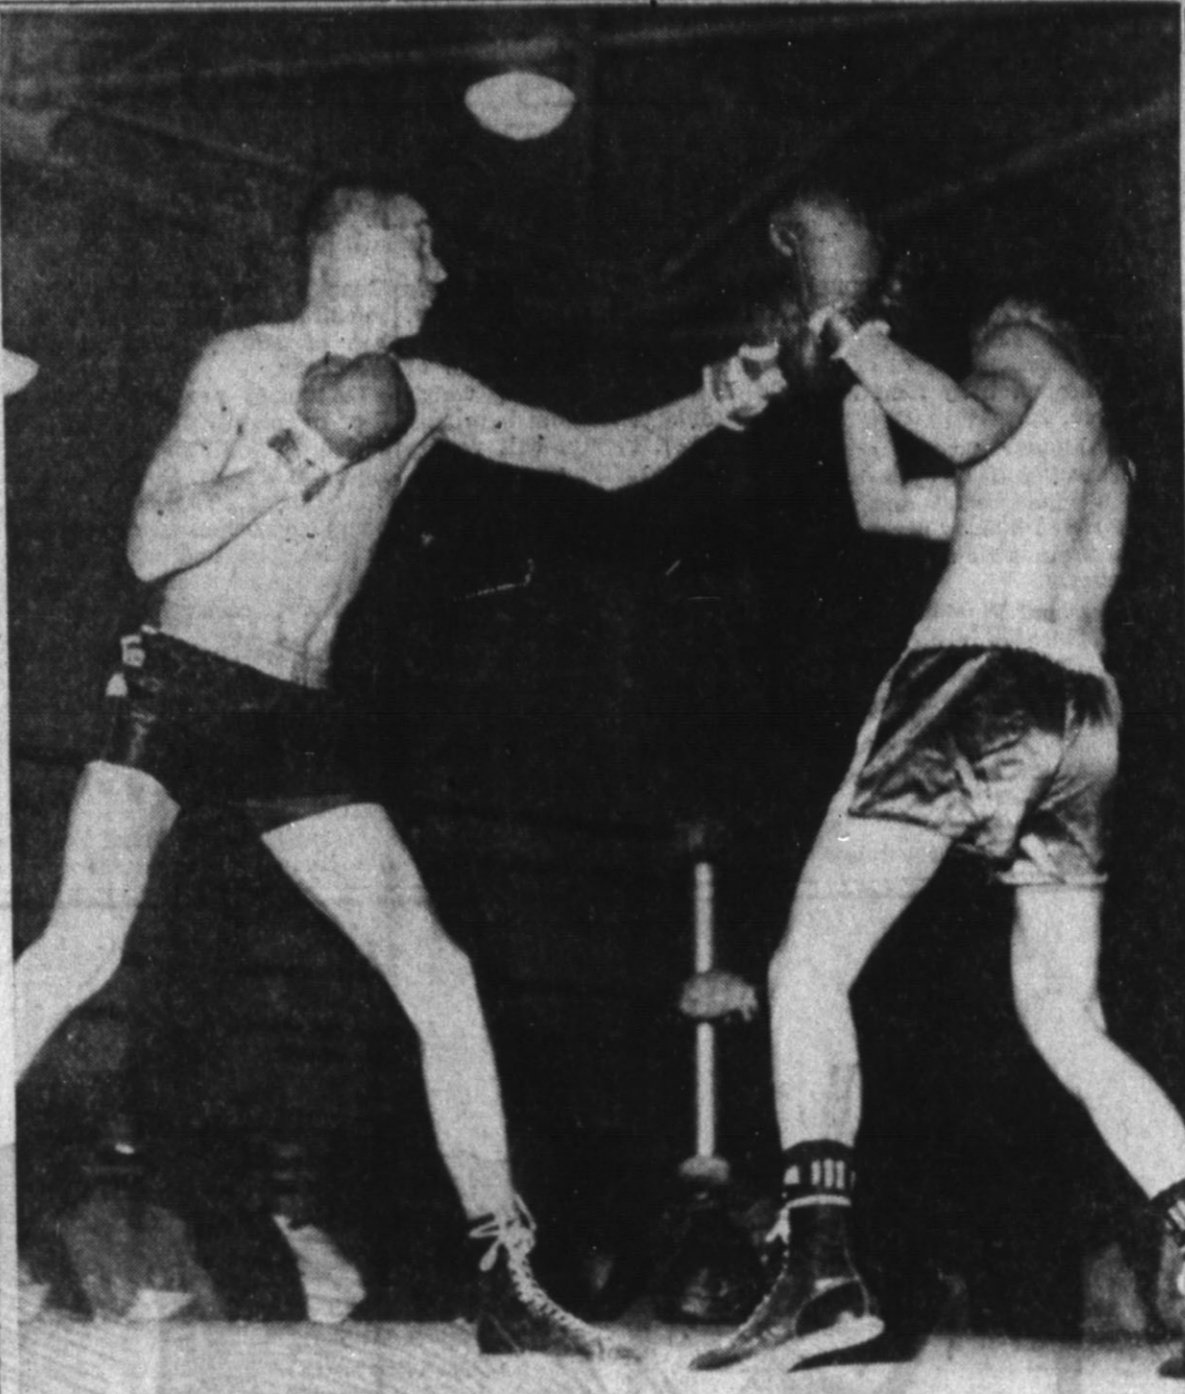

Patton dropped in two free throws with 1:01 left in the game to knot the score 53-53. Hereford came down the court, worked the ball in and Botkin tossed in a 15-foot field goal to put Hereford ahead.

A steal gave Hereford the ball, which it controlled until the final whistle.

Thomas, playing his finest game of the year, scored 15 points while Hodges and Botkin got 13 each and Carl Miller added 10.

Norton was high for the Indians with 20 points. Billings contributed 12.

HAS HIGHER GOALS

CLOSTER, N. J. (AP) — Peter Palmer, the husky star of both the stage and screen versions of "Li'l Abner," has loftier ambitions than playing a Dogpatch hillbilly.

He is a tenor and is studying opera, with a goal of singing at the Metropolitan Opera within three years. He feels he has one distinct advantage: most tenors are short but Palmer is 6 feet 4, good for heroic opera rolls.

Palmer lives here with his wife and four children.

National Finals Rodeo To Open In Dallas On Dec. 26

Dallas — The second annual National Finals Rodeo, the only real championship "playoff" for the professional sport of rodeo, will open here Monday night, Dec. 26.

The all-star "world series of rodeo" will be presented in ten "go-rounds" and will run through Sunday night, Jan. 1, in State Fair Livestock Coliseum.

The National Finals, a prime sports feature of Cotton Bowl Week in Dallas is the only rodeo produced by the Rodeo Cowboys Association itself. It is also the only rodeo limited exclusively to the top money-winning cowboys of the year. A total of 67 cowboys from 21 states and Canada have qualfied for the Finals on the basis of their winnings for the year. They are the top fifteen championship contenders in each of the five rodeo events, which are saddle bronc and bareback riding, bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling.

Harry Tompkins of Dublin, Tex., tops the standings for the World Championship All-Around Cowboy title going into the National Finals. He has won a total of $31,218 so far this year, is ranked No. 1 in bull riding and is second in the bareback standings.

Other top hands in the various events are Enoch Walker of Cody, Wyo., in saddle bronc riding, Jack Buschbom of Cassville, Wis., in bareback riding, Dean Oliver of Boise, Idaho, in calf roping, and Bob A. Robinson of Tuttle, Idaho in steer wrestling.

Go-rounds are scheduled at 8 p. m. nightly Dec. 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31 and Jan. 1, with matinees at 2 p. m. Dec. 30 and 31 and Jan. 1. There will be a complete section of competition at each go-round with all five events featured and all contestants competing.

The cowboys will compete against 255 of the toughest broncs and rankest bulls, carefully selected from the strings of all the stock contractors who provide bucking stock for RCA rodeos.

Following the National Finals, the Rodeo Cowboys Association will proclaim the world championship cowboys in each event for 1960.

Tickets for the Finals are on sale at the State Fair Livestock Coliseum and the State Fair Downtown Box-office, 1315 Elm Street, in downtown Dallas, or can be ordered by mail from P. O. Box 7755, Dallas 26. Ticket prices are $4 for reserved seats and $6 for box seats for each performance.

ST. LOUIS — Perhaps, as Joyce Kilmer said, only God can make a tree, but the city of St. Louis can, and does, give them away.

The city's residential sections have long been known for their trees, many of them planted more than 100 years ago, are beginning to die off.

So the city department of parks, recreation and forestry raised some shade trees, and they're free to any St. Louis home owner or renter. Each tree is from eight to 10 feet tall.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. Is there a home treatment that will help to soften and bleach my skin, as well as refine its pores?

A. Try this: Apply a mixture of two-thirds warm olive oil and one-third lemon juice, rubbing well into the skin. Use the outer skin of a lemon for this rubbing, and with an upward movement. This should produce a healthy glow to the skin, and any drying effects of the lemon will be offset by the olive oil.

Q. What is a formula for a good "homemade" hair dressing?

A. Cut two lemons into slices and add only enough water to cover them. Boil until the thickness of water indicates that all the lemon juice has been extracted. Then strain, and use the remaining lemon juice and water mixture as your hair dressing. It's a good one!

Q. How can I remove coffee or tea stains from a washable dress?

A. Pour some boiling water from a height of three or four feet through the stained area of the fabric stretched tightly over a bowl. Then wash thoroughly in hot suds.

Q. Please suggest a treatment for removing whiteheads from the complexion.

A. Try applying a thick paste of fuller's earth and witch hazel, wrapping some gauze over this to keep it in place. Then, after a few minutes, wash off with cool water.

Q. How can I remove tartar from my teeth?

A. One often-effective treatment is a combination of lemon juice and pumice stone, rubbed over the teeth with some cotton wound around an orange stick.

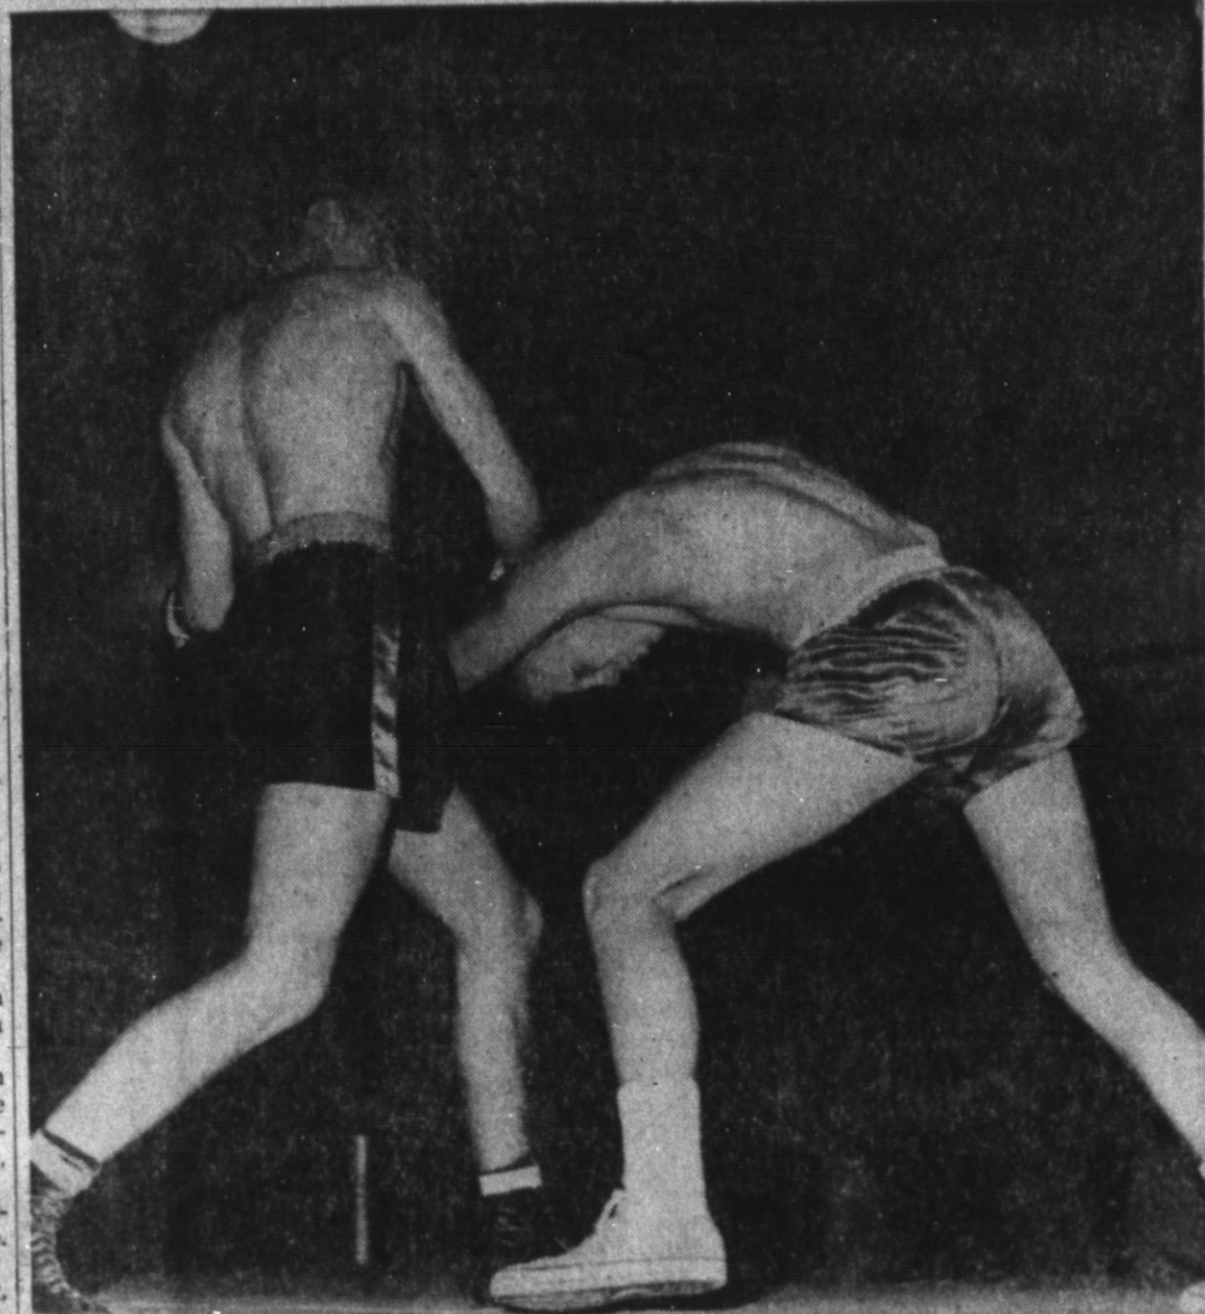

Q. What trick of makeup with help to subdue the effect of a long and thin neck?

A. A lighter foundation on your neck than on your face will create an illusion of fullness and counteract the long, thin appearance.

Q. There are signs of dandruff appearing on my scalp. What can I do about this?

A. More frequent shampooing, more frequent brushing, and regular scalp massages and oil treatments are all good answers for your little problem.

Q. How should bleached hair be shampooed?

A. You need to exercise great care, because this type of hair tends to mat and tangle when wet. Use lukewarm water and pure castile soap. Avoid matting by pouring the soap on very slowly on the dampened hair, and always work with the hands under the hair, not on top in the usual manner. Finish with a lemon or vinegar rinse. While the hair is still wet, apply a little lubricating dressing for greater manageability and ease in combing.

Bee Team Wins Silverton Meet, Falls To Seminole

BY WAIN MILLER
BRAND SPORTS WRITER
The Hereford Bees split up Saturday night, as part of the team journeyed to Silverton and the remainder stayed at home to entertain Seminole.

The Hereford B-team emerged victorious as they romped over Turkey to take first place honors in the Silverton Tournament at Silverton Friday and Saturday.

The Seminole Indians scalped the Hereford 'palefaces' to the tune of 60-41 in other basketball action here Saturday night. The Herd held a 13-10 margin at the end of the first quarter, but the Indians went on the warpath in the second stanza and canned 22 markers to give them a very substantial advantage at the half.

Sophomores Ronnie Welty, John Willoughby, Charles Kelly, David Dowell, and Austin Hodges all netted field goals during the first period. Junior Joe Mack Hale added another two-pointer and Willoughby came through with a field goal to give the Calves a three-point advantage entering the second period.

The Indians came back in the second quarter to rack up 22 points, led by Simpson and Benham, while they contained Hereford to only six. Kelly hit two bonus shots for the Herd, while Hale and Willoughby each scored field goals.

Seminole advanced their lead only one point in the third stanza as Hereford matched them point for point. Willoughby, Hodges, and Dowell sank field goals as Welty added a free throw, and Hodges poured in four more points from the foul line to set the score at 30-44.

David Dowell sank four and Charles Kelly three from the free throw line, while Welty and Hodges both hit two-pointers in the final round. The Indians added 16 more and came up with the advantage with the final score at 60-41.

The Bees have a busy schedule as they travel to Dimmitt Thursday and go to Canyon to take on the Eagles Friday. They entertained Canyon here Tuesday.
