Around Town

Harris County and its fancy covered baseball and football field doesn't have anything on Hereford. There is a roof over the city, it seems, so far as rain is concerned. Canyon, Borger, Amarillo and Muleshoe have been drenched time and again during the last couple of weeks. But Hereford sits high and dry. Of course, we don't want any hail, and the farmers are particularly wanting any rain on wheat or vegetables. But, still, we hate to pass up any moisture if it's available.

Three Hereford residents received their U. S. citizenship in ceremonies at Amarillo Thursday. They are Ludwig and Anna Kovacs, formerly of Yugoslavia, and Jose Cruz Castillo, a native of Mexico. They are to be congratulated for their proud new possessions. And I'd almost be willing to bet a new hat that they won't fail to show up every time they are eligible to vote. They cherish as most precious the things we generally take for granted.

Alcohol Meeting Slated Annually

Some 30 law enforcement and social service officers attended the Regional Meeting on Alcohol Studies in Hereford Thursday and heard addresses of four men whose duties of office concern the problem of alcoholism in Texas. The meeting is to become an annual affair.

The day's program was held from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m. in Hereford Community Center. Invitations were sent to peace officers, judges, parole and probation officers and social welfare officers in 35 counties.

The Hon. W. T. McDonald, new Associate Justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin, was keynote speaker at the meeting, which was sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism.

Judge McDonald described alcoholism as America's fourth public health problem, "something which affects many families in America."

"It's refreshing to see what interest is being taken in the Deaf Smith County Council's program," Judge McDonald said. "As a general rule, a program of this type can be successful only in a metropolitan area."

Other speakers on the program included: Charles Yates, adult probation officer from Bryan; Nick Carter, director of Alcohol Counseling, Texas Department of Corrections, Hintsville; and Sgt. O. L. Luther, Department of Public Safety, Bryan.

"We plan to make this regional meeting an annual affair," said Bill Hardwick of Hereford, chairman of the Council on Alcoholism.

American Legion Team Hosts Tascosa After Opening Win

A pair of young Hereford hurlers limlied Canyon to a single hit in winning the opening game of the American Legion baseball season.

Hereford defeated the Canyon squad at Canyon Friday night, 8-1, in a strong display of hitting and fielding.

First home appearance of the newly organized Hereford American Legion team will be Sunday, June 11. They will host the Tascosa squad from Amarillo, with the game to start at 2:30 p.m. at the high school diamond.

Richard Casas and Jim Haney showed fine control in their first mound appearances of the year. And they got good backing as six Hereford hitters got two safeties each.

With two out in the top of the first, Wes Poarch got on by error and came in on Dan McDowell's hard-hit double into left field.

Hereford picked up two more runs in the second. James Otis got a single and took second on an error. Ken Loerwald doubled and came home on Ronny Duncan's single.

Another run in the third gave Hereford a 4-0 lead. McDowell singled and scored on an error and a single by Otis.

Canyon got its first run in the last of the fourth as Harry Lisle slammed the first pitch over left field for a home run. That was the only hit of the game for Canyon.

Hereford added three more runs in the sixth on a four-hit attack. Duncan and Willoughby singled before the second out. McDowell walked and Hale singled to drive in the runs.

Ken Loerwald doubled to open the seventh, stole third and came in on a squeeze bunt by Casas.

Three Rate High In Solo Contest

Three Hereford High School students received excellent or good ratings in the first annual Texas State Solo Contests held at the University of Texas in Austin Friday.

Mamie Silvertooth, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Silvertooth, received a II (excellent) rating in vocal solo. Miss Silvertooth is a sophomore at Hereford High.

Louise Knox, 16, a junior at Hereford High, received a III (good) rating in alto saxophone solo. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Axe.

Kathy Knox, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Knox, received a III rating in flute solo. She is a junior at Hereford High.

From 500 to 600 high school students from throughout the state entered contests, which were held all day Friday in the department of music, College of Fine Arts, at the university.

The three Hereford girls were accompanied by Ben R. Gollehon, Hereford High School band director.

Miss Silvertooth sang "Alleluia" by Mozart, and Miss Axe played "Valse Caprice." Miss Knox played "Fantasy" as her contest selection.

Grand Jury To Convene Monday

At least four cases will be heard by 69th District Grand Jury when it convenes in District Court here Monday morning, June 12.

The session will begin at 10 a.m.

January term Grand Jurors include: Mrs. Dyalitha Benson, Mrs. Bert Boomer, J. B. Noland, Melvin May, H. C. Williams, Hilrey Aven, Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., Ray Stewart, Ernest Brown, Troy Moore, Howard Gault and Tom Robinson.

Prices have drastically altered through the years and common crimes have changed somewhat also. In 1903, suit was filed against a man for shuffling a deck of cards during worship services at the First Baptist Church in Hereford. A record of his punishment was not found.

Bootlegging has changed since 1911 — or at least the quantity. In that year a man was fined for "unlawfully peddling two bottles of whisky" in the county.

A suit for a malicious misdemeanor was filed in 1908 when someone cut the bell rope being placed in the main building.

Taxes were collected four decades ago on property also. County, state and school taxes on 3,000 sheep, two horses and one vehicle, with a total value of $6200, amounted to $38.75.

School teachers today contend they are somewhat underpaid but, according to records dated Dec. 1896, the condition is not new. May Martin received $30 per month for teaching and Delphia Nunley was paid $40 for her classroom services.

In July 1913, $22.50 was paid to a Dallas firm for accounting books shipped to Deaf Smith County by Wells Fargo. Workers on county roads were paid $3 per day.

Barley Pours In While Wheat Crews Get Ready

Delegate Chosen For Girls State

Miss Judy Fowlkes, 17, a senior at Hereford High School, has been selected to represent the Hereford unit of the American Legion Auxiliary at Blue Bonnet Girls State this year.

The Girls State session will be held in the School For The Blind in Austin Tuesday, June 13, through Friday, June 23. Purpose of Girls State is to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age and afford them an opportunity to live together as self-governing citizens.

Miss Fowlkes, daughter of Mrs. Lorraine Fowlkes of Hereford, will leave Amarillo Tuesday with 20 other representatives from the Panhandle area. Lavonne Thompson of Hereford has been chosen as alternate delegate.

While at Girls State, Miss Fowlkes will be informed of duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship. Qualifications for a girl to be selected for Girls State are outstanding leadership, character, courage, honesty, scholarship, cooperativeness and physical fitness.

Mrs. Ira Ott of Hereford will serve as senior counselor for Girls State. She was to have left for Austin Saturday.

While wheat and vegetable farmers anticipate bountiful harvests, a crop of top quality barley continues to pour in at Deaf Smith County grain elevators this week.

Although area weather alerts are keeping farmers on their toes, weather has generally been ideal for harvest of the 1961 crop of barley.

The first load of wheat was taken to a Hereford elevator Thursday afternoon by E. C. and L. C. Hewitt. The load, harvested from eight acres of dryland wheat south of Hereford, had a 16 per cent moisture content.

Prospects were good this week for quality crops of potatoes, onions, carrots and lettuce, vegetable shed operators contended.

An elevator employee Saturday morning said that barley is making from 25 to 30 bushels to the acre on dryland, and from 50 to 60 bushels on irrigated land.

One field in this county, he said, produced about 100 bushels to the acre. Moisture content of most barley is ranging from 11 to 14 per cent.

Wheat harvest should get a slow start this week and be in full swing after June 20. Dryland should produce good yields, and irrigated wheat should bear above average yields of wheat, elevator managers say.

There are good prospects for high quality and market on potatoes and onions, a vegetable shed manager said Saturday morning, maybe the best since 1956. Onion acreage has been reduced by about 50 per cent in the Panhandle, he said.

In this county, there should be a little increase in potato acreage. Potatoes should produce the best overall crop here in the past 15 years, in spite of scatterings of hail in some areas, a vegetable processor said.

Hail damage has been heavier in Floyd and Crosby counties. The market on potatoes is weak at the present time, but is expected to improve when other areas complete harvesting operations. It was reported that Florida and south Texas are finishing harvest, and that Alabama and California will be nearing an end in about 10 days.

Crops in Arizona should be harvested in 20 days, but Idaho will not start until three weeks after harvesting begins in this area.

East coast crops of potatoes will come in late, due to cold weather conditions, the vegetable processor said.

Vegetable field laborers are already starting to move to the Hereford area. Potato and onion harvests should get into top gear by the week of June 26.

Lettuce producers are anticipating some acreage increase this year, a vegetable shed employee said. He said a larger (Continued on page 2)

Inside Trusty Goes Outside

J. D. Adams, 57, a Lovington, N. M., man who was serving out a 130-day sentence for swindle with worthless check, Friday night escaped from Deaf Smith County Jail through a jail kitchen window.

Adams apparently managed to unlock a padlock on the kitchen window, located in the northeast wing of the jail, sometime between 10 and 11 p. m. Friday, according to County Sheriff Lowell Sharp.

The escape was discovered by G. G. Ridgeway, relief dispatcher for the Sheriff's office in Hereford.

Adams was an inside jail trusty, Sheriff Sharp said.

The man was arrested April 13 at Lovington. On April 24, Adams was found guilty of two charges of swindle with worthless check in Deaf Smith County Court. He was sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $250 plus court costs on one of the charges, and was sentenced to 30 days and $50 plus court costs, on the other count.

One Injured In Two-Car Wreck

A Hereford woman receiving minor injuries in a two-car accident south of Hereford Thursday morning was listed in fair condition at Deaf Smith County Hospital Saturday morning.

Mrs. Verdie Benson, 56, of Hereford sustained a fractured wrist and lacerations of the face in the accident, which occurred 3.4 miles south of Hereford on Farm Road 1305. The accident occurred at about 9:50 a. m. Thursday, and Mrs. Benson was driver of one of the automobiles involved.

Driver of the other car was Terry Cracknell, 23, of Hereford. Cracknell was not injured.

Investigating Texas Highway Patrol officer Noel Carter of the Dimmitt unit said Cracknell was driver of a 1960 model car, which was headed north on the road. Mrs. Benson, driver of a 1955 model car, had just checked her mail box on the west (Continued on page 2)

OLD RECORDS ARE REVEALING

Women Paid 20 Cents An Hour For Digging County Ditches In 1913

BY DOT BOWLES BRAND STAFF REPORTER

Women were paid 20 cents per hour for digging ditches in Deaf Smith County in 1913, according to county records.

The county clerk's office is now in the process of examining such records and determining those which soon will be destroyed, according to County Clerk B. F. Cain. State law allows the county to destroy unbound records over 10 years old with authorization from the county commissioners court.

The old records will be burned in a special room for that purpose in the court house. Included in this group are old accounts, chattel mortgages, bills, vouchers and criminal records.

This action is necessary to allow room for current records, Cain stated. Many of the ancient records give evidence to Deaf Smith County progress through the years.

Records scheduled to be destroyed include bills for bins of coal and horse collars. In 1913, Stanton Sims was paid $2 bounty for two coyote scalps. Walker-Perkins Hardware in Hereford billed the county for one wagon and wagon tongue in the same year and Wood and Franks Plumbing received $4.50 for work done in the county jail.

John N. Jacobsen Blacksmithing received $6.75 for hushhooking done for the county. J. J. Ward Transfer and Drayage billed the county for $2 for "loading bridge steel on a wagon."

School teachers today contend they are somewhat underpaid but, according to records dated Dec. 1896, the condition is not new. May Martin received $30 per month for teaching and Delphia Nunley was paid $40 for her classroom services.

We thoroughly enjoyed watching Hereford's American Legion team in its debut at Canyon Friday night. The team, a mixture of seasoned high school players and youngsters up from Pony League, handled it well and hit the ball far and often. Although we didn't have time to check on it, Hereford's starting pitcher Richard Casas had never given up a home run before Friday. He pitched in Little League and Pony League at Houston before moving to Hereford. We think you also will enjoy watching the team. Haney relieved Casas in the fifth and looked almost as effective with his sizzling fast ball. He showed about the same type of poise in the sixth inning as he walked one, struck out one, walked another and struck out the next two. With the exception of Lisle's homer, Canyon couldn't get a man past second base during the game.

Casas struck out six and walked two. Haney shut out Canyon for the last three innings. He struck out nine, walked three and hit one batter. Bill Ritter went all the way for Canyon. He gave up eight runs on 13 hits, walked three and struck out six.

Hereford was charged with one error, while Canyon had three.

Ken Loerwald was Hereford's leading slugger as he slammed two doubles in four trips to the plate. Duncan, Willoughby and Hale also hit two - for - four, while McDowell and Otis each got two hits in three trips. Hale, McDowell and Willoughby all got doubles.

Medic In Africa Won't Desert

Thousands of white persons are leaving the Rhodesias but Dr. Alma Cooke remains. In fact she celebrated her 74th birthday there May 2. Britain wants to give Negroes more representation in the Northern Rhodesian Legislative Council and the white Central African Federation (which rules both Rhodesias and Nyasaland, much as our federal government rules our states) has pledged its opposition.

Most of the people in the Rhodesias worry about the possibility of race wars and the present economic depression. But Dr. Cooke concerns herself with her patients at Willis F. Pierce Memorial Hospital, Mt. Silinda, Southern Rhodesia.

When she is in charge of the women's, children's and maternity sections and sees most of the outpatients. Dr. Kirk Stetson, 25, Rochester, N. Y., and Dr. John Donaldson, 36, Albion, N. Y., carry the rest of the burden of the 60-bed hospital, which takes care of more than 100 patients a day.

Dr. Cooke says patients are everywhere — "on all the verandas and in all the hallways, wherever there is room to lie." "Many Africans would be afraid to be left alone in the hospital without their relatives," she adds. "They move in, too, sleeping under the bed or on the veranda, helping with the patient's care until he can go home again. Except in cases of extreme illness, they cook the patient's meals over little fires built on the hospital grounds."

"The hospital feels the presence of the relatives is vital to the recovery and security of the patients and they are always made welcome."

Daughter of a Congregational minister in Oakland, Calif., Dr. Cooke was graduated in 1920 from the University of California College of Medicine. She applied that year to the Congregational American Board for a missionary post in Africa.

Since there was no opening at that time in Africa for a woman doctor, the board sent her to China. She worked there 30 years — until forced to leave by the Communists.

Then Dr. Cooke served on the staff of the student health service of the University of Michigan. Offered retirement by the university in 1957, she still was not ready to retire.

Dr. Cooke once again volunteered to be a missionary doctor in Africa. Within a few months she was on her way to Angola, Portuguese West Africa, and a year later joined the two doctors at Pierce Hospital.

The American physician's greatest rival in Rhodesia is the witch doctor, Dr. Cooke says.

"Many patients come to the missionary doctors only after unsuccessful treatment by one of the witch doctors, their bodies seared in grim testimony to his failures."

FRIO NEWS

Mrs. H. F. Benson Injured In Car Wreck On Thursday

BY MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Mrs. H. F. Benson was painfully injured Thursday morning when the car she was driving was struck by another car. The accident occurred on the newly-paved Farm Road which runs by the Benson place.

Mrs. Benson had gone to the mailbox and was making a turn when the other car, which belonged to Community Grain of Easter, struck her car. She was taken to Deaf Smith county hospital and treated for severe facial cuts, a fractured arm and bruises. The car was damaged, probably beyond repair. The point of the accident was just below a sharp rise of the hill on the south bank of the Frio draw.

The Frio Baptist Church adopted a Family Night plan for Missionary meetings of all age groups. The groups met Wednesday night for the first regular program. The meetings will be on first and third Wednesday nights of each month. Business meetings will be on the second Wednesday night of each month and choir practice and prayer services on fourth Wednesdays. Bill Williams was elected president of the Brotherhood, Mrs. Owen Andrews is president of W. M. U. and Mrs. Andy Axe is G. A. Counselor. The R. A. Counselor has not yet been elected.

The Rev. Milton Baldwin of Springlake, brother of the pastor of the Frio Baptist Church, brought films which he made on his trip in the Scotland Evangelistic Campaign last fall and showed them at the Frio Church on Thursday evening.

ing. Baldwin was one of the preachers from the U. S. conducting revivals in Scotland during the tour. He also had pictures of the Holy Land made during a visit there. He was accompanied by Mrs. Baldwin.

A total enrollment of 93 persons is reported by the Vacation Bible School principal. Commencement program will be on Sunday evening at the Frio Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews visited Thursday night of last week with Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McAllen at Quanah. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Z. P. Green at Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Brock and Mrs. Etta Randall at Chillicothe on Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sparkman anniversary celebration for Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Ritchie at Plainview Sunday afternoon. The celebration was held at the home of a son of the couple, Melvin Ritchie, in Plainview.

Bill Cole was injured Saturday, when struck in the eye by a piece of cotton seed cake, as he, Lynn Noel, J. D. Harder and Stevie Hobbs were playing at the Robbins home. The occasion was the celebration of Stevie's 10th birthday. The boys were having a mock battle with the cattle feed cake.

Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole, took him to Amarillo Sunday to a specialist, upon recommendation of local doctors. Bill came home to spend several days with his eyes bandaged. He was doing fine, however, with no apparent injury to the eye.

Five Homemaking Students Conduct Playschool Class

Any youngster walking around with paint-stained fingers and oddly-colored clay rubbed on clothing, was probably a member of the playschool class conducted last week by five high school homemaking students.

Singing songs, finger painting, mixing clay and playing games were 14 children ranging from three to five years old. They also heard stories told and had refreshments during the school from 9-11 a.m. June 5-9.

Girls in charge of the playschool were Carolyn Aven, Suzanne Langley, Anna Mae Schroeder, Diedra Thomas and Kathy Boston. Each will receive one-half credit in homemaking after three summer projects are completed. Mrs. Martha Sullivan and Mrs. Margaret Durham observed the playschool activities.

The girls wrote an evaluation of at least two children at

Tigers Blast Red Sox 8-5

The Tigers downed the Red Sox 8-5 behind the four hit pitching of Ed Mims in Pony League action Thursday.

The Red Sox drew first blood when lead-off hitter Wyn Buck singled, stole two bases and crossed the plate on a ground ball. Tiger batsmen were retired in a row in their half of the first frame.

The Red Sox chalked up two more runs in the second as starting pitcher, Robert Strange, walked and Dan Loerwald went to first base on an error. Both runners advanced when Jerry McCaslin got a piece of the ball and was thrown out in a fielder's choice situation. Mims bore down to strike out the next two batters.

The Tigers quickly turned the tables in the third, scoring six runs on three hits. David Marcontell walked on four straight pitches and advanced when Frank Cain singled. Mike Ranspot drew a base on balls and Jimmie Gutierrez followed with a single.

All runners advanced as two errors were committed. With a three and two count, Strange threw a third strike past Joe Edelman but Kyle Kendall was hit by a pitched ball and awarded first base. Lynn Brisendine, second baseman, walked and Mims singled on the first pitch.

Robert Lemons received Strange's seventh free pass and Loerwald moved from shortstop to the mound to face the top of the Riger batting order. An error put Marcontell on first but Loerwald sent the next two batters down on strikeouts.

The Red Sox fought back in the fourth, picking up one run on one hit. Richard Lookingbill singled to score Strange, now playing shortstop, who had drawn a walk. Mims recorded three strikeouts to retire the side.

Robert Lemons drove in two Tiger runs in the fourth with a booming double. Edelman was on base as a result of an error and Kendall had singled. Gutierrez also banded out a double but was picked off by catcher Lynn Cook in a steal attempt.

Neither team was able to push across a run in the fifth. The Red Sox tried desperately in the sixth but managed only one run on one hit. Both teams went hitless in the seventh.

Mims went the full route in recording the win. He struck out 12 batters and walked three. Strange absorbed the loss.

White Sox Garner 5-3 Win Over Indians Friday Night

S. D. Baize gave up only three hits and struck out 12 hitters as the White Sox downed the Indians 5-3 in Pony League action Friday.

Larry Minks pitched to a hit ball in the losing effort. He was relieved in the fifth frame by Lynn Warren who held the Pale Hose hitless in the last two innings. The Indians took the lead in the first with two runs on one hit. Gary Stagner waited out a base on balls and advanced on two errors. Alex Guerrero also walked and Minks followed with a timely single, driving in two runs.

An error put Steve Hodges on first in the White Sox half of the third. Baize followed with a single and Minks went the full count in giving up three straight walks. The White Sox had crossed the plate three times before Minks regained control and retired the side.

Baize struck out the first three men to face him in the fourth and White Sox bats went to work again. Hodges, Baize and Darrell Christiansen hit singles in order, but scored only one run as Hodges was forced out at second. Minks struck out two in this frame.

Trailing 5-2, the Indians fought back in the fifth. Baize struck out the first man he faced but walked Warren. Gary Royal singled on an error and a stolen base. Baize handled a ground ball to retire the side.

Both teams were set down in order in the remaining two times at bat. Three errors were recovered by each team during the hour and a half battle.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I read with interest your editorial on the Daily Vacation Bible Schools in last Sunday's Brand. It was very good, and I appreciate the place of importance afforded this part of the church's program. How true it is that a positive teaching of the principles of Christianity is the best possible guard against totalitarianism, or a cynicism that threatens our democratic way of life.

We still miss Hereford and its wonderful citizenry. With every good wish, and with kindest personal regards, I am,

Most sincerely yours,
s/Howard E. Scott

Cards Nab 9-5 Win Over The Dodgers

The Cardinals won a 9-5 decision over the Dodgers in Little League play Friday. Lee Robinson received credit for the win and David Evans took the loss.

Two errors after two walks in the first gave the Cardinals their first tally. The Dodgers bounced back to even things up as shortstop Bill Watts lead off with a single. Gary Story walked and David Casas followed with another single, scoring Watts.

In the Cardinal second, Evans threw three pitches past lead-off batter, Mitchell Bell, but then had a wild streak and walked the next two batsmen. Jerry Kendrick waited out a base on balls and centerfielder Larry Brown followed with a single. Four Dodger errors enabled the Cardinals to score five runs before the side was retired.

Dodger batters were retired in order in the third and the Redbird onslaught followed. Jerry Fowlkes supplied the fire with a three-run homer after Kendrick and Alvin Davis had singled. Four base on balls and an error contributed to the cause and the Cardinals took the field with an eight run lead.

Two doubles in the fourth kept Dodger hopes alive but Bell took over mound duties to keep a rally from developing. Watts slammed the first double and streaked home on catcher Brad Johnson's two bagger. Bell struck out the side to stop the fourth inning attack.

Cardinal batters were unable to keep an attack going in the remaining three innings as they faced David Casas on the mound. He came in from center field to limit the opposing batsmen to two well-scattered hits.

As they came to the plate for the last time, Dodger batters were still fighting. They managed three runs on five hits but could not overtake the high flying Cardinals. Watts led off with his third hit in as many trips to the plate. Storey followed with a single but was tagged out by second baseman Kendrick in a forced out. With two away, Johnson lined a single and Evans banged a double. Bryan Knox added a single but was stranded on first as Bell struck out the side.

Errors and base on balls were the deciding factors in the Cardinal victory as the Dodgers led in the hit column 8-6. Dodger fielders committed eight errors while the Cardinals were guilty of only one miscue. The winners received seven free passes to first base but gave up only two walks.

VIDAL PLANS THIRD
NEW YORK (AP)—Playwright Gore Vidal is doing an adaptation of Friedrich Durrenmatt's "Romulus the Great" as his third Broadway entry. He previously authored two hit originals, "Visit to a Small Planet" and "The Best Man."
The Durrenmatt comedy relates to a fictional last Roman emperor and concerns, Vidal says, "the morality of powder."
The first recorded baptism in the United States was that of an Indian named Peter in 1540.

Yankees Blast 14 Hits In 23-5 Victory Over Giants

The Yankees lashed out for 23 runs against the Giants Thursday in Little League play. The Giants managed to get across five runs.

Randy Baize pitched eight hit balls in winning while Andy Channer was charged with the loss. The Giants were guilty of 10 miscues and the Yankees committed two.

Gene Drummond, Giant first baseman and pitcher, was the slugging star with two round-trippers. Ronald Ota and Andy Channer added two singles each to the Giant cause. The Yankees' 14-hit barrage was somewhat evenly distributed over the lineup.

The Giants jumped off to a lead in the first inning as Drummond batted one for the circuit and drove in one runner ahead of him. The Yankees surged ahead in their half of the first with four runs on three hits. Mike Horton beat out a bunt and Jim Allison and Felix Albiar both singled.

A run in the second edged the Giants closer to their opponents but the Yankees exploded for five runs in the first half of the frame.

Randy Baize slammed a single and advanced on an error. Horton beat out another bunt and Albiar and Johnson Benefield hit back-to-back singles.

In the third the Yankees garnered nine runs on five hits with the help of three errors and two wild pitches. Gene Duvall, Danny Lester, Allison, Danny Baize and Benefield all singled.

Drummond hit his second homer in the top of the fourth to make the score 18-4. Danny Baize doubled and scored on an error in the Yankee fourth.

An error, a single and a sacrifice in the fifth gave the Giants another run. Baize walked two straight batters and Allison came on the mound to strike out the side.

Scoring ended with the Yankees picking up four runs on one hit, three walks and three errors.

LOST AND FOUND

CLARION, Iowa (AP) — A ring that Arthur Mechem of Clarion lost more than 60 years ago was found recently by James White in the driveway of his farm home. Mechem, now more than 80 years old, recalled that when he was a teen-ager he frequently visited friends on the farm now operated by White. He said he had lost the ring during one of those visits.

Miss Eugene Guinn was the bride's only attendant. She wore a dress of melon organza over taffeta and carried a bouquet of fashion roses and orange blossoms.

Ronnie Byers served his brother, as best man.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white lace sheath with satin trim. Her clip hat of white lace was set with rhinestones and she carried a white satin Bible topped with an orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Decorations were in the bride's chosen colors of orchid and white. The table was laid with a white cloth over or-

LITTLE'S OF HEREFORD

Use Our Layaway Plan!

BY JIMMIE GILLENLINE
 Hereford got some area and national publicity when the June issue of Kliva Caravan, the Shrine magazine, carried a picture from the crippled children's clinic sponsored in Hereford May 20, by the Oasis Shrine Club. It was the same photograph which appeared on the front page of The Brand and was shot by H. A. Tuck, chairman of the board of hospital trustees, and a young patient in the clinic.

The same magazine had a story about a Russian school teacher who asked a little boy: "Who were the first human beings?"

"Adam and Eve," replied the youngster.

"And what nationality were they?"

"Russian, of course," he answered.

"Fine, fine," commented the teacher, "and how do we know they were Russians?"

"Easy!" quipped the kid. "They had no roof over their heads, no clothes to wear, and only one apple for the two of them — and they still called it Paradise."

W. D. Askew, who operates an automatic laundry here, says I am away behind the times as usual. He says he has had a hair dryer in his place for a good little while — and why do

I have to write about Canyon when we have it right here at home, all of which sounds logical. However, I can't get around to all of the places, so why don't he run some ads about it — and let everybody know, then we will all be happy. No kidding, though, this is a real sharp idea and Mr. Askew tells me it really is something new in the business.

People are nicer than anybody. We had so many telephone calls, and so many nice compliments on the way The Brand looked Thursday that it makes all of our long hours, night work and extra effort worthwhile. Most of all, we are happy to know that people really like the appearance and reproduction, and when they take the time to mention it or call, it really makes us feel good.

Kenneth Coker was the only one who said that he liked it better the way it was before — and he was grinning so big that you could tell he was kidding. Besides, the old press was probably more like he used to see in Oklahoma.

If you can make the Open House this afternoon, we will do our best to explain what happens — and if you can't make it, we won't be mad. Remember the hours, 1 to 5 p.m.

Nolan and Mrs. Grady are fresh back from the postmaster's meeting in Galveston, and seem to have enjoyed the trip while learning a lot about post office operation, and meeting other postmasters in Texas. I asked Nolan if he ran across any of the vice I keep hearing about in Galveston, but he said "No, I sure didn't." This is a funny thing to me. I was down there once and, looked as hard as I could, and I didn't find any either. Dub Reeves had the same experience, so I figure it couldn't be as bad as we hear — or Dub and I are really slipping.

Nolan also had some good news about extending city delivery postal service next week to include the 300 block on Western, the 300 block on Sunset, and the 300 block on Texas. It may not mean much to most people, but I'll bet it is really good news to the folks who live in those areas.

Peppy Blocker, our new society editor, is doing a good job —

REQUIREMENTS DEFER
NEW YORK (AP) — Tin Pan Alley and Shubert Alley have widely different musical needs, says songwriter Bob Merrill. The composer of the scores of "New Girl in Town," "Take Me Along" and "Carnival" turned out a number of individual tunes including "Doggie in the Window" and "If I Knew You were Coming" before turning to Broadway work. "With popular songs," says Merrill, "I try to think of what could be a hit. Writing for the stage is different — it takes a uniform approach and there is a definite channel, a way to go on."

"You can't start by doing musicals — you can waste the years trying to get something on, and I don't think the best work comes out of an empty stomach. But after you get security, you want to do something that excites you. The theater is the challenge."

RETURNS AT 85
NEW YORK (AP) — Returning to Broadway production at the age of 85 is Mack Curdy Hilliard, with a play "Devil to Pay," scheduled for September opening. A veteran of 60 years in various phases of show business, Hilliard is currently manager of the O'Neill Theater. Most successful of previous staging ventures was "Within Four Walls."

What this town needs is a good shoe shine war. The going price of 35 cents seems a bit high, but I notice that some Negro lads have made up boxes and are now operating on the more popular 25-cent schedule. Next thing you know the super markets will put in machines and begin giving free shins with each purchase. Super markets are the most competitive of all retail businesses, in my opinion. Some people say automobile dealers, but a lot of food stores have given away automobiles — and I have never yet heard of an auto dealer giving away a super market.

W. D. Askew, who operates an automatic laundry here, says I am away behind the times as usual. He says he has had a hair dryer in his place for a good little while — and why do

I have to write about Canyon when we have it right here at home, all of which sounds logical. However, I can't get around to all of the places, so why don't he run some ads about it — and let everybody know, then we will all be happy. No kidding, though, this is a real sharp idea and Mr. Askew tells me it really is something new in the business.

People are nicer than anybody. We had so many telephone calls, and so many nice compliments on the way The Brand looked Thursday that it makes all of our long hours, night work and extra effort worthwhile. Most of all, we are happy to know that people really like the appearance and reproduction, and when they take the time to mention it or call, it really makes us feel good.

Keneth Coker was the only one who said that he liked it better the way it was before — and he was grinning so big that you could tell he was kidding. Besides, the old press was probably more like he used to see in Oklahoma.

If you can make the Open House this afternoon, we will do our best to explain what happens — and if you can't make it, we won't be mad. Remember the hours, 1 to 5 p.m.

Nolan and Mrs. Grady are fresh back from the postmaster's meeting in Galveston, and seem to have enjoyed the trip while learning a lot about post office operation, and meeting other postmasters in Texas. I asked Nolan if he ran across any of the vice I keep hearing about in Galveston, but he said "No, I sure didn't." This is a funny thing to me. I was down there once and, looked as hard as I could, and I didn't find any either. Dub Reeves had the same experience, so I figure it couldn't be as bad as we hear — or Dub and I are really slipping.

Nolan also had some good news about extending city delivery postal service next week to include the 300 block on Western, the 200 block on Sunset, and the 200 block on Texas. It may not mean much to most people, but I'll bet it is really good news to the folks who live in those areas.

REQUIREMENTS DEFER
NEW YORK (AP) — Tin Pan Alley and Shubert Alley have widely different musical needs, says songwriter Bob Merrill.
The composer of the scores of "New Girl in Town," "Take Me Along" and "Carnival" turned out a number of individual tunes including "Doggie in the Window" and "If I Knew You were Coming" before turning to Broadway work.
"With popular songs," says Merrill, "I try to think of what could be a hit. Writing for the stage is different — it takes a uniform approach and there is a definite channel, a way to go on."

RETURNS AT 85
NEW YORK (AP) — Returning to Broadway production at the age of 85 is Mack Curdy Hilliard, with a play "Devil to Pay," scheduled for September opening.
A veteran of 60 years in various phases of show business, Hilliard is currently manager of the O'Neill Theater. Most successful of previous staging ventures was "Within Four Walls."

but seems to be developing an acute case of "newspaper jitters." She came down the other morning complaining that she didn't sleep a wink after 3:30 a.m.
"I had a nightmare," said Peppy, "and dreamed that one of the brides eloped the night before — and ruined my front page. It tore me up so that I never could go back to sleep."

I don't know who owns that patch of wheat on the Park Avenue lot at Ninth Street, but it looks to me as if it is just about ready to harvest, and it really is a nice stand.

What this town needs is a good shoe shine war. The going price of 35 cents seems a bit high, but I notice that some Negro tads have made up boxes and are now operating on the more popular 25-cent schedule. Next thing you know the super markets will put in machines and begin giving free shines with each purchase. Super markets are the most competitive of all retail businesses, in my opinion. Some people say automobile dealers, but a lot of food stores have given away automobiles — and I have never yet heard of an auto dealer giving away a super market.

"This comes as no surprise 'most versatile' in high eight or nine years," Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Carmichael, his parents, stated. "It is with mixed emotions that we share this announcement."

Carmichael left Hereford Wednesday, June 7, to attend an orientation week in Indianapolis, Ind. BY CHARLIE SEEDS
The little man with the ridiculous moustache — the man no one laughed at any more — locked himself in his rooms, as he always did before important decisions. He refused to see anyone, ignoring the presence of the British and Polish ambassadors who were waiting to see him.

When Adolph Hitler emerged, he had made the decision which launched the world into the tragedy of war. That morning, German troops invaded Poland. Nazi planes rained death on Warsaw. At the Polish border, a pitifully small force fought back against the overwhelming weight of men and guns and tanks thrown against them. In Paris and London, urgent Cabinet meetings were called. Shortly afterward, the British and French Parliaments convened.

All efforts for peace had failed. Adolph Hitler had made his decision. World War II had begun.

Remember the year? The memory of depression was still fresh in all our minds then... and those of us who bought new cars did a lot of shopping around, looking for the best deal we could get from a reliable dealer.

The year was 1939. Getting the best deal you can — from a reliable dealer who stands behind the sale — makes good sense today, too. See us about the terrific deals we're making now on the new 1961 Ford. Buy with confidence and save money, too! CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR Co. Inc., W. Hwy. 60 at Miles. Phone EM 4-2727.

Definite plans at this point include at least one more year of dentistry at the University of Texas School of Dentistry in Houston. Carmichael expects further training in theology and language but does not know definitely.

Carmichael has resided in Hereford since birth and was graduated from Hereford High School in 1953. He served as president of the FFA and the senior class and was chosen school.

He received his B.S. degree in pre-dentistry from West Texas State College in Canyon. During his undergraduate years he served as chief justice of the West Texas supreme court and was a candidate for personality king. He was state vice president of the Disciples Student Fellowship. He is a member of Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity, in Houston. Carmichael's grandfather, Will G. Harris, resides in the Summerfield community.

Should Our Public Institutions Take Active Stand In Politics?

During the past two issues, the Chamber of Commerce through its semi-weekly column, "Deaf Smith Says", has reviewed the national farm bill, pro and con. Needless to say, the resume drew fire—especially on the article which considered the bill in a critical light.

Even more important than this public reaction, however, is the question of whether an organization such as the C of C should engage in political discussion and endorsement. For many years, such groups held impartial outlooks in all official comment, and people believed that the individuals should vote as they chose without becoming active. Banks, too, pretty well followed the same pattern, lest they incur the wrath of customers and a loss of patronage.

During the past two years, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce seems to have pretty well tossed this theory out of the window, and has been taking firm, definite political stands. A speaker at a state bankers' meeting recently advised all of his listeners:

"Go home and start fighting for your country, and for the things which you cherish, or soon you will have no country and no liberty for which to fight."

In a nutshell, the thinking is that the ultimate goal should not be lost in our scramble for immediate profits, or large memberships. Seen from this viewpoint, what is the use of having newspapers, banks, food stores, garages, manufacturing plants and other establishments if they shall ultimately become pawns in the hands of some dictator, who may well take over the country in case the American people remain indifferent to conditions for too long? An impartial attitude on the part of leading institutions, they tell us, is fine so long as we can afford it—but that time is fast drawing to a close.

Meanwhile, we should not overlook the point that we, as citizens, also have much to learn about politics in the United States. If we become irate and boycott all of the people with whom we do not agree, we are certainly being childish. Too often, the people who do take an active interest in state and national politics are inclined to go completely overboard on the subject. Tolerance is an oft forgotten virtue which too many of us fail to develop.

Our entire political structure is based upon our right to think, talk and vote as we please. So long as we maintain this privilege, it figures that we must allow other Americans the same rights and privileges which we enjoy, or we have become dictators ourselves. As community leaders, it seems to us that banks, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations may well take a part in helping to operate the country which they have dedicated themselves toward building and improving. This is all the more true, when both sides of any given question are presented and generally discussed.

Firemen Honor Former Chiefs

Two former fire chiefs were recognized by fellow members of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department this week, when the group presented special plaques to Earl Phillips and Glenn Witherspoon.

Like the proverbial chain, no fire department can be stronger than its weakest link, but when we stop to consider the many years these two men have contributed to the department, the tribute is fitting indeed.

Hereford today boasts one of the best organized, best trained and consistently hard working volunteer departments in the state, and credit for much of this success can be traced to the leadership offered by these two men, along with several other fire chiefs.

Certainly they have contributed to the welfare of our citizens and the safety of our property far beyond the call of duty and, like their fellow volunteers, The Brand wishes to add this word of sincere appreciation.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

"Psychiatry and faith are teammates," says Chaplain Joseph H. Lief of the Veterans Hospital at Northport, N. Y. There for 15 years this rabbi has offered patients the strength and inspiration of faith, while psychiatrists have offered them mental health. He has devoted his life to serving the personal and spiritual needs of thousands of patients, says the National Jewish Welfare Board, with "the warmth of a human and with brotherly feeling," becoming "famous in the field of pastoral counseling."

Gold Ring Has Long Been Symbol Of Love

BY MRS. R. L. CRISWELL answer. "How old is the gold ring, and when was it used as a wedding ring?" is a question that might be a little difficult to

A poem written in the seventeenth century by Robert Herrick says: "And as this round is nowhere found to flaw, or else to sever, so let our love as endless prove, and pure as gold forever."

Gold was not the first wedding or betrothal ring, as the cave man used grass or rushes to weave a ring for his chosen bride, and he believed a rope tied around the body would keep the soul from escaping. He also tied cords around her waist, wrists and ankles to be sure her spirit was under his control. These cords were probably of rushes also. In later years ivory, flint or amber were made into rings.

Even before the seventeenth century, the betrothal ring had much more meaning than now for it not only showed the honesty of a man's intentions but also put the girl on her best behavior, for she was a promised wife.

During the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries it was the practice in England for young Englishmen to cut rings from the finger of a heavy leather glove and give it to his sweetheart as a token of his love and it was considered a mark of very high esteem. However, we know that the Egyptians had made gold filigree rings and a will in England spoke of "a Maryin ring having a diamond."

The wedding ring has been worn on every finger of the hand, including the thumb. There is the old saying that the wedding ring must be worn on the fourth finger of the left hand because there is a vein going directly to the heart from that finger.

But medical science has proven that blood goes to the heart from all the fingers but it is now generally accepted that the third finger is the most convenient and the ring is less likely to be bent or scarred while working if it is worn on that finger.

During these years there was always a witness to placing the ring on the finger of the betrothed bride; this was to show that the man meant what he said and though he could not wed his betrothed for some time he could never break his troth — and if he did he was ostracized and the ring was regarded as a forfeit. But if the girl broke the engagement, she must return the ring.

It is said the orange blossoms at a wedding came from the legend that Jupiter, the Olympian god, gave Juno an orange on her wedding day. Today we have orange blossoms engraved on wedding rings and even often the bride wears orange blossoms as a crown on her hair.

PARKING METERS REMOVED FOR SUMMER

June means vacation time, not only for school kids but beginning today for parking meters, too. Starting today and lasting through Sept. 1, there will be no parking time limits in downtown Andrews. City workers began this week the task of removing parking meter heads for storage during the summer months. The parking meter vacation was approved by the city council last month after a majority of downtown businessmen signed a petition asking for the move. The council action stipulated that no time limit or parking control will be exercised during the three-month period, and that the meters will go back into operation automatically on Sept. 1. Spokesmen for the petitioners told the council the businessmen downtown felt that inactive parking meters would spark greater traffic in local stores during the usually slow summer months. In order to grant the meter vacation, the council had to pay off the balance owed to the parking meter company. The City's contract with the company prohibited rendering the meters inactive for any period of time at a penalty of making the entire balance immediately due. The balance owed was about $655.

GROWERS READY TO HARVEST WHEAT

A county full of good wheat crops is about ready to be harvested. The weather man is to have the last say about when the harvest will be in full sway, if sunshine and brisk breezes like on Wednesday morning continues the volume of wheat coming to the elevators will be very considerable this weekend in some parts of the county. Probabilities are the crop will be the best since 1949, although the dry weather in the later part of April and early May cut into the yields on dry land considerably. First load of 1961 wheat reported to the Hesperian, that was dry enough to harvest, came to Club Grain in Floydada and was harvested by Leonard Alexander in the Lakeview Community.

CONSTRUCTION TOPS MILLION DOLLAR MARK

Construction in Levelland crossed the million-dollar mark in May, bouncing out of its three-month slump with building permits for the month nearly doubling those of April, largely due to the construction of the two new city bowling alleys. Permits, which totaled $271,350, were the largest since January. Permits for the year through May totaled $1,225,935 — the first jump over the million mark for the year. The largest permits issued were the $80,000 in permits each to W. L. Breshears and G and G Construction Co. for the building of new bowling alleys. Permits were also issued to build five new brick homes, the largest being a $20,000 permit for a home at 131 Elgin in the Colonial Heights addition.

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm discusses efficiency this week, but we can't say with how much success.

Dear Editor: I realize that while whole countries are disappearing these days, worrying over the disappearance of the so-called family-type farm seems like a waste of time if not a misapplication of thought, but according to an article I read in a newspaper last night, a lot of people are concerned about this matter.

But I'm not as interested in the actual disappearance of the small farm as I am in what these people think will bring it about.

According to them, inefficiency is the cause. The small farmer has got to get more efficiency if he expects to stay on his farm, they argue.

I don't know about this. In my own case, I don't expect to get any more efficient, and I don't expect to move off this bindweed farm. People confuse efficiency with bigness. To me, a four-row cultivator is something you can work your land with in half the time it took with a two-row outfit, but to other people it's something you can work twice as much land with in the same long hours.

Efficiency can be overdone. For example, in this same newspaper I was reading last night I noticed that a contest was held in New York the other day to see which was the fastest way to get across midtown Manhattan. The results showed you can cross this center of American culture and efficiency about as fast in a horse and buggy as you can in a car, and even on foot you won't be far behind. Efficiency has produced automobiles in such numbers they're becoming useless in big cities, and cities themselves have become so efficient they're unmanageable.

Airplanes have become so efficient and numerous they have to circle around an airport an hour to find a place to land.

Government has become so efficient the taxpayers can not afford it.

It was efficiency that produced a bomb that'll kill a hundred thousand times more people than the cannon ball.

The way it looks to me, inefficiency is the hope of mankind and the small farm is the last refuge of this style of operating. The last thing the world should be doing is coming out here and telling me how to get more efficient. In my case, it might not matter, but some farmers might listen.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Pickles-Mustard Tax Might Work

Do you need money? Do you have an idea about how the government operates? Here's how one editor in Illinois answered the two questions, and came up with some negative answers.

By CARL E. RICHARDS

Editor, Palos (Ill.) Regional The Regional needs between 10 and $15,000 worth of new printing equipment and we don't have the money to buy it. Of course, if we had the $3,000 we have paid out in taxes since the first of the year, we would have enough to make a substantial down payment.

Now if we were a governmental agency of some sort, the problem would be easy—we would just tax everybody in Palos to raise the money. Now, let's see how we could do it. First we have to find something that is not already taxed. What about dill pickles? They are distinctly a luxury like gasoline, cigarettes, whiskey, fur coats, telephone calls, etc. People who eat dill pickles do not have a lobby or belong to any pressure group. We'll tie the pickle tax in with the aid to education bill and sneak it through while Barry Goldwater and Ed Derwinski are out to lunch.

We will have to set the pickle tax rate high enough to yield at least $50,000 to enable us to purchase $10,000 worth of equipment. We will have to establish a pickle bureau which will cost about $40,000 a year to operate. We will need a chief dill inspector at $15,000 a year, preferably our cousin down in Missouri, who never seems to be able to get or hold a job. Other inspectors will be needed, but we have more cousins like him down there. Cousin Fred won't be available because he has been drawing unemployment compensation for the past year. He is in a depressed area.

An office will have to be set up with electric typewriters, modern office machines and wall to wall carpeting for the chief dill inspector. That will cost a lot of money. We will need three stenographers, one to type the forms, one to put them in envelopes, and one to seal the envelopes. Also a goodlooking dumb chick who won't know any of the answers if some citizen should come in and ask a question. Cousin Mabel can handle this job if we can get her out of the "Aid to Hindustan" office in Washington.

A good public relations man will cost at least $10,000 a year but all bureaus have to have one to send out propaganda to weekly newspapers. The newspapers never use the stuff, but what's the difference? If it wasn't sent out, the waste basket industry would have to seek a government subsidy to keep them in business.

It's beginning to look like a $50,000 budget won't be enough to net the $10,000 we will need for the printing equipment. Maybe we should consider a tax on another luxury item, say mustard. Just think of the millions of jars of mustard that are sold every year. A 2% tax on mustard would bring in several thousand more which would provide for a chief mustard inspector, more inspectors, more offices, more stenographers, more receptionists, more public relations men, more waste baskets and more for the union, which another cousin has been heading since his return from Joliet.

Wow! This is the way to get our printing equipment and give all our cousins jobs — a tax on dill pickles and mustard.

On the other hand, let's forget about getting the printing equipment. There's a big government printing plant in Washington that employs hundreds of printers who keep busy printing books about such subjects as "The Love Life of the Montana Mongoose, His Habits, etc." They also print money and it wouldn't take more than ten minutes to print an additional $10,000.

Now we've got problems. Should we forget the pickle and mustard tax and just have the money printed? No, that wouldn't give our cousins any jobs and printing money only increases the cost of their chewing tobacco.

What we must do in this country is sacrifices—to support more chief inspectors, more, more, more and more cousins.

50 YEARS AGO

A Prohibition Election Here Relatively Quiet

50 YEARS AGO

Some other even larger cities in Texas might take Hereford as a model in conducting a prohibition election. While the citizens discussed the pro and con sides freely on the streets, there was no loud talk or unseeming conduct on the part of anyone. The pros were in the majority by a large count and they felt their strength; yet, the other side was treated with statesmanlike courtesy. Both sides worked hard to muster all the votes possible until the polls closed. There was no speech making, singing or parading. The women did not take any part in the election as solicitors. As was expected, Deaf Smith County went "dry" by a big majority, there being 330 votes for the amendment and 60 against it. After the polls closed a big crowd of men, women and children gathered at night-fall in front of the Brand office, where the returns were to be bulletined. The first returns were from the local boxes which showed a good pro majority and these figures set the pro side cheering. In a short while reports from other towns and counties began to come in and the pro side continued their healthy cheering. Many anti's were in the crowd and when the "wets" would score a point they would cheer lustily, even some of the pros and fence-riders helping. The crowd remained until midnight, when a number went home, but still a good bunch remained and kept up the cheering until 1 a. m. It appeared from the face of the returns that the pros had won by a majority of from 10 to 20 thousand, but on Sunday the complexion of the returns began to change and by Monday the anti's showed a clear gain of some 5000 votes over the pros. On Tuesday the State Headquarters of both sides announced that the anti's had won by a majority of about 5000.

25 YEARS AGO

Summer descended upon the Hereford area with a vengeance last weekend and hung on throughout the early part of this week, sending temperatures to a season's high of 105 degrees. The mark was reached at 3 p. m. Monday afternoon and remained until 5 o'clock before the mercury decided to drop. The day was the hottest of the period, with the temperature passing the 100 mark at 11:30 a. m. and remaining above the century for slightly more than seven hours. Sunday was not far behind. The maximum for the day was 102 degrees, reached at 3:30 p. m., and again at 5, with the mercury above 90 from 11 a. m. until 7:30 a. m. The heat wave struck on Friday, when the maximum of 94 degrees was reached at 4:45 p. m. and the mercury stayed above 90 from 1:30 until 7:30. Saturday's high also was 94, set at about 3:15 with the temperature above 90 for about three hours. Tuesday set out to be a scorcher and was well on the way to a new high, having reached 94 degrees at 10 in the morning, the highest mark for such an early hour. However, a cooling east wind stopped the climb and drove the mercury down to 86 at noon and holding the temperature at 90 or below throughout the afternoon. Minimum temperatures for the same period were: 59 degrees at 5:30 Saturday morning, 63 at 6 Sunday morning, 67 at 5:30 Monday morning and 64 at 5:15 Tuesday morning.

Gold...

 a newly-wedded couple's car? As far back as the fifth century it was the custom in Greece for the bridegroom to give his bride a ring, a pair of shoes and a kiss. The ring served to bind the contract. And the shoes? They symbolized conjugal obedience and the kiss was to seal the secrets between the man and his wife, secrets never to be divulged to anyone but to each other. The ring was made of iron for the bride, and for the groom, a gold ring, symbolic of masculine masterfulness.

In Russia the double-ring ceremony and custom was to have two rings—silver for the bride and gold for the groom, showing that the bride was less honorable and the gold to signify the superiority of man. There are many, many legends and stories of learning about the future husband or wife and whether or not one would be married during the present year. One of these came from England, and it is fun to do it, but a little difficult to remember to do the counting before nine o'clock. The story goes that for either a boy or girl to see their future husband or wife, they should count nine stars for nine nights, before nine o'clock. If one forgets for one night, the count must start again. Once you have counted the nine stars for nine nights you will see your future husband or wife in your dreams that night.

A dear little lady of some seventy years told this story: she had counted the nine stars for the nine consecutive nights and had dreamed of her own sweetheart. She told him she was so sure of her love for him that she was ready to marry him when he wished if he would try counting the stars to see if he would dream of her.

He counted the stars and assured her that he had dreamed of her and she was all he could desire in a wife. Many years later, when they had celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary, he told her that he had never counted the stars at all, because he was afraid he might dream of someone else. She laughed merrily as she told the story, and said "Why he loved me so much he was afraid he might lose me if he dreamed of someone besides me." Even though the years had passed, she was still the girl of his dreams.

Gypsy girls have a way of learning if they may become a bride within a year. They look for and find the mule with the longest ears near their camp. The girl whispers a question in the mule's ear; if the mule shakes its head quickly and hard the girl knows she will be married within the year, but if the mule only wiggles the ear or does not move it at all, then she is doomed to be single for the remainder of the year.

There is another star legend. Select a particular star, walk backwards and look over the left shoulder saying, "Star light, star bright, brightest star I see tonight. I wish I may, I wish I might, see my future mate in my dreams tonight."

Lovers the world over have made this wish as they walked home in the moonlight watching the stars or looking for a particular star was a nice way to steal a kiss as the girl looked into the starlit sky trying to see the particular star, pointed out by her sweetheart.

The tiniest wedding ring was for a bride of two years. "Horror!" you say. We have heard of child brides in many countries of the world, but especially in India. This one was in England. It does seem impossible, but here is the story of the betrothal of Princess Mary, daughter of Henry VIII, to Dauphin of France, son of King Francis I. The birth of a son to King Francis led to the engagement as a matter of state policy, in keeping a better alliance with France.

The tiny Princess Marie was dressed in gold lame with a cap set with many jewels. The ring was placed on the little hand in a ceremony demanding the consent of the King and Queen; the legate Wolsey fitted the ring on the baby's finger. It does not say when the marriage was performed.

Farther back in the Middle Ages, young men swaggered around with a betrothal ring tied to the band of his hat, just to tantalize the young ladies. And if and when he found one to his taste, a servant was sent to the maid of his choice. If she said no, the servant hurriedly hastened to his young master to get the ring back on his hat before anyone noticed it was gone. The girl could choose her ring if she were not particularly interested in the fellows who wore them on their hats.

Of all things, there was also a ring that meant you did not want to get married at all. This was in certain parts of Europe and of course a few centuries ago. If the same ring were worn on the first finger, it meant "I am looking around." If on the middle finger, it said "I'm already married" and if worn on the third finger, "I am engaged."

Today's wedding rings are all beautiful and some are flexible. One such was designed by Mrs. Barbara Hudnut Boston. It was made of tiny bars connected much as a watch band and engraved beautifully. Others are engraved with orange blossoms or in rectangles or in a number of designs. Perhaps the loveliest of all is gold filigree in many lovely lacy designs. Others are just a plain band of gold that signifies that life, happiness and love have no end.

Mysticism, superstition and romance are all in the legend of the ring. As the gold is taken from the mine and refined it has a long way to go before being made into the lovely rings we see today. Let's go on a quick survey of the gold as it leaves the mine and its way to become a ring—a wedding ring.

First there is the "melter" who makes the gold into ingots. These ingots are 24 karat, but it must be mixed with an alloy before it can be made into a ring. The smelter mixes it with silver, zinc, nickel or copper and it becomes 14 karat gold and shaped into a bar. It is then rolled and annealed and put into an oven of 1400 degrees and purified in the fire. The heat solidifies each molecule and contracts the gold.

It is again rolled to the proper degree and sent to the stamping machine. This machine punches out the ring forms, and are then rolled into plain wedding bands. They are put under terrific pressure, known as blanking, and now the ring is ready to be squeezed under a 25-ton pressure to make the ring firm. It is then "spun up" to finger size and trimmed. Now it is a ring ready to be displayed or engraved.

Wars can restrict any and all things, but not gold for wedding rings.

Extending from this arrangement were blue streamers, etched with "Anna" and "Ken." The table was laid with the bride's own linens, a pastel pink Irish linen cloth over blue. Appointments were in crystal. The cake was decorated with blue icing.

Hostesses for the courtesy were Mesdames Floyd Duvant, C. E. Waits, Fred Autrey, E. H. Martin, Aubrey Bell, C. W. Riddle, Alton Monroe, George Terry, Lenoy Tooley, James Priddy and L. H. Lane.

When men must fight for their country it is necessary for them to have some symbol that can be carried with them, a symbol to remind them of the love they have for their wives and sweethearts waiting for them, of their families, the love that has no beginning and no ending; the circle of gold that holds all that is dear to them, but may be far away, the circle that cannot be broken, but can expand to encircle the things most precious to any man's heart.

Gray-Willson Vows Are Read At Baptist Church

The sanctuary of the Avenue Baptist Church was the scene recently for the marriage of Miss Billie Anne Gray and Wilbur Leroy Willson. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Gray, 234 Ave. D., and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Willson, also of Hereford.

Vows were exchanged before an altar banked with greenery and white carnations, flanked by white tapers in wrought-iron candelabra. The Rev. C. F. Powell, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony.

Miss Margie Boxley of Slaton, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a dress of yellow lace over yellow satin. Troy Rhoades served the groom as best man and ushers were Richard Rhoades and Weldon Gary Gary, a cousin of the bride, is from Canyon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a street length dress of white Chantilly lace over Arnel taffeta, made by her mother. It was fashioned with a basque bodice, abbreviated portrait neckline and short puffed sleeves. A shoulder length veil, of illusion was held in place by a seed-pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white carnations atop a white Bible. A penny that was minted in the year of her birth was placed in her shoe by her father for luck. The tradition of "Something old, something new" was carried out with a blue garter, a lace handkerchief which belonged to her great-grandmother, and a pearl necklace borrowed from her grandmother.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gray chose a light green linen suit with black accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Willson, chose a blue dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The table was laid with an ecru lace cloth over yellow and centered with a three-tier wedding cake. Miss Ada Mae Schroeter registered the guests and Miss Marie Hawthorne, cousin of the bride, and Miss Doris Barnett assisted at the table.

When the couple left on a trip to Eagle Nest and Red River, N. M., the bride was wearing a beige linen sheath with apricot accessories and a corsage of carnations from her wedding bouquet. The couple will be at home at 604 Miles in Hereford. Mrs. Willson is presently employed at Penney's and will be a senior at Hereford high school next fall. Willson, a graduate of Hereford High School, is employed by Winget Pump Co.

She explained that thirst is the first symptom of diabetes and that eight of ten who have been found to have diabetes are obese people. She reported that a treatment of a balanced diet, regulated physical activity and medication are ways of controlling the disease. A leaflet entitled "Food for Fitness" was given each person present.

It was announced that the club would have the film on "The International Peace Garden" the first meeting in September.

KAULS VISIT KANSAS
Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kaul returned home last week from a trip to Sabetha, Hiawatha and other points in Kansas. They attended the Alumni Banquet at Sabetha and also attended Decoration Day services there. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Durstine of Friona returned to Hereford with them after visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Durstine and family at Topeka.

One of the earliest operating mines in America was a gold mine in the Cerrillos, or Little Hills, south of Santa Fe, N.M. Indians worked it in the early 17th Century.

A Note To Our Non-Catholic Neighbors

Catholics and non-Catholics, as a rule, get along right well together. Our families live amicably next door to each other and often become lifetime friends. Our sons fight side by side on every battlefield. We work together in the same shops and factories and we play together.

But in religion... where this close association does not exist... there is often a regrettable lack of understanding and a corresponding absence of good-will. Many people, for instance, have all sorts of false ideas about Catholics and the Catholic Church. They actually believe that Catholics worship statues. That many sardid things happen behind convent walls... that Catholics do not believe in the Bible or that Catholics practice superstitions.

If you wish to know the truth about the Catholic Church and her teachings, write for a free pamphlet explaining Catholic teachings. Write to: Home Study Center, P. O. Box 5644, Amarillo, Texas.
