2 Disputed Posts In City Election

Two contested city elections Tuesday will share the spotlight.

Around Town

Little fruit trees, and big ones too, got their buds nipped Thursday as a thick coating of ice covered all the branches. It's really too early to tell whether all the fruit is lost, and some of the trees probably will bear as usual. But this is a heart-break country for fruit, as any old timer can tell you. But when the weather cooperates, the fruit can be as nice as anywhere.

Chiff Green, chairman of the Texas Aeronautics Commission in Austin, was a surprise guest at the Chamber's Aviation Committee luncheon Friday at the Hereford Country Club. He talked briefly about how to sell aviation to the public. Airport manager Jerry Cady also talked on plans for the air show during the Harvest Festival. There were 17 persons present. Green is supposed to be back in Hereford later to make another talk.

Lloyd Widdifield is retiring from the J. C. Penney Co. but says he plans to remain in Hereford, at least for the present. His future plans still are indefinite.

The retail trade committee heard Thursday that 37 merchants had signed up to participate in the Spring Smorgasbord of Values, slated later this month. This is the deal, you'll recall, where merchants will serve little bits of food or drink and you can get a complete meal if you just visit with enough people. They also will feature a single special each that day. Virgil Dodson talked to the group on "Who Profits From Profits?"

Hereford was slated to play a doubleheader baseball game here against Portales, N. M., Saturday afternoon. They are to play Nazareth here at 4 p.m. Tuesday and are to go to Clowith the special state-wide U. S. Senate on Tuesday, April 4. There are three city posts to be filled in the election, but one is not contested.

Three candidates have filed for the mayor's post and two for one of the Commission seats. The other Commission candidate is unopposed.

Only voting place will be at City Hall. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Voting for the mayor post are Ray Cowsert, Howard Gault and Troy Moore.

Cowsert is an attorney in Hereford. Gault is a vegetable grower-shopper and cattle raiser, and Moore is a petroleum dealer.

Moore currently is serving his second two-year term as a City Commissioner. His term is to expire in 1962.

Gid Brown and J. T. Boynton are both candidates for Place Two on the City Commission.

Brown, a metal shop owner, currently is completing his first two-year term as Commissioner. He is opposed by Boynton, a grocer store owner.

Only unopposed candidate on the city slate will be W. L. "Bill" Davis Jr., implement company owner. He is seeking election as Commissioner of Place One. Don Little, who is completing his term at that post, did not seek re-election.

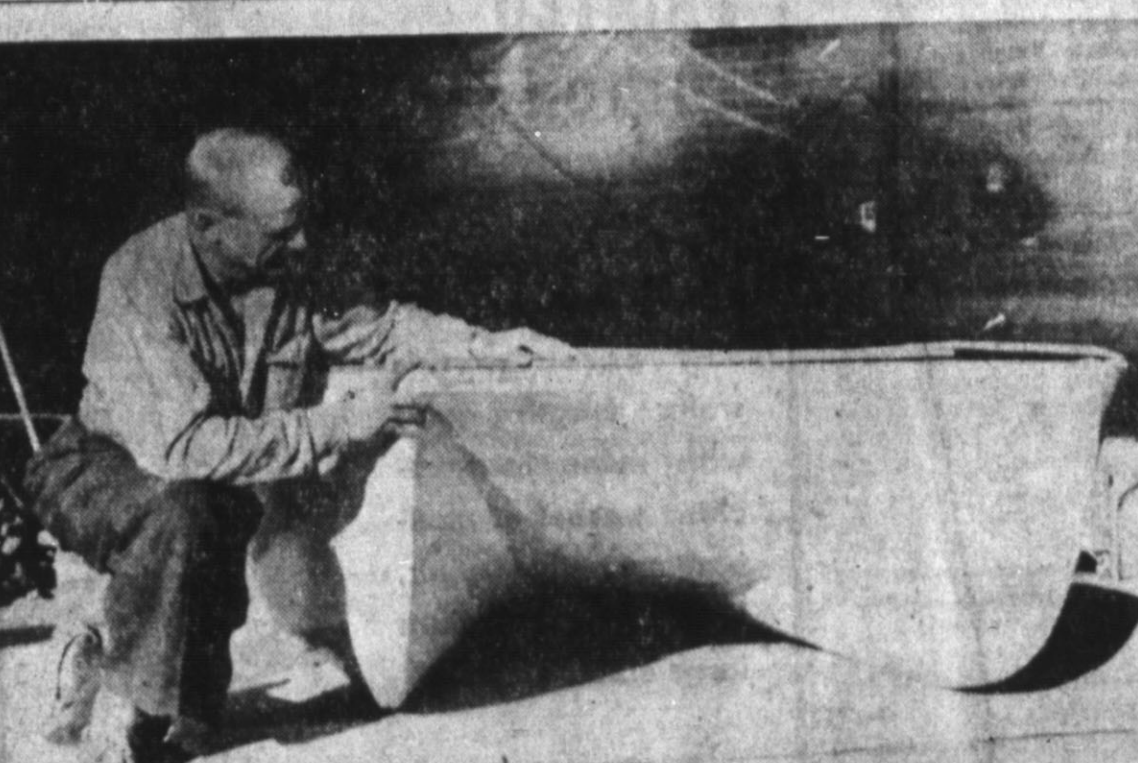

Woodrow B. "Woody" Wilson, present mayor, also did not seek a second term.

Winners in Tuesday's city election will be sworn in at the next meeting of the Commission following the election.

HOPES STILL HIGH

15-Month Sugar Act Is Approved

United States Congress Wednesday passed and sent to the President a 15-month extension of the Sugar Act, with the specification that hearings will be held concurrently in early May by House Agriculture and Senate Finance Committees to develop a permanent Sugar Act. Although the 15-month extension was passed, the House Conference Committee rejected an amendment introduced by Sen. Clinton Anderson of New

A DOUBLE-HULL BOAT being constructed by Bill Patton of Hereford should be ready for launching this weekend. Patton is shown assembling the boat from a kit he purchased last month. A product of 60 hours of work, the 14-foot craft will be painted white with a red trim interior and will highlight a mahogany deck and rails. (Staff Photo)

Bill Patton Finishing Up 14-Foot Double-Hull Boat

BY DAN MUDD
BRAND STAFF REPORTER
Pleasure boats today are taking all shapes and forms — but weekend mariners will think they're seen' double when Bill Patton of Hereford launches his nifty new "Salamander" Saturday.

The double-hull craft, a kit job, was started March 6 by Patton. This will be the third boat Patton has built in the past six years . . . and by far the most unusual one. The 14-foot watercraft apparently is an adaptation to side-riggers used by islanders. Although it carries the lines of a sailboat, its stability should equal that of an 18-foot single-hull boat.

The wooden boat, covered with fiberglass, is 80 3/4 inches wide. Width of single-hull boats ordinarily ranges from 65 to 70 inches.

Its width makes it a fisherman's dream. But Bill kept in mind the fact that the Pattons enjoy skiing as much as fishing when he bought the kit.

When he attaches his 75-horsepower motor to the craft, he hopes to get from 35 to 40 miles per hour out of it. At top speed, draft should be no more than two inches. Weight of the boat, minus outboard motor, is approximately 500 pounds.

A mahogany deck covers the front of the merged hulls. Keel to keel measures 47 inches.

Bands Schedule Spring Concert And Coronation

A light theme will be used in the annual Spring Concert to be presented by Stanton Junior High and Hereford High School bands Thursday evening, according to director of bands Ben R. Gollehon.

The 1961 concert, to feature two bands from Stanton and the Hereford High band, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Each of the three bands has 60 members. Admission will be charged this year, with proceeds going (Continued on page 2)

Two Fined After Pleas Of Guilty

Two Hereford residents received fines in Corporation Court Thursday after entering pleas of guilty to charges filed by Hereford Police Department.

Richard Madrid, 17, was fined $150 after entering a plea of guilty to charge of drunk and disturbance of peace. He was arrested at 2:31 p.m. Wednesday in the 100 block of Main St.

Mrs. Agnes Ortiz, 48, South Main St., was fined $100 after pleading guilty to charge of theft under $5. She was arrested at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday at Piggly Wiggly Store in Hereford. She was charged in connection with theft of fresh meat from the store.

Presiding in Corporation Court was Judge Henry Benson.

Big Ballot For Special Senate Race Tuesday

County voters will go to the polls Tuesday, April 4, to choose one person from a list of 71 candidates for U. S. Senator from the State of Texas.

They will be voting in a state-wide special election, from which there is expected to be a run-off between the top two when the ballots are counted.

Only 19 absentee votes were cast in the county clerk's office before the deadline at 5 p.m. Friday.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Following polling places and election judges have been named for Tuesday's election:

Precinct One, License Examiner's Office, County Court House; Frank Bezner, Bill Waldrep, Mrs. R. L. Simpson and Mrs. W. C. Davis.

Precinct Two, Commissioners' Courtroom, County Court House; Urlin Streu, J. L. Woodford, Robert Veigel and Mrs. Tom Robinson.

Precinct Three, Roe Residence; Herschell Burruss and R. W. Mitchell.

Precinct Four, Simms Community House; J. G. Fortenberry and J. S. Stocks.

Precinct Six, Ford Community House; L. J. Strauss and Billie Hodges.

Precinct Seven, Dawn School House; Mrs. H. V. McCabe and Bill Gentry.

Precinct Eight, Garcia Community House; S. N. Thweatt and Eldred Brown.

Precinct Nine, Bippus Community House; Clint Hornfield and Melvin Henderson.

Precinct Ten, Palo Duro Church; Mrs. C. L. McBroom and Mrs. Zelma Axe.

Precinct Eleven, Central School; J. J. Clark, W. L. Dal-

Tom Robinson and Labry Ballard Saturday Night

came out on top of a field of six candidates for seats on the Hereford Rural High School board of trustees.

Robinson currently is president of the board and won another term as a trustee.

Labry Ballard, county farmer, came out in second place on the voting and will replace W. P. Axe, who was seeking re-election.

Filling out the field were Don Baugous, Dr. Wesley B. Owen and Johnny Johnson.

A total of 681 votes were cast in the election. Voting boxes were at the school tax office and at the Dawn School.

Voting at the tax office included the following distribution: Tom Robinson, 310; Labry Ballard, 301; W. P. Axe, 262; Don Baugous, 202; Dr. Wesley B. Owen, 141 and Johnny Johnson, 58.

Voting at Dawn was as follows: Axe, 15; Robinson, 14; Owen, 14; Ballard, 12; Baugous, 6; and Johnson, 3.

That gave the following total vote in the election: Robinson, 324; Ballard, 313; Axe, 277; Baugous, 208; Owen, 155; and Johnson, 61.

County Approves Tentative List Of Valuations

Deaf Smith County Commissioners, in a special meeting, tentatively approved property values recommended by an appraisal firm.

After a long discussion with Jim McMorris, the Commission accepted his recommendations for revised property values within the county. However, the values will undergo further study and possibly some changes before they are finally adopted.

The value listings are to be released jointly after they have been finally submitted to and approved by the Hereford school board and the County Commission. The Hereford City Commission has already accepted its valuations.

Commissioners also decided, during the afternoon meeting, to hire Charles Higgins as a second courthouse custodian. The appointment became effective April 1.

Mrs. Earl Springer was named to replace Mrs. Martin Wagoner as a member of the County Welfare Board.

The court also gave permission for a brief of "amicus curiae" or friend of the court to be filed in its name. The brief will be submitted along with others in a suit which is of interest to several counties. The tax suit is being tried in South Texas.

January term Grand Jury members include: Tom Moore, foreman; Mrs. Dyantha Benson, Mrs. Bert Doomer, J. B. Noland, Melvin May, H. C. Williams, Hilroy Aven, Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., Ray Stewart, Earnest Brown, Howard Gault and Tom Robinson.

Clee Meharg Heads Lions Club Officers For 1961-62

Clee Meharg was elected president of Hereford Lions Club at the noon meeting of the club Wednesday.

A slate of seven officers and three directors were elected at the regular weekly meeting of the club Wednesday in the ballroom of Jim Hill Hotel.

Other officers elected were: Dr. A. T. Mims, first vice president; J. F. Martin, second vice president; Reuben Knox, third vice president; Buddy Hutson, secretary-treasurer; Johnnie Johnson, Tail Twister; and Henry Aycock, Lion Tamer.

More than 130 Lions and guests attended the election meeting. Special guests at the meeting were persons who helped the Lions with their recent minstrel.

Visiting Lions at the Wednesday meeting were Pete and Bill Goodlake, both of Borger.

Gerald Martin of Hereford was introduced as a new member of the club. Other guests included Nancy Stevens, Clara-

You folks at Westway are reminded again that the Community Social will be held on Friday, April 7.

Don't forget that there are two elections scheduled Tuesday, at least for Hereford residents. The eyes of Texas will be focused on the special Senate race, to see who gets Lyndon B. Johnson's place, after a run-off. City residents also will vote on a mayor and two city commission, to serve two-year terms.

Dog fanciers are being urged to attend a show in Plainview on Sunday, April 9. It will include puppy sweepstakes, a sanctioned match, obedience trials and children's handling classes. The show starts at 1 p.m. in the National Guard armory.

American Crystal Sugar Company this week announced an additional payment on the 1960 crop will be made on April 15 to growers, on the basis of $6.65 net receipts per 100 pounds of sugar.

Grand Jury is slated to meet in Hereford on Wednesday, April 5.

Hereford High's band will play "A Santa Cecilia," "Slovak Folk Suite" and a contemporary number pageant. A member of the band, Louise Axe, will play an alto saxophone solo.

The 15 members of the Lamplighters band will play five numbers according to Gollehon.

(Continued from page 1) "I find boat-building a pleasant pastime," Patton said. "But I didn't appreciate all the help I got from Jimmie Gillentine when I was building the boat last spring," he jested.

When the boat is finished, it will have constituted about 60 hours of work. Patton said he hopes to put it in the water Saturday.

By building a boat from a kit, Patton figures he saves about half the expense of a factory-made craft.

On this boat, Patton has varied building procedure slightly. But he has this advice for boaters assembling their first kit — "Follow instructions to the last letter."

Other Hereford residents who have built boats from kits include S. M. Eastley, Delbert Rainum, J. F. Martin and Bill Yarbro, just to name a few.

During the coming boating season, lakes will be filled with all sorts of boats — large, small, fast and slow ones — but none will be more unique than Patton's "Catamaran."

Sen. William A. Blakley of Texas sent a telegram to H. L. Benefield of Hereford, Association president, Thursday which stated, in part: "House unfortunately would not agree to Senate amendment to reallocate present Cuba portion to domestic sugar beet growers. Will continue to work for early acreage allotment for Texas sugar beet growers."

Sen. Blakley pointed out that new sugar beet growers would be invited to be heard first during the House Agriculture-Senate Finance Committees concurrent hearings in May.

The 15-month extension had been drafted by amendment by the Senate Finance Committee in executive session Tuesday. Witherspoon represented the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association before the Committee in a public hearing Monday.

TUESDAY, APRIL 4, ELECT

JOHN TOWER

Texans will go to the polls on April 4 to elect a U. S. Senator to replace Lyndon Johnson who became John Kennedy's yes-man and vice-president. Understandably, the exorbitant number of candidates in the special election has confused many voters throughout the state.

There are left-wingers, right-wingers, middle-wingers and then there are those winging along on somewhat oblique platforms. Promises are a dime a dozen and obviously stem from the thinly veiled motive of vote-getting.

Republican John Tower and some 70 so-called Democrats are seeking the job, although less than a dozen are stumping the state in the interest of their candidacies. Most of the job hunters have little business in the race and even less chance to win it.

It is true that Tower calls himself a Republican, and it's true that Texas is known traditionally as a Democrat state. But perhaps too much emphasis has been placed on party and not enough attention has been paid to the principles and qualifications of the man. What does it matter whether we elect a Democrat, a Republican or even an Independent as long as we choose the best man for the job?

John Tower has promised to do what he can to curb the Kennedy-crats' wild-spending program which ultimately will suck this nation into the treacherous whirlpool of socialism. Tower favors retention of the oil depletion allowance which is so important to Texas economy, he favors the right-to-work law, and he seeks a drastic cut in foreign aid spending.

It has been said that Tower would be powerless in Washington because he has no influence with Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn, two of the country's most adept string-pullers. Tower, showing the independence so typical of Texans, clamy replied: "Most important, THEY have no influence over ME."

In the 1960 elections, about one-half of the Texas voters rejected Kennedy and his "New Frontier." Since Senator Yarborough and the major Democrat candidates are supporting this radical program, we think it is necessary that Tower be elected to represent the other half of Texas. In view of the fact that Yarborough, the senior senator, is controlled by unions and the liberal forces, it is only fair that the more conservative Texans have a voice in the Senate.

BY JIMMIE GALLETINE
Sometimes it looks as if you just can't win. The moisture and weather came along just right to give us some of the best wheat prospects in history—and now we have to worry about greenbugs. Jim Higgins reported Friday that the north country was showing considerable infestation. The best thing I could ever figure about greenbugs was the fact that you must have something for them to eat, or they won't be worrying you. They never do help, but I never knew of this country making a wheat crop without at least some green bug trouble.

Vern Witherspoon told me a long, long time ago that it was impossible to make a wheat crop without "losing it three times" and, up to now, he has always been right.

Meanwhile, I never saw anything like the way this John Birch Society has come into the limelight. That's all you can hear around town. Most people seem to feel that many members have been drawn innocently into the web. On the other hand, I hear that some of the Panhandle leaders feel that the society is beginning to accomplish its aims, and that they consider at least part of the current reaction to be communist inspired. In other words, instead of feeling that they made a mistake, they are proud to be John Birch members. Some of them even feel sorry for the rest of us poor dupes.

Personally, I cannot agree with this thinking. But as two old sayings go, "It's a free country" and "It takes a little kind of people to make up the world." Things don't always go to suit me, but I still think we have the best nation and the best form of government yet devised by mankind.

Once in a while, you do run across a little fishing talk. Marvin and Mrs. Knox were down in Mexico on the California Gulf a few weeks back and Marvin says he never saw such fabulous catches. Also back recently from South of the Border are Henry Aycock, Dub Reeves, Dale Tinnin and Ross Latham; these old boys tell some really tall tales and say they have the fish to prove every one. Slim Wester and Jess Ford, meanwhile, are carrying on a contest to see which can come up with the most unbelievable story about Conchas. Slim has a slight margin with his yarn about dropping a lantern, swallowed by a fish which Slim says he caught next day—and the lantern was still burning.

This week I had a note from neighbors of Cawthon Bryant extolling his yard, and the fact that it is so nice and green. I can't figure this deal. It was a man's writing, and I don't know very many men who are yardmen in a favorable light. In my neighborhood the women use these outstanding yards as a prize to get the rest of us to work. I am about the only one lazy enough to suffer the insults and let them bounce off unheeded. I notice even Earnest Langley breaks over occasionally. Doe Wiltshire and Dennis Lomas are real suckers for the gag.

J. R. Allison sure is a fine fellow. He finally told me how Robert Veigel hurt his fingers. He says Robert was holding a long piece of pipe in his hands with two fingers beneath the pipe resting on some concrete—and Robert told his helper to hit the pipe with a sledge hammer, which the man did. I calculate that this is the true version; at least it matches up with Robert's alibi, when he said: "If I told you how it really happened, you wouldn't believe me."

Tuesday is a big day. We vote for a new senator and a new mayor. Too bad the polls are in different places, but remember them both. Each is important and demands your consideration.

I have been trying to convince Otto Maske that the crop on the courthouse lawn is not wheat, but "wild oats." Otto says if this is true you can't blame anyone on the commissioner's court. He figures they are too old for this wild oat business.

The general info is that actual surface work should start on Highway 60 through town in May. Weather has been favorable, and the project is still running well ahead of schedule. Several firms along the strip have closed for the "duration," but Ike Crosthwait was telling me that Ike's Steak House will not reopen. He and Frank Daniel figure that there will not be sufficient parking, especially after the street opens, to keep a cafe in operation—and they have announced their fixtures for sale. The way I get it, there will be no street-side parking on the 4-lane highway through town. Most of the firms appear to have sufficient off-street space, however, and this is the only fatality about which I have heard.

Generally good response in Highway 60-385 memberships has been reported by the recent C-C committee. Ernest Kendall was telling me that most of the people contacted came through in fine shape. They figure that each tourist who spends the night here drops an average of $20, which is spent in the community—and it amounts to quite a sum (around $1½ million in Hereford) when things are rolling. Highway membership funds are used to promote these two highways and anyone not contacted who wishes to join should call Ernest, Guy Lawrence or Sam Bell.

One of the lowest tricks I've heard of in a long time was a stunt pulled by Ben Hecht, the writer. He ran across some lengthy, dull books which had no index and bought them real cheap. Next he selected several egotistic friends, and anonymously mailed each of them a copy of the book to which was attached the following note:

"You will be interested, and maybe a little bit peeved, at what this volume has to say about you."

CARD OF THANKS
Our deepest appreciation and thanks go out to the many friends and neighbors who offered floral tributes, kindness and comfort at the passing of Mrs. Sam Lesly. Your thoughtfulness and friendship will always be remembered. May God and his richest blessings be with each of you.

MR. COTTON FARMER

May we make this suggestion. Before delinting, have your seed germinated on both at 78 and 65 temperature. We have both at no cost. 1960 seed have fair germination but very low in vigor. We suggest saving your 1960 seed for a later planting if necessary. If your ginner can't furnish you with strong seed we have a few Lamesa grown Gregg that are very reasonable in price.

Courthouse Appreciation Dinner Is Held By Central PTA

The Parent-Teacher Association of Central School honored teachers recently with an appreciation dinner in the cafeteria of Central School. The tables were decorated with a spring-time theme, with yellow flowers predominating.

Mrs. S. L. Garrison gave the invocation, followed by the appreciation address, which was given by Mrs. Pulliam.

Topic of her speech was education, stressing the quality of teaching and subjects taught.

Mrs. Ethel Womble, fifth grade teacher, gave the response.

Mrs. Denzil Pulliam, president of the local unit, introduced the special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stevens. Stevens is superintendent of the Hereford schools. Also sitting at the table for guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robins on. Robinson is president of the Hereford school board.

The Sunday Brand Women's Section

Mona Jette, Society Editor

Hereford, Texas, Sunday, April 2, 1961 Section Two

1. EASTER IS A joyous time for children, as they excitedly hunt for Easter eggs brought by the Easter Bunny. Rhonda and Donna Heddings, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Don Heddings, are no exception as they compare goodies brought by the mythical rabbit.

2. THE RESURRECTION is celebrated all over the world today by families attending the church of their choice. Wallace, age six, and Cameron, age four, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hill, stand at the door of their place of worship dressed in their new Easter suits.

3. EASTER SYMBOLIZES the birth of Spring, also. Brenda Edwards, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards, eyes a new-born chick with awed wonder at the miracle of birth.

4. EVERY WOMAN has a certain amount of time to spend in front of her mirror, whether she is two years old or sixty. Mrs. Buster Hodges and her 22-month-old daughter, Kijil, check their appearance before attending Easter services at their church.

5. SOME THINGS little boys never do willingly, and putting on a white shirt and tie rates high on the list. Gary Hicks, five-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Hicks, is just like any other little boy when it comes to "dressing up". But the magic of Easter catches his fancy, allowing him to go against masculine rules for this special day.

Once Over Lightly

You learn something new everyday. This week's revelation was the unique home economics program at Hereford High School for senior boys. During the course of study, these boys have heard lectures on budgeting and finance, how to choose the proper mate, the first year of marriage and child care.

Mrs. J. J. Durham, teacher, called me Friday, asking if I would like some pictures of "her" boys as they completed their final lessons in baby care.

"This," I said to myself, "is just too good to miss." So grabbing a camera, I was off. What a surprise I got! As I walked into the home economics cottage, an orderly circle of boys sat quietly listening to Mrs. Durham as she gave them final instructions. I had expected to find a crowd of guffawing boys casually dunking a rubber doll up and down in a sink full of water, something like a soggy doughnut being dunked in a cup of coffee.

On a nearby table were stacked neat piles of towels, washcloths, blankets, diapers, undershirts and gowns. Close by were trays of cotton balls and baby powder.

Each boy advanced to the "loading station," where he arranged his bathing supplies and baby clothing in order needed. Each boy placed on a table top a rubber mat, covered with a thick terry towel. Filling small metal basins with the correct amount of water, they even tested with their elbows for the desired temperature.

Carefully carrying a "baby" over to the table, they proceeded to give baths. One boy, who wasn't carrying his baby according to Doc Spook, was admonished to "Use the football hold, Jerry, use the football hold." Thank goodness he didn't try a drop kick . . . that would have been too much!

Here were these big braveny football players, carefully bathing dollies with tender loving care, frowning in earnest concentration as they tried to do the job correctly.

One boy took his eyes off his baby for just one second . . . but by the time he turned around, the baby was bouncing on the floor.

"That's ten points off, Mrs. Durham," yelled one student. "He took his eye off the baby." From then on that hapless "papa" kept one hand firmly attached to the doll's armpit.

Hairless heads were scrubbed and tiny ears washed. The job was complete, even down to the dusting of baby powder to prevent chaffing. Then the contented dollies, scrubbed almost painless, were tucked in bassinets for naps.

Frankly, I was really impressed. Most new mothers, and fathers even more so, approach that first bath of their baby with something akin to hysteria.

I know I did. I never shall forget how I stood with quaking knees before that wiggling little red worm that was my first-born, wondering where in the world to begin. So many wrinkles . . . and all of them squirming.

"Well," I muttered under my breath, "I can't very well get him clean with his clothes on."

So off came the nightgown, booties, undershirt, diaper and belly band. Uh-oh. No water. Wrapping the red little mite in a thick blanket, I put him back in the bassinet while I fixed his bathwater and laid out baby oil, powder and boric acid solution. (My baby book said to use it.) Now another trip to the bedroom for the baby, who by this time had kicked his cover off and was turning an unhealthy shade of blue.

First, I finally decided, I'll wash his face. Deciding against soap, I swabbed around ineffectually with a barely-damp wash cloth. I was glad I didn't use soap, for everytime I got near his mouth, he kept turning his head and trying to nurse. (Did his bottles really feel like that? I would have to stop sterilizing them so long.) Suddenly I discovered my finger was too big to clean his ears, and reached for a Q-tip. Oh, No!

You guessed it. Back went baby into his blanket and bed as I made a trip to the bathroom for cotton swabs and a tranquilizer. (The latter for my own consumption.) One more try, I kept whispering. Getting my now indignant son situated again . . . we resumed the job at hand. His scalp was massaged with oil to combat cradle cap, something which I thought to be some species of infantile dandruff. Then I turned my head to reach for the soap.

Lesson Number One: Never turn your head on an uncovered baby boy, especially after feeding. It's the dickens with your hairdo and they have excellent aim.

After sponging myself off, I picked him up gingerly (like you would a seven pound slab of bologna) and supporting him properly with one hand, began to bathe him with the other. At this crucial point, I began to realize why my mother was always wishing for another pair of hands and also by what was meant when someone said "greased pig."

To further un-nerve me, my small son began to scream with outraged dignity the minute his tiny toes touched water.

Grimly ignoring his vocal protests and frenzied wiggings, I finally managed to get all the blanket lint from between his toes and fingers.

Bathed, dried, perfumed and dressed, one clean young son gave me a crooked cross-eyed smile, rolled his eyes twice and fell asleep.

I think that this first experience with a bath affected him more than it did me. To this very day, the little imp is allergic to soap and water . . . or maybe it's just that's he's a little boy.

My contention is that it is easier for women than it is for a man to tackle these home-front jobs. Of course, it helps if the man of the house is so skilled, but women seem to have a built in antennae for such things.

Perhaps that is why, when my small daughter gives a despairing sigh and says: "Mommie, will I ever grow up to be like you?" or my better half compliments me on my "child psychology," I send a small prayer winging skyward and rejoice again that I didn't join the WACs as planned.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK

This week we enjoyed two non-fiction books. Masters Of Deceit by J. Edgar Hoover is one we should have read before but hadn't. The other is Highlights Of The Olympics by John Durant.

Masters Of Deceit should be required reading for all high school students. In it, the Federal Bureau of Investigation head outlines in great detail the operation of the communist party in the United States.

Ho starts with a background on the acknowledged fathers and leaders of the communist movement: Marx, Lenin, Stalin, as well as the American communist heads.

Hoover tells of the communist appeal in the U. S., life in the party, how it works, its underground operation and how to recognize and combat it.

Although first published in 1958, the book is as vital, as interesting and informational as ever. Every American should take the time to become better informed on the subject.

In 776 B. C. a crowd of some 45,000 Greeks cheered as a runner led his rivals across the finish line. Although such events had been held before, this was the first recorded Olympic Games winner.

For nearly 1200 years, they continued, being held every four years. But eventually they were ordered out of existence.

Now the scene shifts to the stadium near Athens on April 6, 1896, with a crowd of 50,000. James B. Connolly of the U. S. won the "triple jump" or hop, step, and jump. It was the first event on the modern Olympic program.

One of the most interested spectators was a tireless little Frenchman, Baron Pierre de Coubertin, who had revived the Olympics.

Durant has recreated all the competition. Take, for example, the 1908 games in London, when the British officials dragged an unconscious Italian across the finish line in order that the American marathon runner might not be the winner.

This book recalls the outstanding feats of Jim Thorpe, Jesse Owens, Paavo Nurmi, Babe Didrikson, Bob Mathias, Fanny Blankers-Koen, Emil Zatopek, Bobby Morrow, Parry O'Brien, Bob Richards, Andrea Mead Lawrence, Sonja Henie, Gretchen Fraser, Dick Button, Tenley Albright and many others.

It covers the bright spots, and the disappointments, all in the crisp, incisive style of today's sports page.

Included are the highlights of the 1960 Winter Olympics in Squaw Valley and the 1960 summer Olympics in Rome. Throughout are sprinkled action photographs of the world's great athletes.

There will be very few boys or men who can leaf through this book and not check it out. Even those who have no strong interest in sports will be struck by the humor that often crops up, or by the fine photographs.

And for those who like statistics, a complete record of winners and times or distances in all events are included for the modern games.

Both books are from the Deaf Smith County Library.

Marilyn Newell, Bill Callaway Exchange Vows Sunday Afternoon

The First Methodist Church was the scene Sunday, March 26, at 2 p.m. for the wedding uniting Miss Marilyn Kay Newell to Bill Edward Callaway. The Rev. Herschel Thurston read the impressive ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord William Newell, Dimmitt Highway, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Callaway, 522 Blevins St.

Double ring vows were exchanged as the wedding couple stood before an altar draped in shimmering white satin. Banked emerald palms formed a contrasting background, lit by four-branched candelabra holding tall votive lights. Flanking the altar were baskets of Easter lilies and white roses, accented by tall spiral candelabrum at either side. Three-branched candelabrum, decorated with lilies and white satin bows with streamers, formed an entrance-way to the wedding alcove.

The bride, wearing a formal gown of white peau de soie, was escorted down the satin-covered aisle by her father. Her dress was fashioned with an empire bodice of re-embroidered French Alencon lace, delicately outlined on the bodice, scooped neckline and long petal-point sleeves with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt featured back fullness which culminated in a stately chapel sweep.

Her veil of imported silk illusion cascaded to finger-tip length and was caught at the crown to a scalloped queen's cap of lace, encrusted with seed pearls and tiny clear crystals. A single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and a white cattleya orchid surrounded by white stephanotis and small pearlized satin leaves carried on a white Bible completed her ensemble.

Miss Carol Ann Newell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, assisted by Miss Judy McGee as bridesmaid and Miss Gayle Newell, also sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They were attired in identical street-length dresses of powder blue lace and silk organza, which featured airy bouffant skirts. Each attendant carried a colonial nosegay of white roses trailing white satin streamers.

Assisting the bridegroom as best man was Donnie Renfro. Groomsman were Charles Callaway and Ron Cook of Hereford. Pat Ferruson, Vance Robinson, Jim Bradley of Hereford and Danny Elliston of Lubbock ushered.

Mrs. John T. Sims, organist, played traditional wedding selections prior to the ceremony. She accompanied Taylor Sims, vocalist, as he sang "Whither Thou Goest," and "Because." "The Lord's Prayer" was sung as the couple knelt on a kneeling pillow covered with white lace.

Mrs. Newell chose a beige silk suit with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a charcoal colored suit with charcoal accessories. Each wore an orchid as a corsage.

A reception honoring the newlyweds was held at Hereford Country Club immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with white cutwork Irish linen over powder blue. A silver basket of white roses was used as a centerpiece, offset by the tiered wedding cake, which was iced in white and blue. A miniature bride and groom topped the confection. Table appointments were in silver and crystal.

Members of the houseparty for the reception were Misses Kay Sims, Margaret Boomer, Verena Parker, all of Hereford; Judy Bonnell of Marietta, Delone Johnson of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Fredda Lois LeCrone of Stillwater, Okla.; Miss Alice Callaway, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to points in South Texas and Old Mexico, the bride was wearing an India silk suit in a bone color with matching accessories. The orchid from her bridal bouquet was worn as floral accent.

The bride was graduated from Hereford High School and attended Oklahoma State University. The bridegroom was graduated from Hereford High School and is presently employed as bookkeeper for Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. The couple will be at home at 209 W. 15th St. in Harlingen, Tex., after March 31.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Messers and Mesdames O. J. Beene of Friona, L. E. Pyatt of Amarillo, W. J. Wilson of Albuquerque, N. M.; Paul Hamrick of Ama-

Pre-Nuptial Festivities
Mrs. W. L. Davis Sr. was hostess for a bridesmaids luncheon honoring the bride Saturday at 1 p.m. at Hereford Country Club.

The table was centered with an arrangement of white stock interspersed with wedding bells. Center of attention was an ivory fan, which was presented to the honoree.

Guests were Misses Gayle and Carol Ann Newell, sisters of the bride; Margaret Boomer, Mar Zell Crump, Kay Sims, Clarabeth Holt, Judy McGee, Fredda Louis LeCrone of Stillwater, Okla., and Mesdames John Sims, Gaylord Newell, mother of the bride; Mrs. W. L. Davis Sr. and the honoree.

Rehearsal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Callaway, parents of the bridegroom, were host and hostess to a rehearsal dinner Saturday evening at the Western Wheel Inn. Attending were members of the bridal party and the immediate families of the bride and groom.

Informal Brunch
The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Witherspoon, 410 N. Lawton, was the scene Sunday morning for an informal brunch honoring Miss Newell and the bridegroom.

The table was laid with a green linen table cloth, entered with a bouquet of spring flowers. Appointments were in silver.

Guests were Miss Marilyn Newell, Bill Edward Callaway, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord

Newell, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Callaway, Mr. and Mrs. John Sims, Taylor Sims, Miss Sally Beck of Roby, members of the bridal party, and the host and hostess.

Couple Is Married In Candlelight Ceremony

The Rev. Herschel Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Hereford, officiated at the double ring ceremony Friday evening uniting Miss Janet Higgins and Jau-Don McCathern in marriage. The ceremony was read in the home of the bride's parents, located 12 miles north of Dawn.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. McCathern are the parents of the bridegroom. The double ring vows were recited as the couple stood before an improvised altar of candles in a branched candelabrum trimmed in lemon leaves and greenery. Flanking the altar were baskets of gladioli and sweet peas.

Mrs. Paul Higgins of Austin, sister-in-law of the bride, played a medley of nuptial selections prior to the ceremony. Played during the exchange of vows were "Always," "I Love You Truly," "I Love Thee" and "On This Glad Day."

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a soft beige suit of silk linen and matching accessories. She carried a cascade bouquet of frenched carnations and orchids atop a white prayer book.

Miss Ginny Higgins, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of pale pink silk organza over taffeta, designed with a low rounded neckline and softly flaring skirt of unpressed pleats. Her flowers were roses fashioned into a colonial bouquet.

Miss Linda Higgins, dressed in an orchid suit with matching accessories, served as candlelighter. She is a sister of the bride.

Edgar Drake of Wamego, Kan., acted as best man. Paul Higgins of Austin seated the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in honor of the newly married couple. The bride's table was laid with imported white linen over pink taffeta. Taperlike candles in gold Dirlyte holders flanked a centerpiece of roses in a crystal bowl. A tall white memory candle rose from a base of ruffled net trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley on a coffee table in the reception area.

Acting as floating hostesses during the reception were Marjita Gill, Mrs. Joe Gill, Imogene Willis, Mrs. J. H. Early, Mrs. Bruce Parr, Lois Christman, Rosie Strange, Joan Rogers, Mrs. Matt Heck and Mrs. Jack Higgins. Miss Linda Higgins presided at the guest book.

The bride was graduated from Hereford High School and attended Texas Technological College in Lubbock. The bridegroom was graduated from Redfield High School in Redfield, S. D., and served four years with the United States Air Force.

After a short wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home on route 1, Hereford, where McCathern is engaged in farming.

REMEMBER WHEN?

BY CHARLIE SEEDS

It began on June 25th... the day North Korean troops, aided by Chinese weapons and help, crossed the 38th Parallel, invading South Korea. World reaction was swift... and the free world rushed to the aid of the small country of South Korea.

The United States acted immediately to give air and sea support. The U. S. Fleet was ordered to protect Formosa, fearing an immediate Chinese invasion there.

The United Nations met in stormy session, endorsing the American action and making it an official U.N. response against unprovoked aggression.

Soon after, U. S. ground troops landed in South Korea and went into action, in the strange war that was not called a war, but rather a "police action." Later this same year, the Chinese Communists entered the action, when the North Koreans were being driven back to the famous 38th Parallel.

Remember the year?

In the U. S. that year, there were long waiting lists for new cars and other war-scarce things. That was a year a car owner appreciated good service to keep the old car going safely until he could buy a new one.

The year was 1950.

Good service is always important... whether you're planning a trip or just depending on your car to get you to work. You'll find our expert mechanics can keep your car giving top performance. For everything in service... from a lube job to a motor overhaul, see CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., Inc. W Hwy. 60 or Phone EM 4-2727.

C OF C SCOUT

'Deaf' Smith Says

TO: The Spirit of General Sam Houston
 FROM: The Spirit of Erastus "Deaf" Smith
 SUBJECT: Scouting Report on my Chamber of Commerce.

There are lots of advantages, Sam, to being a "Spirit." Reckon a lot of scouts could be more effective as a spirit if they just had such a handy way of communicating with mortal souls like I do. I've got a ghost writer in reverse!

I flew to Austin Monday with Jimmie Gilentine, Dr. C. E. Hicks and Bill Thompson to see what was going on in the State Capitol. Sorry I didn't have time to get over to Washington-on-the-Brazos to deliver this in person.

Anyway, the trip was to look in on a hearing of the Revenue and Taxation Committee of the House. They had scheduled the hearing for 2:30 Monday afternoon. Some have said that I was called on short notice so that the proponents of the sales tax will would not have time to organize support. It looks as though they got fooled and had to change their strategy at the last minute. People were there from all over the State, both for and against the bill.

The House then decided to postpone the hearing and take up Congressman Ballman's catch-all tax bill. Anyway, to make a long story short, we had to leave before the hearing. We were just mighty glad to see of Neil Cooper there and to find that he could stay over and testify to the fact that members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce voted 89 per cent for a sales tax if new taxes were needed. While we didn't get to stay for the hearing we did have a good visit with Congress man Jesse Osborn and with Senator

Andy Rogers. Jesse indicated that he favored a general sales tax as a solution to the State's financial problems — if any new tax were needed. Senator Rogers stands opposed to the sales tax. He ran for his office in 1958 on a platform opposed to a general sales tax and feels that he has not had enough indication from his district to cause him to change from his election stand. Also visited with Senator Rogers about Senate Bill 353 which was reported favorable by the Senate Agriculture Committee recently. This bill appears to area cattlemen to be a real threat to them. Under its provisions, cattle and many other animals specified in the bill would be guilty of trespassing if found on public or private property. The fine specified in the bill would be $200 per day against the owner of the animal. Previous stock laws have provided penalties for cattle trespassing on highway right-of-way except that the owner had to be proven negligent. Most cattlemen recognize the danger to motorists posed by cattle permitted to stray on the highways and approve of the old bill. They point out that under the new bill, though, the owner is judged guilty regardless of who or what caused the animal to escape. They point out that many area ranchers have been bothered with hunters failing to replace gates correctly as well as the problem of tumble weeds shortening out electric fences and snow drifting and knocking down fences. Many things could happen over which the owner had no control but, under the terms of the proposed law, he would still be guilty. Senator Rogers is prepared to introduce an amendment to the bill which would correct this danger in the bill as it was reported out of the committee. The amendment would restore the "negligence" factor and, except for the addition of private property, restore the situation to what it was before Senate Bill 353 was introduced. All in all the day must be considered worthwhile even though the committee hearing did not come off on schedule. More new members to report — the membership committee competition is getting real hot between Marcus Latham and Cleo Meharg with a strong assist from Monk Johnson and Lloyd Sharp. New members are: Beauti-Peat, Stewart's Western Wear, Ervin Ward, T. E. Seiger, Murl Parker Auto Service, Tri-County Fertilizer, Witherspoon Electric, Services and Exchange and Reddell Water Well Service. Increasing support was Tannahill Variety Store, The Country Dudes have 61 points with the City Slickers 45, Marcus Latham is high man with 62 while Monk Johnson is a distant second with 18.

Letter To The Editor

Sir:
 Your implication in the Brand's March 26 editorial, that there are only four major candidates in the Senate race is not only ridiculous, it is a little deceitful. Even a mind so dogmatically provincial as yours can hardly fail to realize that Maverick and Gonzales easily qualify as major candidates. That "great" exponent of Texas conservatism, The Dallas Morning News, admitted this. And the Belden Poll, so highly touted by the News, and so obviously partial in its leaning toward Blakeley and Tower — even the Belden Poll declares Gonzales to be stronger than Wright.
 What's wrong? Are you afraid Maverick and Gonzales command such statewide strength that the mere mention of their names will enable one or both of them to make sizeable inroads into Deaf Smith County's conservative vote?
 Sincerely,
 Godfrey Baldwin

Set Deadline On Reporting Wages

April 30 is deadline for employers to report their employees' wages, Hal Gordon, Social Security Administration manager for this area has announced.
 The earnings of anyone who worked at any time during the period January to March on security, Geldon pointed out, must be reported during April to the Internal Revenue Service.
 These wage reports must be filed on Internal Revenue Form 941 regardless of how small the earnings or whether one or more workers is involved, the social security official pointed out.
 Employers of household workers, including maids, cooks, handymen, cleaning women, etc., should use Internal Revenue Form 942 to report cash wages paid to domestic employees, if those wages amounted to $50 or more during the calendar quarter.
 Tax forms and reporting information are available at the nearest office of Internal Revenue. For social security information and pamphlets, contact the social security district office at 1006 Adams Street Amarillo.

Lynda Thomas, Bill Combs Are Wed Saturday Evening

Miss Lynda Ann Thomas and Billy Don Combs were united in marriage Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. Virgil Lawyer, minister of the Shallowater Church of Christ in Shallowater, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur W. Thomas of Westway and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Combs of Westway.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of peau de soie, cut in princess fashion. The elongated bodice was styled with low cut circular neckline and abbreviated sleeves, accented with appliques of re-embroidered French lace and tiny seed pearls. The bouffant skirt, designed with a pouf back, ended in a sweeping chapel train.

A filigree crown of seed pearls caught the cascading veil of French illusion which fell in a sheer mist to finger-tip length. To complete her costume, she wore short white kid gloves and carried a bridal bouquet of a white orchid surrounded by frenched carnations.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by the Hereford Central Church of Christ Wedding Chorus. Selections sung were "I Pledge My Love," "Indian Love Call," "Walk Hand In Hand With Me" and "Be With Us Lord," which was sung as a prayer. Vows were exchanged as the couple stood underneath an arch entwined with greenery. The altar space was backed with banked emerald palms and flanked by sunburst arrangements of white gladioli and shasta daisies. The soft scintillation of twin candelabra holding lighted wedding tapers was reflected at the aisle by identical candelabra holding matching tapers. The long white aisle cloth extended the length of the church.

Miss Darla Sue Thomas, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Sharon Falkner of Fort Worth, Kay Walker of San Antonio, Linda Domy of Corsicana, Elizabeth Ellis of Lubbock and Patsy Mansker of Lovington, N. M., all of whom were former classmates of the bride when she attended Abilene Christian College. Miss Jeannie Thomas, another sister of the bride, was flower girl.

The bridal attendants wore identical dresses of lilac silk organza over matching taffeta. The dresses featured three-quarter length sleeves shirred at the elbow and bouffant skirts with pouffed backs. Matching lilac shoes and face framing picture hats were worn as accessories. White shasta daisies fashioned into nosegays were carried as floral accents.

Gene Combs of Hereford acted as his brother's best man. Serving as groomsmen and ushers were Bud Thomas of Hereford, brother of the bride; Sandy Ferguson of Adrian; Bussy Kaul of Hereford; and Charles Combs of Pampa, cousin of the groom. Roy Carter of Hereford was ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the Avenue Baptist Church. The bride's chosen colors of orchid and white. The table was centered with an arrangement of white shasta daisies with orchid centers entwined around tall orchid tapers, which were held in silver candelabrum.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride was wearing a bone colored silk suit, styled with a box jacket and slim skirt. Bone colored accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet completed her going-away costume.

The bride was graduated from Shallowater High School and attended Abilene Christian College in Abilene and Texas Technological College in Lubbock. The bridegroom was graduated from Hereford High School.

The couple will make their home five miles east of Hereford, where Combs is employed by Associated Growers of Westway.

Future Teachers Hear Coach George

BY JUDY WIMAN
Mr. Jerry George, teacher and coach at Stanton Junior High School, spoke to the Future Teachers of America of Stanton on March 29. He told the group why he had chosen the teaching profession.

Following are some of the reasons that he gave: desire to become a teacher, enjoyment of working with youngsters, love for sports, high school coach that he admired above everyone else.

Coach George remarked, "A good coach must also strive to be a good teacher in the classroom as well as on the football field. In order to do this he must not let athletics carry over into the classroom."

"To prepare yourself to become a teacher, first you must have a sincere desire to want to be a teacher; then strive to be a good teacher. In college preparation the wider variety of courses that you can take, the better educated you will be. In other words, do not just have one teaching major or minor, have several if possible. This will also make it easier for you to find a job.

"A foreign exchange student once gave me his impression of a college or university: a vast athletic association whereby a few studies are maintained for the feeble-minded. This is not true. You can get out of a college education just what you put into it. Do not just try to get by, do not just try to be average, but instead maintain an effort to be the best. The teachers that are the hardest in high school will make the college courses easiest."

Fodder Box

BY JUDY CRUME DOGIE EDITOR
We have a teacher in the hospital. This is Mrs. Ramey, seventh grade Texas history teacher. Teachers and students would like to let her know that she is missed at school.

The speech classes have been doing some demonstration speeches in class recently. One boy showed how to press pants, while another showed how to make blueberry muffins.

Science Fair — James Combs, seventh grader, won honorable mention and the U. S. Air Force award at the Science Fair held March 24-26 in Amarillo. Others taking part from here were: David Grubbs, Alton Morrow, Lynn Brisendine, Bob Reinauer, and Robert Caraway. Mr. Fred Mercer, ninth grade science teacher, was the sponsor for the trip.

Linda Martin and Judy Wiman were selected for the annual staff of Hereford High School for next year. Both are extremely capable and we know will do excellent jobs.

Dan Thomas is our student of the month; another well-deserved honor for Dan.

We would like to give some orchids and onions this month. The orchids go to people who tried out for the all-school play, people who keep the halls clean, people who are respectful to teachers and those who maintain their assignments. The onions go to those who cut into lunch lines, those who throw paper, and finally, that select group who repeatedly use other student's lockers.

Note: A large spray of onions to those reporters who insist in not handing in their stories on time.

See you next month — and the Dogie Staff wishes all students and resident of Hereford a most happy Easter vacation.

Variety Key In Girls' PE

Roll call is the first business of each class of Mrs. Velda Tucker, physical education teacher at Stanton Junior High School. Class begins at the sound of the whistle. Everyone is dressed in white shorts, white blouses, tennis shoes, and baby socks.

The next duty of the class is calisthenics. Some of the most popular among the girls are the jumping jack, four-way waist bend, sit-ups, windmill and squats.

For volley ball, which the seventh and eighth grade girls are playing, each class is divided into either four or five teams according to the size of the class. There are six girls on each team. The fourth period, seventh grade girls have played several games with Walcott. Each time Walcott girls won. The game scheduled for March 20 was called off because of the snow.

Our freshmen girls are playing badminton, which they seem

Stanton Choirs Enter Contest

The seventh grade choir and the eighth and ninth grade choir attended a contest held March 21 in Amarillo at the Amarillo Junior College. The seventh grade choir placed II in concert and sight reading. The eighth and ninth grade combined choir placed I in concert and II in sight reading.

The girls have all been hard workers to get their songs ready for the contest which is held yearly. They are all planning to start now and work harder for higher goals and achievement in choir next year.

The girls all enjoy their work in choir very much and feel that it contributes very much toward making them better persons.

to be really enjoying. They each choose partners and play four at a time.

Both eighth and ninth grade girls are beginning tennis. Mr. Jones, ninth grade English teacher, is helping them out.

Each girl has a basket in which to keep her clothing and other belongings. These baskets are in Mrs. Tucker's office. They may be checked out at the beginning of the class and are returned at the end of the period. If anyone has any valuable property she may turn it in to the office. This way no one has access to the property except the teacher. If a student does not check in her valuable property, she is solely responsible if it gets "lost."

Win Friends Through Your Own Behavior

- by Nancy Martin
- The following are a few suggestions that I would like to bring to your attention that might help you to be a better friend as well as to obtain better friends.
1. This is a good one: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."
 2. Here's one: Treat a girl like a lady and she will want to act more like a lady. Open doors, pick up dropped articles, let the girl go first. Try this and you are sure to be the most popular boy on campus.
 3. Ladies! Don't become a girl again by forgetting to show appreciation to the boys for these little considerations shown you. Remember you must earn the right to be treated like a lady; you can't demand it.
 4. Table-manners! Please behave in the cafeteria as you would behave in their homes as they do in the cafeteria. If they do, there certainly must be "no place like home."
 5. Have respect for your teachers and parents. But, don't do it just to get a good grade or get to go somewhere.
 6. Be quiet in the library! There might be a genius at work.
 7. Don't get in a big hurry in the halls; on the other hand, don't poke along either.
 8. Be friendly!
 9. Tell people you enjoyed their assembly program, but you be sure that you listened so that you can speak truthfully.
 10. Be a good listener everywhere! It's not hard; it just takes practice.
 11. Limit those phone calls! Someone's barn might be on fire.
 12. Last, but far from least, study. Only by doing this can you be prepared and able to participate in all activities.

THIS IS A GOOD NEWS STORY explains Linda Kay Martin, this year's editor of The Dogie, to Judy Crume, her assistant, who will take over the helm of editor starting with this issue. (Brand Staff Photo)

School Assembly Programs Provide Student Enjoyment

Each Thursday at Stanton Junior High School, a school assembly is presented by the various homerooms. The last two assemblies have been excellent. Last Thursday, Mrs. Welch's homeroom gave a historical type of assembly and the costumes were very attractive.

Two weeks ago, Mr. Wendell Maloney's homeroom gave a humorous program, which seemed to be enjoyed by everyone. A little bit of everything was included in it, such as jokes, pranks, and singing. The cast for Mr. Maloney's assembly was backed up with regular make-up used for this purpose. The costumes were equal to those of an old time minstrel show.

Roving Reporter

Although most junior high students do not drive cars, one would be amazed at the vast knowledge these young people know (or think they know) about cars. Keeping this thought in mind, our question for this month is, "Are Compact Cars Here to Stay?"

pensive. Myself I hope some day to have a small car; I think it would be fun.

Victor Randall: "I don't think that the little compact cars will be here long. I think that they will soon be having cars that will fly like airplanes and have folding wings and wheels. They will travel about 130 miles per hour."

Debbie Beene and Sharon Tinnin: These two girls really had a problem answering this question. They spent one whole evening together trying to think of a "classic" answer. After all of this study, the two eighth graders came up with remarkable responses.

Linda Martin: "I think compact cars will stay for some time because they are money savers. Of course, the big cars will remain to be more popular because they look more ex-

Sharon Tinnin, after spending many hours of concentration stated, "Yes, because good things come in small packages."

Debbie said: "No I think they look like bugs."

CHANGE FOR MOON

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—To reach the moon, future spacemen may have to make the 240,000-mile journey in three different vehicles — much like a present-day traveler changing trains on a cross-country trip.

Planners here suggest a rocket-powered shuttle ship would first take a spaceman to a station in orbit around the earth. From the earth-orbit station, he would take an ion-powered space ship to another station, this one in orbit around the moon. Then a rugged, rocket-powered landing craft would carry him to the lunar surface.

All three of the vehicles could be refueled and used for the return trip.

The timetable for the three-day trip to the moon: 10 minutes to the earth-orbit station; 3 1/2 days to the moon-orbiting station; 10 minutes more to the moon. Total time: 3 days, 12 hours, 20 minutes.

If electricity came in packages, and you bought them in a store, chances are you'd carry home TWO packages for every one you bought ten years ago.

Because electricity does so many things — from daily household tasks to entertaining to heating and cooling — so well, you are using more than ever before. Twice as much as in 1951. So, your electric service bill is higher.

John Birch Publicity Opens Door To Others

Currently on the lips of many people in this community are the words, "John Birch Society", an organization basically established to fight Communism. It has developed, however, that some of the tenets of the John Birch Society appear to be equally as objectionable to many people as do the fundamental theories which the society hopes to overcome.

As the result of an accusation that certain specific church groups are infiltrated with communists, extensive publicity has surrounded the John Birch organization, pointing out that the semi-secret society itself is none too happy with our democratic form of government; that its leader has accused such Americans as Dwight Eisenhower, his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower; John Foster Dulles, Allan Dulles, John Kennedy and others of being members of the Communist underground. In addition, the John Birch group demands certain loyalties and generally declines to account in full detail on the expenditure of its funds.

In California, where the Society has been active, it came before the attention of both the executive and legislative branches of state government, causing one lawmaker to testify "it reminds us very much" of the Hitler organization in Germany before World War II.

Several local citizens have told us that they viewed the organization with similar misgivings and, after attending initial meetings, declined to become members. Others, we fear, have been misled and easily may have become affiliated without full realization of overall aims of the organization. Certainly, this is correct in case many of the accusations now being hurled at Robert Welch and the national John Birch Society are true.

Therein, we feel, lies the justification of this editorial. The Brand is unquestionably conservative in philosophy. We have challenged some of the actions of state and federal officials and agencies from time to time on the soundness of issues. But the Brand does not feel that the men who guide our destiny should be smeared as enemies and traitors because we do not happen to agree with them.

Furthermore, subversion is a two-way street. It can exist on the right wing as easily as it can exist on the left wing, and conservatism is no excuse for subversion.

The fact that John Kennedy was elected president of the United States by such a small margin of percentage testifies that many Americans are against socialistic trends. The conservatives have and should exercise their right to fight for the things in which they believe and hold dear to their hearts. At the same time, they have an equally strong obligation to search and discover conclusively the soundness of any organization which they may join or become an integral part. Otherwise, we can easily jump from the frying pan into the fire.

The John Birch Society is apparently dedicated to the battle against Communism, but such is not the case with all organizations. Many so-called "front" organizations of the Communist Party frequently secure their members under the guise of other causes, even including that of combating Communism itself. As the "Liberal vs. Conservative" strife increases in America, more and more of these organizations will appear, and people on both sides of the issue should carefully study and consider all phases before becoming members of any new organization.

A letter to the Federal Bureau of Investigation will generally result in ferreting out those organizations which on suspects of Communist trends, and we especially like the six tests recommended by Attorney General Stanley Mask of California:

"1. Does the organization attack churches and schools with blanket accusations?"

"2. Does it attack other traditional American institutions with wild, unsupported charges?"

"3. Does it label everyone with whom it disagrees politically as Un-American or subversive?"

"4. Does it resort to crude pressure tactics such as anonymous phone calls and letter writing?"

"5. Does it try to rewrite modern history by blaming American statesmen for wars, communism, depression and other world ills?"

"6. Do the spokesmen—of the group appear more interested in the size of the money collections than in the principles they purport to espouse?"

America today comes nearer to being the "land of plenty" than any other nation in the history of the world. We cannot maintain this status by losing our heads, or becoming over-zealous in pursuit of personal prejudices.

Franklin D. Roosevelt once said, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself", and we feel that the words can be applied even more appropriately today than when he uttered them in 1934.

Beet Situation Is Not So Bad

The sugar beet situation, though far from ideal for this particular area, is not so bad as many local observers are prone to speculate.

The compromise from 21 months down to 15 months duration was, in itself, a compromise. It has been scheduled for new growers and new areas with the idea of possible changes down the line, and this is most encouraging.

Of still greater importance remains the fact that numerous Washington officials realize the importance of producing at home a crop which the country needs, instead of subsidizing foreign nations which are often unfriendly.

Compared with Minnesota growers who struggled seven years before they got their first refinery, Texas and the High Plains have come a long way in a brief 12 months.

Interested producers and growers, instead of relinquishing their fight when victory is within sight, should redouble their efforts all the harder. After all, we are asking only for the right to produce at home a commodity which our country needs, and without which the country could find itself in serious condition.

Not many things which appear before Congress are so equitable.

No Trouble Over School Policies

Hereford public schools recently adopted several new policies which, surprisingly enough, seem to have created little or no comment.

Forced retirement of all employees at the age of 65 years, for instance, centers around one of the most controversial points in the nation. Many people, like the Hereford trustees, say that the rule is the only possible manner in which to maintain scholastic standards; opponents, on the other hand, contend that many teachers reach their prime at age 65 and over. The argument seems to evolve pretty well around the individual.

Another new policy requires 90 per cent of all students, and of all married students, regardless of classification. Pregnant students will be required to withdraw immediately, and will not be allowed to enroll again until the child is six months of age, or older.

Public acceptance of the new policies without question indicates that the people agree, in general at least, with the trustees. It further indicates that the policies are practical and worthwhile in an area of ever-changing America.

Texas Town Says, 'Thanks, No Aid'

Down in the little town of Italy, Texas, we note with considerable interest that the people, led by their mayor and city commissioners, politely turned down an offer of federal disaster aid.

The people, it developed, after making a survey of loss, insurance coverage and general conditions discovered that their financial situation was in better shape than that of the federal treasury. Consequently, they recommended that the funds tendered be used toward amortizing the federal debts. The people of Italy, at the same time, expressed appreciation to their neighboring cities for assistance and pointed out that aid, when urgently needed, was welcome. The point was, they just didn't need the help.

Needless to say, this attitude is a far cry from that of many cities, groups and individuals who spend long hours figuring out ways to secure federal money in various ways. If expanded all over the country, however, it would certainly provide the fastest possible method to combat communism, and to place the nation on a solvent basis.

50 YEARS AGO

Resident Gets Strange Box Containing $115

50 YEARS AGO

That D. R. Gass, a merchant of this city, was the center of attraction last Saturday and also $115 ahead for himself is the result of the remorse of conscience of some unknown person. "Conscience money" is easy, but when it comes in fifty and twenty bills, it beats a pension. The money came to him through the regular mail. Each bill was folded separately and pushed lightly into a small jewelry box, which had but a small bit of paper wrapped around it. Upon this was printed with pencil the address. A one cent stamp covered the postage charges. The post mark showed only the letters SWEG and as all the bills, five in number, were from New York banks, it is supposed the package was mailed at Oswego, N. Y. The recipient thought little of the package when first received as he kept it unopened in his coat pocket until Saturday morning when he just happened to thrust his hand into his pocket. He was minded then to open the box and the surprise was turned into astonishment as he dug out one bill after another until $115 in good money lay before him. A small typewritten note was found in the box, a facsimile of which is here: "Mr Gass this here money is yours and as I have took christ into my life I want you to have the money I hope you will get saved and be a christian I have no money now and dont have no job but god will help me." There was no name, no date, no marks of identification, and Mr. Gass is much puzzled as to the sender. Evidently the manipulator of the machine knew what he was doing, as the words are properly spelled and spaced. The language, however, is that of an uneducated person, but this may simply be a blind. The fact that not a single capital letter was used is indicative of an attempt to disguise the "handwriting".

25 YEARS AGO

Deaf Smith county is to receive $34,000 as its allotment for the emergency soil conservation program getting under way. The Panhandle district is to receive a total of $300,000, which is now being held in an Amarillo bank for distribution among the counties in the district. Application for the twenty cents an acre grant were received last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by the ten community agricultural associations in the county. They far exceed the amount allotted, according to County Agent, Alex R. Bateman, who feels that an additional allotment will be made. In case no additional amount is granted, however, and it becomes necessary for the amount to be prorated, a second application will be required. Although local farmers are ready to start the program, all preliminary requirements having been met, it is not known when the funds will be turned over to the local treasury. Members of the Commissioners Court and County Agent's office went to Amarillo Saturday afternoon in an attempt to get the money released, but no action was taken. Local officials were forced to await action farther down the line. Mr. Bateman warned that when the money is available those receiving it should use it for the purpose for which it was intended. Sixty per cent will be issued at first, and the community chairman will inspect the land before approving the additional forty per cent of the grant.

POPULATION DROPS

A loss of almost 400 persons in the county from last year's federal census figures was noted this week when the results of the local school census were released. School census officer Kenneth Sutton released first figures of the local census in which his enumerators counted 13,072 persons in the county, Federal census count conducted last April put the figure at 13,450. In a further breakdown, the school census placed 11,403 within the city. However, Sutton pointed out that in making the count, school enumerators counted all persons living within the new butane route as being in the city. This boundary does not always stay within the city limits. Of the city count made by the school, 240 were Negro. The city figure of 11,403 is added to a rural count of 1669 to make the final county population of 13,072. The number of children of scholastic age remained the same as last year. The count of children between the ages of six and seventeen inclusive came to 3,695. The number at this time last year was 3,697. The scholastic census showed that there were 1,846 boys between the ages of six and seventeen in the county and 1,779 girls. Also the count revealed 35 Negro boys and 35 Negro girls in this age bracket.

STRENGTH OF NATIONAL GUARD STRESSED

Maintaining the strength of the Levelland National Guard unit at a high level is to the best interests of the community, First Lt. Earl Gerstenberger, an officer in the unit, told members of the Kiwanis Club Monday morning. Gerstenberger cited the $21,000 annual Guard payroll, the effective help of the unit in snows, tornadoes and other emergencies, and benefits to individuals seeking to complete their six-year military obligation without lengthy interruptions of schooling or jobs as reasons for keeping the Guard strong here. The South Plains College Agriculture Department head told club members that the community could lose the guard unit, even with a new army going up, if the number of men in the unit is not maintained at a satisfactory level. Gerstenberger said the foundation adjoining the city park on McKinley Street has been laid and the contractor is proceeding with construction which is expected to be completed this summer. He said the Levelland Chamber of Commerce, through several years of continued effort, can be given much of the credit for securing the new $105,000 army building this year.

THE DALHART TEXAN

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindweed farm is upset this week, but he'll probably get over it.

Dear Editor: I have seen some strange and hard-to-believe things come out of Washington in my time, but the one I have now found out about has bowled me over. That is, it would have if I hadn't been sitting down already at the time. These days, a man has to be in a position to handle any new idea, and the best position I know is sitting. At any rate, as I understand it, and I checked it in three different papers, even went into town and paid money for two of them, Washington has come out with the proposal that the farmers themselves figure out the answer to the farm problem.

"Let the farmers themselves write their own farm program." is the way the idea goes, and I don't mind admitting I'm in a state of shock.

Up to the present, one of the real and I thought enduring satisfactions of farming was the realization you could always explain away an unsuccessful year by saying: "What did you expect me to make, under the farm program we got? Them birds that write the farm programs don't know anything about farming. We haven't got a chance."

But now some smart alec has fed the President the idea that the farmers themselves ought to write their own farm program, and I'm calling on you right now to help put a stop to it. It's the most outrageous thing I ever heard of.

You don't hear doctors asking patients to do their own diagnosing and write their own prescriptions, do you? You don't hear bankers asking their customers to set their own interest rate and borrowing limit, do you?

You let the government turn the farm program over to the farmers, and farmers then wind up in the same shape they're in now, and who're we going to point our finger at?

No sir, it's the government's job to figure out the farm problem solution. If us farmers could have figured it out, we'd have done it long ago. The tried and true method is for the farmers to create the problem, and somebody else handle the answer. Everybody to his own job. This new idea is government interference at its worst.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Witherspoon

tion for writing of a permanent Sugar Act. We are told by others that this length of time is unreasonable. An extension will further delay and hinder a great segment of this country in producing and refining a greater portion of the sugar consumed in this country. All areas where irrigation and sunshine exist are interested, these being the only two essentials for the growing of the best crop from which sugar is extracted.

"We are told that we must hear testimony and arguments from foreign countries desiring to sell to us. They have been around for some time now. We understand that the industry and all concerned agree we should have a permanent Act instead of a short-term extension, at the earliest possible moment. Likewise, that in all probability it can be done in less time than 18 months. If it is to be done by this Congress before adjournment, it should be done within the next four months. If the American farmers and the farm economy of this country are to be recognized in the halls of Congress as having a right to participate in the production of a commodity consumed in this country, considering that it will take approximately two years to build refineries, definite steps should be taken as soon as possible to assure these areas that they can start producing beets when their mills are completed.

"If this law cannot be written within a relatively short period of three to four months, we have confidence in the Senate Finance Committee and the House Agriculture Committee, cooperating, to extend the time for hearings for an additional 30 or 60 days, if necessary, to finish the job.

SIMPLICITY OF THE ACT

"Some statements have been made to the effect that the law itself has so many ramifications and complications that a permanent Act cannot be written in a short time. Those in the House and Senate familiar with the Act would refute this misconception. These statements may be inspired to deter or "scare off" consideration of this law and to fool the American public into believing that it is impossible to amend the Sugar Act to take care of new growing areas and new mills. The House and Senate members will refute these misconceptions. In truth, the law is one simply to bar overproduction. It is a case where production is less than consumption, and the consumer price is stabilized. It involves the granting by this Government of quotas for the "right" to produce and also to import the sugar that is not permitted to be produced within this country.

"Many changes have taken place which require a new consideration of the basic provisions. The law protects the existing refineries and growers now engaged in production by a system which affords a guaranteed return for the refined product. There is no complication or mystery about the proposition of whether or not we should produce a greater amount of cane and beet sugar, domestically, in this country. The complications and mysteries raised do not exist as such. Sometimes they may be asserted only for the purpose of confusing the real issues.

"There is nothing about the Sugar Law or the enactment of a permanent Sugar Law at this time that is not now known and has been known for months and years. Any attempt to avoid consideration of the real issue of granting "quotas" to new mills and new domestic areas is only a postponement of the right of many Americans to be heard before their Congress.

APPROACH MUST BE REALISTIC

"Claims have been made that the Sugar Act must provide for "quotas" for foreign imports in order that this country maintain its international position. Castro has publicly, on numerous occasions, stated that the U. S. Sugar Act enslaves his people. The masses of Cuba have followed his thinking. It is evident that our favorable Sugar Law has failed to maintain any form of democratic government in that nation. The Communists are unquestionably in control, with Russia acquiring a large portion of the Cuban sugar on an entirely different basis from the past procedure of this country under which about double the world market price was paid.

"With several foreign nations making claims, on various bases, to export sugar to this country, we here face the eventuality of an unfavorable attitude toward this country when later we select one or more of them with whom we may deal, to the exclusion of the others. Those not receiving what they want will say we favored another. Those same foreign countries will respect our government when and if we say to them unequivocally that we intend to maintain our farm economy, thereby strengthening our national economy, and permitting the citizens of this country to produce the sugar that we consume. We are not advocating that we should be given the right by law to produce all the sugar consumed at this time; but we do sincerely suggest that Congress should view with equal concern the rights and the demands of the large farm segment of this country desiring to engage in sugar production as we would consider foreign nations which, under the law, should have no "right" as such. The tax-paying individuals of this country should actually have the "rights," i.e., to produce the sugar consumed.

IMPORTANT CONSIDERATIONS

"1. It is readily understood that every argument in favor of this nation being independent in the production of any commodity applies with equal force to domestic sugar production.

"2. In the event of international conflict or war, if we are dependent upon some foreign country as the source of our sugar, there continually exists the possibility of our being cut off from our supply. The only sure solution is that we broaden and expand production within this country.

"3. Much has been said about unemployment in this country in recent months. Although employment in the operation of cane refineries of partially re-finied foreign sugar may not add materially to solving the unemployment situation, the reverse is true of beet sugar refineries. By way of analysis, let us consider a one million ton quota of sugar refined in new areas within this country and determine the results of such impact by way of comparison.

"One modern beet refinery would cost approximately $15,000,000. To construct the mill would require approximately two years. Labor would be employed in the manufacture of the plant and in the assembly. When the plant operated, it would employ in peak season approximately 300 persons. It would refine 100,000 tons of sugar from approximately 40,000 acres of beets. There would be many persons employed in growing and harvesting the beets. One operation of 100,000-ton capacity multiplied by ten would demonstrate that this is certainly a step in the right direction insofar as relief of unemployment is concerned.

"4. Expanding production of sugar in this country will materially add to the income and will strengthen the farm economy, and thus the national economy. Extending the example above, one such refinery would pay to the farmers of the area approximately $12,000,000 annually. The same refinery would expend approximately $5,000,000 additionally, annually, for taxes, supplies, services and labor. The economists assure us that this annual income, when turned over many times in a community or state, increases the economy many times the original dollar spent. When this is considered in the light of several additional mills and refineries, it is apparent that a great contribution will be made to the farm and national economy which can only result in good to the nation as a whole; for, as the individual citizen prospers, so does the nation.

"It would mean that with each separate refinery, thousands of trucks and separate pieces of farm machinery would be manufactured, sold, and put into use. The Treasury Department would be the beneficiary, as well as the people.

"5. We have been concerned over the persisting shrinkage of our gold reserve. We believe that a change in our sugar policy that would help our farm and national economy would at the same time mitigate this situation. The amount paid for imported sugar from foreign countries in 1960 was in excess of $500,000,000. Why should sugar bear the brunt at a time when there exists such a demand throughout the country for an increase in domestic production?

"Sugar importation is competitive to farm production. It is in a different class of imports from complementary commodities such as coffee, rubber, carpet wool, and cocoa.

"6. We are faced with overproduction in practically all farm-produced grains. How can it logically be stated to the farmers of the U.S. that you cannot produce a farm commodity where there is a great under-production of approximately 45%? Certainly, the expansion of sugar production would be a step in the right direction in alleviation of this surplus situation.

THE FLIGHT OF THE FARMER

"Although it has not been publicized the Central Southwest section of these United States has sustained during the past ten years a drought equal to that of the '30s. The people of this area, through foresight and necessity, have developed, at their own financial risk and expense, underground water for irrigation, covering several millions of acres.

"Recent surveys have shown that western Kansas, southwestern Oklahoma, west Texas and eastern New Mexico can easily produce each year by good agricultural practices, more sugar than the annual quota provided by Cuba. At the same time, these farm areas have suffered at the hands of the Government and the agricultural laws of this country, setbacks of the most severe nature. An example in one county in Texas (Deaf Smith) will point this up.

"In 1950, the county had 450,000 allotted acres for wheat. Ten years later in 1961 the allotted acreage was 191,000. Ten years ago, the allotted cotton acreage was exactly double what it was in 1960. The expensive irrigation and chemical fertilizers with the depressed price structure of these other crops have been such that it has not been very profitable. Are the farmers in these areas, or any other area in the U.S., not entitled to consideration at the hands of this Congress? Should they not be allowed to produce a greater portion of the sugar consumed in this country?

CONFLICTS

"Arguments have been made that we should not buy sugar from Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. It is conceded that we should not buy sugar from communist-dominated countries, although it is pointed out that sugar from any country may find its way into this country in the world markets. The intrigue in dealings with many foreign countries is the factor that complicates the Sugar Act. The promises of today may not be relied upon tomorrow. It would appear that the State Department with trained personnel should handle the foreign relations questions of this country, separately and apart from the Legislative Branch, and that it is properly a function of the Executive Branch to win and keep friends among foreign countries. Neither sugar nor any other commodity should be used as an international football; the American farmer should not be denied his right as a tax-paying individual to participate in production.

"It is our thinking that every segment of our national economy should be strengthened; that America at all times should be strong within; that we will better occupy our proper place of leadership in the world by an expansion of our own commodity production. The citizen of any community who is self-supporting has added to the strength of the community. The same principle applies to America as a nation. We might be playing into the hands of the Communists if we fail to keep our farm and national economy strong, our labor employed, and our gold reserve in proper balance.

"The American farmer in most instances today is faced with a problem of survival. The exodus from the farm to the city, adding to the unemployment problem, has been noted by you, and is a source of considerable anxiety.

"We urge that the Sugar Act be amended to permit new areas, capable and desiring to produce sugar, to commence the

For the girls there will be Phyllis Tice, Dianna Jack, Nancy Tyler, Sharon Tice, Marsha Burns and Adair Melton with Elizabeth Burrus, Marilyn Tice and Vicki Burns as alternates.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Neal and Mona moved from Lubbock during our snow storm to the Dick Godwin farm. Mona attended the Wheelock Public School there. She enrolled in Walcott School on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Bryant and their two daughters moved to the Dick Godwin farm from Olton about a month ago.

Mrs. Lee Tice came home on Monday after several days in the Deaf Smith County Hospital.

Walcott's 4-H Club met at school on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Loretta Fowler and their leader, Mrs. Glenn Burrus, met with the girls.

County agent, Lefty Thomas, was present for the boys' club meeting. He talked to them about their demonstrations. He brought Al Lee from Hereford with him. Lee gave a talk on conservation. Their program was about soil and water conservation. He also spoke of the advantages of having windbreaks. The president, Larry Minks, was home with the mumps so vice-president, Keith Henderson, led the order of business. Mrs. J. V. Perrin was present also.

Assembly was held on Wednesday morning. Psalms 138 was read by Thomas L. Collins. Those children who had learned their declamations gave them as a practice performance. Dianne Jack and Maria Jack played selections on the piano, which they had learned for the Spring Music Festival.

A film "It's No Picnic," produced by the Forest Service, was shown. It showed a typical family having a good time in the forest, observing wild life and eating food cooked on a campfire. They carefully put out the fire. The father knocked ashes from his pipe which started a forest fire just as they drove away. About 17,000 fires are started like this every year.

Nancy Minks and Adair Melton gave their 4-H demonstration on "Safety First for Snake Bites."

Then a second film "America the Beautiful," showing us how to help conserve our country so all can enjoy its beauty, was shown. Oceans of amber grain and scenes of harvest time beauty, great cities, vast plains, mountains and severe scenes made in our national parks were included.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Payne, Darla and Larry from Hereford had supper with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rader.

Dark clouds hung around much of Friday afternoon, but just as the afternoon recess closed rain started falling. By the time school was out water was standing in puddles. Rain started falling faster after the buses left. Several showers of spring rain left water everywhere.

Mrs. Jack Weaver, P. T. O. president, called off the meeting scheduled for that night because the roads were too muddy.

Lefty Thomas had planned to bring out a film, "Fall Out in Agriculture," to show. T. L. Collins had kept the film. "America the Beautiful," to share with the community. 4-H boys and girls were to give their demonstrations and others were ready to give their declamations.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson and Wayne, students from Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, are home for the Easter holidays.

Church services were held for the first time in the new Westway Baptist church on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Northcutt, Sue and Ray, Waldron Melton, Adair and Denise were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Collins and Bruce made a business trip to Amarillo Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Elton Wylie and children had these Sunday dinner guests: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wylie, Gay, Debra, Gerall and Chris, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Evans, Larry, Christa and Brian, and Mrs. Alton Wylie all from Friona.

During Miss Paula Green's absence from school because of the mumps last week, Mrs. Charlie Burk taught for her. On Saturday, Mrs. Burk entered the Friona Hospital with a virus infection. She returned home on Monday.

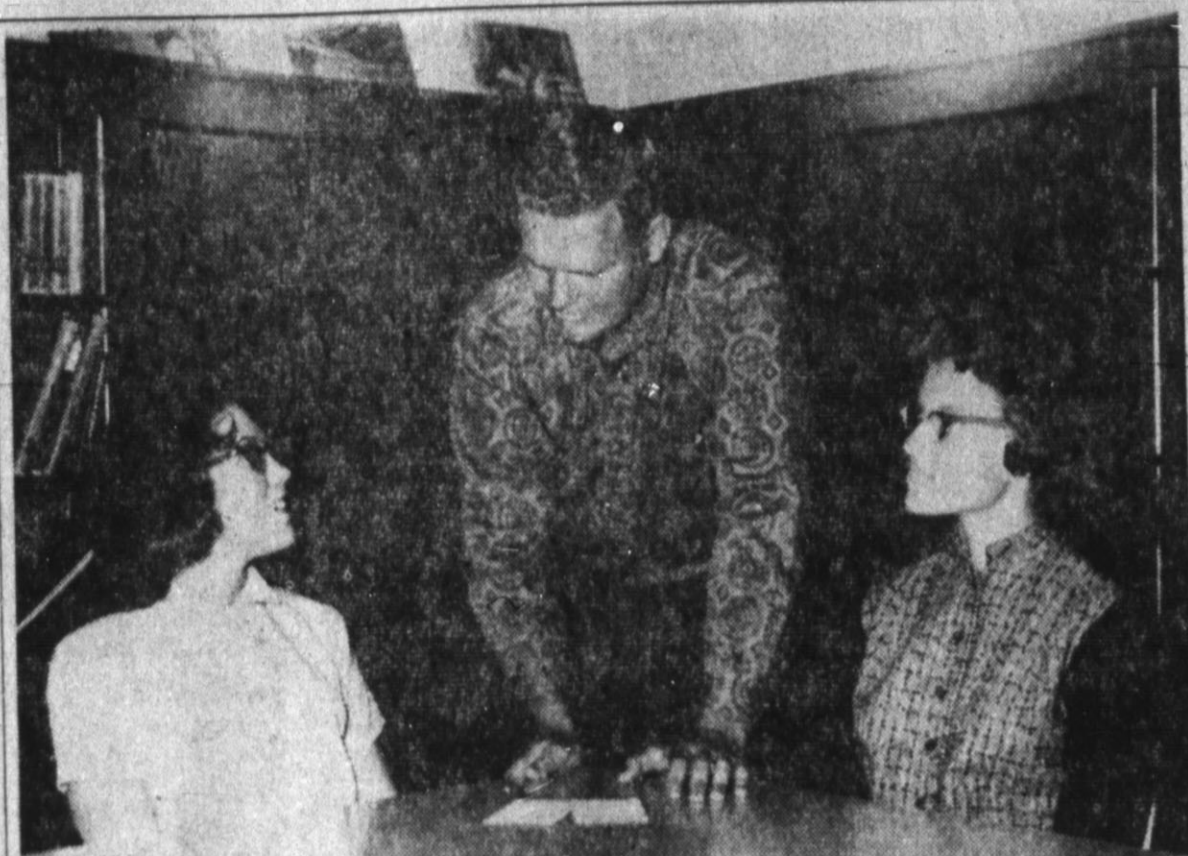

A conference volleyball game was played by the Walcott boys and girls against Bovina teams on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Shirley Bourquin took the teams. Bovina won the games.

An Easter recess will be observed by the Walcott School Friday and Monday, as announced by Thomas L. Collins.

Miss Shirley Bourquin took a bus load of boys and girls from the upper four grades to Stanton Junior High School in Hereford Monday afternoon. The boys team won all but one out of ten games played. The Walcott girls won all ten of theirs. At first they played the seventh and eighth grade teams, and later played the ninth. Mrs. N. E. Tyler, Mrs. Tom Hall and Waldron Melton were present for the games.

KEEP BILL BLAKLEY SENATOR

Dear Fellow Texan:

May I tell you why I seek an elective term in the United States Senate? And why I ask your support in the April 4 election?

This county has been good to me - - far better than I deserve. I would like to devote my life to giving something in return - - by preserving this nation's traditions and protecting its freedoms. I have no children. The least I can do for the children of today and tomorrow is fight for the real America. This is my challenge and I accept it with courage.

Since being appointed Senator by Governor Price Daniel, I have been working hard to provide these needed things for our people:

More money for our schools in a way that keeps control in your hands.

Tax relief for pressed parents through additional income tax exemptions for their sons and daughters in high school and college.

Growth capital at reasonable interest rates for small business which figures very large in our scheme of things.

An increase in earnings allowed under Social Security so our retired Senior Citizens will not be penalized for a productive life.

Constant watch to maintain the Connally Amendment so that American sovereignty shall never be surrendered.

This is the America I pledge to keep for you.

I hope you want me to stay on the job as your Senator. If you do, may I ask your help? You can assure my election by getting ten persons to go to the polls, Tuesday, April 4, and vote for me. For this kindness, I pledge the next six years of my life working for you.

Sincerely,
William A. Blakley

A Note To Our Non-Catholic Neighbors

Catholics and non-Catholics, as a rule, get along right well together. Our families live amicably next door to each other and often become lifetime friends. Our sons fight side by side on every battlefield. We work together in the same shops and factories and we play together.

But in religion . . . where this close association does not exist . . . there is often a regrettable lack of understanding and a corresponding absence of good-will. Many people, for instance, have all sorts of false ideas about Catholics and the Catholic Church. They actually believe that Catholics worship statues. That many sordid things happen behind convent walls . . . that Catholics do not believe in the Bible or that Catholics practice superstitions.

One of the members of the Lubbock delegation said: "Learn the truth about alcoholism and encourage your friends to do likewise."

Version does mean that the language is written in more simple terms and is more easily understood by the average person.

"And so we have the Bible of today—a collection of books inspired of God and written by men of God who lived during the ministry of Christ. Bibles include the King James Version, the American Revised Version, and Douay's Version, known as the Catholic Bible. Douay's Bible was published in the New Testament in 1582 and the Old Testament in 1609-10. This version differs with the King James Version in that some of the books are written under different names such as Paralipomenon, Canticles, Esdras and others."

Her best loved grandson found her on Easter Morning. She was sitting in her rocking chair holding the Bible in her lap. Her hands were folded and rested on the Bible with one small finger holding her spectacles. At first her grandson thought she had fallen asleep in her chair while reading; then he saw that she was indeed asleep, asleep in Jesus.

She had gone where there was no more housework to be done and where the three grown "children" would no longer be ashamed that their mother cleaned other people's houses.

defined "intolerance." She said, "It is a part of the inventory stated in Step Four of the Twelve Steps of AA, which among the major topics in this step are self-pity, resentment, intolerance, dishonesty, criticism, suspicion and anger. Listening to this list many of us can pick out these defects which we may possess. Webster defines this word intolerance as a lack of forbearance, narrow-mindedness with regard to the opinions and beliefs of others, and inability to endure."

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A visitor at City Hall leaned over the desk of a secretary to tell why he wanted an interview with City Manager Porter W. Homer. At that point the seat of his pants split. Mrs. Vinita Potter, 30-year-old city employee, rummaged through her desk and came up with a sewing kit.

The embarrassed visitor retired to more modest quarters while Mrs. Potter repaired the damage. Then the man had his interview.

AN EASTER STORY

Basis Of Christianity Is Recorded By Bible

BY MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

Easter Sunday! What does the day mean to you? Does it mean just a new frock and hat or does it have a deeper meaning? Let's hope it has a meaning to you that can hardly be expressed.

Let's take a look at the word itself. The dictionary says that Easter is an annual Christian festival in commemoration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, observed on the first Sunday after the full moon that occurs on or next after March 21. Or, Easter is the day on which the festival is celebrated.

Just how should we as Christians celebrate the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ; should it be with all new clothes or should it be with a contrite heart and compassion for those who do not live in a country such as ours and who have no place to lay their weary heads? Can you imagine how terrible it would be to not have a home to go to when you were weary and tired from the day's effort to make money for your daily bread but had only a blanket to spread on the street or anywhere the setting sun might find you? There are many millions of people who have even less than a blanket.

There are many stories of Easter, and here is one that should touch the heart of everyone who reads it and cause them to honor those who have lived before us, and though there were no luxuries, there was love, honor and compassion for those who were unfortunate.

This little lady in the story was 70 years young, but she loved her independence and worked and made her own way. But to her three children "she" was a problem. They gave her no honor, no love, but when her doctor told them she had a bad heart condition and should not work so much, they rushed to her in a flurry of advice and told her that she could not go on cleaning house, ironing and so on for others, even to the point of telling her she must sell her home and not work any more.

How ashamed they had been to have mother cleaning other people's houses. She was ashamed for them, for honest labor is not shameful.

There were tears in her heart but none in her eyes as she looked at them with an icy stare: "Alright," she said, "I will rent this house and live with each of you for awhile; which one wants me first?"

And she thought of the people she had worked for, how they were arrogant in their demands that she serve them first, but when the time came for pay the lady of the house would figure the hours to the last minute, often cutting off ten or fifteen minutes with no pay or saying they did not have the change and saying they could pay later.

She thought grimly, "I have never gotten the 15 cents or quarter that has been promised me," and as she looked at her three children, now grown to men and women who stared at each other but never looking at her. They could not; each had his or her own private little problems, and besides Ma worried this wife or that husband.

The consultation was over and Ma went on to work in the old way, but resolving not to work every day and to spend a little more time resting on the days she did not work. She would read the Bible and bask in its comforting words.

The Bible, mused the little lady, just how did we get the Bible? She closed her eyes and as in a dream she heard a voice say: "At first God revealed his wishes in visions and dreams or he sent an angel to take messages to men who had found his favor and who must carry out his work. These Christian men could see God's hand in nature, in history and in the very creation of man."

"Under the guidance and inspiration of God these men wrote the story of God's creation and His way of leading individuals as well as Israel as a nation. Some wrote the laws and the accounts of the people, others wrote sermons and still others wrote beautiful poetry—poetry that even today stirs the hearts of men if they will only read."

"All this was done before the coming of Christ, and because the common language of the day was Greek, the old Testament was written in Greek and it was called the Septuagint. It was this Bible that Jesus read and used in his short ministry."

"Since the Old Testament was written before Christ's time, it could not reveal God in Christ, and again God's inspiration and guidance of men caused them to write the books about Jesus and letters to churches and also to individuals who believed on Him. These writings were called the New Testament and they, too, were written in Greek."

"As time passed the people began to speak more Latin than Greek and the Bible was threatened with extinction as it has been many times; but God found a man to meet this threat. A man named Jerome spent 20 years in translating the Holy Bible to Latin."

"This was a tremendous job as the Bible, as all books of that time, was written by hand. Can you imagine the time and work it would take to write the Bible in long-hand? Jerome was not discouraged, but tried to correct all the errors by going back to the old manuscripts to find and correct these mistakes. His work then, as today, was not received favorably by the people or by the church of his day."

"It was many, many years before this edition of the Bible was accepted by the Catholic Church; and by that time, Latin was again the language of the past."

"Then came the Protestant Reformation and the idea that every one should read the Bible for himself, and again the Bible must be translated into a more modern language."

"In England, John Wycliffe and William Tyndale set out to translate the Latin Bible into a language that everyone could read. They not only risked their lives in so doing but Tyndale was killed because of his work, and many others lost their lives also."

"In 1604 an official translation of the Bible was authorized by King James, but it was not published until 1611 and it was called the King James Version—the one we know and love today. Strange as it may seem, it was rejected and the Pilgrims refused to use a Bible that was written in the common language of the street.

"Since then we have had many revisions and they too are rejected because they do not have the beauty of words and poetry of the King James Version. The American Revised
