Fire Department Faces Need of Improved Conditions

Announcement was made this week of the election of Earl Phillips as fire chief of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department. Mr. Phillips, following his election, outlined plans and activities aimed to further the services rendered the community through the department.

The Brand joins scores of citizens in recognizing these plans and in encouraging the City Council to cooperate in every possible manner toward an improved fire department.

As we have often said in the past three years, Hereford is suffering from growing pains. It is extremely difficult for the town to keep abreast of its needs and during the past 24 months the fire department has come to face similar problems to those seen by the water department, traffic officers, churches—organizations, and even private business firms.

A growing town is a tough proposition to handle. Nothing comes gradually. Everything must be done in spurts and jumps. Service sufficient at night may be outmoded on the next day.

Such a situation over-night seems to have encompassed the fire department. Despite valiant efforts of underpaid volunteers, insurance rates have increased alarmingly in Hereford.

With these things in mind, we recommend for serious consideration of the Volunteer Fire Department and of the City Commission a plan previously advanced. This plan would extend the present facilities of the volunteer department with two or three paid firemen—one man on active duty at all times—plus adequate equipment, regular drills, prompt and accurate reports by the fire marshal.

Since it is illegal by law (and in violation of insurance regulations) for the city fire trucks to leave the city limits of Hereford, it also would appear in order for the Commissioners of Deaf Smith County to provide proper equipment to be used in conjunction with equipment provided by the city. Such equipment, used to combat rural fires, would still leave city equipment available in case of town fires, and would meet all requirements.

No organization, or group, has contributed as much to this community as the Volunteer Fire Department. Most people will corroborate this fact. These boys, night and day, have left their personal duties and pleasures to help us in the time of need. The time has come now when they are in need. Shall we turn a deaf ear to this group which functions for our benefit and safety? We believe it would be much better to join the boys in creating one of the best fire departments in the whole country: a department adequately equipped and manned to best protect our homes and our loved ones.

Like other improvements, such a department will cost more money. A substantial sum of the amount, however, can be offset by savings in insurance payments, which could be lowered through operation of an ideal fire department.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Best Wishes To You Mr. Truman

While millions of Americans earnestly disapproved the policies of Mr. Truman, all Americans have a kindly feeling towards the man who Thursday subscribed to his inaugural oath. While political enemies are thick along the presidential path, they fall short of touching the man who occupies the presidential chair.

In one highly interesting respect Mr. Truman is unlike most of his predecessors. As a rule the presidents of the past have been seared by the hatreds that were kindled by their policies. But this is not true of Mr. Truman. While millions of people are fearful of his policies and while a majority of them failed to vote for his election, almost none of those who voted against him and now seek to block his recommendations has anything but the kindest feeling for the man himself. Not since the administration of James Monroe has such a nationwide sentiment even been approximated.

When in the stress of the late campaign a political leader in an Oklahoma county was questioned concerning the political situation in his county, he made this answer: "There doesn't seem to be any excitement. Nobody seems to love Dewey and nobody hates Truman. There is nothing in the campaign to make anybody fighting mad." And to what was true in that Oklahoma county was largely true apparently throughout the country. And it is true on this inauguration day. Nobody hates Truman. It is one of the anomalies of American politics.

Last July when the president seemed foredoomed to an overwhelming defeat a prominent Republican of Kansas City said to a company of Democrats: "While Truman is going to take a beating, mark this prediction: he will prove to be the most popular ex-president in American history." Of course he was not defeated. And instead of becoming the most popular former president, he is among the most popular presidents the country has ever known.

No mystery attaches to this universal appeal of the president. He is just an average man, and a country filled with average people knows it. Much of the story was told by the president's aged mother when she said at the time of his accession to the presidency. "When Harry was a boy he plowed the straightest furrow in his community." For all their whimsies, the American people really like straight furrows. And the people are still close enough to the pioneer days to find something appealing in the thought of a farm boy drawing a straight furrow across a sunbaked cornfield straight back to the doors of the White House. The thought of that straight furrow up in Western Missouri has a greater vote getting power than several degrees from Yale or Harvard.

Millions of Americans, including nearly a majority of congressmen, honestly fear that the president's program will carry the country so far into socialism that it never can be extricated. Hence millions of people will oppose the program and many congressmen will vote against it. But while opposing it and voting against it nobody is going to be motivated by any hatred for Harry S. Truman. They will hit his program with every weapon they have and go right on liking the man himself.

—The Daily Oklahoman.

A Good Question

How did you earn your first nickel? The above question is answered in today's Brand by quite a few citizens. We like it very much, for wrapped up in the question is the answer to one of the first steps in the American Way of Life.

It is surprising how many people do remember how they earned their first money. Earning of money, though considered a sordid subject by some, is a very important thing to most of us. It is based upon the capitalistic system which made the United States a mighty nation, and is an important factor throughout most of our lives.

In a period of inflation, today's youngsters often scoff at the five-cent coins, but to most of those included in the article mentioned that first nickel meant a real achievement; the passing of a landmark, so to speak.

We wonder if, twenty years from now, the men and women of Hereford will recall as avidly the first money which they earned. We hope the answer will be "yes" for it stands to reason that an affirmative answer will mean a continuation of the principles on which this country was founded and upon which it rests today.

Is It Worth $1.75?

This date, among other things, marks the last day upon which poll taxes may be paid. Clerks this week reported that only 661 polls had been paid—around one-third of the number of paid-polls last year.

Chief reason for the lack of interest in poll taxes this year lies in the fact that 1949 is not an "election year," a situation which many consider ample for not qualifying as voters.

Actually, the poll tax is a personal tax. It is assessed, whether paid promptly or not, and will continue on the records. Voting privileges have long been tacked onto poll taxes as a "rider."

Since the $1.75 has been assessed, it is collectable whether you vote or not. In addition, persons not securing their poll tax will be unable to vote in any county, state or city elections unless they have poll taxes—and it is entirely possible that several important issues will arise for County or City balloting in 1949, this would include any proposed extension of city limits, among other things.

It seems, therefore, judicious to think carefully before you pass up the opportunity to stand in your community as a qualified voter and a responsible citizen.

Another Letter from

The Bootleg

Philosopher

Editor's note. The Bootleg Philosopher is off on a deep subject this week, which he handles as adequately as he does a simple one, if you get what we mean. Dear editor:

I was gettin ready to build a fire with a newspaper the other mornin, as a sort of anniversary present for my wife, although undestand this ain't no standard procedure and I don't have no intentions of edgin in on a woman's province and buldin a fire every mornin, when I noticed a Interestin headline and tore that page off and when the room got warm read where Russia held a big meetin last week so its economists and other experts could explain why the United States hasn't had a depression recently.

Accordin to the article, the Russians are baffled over the lack of a depression over here, as their experts had told em we'd have one shortly after the war, and when a Russian official tells something to happen, it has to happen, or what does that make Stalin? But here the U. S. is, still boomn, and the Russians is hard-pressed to explain it.

Now it ain't my intention to be of any help to the Russians, but I don't mind sayin I don't see how on earth they expect to understand our economic system from way over there when we don't even understand it ourselves right over here in the middle of it. We got all sorts of experts, and while most of em are pretty good at recognizin what's already taken place and can explain satisfactorily what happened after it happens, very few of em can tell you more about what's gonna happen economically in the future than they can about which way a cat will jump, a woman driver will turn, or a politician will vote after he's elected.

It is possible that the Russians will finally attain the atomic bomb secret, but I doubt they'll ever understand our economic system. It ain't something to be figured out. Just something to be used and enjoyed.

At least, that's the way me and Henry Kaiser and Rockefeller treat it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Texans in Washington

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Texas congressmen put out weekly newsletters.

Dean of them all is the one issued by Representative Wright Patman of Texarkana, who has been at it for almost 16 years. Last week was his 820th week without a miss.

The Rio Grande Valley's new Congressman, Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., of McAllen, started a news letter right after taking the oath of office. A Texas newspaperwoman, who came up from the valley to head his secretarial staff, is helping him put it out. She is Mrs. Celia Hare Martin, formerly of the McAllen Evening Monitor.

Others who mail out regular newsletters include Reps. Bob Poage of Waco, Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls and John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi. Lyle, like Bentsen, gets help from his top secretary. She is Miss Mary Cowles, formerly of the Corpus Christi Caller Times.

While these missives are mimeographed and weekly publications in the respective congressional districts they are primarily for the benefit of the smaller papers. Most of the letters are mailed from here on Friday, so they get to the weekly editors in ample time for their editions a week later.

Major legislative items that have been under consideration in Congress frequently are summarized in the newsletters. Sometimes the congressman throws in his views on pending measures. Often they intersperse their comments with paragraphs on varied topics, as this from Patman's 820th letter:

"Of the 530 members of the new Congress (one seat is vacant by reason of the death of a member), nine are women, including one United States Senator; and 216 are war veterans, 80 having served in World War Two. The average age of members is 53.8 years, one year more than in the 80th Congress."

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson doesn't put out a weekly news column, but he has an alert newspaperman on his staff to help him in getting out his news.

His press relations man is Horace Busby, formerly of Fort Worth. Busby was editor of the Daily Texan at the University of Texas and then worked as a newspaperman in Austin before joining Johnson's staff.

The new administrative assistant to Senator Lyndon Johnson is John B. Connally, 31, formerly of Floresville.

Before taking over his new $10,000-a-year-job, Connally was manager of an Austin radio station. Several years ago he served for a period as secretary to Johnson when the latter was a member of the House. Then Connally entered the Navy for war service.

Connally was president of the senior class at the University of Texas 10 years ago; his wife to-be was chosen as the "Sweetheart of the University" that year. She is the former Ida Nell Brill. They have two children. The tall and handsome 31-year-old Texan is not related to Texas' senior Senator Tom Connally.

Administrative assistant to Senator Connally, incidentally, is Arthur Perry. He lived in Austin 25 years ago before coming to Washington as an attorney in the Justice Department.

The importance of committee assignments can't be overstressed. The ultimate fate of most legislation is determined in committees, not on the Senate or House floors.

Consequently, most members like to serve on committees that handle subjects of particular interest to their districts. Those from large farming areas, for instance, usually like to serve on the agricultural committees.

Representative Clark Thompson of Galveston has an assignment that illustrates the point.

He has moved up to the fourth Democrats spot on the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries committee. This group must pass on all legislation affecting the maritime trade and industry. Its importance to coastal cities and towns is great, for it deals with the problems of every warehouse operator and steamship line to the small gulf shrimp fisherman.

Thompson's district extends from Galveston south along the coast almost to Corpus Christi.

At nearby Fort George G. Meade, Md., a recent distinguished foreign visitor recalled his close ties with this country, and particularly with Texas.

He was General W. Schilling of the Netherlands Army. He stopped off at Fort Meade en route from Tokyo to his homeland. He claims to be the only foreign commander who had Texas troops under his command in the Far East in World War Two.

BROWNIE IS DEAD

There's one Hereford youngster who's mighty sad these days.
 She's Daphaney Sue Aaron, a tow-headed, sprite-like kid just five.
 Daphaney Sue is lonesome for Brownie, her little dog which has been gone since Wednesday.

But Brownie won't come back. He's dead, the apparent victim of strychnine.

Daphaney Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Aaron who run the New Mexico Transportation Company bus station here.

Wednesday after having a romp with Daphaney Sue at the bus station, Brownie wandered off.

He was gone about a half hour and returned to the station, but not to play. Brownie was sick and when he was let inside collapsed.

Daphaney's father picked Brownie up and rushed him to a veterinarian who administered a shot to the little dog, but Brownie didn't rally and the vet shook his head.
 "It's no use," he said, "the dog is dead."

JOHN A. CORNELL

COY A. MYERS

Cornell Will Replace Myers As Manager Of Telephone Exchange

John A. Cornell, communications supervisor of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at Fort Worth, has been appointed Manager for Hereford and six other exchanges in this vicinity. With headquarters at Plainview, according to A. O. Thomas, district manager of the company here.

Mr. Cornell will replace Coy A. Myers, local telephone manager for the past two and one-half years, who has been named communications supervisor at Wichita Falls. The change is effective immediately, Thomas said.

Mr. Cornell's telephone career began in Dallas in 1941 as a cable splicer in the Plant department. In 1943, he went to Waco, and shortly afterward was promoted to commercial representative in the company's Waco business office.

The following year, Cornell enlisted in the U. S. Navy and was assigned to submarine duty in the Pacific. During the war, he participated in many undersea patrols and assisted in the rescue of American flyers shot down at sea. The submarine on which he served was one of a chain of American U-boats stretching from Saipan almost to Japan, forming a "life-line" which saved the lives of many airmen forced down at sea during the intensive B-29 air raids on the Japanese mainland.

For this war service, Mr. Cornell holds the Asiatic-Pacific theatre ribbon and the Philippine Liberation medal.

At the end of the war, he was discharged with the rank of Seaman 1/c and returned to telephone work at Waco in 1946. He later served for a short period at Tyler, and in 1947 was transferred to the company's division headquarters offices at Fort Worth. In March of last year, he was promoted to communications supervisor there, his position until the present appointment.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornell and their two children, a daughter, 8, and a year-old son, will move to Plainview to make their home as soon as arrangements can be made.

Mr. Myers, who has been manager here since July, 1946, has been a long-time resident of this vicinity. He came to Plainview in 1904 with his parents and resided there for 18 years. During his telephone career, which began in 1932, he saw service in Fort Worth and Wichita Falls, and during the war was Camp Telephone manager at Sheppard Field. In 1946, he was appointed manager for Hereford and the surrounding exchanges, his position until the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers will move to Wichita Falls soon.

Dinner Climaxes Week Of Camp Fire Activities

Miss Louise Fargher, national field secretary of Camp Fire Girls, was honored at the annual council dinner at the Lions-Rotary Club banquet hall Thursday evening. The dinner came as a climax to a week of conferences held by Miss Fargher with Campfire workers of the city.

Jim Kirby served as master of ceremonies and introduced the special guests including Mayor and Mrs. W. E. Dameron, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Witherspoon, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Witherspoon, Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. George Graham. Before introducing the guardians and leaders, he gave a brief history of Camp Fire work in Hereford.

Mrs. Leroy Aven conducted an interesting "committee of awards" program in which Camp Fire girls acting as the awards committee, called on members of the group to stand tests for honors, thus presenting the seven crafts on which the girls work for their honors. Miniature displays of the crafts, which decorated the tables, were noted as the guests performed requirements for the honors.

To pass her test for honors, Miss Fargher was requested to explain the Camp Fire work. She gave a history of the national work and outlined the many opportunities for adult work in local Camp Fire activities.

Approximately 75 attended.

Canyon Girl Becomes Bride Of E. H. Cole In Church Ceremony

Miss Jennie Irvine, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Irvine of Canyon, became the bride of E. H. Cole of this city Saturday morning at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist Church of Canyon. The bride's father and the bridegroom's father, Rev. J. P. Cole, pastor of the Methodist Church of McAdoo, directed the singleing ceremony.

Miss Mary John Cole of McAdoo provided wedding music and accompanied Miss Fern Morgan of Amarillo who sang "Oh Sweet Mystery of Life," and "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony.

Only attendant of the bride was her sister, Miss Rebecca Irvine, who wore pastel blue net made with fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline and long full skirt. Her flowers were pink gladioluses fashioned into a nosegay.

Hoyt Cole of Abilene, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and ushers were Howard Graham of Farwell and Lewis Eldson of Abilene.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, R. L. Rodgers of San Antonio, was dressed in a traditional white satin wedding gown featuring a fitted bodice with deep net yoke and long pointed sleeves. The finger-tip veil of illusion fell over the long full skirt which extended into a short train in the back. She carried a sheaf of white roses on a white Bible.

After the wedding a breakfast was given for the bridal party in the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Cole is a graduate of Canyon High School and attended McMurry College, Abilene. Mr. Cole is a graduate of McMurry College and is also a graduate of the New York Institute of Photography. He has made his home in Hereford for the past two years as owner and operator of the Cole Photo Service. The couple will make their home at 306 West 5th St.

The program subject was "Color Scheme in the Home" by Mrs. Marlin Pierce as leader.

During the business session members contributed to the March of Dimes.

Let's Cook Something

To offer culinary inspiration for January, the longest cold month of the year, Mexican food is suggested as a welcome change from holiday ham, turkey and chicken. Delicious as Mexican dishes can be, none seems more interesting to jaded appetites than "Sour Cream Tacos" which is made according to an old formula from Mexico.

Mrs. D. H. Alexander, who most certainly knows good food when she sees it, attended a dinner given by her daughter, Mrs. Joe Hudson, in Seagraves during the holidays, when this dish was served as the main course with, of course, all the accompaniments needed to complete the meal. Mrs. Hudson had eaten it while attending a convention in El Paso. The dish appeals to both young and old. It is fine for the informal dinner party or buffet supper or when the young fry celebrate, served with red beans or mounds of fluffy rice and a tossed or green salad. Mrs. Hudson serves bread, spread with garlic butter, with it and fruit or pecan pie for dessert.

Sour Cream Tacos
1 large onion
2 tablespoons hot fat or butter

Saute the onion in the fat or butter and add tomatoes, cheese, cream and peppers which have been cut in small pieces (peppers may be found in any grocery store) and simmer until cheese is melted. Fry tortillas (canned or frozen) and stack alternately with the above mixture, in a large baking dish. Bake in a 350 degree oven about 30 minutes.

1 no. 2 can tomatoes
1/2 lb. grated American cheese
1 pint thick sour cream
5 Jalapeno peppers (canned)
1 dozen tortillas

Mrs. Paul Harvey gave the program discussing the article, "To Love Means to Understand" written by Doris Gregory. She brought out the author's viewpoint on the value of showing love and affection in the home and stressed the thought that "blaming the child because he does not always meet adult standards can give him a sense of failure and cause him to feel that his parents do not love him."

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served from a table featuring a centerpiece of evergreens and water-lily candles. Blue tapers burned at each end of the table.

Members attending the meeting were Mesdames Delbert Bainum, Dennis Baker, Bartley Dowell, G. W. Edwards, Norman Gray, Preston Hagans, Paul Harvey, Lee Kent, Don Martin, Cecil Malone, Joe Reinauer, Lowell Sharp, John Winkler, Neil Young, Earl Stagner, J. W. Hulise and the hostess.

Mothers Paid Tribute For Support Throughout Year

When Hereford High School's annual football banquet got under way Friday night Jan. 14, it had all the aspects of a family affair for as special guests the players had their dates and their dads, and the Mother's Organization was in charge of all arrangements and the preparation of the meal.

The banquet which was served in the high school cafeteria, differed from those first football banquets of several years ago, for although the banquets were in charge of the mothers, only the boys and the sponsors and the special speakers attended. Later the boys wanted their dates to share in this honor affair and still later, realizing the part their Dads played as silent partners in the game, they expressed a desire to include the Dads. Thus the whole family became a part of the event which climaxed the football season for the year.

H. V. Stanton, football coach, acted as toastmaster for the banquet and L. T. Hawks expressed appreciation to the mothers for their support throughout the year. Mrs. S. B. McLallen responded for the mothers. A toast to the lettermen who will return next year was given by Neely Kimbrough and Jack Stanton gave a tribute to the senior letter men.

Gifts of appreciation were presented by the football boys to H. V. Stanton, retiring coach, and Dalton Criswell, who has been the assistant coach and who has been elected head coach, Don Martin, High School principal, was also presented with a gift.

Superintendent of Schools, George Graham, introduced R. B. Norman, Amarillo High School principal, speaker of the evening, who spoke on the evaluation of physical and spiritual power in the lives of young people.

The second of a series of six programs on Texas ranches was presented at the LaPlata Club meeting Tuesday night with Mrs. J. R. Johnson as hostess.

The famous 1,250,000 acre King Ranch provided topics for discussion with Mrs. Charles Newell giving a historical sketch of the ranch which was established by Richard King, an ex-sailor in 1850. Mrs. Newell stated that there are 25,000 cattle and 250,000 horses on the ranch at the present time and among the many thoroughbreds is the champion, "Assault."

Mrs. W. J. Wilson described the ranch as it is today under the management of Robert Kleburg, Jr., grandson of the founder. She also told of the establishment of a branch of the King Ranch in Pennsylvania which is called a part of Texas in Pennsylvania.

The Medal of Honor citation said:

Volunteered to Lead Flight
"Colonel Keerby volunteered to lead a flight of four fighters to reconnoiter the strongly defended enemy base at Wewak on Oct. 11, 1943. x x Col. Keerby brought down six enemy aircraft in this action, undertaken with superb daring after his mission was completed."

Excerpts from citations accompanying awards to other Texans who received the Medal of Honor in World War II follow:

Lucian Adams, born in Port Arthur and entered service

there: "On 28 Oct. 1944, near St. Die, France, when his company was stopped in its efforts to drive through the Mortagne Forest to reopen the supply line to the isolated Third Battalion, Staff Sgt. Adams braved the concentrated fire of machine guns in a lone assault on a force of German troops. Although his company had progressed less than 10 yards and had lost 3 killed and 6 wounded, sergeant Adams charged forward dodging from tree to tree firing a borrowed BAR from the hip. x x In the course of the action he personally killed nine Germans, eliminated three enemy machine guns, vanquished a specialized force which was armed with automatic weapons and grenade launchers, cleared the woods of hostile elements, and reopened the severed lines to the assault companies of his battalion."

Robert G. Cole, Lieut. Colonel, born at Fort Sam Houston and entered service at San Antonio. "On June 11, 1944, in France, Lieut. Col. Cole was personally leading his battalion in forcing the last four bridges on the road to Carentan when his entire unit was suddenly pinned to the ground by intense and withering enemy rifle, machine-gun, mortar, and artillery fire placed upon them from well-prepared and heavily fortified positions. x x With utter disregard for his own safety and completely ignoring the enemy fire, he rose to his feet in front of his battalion and with drawn pistol shouted to his men to follow him in the assault. x x His heroic and valiant action in so inspiring his men resulted in the complete establishment of our bridgehead across the Douve River."

Platoon Bears Brunt of Attack

Forrest E. Everhart was born in Brainbridge, Ohio, but entered service at Texas City. "He commanded a platoon that bore the brunt of a desperate enemy counterattack near Korling, France, before dawn on 12 Nov. 1944. When German tanks and self-propelled guns penetrated his left flank x x he ran 400 yards through woods churned by artillery and mortar concentration to strengthen the defense.

He left the gun, bodily charged the attackers, and, after a 15-minute exchange of hand grenades, forced them to withdraw leaving 30 dead behind. x x In the light of bursting mortar shells, he again closed with the enemy in a grenade duel and, after a fierce 30-minute battle, forced the Germans to withdraw leaving another 20 dead."

Rendered Speechless by Wounds

James H. Fields, born at Caddo and entered service at Houston. "On Sept. 27, 1944, at Rechiourt, France, although his platoon had been seriously depleted and he himself had been rendered speechless by wounds, he continued to lead them by hand signals."

Thomas W. Fowler, born at Wichita Falls and entered service there. "On 3 May, 1944, in vicinity of Carano, Italy x x in midst of a full-scale armored-infantry attack, Lieutenant Fowler, while on foot, came upon two completely disorganized infantry platoons held up by enemy minefields. x x He made a personal reconnaissance through the minefield, clearing a path as he went. x x acting as a scout 300 yards in front of the infantry, he led the two platoons forward until he had gained his objective."

James L. Harris, born at Hillsboro and entered service there. "On Oct. 7, 1944, at Vagnay, France, although struck down and mortally wounded by machine gun bullets, he crawled to his tank and, too weak to climb inside it, issued fire orders while lying on the road."

Lloyd Hughes was born in Alexandria, La., and entered the service at Corpus Christi. "On Aug. 1, 1943, served in capacity of pilot of a heavy bombardment air craft attacking Axis oil refineries in Ploesti, Rumania. x x After successfully bombing the objective, his aircraft emerged from the conflagration with the left wing aflame. xx The plane crashed and was consumed. x x"

George D. Keathley, born at Ciney and entered service at Lamesa. "After bitter fighting his company had advanced to within 50 yards of the objective (Mt. Altuzzo, Italy, Sept. 14, 1944), where it was held up due to intense enemy sniper, automatic, and small arms and mortar fire. x x Staff Sergeant Keathley died after he had elected to set an example for his men and make every effort to hold his position."

Leads Squad as Scout

Truman Kimbro, born at Madisonville, Texas, and entered service at Houston. "Near Rocherath, Belgium, Dec. 19, 1944, as a scout led a squad assigned to the mission of mining a vital crossroads."

Jack L. Knight was born at Garner, Texas, and entered service at Weatherford. "At Loi Kang, Burma, Feb. 2, 1945, single-handedly he knocked out two enemy pillboxes. While attempting to knock out a third pillbox, he was struck and blinded by an enemy grenade. Although unable to see he rallied his platoon and continued forward in the assault until he fell mortally wounded."

Raymond L. Knight, born at unhammed point in Texas, entered service at Houston. "Piloted a fighter-bomber in series of low-level strafing missions in northern Italy, and helped establish the first firm bridgehead across the Po River."

Commands Mobile Weapons

Turney W. Leonard, born in Dallas and entered service there. He displayed extraordinary heroism while commanding a platoon of mobile weapons at Kommerscheidt, Germany, Nov. 4, 5 and 6, in 1944. "Although wounded early in battle, he continued to direct fire from his advanced position until he was disabled by a high explosive shell which shattered his arm, forcing him to withdraw. He was last seen at a medical aid station which was subsequently captured by the enemy. x x"

James M. Logan, born at McNeill, Texas, entered service at Luling. In action near Salerno, Italy, Sept. 9, 1943, "as a rifleman, he landed with the first wave of the assault echelon on the beaches of the Gulf of Salerno. x x The conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity which characterized Sergeant Logan's exploits proved a constant inspiration to all the men of his company, and aided materially in insuring the beachhead at Salerno."

Edward S. Michael was born in Chicago but entered service in Dallas. "While serving as pilot of a B-17 flying fortress over Germany, April 11, 1944, he was attacked by a swarm of fighters. His plane was riddled from nose to tail with exploding cannon shells x x and he was seriously wounded in the right thigh. When one of crew found his parachute riddled and useless, after Michael had ordered the crew to bail out of the plane, he decided to crash land this plane if necessary. The crippled craft finally staggered back to England and Michael safely landed it."

James E. Robinson, Jr. was born at Toledo, Ohio, but entered service at Waco. He was a field artillery observer, near Untergriesheim, Germany, on April 6, 1945, when the territory was swept by severe German machine-gun and mortar fire. "He took charge of a badly decimated company. x x In the advance he was seriously wounded in the throat by a shell fragment, but, despite great pain and loss of blood, he refused medical attention and continued the attack, directing supporting artillery fire even though he was mortally wounded."

Dies Saving Comrades

Herman C. Wallace was born in Marlow, Okla., and entered service at Lubbock. "While helping clear enemy mines from a road, near Prumzurley, Germany, Feb. 27, 1945, the stepped on a well-concealed anti-personnel mine. Hearing the characteristic noise indicating the mine had been activated, and knowing it would wound or kill nearby comrades if he stepped aside, he deliberately placed his feet on it even though his best chance for survival would have been to fall prone. Private Wallace was killed when the charge detonated, but saved his fellow soldiers from death or injury."

Eli Whiteley was born at Florence, Texas, and entered service at Georgetown, Texas. "While his platoon was engaged in savage house-to-house fighting near Sigolsheim, France, Dec. 27, 1944, he attacked a building through a street swept by withering mortar and automatic weapons fire. He was hit and severely wounded in the arm and shoulder, but he charged into the house alone and killed its two defenders. He reached the next house and stormed inside, killing two and capturing 11 of the enemy. x x By his disregard for personal safety, his aggressiveness while suffering from severe wounds, his determined leadership and superb courage, Lieutenant Whiteley killed nine Germans, captured 23 more and spearheaded an attack which cracked the core of enemy resistance in a vital area."

THEY TAKE THE BLUE OUT OF MONDAY

WASH DRY IRON

A COMPLETE, modern electric home laundry not only takes the "blue" out of Monday, it's apt to take most of the work out of the proverbial "wash day."

With an electric home laundry in your home, you'll find yourself putting clothes to wash and dry, or ironing them whenever it's convenient...you won't be tied down any more by "wash day" or by a pile of ironing.

Washing's done automatically while you go about your other house work. Put the damp clothes in your dryer, and forget about them until you take them out, as dry and clean smelling as if they'd been on a "line" for hours. Then, you'll find it just a few minutes' work to go through an ironing with an efficient electric ironer.

See your appliance dealer soon about the advantages of an electric home laundry of your own.

Year Proves Good For Texas Co-ops

Special to The Brand

COLLEGE STATION — Farm business in Texas chalked up a good year as far as co-operatives are concerned. Texas farmers took advantage of favorable business conditions during 1948 to put a little more money in their cooperative pockets, says M. C. Jaynes, extension organization and cooperative marketing specialist of Texas A&M College.

Fifty-three Texas cooperatives paid back their loans in full last year. Many others made pretty good-sized payments to reduce their debts.

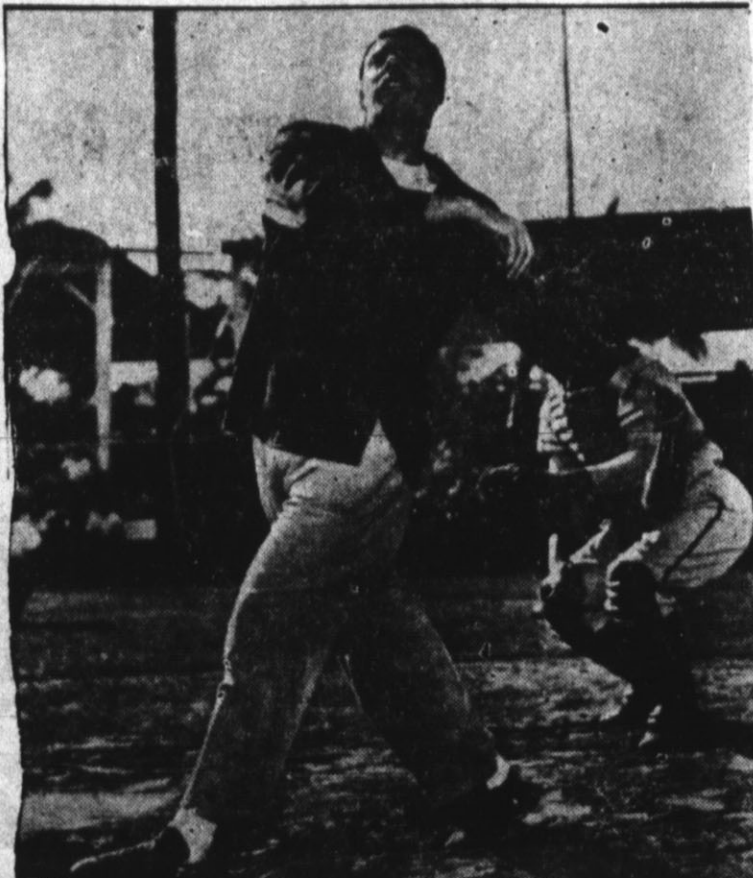

During the year, more than 10 million dollars was lent to 75 farmers' cooperatives serving 14 thousand farm and ranch families. These associations are set up to perform a variety of off-the-farm services which only a few farmers can provide for themselves. For example, farmers use their cooperatives to gin their cotton, handle and market grain, rice, fruit, vegetables, livestock, dairy and poultry products, to crush and market cottonseed, manufacture feed and purchase supplies needed on the modern mechanized farm, says Jaynes.

A normal increase was made last year in the number of new farmer's cooperatives in Texas. Eighty-nine new ones were chartered. More than 95 per cent of the 1,100 active cooperatives in the state serve local groups of around 200 farmers each.

The family size farm would have a tough time competing with the large corporate farming organizations if it weren't for the farmers' cooperatives, says Jaynes. By helping to build up these small and medium sized farms and increasing their earnings, these cooperatives benefit the entire community.

Pork Chops on the Hoof in Guam

On farms established by the U. S. Naval Government on Guam, American sailors instruct natives in modern agriculture methods. The produce from the farms is used for Naval personnel and rehabilitation of natives. In photo above a seaman first class drives pigs to feed.

Long Time Ago

45 Years Ago

One of the big stories running in the Brand edition of 45 years ago was devoted to a meeting of farmers, and said the headline, questions of importance were asked with "earnestness and enthusiasm," and added that wheat and cotton were principal topics.

Again in this edition as in the past several, Stringfellow-Hume Hardware Company was advertising in a big page 1 spread that they had plenty of stoves for sale and could save the stove shopper plenty of time and money.

E. W. Harrison was telling the public via a front page ad that shoes and hosiery were interesting subjects to discuss, and said he, if the reader had been buying Giescke's "Topsy" hose then the reader must be very happy, because Mr. Harrison added, when you bought Topsy brand, you bought stockings which were fast black and the color wouldn't change.

Another top story of the day was headlined "NEW BRICKS FOR HEREFORD," and led off: "For some time there has been floating around in the atmosphere the building of several brick stores." xxx

William F. Beck of Stratford, Texas was advertising "Cheap TEXAS LAND AND FREE OKLAHOMA SCHOOL LANDS."

A few examples of Mr. Beck's merchandise are: Four sections of unimproved land at $400 per section. Three-section claim in solid body, $1,000 plus improvements. Patented land at $1.57 to $2.50 per acre.

He also was offering to locate persons on free homesteads in Beaver County, Okla., 11 miles South of Stratford, for $10, or if you didn't want to go to Beaver County, Mr. Beck was offering to locate you on a shallow water claim convenient to coal and copper mines for $25.

Another article said people of Tucumcari, N. M. suddenly had gone wild with excitement over recent gold discoveries in a formation of black sand about 15 miles east of Tucumcari.

John A. Johnson, groceryman,

still was concerned with political plight of our Latin brothers and was whooping it up for "Panama right to secede from Columbia." an advertisement.

A report by the Western National Bank listed total resources at $124,833.93.

The Hereford National Bank listed its total resources at $182,264.02.

Grocers Garner and Martin were urging the public to economize and asked this question: "Did you ever figure out how much you could save by buying your groceries in quantities of $10 and up? If not come in and we will show you."

Rev. Davidson Is Guest Speaker At Meeting Of P-TA

Rev. Don Davidson of the Methodist Church was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Hereford P-TA held at the high school Tuesday evening.

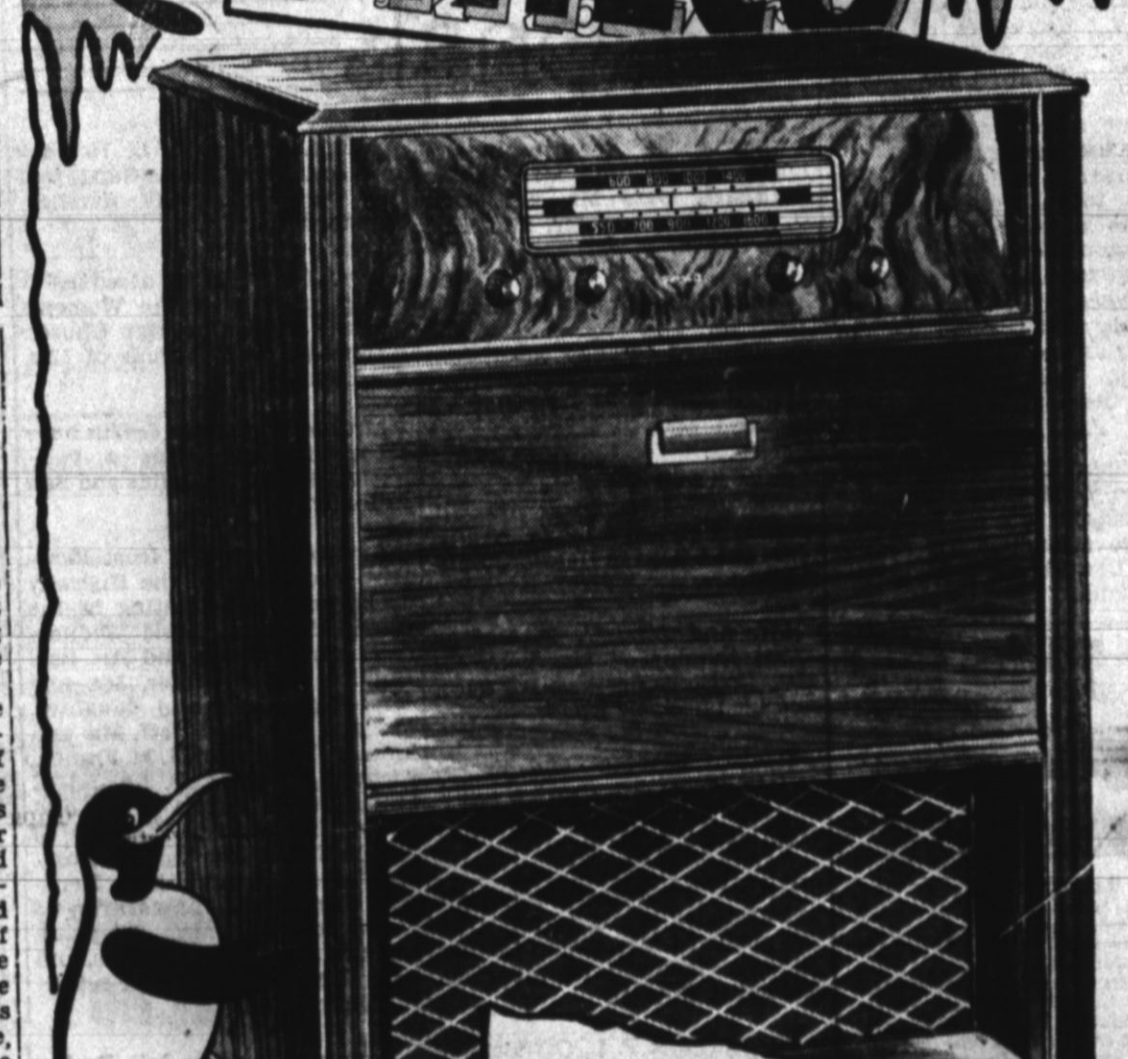

"The Home and Its Influence in Building Sound and Emotional Ties" was the theme of Rev. Davidson's speech. He pointed out that the home was the most effective influence for either right or wrong, and added that it is physically and spiritually impossible for schools and churches to take the place of home training. Emphasizing the fact that the weakness in home training is largely due to parents who are not emotionally mature, he urged that parents realize the purpose of the home and work out a plan of home training.

Preceding the main talk of the evening, a movie, "A Criminal Is Born" was shown, which officials of the local P-TA chapter recommended highly for general showing. The film was obtained from the Dallas YMCA.

During the business meeting, plans were made for a tea-towel shower for the high school cafeteria, to be held in connection with the next meeting, February 15. Guest speaker for that meeting will be Dr. S. H. Condon of West Texas State College, Canyon, who will have for his subject "The Home and Democracy."

John A. Johnson, groceryman,

Cotton Markets

Cotton sales increased last week in Oklahoma and Texas markets, reports the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Sales at Dallas, Houston, and Galveston jumped to 72,713 bales compared to only 50,142 the previous week. Other spot markets reported larger sales, too, with the grand total for all 10 spot markets reaching 226,200 bales against 143,300 the previous week.

Farmers showed a tendency to increase their offerings of cotton last week. Equities sold in sizeable quantities ranging from $5 for the lower qualities to $8 for some crop lots of better staples, chiefly from the Rio Grande Valley.

Spot demand continued good on the better grades and staple lengths. Domestic mill inquiry was relatively quiet with a few inquiries being made for new crop cotton.

Dallas cotton quotations advanced as high as 32.45 cents per pound early last week but closed Friday at 32.40, about 75 cents per bale higher than the week's opening price. This is around $15 per bale less than cotton brought at this time last year.

Trade interest was centered for the most part on (1) the more active demand, (2) the low exportable supplies of cotton in the other cotton-producing countries, (3) new ECA export credits, and (4) the heavy movement of cotton into the government loan program.

CORRECTION

Inadvertently the names of Mrs. P. H. Gilliland and F. M. Kester were omitted from the list of past matrons and patrons of the local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star which appeared in the Sunday Brand last week. Mrs. Gilliland and Mr. Kester should have been listed as the past officials for 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Carmichael and family recently took a shopping trip to Amarillo.

Weather Amazes, From Maine . . . to California

From the sun-baked shores of Maine to the snow-swept coast of Southern California, a capricious Old Man Winter had Americans scratching their heads, but trying to make the best of it. In Augusta, Maine, Mary Faulkner, left above, hitched her pure-bred Chinook sled dog to a golfing cart and—basking in the warm sun—shot a few rounds of golf. At the same time the Los Angeles residents, like the man above, right, turned up their overcoat collars and weathered one of the worst cold and snowstorms in years.

South Hereford HD Club Meets With Mrs. Lowery Walker

South Hereford Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Lowery Walker Tuesday afternoon for a lesson on "The Home."

Mrs. J. P. Slaton told of the many ways of "Being a Good Hostess" and Mrs. Orin Russell talked on "Entertaining in the Home." Mrs. W. M. Goetsch discussed "Why I budget or Plan." Mrs. Tom Draper, CHDA, gave a soap-buying demonstration. The next meeting is scheduled for February 1, in the home of Miss Evelyn Bell.

Those present were Messrs. J. P. Slaton, Orin Russell, John Draper, Noah Shockley, Clarence Hollabaugh, Tom Draper, Lowery Walker, W. H. Goetsch, Ronald Matthews, Miss Evelyn Bell and Joy Hough of Amarillo.

Transcription Of Historical Events To Be Broadcast

"I Can Hear it Now," a collection of transcriptions of historical highlights of the last 15 years will be broadcast this afternoon at 1:15 over radio station KGNC. The 45-minute recording is a combination of excerpts from history-making events of the past decade and a half. It includes speeches of Will Rogers, Franklin Roosevelt, and Winston Churchill; it includes Stalin and the rantings of Hitler and Mussolini.

A program of both documentary and educational interest, it is the first time it has been presented in this area. Many of the younger children have never heard the voices of these men whose own lives had so radical an effect on the world. Many of the adults will remember hearing these transcribed events the first time the speeches were given.

Work on this compilation has been going on for over a year. The editors were faced with the difficult task of selecting, from recorded works the most significant talks from the most critical times, and with the completion of their efforts they have presented a review of history in the critical period from 1933 to 1948.

During the editing of their work, a woman who had heard of the project remarked that surely they would include Churchill's famous "Blood, sweat and tears," speech and his thundering vow, "We will fight upon the beaches."

She was reminded that both of those talks were made in the Houses of Parliament and therefore not transcribed. They had been repeated by others but never recorded by the prime minister himself.

"Not recorded," she said, "why I can hear it now!" And thus the title to this collection of history in the making was born.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lingens were in Amarillo Wednesday night to attend a staff meeting of the Amarillo Osteopathic Hospital and to be guests at a dinner at King's Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Nester Gass arrived in Dallas Tuesday for a few days visit.

Find Minerals With Chemistry

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia got the jump on the world 17 years ago in the important new science of geochemical prospecting, but American geochemists think they may have caught up with or even outdistanced the Soviet scientists in giving the pick-and-shovel a new tool—the chemical kit.

They can't be sure, because Russia clamped a secrecy lid on geochemical research a year ago. Since January 1948 no new reports on Soviet work of this type have been available.

It's all very important from a security standpoint because the nation that maps its hidden ore deposits the most thoroughly is in the best position to use those resources in time of war.

The U. S. Geological Survey has made public the translation of six Russian papers on geochemical research. The most important article, by Soviet geologist E. A. Sergeev, summarizes Russia's work up to 1940 in soil analysis as a method of prospecting for mineral ores.

Says youthful, curly-haired Herbert E. Hawkes, director of the Geological Survey's two-and-a-half-year-old project for geochemical research: "Our program got under way in 1946. In addition to laboratory work, we started digging through all the obscure little journals in government libraries, looking for papers on what other countries were doing about soil-analysis prospecting. We found to our complete amazement that the Russians were 14 years ahead of us. They had started the work in 1932."

Some phases of prospecting research were under way in other countries, Hawkes says. Sweden, for example, was making progress on the chemical analysis of vegetation as a clue to the soil's composition.

But most of the reporting on the subject was by the Russians. Hawkes himself had to learn to read Russian in order to translate the articles and to check the accuracy of translation by other persons.

Hawkes says at least three commercial companies in the United States already are experimenting in geochemical prospecting. The Geological Survey he adds, is "barely reaching the stage where we are ready to give it a whirl in the fields."

WTSC To Air With New Radio Program

Special to The Brand CANYON—Two new radio programs aired from the West Texas State College campus this week brings the total of college programs broadcast over Amarillo stations to four.

The WT concert band under the direction of Jerry Newman will be heard each Saturday on WTSC from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. morning for a 15-minute program at 9:45 over Station KFDA. WT campus news will be carried the same time on Saturdays. This program is designed to give all the week's activities on the campus as well as other items of interest to the ex-students and friends of the school.

A feature inaugurated last Monday was a sports interview conducted by Jerry Mallin, publicity director. It will be heard each week during KAMQ's Sport Roundup heard daily at 5:30 p. m.

The oldest college radio show is the Collegians' heard Monday afternoon at 4:45 over KAMQ. It features 15 minutes of dance music and a description of some place of interest around the campus.

Jack Walker, head of the radio division of the speech department says more radio programs are planned for the future.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beyer have returned from a month's stay with their daughter and family, Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hicks and children of Little Rock, Arkansas.

Mrs. C. H. Whitehead returned to her home here after a three weeks visit in Houston with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Z. O. Faughn. Her little granddaughter, Rokie Lynne, returned with her for an extended visit.

FUN IN COOKING

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor
 If there's anything that tastes better than frankfurters and sauerkraut on a cold winter night, I don't what it is! But if you want this good old combination to have extra flavor then try the following recipe in which they team up with tomatoes and caraway. Fresh tomatoes are called for in the following recipe but it's quite possible to use whole canned, drained tomatoes, too.

TOMATO SAUERKRAUT SUPREME
 Ingredients: 3 frankfurters, 1/4 cup diced onion, 3 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 2 tomatoes, 3 cups sauerkraut, 1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds. Method: Cut frankfurters into 1/4-inch slices. Sauté frankfurter slices and onion in the butter or margarine 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Cut each tomato into 8 wedges and saute in the same skillet. Add sauerkraut and caraway seeds and mix well. Cover and cook over low heat about 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated.

STUFFED FRANKFURTERS
 Ingredients: 9 bacon slices, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1-3 cup chopped onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon sage, 9 frankfurters. Method: Partly cook bacon; drain on brown paper, reserving fat. Mix together bread crumbs, onion, salt, pepper, sage and 3 tablespoons of the bacon fat. Make a lengthwise slit in each frankfurter. Fill slit with bread stuffing. Wrap each frankfurter with a slice of bacon. Fasten bacon with toothpicks. Arrange frankfurters in a 3-quart heat-resistant glass utility dish. Bake in a moderate (350 F.) oven for 25 minutes.

Other guests in the Urlin Streu home Wednesday night were Miss Louise Fargher, who is national field secretary of Camp Fire Girls, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilson, Marian Jo and Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Veigle, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson and girls, Gerry, Nancy, and Sheryl. Patterson showed the group movies of last summer's Camp Fire Camp, and a movie of Hereford and its industries.

PERSONALS

O. P. Cowart and Robert L. Thompson returned Wednesday night from a trip to Washington, D. C.

Among those people from Hereford who attended the Boy Scout Banquet held in the Hering Hotel in Amarillo Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nunnally and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coneway.

Mrs. Ray Boston has been in Amarillo this week with her father, H. G. Street, who is ill. Her little daughter, Cathy, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Aven and Carolyn during her mother's absence.

Miss Helen Frances Streu, Mrs. May Worth, and Miss Bobbie Nance of Amarillo were Wednesday evening callers and dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Urlin Streu. Miss Streu is a sister and Mrs. Worth an aunt of Urlin Streu.

Mrs. Leroy Aven entertained at a luncheon Wednesday afternoon in her home, honoring Miss Louise Fargher, who is national field secretary of Camp Fire Girls. A Chinese luncheon was served, with chicken chow mein, rice, fruit salad, and cherry pudding. A centerpiece on the table depicting Chinese fishing underneath the Ming tree carried out the Oriental theme. A business meeting was held following lunch to discuss the progress and plans of the Wetomachek Camp Fire group, of which Mrs. Aven is guardian. Guests were Mrs. J. C. Reese, Mrs. Frank Daniel, the honoree, and the hostess.

OUR THANKS to you and the thousands of others whose willingness to "share the line" has made it possible for so many of your friends and neighbors to enjoy the protection and convenience of a telephone.

Three of every four home telephones today are party lines.

Yes, party lines have "stretched" hard-to-get telephone equipment in a time of shortages and a big demand for service.

Our goal, of course, is service for everyone—the kind he wants, when and where he wants it. For the time being, though, in many neighborhoods we must continue to say:

"We can offer only party-line service to new customers. It's the fair way for everybody while we're still working to get telephones to hundreds of people who are waiting."

Keys Novel Is Reviewed By Mrs. Alexander

Mrs. D. H. Alexander reviewed the book "Come a Cavalier" by Frances Parkinson Keyes at a program given by the Dawn Study Club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. T. Frye. Mrs. Alexander stressed the theme of the book which was a tribute to American Women, to bring out the story of an American girl in the midst of two world wars. "Her courage and bravery as a young American Red Cross worker in France and her strength of character shown during the second world war, highlights the novel," the reviewer said.

The musical part of the program was presented by Mrs. A. C. Thompson who entertained with violin selections accompanied by Sallie Womble at the piano. Special guests attending the meeting were Mrs. Frank Smith, Miss Bertha Frye, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Thompson. Members present were Mesdames Lloyd Alshouse, V. West Texas Municipalities Urged To Take Hand In Battle On Water Rights

ABILENE—Every municipality in West Texas this week has been urged to take steps to perpetuate domestic water rights. This follows a meeting at Amarillo of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce water rights committee, which is opposed to the passage of the proposed water code of the Texas Water Conservation Ass'n., which seeks to repeal recovery provisions of the WTCC-Wagstaff-Woodward bill. Citing lack of rainfall and running streams in West Texas, a letter authorized by the Amarillo committee meeting, which was presided over there by Mayor Lawrence Hagy, gives notice that every effort will be made to defeat any measure without protection of the recovery right of water for domestic users, over inferior uses, principal of which would be the generation of hydro-electricity. "West Texas cannot subscribe to and must forever oppose parts of Sec. 13, as outlined in your revision of the surface water code," the letter said. "We refer to the following clause in Sec. 13: 'utilization of such channels and reclaiming of such waters turned into it must not diminish the waters already flowing therein, to which others have acquired rights.'" the letter said. "Under this clause, as we see it, our West Texas municipalities can wholly be prohibited from obtaining additional water supply. . . ."

"Another point of omission we are concerned about in the proposed code is the failure anywhere in the bill to extend the rights to a city to recover water heretofore appropriated for inferior use. This right definitely exists in our present law in Art. 7472. The fact is that in Sec. 160 of your bill this right is definitely and expressly repealed. "Repealing this provision, together with Sec. 13 provision, makes mockery of any and all provisions you refer to as preserving the traditional rights of domestics to water." The letter, signed by John D. Mitchell, president, and D. A. Banded, general manager of WTCC, was authorized by the water rights committee meeting and was addressed to J. E. Sturrock, general manager of the Texas Water Conservation Assn. The meeting also authorized committee members to take whatever steps necessary in the organized efforts in Austin and elsewhere to defeat the proposed legislation. At the same time, however, the letter praised other features of the bill as being worthy of passage.

Inch Of Moisture, Result Of Rain
Snow And Sleet, Will Aid Wheat

By MRS. W. R. MOORE

The rain, snow and sleet that fell last week amounted to about one inch of moisture which will be a great help to the wheat in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Moore from Kress visited in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leona Tooley, who are living on the Moore place. The Tooleys moved here from Portales, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Finney of Pensacola, Fla. are visiting here with friends. They are staying in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Belton Finney. Finney is on a thirty day leave from the United States Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Evans, from El Paso have moved to the John Bolling farm east of the Palo Duro church. Mrs. Evans was the former Miss Dottie Vee Bolling.

Mrs. Belton Finney and son Dickey and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Finney visited in the Frank Finney home Saturday night.

Mrs. J. T. McClain and children made a business trip to Hereford Saturday.

The "yard" is supposed to represent the length of a man's arm. The use of barley-corns (grains of barley) in measurement still survives in shoe numbers, which run by thirds of an inch or "barley-corns."

Region I Music
Contest To Be Held
On WTSC Campus

Special to The Brand

CANYON — Interscholastic League Music Contests for Region I will be held on the West Texas State College campus again this spring for the second consecutive time.

Vocal contests will be held during the second week of April and orchestra and band contests will be held the fourth week of that month.

There will be 40 bands, 25 or 30 choirs and five orchestras participating in the contests. Nearly 6,000 music students are expected to be on the campus during the contests.

Awarding of the contests to West Texas State was made by the Interscholastic League Executive committee headed by Lee Johnson, Phillips High School superintendent. Jerry Newman, Buffalo band leader, is the contest director. Texas Music Educators' officials who direct the contests are Don Hayes, Littlefield, band chairman; Louise Dicken, Amarillo, orchestra chairman and Madeline Robinson, Amarillo vocal chairman.

Pointers On Fowl Pox Vaccination

Poultry growers who may wonder whether to have their flocks vaccinated against fowl pox are given this advice in a current veterinary bulletin:

- (1) Don't vaccinate unless the disease has appeared on your premises in past years or unless it seems likely to strike in your locality.
- (2) Once vaccination is started, it must be repeated every year and must include every bird in the flock.
- (3) Fowl pox vaccine contains live virus that can spread and infect neighboring flocks; therefore, owners of nearby flocks should be advised of your vaccination plans.
- (4) The flock must be in good health when vaccinated.
- (5) The exact age for vaccination is determined mainly by individual flock conditions, but it should be performed at least two months before the birds go into egg production.
- (6) If it is necessary to vaccinate birds already in production, pigeon pox vaccine should be used. This gives shorter immunity than fowl pox vaccine, but does not cause such a severe reaction.

Farm Markets

Trading at southwest farm markets last week featured stronger prices for cotton, citrus, some vegetables, sheep and other products, reports the Production and Marketing Administration.

Citrus fruits and some vegetables took a stronger position last week at both shipping points and terminal markets as a result of the wintery weather in other producing areas. Monday's market compared to the previous Monday saw brocoli $1 per crate higher, carrots up 50 cents to $1 and spinach 25 to 40 cents per basket higher. Lettuce held about steady in an unsettled market. Slow demand found beets steady to 15 cents lower and cabbage down 15 to 20 cents per 50-pound sack. Sweet potatoes remained firm. Fair to moderate demand kept Colorado onions and potatoes steady.

Eggs eased downward last week as a result of a week as slow demand failed to keep up with liberal supplies, but markets opened Monday about steady. Current receipts were quoted about 36 to 43 cents per dozen at the leading wholesale terminals. Poultry moved slowly too, but prices held about steady except for losses of 1 to 2 cents per pound on fryers.

Some let-up in supplies helped hogs toward a stronger position last week, but Monday's southwest stockyards opened steady to lower than Friday. Top butchers moved within $20 to 20.60 per 100 pounds in dull trading. Sows brought mostly $15 to $17.50. Chicago and St. Louis were among the few markets to start the week at higher than Friday's average.

Sheep and lamb markets felt the impact of the bad weather even more than cattle. Ewes sold steady to 50 cents per 100 pounds higher. Also, slaughter lambs were steady to 25 cents higher despite the fact that they made up most of the receipts. Wool held firm last week. Contract prices in Texas and New Mexico stood at 56 to 57 cents per pound for 8-months wool and around 66 cents for 12-months. Mohair was unchanged at 40 cents for adult and 75 cents for kid, f.o.b. Texas.

Hay showed some strength with alfalfa quoted at $39 to $43 at Texas markets and around $33 at Kansas City for best offerings. Prairie hay sold at $13.50 to $17 a ton.

Cottonseed meal prices slumped again last week, bringing losses at wholesale level up to $8 and $8 per ton for the past two weeks. Other feeds were steady to strong.

Despite last week's official announcement of record stocks of feed grains on farms, southwest prices slipped very little. Monday's quotations were down 2 to 3 cents on wheat, yellow corn, oats and sorghums. Barley was a little stronger and white corn easier.
