It was his 41st birthday and the Miller's 30th wedding anniversary. The picture at the top right shows Sears, Rotary president Jimmie Witherspoon who presided at the meeting, and others. City Taxes Remain At $1.35 Per $100.

City taxes, budget and telephone rates were dealt with during a lengthy City Commission meeting Friday.

The telephone situation didn't change much, and taxes remain at $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation. The budget for the new fiscal year is $195,962.01 and the city tax valuation was raised $878,700 because of the surge in building during the past year. The assessed valuation in the city now amounts to $6,646,900.

Funeral Services Held Friday For James Silas Orr

Last rites were held Friday at 2:30 p. m. in the First Baptist Church for James Silas "Si" Orr, long-time resident of Hereford and Deaf Smith County. He died Wednesday in the Deaf Smith County hospital after an illness of about three months.

James Silas Orr was born April 26, 1882, at Iuka, Mississippi. His mother died when he was two years old. He moved with his father to Hillsboro, where his father died when he was 7.

With his brother and sister, he lived with relatives until he began working for himself at an early age.

In 1906 he came to Hereford where his late brother, Walter, and he opened a barber shop in 1907 where the Western Auto store is now located.

The barber shop was moved to its present location and in 1925 was sold to J. H. Brooks, who still operates it.

In 1918 he bought the John Day ranch in the northeast part of the county. Later he sold it and farmed 16 miles north of Hereford until 1938.

He was a deacon in the First Baptist Church for years, and was a member of the Building and Finance committee when the present building was constructed.

For many years he was assistant superintendent of the Sunday School and a teacher in the junior department. With the late Esca Harrison he was active in Boy Scout work, and was interested in the high school band.

Mr. Orr is survived by his wife; a son, Duane Orr, and a grandson, Don Orr, both of Corpus Christi; four nieces, Mrs. Roy Jowell, Hereford; Mrs. C. J. Rhat, Phoenix, Arizona; and Mrs. Herman Nickell and Mrs. Maurice Irwin, both of Cleburne; and two nephews, Milton Orr, Clovis, and John Orr, Fort Sumner.

Burial was in West Park cemetery with Rev. R. H. Cagle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating with the assistance of Rev. Roy Ford. Special music was furnished by Mrs. Carl Moutz accompanied by Miss Thelma McMinn. They rendered "Pearly White City."

The meeting with Telephone Company officials, A. O. Thomas, district manager, and John C. Giffel, local manager, ended in no agreement being reached. The City Commission has already stated they feel a raise in rates is justified, but they are not willing to grant the increase until service is improved.

The telephone company restated the fact that they are vitally interested in the growth of Hereford and in furnishing good telephone service. They say a tremendous amount of money has been spent in expanding and improving the telephone system in recent months to meet this objective.

The total book cost of the local exchange was $159,254.00 at the end of 1949. At the end of the first six months this year, the total cost had increased by $113,000 as a result of gross expenditures for plant expansion and additions of $124,122.

Plans for improvements and expansion including $11,000 for extension of pole leads, etc., and a $22,000 addition to the building and four new switchboards for 500 additional local telephone lines have already been made according to Thomas.

In a letter to the City Commission they said "plans and specifications for the building addition and switchboard addition will be drawn promptly upon approval of new schedule of rates and will be completed within 14 months after new rates go into effect."

Excerpts from the new city budget of $195,962.01 include: Estimated receipts from water and sewer revenue $80,000, expense $53,989.80.

Estimated receipts from the municipal swimming pool $2,800, estimated expenses $2,480.50. Other estimated receipts include: garbage fees $15,400, fines $5,000, licenses $550, parking meter receipts $12,000, water taps $3,500, gross receipts tax, $6,500, miscellaneous $1,500.

Estimated expenditures of the general fund include: general expense $9,935, fire department $4,415, health department $19,000, parks department $3,350, police department $15,130.80, street department $20,950, capitol account $20,239, totaling $93,019.80.

Hereford's bonded indebtedness as of May 1, 1950 amounted to $533,000.

Estimated receipts from the general fund are $44,450, $60,000 from water and sewer revenue fund, $2,800 from swimming pool fund totaling $107,250 plus the $88,712.01 1949 tax roll to reach the budget figure of $195,962.01.

Your $1.35 of taxes for every $100 assessed valuation is split up into two general funds with 80 cents going to the general fund and 55 cents to bond interest and sinking fund.

The general fund is to support and maintain the general government of the city.

The 55 cents for bond interest and sinking fund is divided eight ways. This includes bonds for waterworks extension, park improvements, water and sewer extension and for the city hall and fire station.

Hereford Greet New Mex. Group

Free doughnuts and coffee in the Jim Hill Hotel, a 10 per cent reduction in the price of things they bought, and free movies for children under 12 were the things which Hereford welcomed 205 visitors from Rosedale, Broadview and Grady on Saturday.

The group arrived in a cavalcade of around 50 cars about noon. After a drive down Main Street, the group parked on the west and south of the courthouse and assembled east of the hotel to head a welcoming address by Owen L. Bybee, Chamber of Commerce President.

Visitors cards, which many merchants agreed to honor with a 10 per cent reduction in prices, were distributed to families. Mothers were invited to leave their children in the theaters without cost while they shopped.

Then the crowd was invited into the ballroom of the Jim Hill Hotel for doughnuts and coffee.

Funeral services were held in the chapel at the Labor Camp and she was buried in the Catholic cemetery here. Rev. Raymond G. Phillips, pastor at the labor camp, officiated.

SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

High school students will hit the streets tomorrow selling season football tickets in their annual queen contest. The class selling the most tickets makes their queen candidate the winner. The season tickets will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for kids. These are prices set by District 1-A executive committee members.

High school principal Don Martin says there are nine yards of reserved seat tickets left for sale. About 400 have been sold and 125 remain. The nine yards are from the 39 to 30 on the south end. They sell for $2.50.

Margaret Schroeter asks all mothers of football boys to attend a meeting at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the high school study hall. That's all boys playing football, not just the varsity.

Congressman Ben Guill says he had a scorching of a speech to make on the recent Marine remarks of the President's, but decided it might be too "heated" at the last minute.

Note to reservists: He said you might as well get ready because they are going to call them all. He added that people don't realize the seriousness of the situation. It may not come from Korea but it will pop up somewhere else.

In answer to a question about the civil defense situation, he said it doesn't exist. The only thing he knows of is that New York City has prohibited use of sirens, even on fire engines and ambulances, and instructed the population that the next time they hear a siren they better seek shelter.

He also said only one Army division, the understrength 82nd Airborne, is left in the U. S. today.

The first fall meeting of the Gay Bluebirds will be held tomorrow afternoon, September 11, at 2:30 in the Campfire Hut. Mrs. Dub Reeves, sponsor, has announced.

Oldham County Well Finds Famous Pennsylvania Reef

The Pennsylvania reef topped by the wildcat well being drilled southwest of Vega indicates that there must be an oil pool somewhere in this area, according to Foster Howell, partner in the well.

"There is a good chance that the well is in oil formation now. The dolomite formation being drilled has good porosity and has an oil 'cut' that fluoresces when treated with carbon tetrachloride," Howell said.

No test has been run on the well on which the rig was drilling ahead Friday afternoon.

There were rumors in Vega that a drill-stem test had been run, but Howell said flatly that no test had been made.

An entirely new manner of thinking about oil fields in the area had been set off by the discovery of the Pennsylvania reef. Howell commented. He figures extensive wild-cating will probably follow the discovery.

"If there is one Pennsylvania reef, there certainly were others," he concluded.

"The contention of many geologists that reefs will be found in the Panhandle have been vindicated by the Oldham County well. The location is just a little west of north of the new reef discovery in eastern Hockley County. It is about seven miles south and a little east of Adrian and about 12 southwest of Vega.

The test was started a year ago by Hooper & Duke and was taken over by Lonnie Glasscock, Jr., Hap Clower, Joe Kelly and Foster Howell four weeks ago. The depth of the hole at that time was 5,131 feet. The new operators moved in a Cardwell rotary and started operations.

The bit had not made over 50 feet when a decided gas odor was noted at the mud shaker and this continued for 200 feet. The formation was Wolfcamp dolomite at that depth.

Guill Attacks U.S. Communism

United States Congressman Ben Guill aroused some 400 members of the Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and Junior Chamber of Commerce from any lethargy they might have been in before with a fighting speech against Communism in the United States Friday noon at the joint meeting with the Rotary Club at Hotel Jim Hill.

Congressman Guill's talk brought forth spontaneous applause at several points as he presented startling facts, some new and others old, concerning the menace of Communism within our own nation.

Mr. Guill prefaced his address by saying "I am here to talk as a non-partisan American," and he stuck to his word.

Henry Sears introduced Congressman Guill to the crowd, which included visitors from Vega, Dimmitt, Friona, Canyon and Amarillo as well as Hereford. He introduced him as a boyhood friend who is now a United States Congressman, and then went into a short description of Guill's background before being elected.

Text of the speech was as follows:

"I would like to talk a little today about Communism. I don't mean Communism in the Kremlin—I mean the homegrown Communism here in the United States. In principle the two are the same—their purpose is the same—they both take orders from the same man.

"Eat—in effect—the threat of Communism here at home is more subtle and potentially more dangerous than it is abroad. The President of the United States can order American boys to carry arms against the Communists on foreign fronts—but—as of now—it is a violation of civil rights to summon the nearest policeman to arrest a Communist on the main street of Hereford, Texas.

Whitefaces Lose Opener At McLean Friday, 12-0

Hereford won the toss at McLean Friday night and elected to receive but from there on nothing else went the Whiteface's way as the Tigers ended up on the long end of the 12-0 score.

Coach Dalton Criswell's inexperienced line ran against a fired-up bunch with revenge in their eye for the 16-0 licking they took on the same field a year ago. But actually the line stood up stronger than expected and two fumbles cost the Herd heavily.

McLean, led by L. M. Watson in every department, had eight first downs to Hereford's four; they also outgained the Herd on the ground 114 yards to 68. Hereford managed to complete a pass for 10 yards, in six thrown, that put them ahead of McLean's four incomplete tosses.

McLean scored on the third play of the second quarter after controlling the ball throughout the first period. Hereford had received with Bill Kelly returning it 17 yards to the 22. They ran three plays and kicked to McLean.

The Tigers made two first downs and then stalled after a succession of penalties set them back 20 yards. The punted and recovered a fumble on the Whiteface 25 yard line. They took it to the 11 before the quarter ended.

Hereford received again and then fumbled with McLean recovering on the 48 on the first play from scrimmage. McLean made another first down and then punted after the next series of downs to Hereford's 15. Kelly picked up seven and Bill Engman moved around right end for 20 yards for a first down.

The half ended with Hereford on their own 42.

Hereford kicked off to McLean to open the second half.

Play see-sawed through the third quarter until McLean started a drive near the end that carried over into the fourth period and ended with Watson cutting back on his favorite off-tackle play and going into the end zone standing from the 11 yard line.

Neither attempted run for extra points was good.

REPAY VISIT—205 New Mexicans drove into Hereford Saturday morning in a more than 50 car caravan as a means of expressing appreciation for the Harrison Highway opening celebration and a good neighbor gesture. Part of the crowd is shown here in front of the sound truck just before Chamber of Commerce President O. L. Bybee welcomed them to Hereford.

MR. AND MRS. CLAY A. SMITH

Temple. He is a brother of Mrs. Herman D. Buse of Hereford.

Dr. Nathan Milo Fiske officiated at the double ring ceremony against a background of lighted tapers and white gladioluses. Music was provided by Gene Pruin, soloist, who sang "Always", "Because" and "I Love You Truly".

The brides' attendants were Mrs. Mary Lou Slayton, matron of honor who wore blue organdy and carried a nosegay of roses, carnations and sweet peas tied with tulle and satin ribbon. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Shirley Woods, Mrs. Dorothy Klein, and Miss Barbara Burney with Susan Miller serving as junior bridesmaid. They wore dresses in pink organdy made similar to that worn by the honor matron.

Richard Yost was best man and ushers were Bill Slayton, Jim Austin and Neil Schrouen. The bride wore a gown fashioned of white satin and marquisette over which fell her finger-tip veil of illusion. The veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley centered with an orchid. Her only ornament was a rhinestone necklace, the gift of the bridegroom.

Following a reception held in the garden at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a trip to Yosemite National Park before coming to Hereford to visit his sister, Mrs. Herman D. Buse.

Mrs. Smith attended California schools and is now employed in Arcadia. Mr. Smith lived here with his parents in 1944-45 and returned to make his home here in 1948 and 1949, moving to California with his mother last year. He is now employed by the D. N. and E. Walter Company in Los Angeles, California.

They returned to California now making their home at 126 S. Second St. Arcadia, California.

328 N. BALLARD PHONE 539 AGREED "After practicing medicine for 15 years, and spinal orthopedics for 10 years I am daily astonished at the remedial power of Chiropractic spinal adjustments as a cure of disease."

Case histories published here are from the files of Dr. Stapp. They are displayed here to show the extent and scope of Chiropractic.

While the wide scope of Chiropractic is amazing to the uninformed we do NOT recommend chiropractic as a CURE-ALL. Chiropractic is effective in those cases only where the cause is found to be defective in organic organization due to spinal misalignment (subluxation).

BACK PAINS CASE 350 (Umbarger, Texas): A farmer, age 58, came to the clinic complaining of back-ache, shoulder ache and leg ache. He said he was constipated, had gas on his stomach and dreamed all night long. Complained both his hands shook and said he had dizzy spells and was also bothered with hay fever. In the process of a chiropractic analysis it was discovered he had a skin rash on his arms and legs that itched constantly. He said, "I don't think anything can be done about that. I boy in for checkup."

Club Name Has Greek Origin

"The name Calliopean was inspired by the ancient Greek Muse, who presided over epic literature and rhetoric. She is usually depicted with a stylus and wax tablets, and ancient writing materials." The Hereford Calliopean Club will follow a miscellaneous course of study this year with meetings every other Thursday in homes of members. Officers of the club include: Mrs. Clyde Cave, president; Mrs. Carl Perrin, vice-president; Mrs. Alton Fraser, recording secretary; Mrs. D. C. McWhorter, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. L. Davis, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. N. E. Milburn, reporter and Mrs. J. T. Carroll, parliamentarian.

The club's first meeting of the season which was in the form of a social get-together, was held in the home of Mrs. Bill Waldrep Thursday evening with the social committee consisting of Mesdames Waldrep and B. F. Cain and Miss Genevieve Eberle in charge. A buffet dinner was featured with an all-western theme being carried out in appointments. Fall flowers centered the table from which the dinner was served and place cards at small tables were marked with the members' initials done in the form of a cattle brand. Equestrian figurines centered the tables. China and other appointments carried out the western theme in tans and browns. Summer activities were recounted for diversion after the meal. Members attending were Mesdames: Richard Barnard, L. B. Barnett, B. F. Cain, J. T. Carroll, Clyde Cave, Paul Conway, O. P. Cowart, W. L. Davis, Jr., Alton Fraser, J. T. ist in a Federal position.

"Now, I don't know if there is a single Communist in our State Department today. I have my own ideas, but I don't have any positive facts. But I do say that there has never been an honest attempt to find out if there are any Communists in high positions. And I think there should be such an attempt right now.

"There is a threat in this country almost as sinister as that of the Communist party members. That threat lies among the dark pink—but not quite red—fellow travellers who collaborate with the Communist party. It also lies with the politicians who refuse to act against Communism because the facts would embarrass a political party, Republicans as well as Democrats.

"I think it is nothing short of criminal to place party over the welfare of the nation at this time. The Tydings Committee—which did such a magnificent job of whitewashing the administration and such a splendid job of blackballing Senator McCarthy—is a case in point. The Tydings Committee says there is absolutely no Communist influence in the State Department. I wish I could believe the report—but there is no evidence to the effect that the committee did anything whatsoever to find the facts. Their efforts were directed solely at covering up embarrassing information and abusing anybody who wanted to get at the facts.

"The committee—after the farcical investigation had taken place—broke all the rules of the Senate by releasing their report of whitewash to the nation's press—24 hours before the minority members were allowed to see it. (I personally know this to be a fact because I went to the Senate Chamber that morning to hear the report.) The report said that the people of the United States have nothing to fear. They found that there was nothing derogatory in any of the loyalty files—and pooh-poohed Senator McCarthy's sworn affidavits from four State Department employees to the effect that they had been employed for five whole months in 1946 in the exclusive job of weeding everything from those files which could be construed as derogatory or incriminating about any State Department personnel.

"The Tydings Committee report gave a clean bill of health to Owen Lattimore. I don't know if Owen Lattimore is a Communist—but he is so close to being one that his presence at the policy-making level of the State Department is certainly a bad security risk. It was Owen Lattimore who hailed the Communist victory in China as the opening of—'limitless horizons of hope'—end quote. Owen Lattimore admitted using the Soviet diplomatic pouch to get forbidden and confidential material to Russia.

"Owen Lattimore was named—under oath—as a high official in the Communist party by a former party member. Owen Lattimore boasted that he had helped the State Department to allow China to fall without letting it appear that we pushed her. He is also the man who said: 'Let South Korea fall—but don't let it appear that we pushed her.' Owen Lattimore was one of the principle architects of our Asiatic foreign policy—which gave aid and comfort to Russia down to the last minute before war.

"Owen Lattimore toured Asia with Agnes Smedley—whom General MacArthur called 'the top Soviet spy in the Far East,' and with Phillip Jaffe, the communist editor of Amerasia. Owen Lattimore was called by a top Soviet official as 'the great hope of China.' The Tydings report, however, says that there is no evidence that this man Lattimore was in any way pro-Communist.

"Owen Lattimore spent several months at the Communist headquarters in Yenan—lecturing Communist troops but the Tydings Committee said—and I quote—'There is no evidence that he ever knowingly associated with Communists.'

"As I say—there is no way for me to know exactly if Owen Lattimore is or is not a Communist—and because of the secret inner operation of Communist Party members it would be difficult to prove this of any Communist—but all I do know is that I DON'T WANT OWEN LATTIMORE ON THE FEDERAL PAYROLL.

"There are others. Gustave Duran, for instance. It was proven that this State Department official was once regional head of the S.I.M.—a counterpart of the Soviet secret police—in Europe. The State Department denied this fact. Then photographs were produced showing Gustave Duran in the Secret Police uniform of the Spanish Communist Army. Duran was then quietly shifted out of the State Department to a higher paid job with the United Nations.

"I don't think we want former members of the Soviet Secret Police on the federal payroll.

"Dr. Frederick Schuman's job was to lecture and train State Department employees who were being sent to work in Soviet trouble spots. He was a member of the following Communist front organizations, just to name a few: the American Council on Soviet Relations—the American Russian Institute—the Civil Rights Congress—the Friends of the Soviet Union. He was chairman of one of the campaign committees for Henry Wallace.

"Is Doctor Schuman a man you want in the State Department, training others for work against the Soviets?

"Now let us consider Haldore Hanson. He was named by Louis Budenz—under oath—as a member of the Communist Party. He was co-editor of a flagrantly Communist newspaper in Peking, China. He was once arrested with the leaders of the Communist Youth Corps in China and described as a leader of his corps. He wrote a book—HUMAN ENDEAVOR—which praises Communism throughout and blasts capitalism and 'capitalistic imperialism.'

"Would you hire a man with that record in your business? Do you know what his job is? He is right now head of the Technical Project Staff of the Point Four Program of ECA. He is one of those planning to spend millions—hundreds of millions—of your dollars in various parts of the world.

"I don't think he should have that job, do you?

"Now, consider John Stewart Service. He was arrested by the FBI in connections with the theft of hundreds of secret government documents. Service admits turning military secrets over to the known Communist, Jaffe, editor of Amerasia. When Service and his co-defendants were arrested, J. Edgar Hoover said, 'This is a 100 per cent airtight case of espionage.'

But Service didn't go to jail. When Dean Acheson became Secretary of State he hired him again. Do you know what job Mr. Acheson gave Mr. Service? Hold your hats—he put him in the key position of placing personnel in the Far East areas! The job of the State Department in the Far East was not particularly brilliant prior to the outbreak of the Korean War. That is the greatest understatement of the year.

"Do you want a man who admits turning confidential and secret material to a known Communist agent on your payroll?

"Now—what do you say about Esther Brunauer—a $10,000 a year State Department official? She was chairman of a meeting of the American Friends of the Soviet Union at which some of our most renowned Communist leaders were featured speakers. She was one of the signers of the call to the American Youth Congress—a meeting which was admittedly Communist-dominated and Communist inspired.

"She admits that she married a member of the Young Communist League and knew that he was a member of that organization when she married him. Miss Brunauer handles top secret material now in Washington. Do you want to pay her $10,000 a year to do this in the face of such a record?

"Now let us look for a moment at the top man—Dean Acheson—said, 'Don't investigate Hiss—I will vouch for him completely.' That was before Hiss went to work at Yalta—where he drafted the Yalta Agreement check by jowl with Gromyko. American Ambassador Lane, when he read that document, said, 'I could not believe my eyes. To me, every line spoke of a surrender to Stalin.'

"Of course, Dean Acheson also was responsible for the immortal line—'I shall not turn my back on Alger Hiss'—after Alger Hiss had been found guilty by a Federal jury.

"Here's an interesting little piece of information. Way back in 1933 a certain U. S. Senator sponsored Dean Acheson for the position of Under-Secretary of the Treasury. This Senator said, 'Don't hold it against Dean Acheson because his law firm had represented Communist interests.'

"Do you know who the Senator was? It was our old friend Senator Millard Tydings.

"Dean Acheson has said that aid to anti-Communist forces in China was a 'silly venture.' He said that the victory of the Communist forces in China meant that 'A new day has dawned in Asia.'

"From October, 1945 to March, 1947—Dean Acheson's law firm was retained by the Communist government of Poland to obtain a 90 million dollar loan from the United States. Now—at that time—and Secretary Acheson admitted this under oath—Dean Acheson was under-Secretary of State, and he was charged with the sole responsibility of making or refusing that loan.

"The loan was granted. Dean Acheson admits that his firm was paid a fee of $50,000. He convinced himself that the loan should be made and took $50,000 as a result.

"Now—where did that 90 million dollars go? 50 million dollars—more than half—went to equip and arm the Communist Army and the dreaded Y. B.—the Communist secret police then being sent into Poland.

"This cannot be marked up to lack of knowledge. Ambassador Lane—our ambassador to Poland—pleaded with the administration not to make the loan. He said it would put a gun into the hands of every Communist brute in Poland and would keep a Christian population under the heel of permanent Communist domination. But Secretary Acheson coldly pooh-poohed the protest, and soon afterwards Ambassador Lane was fired.

"Now, here is the point of all this. I am not making the statement that all—or any—of these people are Communists. I am leaving that to others more qualified than I am to decide. But—speaking just as John Q. Citizen—I say that their records do not entitle them to positions of prominence and responsibility in our government at a time when the safety and future of this country are being seriously imperiled by the very people with whom these persons have had close and friendly and continuing contacts.

"Certainly, I don't accuse Senator Tydings—or even of being friendly to Communists. But I do accuse them of putting their Party above their country. I do accuse them of playing dirty and dangerous politics in the face of a national crisis.

"There are simply too many people in Washington today who are thinking of the next election, instead of the next generation. Personally, I think there are lots of things more important than winning elections. The life of every single boy on Korea today is worth more than all the elections in the world.

"The Tydings Committee was playing party politics all the way down the line. I think that this is no time for partisan politics. This is no time for bi-partisan politics. This is a time for non-partisan Americanism. It should not be important here or in Washington whether a man is a Democrat or a Republican. It's important only whether or not he is a good American.

"In 1777 George Washington, when faced with the treachery of Benedict Arnold, said: 'Put None But Americans on Guard Tonight.' He didn't mean bad Americans—or so-so Americans—or tepid Americans—or lukewarm Americans—or not-so-bad Americans. He meant good Americans—patriots—men of proven courage and loyalty who could be counted upon 100 per cent in a time of crisis.

"Friends, this country is in danger. Make no mistake about that. We are threatened by force of arms abroad and by cold and deadly treachery at home. Of all times, now is the time when we should follow the advice of the Father of our Country and 'Put None But Americans on Guard Tonight!'

Annual Back To College Trek Commences

There can be nothing more exciting than going to school and Hereford has been teeming with excitement the past week as bags are packed and tearful good-byes are spoken. Addresses and promises to write are exchanged as the students go in all directions to their chosen college or university.

The time to say good-bye becomes a little sad for both parents and students but the sadness is overshadowed by enthusiasm for the new life ahead and by a deep appreciation of the opportunities of the future.

Reynolds-Caraway Rites Performed Here Sunday

The church of Christ was the scene Sunday evening at six o'clock for the marriage of June Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reynolds, to Obed Caraway, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Caraway.

Minister Bob Wear officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Chester Wiggins, soloist, and a quartet of singers gave vocal music for the wedding. Preceding the entrance of the wedding party Reuben Knox, Eugene Roberson, Alma Faye Knox and Bobbie Jane Sisk sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and Mrs. Wiggins sang "Because" (D'Hardelot). As the bridal party entered Mrs. Wiggins sang "My Hero" as a processional.

The church was effectively decorated for the service. Tall white floor baskets filled with white gladioli spikes flanked the altar garlanded with white daisies and asters.

Miss Jacqueline Newell attended the bride as maid of honor. She was frocked in pale yellow crepe fashioned to correspond

She wore a bandeau of yellow and white rosebuds and carried an old fashioned nosegay of yellow rosebuds combined with orchid net and streamers.

O. G. Hill, Jr. served as best man and ushers were Jack Reynolds, brother of the bride, and Spicer Gripp.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white crepe street length dress modeled with tight fitting waist with portrait neckline and draped cap sleeves. The full gored skirt was gathered to a yoke in the back to form a slight bustle effect.

She wore a bandeau of white rosebuds and net on braided white satin, and carried the white Bible carried by Mrs. H. H. Caraway in her wedding, topped with a single white orchid surrounded by stephanotis. Narrow satin streamers showered the bridal bouquet. Her something old was a bracelet belonging to her sister, Mrs. Frank A. Gyles, Jr. and her new matching pearl necklace and ear rings were the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Reynolds, the bride's mother, wore a teal blue dress with dusty pink felt hat and black accessories. Mrs. Caraway, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy and fuschia dress with navy accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Reception At Bride's Home
Following the church service a small reception took place at the home of the bride's parents. Bobbie Jane Sisk assisted guests in registering. The bride's table was laid with lace over blue satin with a wide blue satin streamer bearing the inscription "June and Obed" running the table's length. Mrs. Frank A. Gyles, Jr. and Mrs. Johnny Caraway served the tiered wedding cake and Mrs. Iverson Leake of Canyon, sister of the bridegroom, served punch.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker and son, Keith, Miss Madge Howard and M. A. Reynolds, all of Crosbyton, and Mr. and Mrs. Iverson Leake of Canyon.

Mrs. Caraway is a graduate of Hereford high school, member of the high school band, Pep Club, F.H.A. and was drum majorette during her senior year.

Mr. Caraway graduated from West Texas high school, Canyon, taking an active part in athletics. He served with the Marines three years during the war. He is engaged in ranching.

Following the reception the wedding party was entertained at a dinner given in Amarillo.

Mrs. Maude Montfort has returned to her home in Branson, Mo., after a visit here with her daughter, Mrs. Homer Brumley, and a stay in Amarillo with a daughter, Mrs. Tommy Pope.

Lillyan Bonesio Honored At Miscellaneous Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given Tuesday afternoon at the lovely new home of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Willshire to honor Miss Lillyan Bonesio who became the bride of David L. Leavers on September 9.

Mrs. Maude Montfort has returned to her home in Branson, Mo., after a visit here with her daughter, Mrs. Homer Brumley, and a stay in Amarillo with a daughter, Mrs. Tommy Pope.

Mrs. Willshire, Miss Bonesio, Mrs. Frank Bonesio of Avon,

Conn., mother of the bride-elect and Mrs. Hall Beavers, the prospective bridegroom's mother, received the large group of guests during the calling hours.

Old Fashioned Custard Pie; Always A Favorite

When delegates to the sixth triennial conference of the Associated Country women of the World sailed from New York for Copenhagen where the conference is being held, it was reported in The New York Times that the 200 American women took along some typically American recipes including such dishes as baked beans, fried chicken, apple and hamburgers.

As part of their program to promote greater international understanding, they will present copies of these recipes to the women from 25 other countries attending the conference.

rural women are working as kitchen propagandists for democracy and feel that there could be no better way of getting acquainted than exchanging culinary notes.

It is highly probable that the booklet of recipes which the American women will distribute among the women of other countries will contain a recipe for old fashioned custard pie. It's as American as the Fourth of July and runs a close second to apple pie in favor.

Here is an old-old recipe handed down by Mrs. Lee Kendall who says she has eaten baked

Industry On Strike Source Of Trouble

When the Secretary of Defense, Louis Johnson, attempted to account for the $90,000,000,000 spent by the military establishment in the last five years, he pointed out that $42,000,000,000 was used to liquidate World War II.

This is a surprising sum. Mr. Johnson's explanation includes two items, terminal leave pay and "the amounts paid to contractors whose war-time production contracts were terminated." It might be interesting information for the people of this country to know exactly how much money, whether millions or billions, was used to settle the claims of war contractors. In fact, there have been some rather unsavory stories in connection with the approval of these termination contracts.

This brings to mind another fact that is not generally known in the United States. In 1940 and 1941, when the Government of the United States was attempting to persuade the nation's industrialists to convert to the manufacture of war materials, many of the nation's leading manufacturers refused to convert their plants to defense production until their terms were met by the Government. In fact, for many months, the industrialists insisted that the Government of the United States erect new plants so that war production could get underway without interfering with the production of peace-time goods.

Of course, the magnitude of the conflict made this silly but it should not be overlooked that many of the industrialists not only insisted upon the construction of new plants but that the Government, in making the first war-goods contracts, should allow sufficient profit to the industrialists to pay for the plants and the industrialists would own them. Upon subsequent orders, the government would pay a profit to the industrialists who had thus acquired the plant constructed by the Government.

In the face of the danger that now confronts the nation, there are some labor leaders who remember what happened in 1940 and 1941. They remind business men that "there are no profits under Soviet rule" and assert that the nation cannot afford "the luxury of a strike by nation's industrialists." As George Meany, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor says, the industrialists demanded that there be no tax on defense production profits, that they have five-year plant amortization and that the Government meet their demands before they began to produce. If anybody is interested in the subject and will take the trouble to study the record of 1940 and 1941, they will find that Mr. Meany is telling the truth.

"Election Jitters"

So far, Congress has not taken steps to provide an excess profits tax, as recommended by the President, who admits that the levy is "very controversial."

President Truman assumes that eventually there will be an excess profits tax, but in a press conference, makes the point that the legislators will have time to work it out after the elections are over and when they haven't got the election jitters.

The "election jitters" is one of the serious ailments that affects democratic countries. Legislators, passing upon proposed laws, just before they go to the polls, are very careful not to get themselves out on a limb. They tend to postpone controversial issues until after the voting is over.

While, upon rare occasions, we find a Congressman who is willing to take his stand on the basis of what he believes is for the public good, there is nothing to be gained by criticizing the cautious policy of legislators who have a yen to stay in office.

The criticism, if any, should be applied to the people who vote in the elections. If they are not intelligent enough to support those who serve the interests of their country rather than those of partisan groups, they cannot justly criticize the solons who believe that preservation is the first law of political, as well as other forms of life.

Many speakers mistake tolerance for letting a minority of the population compel the majority to do something that the minority wants.

Now that commencement oratory is about over, the nation can take the next eleven months to try out some of the theories propounded.

Some of the psychiatrists are hard-headed, stubborn boys.

They will tackle any problem and give you an answer without wasting words in shading the question until it loses forcefulness.

Now, what do you think is the greatest source of family trouble? This is a question that has wrecked romance, blasted family life and disintegrated the home. In fact, it is such a dangerous query that a cagey individual, male or female, will pass it up almost without reading it.

Not so, however with keen psychiatrists. Recently, one of them, right off the bat, and apparently without a thought of his home-life, said: "The struggle between husband and wife over who is going to be the 'boss', is the answer to the query."

To add fuel to the fire, the man insists that "efficiency in family life is best served by the dominance of one person." This will not cause much trouble in itself. Every member of the family will readily agree. The havoc begins when somebody tries to gain the dominance.

Call For Controls

Sixty-five of the nation's leading economists have issued a statement calling for an immediate increase in taxation to cover the rise in defense expenditures and to balance the budget. In addition, to prevent inflation from war spending, the economists call for credit control.

The economic experts point out that communistic aggression will require greatly expanded military forces and supplies for some time to come. Enlarged outlays by the government for war preparations will likely turn a boom into an inflation which will "hurt most the most helpless members of society—the widows, the orphans, the aged, the pensioners, the annuitants, the disabled."

The economists do not believe that it is necessary for the people of the United States to suffer the "abomination of inflation." They think that our economy can provide a high standard of living and a large increase in military outlay "without degradation of the dollar." They think that it is necessary, first, to increase taxes and, secondly, to have adequate control powers over consumer finance and construction finance.

The economists are theoretically correct and there is every reason why intelligent Americans should support their recommendations. Congress has been somewhat ahead of the President in proposing economic controls which, at this time, the Chief Executive does not think are necessary. Nevertheless, such controls will probably become law on a stand-by basis, leaving it to the President to determine when to put into effect price, wage and rationing controls.

Wage, price and profit control are advisable when the nation goes to war but we are willing to gamble a dime on the inability of government to control war profits. Money is not patriotic.

As July 4th approaches, may we request the super-patriots to let American ideals

The main trouble with the private enterprise system is that it is being burdened with speculators, loafers and inside men—all supported by workers and producers.

THE Washington Merry-Go-Round

Second Rate Officers

OUR boys in Korea are entitled to the Army's best combat officers, whose leadership may mean the difference between life and death. Yet it is common talk in the Pentagon that some key battle posts are manned by second-rate officers.

There seems to be a reluctance on the Army's part to send its first team to Korea. Though the Army has plenty of crack officers, the Korean command went to Lieut. Gen. Walton Walker who happened to be the highest-ranking officer under MacArthur and thereby inherited the job.

Walker served successfully during the last war under the late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr. However, Walker's fellow generals don't think much of him as a great field commander.

One general summed up the common opinion of Walker bluntly. "Walker is a methodical, plodding, regular army plod horse who suddenly found himself a lieutenant general."

The impression is that while Walker is not a bad general, he is not a particularly good one. Yet the G.I.'s at the front are entitled to the best commanding general we've got.

Walker's chief of staff is Col. Eugene Landrum, who commanded the 10th division when it landed in France in June, 1944. However, he made such a poor showing that he was relieved of his command within two months and shipped back to the states. Later, when most of the wartime generals were awarded one rank, Landrum was dropped two ranks, from major general to colonel. Yet he now holds the crucial post as Walker's chief of staff in Korea—because, like Walker, Landrum happened to be in line for the job.

Back in Japan, the G-2 section is General MacArthur's eyes and ears. Its job is to gather and analyze military intelligence, so vital in time of war. Yet the G-2 chief, in charge of this important listening post, is Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby, a strutting heel-dick who has been accused by subordinates of doctoring the intelligence reports to please rather than inform MacArthur. Born in Prussia, Willoughby's real name is von Tschape-Wieden-back and his unhelpful qualification is the fact that he served under MacArthur in Hawaii. This is the estimate of fellow generals.

Explosive McKellar

The full story hasn't been told how 81-year-old Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee tried to hop 71-year-old Congressman Clarence Cannon of Missouri over the head with a gavel.

It happened behind closed doors, while senate and house conferees were trying to iron out differences in the appropriations bill. This brought McKellar, the senate appropriations chairman, and Cannon, the house appropriations chairman, into violent disagreement.

With an explosive snarl, McKellar accused Cannon of "making snarling references." Then the aged Tennessee began spouting epithets, which an eyewitness later reported "almost peeled the paint off the walls." One of the milder terms McKellar used to describe Cannon was S.O.B. (Unabbreviated).

This was too much for Cannon who announced he wouldn't take such abuse "from any man" and started after McKellar. Simultaneously, the spitting senator from Tennessee picked up his gavel which he had been using to rap the table and tried to rap Cannon. However, colleagues separated them before they could do any damage to each other.

Washington Pipeline

General MacArthur was considering coming back to the United States just as the Korean war broke out. He was interested in an offer of a top job at Kemington Rand.

Before the end of the year, President Truman plans to set up a special board to keep an eye on prices and a new agency to take over the vital job of civilian defense. Many top mobsters have been getting careless with their income-tax returns. They have been reporting ridiculously small incomes and lumping it all under such general terms as "self-speculation."

Pulling Strings

Whether you're a 3 per center angling for government contracts or a reserve officer trying to get out of a combat unit, it still pays to have an inside track with Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, the irrefragable White House military aide.

For example, here is how Vaughan is pulling strings inside the Pentagon for Robert C. Smith of Columbia, Mo., a reserve Army lieutenant, who wants to transfer from the field artillery to the legal section.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Up or Down?

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa:

I married a widower about a year ago. He had two children, and I am very fond of both of them.

One child is very agreeable and easy to manage, while the other is quite a problem. He is an attractive child but if I correct him, he tells me that I am not his real mother and he doesn't have to mind anyone but his daddy.

I don't know exactly what to do because I want the child to love me, but this kind of situation is bad for him as well as for me.

What do you advise me to do? STEPMOTHER—Ark.

Answer: This is a situation that no one but your husband can handle. Anyone who takes care of a child is entitled to obedience, and it is your husband's duty to explain to his son that he must obey you while he is in your care.

There is nothing that will wreck discipline and happiness in a home quicker than for two parents to be divided in their ideas of bringing up a child and in letting him know it. He takes advantage of such a situation to get his own way and do as he pleases. He plays one parent against the other and ends up by causing discord in the family.

So, tell your husband to get on the job and straighten things out before they get beyond control.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am engaged to a fine young man and he gets a vacation the last part of this month. He wants me to visit his parents but it will take several days to make the trip by car.

Do you think it will be all right for just the two of us to go or should we take someone else along?

GRETA—New Jersey

Answer: It will be wiser to take someone else along. If you could break it by staying with friends, it would be permissible for the two of you to go alone.

But, under the circumstances, where you will have to spend several nights in hotels along the way, I am afraid your reputation would suffer if the two of you go by yourselves.

LOUISA.

On A Dreadful Road Practically Unarmed

By EDWARD H. SIMS, Brand Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C. x x x x x Official Washington is torn between military and political consideration of the Korean war, and international picture. On the one hand, the White House, and some members of Congress, prefer to wait until after the November elections to spill the bad news. Pentagon officials, some not in a position to move know that mobilization and general preparedness should move faster.

The bad news is this: Heavier taxation, widespread mobilization, price controls, wage controls, rationing, excess profits, taxes and other war-time measures. All will come unless the Korean situation clears up unexpectedly. The President says we don't need price control, rationing and wage control at this time. He does not want an excess profits law at this time, but would favor one in January, retroactive to June or July. He says we don't need universal military training now—that we haven't got the bases to train the men.

While politics is only natural, one can't help but think the great pastime should not be in-

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

The world's greatest army marched back into the field last week and the first-grade teachers report a less fearful bunch of little beginners probably due to this year's procedure of havin' them enroll early to get acquainted with instructors and surroundin' before their mamas apron strings were cut entirely.

The new cafeteria at Shirley not only makes it more convenient but relieves the extra burden for the women servin' meals for the high school and junior high.

Since it is beginnin' to look like corn could easily become one of our major crops and with plans already announced for the new packin' plant in Amarillo, feed lots like those of Clarence F. Davis east of town on Highway 60 will likely be holdin' more and more of our cattle.

We think it is a nice gesture on the part of Buck Owens and the Hereford Food Mart who sponsors an all Spanish program over KPAN each day which will be of special interest to the Latin-Americans who help us with our crops and spend so much money in our town each season.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Bootleg Philosopher has gotten wind of Social Security for farmers, and you can depend on him to try to qualify.) Dear editor:

I heard Social Security benefits was gonna be extended to practically everybody, farmers and other self-employed people included, such as barbers, merchants, etc. and I was in such a hurry to find out all the details I violated one of my basic principles and rushed into town and bought a newspaper, paid cash for it out of my own pocket, and took it home and read all I could find out about it.

As I understand it, it's true. The self-employed is gonna be included, and a man who runs his own business 15 or 20 years and then goes busted can get retirement pay the same as the man who worked for him durin them years, and this seems fair to me, an employer probably ought to eat in his old age the same as an employee. Also, a farmer can even get it, although it sometimes don't take 15 or 20 years for a farmer to find out he's busted, don't make no difference if some of em keep right on farmin anyway, busted or not.

Now I aim to apply for social security as soon as they get the forms printed, but first I would appreciate you findin out just how technical the government's gonna be on this "self-employed" business.

As a farmer, I'm naturally self-employed, but what I want to know is how strict is the government gonna be on defining self-employment? Say a man has a modern outlook, ain't no slave-driver, believes in fine labor-management relations, and has a tendency to be sort of easy with himself. . . . is the government gonna be bureaucratic about this and go to checkin up on how much work he's been doin for himself?

If any such undertakin is likely, the whole program will blow up as far as I'm concerned. It's perfectly all right for the government to offer me retirement pay after I've spent a lifetime workin, but if it comes snoopin around inquirin into how much work that included, down to hours and profit, the thing ain't no better than what we got now. A self-employed man ain't no clock-puncher. A man workin for in the shade, but his brain be racin. You don't have to be hunched over a tractor seat necessarily to be workin, under my system.

Let's get a ruin on this before we go any further. Yours faithfully, J. A.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Comic Strip Questions Get A Variety Of Answers

What comics do you like best?

Mrs. Clinton Cates—Out Our Way, Joe Palooka, and Prince Valiant. The comics in the Sunday Brand aren't the kind I look forward to reading.

Mrs. Gordon Neath—I don't like any of them. I get enough just reading them to the children. They like Donald Duck and things like that.

Mrs. Estis Bass—I just don't care for any of them.

Debbs Knax—Dick Tracy, Alley Oop, Ben Bolt, Sweeney, and Blondie.

E. H. Youts—Mutt and Jeff, Out Our Way.

Mrs. Thomas Inman—Dixie Dugan.

Ernest Ford—Bugs Bunny and Porky Pig, because they act so much like people. There is a lot of human nature in those comics.

R. W. Elliston—Don't take much stock in any of them. I guess they are all right for those who like them, but I can get along without them.

Mrs. D. H. Alexander—Out Our Way, The Willets, Dixie Dugan, and Joe Palooka. Especially, The Willets, because I have a son and daughter about the same age as the son and daughter in The Willets. Sometimes when there is an especially good one, I say: "Well, we got our picture in the papers."

Mrs. R. G. Blue—I like all of them, but especially Micky Mouse. They give me a laugh. You know, what we need in this life is a good laugh.

Mrs. R. A. Daniel—Blondie and Dick Tracy. I always enjoy the adventure comics. When my work is done, I like to sit down and read the comics for relaxation. I have a little girl to whom I read Donald Duck and Micky Mouse. I don't think they hurt her, but some of these comic books for children are horrors.

dulged in at the moment. Taxes ought to go up sharply immediately. If humanly possible, UMT should begin at once, even if things get off to a ragged start. Prices, as well as wages, should be frozen, and rationing — if necessary — should be ordered. We are ready in a period of inflation again. Bernard Baruch warned in the first days of the last war that such controls should be imposed immediately. A few weeks ago, he recalled sadly, in a Senate committee, that controls came far too late, and serious inflation resulted.

But to get away from the economic standpoint, and look into the physical, one finds even more compelling reasons for quicker mobilization. Evidently, the administration or the politicians, refuse to believe the deadly truth staring us in the face. Boiled down to simple, direct language, it is this!

The Russians are getting ready for a war with the United States, and right now, if it were precipitated, this country's land forces would be smashed in any theater surrounding the USSR. We could not field fifteen well-trained divisions today. Hitler invaded Russia with 121 well-trained divisions. Russia opposed the invasion with 186 divisions, at the beginning. German generals said after the war the Russian troops were not good at the beginning. But without exception they agreed the troops improved with experience. And Rumstedt, probably the best of the Nazi generals, believes the Red troops were excellent in the later stages of the war.

Other German generals establish the fact that the Russian regard life as of minor consideration, in battle. In a war with the United States, the Reds would have two-to-one odds, and that would be quite a change from the recent war, when the Allies always had two or three-to-one odds in Europe, shortly after the June, 1944 invasion.

The terrifying danger facing this country today is realized by some Pentagon officers. Half of our army is now in Korea—tied down by Koreans, not Russians! If the Chinese Communists entered the war in Korea, they might as well run us into the ocean. The best step for this country would be to get out of Korea as fast as possible—when the huge Chinese armies made their way into Southern Korea. It would be useless and futile to waste U. S. resources and human reserves fighting Chinese and Koreans.

There is only one real enemy. That is Soviet Russia. Unless there is a revolution in Russia, such as the Reds pulled off in 1917, the United States and Russia are going to clash. Napoleon, Hitler, and others failed to whip Russia by invading the tremendous country. The major hope of this country is in building up strong German and Japanese armies, and then in securing the aid of Britain, the colonies, France, Italy and Spain—all the world — in an effort to crush the Red dictatorship and worldwide aggression.

At present some of us are playing politics. We are not building up Japanese and German armies. Even our own army is pitiful, compared to Russia's army. We are moving down a dreadful road, practically unarmed, and some of our leaders don't want to take the unpleasant steps necessary for our survival.

custard pies made by many recipes but none can top this one.

Old Fashioned Baked Custard Pie

- 2 cups sweet milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 eggs well beaten
- 1 tablespoon butter (heaped)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla dash of nutmeg

Scald the milk and add the eggs which have been beaten thoroughly. Add the sugar and continue beating until sugar is dissolved. Add the melted butter and vanilla and pour into an unbaked pie shell. Dot with nutmeg and bake in a 350 preheated oven until set. The pie is done when an inserted case knife comes out clean.

This recipe may also be used as a pudding. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish and set in a shallow pan of water in a 375 F oven to bake. It is also done when an inserted knife comes out clean. A few raisins and nuts may be added and it is delicious served with whipped cream.

Elizabeth Ann Dunlap Will Wed Kansan October First

At an attractively appointed tea given by Mrs. W. E. Dunlap Thursday afternoon, announcement was made of the approaching marriage of her daughter, Elizabeth Ann Dunlap, and Eugene R. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones of Liberal, Kansas.

The couple will be married on October 1 in the First Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. Don Davidson, reading the service. Mrs. Dean Dunlap of Amarillo, sister-in-law of the bride-elect, will be her matron of honor and the prospective bridegroom's niece, Patty Parsons of Hugoton, Kansas, will serve as flower girl.

At the tea a blue and white theme combined with gold was used, the table being centered by a crystal bowl filled with blue and gold chrysanthemums and asters. Cake squares revealed the date, October 1, in blue and dainty blue napkins had "Betty and Ralph" inscribed in gold.

Mrs. R. P. Conaway greeted the guests at the door and Mrs. Dunlap and the honoree were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. E. R. Jones, the bride-groom elect's mother, his sister, Mrs. Wayne Parsons of Hugoton, Kansas, Mrs. Dean Dunlap of Amarillo and Patty Parsons of Hugoton.

Morning Coffee Is L. A. E. Club Initial Event

A morning coffee was the initial event for LAE Club 1950-51 activities Tuesday in the home of Mrs. P. L. Dishman. Suggestive of the fall and winter season just ahead, the hostess used yellow and orange chrysanthemums combined with autumn leaves in decoration. Corsages of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums were arranged around the colorful table center piece, which were later used as favors for individual club members. Mrs. George Benson poured.

The new president, Mrs. Bill Jones, presided and a resume of new year books was given as the books were distributed. The club will have for its study course this year, "Women—Our Path Ahead" and will include the major interests of the modern woman. DUDLEY GREEN HEREFORD, TEXAS ARCHIE SCOTT

Long Time Ago

45 Years Ago

Immigration agent Brown, in connection with Witherpoon & Gough, arrived with two carloads of northern prospectors, fifty in all, who were seeking bargains in Panhandle lands.

They were taken through to Bovina where they were shown the country, and then brought to Hereford to spend several days investigating here.

All this part of the Panhandle was made to put on new life as a result of the copious rain which fell that week. Aside from crops, the ground was left in splendid conditions for sowing wheat.

At an early hour Saturday morning, September 2, 1905, carriages and wagons began rolling in at a lively rate bringing people from the four quarters of this and adjoining counties their purpose being to participate in Hereford's annual celebration. The day was rather an unfavorable one owing to the constant blowing of the wind which created considerable dust, but the pleasure lovers were not to be daunted by a little dust; so by noon the entire grounds about the court yard and business center were thoroughly alive with the throngs as they surged to and fro.

A. J. Lipscomb after a few brief announcements introduced A. D. McNair of the Farm & Ranch who spoke briefly but interestingly in an eulogy on the plains.

J. W. English, who was next introduced, opened his speech by saying, "A little nonsense, now and then, is relished by the wisest men." For several minutes Col. English kept the crowds in an uproar of laughter by his ready wit and good humor.

After speaking was over, the minds of all were diverted to the exhibits in the live stock and horticulture departments, which were fine representatives of what could and was being done in those departments.

J. F. Morris of Gainesville, who was well known to most of the Hereford citizens manifested his unbounded confidence in Panhandle soil by purchasing 10 1/2 acres of the T. & N. O. lands in Castro County. They were glad indeed to have Mr. Morris turn his attention in that direction for with him would likely come many other substantial settlers.

Rev. H. Dillon had resigned his place as pastor of the Baptist Church in Hereford. He and his family were leaving for Virginia as soon as he could adjust matters here. His resignation was offered and accepted the past Sunday with the understanding that he would supply as long as he remained in the city. This course was made necessary by the fact that Rev. Dillon had had five cases of typhoid fever in his family that summer and it was thought that a change in climate would be beneficial to those who had been sick.

The meeting which had been brought to a close the past week by Rev. Wesson and Burnett at Basset school house was attended by very encouraging results owing to the earnest, able preaching of those two men of God.

Sunday, September 3, 1905 at 4:00 p. m., the rites of holy matrimony were solemnized at the home of Mrs. Lou Walters, she giving her daughter, Miss Nora, in marriage to Mr. Marcus C. Raley of Amarillo.

Accompanied by Miss Bernice Russell and Mr. Roy Conoley, the bride and groom crossed the large hall and stopped under an archway tastily festooned with pure white ribbon, in the center of which were suspended two ribbon-linked hearts that were appropriately suggestive of the influence that Cupid had wielded ed over the two lives that were about to be united for life, and whose souls thereafter were to have "but a single thought."

Among the largest land trades of the season was perfected that week when R. L. and A. H. Elliston and T. J. Graves purchased the eight-section ranch of J. H. Holland near Dimmitt in Castro County.

The protracted meeting which was then in progress at the Methodist Church was attracting large congregations, especially at the evening services.

C. B. Oxendine and C. L. Davis came in that week from a ten days' trip to Missouri where they knew, had broken the melon record that year. He placed one of his growing on exhibition at Graves & Elliston's office that week which weighed 5 1/4 lbs.

When the doors of the Panhandle Christian College were thrown open for the reception of pupils that week 54 pupils enrolled in the literary department besides a splendid representation in the other departments. With that good showing it was believed that the attendance would soon reach the 100 mark.

The faculty of that session was as follows: Charles Q. Barton, President; H. A. Russell, professor of Latin, English and history; Mrs. Martha Tallaferrero, lady principal; Jesse B. Haston, instructor in English Bible; Miss Ethel McDiarmid, instructor in oratory and English; Miss Narcissa C. Chapman, instructor in music; Miss LeNoir Dimmitt, instructor in art; Miss Mary Tallaferrero, principal of primary and intermediate departments; and Miss Nara Trebby, instructor in stenography.

School has started and all the boys and girls are happy. They are always glad for it to close and glad for it to start. It seems they all want sixth period study hall.

The Cultural Home Demonstration ladies served lunch at the E. N. Cooke dairy sale Tuesday. There was a large crowd, most of them out-of-town folk, from near-by communities and New Mexico. The sale was held indoors and was especially nice.

The auctioneer was Kenneth Bozeman from Lubbock. It rained a greater part of the afternoon but the sale being held indoors made very little difference until the crowd began to go home, and cars were in the ditches all along the road. One out-of-towner came very near turning over as his pickup went into a ditch that was exceptionally deep. A tractor from the Wert Phillips place pulled several cars out.

Enrollment Reaches 120; Busses Travel 320 Miles

By MRS. E. H. MOSTELLER

In spite of the rain which fell Sunday night and early Monday morning, the Adrian school got off to a good start with an enrollment of 120 students. There was only one former student not present for enrollment. That was Melaine Weidner. She has not returned from a visit with her grandparents in Oregon. There were some new families in the community whose children were not present. All of last year's teachers were re-hired and on hand Monday to take up their duties. The custodian, Mr. C. V. Griggs, was there too with a hearty welcome to all. We wonder if there was ever anyone else in a school who has claimed the love of a whole student body for so many years as Pappy Griggs.

The lunch room will be under new management this year. Mrs. J. E. Young will be the head cook with Mrs. Nannie Fortenberry as helper. They are both very capable women.

There has been a change in the busses. Until this year the busses have been owned by individuals. This year the school owns its own busses. They will be driven by Bill Hampton, Paul Jones, C. W. Edwards and Mack Reed. These drivers will all live at the end of their drive. The combined mileage to deliver the children to and from school one day is estimated to be about 320 miles. Both students and parents noticed with pleasure the new coats of paint the school house has received during the summer. The walls and ceilings of the auditorium received a badly needed going over. The ceilings of the entire building were painted; most of the floors of the class rooms were varnished and all of the hallways were painted.

Some out-of-town labor was hired but the main part was done by Weldon G. Reno, C. L. Murray, Jack Balding and John Horton.

Mr. W. J. Brown has improved in health to the extent that he came home from Northwest Texas hospital in Amarillo Friday. He had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Eden of Lubbock and Mr. Arthur McVean of Kenedale. Mrs. Eden is Mr. Brown's daughter. Mr. McVean is the brother of the former Mrs. Brown and an uncle of Mrs. C. D. Grublikey and Jack Balding whom he also visited.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brown and Billy Don and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith attended the Amarillo-Pampa baseball game in Amarillo Sunday afternoon.

I. M. Smith, Jack Fincher, Ray Brown and E. H. Mosteller returned from their fishing trip in Colorado Friday. They had absolutely no luck fishing but enjoyed playing dominoes.

Among those of Adrian who made an attempt to see the Boys' Ranch Rodeo were Mrs. Frankie L. Shaw, Mrs. C. D. Grublikey and son, David Thomas, Mrs. Grace Baker, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McQueen and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Harris and children and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Glenn. Most of the group did not get to see the rodeo or eat any barbecue. The Queens and Mrs. Baker did not ever get to cross the creek. They went to Dumas where they visited Mrs. Queens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Turner, and a sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Trexler.

Friends of Arthur Jewett were happy to see him at school Monday morning for enrollment. Arthur was injured earlier in the summer when he fell from a tractor and was run over. He was confined to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo for some time. He will not be able to attend school for another week but will be able to keep up his lessons at home for that time.

Mrs. Lillian Lemke returned home Thursday from Northwest Texas hospital in Amarillo. She had been hospitalized since sometime in June when she was injured in an automobile accident. She is reported as feeling fine. A friend, Mrs. Ann Cheshire, of Amarillo, brought her home and remained Friday. Mrs. Lemke had as guests Saturday her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Stoneman and daughter of Wellington.

Mr. F. M. Brown and sons, Jimmy and Billy Don, and Minor Pounds attended a quarter horse sale in Amarillo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crenshaw and children left Thursday for Little Rock, Ark., where they will make their home. Mr. Crenshaw will still be working with the weather bureau under civil service. The Adrian community will greatly miss the Crenshaws but wish them a happy life in their new home.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Bales Wednesday night were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Ponds and son, Dee Zane. Mr. and Mrs. Ponds returned Thursday to their home in Canyon, leaving Dee Zane for a visit. He went home Saturday.

Adrian is happy to again have water. The crew worked night and day from Friday morning to Sunday afternoon in an effort to make our water supply better. There was from 15 to 17 feet of sand to clean out. They also drilled through a strata of shale to a layer of red dirt in an attempt to get more water. This additional drilling makes the well 525 feet deep. Then an electric pump was installed. From what can be seen so far the supply has been increased. When letting the water run out on a level, a 55 gallon container was filled in one minute and 10 seconds. When pumping into an overhead tank, the output is 32 gallons per minute. The former output into the overhead tank was about 17 gallons per minute. This new supply should furnish Adrian with plenty of water.

Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Young and Mrs. E. H. Mosteller were Sunday afternoon callers in the Lorin Creitz and Ed Klein homes.

Grady Skaggs, Robert and Ruth Jacobson saw a show in Amarillo Sunday afternoon. Mesdames John Skaggs, E. N. Jacobson and J. E. Speed shopped in Amarillo Friday.

Among those of Adrian who shopped in Hereford last week were Mrs. L. E. Wagner, Mrs. Nannie Fortenberry, Mrs. Jake Fortenberry, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bogle, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Guggell and son Bill, Mrs. E. H. Mosteller and Jean Finley. The Mrs. Fortenberrys visited in the Frank Fortenberry home north of Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Milam have gone to Texarkana, Texas to seek employment. Mr. Milam's home is 25 miles south in Queen City.

Mrs. Nellye Davis went to Vega Saturday to see Dr. Lloyd for a check-up of the wound received when bitten by a dog. The doctor thinks there is no danger that the dog might have rabies.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Leslie and daughters have moved into Haley Shaw's house here in town so the girls will be closer to school.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Jackson took their son, Walter Ray, to Tucumcari, N. M. Monday. He has to enroll for school Tuesday.

Recent guests in the R. L. Pinnell home were Mrs. Pinnell's parents, Rev. and Mrs. M. E. Wells, a sister, Mrs. Jo Hy Smith and two sons, all of White Deer. Rev. and Mrs. Wells were here two days. Mrs. Hy Smith visited for a week. They also renewed acquaintances with friends in Hereford. Mrs. Hy Smith and boys boarded a bus in Amarillo Tuesday to return to their home.

Those of Adrian who attended the Annual Family Picnic at Simms Community House August 27 were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon G. Reno and Max. Also attending was Patsy Holt of Littlefield, a guest and niece of the Renos.

The picnic this year was honoring the Bippus Community for their assistance in completing the Simms Community House. Among Bippus people who attended were Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Pinnell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fortenberry, Chloe Dell and Anna Kate Fortenberry and Mrs. Horace Betts and children.

The executive committee of the Adrian PTA met in the Weldon G. Reno home Thursday afternoon to make plans for the following school year. The first meeting will be the evening of September 20. This meeting is planned as a get-acquainted meeting where all the new comers to our community and the parents who are starting their first child in school will have a chance to become better acquainted with the faculty and other parents of the PTA. Also everyone should come prepared to pay their membership dues as a report has to go to the state office soon after.

A guest of Jean Finley and Mrs. E. H. Mosteller Wednesday and Thursday was Barbara Pinnell. They and Mrs. Nellye Davis and Mrs. Grace Baker shopped in Amarillo Wednesday. Jean Finley visited her dentist also.

Jackie Gainer took his grandfather, J. J. Gainer, to his home in Miami, Oklahoma Wednesday and returned home Monday. Mr. Gainer had been visiting here with Jackie and his mother, Mrs. Zella Crim for several days.

Mrs. A. H. Jordan and Erma Lou went Friday to Sudan to see Mrs. Jordan's mother, Mrs. Annie Serratt.

Adrian shoppers in Amarillo Friday were Mrs. R. A. Grublikey and Linda and Ricky, Mrs. P. H. Grublikey and John Henry, and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Grublikey and Perry Dale.

Mrs. A. H. Jordan, Erma Lou Jordan, Mrs. H. D. Tomlinson and Judy Nell were Hereford visitors Monday.

John Henry Grublikey visited Edward and Phillip Pinnell Friday through Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Neaves was ill with asthma a part of last week and was in a hospital a part of the time.

Mrs. P. H. Grublikey and Esther visited Mrs. Grublikey's mother, Mrs. John Scott, in Hereford Sunday. Mrs. Scott is ill but somewhat improved.

Mrs. Neoma Jackson, Paul Edwards and Mrs. Lillie Reynolds returned Sunday from Colorado where they have enjoyed several days of vacation.

The crew of men who have been away a big part of the summer doing custom harvesting returned one day last week. Some of the men in this crew were Elmer Weldner, J. E. Jones, C. W. Edwards and Joe Elmore. They harvested in Colorado and South Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frank were hosts Saturday night to a number of friends with a dance in their new home that is nearing completion. This was an open house affair, but due to rainy weather there were not as many who were able to attend as there would have been otherwise. However, those who did go enjoyed the evening immensely. Mrs. Frank says they expect to be moved in by the end of the week, even though it is not finished on the outside.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Simms and Mary Lou and Adrian Simms of Ft. Worth came through Adrian Saturday on their way home from vacationing in Colorado and New Mexico. They had visited Mr. Simms' brother in New Mexico and were planning to visit his mother in Amarillo. Mr.

and Mrs. Simms were teachers here for 13 years and prior to that Mr. Simms with his parents and brother were residents of Hereford. They visited the John Skaggs family and other friends.

Mr. Labry Ballard left Sunday for Las Cruces, N. M. to join his wife and children in a visit with the Floyd Lanes. They expect to come home Wednesday. The change in climate has improved the health of their daughter, Beth.

Miss Norrien Jacobson went to Ft. Worth Monday where she will seek employment.

Miss Polly Ann Howard boarded the Greyhound bus early Monday morning to return to her home in Tulsa, Okla. She has been visiting her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Hawn, for two weeks.

Guests of Mr. Ed Klein over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Klein and Mrs. Billy Jack Klein and two sons, all of Lubbock. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hughes of Earlville, Illinois. Ed and W. E. are brothers. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes are old family friends and were here looking after farm interests near Vega.

Those of Adrian who shopped in Hereford Monday were Mrs. R. A. Grublikey and two children and Mrs. Wilma Smith and Jackie. Mrs. Grublikey and Mrs. Smith saw their doctor, also.

Mrs. E. H. Mosteller and Jean Finley attended to business in Vega Tuesday.

Mrs. E. K. Pinnell and son, Donald, took Rebba Joyce Pinnell to have dentist work done before school starts.

Irl Smith, Jack Fincher, Ray Brown and Buster Mosteller left Tuesday for a fishing trip. When asked where they were going, they said, "Can't say, as we don't know ourselves. We will start down the road and when someone says 'turn,' the driver will turn."

Mr. John Hohenshelt of Vega is employed with his water well drill machinery in cleaning out the Adrian city well and installing a new electric pump.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lane arrived from Las Cruces, N. M. for a few days' visit with Mrs. Lane's mother, Mrs. Bessie Spande, and other relatives and friends. Besides her mother, she has three sisters and their families in Adrian and the surrounding community.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frank and children moved into their new home this week. It is not completed on the outside but near enough finished inside to permit them to move in.

South Hereford HD Club Has First Fall Meeting

I DIDN'T LIKE THE TITLE EITHER!

Twentieth Century-Fox made a very funny burlesque about cowboys and Indians, a traveling salesman and a gorgeous, gun-crazy, guy-crazy gal—but it's called "A TICKET TO TOMAHAWK"—and nobody knows what it means!

So, I'm calling it

TECHNICOLOR

After you see it, tell me which title you like best!

Prince Valiant

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAROLD R. FOSTER

Synopsis: AT THE BORDER OF BOISANIE PRINCE VALIANT AND HIS COMPANIONS ARE HALTED. "FOR A SMALL FEE WE WILL ESCORT YOUR PARTY ACROSS THE KINGDOM," SAYS THE CAPTAIN OF THE GUARDS. "AND PROTECT YOU AGAINST THE MANY FIERCE ROBBERS WHO INFEST THE HILLS!"

WHEN VAL HEARS THE SIZE OF THE FEE, HE EXCLAIMS: "ROBBERS WOULD GET LESS FROM US THAN YOU CHARGE FOR PROTECTION! NO, WE WILL GO FORWARD ALONE."

THE CAPTAIN SAID, "YOU WILL BE SORRY!" NOW, WHY WAS HE SO SURE SOMETHING WOULD HAPPEN?

"YOU RIDE ON, ARF AND I WILL GO BACK AND TAKE A PEEK AT THOSE HIGH-PRICED GUARDS."

THEY ARE JUST IN TIME TO SEE THE GUARDS PUT ASIDE THEIR UNIFORMS AND DON THE GARMENTS OF CRIMINALS!

THEN THEY MOUNT AND, LEAVING THE MAIN ROAD, TAKE TO A PATH LEADING UP OVER THE HILLS. VAL AND ARF FOLLOW.

701 9-10-50

FAR BELOW, THE MAIN ROAD FOLLOWS LEVEL GROUND AND WINDS AROUND THE HILLS, BUT THE PATH LEADS OVER THE ROCKS IN A RUGGED SHORT CUT.....
