A raging mid-day fire completely destroyed a 205,000 bushel elevator at the Castro County Grain Company in Dimmitt on Jack Gregory, owner of the firm, said his unofficial estimate of the damage would run from $50,000 to $60,000. He carried insurance on the building and the 15 cars of grain sorghums in the building, he said.

Fire completely ravaged the 60x190-foot corrugated steel building in a little more than an hour. The intensity of the blaze could be measured by the amount of time it took to consume the building and in the huge black column of smoke pouring out of the burning elevator.

The Hereford fire department was called to the scene immediately after the outbreak was reported. They fought side by side with the Dimmitt fire-fighters in the losing battle.

Gregory said he believed the fire broke out in the boot of the elevator and was reported shortly after 12:05. He had gone home for lunch when he was notified of the fire.

There are two more elevators and a mill belonging to the Castro County Grain company just west of the burned building. They were not damaged, although firemen cautiously sprayed frater on their hot skins to kee them from igniting.

It wasn't long before the roarin, flames devoured the thins) inned building. It was less than half hour before the north ection of the elevator was crum-

NW HEREFORD — Three Club members gave talks on "Spring Planting" at the regular meeting of the Cultural Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Thomas Barclay.

Mrs. Leona Packard spoke on "How to Buy Plants". She stated that early spring buying was very important and one should avoid buying plants with a strong top growth.

Mrs. Packard also said to be sure and look for aphid on leaves and stems of plants when buying them. This is a disease that you sure do not want to get started in your gardens and shrubs, she stated.

Mrs. Earl Dehart spoke on "Quick Guide to Best Flowering Shrubs and Trees", stating that the crab apple will grow from eight to 15 feet in heigth in a short time with proper care, and the Orential Cherrie is also a good quick growing shrub which will reach a height of 25 feet. Mrs. Dehart also suggested that the red flowering dogwood was another good flowering shrub. Mrs. Louis Olson talked for a

FOR QUALITY AND DEPENDABLE POWER THE CHOICE IS MM POWER

The real test of quality is proved performance. Minneappolis-Moline Power, Units have won this distinction for quality from owners themselves who were soon convinced that these units are tops in providing dependable and economical power. MM Power Units have long been associated with high quality because—

They are made of high grade materials
Parts are highly standardized and are precision machined by skilled craftsmen Advanced design features include — engineered fuel equipment for maximum efficiency and fuel economy—high turbulence combustion chambers — regulated cooling — crankcase ventilation — large-capacity fullpressure lubrication system — removable cylinder heads and blocks cast in pairs—heavy drop-forged steel crankshafts that are dynamically balanced and have large bearing surfaces — connecting rod bearings that are replaceable precision shells — camshafts that are made of wear resistant Proferall metal.
You too will agree with the owners of these MM Power Units that all these outstanding features spell QUALITY and DEPENDABLE POWER.

We invite you to see us now for complete facts on these high quality MM Power Units.

Old-Fashioned Pork Roast Good To Build Meal Around

If you are wondering what to serve in between winter and spring, try pork roast surrounded with vegetables, accompanied by Hawaiian Fruit Ring. For dessert - if you are in a patriotic mood - you may like to use your favorite cherry pie recipe as the tart cherry combines wonderfully with pork.

Mrs. N. E. Milburn chooses pork roast for the family or the company meal served with new potatoes, carrots and onions, and the Hawaiian Fruit Ring, which is her husband's favorite salad. Here are her recipes:

Pork Roast
Select a loin, Boston style butt. or any good cut of pork. Seasor with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Sear in reaster or Dutch ovén on all sides. Add 1 tablespoon flour to fat and the Section Two bake in 330F oven, allowing 35 minutes per pound. Wash small new potatoes leaving skin on peel carrots and small onions and place around roast forty minutes to an hour before roast is done. Remove vegetables when all are done and return roast to oven just long enough to brown, leaving uncovered.

Whether you cook a pork roast r not, you will want to use this fruit ring on many occasions its wonderful party food and goes well with a variety of meats -or it may be served alone as a

Airplane Is Still One Of Safest Modes Of Travel

Nation-wide attention has been focused on Elizabeth, N. J., scene of three air crashes that took 119 lives in less than two

The country was shaken by the suddeness with which these lives were snuffed out. As a result of these three accidents, residents in metropolitan areas are clamoring for the removal of airports from such sec-

No one can blame the people, who feel as though they are living under an "umbrella of death," for making a request like that in the heaf of terror following

But, in reviewing these accidents; let us temper our actions in the light of reality.

Air travel is being given a black eye by these accidents. A black eye which it DOES NOT deserve.

If we follow the path of mass fright, we can stiffe one of our most significant advances in the last half century.

In a search for something sensational, newsmen too often grab an airplane crash as "good copy" and plaster it all over the

While an airplane crash plays up to many people's ill-advised fear of air travel, car wrecks and other fatalities don't get quite the play.

Before we become too critical of air travel, ask yourself this question: How many passenger miles have airlines flown WITH-OUT a fatality? It'll surprise you.

In comparison, how many people are killed annually in auto wrecks, train wrecks, or even in accidents in the home? Then compare any of those figures with the air fatality toll.

Be prepared for another shock.

At LaGuardia airport immediately following the latest unfortunate accident at Elizabeth, N. J., a check showed that planes were taking off and landing at the rate of two per minute.

No accidents there in a long time. Have there been?

Has there ever been a Congressional investigation called for determining why we kill anywhere from 300 to 600 persons across the nation on our highways on almost every major holiday?

We kill that many people over a threeday holiday week-end and-judging from our combined public protests-evidently don't think a thing about it.

Remember the two disastrous train wrecks on Long Island? Or the troop train accident in Pennsylvania? Almost forgot them, didn't you?

Was there any outcry for removal of the train service from the Pennsylvania railroad tracks through Long Island? No. There was an investigation, but things are running smoothly now.

Why should we grab the first opportunity we get to chain air travel to the whipping post?

Why? Because many people are afraid of air travel and won't change their minds for anything. When they hear of a plane wreck, they use that as an additional lever for their biased arguments.

If we were consistent in that attitude, we might not have 1952 model automobiles. They've taken their toll, too.

It's the price we must pay for progress. Of course, some people will come back with the accusation that it's easy to make statements like that if you don't live near one of the busy metropolitan airports.

It only takes one airplane falling on top of you to kill you and it can fall on top of you here on the plains as easily as it can in any city in the nation.

Of course, there was a reason for the air crashes. Just like there is a reason for every automobile accident or fenderscratching episode in every town across the

On the whole, the commercial aviation industry is MORE SAFETY CONSCIOUS than any other transportation industry in the

It has to be. It just BETTER be!

If the average layman knew all the safety devices for making air travel safer, he'd wonder HOW there could be accidents. In 1952, an airplane can fly across the nation without once seeing ground, simply by using radio "highways." A plane can land in absolute zero-zero weather thanks to radar-controlled landing devices which are foolproof. An airplane can fly itself on an automatic pilot device.

The aviation industry is more anxious than anyone to find the safest possible way to conduct its business and wants to get to the bottom of recent air crashes.

No matter HOW we improve airplanes and aviation equipment, there is no way we can eliminate the human element

As long as we have the human element, we'll have crashes. Or auto wrecks, train wrecks, people falling down stairs, scalding themselves, etc.

With all due respect to those who conscientiously feel they are living in precarious surroundings, no airport or airplane is "jinxed." We cannot rule our affairs through the distorted microscope of superstition. If we believe strongly enough in a superstition, we'll lend credence to any octlandish chain of events to prove our

That's where the trouble begins and that kind of uncontrolled feeling can deal an unfair blow to aviation.

Air travel is just as safe as walking down the sidewalk of your home town and the unproportionate publicity given to the safety record maintained by airlines is grossly unfair.-W. W. K.

"Brotherhood Week" Is Our Answer To Red Propaganda

"Brotherhood Week" is being observed in the United States this week, February 17-

As Christians, we should need no special week set aside to observe the spirit of true brotherliness. As Americans, we should recognize the intent of the program for its effects on the rest of the world.

"Brotherhood Week" is a testimonial to democracy. We can put the anti-democracy wags to rout by a liberal interpretation of the principles advocated by the very term "Brotherhood."

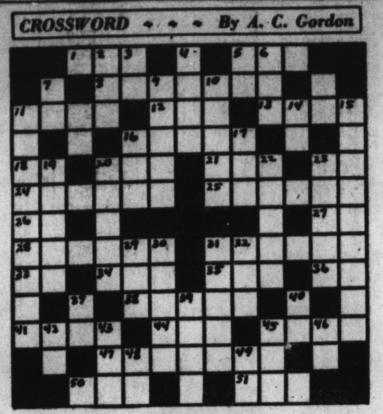

We can show the world that in America. it doesn't matter what the creed, nationality or color may be. It's what you ARE that Practicing brotherhood in word and deed is what has made our country the strong nation it is today. America has never failed to call on the genius of a man because of his race, creed or color.

The Communists, we know, are trying to use this very thing—disguised as prejudice-in inciting discontent with American

We know the Communists will not succeed, because we have not given them cause for action.

Practicing brotherhood-not for just one week in February, but 365 days a yearis the reason.-W. W. K.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Housewives Divided On Results Gained By Congress' Inquiries

Do you think investigations being carried on by Congress are doing any good for the nation as a whole? MRS. B. C. ROBERSON-Seems to me like it's a lot of hot air. Seems like they're not accomplishing anything. MRS. J. C. CASTER—I think it's just arousing the people and causing the world to be in more trouble. If they'd throw all the "smart guys" out up there and put in some common folks they'd be better off.

MRS. W. D. VAUGHN-It seems like it causes extra squabble and they're not doing any good with it.

MRS. W. A. WATERS-Well, I don't know, it seems to me like it's a waste of time.

MRS. TAFT McGEE-Yes, I think they will do some good or have done some good. I think they've uncovered some things and it will make people a little more careful in the future knowing that they may be investigated again and they will get caught at irregularities.

MRS. GLEN ANDERSON-Frankly, I don't think they're accomplishing anything. I don't see that they've accomplished a great deal as far as crime and gambling is concerned.

MRS. G. R. CAMERON—Sometimes I think it's a waste o time and sometimes I think it helps. In some cases, they're carrying it so far I think it's a hinderance to our nation because it causes so much criticism.

MRS. V. C. WOOLERY-Personally, as far as they've let the public know, I don't see where they're accomplishing anything. If they are, they're keeping it to themselves.

However, we doubt that anybody gets more pleasure out of one than four year old Jody (he told us his name was blonde but we found out it was Rodgers) who tumbled out of the car shoutin' he wanted a black and white one. His mother and dad tried to interest him in a tan and white one but all the time he was headin' back for the automobile with a firm grip on a cuddly black ball of fur.

Sheryl Patterson, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson, is much too young to take any interest in this Leap Year but if she doesn't change her mind she isn't goin to bother about others either as she vows emphatically that she's goin to be an Old Maid.

After her mother's trip with Nancy and some other youngsters to Mineral Wells a week or so ago she's definitely decided to remain single because as she expresses it, she's found out what it is to be a housewife. She's had erperience and even got dishpan hands.

She also erplained to Mrs. Patterson a little apoligetically that she could expect her to be a little bossy for a day or two because she had been runnin' THAT HOUSE.

Digest Contains Old Classics Of Literary World

Reviewed by Corinne Jennings

Did you ever wish that you had the time to read many books which you had missed when they were the best sellers, the old classics and even some of the children's books you did not read as a child? If so, "Masterpieces of World Litera-ture in Digest Form," edited by Frank N. Magill, is the answer.

Selections and condensations from your favorite novelists, essayists, poets and playwrights are likely to be found in this

A brief list of authors includes Edmonds, Adams, Austen, Tennyson, Keats, Balzac, Go-ethe, Werfel, Priestly, Hilton, Steinbeck, Bromfield, Swift, Faulkner, Sherwood, Barrie, Wharton, Tarkington, Carroll, Dreiser, Tolstoy and many, many more.

Your reviewer, in checking the contents of the large volume, found in making three separate lists—one read, one wanted to read, and one not familiar with -averaged about the same. Maybe you can do better than

Picking at random through index of 500 selections, we found such favorites of ours as "Ben Hur" by Wallace; "The Big Sky" by Guthrie; "Call of the Wild" by London; "Case of Sergeant Grischa" by Zweig (a book-of-month selection once);
"A Christmas Carol" by Dickens; "Connecticut Yankee at King Artuhr's Court" by Twain; "Count of Monte Cristo" by Dumas; "Country of the Pointed Firs" by Jewett; "Courtship of Miles Standish" by Longfellow; "David Copperfield" by Dick-

"David Harum" by Westcott; "Death Comes for the Archbishop" by Cather; "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" by Stevenson; "Doll's House" by Ibsen; "Drums Along the Mohawk" by Edmonds; "Enoch Arden" by Tennyson; "Evangeline" Longfellow; "For Whom the Bell Tolls" by Hemingway; "Good Earth" by Buck; "Goodbye Mr. Chips" by Hilton; "Honey in the Horn" by Davis, which are only a few of my list checked as Representative of the material we have chosen, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," another favorite of ours and a one time book - of - the - month selection. About two pages are givstory, which is headed first by the title, type of work (novel) plot (philosophical romance), time of plot (early 18th century), locale (Peru) first published (1927) and the list of the principal characters in the story. Then a very brief criticism is next.

Those who enjoy reading anything in digest form wil dote on such a volume and it is also suggested for club women to supplement study or book reviews, to be used the brief resumes of an author's other works.

Mrs. Boydston, librarian, believes it will meet many needs and suggests it as a type of literature that you might want to add to your own library.

The-BOOTLEG ---Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Cootleg has an odd idea this week, but we always let him have his say, regardless of where it takes him.

I've been talkin to a few people about the Texas car inspection law and judgin from the complaints I've listened to the law ain't so popular.

As I understand it, it costs a dollar to have your car inspected and anywhere from there on up to have it brought up in good shape doesn't have accidents, which is true of you've got it parked in your garage with the door shut and you take your keys with you and your wife has last hers, although I could have sworn most cars I've seen wrecked on the highways the past few years were nearly brand new.

But I've been thinkin, the law doesn't go far enough. In addition to havin all cars inspected twice a year, what we need is a law requirin the inspection of the Legislators who passed the car inspection law.

I don't know whether twice a year would be often enough or not and I ain't sure where you'd put a sticker on em, but at any rate there ought to be periodic inspections of them Legislators, with pretty stiff regulations on keepin em in safe workin order.

I ain't prepared to list all the points needin checkin, different parts of the state have different weaknesses, but here

(1) All Legislators should be gone over carefully for crack-(2) Worn or burned out brain cells should be discarded.

Where no replacement parts are available, especially on older models, the Legislator should be held in storage until the parts arrive, and in the meantime his votin license temporarily

(3) Opinions ought to be checked scrupulously on an alignment machine, with those varyin as much as one onethousandth of an inch requirin adjustin, what they shouldn't vary from bein a matter subsequent Legislators can argue

(4) All Legislators of a model earlier than 1902 should be banned from the legislative halls, although here again the argument will creep in that most legislative wrecks of recent years have been caused by brand new Legislators. (5) Off-brand or foreign-built Legislators, such as models with the steerin wheel on the wrong side or low-slung axels, should be banned as public nuisances. (6) All models with hidden retainer fees should have these stripped, as these, like too many stickers on the windshield, prevent the Legislator from drivin in the public's interest. (7) Smooth-mouth models, those with faulty vision, lumbago, rheumatism, one-track minds, etc., would have to have these things patched up before bein allowed to legislate: No duobt there's a good many more points others will want to add to this list, but this is as far as I got the time to go at the moment. Only other suggestion I could make is that there ought to be a very limited number of inspection stations, thus requirin the Legislators to wait in line several hours each time they're inspected. Will be glad to open up an inspection station out here. Let's get this started. A defective Legislator can be just as dangerous as a defective car.

Deaf Smith County As Described In New "Handbook Of Texas"

This article was taken from the Dawn and Glenrio are local "Handbook of Texas", a two- markets. volume work containing approximately 15,000 articles dealing dock (ed.), Twentieth Century with every phase of Texas life from the primitive Indian to the ord of North and West Texas, I

Deaf Smith County

Deaf Smith County is in the extreme western row of counties of the Texas Panhandle. Created in 1876 by the act of the legislature which laid out fifty-four counties on the Llano Estacado, the new county was named in honor of Erastus (Deaf) Smith. The area of the county is 1,549 square miles; its altitude is 3,200 to 4,000 feet; the annual rainfall averages twenty inches; the mean annual temperature is 56.6 degrees The population of Deaf Smith County, since its organization in 1890, has had a gradual increase: 1900, 843; 1920, 3,747; 1940, 6,056; 1950, 9,073. The surface of the county is smooth prairie which becomes rolling on the western edge of the Panhandle. The soil loam, varying from deep chocolate to sandy. The Tierra Blanca is the only stream, but underground water is easily accessible for irrigation of the sweet and Irish potatoes, beans, corn, clover, alfalfa, and wheat which constitute the principal crops. The leading industry is stockraising; the area is one of the leading centers for registered Herefords. There is no timber in Deaf Smith County; the minerals are largely undeveloped, but pumicite, sulphur, volcanic ash, clays, and caliche exist. The presence of flourine and iodides in soil has caused the county seat, Hereford, to be called the Town without a Toothache" because of the absence of dental decay within the area.

One of the earliest Anglo-American expeditions to cross the area now included in Deaf Smith County was that of William R. Shafter, who entered it from the south in 1875. He found the ter-ritory still occupied by Indians. Early settlers in Deaf Smith County were ranchers who built scattered dugout headquarters and moved with the herds. By 1876 large ranches, including the XIT, had been established in the area. Railroad building and the selling of railroad lands brought farmers to the county. One of the first barbed wire fences in Texas was erected in Deaf Smith County in 1881; it was a drift fence put up by the T Anchor Ranch, When the county was organized in 1890, the herds of Herefords already within its houndaries. within its boundaries gave the name to the county seat, Hereford, which is the shipping point and distribution center of the county. Points of interest include the old dugout line camp on Tierra Blanca Creek where the cowboy strike of 1887 was planerected by prehistoric people. The County is served by the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railroad.

THE PUBLISHER OF three valley newspapers and other papers in Texas and over the country caused quite a stir when he bought the Harlingen Tex., Valley Morning Star, The McAllen, Tex., Evening Monitor, and the Brownsville, Tex., Herald and attacked public education in his editorial columns. R. C. Hoiles, the publisher, was challenged to a debate by Roy Hofheinz, McAllen radio station owner. Hoiles, left, and Hofheinz carried their arguments to the public on two separate occasions.
