ELECTRICITY ... THE BIGGEST BARGAIN IN YOUR FAMILY BUDGET

By Melvin Young

The skeleton of a Plains Indian, thought to be prehistoric and pre-Coronadoan, discovered in a cliffside cave east of Canyon recently has been hailed as a major archeological find for the Great Plains region and has created considerable interest among archeologist and archeological societies throughout the state.

One interested party in the Hereford area dropped by this week to ask: "Why didn't Byrle Elliston find it?" That of course, we can't answer. Byrle claims to have been here before Coronado, and we know for a fact that he has covered almost every inch of territory throughout the Southwest looking for historical objects and Indian artifacts, but apparently this one escaped him. Two bad things we could have used it in the Deaf Smith County Museum... if we ever get it.

Another party wondered if this was the remains of the Republican Party that CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) supposedly buried at the Republican National Convention Wednesday night after the gubernatorial nomination.

Then there is the possibility that the skeleton has strayed from Lyndon's closet, or possibly a constituent coming back to vote.

Anyhow, the poor fellow may get lost in the avalanche of political oratory which will be filling the newspapers and airways for the next three months.

Don Newman, Soil Conservation Service head, said Friday, "It has been trying to quit raining in this country for years, and looks like it's finally succeeded."

Oldsters May Escape Taxes On Home Sales

Under the provisions of the new tax law, persons of 65 or older who sell their homes will be allowed a tax-free gain if the adjusted sales price is $20,000 or less. Mike Justice, president of the Hereford Board of Realtors, pointed out today.

Adjusted sales price means the sales price less the broker's commission and repair expenses incurred within 90 days preceding sale and paid within 30 days of sale, Justice said.

"If the sales price is in excess of $20,000, the gain is tax-exempt in the ratio that $20,000 is to such price," he explained. "Thus if the sales price is $30,000 and the gain is $12,000, the tax-exempt portion of the gain would be $8,000 — ($10,000/$30,000 or two-thirds of $12,000.)"

Calling attention to new Section 121 of the Internal Revenue Code, President Justice explained that the seller must have owned and used the residence five of the last eight years, and that such exemption is available only once in a taxpayer's lifetime. He made the explanation as a public service on the basis of information supplied by the National Association of Real Estate Boards with which the Hereford board of realtors is affiliated.

A widow or widower would meet the five to eight year test if the deceased spouse, had he lived, would have met the requirement, Justice said. However, he added, the surviving spouse must be age 65 or over for this exclusion to apply.

The permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention, Thurston Morton, had barely gavelled the session to a close when the liberal elements of both parties let go with a howl of anguish, predicting the ruination of the country if Barry Goldwater is elected president. Dire predictions of everything from nuclear war to deep, deep depressions are coming not only from Democrats but from those who lost in the Republican party sweep. The presidential hopefuls have forgotten it seems, that it was conservative Goldwater who maintained the unity of the Republican party in 1960 when the more liberal Richard Nixon was nominated, working diligently for the party ticket and battling the Democrats down to the wire.

But the apparent inclination of some Republicans to hitch up their marbles and go home when things don't go their way, seems to be the biggest weakness of that party, while the Democrats have demonstrated (as in 1960) their willingness to forget (if not forgive) party wounds suffered during the primaries and close ranks behind their chosen candidates.

So much in fact, that even H. M. Baggerly, publisher of the Tulla Herald, has said a kind word for Allan Shivers in a recent column.

Don't forget the Lions Club Carnival, opening Monday at the Bull Barn and the big Hereford Riders' club rodeo next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Both events are highlights of the summer activities in the Hereford area.

And another open house will be held this Sunday. But this one might be classified as an open pool. The directors of the Green Acres Swim Club, Inc., have invited the public to an open house at their new pool located at Harrison Highway and Kingwood street in West Hereford. The pool was promoted by the developers of Green Acres Estates addition, but has now been turned over to the members to operate as a non-profit private club.

The open house will be held between the hours of 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Which (somehow) reminds us of the preacher who was trying to convert the Beatnik. "No, No," the preacher emphasized, "It is not Big Daddy, Little Daddy and Spooky, It's the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost."

It's Birthday Time For Mrs. Ward-92

By Mrs. Merlin Kaul
Mrs. J. F. Ward and the Rev. E. L. Naugle celebrated their birthdays Thursday with a reception and program at King's Manor.

The Win-One Sunday school class of First Methodist Church hosted the party. Mrs. Ward's 92nd birthday is actually today but some members of the class would have been unable to be present, so the party was advanced to Thursday.

Mr. Naugle is now pastor at Bippus. He is a former pastor at Westway and also Wesley Methodist Churches. He came to Hereford in 1951 as assistant pastor to the Rev. Don Davidson of First Methodist Church.

As the guests arrived they were served birthday cake and punch. The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of roses and gladioli. Bouquets of roses were also used throughout the large room where the guests were seated.

Mrs. A. A. Hare was in charge of the program which included the opening prayer by the Rev. Herschel Thurston of First Methodist Church; singing of "Happy Birthday" to the honoree; piano solo by Allan Hare (son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hare), "On Top of Old Smoky"; "Story of My Life" by the Rev. E. L. Naugle; Solo, "I Love to Tell the Story" (Mrs. Ward's favorite hymn), by Mrs. Arthur Hare; a duet, "Time is Swiftly Passing By," the words written by Mrs. Ola Davis, and the music by Miss Bessie Brown, both of the home. The song was sung by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. C. R. Smith, accompanied by Miss Brown.

The Rev. Noah Arnpriester, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, gave the closing prayer.

OVERVIEW FOR 1964-65 — Mrs. David Brumley, at left, and Mrs. Howard Hunter, at right, discuss with Mrs. J. J. Durham, chapter sponsor, values gained from the July "Homemakers College" at Texas Tech. They will submit their findings to Hereford's Young Homemakers of Texas Chapters, who named Mrs. Hunter as Chapter scholarship delegate to the "college." Mrs. Brumley is area president of Young Homemakers of Texas.

First 'Homemakers' College Successful

Judging by values received from "Homemakers College," Mrs. David Brumley and Mrs. Howard Hunter believe that this initial cooperative endeavor should be repeated in 1965 by Texas Technological College and Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This was the third such college for young homemakers in the United States.

Attending the one week of July "colleges classes" Mrs. Brumley, as area president, represented area chapters of Young Homemakers of Texas. Mrs. Hunter was chosen by the Hereford chapter to receive the Sears Foundation Scholarship to the "college."

Both considered classes, lectures and other activities of the week fulfilled the theme for this streamlined course: "Today's Challenge for Tomorrow's Homes." Both felt that the programs and lectures on communications — between husband and wife, in the home, between home and community — were most helpful.

Mrs. Brumley stressed that all values received from the "college" furthered the overall purpose of Young Homemakers to assist young women in "maintaining effective personal, family and community life."

In addition to impressions gained in matters of communications, Mrs. Hunter said she gained most in learning more of how to get along with the family, how to organize her time table for daily living, and how to make things more meaningful for her family and for herself.

Classes they attended included specialists of the subjects: Planning for Use of Family Money; Making the Home Attractive and Livable; Bases for Understanding Children; Family Solidarity; Its strength, Unity, and Stability; Buying, Using, Caring for New Fabrics; Nutrition for Health.

Among general assembly speakers and their topics were the following:

Dr. William Pasewark, "Communication: What Will You Hear This Week?" Mrs. Bess Rothman Boon, "Is Your Image the Real You?" and "The Place of Charm in a Woman's Life." Mrs. Leona Allison, "Facts and Fantasies in a Woman's World." Judge James T. Ellis, "What Are the Legal Rights of a Wife in Texas?" Miss Barbara Sommerville, "Mother's Dilemma: Stay Home, Volunteer, or Be Employed." Charles Jones, "Learning Processes of Children, Ages 6 to 12." Dr. Willa Vaughn Tinsley,

From the Amarillo Daily News and Globe Times, there were Don Boyett, Tommy Thompson, Trenton Davis, S. B. Whittenburg, publisher of Amarillo Daily News and Globe Times; and Lowell Brown, that paper's advertising director since 1951. From Dallas came AP staff correspondent Robert Johnson and Bill Payette, southwest division manager for UPI.

Mrs. J. R. Allison and daughter Ruth Ann have returned home after a trip to Washington, D. C. and New York City. They were accompanied by Miss Mamie Silvertooth who was enroute to New York to join the United States Choral Group of which she is a member. They went by train to Chicago, then flew to Washington D.C. where they met Vida Hicks and Mrs. Olney Newman of Kansas City (formerly Gladys Hicks). The group then went by bus to New York City. Miss Hicks and Mrs. Newman met Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Burnside, Santa Maria, Calif., there. Mrs. Burnside was Lucille Hicks formerly of Hereford, and she and her husband had gone to meet their daughter in New York City.

The group visited the Fair, but Ruth Ann Allison, the teenager in the group, says she liked "New York itself" better than the Fair. They saw two shows — the Broadway show "Mary-Mary", the stage play "Camelot", Radio City — which 8 million people visit each year, enjoyed the "Rocketts" there, visited the Statue of Liberty and of course, Rockefeller Center, where they listened to Mamie Silvertooth and the choir sing.

While visiting Mt. Vernon in Virginia, whom should they meet — Herefordites — the Raymond Whites. While they were at Rockefeller Center in New York, of all the thousands of people there — again whom did they see — the Whites, who were in the area having gone to the Lions Club Convention in Toronto, Canada.

The U.S. Choir was to sing twice at the Fair before leaving on tour, which will conclude its run this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holt, Cherry and a nephew Larry Ward are expected home this weekend from a trip which included the International Lions Club Convention in Toronto, Canada, the World's Fair in New York and other points in the east and south. In Memphis, Tenn. they met Larry Ward's father Larry Sr. who came on to Hereford with them. Mrs. Ward has been staying with her niece Clara Beth Holt here in Hereford while the group has been gone. The Wards live in Jackson, Miss. They will leave this weekend for a trip to Colorado Springs where they will visit Mr. Ward's parents. They will make a stop again at the Hols on their return to Mississippi.

Miss Jenny Holt is home after attending the first six weeks session at Texas Tech. Jenny attended school last year at Oklahoma State University.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Thomas returned home last week from a trip to Corsicana and Beaumont where they had gone to visit members of their family and to attend the Thomas family reunion. John and Jim Thomas, of Beaumont, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Thomas, returned home with them to spend this week. Their parents will arrive this weekend to get the boys and take them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham were recent visitors in Mexia where they went to visit with their daughter Ann who is in the State School for Retarded Children there. Enroute home they visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Claude Higginbotham at Leroy near Waco and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hogan at Spur.

They went to Chillicothe where they attended the 30th year reunion and banquet of Raymond's high school graduating class. Of the 23 members who graduated all were present except 2 — one in California and one in Lubbock. Only one death has occurred in that time and that was a teacher.

Raymond received the banquet award for "having been the one to change least in the 30 years."

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hogan of Spur were recent visitors in the home of their daughter Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham. Mrs. Woodrow Duckworth came to spend a day with them here at the Higginbotham home.

REP. ROGERS WRITES

Congress Must Study Draft Program Soon, Rogers Says

THE PRESENT SELECTIVE SERVICE LAW will not expire for another three years but one of the subjects sure to receive increasing attention in the months ahead is whether the "draft" again should be extended, or modified, or abandoned altogether. The President has ordered a comprehensive study of the draft system. One bill introduced in the Congress would establish a Presidential Commission to study the draft and other would require that the Secretary of Defense submit within one year an alternate to the draft based on a voluntary system of recruitment.

Whatever the approach, the objective of the studies would be to provide the President and Congress with the facts so they could properly evaluate two fully developed systems, one voluntary and one compulsory, for meeting the Nation's military manpower requirements.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON has noted that we may have drifted from the original idea of universal military conscription based on the belief that all should share the obligations of military service equally in accordance with a fair and just system. How have we drifted? The central facts are these: The draft now calls on the average only about 90,000 men a year in a Nation in which 1.4 million youths each year reach the age of 18. No more than 670,000 of those 1.4 million youths annually reaching 18 will be needed for military service so long as our military manpower requirements remain constant at 2.7 million men. Only about 58 percent of those theoretically-eligible will ever serve in uniform. Although many Americans think of our present system as one requiring universal military service, 42 percent of eligible men will, for one reason or another, be excused from serving. Our armed forces simply do not need all the young men becoming eligible for the draft.

Exempted from service are men with criminal records or moral shortcomings, men who are mentally or physically below "standard" (and "standard" is arbitrary and subject to change), men who can stay in college until they reach 26 and thus beyond reach of the draft, men whose employers can make a case for their being essential, men who marry early.

ONLY ONE IN EVERY 30 now in the Armed Forces is a draftee. However, one of the arguments against doing away with the draft is that young men no longer facing the possibility of being called involuntarily would no longer wish to "join up." One study indicates that approximately 20 percent of first-term Army enlistees did feel that the draft was a strong influence in their decision to join. Another 17 percent said the draft was of "some influence." But 63 percent, the study showed, probably would have joined the Army in any case. Advocates of plans for substituting a voluntary system for the draft say that enlistment rates could be increased by boosting pay in lower enlisted grades and by lowering eligibility standards.

Each young man between the ages of 18 and 26 must face the real possibility that he may be called into the Army. "Draft status" is of paramount importance for young men as they make plans for education, marriage, a career, their futures. To a very large segment of our population, these young men and their families, decisions regarding the draft have a very direct and personal impact.

I BELIEVE we should embark on serious and realistic studies to determine whether or not our military manpower requirements can be fully met through a system of voluntary recruitment.

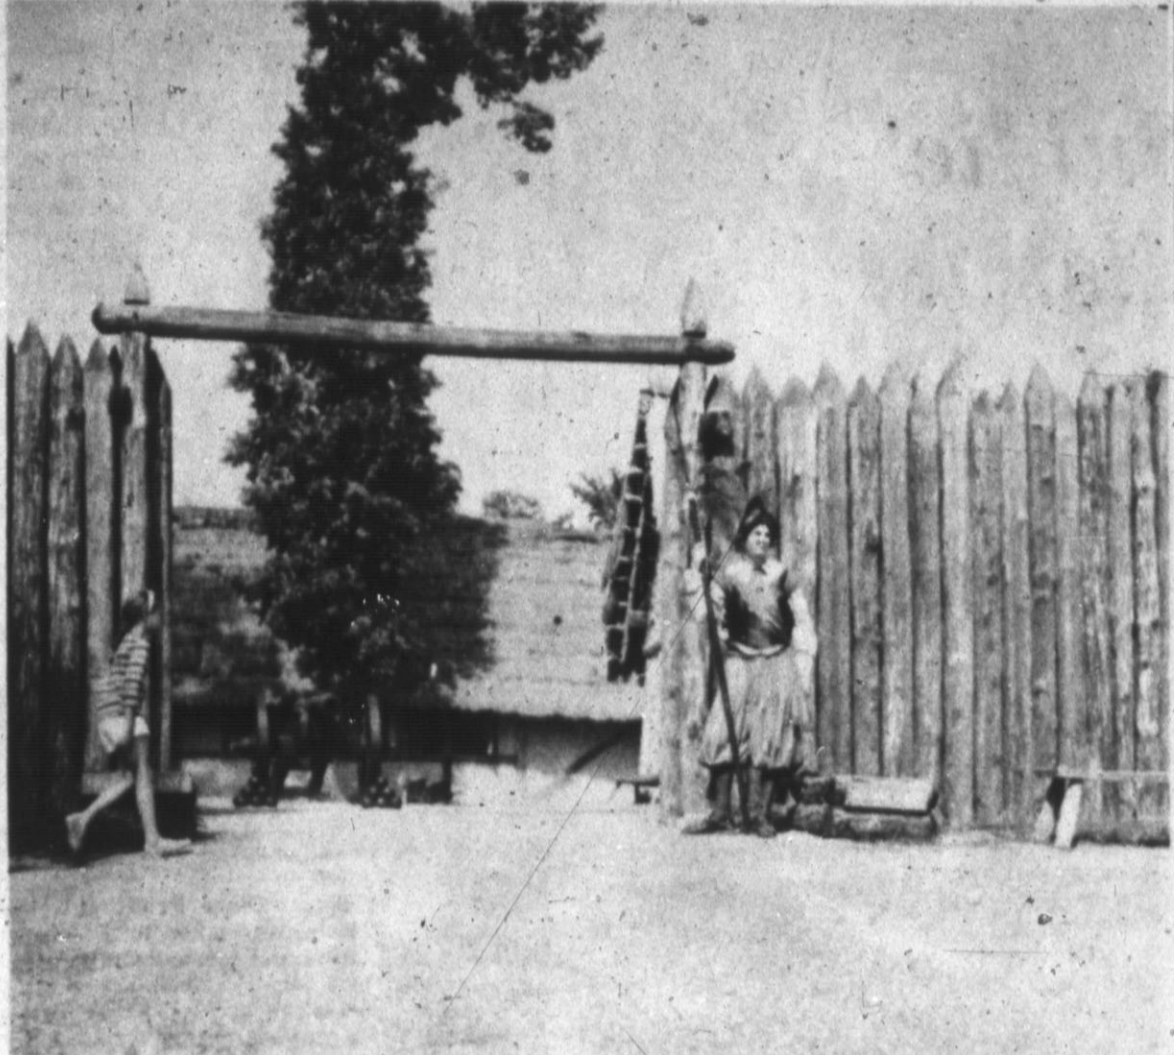

Perhaps the results of such studies will indicate that there is not a satisfactory alternative to the draft, but I believe such studies should be made. A great strength of our legislative process is that it permits study, reflection, and debate in advance of decisions on vital issues. So it is with questions affecting draft. By going to work on the problem now, Congress will be well prepared to make sound, responsible decisions when next called upon to consider the Selective Service law and its impact.

Near the reconstructed town is the site of the first factory in America. It is a glass factory and occupies a large one-room open building made of logs with a thatched roof. Here glass articles were blown through a long metal pipe.

Men heated the mixture of sand and other materials in a stone fireplace. The building became so hot that it was impossible to have sides on the building because it kept the extreme temperature inside.

In the glass factory as in all other Jamestown buildings, men and women wearing the authentic costumes of their day still perform the tasks done by their ancestors generations before them.

Near the entrance to Jamestown, which is now part of the Colonial National Historical Park, are two museums, one for the Old World. Each of these museums contain statues of famous people wearing costumes of their time, and copies of important documents as well as many sketches and paintings.

The entire district has been rebuilt to give the visitor a taste of early America and show him some of the hardships that the first settlers endured. But Jamestown is more than just the birthplace of America. It has also been called the birthplace of the British Commonwealth because it was the first of Great Britain's successful overseas establishments.

One in a series of messages to advertisers

How to measure a newspaper ad

Assume, for a moment, that it were possible to clip this display message from each copy of this newspaper printed for today's issue, and that these clippings were neatly stacked before you.

First, remove all clippings which appeared in copies spoiled in distribution, or which were otherwise, undelivered, left over, returned, or used in our office for file or checking copies. Since no one read these, they can go into the wastepaper.

Second, remove those messages which appeared in copies delivered to subscribers behind in their payments, service copies to advertisers and agencies, employes, any complimentary or promotion lists, and all others which do not qualify as paid circulation. Just for the record, you might want to count the number of these, but then they go into the wastepaper, too.

Now our stack is down to only the paying customers.

Count the number of clippings in the stack.

When that's done (and the exact figure recorded), separate the clippings into three separate stacks

— one for those distributed to readers in your central market; one for those distributed to readers living outside this market, but who shop here regularly; and one for those copies delivered to readers living elsewhere. Count each stack and, when you have these figures accurately recorded, divide the clippings in separate stacks by method of delivery (carriers, dealers, vendors, mail, and so forth), and count each stack.

You look a little tired at this point — we'll help by counting the number of clippings appearing in copies sold with premiums, in combination with other publications, and at special rates. We'll also count the number sold in clubbing offers or as a result of a contest or with an insurance offer.

Rested now? Give us a hand and we will sort out the clippings in separate stacks for each city and town in which copies were distributed (just exactly where every copy of this message went — to the paying customers only).

Then we count each stack for the record.

Now, while you relax and finish reading this message after counting and measuring our circulation in so many different ways, perhaps you would like to see what it costs each of the paying customers to buy a copy of this newspaper?

Then again, if all this talking about some of the ways the Audit Bureau of Circulations regularly counts and measures our circulation has you tired out, just ask to see a copy of our latest ABC Report.

ABC's stacks of figures aren't nearly as tiring and tell you a great deal more about the distribution of your advertising messages in this newspaper.

Mrs. Conaway Answers Critic

Hereford Woman Tells Of Work Done For Area's Labor Camp

Editor's Note: Last Thursday's Brand carried a letter from a Mrs. D. E. Luddeke, Hobbs, N. M., which was critical of Hereford. Her letter was written after she had read a feature story in last Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram which the Hobbs woman interpreted as casting reflections on Hereford for its "failure" to support Dr. Lena Edwards in her work at the Labor camp. (The Star-Telegram story is re-printed on today's editorial page of The Sunday Brand.) Below is a copy of the letter which

Mrs. Ray Conaway, Hereford, wrote Mrs. Luddeke, explaining some of the many ways in which Hereford has responded to the need at the labor camp through the years.

Mrs. D. E. Luddeke
220 W. Alto Drive
Hobbs, New Mexico

Dear Mrs. Luddeke:
I have before me a copy of the letter printed in the Hereford Brand over your signature.

My letter is written in a kindly spirit to set some matters straight which your letter accuses the citizens of Hereford of. If ever there was a town more interested in its neighbors, their health, and their welfare it certainly has not come under my observation. It sometimes might be wiser to investigate a little more before taking a newspaper's report on such things. I am not familiar with the article in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram as I do not see it. Evidently it was a very unfair representation of a problem we have had and have attempted to solve to the best of our ability for about 15 years. I intend to send them a copy of this letter to see if they can be fair and not give Hereford such a black name. As you said about us, perhaps their face and your face may be at least a little pink if not red when you know that here is one town that knows and cares about its neighbors, be they of any color or creed.

The work with the Migrants at the Labor Camp was begun about 15 years ago under the leadership of Mrs. Earl Plank and a group of women of all churches working together to try to "do something" about conditions out there. With the help of the United Council of Church Women it was my privilege to work there when we rented two rooms in a barracks and started a Day Nursery. Each day mothers brought young children and we attempted to teach them some ideas of cleanliness and truthfulness. We bought a lavatory and commode and gave the children soap, tooth paste, and brushes and which many had never had. Don't tell me the place is unspeakable — you should have seen the squalor when water had to be carried from outside for all the barracks through dusty and cluttered streets; when there were open outdoor toilets and there were flies and filth both in and out of the barracks. Right here I should like to tell you the Labor Camp is and has been privately owned and operated by the Hereford Housing Project. It is outside the City limits so does not come under its jurisdiction. It has never been a money making project and they have tried to improve it to some extent although no one seeing it now can believe it ever could have been worse.

With the help of the Merchants, Processing Plants, Churches, Civic and other Clubs we were able to obtain the service of trained Migrant workers. Then began an every summer program to try to help these people to help themselves. Classes in sewing, homemaking, and child care were held and Home Ec. teachers gave of their time to help other volunteers with this work. Special occasions were celebrated, especially Christmas when Santa made an announced visit. How do I know? Santa was my husband.

When the work grew to such an extent it was decided to have a Citizens Committee to buy land and build a permanent building for the work. The Council of Churches was able to give a check to the committee for $800 to buy a lot. I know all this since I served as treasurer for Migrant work in the United Council of Church Women for about 8 years. We had many money raising projects and rummage sales and many of the individuals whom you accuse of not caring helped raise the money for the Casa de Amigos, The House of Friends, which how has a permanent director who is here all year right at the Labor Camp. There they carry on with Vacation Bible School, sports, and other activities all year long.

You say you hope you never have to live here. Many of us who have lived here most of our lives know the spirit of helpfulness which has always prevailed. Many people think we are very much awake to our responsibilities and privileges.

Of course, we are proud of Dr. Edwards' accomplishments, devotion, and sacrifice. She certainly has been and is a wonderful asset to the work done by all the people who care. In 1962 a committee from all organizations voted her the Citizen of the Year and she received the Award given each year from the Lion's Club. She has appeared before many clubs and church groups and many have and will continue to contribute to the fine work she is doing.

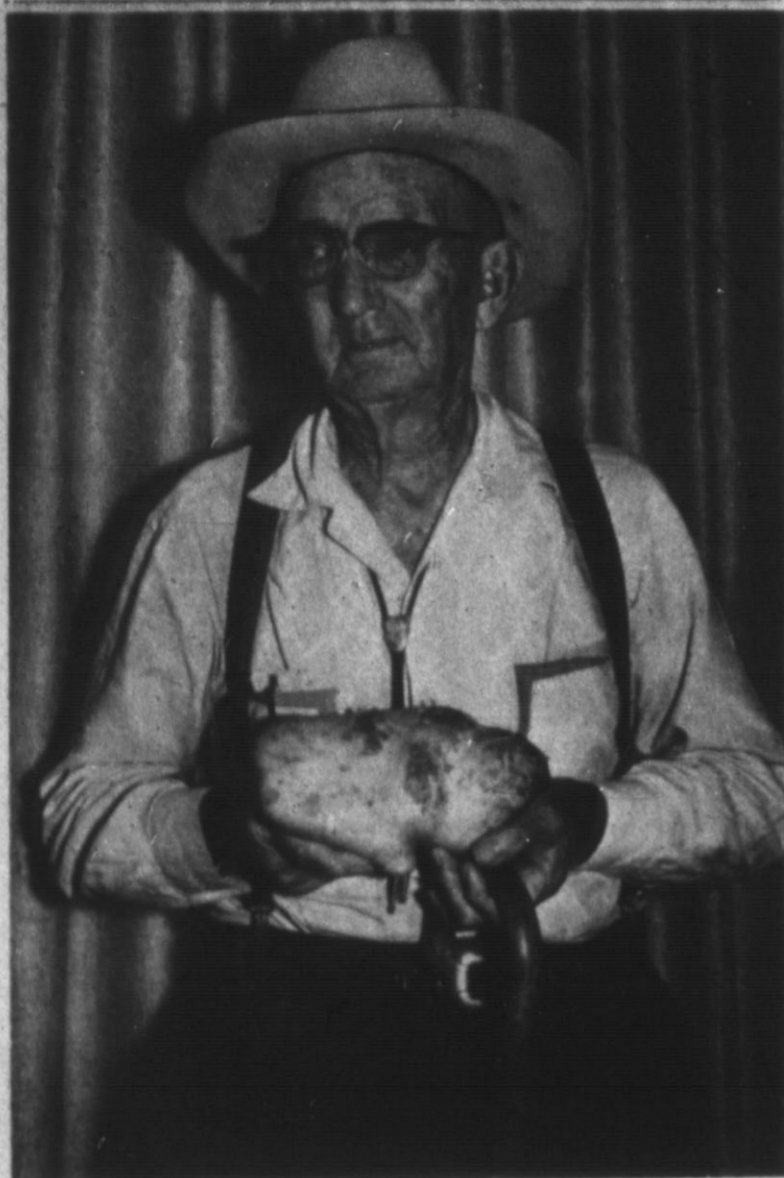

So, you see, Mrs. Luddeke and Mr. J. McConal, that you have been a little unfair in your appraisal of the Citizens of Hereford whom you accuse of being careless and "going past on the other side" unseeing.

For several years there has been a program set up to teach pre-school Spanish children English so they may be ready for the first grade. Does all this sound like a town filled with people who do not care? Now, Mrs. Luddeke, perhaps it is your turn to wake up and see where you have been wrong in your accusations about Hereford. We will keep you in our prayers, too.

Most sincerely,
Mrs. Ray Conaway

Miss Joan Rita Lange, William Harbison Wed

The marriage of Miss Joan Rita Lange and William Gerad Harbison was solemnized at Nuptial High Mass in Holy Family Church, Nazareth, Thursday, June 25, with the Rev. Wilmer Reichel officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Lange, Nazareth. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William D. Harbison, Youngstown, Ohio.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bridal gown with tiers of lace bordered tulle fashioning the bouffant skirt that swept into a chapel train. The lace overblouse was accented by wide scalloped neckline and petal-point sleeves. Caught to a half crown of pearl sequins, her veil of lace-bordered tulle fell the full length of the chapel train. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. Miss Mary Lou and Miss Grace Lange were their sister's bridesmaids. They wore identical street-length dresses of lilac brocaded taffeta with matching net hats. They carried bouquets of purple asters.

Serving the groom as best man was Jerry Lange, brother of the bride. Bobby Schmucker was a groomsman.

After the wedding the bridal party greeted guests in the foyer of the church. A reception followed in the Nazareth American Legion Hall, with Miss Janice Schmucker registering the guests.

The bride's table laid in white lace over lilac was centered with four-tiered wedding cake on lilac lace-edged cake plate. Serving the guests were Miss Alverna and Miss Stevonne Bierenfeld, Miss Viola Schacher, Miss Sandra Huseman.

The bride attended Nazareth High School. The group attended Youngstown High School and entered the U.S. Navy to finish his schooling there. On short leave for his wedding, Harbison has returned to his tour of duty on the Mediterranean. Until Harbison completes his service in the Navy, his bride will continue living in Hereford, where she is presently employed.

Out-of-town wedding guests include the groom's mother, Mrs. William D. Harbison, Youngstown, Ohio, and her friend, Mrs. Jennie Coats, and Gary Coats, Youngstown; Mr. and Mrs. Al Lange, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. John Irbeck, Canyon; and Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Artho, UMBarger.

Enjoying the cookout and opening of birthday gifts were the honoree, her husband, Eldon Howell, and their small daughter, Kellie Dee; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Medley and Sandra Kay; Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shultz and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Howell.

LOSS OF LITTLE FLOWER

LIBERAL, Kan. — Police of Liberal stopped an auto in which a young man had driven repeatedly around a residential block here.

The driver told officers he had broken up with his girl friend but that she refused to return his pet skunk named Little Flower. The officers agreed to speak in his behalf, but the girl still refused. A gift was a gift, she said.

Police bowed out and suggested the man give up the pet skunk or take his case to court.

Gallagher - Hammett Wedding Mass Said

Wedding Mass for Miss Judy Carolyn Hammett and William Brendan Gallagher was held Wednesday afternoon in Saint Anthony's Church. Officiant at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Father Cletus McGorry, S.A.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Clifton Hammett. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gallagher.

The church was decorated with altar vases filled with white gladioli and mums, flanked by three-branched candelabra with ferns entwining the standards.

Mrs. Joe Haeker, organist, played a program of traditional wedding music and, for background music during the ceremony, "Mother At Thy Feet Are Kneeling." She accompanied Ben Gollehon, soloist, in "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Maria."

Mr. Hammett gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a bridal gown of silk organza; with scalloped Venice lace framing the bodice neckline and capping the point sleeves. The circlet waistline was adorned with tiny bows atop pinched scissor pleats forming a bouffant skirt frosted with appliqued lace motifs and flowing into a cathedral train. Her elbow-length three-tiered veil of illusion was caught in a pouf to French roses of organza. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a prayer book bouquet of Elsie roses encircling a white cattleya orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Leroy Berend. The bride's other attendants were Mrs. John Kenneth Hammett, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Kenneth Lowe, Earth. Their identical sateen-length dresses of pale yellow brocade satin were fashioned with scooped necklines, elbow-length sleeves, and belted skirts. Their headresses were satin crowns of the same material securing their halo veils of scalloped illusion. They carried white Frenched mum bouquets.

Eddie Gallagher served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Larry Walterschied and James Paetzold. Serving as ushers were Pat and Vincent Gallagher, brothers of the groom, Leroy Berend, and John Hammett, brother of the bride.

Following the wedding a reception was held in Saint Anthony's Hall. The bridal table, covered with white lace over pale yellow, was centered with an arrangement of white daisies and white stock supported by candelabra. The three-tiered wedding cake of yellow and white was topped with miniature bride and groom.

Serving were Mrs. Pat Gallagher and Mrs. Vincent Gallagher. Mrs. Arlis Edwards presided at the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hammett chose a beige linen suit with toast accessories. Mrs. Gallagher, mother of the groom, wore a dress of Chinese blue lace, with white accessories. Their corsages were of pale yellow carnations.

Leaving for her wedding trip, the bride wore a pale yellow and white dress of appliqued brocade cotton with sleeveless silk walking coat and close fitting hat of self-material. Her corsage was the cattleya orchid of the bridal bouquet.

After the honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs and other points of interest, the young couple will be at home in Walsh, Colo.

A 1961 graduate of Hereford High School, the bride attended West Texas State University. For two years she has been secretary for Brown, Graham, and Glover Accountants. Graduate of Hereford High

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower, Tea

Decorated with flowers of pale yellow and white, the rooms accented the bride's favorite colors. Laid in yellow net over yellow, the serving table displayed a centerpiece of yellow and white daisies encircled by small lighted candles.

Presiding at the silver service were Miss Sue Minor and Miss Sandra Roberson.

Miss Donna Rogers registered the guests. Twenty-five called during the tea hours.

Assisting Mrs. Rogers as hostesses in the house party were Mrs. Tandy Legg, Mrs. Clyde Rayburn, Mrs. Bud Minor, Mrs. J. J. Durham, Mrs. Ben Childers, Mrs. Bill Cocanougher, Mrs. Lee Cocanougher, and Mrs. Deward Roberson.

Otis Lees Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Lee, 235 Ave. J, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday, July 11, in Gatesville while attending the reunion of Mrs. Lee's mother's family, the Hackney family. They were accompanied by their daughter, Gladys, and her family, the G. C. Merritts Jr., Mickie and Mitchell. Among other features of the three-day Hackney family celebration, was a tacky party. Mickie Merritt won an award as the cutest; and G. C. Merritt, Jr., won the prize for the tackiest at the party.

The anniversary table, laid in white damask, featured the three-tiered, silver anniversary cake embossed with garlands of white roses and silver leaf and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The silver coffee service was the gift of the Lees daughter, Mrs. Merritt, Jr., and her family.

With 60 in attendance, his annual reunion of the Hackney family has a special celebration for each couple in the family observing their 25th or 50th wedding anniversary during the year. On the occasion each couple sings a song that was popular at the time of their wedding. This year the Lees sang "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver."

Married in Abilene, March 4, 1939, the Lees came immediately to their home in the Summerfield community. Except for a short time in Amarillo, they have lived in the Hereford area and have had their home in Hereford since 1948. Presently Mrs. Lee is employed at Kester's Jewelry, and Lee is with the Texas Highway Department.

and a diplomat of the American Board of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

When Dr. Edwards first came to the labor camp, facing the Graymoor Mission of St. Joseph where about 200 Latin American families live in 36 barracks, as many as five children were dying each week.

When the people became ill, the only place within their financial means for medical aid was a small clinic with a nurse. Infectious diseases such as diarrhea were rampant.

Today — as a result of Dr. Edwards — there's a 10-bed hospital, licensed for maternity and surgical practice, only steps away from the workers' homes. Deaths from disease among the children have been curtailed to about five a year.

"It has taken four years of my life and $30,000 of my savings," said Dr. Edwards "but each time I see a healthy child playing, it makes it worth it." The remarkable thing about Dr. Edwards' accomplishment is that the people are paying for the medical help they are receiving.

"I don't believe in giving something for nothing," she said. "I never got anything for nothing and these people should not either."

Dr. Edwards has, however, given her time and efforts for nothing. The money paid in for services at the hospital goes for its upkeep and operation. She sustains her living through her own private funds.

Dr. Edwards, slightly stooped but extremely agile, has dark brown eyes that bristle angrily when she speaks of the underdog.

"They criticize these people," she said. "They refer to them as animals. I tell them they're humans like anyone and members of their community and should help them."

Her eyes can sparkle equally as quick with humor when she speaks in a light vein of her problems or sacrifices.

"While I was trying to get the hospital built," she said, "I earned the reputation of being shrewd at bargaining. I knew how to get something and I knew how to hold onto it."

Dr. Edwards became acutely aware of the need for good maternity care for people in the lower social-economic strata in 1944. With national statistics she prepared a paper on mortality of child birth in relationship to environmental factors.

"I thought then I would like to do missionary work," she said. "But I figured by the time I got all of my children out of college, I would be too old."

However, at a medical convention, she saw pictures of Dr. Albert Schweitzer and his work. "I went home and told the kids that when I reached 60, I was going into missionary work," she said.

She became aware of the need for medical help in Hereford while one of her sons was studying to become a Catholic priest.

"One of his friends said they needed someone at Hereford to help with the migrant workers," she explained. "I decided to go out and look things over."

At that time, Dr. Edwards felt she had fulfilled her educational obligations to her children. Of the other five, two were doctors, one an engineer, one a teacher and the other a social worker.

When she first arrived in Hereford Dr. Edwards was shocked at the conditions in the labor camp.

"I thought I was in Africa, Mexico, or some foreign country," she said. "The conditions were deplorable."

She said she found three possible routes for expectant mothers of low-income families to follow:

1. They could have their baby in the barracks with just another woman — generally someone who wasn't even a trained midwife — in attendance. Most of the time, the mother would disappear before a birth certificate was registered.

2. They could go to a "certain" doctor's office. He made them remain in the area until just before delivery. After the baby's birth, the mother was given one hour to recover on a stretcher and then both mother and infant went home.

3. Or they could go to a hospital, pay $150 for the delivery, plus medicine and laboratory fees.

"The last was not so bad," said Dr. Edwards. "But it was financially impossible for most. Even if they could scrape together enough money, they could never afford to go back for proper medical checkups for themselves or the baby." Dr. Edwards immediately started her campaign to construct a hospital in the labor camp. She met opposition, disfavor and lackadaisical attitudes.

"They'd tell me these people are no good," Dr. Edwards recalled. "They said I was doing a wonderful thing but these people didn't appreciate it. They told me to go back to where I belonged."

To Dr. Edwards these were fighting words. Instead of retreating, she stepped up her efforts and defended the people.

"You can't just push these people under a rug," she argued. "They're members of your community. They're ripe for something like the take-over in Cuba if you don't show some signs of interest and favor toward them. You've got to better their conditions."

"Money trickled in from all over, but little from Hereford," she recalled. Friends of Dr. Edwards sent some and others who learned of her work through friends sent more.

Dr. Edwards started the construction of the hospital herself. When money for wages was scarce, she would get the men in the camp to give three or four hours of work.

She traded her medical practice for part of the skilled labor.

In November 1962 the new $66,000 facility was opened. Twenty-two months later it was debt-free.

Dr. Edwards' face is smooth and shows few wrinkles for a woman her age. But when she falls into a pensive mood and talks about the future of her hospital, lines caused by worry and work appear at the corners of her eyes and lips.

Despite the creditable job she has done, there's still a great lag of interest and help from local people. She's earned their respect — they call her the "Tom Dooley of Deaf Smith County" — but not complete co-operation.

For example, last year the bed facility adjacent to the maternity ward is now being used only as an out-patient clinic. She has no funds to fix it.

Despite averaging 350 deliveries a year, she has had only four visits during her tenure in Hereford from other doctors.

She charges a flat fee of $100 for a baby, which includes all prenatal and post-birth care. She says she could raise the price and make more money but believes this would defeat her purpose.

Just as the Latin Americans, Dr. Edwards has had to battle prejudice. Last year her private funds became so drained she had to open an office in Hereford for limited private practice.

She said she was turned down on four different locations for her office. Finally, an 80-year-old white man said she could have the basement of his house for her office.

She has both Negro and white patients. The money she makes goes mostly for the hospital.

Faced with such close financial corners, Dr. Edwards raises money to operate the hospital with rummage sales. She also cuts corners in operational costs by buying bolts of material to make much of the hospital clothing. She does much of the hospital laundry herself.

Dr. Edwards is on call 24 hours a day and relies mostly on volunteer workers.

This summer two nursing students from St. Mary's School of Nursing in Indianapolis are working free of charge.

"They wanted to learn how it was not to work in a push-button hospital," Dr. Edwards said. "I'm sure showing them that."

Dr. Edwards keeps herself going with a basic philosophy — "The Lord will provide."

A devout Catholic, she has gone to mass every morning for 25 years.

"I pray to the Lord that He will spare my life to help these people one more day in their plight," she said.

Dr. Edwards believes that the missing link which will mean success and betterment of the migrants — and all people of the lower income bracket — is education.

"The children here can be taught," she said. "They can learn how to be better citizens."

She has tried to accomplish this herself by making two educational loans — a young Latin American boy and girl. He is studying education at West Texas State University in Canyon and she is studying nursing.

Dr. Edwards confesses that prejudice faces the Latin American just as it does the Negro. But she thinks this can be overcome.

"I was born a Negro," she said. "I've never cried about it. I believe a person can accomplish anything regardless of color, if they try hard enough."

Reporting on their June conference of CYF at Ceta Glen were Jim Brink, Faneida Williams, Arvell Williams, and Jean Robertson.

Mrs. Ted Panciera, fellowship president, presided at this first meeting of CWF for the new 19-64-65 year.

Serving as hostesses at the salad supper which followed the meeting, were members of the Tice Group. Thirty-seven members were present for this occasion.

August 19 is the date of the next regular meeting.

Club guests were Miss Knox and her mother, Mrs. Stan Knox. Members present were Mrs. J. C. McCracken, Mrs. A. J. Schroeter, Mrs. Ray Coneway, Mrs. A. O. Thompson, Mrs. Lowell Sharp, Mrs. Joe Hacker, Mrs. Paul Lyons, and Mrs. Jesse Stanford.

Also attending were Mrs. Bill Penn, Mrs. Dick Godwin, Mrs. Frances Parker, Mrs. C. J. Mounitz, Mrs. Troys Carmichael, Miss Frances Dameron, and the hostess, Mrs. Crosthwait.

In Quang Ngai Province, South Vietnam, 100,000 infants and children have been inoculated against whooping cough, tetanus and diphtheria by MEDICO doctors and nurses. Their ministrations are made possible by contributions sent to MEDICO, a service of CARE, New York 10016.

A typical MEDICO doctor on duty in Asia treats 15,000 patients a year. A $12 contribution to MEDICO, a service of CARE, New York 10016, covers his ministrations for an entire day.

Dr. Edwards immediately started her campaign to construct a hospital in the labor camp. She met opposition, disfavor and lackadaisical attitudes.

Miss Lani Suzanne Rush Wed in Church Ceremony

Altar vases filled with white gladioli and daisies and side altars decorated with aqua daisies and white gladioli. Saint Anthony's Church was the setting Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Lani Suzanne Rush and Larry H. Walterscheid. Officiant was the Rev. Father Cletus McGorry, S. A., who read the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Rush, 309 Lawton Street. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Walterscheid, 115 Douglas Street.

Mrs. Morris Hacker, organist, accompanied Miss Dian Wilson, vocalist, in "O Perfect Love," "Mother, at Thy Feet We're Kneeling," "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," and "Ave Maria." Mrs. Hacker's nuptial music included also "The Bride's March" from "Rebecca," "Pierre" by Caron during the exchange of vows, and "Recessional" by Rossini.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a bridal gown of white silk organza with overbodice of Alencon lace in floral motif designed with petal-point sleeves and scalloped neckline re-embroidered with seed pearls. Wide A-shaped lace panels frosting the skirt full length front and back were accented by bouffant draped folds at the sides, flowing into a lace chapel train. The bride's head-dress was a princess crown of tiny seed and drop pearls, with tiers of imported silk illusion forming the bouffant veil. The bridal bouquet of cascading white roses was centered with a white cattleya orchid.

The bride wore an antique locket of French design and carried a white lace and linen handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Humes.

Miss Rosalind Rush was her sister's maid of honor. The bride's other attendants were Mrs. Larry E. Cox and Miss Janis Higgins. They wore identical street-length dresses of aqua silk shantung designed with sweetheart neckline, dipping to a V in the back, accented with three tailored bows of self material. Their flowers were white gladioli.

Alvin O. Walterscheid served his brother as best man, Leroy Berend and Brendan Gallagher, Walsh, Colo., were groomsman; and ushers were James Paetzold, Gary Kriegshauser, Dick Zinser, and Raymond Brorman.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Rush wore an imported Chinese brocade on turquoise with white accessories. Mrs. Walterscheid chose silk crepe of chocolate brown with bone and orange accessories. They wore white gardenias.

After the wedding a reception was held in Saint Anthony's Hall, with Miss Gerry Lynn Wheeler and Miss Jan Story registering the guests.

The refreshment table in white damask was overlaid with white net sprinkled with aqua bows. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white gladioli and aqua daisies. The wedding cake was embossed with aqua heart-shaped ribbon bows and sprays of lilies-of-the-valley.

For her going away costume, the bride chose a white linen sleeveless sheath with orange and white silk street-length coat. Her corsage was the orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

Scouter Writes From Canada

Editor's Note: Kerry Thompson, who is enroute to the National Boy Scout Jamboree in Valley Forge, Pa., sent the following letter to The Brand, his third, telling of his trip. This one was datelined, "Somewhere in Canada."

As you can see, we have had a slight change of plans. As for the reason, I'll try to explain that to you as well as I can.

We had a rather routine start from Indianapolis. We had eaten and were on the road by 7 this morning, headed for Dearborn, Mich. and the Ford Museum.

Somehow, by heck, perchance, a Greyhound bus was between our bus, in the lead, and troop 54's bus — both Continental Trailways buses. About 20 miles out of Indianapolis, we lost sight of the other bus. This didn't cause much disturbance, as it was attributed to another minor, temporary breakdown of the bus. It had happened a few times before, and we made a U-turn to go back to try to help them.

We found them, all right, parked a small distance from the Greyhound separated only by a crumpled Chevrolet.

After fruitless efforts to raise Indianapolis on the small portable radio transmitter in our bus, our driver flagged down a car and proceeded to town to summon an ambulance.

All this time all the scouts stayed in the bus, while our more experienced scoutmaster directed traffic around the wreckage. The car, I imagine, was a total loss; it had slammed into the rear of the Greyhound. As the motors on buses of this type are in the rear, the Greyhound could not go. A different one was sent out to pick up the passengers.

Our bus? Although it was right behind the ill-fated Chevrolet, had not been involved in the wreck. It was, however, having minor mechanical difficulties — the transmission fell out.

We finally left the scene about 11:30. Equipped with a different, better bus for Tr. 54, we set out to find a place to eat.

I feel that I need to say this, if you will please excuse me for harping on one subject. The man and woman in the car, rather elderly, were very seriously injured, and I doubt they will live. One comment I would like to make — this is the fifth accident I have seen in 3 days, two of them probably fatal. In three weeks that we were gone on a family trip, over almost exactly the same route, I can't remember seeing a single accident no matter how minor.

We arrived in Dearborne after the Ford museum and Greenfield village were closed. After eating, we continued on to Detroit. We had to wait for about an hour to have our change of plans cleared with the bus lines.

We crossed over to Canada on the Ambassador bridge, the world's largest international suspension bridge. We stopped at a nice place just out of Ontario to grab a bite to eat. We then traveled for about another hour, in heaven knows what direction. We are camping in a nice area with a few trees around. Everyone else is sound asleep now, except for a small group playing cards.

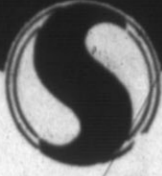

With luck, I'll write you tomorrow from the Hotel Syracuse in Syracuse, N. Y.

Yours truly,
Kerry Thompson

Delta Xi Chapter Sets Year's Theme

Delta Kappa Gamma planning program meeting for Delta Xi Chapter chose "Changing Cultures in Other Lands" as its program focus for 1964-65, at the Thursday luncheon in the home of Miss Della Stagner, 305 North Lawton St.

Chapter programs of the forthcoming season will be focused upon Nigeria, India, and Mexico, their religions, sociological, political, and educational cultures. This 1964-65 focus is one phase of the international theme of New Dimensions and New Goals, a four-year program of Delta Kappa Gamma, international society for women educators, according to Miss Stagner, reporting on the Alpha Texas State Convention held in Dallas this summer.

Delta Xi Chapter will then be broadening the scope of the convention theme, Challenges Unlimited, presented within a national framework by Mrs. Gladys Johnson speaking on "The Changing Image of the American Woman." Mrs. Johnson is international treasurer of the society.

Miss Stagner pointed out that one of Delta Kappa Gamma's major purposes is the establishment and maintenance of scholarship funds for regional, state, national and international awards.

Miss Lucille Park, past chairman of publicity, reported that Delta Xi Chapter received state convention recognition for their scholarship fund from early 1964 white elephant sale. She noted also that Alpha State's superior rating went to the chapter scrapbook for 1963-64 produced and presented by Miss Park at the state meeting.

During the short executive session of Thursday's meeting, resignation of Mrs. Hattie Boling, Farwell, Delta Xi president, was received. Miss Hazel Merritt, Dimmitt, vice-president, was elevated to the presidency; and Mrs. Gladys Legg, Hereford, to the office of vice-president. Mrs. Helen Richardson, Dimmitt, was elected executive secretary.

Mrs. Boling presided at the naming of new committees for 1964-65: Miss Betty Stephens, Dimmitt, achievement awards; Miss Orama Lee Walker, Hereford, auditing committee; Mrs. Eleanor Hudspeth, Hereford, constitution; Mrs. Eloise McDougal, Hereford, ceremonials; Miss Para Render, Dimmitt, courtesy; Mrs. Moelle Neill, Hereford, finance; and Mrs. Faun Welker, Dimmitt, membership.

Also heading committees are Mrs. Leta Kaul, Hereford, music; Miss Della Stagner, Hereford, nominations; Mrs. Genevieve Howe, Dimmitt, organization and expansion; Mrs. Margaret Bell, Hereford, personal growth and services; Mrs. Sophie Snare, Hereford, professional affairs; Mrs. Gladys Legg, Hereford, and Mrs. Koma Ratcliff, Dimmitt, co-chairman program; Mrs. Eunice Thornton, Bovina, publications and publicity; Miss Grace Paul, Bovina, research; and Miss Evie Froehner, Dimmitt, scholarship.

First regular meeting of Delta Xi Chapter for 1964-65 will be held in Hereford's Community Center September 12.

Members present at the salad luncheon were Miss Mary Whitely and Miss Hattie Offer, Farwell; Mrs. Koma Ratcliff and Miss Hazel Merritt, Dimmitt; Mrs. Pearl McLean, Friona. And Hereford members attending were Mrs. Ruby Crawford, Mrs. Margaret Bell, Mrs. Gladys Legg, Mrs. Leta Kaul, Miss Lucille Park, and Miss Della Stagner.

Annual Reunion Planned Today

Progressive Community Reunion will be held today in Community Center. Doors open for this all-day annual event at 10 a.m.

Welcoming the homecoming residents of this Deaf Smith County pioneer community will be Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ricketts, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Russell, and Miss Lucille Park.

Each person or family will bring a basket lunch for the noon hour in Community Center.

Special program for the day will include community singing, a necrology service, and additional music by special quartets. Average attendance at each of these last three annual reunions has been 145. It is hoped that all one-time residents of the community and their close friends will join in this annual gathering and renewal of common ties and friendships. For the reunion this year Ira Ricketts has served as president and Miss Lucille Park as secretary.
