Three injured in fire

Three persons were injured Wednesday in a flash fire at Farr Better Feeds in east Hereford.

Hereford, a welder at Farr, was airlifted to the burn center at Parkland Hospital in Dallas after receiving emergency treatment at Deaf Smith

General Hospital. DSGH emergency room personnel worked with Hubbard for several hours, treating his burns and other injuries so he could be stabilized enough to be flown in a special jet. Hubbard was reported in serious condition this morning at Parkland with second- and third-degree burns to over 70 percent of his body, and a collapsed lung.

Sam Allison, 42, also a Farr employee, was treated at DSGH for about eight hours Wednesday before he was also airlifted to Parkland. He was also suffering serious burns over most of his body and was listed in critical condition this morning, a Parkland spokesperson said.

A third Farr employee, Lonnie Holland, 27, of Clovis, suffered minor flash burns and a broken ankle in the accident. He was in satisfactory condition today at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The three men were using a cutting torch on a scaffolding on the mill when the flame from the torch sparked dust in a rice bin. The spark set off a flash fire and explosion that knocked the men from the scaffolding, about 30 feet high, to the ground.

The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department was then called to the scene because one of the bins in the mill was smoldering. Firefighters worked with Farr employees for about five hours before the fire was extinguished and bins were emptied.

Firefighters were worried that a spark from the smoldering fire could set off another, larger, explosion, but were able to extinguish the fire without further damage.

An ambulance crew from Hereford EMS stood by during the episode to provide help for the firefighters and employees. Firefighters wore heavy "bunker gear," which is designed to cut down on possible injuries from fire. The firefighters also wore helmets, face plates and air tanks, which compounded heat complications.

Recovering from the heat

Hereford volunteer firefighters recover from the heat after taking off their air tanks, helmets, faceplates and baclavas on Wednesday at Farr Better Feeds in Hereford. Firefighters were at the scene for almost five hours on Wednesday working to prevent a second fire or explosion at the mill. Three Farr employees were injured in an accident Wednesday morning.

Iraq seeks embargo relief

By CHRISTOPHER BURNS
Associated Press Writer

Iraqi officials lobbied the Chinese and Soviets today in a bid to break out of international isolation, and while Beijing argued for humanitarian aid Moscow held firm in its support of U.N. demands that Saddam Hussein withdraw from Kuwait.

In occupied Kuwait, an American was reported in the hospital after being shot in the hand by an Iraqi soldier and breaking his leg as he tried to avoid capture. U.S. officials said they had no word on his identity or condition.

Saddam kept up his propaganda barrage, on Wednesday calling again for a holy war against the U.S.-led Western forces that flooded the Persian Gulf region after his tanks and troops overran Kuwait on Aug. 2.

More freed Western women and children headed home today, but hundreds were held back. About 11,000 Westerners are being held in Iraq and occupied Kuwait.

U.S. officials got a sympathetic ear but no immediate funding from European allies for what increasingly appears to be a long-term American military commitment in the gulf, where it is leading the challenge to Saddam.

In Jordan, tens of thousands of Asian refugees were paying for the crisis, stranded in desert camps with no good prospects for getting home. The diplomatic quest for a peaceful solution continued today as Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz met with Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev in Moscow on Wednesday. But the official Soviet news agency Tass stressed Moscow did not waver from its insistence on "the American diplomats in Baghdad told a briefing this morning that that Foreign Ministry had not allowed them access to the man, who they said was in a Kuwait hospital. They had no word on his condition.

In Bahrain, a Western diplomat said the American was shot in the hand and broke his leg as he was trying to jump out of his window. The diplomat, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the information had come from his embassy in Kuwait City.

Iraqi troops have been rounding up Westerners in Kuwait since Iraq seized the oil-rich kingdom.

Embassies in Kuwait City have been ordered closed - but U.S. and other diplomats whose countries refuse to recognize Iraq's annexation of Kuwait are refusing to budge and have suffered the disconnection of power, water and telecommunications.

Saddam offered today to allow Bush to speak directly to the Iraqi people on Baghdad TV, a response to U.S. officials' complaints about the extensive air time given the Iraqi leader in the West.

Naji al-Hadithi, the director general of the Information Ministry, said he had received the instructions from Saddam.

CRISIS IN THE GULF

Jordan's King Hussein held talks with Saddam in Baghdad, sources in the Iraqi capital reported.

China argued that food and medicine should be provided to Iraq as the country's deputy prime minister, Taha Yassin Ramadan, arrived in Beijing today in an apparent mission to seek help from a long-time ally.

The U.N. resolution ordering a ban on trade with Iraq "clearly stipulates that the embargo against Iraq does not include supplies intended strictly for medical purposes and foodstuffs for humanitarian purposes." Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Li Jinhua said at a weekly briefing.

immediate withdrawal of all Iraqi troops from Kuwait and the restoration of that country's independence and sovereignty.

The Soviets have backed the U.N. resolutions banning trade with Iraq and authorizing military enforcement of the embargo.

Gorbachev meets with President Bush in Helsinki, Finland, on Sunday. The same day, Aziz is to visit Iran in the first such high-level trip since war broke out between the two nations 10 years ago, the Iraqi News Agency reported.

Details were sketchy of the Wednesday shooting of the American in Kuwait.

Bush ready to visit Gorbachev

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush, preparing for his weekend summit with Mikhail S. Gorbachev, is willing to take another look at financial help for the ailing Soviet economy, his spokesman says.

Bush was turning today to domestic politics, making a Republican fund-raising swing to Florida and Kansas. On Friday, he leaves for Helsinki, Finland, and the meeting with the Soviet president.

White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said Wednesday that the administration is willing to reevaluate the question of channeling economic help to the Soviets because of Moscow's "real and very helpful support" of the U.S.-led military and economic moves against Iraq.

"The Soviet cooperation in the (Persian) Gulf has impressed us to the point where we are even more interested in being supportive economically if we can be," Fitzwater said. Previously, the administration has opposed an aid package, saying economic reforms in the Soviet Union still needed to be proven.

In today's pair of GOP political appearances - one for Gov. Mike Hayden of Kansas, and the other for Rep. Bill Grant of Florida - Bush was expected to stress the importance of the upcoming summit at a time of unprecedented postwar cooperation between the two superpowers.

He also planned to underscore U.S. determination to "do whatever it takes" to force Iraq to withdraw its military forces from Kuwait, an administration official said.

Fitzwater said he was certain the issue of Western economic aid to Moscow would come up at Sunday's summit.

Administration officials have praised the Soviets for sending ships to back up the blockade effort against Iraq and supporting a series of United Nations resolutions on sanctions against Iraq.

JOHN CHANDLER

UW launches '90 campaign

John Chandler of Amarillo encouraged Deaf Smith County residence to give more time to volunteerism at the 1990 United Way of Deaf Smith County kickoff luncheon on Wednesday at the Hereford Community Center.

Pledge cards are being distributed throughout the community by volunteers. There are 12 agencies that serve Deaf Smith County that will benefit from the $125,000 goal.

The agencies include the American Red Cross, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire, Family Services, Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center, Salvation Army, Hereford Senior Citizens, Hereford and Vicinity YMCA, High Plains Epilepsy Foundation and the Childrens Rehabilitation Center.

Representatives of each of the agency gave a brief description of their agency and services to the crowd at the luncheon.

"What if Hereford lost just one of these agencies," asked long-time UWDSC volunteer Margaret Bell. "It would be catastrophic. They all depend on your generosity. They make Hereford a better place to live, make life better for everyone. You are here, and they will be there when they are needed."

"You are not giving to the United Way, you are giving to the people of this community so they can do what they need for the people in the community," said UWDSC President Jerry Baker.

Chandler, an Amarillo car dealer, is very active in volunteer work in Amarillo and the area.

"Many people ask me why I volunteer so much," Chandler said. "It is not work, it is fun...I have never been in a volunteer organization where I didn't get back more than what I put in."

Chandler said Deaf Smith County "has a dream with United Way." "If you all say you are going to reach your goal by Oct. 27, you will get it done. What your mind can conceive you will achieve."

He pointed to the successful dreams of Cal Farley, the founder of Boys Ranch; Margaret Harper, who conceived the musical "Texas"; and the founders of many of the United Way agencies.

"Do a little dreaming," Chandler urged. "Think about what you would like to see happen. You have people who can make a difference, people who can work to not just make Hereford a good place to live or a nice place to live, but the best place to live."

"Find something you can do."

Division chairpersons this year include LaJean Henry, Agriculture; Clint Formby, Corporate Gifts; Geneva Summers and Audrey Powell, Golden Age; Jeff Torbert, Metro; Pat Newton, Pacesetters; Amy Gilliland, Professional; Joe Wallace, Special; Burdine Huff and Donnie Gooch, Whiteface East; Mary Edwards and Della Hutchins, Whiteface West; John Sherrod, Loaned Executive; Carol Sue LeGate, Cultivation; and Mark Andrews, New Accounts.

Division chairpersons and other volunteers have or will distribute pledge cards throughout the community. Persons who have not received pledge cards are urged to call the UWDSC office at 364-5220. Volunteers will be able to answer most questions persons may have about UWDSC and the member agencies.

UWDSC funds raised in the 1990 campaign will be used by the agencies in 1991. At the donor's convenience, the money may be paid at any time in 1991 in a lump sum, monthly or quarterly accounts. Payroll deductions are encouraged, because there is no need for a large cash amount to be paid at any one time.

UWDSC also has a film, "I'll Be There," that businesses may show to their employees to point out the importance of United Way. The film may be obtained from Tommie Weemes at 364-1166.

Persian Gulf crisis could raise gas near $2 per gallon

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Texas Railroad Commission chairman Kent Hance returned from an emergency meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries with a bleak assessment of the Persian Gulf crisis in which he envisions soaring oil prices, a permanent military presence in Saudi Arabia and a 70 percent chance of war with Iraq.

Japanese brand Pickens 'outrageous'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas oilman T. Boone Pickens turns up the rhetoric in his personal trade war with Japan's Koito Manufacturing Co. today with full-page advertisements in New York and Washington.

Pickens lambastes trade policies in Japan, which he said "is even refusing to fully support America's military efforts in the Middle East."

Pickens, known for his often hostile raids on U.S. companies, has been battling with the management of Koito for 18 months to gain representation on its board of directors.

Pickens claims his battle with Koito, an automobile parts manufacturer, is an example of Japan's closed corporate system, which the ads claim is unfair to competition.

The ads, slated to appear in The New York Times and the Washington Post, said: "The Japanese refuse to play on a level playing field, causing the loss of American jobs and a growing U.S. trade imbalance. Now Japan is even refusing to fully support America's military efforts in the Middle East where Japan gets all of its oil to fuel its economic machine."

Koito issued a statement that branded Pickens' tactics "outrageous and irresponsible."

Pickens has maintained that Koito is really a subsidiary in an alleged cartel headed by Toyota Motor Corp., the Japanese carmaker, which is Koito's largest customer. Pickens, whose Boone Co. owns 26 percent of Koito's stock, claims Toyota has three seats on the Koito board while controlling only 19 percent of the car parts maker's stock.

But Ruth Pachman, a Koito spokeswoman in New York, said Toyota has no representatives on the board, although three former Toyota employees are board members.

Koito, in turn, has maintained Pickens is really fronting for a Japanese investor, Kitaro Wantanabe, who is allegedly seeking to mount a "greenmail" campaign, in which a corporate raider buys a company's stock, forcing it to buy the shares back at above-market prices.

Pickens has denied the allegation but also refuses to disclose the source of his financing to obtain his stake in Koito.

The Texan was again denied a seat on Koito's board at a raucous company's shareholders' March meeting in Tokyo.

Koito said Pickens was "trying to manipulate public opinion for his own personal gain. He continues to wrap his greenmailing schemes in the mantle of U.S.-Japan trade relations. These tactics are outrageous and irresponsible."

Japan, which consumes 4.9 million barrels of oil per day - 3.4 million barrels of it from the Persian Gulf - has pledged $1 billion in aid for the multi-national force opposing Iraqi troops that invaded Kuwait last month.

But Kuwait and the United States have urged Japan to do more.

Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu has ruled out any direct role for Japan's military, citing the constitutional ban against using force in settling international disputes.

A Japanese foreign ministry spokesman said Wednesday that corporations there will be asked to divert existing stock to the aid package and sell their products to the government at cost.

Mark Helmke, a Pickens spokesman in Washington said the ads, which urge readers to complain to the White House, Congress and the Japanese embassy about Japanese trade policies, will run in other newspapers around the country at a later date.

Candidates scrap over issues

AUSTIN (AP) - Downballot races in the Nov. 6 general election heated up with candidates arguing about gays and lesbians, guns and farm trade policies.

Republican state attorney general nominee J.E. "Buster" Brown on Wednesday criticized his opponent, Democrat Dan Morales, for being endorsed by Lesbian-Gay Political Caucus. Morales said Brown has started a campaign based on hate.

In the Texas agriculture commissioner's race, Republican Rick Perry and incumbent Democrat Jim Hightower clashed over United States' farm trade policies.

Perry, a state legislator and farmer from Haskell, touted the Bush administration's proposal to eliminate import quotas, export subsidies and domestic price supports.

Perry said the move would open up new markets, but Hightower's staff said Perry's trade position would cost Texas farmers, especially small growers, $1.3 billion in annual income, reduce food safety requirements and increase the nation's dependence on foreign-imported food.

In the attorney general's race, Brown, a state senator from Lake Jackson, was endorsed by the National Rifle Association and Texas State Rifle Association. He also pointed out that Morales, a state representative from San Antonio, has been endorsed by the Lesbian-Gay Political Caucus and the Texas

AFL-CIO.

"Mainstream conservative groups are backing me, and far-out fringe liberal groups are supporting Morales. That alone tells voters a lot about this race," said Brown.

Morales stated: "I think Texans understand a hate campaign for what it is. I will continue to talk about the issues."

On gun control, Brown said, "We cannot allow the liberal anti-gun crusaders to force us to fill out mounds of paperwork and jump bureaucratic hurdles to buy guns for self-defense."

Morales said he favors a waiting period for the purchase of a handgun and restrictions on the sale of high-caliber, fast-firing assault rifles. "The vast majority of my colleagues in law enforcement support those restrictions," Morales said.

A recent Texas Poll showed that eight of 10 people surveyed said there should be a seven-day waiting period to purchase a handgun, and nearly seven of every 10 Texans polled believe the sale of assault rifles should be banned.

The NRA and Texas State Rifle Association oppose these proposals.

In other political developments Wednesday:

- Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams said he would air a Spanish language television advertisement in 12 markets. Williams faces Democrat Ann Richards.

those troops are there forever because to the militant Arab groups, the Saudi's have committed the unpardonable sin of letting us on their soil.

"And they'll (the militants) never forgive them for it."

The United Nation's economic embargo of Iraq will test the wills of Iraqis and Americans, Hance said.

Unless the crisis is resolved soon, prices for unleaded gasoline could rise to $1.50 to $1.75 per gallon within 90 days as the world oil market grows tighter from the loss of supplies from Iraq and Kuwait, Hance said.

The former congressman and state senator from Lubbock, who said he's kept in regular contact with Washington since the crisis began, pegged the chance of war at 70 percent.

"If a war breaks out, it will be in the air, and it won't last a long period of time," Hance said, adding that if a military move is made, it will be made in October when desert temperatures are lower.

Hance said that although the public supports Bush's action now, that could be withdrawn "If a war breaks out and the 5:30 national news is showing American boys coming home in body bags, if gasoline lines are a half-mile long and (gas) prices are at $1.70."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read your column since I was in junior high and I think you can get a point across better than anyone in America.

What has happened to good manners? We live in a society of pigs. People eat with their mouths open, slurp soup and pick their teeth at the table. My friends say I'm too

Make great appetizers

Chicken wings have been rescued from the soup pot to make crowd-pleasing appetizers. Wings are easy to cook, fun to eat, and pair off with zesty flavored sauces. For twice the flavor, brush the wings with a sauce once during cooking, then pass sauces for dipping. Messy, but scrumptious!

Prepare sauces. Grill chicken wings directly over medium coals for 15 minutes or until almost cooked through. Brush 8 wings with each sauce. Grill chicken about 5 minutes more or until tender and no longer pink, turning as needed. Serve with bowls of sauces for dipping. Makes 8 servings.

Snappy Hot Mustard Sauce: In a 2-cup glass measure combine 2/3 cup chicken broth, 1/4 cup hot-style mustard, 2 teaspoons cornstarch, and 1 teaspoon soy sauce. Cook uncovered, in the microwave, on 100 percent power (high) for 2 to 3 minutes or until mixture is thickened and bubbly, stirring after every minute. Cook on high 30 seconds more. Makes about 3/4 cup.

Easy-Way-Out Barbecue Sauce: In a small bowl stir together 1 cup chili sauce, 1/2 cup currant jelly, 2 tablespoons snipped chives and 2 teaspoons prepared mustard. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Sweet-and-Sour Dipping Sauce: In a 2-cup glass measure combine 1/3 cup packed brown sugar, 1/3 cup unsweetened pineapple juice, 1/3 cup red wine vinegar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, and 1/8 teaspoon ground ginger. Cook uncovered, in the microwave, on 100 percent power (high) for 2 to 3 minutes or until mixture is thickened and bubbly, stirring after every minute. Makes about 1 cup.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Lou Diamond Phillips of "La Bamba" and "Young Guns II" was hospitalized over the weekend because of bleeding from a tonsillectomy, his spokesman says.

The 28-year-old actor was taken by paramedics to Cedars-Sinai Medical Center on Thursday after losing blood while eating at a restaurant, Eddie Michaels said Tuesday.

"He had a tonsillectomy about two weeks ago, and this was what they call residual bleeding," said Michaels. "He actually lost a lot of blood. But he got a transfusion and is doing fine right now."

Phillips was released from the hospital Monday.

fussy. Actually, I'm sick to my stomach.

I've tried to bring up my daughters to be ladies. I tell them, "Chew with your mouth closed, and either don't pop you gum or get rid of it." I would like to know, Ann, how can a person enjoy a meal in a restaurant when someone at the next table is belching out loud?

Is it supersensitive to become disgusted when the person seated next to me on a bus is eating cherries and spitting the pits on the floor? I've been in meetings filled with professionals and heard women chomping on peanut brittle and men cracking nuts with their teeth.

How about theaters where the popcorn crunching is so loud that you can't pay attention to the movie? And have you seen the trash they throw on the floor?

The phone is a real thrill. People think nothing of munching an apple, smacking gum or, my personal favorite, blowing their nose without covering the phone or even bothering to say, "Excuse me." What has happened to our society that we have become such oinkers? -- Nauseous in Venice

DEAR VENICE: Your letter implies that we are less polite than we used to be? I doubt that this is true. Slobs have been around for a long time. With a little effort on the part of parents, we could help the next generation do a whole lot better. I heartily recommend it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My brother and I were raised by a woman who should never have had children. I have not spoken to nor seen my mother in 10 years, nor do I ever expect to talk to her again. It is my choice. My reason is not to get even but self-preservation. If I am to restore my self-esteem and heal from the pain she has caused, I must stay away from her.

You should have told "Columbus" (the woman who hated her mother) that she is at the beginning of a long road back from hell. Her mother did indeed leave her a legacy. My legacy is that I am a recovering alcoholic (22 months sober) and I must work hard to convince myself that I am not all the awful things she said I was. "Columbus" should know that reprogramming is where most of the work is. I have to learn to trust, not only others, but my own judgement as well. When someone tells me I am intelligent and accomplished, it seems as if they are talking about someone else.

At the age of 42, I am just now learning to let go of the anger towards my mother because of what she did to me. The destruction this woman wreaked on the lives of her children is incredible. It has taken me this long not to hate her, and now I am at the stage where I can finally let go. I am light years away from forgiving her, but I hope that someday I will be able to do that, too.

If I can come out of this healthy in mind, body and spirit, I will be equipped to handle anything that life dishes out. Person's handwriting gives personality

Making the "write" decisions in business or love might be easier if you ask for your prospect's intentions in writing.

You can tell a lot about someone's personality from his or her handwriting, some experts say. Today, handwriting analysis is widely used by many Fortune 500 companies in the U.S. and by upper management in Europe as a consideration in hiring, due to its high degree of accuracy. Those who specialize in handwriting analysis say letter formation, writing instrument color preference, as well as size, slant and spacing of the writing on the page, are all hints to the writer's personality and traits.

"Handwriting is a frozen expression that leaves a visual record of one's personality," explains Deborah Berk, president of Signature Dynamics, Inc. and consultant to Faber-Castell Corp., a leading manufacturer of writing instruments. "The type of pen one prefers tells much about the writer. For example, someone who uses a felt tip pen in a vibrant color may be trying to make a strong personal statement through the pen's wide lines and eye-catching ink color," Berk notes.

If your ready to try your "hand" at handwriting analysis, here are some tips on what to look for:

* Experts agree that writing is easier to analyze if the writer uses a pen that glides easily across the paper.

* Check the writer's ink and writing instrument barrel color preferences. Blue or black ink often means someone is serious and business-minded. More creative types may select writing instruments with mauve, magenta or teal colored barrels.

* Does the handwriting slant to the right? If so, it's a sign the person is emotionally responsive. A slant to the left may mean the writer is reserved, while handwriting that's generally upright usually comes from the cool, calm and collected type.

Geothermal energy brings good news

The use of environmentally safe geothermal energy is on the rise, studies show.

* Geothermal energy is heat trapped within the earth's crust. The heat can be brought up to the earth's surface through wells: A generating plant, built at the well site, produces electricity. Transmission lines carry the electricity to the purchasing utility.

* Geothermal energy is an economical, renewable alternate energy source, and there's virtually no pollution involved in its production as there is with the burning of costly fossil fuels such as oil.

* We'd have to burn 70 million barrels of oil a year at an annual cost of over a billion dollars at current prices to replace the geothermal energy now produced at the world's 233 plants.

* Approval of the California Energy Company's Navy II project in Coso Hot Springs by the California Energy Commission, which has the highest environmental regulatory standards in the United States, demonstrated the company's exceptional environmental control technology.

If the trend towards increased geothermal use continues, the effects will be favorable--both for the air we breathe and electric bills we pay.

In the United States--the world leader in geothermal resource production--the California Energy Company is a leader in geothermal productions.

Less expensive, more reliable, cleaner electricity: that's what geothermal energy can bring us now and even more of in the years to come.

The earth is not perfectly round. Distances measured through the poles are shorter than those at the equator.

A tasty way to prepare dove

Sept. 1 means opening day of dove season. The annual lessons have been reinforced, relearned or learned by a new generation of hunters.

LESSON NO. 1 -- The special friendship shared on opening day is more important than the quality of the hunting.

LESSON NO. 2 -- Shooting at doves is easy. Downing one of the little speed demons requires both skill and luck. (A quick trip to the gun club will help your next hunting trip.)

LESSON NO. 3 -- Most doves that are killed end up in a freezer where they become unrecognizable before ending up in the trash.

My wife, Becky, has a recipe that will turn doves into a delicacy. The remainder of this column is in her talented hands.

When it comes to cooking doves I draw on the expertise of two of Texas' most respected cooks. Their suggestions should help you enjoy eating your gamebirds.

The late Helen Corbett, director of the Neiman-Marcus restaurants, suggested that fish that has been frozen should be "refreshed" by soaking in milk for up to 24 hours before cooking. This technique works beautifully on bass and can be applied to gamebirds as well.

For doves or any other game, I find that soaking in buttermilk for a few days works even better.

The world's greatest recipe for doves has to be this one from Mary Faulk Koock of Austin's legendary Green Pastures restaurant. It is found in "The Texas Cookbook" (Little Brown, 1965).

DOVES

Salt lightly but pepper birds generously. Take two parts of chopped apple and one part of chopped onion, depending on number of birds.

Stuff cavity of birds firmly. Wrap each bird with a piece of breakfast bacon. Place on a wire rack over low coals; turn often until bacon is crisp. Then place birds in roaster, add just a very small amount of red wine or water (1/2 cup), again depending on number of birds. Cover and place in a very low (200 degrees) oven to keep warm till time to serve. Place on platter and pour drippings in pan over birds.

If you have trouble with flames because of the bacon fat dripping on the coals you may want to take the birds off before they are completely done and finish cooking them in the oven with the wine at a slightly higher temperature, but no more than 325 degrees. Plan to have lots of birds when you fix these. I have seen men eat 10 or 15 each! -- RBP

Ben Hogan Tour comes to Texas Panhandle

The Ben Hogan Amarillo Open makes its debut at Amarillo Country Club this week, bringing top tour golfers to the area and generating contributions for the Ronald McDonald House of Amarillo.

Stars on the Ben Hogan Tour will quickly make their presence known on the PGA Tour, as the top five money winners will receive an exemption onto the PGA Tour the following year.

Amarillo is one of 30 Hogan Tour events, paying $100,000 in prize money, across the U.S. The 54-hole major tourney starts Friday, following a Thursday pro-am event. The Ben Hogan Tour will be a major contributor to charity in each city where the event is held.

Since opening its doors in August, 1983, the Ronald McDonald House of Amarillo has served more than 3,000 families of this area. Families of all sizes, ages, economic, social and ethnic backgrounds have called the House their "home away from home."

The mission of the House is to provide temporary lodging for families who must travel more than 50 miles to Amarillo to receive medical treatment. The 10-bedroom house provides each family with a private room and bath, large family room, kitchen, and playground where they can find rest and respite from the stresses involved with a critical illness. Priority is given to families of critically ill children; families of adult patients are admitted on a space-available basis.

A dedicated staff and a corps of caring, committed volunteers serve the families during their stay. More than 75 volunteers contribute time for the guests.

In 1989 the House operated within a budget of $145,000. "Our House needs everything your house needs, just 10 times more," said executive director Pat Cathcart.

Amarillo's Ronald McDonald House is debt free, according to Benny Cooper, treasurer. "The proceeds from the Ben Hogan Amarillo Open will provide the necessary income for our operating expenses each year."

"We feel the Panhandle can be proud of the House," said Dean Kelley, board president. "And Amarillo can be especially proud because although only non-residents can use the House, 75 percent of our support comes from Amarillo folks who give so generously of their time, talents, and funds to provide this wonderful place for their neighbors."

There are over 120 Houses worldwide and almost 20 in some stage of development. The growth and success of the Ronald McDonald House concept is in no small part due to the continuing involvement and support of the McDonald's Corporation. At the death of Ray Kroc, McDonald's founder, his widow and the corporation put several million dollars into a charitable foundation, and the Houses remain the cornerstone of its giving.

MEET THE HERD:

Competition tight for starting QB

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor
Coming into the 1990 season, quarterback was possibly the biggest question mark for the Hereford Whitefaces.

For the second year in a row Herd coach Don Cumpton must choose from what is basically an untested group to fill the hole. The Herd started preseason workouts with seniors T.J. Head, Chris Blair and Chris Steward fighting for the top spot.

Quarterback hopefuls

MEET THE HERD

- AUG. 28: Captains
- AUG. 29: Off. Line
- AUG. 30: Def. Line
- AUG. 31: Running Backs
- SUNDAY: Linebackers
- TUESDAY: Receivers
- WEDNESDAY: Def. Backs
- THURSDAY: Quarterbacks
- FRIDAY: Special Teams

Head and Steward spent 1989 on the varsity, Head as a backup with Steward being used at tailback and wingback, while Blair started on the junior varsity.

The situation has gotten muddled a little more with the emergence of sophomore Richard Sanderson.

Cumpton said the qualities the foursome provides will make the decision even harder to make.

"They're all good kids and hard workers and they're intelligent," he said. "They try real hard to do what we ask them to do. It's a tough decision because they are such good kids. They all have some ability. All of them, over the course of the season, will make a contribution to this team."

Cumpton added that each player has physical attributes suited for running various parts of the offense.

"Chris Blair is the tallest and that makes it easier on him throwing the ball," he said. "Chris Steward is the fastest. T.J. is the most experienced and his mechanics are almost perfect. And of course Richard Sanderson can play; he'll be able to do some things for us, too. So I think we can use all of them and, like I said, they can all make a contribution."

Cumpton said each would have ample opportunity to win the starting job.

"We're going to play them all," he said. "We need to get a look at all of them in a game situation because a game is completely different than practice or a scrimmage."

"The quarterback is in charge of the huddle and your leadership qualities come out and your poise, your ability to handle pressure, your ability to handle adversity. All of those things become a factor when you get in a game. And they all deserve a shot at this thing."

Cumpton added that starting the district schedule in the sixth week of the season, instead of the third, will be an advantage.

"It helps because it gives the kids a chance to get more experience," he said. "By the time we get to district a lot of things can happen. We'll just have to wait and see what develops."

Prep season ready to go

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Associated Press Writer

It's a new season Friday night for A&M Consolidated, trying to erase last year's near miss, and more than a thousand other Texas high schools which open the 1990 football season this weekend.

A&M Consolidated will hope to make up for last year, when coach Ross Rogers' team won 14 straight games before being shut out 14-0 by Chapel Hill in the state 4A championship game.

Behind running back Cliff Groce, quarterback Tommy Preston, and 13 other returning letterman, the Tigers appear capable. They're ranked No. 1 among the state's Class 4A teams in the Associated Press high school pre-season Top Ten.

A&M Consolidated opens at nearby Navasota, a longtime rival and ranked No. 3 among Texas' Class 3A teams.

In the only other game matching members of the Top Ten, Chapel Hill plays at Henderson. Chapel Hill is ranked second and Henderson eighth in 4A.

Other No. 1-ranked teams are Aldine in 5A, Vernon in 3A, Groveton in 2A and Thorndale in 1A. Aldine plays at Houston Madison Saturday, Vernon goes across the Red River to play Altus, Okla., Groveton hosts Coldspring and Thorndale journeys to Franklin.

A&M Consolidated's game against Navasota should give Rogers an early indication how good his squad is.

"We're just 20 miles apart, so it's a good rivalry. They're perennially tough in Class 3A; they would match up with most 4A teams across the state. They've got a lot of quickness and skill players. Defensively, they run to the ball real well," Rogers said.

The bad news for other Class 4A teams with title aspirations is that Rogers considers his A&M Consolidated team better than last year's team was at the same time.

"We feel good about where we're at, and no doubt we're ahead of where we were this time last year," Rogers said.

"It's just a question as to how much better we'll get. Last year, we didn't have a lot of confidence at the start of the year, but once we started winning, we kept getting better and better. It seemed we improved immensely from week to week. The question is whether this year we can continue improving week to week, like we did last year."

Groce is a 235-pound tailback who ran for 1,722 yards and 14 touchdowns last year. Preston is a 6-2, 190-pound quarterback who threw for 1,683 yards and 10 touchdowns a year ago and added 488 yards and eight touchdowns rushing.

Preston suffered a separated shoulder in the first day of fall practice and didn't get back in pads until Wednesday.

At Aldine, Coach Bill Smith has 19 lettermen back, including five offensive and seven defensive starters from his team that took a 14-1 record into last year's state championship game with Odessa Permian. Permian returns only two lettermen from its championship team, but still is ranked No. 4 in Class 5A.

Aldine running back Derrick Johnson was all-Greater Houston last year, running for 1,650 yards.

The Mustangs have an offensive line headed by center Travis Coleman, also all-Greater Houston last season, and tackle Roderick Jordan, who was all district. And on defense, Smith has six players back who were all-district a year ago.

Chapel Hill was one of the Cinderella teams of Texas schoolboy football a year ago. The Bulldogs had only a 5-4 record after nine games and finished only second in their district, but won their last seven games, capping off the season with the victory over A&M Consolidated.

This week's opponent, Henderson, is the last team to have beaten Chapel Hill. Henderson won last year's game, 22-6.

"I don't think we could have picked a much stronger team to start against," said Chapel Hill coach Dickey Meeks. He has 16 lettermen back, including eight offensive and four defensive starters.

His biggest returning star is running back Kendrick Bell, who rushed for 1,737 yards and 23 touchdowns last season. But Bell won't play against Henderson, Meeks said.

"He suffered a bruised spine in a scrimmage against Hallsville. It's not all that serious, and he probably could have gone, but I don't think it's nearly that important. He's not even going to be in uniform. If I did that, I'm scared I would play him."

Henderson coach Dennis Alexander has 15 lettermen back from last year's 11-1-1 regional finalists. The Lions were great on offense last year; this year, their defense is their strength. Eight defensive starters return.

"There's a lot of excitement over this game. It's a sellout. They sold all the tickets we sent them, and we sold all our reserved seats," Alexander said.

Herd opens '90 at No. 19 McEnroe in semis, Lendl out at Open

The Hereford Whitefaces claimed the No. 19 spot in the state in Class 4A in the opening Harris Rating System rankings for 1990.

The Herd, which holds a power rating of 183 to start the year, has been rated an 11-point favorite for Saturday's season opener against Amarillo Tascosa and is the highest rated District 1-4A team.

The Rebels come into the season ranked No. 138 in Class 5A with a rating of 172.

DISTRICT 1-4A GAMES

Canyon Randall (6-4 in 1989) at Lubbock Dunbar (1-9 in 1989): The two teams open the season tonight with their second straight game against each other. The Panthers knocked off Randall in the final game of 1989 for their only win.

This game is rated a tossup as both teams come in with a 160 power rating.

The Raiders hold the No. 120 post while Dunbar is just down the list at No. 126 out of 168 4A schools.

Amarillo Caprock (2-8 in 1989 in Class 5A) at Big Spring (11-3 in 1989): The Longhorns tackle a big chore in their first outing as a 4A team when they hit the road to take on 1989 state semifinalist Big Spring. Caprock comes in No. 96 in the state with a 166 rating, but the Steers are riding high at No. 5 with a 190 rating.

Harris says Big Spring will clip the Longhorns by 18 points.

Borger (5-5 in 1989) at Perryton (2-7-1 in 1989): The Bulldogs head for the top of Texas Friday for their opening date against Perryton.

Borger starts 1990 as the No. 84 team in the state and boast a power rating of 167. The Rangers hold down the No. 147 spot in Class 3A and have a 150 rating.

Borgers is favored by 15 points.

Levelland (5-5 in 1989) at Pampa (5-5 in 1989): The Harvesters are the lone 1-4A team to open the season at home when they host former district rival Levelland.

Levelland is a one-point pick.

Dumas (3-6-1 in 1989) at Lubbock High (5-4-1 in 1989): The run-and-shoot Demons have high expectations for 1990 with several votes to make the playoffs.

Dumas looks to take the first step towards that goal Saturday against the Westerners as the No. 55 team in 4A with a 173 rating. LHS comes in as the No. 190 squad in 5A with a rating of 162.

NFL sports new look - for now

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

It's the new look NFL - for a week, at least.

The opening weekend of NFL games will have some unfamiliar names in starting roles and some All-Pro making limited appearances. Other top players won't even be around.

Such stars as Keith Jackson, Eric Dickerson and Bo Jackson won't be at the stadium, for differing reasons.

Jackson is a holdout and isn't expected to sign before the Eagles' game against the Giants. Dickerson has been placed on the non-football injury-suspended list by the Indianapolis Colts and won't play for at least six weeks. Jackson still is playing left field for the Kansas City Royals.

Other top players probably won't go full-time Sunday. Lawrence Taylor signed with the Giants on Wednesday and the All-Pro linebacker is expected to start Sunday. But to predict he will go all the way might be stretching matters.

"One thing I do have and I think it's to my advantage is that I do have heart, I do have desire and enthusiasm," Taylor said. "I'd guess you'd have to say I also have the false belief that I can't be beaten and I can't be stopped. Hopefully that will take me on into Sunday."

Two key defensive linemen in Denver's drive to the Super Bowl last season won't be available against the Raiders. Ron Holmes is a holdout and Alphonso Carreker wrecked his knee in the final exhibition game, sidelining him for the season.

"With us being hurt, there's no question they'll try to mash us," Broncos coach Dan Reeves said of the Raiders.

Raiders coach Art Shell says he is ready for a return to glory by his team.

"I expect to make the playoffs, yes," Shell said.

The Raiders haven't made the playoffs the last four years. Their starting quarterback of 1989, Steve Beuerlein, missed the entire preseason as a holdout before signing a contract Monday. Jay Schroeder will start and has an added weapon in Tim Brown, who missed last season with a knee injury.

Another team with concerns about its starters is Buffalo. Running back Thurman Thomas, linebacker Shane Conlan and tackle Will Wolford missed all of training camp and all four preseason games because of contract disputes. How much will they play against the Colts?

"We hope a lot," Coach Marv Levy said. "We hope we start them all. They might need more relief than they would otherwise."

Don Majkowski, who engineered all those comebacks by the Packers last year, also missed the preseason while seeking a new contract. He is back, but not likely to play much against the injury-decimated Rams? Anthony Dilweg will start.

"What we can't do right now is assume that he (Majkowski) will be ready to go this week and give him every snap," Coach Lindy Infante said. "We'll give him the best chance we can to get him ready as soon as we can and see what happens."

The Rams are hurting all over and are fortunate Majik Man figures to be rusty. Los Angeles is most vulnerable in the secondary, where Pro Bowl cornerback Jerry Gray and Darryl Henley are out.

NEW YORK (AP) - Mac the Magnificent, the magic returned to the his racket, is finding all of the giants in his path to the final have disappeared.

Ivan Lendl, a three-time U.S. Open champion and No. 3 seed, was the latest to go, dispatched by 12th-seeded Pete Sampras, a big-serving giant-to-be.

Gone is top-seeded Stefan Edberg, whose disappearance in the first round by Alexander Volkov is now considered ancient lore.

Gone is Martin Jaita, the No. 16 seed, although he never was given much chance anyway on the hard courts of the National Tennis Center.

Then there were No. 6 Thomas Muster and No. 14 Jim Courier. Gone.

Andrei Chesnokov, seeded 10th, and No. 7 Emilio Sanchez are among the missing as the U.S. Open heads into its final weekend. They can be traced directly to the wizardry of John McEnroe, who waved his racket and, as if it were a magic wand, they, too, were no longer in the chase for the year's final Grand Slam title.

McEnroe's latest mystical and magical feat was, at the age of 31, reaching the U.S. Open semifinals. He accomplished that Wednesday by giving David Wheaton an on-court clinic 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Sampras, like Wheaton one of America's up-and-coming young stars, outlasted Lendl in a 6-4, 7-6 (7-4), 3-6, 4-6, 6-2 shocker. The loss snapped Lendl's record-tying string of consecutive appearances in the final at eight. Bill Tilden set the record from 1918-25.

The victory pits Sampras against McEnroe in one of Sunday's semifinals and guarantees an American in the final for the first time since 1985, when McEnroe lost to Lendl. That also was the last time McEnroe reached the semifinals.

The last time an American won the U.S. Open men's singles title was in 1984 when McEnroe defeated Lendl. Only once in the open era have two Americans faced each other in the final - in 1979 when McEnroe defeated Vitas Gerulaitis.

The men's semifinals were scheduled to be completed today when second-seeded Boris Becker, the defending champion, played No. 9 Aaron Krickstein in an afternoon match and No. 4 Andre Agassi took on unseeded Andrei Cherkasov at night.

The women's semifinals, scheduled for Friday, were completed Wednesday when two-time defending champion Steffi Graf, the No. 1 seed, defeated No. 12 Jana Novotna 6-3, 6-1 and No. 6 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario stopped fourth-seeded Zina Garrison 6-2, 6-2.

Graf and Sanchez will meet in one semifinal. The other pits No. 5 Gabriela Sabatini against No. 8 Mary Joe Fernandez.

"I think it's an experience being in the quarters on center court," Wheaton said after his loss. "You don't want to lose a match and gain experience; you want to win a match and gain experience."

At least Wheaton gained experience as McEnroe, his talented touch and net play reminiscent of when he dominated tennis in the early 1980's, was marvelous. He chipped and charged. He hit angled volleys, drop volleys and half volleys.

And when Wheaton dared venture to the net - which occurred with less and less frequency as the match went on - McEnroe unveiled his repertoire of passing shots down the line and cross-court. He threw an occasional topspin lob in just to keep Wheaton honest - and guessing.

"I don't believe what's happening now. It's a dream come true," Sampras said after blasting 24 and 27 service winners past Lendl in their four-hour, five-minute match. "This is what I've been working for all summer. This is the reward right now."

Graf has her game in high gear as she attempts to win her second Grand Slam title of the year and the first since the Australian Open in January.

She breezed past Novotna, never allowing the Czechoslovak to get into the match, even though Novotna broke Graf's serve to begin the match.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed an application with the Texas Public Utility Commission to introduce new optional services - Call Control Options. The initial service areas will be Laredo, McAllen and Austin. Expansion into other service areas will be based on availability. Customers in other areas will be notified when these services become available.

Call Control Options include six new services - Call Blocker, Call Cue, Call Return, Priority Call, Call Trace and Selective Call Forwarding. The features will be available to single-line residence and business customers.

Call Blocker - enables the customer to block incoming calls from a maximum of three specified telephone numbers and/or to block the last incoming call.

Call Cue - enables the customer to automatically redial the last outgoing telephone number dialed. If the recalled number is busy, equipment will monitor the line for a maximum of 30 minutes and will let the customer know when the call can go through.

Call Return - enables the customer to automatically redial the telephone number of the most recent incoming call. If the number is busy, Call Return will continue to dial the number for up to 30 minutes, or until it completes the call.

Priority Call - provides the customer with a distinctive alerting signal, ring or Call Waiting Tone (if the customer has subscribed to Call Waiting), when the customer is called from a maximum of three preselected telephone numbers.

Call Trace - enables the customer to initiate a trace of the last incoming call received. The number, date and time will be recorded by Southwestern Bell Telephone so that the call's origin can be identified.

Selective Call Forwarding - enables the customer to forward incoming calls from specified telephone numbers (maximum of three) to another telephone number.

EXCELLENT GOOD FAIR POOR DON'T WASTE MONEY

The surprise hit of the summer (to surprise only to the Hollywood fat cats who seem to really believe audiences like overblown sequels and overly budgeted, violent action films) is Ghost; a fair film that focuses on romance and not blown-apart body parts or four-letter words. (This should tell the fat cats something.)

However, the 1990 summer, according to Daily Variety, should be the second best in Hollywood history, with about $1.85 billion in tickets sold. It trails only the 1989 season of $2.04 billion.

According to Exhibitor Relations Co., Inc., this summer's top 10 films are:

- 1) GHOST
- 2) TOTAL RECALL
- 3) DIE HARD 2
- 4) DICK TRACY
- 5) BACK TO THE FUTURE - PART III
- 6) DAYS OF THUNDER
- 7) ANOTHER 48 HOURS
- 8) BIRD ON A WIRE
- 9) PRESUMED INNOCENT
- 10) ARACHNOPHOBIA

But let's say goodbye to a less than wonderful summer that was full of violent and often sophomoric movies and hello to the promise of a fall full of better scripted films.

For now, save your money, though, on...

THE LEMON SISTERS: Starring Diane Keaton, Carol Kane and Kathryn Grody.

This is as near a non-movie as has been made in a long time. Basically, it is the story of three childhood friends who live in Atlantic City, New Jersey; what and how they are bound together and what happens to them in adulthood.

As children in the film, they are adorable, believable and touching. As adults they suddenly represent a great disparity in ages. Kathryn Grody looks like everyone's mother and Diane Keaton is way too long in the tooth to still be doing her Annie Hall act. Throw in a not-so-funny Carol Kane, mix in unfocused direction, add a wandering, poorly scripted story and you get a very boring story of three uninteresting people. Rated PG-13.

ROMAN HOLIDAY: (1953) Starring Gregory Peck and Audrey Hepburn.

You know it. It's like an old familiar tune so you skip over it looking for "something different". Well, don't. See this one again; it's worth the trip. Amid the beauty (even in black and white) of Rome, an American newspaperman (Gregory Peck) is handed a news scoop on the proverbial silver platter. A princess (Audrey Hepburn, in an Oscar-winning performance) has slipped away from her stifling royal lifestyle. In her efforts to hide as one of Rome's common people, she encounters Peck. Their amiable adventures (to no one's surprise) provide the bases for a charming comedy/fantasy romance.

This film is a completely captivating production full of great charm. Not rated but a definite G for the whole family.

Four Boxes

THE PRESIDENT'S PLANE IS MISSING: (1971) Starring Buddy Ebsen, Peter Graves, Arthur Kennedy, Raymond Massey, Mercedes MacCambridge, Rip Torn and Dabney Coleman.

Crisis after crisis (the threat of a nuclear attack by Red China, for one) occurs when Air Force One disappears with the president on board.

This story (and perhaps a timely one) of indecision and desire for control against a background of international crisis is an engaging suspense yarn. The very good story and terse script are helped by a superb, veteran cast. Not rated but would be a PG at most.

Three Boxes

SEE YOU IN THE MORNING: (1989) Starring Jeff Bridges and Farrah Fawcett. This was an overlooked, underrated gem from the season of '89.

Writer-director Alan J. Pakula spent ten years refining this screenplay and the result is a touching character study with numerous memorable and believable moments. Jeff Bridges is a New York psychiatrist whose first marriage to model Farrah Fawcett crumbles.

A's sweep up Red Sox

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

By next month, the Boston Red Sox may forget what happened this week at Fenway Park. Then again, maybe not.

"I think they know how good we are," Rickey Henderson said Wednesday night after the Oakland Athletics completed a convincing three-game sweep in Boston, routing the Red Sox 10-0 in a meeting of division leaders. "They'll probably go back to the drawing board now."

Boston began the series with a 10-game winning streak, but was outscored 25-7 in the three games. Oakland completed its first sweep at Fenway since Aug. 13-16, 1973, and won the season series from the Red Sox 8-4.

Bob Welch got his major league-leading 23rd victory as Oakland won for the sixth time in seven games. The Athletics held their 6 1/2-game lead over Chicago in the American League West, while Boston's edge over Toronto in the AL East was cut to 5 1/2 games.

In other games, Chicago beat Kansas City 3-0, Toronto defeated Detroit 7-3, New York downed California 2-1, Seattle stopped Baltimore 9-5, Milwaukee beat Minnesota 7-4 and Texas rallied past Cleveland 3-2.

Welch (23-5) gave up five hits, struck out four and walked none in eight innings. Steve Chitren, making his major-league debut, completed the shutout.

White Sox 3, Royals 0

Greg Hibbard pitched a four-hitter for his first major-league shutout and Robin Ventura's two-run single in the eighth inning broke open a scoreless game.

Hibbard (12-8), struck out six, walked five and escaped two bases-loaded jams.

Mel Stottlemyre Jr. made his first big-league start and shut out the White Sox on one hit in seven innings. Steve Farr (10-6) relieved to start the eighth and walked three batters to load the bases with two outs, setting up Ventura's single and an RBI single by Ivan Calderon.

Blue Jays 7, Tigers 3

Fred McGriff and Rance Mulliniks homered as Toronto averted a three-game sweep. Cecil Fielder hit his 44th homer for Detroit, a two-run shot.

David Wells (10-4) gave up three runs on four hits in seven innings.

Mulliniks hit his second home run of the season for a 2-1 lead in the second against Clay Parker (3-2). McGriff hit his 32nd home run in the eighth.

Mariners 9, Orioles 5

Harold Reynolds broke a ninth-inning tie with his first grand slam and drove in a career-high five runs.

The Mariners got a hit in every inning and finished with 17.

Henry Cotto started the ninth with a single off Kevin Hickey (1-3). After a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Hickey walked Omar Vizquel before Reynolds hit his 10th career homer.

Keith Comstock (7-3) got the victory.

Yankees 2, Angels 1

Jesse Barfield hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

Barfield hit his 21st home run with two outs against Bryan Harvey (3-3). Jim Abbott struck out a career-high nine and left after a one-out walk.

Dave LaPoint (7-10) stopped his six-game losing streak.

Rangers 3, Indians 2
Pinch hitter Jack Daugherty tied the game with an RBI single in the bottom of the ninth inning and pinch hitter Kevin Reimer followed with a run-scoring double.

Juan Gonzalez opened the Texas ninth with a double against Doug Jones (4-5) and Geno Petralli drew a one-out walk, setting up the hits by Daugherty and Reimer.

Kenny Rogers (6-5) got the victory despite giving up Cleveland's two runs.

Brewers 7, Twins 4

Paul Molitor hit a three-run homer that capped a five-run rally in the eighth inning.

Greg Vaughn, who homered earlier, singled home the tying run in the eighth. Ron Robinson (9-3) was the winner. Gary Wayne (0-1) was the loser.

Bucs take two from Mets

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates get a kick out of playing double or nothing - because they win double and the other team gets nothing.

The Pirates almost did that literally Wednesday night as they began a crucial series with the New York Mets.

The Mets, who lead the National League in home runs, managed only one run all evening as the Pirates maintained their perfect record in doubleheaders with a 1-0, 3-1 sweep that opened a 2 1/2-game lead over New York in the NL East.

Met-killer Zane Smith pitched a one-hitter in the opener - Keith Miller's clean single leading off the first inning - and Jeff King drove in all the Pittsburgh runs in the nightcap with a solo homer in the first inning and a two-run shot in the third. The Pirates have swept all five twin bills this season.

In the NL West, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 5-3 and increased its lead to 7 1/2 games over Los Angeles, a 6-2 loser to Atlanta. Elsewhere, Montreal beat St. Louis 6-2, Philadelphia defeated Chicago 4-1 and San Diego downed Houston 5-2.

Smith, acquired last month from Montreal in part to provide another left-hander against the Mets, struck out seven and was near-perfect. After Miller's leadoff single, Smith allowed only one other baserunner - a two-out walk to Miller in the third - and retired the last 19 batters.

The Pirates won the opener in the bottom of the ninth when Barry Bonds hit a bases-loaded one-out single off Mets relief ace John Franco (4-1) for his 100th RBI. Frank Viola went eight innings, scattering six hits.

Reds 5, Giants 3

Hal Morris homered to snap a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning and doubled twice and scored both times.

Morris hit his seventh home run off Don Robinson (10-5). He doubled for the second time in the eighth and scored on a double by Chris Sabo, who came around on singles by Jeff Reed and Barry Larkin.

Norm Charlton (11-7) held the Giants to two runs and six hits in seven innings, including Gary Carter's ninth homer.

Braves 6, Dodgers 2

Oddie McDowell's leadoff home run ignited an early four-homer barrage against Mike Morgan and John Smoltz won his fourth game in a row.

Smoltz (13-9) blanked the Dodgers until the ninth when Hubie Brooks hit his 18th home run.

Expos 6, Cardinals 2

Montreal rookie Chris Nabholz raised his record to 4-0 and Tim Wallach and Larry Walker hit two-run homers. He went 5 1-3 innings, giving up two runs and five hits.

Mel Rojas pitched two innings and Tim Burke went 1 2-3 for his 16th save.

Cardinals starter Jose DeLeon (7-15) has lost 10 of his last 11 decisions. DeLeon pitched six innings, giving up all the Montreal runs and seven hits.

Phillies 4, Cubs 1

After being shut out on one hit by Chicago's Mike Harkey until he experienced stiffness in his pitching shoulder in the seventh inning, the Phillies scored four times in the eighth against Steve Wilson, Mitch Williams and Les Lancaster.

Lenny Dykstra singled home the tying run, Darren Daulton's RBI double put the Phillies ahead and Charlie Hayes capped the rally with a two-run single.

Winner Terry Mulholland (8-8) gave up four hits in eight innings.

Padres 5, Astros 2
Roberto Alomar was 3-for-3 with a triple, double and two RBIs and Dennis Rasmussen won for only the second time in his last 11 decisions.

Rasmussen (9-13) gave up eight hits in eight innings and Craig Lefferts pitched the ninth for his 23rd save. Loser Mike Scott (9-13) yielded five runs and nine hits in seven innings.

Rangers' Witt gets things under control

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The jokes have stopped about the Texas Rangers "Witt 'n Wild" amusement park.

Bobby Witt, who finally discovered the knack for harnessing his enormous talent, can set a club record for consecutive victories against the Kansas City Royals tonight.

Witt and Ferguson Jenkins are tied with 11 consecutive victories.

Witt's streak began on June 28th with an 8-6 victory over Minnesota. The Rangers have won in all 13 of Witt's starts.

The last victory was a 3-2 nail-biter over the Oakland A's Saturday in which Witt issued 10 walks but still survived.

"Bobby can win now on a day when he doesn't have his best stuff," said Rangers' general manager Tom Grieve. "He was confident enough to strike out Rickey Henderson with the bases loaded. He made the pitches when he had to."

In the past, Witt said he would lose his concentration and patience.

"Last year I would have been out of the game in the second inning," Witt said. "Now I don't worry about anything. I knew I had a good fast ball working and had the confidence I could get out of the situation."

Grieve said the Rangers management can take part of the blame for Witt's struggles in the major leagues.

A first round pick in 1985, Witt pitched in only 11 games in the minors before he was hustled into Arlington Stadium where the Rangers were hurting for mound help.

"He was not polished and he was rushed," Grieve admitted. "He definitely was an uncut diamond who needed polishing."

In 1989, Witt's 5.14 earned run average was the highest in the majors among the five pitchers who qualified for the dubious title. His 114 walks led the league. His 166 strikeouts were seventh best in the American League.

Suddenly, everything has clicked. His 11 consecutive decisions are the most by a major league player since Montreal's Dennis Martinez won 11 from May 9-July 29, 1989.

"Bobby has 100 per cent confidence in his fast ball now," Grieve said. "His control is better and he consistently throws in the 92- to 95-mph range. He's always had a great deal of physical ability. He's finally put it all together."

Oakland slugger Jose Canseco said Witt's stuff rates with the best in the majors.

"He can walk three batters then strike out the side with that fast ball and slider of his," Canseco said.

Witt has 181 strikeouts and 94 walks. He has a 3.42 ERA en route to his 14-8 record.

"Bobby is a smarter pitcher now," Grieve said. "After five years, some knowhow is coming through. He gets ahead of hitters with his fast ball."

Grieve said he believes Nolan Ryan's influence is finally sinking in for Witt.

"Watching Nolan every day does help," Grieve said. "He sees how hard Nolan works, harder than anybody on the team. Nolan takes this game seriously and it's rubbing off. It has to have a positive effect."

Witt has given a lot of credit to Ryan.

"It's great to watch the way he takes on hitters but he's smart the way he does it," Witt said. "You can learn a lot watching him."

Early detection key for cancer survival

This year, 8,500 children will be diagnosed with childhood cancer. For many of these children the key is timely as well as appropriate treatment.

But how does a parent make the distinction between a relatively minor illness and a serious illness, such as cancer? According to Dr. Elizabeth Thompson, physician-in-chief at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, when a child's health begins to decline for no apparent reason, it's worth taking a moment to run through this checklist of warning signs that may indicate serious illness if they persist.

Is my child:

- *Fatigued, listless or pale?
- *Experiencing any swelling or unusual lumps anywhere in the body?
- *Feeling nauseous or experiencing a loss of appetite?
- *Suffering continued insomnia or sleeping too much?
- *Undergoing unusual mood swings or crying abruptly?
- *Stumbling or losing balance more often?
- *Seeing double or suffering other eye problems?
- *Bruising easily or frequently?
- *Experiencing nosebleeds or any unexplained bleeding?

While many of these symptoms could be due to nothing more serious than a virus, a trip to the doctor is certainly called for.

"It's important not to try to diagnose your child yourself," Dr. Thompson urges. "Consult a doctor and set up a thorough examination for your child, including necessary blood tests. If symptoms persist, or worsen, despite the advice or treatment of a physician, consider getting a second opinion. It's worth the peace of mind."

"Parents need to keep aware of their children's physical well-being," Dr. Thompson adds. "Whether or not you suspect a serious illness, regular medical checkups are crucial for children of all ages."

Dr. Thompson suggests taking the time to learn what childhood cancer is, what forms it comes in and how to recognize its symptoms—a basic education for parents can help ease their general anxiety about childhood cancer.

Leukemia, a cancer of the blood-forming tissues, is the most common form of cancer in children. Symptoms of leukemia include fever, fatigue, anemia, bone pain, nosebleeds, bruising easily, weight loss and swelling of the body organs.

Brain tumors are the second most frequent kind of childhood cancer. Symptoms of brain tumors vary widely, but usually begin with headaches and, if untreated, can grow into impaired speech and hearing, and loss of motor control skills, such as walking.

Long known for their pioneering work in cancer treatment, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, located in Memphis, is one of the world's premier centers for biomedical research and catastrophic diseases in children. St. Jude was founded 28 years ago by entertainer Danny Thomas and is supported through contributions received by the American Lebanese Syrian Association Charities (ALSAC).

Solid tumors, like bone cancer, and Lymphomas, such as Hodgkin's disease and non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, are also common forms of childhood cancer. Symptoms of these types of malignant solid tumors almost always involve swelling or pain accompanied by weight loss and fever.

"Though chemotherapy and radiation therapy are still the most routine forms of treatment for many of these cancers, St. Jude continues to research new and ongoing types of therapy, as well as anti-cancer drugs, and is achieving dramatic results. Still, the most promising treatment of all is early treatment," adds Thompson.

The research conducted at St. Jude is funded primarily through public contributions. The donations also allow St. Jude to fund treatment for young patients without insurance coverage.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Dirty Harry is hanging up his Magnum.

Clint Eastwood said Wednesday he plans no more sequels to the shoot-'em-up movies featuring a San Francisco detective known for his .44 and his taunting line to bad guys, "Make my day."

"I don't know where you'd take him," said Eastwood, who has starred in five "Dirty Harry" films.

"The very dangerous thing about doing sequels is you can fall into a pattern of self-imitation. You'd have to have an awfully good script to take you away from that."

Eastwood's latest venture as actor and director, "White Hunter, Black Heart," explores the obsession of a movie director bent on bagging an elephant in Africa. Eastwood plays the director, modeled on the late John Huston.

Accent on Health

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) is notifying all school and child-care facility administrators that new, more stringent immunization rules for all Texas children will become law effective Sept. 1.

Health officials are advising parents to ensure that their children's immunization records comply with those rules. Still more changes in the immunization requirements, including mandatory second dose of measles vaccine, are set for 1991.

Wes Hodgson, epidemiology coordinator for the TDH Immunization Division, said, "The large measles outbreaks which began in 1988 underscored the fact that measles and other vaccine-preventable diseases can pose tragic health threats unless all susceptible people are immunized against them."

Hodgson said, "Some parents in recent years have failed to have their children vaccinated. Also, some school and day-care operators have not kept adequate records. The result is a growing number of insufficiently immunized children and young adults at risk of measles infection."

Hodgson said that currently the law requires all children entering Texas schools or day-care to show proof of immunization at certain ages against polio, tetanus, measles, rubella (German measles), mumps and diphtheria. In addition, the laws require pertussis (whooping cough) vaccine for all school and day-care children younger than five years of age.

However, amendments adopted by the Texas Board of Health in June more sharply define, and in some cases change, children's immunization requirements. Among the major amendments are:

-Beginning Sept. 1, children and student enrolling in Texas child-care facilities or schools must have received both mumps and measles vaccines on or after their first birthdays.

-Beginning Jan. 1, 1991, students whose 12th birthdays occur on or after Sept. 1, will be required to have two doses of measles vaccine, or provide evidence of measles immunity. The two doses must be administered at least 30 days apart, and proof of the second dose will be required until the child's 12th birthday.

-Beginning Sept. 1, 1991, Haemophilus influenzae type B vaccine will be required for children, ages 18 months through four years.

-Beginning Sept. 1, 1991, all children and students enrolling for the first time must have received rubella vaccine age one or older.

Hodgson added that persons needing further details about immunization requirement should consult their family physicians, local health departments or school officials.
