Man dies in accident

Louis Eugene Buck Jr., 34, of Hereford, died early Sunday morning in a one-vehicle rollover north of Hereford.

Buck was going north on Progressive Road about a mile north of Hereford at 2:55 a.m. Sunday when his 1973 GMC pickup ran off the left side of the road and turned over on its top. Buck, who was not wearing his seat belt, was partially ejected through the passenger's side window of the pickup.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Rose Chapel at Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home with the Rev. James Peach, pastor of Westway Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will follow in West Park Cemetery.

Mr. Buck was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., and moved to Hereford in 1976 from Peoria, Ill. He worked at Holly Sugar and Nutri-Feeds, and was a Baptist.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buck Sr., of Hereford; a sister, Anna Mae Rollings of Hereford; and two brothers, Guy Buck and Jack Buck, both of Hereford.

DPS patrol unit totaled in accident

DPS Trooper Darrell Matthews' patrol unit was mashed and magled in a rollover Sunday afternoon just northeast of Hereford near the intersection of 15th and U.S. Highways 60. Matthews was able to scramble out of the car and walk away from the accident.

Matthews walks away from wreck

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Department of Public Safety Trooper Darrell Matthews of Hereford came striding down 15th Street Sunday afternoon, flanked by his supervisor, Sgt. Marshall Henderson, and fellow Trooper Gary Whitfill.

Matthews was wearing blue shorts, a gray T-shirt, and his official issue trooper hat.

Henderson didn't mind a bit that Matthews was way out of uniform. They were walking down 15th toward Matthews' patrol car, which was lying on its top in a field. The top was caved in, as were the sides. There were huge suspension springs and some other car parts scattered around the road and in the field where the car came to rest on its top.

Matthews had been patrolling U.S. Highway 60 and was pursuing a speeding motorist. The motorist attempted to elude Matthews and tried to turn on 15th. When Matthews made the turn at high speed, his car careened out of control.

The patrol car hit the soft shoulder and went airborne. The left side of the car just nipped a utility pole. If the pole had been two, three, four inches more to the right, Matthews would not have been walking down 15th an hour later.

The car nudged the pole about five feet off the ground. It was hard enough to send the car flipping in the field. After the car came to a stop, Matthews scrambled out of the car after unbuckling his seat belt.

"We need to take a picture just to show what seat belts can do," Sgt. Henderson said. His point was obvious: if Matthews had not been wearing his seat belt...

Matthews was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital. He had some bad scrapes and general soreness, but was able to smile a very meaningful smile.

Centennial Clips

1888--By the time the Capitol was completed in Austin, the XIT Ranch was stocked with 125,000 head of cattle. At its zenith the ranch employed 150 cowboys who rode 1,000 horses, herded 150,000 cattle and branded 35,000 calves in a year. Col. A.G. Boyce became ranch manager and it was split into eight divisions for more efficient management. The Escarbada Division covered most of the western half of Deaf Smith County.

UWDSC luncheon Wednesday

John Chandler of Amarillo will be the keynote speaker at the annual kickoff luncheon for the United Way of Deaf Smith County at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Hereford Community Center.

This year's goal is $125,000, and funds will benefit 12 area agencies. Most city civic clubs will meet at the luncheon, which will launch the 1990 UWDSC campaign.

Tickets for the luncheon are $5 per person. Civic club members whose clubs will meet at the Wednesday luncheon may purchase their tickets through their clubs. Tickets to the public will be available at the door.

The UWDSC's theme for 1990 is "I'll Be There!" In Deaf Smith County, thousands of lives are touched each year through the 12 United Way agencies.

The agencies deal with problems related to drug involvement, teenage pregnancy, domestic problems, chronic medical problems that need care and other problems, but also benefit programs like Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire, Hereford Senior Citizens and the Hereford YMCA.

The 1990 president of the UWDSC is Jeryl Baker, who will be leading the 1990 campaign with a variety of division leaders and other volunteers through Oct. 27.

Chandler is the president of the United Way of Amarillo and is a member of the board of directors of the United Way of Texas.

Iraq reasserts supply demand

By SIDNEY S. FEINGOLD
Associated Press Writer

Iraq has asked Western countries whose citizens it holds to urgently send food for them, increasing concern that Saddam Hussein may not intend to free all remaining women and children hostages as promised.

The request was another sign that Iraq is feeling the crunch from the trade embargo ordered by the United Nations after Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. Iraq also suspended payments on its foreign debt on Monday.

In the Persian Gulf waters, meanwhile, U.S. Coast Guardsmen boarded the Iraqi-flagged freighter Zanoobia in the Gulf of Oman today in line with the tightening embargo on Iraqi trade, naval and shipping sources said.

It would be the first reported case of U.S. forces boarding an Iraqi-flagged vessel since the U.N. embargo was imposed on Iraq last month.

Also today, Jordan's crown prince criticized the international community for doing little to help thousands of Asian refugees from Iraq and Kuwait, some of whom are dying from exposure in a squalid makeshift camp in the desert while they await transport home.

In the Soviet Union, Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze proposed an international conference on the gulf crisis that would also take up the Arab-Israeli conflict and the civil war in Lebanon.

In a major foreign policy address, Shevardnadze also said Sunday's superpower summit in Helsinki, Finland, would mark "a major milestone on the road toward resolving the crisis in the Persian Gulf."

In another development, Iraq suggested setting up an international "people's court" to try President

Bush for defiling Islam and for human rights violations. The state-run Iraqi News Agency said today the idea was discussed by the nation's union for lawyers and human rights association.

Iraq rescinded landing rights for foreign charters into Iraq to pick up foreign nationals, and some sources said Baghdad was seeking to swap hostages for trade, apparently in an attempt to poke holes in the embargo.

CRISIS IN THE GULF

Here, at a glance, are the latest developments in the Persian Gulf crisis:

President Bush summoned his Cabinet for a post-vacation briefing today on the Persian Gulf crisis.

The foreign affairs committees of the House and Senate planned to question Secretary of State James A. Baker III on the president's gulf strategy at hearings this afternoon and Wednesday.

Baker is scheduled to leave Thursday for Saudi Arabia and the gulf region to solicit financial contributions to bolster the U.S. effort and also to provide economic assistance to countries hard hit by the international embargo against trading with Iraq. He also planned stops in West Germany and Italy.

Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady was setting out on a similar mission today to Paris, London, Seoul, South Korea and Tokyo.

White House aides prepared for Bush's meeting Sunday in Helsinki, Finland, with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev. The president may leave Washington Friday to meet first with Finland's President Mauno Koivisto on Saturday.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze today urged formation of an international conference on the Persian Gulf crisis and said Israel's attendance would be important, according to the official Soviet news agency Tass.

Shevardnadze said Moscow could reconsider Soviet-Israeli relations if Israel agreed to join such a conference. The Soviets severed diplomatic ties with Israel after the 1967 Middle East war.

A delegation of 22 House members returned to Washington Monday night after touring the Persian Gulf region and inspecting the U.S. military operation that has been rushed in since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. A Senate group is scheduled back from the region later today.

Iraq on Monday asked Western countries whose citizens it holds to send food for them, increasing concern that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein may not intend to free remaining women and children hostages as promised.

Also Monday, the Iraqi News Agency quoted Mohammed Mahdi Saleh, acting minister of commerce and finance, as saying Iraq has suspended payments on its foreign debt, estimated at $30 billion to $35 billion.

The West looked in vain over the weekend for large-scale, follow-up flights after hundreds of Western and Japanese women and children were allowed to leave on Iraqi jetliners on Saturday.

But there was a report that 138 Westerners - about them two dozen Americans - would be allowed to fly out to Jordan today.

And a convoy carrying about 300 British women and children left Kuwait City just after dawn heading for Baghdad, where they hoped to continue overland to Jordan or fly home via Amman, British officials said.

Some of the evacuees have acted as human shields at strategic Iraqi sites on orders of Saddam, who last week said women and children would be allowed to leave. About 3,000 Americans - a third of them women and children - were among 21,000 Westerners initially trapped in Iraq and Kuwait by the invasion.

On Monday, the Iraqi News Agency quoted remarks made by Iraq's foreign minister, Tariq Aziz, to President Cornelio Sommaruga of the International Committee of the Red Cross regarding foreigners inside Iraq.

"Suffering as it is from the effects of the international siege, Iraq will not be responsible for their suffering resulting from the shortages in food supplies," Aziz said.

He urged countries with large number of citizens in Iraq to "take urgent measures" to send those citizens food supplies.

Japan's Kyodo News Service said Iraq was asking Tokyo to bend the embargo in exchange for freeing Japanese hostages.

In Paris, the Foreign Ministry indicated Iraq had set conditions unacceptable to France in return for landing rights that would allow a French plane to repatriate 200 women and children.

In Baghdad today, Western diplomats were negotiating frantically with officials at Iraq's Interior and Foreign Ministries to obtain exit permits for a group of 138 foreign women and children who want to leave on the Iraqi Airways flight, diplomatic sources and airline officials reported.

One Western diplomatic source said 24 Americans are among those trying to leave on that flight. The others are Britons, Canadians, Italians, French and Irish nationals, he said, but could not provide a breakdown.

In Amman, diplomats said the Iraqi Airways plane was chartered by the U.S. government and was to carry about 200 Western evacuees. The diplomats requested anonymity and would not give other details.

Late Monday, an Iraqi Airways jumbo jet carrying Iraqis stranded in Britain by the crisis left London for Baghdad. An airline official said 195 passengers were aboard.

More than 100,000 Asians - Indians, Sri Lankans, Bangladeshis, Thais and Filipinos - remain stranded in Jordan.

Williams enjoys double-digit lead

AUSTIN (AP) - Clayton Williams enjoyed a double-digit lead heading into the final leg of his campaign for governor, but opponent Ann Richards says she's confident the lead will diminish.

Williams, Richards and candidates for other offices traversed Texas during Labor Day weekend, the traditional start of political season.

Republican Williams, a Midland oilman and rancher, holds a 10-point lead in most polls over Democrat Richards in the Nov. 6 general election.

But Richards, the state treasurer, said she is encouraged because Williams' lead hasn't grown despite his television advertising blitz.

"My feeling was that if we could hold our own against all of his wealth and his millions into television through Labor Day, then we're going to be competitive," Richards said at a dove hunt.

Williams displayed the confidence of a front-runner drawing from a huge cache of campaign money as he stumped West Texas with other Republican candidates.

"I'm not going to declare victory, but you know the part of the leader is to define your objectives and define your goals. And my goal is for these men and women to win in a landslide," Williams said.

On Monday, Williams rode a horse in the Jaycee Jubilee Parade in Garland and then went on a campaign trip to South Padre Island.

Richards started the day at a labor group breakfast in Houston and then attended state Sen. Carl Parker's annual Labor Day picnic in Beaumont before heading to West Texas.

Last spring, Williams was damaged by a series of gaffes. But Richards has failed to form a coherent message for voters, political analysts say.

Williams compared foul weather to rape, saying "if it's inevitable, just relax and enjoy it." He later apologized, but then admitted to being "serviced" by prostitutes as a young man. He also said he would be uncomfortable running against a woman.

The Williams campaign has tried to paint Richards as a liberal, linking her to gays and lesbians and Hollywood actress Jane Fonda. The Richards campaign responded with television ads questioning Williams' business ethics.

Despite a state budget crisis looming when the Legislature meets in January - estimates run from a $3 billion to $5 billion budget shortfall - both Williams and Richards have said new taxes aren't the answer.

Williams took the tax question a step farther, saying that if elected he would veto any tax increase. The Richards camp responded by saying that Gov. Bill Clements, also a Republican, had broken a similar promise.

At the top of the ballot, state Sen. Hugh Farmer, D-Fort Worth, faces an uphill struggle against U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, a Republican.

Spikers fall to EP Eastwood

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces swept through Friday's pool play of the Amarillo Invitational Tournament only to be knocked off by El Paso Eastwood 15-5, 15-2 in the first round of Saturday's championship bracket.

The Herd opened the tourney with a 17-15, 15-4 win over Odessa Permian before topping Big Spring 15-12, 15-8 and El Paso Jefferson 16-14, 15-10 to claim the top seed out of Pool 2.

"We did a super job on Friday," Lady Whiteface coach Brenda Reeh said. "Last weekend (at the Lubbock Invitational Tournament) we weren't winning the close ones. This weekend we did, so there's and obvious bright spot."

"We played well together Friday," Reeh added. "So much playing time this last week helped us learn what the player next to us was going to do."

Reeh said Saturday's troubles centered around not being able to get the attack going against Eastwood.

"Offensively we didn't hit very well," she said. When we did attack aggressively the hits went down; we just didn't attack enough.

"Defensively we were out of position several times," she added. "As a result we were stretching to play the ball instead of moving to it."

"Hopefully we can watch the tape and get a good idea of how to correct our mistakes. As long as we're learning from our mistakes we'll keep improving."

Herd vs. Odessa Permian
Shantel Cornelius led the Herd with 11 kills and added four service points against the Panthers while Brek Binder served up 11 points to lead the team.

Robin White added seven kills and four service points while Jennifer Hicks had four kills.

Cornelius also had five digs and White had five service receptions passed to setter.

Herd vs. Big Spring
Cornelius again led in kills with five with Lori Sanders knocking down four.

Jayne Moore and Binder both had five service points with Teresa Baker and Sanders added four each.

White and Baker each had three service returns passed to setter and Binder had five digs to head the defense.

Herd vs. EP Jefferson
The Herd revved up the attack against Jefferson with Binder leading with seven kills while Cornelius had six and Sanders and Hicks five apiece.

Baker had six points on serve with Hicks and Kyanne Lindley getting four each.

Baker passed six service receptions to setter while White, Moore and Sanders had four apiece. Sanders also had four digs to lead the team.

Herd vs. EP Eastwood
The Herd suffered from 22 unforced errors in making an early exit from the single-elimination championship bracket.

Binder and White were the only servers to score more than once as each had two points.

Binder led the attack with six kills and White and Cornelius added for each. (See SPIKERS, Page 8)

Just because the Hereford Whitefaces are a run-oriented team on offense, don't think just anybody can be a receiver on the team.

The wide receivers and tight ends for the 1990 Herd have proved to have sticky hands when it comes to catching passes, according to Coach Don Cumpton, and there will be an effort made to get them the ball.

"We have some really good players out there," Cumpton said, "and they can all catch the football. It makes it a whole lot easier to establish our running game when the other team knows we can also throw."

With the emphasis on rushing in the Herd offense, Cumpton said the blocking ability of the wideouts is as important as running precise patterns and catching.

"We're going to try to run the option a little more this year," Cumpton said. "We didn't run it much last year, but we're trying to

The good-hands people

the perimeter blocking, so our wide receivers are very important there. And I think they'll be able to handle it."

Receivers coach Stan Carter said his group is more than able to withstand the physical pounding it will take while performing such duties.

"A lot of people think you don't do much as a receiver," Carter said,

"but these guys will have contact on almost every play. We have a lot of plays where down-field blocking is critical and they have to get down there and get in the middle of it."

Tight end Ben Weatherly, one of three returning offensive starters, will be worked into the scheme more, Cumpton said. Weatherly caught only two passes as a junior, but Cumpton said his ability as a receiver gives the Herd an added dimension.

"Ben has done a real good job for us at tight end," Cumpton said. "He's as good a blocker as we have and that's what we look for first in a tight end. But he has the ability to get to the ball and catch it, so we're going to try to get to him a little more this year."

Both Dwight Gooden and the St. Louis Cardinals had trouble dealing with the heat.

New York let Gooden do the pitching in St. Louis on Monday, while Doug Drabek took the mound in Pittsburgh. So it figured things would remain the same in the National League East. They did, too.

The Mets beat the Cardinals 9-3 to maintain a one-half game lead over the Pirates, who beat Philadelphia 4-1.

In St. Louis, Gooden pitched seven scoreless innings but had to leave the game because of the 96-degree heat. For seven innings, the Cardinals couldn't do much with the heat he was throwing.

"Gooden was better than good today," Cardinals manager Joe Torre said.

Gooden (15-6) has won 12 of his last 13 decisions, giving up only three runs in his last three starts. He yielded six singles to St. Louis.

Drabek helped the Pirates keep pace by tossing a four-hitter to beat the Phillies at Three Rivers Stadium for his 18th victory. The right-hander is 10-2 this season following Pirate losses.

"(Manager) Jim Leyland doesn't know how lucky he is to have a guy he can run out there every five days like Doug Drabek," Phillies manager Nick Leyva said.

Drabek (18-5), improving to 9-1 since the All-Star break, has pitched three complete-game victories over the Phillies this season, allowing seven hits and two earned runs (0.67 ERA) in 27 innings.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Atlanta 8, Cincinnati 6; Montreal 3, Chicago 2 in 12 innings; San Francisco 5, San Diego 4, and Houston 7, Los Angeles 3.

Mets 9, Cardinals 3
Kevin McReynolds drove in the Mets' first run in the fourth inning with a double and hit his 20th home run with two on in the ninth.

Former Cardinal Tom Herr and Darryl Strawberry added three hits each for the Mets.

Pirates 4, Phillies 1

Jeff King, in a 2-for-21 slump, went 2-for-3 with two doubles and two RBIs in support of Drabek as the Pirates, coming off a 2-3 road trip to Atlanta and Houston, won for only the third time in their last nine games. Braves 8, Reds 6

Consecutive doubles by Tommy Gregg and Andres Thomas broke a seventh-inning tie.

With two outs in the seventh, Gregg doubled off Tim Layana (5-2) and Thomas followed with a double. Jim Vatcher added an RBI single.

Mark Grant (2-2) got the victory with four scoreless in relief of starter Steve Avery, who yielded six runs and seven hits in three innings. Expos 3, Cubs 2

Andres Galarraga singled home Delino DeShields from third base with two outs in the 12th inning.

DeShields opened the 12th with a single off Randy Kramer (0-2) and was sacrificed to second by Otis Nixon before moving to third on a single by Marquis Grissom. Grissom went to second on Tim Wallach's grounder and Larry Walker was walked intentionally before Galarraga singled up the middle.

Steve Frey (7-2) pitched one inning for the victory. Giants 5, Padres 4

Pitcher Kelly Downs delivered a sacrifice fly in a three-run sixth and gained his first victory in nearly a year.

Downs, 1-0, allowed seven hits in 7 1-3 innings as he won for the first time since Sept. 20, 1989 - when he beat Los Angeles 4-3. The Giants' right-hander missed the season's first 110 days, rehabilitating a shoulder injury. Reliever Jeff Brantley pitched the last 1 2-3 innings for his 19th save.

Astros 7, Dodgers 3

Casey Candaele had four hits for only the second time in his career, including a two-run single in a four-run fourth inning, and right-hander Bill Gullickson (9-12) ended a personal four-game losing streak.

The Astros' victory ended Fernando Valenzuela's three-game winning streak.

Thigpen sets record for saves

By The Associated Press

No matter how many games Bobby Thigpen saves, he may not be able to save the Chicago White Sox.

Despite Thigpen's major league-record 47th save Monday night in Chicago's 4-2 victory over Kansas City, the White Sox remained 6 1/2 games behind Oakland in the American League West. The Athletics beat Boston 9-5.

The Red Sox retained a 6 1/2-game lead in the AL East over Toronto, a 5-0 loser to Detroit.

"They're (the Red Sox) trying to win so they can win their division as fast as they can, and we're trying to win so we can win our division as fast as we can," said Terry Steinbach, who capped Oakland's five-run first inning with a three-run homer off close friend Dana Kiecker.

Thigpen came on after the White Sox took a 3-2 lead on Carlton Fisk's tie-breaking homer in the sixth inning and added an insurance run on Robin Ventura's RBI single in the eighth.

Thigpen yielded a one-out single to Brian McRae but George Brett grounded into a game-ending double play. A mob scene ensued on the mound, with Fisk grabbing Thigpen in a bear hug.

"I was so emotional I couldn't talk," said Thigpen, who broke the record of 46 saves set in 1986 by Dave Righetti of the New York Yankees.

Elsewhere, Minnesota swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 6-0 and 9-5, Seattle beat Baltimore 6-2, Texas defeated Cleveland 6-2 and California blanked New York 7-0.

Fisk's tie-breaking homer off Kevin Appier (11-5) extended his major league record for home runs by a catcher to 330.

Eric King, making his first start since coming off the disabled list because of a shoulder problem, was rocked for two runs in the first inning.

King was relieved by Wayne Edwards (4-3) in the fifth.

Athletics 9, Red Sox 5

Oakland kayoed Kiecker (6-7) in the first inning.

Rickey Henderson, who homered in the seventh off Wes Gardner, opened the game with a single, Willie McGee beat out an infield hit and both runners advanced on a wild pitch.

It appeared that Kiecker might escape when he struck out Jose Canseco and retired Harold Baines on a pop to third. But he walked Carney Lansford, filling the bases, and Mark McGwire singled for a 2-0 lead. Steinbach ran the count to 3-2, then hit his eighth homer.

Tigers 5, Blue Jays 0

Cecil Fielder hit his 43rd home run and Walt Terrell pitched seven innings of four-hit ball. Terrell (4-2) didn't allow a hit until the fourth. He struck out five and didn't walk a batter.

Fielder, leading off the sixth, hit the first pitch about 10 rows up the second deck in left field to make it 3-0.

It was his fourth homer off Jimmy Key (9-7) this season.

Twins 6, Brewers 0

Twins 9, Brewers 5

Mark Guthrie pitched a four-hitter for his first major league shutout in the opener and the Twins completed the sweep with five runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap, highlighted by Shane Mack's three-run double off Dan Plesac.

Guthrie (6-7) held the Brewers hitless until Dave Parker singled with two out in the fourth inning. In his previous start, he pitched the first complete game of his career. In the nightcap, Mack had three hits and five RBIs.

Mariners 6, Orioles 2

Matt Young gave up two runs in seven innings.

Young (7-14) yielded five hits and has surrendered only four earned runs in 21 innings against the Orioles this season. Bill Swift worked two innings and Mike Jackson got the last three outs. Pete O'Brien drove in two runs for the Mariners.

Rangers 6, Indians 2

Nolan Ryan got his 302nd career victory by holding Cleveland to one run and two hits in eight innings.

The 43-year-old Ryan (13-7) struck out eight and walked two. John Barfield yielded a pinch homer to Mitch Webster in the ninth. Mike Walker (1-5) was the loser.

Angels 7, Yankees 0

Kirk McCaskill, coming off a shutout, pitched six more scoreless innings and California broke a tie with a six-run sixth.

It was Dave Winfield's first appearance at Yankee Stadium since being traded in May. Winfield went 0-for-4 but scored the first run after drawing a leadoff walk.

Becker, Graf reach Open quarterfinals

NEW YORK (AP) - Boris Becker found a way to win. Steffi Graf made a tough match easy.

And that's why both defending champions are still in the hunt in the U.S. Open.

"I knew that it wasn't going to be easy against her," Graf said of her fourth-round matchup against 13th-seeded Jennifer Capriati. You wouldn't know it by the score - 6-1, 6-2 in 53 minutes.

"I had to find a way. I was trying to find a way, and I did it finally," Becker said after beating back unseeded Darren Cahill 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 on Monday to advance to the men's quarterfinals.

Becker will next play eighth-seeded Aaron Krickstein, a 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 winner over Amos Mansdorf. The other quarterfinal pairing in the bottom half of the men's draw sends No. 4 Andre Agassi against unseeded Andrei Cherkosov of the Soviet Union.

On Monday, Agassi defeated No. 13 Jay Berger 7-5, 6-0, 6-2 and Cherkosov eliminated Christo van Rensburg 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Other fourth-round winners in the women's draw were No. 4 Zina Garrison, No. 6 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario and No. 12 Jana Novotna.

SPIKERS

Sanders recorded nine service receptions passed to setter with White, Moore and Baker getting six apiece. Sanders also led the team with seven digs.

The Lady Whitefaces will host Amarillo Palo Duro in their 1990

Garrison defeated Nathalie Tauziat 6-1, 7-5, Sanchez Vicario downed No. 16 Barbara Paulus 6-4, 6-3 and Novotna stopped No. 7 Katerina Maleeva 6-4, 6-2.

That sets up the quarterfinal pairings of Graf vs. Novotna and Garrison vs. Sanchez Vicario.

Two women's quarterfinals were on tap today: No. 8 Mary Joe Fernandez against No. 9 Manuela Maleeva-Fragniere, and No. 5 Gabriela Sabatini against Leila Meskhi tonight.

Becker and Cahill battled for 3 hours, 14 minutes, and the momentum changed repeatedly.

Cahill, who upset Becker in the second round of the Open in 1988, played courageously. He won eight straight points in the fourth and fifth games of the first set as he weathered Becker's hard serves and sometimes wild shots.

Becker came back strongly in the second set, breaking Cahill three times, and seemed in control of the match after wrapping up the third set. But Cahill somehow rallied and beat Becker in the fourth set, breaking him three times.

In the fifth set, both players were at the top of their attacking games. Becker pulled off the only service break, in the seventh game.

home opener at 6 p.m. today at the HHS Gym. All tickets will be sold at the door.

The junior varsity will get the action underway with the varsity to follow 20 minutes after the finish of the JV match.

Dykes impressed with SWC

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes says the Southwest Conference is alive and kicking as evidenced by its hard-nosed football on opening day.

Twelfth-ranked Texas A&M downed Hawaii 28-13 in Honolulu and Baylor held tough against No. 8 Nebraska before falling 13-0 in Lincoln, Neb.

"The Southwest Conference looked all right out there," Dykes said. "I hope those teams start playing worse by the time they play us. They looked tough."

Washington State dampened the weekend with a 21-3 victory over Texas Christian. But Rice beat Wake Forest 33-17 for a 2-2 SWC mark.

The SWC went through some rough times this summer. Arkansas, a charter member of the 76-year-old conference, announced it would join the Southeastern Conference.

Texas and Texas A&M were feared to be next, the both schools decided to stay and help strengthen the league.

Dykes said it was good to see the SWC getting some good headlines for a change.

"I'll tell ya, going in, Baylor had no business even being on the same field with Nebraska, but they played a great defensive game," he said. "They have got a heckuva defensive line. They're front four could go bear hunting with a switch."

Dykes, who is preparing the Red Raiders for their season opener at No. 17 Ohio State Saturday, said he would like to "take a page out of Baylor's book when we play the Buckeyes."

Dykes is counting on his defense, which features eight returning starters from last year's 9-3 team, to anchor the Red Raiders until a young offensive line can mature.

"We are not going to shut out Ohio State, but we have to contain their offense which features some of the best players in the Big Ten Conference," Dykes said.

Dykes singled out all-Big Ten quarterback Greg Frey, fullback Scottie Graham and center Dan Beatty as players Tech will have to control.

Dykes said the Buckeyes' Alonzo Spellman may be the best defensive lineman in the country.

"He's unbelievable," Dykes said. "Their defense has great athletes and they are tough. Our young offensive line is going to look up and see guys with teeth missing, stitches all over their faces and tattoos. That will grow you up in a hurry."

Dykes said he has shown his team pictures of the Buckeyes' famed horseshoe-shaped Ohio Stadium to prepare them for the near 90,000 fans expected to attend Saturday's game.

A visiting team has not beaten Ohio State in its home opener since 1978, when Penn State beat the Buckeyes, 19-0.

But Dykes says his team showed last year with victories at Oklahoma State (31-15) and Texas (24-17) that the Red Raiders can win on the road. Dykes said questions he had with Tech's kicking game about a week ago have cleared up.

He said Lin Elliot, who connected on only nine of 19 field goals last year, "has improved tremendously this fall" and freshman walk-on Mike Delagerheim will likely be the starting punter.

"I believe our players are ready for (the Ohio State) game," Dykes said. "They are up for the challenge and will play their fannies off."

RECEIVERS

One factor in the Herd's favor is depth at the wideout spots. Carter said that will prove to be a factor, especially in the early part of the season.

"The way Coach Cumpston has it set up, the receivers carry in the plays," Carter said. "And when they're in there, they have to go full speed every play. So we'll go six or seven deep."

The depth has already come into play as the receivers have been the one group hit by the injury bug. Tight end Derek Mason and wide receiver Sean Smith are both expected to miss the first two or three games. Mason has a hairline fracture of the collar bone and Smith has a broken bone in his left hand. Also, Blake Buckley, who is expected to see more time on defense, was held out for nearly a week with a pulled hip muscle.

"We're in pretty good shape at wide receiver," Carter said, "with guys like Chad Brummett, Art Alemand, Louis Mungia and Stephen Banner. And we've got some really good backups in Todd Selmon and Tempie Abney."

"Where we're kind of hurting a little is tight end. Mason is the one we used when we go to two tight ends, but we've got two sophomores in Jason Paetzold and Eric Sims. They've looked really good. And Mark Kreighauser is playing more on defense right now, but if we needed him we could get him ready in three or four days."

YMCA boys' flag football league sign-up going

The Hereford YMCA has opened registration for the 1990 flag football league.

Methodist conference set Sept. 17-19

Pyros Ministries will present Francis S. MacNutt as guest speaker at the renewal conference for United Methodist pastors scheduled for Sept. 17-19.

MacNutt had finished two years of pre-med and been accepted by Washington University Medical when he was drafted to serve in World War II as a Surgical Technician in the Army. While attending Catholic University he decided to enter the Dominican Order and study for the Roman Catholic priesthood.

After being ordained in 1956, he earned a Ph.D. in theology from Aquinas Institute of Theology. He married Judith Sewell in 1980.

The conference will be held in Amarillo at the Bishop Defalco Retreat Center, 2100 North Spring. Accommodations at the retreat center are limited. Participants are urged to mail the completed registration forms as soon as possible.

On Tuesday, Sept. 18, the public will be invited to attend the worship service at the Bishop Defalco Retreat Center at 7 p.m.

High-risk behavior among women can cause AIDS

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Adolescent women could be the next major victims of AIDS unless they change behaviors that predispose them to risk, say two researchers who have been conducting a study of health risks among inner-city youths between 18 and 23.

"We've got to find a way to get to them, because so far they're not paying attention," says Arlene Rubin Stiffman, a social work professor at Washington University. "No matter how much young people know about AIDS, they are not doing what they need to do to prevent it."

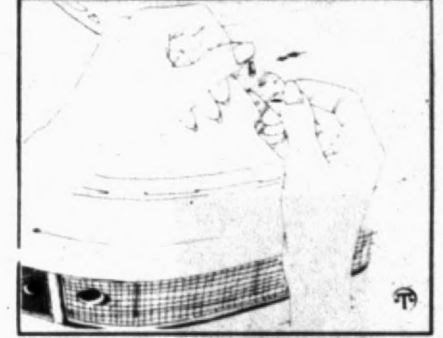

Stiffman and Felton Earls, a behavioral science professor at Harvard University, discovered that while their study group was mostly black and mostly female, the high-risk portion of it was almost evenly divided between whites and blacks and males and females. That means that a disproportionate percentage of white youths and women engaged in highest-risk behaviors.

The professors note that their study, concentrating on inner-city youths who are demographically at higher risk in the first place, does not reflect the population at large. "But it tips us off that the AIDS epidemic is at a point that it can invade this age group by the fact that it is showing up even in those who haven't been considered high risks," says Earls.

Stiffman and Earls found that despite the availability of brochures and classes about AIDS prevention, the young people covered in the study didn't seek it out or change their behaviors until confronted with a pregnancy or sexually transmitted disease. They think this may be due to the tendency of people in that age group to feel invulnerable and to the limited possibilities they perceive in inner-city life. "The limited life options of many poor or minority segments of our youthful populations prevent them from valuing their lives enough to engage in short- or long-term preventive behaviors," says Stiffman.

"Risky Times: How to be AIDS-Smart and Stay Healthy" (Workman), by Jeanne Blake is aimed at making teen-agers more aware of the risks and prevention of AIDS. The author, a television medical reporter in Boston, includes first-person vignettes from celebrities, from people whose lives are affected by the disease, along with information about its risks, prevention and consequences such as discrimination.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it all right for a father to have sex with his daughter if both are consenting adults? I am 37 and my daughter, "Jean" is 20. My wife passed away two years ago. After she became ill, Jean assumed all the household responsibilities and we became very close. We live her, just the two of us and she is a wonderful cook and housekeeper. We have the same likes and dislikes and are compatible in every way.

Jean is pretty and I am still a young man. Rather than move out of a home that she loves and look for a husband (and risk getting AIDS), Jean says she wants to stay with me. We have a wonderful time together. She hasn't dated in several months because she would prefer to be with me more than any of the young men she knows. I love her company and am not interested in anyone else.

Can a man legally marry his daughter? Please do not publish my name as this is a very controversial subject and I don't want to be harassed. P.S. Does the Old Testament say anything about this? --Mr. X.

DEAR MR. X: According to John Beckstrom, professor of Family Law, Northwestern University Law School, it is not legal anywhere in the United States for a father and daughter to knowingly marry each other. Such a marriage would not be valid. In fact, in many states the father would be prosecuted for criminal incest.

You asked about the Old Testament: The Book of Leviticus makes it abundantly clear that it is a sin to approach "any that is near of kin."

Although you didn't ask for my opinion, Mr. X., I feel compelled to say both you and your daughter sound as if you are two sandwiches short of a picnic. Your letter is one of the sickest I've read in years.

If you want Jean to have a decent life, please get her into counseling and find a woman who is suitable for marriage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here is my response to the Chicago Tribune Reader who asked you to print an open letter to her friends and relatives who are nagging her to quit smoking.

DEAR SMOKER: You say you know all about the health hazards of smoking and that you want your friends to stop bugging you to quit. You offered to make a deal. You promised to keep quiet when you see the third chunk of butter and a dollop of sour cream on your friend's baked potato, or the scoop of ice cream on her piece of pecan pie. You feel it is a fair trade for not being harassed about smoking.

Sorry, dear, your reasoning is badly flawed. What I eat affects only me. Your secondhand smoke could cause cancer or heart trouble for those who have to breathe the air you pollute.

I am violently allergic to tobacco smoke and you have no right to inflict your vice on me. It's perfectly all right with me if you choose to kill yourself, but I refuse to give up breathing while you're doing it, so please take that sinking cigarette outside. -- Healthy Lungs in Hayward, Calif.

DEAR HAYWARD: Hundreds of readers had plenty to say about this, but you said it best and I thank you.

Gem of the Day: The high cost of health care these days is enough to make you sick.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Gems," is ideal for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collection of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.87.)

International calls now a better value

Answering consumers' need for more competitive and convenient international service, long distance phone companies are unveiling new calling plans that may pay off in a big way for many who make frequent calls to friends, relatives and business associates overseas.

Surprisingly, over 10 percent of all U.S. households make one or more international calls per month, studies show. More of us may soon be making more overseas calls, experts predict, thanks to three new international calling plans that offer residential consumers an easier and less expensive means of calling major foreign countries at the most convenient times.

For any one of the three MCI Communications Corporation plans, Call Europe, Call Pacific or Call Canada, consumers pay one single, low per minute rate for international calls to available countries during plan hours, hours during which most people make and receive calls, on weekdays and all weekend long, plus a $3 monthly fee:

-The Call Europe plan offers international service for only 59 cents per minute to 23 Western European countries on weekdays from 3 p.m. to 8 a.m. and all weekend.

-The Call Pacific plan offers a rate of only 79 cents per minute to 10 Pacific Rim countries, from 10 p.m. in the evening to 2 p.m. the following day on weekdays and all weekend. -The Call Canada plan is priced at 10 cents per minute from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. weekdays and all weekend for calls anywhere in Canada.

MCI also offers money-saving international calling for business and leisure travelers.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - New York may be fine for some people, but "Guiding Light" actress Kassie Wesley says for a country girl the Big Apple isn't too tasty.

"New York City is the armpit of the world," Wesley said in an interview in today's The Tennessean. "It's tough here, especially for a country girl. If I could live anywhere in the world, I'd live in Nashville."

Wesley's acting job keeps her in New York. She plays Chelsea Reardon, a perennial loser at love, on the CBS soap opera.

"I feel like a fish out of water. I'm just looking for a house and a yard," she said.

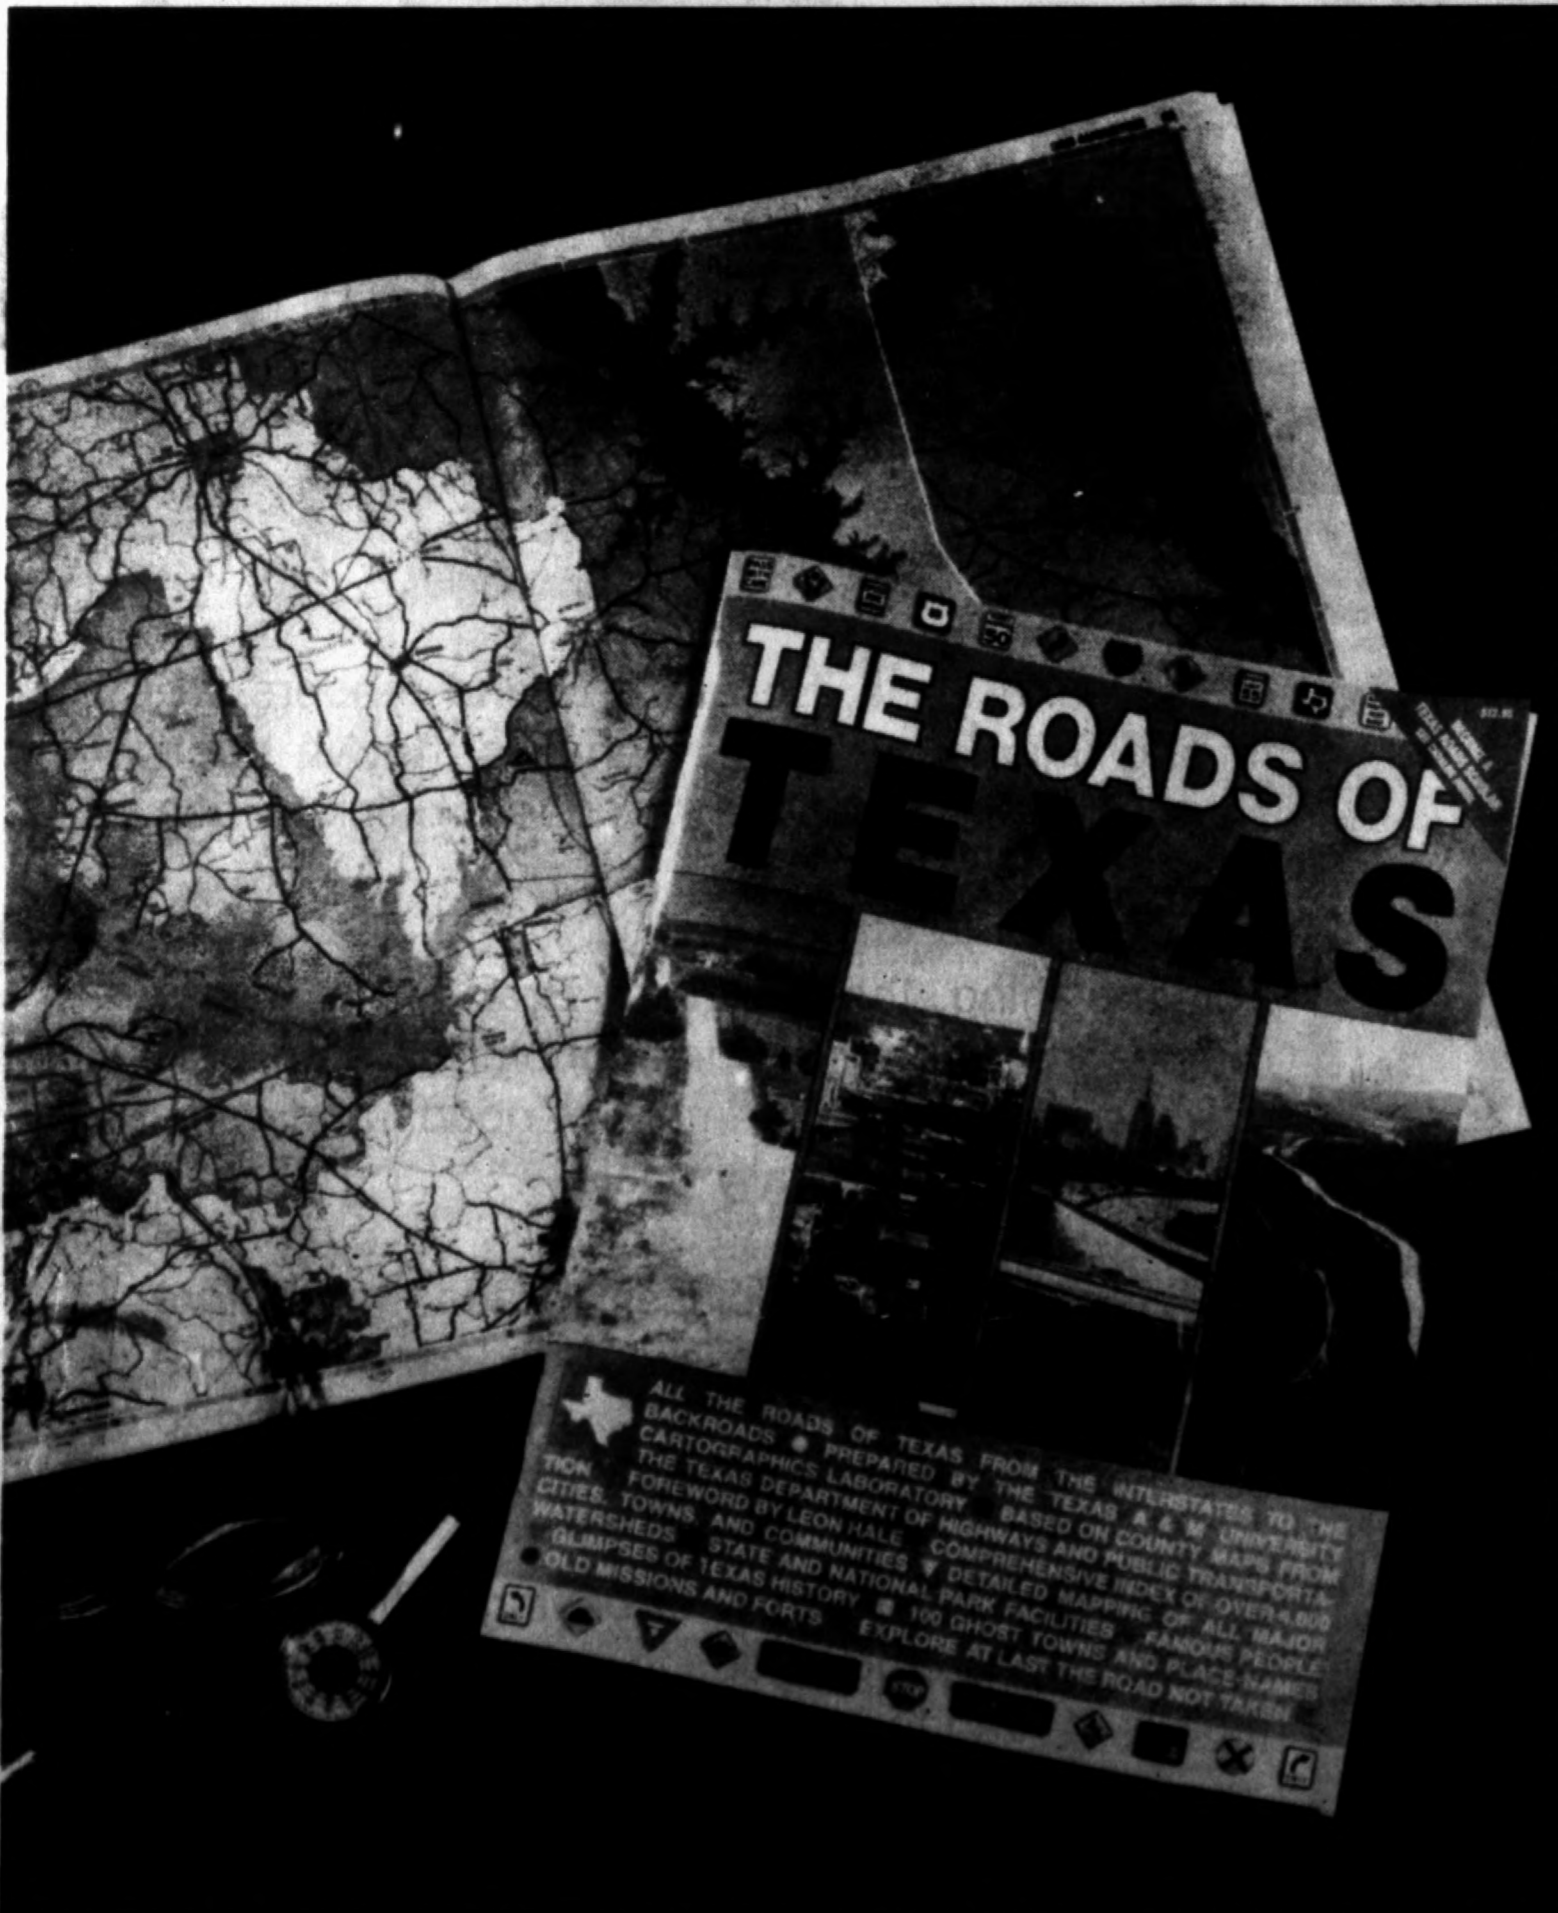

Wesley, who comes from Morganfield, Ky., has signed with CBS Records to make a country album.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000-miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing--county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.
