Hitler, Mussolini Hold Long Talk On Eastern Front

Tallinn Falls Before Nazi Invasion Army

By The Associated Press
Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini have met at the fuhrer's east front headquarters for the last five days, it was announced in Berlin today, and an official communique indicated the axis leaders were concerned about the duration of the war.

While their armies afield reported smashing new blows against the Russians, the fuhrer and Il Duce were said to have discussed "the development and duration of the war."

Claims East Has Oil For Only 5 Days

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Senator Maloney (D-Conn) said today that numerous vital defense industries along the eastern seaboard "are terrified because they have only four or five days supply of bunker oil."

The chairman of the special senate committee investigating shortages of gasoline and petroleum products offered this comment as he questioned the wisdom of diverting so many American tankers to other than normal transportation of petroleum products to the eastern seaboard.

Maloney's comment came after Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, had testified that the shortages were "caused by a pseudo-gentleman by the name of Hitler and further caused by the laws of congress."

Maloney questioned this, saying that it had not been the intention of congress when it approved the lease-lend program and other defense measures to cause any severe hardships on industry or citizens.

"I'm not blaming congress," Land said, adding that congressional approval of the administration defense program forced certain burdens.

The senators also learned that the Pacific coast soon may face the same curtailment of gasoline sales now effective along the eastern seaboard.

MANN FILES SUIT ON DRIVE-INS FOR FIXING PRICE OF BEER

AUSTIN, Aug. 29 (AP)—An anti-trust suit against 30 "drive-in" cafes in Wichita county was filed in district court here today by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann.

The suit alleged the defendants entered into and maintained a contract by which they agreed not to sell beer below a common figure and to keep the price fixed.

The agreement, the attorney general contended, precluded "a free and unrestricted competition among themselves in the sale of beer."

Farmers Told Of Fight For Parity Prices

Members of the Texas Farm Bureau from 30-odd counties in this district were told in a meeting today at the Settles hotel that they will have to fight harder than ever to gain good prices for their products next year.

J. Walter Hammond of Abilene, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said that only by a hard campaign in Washington by the farm bureau of America was the 55 per cent of parity loan obtained on this year's major crops.

"It is going to be harder than ever to get a good price next year," he said. "We can't do it unless we organize and are strongly represented in Washington."

He advised the farmers and ranchers present to write their congressmen and tell them what to do about farm legislation. "And when they send you back a polite form letter instead of a personal reply, write them back, and tell them you mean business. After all, we're hiring those fellows so we ought to be able to boss 'em."

Afternoon, the bureau members present were to divide into county groups for formulation of recommendations for legislation, and to set organization quotas.

Hammond opened his talk with a description of the effects of tariff on the farmer. "The farmer's wife pays $10 for a 33 set of dishes because of tariff," he pointed out. "Without tariff, that set of dishes would cost only $3."

This places the farmer at a disadvantage, the speaker said, because he must sell his goods on an open market.

"Industry has secured legislation that cuts our standard of living. What we want is legislation that will help us regain a fair level with labor and industry."

He pointed out that labor had secured a high standard of living because of the formation of unions with bargaining power, and recommended that farmers take the same course.

The government loan guarantee of 55 per cent of parity was described by Hammond as almost the sole cause of the present high price of cotton. In describing how farm lobbyists, including himself, prevailed upon congress to pass this law, Hammond pointed out that a flood of letters and telegrams from people all over the country turned the trick.

He added that a good number of letters came from the Big Spring district.

A similar law will be harder to get next year, he said, because of the many conflicting interests trying to divide agricultural power. All sorts of cries of economy, defense needs, price control, and the like will be sounded, he predicted, in urging that farmers present a bold front for high loans again next year.

Presiding over the meeting was H. E. Wood of Eden, district director. E. R. Alexander, general manager of the bureau, was to speak during the afternoon.

Also heard on the morning program were George Adams, vice director of the Texas extension service; Mrs. Hart Phillips, Jr., of Howard county; J. A. Bishop, president of the Howard county farm bureau; and Joe Poindexter, Martin county farmer.

Funeral for William D. Crawford, who was killed at Hammond, Ind., in an automobile wreck Tuesday, will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Big Spring.

Rites will be said at the First Baptist church, with burial following in a local cemetery. Rev. C. E. Lancaster and Rev. Guy Savage will officiate. Nalley funeral home is making arrangements. The remains, accompanied by the family, are to arrive on a train tonight.

Born in Big Spring October 30, 1915, and reared here, Crawford was a machinist with the I. and A. railroad in Hammond. His father, W. W. (Dog) Crawford, long-time T. & P. employe here, was also working for the I. and A. Survivors include the parents; two brothers, James and John Charles Crawford of Hammond; Mrs. Viola Bowles of Big Spring; an aunt and Watson Hammond of Big Spring; a cousin.

Casket bearers will be Joe Hayden, Dr. E. H. Hoppel, W. E. Carrick, George Mims, J. V. Davis, Shine Phillips and Robert Hill.

Laval's Condition Reported Grave

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP)—Doctors decided to attempt an emergency operation on Pierre Laval late this afternoon to remove an assassin's bullet from just below his heart to save his life.

(Since it was 8 p. m. in Paris at 12 noon (C.S.T.), the operation may already have been performed at that time.

Communications from the German-occupied French capital are slow.)

Fears for the 55-year-old French leader mounted through the day as physicians attributed a sustained fever to a possible infection from the bullet wound, inflicted two days ago.

The possibility of peritonitis was regarded as mortal peril.

Physicians had rejected surgery at first as too dangerous and had ordered the bullet left untouched. Because of the danger of disturbing Laval, the examining magistrate for Paul Colette, who shot Laval and Marcel Deat Wednesday, and the prosecuting attorney were barred from the hospital room when they called before noon.

At the same time, it was learned that French police had broadened their counter-drive against opposition elements to include the empire. A military tribunal at Meknes, French Morocco, sentenced two men to serve six years at hard labor for "an attack on the external security of the state."

A woman was condemned to three years in jail.

The condition of Marcel Deat — who is also one of the top leaders of the group favoring stronger collaboration with Germany and who was shot at the same time as Laval — was declared improved. Deat's temperature had returned almost to normal.

An investigation of the Caen home of the assassin, Paul Colette, was said to have disclosed that he had fought side-by-side with British troops at Dunkerque and had been evacuated with them to England. He was reported to have tried to return to England recently, presumably to join the Free French forces under Gen. Charles De Gaulle. How he got back to France in the first place was not explained.

Man-To-Man Talks May Bring Sweeping Changes To US-Japan Relations

By LLOYD HERBAS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The man-to-man discussion of American-Japanese relations by President Roosevelt and Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura impressed diplomatic quarters here today as a possible first step toward a sweeping review of all important points at issue between the two nations.

Bolstering this conclusion was an official announcement from Tokyo this morning that the message which Admiral Nomura delivered to the president yesterday outlined the "imperial government's attitude toward the Pacific situation."

The message, this announcement said, was delivered at the behest of Prince Fumimaro Konoye, Japanese premier, after a special cabinet meeting.

The fact that the Japanese initiated yesterday's conference, in which Secretary of State Hull also took part, was held deeply significant — indicative, perhaps, of Tokyo's desire to achieve a peaceful solution of the pending problems, or at least some of them.

The White House, the state department, and the Japanese embassy here let slip no hint of what Prince Konoye said or suggested in his personal message to President Roosevelt.

Neither did the Tokyo announcement divulge any details of the special communication.

However, Ichi Kishi, a government spokesman at the Japanese capital, said any conversations between Admiral Nomura and President Roosevelt certainly would embrace a discussion of shipments of United States materials to Russia.

Shipments which Nippon fears eventually might be used against her.

Secretary Hull disclosed that the Japanese ambassador was expected to participate in another similar talk, or possibly a series of discussions, designed to clarify the situations which have arisen from conflicting policies of the two great powers which flank the Pacific.

No date was set for a follow-up conference, and diplomats assumed that none would be arranged until the president had drafted his reply to Prince Konoye.

Harriman To Head Mission To Moscow

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he would appoint W. Averell Harriman, head of an American delegation which will go to Moscow to consider the problem of aid to Russia.

Harriman has been in London handling lease-lend operations, and Mr. Roosevelt said John Biggers, who has been in charge of production for the Office of Production Management, would take over Harriman's duties in the British capital.

The delegation to Moscow, which will meet with corresponding British and Russian groups, may be appointed within a few days, the president told a press conference, and may have a half dozen members.

Harriman originally was sent to London, the president explained, chiefly to handle shipping problems and assist in getting aid to nations resisting aggression.

But the position enlarged itself, Mr. Roosevelt said, to take in problems of production and supplies of all kinds, and the point was reached where the chief executive needed another general trouble-shooter.

Not only will Biggers take over Harriman's duties, but he also will attempt, Mr. Roosevelt said, to tie British production problems more closely to those of this country.

He said the position was so exceedingly important that it ought to be filled at all times.

With Biggers in London, the president said, Harriman will become available for use in other places. But he would not agree that Harriman would be what a reporter termed a "lease-lend administrator at large."

Barbara Barber's number will be a blackface in which she has a part for her pet coon.

Defining the work of the new agency, the White House explained in a statement:

"These seven men, subject to the general policies enunciated by the president, periodically and whenever necessary, will fix the amount of materials to be allocated to military needs, defense-aid needs, economic warfare needs, and total civilian needs.

"In the general field of civilian needs, this group will make policies and regulations for the allocation of the available supplies of materials between the different competing civilian industries and users.

"When the total amount determined for civilian needs is arrived at, this board will determine the policies and make regulations for the amount to be allocated to automobiles, railroad cars, refrigerators, building, typewriters, etc."

Wallace To Head Powerful Group

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — President Roosevelt, striving anew to step up arms production, concentrated the supreme control of all the nation's natural resources today in a seven-man board headed by Vice President Wallace.

This board—a super-ministry of supplies—was charged with the duty of deciding what proportion of the country's materials and productive power must go for military essentials, and what may be spared for civilian needs.

These decisions perforce will result in some civilian hardships, the White House stated, but it reported that the office of production management was seeking to ease them as much as possible.

President Roosevelt issued an executive order last night creating the new body—the supply priorities and allocations board. In effect, it meant a reorganization of some of the existing defense machinery, and a limited re-shuffling of some key defense personnel.

There has been criticism in many quarters for some weeks over the progress of the arms production drive, over reported friction and duplicating functions existing in various defense agencies, and over the delays in allocating available raw materials to industry.

Whether the president's action would completely still the criticism was debatable, for a goodly portion of it has been accompanied by demands for the appointment of a one-man head for the arms effort, with the broad powers that Bernard M. Baruch wielded as chairman of the war industries board of World War days.

One of the first important comments, however, proved favorable. Alvan McCauley, president of the Automobile Manufacturers association, said that the setup appeared "to give us the consolidation of leadership we have needed from the start." Efforts to date, he added, have been handicapped by lack of supreme leadership.

The new board was empowered to deal primarily with the supply question, but its scope evidently extended to numerous other problems which have given rise to complaint.

To it Mr. Roosevelt named; Vice President Wallace; William S. Knudsen, director general of OPM; Sidney Hillman, co-director of OPM; Secretary of War Stimson; Secretary of Navy Knox; Leon Henderson, head of the office of price administration and civilian supply; and Harry L. Hopkins, special presidential assistant in charge of the lease-lend program.

For executive director of the board, the president selected Donald M. Nelson, former Sears Roebuck & company executive who has been serving OPM as director of purchases.

Many officials were inclined to look on Nelson as the coming No. 1 man of the new organization. They pointed out that the vice president's numerous other duties would not permit him to be a full-time chairman. Thus the day-to-day work in this tremendously important role would devolve on Nelson.

Defining the work of the new agency, the White House explained in a statement:

"These seven men, subject to the general policies enunciated by the president, periodically and whenever necessary, will fix the amount of materials to be allocated to military needs, defense-aid needs, economic warfare needs, and total civilian needs.

"In the general field of civilian needs, this group will make policies and regulations for the allocation of the available supplies of materials between the different competing civilian industries and users.

"When the total amount determined for civilian needs is arrived at, this board will determine the policies and make regulations for the amount to be allocated to automobiles, railroad cars, refrigerators, building, typewriters, etc."

Asks More Cars For Motorcade
Darrell Douglass renewed his appeal Friday for Big Spring residents to join in large numbers in the motorcade set for Sunday afternoon to the Midland rodeo.

Plans are to have the motor caravan assemble at the chamber of commerce offices at 12:45 p. m. and proceed in a group to the Midland show where Big Spring is scheduled to receive special recognition.

Those who desire to go but who lack ways were urged to be at the chamber offices at the appointed hour, for indications were that there would be ample transportation for all. A committee, headed by Douglass, is making contacts in an effort to have a big motorcade and repay Midland for sending 300 fans here for the recent Big Spring rodeo.

Bears And T Crush College Stars, 37-13

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (AP)—From the latest available evidence, it's going to take a lot of blasting to jar Chicago's professional football champion Bears loose from their National League honors.

The evidence was presented last night at historic Soldier Field for a series record throng of 88,200 who saw the Bears, led by brilliant Sid Luckman, crush a battling squad of the headline stars of 1940 college football, 37 to 13, in the Chicago Tribune's eighth annual all-star spectacle.

The margin was nothing like the 73 to 0 rolled up over the Washington Redskins in last year's league championship game, but it looked highly impressive for an early season effort. The triumph, the third in a row for the professional brand of football, was accomplished in a manner which indicated the bulging Bears and their "T" formation could have done better if necessary.

The all-stars with such 1940 greats as Michigan's Tommy Harmon, sturdy George Franck of Minnesota, both All-Americans, and Norman Standlee of Stanford's unending Rose Bowl victories in the battle front, made a contest of it for one period, came up with thrilling plays and battled every minute of the way but didn't have what was needed to slow up the power-packed pro titheholders.

Luckman, whose passing and leadership were at concert pitch, fired a touchdown pass to Ken Kavanaugh in the first quarter, another to George McAfee in the fourth, one to Kavanaugh which set up another score, along with completing numerous others. To complement his passing, Luckman mixed in powerful line-crushing from fullbacks Bill Osmaniak, Gary Farniglietti and Joe Maniac, and smart running by McAfee, Ray Nolting, and Harry Clark.

Standouts among the all-star lineemen were Ed Frutig, Michigan end, Augie Leo of Georgetown, Ernie Pannell of Texas Aggies, Dave Rankin of Purdue, and Ken Whitlow of Rice.

Lookin' 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS

Each year officials of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues require that league scorekeepers forward their choice of an all-star team to the head office. Results will likely come out within the next day or so.

Some of the berths were hard to fill, others presented no problem whatsoever. The following lineup is the one sent to the association fathers by this department:

Catcher—Vince Castino, of Lubbock
First base—Paul Schoendienst of Clovis
Second base—Hugh Willingham of Borger
Third base—Tony Range of Clovis
Shortstop—Hayden Greer of Big Spring
Left field—J. L. Haney of Big Spring
Center field—Kirby Jordan of Lamesa
Right hand pitcher—Willard Ramsdell of Big Spring
Left hand pitcher—Lefty Lucas of Wichita Falls
Utility—Homer Matney of Pampa
Manager—Jodie Tate of Big Spring.

Borderline cases in the business of picking the all-star club throw a hitch into a job that might appear simple. For instance, there is little to choose between Castino and Amarillo's DeCarlo, although the Lubbock catcher does seem to have the strongest and most accurate throwing arm. He doesn't execute his maneuvers as quickly as DeCarlo, yet he hasn't been caught short on too many instances.

Then, there is the choice between Greer and Larry Gilchrist of Borger for shortstop. No doubt about it, the Borger lad is a fast-thinking and crafty ball hawker, but in our opinion he must give up the spot won last year to Big Spring's brainy, hard-hitting Greer.

Third base has been off this year. Stuart Williams might, judging from his batting average, be the best choice but he has made errors that no custodian of the hot corner should make. Hank Poltras and Lubbock's Bengtson are good bets but their hitting is off somewhat. Therefore, so far as we are concerned, Tony Range is the most likely appearing lad in the third base slot.

Borger's Willingham has, to our notion, outclassed his opponents at second base and should be on the all-star roster without a quibble.

As for first base—Eddie Stevens is a good performer and in another year he looks to be a cinch to be a first class one but right now he must step aside for Clovis' Schoendienst, as classy a number one bagman as we have ever seen in the lower brackets. He's a left-hander but has a throwing arm that can't be beat. His ball retrieving is practically flawless and he plays a heads-up brand of ball every minute he's on the field.

To our way of thinking, Haney should be the top left fielder of the league. So far we have little support from other towns for our opinion—the fact that he wasn't picked for the All-Star classic at Lubbock this year is still a tender spot with us. Haney's fielding work has saved several games for Big Spring and his hitting when hits are needed has had a large part in putting Big Spring where it is today. Pampa's Matney and Wichita Falls' Stan Bolton are near the top of the left fielding class but we figure that Matney has earned a place in a utility role while Bolton is left out.

Old Gordon Nell, Borger skipper, has to be put in the centerfield berth and Kirby Jordan, now with the San Diego club, looks tops in the rightfield job.

A wide choice was offered in the pitching department, but since the team is limited to a left hander and a right hander a rather close line has to be drawn.

Ramsdell, taking in consideration that the best way to choose a pitcher is to look at the number of games he has won, is our pick for the righthander. Lefty Lucas, regardless of the slumps he has made, is the hardest southpaw in te circuit to hit.

But, the whole setup is confused. Charlie Wheelchel is so close to Ramsdell that one almost has to flip a coin to come to any decision. Now, Ramsdell is not up to Wheelchel's varied brand of pitching, but he is a steadier one. At times, Ramsdell is hammered from pillar to post by the opposition but usually when the final tally is made the Big Spring moundsman has won the game.

In addition, the Big Spring ball club seems to play a better game when working behind Ramsdell—a fact that must carry a great deal of weight. Buck Schulze and Bob Kouhout are both capable hurlers but they have a tendency to fall off.

Other top-notchers in the league's pitching department must be considered—lads like John McPartland of Pampa, Bill Garland of Borger, and Russ Crider of Amarillo.

Hogan Favored In Hershey Tilt

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP)—Ben Hogan, an accomplished fellow with golf clubs when a prize is at stake, brought his winning ways home today and, after a brilliant first-round 69, looked like the man to beat in the 72-hole $5,000 Hershey open championship.

Hogan, making his home playing debut as the Hershey professional, equaled the back-nine record of 32 strokes. His 69 tied Clayton Hearner, George Fazio and Harry Nettelblatt at four under par.

The swarthy Texas powerhouse, who looks small and hits them big, took on the Hershey job from Henry Picard last winter and since has won more than any other pro, scored lower on an average and has an unbroken string of 58 tournaments in which he finished in the money.

Ramsdell Hangs Up 22nd Win As Big Spring Edges Clovis, 7 To 6

Bombers End Series With Host Tonight

CLOVIS, N. M., Aug. 29—Big Spring and Clovis stood one-odd in their series here as the Bombers' Willard Ramsdell won his twenty-second game of the season last night, leading the way to a 7 to 6 victory over the Pioneers. The win puts Ramsdell one behind the number garnered last year, when he tied for the top spot in games won.

Big Spring scattered single runs in the third, fourth, sixth and eighth innings. In the seventh they hit into a three-run spree to mark up the difference between dropping the tilt and winning it.

Clovis came near to catching up with the visitors in the eighth when a three-run rally was put on against Ramsdell.

Hayden Greer got in a homer, adding it to the hard wallop he has been getting since he started on this trip. Pete Zmitrovich, Mel Reeves, and Dick Ratliff each got a brace of blows off Clovis' Wyatt.

Over the route, Ramsdell gave up 12 hits while Wyatt was hampered for eight.

Tonight, Big Spring winds up its engagement at Clovis and hits the road for a visit in Amarillo.

Cats Advance In 4th-Place Scramble

By The Associated Press
The Fort Worth Cats, striving to oust Dallas from fourth place in the league and thereby win a place in the Shaughnessy playoff for themselves, were a notch higher today.

Last night the Cats tripped the San Antonio Missions, 6 to 5, while the Rebs were losing to the Houston Buffs, 2 to 0.

It was San Antonio's 35th defeat by a one-run margin this season.

Glen Gardner, the Buff twirler, allowed the Rebels only two base blows in the game that ended Houston's home schedule.

Tulsa, second place team in the league, shut out Shreveport, 2-0, with Henry Wyse turning in a three-hit performance. The Sports are in third place.

Only three games were scheduled.

Cards' Pennant Hopes May Depend On Howard Pollet

Ex-Buff Hurler Shaves Brooks' Margin To One

By The Associated Press
Howard Pollet is a young fellow with whom baseball fans might as well get acquainted, because he is going to be a great star and may help squeeze the St. Louis Cardinals into this year's National league championship.

Pollet is the 20-year-old southpaw who turned the Texas league upside down for Houston before the Cards promoted him a couple weeks ago. Down there he won 20 and lost four, had an earned-run average of 1.06, and pitched five shutouts, including a no-hitter.

He is a slim, swarthy kid with a business-like look in his dark eyes. He is ready, willing and able to do a man's work in the major leagues.

Yesterday he shut out the New York Giants, 5-0, on three scattered singles. Previously he had beaten the Boston Braves, 2-0, on four hits, and had lost to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-2, while giving seven shutouts.

His triumph over the Giants came while the Dodgers had an open day and shaved Brooklyn's first-place margin to one game.

Two of the hits off Pollet were of the infield variety, and all three were made after he had two out. The Cardinals clustered five singles and a double-error by Fitcher Cliff Melton to score all their five runs in a rowdy fourth inning.

The National league had another spectacular pitching show as Boston downed the Chicago Cubs, 2-1. Tom Earley held the Cubs to two hits, one of them a homer by Phil Cavarretta in the ninth. Valle Eaves pitched four-hit ball, but forced in a run in the first with a walk and gave another on Max West's homer in the fourth.

Pittsburgh edged out the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-1, with three runs in the ninth, two of them on a double by little Lee Handley.

The New York Yankees maintained their 17-game lead in the American league by bopping the St. Louis Browns, 8-5, in 10 innings.

Thornorton Lee, the year's outstanding lefthander in the American league, chalked up his 17th victory by holding the Washington Senators to four singles while the Chicago White Sox rolled to a 4-0 shutout.

Rudy York hit a homer with the bases loaded in the seventh inning to give the Detroit Tigers an 8-7 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. York was home by Ted Williams and Joe Cronin had headed the Sox in to an early lead.

Dick Siebert singled with the bases loaded to score three runs in the seventh and propel the Philadelphia Athletics to a 5-3 victory over the staggering Cleveland Indians.

Players Pick Ward To Win Golf Crown

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 29 (AP)—The boys in the Field club's locker rooms will tell you that Marvin (Bud) Ward, the curly-haired husky from the far west, is heading toward another national amateur golf championship.

Betting Bud, a hard-hitting shooting with the finesse of a professional, was rated tops in the semi-finals field which batted down the Field club's narrow, trouble dotted fairways in 36-hole matches today.

"Say, that guy can beat any amateur in the country," said one of the boys who dropped out in the quarterfinal round. You hear similar remarks about the Spokane (Wash.) slugger in other huddles down where both the winners and losers mingle.

Bud's semi-final foe was the almost fragile appearing Bobby Riegel, a young man from Houston and those same guys down stairs named Ward to advance to the championship final against the winner of the match between good-looking Pat Abbott, the former movie extra, and tall Ted Bishop, the Bostonian.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON
LONDON (By Wireless) — My own technique in reporting is to ask the same question of as many different sorts of people as I can reach and then see what the sum of the answers is. So I have asked a question which is interesting either from a social, military, biological or psychological viewpoint: What sort of person stands up best in the blitz? Who runs to cover and who doesn't? Who thinks first of the other fellow and who thinks first of himself? Who suffers a nervous collapse and who emerges cool and smiling?

There is no doubt about the answer. The replies have been unanimous. Persons who have shown the most cool-headedness, swiftness in action in an emergency and sheer courage are that long-despised middle class.

The so-called "Maidenhead refugees," those who have gotten out of it all by evacuating themselves to pleasant places in the country far from military objectives and near good inns and golf courses have been the well-to-do.

The very poor often have gone to pieces, at least for the moment. But men and women from five-room flats and seven-room houses have been cool, nonchalant heroes.

Which middle-class occupations have shown the highest standard of behavior?

Again the answer is unanimous—the free professions. Curiously, perhaps astonishingly, the intellectuals, doctors, lawyers, school teachers, pastors, engineers, dentists, journalists, writers, artists and actors—they are far above the small or large businessmen; they and skilled workers—railroad men, skilled mechanics, machine-tool makers and operators.

Persons whom their friends always have regarded as neurotics, highly-strung, nervous ladies, gentlemen with tendencies to develop speech ulcers get gold stars for their blitz behavior.

Race doesn't count. The record is the same for Englishmen and for the French, Dutch, Scandinavian, Belgian and Jewish refugees.

It is the journalist, dentist or engineer in the block who gets out first and stands exposed on the roof of a building, watching a fire, does incendiary bombs or mass ambulances (women do the same) and then wisecracks through the horror of the blitz.

The behavior of everybody in the islands, even though they have been a hell on earth, is above praise.

But the supers are boys and girls who are earning their living by their brains. Why? Well, first of all they are accustomed to concentrated intellectual effort, and the emergency calls it forth.

Second, they are persons accustomed to objective thinking, and apparently that has some effect on character. Their minds look out rather than in.

Third, they have had an education that has induced certain standards of behavior.

Fourth, and despite a tendency to dyspepsia and taut nerves, they apparently have good health, for statistics show they live long.

Fifth, they belong to occupations in which the individual has to think for himself.

Sixth, they have an intellectual curiosity which makes even the most terrible experience interesting. They are the only persons who get a sort of grim, intellectual or artistic pleasure out of the weird phenomenon.

While the house rocks under them they note the beauty of the thin fingers of the searchlights reaching across the dark skies for Nazi bombers. They learn quickly to differentiate sounds, gauge the distance and type of explosions. They estimate their chances mathematically.

A famous woman writer told me she had resigned herself calmly to the air raids when she realized that the mortality in the blitzes was lower than British mortality in childbirth. "And after all, I have had three children," she said.

At any rate, when others run to shelter the intellectuals are likely to go out and look around to see what they can do. Sitting in the fire stations they learnedly discuss physical explanations of blast and the chemistry contained in various kinds of high explosives, the psychological treatment of shock, the relative resilience of bricks laid with one mortar and bricks with another mortar, the genius of Sir Christopher Wren, the quantum theory and the various moves in chess.

Being accustomed to take notice of things they even make notes on their own misery and so somehow find every interest in life. Those who have despised the absent-minded professor are likely to find him the one person in the community with all his wits about him.

The stock of the intellectual, therefore, is going up in England, and this perhaps augurs a happier, more intelligent time to come.

Editorial — — What Tourist Spends Helps

An idea which now is being proposed seriously is that of state advertising.

For a long time proponents of developing the natural asset of tourist traffic have suggested that

Dirt Farmers Ask Special Session Call

AUSTIN, Aug. 29 (AP)—The dirt farmers congress of Texas wants Governor Coke Stevenson to call a special session of the legislature to work out a solution on the controversial road bond issue.

President Bailey E. Ragadale of the congress yesterday conferred with the governor, presented a resolution urging him to convene the lawmakers and stated:

"We are in complete accord with Governor Stevenson's position of insisting that a compromise be arrived at dealing with the division of the $2,000,000 road fund surplus prior to the convening of a special session."

"If outside factors cannot agree on a compromise as the governor has generously and patiently worked out for them, it is our belief the question of disposing of this problem should be left strictly to the administration and the legislature for solution, where it properly belongs."

Plenty Of Girls Appear For Austin Soldiers' Dance

AUSTIN, Aug. 29 (AP)—The capital city breathed easier today with fanfare it had announced its first public entertainment of an army unit—the 204th field artillery anti-aircraft batteries from Louisiana—blatantly nearby on maneuvers.

Officials who had arranged the dance last night stood around worrying whether enough girls would appear and then recalled stories where the boys in uniform failed to show up.

About 9 p. m. however, groups of maids in evening dresses started streaming into the dance pavilion floor.

And then—wave after wave of boys in khaki.

It turned out fine—about 200 girls and 200 boys.

Iron Smelter In Texas Studied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—An inspector of the Federal Loan agency will study the advisability of constructing an iron ore smelting plant in Northeast Texas, a group from that section was informed yesterday.

Sam H. Husband, a director of the FLA defense plant corporation which was presented by Dean W. R. Woolrich of the University of Texas, W. W. Lynch and George H. Anderson, both of Dallas.

Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) arranged the conference. His secretary said the inspector would visit Texas in the next week or two.

only have had to run around the theatre a couple of times. And if she hadn't happened to mention that you were inside with Bowers for another minute, well, I guess there wouldn't have been any use mentioning it."

The shudder that zigged down my spine called for another healthy sip of my drink and I lost no time taking it.

"You see," Jeff went on, "you had frightened Alice."

"I frightened Alice? She scared the daylight out of me!"

"She thought from the way you talked that I had picked her as our murderer. Sure, the girl's wacky, but that's what she thought. She was scared stiff, and the first thing she wanted to do was explain to me why she left the theater opening night. In her mind that was our big point against her since I had made so much of it."

"And did she explain it?"

"A ring! Oh Jeff!"

"You're laughing, huh? And that's exactly why she wouldn't tell us, especially you. She knew you'd laugh."

"But she gave up her big chance to play a part for a ring! It sounds awfully weird."

Man About Manhattan— Inca Indian Newest Producer

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—We are going to have a lot of braves, squaws and chiefs putting around in the theatre this winter. . . . At any rate an Inca Indian, who says his full title is His Supreme Highness Prince Cante Waste, has opened an office on 8th avenue with the intention of producing a vast Indian musical extravaganza. He'll use several hundred Indians recruited from government reservations. If the Prince Cante Waste it on Broadway, he'll be a very paradoxical young man. . . .

T. Dorsey is back on his Jersey farm after his adventures in Johns Hopkins hospital, in Baltimore, where he parted with his tonsils. That was a lively season he had with the doctors. His room was outfitted with radios and a recording device, and he occupied his free moments making all sorts of nonsensical recordings. Then, too, there were the telegrams and the telephone calls to be answered. One of the Broadway writers made a little slip in calculations and announced that Dorsey had been on the operating table "12 1-2 hours."

The calls from everywhere literally poured in.

Tommy also figured in a little impromptu adventure in the Astor lobby some time ago, absolutely unprogrammed. He has a bad ankle. Suddenly it gave way under him and he collapsed. . . . Some body yelled "Get a Doctor." . . . A guest who had just walked in yelled, "All right, tell me who to call. . . . I'll call him." . . . The guest, it turned out, was none other than old Dr. Kildare himself—Lan Ayres.

der contract—a situation this column intends to explore. . . .

Mischa Auer, the actor (or actor as we say on Broadway) can't talk unless he is sitting on something high. It seems impossible for him to sink into a chair and indulge in conversation. . . . He has to be perched on a table, or a piano. . . . I've seen any number of private photographs of Auer, being interviewed, and always he is six or eight feet off the rug.

Joan Crawford's agents are trying to find a suitable script for Broadway this fall.

Before they became actors, these players earned their living as models: Joan Leslie, Jane Russell, Starling Haywood, Susan Haywood, Veronica Lake.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— $25,000 Worth Of Mink Not Needed On Anne Shirley

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood is where parties have been given on the slightest provocation. The lifting of an option, the visit of a man, the engagement or the breaking-up of a romantic couple, a divorce—most any little thing is or has been a party cause.

But I never thought I'd go to a cocktail party for a fur coat.

I still didn't think so as I entered the Town House. It was a lady who had done all the thinking. She'd been reading the publicity releases on the affair. All about how it was the only coat of its kind in the world, platinum mink, and they'd gone through 300,000 natural mink skins to find the 38 streaks that happened to be born platinum, and Anne Shirley was going to wear it, and it was valued by the experts at $25,000.

All of which I know nothing about—except that to me Anne Shirley is glamorous and sweet in homespun and doesn't need mink to make her more so. I know how these things are thought: REKO is letting her go glamour-girl in "Unexpected Uncle" and "Four Jacks and a Queen," and getting her to wear $25,000 worth of mink for an afternoon doesn't hurt.

The guest of honor was gracious, if passive. With Anne's permission, it let us stroke its sleeve. This was not so easy, if you were dazzled and blinded. Not by the guest of honor, but by the rocks Anne wore on wrist and neck; costume stuff made of diamonds set in platinum. Anne stroked her wrist. "Thirty five thousand," she whispered. And her neck: "Eighteen thousand."

All this would have been pleasant enough if the lady who did the thinking hadn't tried on him mink affair. Long after Anne had gone home to John Payne and the baby, long after mink and diamonds had been restored to their vaults, the lady was muttering dreamily about the style to which she's become accustomed. I had a hard time convincing her it isn't good form to acustom so easy and also that one coat is pretty much like another, which I sincerely believe.

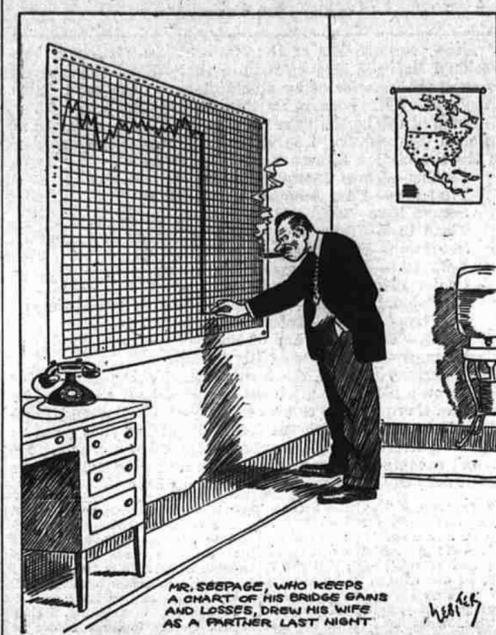

Eastern correspondents, however, may take warning: the coat will be touring that way, and doubtless will expect to be entertained some way.

George Montgomery, the tall cowboy star, has made the switch to romantic leads. I found him strumming the piano in a night club set ("I knew a piano when I see one but that's about all," he said) while Carole Landis sang a song for "Cadet Girl."

George was all set to be 20th's cowboy for life but they wouldn't "waste" him on chasers. He still hopes to do at least one a year, although Johnny Kimbrough, the Texas Argie footballer, is set for cowboy duty.

The producers had made a solemn verbal pact. Immediately one of them was being imperturbed to make an exception in one particular case. "But I can't," the producer protested. "It's a gentleman's agreement—and this is only the first week of it."

MADE UP TO KILL

Chapter 25
THE CAPE
By Kelley Ross

"Bowers watched her," Jeff went on. "They were alone on that side of the stage. He came up behind her quietly, held one hand over her mouth and stabbed her with the other. He wiped the knife clean of fingerprints on Eve's jacket and dropped it beside her body."

"It was then he had his inspiration—in the form of Carol's cape. He saw it on the banister where she had dropped it. Everybody was looking for Carol's murderer. He would keep it like that."

"He kept the cape over Eve, making it look as if she had been mistaken for Carol. It worked. And he was aided by the fact that nobody had an alibi backstage. Anyone could have done it. Then he tried to improve on his plan with the shot through the window. He couldn't stay quiet; he had to try and make himself safer."

"But, Jeff," I asked, "it sounds right but . . . but how was you going to prove it? It seems to me that it would all rest on whether Clint admitted or denied it."

"I did, my dear, it did," Jeff smiled sheepishly. "That was the trouble. There wasn't one single scrap of evidence or proof connected with the whole shebang. So I had to think up a way to force Clint's hand by showing him that I knew he had killed Eve North. Of course, my way wasn't nearly so effective, nor so dramatic, as yours."

"As mine? What do you mean?"

"You went to the theater, got yourself alone on a dark stage with him, dropped a nice juicy hint that you knew he was the murderer, then let him chase you around the theatre and damn near kill you, so that I could bring friend Peterson and his boys in to make an easy, clean-cut arrest."

"Is that what I did? Boy! Am I the Smarty-Pants! But what were you going to do, Jeff? Let Clint chase you?"

"That idea never occurred to me. No, I had arranged a little social gathering. I asked McDonald and Phoebe and Philip Ashley to come to the theater. Bowers had said he would be there."

"I was going to plunk him in the audience with Peterson beside him and a couple of New York's finest stationed at the doors and present a little playlet for him. I meant to show him how Eve had unconsciously switched the poison from her place to Carol's by doing that scene again. Philip Ashley was to play his part and Alice was to play Eve's."

"Then Alice was to impersonate Eve again, the next night, as she stood in the wings just before she was stabbed. Ashley was going to show how someone, sitting on that pile of furniture in back of the set where Bowers had been sitting by his own admission, could easily have slipped around to where Eve was, stabbed her, and gone back to his place again without having been seen."

"But how could Clint have known that he wouldn't be seen?"

"He made sure of that. If the coast hadn't been clear he would have waited until it had been. He knew that sometime during that evening, aided by the almost total darkness of backstage, his chance would come. And it did come. And he got an unexpected break to boot. Carol's wrap."

"That made him too cocky, though. He began cooperating with the police while they looked for Carol's murderer. He could afford to. They would never have found any connection between him and Carol because there wasn't any. It was because he was so sure of himself that I hoped my little charade with Ashley and Alice, and with Phoebe Thompson being my assistant, might shock him into giving himself away."

"Well, maybe it wouldn't have worked. But I've seen Bill Powell make it work in the movies, hundreds of times. Of course, as I said, your way was much surer."

"The Ring"

"My way!" I suddenly had to laugh. "You know, I was scared to death when I found myself on that dark stage alone with Alice and I was so relieved when Bowers appeared and she sneaked out. Good old Alice! She would sneak out and leave me alone with a murderer!"

"She didn't know. But the fact is she did a lot worse than that. She almost cooked your goose for good. If she hadn't buttonholed me and Peterson in the alley outside for five minutes, you would

Senate Committee Fixes Excise Taxes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) - A senate finance subcommittee agreed Thursday on a new schedule of excise taxes which members said would add approximately $400,000,000 to the $3,503,900,000 tax bill. The subcommittee, composed of Senators Brown (D-Mich.) and Danaher (R-Conn.) reported its findings to the full committee after a four-hour session devoted to developing new sources of revenue. Both Brown and Danaher declined to reveal details of the new schedule. Brown said, however, that "we increased some existing taxes and provided for a few more."

METRO NEWS — "THE PROSPECTING BEAR"

'Peace By Hitler' Proved Impossible By March Of Time

Coinciding with reports from Berlin that Adolf Hitler is now willing to stop the war and let the British Empire and the United States live in peace, side by side with his new world order, the March of Time presents, in its latest film release playing at the Ritz theatre today and Saturday, a compelling analysis of Hitler's long list of broken promises, double-dealings and treacheries.

Entitled "Peace by Adolf Hitler," this newest March of Time shows that, in all history, no conqueror has exploited more shrewdly than Hitler the technique of systematic falsehood and betrayal. The film, which is thoroughly documented with exclusive pictures from inside Nazi-dominated Europe, traces Hitler's conquests since his rise to power as the German Fuehrer.

In taking over each of the fifteen countries he has conquered to date, Hitler has loudly proclaimed that Germany seeks only peace. On each occasion, the March of Time shows, he has declared Germany's territorial ambitions fulfilled—while appeasers, taking him at his word, have repeatedly allowed him to prepare for further conquests and have themselves eventually succumbed to his war machine.

Although many Americans have unwittingly been playing into Hitler's hands by supporting the idea of a negotiated Peace, March of Time's "Peace-by Adolf Hitler" will now put them on guard against the latest Nazi propaganda offensive. The film's retrospective examination of Hitler's record proves that the talk of peace now being circulated by isolationists, Nazi sympathizers, and those earnestly devoted to the ideal of peace, may well be another Hitler smoke-screen.

Local Men Meet Sear's Chief

A group of Big Spring business men were guests of Luther M. Jordan, general manager of the Dallas branch of Sears, Roebuck and company at a luncheon Friday, the affair being held in connection with the opening here of Sears new catalog order office.

Jordan, accompanied by Mrs. Jordan, and Hunter C. Baker, sales promotion manager, were here in connection with the first day's operation of the order office, located at 119 East Third street.

Jordan spoke informally to the luncheon group, telling them that Sears "wants to be a part of this community, and will undertake to do its share in any civic undertaking."

Local people are employed, Mrs. Arvie Webber and Mrs. Evelyn Davidson being in charge of the store. "We expect to make Big Spring's interests our interests," said Jordan, "and we hope that we will be able to establish ourselves as a business unit the city wants."

At the luncheon were E. R. McEwen, Eoyd McDaniel, Bob Whipple, Joe Hayden, R. T. Piner, T. S. Currie and Nat Shick, along with Mr. and Mrs. Jordan, Baker, Mrs. Webber and Mrs. Davidson.

The Sears people reported a large number of callers at the store during the first day.

Band Loses 30 Members

Football coaches may worry about graduation and loss of material, but their bed is one of roses compared with that of Dan Conley, high school band director. Graduation, plus moving, has cost Conley 30 members of his municipal high school band. He didn't feel so bad about that until the army grabbed off some of his key players.

Anxious to do something to overcome the radical shake-up, he has called the first rehearsal at 4 p. m. Tuesday at the high school gymnasium and will start in practice in advance of the opening of school. From the beginning he will start drilling the band in marching formations.

For the balance of the week rehearsals will be held in the morning. Conley is attending a bandmasters' clinic at Abilene during the weekend and will return Tuesday morning.

Hayes Stripling, who has spent most of his adult life as a wholesale grocer in Big Spring, has opened a wholesale grocery business at 2200 Scurry street.

The old blackout blitzed the Douglass hotel the other evening. A delivery boy unwittingly hung a switch on the original part of the building and eventually the weight threw the switch. After electricians had tried to find the trouble for half an hour, Jake Douglass happened to remember about the old master switch, in addition to the basement control of the whole plant, and remedied the trouble.

J. W. Conley, who has been guest of his son, Dan Conley, and family, accompanied the Dan Conley's to Abilene Friday. The elder Conley lives there and Dan is attending a band leaders' clinic there.

Police were holding a man Friday after he had thrown fear into residents around the Dreamland hotel with a loaded .32 calibre revolver. The pistol was confiscated.

Water metered from the Powell Creek lake during August (in total from July 20 to Aug. 20) realized 10,000 gallons, B. J. McDaniel, city manager, said Friday. In addition, around five to six million gallons were pumped from the city park wells.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Strength of an assortment of specialties kept the stock market alive today and helped offset lagging tendencies displayed by many leaders.

As the exchange will recess Monday for Labor Day, many commission house customers made an early get-away for vacation resorts. Those who put in an appearance bought sparingly, even of the favorites, and commitments were lightened here and there as a precaution against adverse happenings over the lengthy week-end.
