Supply, Demand Will Determine 71 Farm Moves

The law of supply and demand will be a significant factor in farm decisions on the High Plains in 1971, 1972 and 1973, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

"We cannot afford to make management decisions under the new farm program without full knowledge of both domestic and foreign production figures, consumption figures and overall supply conditions because these to a large extent will determine the market prices we can expect for a given commodity," Johnson told a recent gathering of PCG directors.

The comments were made in a discussion of the Agriculture Act of 1970, which for the first time since the 1930's gives farmers the opportunity to select the crop or crops they will plant and to decide with a minimum of interference how much acreage will be devoted to each.

Benefits under the program are substantial enough that most farmers on the Plains will comply with program set-aside requirements and plant the minimum required acreage of at least one commodity for which they have an allotment, Johnson said.

"But after that decision is made almost every farmer will be left with acreage on which he can plant just about whatever he pleases."

"And whether he shows a profit or loss on these "extra" acres will depend largely on his accuracy in gauging the market at harvest time, whether it be for cotton, wheat, corn, grain sorghum or any other of the crops commonly grown in the area."

USDA's planting intentions survey, the results of which are scheduled for announcement on Jan. 25, is something Johnson said farmers will want to study closely as a means to guessing both the volume of U. S. production in 1971 and the qualities that will most likely be produced.

Noting that CCC resale prices and policies in the past have had an adverse effect on producer markets, the PCG Board adopted a resolution reading "That PCG work with USDA officials and others toward CCC sales policies which will give producers an increased role in cotton marketing decisions and

Questions About Social Security

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to: Travis C. Briggs, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 317 West Third Street, Amarillo, Texas. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

by TRAVIS C. BRIGGS

Q. I am confined to my home because of a severe disability. I heard over the radio that a disabled person could make application for monthly benefits under social security by telephoning the social security office. Is this true?

A. Yes, it is true. The social security representative will ask you all the questions he would normally ask in a face-to-face interview and your answers will be recorded on an application form. The application form and, in most cases, the forms for the doctor to complete will be mailed to you for signature. During the telephone interview you will be reminded which proofs to include when you mail the signed application back to the social security office.

Q. I draw disability benefits from the Social Security Administration, but since my condition has improved I hope to be able to take a job in the near future. May I report my employment to the social security office by phone? It will be difficult for me to come to the office. I want to be sure I give all the information I am supposed to report about my employment.

A. Yes, you may handle this by phone. In fact, we encourage you to do so. It will save you the time and expense of coming to the office, and it will allow us to ask you for some information that you might not think to include in a letter.

U.S. Music Is Topic For DAR

History of music in America, with sidelights on early composers and special attention to Christmas songs, was the subject of Robert Wert as he spoke to Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution at their Christmas program Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Joe Reinauer and Mrs. Ray Carlile were hostesses in the Reinauer home on Harrison Highway, where bright decorations combined with carols played by Mrs. Jim Cramer, organist, to create a holiday mood.

The speaker, music director in First United Methodist Church, was introduced by Mrs. Sue James. He discussed the background of European music which influenced composers in America for many years, and varied types of music brought to the new world by settlers from different countries. Development of true American music was then traced.

Composers of Christmas songs were mentioned, beginning with Francis Hopkins who in 1857 was considered very modern for his song, We Three Kings of Orient. Wert also spoke of Phillips Brooks, who wrote O Little Town of Bethlehem after a trip to that city, and Henry W. Longfellow who wanted to offer hope to a divided nation during the Civil War with the words to I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day.

Red poinsettias decorated the table where Mrs. Carlile poured tea from an heirloom silver service that once belonged to Mrs. Reinauer's grandmother, while Mrs. James served punch.

Mrs. Jack Gilliland and Mrs. J. J. Durham were welcomed as new members by Mrs. Jeff Smart, Mrs. Jess Robinson presided for a brief session of reports by Mrs. L. W. Norvell, national defense chairman, and Mrs. James, treasurer. Mrs. Reinauer gave the closing devotional talk.

Also present were Mmes. Leroy Williamson, Charles Bell, Roy V. Smith, V. O. Hennen, Stan Knox, Earl Holt and Miss Mildred Elliott.

'Tis The Season To Drive Friendly

Certainly, the holiday time of year is "the season to be jolly." It is also the season to DRIVE FRIENDLY.

DRIVING FRIENDLY is a state of mind in which we maintain a friendly driving attitude toward others. As such, it is also an expression of the spirit of the holidays.

So this holiday season we can DRIVE FRIENDLY by obeying traffic laws. We can DRIVE FRIENDLY by planning travel to avoid rushing. And we can DRIVE FRIENDLY by not driving and drinking.

Our streets and highways provide a convenient and pleasant means for all of us to join loved ones and friends during the holiday season. If we DRIVE FRIENDLY, the happiness of the season can be preserved for all of us.

This Holiday Season, Keep DRIVING FRIENDLY...it works

Newcomers From Chile Welcome At Yule Tea

In the spirit of Christmas, a tea in Deaf Smith County Museum Thursday afternoon welcomed to Hereford Mrs. Juan Ribes, who with her husband and sons recently came here from Parral, Chile, to make their home.

The Ribes family, previous visitors in Hereford, fled Chile after elections last fall placed a leftist regime in control of the country. Ribes was an executive in a large cooperative enterprise, and had become acquainted with Leo Forrest when the latter was manager of Deaf Smith County Electric Co-op.

On trips to Chile to assist in forming cooperatives, the Forrests had met Ribes and invited him and his wife to visit them. The couple came last June and were guests of the Forrests at Lake Tanglewood, their residence since Forrest's retirement from the co-op management.

Entertained in Hereford homes also, Tona and Juan Ribes met a number of residents, so they decided to locate here when they left Chile.

Several friends made at that time were hostesses for the tea Thursday. The group included Mrs. James Hull, Frank Ford, George Turrentine, Austin Rose Jr., Juston McBride, Frank Zinser Jr. and F. A. Marnell.

They took turns inviting callers to register, standing with the honoree in the receiving line and serving tea at a long table laid with a gold-fringed brocade cloth, which is one of the museum exhibits. A nativity scene at one end of the table balanced the silver tea service at the other.

A Christmas tree garlanded in pioneer West Texas style with popcorn strings and tinsel, decorated by Mrs. Ford's children stood near the entrance and guests placed gaily-wrapped packages around it for Mrs. Ribes, with books of trading stamps.

These gifts were made to replace some of the Ribes household possessions, which had to be left in their hurried departure from their home. They were permitted to bring only a limited sum of money and the baggage they could carry on a plane.

The tea was planned to stress a theme of area history, by its locale in the museum, and to impress guests anew with the blessings of political freedom.

Tiny American flags appeared in the Christmas decorations, reverse reminders of the little red flags which Mrs. Ribes says were distributed to children on Chilean streets during leftist demonstrations.

Mrs. Ribes was charming in a Christmas red skirt and ruffled white blouse, a sparkling holiday corsage pinned at the shoulder. She conversed with new acquaintances in a language which she is improving with practice and lessons, although she expresses impatience with a lack of fluency in English.

However, she had studied English in school and she and her husband both are having regular lessons in the colloquial use of the language from Mrs. Jim McAndrews, as well as practicing it in daily contacts.

The Ribes family includes two sons, Mauricio and Marcell, students in LaPlata Junior High School. The family lives at El Dorado Apartment No. 26 and Ribes is employed with the new corn products plant at Dimmitt.

At home Thursday morning Mrs. Ribes voiced their appreciation of the cordial reception they have had in Hereford and talked briefly of the circumstances which brought them here.

Ribes was offered a good position with the new government in Chile, she said, because of his needed technical knowledge, but like many others in various professions where the present regime lacks leadership, he was unwilling to work under present conditions there.

Many more Chilean families, like the Ribes, went to other countries, principally to Argentina, Spain and the United States. The Ribes fear that civil war may yet flare in Chile, and hope not because they have relatives there as well as friends.

Their apartment, in tasteful arrangement and striking holiday decorations, shows Tona Ribes' flair for art. She likes to paint, and for three years before her marriage studied industrial design and decoration in the university at Santiago.

Such work as store and window decorating interest her, and she hopes, when she has mastered English better, to find employment in that type of job.

Since her marriage she has lived on a farm near Parral, a town of some 12,000 inhabitants, but her family home was in Santiago, one of Chile's larger cities. She was active in the women's organization associated with the Rotary Club, and served as president of her group. The family attends St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

by MELVIN YOUNG Today is the final day of the pleasant hunting season and here's hoping that all got the limit.

Actually, we've had reports from "no luck" to "wonderful" and we suspect that part of that is due not to the lack of birds but to the shooting skill of the hunter.

The dry weather continues. We were anxiously awaiting the snowfall that had been predicted for Friday night but arose Saturday morning to another cold, dry day.

It's getting closer. Just 4 more shopping days until Christmas. Local stores are reporting good business the past week or so and we suspect that most will top their volume figures for the previous year in spite of a slow start.

And according to a new story originating in Paris, pants are winning the still unsettled battle of the skirt length. While dress manufacturers and retailers suffer from battle fatigue and fiscal undernourishment, the sportswear people are feeling no pain. In fact they are fattening on the great pants boom.

Now, more and more schools are allowing both students and teachers to wear the attractive, and practical, pants suits to the classroom, and almost all retail outlets have clerks so adorned. We even see a few wearing boots these days.

Pants suits, by the way, are now being accepted at most formal affairs, and we might add, some of the "formal" pants suit outfits are - to say the least - spectacular. If this is part of the women's liberation movement, more power to them.

There is also a definite difference in men's attire these days, and the move to more colorful clothing is not confined just to the young people. It's catching the older folks too. And it's about time. We men have been too drab, too long. According to my wife, that is.

Not many years ago, the only time a man would dare to be seen in anything other than a plain suit and white shirt was when vacationing in Hawaii. The Hawaiians had the right idea all along. It just took a while to move stateside.

And then there's the story about the Aussie bushman who arranged to give his daughter in marriage to a young man in the next village. It was agreed that they would meet at a bend in the river to exchange the girl for a couple of cows and a few sheep.

The old man and the girl arrived at the appointed place and time, but the young man and his

South's 10-Year Growth Tops Other Regions

BIRMINGHAM — The South made more significant economic gains during the decade of the 60s than any other region in the nation, and indications are that the greater growth rate will continue through the 70s, a recent report indicates.

Emory Cunningham, publisher of Southern Living magazine cited figures released by Dr. George H. Brown, Director of the Census Bureau, and data from other governmental agencies.

The South led all other sections of the nation in percentage gains in median family income during the 60s, with a 48 per cent increase. The North Central region showed a 44 per cent gain; the North east 35 per cent, and the West 20 per cent. Median family income in the South in 1969 was $8,100.

Ten years ago only 15 per cent of the South's families had an income of $10,000 or more. Presently, this figure is 37 per cent, and the percentage change during the 10 years was greater in the South than in any other section.

From 1960 to 1970 more people moved into the South than moved away, and this is the first time there has been a net immigration since the 1870s. And the people moving into the South are helping to raise income and educational levels. They are trained persons attracted to the more than ever before the well trained persons attracted to the industries.

The net in-migration for the South during the 10 years was 500,000 persons. During the preceding decade the region lost 1,500,000 persons through movement of person to other areas. More than 62,500,000 persons now live in the South, or nearly one of every three people in the nation.

The South is becoming a metropolitan region rather rapidly. Six out of 10 Southerners now live in a metropolitan area; the figure was three of 10 less than a third of a century ago. The South's 10-year improvements in education have been striking. Today, about as many adults in the South have completed some college work as have adults in the North. In 1969, 20 percent of the adults in the South received college training; the 1959 figure was 15 percent.

One of two adults in the South have completed high school; 10 years ago one of three had a high school diploma.

Per pupil expenditures for education and teacher salaries climbed significantly during the 60s. The 1970 expenditure per pupil in the South was $600 compared with $300 just 10 years earlier. This 100 per cent increase compares with a 77 per cent increase for the nation. The average salary for elementary school teachers in the South increased 60 per cent to $7,200. The national percentage increase was 49 percent.

In the South, economic gains, other than income, were considerably greater than for other regions. During the 10 years new housing starts were up 37 per cent in the South, compared with only 7 per cent outside this region. New motor vehicle registrations in the South climbed 65 per cent, compared with 36 per cent elsewhere. The South, in 1969, led all other regions in retail food store sales with a $22 billion total.

Reflecting the stepped-up business activity across the South, numerous southern cities showed dramatic population increases. Atlanta, Dallas, Fort-Worth, Houston and Miami increased population by more than 39 per cent.

Florida, alone, gained 1.7 million persons; Texas 1.4 million.

Along with the South's surge forward in general economic growth, it remains the nation's primary agricultural region, in many respects, Cunningham said. Southern farmers market 30 per cent of the nation's livestock and livestock products and 32 per cent of all farm crops.

Gifts For Girls Are Collected

Gifts for residents of Girlstown were taken by Mothers Needle Club members to their Christmas party in Mrs. J. L. Shirley's home Thursday afternoon, and a cash gift from club funds was added.

Each member also brought a gift for her secret club pal. These were exchanged to reveal identity of the pals, then new names were drawn for the coming months.

Mrs. W. T. Gunstenson was elected club president for a two-year term to begin at the start of 1971. Hostess dates for the year were also assigned; the next meeting will be Jan. 21 with Mrs. Haskell Benson.

At the party were: Mrs. A. H. Cook, Luther Ellis, Adam Flowers, Jewell Awtry, L. J. Jones, Ralph Paul, Annie Springer, H. E. Lindley, C. N. McClure, Gunstenson and Benson.

Jerry Ross Of AF Band To Be Holiday Visitor

Staff Sgt. Jerry Wayne Ross of the 589th Air Force Band, now stationed at MacDill Base, Tampa, Fla., and his family will be holiday visitors in the home of his parents, Laura and Will Walker, 512-A Ave. G.

Ross is remembered here as an outstanding member of Hereford High School Band and its drum major in the early 1960's. He was graduated in 1965, and after two years in West Texas State University entered the U. S. Air Force and was accepted for the band.

The 589th band was stationed then at Amarillo AFB, and was transferred to Florida after the base at Amarillo was closed. Ross has been with the group on tours of seven countries, and re-enlisted last September.

He plays tenor and alto saxophone, and recently has been working with the bass steel guitar. He received a professional degree in symphonic music before his transfer from Amarillo.

The Walker family will go to Fort Worth to meet Mr. and Mrs. Ross and children, and the entire group will have Christmas dinner in the home of Mrs. Walker's mother, Mrs. Thresa Gardner, in that city before they return to Hereford for the remainder of Ross's holiday leave.

European Tour To Aid In Study Of Weevils, Hoppers

LUBBOCK — Dr. Charles W. O'Brien and Dr. Lois B. O'Brien, his wife, left Lubbock Saturday for a six-week European tour devoted to the identification of rare weevils and plant hoppers.

The American Philosophical Society has granted the O'Briens travel expenses for the trip important particularly to entomologists but also to ecologists, geologists, geographers and other scientists.

Dr. O'Brien is a member of the entomology faculty at Texas Tech University and Dr. Lois O'Brien has been assisting him.

They expect to spend most of their time at the British Museum in London and the French Museum of Natural History in Paris for comparative studies of insects they have collected, most of them in Latin America. In addition, they will work on identification of specimens collected by other scientists throughout the world. These have been loaned to the O'Briens.

"Some could be important in biological control of water hyacinths and water ferns which are severe pests in many major waterways and reservoirs in the United States, Africa and Latin America," Dr. Charles O'Brien said.

"So many of the type specimens on which the generic and specific concepts of certain insects have been based," he added, "are in European museums that we cannot complete our identifications without comparing what we have with those in Europe."

As a result, the O'Briens will handcarry six boxes of insects apiece — in addition to camera equipment — on their trip. "These insects are so rare," Dr. Lois O'Brien explained, "we must carry them ourselves rather than trust them to anyone else."

Dr. Charles O'Brien's special interest is aquatic weevils, and Mrs. O'Brien's is plant hoppers.

Both spent about 18 months' intensive collecting in important habitats of these insects in Latin America, and their collections have been supplemented by specimens on loan from "all the significant museums in the U. S. and from the major Latin American collections."

He has more than 5,000 aquatic weevils, for instance, from a group formerly considered rare in collections. His collection includes 20,000 from Chile, some representing new species and new genera.

The European studies should make possible the identification of critical species for biological control of aquatic plant pests, according to O'Brien, and make it possible to understand the relationship of this rather unusual group of weevils.

The O'Briens' Chilean collections are important, however, for several reasons. Property identified, they should help scientists in Chile to do advanced work on that country's fauna.

In addition, the publication of Dr. Lois O'Brien's findings on plant hoppers of Chile is expected to contribute significantly to tracing the biogeographical relationships of Latin America with other continents.

"Within the more than 10,000 Chilean specimens collected are more than 50 new species and several new genera and many species which cannot be positively identified," she said, "explaining that her European work should help to narrow this gap in knowledge."

The reason the European museums are of special value, the O'Briens explained, is because European scientists were among the first to work extensively on the world's insects. These pioneer entomologists selected the type specimens from which future identifications must be made for international scientific understanding.

Water Pills And Weight

IS THERE any danger in taking water pills to lose weight?

Mrs. Y. N., Delaware Dear Mrs. N.: There are very definite medical reasons why diuretics are prescribed by physicians. These pills that you refer to as water pills act in two ways on the kidneys, by increasing filtration and by reducing the reabsorption of fluid. This technical statement refers only to a part of the very complex process by which an increased amount of urine is secreted from the body.

This may give you some idea about the body functions that are affected and the respect with which these diuretic drugs are used by doctors.

Unfortunately, many of these pills, in one form or another, can be purchased over the counter without prescription. This can present a danger to those who may have a kidney disorder and thus be adversely affected.

Water pills taken for weight reduction become another way to sidetrack the reality that you eat too much for your height, your weight and activity.

Rather than expose yourself to the slightest possible danger, even though it is very insignificant, you should start a safe and saner weight control project under the supervision of your physician.

Can sinus infections occur in the spring and summer as readily as they can in the winter?

Mr. C. C. T. Michigan Dear Mr. T.: Bacteria and viruses have no greater respect for the bodies they invade in the summertime than they do in the wintertime. Infections of the sinuses do occur in the spring and summer.

but not as frequently as during the winter when the common cold is all around us.

The common cold is caused by one of many viruses. When our resistance is low, an added germ or bacteria may invade the sinuses and cause an active inflammation of them.

Some people are under the mistaken impression that climate is the total answer to infections of the sinuses. It is not. This is evident by the fact that so many people who live in comfortable, warm, dry climates suffer from these infections. It is for this reason that I believe it to be a mistake for people to plan a permanent change to a warm climate without first trying it to see if this really answers their sinus problems.

One of the reasons for repeated infections of the sinuses is the neglect of the original one. When once a sinus is infected and neglected, it becomes a greater candidate for more and more frequent infections.

What is meant by a "blue" baby?

Mrs. D. J., New Jersey Dear Mrs. J.: There are a number of birth defects that interfere with the amount of oxygen that circulates in the blood. The blue color is caused by the lack of oxygen. Many of these birth defects of the heart can now be relieved by the brilliant advances of modern heart surgery.

Governor Urges Safe Driving Over The Holiday

AUSTIN — Gov. Preston Smith continued his strong personal appeal to Texas motorists this week, urging them to drive friendly during the coming holiday season to make this year one with fewer traffic fatalities than 1969.

"The holiday season is a time of year when family relationships and consideration for our fellow man are most meaningful," Gov. Smith said. "It is tragic to think of the heartbreak and sorrow which results from completely meaningless deaths on our streets and highways."

"I sincerely hope the negligence of a few will not mar the holiday happiness of many," the Governor said.

The Governor pointed to a chart in his office which shows traffic fatalities this year are running slightly below the number recorded last year. "We have the opportunity to reduce the number of traffic deaths in Texas this year," Gov. Smith said. "But to do so, Texas motorists must heed the safety admonitions which are being publicized through an all out effort of newspaper, radio and television facilities in our State."

He further expressed full support of the Department of Public Safety's "Operation Motorcade," the law enforcement department's effort to prevent highway violence. The DPS has estimated 87 persons will die on Texas streets and highways during the two holiday weekends, but is planning a massive drive

Tech ROTC Division Taking Applications

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech University's Air Force ROTC department is now accepting applications for the two year Air Force ROTC program, according to Col. Haynes M. Baumgardner, professor of Aerospace Studies.

The program is designed to accommodate two year college transfers and four year college students who have not had the opportunity to undergo the initial two years of an ROTC program.

The new program is open to men and women. Requirements are that applicants must have a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 on a 4.0 scale, have at least two years of college remaining, and qualify on the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test and Medical Examination.

Those accepted for the program will attend six weeks of officer training at an Air Force Base during the summer as a prerequisite for direct entry into the third year of the Air Force ROTC program. Successful completion of the program leads to a commission and duty with the U. S. Air Force.

Tech's Department of Aerospace Studies in room 27 of the Social Science Building, will remain open on weekdays during the holiday period so students from surrounding colleges and universities may receive further information and take the Air Force Qualifying Test.

No appointments will be necessary, said Col. Baumgardner, but those who wish to enter a nonflying career job should report by 1 p.m. to assure completion of the written examination during the afternoon. Men who wish to fly should report early in the morning to assure completion of the written examinations in one day.

"The Air Force ROTC program is the most certain avenue for the college student to become an officer in the U. S. Air Force," said Col. Baumgardner, "and to serve with distinction in his profession as a pilot, navigator, or in one of an extensive list of nonflying specialties."

"Our department will be happy to assist prospective men and women Air Force ROTC cadets regardless of the institution, among the more than 150 hosting Air Force ROTC, which they plan to attend." High school seniors and college freshmen may also take the qualifying test at this early date.

MAKING AND SELLING — These students in La Plata Junior High's Coordinated Vocational Academic Education class are making stuffed animals that will be sold by the class. The students make the animals on an assembly line type operation.

DOCTOR IS SPEAKER — Dr. Harry Alban of Long Beach, Calif., related his experiences while serving on the USS Hope, a hospital ship which takes American medical know-how to ports in underdeveloped countries around the world, as he spoke to L'Allegria Club Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. J. H. McCrary, left, and the program was arranged by Mrs. Jeff Carlile, just visible at right. Dr. and Mrs. Alban were in Hereford on business connected with his farming and cattle feeding interests in this area.

PANTYHOSE USE

WELLINGTON — The girls in New Zealand are smart when it comes to using their pantyhoes as emergency equipment.

The Government Information Office told of one girl who donated her pantyhoes to replace a car's broken fan belt — she got the vehicle six miles to the nearest town.

Another girl, a nurse, coming upon a street accident, used her pantyhoes as a tourniquet to stop bleeding from a boy's almost severed leg.

TUITION ON CREDIT

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — The University of New Mexico has made arrangements with two major credit card companies for cardholders to charge tuition, books, housing, athletic events, concert hall and golf course fees during the 1970-71 school year.

UNM vice president for finance, John Perovich, says it is hoped the arrangements will aid in cutting down on the number of receivable accounts carried by the university.

'Tis The Season To Drive Friendly

Certainly, the holiday time of year is "the season to be jolly." It is also the season to DRIVE FRIENDLY.

DRIVING FRIENDLY is a state of mind in which we maintain a friendly driving attitude toward others. As such, it is also an expression of the spirit of the holidays.

So this holiday season we can DRIVE FRIENDLY by obeying traffic laws. We can DRIVE FRIENDLY by planning travel to avoid rushing. And we can DRIVE FRIENDLY by not drinking and driving.

Our streets and highways provide a convenient and pleasant means for all of us to join loved ones and friends during the holiday season. If we DRIVE FRIENDLY, the happiness of the season can be preserved for all of us.

This Holiday Season, Keep DRIVING FRIENDLY... it works

Tree History Features Party

Family history told on Christmas tree decorations at the hostess' home was the conversation piece for Farm and Ranch Club members at their December luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. V. Perrin.

The tree is hung with rings covered with red velvet ribbon, each ring representing a year and holding a tiny figurine representing the most important event in the family for that year. The unique history starts with the date the Perrins were married, and each year Mrs. Perrin adds another ring.

Christmas decorations were used on the table where the covered dish lunch was served.

Misses Mary Ruth and Charlene Weaver were guests of the club. Members present were Mmes. W. W. Thomas, C. T. Douglas, W. W. Gilbreath, John Hill, Phillip Miller, W. B. Nunley, J. B. Odom, J. E. Söffells, Jack Weaver and Doris Weber.

Carols-Candles Service-Slated Tonight By United Methodists

The sixth annual Service of Carols and Candles in First United Methodist Church is scheduled at 7 p. m. today in the sanctuary, with approximately 200 singers taking part. All the church choirs, directed by Robert M. Wert, will sing.

Traditionally the service ends with the lighting of candles by each member of the audience as the favorite Christmas carol, Silent Night, is sung. The public is invited for this worship hour.

A live nativity scene will be a part of the service. The Ladies Handbell Choir will ring during the offertory period.

Smallest children, those in the Cherub Choir, will sing two selections, Come on Tip-Toe and Sweet Little Jesus Boy. The Carol Choir's songs will be Hurry to Bethlehem and Long Ago in Bethlehem.

The Crusader Handbell Choir, a lately-organized group, will accompany the Crusader singers for the carol, I Like to Remember, and there will be flute accompaniment for Mary's Lullaby. Fellowship Singers will present Do You Hear What I Hear? Songs by the Sanctuary Choir will be No Golden Carriage, No Bright Toy, and with brass accompaniment, Trumpet Gloria.

Lichen have 10,000 known forms, and may appear as mossy beds, stalklike growths, tangled tufts, circular mats, bearded pendants or thin crusts resembling mere stains on rocks or wood, the National Geographic Society says.

RTA Yule Coffee

The home of Mrs. G. P. Owen was the setting for a Retired Teachers Association Christmas coffee Thursday morning with Miss Della Stagner, sister of Mrs. Owen, as hostess.

Mrs. Claude McDougal presented a Christmas story reading as a program following the serving of refreshments.

The serving table was laid with a white cloth and white lace overskirt, centered with a poinsettia plant.

Other members present were Mmes. W. T. Legg, J. E. Springer, Mabel Wagner, J. E. Shirkey, Thelma Chisum, C. O. Brown, T. W. Roberson, Laura Gibson, J. J. Durham, C. Ora Cockrell, Mildred Ramey and Miss Madeline Bell.

Santa Invites Local Children To His Home

By JANIE REINART
Staff Writer

Ted Acton, Hereford's own Santa Claus, has added to the merriment of Christmas for many small children at local yule parties this Christmas season and is planning still other activities.

TOMORROW EVENING beginning at 7:30 until 9 Santa Claus Acton can be seen in the decorated front yard of his home at 205 Fir. Children from all over Hereford are invited to go by and visit with Santa as Christmas draws nearer.

The event will include lights, Christmas music, candy, and a jolly ho-ho-ho. Mrs. Claus and daughters, Debbie, Tammy and Regina will also be on hand to help Santa entertain young visitors.

"Our daughters understand that their daddy is only Santa's helper and the real Santa comes on Christmas," explained Pat Acton.

"YOU WOULDN'T ever have known that Santa was her daddy when our youngest went over to him at a recent party, climb into his lap, stated her name and told what she wanted for Christmas.

"She just plays along with the idea and in the crowd you may see her winking at Daddy Santa as if to say 'daddy, this is our secret' and him winking back in agreement," said Mrs. Acton.

Next year Pat hopes to get pixie costumes sewn for her daughters so they can assist Santa in his Christmas season activity.

MRS. "SANTA CLAUS" says "we love children and do this because we enjoy it. It's like a hobby. I made my husband's suit this year — in fact, it took me two months, but I love to sew and thoroughly enjoyed it."

As in Omaha, Neb., where the Actons lived prior to their January move to Hereford, they have gone to great lengths in decorating their home and wishing season's greetings to children especially.

During their one year in Omaha Pat and some neighborhood friends got together and collected food, toys, fruit and candy for a needy family not on welfare.

"THAT WAS THE FIRST time we had tried such a project and by the time we finished we had collected enough articles for six families!" said Mrs. Acton.

"I would like to do that in Hereford but I don't feel we could reach them all with so many families here that need this type of help.

"I was told a local man delights in going from house to house during Christmas week at the Labor Camp as Santa Claus, but I can't recall his name."

Another neighborhood Christmas project the Actons took part in in Omaha was when everyone on the street where they lived agreed to put red sacks filled with sand and lighted candles in the front driveways.

"IT WAS VERY pretty," said Pat. "Maybe we can do something like that here someday."

Kindness is an everyday word with the Acton family and activity is the keyword to happiness, especially for Pat.

She has natural ability when working with craft materials, which is evident in the decor of their home. She doesn't stop at decorating one room.

Just recently she sewed a cover for their toilet lid which is a conversation piece as well. When the lid is closed you can see Santa with a note saying "hi" to all. When the lid is opened another Santa is revealed with hands over his eyes and a note saying "oops!"

"I FEEL AS THOUGH craftwork is a therapy. Keeping the mind occupied is the idea," says Mrs. Acton.

In old folks' homes it is apparent that the people become bored and through inactivity they grow hard-core and pity themselves when no one comes to see them, for instance.

"Crafts would eliminate that sort of thing and not give them time to get grouchy. When I get angry I just sit down and sew something. My daughters seem to follow in my footsteps as far as interest in crafts."

PAT HAS ENTERTAINED at six club meetings demonstrating crafts and building interest in a new craft, foiling and antiquing. She hopes someday to get her own craft shop and teach as she has done before in Omaha with 50 girls as summer students.

"They were daughters of the Jaycees and since boys had Little League activities and the girls had nothing, it was the ideal thing to do."

In addition to the Acton's younger daughters, they have another daughter, Donna, and her husband Ted Gillihan, who live in Omaha, where he is serving in the Air Force. The Gillihans have a 2-year-old daughter, Teresa.

ONE SON, GARY, has returned from duty in Vietnam and is stationed at Fort Knox with the army.

The most recent addition to the Acton family, even though five years have passed since, is Peanut, a dachshund who was a 7-week-old live Christmas gift to the Acton children. She was found beneath the tree with a bow tied around her neck.

"She's a smart dog," says Pat. "She'll dig under the tree until she finds her package — and she always knows which is hers — and tears it open just like a child does. She cries and makes the funniest sounds the whole time."

ACTON IS SUPERINTENDENT at Wilson and Company, where he has worked for several years. Traveling has been necessary in much of his work thus far but the Actons now feel they may settle down.

"Hereford couldn't make us any happier than it already has," says Mrs. Acton. "The children and I have made so many friends and found so many things to do here."

And as Christmas rolls around friends gather at the Actons to pour candles and make Christmas candy. Never a dull moment in that household.

Mrs. Lemons Is Coffee Hostess

A holiday tradition for Mrs. Edgar Lemons is a Christmas coffee to which she invites neighbors each year. Mrs. Buck Parsons and Mrs. Charles Wagner were her co-hostesses Thursday morning in the Lemons home in Dawn community. The party was an informal one, with talk for entertainment. Rooms were beautifully decked for Christmas and the serving table was covered with a cloth made by Mrs. Lemons, with poinsettia and candle appliques sprinkled with glitter. The centerpiece was a long arrangement of poinsettias lighted with candles. Mrs. Parsons poured coffee while Mrs. Wagner served sandwiches and cookies. Guests were Mmes. Lloyd Coffey, Jess Robinson, Frank Duncan, William Wimberley, A.H. Husmann, Dwight Banks, Dean Stallings, Jan. Wood, Robert Hicks and John Townsend.

City Relatives Attend Wedding Veteran Judge Gives Library To University

Wedding party members and guests at the marriage of Miss Teri Elaine Willoughby and Roger Darnell Pugh in Oklahoma City Saturday include relatives of the bride from Hereford.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Willoughby of Oklahoma City and the granddaughter of Mrs. J. O. Newell of this city. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pugh of Oklahoma City. Dr. Fisher Blanton, pastor, read the wedding ceremony in Wesley United Methodist Church of Oklahoma City at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Date of the wedding was Mrs. Newell's birthday.

Miss Carol Murphy was maid of honor and Steve Grissom best man. Bridesmaids were Miss Pam Winget of Hereford, cousin of the bride; Miss Patricia Pugh, the bridegroom's sister, and Miss Marilyn Aldredge.

Groomsmen and ushers were Tom Collopy of Milwaukee, Mike Kelly, Dave Crain, Chris West, David Sas and Dave Fellers.

Another of the bride's cousins from Hereford, Wayne Winget, lighted candles in an arch trimmed with holly and in candle trees on either side. Baskets of mums and red carnations flanked the candles. Red velvet bows marked aisles.

Music for the ceremony included The Lord's Prayer, sung by Wylie Walker and organ selections by Mrs. Pat Crigler.

Miss Willoughby's gown of lace and taffeta was fashioned in A-line style, with high scalloped neckline, fitted sleeves and chiffon train. A Juliet cap held her illusion veil. In her bouquet were red roses, ivy and holly centered with a white orchid.

Red velvet empire dresses were worn by her attendants with silver shoes and gloves. They carried red and white carnations and holly sprays in nosegays with silver trim. Holly-decorated the table for the reception in the church hall, around the three-tiered cake topped with dove figurines. Miss Susan Pollesen, Mmes. Steve Erickson, Fellers and Sas served the cake and punch.

Leaving for a New Orleans honeymoon, Mrs. Pugh wore a red and white knit suit with white lace blouse. The couple will be at home after Christmas at 1215 N. Pennsylvania; Oklahoma City.

The bride is a senior at Central State College, Edmond, Okla. She is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority and on the Dean's Honor Roll. Mr. Pugh is a graduate of Central State. Both completed high school studies at Northwest Classen High.

In addition to Mrs. Newell and the wedding party members, guests from Hereford were the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winget.

Veteran Judge Gives Library To University

CANYON — Associate Justice Ernest O. Northcutt of the 7th Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo has donated his law library to West Texas State University.

The library, containing about 1,000 volumes, was accepted for the university by David R. Matthis associate professor of government, and Gene McClas-son, assistant professor of business. Both Matthis and McClas-son are advisors to pre-law students.

Stewart W. Dyess, assistant to the university librarian, said the donation, to be housed in the reference room of the library, would be a valuable supplement to materials now in use by pre-law majors.

Judge Northcutt, 79, who will retire Jan. 1 after serving on the bench since 1952, said he wanted a university to have his library. He chose West Texas State because he had served the Amarillo district for many years.

Judge Northcutt passed the bar examination during his freshman year at the University of Oklahoma. While still a freshman he was elected to the Oklahoma Legislature at the age of 25. He served a two-year term, but chose to continue his education rather than to seek re-election.

Judge Northcutt began his law practice in Amarillo on Sept. 1, 1919, shortly after receiving a law degree from the University of Oklahoma.

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

DECEMBER
Autumn to winter, winter into spring;
Spring into summer, summer into fall;
So rolls the changing years, and so we change;
Motion so swift, we know not that we move.
— Dianah Mulock Craik

At last the gardener may relax and enjoy the beauty of the winter landscape, the sleeping garden, and some of the books which have been put aside for the not-so-busy days.

This is a good time to catch up on some intensive Horticulture study. To read and study some of the new books, and re-read the mazines, and start thinking about plans for the coming season of planting, and gardening.

This particular month, December, has the wonderful Christmas time, so as we read and study why not add to our gift list some of the books which have been helpful. Some of the subjects which many are interested in, are Roses, Landscaping, Rock Gardens, Ground Covers, Shrubs, Trees, Bulbs for Summer Planting, New Vegetables, and New Flower Introductions.

And most every gardener wants to know some of the history pertaining to his plants, and also the names, habits, how to use them, when and where.

One of the suggestions I would like to made in an encyclopedia, every gardener should have one.

"The Garden in My Life" by Mable Barbee Lee is a well recommended book. Will stimulate a deeper appreciation of gardening and the good earth. Anyone who grows beautiful flowers wants to know how to use them for the home and to share with others, so select a book on Flower Arranging. One of the newest is "A Gardener's Book of Arrangements," by Helen Snow Wilson Goddard.

Simplicity is one of the things stressed in her book, as well as details relative to mechanics, and design.
In these busy, busy days, let us not become so involved that we forget to look about us for the beauties of nature, and the interesting and lovely Christmas decorations.

For a really relaxing time drive into the country. Stop the car and walk into the fields or pastures, or go driving and looking for things of nature helps one. Thoreau wrote in his journal, "I come to enter the fields, and woods in search of solitudes, where the problem of existence is simplified."

One can find ideas for arranging in the fallen grasses, the patterns are sometimes modern, and the line effects are most interesting. Also, there is nothing lovelier than branches of naked trees, etches, against the blue sky, or festoned with glittering ice, all having the sparkle and glitter of the Christmas time.

There are some very beautiful berried shrubs in town, one of the Hereford Garden Club members in her search for colorful berries, found a gorgeous pyracantha, very heavy with red berries. Many grow the pyracantha which has the orange berries; but it is almost a novelty to find one which has the red berries in our area.

In searching for the beautiful, do not fail to visit the floral shops, to see the potted plants.

Always I am thrilled to see and beautiful Poinsettias, the berried hollies, the foliage plants, and many others make nice Christmas gifts. They are a welcome gift for office, home, or church or the shut-ins Christmas gift plants, to be enjoyed and their beauty prolonged, must be regularly cared for. Potted plants should be watered regularly, and kept out of drafts and not exposed to either excessively low or excessively high temperatures.

Through experience I have learned that poinsettias, Azaleas, and other flowering house plants from the floral shops do well, if they are given about one-fourth cup of water from the spiket, each morning. Foliage plants do not need to be watered every day, but should have more water at a time than the flowering plants.

Another thing that aids in keeping house plants in good condition is to keep them clean. Foliages should be cleaned of dust regularly. Wash both sides of the leaves with a soft sponge or cotton ball dipped in soapy water and squeezed out.

When this cleaning process is done, it cleans the leaves, and open the pores so that the plant can "breathe" more freely. Permanent flowers and foliage should also be cleaned, they are not at all attractive, if dusty and unkept.

THIS AND THAT: I have been asked why fruit is used in Christmas arrangements. There is an old legend which says, when the Christ Child was born, all of the trees of the land put on new leaves, flowered and bore fruit. Therefore, like many other customs, fruit is now being used perhaps more than in other years, and it is basically correct.

In Virginia, where there are so many traditions, we learned that in the Historically restored homes, they use pineapple. Sometimes it is the fresh fruit, and then the carved wood pine;

TO WED IN DALLAS — January 16 is the wedding date chosen by Miss Dianne Monzingo of Dallas and Dave Marcontell of Denton, former Hereford resident. The Rev. V. W. Marcontell, father of the bridegroom-elect and pastor of First Assembly of God in Hereford from 1955 to 1967, will read the marriage vows in Oak Cliff Assembly of God, assisted by the Rev. H. C. Noah, pastor. Miss Monzingo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam M. Monzingo, 4530 Crown Knoll Circle, Dallas, and a graduate of Kimball High School. Mr. Marcontell recently completed active duty with the U. S. Army at Fort Polk, Louisiana. After graduation from Hereford High School in 1965 he earned the bachelor of business administration degree from North Texas State University in 1970. His parents now reside in Denton.

apples are also used in some of the Christmas arrangements. It is symbolic of true colonial hospitality. The evergreen are used abundantly to deck the halls, stair rails, and to make wreaths. Some of the most popular evergreens, which are used are: mistletoe, (kissing balls) holly, both the berrying type and the non-bearing boxwood, and many greens are brought in from the wooded areas. I wish to thank all who have called, and told me of their

Historical Group Members Named

County Judge H. C. Williams made the official appointment of members to the Deaf Smith county Historical Survey Committee the past week.

The county survey committee, which implements the state marking and preservation program in this area, will cooperate directly with the state office of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee in Austin.

Williams named Mrs. A. B. Higgins chairman of the group. Other members are Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Mrs. Henry Sears, Mrs. Lee Newman, A. J. Schroeter, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Melvin Young, Clint Eosnby, Mrs. Ruth McBride, Mrs. Johnnie Turrentine and Virgil Marsh.

"Goals for the Seventies," a comprehensive historical preservation plan drawn up by the state survey committee, will provide the focus for county committee activities. It encompasses a wide range of objectives and programs.

"The committee has been appointed at this time so that they can make plans for the coming two years, although their terms will not begin until January," Williams said.

He said that the overall purpose of the committee's work is the development of local history as a scholarly resource and a tourist attraction.

School To Give Christmas Party

La Plata Junior High School will present its school Christmas party, Wednesday, beginning at 1:15 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

The party will feature the school band, under the direction of Jim Priest, and the school choir, under the direction of Mrs. Lynn McClarty.

bird watching, and winter care. Also made happy by kind remarks regarding other mentioned things relative to Gardening. So grateful for friends, met and made through the medium of gardening. I met two lovely new-comers the day at a party, all of these things enrich our life, and makes us... GLAD.

The landscaping at the Hereford State Bank is doing nicely. I predict this corner, will be one of the loveliest in town, come spring time. Over 200 huddled bulbs have been planted. WATCH IT.

Include in your schedule, a drive over Hereford, to see the pretty Christmas decorations, the glittering lights, and lovely Christmas trees.

Old Santa is really going in circles at the Botkin home, on corner of Elm and Westhaven. And the lights are twinkling effectively on the Owens' children's Tree. The most beautiful twinkles are those of the bright eyes of Doug and Connie as they look and wonder when Santa will come.

Brinkman-Williams Marriage Solemnized

A mid-afternoon marriage service in St. Anthony's Catholic Church was read Saturday for Miss Ilajeon Brinkman, daughter of Frank H. Brinkman of 400 West Third and the late Mrs. Brinkman, and Robert Dewayne Williams of McChord Air Force Base, Tacoma, Washington.

The Rev. Michael Graham, associate pastor, officiated for the ceremony in which Mr. Brinkman gave his daughter in marriage. Paired candelabra and an arrangement of white gladiolas and chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

Mrs. Jim Cramer was her sister's matron of honor and Richard W. Williams attended his brother as best man.

Bridesmaids were Miss Janie Morgan of Stinnett and Mrs.

Floyd Neill. Groomsmen were brothers of the couple, Lee Roy Williams of Lubbock and Weldon Brinkman.

Another brother of the bride, Patrick P. Brinkman, Paul Easley, and Jimmy Don Franklin of Lubbock, cousin of the bridegroom, acted as ushers. Julie Gallagher, daughter of the Brendan Gallaghers, was flower girl and Kris Gallagher, son of the Vincent Gallaghers, ring bearer.

Mrs. Morris Hacker, organist, accompanied Mrs. Joe Reinauer as she sang Twelfth of Never, More, Whither Thou Goest and Ave Maria, and also played the marches.

The bride's gown was of white satin with lace overlaying the empire bodice and lace motifs applied on the bishop sleeves, down the front of the skirt and at intervals over the lace-edged train. Wide cuffs of the lace and a border around the toe-tip hemline were other features.

A seed pearl tiara held the bouffant veil which fell over her shoulders. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Feminine attendants were all dressed in midnight blue velvet empire gowns with V-neck, sleeveless and floor-length. White Dior bows in their hair matched their elbow-length gloves.

Mrs. Cramer carried three stems of red roses and the bridesmaids a single rose each. The flower girl's bouquet was also of red roses.

Letters To Santa Are Wyche Christmas Luncheon Topic

Letters to Santa were part of a program offered by Mrs. G. W. Duncan at the Wyche Home Demonstration club Christmas luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. Norman Hodges.

Each member wrote a letter telling Santa what they wanted for Christmas that she has never received. Letters were put in a box, drawn one at a time and read aloud, allowing time for members to guess who had written which letter.

The Christmas story, "Is There A Santa Claus — Yes, Virginia," and the carol, "No Golden Carriage — No Bright Toy," were read by Mrs. Charles Packard.

Miss Janice Newsom, guest, accompanied the group as they sang carols.

Other guests attending were Argen Draper, Don Coconaugher, Jr. and his sister Jill Coconaugher, Kyle Jones and Miss Kyla Grover.

Serving table was laid with a red cloth and centered with an arrangement of poinsettias while individual tables were centered with red candles surrounded by poinsettias.

Gifts were exchanged by members present, Mmes. Packard, Hodges, Duncan, C. F. Newsom, E. C. Hewitt Jr., Paul Jones, Bill Ellis, Wayne Jones, Byron Grover, Don Coconaugher, L. B. Wortham, Ira Ott, Cecil Hart and Leroy Bodkin.

Turkish City Boy Likes Sample Of Texas Life

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

A favorite American success story is the one of the small-town boy who made good in the big city; Hereford has one resident, a young Turk attending high school in the American Field Service program, who is working hard to reverse that story.

SAMIN AYDIN is from Istanbul, a cosmopolitan city which has been one of the world's great trade and diplomatic centers for centuries, but he is finding life interesting in this West Texas town set out in vast open spaces.

A sports enthusiast who has won national honors in Turkey on his school's swimming teams, Aydin is a youth of urbane manner, displaying more polish and ease as an interview subject than most American boys his age.

He laughs now about his early difficulties with the English language, Texas style, and admits that he is not exactly fluent yet — but improving. The unfamiliar language has made his studies more difficult, he says.

ACTUALLY, HIS COMMAND of spoken English is excellent considering that he knew it when he came to America only through two years of study in school, and that his teacher was a Frenchman. He knows French better; he has studied it with teachers of that nationality and for seven years.

His liking for sports has been a big help in bridging the language gap with fellow students in HHS. Soccer rather than football is the No. 1 game in Turkey, as in most countries of the world, and since Aydin was on his school's team he thought he might like to try playing football here.

"After I saw them start to play I changed my mind and decided I would just watch football," he laughs. "I decided that when one man was downed and five or six fell on top of him." Apparently he doesn't credit reports that soccer is the roughest of the two games!

HE HAS NOT PLAYED basketball, although it is the game second in favor in his country, but he likes to see both football and basketball games.

Swimming he has enjoyed here as he did at home, although he says pools here are more heavily chlorinated and "at first the water stung my eyes and nose!" He has tried the indoor pool at West Texas State University this winter.

Swimming was a major sport at his school; he won a 100-meter championship and was a member of the water polo team which was the Turkish champion. In summers he swam on beaches near his home usually in pools where the sea water was piped but sometimes in the sea itself.

Aydin was born in Istanbul, where his late father had a manufacturing business. His mother a 14-year-old brother and a married sister live there and she plans to go back for another year of school before entering a university.

HE HAS ALREADY completed 11 years of school work, but the Turkish public schools have two more years for students who plan to continue studies in a university, offering preparatory work above the high school level. His year in HHS will count for one of those years. Unlike many persons who come to the Western United States from abroad, Aydin did not expect to find mounted cowboys galloping through the streets of Hereford and firing six-shooters.

He had known Americans who were associated with the U. S. embassy in Istanbul and through them was aware that western movies and television shows picture a way of life that no longer exists.

His most vivid impression of the entire United States is of great distances. His trip here from New York via St. Louis, Dallas and Amarillo was partly by air, but partly by bus and he could hardly believe that one could ride for so many days and still be in the same country.

"You can travel 100 miles and go entirely across Turkey in places," he reminds friends. CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS which have made their appearance in Hereford are much like those he has seen in Christian homes and businesses of Istanbul, the students says, although that chiefly Moslem city of course does not observe the holiday as American cities do.

—Small Talk—

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor
PARTIES AND RUMORS of parties assail us from all sides these days, and it certainly would be nice if we even had enough cars and telephones to sort of check up on them all!

If you have time, what with going to coffees, lunches, teas and evening parties, to phone us instead and tell us about your party, we'll wish you a double Merry Christmas.

AMONG ALL THE mirthful rushing around to holiday entertainments, there have been a few not-so-cheerful notes to put a damper on, here and there.

Ruth Ann Cansler missed the Music Club's Christmas party, although she was one of the hostesses, because her baby was sick. By this time I hope that illness is all over — everybody always comments about how quickly small children recover, and I hope that's true this time.

The W. R. Thurbers were all set for a big Christmas with their daughters and families at home, when Thurber became ill and was relegated to the hospital. Daughter Judy Tonkin's baby was also sick, and ditto the wishes expressed in the paragraph above.

THE PARTY SEASON had a bad start, too, for pretty Peggy Furr, who had an unlucky moment in tripping over a garden hose and was at the Hill-Clements-Fornby brunch Tuesday morning in a becoming gold pants suit with a modish black patent shoe on her left foot, a gracefully wrapped spiral bandage on her right, extending up over a sprained ankle. She refused to let it ground her, though, and said since her doctor advised her to stay off that foot, she would sit and talk instead of stand and talk at parties this year.

SPEAKING OF doctors, Dr. Duffy McBrayer admits that he got up before 5 a. m. on four days last week. No, Hildegarde, not to answer emergency calls of patients, but to go hunting.

I'm afraid there are quite a few like him around town, considering the sign G. D. Calson has put up at his cafe with a gruesome message about breakfast for hunters at 5. But Lordee, aren't you glad you don't have a hobby like that? On these chilly mornings!

LUCILLE BROWN was telling about being over at the sheriff's office shortly before Count Basie's appearance here with his orchestra, when Deputy Harold Wheeler mentioned that he would surely like to go to that dance.

"How about letting me have your ticket?" he suggested subtly to Lucy.

"Alright, but it has my name on it," she hedged. "Do you think you could get in as Lucy Brown?"

He thought a minute, then came up with a perfect solution. "I'll wear my wife's wig!"

Handbell Choir Is Entertained

Highlight of a Christmas coffee for the Ladies Handbell Choir of First United Methodist Church Thursday was the presentation of a gift to the director, Robert Wert. The women had written a speech extolling his work, using high-flown, if mixed, metaphors, and insisted that he listen to it before he opened the package. The gift was a piece of abstract sculpture with nuts, bolts and other hardware in its composition. Coffee was served from a table centered with an advent wreath. An hour of casual talk was enjoyed, and the group prepared candles for use in the Sunday evening carol service at the church.

They completed plans for the concert of Christmas music they played in Sugarland Mall Saturday afternoon. Present were Mrs. A. T. Mims, Larry Dippel, Frank Ford, Lynn Pittard, Richard Ottesen and Jim Cherry.

Teresa Rudd Is Shower Honoree

Miss Teresa Rudd, fiancée of Pat Quillin of Lubbock, was honoree at a shower Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Earnest Langley. The engaged couple, both students at Texas Tech, plan to be married Jan. 2 in First United Methodist Church here.

Wedding colors, blue and white, were emphasized in corsages worn by receiving line and houseparty members, and blended with holiday decorations in the Langley home.

Miss Rudd greeted guests with her sister, Miss Susan Rudd who will be her maid of honor, her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Rudd, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Tes-

Her cousin, Miss Lynn Rudd of Amarillo, was at the book where callers registered during tea hours. Hostesses and guests were friends from Hereford and also from Westway community, where the Rudd family resides.

Tea was served from a table decorated with an arrangement of candles and red carnations. Hostesses presided in turn at the table.

In addition to Mrs. Langley they were Mrs. Roy Lee Wilson, Merlin Kaul, P. B. Sowell, J. C. Morrison, Joe Landes, Albert Lamb, C. A. Saulcy and A. T. Mims.

How Love Returns

When mystery is involved with love and romance the plot is most interesting. If you prefer this type of reading to any other, check When Love Returns at the Deaf Smith County Library this week.

WHEN LOVE RETURNS
By Arlene Halé
The old Mitchell place was Jill and Loel's dream house. Set on a high ridge overlooking Brover Lake, it was rambling and hopelessly old-fashioned; but to them it was beautiful, a tangible symbol of the love they shared and the future they might have together.

Then, for Jill the dream was suddenly shattered: Loel was gone — without explanation. Why had it happened? What had she done wrong? Jill asked herself, over and over again.

Would she ever see Loel again? Not that life in the quiet mid-western town of Grover Hill was so unpleasant. Running a real estate business with her Dee Dee Hanrahan was a continuous challenge and lately Jill's life was pleasantly complicated by Charlie Connor, a young man who was making his feelings about her increasingly apparent.

And there was Uncle Otis — kindly, white-haired, courtly Uncle Otis, who had cared for Jill since she was orphaned at an early age. But she could not forget Loel — whose driving ambition had forced him to leave Grover Hill. Why had Uncle Otis never approved of Loel Richards, and was he in some way responsible for Loel's leaving town?

Jill's doubts and questions are brought to life again when Loel returns to Grover Hill as suddenly as he had left, bringing with him a turmoil that threatens far more than the love they once knew.

When Love Returns is a thrilling tale of decent people caught in an all too human situation, a blend of romance and mystery sure to delight countless readers.

IF A LION COULD TALK

By Mildred Walker
Obliquely and with subtle irony, Mildred Walker's new novel dramatizes a dominant pre-occupation of our time.

Although it takes its departure from certain historical figures and events, and uses the stock material of the Western romance — missionaries, Indians, the Wilderness — If a Lion Could Talk is in no sense a period piece: in it, the Wilderness is seen as non-communication and confusion of meaning.

Mark Ryegate, a young minister possessed by his gift for eloquence, goes from New England to the upper reaches of the Missouri, followed by his wife, to convert the Indians.

On the first page we know the couples precipitate return; what happened to them in the Wilderness emerges only gradually — from their dreams and memories, from a journal Harriet kept, from their growing realization that they have brought the Wilderness back with them. It affects the congregation of their church; it begins to encompass their own lives.

The real action and the dramatic conflict of the book lie in words and voices, and in repeated confrontations with the stubborn silence of an Indian woman. Ordinary words turn and twist and change the characters' minds — words in the Bible, in a poem by Donne, in a newspaper column; a word in a sermon; words in lectures and revival meetings; words shouted above the riots touched off by anti-slavery rallies.

A magpie's tongue is cut so he can be taught to speak; a man with a rich and resonant voice is left with a rasping whisper that no longer moves his hearers; and throughout sounds the laughter — sometimes giggling, sometimes mocking, sometimes purely joyous — of the beautiful and enigmatic Indian woman Eenisskim, who understands but will not speak English, who is an embodiment of incommunicability and mystery, who is the Wilderness.

Bishop To Visit Here Monday

The Rt. Rev. George H. Quarterman, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas, will be in Hereford Monday for a visitation.

He will preach at the 7 p. m. worship service at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, and a reception will follow. The service will be "The Order of Confirmation". The public is invited to both the worship service and the reception.

December 21 is St. Thomas' Day in the Church Calendar, and the Bishop's visit is the highlight of the observance of the patron day for St. Thomas' Church.

Bishop Quarterman has been Bishop of this diocese since 1946. His frequent visits to Hereford in these 24 years has endeared him to many friends in the area — non-Episcopalians as well as members of the church. He plans to retire as bishop in July of 1972. It is hoped that the many friends of Bishop Quarterman in the area will join the members of St. Thomas' in welcoming him again to Hereford.

Church To Have Special Events

St. Thomas' Episcopal Church will present a live manger scene Tuesday and Wednesday from 7 to 9 p. m. each night. The scene will be presented outside where viewers will be able to stop in the parking lot. Friends and members of St. Thomas' are producing the event.

Other events scheduled for the Christmas week are:
Sunday — A movie presentation following Sunday morning worship and caroling party for children the Sunday evening worship at 6:30 p. m.
Monday — Bishop Quarterman to preach at the 7 p. m. worship service with a reception to follow.

Tuesday and Wednesday — Live manger scene.
Thursday — Midnight Christmas Communion service at 11 p. m.

Friday — Communion service at 10 a. m.
Saturday — Communion service at 10 a. m.
The public is invited to all these events.

H.D. CHATTER Last-Minute Yule Treats

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Merry Christmas, friends, and many thanks for your support of the Extension Program through the past year. In the evaluation our program it seems there is more interest in both tangible and intangible subjects. Through the club work mass media, telephone requests and in every area we have gone forward in the educational programs.

HERE ARE A FEW very tasty dishes for your last minute holiday food preparation. Mrs. Raymond Smith and Mrs. John A. Smith gave us this recipe. These Orange Balls were served at the Home Demonstration Council Christmas party where these ladies were recognized for perfect attendance; Mrs. S. H. Thewatt, Mrs. J. G. Gandy, Mrs. Jimmie Bradley, Miss Mary Bradley, Mrs. Wayne Sifford, Mrs. Paul Corbett and Mrs. H. D. Fowler.

ORANGE BALLS

1 box confectioner's sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
Small pkg. coconut
1-12 oz. box vanilla wafers
1 small can frozen orange juice unthawed
Roll wafers into crumbs. Add nuts and sugar. Add margarine and orange juice. Mix well and roll into balls. Roll in coconut. Place in tin box.
Keeps well in cool place. Does not need refrigeration.

TO THE LADIES at the Dairy Queen: here's the recipe at your request for Cherry Winks. Mrs. Paul Corbett was kind enough to locate the recipe for me.

2 1/4 C. flour
1 t. baking powder
1/2 t. soda
1/2 t. salt
Blend:
3/4 C. shortening

The happy eagle has stubby wings and a broad tail, giving it tremendous speed and maneuverability. Diving swiftly and striking with great force, harpies kill and lift to their nests animals that weigh as much as they do.
