May Show Diseased Sugar Beet Areas

Farmers Get Glimpse Wednesday At Films

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Infra-red films, hoped to aid in the detection of leaf spot disease in area sugar beet crops, will be shown publicly for the first time at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Community Center.

Letters have been sent to area spraying companies, chemical companies and farmers so they might be able to see the results of the experiments with infra-red photography in detecting disease in plants.

The idea of using infra-red photography was first introduced here during a meeting of sugar beet growers in late June of this year. Remote Sensing, Inc., a Houston-based company, introduced the idea then and received the backing of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association and Texas A & M University.

It was unknown at the time of the first meeting whether the use of infra-red photography would work in the detection of leaf spot in sugar beet crops and no guarantee was given for the $6,400 project.

The cost of the program was estimated at $800 for the pictures and another $800 for each flight for the evaluation to "read" the photographs and interpret them for local leaders. Bob Ginn, named coordinator for the project, said members of the Texas A & M research team have the films and will present them at the meeting Wednesday.

Two sets of pictures, taken with the infra-red camera from a plane flying at 3,000 feet, will be shown Wednesday evening. The sets of pictures will be of the same fields, but taken with a 10-day time lapse between each set.

The first set of pictures was taken July 7 and the second set was taken July 17. A third set of pictures will be taken Tuesday, according to Ginn.

"This 10-day period between the first flight and second flight was just a guess on our part," Ginn said. "We don't know if this was too short or too long a period. We are just experimenting and we don't know."

Ginn said the films to be shown Wednesday will be shown on a light table rather than the typical screen projection. Each frame on the film is approximately eight inches by 10 inches. The films include four, one-half mile by five, mile areas photographed during the 10-day period.

The first flight pattern flown was south of Bovina and the second was northwest of the Easter Community. A third flight will be Tuesday and it will be northeast of Hereford. The fourth and final flight will be northwest of Hereford at a date to be set later.

The flights combine for a total of 10 square miles which will be photographed.

"There is the possibility of picking up disease in other crops," Ginn said, "but we are looking mainly for Cercospora leaf spot in sugar beet crops now."

He said it is now possible to pick up dry areas, wet areas, weedy areas and possibly insect damage in fields now, but the main objective of the experiments now is to determine whether development of disease can be detected prior to the period in the crop's growth when it can be seen by the naked eye.

It's Not Long 'Til School So Start Immunizations Now

School starts earlier this year than in the past, which means there is less time, than usual for parents to make sure their children have all the immunizations required for registration.

"Parents should act now to avoid the rush later on, to make appointments with doctors, to get kids immunized to meet state requirements," Assistant Superintendent Robert Holman said this week.

"Every child entering public school for the first time has to submit evidence, or a doctor's statement, that a number of immunization requirements have been met."

These are the requirements of the state concerning immunizations and school children:

—The child must show a successful immunization against small pox or a statement from the doctor that the child has received a satisfactory reaction.

—All pupils entering the first grade must present a certificate by a doctor or other competent authority that a live virus vaccine for red measles has been administered or that the pupil has immunity by virtue of having had red measles.

—Each pupil must show immunization or prompt movement toward complete immunization from polio by the oral vaccine method. Complete immunization consists of the entire series of oral vaccine and at least one booster at least 12 months after the original series.

—Each student in grades 1 through 12 must show a minimum of two diphtheria-tetanus toxoid injections one month apart, with booster injections for diphtheria within the past five years. Tetanus boosters are given on the recommendation of the student's own doctor.

—Students enrolled in grades 1 and 7 are required to have a test for tuberculosis, which may be administered either by the family doctor or through the school tuberculosis screening program.

Although not required by school policy, Holman said the mumps vaccine is advocated "as a desirable practice." It should be obtained through practicing physicians.

"We realize some children, due to specific health conditions, should not receive various vaccinations and immunizations, and since the overall health of the school child is our primary concern, exceptions to the requirements will be granted upon request by the child's physician," Holman said. "This request must be in writing and will become part of the child's permanent record."

In addition to the record of immunizations, children entering the first grade are to present birth certificates, as proof they are 6 years of age.

On the state kindergarten program, the same requirements are necessary for children 5½ years and older. The kindergarten program will be restricted this year to children of families with $3,000 or less annual income. Next year, the minimum age will be dropped from 5½ to 5. Restrictions will be changed each year to allow more children into the program until, finally, six years from now, a statewide kindergarten program will be in effect.

"This gives school districts time to build buildings and otherwise prepare for this new kindergarten program," Holman said. "This will take in about three classes this year. Then when the program goes into full use in 1976, we will have every child in kindergarten."

Thursday, Aug. 20, is set aside for enrollment for all grades. Special times for the children in each grade to register will be announced later.

City's Pony League Seeks Section Title

Baseball will prevail again this week in Hereford. The Little League District tournament is Monday and Tuesday and the Pony League Sectional tournament is Wednesday through Saturday.

Entered in the Pony League tournament are the teams of Tulsa National, Eastern Oklahoma County (Oklahoma City), Hereford and either Altus, Okla. or Anton.

Tulsa National and Eastern Oklahoma County were winners of their area and district tournaments, but the winner of this district had not been determined by Saturday. Hereford received a bye through the area and district warfare.

Heavy rains in Dimmitt postponed the Friday playoff game between Anton and Altus, but one of those two teams will be entered in the tournament since the others had already been eliminated earlier.

The Pony League tournament will begin with a doubleheader Wednesday, with the first game at 6:15 p. m. and the second game at 8:30 p. m. Thursday's schedule of the double elimination tournament will be the same as Wednesday's. Only one game will be played Friday, at 8:30 p. m.

The two finalists will play at 6:15 p. m. Saturday. If the loser of that game still has only one loss, the championship will be decided in a second game, between the same teams, at 8:30 p. m.

Hereford's representatives to the Little League tournament were eliminated last week in the area tournament here, but Hereford will still host the district Little League tournament. Hereford lost to Dimmitt 6-3 then beat Castro County 10-1 in the consolation game Wednesday.

Entered in the district Little League tournament are Canyon, Spearman, Borger North and Memphis.

Canyon meets Spearman and Borger North meets Memphis Monday night in the first round of the single elimination tournament, and the winners meet Tuesday night for the championship.

Each night, the games will start at 7:30.

Students From Turkey, Germany Will Live Here

Hereford's exchange students for the coming school year will be a boy from Turkey and a girl from Germany.

The boy is Samin Aydin from Beyoglu in the province of Istanbul. The girl is Gabriele Uloike Lottner from Nurburg, in the German province of Bavaria.

Both are 17 and will be sent to Hereford High School. Samin will be staying in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gid Brown and their son Carl.

Gabriele, who prefers to be called "Gaby," will be living with Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Gibson and their daughter, Mona Gail.

Samin is a fluent speaker of French and enjoys such sports as swimming, water polo, football, volleyball and pursues academic subjects such as chemistry and physics.

He is 5 feet 6, with chestnut hair. In Turkey, he lived with his one brother, sister and parents.

Gaby was born in Germany, where her father is director of the department of finances. Her academic subjects consist of chemistry and she speaks without difficulty in French, Italian and English, as well as German. Gaby enjoys swimming, tennis and skiing. Other activities include dancing and ballet.

The American Field Service founded in 1914, is designed to bring about a better understanding among people through international scholarship programs.

Time-Temperature Number Is Popular One To Call

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Almost 1,200 calls a day come in on the "hot line" machine sponsored by the Hereford State Bank and New Holland Hereford and leased from the Audicron Company by Southwestern Bell Telephone.

The time precision recorder with the number, 364-5100, alternates two advertisements and the time and temperature every time someone calls. If the machine is busy for a moment, there is only a short wait before it transfers to the waiting call.

The time is set on a big drum and every minute of the day is recorded on it. Tiny motors keep the motion intact never allowing it to slow down or speed up in any way.

Temperature also is set on large drums and in continuous rotation. As the temperature changes, a magnetic pick-up slides up and down the drum to pick up the correct reading.

"This little machine is handy to keep up also," said Bill Burns, wire chief for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Hereford. "It uses automatic transmission fluid just like a car."

Burns says the only trouble the telephone company has with the time machine is when two recordings run into each other. It is only a minor adjustment.

When the machine breaks down, precision mechanics from the Audicron Company are flown in immediately to repair it, or, if a new part is needed, the company immediately furnishes it, all costs paid.

"The corporation will fly in every three or four months to check it," said Burns.

Audicron Company makes all the time and temperature machines used by Southwestern Bell Telephone all over the country in addition to building various other time machines.

A marketing Salesman out of Amarillo, Charles Riley, said that the machine is contracted for a period of three years to Hereford State and New Holland.

To give a better idea about how many people enjoy calling this line, in the month of February, the number received 30,856 calls, or 1,028 a day, and during June the number received an average of 1,414 per day. Total average per day over the seven months is 1,185 and total calls over seven months is 250,977.

"I have two children who use the phone almost every day," said Mike Patrick, general manager for the Hereford telephone office.

Juvenile Officer Candidate List Is Cut To 3

The seven-member screening board named to pick a juvenile officer interviewed seven applicants Thursday night, and narrowed the field of persons under prime consideration to three.

The board interviewed all seven applicants, but delayed a final decision until it could consult with County Judge H. C. Williams, who is serving as the juvenile officer.

"I believe Judge Williams should have the opportunity to discuss with us the persons we have narrowed the seven down to, because one of these could be the one who will be working with him," said Lowell Sharp, chairman of the screening board.

The screening board decided to check further on each of the three applicants before making a decision, and before discussing the selections with Judge Williams.

Those three to be considered for the job are Floyd Burke, Billy Hodges, and Johnnie Holbrook. All three are members of the Hereford Police Department and their experience in law enforcement and contact with local youth were primary factors in their being considered.

OPENING NIGHT AT THE CARNIVAL — The Lions Club booths opened Friday evening just as a soft summer rain began to fall in Hereford, and a few brave patrons ignored the elements to attend the annual event.

WITH A STEADY AIM — The youngsters enjoyed the cork gun booth, one of the 12 games of chance. Concession stands and carnival rides complete the show which will be open through Saturday, except this evening.

Food Fun Recipes

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Last week we attended the graduation exercise for twof Food Fun For Juniors. We were impressed with Miss Terry Byerley who is teaching the course. Diane Banner introduced the program and Cynthia Hoffman gave a demonstration on using the blender. Cynthia made cheddar cheese dip by blending 1 pint cottage cheese, three tablespoons lemon juice, two tablespoons milk, one slice lemon, two-thirds cup diced cheddar cheese, dash hot sauce, and one teaspoon chili powder.

The girls were so cordial and enjoyed the meeting very much.

If they had a favorite food, it seemed they liked the upside down cake made in the electric skillet. Here is the recipe they gave me. Also, the fruited tea punch.

APPLE CINNAMON UPSIDE DOWN CAKE
Utensils: Electric skillet or fry pan, measuring cups, mixing bowl, mixer.

Ingredients:
3 T. butter or margarine
1/2 c. raisins
1 can sliced apple
1 pkg. yellow cake mix
3/4 cup light brown sugar

Amarillo Meet For Witnesses Concludes Today

Jehovah's Witnesses from the local congregation are today assembling with an expected crowd of over 9,000 Christian delegates for the final day of the "Men of Good Will" District Assembly in Amarillo's new Civic Center Coliseum.

It concludes four days of meetings and Christian association with representatives from at least 25 states and Central and South America.

Today's highlight of the bilingual Amarillo meeting (sessions are being held in Spanish as well as English) will be the address, "Saving the Human Race—In the Kingdom Way" to be delivered in English at 3 p. m. by Mr. Lester M. Dugan, District Supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses in the Central United States.

Friday's program included a baptismal service that saw 203 new Witnesses symbolize their personal dedication to their Creator by undergoing water immersion in the swimming pool at the nearby Ramada Inn Motel. Among the newly-ordained ministers who were baptized at the convention were Ben Gamboa, Alvina Gamboa and Lydia Garza from this area.

Attendance at Thursday's evening session swelled to 8,000 with 6,791 present for the English meetings and 1,299 at the Spanish sessions.

A major announcement was made to the conventioners when T. E. Brown, circuit minister for Jehovah's Witnesses in Western Kansas, presented a newly-revised edition of the "New World Translation of the Holy Bible" published by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, N. Y., sponsor of the Amarillo meeting.

The modern-English Bible is a revision of the entire Bible first in 1611.

Music at the Civic Center was provided by two orchestras of 35 musicians who volunteered their talents, as did the assembly workers in each of the three other convention departments.

Today's program will conclude at 5:30 p. m. after closing remarks by District Supervisor Dugan, and a final song and prayer.

LCC Endorses "Project IV"

The Lubbock Christian College Board of Trustees endorsed and gave a strong start to Phase II of "Project IV", the campaign designed to take LCC to Senior College status, by pledging $151,000 Saturday, July 11, at their quarterly meeting. The goal for Phase II is to raise one million dollars in 1970.

Lubbock Christian is in the transition period from a Junior College to a Senior College with the Junior year starting with the fall semester.

An LCC Loyalty Day is planned for September 7, 1970, with a Bar-B-Q and Homecoming to honor all LCC supporters and to celebrate the advancement to a Senior College. There will be a campus open house, Band and Choruses will entertain and conducted tours of the farms and feedlot are scheduled.

Amstat Airlines application to provide service between Brazoria County and Houston met no opposition.

Semester Fees Rise At Tech

Texas Tech University President Grover E. Murray announced Thursday that an increase of $10 per semester in the building use fee, part of which was approved in a campus-wide vote in the spring, has been recommended to the Board of Regents.

The increase will boost the building use fee to $35 per semester for students carrying a full load of academic courses. It will be pro rated for those taking less than 12 semester credit hours.

The Board of Regents has been polled by the chairman, Retha R. Martin, preparatory to final action on the recommendation at its regular meeting Aug. 21. The increase is scheduled to become effective with the 1970 fall semester.

Five dollars of the increase, approved in a student referendum, will go for expansion of student center facilities.

The other five dollars will go to retire a $5 million bond issue for new construction, including the addition to the Chemistry Building, the Art and Architecture Faculty, and other buildings in various stages of planning. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced in June that it has approved interest subsidy funds which will guarantee payment of interest in excess of 3 percent on bonds issued by Tech to finance the construction. Tech officials explained that in the past the federal government has purchased the college and university bonds, but under the new arrangement Tech will be permitted to sell the bonds on the open market and pay the interest above 3 percent at which the bonds are sold.

You can tell it's carnival time. The rainy season is here.

—HB—
In spite of the drippy weather however, the local Lions Club report good attendance for the first few days of their annual carnival and hope to have another successful event. Proceeds from the event are used to further worthy community projects and of course the Lions do contribute their time so it's a pretty good deal. If you haven't been, go on out and help out a little.

—HB—
We suppose it was Reynolds Aluminum who started the thing. At least they're taking credit for it, but the plan to reclaim aluminum cans is working all over the nation and the result is more attractive roadways, parks and playgrounds.

What makes the program work, according to Reynolds, is the basic value of aluminum itself. Scrap aluminum is worth $200 a ton, because it can be melted down and reused so readily. Scrap steel, by comparison, brings only $20 a ton; paper, $16 a ton. So used aluminum cans are worth picking up, worth saving and taking to a reclamation plant.

And that's what's happening. According to Reynolds, in Los Angeles alone, the test program has gotten people to redeem over 1,000,000 aluminum cans per month. Now they're working on sixteen more states.

Here in this area, one of the beverage distributors has offered to buy the used aluminum cans. Not only theirs, but all aluminum cans that you care to pick up. And while traveling through Hobbs, New Mexico recently, we saw scores of people walking along the roadway with sacks, picking up empty beverage cans. Apparently a local organization was picking up the cans to earn money for some project.

We have seen others also, in other areas, and we have suggested before that this might be a good money-raising project for some of our youth organizations. Perhaps we could even encourage everyone to drink only a beverage that comes in aluminum cans and if the Boy Scouts, or some other youth group could get the deal working, we might even have a central collection area. It would help the looks of our parks and roadways tremendously.

—HB—
The new public health clinic is in need of about 14 straight back chairs and five or six small tables or desks for the doctor's use in the clinic's examining rooms. Those with chairs, desks or tables to contribute may drop them off at the clinic, or call the clinic at 364-2691 and arrangements will be made to pick up the furniture.

Eastern Star Held Tuesday

Initiation ceremonies for Mrs. Ola Mae Wade were conducted by members of Order of Eastern Star Tuesday evening at the Masonic Hall.

Hosts for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boyer, Mrs. Marie Cline and Mrs. Louise Ferguson.

Mrs. O. H. Culpepper read the grand worthy matron's message on patriotism and announced that the Grand Chapter is scheduled Sept. 27 to Oct. 1 in Houston. General Grand Chapter will be Oct. 17-22.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Jesse Boardman, Mrs. Vera Pickens and Mrs. Maggie Hamilton, all of Kings Manor.

And speaking of the golf course, the rains this week have helped tremendously. However, it has made the lawns grow well also and we suspect that many a golfer will be home mowing the lawn instead of playing.

Oh well, you can't win them all.

CLASS OF '40 REUNION — Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hudson, left above, of Rosenberg, returned to Hereford recently for the first reunion of the Hereford High School graduates of 1940. Hudson was principal of the school at that time. Bartley Dowell, organizer of the reunion, and Mrs. Dowell, center, were also joined at the head table by table by class president Bernadine Phillips McReynolds and husband, G. W. McReynolds.

MEMENTOS OF HIGH SCHOOL — On display at the reunion, various books and pictures brought memories and chuckles from the group who gathered for an afternoon reception and dinner at the Civic Club Center.

HIGH SCHOOL ENGLISH TEACHER — Miss Stacia Irene Crawford of Amarillo, who taught the students English and speech, came to the reunion. Frank Vaughn of Oregon, and Loy Cook of California and Lawanda Jean Reed Laird of Jackson, Mississippi, returned the farthest distance to join their former classmates.

Touring Students Visit Hereford

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

A group of six boys — two Americans and four foreign colleagues — stopped in Hereford this week while on a tour of America to spread the concept of international friendship.

All are students at Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn., and were staying with the Tom O'Donnell family in Hereford. Mrs. O'Donnell is from Persia as is her brother Sholam Vatandoust, a member of the group.

"It is the first time I have seen Malook (Mrs. O'Donnell) in two years," Sholam said.

Loaded with maps, a few letters of introduction, and a credit card from a benevolent oil company, the boys are spending six to eight weeks touring the country, throwing down their sleeping bags in national parks, doubling up in the guest room of a hospitable alumnus, or calling on the mayor of a strange city in hopes of being offered a bed—or a floor.

By showing foreign students "what America is really like," the U. S. students get a chance to see it themselves—often for the first time.

Each boy on the tour applies to be on the program and is chosen on individual characteristics. There are four groups of six that leave the college each year, all on goodwill trips.

"Only the Americans are allowed to drive," said Vatandoust, "because of the insurance policies in the states."

Before arriving in Hereford, the group of Vatandoust from Persia; Ted Rudberg of St. Paul, Minn.; Victor Hartmann from Luxemburg, Germany; Diego Salazar from Columbia, South America; Rick Sevra from Kansas City; and Shui Ip from Hong Kong, visited interesting places on the map.

"We visited with the Amish in Goshen, Indiana," said Vatandoust. "They are very secluded people as they use no cars. Only in a case of emergency will they accept the use of any transportation."

"And, they use kerosene stoves still," said Salazar, the Columbia student.

Nashville was the next stop, where the group experienced a lot of good "country music." Next they moved on to Hollendale, Miss., where they slept in a church.

"We were going to sleep in the jail," they all echoed, "but it was Saturday night and they said there probably wouldn't be any room."

The boys enjoyed mingling with the large black population in Hollendale, they said.

In New Orleans, they were put up at a university and later viewed Preservation Hall.

where jazz music began. "We are enjoying ourselves so much," said Sevra, "and we have no specific point other than to get to know the people of the areas. It's for our own information and the best way the college feels they can help our country."

"Living together as a group is really an experience," said Rudberg, the native of St. Paul. "Well, I can say one thing," said brother-in-law Tom O'Donnell. "They eat more than the 7th fleet."

From New Orleans, the boys traveled to Houston, driving along the gulf on the way. They took a ferry at Galveston and visited NASA and the Astro-dome.

"It is really a huge thing," said Ip.

They arrived in Hereford at 3 a. m. Wednesday morning and left Friday afternoon to continue their tour.

"Oh, and while we were here," said Victor, "we got to see the production, 'Texas.' The thunderstorm was most impressive. Sound system was fantastic."

From here, the goodwill group will go to Santa Fe where they will stay with two families; on to Abiquiu, N. M., where they will visit the Ghost Ranch; later to Grand Canyon, Las Vegas; and Los Angeles. From Los Angeles, the boys will go to San Francisco, then up the coast to Crater Lake, Seattle then back through Yellowstone Park, Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota and finally, back to St. Paul.

Minor Accident Injures Woman

A Hereford woman suffered minor injuries Thursday in a two-car collision on Miles Street in front of City Hall.

Constance Marie Walker of 121 Beach was treated and released at Family Medical Clinic.

She was driving north on Miles and collided with a car, driven by Mary Longoria Ubalde of Levelland, who was backing out of a parking space.

Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $250.

The Levelland woman was cited for improper backing and failure to have in her possession a driver's license.

NEW LOBBY — Construction began last week at the Hereford Country Club for the extension of the entrance way. The extra space will serve as a lobby for people to stand while waiting to go through the serving line.

Dean Herring Reports On Kiwanis Convention

Dean Herring, past president of the Kiwanis Club, spoke to members Thursday concerning the 55th Annual International Kiwanis Club Convention held last month in Detroit, Michigan.

Well-known television personality Arthur Godfrey spoke at the convention on air pollution. Other speakers told of college campus riots, the youth of today, drugs, and Key Club activities across the nation.

Comedians, bands, singing groups and acrobats provided entertainment. Highlighting the convention, activities was a Family Forum on Drugs which was attended by 12,000 persons interested in learning more about the use and abuse of drugs from panel members. On the panel were Kiwanis and Key Club presidents from various areas, and a New York judge who has handled hundreds of cases.

International officers were elected and "Improve the Quality of Life" was selected as the Kiwanis Club theme this year.

The convention will be in San Francisco next year.

Lowell Sharp presented perfect attendance tabs to members for attendance of one to 20 years in the club.

Jim Arney announced that the Kiwanis Club will stage its family picnic at 7 p. m. Tuesday at Dameron Park. The Kiwanis Breakfast Club is also invited to attend.

Kiwanis Club officers will be installed the evening of Sept. 17.

Sul Ross Opens ENMU Football Season Sept. 19

A pack of lobos will enter the kennel of the Eastern New Mexico Greyhounds/Sept. 19 when Sul Ross State College meets Eastern New Mexico University for the 1970 season opener. Jack Scott, new head football coach, and Dr. Joseph Dickson, Eastern athletic director, recently released a 10-game schedule for the fall season with six games at home.

Sul Ross enters the lineup after a year's absence and other new teams include Texas Lutheran, Hiram Scott, and Eastern Highlands University.

Opponents back from last year when Eastern suffered its sixth losing season in a row, include Abilene Christian, Southwestern Oklahoma State, Central Oklahoma State, the University of Northern Colorado, and Northern Arizona University.

Eastern and New Mexico Highlands will meet in Portales Nov. 21 in an afternoon game after 17 years of non-scheduling. Eastern bested the Cowboys 47-14 in 1953.

Frosh May Enroll In Tech's ROTC

For the first time in history, women students entering Texas Tech University as freshmen during the fall semester of 1970 may enroll in Air Force ROTC.

Col. Haynes M. Baumgardner, professor of aerospace studies at Texas Tech, in making the announcement Wednesday, said that upon successful completion of the four year program and upon graduation they may be appointed second lieutenants and serve on active duty as officers in the U. S. Air Force.

The Air Force implemented a two year program for women in a selected number of universities in 1969 and it now has been extended to the four year program in all coeducational institutions hosting AFROTC.

For all practical purposes the program for women will be identical to the one for men, Col. Baumgardner said. "The program on campus will be the same, there will be slight differences during the summer encampment which is conducted at Air Force bases normally between the junior and senior years at AFROTC."

Basically, he said, these differences will concern the physical training and survival exercises. Uniforms will be furnished.

Women in the four year program may compete for ROTC college scholarships as freshmen sophomores and juniors, the same as men, for the three, two or one year scholarships beginning as sophomores, juniors and seniors respectively. Scholarships pay tuition, book and laboratory fee allowances and $50 per month living allowance.

Jim Cherry Gets Top Mason Spot

LABOR CAMP:
"Appalling Living Conditions..."

You have to look no farther than this city itself to see what a U. S. Senate investigating committee is looking into in the way of "appalling living conditions" of migrants.

Random scenes from across the country shown on a national television special last week into the problem with migrant housing included shots of the Hereford Labor Camp.

A family uses a blanket thrown on a hardwood floor for a bed, they walk outside to one of a long string of outhouses, they often have no electrical facilities except for a single light bulb overhead.

Plans have been in the making for some time to close the Labor Camp down. Already 14 barracks in the Labor Camp have been sold and others are being dealt away. Whether the barracks are all sold or not, the schedule calls for the Hereford Housing Project, Inc., to sell all its interest in the Labor Camp by Sept. 15.

"Unfortunately, they're just moving the problem from there to somewhere else," said Bill

Thompson, manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. He referred to the sale of the barracks to persons who plan on using the old buildings to let their workers live in.

Similar run-down housing already is set up outside the Labor Camp but still in the city. Barracks, offering similar living conditions, can be seen at the produce sheds along New York Street and Dairy Road and just off the highway on West U. S. 60.

The buildings went up in 1942-43 as a prison of war camp and were bought by the Hereford Housing Project, Inc., in 1947 from the federal government.

J. K. Baker of Hereford, secretary of the organization, said the complex will be advertised and offered for sale in bulk "in about one month."

Whether the new owner would leave the buildings just as they are and continue to rent them; put money into new improvements; or take the buildings elsewhere is to be seen.

Glady's Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

Summer days are happy days. One of the contributors to our happiness is the lovely flowers which grace our gardens. Another avenue of happiness is that of sharing the cut flowers with others.

These summer months are the time to use the blossoms and other plant materials which have been grown in the garden. Cut flowers are the completion of long hours of work and anticipation. Share them!

What makes a flower happy? What causes it to hold its head up? What is the difference in wilted one and a perky flower? The answer for the questions is WATER.

The life-giving stream for plants, which flower, is WATER. Threads of water, tiny life-giving drinks of water, are carried to the farthest tips of leaves or blossoms, from the roots. Each thread of water is made up of thousands of cells which form the water-conducting tubes. These are the life-giving streams (tiny ones) which give life to all plants.

When we cut flowers for arrangements, or other uses, we sever their life lines. All of the efforts to lengthen the beauty life of cut flowers are directed toward keeping them filled with moisture and an auxiliary food supply to replace that which the roots would have supplied had the flowers not been cut from the plants.

Much research has been done throughout the years, and continues to be a research issue. All is being done in an effort to extend the useful life of cut flowers. It is very necessary that the cut materials be properly groomed. Cleaned, cut properly on the base of the stem, which is to be inserted into water. Placed in water drawn from the tap, unnecessary foliage removed, placed into the water, at a desired depth, and left thus to drink for at least two hours, and preferably longer making into an arrangement or bouquet.

There are many suggestions as to plant preservatives, and other means to lengthen the life of the cut flowers.

All of these assist to some degree, but the real life of the cut materials and flowers is that they have been well grown and hardened. Let them stay in water for as long a period as possible, before making into the arrangement.

Some arrangers have good results from using tepid water, rather than cold. Cold water often shocks the cut flowers. Sometimes it has been known that flowers which have completely wilted, have been revived, and later used, when placed in warm water (not hot) with foliage stripped, and new cuts made on the stems. I personally have saved many cut flowers for various occasions in this manner.

Proper handling of the cut flowers, is very important. Do not rush into the garden to cut wildly the blossoms you want, then carry them and carelessly place them on a table, where there is a cloth cover or other covering which has a tendency to draw moisture from the plant materials. Blossom heads should not be carelessly laid on the table top or cabinet where you are working but should be placed so the blossom heads hang off the table. Keep them out of drafts, sunshine, and away from heat. Much depends on the keeping qualities of the flower materials, and that goes back to the gardener who is planning to make an arrangement.

In his hands rests the life-giving streams for the blossoms and cut plant materials. (Next week, some important steps in the making of an arrangement).

GARDEN TIPS. Knees get tired and dirty when you weed out flower beds or around the choice vegetables? Well, make an excellent garden knee pillow. Use an old worn-out rubber hot-water bottle. Clean and dry, then fill with cut up pieces of nylon hose. Stuff to the right consistency, then put in the stopper and use for those tired knees, and to aid in keeping the favorite garden togs neat and clean. When it is soiled, wash it in luke warm water, let dry and it is ready for further use.

Keep the hoe sharp, and clean for the best results in cutting weeds. Do not fail to mulch, water, and cultivate the plants. Many of the shrubs will yield fuller and better fruits if properly cared for.

Give those dry spots in the lawn attention. Also the foreign grasses, which are sapping the soil of nutrients which the grass needs. Also, keep weeds out of the flower beds, and where the vegetables are growing. One morning while driving to the hospital, I stopped and pulled two or three armloads of weeds and grasses from around the new shrubs and plants at the Church grounds (First Baptist). Just couldn't let them take so much of the food value from the newly established trees, shrubs, and geraniums.

Beauty Spots: The grounds of The First Christian Church, Park Avenue, also the grounds and shrubs at The Seventh Day Adventist Church on Park Avenue.

Lovely star light petunias at the front of the Conkright building at the First Baptist Church. The periwinkles, and rose colored petunias are pretty on the south side.

Beautiful, colorful zinnias, bordering the vegetable garden of the Herman Ford Garden, in the alley-way between Fir and Elm.

Roses, dahlias, verbenas (at the Post Office) Abelia, gladioli and daisies are gracing many of the gardens through out town.

Lovely petunias and honeysuckle vines (Hereford's chosen 1970 plantings) are adding beauty to Hereford Gardens. Pictures of some of these should be used in advertisements for our city. Congratulations to the Womens Chamber of Commerce, on the plaque placed in the Santa Fe park. Another feather for their cap.

It isn't too late to plant zinnias for all color in the gardens. Many are now coming into full bloom. I especially enjoy the colorful ones.

The following is dedicated to the gardeners of our area.

Everyone now claims he is "telling it like it is," and if it is like ALL these people are telling it, no wonder the United States is in the fix it is in.

We all like reassurance, which may be why we look in the new telephone directory to make sure we're still there.

Give the average man a typewriter and he's a writer; give him a coping saw and he's a carpenter; give him a garden plow and he's a farmer; and give him some advice—you are nosing.

The Soviets promise a large increase in new cars for 1970 and thereafter. They are so far behind they can still claim to be the first in not having traffic jams yet.

It cured many of the garden ills and helped hers too." (copied.)

NEW HYMNS
LEIGH, England — Cleaned-up versions of bawdy rugby songs will be sung as hymns at a sportsmen's festival being organized in this Lancashire town. "I see no reason why we should n't take a dirty song and turn it into a hymn," said the Rev. Richard Plant, the local Methodist minister. Perhaps you've never thought of life insurance as "happiness." But it is in many ways. It helps you get rid of financial worries so you can live a little! Each dollar you put into cash-value life insurance works like four. It works as a protection dollar. As an emergency dollar. As an opportunity dollar. And as a retirement dollar. Four ways. Ready money whenever you need it. That's a lot of happiness!

Happiness is what I sell.

University Of Tulsa Prexy To Deliver Address At WT

Dr. J. Paschal Twyman of the University of Tulsa, one of the nation's youngest college presidents, will deliver the summer commencement address at West Texas State University Aug. 13.

The university will confer degrees upon more than 400 bachelor and master's degree candidates at 8 p. m. in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

Dr. Twyman, 36, was appointed president of Tulsa in 1968, one year after he joined the private institution as vice president for research and development. He was subsequently named vice president for academic affairs before being elevated to the presidency.

His meteoric rise in higher education began at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, where he received a bachelor of arts in sociology in 1955, a master of arts in educational administration in 1959 and a doctor of philosophy in education in 1962.

He served his alma mater for two years as a research assistant before spending six years on the faculty and staff of Oklahoma State University.

In 1966 Dr. Twyman was named director of research, professor of education and assistant to the chancellor at the University of Missouri-St. Louis. Also a social scientist, Dr. Twyman has been especially interested in the rehabilitation of school dropouts and has made important contributions to the understanding of this major problem.

He has directed or co-directed seven projects for the U. S. Office of Education, the Oklahoma State Board of Vocational Education, the Federal Agency and the Ford Foundation.

Dr. Twyman, author of more than 20 published articles, has served as consultant to Ohio State University, Langston University, the public school systems of Oklahoma City and Wichita, Kan., the Regional Education Center in Waco, Tex., and the Educational Research Center, Inc., Cambridge, Mass. He serves on a number of civic, medical and educational boards and foundations in Oklahoma. He is listed in Outstanding Young Men of America, 1966; American Men of Science, 1969; Who's Who in America, 1970-71; and Who's Who in American College and University Administration, 1969-70.

Tulsa is the second oldest member of the Missouri Valley Conference which recently voted West Texas State into membership.

Send a letter to North Vietnam.

Right now hundreds of Americans are being held captive in North Vietnam. A few prisoners have made it back. They talk about bamboo cages. Vicious beatings. Malnutrition. Humiliation.

But the North Vietnamese will tell us nothing. And it's this silence that makes our appeal more urgent.

For the families at home, there is no word on who's alive. Who's dead. Or even who's being held. There is nothing. Except the anguish of not knowing.

Maybe you can change this. By writing to the one man who can change it: The President of North Vietnam.

Ask him to release the names of prisoners, allow them to write to their families, and let the Red Cross inspect the prisons to insure proper medical treatment and living conditions.

Remind him that he is bound by the 1949 Geneva Convention which his country signed. And by the Istanbul resolution.

North Vietnamese leaders do care about American public opinion. And if they think they can gain something by bowing to it, they will.

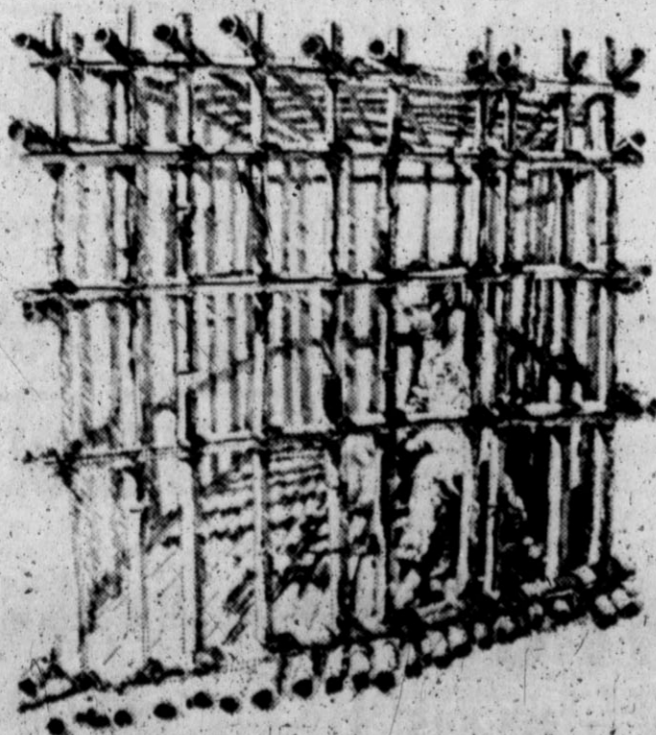

But one letter won't do it. Or a thousand. Maybe it will take millions. So we've got to write now. All of us. And often.

Write a letter tonight. And send it to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam.

It'll cost you a quarter. But it might save a life.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

Maybe they'll open it.

World's Our Little Miss Visits Hereford, Likes It

WORLD'S OUR LITTLE MISS—Laura Huffaker, the reigning World's Our Little Miss, was in Hereford this week. At left she steps out of the swimming pool during a party in her honor at the Country Club Wednesday afternoon. At right, she is caught in another pose, this time a not-so-wet 11-year-old.

By PENNY YOUNG
Staff Writer

Laura Huffaker, World's Our Little Miss, spent three days in Hereford this week. She was visiting the G. D. Caison family and was honored Wednesday by a small party at the Country Club.

The hazel-eyed 11-year-old brunette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Huffaker, now of Dallas and was the winner of the talent competition in her home town of Wichita Falls, which enabled her to continue to the state and world competition where she took the top title.

Upon arrival in Amarillo airport, Miss Huffaker was met by the Caison family and brought back to Hereford to the Caison House.

"When she noticed the big sign that said, 'Welcome World's Our Little Miss,' she just screamed with delight. C. D. put it up yesterday," Jeannie Caison said.

Dee Anne Caison also competed in the talent competition in the World's Our Little Miss competition. Miss Huffaker and Miss Caison became friends during the state and national contests.

Attending the get-together Wednesday were several close friends of the Caison's and last year's Little Miss winner from Hereford, Kim Oswald. After dinner, the group went swimming for the rest of the afternoon.

Miss Huffaker said she considers Hereford the ideal town and its people extremely friendly.

"But don't tell anyone in Dallas that," she added, "they'll disown me."

Before Miss Huffaker became a contestant in the Little Miss contests, she had had some practice at being in front of an audience. She has been performing her hillbilly hoe-down imitation of Minnie Pearl ever since she was 4 and also

Just Like Being Home

By BARBARA SWIMMER
Women's Editor

Moving to Hereford from Oklahoma was nearly like being home again for the brown-eyed petite wife of Hereford's newest medical doctor.

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunt and their 2-year old daughter,

Amy, moved here in June from Tulsa where he had interned at St. John's Hospital. They are both natives of the Texas Panhandle, coming from Phillips, and after living at Austin where he attended the University of Texas and later in Dallas at Southwestern Medical School, Glenda feels like she's almost home in Hereford.

The Hunts attended High School together at Phillips and married a short time after Kenneth entered the University. Glenda worked as a hair stylist during that time and helped her husband through school.

After Amy, the live-wire of the family, came along Glenda retired from working and became a full-time homemaker and mother. They are expecting their second child in November.

Glenda enjoys Hereford living and has kept busy getting settled in their new home at 148 Nucess. She has welcomed the recent rains because their yards have been planted in grass which has not come up yet. She has also had trouble keeping Amy out of the mud, she said.

Glenda loves her role as homemaker and housewife, enjoys cooking and sewing, and plays golf and bowls when she has time. She loves to fish and takes fishing trips to Colorado each summer. She is anxiously looking forward to a trip in two weeks which she will take with her sister.

Glenda says she was surprised at some of the townsfolk when they first moved here because Dr. Hunt was kept so busy, but says she didn't mind because she was used to it. She said she was a little surprised that he was kept quite so busy at first but pleased that he was

Mrs. Kenneth Hunt and Amy... doctor's bosses models professionally.

The hardest part of the contest, she said was rushing around and getting clothes ready and hair combed.

Miss Huffaker is in the sixth grade and enjoys math the most because it is a challenge to her.

"I want to go to college also," she said, "but I don't want to go to a large one. It will depend on my schooling and which colleges are available at that time."

Her favorite sports are basketball and softball, the softball team winning first place in the girls softball league in Dallas last year.

"My dad's the coach, too."

Parties Honor Deborah Hodges

Miss Deborah Hodges, whose marriage to Craig Fuller is planned for Aug. 1, was complimented with three parties recently, a miscellaneous shower in the W. L. Davis Jr. home, a spice and rice party and a shower hosted by members of North Hereford Home Demonstration Club of which Deborah's mother, Mrs. A. E. Hodges is a member.

Hostesses for the shower in the Davis home were Mmes. Glen Watts, Ed Lüne, Bill Walden, Virgil Marsh, Charles Hoover, Curtis Traweck, Earnest Langley, John D. Pitman, J. R. Euler, Jim Monroe, Bill Lyman, Larry Summers, E. C. Reinauer, Jack Wilcox, Ralph Battey, Glen Wilson, George Turrentine, Kenneth Halbert and Clint Formby.

Guests were received by Mrs. Davis and Miss Hodges with her mother, Mrs. A. E. Hodges and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Larry Fuller of Borger, formerly of Hereford.

Miss Kiska Hodges, sister of the honoree, registered guests. The serving table was draped with a white cut-work cloth and centered by an arrangement of mint green and yellow pompon chrysanthemums and white rosebuds with tall white lighted tapers. Refreshments were served from silver and crystal appointments by Misses Brenda Formby and Julia Davis.

For the affair, Miss Hodges wore a white and yellow floral lace A-line dress with white accessories and a corsage of green and yellow pompon mums.

Miss Brenda Formby was hostess in the Clint Formby home for the spice and rice party where guests were members of the houseparty and wedding party.

The guests each presented the honoree with a spice and they made and filled rice bags for the wedding. Refreshments of melon balls with sandwiches and punch were served informally. Table decorations included a large wedding bell with a miniature bride and groom. The hostess presented Miss Hodges a wedding candle.

The shower hosted Tuesday by the North Hereford H. D. Club was held in the home of Mrs. Clinton Ward.

Co-hostesses were Mmes. O. L. Williams, Otto Olson, Roger Williams, Paul Hoff and Viola Williams.

Miss Hodges received callers with her mother and Mrs. Ward, Miss Rita Schumacher was at the guest book.

The honoree's chosen colors were used in the table decoration. A green cloth covered the table which held a large yellow candle surrounded by white daisies. Refreshments were served by Misses Kay Lynn Ward and Kay Ann Euler.

Approximately 30 guests attended.

"I want style and beauty"
"plus quality and value, of course"
WE please them BOTH!

Not all women consider the price but they invariably place emphasis on fashion and appearance of diamond rings. The man who pays the bill usually concentrates on getting his money's worth. When couples come to us they invariably walk out smiling — BOTH of them. We please them BOTH or we haven't done our job. Come in and let us please YOU BOTH!

AUCTION (On Premises)

1000 HEAD FEEDER STEERS
MACHINERY - EQUIPMENT - LAND
Fabulous PECAN POINT World's largest select native Pecan Orchard will be sold at auction.
AUGUST 1, 1970 11:00 A.M.

LOCATION: 12 miles north of De Kalb, Texas on Highway 259 at Red River Bridge. 1700 showplace acres literally covered with select native pecan trees. Completed pecan research with Texas A&M-1968 Results. 1969 crops 3 times more increase than neighboring orchard. Not an old orchard—new trees coming in every year. Simple operation with all harvesting done by equipment. Volume more than sufficient for direct sale to shellers at higher market price. Cattle operation will run 1,200 head of big frame steers of 1,500 lighter frame—2,500 head potential. Long list of machinery and 1,000 head of feeder steers included in sale. 200 acres now under cultivation and practically all could be turned to permanent pasture. Lake in center of property ideal for irrigation. Three miles of Red River waterfront. Net potential is excellent. Pecan trees can be set up for depreciation—excellent tax shelter. Capable, young manager would like to stay. Well qualified. Excellent terms. For complete details and colorful brochure, contact Auction Company. Property may be inspected anytime prior to sale. How to improve your home so it sells for less.

You can make a million mistakes trying to sell your own house. And one of the biggest ones is making the wrong improvements.
Many times an expensive addition or even redecorating can be the kind of thing that'll cost you more than you get back.
Instead of guessing, see one of our experts. He can tell you what to do to make your house more salable. And what not to do so you won't lose money.
We're Realtors, who are pledged to a strict code of ethics. In your best interest.

Bride-Elect Is Complimented

Miss Pam Myers of Espanola, N. M., Aug. 15 bride-elect of Johnny Trotter, was honored with a bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. Earnest Langley.

Co-hosting the affair with Mrs. Langley were Meses Shirley Garrison, C. R. Winget, Elmer Kimball, J. C. McCracken, Norman Gray, L. W. Metcalf, C. B. Womble, Robert Strain, Hilton Higgins, Bert Boomer, Hugh Clearman, David Hutchins, Garland Solomon, Virgil Walker, Labry Ballard, A. T. Mims, Wayne Edwards, Gid Brown, Pete Caviness, Bill Roberts and Miss Hilda Havens.

Miss Myers received callers with her mother, Mrs. Richard P. Myers of Espanola, her fiance's mother, Mrs. Clifford Trotter and Miss Connie Westmoreland of Hereford.

Refreshments were served from silver and crystal appointments by Mrs. Tony Colkins of Amarillo, sister of the bride-groom-elect. Another sister, Miss Marsha Trotter, registered guests from a table decorated with an arrangement of Peace roses.

An ecru linen cutwork cloth draped the serving table centered by daisies in a silver bowl.

For the afternoon, the honoree wore a yellow voile dress featuring long full sleeves and white lace trim.

Special guests were Mrs. Joe Brooks of Espanola, the honoree's grandmother; Mrs. L. E. Vinyard of Plainview and Mrs. L. H. Trotter of Kress, grandmothers of the prospective bridegroom; and his aunt, Mrs. John Emery Andrus of Plainview.

Bond Purchases Reach $14,639

Some $14,639 was spent during June for the purchase of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds, according to County chairman James Sears.

The amount spent during June brought the year's total to $61,338 or 61 per cent of the 1970 goal of $100,000.

Texas sales during the month were $13,658,647 compared to $11,549,134 during June of 1969, a rise of 18 per cent.

New purchases of E and H Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares over the nation during June amounted to $465 million — a 25-year peak — while sales for the first six months of 1970 were $2,514 million, 1 percent above 1969. Exchanges of Series E for Series H Bonds amounting to $123 million were reported for the first six months which represents a 31 percent increase over exchanges through June 1969.

As of June 30, 1970, $52.0 billion in United States Savings Bonds were outstanding, which is 23 per cent of the privately-held portion of the public debt.

Stepfather Of Mrs. Lee Dies

Funeral services for Jess Edney, 67, of Pampa, stepfather of Mrs. Jimmie Lee of Hereford, who died Monday morning in his home, were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Calvary Baptist Church in Pampa.

The Rev. Ed Boype, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

A native of Oklahoma, Mr. Edney moved to Pampa in 1952 from Konawa, Okla. He was employed at Fairview Cemetery until 1967 when he retired.

Others survivors include his wife, Lula; two daughters, Mrs. Frances Lemmings, of Konawa and Mrs. Vera Giddens of Shawnee; two other stepdaughters, Mrs. Doris Merideth of Dumas and Mrs. Mickey Miller of Soldotha, Alaska; five sisters, Mrs. Beno Eton of Paden, Okla., Mrs. R. B. Friend of Shawnee, Mrs. Minnie Macom of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Roy Jones of California and Mrs. Albert Keon of Seminole; one brother, Charlie of Carnegie, Okla.; 17 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

If a 3,200-ton nuclear attack submarine were to dive more than a few thousand feet beneath the sea, it would be crushed by the immense pressure. Yet scientists recently netted a 5 1/2-inch fish swimming safely at a depth of 26,132 feet in the Atlantic Ocean north of Puerto Rico. The specimen, called Bassogigas is the first fish ever caught nearly five miles below the sea; where the pressure is 800 times greater than on the surface.

For Women

Inspiration Diversified

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures writer

Get set for the "Oneself Look" in decorating. That's furniture designer Lawrence Peabody's description of his about-to-be tested ideas. If they become a trend, housewives from Main Street to Park Avenue should find it easier to decorate their own homes in good taste.

Peabody's new 148-piece home furnishings collection, in the many moods of contemporary, is being made available in 250 stores of the world's largest retail merchandiser.

It is a built-in shop-under-one-roof plan for decorating.

What started as a dream will have gone from drawing board to stores in 13 months, says Peabody jubilantly. He designed everything from ash trays to wall art in the assignment that any designer would covet — an opportunity to design without restrictions from manufacturers.

A homemaker, whether she is a new-thinking newlywed or a longtime housewife, may go from bath shop to lamp shop in the stores and find coordinated articles to her taste.

"It is not an atmospheric approach that lures a woman to buy a couple of pieces of furniture that are made to look interesting offset against $3,000 worth of antiques in a show-room setting. Everything she sees is available at moderate prices. The average woman doesn't have antiques to dress up the less-expensive pieces," he says.

There are groovy graphics in fabrics, primitive beat rugs, Haitian art, stainless steel and plastic floor lamps. But there are, also, Victorian brass (metallic treated wood) headboards; upholstered pecan and cane chairs, handblown glass. Colors follow fashion — space blue, orange, violet, greens, golds. For the more conservative tastes black and white abound as well as a strong palette, of neutral, natural and earth tones.

Fabric designing is a first for Peabody whose inspiration for this collection is diversified, ranging from old-world Polynesian patterns to the tulip tree in his front yard in Haiti. In the summer, he designs at his home in Rindge, N. H., and there, too, vistas supply ideas.

"It has been a great opportunity to bring American craftsmen together on one gigantic effort," says the popular designer. Designs for rugs, handblown bowls, wall art and many other things have been executed by many talented people.

There are wall-to-wall carpets and printed shags — a new idea spawned by the project. Good design is rampant in tortoise shell patterned Parsons tables, bunching or sofa style, in banded cylindrical candlesticks, flower vases and geometrical-patterned wall art.

Chairs swivel, some sofas are puffed and others are designed with the small apartment in mind. There are ready-stick floor tiles and bedrooms coordinated draperies to coverlet. Bathrooms are a rug to towel adventure.

Coordination doesn't imply design regimentation, Peabody points out. For example, a wide selection of candlesticks includes those of stainless steel, glass, ceramics, short, tall or medium-size in white, black, happy colors and neutral tones like honey-color glass.

"The breakthrough in plastics, the freeing of color and our machine technology are permitting our own culture to emerge in a design of today that affords designers, manufacturers, merchants the opportunity to show people how to live beautifully," says Peabody. The line is designed for now.

ONESelf DECORATING—Lawrence Peabody's new 148-piece home furnishing collection in the "Many Moods of Contemporary" offers the homemaker a built-in shop-under-one-roof plan for decorating. The steel and glass cocktail table in this penthouse sitting room tempers the green and yellow "outdoor" colors and provides needed contrast.

The electric elements develop a look of oneself because one can choose what she wants in complete confidence that it will be a good addition.

"A simple decorating scheme is to use a background of neutrals and spicey floral slip covers, he says. Accessories may be chosen from a color in the slipcovers. Peabody envisions salespeople asking women about their favorite colors, and then leading them gracefully to the little shops in the stores where the items may be correlated.

If just this one thing comes true, Peabody may have pulled off a great coup in merchandising.

Less than a thousand windmills survive in Holland today, with only about 300 in working order. Most of the rest are abandoned and await restoration in a government-encouraged program, or are now in private homes, restaurants and shops.

Miss Debra Walden To Wed Roger Owen

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Debra Walden to Roger C. Owen is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walden, 132 Ave. J.

Owen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Owen, 306 Union.

Vows will be exchanged Oct. 17 in First United Methodist Church.

Miss Walden attended Hereford High School and McMurry College at Abilene.

Owen attended HHS and is a recent graduate of University of Texas with a BBA degree.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Tucker of Altamont, Ill. are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marlene, to Sgt. Kenneth R. Ginn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ginn, 117 Fir.

Miss Tucker is a 1966 graduate of Altamont Community High School and is presently residing in St. Louis, Mo. where she is employed as a legal secretary.

Sgt. Ginn has recently returned from 6 months duty in Vietnam and is now stationed at Webb Air Force Base, Tex.

An August 15 wedding is planned in Altamont.

Miss Sewell Is Bride Of Robert Ray Gentry

The Lubbockview Christian Church in Lubbock was the setting at 8:30 p. m. Saturday for the wedding of Miss Sandra Jan Sewell and Robert Ray Gentry with the Rev. C. Robert Coleman conducting the service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle B. Sewell of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gentry of 400 Sunset Dr., Hereford.

Cathedral tapers burning in five candelabra entwined with greenery formed a background for the nuptial ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight silk organza and pearl re-embroidered Chantilly lace featuring an empire bodice with a high beaded cameo neckline and lantern sleeves. Appliques of Chantilly lace circled the chapel train and she wore a shoulder-length veil of candlelight silk illusion caught to a pearl encrusted tiara. She carried a cascade bouquet of candlelight roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Linda Rice and Mrs. Jerry E. Gee of Spearman as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Hazelwood, Miss Linda Rice and Mrs. Keith McCulloch, all of Lubbock and Mrs. Ken Smelley of Abilene, sister of the bridegroom.

Phillip Cain of Fort Worth was best man and groomsmen and ushers were Gary Story and Jimmy Allison, Hereford; Mike Davis, San Jose, Calif.; James Gentry, brother of the bridegroom from Hereford and Bill Weaver of Albany.

Cammye Sue Gee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry E. Gee of Spearman, was flower girl and Scott Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gentry was ring bearer.

A program of wedding music was furnished by Miss Debra Brandes of Lockney, organist; and Dr. Woodie Coleman and Mrs. Fred H. Timberlake, Jr., both vocalists of Lubbock.

The feminine attendants wore formal gowns of silk organza and chiffon crepe. The empire bodices were candlelight silk organza and the skirts were of azalea pink silk chiffon crepe.

A reception honoring the bride and groom was held in the church fellowship hall where guests were registered by Mrs. James Gentry.

Candlelight lace draped the bride's table which held an arrangement of pink roses. The 3-tiered wedding cake was surmounted by the traditional bride and groom. Appointments were silver and crystal. The bridegroom's table was laid with a gold satin cloth with gold appointments. Cake was served by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Vernon Taylor of Lubbock and punch was ladled by another aunt, Mrs. J. E. Taylor of Spearman.

Others in the houseparty were Mrs. E. E. Gee of Amherst and Mrs. Phillip Tullis of Dallas, aunt of the bridegroom.

After a 2-week honeymoon trip in Hawaii they will be at home in Lubbock where they will continue their education at Texas Tech.

The bride is a 1967 honor graduate of Monterey High School. She attended West Texas State University where she was on the Dean's List, a member of Chi Omega and Crescents. She is a senior home-economics major at Texas Tech and on the Dean's List.

The bridegroom was a 1967 honor graduate of Hereford High School and attended West Texas State where he served as senator of the student body, a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and the Accounting Club. He is a senior accounting major at Texas Tech and is on the Dean's List.

Out of town guests were Jeff Hopkins of Houston, Jim and Jerry Wester of Palmer, John Morris of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butts of Amarillo, Miss Peggy O'Neal of Roswell,

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Tullis, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Poston, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Williams and family, Waco; and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lechner, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Coker and family, Mrs. Mike, and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Poston and family of Arlington.

The English finally have decided to print a revised second edition of the Domesday Book — 900 years after the first. William the Conqueror ordered the original in 1085 to give him a tax survey of his newly conquered lands. In less than a year, the king's men created a portrait of the feudal kingdom so detailed that it has been cited as legal authority right up to the present day.

PLANS SEPTEMBER VOWS — Mr. and Mrs. James K. Kent of Denver City announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Jayne, to David Ronald Euler, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Euler, of Summerfield. Wedding plans are set for Sept. 6 at the First Baptist Church, Denver City. The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Denver City High School. Euler is a 1968 graduate of Hereford High School. They both attended South Plains College.

AT THE LIBRARY

Jealousy Destroys Games Of Mankind

At the Deaf Smith County Library this week is a novel of sex and international intrigue in the life of a public official whose marriage falls to jealousy. Check into it today.

A SPY IN THE FAMILY
by Alec Waugh

The further we progress, the more we are the same, and in this spoof on Anonymous Underground Victorian Novels, Alec Waugh shows how the age-old sexual games of mankind are alive and thriving in modern-day Upper Class England.

A Spy in the Family is the story of a respectable Treasury official, Victor Trail, and his wife Myra. Their marriage has lost its flavor, owing to Victor's clock-work schedule and Myra's bland acceptance of it. The unexpected revelation that Victor has suspiciously altered his routine rouses Myra out of her complacency, and her jealousy rapidly changes the shape of their lives. It leads her into smuggling, of the cut-throat, thoroughly illegal variety. After being forced to serve as a narcotics courier for a "small international group" and later as a recruiter of other operatives, Myra begins to feel an intermittent concern for herself and the future of her family. But how to extricate herself from her Faustian pledge and return to the straight-and-narrow? This is after her adventures into eroticism and smuggling, what she most ardently desires. Her discomfiture is made all the more excruciating by her new found intimacy with Victor, who knows nothing about her demimonde activities—or does he?

This novel of sex and international intrigue is a surprising piece of entertainment by a past master of the art.

TWENTY-FOURTH LEVEL
by Kenneth Benton

When Peter Craig, one of the Diplomatic Service's overseas police advisers, stopped off in Rio for a few days to stay with his friend the British Ambassador, he triggered a series of bizarre events.

It seemed impossible that there could be any link between the arrow hurtling from the jungle edge of the Embassy garden and the wizened little dealer with his bag of strangely-colored diamonds, or between nineteen-year-old Alcida, the rich socialite with the slim brown legs, and Horst Graben, the German engineer whom Craig had sent to prison in Africa. But the link was provided by the head of the International Diamond Institute in London, who had asked Craig to make unofficial inquiries about some highly interesting stones emanating from Brazil. What was the secret of these few pale stones so precious that many men would have to die to preserve it?

The search for the answer was to lead Craig from the white beaches and social whirl of Rio deep into the mountainous country of the interior, and finally to the terrifying climax six thousand feet below ground in the forbidden twenty-fourth level of a gold mine. Here is a brilliantly told story of fast, violent action and suspense.

Taking Too Much, Giving Too Little

The President is quite right to chide Congress, as he has several times in the last few days, for its extravagance. But the Administration is not without sin either, and even thus to divide the blame does not begin to encompass the impact—and the purposes—of the Federal Government's enormous spending.

In various areas the legislators have been adding to spending; at the same time they show little interest in bills, like higher postal rates, that the Administration had counted on to make the budget look better than it otherwise would. Yet these Administration expectations were not very realistic. If the officials had really been trying to produce a tight budget, they would have held their spending plans to what, if anything, Congress could actually be expected to do in the way of increasing revenue.

To see Mr. Nixon's Congressional problem, at the moment he is confronted with a fairly typical Capitol Hill exercise: An education appropriation bill that in its present form runs more than $400 million beyond his budget recommendation. He told his press conference this week that he is debating whether to veto it because the excess, on top of everything else, is unacceptable.

Very well; but this Administration, much in the manner of its recent predecessors, has itself permitted education to go on being one of the most sacred of the cows in official veneration. In fact, the vastly increased sums expended from all sources over the years have not demonstrably enhanced the quality of education. To the extent that college has become accessible to most young people, many have been lured to the campus without any real adaptability for higher education, and this circumstance has contributed its share to the campus unrest.

(A peculiarly ironic backlash is the radical students' exorciation of a particular form of Federal aid to education, the contracts to colleges or faculty members for work in defense-oriented studies. Some of their elders, for sounder reasons it may be hoped, had long been skeptical about the growing dependence of the colleges on Washington.)

The unquestioning acceptance of ever-rising aid to education illustrates a more general mentality that has prevailed for a long time in this country. With remarkable unsophistication, would-be opinion-moulders have simply assumed that government money, preferably Federal, will greatly mitigate if not cure almost any problem.

True, there has been of late a mounting disillusionment with this bit of naivete, but it has yet to make much headway with the most influential pundits or in the spending proposals in the nation's capital. Most especially it has not led to a genuinely critical examination of what things the Federal Government can and should do and what things it is not competent to undertake.

President Nixon says his Administration has already changed national priorities, and in the limited sense he has in mind that is so. Specifically, he notes that in all of the last three Administrations military spending ran far above spending for other purposes. In contrast, the fiscal 1971 budget calls for spending 37 per cent for defense and 41 per cent for "human resources programs."

Since military spending is traditionally overblown with waste and duplication, and no doubt still is, the turnaround is good as far as it goes. But the strong implication is of course that domestic spending should go up as military spending goes down. We don't think that is exactly the kind of altered priorities the nation needs.

On the contrary, we think the Government is taking too much of the people's resources—and not above hinting of even higher taxes if the budget deficits get bad enough—and providing far too little in return. That is, providing in many areas not problem-solving but costly floundering, not efficiency but bureaucratic jungles. If the people could keep more of their resources, they could hardly do a worse job; it would be just about impossible.

So while it is useful and indeed necessary for the White House to rail at a profligate Congress, both branches are still far short of seriously grappling with the basic questions of budgetary and national priorities.

Pres. Nixon said the price of an automobile should include, not only the cost of producing it but also the cost of disposing of it. The man across the way challenges that. He says from what he's seen most Americans dispose of cars before they're paid for.

Speaking of careers, you may think these went out of style with the kerosene lamps but the United States Labor Department reports otherwise. Among so-called "growth occupations," the report noted an annual need for 600 new horse-shoers or blacksmiths, and 1,700 railroad telegraphers who know the Morse code.—Prescott (Ont.) Journal

Far from denoting affluence, the "white-collar" classification nowadays may refer simply to a wage-earner who isn't prosperous enough to replace his old wardrobe of shirts with an assortment of blues, yellows and greens.—Daily Oklahoman

Former Chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission Manuel F. Cohen remarked, "The exercise of political power, whether by government or business, cannot be legitimate unless it is subject to free and systematic analysis and criticism."

A good bit of advice to remember is that each morning is the beginning of the first day of the remainder of your life.

It's hard to tell which is the loudest, the music some musicians play or the clothes they wear.

Women Started Protesting In 1920; They're Still At It

By BERT MILLS
WASHINGTON, D. C. — On Aug. 26, 1920, the 19th Amendment to the Constitution took effect, and American women at last had won the right to vote. Suffragettes celebrated with a final march on Fifth Avenue, New York.

On Aug. 26, 1970, militant feminists are planning a women's strike to complete "the unfinished business" of achieving equality. If the organizers succeed in their plan, there will be another march in New York, plus others in Chicago, Milwaukee, Buffalo, and perhaps elsewhere.

In addition to "equality for women in education and employment," the ladies have two other demands. One is for free 24-hour child care centers, and the other is free abortions on demand. Self-appointed "Chairperson" of the event is one Mrs. Betty Friedan, who liberated herself from her husband years ago and has been causing trouble for other men ever since.

Mrs. Friedan wrote a book called "The Feminine Mystique" and parlayed the small fame gained thereby into leadership of National Organization of Women, called NOW. She had a fight with other ladies, and no longer heads NOW but she keeps busy sounding the call for women to fight for equality.

Her causes have included free birth control pills for unmarried co-eds, legalized abortions, and abolition of "Help Wanted, Women" columns in newspapers, which she and her supporters regard as discriminatory.

"Oppressed Majority

Mrs. Friedan has noted that women outnumber men, 53 to 47 per cent, and has called on the "oppressed majority" to exert their power. She wants the ladies to march, demonstrate, sit-in, boycott the stores, and generally withhold their services, including their love.

She wants women "to do their own thing" to confront "the establishment." One aide has said that in Syracuse, N. Y., "freedom trash cans" will be set up. The idea is to allow women to deposit some symbol of their oppression like an apron, or a copy of Dr. Spock's book on babies. At least one Syracuse wife is expected to deposit her husband in the trash can.

In New York, a liberated group calling itself BITCH is planning a boycott against companies which "exploit the image of women" in their advertising. The boycott would be maintained until each company agreed to pay reparations, with the money to be used to establish child care centers.

One of the mottoes of the Aug. 26 demonstration is "Sisterhood is Powerful." Members of the National Coalition of Nuns, reported to include 1,800 sisters, are expected to participate in the Chicago protest. In other cities, housewives will be urged: "Don't Iron while the Strike Is Hot." The striking ironers will be asked to sit-in at all-male bars.

The demonstration has not enlisted the support of other the more militant women's liberation groups but the sponsors sors blame "the establishment," which Mrs. Friedan defines broadly as including "the political parties, corporations, hospitals, churches, unions, mass media."

How Will Men React? Among the unanswered questions about Aug. 26 is how men will react if the protest is successful. How will employers feel if their secretaries perfer picketing to typing on this particular Wednesday? Suppose Mrs. Friedan is successful in persuading telephone operators to abandon their switchboards, thus not only hamstringing business but perhaps preventing housewives and office girls from chatting by wire?

Suppose working men return home that night to find an unmade bed, no supper, a wife on the picket line? And what if the offended breadwinner decides to find solace at his favorite saloon, only to find the joint has been "liberated" by crusading feminists, including his own wife?

All things considered, Congress had better declare a national holiday on Aug. 26. The nation's male population can take the day off an go fishing. On second thought, who would clean and cook the fish?

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — Getting title to the 440 acres of real estate where General Sam Houston won Texas its freedom from Mexico April 21, 1836, was a battle almost as rugged as the original.

In 1891, the Daughters of the Republic of Texas decided that Texas should acquire the San Jacinto Battleground, site of one of the most decisive confrontations in history. The organization petitioned the 23rd Legislature to appropriate $75,000 to buy the land and erect a suitable monument.

The Legislature whittled the appropriation to $15,000 and Governor James Stephen Hogg vetoed even that amount. He suggested that he might approve $750 to purchase a strip of the land on Buffalo Bayou and the Legislature approved. But the governor failed to appoint anyone to make the purchase and the money was never used.

In 1894, the Daughters held a bazaar that netted them $721.15 as a start. Three years later, they brought the governor and the entire 25th Legislature to the battleground and entertained them at a picnic and dance. The lawmakers returned to Austin and appropriated $10,000 for the purchase.

In 1900, the San Jacinto Battleground finally was purchased. It was not until 1939, however, that the monument — the highest masonry structure in the world — was completed.

THE CHANGING TIMES — In 1848, Dallas reported a population of only 39.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — A popular Texas-made cigar got its name because it was made originally for the exclusive enjoyment of the members of a San Antonio club.

In 1910, H. W. Finck, who had been manufacturing cigars in San Antonio since 1893, joined with other socially prominent citizens in establishing the Travis Club. It was a multi-storied downtown club where prominent Texans gathered to eat, drink and enjoy good cigars. Women, of course, were barred.

For members only, Finck made up a special "Travis Club" cigar. But during World War I, when the club patriotically opened its doors to servicemen, outsiders also got a chance to sample the special cigars. When the war ended, former soldiers continued to order "Travis Club" cigars — and the brand still is a best-seller today.

TEXAS FIRST — Allen, in Collin County, claims the dubious distinction of being the site of the state's first train robbery.

On February 22, 1878, a gang believed to be that of Sam Bass, held up a northbound Houston & Texas Central passenger train at Allen. The mail and express car carried nothing of value and only a little loot was taken from the passengers. The gang escaped easily to their hideout in Denton County, only few miles away.

THE SIGNS OF TEXAS — A Lubbock cemetery posts this warning: "Persons are prohibited from picking flowers except from their own graves."

65 YEARS AGO — 1905
A considerable stir was created in official circles on Wednesday night when George Lewis, who is held on a charge of raising the amount of a check, broke out of jail. After a vigorous search, the prisoner was found by Homer Immon, while attempting to cross a fence near the jail, and taken back to his prison home. Lewis, with only a spoon and a piece of a stove as tools, succeeded in removing 24 bricks and descended by means of his blanket. He tied it to the iron bar of the window to let himself down. The delivery was made about 11:30 p.m. Robert Wilson is in quite serious condition after being bitten by a poisonous snake on Saturday at the Fox ranch south of town.

50 YEARS AGO — 1920
The Panhandle-Plain Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters at Amarillo, will hold a meeting of interested citizens of this section at Amarillo on July 27, when the matter of adequately financing the organization and outlining the scope of its work for another year will be discussed. The rear extension of the building occupied by the Ford Garage has now been completed, and the work of redistributing the floor space allotted to the various departments is underway. The new extension just completed measures 60 by 45 feet. Several thousand dollars have been put into new equipment, including an overhead truck. Taken all in all, there is not a more up-to-date and better equipped establishment in the Panhandle.

35 YEARS AGO — 1935
In a raid on the Close Drug Store early Thursday morning, burglars secured loot valued at about $150. Of this amount, $100 was in cash, the balance in narcotics. Entrance to the store was gained by climbing the stairway to the second floor, through a window to the roof, and from there the robbers entered the office formerly occupied by Dr. D. K. Robison. They then sawed a hole through the floor and let themselves down to the lower floor by means of a rope. The door of the large safe was hammered open; nothing outside the safe was tampered with. No arrests have been made, but Sheriff John R. Miller expects developments soon.

20 YEARS AGO — 1950
County Judge L. H. Foster assessed a $50 fine against Hassel F. Nix for driving while his driver's license was suspended and bound Elvis T. Dillard over to the Grand Jury on $500 bond this week. Dillard was picked up by Police Chief Hollis Rainey and Patrolman A. M. Duncan for driving while intoxicated. Rainey said they got a report that Dillard was coming through town from another motorist and were waiting when he came through town. They picked him up going east on First Street near the Bull Barn. Information from the State Selective Service director, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, indicated there will be no increase in Texas draft boards which number 137 now.

5 YEARS AGO — 1965
Friday night marks the opening of the annual Lion's Club Carnival at the Bull Barn parking lot here. A 25-year-old man of Hereford was fined $500 for making 16 obscene calls to Hereford women during the past three months. A 21-year-old man of Hereford is being held in Deaf Smith County Jail on a charge of bigamy after marrying a second wife and then three days later filing for divorce from his first wife. The arrest of the Latin American was made yesterday after a complaint was filed by his second wife. The half dollar is "precious close" to becoming extinct in the Hereford area is current trends continue. There was a sum of about $75 in halves available from out two banks which usually carry about $7,000 worth in halves. One cashier attributes the shortage to "too many collectors."

Committee Asks For Compromise 1970 Farm Bill

Congressman Bob Price voted Tuesday with a 25 to 6 majority of the House Agriculture Committee members to instruct Chairman W. R. Poage and ranking Republican Page Belcher to jointly introduce a farm bill embodying compromise provisions worked out between the farm organizations, Agriculture Committee and the Department of Agriculture.

Designated the "Agricultural Act of 1970," the three-year bill differs from present law in that it establishes an acreage "set-aside" requirement to keep production in approximate line with consumption. The new program will cost about the same as the 1965 Act, a little over $3 billion a year.

"The vote today indicated the compromise provisions to have broad bi-partisan support. This, coupled with the support of the Nixon Administration, should assure passage through an urban-dominated Congress," Price said.

The parity concept is retained but supports for feed grain and cotton would be tied to specific dollars and cents figures. Wheat payments will continue to increase or decrease as the general cost of production rises or falls. Non-recourse grain loans will still be some per cent of parity.

Feed grain provisions of the bill provide for a guaranteed minimum payment of 32 cents per bushel for corn. A Price-sponsored amendment will tie the payment for grain sorghum to feeding value and transportation costs for corn. Payments will be on 50 per cent of farmers base acreage.

Participating farmers will be guaranteed $1.35 per bushel of corn, including the direct cash payment of 32 cents per bushel in July. If the price of corn declines, the direct payment will be increased to keep the total at $1.35. If prices increase, the farmer will still receive the 32-cent payment.

The wheat provisions provide for domestic marketing certificates for about 530 million bushels annually. The value of these certificates will be the difference between the wheat parity price and the average price received by farmers during the first five months of the marketing year. A payment of an amount estimated by the Secretary of Agriculture to be 75 per cent of the value of the domestic certificate will be paid as soon as possible, after July 1. Parity on wheat today is $2.82 per bushel.

The cotton section of the bill provides a guaranteed support of 35 cents per pound (middling one inch basis) on the estimate production from 11.5 million acres for the 1971 crop, and equivalent amounts for 1972 and 1973.

The cotton loan would be 90 per cent of the estimated world average price. The payment would make up the difference between the average market price the first five months of the crop (not to exceed 33 and one-third per cent of the cotton allotment) as a condition for payments.

It also allows the sale and lease of cotton allotments within a state, and allows for the release and reapportionment of allotments during the 3-year life of the legislation.

"The final bill is expected to include a limitation of $55,000 in annual payments per commodity."

"While I have always opposed limitations, I am accepting them now because the recent action of the Senate in adopting a $20,000 limitation indicates we cannot get the bill passed without them," Price said.

"I hope the Committee action in placing a $55,000 limitation will induce the House to kill the $20,000 limit added to the Agriculture Appropriations bill by the Senate," he added.

While wheat, feed grains, and cotton are the principal commodities involved, the bill also extends and amends the Dairy-men's Class I Base Plan in federal marketing order areas; and extends the Wool Act.

The bill to be introduced by Poage and Belcher will be voted on by the Committee later this week. It will then go before the Rules Committee to determine how much time will be allowed for floor debate.

If it is approved by the full House, it must then go through the Senate Agriculture Committee and the Senate before it goes to the President for signature.

Is Texas Still In Wild, Wild West? People In England Believe It Is

By ALESIA RAGSDALE Staff Writer

The people of England, Scotland and Ireland overwhelmingly believe the misconception that Texas is still the "Wild and Woolly West," according to Sherry White of Hereford, recently returned representative to the 1970 U. S. Band and Chorus group.

"I sure thought it was funny to see these people go wild when they found out I was a Texan," she laughed. "Every place I'd go they would say, 'Oh, that's where you have cowboys and Indians!' Some people thought we still ride around in stage coaches!" the Hereford High School senior said.

Miss White, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond White, 214 Texas, was one of 42 members of the choir which toured with a 92-member band to the principal cities of England, Ireland, and Scotland. The national group was under the direction of Lt. Col. Arnold D. Gabriel. Roy M. Martin of Greenville, Miss., was chairman of the project.

Chosen on the basis of quality performance and outstanding teaching by her director, Sherry sent in an application and tape of her voice after Bill Devers, high school choir director, told her of the group.

She said she may try out for the production, "Texas," next summer instead of trying for the trip again.

The age limit ranges from 14 to 21, "but the average age was around 17 or 18," she said. Miss White flew June 25 to New York City to meet the others chosen to be in the band and chorus, and from there they sped on to London.

While there the first three days, their schedule was isolated to rehearsal at the YWCA. After this grueling task was over, the group performed the same concert at each show in order to eliminate the inconvenience of necessitated practice before each concert.

"The show would be in two parts. The band would play mostly classical music the first part, then the choir would sing popular and patriotic songs the second half. Sometimes the choir would sing a capella, but most of the time we were accompanied by the band," she explained.

"I liked the England people the best because their hospitality was so immense. London was quaint, and the people would just come up and start talking to you. Everybody was so friendly, and everything was "mod" in the shops," she added.

"Although we didn't have much free time to get to go sightseeing, when we did go it was in a group. It's kind of an inconvenience to have to be in a group of nearly 140 people at once trying to end up in the same place at the same time. The taxis were cheap, but that kind of transportation for that many people is hard to find. Most of the time we just went to a place to eat, or occasionally we went to boutiques or discoteques."

Miss White said the group traveled in three buses to get from one city in one country to another, but the buses couldn't take them anywhere except to the performance hall or to eat.

A tourguide usually fixed their menus to insure that the foreign food would agree with everyone. Because of this, the meals began to be repetitious.

"The food was good most of the time—except we had English peas at every meal we ate. There was never just one course; we'd end up with about six or seven. When we got time off, we'd always buy a lot of candy and rich stuff—we lived on it since it was so good," she smiled.

Miss White said she felt sorry for the harassed waitresses whenever 140 people swarmed the restaurant at once. But extra help was there in a very short time.

"The band and choir were together all the time, except, of course, when we slept at the university—they had single rooms. We stayed about three nights in hotels, then the rest of the nights we slept in university dorm rooms. The first week of dorms in London were kind of shabby, but after that, the rest were real nice."

The group flew from England to Ireland, chartering new buses and new drivers once they were there.

"There was no language barrier in any of the countries—especially in Ireland since their language is almost a dead one anyway. The thing I liked best about Ireland was the good reception we had at our concerts. Another reason I liked it was sometimes you could use American currency in some of the cities, when you couldn't anywhere else. It's kind of hard to get used to the money the people use in these countries. The coins are so big and heavy that when you think you have at least 50 cents in American money, you look and find out that all you have is four big pennies."

Miss White said she didn't know what to expect when she was to be merged with the other members of the group.

"There weren't so many sponsors that we felt like rebelling out of resentment, and they didn't try to force a lot of regulations on us. They'd say, 'Now you know how to discipline yourselves without us having to do it.' They also made it clear we were to act like ladies and gentlemen in uniform and out," she said.

"We couldn't smoke in uniform, and the girls had to always wear dresses, but other than a midnight curfew and having to go to all meals, we had no real strict rules put on us. The only one I can think of that the countries themselves imposed on us was to make us sit down in the bus at all times, or they'd fine the driver $50."

She said there was no real trouble on the trip. She considered it a "really good group of kids, better than I expected." The blond teenager said she really liked Scotland the best since the countryside was so beautiful... the mountains and trees were gorgeous." The group visited Wales while they were in Scotland, and Miss White found that quite an experience.

"Those clerks in the boutiques wore pretty extreme fashions. You wouldn't believe their clothes."

The group had "perfect connections" on the trip up, but a series of delays at the closing of the tour threw them off schedule.

"The bus driver took six hours getting to one place instead of three. Then we had to drive for four hours to Shannon Airport in Ireland. We sat three hours waiting for the planes and saw the morning kids off. Some went on afternoon flights and others left that morning. I got on the plane for New York City, and the one that was going to take me home from there was to take off at 6:15. We were so late that we didn't even get to New York until 6."

"After one and one-half hours in the customs lines, we were really behind. Twenty kids missed their connection flights home. I had to spend the night in Dallas with some people I had met on the tour. So, I didn't get home until a full day later," she said.

EARTHQUAKE RESPONSIBILITY
NEW DELHI — Members of Parliament have questioned which ministry is "responsible" for earthquakes. The query came when Minister of Petroleum and Chemicals D. R. Chavan rose to answer a question about an earthquake. A member of the house pointed out that a minister of power and irrigation had answered previous questions about earthquakes.

CHARLES BELL 364-2243

1, Hereford and Mrs. and Mrs. Samuel P. Cory of Amarillo. Pedestal arrangements of pink and white carnations centered the altar area with flanking emerald palms and cathedral tapers burning in candleabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Mrs. Dan Evans of Midlothian, Tex. as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Ronda Jones of Denver, Colo. and Miss Patricia Hutto of San Antonio.

Tom Cory of Houston served his brother as best man and another brother, Ted Cory of Houston, with George Hironymus of Dickinson were groomsmen.

Guests were ushered by Doug Ring of Littleton, Colo. and Walter Canideleri of Galveston.

The bride's niece and nephew, Lee Ann Parsons of Memphis Tenn. and Mac Parsons of Lubbock, were junior bridesmaid and groomsmen. Another niece and nephew, Julie Beth and Kirk Evans of Midlothian were flower girl and ringbearer.

Neil Parsons of Lubbock and Bob Jones of Claude were candlelighters.

Lloyd Parsons of Lubbock, organist, the bride's brother, rendered selections of traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Caye Clearman as she sang "More" and "One Hand, One Heart."

Embroidered bridal lace over taffeta made the bride's formal gown in A-line silhouette. It was fashioned with portrait neckline and long lace sleeves complimented at the wrist by a lace flounce. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a large peau de soie bow and she carried a bridal bouquet of white gladiolas. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls belonging to her maternal grandmother and she carried a white linen handkerchief of her paternal grandmother's.

The feminine attendants wore floor length gowns of pink dotted swiss. They were styled with rounding neckline and empire waist. They wore matching bows as headpieces and carried nosegays of pink carnations and white streamers.

A reception honoring the bride and groom was held immediately following the ceremony where guests were registered by Miss Barbara Clements of Dallas.

White silk organza draped the serving table which held an epergne arrangement of pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath with pink tapers. The 3-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink rosebuds and surmounted by the traditional bride and groom. Miss Bonnie Hegge of Denver and Miss Doris Holzmann of El Paso presided at the table.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mmes. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., Jim Selman, Roy Good, Dale Spencer, Gary Cone, Ed Lemons, Hugh Clearman, H. L. Hershey and Charles Bell.

For a honeymoon trip to White Sands and Cloudercroft, N. M., the bride's traveling ensemble was a 2-piece celery double knit suit and black patent accessories. Her corsage was lifted from her bridal bouquet.

They will be at home at 3128 P. Galveston where the bridegroom is a history major at Galveston Community College.

The bride graduated from Hereford High School and University of Texas School of Nursing. She has been employed by Denver General Hospital the past year.

The bridegroom attended high school at Galveston and served in the U. S. Navy for four years and Merchant Marines for three years.

Out of town wedding guests included Mrs. Tom Cory of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Ring, Bonnie Hegge, Denver; Miss Barbara Clements, Mrs.

Martha Danney, Cathy and Debbie Luker, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Lindsey, Borger; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tate and Charles, Spade; Mr. and Mrs. Lewellen Hooper, Rhonda and Aubrey, Halfway; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Good; Dumas; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Jones, David and Ricky, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Goodin, Claude; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Johnson, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Meryle Massie, Friona; Mrs. Lloyd Parsons and Mrs. Gary Cone, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. E. Jack Parsons and Susie, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cox, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parsons, Amarillo; Mrs. Irene Padgett, Pueblo, Colo.; Miss Mavis Hegge, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. Jimmy Ross, Amy, and Angela, Dimmitt; Dan Evans, Midlothian; and Mr. and Mrs. Don Parsons.
