

Lt. Gov. Hopeful Visits Hereford

Stops in the Deaf Smith County Court House and in Hereford's business section highlighted a brief visit here Thursday by State Senator Ralph Hall, candidate for Lt. Governor.

Hall arrived about 8 a.m. at Hereford Aero by airplane, and was welcomed by District Attorney Andy Shuval, Hall, joined by his pilot and a young aide, then went to the court house, where they met with many of the county employees.

The group then crossed the street into the business district and the personable Hall took time out to chat with Hereford businessmen and eat a hurried breakfast at Hanna's Coffee Shop.

According to Hall the main issue in the congested Lt. Governor's race is ethics in government, an issue which he approaches tenaciously. Hall, author of one of the toughest ethics bills ever introduced into the State Legislature, is from Rockwall.

Hall was a Navy carrier pilot during World War II, and attended both the University of Texas and Texas Christian University. He graduated from Southern Methodist University Law School in 1951 and was admitted to the Texas Bar.

The senator was a judge in Rockwall County for 12 years, and is a past president of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association.

Fire Marshal Issues Warning

False fire alarms have plagued the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department in recent months, and fire marshal Jay Spain has issued a warning of the possible penalties that can result from such a call.

Spain said the fire department has received about six false alarm calls since the first of the year and there have been several instances where the calls have been monitored and officials say they believe the same person has made several of the calls.

"The penalty for a false alarm, or a report that causes emergency vehicles to respond," Spain said, "is a fine of from $100 to $5,000 or five years in the state penitentiary, or both."

The penalty goes even farther and states that if a fire truck or emergency vehicle, responding to a false alarm or report, has an accident with another vehicle or individual, the person who made the false alarm is liable for the accident.

If a person is killed in such a case, the person who called in the false alarm is liable for murder charges.

"When we have to respond to an alarm that is false, we are wasting the taxpayers' money, manpower and equipment," Spain said. Each time there is a general alarm, he added, some 35 men respond and with that many vehicles hurrying to the scene of a reported fire or to the fire station, the chance of an accident is even greater.

"We have got to respond to every alarm," he said. "We can't go out and check each call out to see if it really is a fire — we have to act immediately."

by Speedy Nieman

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says more people give something for nothing than get something for nothing.

We can manage it we take, each day, the burden appointed for it. But the load will be too heavy for us if we carry yesterday's burden over again today, and then add the burden of tomorrow on the weight before we are required to bear it.

— John Newton

Since moving to Hereford, we've been impressed with the civic pride expressed by the friendly people of the community. The optimistic business sector, coupled with the most efficient and progressive agriculture in the state, have earned the title, "hustlin' Hereford, No. 1 in Cattle & Agriculture."

Hereford has been on the grow and on the go, but is our community enthusiasm waning? In a community "pulse" survey just completed by the Chamber of Commerce, "waning enthusiasm" was listed as one of the problems that could face the community in the immediate future.

In the general cross-section survey just released, the Chamber strived to determine the "pulse" of the community. While the number of persons interviewed was small, the survey was designed to reflect the attitudes and feelings of the citizens in general.

One of the questions was "What do you consider the major problems that Hereford is facing or will face in the immediate future?" Ranked as No. 1 on the list was "water", and not far behind was the danger of a "waning enthusiasm."

Those interviewed in the survey also had some suggestions on solving some of the problems. In connection with the "community enthusiasm", most of the solutions had to do with citizens getting involved in promoting

Two Tree Planting Ceremonies Set

Tree planting ceremonies at the new Chamber of Commerce building on North Main and on Tierra Blanca Elementary School grounds are scheduled Friday, Texas Arbor Day, as features in Hereford's current cleanup and beautification month.

The public is invited to both ceremonies, at 10 a.m. on the grounds of the C of C building which is now under construction, and at 1:30 p.m. at Tierra Blanca. Brief programs will be given as a tree is planted.

Blood Bank Is Coming

The mobile unit of the Coffee County Memorial Hospital Blood Bank will be in Hereford Wednesday from 10 a.m. to noon, and about 60 blood donors are needed.

The mobile unit will be at the Community Center.

Only 15 donors were on hand last month for the blood bank, so more blood than usual is needed this month. The blood will be used in the Hereford Community Blood Bank Program at the Amarillo hospital.

Trees for these plantings and for other locations in public places are being given by organizations in the county as a contribution to the effort to beautify Hereford.

The month from April 15 to May 15 is being sponsored by the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, as annual cleanup month, with Mrs. Maurice Tannahill as general chairman.

Clubs or individuals wishing to contribute to the tree planting program are asked to notify Mrs. Tannahill or Gary Gore at Mr. G's Nursery. Any amount may be given to apply to the purchase of trees. Numerous clubs have already added to the fund.

Other organizations are cooperating in the cleanup in various ways. Campfire Girls and their leaders launched the program last weekend by gathering trash along the right-of-way and on vacant lots along Highway 385 near the north city limits.

AC-Teens, a youth club, worked Saturday morning to clean Windmill Park adjoining the Santa Fe depot. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes has volunteered to

Absentee Voting Is Light

Absentee balloting for the May 6 Democratic Primary began Monday and will continue through May 2 at the county clerk's office on the second floor of the courthouse.

Only two races are contested on the local level and they are for County Commissioner, Precinct 1 and County Commissioner, Precinct 3.

The May 6 voting also will include selection of state officials.

B.F. Cain, county clerk, said Friday that 30 absentee ballots have been asked for since the balloting began on Monday. He said 26 of those were requests from servicemen overseas and students in college who are eligible to vote absentee.

Only three county residents have voted absentee, he said. In order to vote absentee, a person is required to sign an affidavit stating he will be unable to vote in an election on the election date. Those who qualify must be either ill and unable to go to the polls, in the armed services stationed elsewhere or a student and unable to go to the polls.

County offices to be voted on are those held by Travis McPherson, sheriff; Neil Miller, county tax assessor-

At Monday Banquet Athletes To Be Honored

The top athletes of Hereford High School will be honored Monday night during the annual All-Sports Banquet at which Claude "Chena" Gilstrap of the University of Texas at Arlington will be the guest speaker.

The annual News Service Awards, presented jointly by the Hereford Brand and radio station KPAN, will highlight the banquet which is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Bull Barn.

The top athletes in volleyball, golf, tennis, basketball, baseball, football, and track were selected on the basis of their contribution to that particular sport. The winners will be presented with a framed certificate.

A crowd of about 600 persons is expected for the annual event. Tickets are on sale at Hereford Bakery. First meet at National Bank, Harold Close Drug, the Chamber of Commerce office, Hereford State Bank, members of the Whiteface Booster Club and from mothers of high school athletes.

The mothers will meet today at the Bull Barn to begin decorating the tables and speaker's stand for the banquet. The decoration committee will meet at 2:45 p.m. and all mothers of high school athletes are urged to help.

The speaker is the athletic director at UTA and is considered one of the most popular speakers in the state. The one-time football coach has been recognized nationally for his witty speeches.

Gilstrap joined UTA in 1963 as athletic director and head football coach. He stepped down from football coaching after the 1965 season but remained at the school in the capacity of athletic director.

His lifetime coaching record stands at 162 wins, 88 losses and nine ties. His junior college coaching record also includes three grid titles while bowl game appearances stand at two wins and one loss. His 1957 junior college team was ranked No. 1 in the nation with a 12-0 record.

He coached high schools at Leverett's Chapel, Crockett, Wharton and Cleburne and in junior colleges at Paris and Schreiner prior to joining UTA.

'See' Tornadoes On Television

It's a scientific fact that a television set can "see" an approaching tornado in time to give viewers adequate time to seek shelter.

About four years ago a self-taught electronics expert in Iowa discovered it possible to tune in a tornado on a tv. This means of tornado detection is called the Weller Method because Newton Weller worked out the system. The Department of Public Safety found the method dependable enough to issue a bulletin on this method of detecting tornadoes.

Detecting a tornado by this method has gained national acclaim. When a tornado watch or warning is broadcast, follow these instructions:

How to tune your TV in on a tornado

1. Turn on your television set and let it warm up briefly.
2. Turn to Channel 13. Adjust the brightness control knob so the screen is almost black.
3. Turn to Channel 2. Make no further adjustments.
4. Lightning appears on the screen as horizontal streaks or flashes. (A color TV produces colored lightning.) These flashes do not indicate a tornado.
5. The tornado signal is an increasingly steady and bright white light over the entire screen. Or, if you are receiving a program on Channel 2 at the time, the darkened picture will become visible and remain visible as a tornado approaches.
6. The bright light over the entire screen is your cue to seek shelter fast. Don't become entranced by what you see and fail to seek cover.
7. A cave or the southwest corner of your basement are the safest places to go in time of a tornado. If you have no basement, take cover under heavy furniture in the center of the house.

A radio, preferably battery-operated in case the electrical power fails, can augment your TV detection system. The procedure:

1. Set the radio near the TV set.
2. Turn the radio to the low end of the dial — around 550 kilocycles.
3. A tornado is not far away if the radio makes a steady, staccato sound (continuous static.) Take shelter fast.

What is known as a pulse generator, actually a tornado still aloft, radiates pulses that can be picked up at about 55 megahertz. That frequency corresponds to Channel 2 on television sets.

The approaching tornado funnel "signal" overwhelms the normal tv signal at that frequency, and produces the brilliant white light on the screen.

It doesn't matter whether your set is black or colored, but some say it's best to turn colored sets to black and white for tornado detection.

An antenna isn't necessary, but an outside antenna will pick up signals at greater distances than rabbit ears or no antenna. Although it isn't as desirable as using a tv set, a radio can pick up an approaching tornado, also. A major drawback with a radio is that its warning signal — a steady staccato sound — isn't heard until the tornado is dangerously close, oftentimes less than a mile away.

Ordinarily the maximum number of miles off a tornado can be detected by a television set by the Weller method is 20 miles. About five miles is considered an average distance away a funnel shows up on a tv screen properly tuned in for detection.

Even though a radio signal is less dependable, it is suggested that a battery-powered transistor be used along with a tv set. Then if there is a power failure, the transistor will give important weather bulletins and pick up late warning signals if a tornado is approaching.

FCA Golf Tournament Set

On May 5 the Fellowship of Christian Athletes chapter in Hereford will sponsor an 18-hole golf tournament on the local course and a banquet that night. A $20 entry fee for the tourney will also entitle an entrant to two tickets to the banquet. Anyone interested in entering the tourney can contact Bud Snyder, John David Bryant, Bob Renfro, Earl Stagner, and B. F. Cain.

Members of the local FCA group will serve as caddies for the golfers, and proceeds from the tourney and banquet will be used in sending members of the Hereford FCA to national meetings this summer.

PH&T Contest Is Announced

Hereford boys from 9 to 12 years of age are eligible to compete in the Phillips Petroleum Co. sponsored Pitch, Hit and Throw competition in Hereford June 10. The Hereford Jaycees will conduct the competition on the baseball field on Avenue H, beginning at 1 p.m.

Registration blanks for the contest can be acquired from West Park 66, East Side 66 and West 60 Truck Stop — all Phillips 66 dealers. June 4 is the final date for registration.

Winners on the local level will advance to the District Pitch, Hit and Throw contest June 17 in Amarillo's Potter County Stadium, and from there to division competition in the Astrodome in Houston the weekend of June 24.

Those scoring highest in each division will go to Atlanta for national competition during professional baseball's All-Star game.

Last year, more than 100 boys entered the contest. Winners are determined by an overall point system, based on how each fares in three categories — pitching for accuracy, hitting for distance and throwing for accuracy. Some 450,000 youths competed nationally last season.

Cindermen Fall Short In Meet

The Hereford Whiteface track team sent every one of its entrants into the finals of the regional meet in Lubbock Saturday, but failed in its bid to send anyone to the state meet.

Danny Harris and Keith Kitchens both finished in fourth place in their events while the sprint relay finished sixth, and Jim Marsh and Wesley High finished eighth.

Harris broad jumped 22' 3/4" and Kitchens was clocked at 39.8 for fourth in the intermediate hurdles. Marsh finished eighth with a discus toss of 142 feet and High was timed in 14.7 in the high hurdles.

The sprint relay team of Larry McNutt, Keith Kitchens, Terry Champ and Bruce Barrett finished with a 43.5 time.

Junior High Bands In Amarillo Contest

In the junior high school band contest at Amarillo's Civic Center Auditorium Thursday, La Plata Junior High of Hereford had a first division in both concert and sight reading, and Hereford's Stanton Junior High grabbed a second division in concert and a third division in sight reading.

Junior high bands from all over this area attended the contest. The Hereford High School band got two first divisions Tuesday, and coupled with a first division received earlier this year in marching won sweepstakes for the 11th straight year.

Hereford. Suggested solutions included securing a junior college, publicizing Hereford more widely, involving all races in community affairs, and securing new industry.

The danger areas and the possible solutions are something to think about. Another question, and the answer, on the survey brings the whole picture into sharp focus.

"What one thing are you most proud of in your community?" was the question. "People" was the overwhelming response in the survey — the progressive, friendly, and optimistic attitude of the citizens in hustlin' Hereford.

Let's keep it that way!

Informed About Politics

Qualifications for political office in Texas were discussed by Hazen Woods, Hereford attorney who was guest speaker to Hereford Study Club Thursday evening. Mrs. Roy Hartman introduced the speaker, who gave information pertinent to an election year.

The meeting was in Mrs. Noble Howard's home, with Mrs. Labry Ballard and Mrs. Maurice Tannahill as assisting hostesses.

Woods handed each club member a sample ballot and spoke briefly of each office, not the current candidates but legal requirements for the office itself. He also commented on duties and responsibilities of the official.

In the business period with Mrs. S. L. Garrison presiding, the club voted to buy a tree for planting in a city-wide program on Texas Arbor Day, April 28.

Members present included Mmes. Don Robinson, Bob Poston, Sam Long, N. D. Bartlett, Merlin Kaul, T. E. Braddy, Art Stoy, R. N. Yarbro, O. Z. Golden, Cawthon Bryant, C. R. Winget, R. N. Yarbro, Ed Wilson, Bob Word and B. F. Cain.

Mix For Lots Of Biscuits

Home Demonstration Agent

TUESDAY MORNING at Community Action, Mrs. Tommy Albracht and Mrs. Octavia Lamas gave a very good demonstration on one convenience food. They gave "How to make biscuit mix" and made biscuits and a fresh rhubarb cobbler from the mix.

The biscuit mix is very easy to use and a real convenience. It can be stored on the cabinet shelf. In fact, it should be at room temperature when it is used. Also remember, milk or other liquid should always be at room temperature or warmer unless the recipe states otherwise.

Biscuit Mix
8 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 cup baking powder
1 1/2 cups shortening
1 1/2 cups nonfat dry milk
1 tb. salt

Stir dry ingredients until well mixed. Cut in shortening until well blended. Store in a tightly covered container in a cool place. Use within a month. Makes 10 cups.

Cobbler Topping
2 c. biscuit mix
2 tb. melted fat
2 tb. sugar
Add sufficient fruit juice or water to mix to make dough. Roll thin, cut in strips, place over fruit in baking dish. Bake at 400 degrees until brown.

Buttermilk Biscuits
2 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
See plain biscuit for method to make biscuits.

Peanut Butter Drop Biscuits
2 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup peanut butter
1 cup water

Work peanut butter into biscuit mix with a fork. Stir in water. Drop biscuit from a teaspoon on an ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes in 450 degree oven. Makes 16 2-inch biscuits.

Variation: Drop biscuit on a griddle. Cook biscuit on both sides.

Biscuits
2 cups biscuit mix
1/3 to 1/2 cup water
Add water to the dry mix using enough to make dough that is soft but not sticky. Turn dough onto a lightly floured board and knead a few strokes. Roll or pat to 3/4 inch thickness. Cut with a biscuit cutter or cut into squares with a knife. Bake at 450 degrees (very hot oven) for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 two-inch biscuits.

Hereford High Rodeo Team Still Holds First In Tri-State

The Hereford High School rodeo team currently leads the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association with 141½ points in boys' competition, and is second in the girls' division behind Clayton, N. M.

Dumas trails Hereford in the boys' division with 137½ points. Clayton has 106¼ points in the girls action, to Hereford's 44. There are five more rodeos on the Tri-State calendar.

Claude, Boise City, Okla., Plainview, and Dumas will all have rodeos coming up before the Tri-State finals in Amarillo on June 2 and 3. The Claude show is on April 28 and 29.

Kim Gripp is currently leading the standings for All-Around cowboy honors with 92½ points, followed by a Dumas cowboy with 75 points. Gripp had 11 points in Pampa last weekend, where he won All-Around Cowboy, and joined Kenneth Bass of the HHS team in the winner's circle. Bass won the chute dogging contest. Monica Richardson was fourth in goat tying at the Pampa rodeo.

In overall individual standings, Gripp is second in ribbon roping and teamed with another HHS cowboy, Buster Record to hold the top spot in team roping. Bass is second in chute dogging, and John Wilson is fourth in calf roping.

Gary Cotton is seventh in the bareback bronc riding. Mike Arnold is eighth and Bud Kendrick tenth in the bareback competition, and Kim Sealey is ninth in the bull riding.

Miss Richardson is first in barrel racing and second in goat tying in the loop standings.

Major, Minor League BB Teams Announced

John Bunch, president of Hereford's Boys Baseball Program said Saturday that because of a lack of boys out for the Pee Wee division of the Bronco League, the player draft will have to be held at a later date.

The Major and Minor League teams were set Thursday and Friday, but there were not enough boys to tryout for the Pee Wee League. Any boy ages 8-9-10 who is interested in playing baseball should be at the ball park on Avenue H at 6 p.m. Monday. All boys listed on the two rosters should also be there.

Art Display Is Planned At Bank

William Hughes of Amarillo, who has received national recognition for his Southwest Original water colors, will have his works on display Monday through May 2 at the First National Bank.

He will be here in person Monday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. to demonstrate his techniques.

Hughes recently returned from Oklahoma City where he and over 100 artists were participants in the annual Oklahoma Museum of Art Spring Show. His painting "Twin Aspens" received honorable mention from among the more than 1,000 paintings exhibited.

POKES VISIT — Bob Lilly, in photo at left, and Walt Garrison, members of the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys, were in Hereford Wednesday to sign autographs, shake hands and campaign for Ben Barnes, for governor. The trio helicoptored in about 12:25 p.m. and the two well-liked Cowboys were instantly surrounded by autograph seekers.

'Look, Mom...No Cavities'

"Look, Mom...no cavities!" That's the sound most parents hope to hear when dental health checkup time rolls around.

Hereford Jaycees will be June 10 at the Boys Baseball diamond on Avenue H.

The contest is open for boys ages 9-12, and with a win in the Hereford contest a boy could end up in the national finals at Pro Baseball's All-Star game in Atlanta, Ga. on July 25.

Interested boys can enter at any Hereford Phillips 66 service station.

every year. Of course most of us are not that fortunate, and we have one or two cavities that require dental treatment.

But what if the story is "Hey, Mom, I've got five cavities" and the child's indigent parents cannot afford dental health care?

That is a problem State health officials have been concerned about for some time. As a result, a project has begun in East Texas to deal with that problem and other problems, including the need to educate children of all socio-economic groups on proper dental health care techniques.

That project is known as the Dental Health Education Trailer, a specially-built and equipped mobile dental health clinic. The mobile clinic is currently operating in the City of Marshall in East Texas, primarily in conjunction with the public school system, but also Project Head Start Programs and other such programs. It is being used as an educational tool and not as a treatment facility.

The program is having great impact on the dental health of Marshall school children in grades kindergarten through sixth grade. Although the real measure of the program will not be until it has been in effect for two or three years, State health officials expect to see a significant reduction in the tooth decay rate of the school children on a yearly basis. Oral hygiene practices were greatly improved in just a few weeks.

A fella could hurt his neck interviewing Bob Lilly of The Dallas Cowboys! Lilly and his somewhat shorter teammate Walt Garrison were in Hereford Wednesday campaigning for Lt. Governor Ben Barnes, who in case you don't know, is seeking the governor's chair.

Some thought that Lilly and Garrison drew more of a crowd than Barnes, which could be true. They certainly signed a lot more autographs than Barnes, and their action pictures were in demand.

Lilly and Garrison answered all the usual questions from a KPAN newsman, in the usual manner. Lilly reiterated that he will play one year at a time and if he feels that he is slowing down he will quit, while Garrison commented that Tor Landry is not a "plastic man" like some indicate.

The 6'4" Lilly said that the Cowboys like being champions and plan to repeat once again next year, just like ever Super Bowl champion has said. The only trouble is not many have succeeded, in fact only the Green Bay Packers have won more than one championship since the Super Bowl was begun seven years ago.

The Cowboys' defensive leader cited a depth of quality players, including several who didn't get to play much last year, as the basis of his hopes for another title. That the Cowboys have lots of talent in every position cannot be disputed.

In short, the two Pokes' visit was short but impressive, and in one of the most Cowboy-crazy cities in Texas. Someone was overheard muttering "Barnes, who does he play for?"

The annual Pitch, Hit and Throw contest sponsored by Phillips Petroleum and the

BY Kenneth Cowan MEMBER AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY

HOW MUCH IS A DIAMOND?

Because I have a solid background in gemological training, I am an American Gem Society jeweler. I welcome questions that test my knowledge. A typical query — often asked — is what price should I pay for a diamond? My typical rejoinder is how much should you pay for a dress?

Dresses can be snatched from the rack in the five-and-dime and supermarket for a very few dollars. Or they can be hand sewn, stitch by stitch in the salons of Paris and cost several hundred dollars. I saw an ad in a tabloid weekly recently, offering mail order diamonds for $15 down and $15 dollars a month. Richard Burton, at the other end of the scale, is reported to have paid over $1 million for diamonds for Elizabeth Taylor. I don't stock either variety.

My point is that diamonds are available at all prices. There are factors which give each individual diamond its price. Gem diamonds are not as alike as peas in a pod, they are as diverse as fingerprints. Nature doesn't mass produce this most popular of gemstones. Far from it.

An excellent way to arrive at the cost of a diamond is to consider four factors. These are its CUT, its COLOR, its CLARITY and its CARAT WEIGHT. The popular press usually stresses the final factor. (So and so paid such and such for a forty-carat diamond.) But this is just one of four important considerations. Did the diamond cutter do his best work? Does the stones body color approach crystal clarity (very rare) or does it show a yellowish tinge? Are interior inclusions visible to the naked eye?

Come in and let me fully explain the Four C's of evaluating a diamond.

Holt Takes DAR Regency

A change in officers for the remainder of a term was made in Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, Thursday after resignation of Mrs. Jess Robinson as regent because of her mother's illness.

becomes regent and Mrs. G. T. Downing was named vice regent to fill the vacancy until the annual election next November. Mrs. Holt presided at the Thursday meeting in Mrs. V. O. Hennen's home.

was scheduled at 10:30 a.m. May 20 in Hereford Country Club.

Mrs. Ernest Brainard of Amarillo, state corresponding secretary, will report on the recent DAR Continental Congress meeting in Washington, D. C.

Members decided to change their regular meeting time next year from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. since some cannot attend afternoon sessions.

Mrs. T. J. Carter gave a report on the state DAR conference and also presented the program, showing colored slides of scenes from a trip she made to the Orient and Australia, with comments about the places visited.

Mrs. W. J. Gililand, Americanism contest chairman, and Mrs. Luther Norvell, national defense chairman, made reports. DAR cookbooks were distributed for sale by members.

The hostess served tea preceding the business period and program.

Everybody knows where the back-biters stand — back-slappers keep the world guessing.

IN CONCERT TODAY — Music directed to listeners of sophisticated taste rather than the masses will be brought to Hereford Community Concert Association members at 3 p.m. today when Stan Kenton and his orchestra play their brand of modern jazz in the high school auditorium. This will be the last concert of the current season for the CCA. The noted composer-conductor is shown here at one of the clinics he frequently holds for student musicians. Much in demand on campuses over the nation, he gives lectures and demonstrations for music educators and students. On tour now in this area, he is scheduled for an appearance in Amarillo later this month.

Ex-Resident Scores High

Troy Don Moore, former Hereford resident and son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moore of 212 North Texas, was cited recently for one of the highest qualifying scores out of a group of 393 on the Texas bar examinations. Moore, 28, who has been employed as clerk in the Amarillo Court of Civic appeals, scored a 93 on the test. Due to military duty, his law studies were interrupted, and he elected to omit certain subjects on the examination. A 1962 graduate of Hereford High School, Moore and his wife Kathy and son Shaun, aged two, now reside 1826 at Plateau in Amarillo.

Orchestra To Close CCA Year

Closing a season of Community Concert Association programs in Hereford, the appearance of Stan Kenton and his famous orchestra at 3 p.m. today in the high school auditorium will offer the opportunity for CCA membership renewals.

Gifts For Baby Son Presented

A surprise shower was given Thursday evening for the baby son whom Mr. and Mrs. David Block adopted last week. Mrs. Tim Gearn, Mrs. Steve Coneway and Mrs. Arvell Williams were hostesses in the Gearn home, 245 Aspen.

The Blocks have named the baby Justin Travis. A dozen friends of Mrs. Block registered at the shower and others sent gifts to be opened as part of the entertainment.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with multicolored iris. A cake decorated with the figure of a wooly blue lamb was a part of the table setting.

Hazen Woods, president, announces that members may enroll for the 1972-73 season at the concert, preceding the annual membership period next fall, the usual time for enlisting members.

Since admission to CCA programs is by membership card only many members like to take advantage of the pre-season enrollment offered in the spring. The campaign for new members is made in the period set aside in the fall shortly before the first concert.

At least three programs by nationally known artists are presented for local members.

Mrs. Owen Andrews
Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Andrews spent Saturday night and Sunday visiting their friends, the Oglesbys, at Dumas.

Julie and Hilrey Bruns stayed a couple of days the first of the week with their grandparents, the Owen Andrews, while their parents were with another child, Hal Ray, who underwent surgery in Deaf Smith General Hospital, on Monday. Hal was able to go home on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ronnie Andrews, Mrs. Earl Harkins and Mrs. James Dobbs attended a planning meeting Friday for G. A. and Mission Friends Day Camp, to be held at Dimmitt on July 20. Friday's meeting was at Muleshoe.

Services were held Monday in First Baptist Church, Idalou, for R. C. Howard, of Idalou. Mr. Howard was the father of Mrs. Jimmy Barber. He had been ill several months.

Mr. Howard, 50, died Friday night in Wadley Research Institute, in Dallas.

Also surviving Mr. Howard are his wife, Opal; another daughter, Mrs. Marie O'Neal, of Aberrathy; four grandchildren; his mother and five sisters.

The Harlan Barbers, D. F. Yandells and Olin Parrises were among those going for the services.

Mr. Howard operated Howard Equipment Co. at Idalou.

Mrs. Jackie Andrews and Mrs. Marsh Pitman came home from Galveston, Saturday. They have been there with their parents, the Sam Ogans, since March 22, when Mrs. Ogan entered John Sealy burn hospital.

They report Mrs. Ogan was still thought to be improving slowly. She underwent skin graft April 11 for the third time and by the last of this week was able to be back in a wheel chair some and having moderate therapy. Sammy, who has been in Italy as an Exchange Student, came home a few days ago and is with his father and mother, at Galveston.

Rev. Bill Sessom of Plainview, a Wayland Ministerial student, preached at both services at Frio Baptist Church Sunday. He ate lunch with the Clark Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. David Yandell, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Parris went to Amarillo, Sunday, to be with members of Yandells mothers family.

An aunt, Mrs. Ruby Green, of Amarillo, passed away Sunday, after suffering a heart attack. The funeral was to be on Tuesday in the Old Presbyterian Church, east of Durant, Okla., with burial there also.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rogers of Duncan, Okla. visited Alma Andrews Friday night. During the weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Andrews took the Rogers and Miss Andrews to their vacation house at Lake Meredith for an outing.

Several of the ladies of the Friendship Club met Thursday afternoon and quilted on the Friendship quilt they have made for the Ogans. They worked in the Easter Community Center and plan to go again on Tuesday to finish the quilt.

MAY BRIDE-ELECT — Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Brown of Canyon announce plans of their daughter, Beverly Sue, to be married May 30 to John David Bryant of Hereford. The wedding will be in Joseph Hill Chapel at West Texas State University, where Miss Brown is a senior and a member of Chi Omega and Alpha Chi. Bryant, an officer in First National Bank, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cawthon Bryant. He holds BBA and MBA degrees from WTSU, was a Kappa Alpha and on the varsity grid team and ranked as a captain in the U. S. Army Reserves.

Small talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

"MY PARENTS will flip when they hear what we've won!" Carol Vasconcellos told her husband, Tony, Thursday when they were award winners on TV's Newlywed Game.

The parents are Helen and Bob Eades, and they didn't flip, but Helen told her daughter by phone, "You are the one that will probably flip." The prize was a pair of motorcycles!

The Vasconcellos live at Redondo Beach, Calif., and were one of the lately-married couples appearing on the nationally-televised game this week. It was fun, they said, and although a motorcycle wasn't their first choice of prizes, they plan to keep theirs, and expect to have fun riding them.

AS A VICTIM of really bad luck, consider Mrs. S. S. Williams. She was one of a party of four Hereford women who went happily down to Austin last week to see the sights on a bluebonnet trail. But a misstep caused a fall which caused a hip fracture. She was flown back to the hospital here and underwent surgery Monday. Reports I hear say that she is recovering nicely; I certainly hope so.

A LONGER SPRING trip took Ruth Kerr to Florida, where she visited Mrs. John Olson, a former Hereford resident, at the Presbyterian Retirement Apartments in Lakeland.

The two women traveled around considerably over that part of Florida and Mrs. Kerr says they saw some beautiful places.

Mrs. Olson is remembered by a number of Hereford people; she left here in the 1940's.

FRIENDS of the J. V. Perrins are invited to see their new ranch home from 3 to 5 p.m. today, when they will be hosts at open house.

Some of their neighbors who have seen the house tell me it is beautiful and I know Mrs. Perrin's talent makes it sure there are some original ideas in decoration.

THERE ARE PEOPLE in Hereford who know Mrs. Paul Dishman of Dallas, who was installed as vice president of Texas Woman's University Alumnae Association at the annual homecoming on the Denton campus this weekend.

She is the former Phyllis Radovich, and is a relative of Mrs. Frank Ball.

RECOGNIZED by Phi Delta Kappa, honorary education fraternity at WTSU, were 17 students in the college of education who are outstanding in their area of subject matter. One is Dorothy Ann Brownlow, 208 Ave. D.

When the WT chapter elected new officers last week it marked the end of a term as president for Jerry Don George of Hereford.

HEAR LUCI'S TALK

Hereford residents who went to Canyon Monday to hear Luci Johnson Nugent, daughter of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, speak concerning treatment of learning disabilities in children, were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dones and her mother, Mrs. H. E. Miller. They attended a tea honoring Mrs. Nugent and then attended the lecture.

Two Girls Are Initiated

Laura Leigh Clark and Jenene Jobe were initiated into the Order of Rainbow for Girls at their meeting held recently at the Masonic Temple, with Kathy Smith presiding as worthy advisor and Mrs. J. A. McWhorter as mother advisor.

In a business session, final plans were made to help with the cancer crusade and Shriner's clinic on May 6. Also discussed was the grand assembly that will be held June 26-28 at Houston, the state meeting of the order.

Besides 24 members present were, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark, Clayton Jobe and Mrs. Charlie Brown, D. R. Roberson, R. B. Hutson, Joyce Skelton, W. S. Fluit and Jack Brown.

Also Kathy Roberts, Karen Scott and Kay Hagar, three past worthy advisors.

A HISTORIC FILL

ASOTIN, Wash. (AP) — A county road crew buried Indian petroglyphs along the Snake River. University of Idaho anthropologists say.

But the anthropologists add that the drawings' primary value was esthetic and that most of the designs had been duplicated before the crew covered them with crushed boulders.

The crew was providing fill for widening an area road.

Good thoughts and good things do survive in this world.

Trouble Shooting Teams Will Compete

Students of this area, including a team from Hereford High School who are looking for trouble will find plenty in the annual 1972 Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest, May 9 at Lubbock. They'll be looking for a pleasant kind of trouble, the kind that can lead to college scholarships, a chance to compete against teams from all 50 states in the National Trouble Shooting Championship at Los Angeles in June, and an inside track on a job.

The trouble is in brand new cars, a series of malfunctions deliberately planted to test the knowledge the students have gained in classes in auto mechanics. The idea is to trace down the malfunctions using classroom procedures, correct them, and restore the cars to perfect running order. The first team to find and fix all the problems is the winner, provided the team also receives good grades in the written examination which is part of the contest and which contributes to the final score.

There are 106 regional contests scheduled throughout the United States this spring. Regional meet winners receive trips to the National Finals at Los Angeles June 19, 20 and 21 to compete for more than $125,000 worth of scholarships, prizes, trophies, tools and automobile components which will be given to their schools for auto shop training aids. School instructors select their own school Trouble Shooting teams on the basis of the skill and knowledge students demonstrate in their class work. Competition is divided into two classes, one for high schools and one for post-high school institutions such as junior colleges and vocational training centers.

Teams consist of two students, who are assigned to a car in which the malfunctions have been deliberately placed. All cars are "bugged" identically.

Highlights

AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — An ancient legal dispute involving Texas' sovereignty over its tidelands is in court again.

The U. S. Justice Department has filed a suit against Texas, challenging the state's regulation of fishing within the farthestmost two leagues (six marine miles) of the historic three-league (nine-marine-mile) boundary.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has requested President Nixon to intervene in the latest federal attack.

The Attorney General further requested an opportunity for the state to present its position to the State Department and Justice Department. The state, he noted in a letter to Nixon, was not notified prior to filing of the action.

Martin claimed the new action is contrary to the position taken by the Eisenhower-Nixon administration in 1935 and in 1957.

He submitted to the President excerpts from the state's brief filed in the original boundary suit which was decided in Texas' favor by the U. S. Supreme Court in 1958. He also included a 1957 letter from the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower to then-Gov. Price Daniel. Eisenhower expressed the opinion that Texas should have the right to explore and exploit the submerged lands extending seaward of (its) coastline for a distance of three marine leagues into the Gulf of Mexico.

Martin urged Nixon to inform him if his position as president is the same as that expressed by President Eisenhower.

COURT REVISION URGED — A Supreme Court justice and president of the Texas Civil Judicial Council says it's time the legislature submits to voters a constitutional amendment on judiciary reform.

Associate Justice Tom Reavley said Texans are demanding "major surgery" on the court system. Suggested Reavley:

The State Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals should be merged into a single court of last resort.

Fourteen Courts of Civil Appeals should be given jurisdiction over criminal as well as civil cases.

There should be fewer levels of lower courts with less overlapping jurisdiction.

Appeal procedure should be "simpler and speedier."

Judges and cases should be transferred to match resources with needs in keeping with better management of the court system.

The 63rd Legislature, Reavley said, should be asked next year to submit the constitutional amendment proposing court reorganization and modernization.

SPECIAL TRAINING APPROVED — The State Board of Education approved contracts for special training next school year of 2,611 children in non-public schools.

Largest single group involved is the trainable mentally retarded category, with 1,887 youngsters.

Pupils, from pre-school age through high school level, will attend 12 schools operated under the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation and 35 independent non-public schools.

The State Board of Education also reviewed a $1.1 million research program supported by 90 per cent federal and 10 per cent local funds.

Board members voted to uphold orders of Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar sustaining local school board "haircut rules" and dress codes.

COURTS SPEAK — The Court of Criminal Appeals refused to go along with an argument that the aggravated assault law discriminated against men — and concluded it's still worse for a man to hit a woman than the other way around.

Texas Supreme Court held a county judge can't prevent a township incorporation election if 200 residents present and required petition. The decision upheld an Athens district judge and the Tyler Court of Civil Appeals.

The High Court sustained lower courts and refused to knock out of operation a Houston legal aid service for the poor in spite of objections to it by some lawyers who claimed it is costing them money.

APPOINTMENTS — James W. (Jack) Ward of Amarillo has been named by Gov. Preston Smith as a member of the Texas Mass Transportation Commission for a six-year term.

Smith also named eight to the Real Estate Research Advisory Committee. They are Joe W. Loper of San Antonio, Glenn W. Justice of Dallas, Mrs. Katherine Boyd of Arlington, Dr. Walstein Smith Jr. of Waco, John A. Worley of Dallas, George O. Yamini of Dallas, Julio S. Laguarda of Houston and R. L. Pardue of Houston.

HEALTH STUDY LAUNCHED — State, local and federal health officials this week began an intensive study to determine if health hazards exist for workers in the American Smelting and Refining Company plant in El Paso.

Air samples will be taken without the plant to discover possible toxic materials, and blood and urine samples will be taken from about 800 employees.

The survey will complement a comprehensive health study to evaluate lead hazards in the plant vicinity which was initiated by local health officials several weeks ago in cooperation with the State Health Department. A.S.R.C. is cooperating in the survey.

PARTIES SLOW — Secretary of State Bob Bullock complained about early response to his request that county political party officers submit early estimates of May primary election expenses.

Bullock said a week after he asked for the estimates only 99

(of 254) counties were represented in replies. He warned again to state funds will be allocated to local parties until estimated expenditures are submitted on prescribed forms.

Some county chairman explained they were taking their time since the new state primary financing act makes them responsible for inaccuracies in their figures.

JUNE 1 PUPIL TRANSFER DEADLINE — Texas Education Agency has held parents who want to transfer their children from their home school to a nearby district must submit requests by June 1.

Once approved by the receiving school board, the request must also be cleared by T.E.A. State approval is a term of a U. S. District Court order filed in Tyler relating to desegregation of schools. Under the order transfers are not to be permitted to reduce or impede desegregation or encourage discrimination.

SHORTNOTES

Texas cities and counties would get about $202 million this year under a federal revenue-sharing bill before a U. S. House committee.

College teachers in a meeting here endorsed the idea of collective bargaining rights for public employees.

Likely date for the next special session of the legislature on appropriations and taxation appears to be the week of June 12.

The State Treasury, declares Treasurer Jesse James, had a greater net return on its time deposit interest "than any billion dollar bank in Texas."

Texas National Guard units have reached the highest rating level in 10 years, according to Adjutant General Ross Ayers.

New state bank charters are being sought at Balch Springs (Dallas County) and Houston.

The attorney general is being asked for an opinion interpreting the state's nepotism law governing state officials and legislators hiring each others relative in view of new disclosures.

Zach Fisher of Memphis is the assistant state campaign manager for Sen. John Tower.

SEEKS NEW BEER TAX — Delegate Isaiah Dixon has introduced a bill to raise the state's beer tax from 3 cents to 11 cents a gallon.

"It's been a long time since you could buy a bottle of beer for a nickel, but we have not raised the beer tax since those days."

Water Laws, Safety Rules

With an eye on the weather and some grim statistics, the Texas Safety Association has issued a reminder to water sports enthusiasts about some new laws and safety rules.

"In 1970, in Texas a total of 546 persons lost their lives in drownings," according to Lloyd F. Palmer, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association. "While boating, some 78 persons drowned, but a staggering 468 persons drowned in incidents that did not involve boats," Palmer pointed out.

"This year both state and federal laws require that all boats have one Coast Guard Approved Life-Saving Device on board for each person on board the boat," the safety group spokesman continued.

"In addition, the Texas law requires that children under 12 years of age must wear life-saving devices at any time a boat is underway," Palmer said.

He said this rule alone, if strictly obeyed could save a number of lives each year. Enforcement of the new law regarding life-saving devices is being carried out by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officers and by local authorities throughout the state.

"Since so many drownings are occurring in non-boating incidents," said Palmer, "the Texas Safety Association feels that there is a real need to promote swimming instructions for every member of the family."

Throughout the state each state each year excellent supervised courses in swimming are offered by the American Red Cross, YMCA's, YMCA's, school districts, and city recreation departments.

Learning to swim is an extremely effective way to prevent the tragedy of a drowning from striking your family," Palmer advised.

"Now is the time to check to see who is offering swimming lessons in the local community and to begin preparations for all family members to learn to swim," Palmer emphasized.

"Water sports enthusiasts are growing in number each year in Texas. Estimates indicate that there will be more than 500,000 boats registered by the end of the year in the state. Add to that the hundreds of thousands of Texans, young and old, who take part in other water recreational activities, and the scope of the challenge of water safety can begin to be seen," the TSA executive said.

Palmer also cautioned boating enthusiasts to keep a wary eye on the weather during the spring and early summer in Texas. He said that the unpredictable nature of the weather during April, May, and June can create extremely dangerous conditions for boating.

"While we are already enjoying near perfect temperatures for boating activities, any boating accident to occur. Water sports enthusiasts during this time of year should keep an eye to the skies for any sudden changes in cloud formations. They should be on the lookout for thunderheads and slow, fast moving clouds. They should also be alert to any sudden shifts in the wind direction and speed. If boaters stay alert and follow the rules of boating safety, there is no reason why the spring and summer should not be a time of real enjoyment for water recreation," Palmer said.

"If caught out on the water when unexpected rough weather comes up, head for the nearest shore or shelter," Palmer stated.

He also outlined some rules to remember in such situations.

1. Put life preservers on all passengers in the boat.
2. Head into waves at a slight angle and reduce speed.
3. Seat passengers in the bottom of the boat as close to the centerline as possible.
4. Head for the nearest shore or protected area.
5. If the wind and waves are too high to make progress, or if the heading into the waves fails, trail a sea anchor from the bow to maintain a heading into the waves. A bucket or weighted item of clothing will serve as a sea anchor in an emergency.

Social security

Q. What does the IRS do when it finds a retail posting violation?

A. If an IRS agent finds that a retailer is in violation of the base price posting requirements, the agent informs the retailer that he must comply and explains the requirements to him. If a subsequent visit by the IRS shows no compliance, the retailer receives a notice on violation which gives him 48 hours in which to request an appointment with the IRS District Director's representative for Stabilization. If the retailer doesn't request such a meeting or fails to post after meeting with the District Director's representative, the case is referred to the local Assistant U.S. Attorney who decides whether or not to prosecute.

Q. Does the fact that a company has rolled back an illegal price increase after investigation by the IRS prevent subsequent court action against the firm?

A. No. Court action can be initiated against a firm which has violated stabilization regulations even if the company has previously rolled back the illegal increase.

Q. My golf club recently raised dues $5.00. Can they do this?

A. If your golf club is a non-profit, tax exempt organization, the dues it charges are exempt from price controls. If the organization is not tax exempt, it is subject to the stabilization regulations for service organizations. Generally, this means that it can raise prices to cover allowable costs reduced to reflect productivity gains and only to the extent the increased price does not in-margin over that which prevailed during the base period. The organization itself or your IRS office will be able to tell you whether it is tax exempt or not.

Q. Where can I get a list of all the items exempt from controls under the Economic Stabilization program?

A. IRS Publication S-7, "Items not Controlled," lists the items exempt from Phase II controls as of Jan. 31, 1972, and explains many of the reasons why they have been exempted. You can obtain a copy free by mailing a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q. I will be moving into an apartment on May 1. On February 1, 1972, the previous tenant had signed a year's lease on which the landlord had increased the rent 2 1/2 percent to cover his costs, but this tenant had to break the lease. The landlord says that because I am a new tenant, he may now increase the rent under the new lease by an additional 2 1/2 percent to cover his costs. Is this permitted under stabilization regulations?

A. No. Stabilization regulations only permit an increase of 2 1/2 percent of base rent for a given residence to cover a landlord's costs with respect to each 12 month period beginning after December 28, 1971 regardless of change of tenants.

Q. Did the "catch-up" exception to the PUY Board's 5.5 percent wage and salary standard expire on March 31, 1972?

A. No. The Pay Board has approved a resolution extending from March 31, 1972 to June 30, 1972 the expiration of "catch-up" criteria for exception to its basic 5.5 percent guideline.

The "catch-up" provision specifies that increases during the previous three years averaged less than seven percent, wage and salary increases of as much as seven percent per year be allowed in new contracts.

Secretaries Set National Week

National Secretaries Week, April 23-30, is being observed by local members and will be climaxed Thursday evening with the annual Bosses' Dinner in the Caison House, where the Boss of the Year and Secretary of the Year will be introduced.

Hereford and Canyon members form one chapter of the National Secretaries Association, and will be hostesses for the dinner beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Pauline Wern of Galveston, Certified Professional Secretary and current president of the Texas-Louisiana division of NSA, will be a guest at the dinner. Music will be by the Caison Kids.

Hereford members of the chapter are responsible for dinner arrangements and decorations.

Chapter officers this year are Zelma Noel of Canyon, former Hereford resident, president; Eleanor Gray, vice president; Virginia Byers, secretary, and Kelly McBride, treasurer.

Starting the national week, a brunch is scheduled this morning in Canyon.

Purpose of the week, set aside each year by proclamation in many cities, is to acknowledge "the contributions of secretaries to vital roles in business, industry, education, government and the professions," also to "reemphasize the importance continued loyalty of secretaries to their employers and their responsibility to their profession."

Miss James Is Shower Honoree

A preliminary to her wedding next month, a shower-tea honored Marilyn James Friday evening in the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas Company.

At The Library Conflict; Mystery Provide Plots

Mystery, romance, and adventure are featured in three equally exciting, yet basically different novels now available at Deaf Smith County Library.

Summer Games is the story of a young couple confused and deceived by their own emotions and those of their closest friends. Set in a Florida resort area, it examines the complex games which people play with their feelings.

In Temptation to Steal Noel G. Gerson mixes romance with mystery and intrigue in the story of a man whose simple, unassuming life is shattered by violence and mystery.

International rivalry and intrigue are the ingredients of Richard Llewellyn's The Night is a Child. Former British agent Edmund Trothe is driven by an intense desire for revenge in his search for two men who shattered his life by destroying his wife, daughter, grandson, and nearly his own sanity.

Deaf Smith County Library is open to the public weekdays through Friday from 9 to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

deepest values of love and friendship and self, in a storm of emotions not all survive.

TEMPTATION TO STEAL

By Noel G. Gerson
When Ralph Emerson Prescott returned from a mountain-climbing expedition in New England to be confronted with a telephone call reporting the untimely death of his friend and mentor, Harold Cantwell, it was the beginning of a series of events that would shatter forever the simple life he had carved out for himself as an archaeologist specializing in primitive societies.

The second call which shortly thereafter summoned him to a mysterious meeting in New York, at an impressive retainer ended any chance he might have had of remaining part of the quiet world of scholars.

Ralph's arrival at the address given, his involvement with a beautiful young woman, and the subsequent adventures that take him to the far reaches of the Pacific and Indonesia, provide a powerful tale of greed and justice, filled with violent motives and counter-motives, and a dramatic twist of fate whose outcome is undecided until the final page.

THE NIGHT IS A CHILD

By Richard Llewellyn
A new novel of action and intrigue at the highest levels of international power, featuring the British agent-turned-industrialist Edmund Trothe.

His arch enemies, Lane and Cawl, have succeeded in gaining control of his vast Anglo-Arabian oil company, and in wiping out his wife, daughter and grandson. Near a complete breakdown himself, Trothe is driven onward only by an all-consuming desire for revenge.

His quest carries him across Europe, North Africa, and the Middle East, from hushed meeting rooms of London's elite to the raucous training camps of Maoist youth in North Africa.

He makes discouraging discoveries about his son and son-in-law, undergoes a strange operation that threatens the very essence of his existence — but never turns from his objective: the total destruction of two men equally determined to destroy him.

All turtles lay their eggs on dry land.

Reform Movement

Paul A. Volcker, Under Secretary of the Treasury for Monetary Affairs, is right when he says that building a new world monetary system will be difficult. He also may be right when he estimates that the construction job may not be completed before 1974.

Yet the monetary committee of the Atlantic Council, a private study group, surely is correct when it argues that it's high time to get on with the task. The committee, headed by former Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, urged the governments involved to start negotiating "visibly" to reassure the international business community that the opportunity to modernize the monetary system is being "grasped firmly."

Until the major nations can agree on some sort of system many governments will be tempted, more than normally, to engage in exchange controls, trade restrictions and other devices that only heighten business uncertainty. There are more than enough such distortions around already.

The Atlantic Council group, it should be stressed, underestimates the difficulty of reaching a new agreement. In its view there have already been enough exchanges of ideas to see the broad outline of the new system.

This broad outline, the committee believes, includes a new international reserve unit to supplement and maybe replace reserve currencies and gold. This unit, presumably the existing Special Drawing Rights or something much like them, would provide a common denominator for all currencies and give flexibility for future revaluations or devaluations, the group contends.

Maybe this approach would work eventually. Yet at the moment some nations, notably France, don't appear at all ready to demonetize gold, or even to demote it to a lower status. Nations, moreover, are likely to have deep and abiding confidence in a special reserve unit only when they have the same sort of trust in the major currencies that underlie it.

Such confidence now is conspicuous by its absence. In Europe the chief worry, of course, is the dollar, which the Europeans hold in such abundance. Now that, the dollar has been devalued, there is concern that the same thing will happen again. In a setup where exchange rates are fixed by official fiat, and not by the market, no one can be certain that any new rate will be long sustainable.

Most nations, however, still appear wedded in the idea of fixing rates within rather narrow limits. The Atlantic Council committee claims to see a "broad consensus" for greater exchange rate flexibility, but the actions and statements of many governments display no such agreement.

The Common Market countries recently reported a foreign trade surplus of $1.51 billion for 1971, compared with a deficit of $436 million for 1970, and there's every indication that the European Communities are greatly enamored of the change. That's true even though the surplus helped to pull in all those dollars they now worry so much about.

In 1971, of course, the U. S. had a trade deficit of more than $2 billion, its full-year deficit was nearly $600 million, due in part to the strike on the West Coast docks.

Unless other nations want to go on piling up paper dollars, in exchange for their own useful products, there must be lowering of restrictions against U. S. exports (together with a complementary reduction of U. S. trade barriers). There also must be the sort of exchange rate flexibility that lets the market determine a currency's true worth.

Basic to everything is agreement by all major countries to pursue the sort of domestic financial policies that will keep their currencies stable. If the nations ever do determine on such a course, all the other pieces of a new monetary system would fit much more easily into place.

In the early spring of 1972, the prospects may appear pretty bleak. As the Atlantic Council committee indicates, through, putting off negotiations won't make them look any better.

Kleindienst Nomination

As the Senate Judiciary Committee's hearings into the ITT affair have progressed, the ostensible issue of Richard Kleindienst's qualifications as Attorney General has faded further and further into the background. It now appears his nomination is in danger, not because of anything revealed about him but because of a flag about senatorial prerogatives.

As it happens, Mr. Kleindienst would not exactly be our own first choice for Attorney General. His claim to the job is not outstanding legal qualification, but outstanding loyalty to President Nixon as proved in past political campaigning. This basis of selection is understandable enough, in fact it has been decisive in naming Attorney Generals in previous administrations. But we think it a dangerous basis; the Attorney General needs a bit more isolation from partisan politics.

The hearings have done little to remove the doubts about the problems of partisanship. At the very least they prove that under the circumstances every lapse in judgment, and indeed some judgments that may not have been lapses, will be laid at the partisan door. If Mr. Kleindienst is confirmed, it will inevitably be under the cloud he said he sought to avoid.

Still, neither we nor the Senate Judiciary Committee is in charge of picking the Attorney General; the President is. In both tradition and logic, the President is entitled to name his own Cabinet officers and advisers, on the basis of loyalty if he deems that more important than outstanding qualifications. It seems to us the Senate should defeat the President's choice only if his critics make a reasonably solid case against him, and this the Kleindienst critics have failed to do.

All of the unneundo in the ITT case runs up against one hard fact: The previous Democratic administration did not lift a finger against the ITT acquisitions, while in the end the settlement reached under Mr. Kleindienst's supervision called for the largest divestiture in history. The handling of an admitted impropriety by a U. S. attorney in San Diego raises questions of judgment, but not, we should think, serious enough ones to call for Mr. Kleindienst's defeat. Apparently most Senators agree with these judgments on the narrow merits, and the nomination would not be endangered except for the injection of the ancient issue of "Executive privilege." Senator Sam Ervin threatens to oppose the nomination and even filibuster against it unless White House aide Peter Flanigan testifies formally before the Judiciary Committee.

This has very little to do with Mr. Kleindienst; any revelations Mr. Flanigan would make here would be marginal. It has everything to do with the shopworn quarrel about whether Senate committees have the power to subpoena White House advisers. Senator Ervin is interested not in the Kleindienst nomination, but in establishing a precedent partly reversing the White House's past success in establishing the "Executive privilege" of refusing to permit testimony. Yesterday the White House offered to compromise the issue by allowing Mr. Flanigan to testify on a few strictly limited subjects. The most liberal Democrats protested, but Senator Ervin and the majority of the committee are yet to be heard from. We can only hope they seize this way out of the procedural impasse, and allow the world's greatest deliberative body to make its decision on the merits of the case before it.

Tomorrow's Prosperity

Four major factors are determining the course of the economy this year, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States says. Wage-price controls and the welcome trend of rising productivity are two domestic factors, while the international dollar market is having its effect both here and abroad.

But continuing outsized Federal Budget deficits may have the most adverse effects on the nation's health, both as a domestic and international force.

These deficits result from government spending which is apparently out of control, the National Chamber warns. Uncontrollable spending in the 1973 Budget constitutes 71 percent of the total budget, and can only be reduced by Congressional action.

Such deficit spending can result in renewed inflation in this country, undermine foreign confidence in our ability to restore economic stability, and jeopardize vital changes needed in international monetary and trade matters. Proper economic policies must be established this year if the nation is to enjoy high prosperity in the years ahead, the National Chamber asserts. Restoring to short-sighted monetary and fiscal policies epitomized by deficit spending and expansionary monetary policies will solve neither inflation nor unemployment, and may lead to economic stagnation throughout the world.

Power Shortage Is Seen This Summer

By Bert Mills
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Shortages of electric power are foreseen this summer by Federal officials and consumers will be urged to practice conservation measures during the hot months in order to avert widespread blackouts and brownouts.

The President's Joint Board on Fuel Supply and Fuel Transport has just issued a "Survey of Electric Power Problems for Summer 1972." The message of this report is that the electric power situation will be "critical" in some areas. Uncertain new power plants do not come into production on schedule during the next few months, long hot spells are likely to force restrictions on power use in parts of the Midwest and Atlantic Seaboard, particularly in Florida and the Carolinas. Metropolitan areas with the most to worry about are Chicago, Miami and New York City.

Chairman G. A. Lincoln of the Joint Board, who is also Director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, noted "there was a relatively stable and reliable supply of power last summer and this past winter," but recalled there were blackouts in 1965 and 1967 and brownouts in 1968, 1969 and 1970. He warned: "Unfortunately, for a variety of reasons, we are now entering a period of possible shortages of electric power generating capacity in many regions which may not be entirely overcome for several years."

Demand Rises More Than Capacity
Generating capacity has risen since last year but demand has climbed even more. Lost production at individual plants, called "outages" in the utility field, along with delays in output aggravate the 1972 situation.

A three-pronged conservation program was launched last year. The Federal government will develop standards and apply them to its own use of electricity. The General Services Administration, Uncle Sam's housekeeping agency, coordinates the government's internal energy-saving program and will also provide a model conservation plan for use by states and municipalities. Mrs. Virginia Knauer, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, will direct the program to persuade the public to conserve electricity. The Department of Commerce will work with industrial consumers to reduce power loads. Ten regional units of the Joint Board will coordinate conservation efforts at the local level.

The Joint Board has plenty of muscle. In addition to the Office of Emergency Preparedness, its membership includes representatives of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, Council on Environmental Quality, Departments of Commerce and Interior, Federal Power Commission, and Interstate Commerce Commission. Six other agencies contributed to the report on the summer outlook.

Gas Shortage Disputed
The Joint Board foresees "some curtailment of natural gas deliveries" but expects "overall availability of fuels for electric power generation should not pose a critical problem this summer, barring major transportation or production interruptions."

However, a spokesman for the American Petroleum Institute told the House Interior Committee there is an "energy crisis," and said that in 21 states utilities have been forced by a gas shortage to deny service to potential new customers for natural gas. He blamed the shortage on "artificially low prices" ordered by the Federal Power Commission.

The spokesman, A.P.I. President Frank N. Ikard, deplored "recent decisions under the National Environmental Policy Act and other government actions (which) have restricted or halted exploration and development activities." Gas companies are importing liquefied natural gas at prices double or triple the cost of domestic gas.

This is happening despite 1,195 trillion cubic feet of recoverable natural gas in the U. S., including the Outer Continental Shelf. The U.S. already gets 15 percent of its natural gas from marine wells.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — On April 24, 1909, an oil company paid the largest fine ever assessed against a law-breaker in Texas. It delivered the $1,808,483.30 to the State Treasurer in cash.

In 1907, the Waters-Pierce Oil Company had been found guilty of violating Texas anti-trust laws in its dealings with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Its permit to do business in the state was cancelled and penalties of $1,623,000 were assessed. Waters-Pierce appealed to the Supreme Court of the U. S., but lost the case.

By April 24, 1909, when the fine was to be paid, interest had run up the amount to $1,808,483.30. Piqued at losing its case, the company elected to pay the fine in cash so it would have to be counted by the State Treasurer and his staff. Two Austin banks furnished $1,200,000 in $5,000 and $10,000 bills, but the remaining $5,483.30 was all in small bills and coins.

The money was delivered from the bank to the Capitol in an open touring car. Riding shotgun on the cash was the Travis County sheriff, who actually carried a loaded and cocked 12-gauge in his arms. The money was delivered without incident. However, it took State Treasurer Sam Sparks and his staff until late in the night to count it.

TRAVELING TEXAS — There is a grave in the center of a country lane near the old ghost town of Necessity, Stephens County. The headstone bears the name, "Mrs. I. Williams," and the date "1884."

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Cuero, the DeWitt County seat, owes its name to a curious set of circumstances.

Mrs. L. F. Fasel of Hondo writes "Talk of Texas" that it happened this way:

It seems that a wild stallion used to worry the early settlers in DeWitt County by slipping in and chasing their gentle horses. It was decided that the only way to stop his forays was to corral and shoot him. Once the stallion was roped and tied, however, nobody would volunteer as the executioner, so it was decided to try something else.

The settlers took a dried cowhide and wired it to the stallion's tail. Then the gate was opened and the stallion released. He was last seen galloping away with the rawhide hitting his rear legs in every jump.

Not long after, a post office was established in the settlement and it was named "Cuero" — which means rawhide in Spanish.

FACTS TO PONDER — More than one fourth of all of the motor vehicles in Texas are registered in two counties.

In 1971, there were 7,968,060 licenses motor vehicles in the state. Of these, Harris County had 1,189,755, or more than 12 percent of the total. Dallas County, with 944,674 vehicles, was second with 12 percent of the total.

CUSTOMS THAT LIVE — The Alabama-Coushatta Indians in East Texas still follow the tribal custom of putting the personal belongings of loved ones on their graves.

In the reservation cemetery, one can see graves decorated with sunglasses, shaving accessories and other personal objects of the deceased.

65 YEARS AGO — 1907
The baseball fans of Hereford had the opportunity of witnessing two games of the great national sport on the local diamonds this week. The Canyon City team stopped off Monday on their way home from a trip down the "Pecos Valley" and matched a game with the Panhandle Christian College for Monday afternoon. On Tuesday the Canyon team encountered the town boys. Hereford has not organized a team for this year and consequently had to pick a team from whomsoever they could find to play.

50 YEARS AGO — 1922
On Friday and Saturday of this week the "press gang" of the Panhandle Press Association . . . Reports received in Amarillo Tuesday are to the effect that Panhandle bred, fed and finished, baby beeves topped the Fort Worth markets this week. "Mary had a low-neck dress which fitted to perfection, and wore it everywhere I guess, against her Ma's objection. She also had an auto-car which likely made her dizzy — she could seem to go nowhar without the doggone lizzy . . ." — Uncle John.

35 YEARS AGO — 1935
Speaking before the Hereford students and Lyons Club here Wednesday, Harry P. Savage, goodwill ambassador for the Pan-American Exposition at Dallas, said that Hereford would be given a special day at the exposition this year. The date is to be set by chamber of commerce officials, and will be announced soon. Rural Electrification was today a step nearer to reality, following the approval of James W. Witherspoon as attorney, and the application for a state charter.

20 YEARS AGO — 1952
It won't be long now before the new hospital for the Mexican labor camp is ready for use of residents of the camp. The hospital was built mostly by Father Raymond Gillis, pastor of the camp, in his spare time. . . . A total of 137 registrants with the Deaf Smith County local draft board were reclassified at a meeting held last week. . . . California may have the Rose Parade, the Rose Bowl and all the fanfare. But Texas is the leading rose-producing state in the nation.

An offer made by the County Commission to pay $3,800 a year to the city of Hereford for fire protection was rejected by the City Commission at its regular meeting here Monday. . . . ## Clubs Have Candidate Candidacy of Mrs. Kermit Lawson of Pampa for secretary of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will be promoted by clubwomen of the Panhandle who go in a chartered bus to the annual state convention at Dallas May 8-10, when officers will be elected.

Federated clubs in this county are Pioneer Study and Summerfield Study Club, and Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Lawson is completing a term as president of the Top of Texas District, and is the first candidate from the Panhandle for a state TFWC office since 1960.

Not only official delegates from Federated clubs of the district, but other members are being urged to attend the convention and support the Pampa woman's candidacy. Reservations for the special bus must be made by April 25.

They are to be sent to Mrs. G. M. Sherman, 1510 W. 15th, Amarillo, 79102, and the cost is $15.50 for the trip.

CWU Plans Noon Meet

Celebrating May Fellowship Day Church Women United will meet May 5 at noon in fellowship hall of St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Mrs. Claude McDougal, president, invites all Hereford women to attend a covered dish luncheon followed by devotional services and discussion on the topic, Behold the Woman.

"The women will discuss not only today's world, but also the future and how women fit into it," Mrs. McDougal says. "Hopes, dreams and speculations about the future will be shared freely, as they picture the world in which they would like to live."

"From a Christian perspective they will seek ways to develop the potential of women to be full participants in society, and to explore new ways to share through just relationships in society."

Connie Bainum Bride Of Michael D. Sooter

Marriage vows were spoken in a twilight ceremony Thursday by Miss Connie Dale Bainum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Bainum, 128 Country Club Drive, and Michael Dee Sooter of Hereford, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Sooter, San Jon, New Mexico.

The Rev. J. L. Bozeman, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, conducted the service in Avenue Baptist Church, where an arrangement of orchid flowers and tapers in branched candelabra formed a background for the bridal party.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Gary Tyler, while her brother, Craig Bainum, served as best man. Ushers were Wayne Maddox and Loyd Lindley. A small niece of the bride, Christi Tyler, was flower girl and Gary Tyler Jr. carried the rings.

Prelude music was by Mrs. Albert Ricketts, organist, and vocal soloists, Miss Francine Simms of Amarillo and Billy Gene Cotton. Selections included Whither Thou Goest, We've Only Just Begun and Wedding Prayer.

Lighting candles before entrance of the wedding party were Gary Tyler and Gary Cotton.

Her father escorted the bride, whose period gown, reminiscent of the turn of the century, was of starwhite miramist over satin.

Narrow lace sewn with seed pearls was stitched on the bodice for a yoke effect below the high neckline; leg-o'-mutton sleeves were finished with wrist ruffles, lace edged.

A wide ruffle at the bottom of the skirt had rows of the lace at top and bottom, and there was an edging around the chapel train which was attached at the back waistline. Soft gathers held skirt fullness under a lace-bordered band circling the waist.

Petals of the dress fabric ornamented with pearls were clustered in a headpiece from which the illusion veil fell over her shoulders. She wore diamond earrings which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. J. R. Kendall, and carried orchid asters on a lace-covered Bible.

The matron of honor was dressed in similar style but her orchid gown was cut with circular neckline and had a velvet belt. Matching velvet ribbon with miramist petals was worn in her hair.

The wedding reception was held in the home of the bride's grandparents, the J. R. Kendalls, 116 Douglas. Miss Kathy Sooter, sister of the bridegroom, was at the guest registry.

Another sister, Miss Peggy Sooter, served cake while Miss Judy Roberson poured punch. Also assisting were aunts of the bride, Mrs. P. E. Hagans, Lela Bainum, Tina Bainum and Mrs. J. R. Euler.

The bride's bouquet was the centerpiece, and from it streamers reached to orchid bows at either end of the table. The cloth was white net over blue satin. Bride-and-groom figurines topped the three-tiered cake.

For a trip to Red River, New Mexico, Mrs. Sooter changed to an orchid A-line dress with white coat and accessories and wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home next week at 503 South 25 Mile Avenue, Apartment 7.

The bride is a recent graduate of Amarillo College of Hairdressing and completed high school studies in Hereford High, where she was a member of the Whiteface Band. Employed by Billy Gene Cotton, Sooter received his discharge from U. S. Marine Corps service in 1969. He also attended Hereford High School.

Group Returns From Trip

A dozen pupils from the Hereford Satellite Center, with nine adult sponsors, went on a trip to Six Flags Over Texas last weekend and returned enthusiastic about the excursion, Agatha Cardinal, center director, reports.

Clubs and individuals in the area contributed to a fund for the trip. Adults who accompanied the pupils, taking them in private cars, were Dr. Kenneth Hunt, Bruce Coleman, Elizabeth Torres, Mary Torres, Jamie Pitman, Mrs. Larry Dobbs, Glen Owens, Billy Everidge and Mrs. Cardinal.

They reached the amusement park near Arlington on Friday afternoon and visited some of its attractions that day, then spent the day Saturday and went for a houseboat cruise Sunday morning before starting the homeward ride.

Nights were spent at Soroptimist Camp. Making the trip were Joe Brown, Lear Jean Brown, Tony DeLaCruz, John Gonzales, David LeGate, Royce LeGate, Trudie Mae Brown, Debbie Elliott, Richard Nolen, Mary Brinkman, Aseneth Duncan and Mike Hanson. They are older pupils at the Center, a facility for the mentally retarded.

GRAIN EXPORTS DROP COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Reduced grain exports from Texas ports are costing the state's grain industry millions of dollars, says John J. Seibert, grain marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A LOADED LOCO WARSAW (AP) — Horrified railroad officials frantically tried to stop a giant locomotive as it sped towards a string of freight cars filled with gasoline.

Red stop signals, warning torchlights, whistles and horns, had failed to get the driver to respond.

A line superintendent phoned workers further down the track to place warning detonator charges in the path of the speeding loco.

After the second charge exploded the train came to a screeching halt.

The explosions woke up driver Jan Golawski and fireman Waldemar Zaleski. Both were drunk and had fallen asleep.

The two men were jailed for 18 months.

Guest Talk Is Gardening

Gardening as a family hobby was suggested by Mrs. A. L. Manjeet, guest speaker to L'Allegre Study Club at its meeting Thursday afternoon in Mrs. Dennis Farley's home.

Mrs. Manjeet spoke of planting to assure year-round color in a garden.

Color plays a vital part in life, and the homelandscape can be planned so there is bloom from the sweet jasmine of earliest spring to the array of fall chrysanthemums, she said. Practical tips for growing flowers and shrubs in this area were given.

Club members voted to contribute to a tree-planting project here, planned for Arbor Day under leadership of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Volunteers for assistance at the Public Health Clinic, a continuing project for spring to fall, were listed. Mrs.

Danny Martin presided for business.

Also present were Mmes. Buddy Bloomer, Don Lowder, David Gibson, Burns Hamilton, Bobby Veigel, Cameron Gault, Hazen Woods, J. H. McCrary, Jim Carnahan, Jerry Parker and Gary McQuigg.

"We must attack crime at its roots."

"The problem of crime is routinely stated as a problem of law enforcement. But the fact is that crime is our problem. Enforcement's failures are our failures. Whenever a crime is committed in Texas, there are factors to which every Texan has contributed.

"When family life is so crushed by poverty, when drug abuse is allowed to drag young men and women into drastic measures to satisfy the craving for narcotics, when police are hampered by unenforceable laws or are not well equipped or trained, crime becomes the responsibility of every one of us.

"The traditional methods of combatting crime are symptomatic. And they will not suffice for the future. We must put our ingenuity, or industry and our energy to work to attack crime at its source. We must apply all the knowledge, all the resources at our disposal to elimination of the roots of criminal activity.

"We must streamline our courts. We must give our law enforcement personnel the training and equipment they need. We must guard the rights of the accused, and we must prosecute with vigorous and fair litigation every indictee, in order to make a beginning toward a more effective effort to reduce the tragedy of lawbreaking throughout Texas." # By the Garden Gate with Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjeot

Trees Shelter us from summer sun, filter spring rain, Make radiant autumn light, and are engravings on winter sky. Their branches hold birds and butterflies, small boys and girls. Trees are vital to our lives... they give off oxygen, which we must have. Really we cannot live without them.

If you plant a tree on or about the date of Arbor Day for Texas, you will have a share in making life more pleasant and help make provision for life now and in the future.

My heart has been made to rejoice over the wonderful cooperation in community projects which have been sponsored by various organizations, with the leadership of city officials, the Ladies Chamber of Commerce, Garden Clubs, and many other participants.

It is really heartwarming to share and to see the exceptionally fine community spirit exemplified and to feel the comradeship in community wide endeavor.

One of the really fine contributions to the life of our area was the Art Festival. Cooperation was super and enjoyment of the best.

Now let us all join heart, hand and endeavor and make the Cleanup Campaign the most far-reaching of any we have ever had in Hereford. Yes! it is time to clean up and beautify Hereford! By united effort this can be done. There is so much to be done, and every resident of Hereford must share to make it a real success.

Have just come in from the alley where I cut weeds and raked the entire alley back of my property. Also have a pile of clippings, prunings, and other trash piled in a neat place. Really thrilled at the way the new trees are responding to their new home. Not a wilted leaf, and all are showing response to good treatment. Many other things to do. They will be done if Jeff and I hold out.

The following was taken from The Salina Journal, published in Salina, Kan. (Kansas was my husband's home state, and many times we have visited in Salina. It is a wide awake city, and each time visited we found it clean, attractive, and many beauty spots created by wide-awake gardeners.)

The project was started several years ago, and has really paid off. It is an organic gardening project. The title of the article is "Smelly Goo Pulls Packs of Green-thumb Salinians." The land is the site of the city's leaf dump, where for the past several years Salina street crews have piled the by-product of autumn's shedding. The top layer of leaves has decomposed three years, and the vintage mold was free on a recent Saturday for the asking. Hundreds of persons took up the offer.

According to students of organic gardening — a growing fad among the nation's green-thumbers, and Salina area foliage fanciers — leaf compost is ideal nutrition for malnourished soil. And potential hazards of chemical treatment are avoided.

The compost contains ammonia nitrogen, organic nitrogen, and other nitrogenous compounds and minerals essential to growing food organically.

The "goo" is very fibrous and breaks up hard soil, making it spongy. The hazards of chemical fertilizers are not here. However, hazards to the nose are. Downwind, the mold smells like, old, sweat-soaked sneakers.

Nevertheless, the people backed to the site in buses, vans, pick-ups, trucks, trailers, cars and wagons and loaded the compost into trunks, bags, boxes, wash tubs, garbage cans, etc. etc. . . . yes even grocery sacks! Many made second trips.

The City man on the truck, helping, stated that he had loaded 17 trucks by noon.

One man said that he had been to the Goo site several times, and saw a man who had been in such a hurry to get there to load, that the policeman decided to ask him to slow down. The policeman turned on his flashers and siren, but had to pursue the zealous gardener into the dump site before he stopped!

ASTOUNDING... success was the statement of the keeper of the dump. The whole scene was ironic. You see, the taxpayers fork up the money to have the trash and leaves picked up and taken away each fall. Now they return personally and take the compost back to their lawns, gardens and city owned parks and beauty spots.

Altogether there was probably 30 tons of the compost (the best) hauled away that amounts to about 60,000 pounds. Yes, we hope to continue the project.

(Note the article quoted from, was given me by Mrs. W. C. Hromas who is one of our very best gardeners. I called the garden columnist John Marshall of Salina, and asked permission to quote from his article... was graciously given).

Make Mothers Day Complete with a Gift of Jewelry COWAN JEWELERS Downtown

Now, why can't Hereford start such a project??? Reading from other publications, and from visiting in other cities, I have learned of similar projects and the people co-operate wonderfully. Hereford can do it too. Grass clippings are so conserved and used in many places. Such materials should not be burned or destroyed otherwise. Conservation measures pay off!

GARDEN HINTS
Always wear shoes and scrub hands with strong soap after working in the soil. It is only common sense that you can easily pick up bacterial, fungus and parasitic infections in both hands and feet. In case you do have such an infection, see your doctor at once.

Also it is further recommended that gardeners have a tetanus shot every year. Dirt diggers live with normal dangers, a rusty nail, a tiny piece of crushed metal, broken tile or an insect sting all can carry bacterial poison.

Frequently while gardening an accident will happen, a severe cut, or stone throw by mower, etc. A first aid kit should be kept handy for such accidents. Also while pruning one always gets thorns, and stickers in the hands, even though one wears gloves. These should be attended to, and then disinfected. My hands truly look like they belong to a gardener, but I do try to be cautious.

Another warning: When walking in other gardens or places where there might be dandelion seed or other seeds from garden enemies, those often adhere to the sole of shoes, and can be carried to other parts of the garden or from one garden to another. It is therefore wise to clean shoes well before walking in your garden or other yards.

Mention has been made of a first-aid kit, I would like to further suggest that one should have a "first-aid" aloe vera plant either in the garden or in a container. Its medicinal properties take the "fire" out of ordinary burns quickly, and work wonders in relieving cut and abrasion pain. With age and care the plant will grow quickly.

They will winter kill here but they are easily grown in pots. They have long succulent leaves. It is from the leaves that the medical aid is derived. The procedure is to cut a portion of a leaf, mellow it until the pulp will spread, then apply it to the wound. It really does aid.

I have had an aloe vera plant for years, it is kept on the window sill near the sink and stove, and when I have a burn or cut, I apply as above described. It works quickly. If you are interested in securing such a plant, call Glad 364-1343, and I will refer you to someone who

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I'm the kind of person who couldn't ever keep her mouth shut.

Wednesday noon when Mr. Ben Barnes came to our town, I was disappointed because there were not nearly as many people as I expected to see. Especially when Bob Lilly and Walt Garrison accompanied him.

I always thought that we had more football fans and more people that care about our state of Texas. Even though I'm not white, I always considered myself a good American, proud of my country and my state.

I think the schools should have let the children out for an hour grows them for sale.

While cleaning, cutting, raking and beautifying in the City Wide Project these plants could come in real handy... hope you do not need aid however. Good luck and happy "Cleaning Up Days". Glad.

or so, so they could have had the chance to see two of the Dallas Cowboys, because grownups are too lazy to leave their dinner tables to come and welcome three important people.

Really, I am ashamed because me and my family have made our home in Hereford for almost three years and people here don't have any spirit — they are dead inside. Seems to me like they are mad with themselves, besides with everybody else.

I come from Austin where they say that people don't get to know each other in a big city. Well, let me tell you something. I saw more friendly people there than I have seen here. My favorite saying is, "Just because you are Mexican, you don't have to act like one." I also say, "You Americans, where were you Wednesday afternoon?"

All this hurt me because I'm the kind of person who loves people — all kinds of people. Mrs. Hortense Trevino

Family Joins In Do-It-Yourself Projects

Building supplies firms have a wide assortment of leaflets and booklets that will be helpful. Check them. Their personnel are experts in recommending the choices of materials to your kind. Do-it-yourselfers list insulation, roofing and siding as the most difficult jobs. Sheer size seems to be the major deterrent.

Beyond personal preference, however, veteran home handymen warn that several projects should never be attempted by amateurs.

In general, leave these to the experts:

1. Electrical work. Unless you are fully qualified, you run the risk of serious injury — shock, burn, even electrocution. And make-shift wiring systems create household fire hazards.
2. Major plumbing projects. Fixing a leak is one thing. Installing new fixtures is something else. New piping has to fit in with the rest of the plumbing system. There's no room for error.

If you need expert advice or help, check the advertisers in this Special Section for names of reliable contractors.

Past Opens Door To Newest Decor

A look to the past can be the secret for improving our homes today. Nostalgia is in fashion and the romantic look of yesterday can do wonders as a decorative theme.

One of the simplest ways of adding the appropriate nostalgic touch is with accessories. A new Americana Collection just introduced by Syrocco was designed to meet the growing demand for reminders of the past. It includes a convex mirror, an early spinning Jenny and a pair of Revolutionary soldiers depicted in wall plaques, and a coach lantern sconce which can be used with candles or as a planter.

Since "Americana" embraces all of our past, the nineteenth century is represented in the collection of wall accessories by brought on a tremendous revival of interest in other handicrafts like needlepoint and embroidery, once thought of only as a pre-televison necessity. Within the past year or two, special shops devoted to the past-scenes of Williamsburg and time have sprung up all over the country.

Re-Do Your Floors with New Self-Adhesive 'Modular' Carpeting

Oh! The delight of many a busy housewife and working mother when time consumed with gourmet prepared foods in self-contained baking tins and plastic cooking bags.

Now there's something new in carpeting that offers the same wonderful advantages to the home decorator. It's a new do-it-yourself carpet by Ozite called "Snap 'N' Stick" that takes the professionalism and time out of installing broadloom wall-to-wall.

As modern as today, this new carpeting is a system in itself. It has a foam rubber cushion back with a "releasable" total bonding system protected with a clear poly sheet. Merely lay the carpet, cut to fit, remove the poly sheet and press into place. The carpet is readily lifted to move or reposition, again and again.

The adhesive system used in this new you-do-it carpeting is the same exclusive adhesive used in their popular self-stick lines of carpet tiles.

With this new easy-do carpeting you're the boss! Determine just how much of the 6' wide material you will need and cut into sections — work with pieces as big as you can handle or as small as you prefer. With hubby or a friend, you can tackle a 9 x 12 room with two pieces (9' x 6' each). If the lady of the house is on her own, she might want to cut off 4 x 5 sections of the 6' wide carpeting for easy handling. When butted together, seams literally disappear. For cutting and trim of excess material around radiators a razor knife does it easily.

Three types of carpet are available for your choosing in this new "modular" carpeting: a luxurious five color printed shag, a patterned needlebond — one for every need from kitchen den to living room and dining areas.

Shown here is the printed shag called "Upsy-Daisy."

Give your old floors a vibrant new look... with wall-to-wall carpeting or create an area rug, cut to your very specifications — the ends won't ravel. This new self-stick carpeting is so easy, and so economical too, priced to fit any pocketbook — ranging from $4.50 to $8.00 a square yard.

Color Makes the World Go 'round

Colors affect one another. A near neutral will appear out while a bright color, on the colors adjacent to it, will be unbearable in a small room.

Taking these various factors into consideration when buying paint can result in fewer disappointments in color selections. Colors on sample cards seldom vary from the paint itself. Manufacturers take the light in which they will be used.

Light also affects the appearance of color: sunlight, lamp light and fluorescent light will all affect color. If possible, select colors in the light in which they will be used.

Home handymen — and women — spend more than two billion dollars each year on do-it-yourself improvement projects, ranging from simple painting to major structural renovations.

Some rugged individuals work entirely alone; most seek help from family and friends; consult with contractors for advice or assistance on more complicated jobs.

Surveys conducted by home improvement groups show that interior painting is by far the most popular and the most successful — job for do-it-yourselfers. Wallpapering runs a close second, but paper is not used as often.

Outside painting also ranks high as a frequent do-it-yourself job. However, many homeowners call in professional help for preparing the surface or for second-story work.

GREEN — in all its shades and tones — is the current most popular color for painting interior rooms, with yellow or gold an increasing favorite.

WHITE is still tops for exterior paint with New England greens a close runner-up.

Most do-it-yourselfers say they find repainting work enjoyable, especially when it's a family project. In general, the wife is the first to notice that painting needs to be done; husband and wife confer and agree on a color choice; the husband chooses the brand and most often buys the paint.

If you are well equipped with the handy do-it-yourself tools and every homeowner should be so equipped — there is no end to the number of repairs and improvements you can undertake yourself. The tools are a good investment for any householder. They come with instruction booklets clearly setting forth what can be done with them and how to do it.

Install Acrylic Plastic Sheets to Hazard Areas

The National Commission on Product Safety reports that 150,000 people are injured annually in accidents involving glass breakage. Of these victims, more than 75% are injured as a result of the breakage of glass in outside doors. The Commission's report also revealed that youngsters in the 5 to 14 year-old age group ac-

Plexiglas is safe and economical because it is up to 17 times more breakage resistant than glass and can be cut to size when installed by the homeowner. If this optically clear material is subjected to blows beyond its resistance, it generally breaks into relatively dull-edged pieces and does not shatter at a high velocity like glass.

This material in 1/10" thickness can be installed in standard storm door frames as a safe replacement under many state statutes and building codes which require safety glazing in hazardous areas.

This acrylic sheet meets the requirements of a safety glazing material as defined by the American National Standards Institute and is also an approved material under many state statutes and building codes which require safety glazing in hazardous areas.

Central air conditioning systems may also add the benefits of humidity control, filtering out contaminants, and pollutants from the air, and reduce humidity control.

Turtles are air-breathers and have lungs.

7. Divide the work among the family with Dad painting the larger sections of the house and Mom painting window frames and trim.

THIS BEAUTIFUL VIEW DESERVES the large-scale picture window of ponderosa pine — a stationary section (labeled) by operating casements. But even a non-stationary view in the suburbs deserves a good window to make it part of the interior decor.

3. Use drop-cloths to protect driveway, patio, walks and most projects, four 9 by 12-foot drop-cloths will be enough. Non-porous plastic drop-cloths are recommended for do-it-yourself projects.

4. Do things in the right order. Take off shutters; remove or cover light fixtures; caulk cracks or surface defects; prime unsealed wood or bare metal; remove chipping, peeling or chalking paint, and sand high-gloss areas from previous paintings before applying paint.

5. Use a brush pad to apply the paint. The pad, a relatively new device which soaks up paint without dribbling it down the handle, works better than a brush on flat surfaces, because it lays down a more even coat for uniform drying and sheen.

6. Start painting at the top of the house and work down, always painting from an unpainted area into a previously painted wet edge. Do an entire section, usually a side, at one time. Paint window frames and doors last, using a semi-gloss latex.

Improved spreading control is another chemical development associated with resins. Griesbaum points out that paint must be spread at a 1/200-inch thickness, or the old painted surface will show through.

He added that the new acrylic latex paint also has an improved colorfastness, which extends the life of the paint job. Newly added chemicals, which have been proven in six years of exposure tests, reflect the sun's infrared rays and resist airborne pollutants, to assure durable, non-yellowing color.

Griesbaum offers homeowners the following suggestions for an easier, more successful house-painting project:

1. Prepare every surface to accept a fresh covering of paint. This means taking off the peeling, flaky or chalky paint, filling cracks that can absorb moisture, using a primer undercut to seal porous wood and sanding down any previously painted surface that is so smooth and glossy that new paint can't adhere. For large areas, consider using an electric drill with inexpensive sanding and wire brush attachments to remove and rough up old paint.

2. For a two-story home, use an aluminum extension ladder that is lightweight enough for one man to handle.

Home improvement becomes a top priority for property owners as the need for housing in the nation far exceeds the rate of new construction. It's far more than a matter of personal pride for the Home Owner. It is more than a matter of assuring the family continuous comfort and improvement of its standard of living.

It also is a matter of maintaining and enhancing the value of the home that is owned. And surely, if it's an additional house or two owned for rental purposes, improvements in these existing structures can help increase the rental return and serve a community need.

Home improvements this year can very much become a contribution to the health and welfare of the family, in the universal fight against pollution and on behalf of preservation of our natural resources.

This important phase of Home Improvement involves, essentially, keeping the home and its grounds clean; abjuring the use of pollutants and non-degradable materials, collecting recyclables, such as glass bottles, aluminum cans, all manner of paper, for delivery to services set up for this purpose in the community.

It also involves avoiding wasteful use of electricity and gas, among other things. And all of this serves to create savings for the family.

The Home Improvement action is moving strongly also into the area of apartments — especially condominium, and in some instances into cooperatives, where owner permission is given. It is possible for occupants to make themselves more comfortable by taking advantage of the many ingenious ways for making their apartments more livable. More efficient.

The traditional pride of home owners and the new imperatives of modern living are expected to send the total annual volume of dollar demand for the necessary materials, tools and professional services to a new historic high this year — now estimated at more than $17 billion.

A marked increase in the do-it-yourself capabilities of people, both men and women, nurtured by availability of tools and materials that also are designed for ease of manipulation, help them make their Home Improvement dollars go farther.

There are several areas, however, in which even the most accomplished of the do-it-yourselfers would do better for themselves by calling on the professionals for expert help.

These, of course, include anything involving electrical wiring, plumbing and the addition of a room or two or major structural changes in the home. Practically everywhere, these types of Home Improvements, involving safety and health, are subject to local government inspection.

Outdoors Also

Home Improvements are by no means to be confined to the interior of the home. In addition to modern new sidings, a new roof where needed, there's the landscaping of the grounds on which the home stands, about which home owners should be concerned.

And here is another one of the Home Improvements that can contribute to improving the ecology of the immediate environment in which the family lives.

Trees and shrubbery can do more than enhance the appearance of the grounds. Their proper placement and nurture can help sweeten and purify the air in which the family lives. Inducing neighbors to plant selectively can not only multiply the improvement in the appearance of the neighborhood, it can also multiply the beneficial effects of greenery for all concerned.

It also is a matter of maintaining and enhancing the value of the home that is owned. And surely, if it's an additional house or two owned for rental purposes, improvements in these existing structures can help increase the rental return and serve a community need.

Home improvements this year can very much become a contribution to the health and welfare of the family, in the universal fight against pollution and on behalf of preservation of our natural resources.

This important phase of Home Improvement involves, essentially, keeping the home and its grounds clean; abjuring the use of pollutants and non-degradable materials, collecting recyclables, such as glass bottles, aluminum cans, all manner of paper, for delivery to services set up for this purpose in the community.

It also involves avoiding wasteful use of electricity and gas, among other things. And all of this serves to create savings for the family.

The Home Improvement action is moving strongly also into the area of apartments — especially condominium, and in some instances into cooperatives, where owner permission is given. It is possible for occupants to make themselves more comfortable by taking advantage of the many ingenious ways for making their apartments more livable. More efficient.

The traditional pride of home owners and the new imperatives of modern living are expected to send the total annual volume of dollar demand for the necessary materials, tools and professional services to a new historic high this year — now estimated at more than $17 billion.

A marked increase in the do-it-yourself capabilities of people, both men and women, nurtured by availability of tools and materials that also are designed for ease of manipulation, help them make their Home Improvement dollars go farther.

There are several areas, however, in which even the most accomplished of the do-it-yourselfers would do better for themselves by calling on the professionals for expert help.

These, of course, include anything involving electrical wiring, plumbing and the addition of a room or two or major structural changes in the home. Practically everywhere, these types of Home Improvements, involving safety and health, are subject to local government inspection.

Outdoors Also

Home Improvements are by no means to be confined to the interior of the home. In addition to modern new sidings, a new roof where needed, there's the landscaping of the grounds on which the home stands, about which home owners should be concerned.

And here is another one of the Home Improvements that can contribute to improving the ecology of the immediate environment in which the family lives.

Trees and shrubbery can do more than enhance the appearance of the grounds. Their proper placement and nurture can help sweeten and purify the air in which the family lives. Inducing neighbors to plant selectively can not only multiply the improvement in the appearance of the neighborhood, it can also multiply the beneficial effects of greenery for all concerned.

Turtles are air-breathers and have lungs.

7. Divide the work among the family with Dad painting the larger sections of the house and Mom painting window frames and trim.

THIS BEAUTIFUL VIEW DESERVES the large-scale picture window of ponderosa pine — a stationary section (labeled) by operating casements. But even a non-stationary view in the suburbs deserves a good window to make it part of the interior decor.

3. Use drop-cloths to protect driveway, patio, walks and most projects, four 9 by 12-foot drop-cloths will be enough. Non-porous plastic drop-cloths are recommended for do-it-yourself projects.

4. Do things in the right order. Take off shutters; remove or cover light fixtures; caulk cracks or surface defects; prime unsealed wood or bare metal; remove chipping, peeling or chalking paint, and sand high-gloss areas from previous paintings before applying paint.

5. Use a brush pad to apply the paint. The pad, a relatively new device which soaks up paint without dribbling it down the handle, works better than a brush on flat surfaces, because it lays down a more even coat for uniform drying and sheen.

6. Start painting at the top of the house and work down, always painting from an unpainted area into a previously painted wet edge. Do an entire section, usually a side, at one time. Paint window frames and doors last, using a semi-gloss latex.

Improved spreading control is another chemical development associated with resins. Griesbaum points out that paint must be spread at a 1/200-inch thickness, or the old painted surface will show through.

He added that the new acrylic latex paint also has an improved colorfastness, which extends the life of the paint job. Newly added chemicals, which have been proven in six years of exposure tests, reflect the sun's infrared rays and resist airborne pollutants, to assure durable, non-yellowing color.

Griesbaum offers homeowners the following suggestions for an easier, more successful house-painting project:

1. Prepare every surface to accept a fresh covering of paint. This means taking off the peeling, flaky or chalky paint, filling cracks that can absorb moisture, using a primer undercut to seal porous wood and sanding down any previously painted surface that is so smooth and glossy that new paint can't adhere. For large areas, consider using an electric drill with inexpensive sanding and wire brush attachments to remove and rough up old paint.

2. For a two-story home, use an aluminum extension ladder that is lightweight enough for one man to handle.

Home improvement becomes a top priority for property owners as the need for housing in the nation far exceeds the rate of new construction. It's far more than a matter of personal pride for the Home Owner. It is more than a matter of assuring the family continuous comfort and improvement of its standard of living.

It also is a matter of maintaining and enhancing the value of the home that is owned. And surely, if it's an additional house or two owned for rental purposes, improvements in these existing structures can help increase the rental return and serve a community need.

When Space Is At a Minimum, Sterling Is of Even Greater Value

Honeymoons are fun — but so is moving into your first home!

There's a welcome down-to-earth quality about finally getting "settled in." And for the 2,300,000 brides who are expected to marry this year, the challenge of creating a warm and inviting place in which to live is an exciting prospect.

Many of these young brides will be living in urban areas, for 54% are expected to move into apartments, as compared to those who will be living in houses. This means that for many girls, space is bound to be limited during those first few years of married life. And this is one reason why it's a good idea for the bride-to-be to consider her future life-style, and decide which possessions she'll want to take with her. With apartment storage space often limited, the question of where to put what sometimes necessitates a certain winnowing-out if the young couple doesn't want to be inundated by "things!"

No matter how tiny the apartment, however, the couple must eat — and guests must be entertained. And because there'll be so many special occasions to celebrate — either alone or with friends or relatives — it's important for them to allow for "special-occasion" tableware. That's why so many young brides continue to name sterling silver as one of their most-wanted wedding gifts. It is indeed special, and even if personal attention and care which may have been bestowed on them. Owning sterling is a little like owning an "original." guests must be served from everyday earthenware dishes and inexpensive, stackable goblets! sterling preclaims the fact that it's time for a celebration.

Another reason for sterling's great popularity is its consummate craftsmanship. With much more importance placed these days on items which reflect the

Package Products Can Speed Remodeling

The big trend in building construction today is packages instead of "pieces." Many professional contractors now use roof trusses instead of joists and rafters, entire floor and wall sections instead of boards and bridging.

The packages are often complete "modules" or "cores" and consist of entire kitchens and bathrooms — including appliances, cabinets, sinks and lavatories — especially in new-home building.

The package concept also applies in a smaller way for do-it-yourself remodeling and home improvement projects, according to Sears, Roebuck and Co. building material experts.

A cabinet-mounted bathroom sink is a typical "package" project that any handyman can do with basic hand tools. The necessary materials are inexpensive; the tools consist of an adjustable basin and pipe wrench; screwdriver; pliers; level; ruler; putty; and a hacksaw.

The first step in this project is, of course, planning. The total look of the bathroom should be considered prior to selecting the model and color scheme of the vanity. According to Sears, all its bathroom supplies — even towels and shower curtains — are color coordinated, and the vanities are available in many different styles.

With the proper cabinet-mounted lavatory selected, the installation is amazingly easy. All that is involved is locating and setting the vanity cabinet and hooking up the water supply and drainage lines. Each vanity unit comes with installation guides which should be followed. To make the job even simpler, flexible plastic pipe can be used for connections.

YANKEES GET BREAK NEW YORK (AP) — With Milwaukee replacing Washington (now Texas) in the Eastern Division of the American League, the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers may be getting a big break.

The Yankees were beaten by Washington, 11 times in 18 games last season but they beat Milwaukee 10 out of 12 times. Detroit also beat Milwaukee 10 times in 12 games and was 14-4 against the Senators. With the Brewers in the East, this year they face the Yankees and Tigers 18 times each, while Texas (nee Washington) plays the Yankees and Tigers only 12 games.

HE SLIPS UNNOTICED FROM THE KITCHENS, DOFFS HIS SERVANT'S RAGS, LOOSENS HIS ROBE FROM THE SASH INTO WHICH IT HAD BEEN TUCKED...

....AND WALKS BOLDLY INTO THE PUBLIC PART OF THE PALACE. NOW HE IS A BUSY CLERK GOING ABOUT HIS DUTIES, AND HIS DUTIES TAKE HIM EVER CLOSER TO THE ROYAL CHAMBERS.

EVENING COMES, AND HE FINDS A HIDING PLACE IN WHICH TO AWAIT THE FRIENDLY NIGHT. SILENT AS THE SHADOWS IS KLEPT AS HE DROPS HIS ROBE AND, IN HIS GRAY UNDERGARMENT, PREPARES FOR HIS NIGHT'S WORK.

NOW IS THE DARKEST HOUR BEFORE DAWN, AND KLEPT TOSSES A PEBBLE ACROSS THE HALL. THE SLEEPY GUARD GOES TO INVESTIGATE, AND A GRAY SHADOW SLIPS INTO THE ROYAL CHAMBERS.

AH! THERE WAS NEVER A CRAFTIER THIEF THAN THE INCOMPARABLE KLEPT WHEN OUT ON A BUSINESS VENTURE. HE PEEKS INTO MANY ROOMS BEFORE HE FINDS THE RIGHT ONE.

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I have always been interested in crafts and was thrilled when my neighbor invited me to a "liquid-embroidery" demonstration. This method of creating is delightful and easy. The design is stamped on pillowcases, pillow tops, handkerchiefs, or what have you, and then "embroidered" with paint that flows from a ball pen. What intrigued me, Heloise, was how the demonstrator used your famous net. She placed an embroidery hoop over a paper napkin topped with nylon net, and used this to clean the tips of her tubes of color. Nifty, huh? Mrs. R. C. R.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:
Thanks for all your help. I've been married four years and read your column faithfully. But I have learned that experience also helps. For instance: Baby powder can be vacuumed off the carpet easier than off the bare wood, because you have to damp-mop the wood floors to get the powder off. The same is true of woodwork, walls, drawer handles and tops. Tiny pieces of hard-boiled eggshells and crumbled egg yolks left by a 3-year-old will come right up from the kitchen carpet and wood floors with the vacuum. Crumbs are no problem if they have not been soaked in chocolate milk. Paper straws, either new or used, will not be a challenge unless they are ripped into little pieces before they are scattered. Tiny socks are lost forever, plus little toys and bits of crayons, if you don't notice them before the vacuum snatches them up. Oh, well, experience really is the best teacher, but your hints sure do help. Mrs. Patricia J. Curran

A SWEET SNACK

DEAR HELOISE:
If the kids decide they would like a sweet snack late and there is nothing in the house, try this simple recipe for candy that my teens enjoy. Slowly melt one stick of oleo in a large saucepan, remove from fire and add about one teaspoon of vanilla. Pour

Place on platter and chill for a few minutes before serving. We all hope you will like our "Peanut Butter Candy" as much as we do. Lou Stasny

It's delish! And easy. Heloise

LESS TILE TROUBLE

DEAR HELOISE:
I had some unsightly make-up stains around the tiles near the lavatory in the bathroom. Using some of your previous hints, I removed all the stains that could be removed.

Then I painted over the portions that refused to budge. After the paint was thoroughly dry, I applied my

The paper was applied a couple of months ago, and as yet I have had no need to replace it. If needed, however, it would be quick and easy to do. A Daily Reader

BANANAS TO YOU!

DEAR HELOISE:
I've found a way to keep bananas in the house and have them just the right ripeness. When I shop, I buy three or four bunches at a time, in various stages of ripeness from green to almost ripe. I put them in a plastic-foam ice chest with the green bunches on the bottom and the ripier ones on top. I keep the chest in a cool place and every few days I have bananas ripe enough to eat. Mrs. Ellen Zehr

NUMBER PLEASE!

DEAR HELOISE:
In my personal telephone book, along with names, numbers and addresses, I enter my charge account numbers, or any other identifying numbers I might need. Now when I make a telephone call and I need this information, it is right at my fingertips. It has saved me so many unnecessary steps and searching, I thought I would pass it along to you. Berniece Goldbjatt

A COOL CAT

DEAR HELOISE:
Our pet cat has a unique home, it's central-heated and cooled. No, this didn't cost a fortune and our cat isn't spoiled. We have cut a small door in a plastic foam cooler and put some bedding inside for her to sleep on. This will keep her warm all winter, but summer time? That is another story. We put a small bag of ice cubes in the rear of her "home" and this keeps it cool. Now, Heloise, can you think of a better way to keep an animal comfortable around the seasons? M.O.

DUCKY DECOUPAGE

DEAR HELOISE:
I have been doing a lot of decoupage on boards for a bazaar sale. They are so much fun to decorate, but the backs have always been a problem. I didn't want to spend the time to antique them, so I purchased adhesive-backed paper in blending colors to finish the backs. By doing the reverse side in this manner, my decoupage designs are much more attractive. Josie

TABLE TALK

DEAR HELOISE:
I had a great idea one day while I was preparing dinner for my guests: I didn't have a pad for my dining table but did have an old plastic lace tablecloth. I put it on the table and trimmed it to fit the top. The old plastic tablecloth worked perfectly. My good damask tablecloth was a smooth expanse of white; my table setting looked great! ## HOCUS-FOCUS

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are at least six differences in drawing details between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you find them? Check answers with those below.

Hal Kaufman's JUNIOR WHIRL

BULLETIN BOARD

- Watching your waistline? Let's see: Knot a piece of string to form a loop approximately equal to your middle. Step through the loop; pull it up around you. Most persons overestimate their girth. How about you?
- Tongue twist: Repeat aloud rapidly three times, if you can: Three tipsy thrushes met three shifty swallows and six thrifty swiffs.
- Observe the capital letter A in a mirror and it appears unchanged. The same may be said for ten other letters, six of them in consecutive alphabetical order. What letters?
- Wits tester: Should a hungry Boy Scout swim across a stream three or four times before breakfast? Four times, if he wants to eat at his camp site.

CHAIR LIFT! Try this yourself, then challenge others. Place a chair (any household chair or stool of average height and weight) with its rear legs several inches from a wall. Plant your feet firmly before it, and, bending forward, rest your head against wall. Now, grasping the two sides of the chair (see illustration above), lift the chair from the floor.

With the chair raised thusly, and without moving your feet, see if you can recover a full upright stance. That is to say, try to stand straight up, lifting the chair at the same time.

NET RESULTS! Can you follow the path of the wily butterfly above? Begin at arrow, top right; proceed to arrow at top left.
