City Is Recipient Of 55 Acres

VFW Donates Park-Potential Land

Branding Time

By Speedy Nieman

The fellow that says, "I may be wrong, but—" does not believe there can be any such possibility.—Hubbard.

Hats off to the VFW on the announcement the veterans will donate 55 acres of land to the City of Hereford for park use. It's a gift that should benefit the entire community, and an act in which the service organization can be justifiably proud.

The Hereford Lions were too busy cooking to count pancakes Thursday night, but a rough estimate on the number of customers was 3,000. It was a fantastic turnout for a good cause, since proceeds will go to help the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls.

Despite the busy pancakes, it was reported that Lion Don Lowder was selling out sunflower-shaped pancakes—along with other intriguing designs!

Hereford area ex-students of West Texas State University will organize a local chapter Thursday at the Country Club. The meeting starts with coffee at 6:45 p.m. and dinner will follow at 7:30. Exes should contact Melvin Jayroe for reservations, and husbands and wives are invited. Hank Brown, executive director of the WTSU Ex-Students Assn., will be present along with several other university dignitaries.

The Chamber of Commerce membership drive started this week and workers will be contacting businesses and individuals for their pledge toward continued operation of the organization during the coming year.

When people say, "Why don't they do something?"—meaning just about any kind of project in the community, the term "they" is all encompassing but generally means the leaders in the City of C as well as those on the city and county commissions and the school board. There are many things that need to be done in any community to make it more liveable. It also takes money and effort to attract industry, and this is one of the chamber's big jobs.

We would like to see a lot of new members in the Chamber this year because it would mean a stronger community effort in all the projects that do come up.

There never was a city that made much progress without a chamber of commerce. It is worthy of our support.

Drive Gets Underway

Three prizes, along with the prospects of earning a Hereford Hustler jacket, were offered as incentives when the annual membership drive of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce was launched Thursday morning. Jeff Carlile, chairman of the membership committee, and Charlie Bell, president of the Hustlers, are serving as co-leaders of the campaign which started Thursday and continues through March 16.

The person signing up the most new members will receive a portable television set. Second-prize is an AM-FM clock radio, and third prize is an AM radio. The contest is open to all C of C members.

Bell emphasized that the contest also provides an opportunity for those who would like to become a member of the Hustlers. Those who wear the maroon jackets must earn 20 points during a year. Members receive two points for signing up an individual and four points for signing up a business.

Memberships in the Chamber are $36 a year for personal members and $72 for businesses. Posters will be displayed in both banks to promote the campaign.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTS—Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce launched a membership drive Thursday with three prizes offered top workers. Looking over the prizes are Jeff Carlile, membership committee chairman, Oliver Streu, Katherine Kester, and Guy Lawrence. Carlile and Charlie Bell, head of the Hereford Hustlers, are general chairmen of the drive.

Public Schools Week Observed

Annual observance of Texas Public Schools Week, marking the 119th birthday of Texas schools, will be this week, with several Hereford public schools participating by having open-house.

Special presentations by students, displays of classroom work and art and other events are planned in public schools for the entire week. Parents are invited to visit with teachers and ask any questions they might have concerning public education.

Bluebonnet Elementary School will have its open-house from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday when classrooms will be open and all teachers will be available for parent visits. A demonstration by fourth, fifth and sixth grade physical education students will be presented under the direction of Mal Manchec.

Tierra Blanca and Northwest Elementary Schools will have their open-house Tuesday evening with Tierra Blanca's scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. and Northwest's from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Learning Center D at Tierra Blanca will present a musical puppet play from 7 to 7:30 p.m. followed by teacher-parent visit and classroom tours.

Physical Education students at Northwest Elementary School will participate in foreign folk games as part of open-house. The students will be divided into class groups, with the third graders performing from 7 to 7:30; the fourth graders from 7:30 to 8; fifth graders from 8 to 8:30 and sixth graders from 8:30 to 9. Each group will perform five or six folk games from Mexico and Europe, under the direction of Gary Billingsley.

Open-house at Alkman Elementary School will be from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Thursday with the fifth grade students presenting a brief re-enactment of Robin Hood. Classrooms will be open and teachers will be available to visit with parents.

La Plata Junior High's open-house will precede the presentation of "Rest Assured" the all-school play, Thursday evening. The play will be presented at 7:30 Thursday and Friday evening, and the

'Y' Discussion Draws Interest

Ground-breaking work on a possible YMCA for Hereford was done Thursday when some 25 local citizens met with the executive director of the Amarillo YMCA to learn what steps need to be taken here. Ed Mills, the head of the Amarillo YMCA, presented a brief outline of the program in his city and other cities throughout the area and state. He pointed out that much smaller cities such as Dumas, Perryton and Henderson all have formed "Ys" and have succeeded in holding them together.

"In looking at the possibility of organizing a 'Y' in Hereford you have to consider gathering information—and a lot of it," Mills said.

Mills said he would send an "information kit" to Hereford as soon as he receives one and from there it will be up to the interested people of Hereford to get the ball going. Representatives from the YMCA organization will be available to help with the gathering of information, he added. "I think this community is large enough and has the resources," he said, "but, the problem, initially, is, are you interested enough—is there merit in pursuing this farther?"

Mills said to just get started in forming a "Y", some $18,000 to $20,000 will be needed for the first year then people will have to support it each year thereafter, not letting it fall through.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars organization here voted Thursday night to give some 55 acres of land to the City of Hereford to be used in the development of the rapidly-expanding city park facilities in south Hereford.

The move by the VFW came after several weeks of discussion about the donation of the land. VFW officials had met with the city commission two weeks ago to discuss the particulars of the agreement then held a meeting Thursday with members voting in favor of the donation.

The land is located south of the VFW clubhouse in Veterans Park and adjoins the approximately 120 acres now owned by the city and currently under development as a major recreational area.

"We are real proud of what the members did. They (the city) have got some good land down there and it is beautiful. They can sure make a nice park out of it," said Don Aycok, one of several VFW members instrumental in the discussions with the city.

Though details of the agreement are not finalized at this point, it was discussed two weeks ago with the city about giving a portion of the 55 acres to the Boys Baseball, Inc. program for the development of a modern playing field. Some work already has been done of the area just south of the present Pony League Park.

The donation of the land to the baseball program would, in the words of Boys Baseball president John Bunch, provide the program with "a top-notch field" that would furnish space for the 15-16 year-olds program and the American Legion team.

The amount of the land to be deeded to Boys Baseball, Inc. would be about seven acres.

Under the stipulations set forth by the VFW, the clubhouse would remain outside the city limits, there would be a monument erected at the entrance of the park designating it a Veterans Park, the city would pay for all legal costs incurred by the donation such as surveys and deeds.

Another item that came up when the city and VFW officials met was the caliche pit located on the land. In the past, under contract, the county has taken caliche from the pit whenever it was needed. The city plans to landscape that area and cover up the pit since it would be an eye-sore to the park.

Also, one small area located directly behind the VFW clubhouse would not be included in the donation because members of the organization feel they may expand the organization facilities in the future.

Funds Provide Many Benefits

While many cities and counties are throwing their revenue-sharing money into almost any project that comes along, Hereford and Deaf Smith County have gone the wise route in allocating money where it will benefit the people of this city and county.

The general consensus among county officials is that their $250,000 in revenue-sharing funds will be allocated for the construction of a new county library facility. Several other minor items have been discussed, but the majority of the funds will go for the library if it is approved later on.

The city, the recipient of some $160,000 has spread its money throughout the city for projects from street improvements to recreation facility improvements.

Funds have been allocated and bids let on the following city projects:

- Storm sewer on U.S. 60 in the amount of $42,145.
- Floating aerators at the sewage treatment plant for $10,460.
- 350, three cubic-yard trash containers for the city health department for $48,300.
- Construction of a dam, paving of roads and paving of parking areas in the city park just off South Main for $41,280, and
- A sprinkler system for the park for $23,895.

The total of the projects is $166,080 and comes from the revenue-sharing money for 1972.

Consolidation Issue Draws Attention

BY LORI HOPSON
Staff Writer

L.B. Russell, superintendent, and five other members of the Walcott school board recently attended sessions in Austin to discuss a proposed bill which would force the Walcott school to consolidate with another, larger system.

According to Russell the bill, though not yet introduced in the legislature, would declare dormant all school districts, (except county-wide districts) which do not actively provide an accredited education program in grades one to 12 and provide for the consolidation of these districts with other existing districts with accredited programs.

Russell said that the purpose of the visit to Austin was to discuss with legislators the possibility of the recommendation being passed in bill form.

"We talked to legislators from the governor on down," said Russell. "They were really favorable in their comments, and were not in favor of all this consolidation."

Russell said that the recommendations, drafted by the Texas Association of School Boards, would possibly be introduced in the form of a bill by March 8.

He added that if the Walcott district is forced to consolidate, it will be with the Hereford district, in all probability.

"In my opinion, Hereford would probably keep the school open out here, and it would be run under the administration of the Hereford school district. I feel that as long as there is a sufficient number of youngsters out here, they would keep the school open."

Russell also said that the consolidation would involve the assumption of the Walcott systems' bonded indebtedness by Hereford Independent School District.

"Our taxpayers would just pay taxes into the Hereford system," he said, "and they would assume our indebtedness. However, we feel that this is low. Financially, we're in good shape."

members attending the Austin sessions with Russell were Earnest Brown, Willis Duggan, Layton Sawyer and Richard Fortenberry.

Roy Hartman, Hereford superintendent of schools, said that should the Walcott district be forced to consolidate with the Hereford system, he would be "sympathetic" with the Walcott school.

"I am very sympathetic with parents in the Walcott area who have small children who might have to ride a school bus 50 miles or so to school. This is just not good."

He added that he personally would also be for maintaining the Walcott school under Hereford school district administration.

"I think perhaps this recommendation was intended for schools closer together, such as really small schools only six to ten miles apart. It appears this would be a good idea for them. I think it was intended for areas not as sparsely populated as we are."

Hartman said that the idea of consolidation of schools was discussed as much as eight years ago in the "Committee of 15 Study", which was established in the 59th legislature in 1965.

"It's not a new idea at all," he said. "In Senate bill No. 4, the 'Governor's Committee of 15' was established and did a great deal of study on this and on school district re-organization. It was recommended at this time, during the 59th legislative session, that school districts be consolidated that did not offer accredited high school programs."

Hartman said that if the Walcott district is forced to consolidate, the Hereford system would "welcome" it into the local district.

"The Walcott people are concerned about this, and I am concerned for them. If they are forced to consolidate, however, then we would welcome them into the Hereford system."

Both Russell and Hartman said that they expect to receive more information on the proposed bill in the next few weeks.

classrooms will be open and teachers will be available for visits from 6 to 7:30 Thursday evening.

Stanton Junior High and Hereford High School will not have open house, but school officials encourage parents to visit the schools during Public Schools Week.

New York police try to win over prostitutes

In their attempts to drive prostitutes from the streets of New York City, the police have adopted a new tactic — to win the hearts and minds of the girls by means of a fatherly letter signed by an inspector.

The letter lists two numbers the girls may call and says, "Aren't you tired of all this — isn't it about time you gave yourself a break? If you want to get out of this rat race, we can help you."

Construction Goes Forward

February, one of the unpredictable months for building permits, dropped off sharply from a year ago, but was up considerably from the same period two years ago.

This year, only 105,170 in permits were issued. That compares with the 1972 edition when 512,950 in permits were

Work is presently underway on the sprinkler system in the park and work on the storm sewer on U.S. 60 is awaiting approval from Santa Fe Railroad, according to city manager Dudley Bayne.

The paving in the city park will not begin until the sprinkler system is installed and construction of the 350 trash containers is underway.

"All of these items have had to be delayed in the past because we did not have enough money in our budget," Bayne said in reviewing the work being carried out with the revenue-sharing money.

"If we had gone ahead in the past and done these things, it would have meant an increase in taxes and we certainly did not want this," he added.

The revenue-sharing funds, allocated by the federal government to all cities and counties in the country, began pouring into the local area late last year. The money received here all came within one-month period, but future money from the program will come in quarterly over the next five years.

On tap for the city in its future program is the construction of storm sewer on U.S. 385 from Moreman Street north to the city limits, according to Bayne.

"This probably will be our next priority item. This needs to be done, but if the costs are as high as we think they might be, it could take as much as two years of revenue-sharing money," he said.

Armour History Is Subject

Tom Hamlett, general manager of the Armour & Co. plant in Hereford, was guest speaker for the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday at the Civic Club Center.

Hamlett briefly outlined the history of the company since it was founded by Phillip Armour more than 100 years ago, then gave some information on the firm's local operation. He pointed out that Armour now has 18 plants, and Greyhound Corporation is the parent company after a merger some years ago. Greyhound has 30 active subsidiaries in six general divisions, he added.

Hamlett emphasized that "Armour wants to be a good citizen of this community," and he expressed appreciation to various public officials and civic organizations for making Armour feel welcome to the community.

Armour's local payroll amounts to approximately $3 million annually, Hamlett told the Lions. The company also expends some $150,000 each year for local goods and taxes, along with an estimated $122 million a year in the purchase of cattle. The plant has more than 300 employees.

Hamlett said the company has made some plant improvements and expects to slaughter about 20 to 25 per cent more cattle next year. While Armour has local and area customers, the plant ships beef all over the United States, the manager stated. Most of the beef is shipped outside the area, and Hamlett estimated the average shipping distance as being 1,200 miles.

Hamlett was introduced by A.J. Schroeter, program chairman for the month. Nolan Grady presided at the club meeting, and several guests were recognized. Debbie Hoover presented the weekly report from the high school Leo Club.

Grady also announced plans for a membership drive, and reminded members that March will be "inter-club visitation month." He urged each member to make at least one visit to an out-of-town club.

The board also announced candidates for club officers for 1973-74. Nominees are:

President—Jim Hale, Albert Ricketts; secretary—Lanny Crump, Dickie Geris; treasurer—Bill Bradley, Joe Shollenbarger; 1st vice president—Flake Barber, Jim Holmes; 2nd VP—James Gentry, Ted Higgins; 3rd VP—

Cross said that he would like to organize scouting troops, sponsored by Blue Water Garden Apartments, for both girls and boys throughout the Hereford area. He said that the troops would have the recreational facilities at the apartments available to them for meetings and parties.

Tenants living in the apartment complex have already begun to collect money for a flag pole for the newly organized groups.

WT Group Gives Program

Scenes from last week's production of West Texas State University Drama department, Mary of Scotland, were presented in costume for Bay View Study Club and guests Thursday afternoon in Hereford Country Club, and members of the production staff discussed backstage preparation.

James Kemmering, set and light designer, explained work of the crew which constructs backgrounds for the action, and use of light for various effects.

A Hereford student in the drama department, Randy Clements, who served as stage manager and also had a supporting role in the play, added other information about staging the drama.

Guests invited by members for the program included Mmes. S.L. Garrison, Cleone Purcell, Jim Bookout, R.C. Hoelscher, L.N. Cox, Paul

4-H Clubs Hold Record Workshop

Record keeping for all 4-H projects was discussed at County 4-H Club meetings this week by Joyce Shipp, County Extension Agent.

Mrs. Shipp told of the meaning of a 4-H record to an individual club member. She said that they are a permanent account of their growth and achievement through the 4-H program. She also told them that records must be kept day by day and not year by year.

Each piece of information is a vital part of the 4-H's development as an individual. 4-H records include: written records, picture records, newsclippings, letters, things done, and others. She reminded them of the many scholarships and trips that could be won by keeping an accurate and complete 4-H record.

Some of the opportunities available are: 4-H Electric and Leadership Camp, 4-H Citizenship Short Course and Heritage Tour, THDA Scholarships, Agriculture and Home Economics scholarships, plus many others.

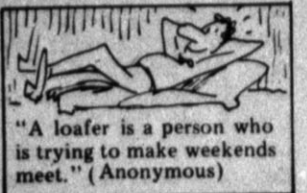

She concluded by telling the groups to set their short-term and long-term goals in 4-H club work.

"As you accomplish a goal, don't stop there, challenge yourself to another goal or set of goals," she said.

"Prohibition may be a disputed theory, but none can complain that it doesn't hold water." (Tom Masson)

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In a recent "Branding Time," you say Nixon is trying to reduce government spending. Nixon hasn't reduced any spending. He has taken money (our money) away from small communities like this and given it to the multi-million and billion-dollar war industry.

Did you know that the more responsible navy men say that the big new nuclear submarine is not as good as the cheaper Polaris which we have plenty of? Did you know that the more responsible military men say that these air craft carriers are obsolete because they are too vulnerable today with sophisticated bombs and bombers? This material will be built and scuttled in a few years. But by then, Nixon's friends will have taken their profits from the industry.

Did you know Nixon's White House expenses are about 8 times as great as Mr. Johnson's were in 1968?

Did you know that Nixon has put us in the red more than the total of Eisenhower, Kennedy, and Johnson?

Did you know that Nixon's deficit spending this year is greater than in any previous administration?

Lets drop the "big lie" he calls "economy." It is merely a matter of priorities.

Also, doesn't it strike you as a little odd that Nixon's bunch are trying to dig out corruption in past administrations in Texas—pre-Connally, of course—when he should be working on such crimes as illegal wire-tapping, forgery, perjury, inciting riot and a few other things in his own little, close group of politicians. It seems to me priorities are rather misplaced here, too.

Sincerely,
F. Dickinson

Key Clubbers Are Kiwanis Guests

Members of HHS Key Club presented the program Thursday at the noon luncheon meeting of Hereford Kiwanis Club, hosting members of the school faculty as guest speakers.

Kiwanis head Don Lane took a break from his usual duties as club president, while Key Club president Joe Sheffy presided over the day's activities. Guests were introduced by Key Clubber John Stoy, and David Loerwald gave the invocation. Key Club sweetheart Susie Hickman led the singing session for the meeting.

Guest speakers for the meeting were high school principal Jerry Don George, who expressed his approval of the Key Club program in HHS, describing Key Clubbers as "outstanding young people." "They're outstanding, dependable, and will always come through for you when the going gets rough," he said.

George continued to commend the club for its leadership, in officers and members of both Key Club and Kiwanis, adult sponsors of the high school organization.

"We are very, very proud of the Key Club organization within our school," he said. Mrs. Austin C. Rose, a Key Club parent, and teacher at HHS, expressed her reasons for being glad her son chose to join Key Club.

She commented that in a world where young people are forced to learn hatred, rebellion, prejudice and disappointment, she is proud that her son chose to join an organization with the high standards of Key Club, backed by the leadership of an organization such as Kiwanis. Mrs. Rose said that her son had learned responsibility, and to work with "active, interested, concerned adults."

"He has learned to take positive action," she said.

Members of the Kiwanis club planned to visit Hereford schools at their next meeting, March 8, as part of an observance of Texas Public Schools Week.

The club's annual mop and broom sale is set for March 16 and 17, and members were reminded of the board meeting scheduled for March 7.

GUEST SPEAKERS—High school principal Jerry Don George and Mrs. Auslin C. Rose, language instructor, were guest speakers for the Thursday meeting of Hereford Kiwanis Club. Members of HHS Key Club presented the program and directed the meeting.

Nursing Home Sets Open House

A new 118-bed nursing home at Dimmitt, named South Hills Manor, will hold open house today from 2 to 5 p.m. with a ribbon-cutting and dedication ceremony scheduled during the opening.

The $550,000 nursing home is located near Dimmitt High School, just southwest of the city limits. Business managers are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Justice, who have been in the motel and real estate business in Hereford for the past 15 years. The Justices said they will move to Dimmitt from Hereford soon.

South Hills Manor is the 57th nursing home built in Texas by the R.W. McDonnell Construction Co. of Abilene. Administrator of the home is Mrs. Hazel Dunn, who has moved to Dimmitt from Abilene. She has been in the nursing home business since 1964.

Director of nurses is Lee Kimbell, L.V.N. A 25-year resident of Dimmitt, Mrs.

Kimbell has been a nurse for 38 years. Justice said the new nursing home hopes "to attract people from all over the Panhandle area as residents."

The home's stated purpose is "to furnish aging and chronically ill senior citizens a safe, wholesome and comfortable place in which to live with a homelike atmosphere in quiet surroundings."

South Hills Manor is a state-licensed Medicaid Type 3 nursing home for men and women both ambulatory or bedfast. The home has five separate wings branching out from a central rotunda, where the nursing station is located. It includes a lounge in the entrance foyer, recreation room with piano and a television-stereo system, a small chapel with electronic organ, a large dining room, beauty shop, physical therapy room, two patios and space for hobby groups and classes.

The brick-veneer complex is centrally heated and air conditioned, and has both private and semi-private rooms. The home has an emergency lighting system, special diet service, and round-the-clock nursing care.

YOUNG TWIRLER WINS—Traci Housman, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Housman, was winner of first place among first-graders in twirling contests held at Lubbock recently. Traci is a twirling pupil of Carolyn Green.

Guests Present Films On Cancer

Importance of yearly physical examinations for early detection of cancer and so for effective treatment, was emphasized in films shown to Wyche Extension Club Thursday by Mrs. Alex Schroeter and Kathryn Acton of the county Cancer Society. Mrs. Ira Ott introduced them.

Mmes. C.F. Newsom, Frank Duncan and Ott were hostesses in Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Mrs. Larry Bingham and Mrs. Bob Thuett were new members present.

Mrs. J.H. Holden presided for a brief business session and Mrs. E.C. Hewitt Jr. reported on the recent County Council meeting and annual appreciation luncheon.

Other members at the meeting were Mrs. H.L. Ward and Mrs. Wayne Jones. The next meeting, March 15, will be in Mrs. Ward's home.

Mays Joins Campus Crusade

Percy Mays, son of Rev. and Mrs. L.V. Mays, has recently completed three weeks of training at Arrowhead Springs, and will be joining the staff of Campus Crusade for Christ International.

Percy, a 1970 HHS graduate, will be working with the crusade's music ministry with "Gideon's Band", a folk-rock singing group. The eight-member group will travel to college campuses throughout the U.S., presenting the Claims of Christ.

Founded in 1961 at UCLA, the Campus Crusade for Christ has since been extended by request to hundreds of campuses in this country and in 61 foreign nations. The staff numbers approximately 4,000.

Success with the program on college campuses has prompted the development of other field ministries including, lay, high school, faculty, athletic and military ministries. These are supported by an extensive mass media ministry operating from the international headquarters at Arrowhead Springs in San Bernardino, Calif.

Bill Bright, founder and president of the program, expressed the aims of the crusade, saying, "Young people and adults must be challenged to speak out for Christ, to take His message of love to the world."

Percy is also active in the Black Campus Ministry of Campus Crusade.

Funeral services were Tuesday afternoon in Vernon First Baptist Church. Rev. Darrell Robinson conducted the services. Burial was in Vernon's East View Cemetery. The other Vinson daughter, Sammy Massey and her husband Jeff, of Gonzales, were planning to meet the family group at the Betts home also.

Visiting the Norman Harders during the weekend were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, of Arkadelphia, Ark. They and the Harders had Sunday dinner with his parents, the Earnest

Music Students Win High Ratings

Ratings of superior were given to 33 music students who took part in the annual Junior Music Festival sponsored by federated music clubs Friday; four received this rating for the fourth time, and three earned their third Superior listing.

More than a hundred pupils of music teachers in Hereford, Dawn and Friona performed at First Baptist Church before judges who gave each an individual rating; participants are not placed competitively in this festival.

The four-year superior students are Sharla Beth Duggins, Dana Miller and Paul Lindley in piano and John Carson in voice. All are from Friona.

Three-year superiors, who receive a special certificate, are Kay Suttle and Tonya Black of Hereford and Regina Walters of Friona, pianists. Zann Zimmerman of Hereford was rated superior for the second year, playing piano solos in Moderately Difficult Class III.

Those who received the high rating for the first time were Sandy Spring and Diana Hayes of Friona, Primary II; Judy Flores, Ben Flores and Rebecca McGilvary, Primary III; Lisa Honea, Jana Green and Denise Fangman, Primary IV.

May Named Citizen Of Month

A.G. "Red" May was named Citizen of the Month by members of the Hereford and Deaf Smith County Peace Officers Association in their recent regular meeting. He was commended for his service in helping peace officers to fulfill their duties.

Roy Faubion of KPAN was guest speaker for the meeting, and complimented the organization on its work in various areas. He also encouraged members to become involved in community affairs and to become better acquainted with Hereford citizens.

Faubion made some comments on various traffic laws, stressing one in particular, that has caused some uncomfortable moments for both peace officers and judges.

The law states that any violator who holds an out-of-state drivers' license must be brought before the county judge and enter his plea at the time of the violation. If he pleads guilty, he is fined; if his plea is not guilty, he must post bond.

According to present laws, if the violator was unable to pay the fine or post the bond, he was jailed to serve time in lieu of the fine or until such time as a bond was posted.

This in itself is a dilemma, according to Faubion, and is compounded if the violator has his family with him, and no place for them to go.

Five Cagers To 4-AAAA Squads

Dan Vander Zee, Hereford's big 6-4 junior, was named to the coaches' All-District 4-AAAA team this week, while Terry Scott, 6-1 senior guard, was selected on the second team. Earning honorable mention were three more Herd cagers—Keith Kitchens, Mike Mayberry and James Harris.

Both of Snyder's selections landed on the first team, and the Tigers' Jerry Brooks was named the "Most Valuable" player in the district. Plainview's Danny Huffine was picked as the "Sophomore of the Year", while Bob Moore of Snyder and Joe Milchalka of Monterey shared the "Coach of the Year" honor.

On the second team with Scott were Dan Irons and Steve Myatt of Monterey, Henry Jackson of Plainview and Eric Felton of Lubbock High. Vander Zee was Hereford's leading scorer and rebounder for the season, and moved up to the first team after being picked as "sophomore of the year" last season. Scott repeated as a second-team choice.

ALL-DISTRICT SELECTIONS—Hereford's Dan Vander Zee, center, was named to the All-District 4-AAAA basketball team this season, while four other Whiteface cagers were recognized in the

Cindermen At Pampa Meet

The Hereford Whiteface track team was entered in the Top of Texas Relays at Pampa Saturday, with the Herd cindermen hoping for their second meet title in as many outings. Hereford won the Bulldog Relays at Plainview last week. Host Pampa was rated a strong team in the meet, which also included entrants from Amarillo Tascosa, Borger, Perryton, Dumas, and Plainview. A junior varsity division was also scheduled. Complete results of the meet will appear in The Thursday Brand. The Sunday Brand now goes to press early Saturday afternoon.

Stanton, La Plata Schools Accepted For League Play

Hereford's junior high schools have been accepted as members of the Panhandle Junior High Athletic League, it was announced this week by athletic director Larry Dippel. With the addition of the two Hereford junior highs, along with two from Canyon, the league will have 10 schools competing in all sports. The league was formerly composed of two junior highs from Borger, two from Pampa, and one each at Dumas and Perryton. The schools will compete for league championships in football, basketball, track, and golf. A track schedule has already been drawn up for the re-organized league, with the first meet set at Dumas March 17. Three golf tourneys are also scheduled this spring, with the first set for Canyon on April 14. Another is scheduled at Dumas April 28, and the third at Perryton on May 5. There will be just one golf team from each school, with 7th, 8th and 9th graders competing for berths on the team. The league has approved a zone schedule for 7th grade basketball, with the Hereford and Canyon teams being in the south zone. Winners of the zones will meet for the district championship in 7th grade play. This will cut down on travel for the younger boys. The local junior high schools have been playing an independent schedule, with no "district" titles involved. By joining the Panhandle League, the teams will have the opportunity of competing for district championships.

Boys Baseball Meeting Monday

Persons interested in assisting with the upcoming Boys Baseball program in Hereford are urged to attend a meeting Monday at Pioneer Natural Gas warehouse on East U.S. 60. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. All Bronco, Pee Wee and Mustang League managers, coaches and over-all board members, plus interested individuals, are urged to attend.

LEAGUE CHAMPS—A Hereford native, John Cornelius, third from left standing, was a member of the winners of the "A" league in the intramural tournament at Panhandle State College. The intramural program, with a broad variety of activities, attracts a large number of the student body into the program.

Nelson Opposes Changes

Glen Nelson, Deaf Smith County justice of the peace, joined other JP and constable representatives in Austin last week in wording opposition of a proposed court change. At a convention of the Justices of the Peace and Constables Association, a resolution was adopted which called for the "retention of the Justice Court and the Constable."

In the event of a change in the court system, the association called for "retention of a people's court to handle all matters traditionally handled by the neighborhood Justice of the Peace, and that such court be presided over by a judge elected by the people of his precinct."

The association referred to a plan submitted by the Chief Justice's Task Force for Court Improvement which contemplated "the elimination of the Justice Court, the court closest to the people."

The resolution pointed out that elimination of the JP Court would add many thousands of cases to an already overburdened county court. It added that "many citizens can best and most expeditiously be served in certain types of cases by informal proceedings in which litigants need not be represented by counsel unless they so choose."

The resolution further stated that "the present daily use of the Justice Court establishes the definite need for the people to have, within their respective neighborhoods, courts which are responsive to their needs and which serve as conservators of the peace and counselors for their many problems."

DE Students Recognize Education Week

Recognizing Public Education Week, March 5-10, the Hereford High School Distributive Education Students will broadcast the program and ads, which the students sold themselves, on KPAN radio, March 6.

The merchants along with KPAN radio station will sponsor the program. Participating in the program are the administrators of the schools, clubs of the high schools, vocational programs of high school, Junior high bands and choirs and the elementary schools.

DE Lab students assisted in publicizing the day by making signs and distributing them throughout town.

Ricky Locke and LaDonna Williams will perform a special music program Tuesday morning to help support the day.

Longhorns Slip Past Herd

A late Hereford rally fell short, and the Whitefaces lost a close 3-2 decision to the Caprock Longhorns in the season's baseball opener at Amarillo Friday afternoon. The Whitefaces made their home debut in a doubleheader against Palo Duro Saturday afternoon. The Herd's Bill Phillips and Caprock's Paul Smith, a 6-5 southpaw, hooked up in a pitching duel in the baseball opener. Each hurler went the route and each give up three hits. Both teams committed two errors in the close game. Right-fielder Carey Black had two hits for Hereford, and second baseman Terry Poindexter had the other single. Hereford was shut off without a threat for five innings, but loaded the bases in the sixth and seventh. An error allowed the two runs in the final frame. Caprock opened with two runs in the first frame, with catcher Darrell Nipp's triple being the big blow. The Longhorns added a single tally in the third frame on an error, passed ball and infield single. That proved to be the deciding run.

Poindexter singled with one out in the sixth and Steve Loerwald drew a walk. Ricky Peters tapped back to the pitcher, who tried for a force at second, but the second baseman stepped off the bag too soon and the bases were loaded. Smith bore down to strike out Twig Rose and David Loerwald to cut off the threat.

In the seventh, Hereford, Black got his second hit for the Whitefaces and Smith walked two batters to load the bases. Poindexter grounded to third, but the throw to home plate was wild and two runs scored.

Phillips struck out three and walked four in absorbing the loss.

Early career woman died a spinster

Esther Howland, one of America's first career women, introduced Valentine cards to the United States in 1840, making her own after receiving one from England, and selling them in her father's Worcester, Mass., stationery shop. She soon was employing a large staff in the manufacture of Valentines. She died at the age of 78, a spinster.

Don't ride brake is good advice

Many people who use their left foot to brake are guilty of "riding the brake" while driving. This habit is a major cause of premature brake wear and early failure.

Livelier Exercise Plan Sparks Invention Idea

An idea that Mrs. Howard Johnson "just played around with", then worked with seriously for two years, has resulted in a patent being allowed on the gadget she calls Shake-And-Slim, and it is on the market for use of the exercise-conscious.

Mrs. Johnson, who lives on Vega Highway 10 miles north of Hereford, is better known as a painter, art teacher and Community Players actress than as an inventor, but her invention is being manufactured by an Oklahoma firm and advertising has started in this area.

Like many useful inventions, the little exerciser she developed is a simple thing, a cylinder of heavy plastic with a handle to be grasped at either end. It is partly filled with sand which adds weight, and as it shifts and alters balance, adds to the effectiveness of some exercises.

Planned first as a waistline trimmer, the S-And-S has many other uses for spot reduction exercises and also as a muscle relaxer, Mrs. Johnson and her customers have discovered as they use it.

Exercises have been developed for back, upper arm, chest and neck muscles, chin and jaws, also for relaxing shoulders and even tired feet.

Mrs. Johnson evolved her idea when she became convinced a few years ago that keeping in good physical condition entailed regular exercise. She found, as many do, that exercise schedules were boring so she looked for something to add interest.

"I thought hard about it, and even prayed about it—and that isn't said disrespectfully because I think God intends for us to keep our bodies in good condition," she says. "When this idea came to me, my husband and I made the first working model.

"The family laughed at it, but when we showed it to a patent attorney at Amarillo he was interested and has done the necessary work to secure the patent."

Simplicity was a big factor desired by the inventor, along with a size that would make it easy to use and to store, and keep the cost far below that of the typical complicated exerciser sold for use in homes, Mrs. Johnson says.

One-Woman Show Of Art

Peggy Lang, who "likes to paint peaceful things," will display a score or more of her canvases at the Music Stand Restaurant through this month in a one-man show opening with a reception from 3 to 5 p.m. today.

Invitations have been sent friends over this area to attend the reception, and the display will be open to the public during March. Most of the paintings will be oils, with a few acrylics and watercolors. Mrs. Lang has just begun to work in the latter medium.

Landscapes are her favorite subjects, although she does still lifes also. Some of the scenes are close views of such things as the corner-post or gate in a barbed wire fence, with small details painted as carefully as a still life arrangement.

Places she has lived—the Texas coastal plains, Colorado mountains and now the Panhandle—supply her with subjects. She usually paints from photographs "because I don't have the time to go out and sit where I can watch the scene until it is painted," but she relies on her memory to help the photo, and "if the trees are in the wrong place I just rearrange the scene in my mind."

Although most of the paintings she will show are for sale, some she wishes to keep for her own home. Mrs. Lang has sold paintings in South Texas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, and lately in Taos, where some of her work is now hanging in a gallery.

She began painting as a hobby four years ago when she lived in Refugio, and studied with Gwen Branstetter, well-known artist of that city. She is a member of Hereford Art Guild, the Amarillo Fine Arts Association and the San Antonio River Arts Group.

Wife of the Rev. William Lang, vicar of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, she is the mother of a teenaged son, Kenneth, who lives at home, as well as a grownup daughter and two other sons.

Mothers Speaker

A guest speaker was heard by members of Young Mothers Study Club at its meeting this week, and plans were made for helping in the county Cancer Society's annual drive for funds.

Howard Birdwell, principal of Shirley Elementary School, spoke to the group at a meeting in Hereford State Bank Hospitality Room. Mrs. Eldon Howell and Mrs. Jim McDowell were hostesses.

Subject of the talk was Innovations In Teaching Elementary Pupils, with emphasis on the non-graded school system. Birdwell explained the purposes and methods of various experimental teaching systems used in Hereford schools, including some pioneered here.

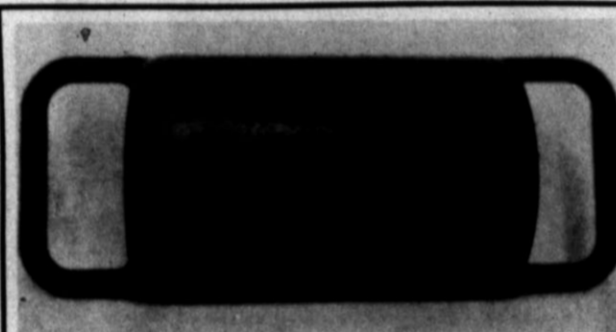

A guest, Linda Reese, was welcomed in the informal social period.

Cooking Art Is Topic

Her collection of cookbooks from other lands supplied Mrs. Gid Brown with material for a program presented this week to Vaieda Study Club, when members met in Mrs. Armon Laderback's home.

The subject was The Art Of Making Hors d'Oeuvre, and Mrs. Brown gave a number of exotic recipes for the appetizers, as well as favorites of American cooks.

She explained that other countries have different interpretations of the role of hors d'oeuvres in the menu, from that of Americans who consider them snack tidbits to be eaten standing. She served samples of some unusual creations.

By the Garden Gate

With Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjeot

Beautiful warm sunshine, bringing higher temperature. Buds swelling on the trees, tiny leaves appearing. Crocus adding that certain note of beauty in the gardens, all make a gardener want to get busy with garden chores.

With the approach of springtime, we are surrounded by miracles that man did not create. By the reasoning powers of our own marvelous minds we can be guided to see that God the Creator has made all things according to His plan, and that we can only achieve our highest development by living in harmony with it.

In the Living Bible, I found that that this wondrous miracle is stated thus, "And look: I have given you the seed-bearing plants throughout the earth, and all the fruit trees for your food. And I've given all the grass and plants to the animals and birds for their food. Then He looked over all that He had created, and the Lord placed man in the garden, as its gardener, to tend and to care for it".

This is our entrustment. Every seed, bulb, plant or tree that will be planted in this new season will contain the mystery of life and growth that science cannot explain.

Another thing which we as gardeners should ever bear in mind is to plant to beautify and purify. Gardeners, millions strong, make a significant contribution to an improved environment. All can take great pride in sharing in creating a better world in which to live. Gardening is action now toward better air to breathe and more beauty for mankind to enjoy.

Was delighted and very pleased to learn that Jim Conkright, the new president of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, included as one of his major projects—"to work for a more beautiful and cleaner city," and appointed Jay Swayze chairman of beautification.

This is a project in which ideas and needs will be limitless, and one in which every citizen of Deaf Smith County should be involved. The possibilities of making Hereford a beauty spot of Texas and the great high plains are many.

Gardening and beautification have many phases. There is not a better way to exercise, have a more interesting hobby, than gardening. It can also be financially profitable. The challenges are various. Therefore the time has come when all good gardeners should ready their garden tools and loosen up those unused muscles and purpose in heart to beautify, purify and cooperate.

SAFE YARD AND GARDEN PRACTICES
To assist in creating better and safer garden practices, the following are offered. Statistics show that accidents occur frequently to gardeners. Most accidents are caused by unsafe practices or conditions or perhaps a combination of both. It is well to be aware of the dangers that exist in the garden.

1. Select garden tools with care. Good tools are safe tools. A few well-chosen tools are better than many chosen haphazardly.

2. Use the right tools for the task at hand. Tools misused are tools abused. The right tool is a safe tool. Avoid throwing or tossing your garden tools carelessly.

3. Keep garden tools in good condition. Safe cutting tools should be kept sharp and clean. Tool handles should be smooth, strong and securely placed or attached to the tool.

4. Shovels, spades, trowels and forks should have points that are smooth and properly shaped, also kept clean. It is a good attribute of a gardener to take pride in the tools which he owns and uses. They are entitled to their own certain nook or place to be kept.

This is one of the many lessons which my late husband (Art) taught me and one which he also observed. He always took great pride in his tools and it was a pleasure to go into the toolhouse where he kept those used at home, and to also observe how he took care of other tools which he used in his occupation.

5. Avoid dull, broken, unsafe tools. If they can be repaired do so, if not discard them.

6. Garden spray materials are dangerous. Handle with care. Study directions for use and follow carefully. If materials are left, destroy. Always tightly replace cover on containers of poisons, and be sure that the label is attached and can be easily read. Study and know the antidote for each poison used.

7. After the spraying chore is completed, cleanse all used tools carefully; store all materials in a safe place. If small children or pets are in the home, a locked space is best for storage.

8. When using rakes or any tools which have prongs or teeth, be sure they are turned down when not in use. Also be sure the sharp edge of the hoe is kept down when left, while other chores are completed.

Tools left uncared for often cause serious accidents. I know because years ago I stepped on a toothed scratcher and the teeth went through my shoe sole and on through my foot and came out at the top of the shoe. Was a very painful experience and one which could have been avoided.

The doctor had to work for sometime to release the shoe and foot from the scratcher. My son Lloyd was the only one at home when it happened and he had to get me help and witnessed the ordeal. He has never forgotten the accident-therfore is a very careful gardener and one which keeps garden tools well cared for.

A good motto is, "A place for every tool and every tool in its place when not in use. Purchase good tools, the first cost is the least in the long run."

GARDEN HINTS. Patience is a keynote for the restless or early gardener. Remember weather is unpredictable. If you can't wait prepare soil by spading deep. Sprinkle soil with fertilizer and weed-killer before spading.

Brush up on the various gardening arts. Study new catalogues. Read garden reference books. Take a walk in the yard or fields and look for signs of what frosts have done to the ground.

Perhaps you will notice a tree leaf or a few grass blades protruding from a small hole in the soil? An insect has been pulling those down for food, and the result is a mini-compost pile. (Make a notation in garden notebook to make a compost pile this year).

Pause and listen to the birds singing in the sunny morning hours. Drop some bird seed for them, or other favorite tidbits.

I learned this last week that the birds nesting in the trees at my sisters' home in Amarillo are very fond of old biscuits. Each morning it was fun, to crush the biscuits and watch the birds come hopping or flying down to partake of the goodies. Nature is wonderful, is truly a great teacher.

THINK ON THIS: Make one person happy each day, and in 10 years you have made 3650 persons happy, or brightened a small town by your contribution to the fund of general enjoyment.

Homemaker Clubs Pick Same Date And Place

A coincidental announcement of changes in meeting places Tuesday, involves two local clubs with similar names, both shifting their meetings that day to the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas Co.

Young Homemakers Extension Club will have a morning meeting, at 9:30, for a program featuring the presentation of a film on cancer detection by arrangement with the Deaf Smith County Cancer Society.

An evening meeting of Young Homemakers of Texas will begin at 8 p.m. This group will also have a program guest, Mrs. Jack Wilcox, who will give a demonstration of crafts.

PROTEIN NEEDS
Technologists estimated that within 30 years, more than 100 tons of protein will be needed annually to fill man's nutritional needs and possibly twice as much as that will be needed to feed animals.

It's Always Time

Can you guess the year I'm thinking of? The birth rate exceeded the death rate. Pneumonia killed more people than cancer. The average hourly wage in manufacturing was 63 cents, and the average weekly pay was $23.86. There were no transistors, jet planes, man-made satellites, atomic power plants, interstate highways, frozen foods, antibiotics, or television sets.

What year could that have been? 1850? 1900? It was 1939—just 34 years ago.

You don't realize how much change we have witnessed until you pause for a look at the road behind.

For the most part, it has been change for the better. And for the most part, we can thank the American business system for producing it.

Our business system is the most flexible and change-oriented of all our institutions. That's because the profit incentive rewards businessmen who are quick to anticipate and respond to changing consumer needs and tastes. (The profit incentive is a discipline, too. The absence of profits will eventually eliminate businesses which are sluggish or inefficient in serving the consumer, and that is also a virtue of the system.)

Why, then, do businessmen as a group often look conservative? Largely because they do not like changes in the non-economic "rules of the game" that they cannot reasonably be expected to anticipate.

For example, take a company that has decided to invest heavily in new machinery to improve its manufacturing efficiency. This company can take into consideration its probable future business volume and the savings to be expected from the new equipment, balanced against the cost of that equipment. These are all things with which the company can—and should—be familiar.

But suppose after the company commits itself to buying the new equipment, the government adopts tax policies which discourage business modernization?

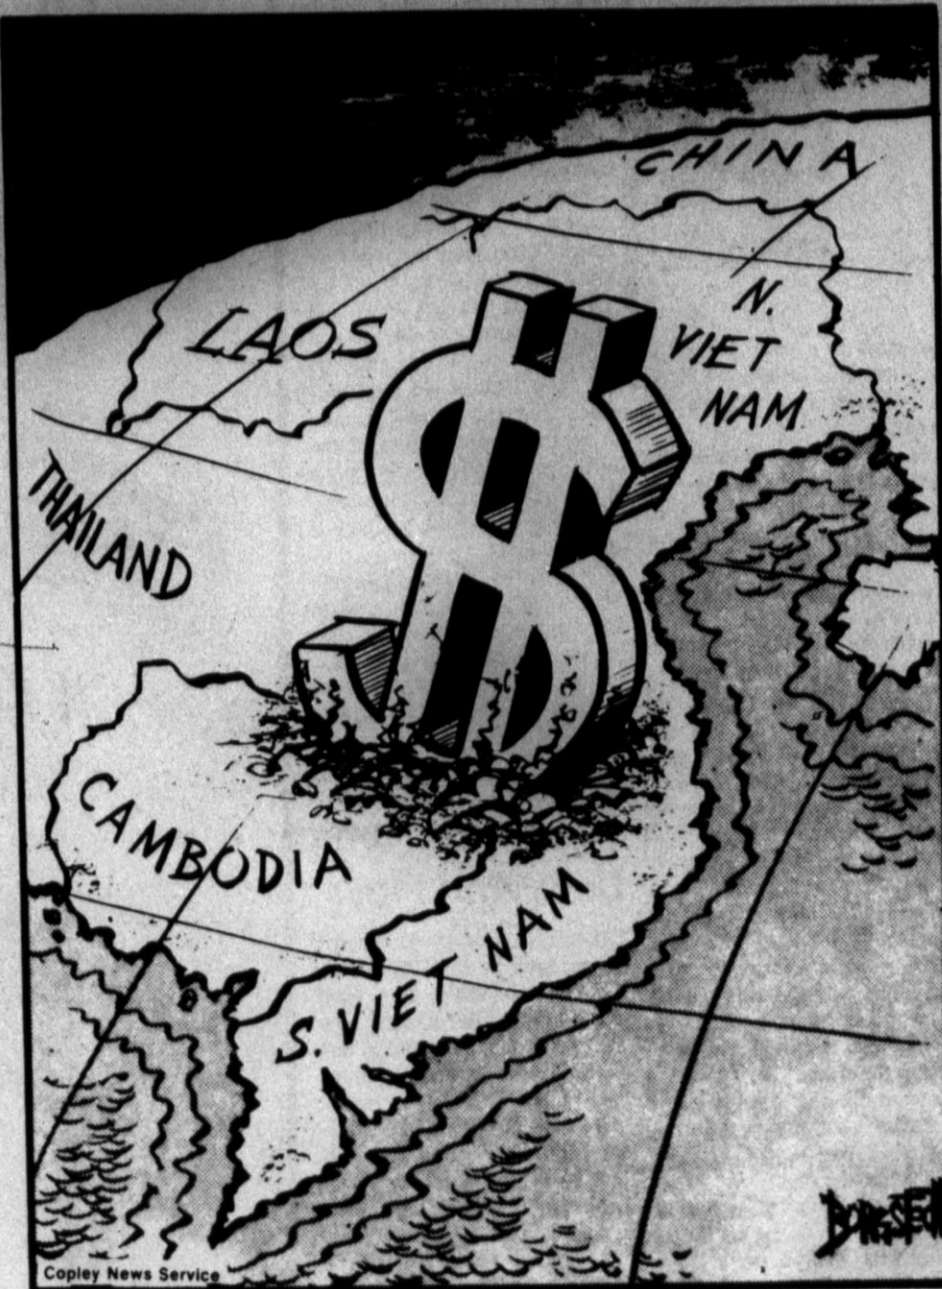

This kind of situation is one reason why even the most change-oriented businesses may sometimes appear to be politically conservative. Another reason is that government actions taken with the best of motives may actually retard or prevent beneficial change—sometimes by suppressing competition, sometimes by raising impenetrable barriers of red tape.

Is change even desirable anymore? Whether it's desirable is debatable—I think it is. But the important point is that it is inevitable. We may be able to influence the direction of change; we cannot prevent it.

Some people today confuse "growth" with "progress." But progress does not automatically imply increasing our consumption of the world's resources. Progress can mean greater efficiency in the use of those resources, or more free time instead of more money—there are nearly endless combinations in which we may enjoy the benefits of new technology... if we develop the technology.

For my part, I say let's have more change rather than less. Eliminate government policies that restrict competition, inhibit investment, or restrain productivity gains. Eliminate subsidies for inefficiency. Eliminate barriers to entry in important occupations, including union barriers. Eliminate barriers to international trade. And let 'er rip. Thirty-four years from now, 1973 may sound as primitive as 1939 does today.

More Objections Raised Over Rights

BY BERT MILLS

Washington, D.C.— Equal rights for women sounds like a good idea but the longer the proposed 27th Amendment to the Constitution is pending the more objections are raised. Although 28 states have ratified, adoption by the necessary 38 states is now in doubt.

Six states have rejected the Equal Rights Amendment in recent weeks, and at least two states which have voted ratification may rescind their action. Many legislatures that acted last year approved ERA without much debate and before opposition groups were organized.

A lobbying war is going on in many states. Common Cause is the best known group supporting ERA. Opposition groups include the Stop ERA Committee and Happiness of Women. In general, the women's lib types are pushing for ratification and more conservative ladies are opposed.

The Amendment is only one sentence: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." The words are easy to understand but the implications are widespread indeed. It should be noted the word women is not in the text. That means that all the laws that discriminate against men would be invalidated.

Examples include the divorce and child support laws, and Selective Service. While no men are being drafted currently, the law remains on the books and could be invoked at any time. Opponents argue that many of the implications were not known when Congress acted, and indeed are not known today.

Labor Laws Affected

It is ironic that for generations women have been fighting for protective legislation at the national, state and local level. It is illegal to require women to work as many consecutive hours as men, or to do heavy lifting jobs. ERA would end these special favors for females.

Prisons are segregated by sex, and that would change under ERA. Separate toilets for men and women are often required, and opponents contend that would end. Pregnant women are given special privileges. Alimony is now paid only by men to women, but it could be the other way around under ERA.

What about the white slavery laws, aimed at men to protect women? Wouldn't they have to be repealed, lest men contend they had been enslaved by women? What about bans in some areas against female impersonators? Everybody who consults the statute books can find all kinds of laws that would illegally discriminate against men.

The reason many women oppose ERA is that they enjoy the special privileges they have now. They figure they have more to lose than to gain by the Equal Rights Amendment. As far as jobs go, there is already a law preventing employers from discriminating against women for reasons of sex.

They see a Pandora's box being opened under ERA and they prefer the status quo. They don't want to be combat soldiers, or firemen, or hod carriers.

Deadline Is 1979

Proponents of ERA have until 1979 to gain ratification but that is misleading. No Constitutional amendment has ever been ratified more than two years after Congressional passage. Momentum is lost if ratification is not achieved speedily, and if a number of states say "no" others are likely to do likewise.

So the big push is on in 1973. It only takes a negative vote in 13 states to kill ERA. Most legislatures are now in session will be soon. The issue may be settled by summer. Southern states appear to be crucial, with decisions pending in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Customer Decision

Earl Butz, secretary of agriculture, had an interesting conversation the other day.

A housewife remarked to him that steaks were $2 a pound and added "That's disgusting." Butz told her that he had noted in a supermarket, right beside the steak counter, some pretty good turkeys at 55 cents a pound and some chickens at 43 cents.

"That's not bad eating," he told the lady.

But, she protested, she had turkey for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and that was enough for a while.

Butz observed that the lady doubtless wasn't very hungry, because turkey is good meat and is only a fourth the cost of steak.

The conversation points up the true cause of the rising costs of some foods.

Cattle prices indeed are higher. But it's not because the farmers are raising their prices. The farmer takes what he can get on the market for his cattle, and the law of supply and demand works here very well.

When there are more people bidding for the supply of beef than the suppliers are able to furnish, the price goes up.

There's another factor. Every person handles beef, from the cowboy who rounds up the cattle to the meat-cutter who slices it for the meat counter, must be paid. In each case, the pay rate is higher now than ever before.

Wages of meatcutters have nearly tripled in 20 years. The price of live cattle, on the other hand, is just about what it was 20 years ago.

Since the rising cost of beef in the market, a lot of studies have been made on the reason why. For years, it was thought that the middleman was taking too big a slice out of the cost of beef.

But studies have shown that improved efficiency and stiff competition have trimmed profit margins to a low level. The rising costs have to be met in some manner if a store is to remain in business, and price increases have been the result.

Beef is singled out when a study of the cost of living is made, because people like to eat beef. But we have to remember that a meal can be made without beefsteak, and when people decide that the cost of steak is too high and quit buying it, it won't be long before the price goes down.

The customer makes decisions every day that influence the price of food and clothing and the many other items that go into the cost of living. While customer decisions won't push back the cost of living, customer decisions do influence the price level.

As long as people have the money to pay more for what they want, prices will continue to rise. It takes money to support a constantly rising standard of living and that is an inescapable law of economics.

— The Perryton Herald

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tries to tackle the monetary problem this week but it may have eluded him.

Dear editor:

I had planned to explain the devaluation of the dollar this week as it relates to the world monetary situation but gave it up on the grounds that the more you explain money the less you come away informed about it, although I'll admit I can't understand what all the current to-do is about.

Why all the headlines and excitement about President Nixon's reducing the value of the dollar by 10 per cent? The stores I trade at were way ahead of the President. They reduced it 10 per cent five years ago, then reduced it 10 per cent more, then 10 per cent more, to where today a 10-cent tractor bolt now costs 30 cents, 50 cents worth of round steak cost $1.25, and the price of a 3-minute visit to a doctor's office has quadrupled.

Actually, I don't know what the value of money is based on. It used to be based on gold, but now I think it's based on whatever theory the economist you happen to be talking to thinks it is. Speaking of gold, even inflation has hit that and a report I read yesterday said its price has gone up again. In fact, it looks like if gold keeps going up it's going to be as high as meat.

But I don't want to single out just meat. Everything is in on this, and I understand some housewives always try to do their grocery shopping the first thing in the mornings because they figure most items will go up by mid-afternoon.

This of course doesn't apply to getting sick. If you're figuring on a long stay in a hospital, one time is as good as another. It's going to break you anyway.

Remember though the other side to all this is that nobody wants to go back to working for 50 cents an hour, and some of us don't even want to go back to working.

Talk of Texas

RARELY TOLD TALE—There's a taste of Texas in every glass of French wine, whether it's a vintage Burgundy or this year's Bordeaux.

In fact, there might not be any French wines available at all today if it hadn't been for the work of Thomas Volney Munson, a Texas horticulturist who is credited with saving the vineyards of France.

In the 1890's, the French wine districts were hit by a root disease known as phylloxera. Thousands of vineyards were wiped out and it appeared for a time that grape production couldn't survive in France. The French government, aware that Munson was one of the world authorities on grape culture, appealed to him for help.

For several years, Munson had developed vineyards in the Red River Valley near Denison that were resistant to root disease. Cuttings from his vines were rushed to France, grafted on the vineyards there and the industry was saved. Today every French wine traces its ancestry to a grapevine grafted with a cutting produced by Munson in Grayson County.

The French government was so grateful to Munson that it sent its minister of agriculture to Denison to present the horticulturist with the Legion of Honor. He thus became the second American in history (after Thomas A. Edison) to receive the highest honor that France could confer.

Munson died in Denison in 1913. With his death, interest in grape culture also died in North Texas. Today there isn't a trace of the vineyards that saved the French wine industry.

IT'S A FACT—The Moscow, Camden & San Augustine Railroad, which runs seven miles between Moscow and Camden in the East Texas piney woods, is the shortest railway in the U.S. still operating regularly scheduled passenger service.

Several other Texas short lines (the Georgetown Railroad in Williamson County being one) sometime operate passenger trains on holidays, weekends and as summer tourist attractions. However, the M. C. & A. mixed train (freight and passenger) leaves Camden daily at 1:30 p.m. (except Saturdays and Sundays) and returns a couple of hours later.

TRAFFIC JAM—If each of the more than 8 million registered vehicles in Texas decided to take to the road at the same time, there would be only 45 feet of highway for each of them.

According to the Texas Good Roads Association, there are about 68,250 miles of highway in the state system. Put all of the cars and trucks on the road at the same time and there wouldn't be enough room for each to stop safely. And the number of registered motor vehicles is growing every year!

HOW'S THAT AGAIN?—Fort Worth's police chief has to have a leave of absence if he goes out of town for any reason other than official business.

If that section of the Fort Worth city charter was enforced (which it isn't), the chief couldn't run over to Irving's Texas Stadium for a football game without getting the written permission of the city manager.

50 YEARS AGO—1923

If current local rumors are correct there is a possibility that outside parties may spend $40,000 or so of accumulated oil profits in sinking a test well in Deaf Smith county this year. John Root was shot through the left hand Monday at the bridge east of town by parties in a jitney, who shot at him as he raised his hand in salute.

30 YEARS AGO—1938

With a total of 1.69 inches of moisture already on record here for the month of February, 1938—and still four days to go with snow falling at the present time—the possibility of a new February moisture record was in the offing for this area. With 80 miles of REA lines already complete in Deaf Smith County, today it was announced that a contract for the construction of 96 additional miles was let.

20 YEARS AGO—1953

Texas Crude Company of Fort Worth and Midland will start Sunday morning on an 8,000 foot Pennsylvania wildcat, 16 miles north and slightly west of Hereford. First actual steps toward construction of Hereford's new $850,000 high school building were taken Friday when trustees of the district closed the sale of $600,000 in bonds through C.M. Smith of Plainview. The bonds will run for a 25-year period and were sold to three Texas firms for an average rate of 3.25 per cent.

10 YEARS AGO—1963

A pair of suspects wanted for armed robbery and kidnapping of a Hereford Family late Friday surrendered meekly to Texas Highway patrolman Ed Richards as he cornered the two on a county road approximately six miles east of the city Saturday. A petition started circulating Thursday asking that an election be called to change the Hereford Rural High School District to the Hereford Independent School District. Although only 20 qualified signatures were required, a much larger number is being sought.

Mission Services Are Scheduled For Catholics By Visiting Priest

The Rev. Albert Fuytink, C.S.S.R., a Redemptorist father from Holy Redeemer Church at Odessa, will direct a mission to be held in St. Anthony's Catholic Church March 11-17, followed by one in Spanish at St. Joseph's, March 18-24.

A mission is a time of renewal, or searching our minds and hearts, to determine whether or not we are giving fairly of ourselves towards our salvation," explains the Rev. Boniface Riedmann, pastor of St. Anthony's.

The homily at the 8 p.m. mass March 10, and the 8 and 10 a.m. and 12 noon masses March 11, will introduce the mission at St. Anthony's.

Monday through Friday, the 9 a.m. mass and instruction will be primarily for mothers of school children and all others who might find it convenient to attend.

The evening mass at 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, followed by the mission service, will be for all parishioners including junior and senior high students.

During the second week the visiting priest will open the mission at St. Joseph's, March 18, with a homily at the 9 and 11:30 a.m. masses. The 8 p.m. mass and instruction Monday through Friday will be for the parishioners including students.

The children's mission for pupils of St. Anthony's school will be March 20-22 with a daily mass and instruction at 9 a.m.

Father Fuytink has served parishes in New Orleans, St. Louis and Corpus Christi, and has been on the Southern Mission Band 17 years. For the past five years he has been giving bi-lingual (English-Spanish) missions.

He was born on August 2, 1916, in St. Louis, Missouri. He received his high school and college education at St. Joseph's College, Kirkwood, Missouri, and continued his studies for the priesthood at the Immaculate Conception Seminary in Oconomowoc, Wisconsin. He was ordained on July 1, 1942.

ICT STUDENT OF THE WEEK—Industrial Cooperative Student of the week is Robert Chavez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon J. Chavez of Rt. 1. Chavez, a senior at Hereford High School, is employed with Oglesby International as a machanic, under the supervision of Ben Plummer. After graduation from high school he plans to attend a vocational school.

Sale of Shook Tire Company, a Texas chain of 15 retail-wholesale tire stores and two wholesale stores in 16 cities, has been announced by Melvin C. Shook, President.

Purchaser of the far-flung tire organization is Baldt Corporation of New York City, a diversified manufacturer of industrial products. John Moran is chairman of the board and president of Baldt, a publicly-owned corporation which is controlled by Dyson-Kissner Corporation, also of New York City.

The consideration involved in the sale was not disclosed. Terms of the sale also provide that certain of the present store locations are to be retained by Shook Realty Company, in turn being leased to Shook Supply.

"For those of us who spent all, or part, of 42 years doing business and building what many call the largest tire dealership in Texas, the decision to sell Shook Tire Company was not an easy one," said Melvin Shook.

"However, we felt it was to the best interests of our personnel and to the future of the company to take this move."

John A. Moran, Chairman of the Board and President of Baldt Corporation, stated that the acquisition of Shook Tire Company, which will be operated as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Baldt Corporation under the name of Shook Supply Company, Inc., will mark Baldt's entry into a new line of business.

Moran further stated that the tire distribution business represents an attractive opportunity for Baldt to develop a broader revenue and earnings base, with what he believes to be significant expansion opportunities.

In connection with the sale, Shook Supply Company, Inc., has been formed as a Delaware corporation authorized to do business in Texas.

Melvin Shook is president of the new corporation; Ray Shook, San Angelo, is vice president in charge of operations; M.C. Shook, Jr., San Antonio, is vice president and supervisor of Southern Zone stores; and G.V. (Jerry) Fulton, Lubbock, is vice president and supervisor of Northern Zone stores.

"We look forward to the challenge involved in working with the new corporation," Shook added. "Since all our men are remaining with the new corporation, there will be no changes in policy or services offered our customers. The only change will be that we anticipate a more rapid rate of expansion."

Shook Tire Company was originally formed in 1931 when Melvin Shook, a brother, Raymond, and G.V. (Jerry) Fulton opened a retail store in Lubbock. Three years later another outlet was opened in San Angelo, and a gradual expansion program was initiated.

The San Angelo store ultimately became the headquarters for the chain of 15 retail-wholesale stores and two wholesale-only outlets.

Retail outlets are located in San Angelo, Abilene, Amarillo, Brownfield, Brownwood, Hereford, Lamesa, Littlefield, Lubbock, Muleshoe, Odessa, Pampa, Plainview and Sweetwater. Wholesale outlets are in Dallas and San Antonio.

Speaking of the growth of the company, Shook said: "We've had no set pattern about adding new stores. When we felt the timing was right, and when we found a capable person to manage a store, we would then proceed. We have had a closely-knit organization, and we all have confidence in each other. Our store managers enjoy considerable autonomy, and will continue to do so in the future."

We feel each store must adapt itself to the situation unique in its own community. Each of our stores must provide a service to the people it serves, and that has been, and will continue to be, our whole philosophy of doing business."

Shook stores and their managers are: Abilene, 502 Oak, Jim Turkett; Amarillo, 416 West 7th, A.G. Leard; Brownfield, 708 West Main, Sammy Key; Brownwood, 109 South Broadway, Ray Lee; Hereford, 600 West 1st, Charles Burfield; Lamesa, 107 North Dallas, L.E. Grissom; Littlefield, 1028 East 9th, Orville Bassett; Lubbock, 2614 50th, Jack Kettler; Lubbock, 1505 Avenue H, E.M. Johnson; Muleshoe, 301 North First, Robert Glass; Odessa, 700 East Second, Joe Manahan; Pampa, 220 North Somerville, B.F. Dorman; Plainview, 200 West 6th, Troy Fuller; San Angelo, 27 West Concho, Jerry M. Smith; San Antonio, 2103 Blanco Road, Jerry Ragsdale; Sweetwater, Elm & Bradway, L.D. Nunn; and Dallas, Lee Tire Associates, 9249 King James Drive, Homer Cotham.

Miss Hall-Jimmy Monroe Wed In Friday Ceremony

Mrs. Jimmy W. Monroe...nee Kerry Hall

A ceremony at the candlelight altar of First Christian Church was conducted for Miss Kerry Dianne Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Elmo Hall, and Jimmy Wayne Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Monroe, at twilight Friday.

Both families reside northwest of Hereford, and the newly-married couple will make their home in Friona.

The Rev. Gene Brink, minister, officiated for the wedding and Mr. Hall gave his daughter in marriage.

Pink daisies and white gladiolas with fresh foliage formed a large central bouquet in the wedding setting, with candelabra and pedestal bouquets on either side. The couple knelt on a white satin bench.

Miss Joni Charest was Miss Hall's maid of honor, Misses Janna Balden and Meredith Wilcox the bridesmaids. Terry Battey was best man, Jeff Deaveport and Bruce Battey groomsmen, Greg Chisholm and the bride's brother, Scott Hall, the ushers.

Candles were lighted by the bride's sister, Rhonda Hall, and a cousin, Denise Womble of Amarillo, as Mrs. Joe Hacker played organ selections. She accompanied N.E. Tyler as he sang Because and The Lord's Prayer, and played traditional marches.

Fashioned by her mother, the bride's gown was of organza over snowflake satin, the empire bodice and sleeve caps overlaid with lace which was scalloped at the high neckline, waistline and cuffs of the sheer lantern sleeves.

A scalloped band of lace edged the carpet-length skirt which shaped into a chapel train, and a narrower lace edging finished the veil, caught to a lace-bordered caplet and extending over the train. Miss Hall carried a Bible given her as a child, with a cluster of pink daisies.

Dresses of the bridesmaids were of pink sheer over satin flocked with deeper pink in a daisy chain design. Short puffed sleeves were gathered to bands of burgundy velvet ribbon, and more of the ribbon made bands and long streamers for their pink picture hats.

After the wedding service the couple and their parents received guests in the church fellowship hall, where Mrs. Phil Coker registered guests.

Misses Paula Cummings and Cindy Simpson presided at the bride's table, Misses Kay Blasingame and Wanda Paetzold at the groom's table. In the houseparty were Mmes.

Flake Barber, L.B. Russell, Tommy Blasingame, Willis Duggan and Bill White.

White net over satin covered the bride's table, with trim of pink daisies. The tiered cake was decorated in the same flower motif. Daisies surrounded a candle arrangement centering the groom's table.

Leaving on a trip to Albuquerque Mrs. Monroe had changed to a pink plaid pantsuit with white accessories. After the trip the couple will be at home in Friona Apartments on Walnut Street.

The bride, employed as a secretary with Pitman Industries, attended Clarendon College after graduation from Hereford High School last year. The bridegroom, whose work is with Summerfield Feeders, is also an HHS graduate and has attended West Texas University.

"FORMERLY OF MIAMI, FLORIDA, NOW HERE TO SERVE YOU WITH 18 YEARS EXPERIENCE"

Small Talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

SENTIMENTS OF A GOOD many club women were expressed by Cora Gentry the other day when she exclaimed, "Thank Goodness, it looks like Bud-To-Blossom Club is going to have one meeting this year as it was scheduled at the beginning!"

Sure enough it did, at DeAnn Sisson's house Friday morning. But the changes in club schedules—all clubs—has been most upsetting this year.

Usually there are a few hostesses who switch meeting places, but not the way it has been done this winter. Due mostly, of course, to bad weather, which has caused some other troubles around here too, come to think of it.

WHEN THE NEWCOMERS Club has a meeting open to the public, it's a good chance for the public to go and get acquainted with the Newcomers. There will be one like that at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, a style show which the public will probably like too.

Since the club has members who have been here up to two years, many of them are already well acquainted in Hereford, but there are always members who lately came to town, whom older residents like to welcome.

ON LEAVE AFTER a tour of duty in Vietnam, Capt. Don R. Henslee is being transferred from Ft. Carson, Colo., to Ft. Sill, Okla.; he and his wife, the former Merle Carmichael, have been here visiting their parents, the Troys Carmichaels and the Donald D. Henslees.

Now they are getting settled in their new home at Ft. Sill, which is at Lawton.

BIRTH OF A SON to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shaw, 1223 West 11th in Amarillo, was an event of Feb. 23 and the seven-and-a-half-pound boy was named Chad Errington.

An addition to the Amarillo population is of interest here because the parents are former Herfordites. Mrs. Shaw was Judy Cargo, daughter of the Bill Cargos, and Shaw's parents are the Oliver Streus.

ANOTHER LIST OF HONOR students from Texas Tech for the fall semester has been received; this time for the college of arts and sciences.

Hereford names on the dean's list are Patricia Hill, senior; Karen Bain, junior; Kevin Young, Sherry White and Wendall Albracht, sophomores, and Gerry A. Grubbs, freshman.

WRITING SOMETHING in a hurry never pays, but I keep doing it. Now I find that in this column Thursday two things were mentioned in the first half of a sentence, and the last half, which referred to only one of them, gave the impression of meaning both.

You probably know it meant that the month-long display of Peggy Lang's paintings in the Music Stand is open to the public, but invitations have been sent to the reception this afternoon opening the exhibit. Please excuse the grammar, or lack of same.

Mrs. Donald S. Phelps Jr. ...nee Judy Bartels

Judy Bartels Is Bride At Olfen

The wedding of Miss Judy Marie Bartels and Donald S. Phelps Jr., both of San Angelo, was solemnized Saturday in St. Boniface Catholic Church of Olfen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin J. Bartels of Rt. 4 and Phelps is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanders Phelps of San Angelo.

The Rev. Hubert Halfman of St. Elizabeth's Church of Lubbock officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Wedding selections were performed by Mrs. Bernie Michelwicz, organist, and the Olfen Choir.

Mrs. Ray Dierschke of Rowena, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mike Phelps of Houston, brother of the bridegroom served as best man.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Schafer of St. Lawrence, Misses Lois Halfmann of Ballinger, Connie Strube of Rowena and Jan Cooney of Kermit. June Bartels, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Groomsmen were Ray Dierschke, Gary Bartels, brother of the bride, Larry Kerr of San Angelo and Glen Burwick of Blackwell. Bearing the ring was Clyde Schwartz of San Angelo.

Ushering guests to their seats were Glen Halfman of College Station, Randy Bredemeyer of Winters, David Whitten of San Angelo and Wayne Cornelius of Lubbock.

The bride was dressed in a full skirted gown of organza with decorative Venise lace veiling the bodice and edging a scooped neckline and Camelot sleeves. The cuffs were formed with lace and lace edged the sheer veil that fell to chapel length.

A buffet supper following the wedding was held in the St. Boniface parish hall with a dance afterward. Members of the houseparty from Hereford were Barbara Bartels, Wanda Bartels and Connie Bartels, all sisters of the bride, and Connie and Roxanne Schwertner.

The couple will be at home at 731 Cactus Lane in San Angelo after a wedding trip to Mexico. The bride attended grade school in Hereford and is a 1971 graduate of St. Joseph's School at Rowena. She attended Angelo State University and graduated from San Angelo Vocational School of Nursing. She is presently employed by a hospital in San Angelo.

Phelps is a 1966 graduate from San Angelo Central High and served in the United States Navy. He attended Texas Tech University and presently attends Angelo State University where he is a junior agriculture major.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Lowake Steak House of San Angelo.

The bride was complimented before her marriage with a lingerie linen shower in the home of Miss Lois Halfmann of Ballinger and a miscellaneous shower at the REA Medallion Room in Hereford.

Board To Be Hosts At Concert

To make a social occasion as well as a musical event of the season's final Community Concert Association program Monday evening, officers and directors will greet members in the foyer before the concert by the Lee Evans Piano Trio.

Admission is by CCA membership card to the program in Hereford High School auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m. Assisting the board members as hosts, a group of high school girls will serve as ushers.

Hazen Woods, president of the association, has asked for confirmation on dates for "hold" attractions on next season's program, and expects to be able to announce them at this concert.

Lee Evans, pianist who is accompanied by bass and percussion in the trio, has played night club engagements and on such television programs as the Ed Sullivan Show, Tonight Show and a spectacular, The Gershwin Years, has made nation-wide concert tours since 1962.

He is known for his interpretation of pop standards, show music and also popular classic melodies. A New York native, he began study of music as a child and even military service failed to interrupt his career as he was rehearsal conductor for the Army Band at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

The trio's concert here completes a CCA year in which the Young Americans singing group and Jorge Morel, guitarist, have been featured.

After this program, membership for next season may be renewed by present members; the annual week of enrolling new members has been set for next September, with Mrs. Richard Ottesen and Mrs. J.H. McCrary jointly acting as chairmen.

Members Enrolled In TOPS Club

Ten new members enrolled in Calorie Patrol TOPS Club in February it was announced at this week's meeting. They are Mmes. Gene Vaughan, Bill Austin, Ida Henderson, Jim Garner, Brice Glass, Harlan Barber, James Bullard, Tom Draper, John Warren and Christine Rhodes.

Total net weight loss for the 125 members present at the meeting was 12 pounds.

Best loser of the month, Mrs. Gene Vaughan, was crowned queen with a 7½ pound weight loss. Runner-up was Jo Hill with 3½ pounds.

Miss Hill also won the floating prize for weight loss, which she must not open until she has lost consistently for three weeks. If she fails to do so, she must forfeit the prize.

Today is when we build a lot of tomorrows out of yesterdays.

RC Month Puts Spotlight On Volunteers

BY CORINNE NEELY

(NOTE: Today is national Red Cross Sunday, beginning the observance of March as Red Cross Month. Probably best qualified to tell of the organization's work in Deaf Smith County is Mrs. Neely, formerly the executive secretary and a leader for many years)

When the Vietnam POWs were released a Red Cross symbol designated the planes which were to carry them out. This emblem is always used as a sign of mercy regardless of any and all conditions.

Front pages of papers in large red headlines now tell us the International Red Cross, of which the American Red Cross is a part, will be searching for the missing thousand-plus servicemen supposed to be in North Vietnam. This will be carried on with that country's consent. This shows the scope of service of Red Cross.

Since March has long been observed as Red Cross Month, the Deaf Smith County Chapter, chartered since WWI in 1917, joins the national observance.

At one time, before the chapter along with other local agencies formed the United Fund which became United Way this year, it conducted its campaign for funds in March. Now the month is used for public information about the chapter.

Recently a weekly nationally-read newspaper carried a front page article on Red Cross titled the Bitten Hand but contrary to the heading it was a tongue-in-cheek piece dubbing the organization out of date and "fuddy-duddy".

Many old fashioned customs and ideas are still accepted as good and workable in our fast changing world. This recent inclusion of Red Cross in the peace movement and actions prove this.

So do the thousands of volunteers who carry on the services of the American Red Cross. In our county the volunteers number from 150 to 200 to one paid executive.

And did you know, that because of continuing failure of the United Fund the local chapter is facing a crisis? For the past three years Genevieve Miller, executive secretary, has given three months each summer as a volunteer for the half days the office was open.

This chapter was once considered one of the model chapters of the Panhandle. What is going to happen to it now remains to be seen.

Scores and scores of local chapter volunteers show their belief in Red Cross as they go about doing the many services offered by the chapter to the community.

To name a few of the representative or outstanding ones for their hours of service, even years, and the many angles offered, herewith are a few:

Under the heading of the Uniformed Volunteer Services (ones who have been trained and have the experience to wear uniforms if they wish) is a leader in a variety of services, Mrs. Andrew Kershen.

She served as chairman of the group for two years. They hold report and business luncheons once a month. At the time clubs were sponsored by Red Cross for service-men's wives and mothers, she served as family relations moderator for the wives and belonged to the auxiliary group of mothers.

She headed the Red Cross Ditty Bags for Christmas for a number of years, also took a leading part in providing layettes for some servicemen's wives, and had a group under supervision to make hospital jackets for the men and woman of the Temple Veterans Hospital.

Besides this she took time as a volunteer on the board of directors for the Satellite School. Any community service as a volunteer also counts as Red Cross work.

Among others to be mentioned is Mrs. Tommy Crawford with her assistant, Debbie Beuchler. Glenice Crawford served as chairman of the volunteers until her recent resignation when Mrs. Sam Morgan completed her term.

Mrs. Crawford with Miss Beuchler were assigned to the disaster committee of clothing. They worked this out with their church clothing room and have been of great help in fitting fire victims with clothing. Both women have also given hours to the Meals on Wheels program.

Isabel Martinez, a nurses aide at the hospital, took off-duty hours to help with patients at Westgate with rides in their wheelchairs. She soon became a great favorite among the residents there with her cheerful and smiling ways.

Outstanding too, is Marilyn Culpepper's work, worth-while to her and to recipients of her help. She directs study of the English language, using the Laubach system. She began with a Korean bride of a Mexican-American and now has two full classes of people eager to learn.

Of other volunteers, working as an instructor of one of the chapter's oldest services of First Aid, is the chairman, Baxter London. He is on the board of directors as chairman for four years of this work.

To his most recent credit was a class of hospital administrators and nurses of the Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt, also a H.D. Club-sponsored group of men and women from Hart, who met in Dimmitt. A class at St. Josephs Mission of the Labor Camp, as well as Boy Scout groups are credited to him.

Disaster chairman, Don Shipley, and his wife, Mary Tom, both are qualified Basic First Aid instructors and they presented the BFA course of study to a group of farmers in the Simms community. This is sponsored by the Simms Lions Club to help the farmers in accordance with the First Aid regulations passed in the Federal government.

Gary Billingsley is teaching Basic First Aid in his P.E. classes at Northwest School.

Longest in years of service as a first aid and water safety instructor is John Gilliland. John used to attend classes as a youngster which his father taught since the time of WWII. He has to his credit in first aid six years and 13 years in water safety.

One of the hardest workers for 10 years and many class hours is Mrs. E. Rush. She has taught all stages of the water safety course and has been depended upon year after year to carry on Hereford's best known Red Cross service, because more people, from children to adults have taken advantage of the free classes. The fee collected from the students goes to the city for use of the pool.

Various rural areas from time to time have members on the board of directors to represent them. These areas have always been supporters of the Red Cross both in finances and services rendered and asked for.

At present three women represent the large western half of the county. They are Mrs. Willis Duggan, Mrs. Elmo Hall and Mrs. Buel Monroe.

Executive members of the present 20-member board (of whom you will hear more later) are John Poindexter, chairman; Lee Umstead, vice-chairman and public relations; Mrs. Gaylon Bryan.

In this group should be included Cecil Braly, who acts as a staff-aide in the office of Mrs. Miller when she has to be out of town. He keeps the office at the time and is on call for emergency wires when she can not be reached. He is her right-hand man for the office.

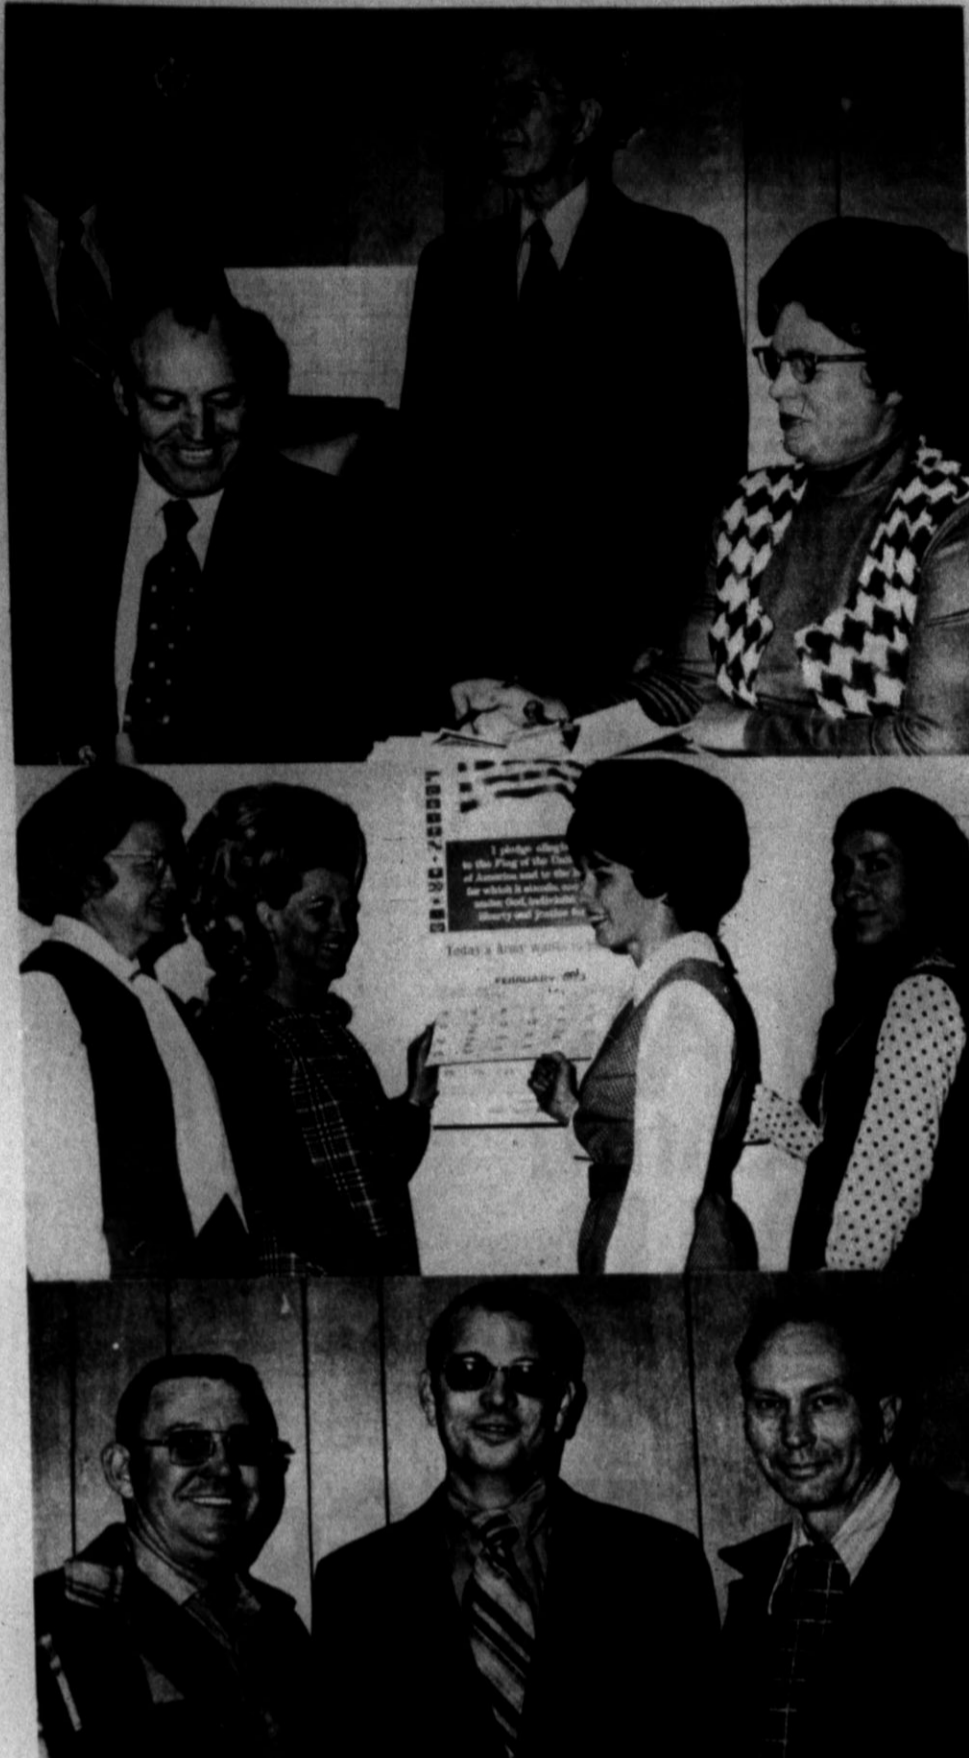

Heading the nursing service for the past four years has been Mrs. Glenn Anderson. In her term she has added many nurses to the rolls for service in emergencies, such as disasters, both locally and in other towns (when not on duty).

Mrs. Anderson has had as her representative at the local hospital Mrs. R.E. Seigler and now Mrs. Billy Miller. With their help nearly 50 nurses, LVNs and student nurses have taken the Red Cross orientation class of six hours, as well as the first aid class in the student nurse training.

All of these have earned or will earn their Red Cross Nursing badge (pin) or one of the LVNs which differs a bit.

These services and others are available as needed in the community; the many volunteers who act as instructors, workers and leaders prove that your red cross is at work.

Social Security

Q. I have Medicare and a hospitalization policy that I have had for several years. Do I need to keep both?

A. If you have any questions about a private insurance policy and what it covers, it would probably be best for you to contact your insurance agent or the company. They can tell you exactly what effect, if any, Medicare will have on your policy's coverage. If you need information on what Medicare covers, call or visit your local social security office.

Q. I will enter the hospital shortly and I need to know what Medicare will pay on my hospital bill.

A. The hospital part of Medicare covers almost all the services you would ordinarily receive in a semi-private room in a participating hospital. However, it does not pay the first $72 nor does it cover services by a private-duty nurse, the first three pints of blood, or personal comfort items, such as telephone, television, etc. It will pay for a private room only if it is medically required.

Q. When will Medicare pay for ambulance service?

A. Charges for ambulance transportation are covered by Medicare when a person is ill or injured to the extent that any other means of transportation would be hazardous to his health. In addition, the transportation must be to a medical facility that is equipped to treat his condition and is within the general community in which the emergency occurred. See your social security office for more details on amount of coverage.

PONYTAIL BY LEE HOLLEY

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
This little trick is for anyone who is on a tight budget and wants to restyle her pants to make them more fashionable:
As it's all the rage now to have wide, wide pants, and mine had skinny legs, I took an old two-piece linen suit and used the top for the blouse to go with an old pair of slim-jims.
Then I slit both seams on each skinny leg and inserted a "V" nearly up to the knee on each leg.
The insert can be made as large or as small as you like—whatever suits your fancy. (These "V" inserts were cut from the old skirt!)

Now I have a darling pants suit all for nothing. Anyone could take a plain dress or shift, etc., and cut it off, making it into a tunic and use the leftover material for the inserts.
If it happens (as it did in one case with me) that your pants are too short in addition to having the skinny legs, put a one-inch band of the leftover material around the bottom. In fact, it even adds a little extra zip.
Can you beat that one for fun and saving?
Mary McCoy

Now aren't you sweet?—walking down the street. And I tell you very confidentially—I think you are the smartest.
All my love,
Heloise

GET THE POINT?
DEAR HELOISE:
I'm sure lots of good ball-point pens are thrown out because the user can't get them "going."
Many a pen can be saved by the use of a lighted match. Hold it to the point briefly and watch out not to burn the rest of the pen. This melts the ink into action lots of times.
If your pen is all plastic, be sure to remove the cartridge first.
After heating the point, draw circles real fast on a piece of paper. If it isn't out of ink, it will start working again.
Sure do get a lot of pointers from your column and your books.
Mrs. S. W. Wiley

... If you have more than one ball point pen, remove all the cartridges, drop them into a small pan of boiling water and turn off the heat. Leave them until the water gets cool.
Replace in pens and write to me again!
Heloise

PICTURES PLUS!
DEAR HELOISE:
We use the color film that develops in a minute, with the stiff cardboard backings.
If the backings are put on the prints, it makes the pictures too thick for the individual pockets on the plastic album pages.
So, we put the prints right into the pockets without the backings. They are perfectly protected this way as this is their permanent position.
But we have quite a collection of the backings!
My sister came up with this idea:
Cut out cute pictures of all kinds of things that your little ones would like. Since the backings have self-adhesive, the pictures can be secured in place without any trouble at all.
My 21-month-old son loves to play with his "pictures." And they are very durable—even he has trouble trying to damage them!

These cards are also a good size and thickness to make and use as flash cards for those little ones at home.
Julia Nation

TO TOP IT ALL!
DEAR HELOISE:
This is a real economical saving.
Try using one cup of cold milk instead of one-half cup to a package of prepared topping mix.
Thoroughly mix the powder in the milk with a fork. Then beat until topping peaks. With the extra milk, it requires a little longer beating.
You will be surprised at the much finer texture and the flavor of real whipping cream.
It will last nicely for several days in the refrigerator.
Thrifty

Couldn't believe it, but it does work beautifully.
Heloise

ALL DOLLED UP
DEAR HELOISE:
I have two teen-age dolls. My mother gets dresses from certain companies and they send bits of material. I use them for place mats and for little beach towels.
They are handy if you have these teen-age dolls. They have other uses, too.
Cindy Smith

ADDED FOOTNOTE
DEAR HELOISE:
People who are walking or standing all day usually develop calluses.
To avoid this, I scrub the bottoms of my feet with a stiff brush—every day—in the tub.
An old hairbrush is ideal to use for this job.
Miss E. Mark

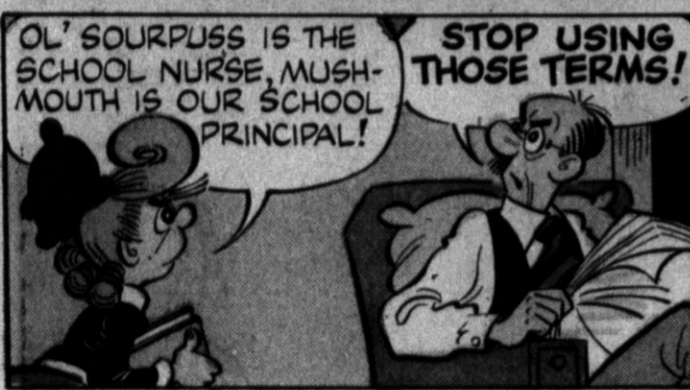

MILK CAN BE GOOD!
DEAR HELOISE:
This is what I do to keep the opening on a can of milk from closing up with dried milk:
Just blot it with a scrap of clean paper napkin or paper towel immediately after pouring. Work the paper down a little into the opening to get all the milk out of it. Then put a lid on it.
It's ready to pour next time you need it. No need to dig in with the point of a knife!

Remember to always make two openings, one opposite the other. Makes for easy flow.

LETTER OF THOUGHT
DEAR HELOISE:
I've finally found a way to get over the feeling nobody loves you.
Whenever I go away from home for a week or two, my mother writes to me.
I always save and cherish these letters.
If I get mad at her when I come home, I just pull out these letters and read them. They usually make me feel better.

ALL SEALED UP
DEAR HELOISE:
If you use sealing wax, you know how hard it is to get the last of the stick.
I always burned by fingers ... till today.
Just push a toothpick into the end of the wax. That way you won't get burned, and you can use all your wax.
