

Committee may check Hanford site choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee says Sen.-elect Brock Adams has convinced him that the committee should investigate the selection of the Hanford nuclear reservation as a finalist for a national nuclear waste dump.

The committee will hold hearings on the U.S. Department of Energy's choice of Hanford, in Eastern Washington, and two other finalist sites early next year, said Sen. Bennett Johnston, a Louisiana Democrat.

"There is no question the country needs a place in which to put nuclear waste," said Johnston. "I have no desire to dismantle the program. But we need to see if it has been developed fairly, or whether it has been politicized."

Tim Zenk, spokesman for Washington Gov. Booth Gardner, said "that's great" when he learned of the prospective hearings.

"That's what the governor wanted," Zenk added. Gardner has helped the state mount a fight against the process the federal government used in choosing the three sites.

Adams, from Washington state, is trying to win one of two new Democratic seats on the Energy Committee, and Johnston, who said he decided on the Hanford probe after having a talk with Adams, said he hoped Adams would be successful.

"I've seen the appropriate people and done the things which need to be done," Adams said of his effort.

The Democrats' new 55-member Senate majority begins selection of committee assignments later today.

Sen. Dan Evans, R-Wash., returns today from a trip to Europe and the Middle East and must fight to stay on the Energy Committee because he has the least seniority of 10 Republicans on the panel and the GOP is expected to lose one or two seats.

Zenk said the governor's office ideally would like both Evans and Adams on the committee because two would be better than one.

Evans' aides said Wednesday that Sen. Pete Domenici, R-New Mexico, might relinquish his seat on the committee, but Domenici's office said the issue has yet to be discussed.

Incoming Democratic senators have different opinions on the nuclear dump issue.

Adams and Nevada's Sen.-elect Harry Reid of Nevada, where a second finalist site is located, used the issue to capture Republican-held Senate seats in the Nov. 4 election. The third site is in Deaf Smith County, Texas.

But North Carolina's Sen.-elect Terry Sanford comes from a state that has supported the DOE's site selection process since the DOE abandoned plans to find a second repository site somewhere in the East.

Sanford said Wednesday that he sympathizes with Adams and Reid but will continue to oppose an Eastern repository.

In Labor Camp

Some residents still squabbling over water rates

By SHAWN COCKRUM
Staff Writer

Labor Camp residents were turned down again this week in their request for lower water rates.

Residents of the Labor Camp have been upset about the high cost of water since July of this year, the water board, which consist of four residents of the Labor Camp, have on two occasions discussed the possibility, but killed both rate decreases before a vote.

In an Aug. 6 meeting, board members proposed a decrease in the rate, and a decrease in the minimum water usage. Water users have been charged for a minimum of 1,000 gallons of water. In the Aug. 6 meeting, the board proposed that the minimum be changed to 200 gallons of water.

But before the board could take any action, the audience began demanding greater increases.

As a result, all four members of the board, the water operator, and the secretary all resigned.

Board president Maria Alejandre said at the time that she had been harrassed about the situation and that she "was not going to take any more of this."

Since that meeting, the board retained its positions along with the water operator and the secretary, but residents are still complaining.

Alejandre said that the residents compare their bills with those who receive water from the City of Hereford. "You can't compare those bills, we have to charge more because when this board took over, there was a lot of money owed. We have to pay people back and try to put money away in case something breaks, they don't understand that."

Delia Guerrero, president of the San Jose Rights Committee said she, along with other residents, have tried to look at the books to see where the money is being spent.

"They would not let us look at them the first time we went, so we went back the next day and the office was closed. She (Alejandre) said we could look at them the next day at 4 p.m. She then said we would have to come down right then because she would not be there at 4.

"They keep doing this, they schedule meetings for the night time then secretly have them during the day, they say they have posted notices for the meetings in local stores but when we ask the store owners about them, they say they never placed the notices. They are trying to hide something."

Stocking Fund will definitely be conducted

The Christmas Stocking Fund will definitely be conducted again this year in Hereford, it was announced today by a group of interested citizens who have taken over sponsorship of the program.

A group of men who had conducted the project since 1980 had announced recently that several problems were causing them to discontinue the program. However, volunteers have formed a new CSF committee and the anonymous citizens will keep the program going.

The Hereford Brand will continue to act as the fund-raising agency for the Christmas Stocking Fund. The Red Cross office will accept applications for the needy families, but it will not be involved in the administration of the program. Applications and requests turned in to the Red Cross office at 224 S. Main will be passed along to the CSF committee.

The Brand is now accepting contributions, cash and checks only, to be used to buy food and clothing for less-fortunate families. The newspaper will publish the names of donors and report the fund total from time to time between now and Christmas.

Cash or checks can be taken to the newspaper office at 313 N. Lee, or mailed to the CSF, P.O. Box 673. Each contribution will be listed in the newspaper. Those who wish to remain anonymous should so indicate on their contribution.

The CSF project raised $8,061 last year, helping make the holiday season brighter for 105 families in the community. Thanks to the caring and sharing of citizens in the community, the program has raised almost $44,000 in the past six years. All of the money is used to help needy families—there are no administration costs involved in the program.

44 names drawn for 'Best Christmas Ever'

How would you like to live for free in December?

It could be Mel Ruth Aikin, Lloyd Ames, Betty Barrett, Rick Brown, Gene Brock, Shirley Barber, Cathy Burns, Charlie Bell, Mary Bell, Leonard Bartels or Ivan Block.

The first drawings in the "Best Christmas Ever" promotion were held Thursday and 44 names went into the box for the grand-prize drawings to be held Dec. 18. Four more weekly drawings are scheduled before the grand prize is awarded.

The winner could be Boyd Collins, Justo Cepeda, Ralph Cervantez, Pat Fowler, Gloria Figuerias, Roland Gonzales, Melinda Henson, Margarita Hernandez, Lisa Huckert or Betty Hammock.

The participating merchants drew a name from their boxes yesterday, then emptied the registration boxes to start another week of the contest. Another drawing will be held by each merchant next Thursday and more names will go into the grand-prize box.

Others who made it in the preliminary drawings Thursday included Paula Miller, Joyce McBride, Pauline Mandina, Sylvia Noyes, H.L. Newman, Arthur Robinson, Grace Robertson, Beatrice Ruiz, Mrs. Mike Schumacher, Daria Skaggs, Junell Schilling, and Sandy Slentz.

The grand-prize winner will have his or her bills paid for one month. Participating merchants have put more than $1,200 for the award.

Other first-round qualifiers are Alma Shugart, Josefina Salazar, S.D. Shaw, Jeff Smart, Denise Teel, Harriett Trujillo, Connie Urbanczyk, Angie Vigil, Mary Ward, Hazel Warrick, Donna West.

The promotion is sponsored by the retail committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Visit the participating stores and register each week—you could be the lucky winner!

Shock, dismay, anger among emotions over Smith's store closing

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Local dignitaries and citizens reacted with shock and dismay Thursday over the closing of Smith Food & Drug, announced Wednesday as part of a sell-out to Furr's, Inc.

Mayor Wes Fisher said his concern "is with the people who have lost jobs and needed income at the worst possible time of the year."

In response to Smith's statement that the decision was made because of the changing economic picture in West Texas since the company first looked at the site three years ago, Fisher replied: "Our economic picture isn't great right now, but it certainly is no worse than it was when Smith's began building here, and this will not help any."

Bill Harris, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce president, said "it was certainly a surprise to me to learn of Smith's closing." I was encouraged when both Save 'n' Gain and Smith's opened here earlier this year. It appeared they were pulling in trade from the surrounding area which was helping the other businesses in the community."

Harris added that the local economy "probably has not been as good as the two stores anticipated. We hope the other stores in town will pull together and help these people who have lost their jobs."

A few shoppers at Smith's, asked about their feeling Wednesday afternoon, were also disappointed. Comments such as, "I sure don't like this. It will do away with competition and the prices will go up"...or, "I don't think I'll go to Save 'n' Gain because I want full service when I shop," were heard at the store.

Boyd Moffett, manager of Smith's, agreed with the price comment. "I imagine it won't take long for prices to go up," he said.

Kenneth Lee, a Smith's employee, reacted strongly to the news. "I think we, as a community, would be better off to remain faithful to stores who have a commitment to the community and give back something to Hereford. These 'food giants' have no commitment to anything but making money."

Bobby Moore, Jack & Jill owner, said "we have had a real up-and-down year emotionally, but we have a link to this community and will continue to serve Hereford the best way we can." Moore remodeled his store and made it smaller after the opening of the two big supermarkets.

"We will reopen on a larger scale, though how big we will be is not determined at this time. We will know more about that next week." He added that "we will immediately restructure our prices to reflect a more competitive fee with other full-scale stores, since we have been competing more with convenience stores recently."

The manager of Taylor's grocery store was not available for comment. The Brand has not received any official announcement from Save 'n' Gain.

Lester Rape, manager of the local Texas Employment Commission office, expressed his concern for those laid off at Smith's. "This will raise our unemployment rate to almost 12 percent, meaning about 900 people out of work and actively seeking employment in our county. There just are not many jobs and not much hope for these people finding work here at this time."

...I think the people of Hereford will pull together and help these people through this time.

Rape explained that only those employed prior to Smith's opening will be qualified for unemployment compensation, as eligibility is determined by length of time employed and Smith's wasn't open that long. Those wishing to apply need to register at the TEC office.

Rape advised that those who register need to bring their social security number, employer's names and addresses, and the date of last-day worked. Rape explained that the process is complicated and can take from one-half to two hours, depending on crowd size.

The average unemployment check is $75 to $100 a week, explained Rape, and the maximum is $200 but very few people draw that much. Rape said it would take about two weeks before those that qualify can expect to get their first check.

Joe Gonzales of the Texas Department of Human Resources noted that the eligibility for food stamps is also a complicated process with a formula based on assets and income. "It would take probably three weeks for those qualified to receive any assistance."

The mayor summed up the situation by saying, "It will be a tough time for these people who lost their jobs. Hopefully, Furr's won't let that million-dollar building sit idle for long, so we do have some positive hope. I think the people of Hereford will pull together and help these people through this time. Hereford has the kind of people you can count on when times are tough."

For The Record

Gene Brock, Hereford High School Key Club sponsor, shows the T-shirt which was given to the 152 blood donors who helped break a record Thursday afternoon for the number of units contributed in a one-day blood drive. The shirts have the message "I bled for Key Club International-Hereford Key Club Drive '86." Coffee Memorial Bloodbank provided the medical crew for the drive.

NAB claims TV is used as scapegoat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Association of Broadcasters says critics who point to television and radio as the culprits in the increasingly negative nature of political advertising are on the wrong wavelength.

"They really don't control the situation. The blame that's been placed on broadcasters is misplaced," NAB executive vice president John Summers said on Thursday.

"Many people do not realize that the law renders broadcasters powerless to police the content of negative ads in which the candidate appears," said NAB joint board chairman Ted Snider, a Little Rock, Ark., broadcaster.

Summers said the NAB, which represents 4,800 radio and 900 television stations, would recommend to Congress that it call for a "substantial" connection to the candidate. Theoretically, a candidate might be reluctant to air negative ads if he or she was more closely identified with the mudslinging.

Jet examined for possible cracks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines flying the Lockheed L-1011 are examining the wide-body jetliner, looking for possible cracks in the wing supports after a 6 3/4-inch fracture was found in the wing of a Delta Air Lines jet.

The Federal Aviation Administration ordered the emergency inspections, covering nearly 100 airplanes, on Thursday, requiring the airlines to examine each plane within 50 flying hours, probably about a week in most cases.

U.S. airlines operate 117 of the aircraft, according to officials of Lockheed-California, which built 250 of the planes between 1970 and 1983. Three airlines — Delta, Eastern and Trans World — together fly 94 of them.

Spokesmen for the three air carriers said the inspections are either under way or — in the case of Delta — already have been completed. All three airlines said the examinations would not interrupt normal air service since the work can be done while the planes are undergoing routine maintenance.

The FAA action was taken after the National Transportation Safety Board raised concern about possible metal fatigue in the wing support beams of older L-1011 jets because of what happened to one of the Delta jets after it landed Nov. 13 at Newark, N.J.

The NTSB recommendation for "immediate inspection" and the FAA order covers at least 93 aircraft, those with at least 10,000 takeoffs and landings. The Delta jet involved in the Newark incident had 21,788 takeoffs and landings, the safety board said.

NTSB officials investigating the incident reported finding a 6 3/4-inch crack in the right wing's rear support beam, or spar, which runs under the metal skin almost the length of the wing. The crack was found about five feet from where the wing connects to the fuselage, just over the landing gear and near a fuel intake valve, investigators said.

UN backs Libya over the U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations has condemned the United States bombing raids on Libya as illegal and says the North African nation is entitled to compensation for "material and human" losses suffered in the attack.

The world body on Thursday passed a non-binding resolution condemning the raids by a vote of 79-28, with 33 abstentions.

The resolution was sponsored by 27 countries, mostly Arab and Soviet bloc states. The United States, most of its Western allies, Japan, Israel and a few Third World nations opposed it. NATO members Greece and Turkey abstained.

Ali Abdussalam Treiki, the Libyan U.N. ambassador, welcomed the vote, saying it "affirms the falsehood of all the charges" made by the United States.

Irene Payne, spokeswoman for the U.S. mission to the United Nations, said the resolution "failed to address the central issue of importance, which is Libyan terrorism."

The resolution said the raids violated international law, called on the United States to refrain from threatening or attacking Libya again and said Libya was entitled to compensation for the "material and human losses inflicted upon it."

Libyan officials said 37 people died in the bombing raids and 93 were injured, while Western diplomats put the number killed at 100.

Libya had asked the 15-member U.N. Security Council in April to condemn the raids, but the measure was killed by a veto from the United States, Britain and France.

A condemnation by the Security Council would have carried more political weight than one by the General Assembly.

U.S. officials said the April 15 raids on Tripoli and Benghazi were in retaliation for Libyan-sponsored acts of terrorism, including the bombing of a West Berlin nightclub that killed two American soldiers and a Turkish woman.

International

Anniversary marked by violence

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Violence erupted on both ends of the 1,000-mile Mexico-Texas border on the 76th anniversary of the Mexican Revolution.

While 30 people were reportedly injured in Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, no one was reported hurt in rioting in Matamoros, whose Texas sister city is Brownsville, near the Gulf of Mexico.

About 1,000 supporters of the opposition National Action Party blockaded one of four bridges linking Juarez and El Paso Thursday night, vowing to stay in place until police free Gustavo Elizondo, PAN president in Juarez and a former mayoral candidate.

Elizondo was among 20 people arrested when riot police tear-gassed a PAN parade in downtown Juarez earlier Thursday, said Oscar Rivas, PAN federal representative.

In Matamoros, some 4,000 students and other youths broke windows, set a bus ablaze and damaged shops in a demonstration after a parade there. Police broke up the demonstration against higher transportation prices, but no injuries were reported, said Jose Mireles, secretary for a police magistrate.

In Juarez, former Mayor Francisco Barrio, an ex-PAN gubernatorial candidate for the state of Chihuahua, said the ruling party "made a grave mistake on their part, to use force against the people."

Police report

The Hereford Police Department heard a report of assault in the 400 block of Ave. F Thursday. There were no injuries and no charges were filed.

Police also heard a report of burglary of a residence in the the 300 block of Centre. Reported taken were a VCR, a wedding band, cash and various small items. Police estimated the value of the stolen property at $5,250.

Two criminal mischief complaints were also reported Thursday. Police issued 14 citations.

Neighbors shocked over double life

DALLAS (AP) — Police investigating the death of a tire dealer who had homes and families in both Dallas and Waco say they doubt the death stemmed from his dual families.

People who know Harold E.

"Jack" McCollum have said nothing but good things about him, said investigators. But neighbors said they are surprised he was able to keep his two lives secret for so long.

McCollum's simultaneous marriages spanned nearly three decades and overlapped at least two other marriages that ended in divorce, authorities said.

Only after his death did the families learn about each other.

McCollum, a 68-year-old Waco tire dealer, was found shot to death Oct.

16. His body was found with two head wounds on the muddy banks of the Navasota River, about 50 miles southeast of Waco and 150 miles southeast of Dallas.

No arrests have been made. Authorities say the motive for the slaying is unclear, but McCollum had received death threats in recent months. The killing may have resulted from a sour business deal, authorities said.

At the time of his death, McCollum was married to Marguerite McCollum of Waco and Angeline McCollum of Dallas. Relatives and friends said he had four daughters with his Waco wife and two adopted children with his wife in Dallas.

"This is devastating because his (Dallas) wife is such a wonderful, dear person," said a neighbor of 12 years who asked not to be identified.

"News of the other family (in Waco) came as a total shock and surprise to us," said another neighbor of 18 years.

Neighbors said McCollum was a "super-charged, high-energy guy" who focused almost completely on his work.

They said his health seemed to slip dramatically in the last few years, evidence that supports Waco relatives' belief that he suffered from the debilitating Alzheimer's disease.

McCollum's Waco wife and daughters learned of a former wife, Martha McCollum in Germantown, Tenn., after combing through his personal papers.

Leon County Sheriff Royce Wilson said he was able to document McCollum's families in Waco and Dallas, but "we hadn't found all the others."

"It seemed that he wanted to marry a woman the first time he saw her," Wilson said. "I think he's got people scattered all over the U.S."

Neighbors said McCollum's Dallas wife is staying with out-of-town relatives.

McCollum's Waco family is struggling to cope with the truth.

"Of course, Mr. McCollum's death and the revelations in the news media have upset the family, and they're trying to deal with this," said J. David Dickson, a Waco lawyer handling McCollum's finances.

"He was a loving father at home and a generous family man, but when he wasn't there, there was evidently something else," said Bob McCollum, a brother and former business partner.

A&M students register by using telephone

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Thousands of Texas A&M University students are letting their fingers do the walking this week as they sign up for spring semester classes by telephone.

The university has inaugurated a dial-in registration system that permits students with touch-tone phones to register for classes from anywhere in the United States. Officials expect more than 30,000 students to use the new system before spring registration ends in December.

The register-by-phone system is among the largest and most extensive in the nation, said Steven Williams, director of the university's Student Information Management System. Students dial a campus number for a taped message from the voice-response computer.

After punching-in a student identification number, the caller can register by punching in the code numbers for his or her chosen courses and sections, Williams said. The computer can even tell students if the classes they have selected are full or not.

After registering, bills and confirmed class schedules are mailed to the student. The result is an end to standing in lengthy lines, long a campus registration tradition.

Similar telephone registration systems are now in use at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and the Maricopa County Community College in Phoenix, Ariz. Other systems are being installed at the University of Colorado in Denver and the University of Arizona in Tucson.

There are only 12 functioning systems in the United States.

The new system is part of the hardware and software being installed in Texas A&M's Student Information Management System which will include all records from the time of applying for admission through graduation.

"The students' convenience is the overriding reason for developing this new system," Williams said. "We estimate that a typical student with a schedule already worked out and no time conflicts and few closed classes should be registered in under five minutes."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"A Prayer to Grow On" is the title of the Rev. Bruce Kochsmeier's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service. The scripture lesson is Colossians 1:11-20.

Kerygma will not meet next week but will resume the following Thursday, at 7 p.m., Dec. 4. The group will begin the theme "God Is Faithful To His People."

The Scripture for Lunch Bunch will meet on Wednesday to discuss Matthew 24:36-44. Bring a lunch and join the group at noon.

The children's choir will not meet Wednesday but will resume on Dec. 3 at the regular time.

Junior and senior high groups will meet from 5:30-8 p.m. Sunday to view a movie at 138 Liveoak.

The Mission Yearbook calls attention to the Presbytery of Hawaii which consists of four churches. Hawaii is the most remote place in the world in that it is 2,000 miles from the nearest land mass. Because of this and the fact that the military membership of the churches is regularly transferred, it is very difficult to maintain a consistent sense of Christian community. Prayers are requested.

WESTWAY BAPTIST CHURCH

The senior citizens choir will be presenting a musical at 7 p.m. Sunday at the church. Refreshments will be served with the public invited to attend.

UNITED PENTECOSTAL CHURCH

The public is invited to view a film at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the United Pentecostal Church in Muleshoe, Lafayette and Ave. H. It is entitled "Christmas for Christ."

Sunday services are at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday services are held at 7:30 p.m.

COMMUNITY-WIDE THANKSGIVING SERVICE

A community-wide Thanksgiving service is planned at 7 p.m. Sunday at First Christian Church, 401 W. Park.

The public is extended an invitation to attend and hear the Rev. Ruben Flores bring the message. The San Jose Catholic Church choir will present special musical selections.

The event is being sponsored by the Hereford Ministerial Alliance.

Churches participating include First United Methodist, San Jose, St. Anthony's Catholic Church, First Baptist, First Presbyterian and Primera Iglesia Bautista.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

It is time to plan for King's Manor and Golden Plains Nursing Home Christmas Gift Shop. Please bring your gift to the church office by Dec. 10.

The W.M.U. Christmas Party is planned from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Dec. 6 at the home of Ella oglesby at 145 Centre.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

MORRIS MEANS

Morris Means, a former Hereford resident, will be speaking at the church at 10:30 a.m. Sunday. The public is invited to attend.

WESLEY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

410 Irving

The Rev. Lanny Wheeler will bring the sermon "The Purpose of Forgiveness" during the Sunday morning worship service. The text is Psalms 130; Romans 6; 1-4, 12-14; and John 15:9-11.

The children's Christmas program practice is planned at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, and at 6 p.m. that day there will be a Thanksgiving dinner.

During the Sunday evening worship service at 7, the sermon will be "The Spirit of Thanksgiving." The text to study is Psalms 100, Jeremiah 31:31-34.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

A dinner for the membership of First United Methodist Church will be held at noon Sunday, marking the close of the annual stewardship campaign and at the same time celebrating Thanksgiving.

It will be a catered dinner, beginning in Fellowship Hall immediately after the morning worship service. A short program will feature songs by Genesis 1, the Junior High singers.

The stewardship campaign this year is a Circuit Rider program, and committee members have called on all church members to distribute commitment cards. The cards will be turned in at the worship hour. Thanksgiving will be the subject for the sermon by Rev. Steve McElroy, and music directed by Mark Mayer.

Children of the church have decorated a booth in their Sunday School meetings, with a harvest theme. It will be placed in the entrance hall and all who attend the service are asked to bring canned food to place in it. The food will be given to the Good Shepherd program, to use for help to needy in this community.

Youth of First UMC were busy last weekend, with a trip to Lubbock Saturday to attend the Tech-SMU football game, attendance at First Baptist Church to present the Sunday School program for youth of that church, then a progressive dinner Sunday evening.

The dinner, attended by 56, was served in the homes of Steve and Nan Conaway, Edward and Carlynn DeLozier, and Robin Roth.

Methodist Men at their breakfast Sunday elected Bear Denton president for 1987, to succeed Ike Stevens. David Ruland will be vice-president; Terry Langehennig, secretary-treasurer; Mark Landrum, program chairman; and Dan Higgins, telephone chairman.

DATE BOOK

November 21, 1986

Today is the 325th day of 1986 and the 60th day of autumn.

TODAY'S HISTORY: On this day in 1789, North Carolina became the 12th state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

On this day in 1946, Harry Truman became the first president ever to travel underwater in a submarine.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS: Francois Voltaire (1694); Hettie Green (1834); Harpo Marx (1893); Stan Musial (1920); Goldie Hawn (1945).

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just returned from a vacation and I'm slowly catching up with the papers. Your column about elderly drivers was of great interest to me. I want to tell you what I did to get an old (and dangerous) driver off the street.

This elderly friend came to see me one day. I had to help him up our front steps. He couldn't make out my face when I was standing right in front of him! He said, "Who are you?" Then, he asked me to read a letter to him. He didn't know the top from the bottom of a typewritten business letter. Yet, he was driving.

When I asked how he managed at traffic signals he said he just did what the other cars did. Can you believe it? Although I knew in a month he would have a birthday and need to renew his license, it was obvious he'd never pass the eye test. I was worried however, about what could happen in the meantime.

I called the police department and was told they couldn't do anything unless he was involved in an accident because he had a valid driver's license. They said they could send him a notice to come in immediately, but if he didn't come in there was nothing their department could do about it until his birthday.

Luckily, nothing terrible happened in that month. The day before his birthday I reminded the Motor Vehicle Department to call him in for a test. Rather than submit to the humiliation of not passing it, the old gentleman put a for-sale sign on his car.

If he had been in an accident, everyone who knew that he was almost blind would have said, "Someone should have stopped him."

It's scary that nothing could be done to keep this man off the streets.

TODAY'S BARBS BY PHIL PASTORET

A true optimist is a person who believes it's possible to find replacement bulbs for the oddball light string he bought last yuletide.

One survey says most youngsters no longer want to be president. Does this mean we're actually raising an intelligent generation?

In 1846, members of the Mormon faith began an exodus to the West from Illinois.

Pope Pius XI died in 1939.

What's more, he never considered himself a menace. I shudder when I think how many lives were in danger because no one wanted to hurt his feelings. - THE 'FINK' IN SAN DIEGO, CALIF.

DEAR SAN DIEGO: You're my kind of fink. How I wish others would follow your example. Far better to risk the wrath of Uncle George or good old Dad than to keep quiet and let him plow into another car and kill himself and an innocent family. You're a hero in my book.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am one of the mothers who has taught my children (two boys and a girl) to write thank-you notes. Now they are in their 20s and never fail to follow this practice.

My question to your readers who have judged harshly those who receive gifts and fail to acknowledge them: How many of YOU wrote a thank-you note to your children when they gave you a little drawing, a homemade gift, or a present bought with their allowance?

Did you acknowledge their part in picking out or contributing toward your birthday or Christmas present? Your thank-you note would have let that child know early in life the warm feeling one gets when his gift is acknowledged.

The best way to teach children something is by example.-IT WORKED IN OUR FAMILY

DEAR I.W.: Of course you are right. It works in every family. Thanks for pointing out something that is perfectly obvious. Children learn what they live.

Are your parents to strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

HEREFORD BRAND PUZZLE CONTEST

NAME _____ PHONE _____

ADDRESS _____

NAME OF PUZZLE GUEST: _____

Deposit at Brand office or mail to Hereford Brand, Box 673. Must be received at Brand by noon Monday. Each entry must be accompanied by Completed Picture Puzzle.

OBJECT OF GAME:
The object is to clip pieces or blocks which will be published in The Brand Sunday through Friday. Paste the pieces, in correct position, to form a Very Important Person in the community. There will be at least one piece of the puzzle published each day, but any number of game blocks may appear on any day. Save the pieces and paste on a sheet of paper.

HOW TO ENTER:
After the final piece, or pieces, are published Friday, paste them together to make the puzzle complete. Even though the mystery guest may be known before the puzzle is completed, entries must have the full photo completed and the guest identified. An entry form will be published in the Friday Brand to send along with the puzzle. Entrants may mail their puzzle to The Brand, or bring the envelope to the Brand office and deposit in the mail drop or leave at front desk. The Brand will not be responsible for entries that do not comply with the rules, or entries delayed for any reason.

RULES:
Each week's correct entries will be eligible for a drawing for $25 in Hereford Bucks. The first correct entry in the random drawing will be the winner, who will be announced in the Tuesday Brand. Hereford Brand and North Plains Printing employees and their families are not eligible to play the game. Decision of the judges is final. Winners agree to publication of their names and/or photographs for promotional purposes.

All-Region Orchestra Members

Students from Stanton and LaPlata Junior Highs recently placed members of their orchestras on the All-Region Band Team. Conductor Ray Jenkins said the students will be part of a 60-member orchestra that will be holding a concert Saturday afternoon at 2 at Austin Jr. High in Amarillo. The students selected from

Annual club auction held by garden club members

Members of Garden Beautiful Club met Friday in the home of Bessie Story.

President Inez Witherspoon called the meeting to order and she asked that garden tips be given by members. The club's annual auction was held with Story serving as auctioneer.

The group decided to donate $100 to Girlstown during Christmas. Also, it was announced that the next meeting will be Dec. 5 at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

This will be the club's Christmas coffee and guest day.

Members present included Margaret Young, Marguerite Newell, Dottie Darden, Dorothy Noland, Helen Spinks, Louise Axe, Jeane Dowell, Hilda Havens, Winnie Wiseman, Phung Emmons, Louella Cowser, Nadine Hill, Rosalia Gilbreath, Ruby Carmichael, Carmille Jones, Witherspoon, and Story. Bea Hutson was welcomed as a guest.

AC to be test site

Amarillo College has been designated as a national test site and will offer the following testing services during the month of December. The SAT/ACT will be given Dec. 6. High School equivalency or GED will be administered Dec. 9. The ACT will be given Dec. 13.

Complete schedule and registration information is available by calling Amarillo College Testing Services at 371-5445.

Butterflies, skippers and moths belong to the insect family known as Lepidoptera.

Dalai lama

The dalai lama is the traditional high priest of Lamaism, a form of Buddhism practiced in Tibet and Mongolia. The dalai lama is a title, not a name, but it is all that is used when referring to the man. The present dalai lama was born Lalaitunchu and is also known as Tantseng Gya'tso, but those names are never used.

Gin

According to The Second World Almanac Book of Inventions, William of Orange, the king of England, banned the import of all foreign brandies in 1688. The English consequently created imitation brandies. These imitations were called "gin," from genievre. Genievre is the French word for juniper berry, from which the imitations were concocted.

DR. GOTT

Vein blockage affects skin.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've been hospitalized with a disease called venostasis, or stasis dermatitis, but do not understand it. Can you help?

DEAR READER — Venostasis is a $64 word that means sluggish blood flow in the veins, usually of the legs. This can result from varicose veins or any factor that produces an obstruction to the venous blood as it returns to the heart. When blood pools in the leg veins, it affects the nutrition of the overlying skin. A form of skin inflammation, called stasis dermatitis, results. The skin affliction will remain a problem until proper circulation is restored.

You can help the situation by elevating your legs whenever possible, using elastic support stockings to help venous emptying and applying lotion to the dermatitis to prevent the skin from drying, cracking, breaking down and becoming infected. Surgery to open the veins or remove them (venous stripping) may be necessary if simple medical management is ineffective.

DEAR DR. GOTT — In my teens, I developed the senseless habit of knuckle-cracking. Now the joints of my fingers are enlarged, which I understand is due to the accumulation of calcium deposits caused by the cracking. Can anything be done to treat this condition?

DEAR READER — The swelling around the joints in knuckle-crackers is more likely to be due to tissue swelling than to calcium deposits. Calcium deposits are common in arthritis patients and can be surgically removed if they interfere with normal motion. The soft-tissue swelling from knuckle-cracking is unusual and probably will recede when the habit is discontinued.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, UNDERSTANDING OSTEO-ARTHRITIS. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am concerned about a numbness, tingling and grabbing sensation that starts in my left shoulder and goes to my wrist. My doctor is not concerned. He hasn't taken a cardiogram. I'm 56, weigh 150, and my blood pressure is 140/90.

DEAR READER — The sensations you describe may be due to inflammation around (or swelling of) a nerve in your neck or shoulder. A neurologist should be able to identify the cause of your symptoms. As part of your examination, a cardiogram or stress test would help rule out the unlikely possibility of heart disease.

Decorating club meets

The Sweet and Fancy Cake Decorating Club recently met at the Community Center for the November meeting.

President Karen Martin presided over the business meeting. She explained to the new members individual club member responsibilities.

Betty Henson, thanked everyone for their participation in the cake classes that were held recently.

Alice Koenig asked for volunteers to go to Stanton Junior High School to teach basic cake decorating techniques to the home economics students. Carol Kelley and Kartin Martin volunteered to teach the classes.

Mary McCutchen and Evelyn Croford are to make the December King's Manor cakes.

Members were reminded that they are to bring their favorite holiday candy, cookie or appetizer and copies of the recipe to the December meeting.

Kelley introduced the speaker, Sharon Pierce, from the Cake Place in Amarillo, who demonstrated how to make candy using the candy melts and molds.

Members present included Isabel Cervantez, Crofford, Esmeralda Dominguez, Beckie Fry, Margaret Gamez, Henson, Kelley, Koenig, Martin, Glenda Chadwick, Manuela Meledrez, Melody Willis, Elizabeth Florres, Virginia Cervantez, Rose Rodriguez, Cindy Freeman, and guest Mildred Fermon.

In Midwestern State University Classic

WTSU men's basketball season to open

The West Texas State University basketball team opens the 1986-87 season tonight in the Midwestern State University Classic at Wichita Falls.

The Buffaloes' opponent in tonight's game will be Wayne State of Michigan. On Saturday night, WTSU plays Morningside of Iowa.

The games will be played at 6:30 p.m. each night at the D.L. Ligon Arena.

West Texas State, which will be facing each of those opponents for the first time ever, will have this tentative starting lineup: 6-foot-5 senior forward David Woods, 6-foot-7 senior forward Arthur Latus, 6-foot-7 junior center Melvin Faust, 5-foot-11 junior guard Charles Byrd, and 6-foot-6 senior guard Jerry Singletary.

The rest of the West Texas State roster is: 6-foot-6 junior forward Mark Benoit, 6-foot-6 junior forward

Sean Walker, 6-foot-9 junior center Don White, 5-foot-10 junior guard Jeff Morgan, 6-foot-3½ freshman guard Kevin White, 6-foot-3½ freshman forward Jerald Temple, and 6-foot-5 freshman forward Anthony Dickens.

West Texas State had an 11-17 record last season, including a 4-12 record in the NCAA Division I Missouri Valley Conference — tied for eighth in the conference.

The 1985-86 season ended when the Buffaloes lost to Bradley, ninth ranked at that time, 61-55 in the first round of the conference tournament.

Singletary, who was an honorable mention nominee on the All-MVC tournament team, led WTSU in scoring last year with 12.4 points per game.

David Woods, also a returning starter, lead the Buffaloes with a .485 field goal shooting percentage. Players to be replaced are forward

William Childs, an honorable mention All-MVC selection and the team's second leading scorers with 12.0 points per game; guard Earl Davis, who was second in the MVC in assists with 5.0 per game; and Fred Johnson, who shot 84.2 percent from the free throw line.

Latus played in 23 games for the Buffaloes last year, starting two of them. His high-point game was 11 versus Colorado College.

Byrd is the all-time leading scorer at York Junior College in York, Neb. He averaged 23.7 points per game last season while leading York to a 24-8 record and a conference championship.

Faust averaged 18.7 points and 9.0 rebounds for a 23-6 Miami Dade North JC team. He was named to the Florida All-State junior college team, and played in the USA JC All-Star Game.

Walker played one year under Mark Nixon at Amarillo College, and then went to Nebraska Western where Nixon began coaching last year. Walker averaged 16.9 points per game and 7.7 rebounds while earning all-conference first team, Region 9 first team, and All-Nebraska JC honors.

West Texas State plays at Sam Houston State on Nov. 29, and then plays its first home game on Dec. 4. The first home opponent will be Western New Mexico in a Showtime Classic game at 8 p.m.

On Dec. 5, also in the Showtime Classic, WTSU plays Schreiner College at 8 p.m.

WTSU also plays its next two games after the Showtime Classic at home. Those contests will be against Seattle University on Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. and against Houston at 8 p.m.

Coach Gary Moss begins his third season at the Buffaloes' coach. His record in two seasons at West Texas State is 22-34, and he is 102-48 in his collegiate coaching career.

HHS football history

In the early 1940s, Hereford High School lost bi-district playoff games to Phillips High School, in 1940, 1941 and 1944.

Since then, here is the Whitefaces' football playoff history (the Brand regrets that some playoff games were left off the list in Thursday's newspaper):

1945: Hereford tied Phillips 14-14, but Phillips advanced in the playoffs because of more penetrations.

1950: Shamrock 20, Hereford 6.

1968: Kermit 21, Hereford 14 (Hereford finished in a three-way tie in the district with Dumas and Perryton; Hereford won coin flip for playoff berth.)

1971: Hereford 28, Pampa 20; Hereford 29, El Paso Coronado 12; Wichita Falls 28, Hereford 8. (Last game was state quarterfinal game.)

1973: Hereford 13, Caprock 7; Hereford tied El Paso Coronado 7-7, but El Paso Coronado advanced in the playoffs because of more penetrations.

1981: Hereford 42, Palo Duro 30; Hereford 22, El Paso Bel Air 0; Hereford 28, Fort Worth Eastern Hills 16; Richardson Lake Highlands 10, Hereford 7 (last game was state semifinal game).

1983: Odessa Permian 40, Hereford 13.

Rockets win over Utah Jazz 104-90

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston forward Rodney McCray believes that the absence of All-Star forward Ralph Sampson from the Rocket lineup has given him the chance to show off his offensive skills.

Sampson, who suffered a sprained ankle and is expected to return to the lineup soon, watched from the sidelines as McCray recorded a career-high 14 assists to help the Rockets to a 104-90 win over the Utah Jazz Thursday night.

"With Ralph out I'm handling the ball more," said McCray. "I have the chance to go coast to coast more and either score or dish the ball off for the assist."

Houston, now sole leader in the Midwest Division, improved its record to 6-3, while Utah, which is second, dropped to 5-4.

It was Utah's fourth-straight loss on the road this season.

With Sampson sidelined and Akeem Olajwon shackled with five fouls, second-year guard Steve Harris came off the bench to score 10 of his season-high 14 points in the fourth quarter and secure the Rocket win.

The Jazz was never able to challenge the Rockets in the fourth quarter after Harris scored six points in the first five minutes to boost Houston to an 86-74 advantage.

The Jazz cut Houston's lead to eight with 6:33 left, but could never get that close again.

"Steve came off the bench and really helped out," Houston coach Bill Fitch said. "We were looking for some offense and Steve really worked himself into the game plan."

Olajwon picked up three of his fouls during a two-minute span early in the second quarter. "I got three fouls in such a quick time I couldn't believe it," Olajwon said. "I was trying to do too many things, and I got myself into trouble."

Houston moved ahead 13-6 midway through the first quarter and led 22-10 at the 2:59 mark. Robert Reed, scored seven of his 11 first quarter points in the last minute and a half of the quarter to give Houston a 31-16 lead.

"We got off to a slow start," Utah coach Frank Layden said. "We gave it about three quarters tonight."

The Jazz took advantage of seven second-quarter turnovers to outscore Houston 34-23 and cut their deficit to 54-50 at the half, but the Rockets outscored Utah 12-2 in first four minutes of the third quarter to lead 66-52.

"We were in it all the way to the end. I think what really hurt us was the start of the second half when they scored three quick baskets. We were down 10 and couldn't come back," Houston center Mark Eaton said.

Darrell Griffith and Karl Malone each had 23 for the Jazz.

All-District Selections

Tricia Kahlich, left, and Kristi Wells, right, were named to the District 1-4A all-district volleyball team. Kahlich and Wells are both juniors. Kahlich was named to the all-district second team, and Wells received honorable mention.

Among all-district selections

Two HHS spikers are honored

Two Hereford High School volleyball players were selected to the all-district 1-4A team, one of them on the second team and the other receiving honorable mention.

Junior setter Tricia Kahlich was named to the all-district second team, and junior Kristi Wells received honorable mention.

One player each from Levelland, Lubbock Dunbar, Pampa, Borger, Dumas, and Lubbock Estacado were selected for first team honors.

In addition to Kahlich, two Dumas and two Levelland players were named to the second team, plus one each from Borger and Estacado.

Hereford Coach Brenda Reeh said, "I'm very pleased with the honors that both of these girls have received. It is indeed an 'honor' to be recognized by the varsity coaches in the district as an exceptional player and competitor.

"I'm very proud of the fact that these two girls, who each have only two years of volleyball experience, are included in the company of athletes who have been playing competitive volleyball for five and six years."

About Tricia Kahlich, Coach Reeh said, "Tricia played setter for us all year long and filled a very important position quite well. Many times the setter is the most underrated player on the court because she's seldom in a position to make the 'big' play.

"However, Tricia had her hands on the ball four to five more often than anyone else on the court simply to 'set up' the offensive attack. Since the setter has to contact the ball so often, the margin for error increases. Tricia did a great job of staying mentally tough and reacted decisively in many pressure filled situations," Reeh continues.

"Tricia was one of only two juniors who were elected to fill the twelve spots on either the first or second all-district team.

"All of the rest of the positions were filled by seniors. This makes her selection even more of an honor," Coach Reeh adds.

The HHS coach had this to say about Kristi Wells: "Kristi filled a hitter's position for us this year. She was a bit hesitant coming into the season with no varsity experience behind her, but her accomplishments are the result of much hard work and determination.

"Kristi has one of the best vertical jumps of anyone on the team and did a fine job of blocking this year. She is definitely our most improved player."

In regular season finale

Texas Tech plays Houston

After suffering a narrow loss of 13-7 last week, Texas Tech looks to close out the 1986 football season Saturday on a winning note when the Red Raiders host the University of Houston Cougars.

Texas Tech goes into its season finale with a 4-3 Southwest Conference record and a 6-4 season record. Houston, which plays Rice on Nov. 29, is winless in six conference games and 1-8 overall.

Six turnovers hurt the Red Raiders in their loss to SMU last weekend. Texas Tech trailed 13-0 in the fourth quarter before driving 93 yards for its only touchdown of the game.

For the season, Texas Tech had lost the ball 38 times on turnovers, while the Red Raiders defense has taken the ball away from the opponents 35 times.

About the loss to SMU, Texas Tech Coach David McWilliams said, "It's hard to beat anybody when you have that many turnovers. We know we have to play our best every week to win and we didn't."

"It was a heart-breaking loss. If you are a winner and you lose a game like that, it has to hurt. It's a good sign our guys are hurting from it.

"But that loss can make us a stronger team — next week or next year. Our defense did a tremendous job of keeping us in the game but SMU just wore them down at the end."

Independence Bowl representative Tracy Jackson watched last week's game, and said this about the Red Raiders, "We're still high on them. They can still be 7-4 by beating Houston. They would have won five of their last six games and would be a much improved team."

McWilliams said about a possible bowl game, "It would be great for us to get a chance to go to a bowl. I've told our team all season going to a bowl in one week is something we can't do but now we can."

"I believe you don't get something if you don't put something up. The team understands we have a lot riding on this game and I think they will respond. A thing like this puts a lot of pressure on a team, but that's the way it is and we might as well earn to play under it now."

McWilliams believes the Cougars will be emotional playing their last road game under Houston Coach Bill Yeoman, who will retire at the end of the season.

"I've always thought he was an excellent coach and always thought of him as a friend. From my days of coaching defense, he was one of the toughest guys to have to try to defend. He always seemed to be one step ahead of you," McWilliams said about the Houston coach.

"He's excellent as far as what he did and when he did it. You hate to see these kind of guys drop out of the profession. It should be an interesting matchup because they have had an extra week to get ready and we have played well defensively against the option this year."

Texas Tech has a shot at setting three more school team records Saturday. The Red Raiders need 219 yards passing to break the school record of 2,126 set in 1965, 12 pass completions to break the school record of 173 in 1965, and four more passing first downs to break the school record of 88 set in 1965.

Last week, Red Raider senior Brad Hastings had 14 unassisted tackles and assisted on 11 other tackles for a total of 25. Hastings recovered a punt, knocked down a pass, and had one quarterback pressure.

Sophomore defensive end had 13 tackles, one tackle for a loss, two quarterback pressures, and one pass breakup. Junior safety Merv Scurlock had 10 solo tackles and 12 assisted tackles for 22 in all, plus one knocked down pass.

La Plata boys' teams lose to Plainview Blue

La Plata Junior High School suffered three defeats Thursday at Plainview in boys' basketball season openers.

Plainview Blue beat La Plata 64-40 in the ninth grade contest, 28-13 in the eighth grade game, and 34-18 in the seventh grade game.

La Plata's three teams play at home Monday against Plainview Red, starting at 4:30 p.m.

Jim Andrews led La Plata's ninth grade team with 13 points, and Burt Noland scored seven points. Andrews grabbed 10 rebounds, and Noland and Tate Smith each had seven rebounds.

La Plata's leading scorers in the other games were eighth grader Cody Page with five points, and seventh grader Shawn Smith with seven points.

NINTH GRADE: Jim Andrews 5 3-9 13; Burt Noland 3 1-4 7; Russell Backus 2 2-6 6; Tate Smith 2 1-1 5; Chad Schroeder 2 1-2 5; Dee Nall 1 0-1 2; Chuck Lemons 0 1-2 1; Jared White 0 1-2 1. Totals: 15 10-27 40.

La Plata 6 5 13 16-40

Plainview Blue 14 15 18 17-44

EIGHTH GRADE: Cody Page, 4 points; Chris Tardy, 4 points; Amado Lopez, 4 points.

La Plata 2 2 5 3-13

Plainview Blue 10 8 5 5-28

SEVENTH GRADE: Shawn Smith 3 1-7 7; Clay Wallace 0 3-5 3; T.J. Garza 1 0-0 2; Temple Abney 1 0-0 2; Kevin Keiso 1 0-0 2; Stanton Ray 1 0-0 2. Totals: 7 4-12 18.

La Plata 4 0 6 8-18

Plainview Blue 7 11 8 8-34

Only six touchdowns were scored by rushing against the Chicago Bears in the 1985 National Football League season.

Raiders score OT win over Chargers, 38-31

By DENNIS GEORGATOS
AP Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The lesson from the latest meeting between the San Diego Chargers and the Los Angeles Raiders was — don't switch television channels, no matter what the score.

Anyone who tuned out after the Raiders grabbed a 31-10 lead midway through the third quarter missed a stirring San Diego comeback, a last-minute touchdown and, ultimately, a 37-31 victory in overtime for the Raiders on Thursday night.

San Diego quarterback Mark Herrmann entered the game in place of Tom Flick, who started for injured regular Dan Fouts. Flick was benched after five Charger turnovers, including three interceptions.

Herrmann, demoted to third string earlier this week, wiped out the 21-point deficit by leading the Chargers on touchdown drives of 71, 39 and 66 yards. The first two drives ended with Curtis Adams runs of one and 13 yards. Adams had a 19-yard scoring run earlier.

Herrmann's 16-yard scoring pass to Charlie Joiner with 1:01 remaining in regulation and Rolf Benirschke's extra-point tied the game at 31.

The Raiders had a chance to win the game in the final seconds, but Chris Bahr's 35-yard field goal attempt was blocked by rookie lineman Jeff Walker, who had blocked two field goal attempts earlier this season.

Although Bahr's kick was attempted on second down and the Raiders recovered the ball, the Raiders didn't get a second try because time had expired.

With 8:33 gone in overtime, Raiders running back Marcus Allen slipped a couple of tackles and carried two Chargers defenders into the

THE LONGEST GOAL
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Spectacular plays don't always win games but they do delight the fans and frequently go into the record book.

Herb Williams of the Indiana Pacers made one last year. He grabbed a rebound as it came off the defensive rim, turned, took one step, and heaved the ball downcourt a split-second before the buzzer sounded to end the game.

The ball went through the hoop for a basket that may have been the longest in NBA history. It was measured as 81 feet from the toe of his left foot to the rim of the basket. NBA historians could not remember a longer shot in their league.

Now for the bad news: Indiana still lost the game to the Sacramento Kings, 88-87.

St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania set an NCAA record when eight of its players fouled out in a game in 1976 against Xavier.

end zone to cap a 28-yard touchdown run.

The winning drive came on the Raiders' second possession of the overtime period. Quarterback Jim Plunkett set up Allen's run with a 28-yard completion to tight end Todd Christensen that put the ball on the Charger 38.

Allen ran for a 10-yard gain before breaking loose for the game-winner.

San Diego's lone possession in overtime ended with a punt after following consecutive holding calls against tackle Jim Lachey, followed by two incomplete passes.

Actually, the lesson to stay tuned should have been evident from last year's matchup in San Diego, which the Chargers won 40-34 in overtime.

"Anybody that would miss this Raider-Charger game in San Diego would be crazy because its always entertaining," Raiders Coach Tom Flores said.

"We had a lead and they came back and tied it and won it in overtime. This time we made the big plays in overtime, and some really big plays — Todd Christensen's catch — and of course Marcus' run, were absolutely marvelous."

With the Raiders enjoying a comfortable lead, Raiders linebacker Matt Millen thought people watching the nationally televised game probably were losing interest.

"I was sitting on the sideline (when it was) 31-10, thinking to myself, 'People are probably changing the channel, turning over to (The Cosby Show), the game's over.' All of sudden, here it is."

The Raiders, winning for the eighth time in nine games since an 0-3 start, improved to 8-4. The Chargers fell to 2-10.

"Of course I'm satisfied, but it's also a little scary because we were up by 21 points and they came right back," said Plunkett, who threw an 11-yard TD pass to Christensen in the first quarter and a 10-yard scoring pass to Dokie Williams in the second period.

Plunkett finished with 23 completions in 40 attempts for 348 yards, boosting his 16-year career total to 25,171 yards. Christensen caught 11 passes for 173 yards.

"I feel good because being down 21 points we put the game into overtime," San Diego Coach Al Saunders said. "We played hard enough and intensely enough to win, but we didn't play smart enough."

Los Angeles defensive stars Lester Hayes and Jerry Robinson teamed up to convert two San Diego turnovers into touchdowns.

Bahr and San Diego's Rolf Benirschke each kicked field goals to round out the scoring.

Basketball tourney begins

The Hereford eighth grade girls' basketball tournament began Thursday with Dimmitt, Valley View, Canyon Purple and Plainview Red winning first-round games.

The tournament is being played at the Hereford High School gym. The rest of the tournament will be played on Saturday.

Final scores of Thursday's games were: Dimmitt 18, La Plata 16; Valley View 48, Plainview Blue 15; Canyon Purple 46, Borger 7; and Plainview Red 18, Stanton 12.

AKEEM A HORSE
HOUSTON (AP) — Many opposition players think center Akeem Olajuwon of Houston is a horse. Coach Bill Fitch of the NBA team takes it one step farther.

"Akeem is a thoroughbred," Fitch said. "He has that special ability to reach down and come up with something in the clutch. When you jump on his back more times than not he'll carry you."

Saturday's winner's bracket has Dimmitt playing Valley View at 10:30 a.m. and Canyon Purple playing Plainview Red at 11:45 a.m. The winners of those two games play in the championship game at 4 p.m., and the losers play in the third place game at 2:30 p.m.

La Plata plays Plainview Blue at 8 a.m. Saturday in the consolation bracket, and Stanton meets Borger at 9:15 a.m. The winners of those two games play in the consolation game at 1 p.m.

Jennifer Betzen was high scorer for La Plata with nine points in the 18-16 loss to Dimmitt.

For Stanton, Donna Grotegut was high scorer with five points in the 18-12 loss to Plainview Red.

In regular season games on Monday, the three Stanton teams will play at home against Gattis of Clovis, N.M., beginning at 4:30 p.m., and the three La Plata teams will play at Plainview against Plainview Red, starting at 4:30 p.m.

LA PLATA: Jennifer Betzen 4 1-2 9; Kendra Gordon 1 1-2 3; Brooke Stever 1 0-0 2; Gall Walterscheid 1 0-0 2; Amber Brooks 0 0-2 0. Totals: 7-2-16.

Mavericks defeat Clippers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A frightening injury to forward Marques Johnson of the Los Angeles Clippers was a sour note on a stepping stone for the Dallas Mavericks.

The Mavericks prevailed 113-108 over the Clippers in an NBA game at the Sports Arena that saw Johnson go down with a neck injury late in the first half.

Johnson was injured when he collided with teammate Benoit Benjamin after grabbing a defensive rebound with less than a minute left in the first quarter.

The veteran turned to head upcourt when his head slammed into the stomach of the 7-foot Benjamin and he fell to the floor.

The 10-year veteran was taken by ambulance to Daniel Freeman Marina Hospital in Marina Del Rey, Calif., for precautionary observation, said Dr. Tony Daly, the Clippers' team physician.

"It's a feeling that hurts everybody, not only the Clippers, but everybody," said Dallas forward Mark Aguirre, who led all scorers with 31 points. "It puts a cloud over the game to see an individual get hurt like that."

The game was an important victory for the Mavericks. Four of the Mavericks' five losses have been by four points or less.

"It was a tough win. I wanted to get over the hump of losing close games," Dallas Coach Dick Motta said. "We did things it took to win games. When you win your first close game, then you know what it takes to win those kind of games. Hopefully, it will be like a snowball effect."

Detlef Schrempf scored 10 of his 14 points in the fourth quarter to help the Mavericks hold off the Clippers.

With Dallas leading 111-106 with 1½ minutes left, the Clippers got two free throws by Cedric Maxwell to pull within three, but missed an opportunity to pull within a point when Lancaster Gordon missed a 10-foot jumper on their next possession.

Schrempf sank two free throws with seven seconds left to clinch the outcome. Derek Harper and Rolando Blackman each had 17 points for Dallas.

Johnson's injury was a frightening moment for the Clippers, who have come to depend on him.

"I'm very concerned. It's really frightening to see a star player go down," Clippers Coach Don Chaney said. "He's the guy I would have gone to down the stretch."

"Marques is the team. He's the most important part of this team and he is our leader on and off the court."

Benjamin said he knew Marques was hurt immediately.

"He got the rebound, he turned to go up court and hit my stomach," he said. "When he was falling down, his neck was turned. As I looked down, I knew he was hurt."

WHO WAS BEST?

NEW YORK (AP) — Basketball coach John Wooden was asked a tough question: Who, in his opinion, was the best player of all time?

"Larry Bird of the Celtics is the finest in the game today," Wooden said, "but not the most dominating. I wouldn't pick him over Kareem Abdul-Jabbar or Moses Malone. The best player I have seen through the years was Oscar Robertson but Bird may actually be better and a good case could also be made for Magic Johnson."

Stanton boys lose openers

The Stanton Junior High School boys' basketball teams had a tough opening night in the 1986-87 season Thursday when all three teams lost to Yucca of Clovis, N.M.

Final scores were 70-42 in the ninth grade game, 48-15 in the eighth grade game, and 52-12 in the seventh grade game.

Stanton's basketball teams will play at Plainview Monday against Plainview Blue. Action begins at 4:30 p.m. with the ninth grade game.

Leading scorers for Stanton in Thursday's games were Jason Walterscheid with 16 points and Benny Gonzales with eight points in the ninth grade game, Miguel Casas and Stephen Banner each with four points in the eighth grade game, and Michael Walser with six points in the seventh grade game.

Preseason NIT's purpose is to match up top teams

By The Associated Press
One purpose of the early-season National Invitation Tournament serves is to provide matchups of top teams, who otherwise probably would have scheduled easy opening games.

Two of the nation's Top Twenty college basketball teams meet tonight as the tournament starts its second year, when 19th-ranked Arizona, a leading contender from the Pacific-10 Conference, visits No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas, the Pacific Coast Athletic Association power.

In other games tonight, No. 7 Oklahoma, favored to win the Big Eight Conference, is at home against Brigham Young; Western Kentucky is at Notre Dame, Temple at Virginia, Texas Christian at Louisiana State, Bradley at Michigan and Howard at Villanova.

Memphis State, rebuilding under new Coach Larry Finch, and No. 20 Cleveland State, a major surprise last season, play Saturday night.

Second-round games will be held Monday night and the four winners move to New York's Madison Square Garden for the semifinals and finals on Nov. 28 and 29.

Despite the loss of guard Steve Kerr to a serious knee injury, Arizona Coach Lute Olson has four starters returning from last year's 23-9 Pac-10 champions, including 6-foot-8 sophomore Sean Elliott. Nevada-Las Vegas has 6-9 center Armon Gilliam and guard Freddie Banks back from last year's 33-5 squad.

"Sean Elliott is one of the premier kids in the country," UNLV Coach Jerry Tarkanian said. "He can put the ball on the floor, one-on-one and is real tough to defend."

Oklahoma has plenty of scorers returning in Tim McCalister, Darryl Kennedy and David Johnson. Brigham Young, 18-14 last season, is led by Jeff Chatman, 17.5, and Bobby Capener, 14.9.

Junior guard David Rivers, seriously injured in an automobile accident on Aug. 24, will be coming off the bench against Western Kentucky as Coach Digger Phelps brings him along slowly. Rivers, who changed the Irish into a running team, was a 16.7 scorer as a sophomore. Kennard Johnson, 6-9, leads Coach Murray Arnold's Western Kentucky team that is coming off a 23-8 campaign.

Temple, 25-6, has a premier rebounder and shotblocker in 6-9 Tim Perry, who shouldn't have any match against Virginia, 19-11, since 6-11 center Olden Polynice left school.

Fess Irvin, a highly regarded freshman guard, will make his collegiate debut for LSU, which has been hit injuries to Ricky Blanton, who plays all positions, and 7-1 Zoran Jovanovich, and lost three starters from a 26-12 NCAA Final Four squad. TCU returns four starters from last season's 22-9 team which finished tied with Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference title.

Guards Gary Grant and Antoine Joubert hold the key for Michigan, which lost its front line from a 23-8 Big Ten championship team. Stan Albeck, the former Chicago Bulls coach, now leads Bradley, which was 32-3 last season.

"Everyone on our team, even the center, has the green light on three-pointers," Albeck said of the new rule this season which rewards shots from 19 feet, 9 inches and further with three points.

Howard, the only team in the NIT field which didn't compete in postseason play last season, has four starters back from a 19-10 squad, including guard Fred Hill and 6-8 Robert McIlwaine. Villanova, 23-14 last season, tries to find someone to take up the slack of graduated Harold Pressley.

NFL playoff implications numerous this weekend

By The Associated Press

The Denver Broncos and the New York Giants, a matchup Sunday between two of the top defensive teams in the NFL, is one of ten games in Week 12 with major playoff implications.

At 9-2, both Dan Reeves' Broncos and Bill Parcells' Giants are in the running for home-field advantages in the playoffs in addition to leading their respective divisions.

The Broncos have a 1½-game lead in the AFC West and are second only to the 10-1 New York Jets in the battle to see who would have the home-field advantage for all conference playoff games. The Giants are tied with the Washington for the lead in the NFC East, but are ahead of both the Redskins and the 9-2 Chicago Bears for the top playoff seeding in the NFC.

In other games Sunday that figure in the playoff picture, Dallas is at Washington, Chicago hosts Green Bay, New England hosts Buffalo, Minnesota visits Cincinnati, Pittsburgh is at Cleveland, Atlanta visits San Francisco, Kansas City is at St. Louis, and New Orleans is at the Los Angeles Rams. Also, Philadelphia is at Seattle, Detroit at Tampa Bay and Indianapolis at Houston.

The New York Jets are at Miami on Monday night.

Week 12 began Thursday night with the Los Angeles Raiders beating the San Diego Chargers 37-31 in overtime.

The task for Denver in its second trip this season to Giants Stadium — the first was a 22-10 loss last month to the Jets — is to beat New York in a matchup of imposing rushing defenses.

"I think the key for us will be if we are able to run the ball and not have to throw it a lot," said Reeves, who says the key on defense will be the exact opposite — stopping the running of Joe Morris, who has gained 1,040 yards this season.

The Cowboys-Redskins game in Washington also will be important to the Giants. Dallas, 7-4, needs a victory to remain in contention for the division title and to retain major hopes for a wild-card berth.

If the season ended today, the division champions would be the Giants, Bears and Rams in the NFC, and the Jets, Cincinnati and Denver in the AFC.

Washington and Dallas would be the NFC wildcard teams, while New England and the Raiders would make it from the AFC.

But Dallas Coach Tom Landry was not thinking of a wild-card berth as he readied the Cowboys for another shootout with the Redskins.

"As long as our record is no worse than four losses we still have a chance to win the division," said Landry, whose team managed to rally to beat San Diego 24-21 last week despite surrendering 12 quarterback sacks.

New England, 8-3, needs a victory over Buffalo and then must hope Miami can beat the injury-riddled Jets on Monday night if it is to move within a game of New York in the AFC East.

The Bears, locked in a three-way battle with the Giants and Redskins for NFC superiority, host a Green Bay team that came alive last week in a 31-7 drubbing of lowly Tampa Bay. Chicago will start Jim McMahon at quarterback for the first time in four weeks. The Bears have won the past 22 games McMahon has started.

The Rams, with a half-game lead over San Francisco in the NFC West, lost a 30-28 heartbreaker to New England last week on a "Hail Mary" pass. But the Rams discovered a badly needed air game in the form of rookie quarterback Jim Everett, who tossed three touchdown passes.

With NFL rushing leader Eric Dickerson not being asked to carry the entire load for the offense, the Rams present major problems for New Orleans. But the Saints, 6-5, have won all but one of their last six in a drive they hope could give them a playoff berth for the first time in history.

Minnesota, 6-5, badly needs a victory over Cincinnati, which hopes to hold its tiebreaker lead in the AFC Central. Cleveland, hoping to take a one-game lead, hosts the somewhat-rejuvenated Pittsburgh Steelers, who have come alive offensively in the last few weeks.

Officers recall lighter side

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) — Despite the blood, sweat and politics of day-to-day police work, the profession does have its lighter moments. Like the "breakthrough" a city officer achieved the time he was helping other officers execute a search warrant. Crime Prevention Officer Gary Gould said he had gone into the attic of the residence and found some marijuana plants growing under a light system. As he stepped out on a two-by-four for a closer look, the board slipped — sending

Gould crashing through the sheet-rock ceiling and onto sheriff's Capt. Mansel Gilmer in the hallway below. The only reported injury was a bruised ego. Sometimes it's the bad guys who produce the laughter. Detective Lt. Mike Carroll tells about the time a burglar was caught red-handed inside a local tire firm. He told police he had been walking down the street when two guys in a car stopped, beat him up and threw him through the store window. Asked why he was carrying a tire when police arrived, the suspect said he had merely picked it up to use against his adversaries. It turned out to be his third burglary arrest. Carroll also recalls a young burglary defendant who testified that the reason his footprints were found inside the building was because police had taken his shoes and used them to leave tracks on a dusty floor. Then there are the excuses cops get. Lt. Danny Miller talks about the time he stopped a speeding motorist and was told the man's German shepherd had had its foot on the gas pedal. The motorist — not the dog — got the ticket. Lt. David Garcia recalls the time a woman motorist told him she was hurrying home for acute personal reasons of a female nature. But Garcia noted that she was headed in the opposite direction and wrote her a citation — only to have a former city judge believe her story and dismiss the ticket. One young speeder told Lt. Gene Bass that rocks in his car's carburetor were causing the jets to stick open. Another man said his carburetor mechanism was faulty and he had to keep the gas pedal to the floorboard. Bass also tells about the woman he stopped while she was on her way to church. She told him he was "interfering with the Lord's work." Bass wrote her a ticket anyway, only to have the woman spray gravel on him as she hurriedly departed the scene. He stopped her again and warned her about the law against "displaying excessive acceleration." Patrol Officer David Palmer recalls a tuxedo-clad gentleman he curbed in a church parking lot one time. The man was to take part in a wedding ceremony and told Palmer, "There's a time to speed and a time not to speed. This is a time to speed." Sgt. Bobby Chandler shrugs about such excuses as the floor mat did it, and about motorists who, inexplicably protest, "But I just barely got into town." Police also get their share of humorous requests from the public. Like the time — according to department secretary Susan LaDuke — a little girl called and asked that an officer come to her house and do something about the mosquitoes because her parents wouldn't let her go out and play. Sheriff's deputy Dayton Marr, however, probably

ARE YOU... PREGNANT?

By Harry S. Jonas, M.D., President, The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. Some women say that they "just know" right away. Other women are very surprised, even after missing a period, to learn that they are pregnant. There is nothing unusual about either of these two groups, because the signs of pregnancy can vary as much as women do and can be misleading. For almost every woman, one of the earliest signals is a missed period. Sometimes there may be all the normal indications that your period is about to start — tender breasts, mild cramping, mood swings, and food cravings, but there is no actual bleeding. Occasionally, a woman may notice some light spotting instead of her normal menstrual flow — this is caused when the fertilized egg plants itself in the womb (uterus).

Other common signs include nausea and vomiting, fatigue, a frequent need to urinate, a slight weight gain, and a gentle enlargement of the abdomen — this is usually due to gas and other internal changes and not yet due to the growth of the fetus or uterus. For as long as women have been having babies, these symptoms have been strong signs of pregnancy. But, at the

Issue heats up in Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A proposal to merge universities in Corpus Christi and Kingsville has opened the door to serious discussions of creating a comprehensive university in South Texas, says the president of Corpus Christi State University.

But residents of Kingsville fear merging Texas A&I with CCSU may cause an economic loss the city can ill afford. The University System of South Texas regents voted 4-3 Wednesday in favor of the merger proposal put forth by Larry Temple, chairman of the Select Committee on Higher Education. The vote came at a meeting in Kingsville attended by about 400 people, many of them local residents opposed to the plan. Campuses would be maintained in both cities, but CCSU would be the lead university, according to the select committee's recommendation.

CCSU is a two-year upper level university with 3,827 students. Texas A&I has an enrollment of about 5,000. Battered by declines in the oil and gas industry and in cattle ranching, Kingsville would be unable to absorb the loss of students, faculty, staff and research dollars that could result if Texas A&I loses its status as a free-standing university and becomes a branch, said Regent Gilbert Acuna, a Kingsville pharmacist. "It would be too big of a blow," said Acuna. "Emotions are so high right now," said CCSU President Alan Sugg, who endorsed the regents' vote.

The board's decision "continues the dialogue... not to maintain the status quo of higher education" in South Texas," he said. "The action of our board supports the recommendation of Mr. Temple to at least keep the door open for future discussions with the select committee regarding the need for a comprehensive university in South Texas," said Sugg, also the interim chancellor of the University System of South Texas, which governs A&I, CCSU and Laredo State University.

"We need to make sure we don't slam the door shut at this time... it may be a very small door of opportunity," Sugg said. "It's not in the best interest of the region or the state or anyone else" to close that door. "It's a terribly important issue facing this region right now," he said. The regents' vote now goes to the select committee, which was to meet Friday. Texas A&I President Steven Altman said Kingsville residents fear their city's economy and quality of life could suffer if the university "is relegated to inferior status or a secondary role."
