

It's politickin' time; Briscoe visits city

BY CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor

Dolph Briscoe, one of four men being mentioned most prominently in the approaching race for governor of Texas, stopped in Hereford for several hours Thursday to ask for votes.

The 48-year-old rancher-banker from Uvalde arrived shortly before 11 a.m.; addressed the Kiwanis Club at noon; met with area farmers, ranchers and businessmen at an afternoon reception at a motel suite; and then left about 2:30 p.m.

Briscoe, a legislator from 1949 to 1957, had a receptive audience. He found some leftover supporters from his governor's race of 1968, when many farmers and ranchers over the state voted for him. He found other willing listeners in persons who indicated they don't care to vote for any of three other likely candidates—incumbent Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes or ex-U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

He talked to Kiwanians about the importance of agriculture to Texas and then got down to politics in the reception.

Briscoe, who finished fourth in the Democratic primary of 1968, said the key issue in the governor's race is the loss of prestige and confidence in government officials.

"I find there has been a loss of confidence and a desire to change things in Austin, and I need your help to do that," Briscoe said.

A questioner said in his opinion Texas' image and prestige nationally was at an all-time low ebb and asked how Briscoe would go about changing that.

"My first answer would be new leadership," Briscoe said. "We have had very strong leadership in the past, and the state has grown industrially. We have moved to a metropolitan state, where most of our people live in eight counties. To continue this development, we have to improve this image you're talking about. I think we can do this.

"Certainly the opinion people have of government now is at a low point. I think this can be reversed. This is what I want to do and what I want your help in doing."

Briscoe, dressed conservatively in a brown suit, pale yellow shirt, a U. S. flag pin in his lapel, said he is starting his campaign early this time to make his name more of a household word in Texas.

"You haven't had much publicity in this part of the country. People don't know you," lawyer James Witherspoon said. Turning to others in the reception he added, "Dolph got in the race four years ago kind of at the tailend. People from Uvalde covered the state but he couldn't get out much. From the short time he was involved in the race, to finish as well as he did, was something. I think Dolph Briscoe will be our next governor and I want to get on the bandwagon now."

"I think that is right. I got into the campaign late in 1968 and did not have a chance to visit the state adequately. I am starting early this year. I have found an avid interest in my campaign everywhere I've been in the state. I'm highly encouraged," the candidate said.

Briscoe said he is getting his campaign machinery organized now to assure his appearance over the state and guarantee that his views are known.

"The main issue in the campaign will be the lack of confidence in government, but I'm certain there will be others. One is the rapidly escalating cost of state government and one is the escalation of taxes."

Briscoe congratulated the Hereford area on its achievements in agriculture, acknowledging the rise of the cattle feeding empire and agriculture-related industry that catapulted the county into the top spot in Texas.

"We're on the threshold of the greatest development in the history of our state. You've shown here what can happen in utilization of your natural resources to

Late drives fail; Herd loses, 19-12

BY MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Twice in the fourth quarter Friday night the Hereford Whitefaces could smell paydirt, but both times the Palo Duro Don defense denied them a score and held on for a 19-12 win that dropped the Herd to an 0-2 season mark.

The Hereford offense, its passing game thwarted by 40-degree temperatures and rain that fell the entire game, amassed 252 yards rushing in the game. The Whitefaces were stopped at the Palo Duro 17 on one drive late in the fourth period, and again at the 24 on another drive. On both possessions and facing a fourth down, the Hereford offense went for the score and failed.

The Dons, who ran over the Whitefaces 42-14 last year, appeared to be a replica of the same team when on the second play from scrimmage in the game, the Don's Ray Felton swept right 78 yards for a score. That run and a 55-yard run accounted for 133 of Palo Duro's 209 first half rushing total. Palo Duro finished with 320 yards on the ground.

But, on Hereford's first possession, a drive was mounted that carried from the Whiteface 49 into the end zone for the tying score. Charles Allison returned the Don kick off from the 28 to the 49, Keith Kitchens kept for six, Wesley High picked up 15 to the Palo Duro 31, then Larry McNutt went left on a sweep and scampered 30 yards for the tying TD.

The score was tied 6-6 after the point after conversion attempt by both teams were off.

Phillip Ward, a speedy halfback who wasn't even in the starting lineup, scored Palo Duro's two other touchdowns. One was from the 11 on a pass from quarterback Jimmy Roberts and the other came on a one-yard plunge after a fourth-quarter pass interference call in the end zone gave the Dons first-and-goal at the 1.

Kitchens, the Whiteface quarterback, scampered 11 yards on an option play for Hereford's other touchdown.

Trailing 19-12, the Whitefaces drove 68 yards to the Palo Duro 22 with just 3:21 left in the game but the Don defense held on two downs, then gave up 5 yards. Facing a fourth down situation, with the clock running out, the Whitefaces elected to go for the score, but a slippery ball squirted out of the hands of Kitchens and Palo Duro took over at the 23.

Hereford held, and Terry Champ gave the Whitefaces one last chance by running the Dons' 40-yard punt back 45 yards, almost breaking all the way. He took it on the Hereford 29 and took it back to the Palo Duro 28, with the clock showing just 1:30 remaining.

A back promptly jumped the gun, and the referees penalized the Whitefaces back to the 31, and three plays moved it to the 27. Kitchens went back to pass, then decided to run, but was pulled down at the 24, and Palo Duro took over on downs.

Only 50 seconds were left, and the Dons used that time up in two downs, on successive quarterback sneaks.

The Roberts-Ward touchdown pass in the second quarter, which gave Palo Duro a 13-6 lead, was one of only two passes the Dons completed in the game, out of six attempts. Lester Holland, a 9.9 sprinter, set up the score with a 55-yard run.

He almost went all the way but Hereford's Danny Charest tackled him on the Hereford 30. It took Palo Duro six plays to push the ball across for the go-ahead touchdown, and Paul Roush added the point after.

It was the last of the third quarter before either team could again mount a threat. Hereford's Ralph Waits recovered a Palo Duro fumble on the Don 42 and an 11-yard gain by McNutt, coupled with 6 from Kitchens and a 15-yard roughing penalty on Palo Duro, put the ball at the Don 10, as the third quarter ended.

In three plays Hereford had lost one yard, back to the 11, and Kitchens rolled around right end looking to pass. He saw his receivers covered, cut inside and scrambled into the end zone standing up.

Wet blanket settles over Hereford area

After a month of sunshine and 90-degree weather, a storm front moved into Hereford from the south early Friday morning and threw a wet blanket of thick clouds over the area.

It moved in for a weekend stay, and one of its side effects was to keep some fans home from the Whitefaces' home opener Friday night and to make it uncomfortable for the hardy who braved the elements to show their support.

About a half-inch of rain fell from the thunderhead that hit the Hereford area about 1:30 a.m. Friday. Three hours later, it was still raining, and the sun couldn't force its way through the heavy cloud cover at any time Friday.

Friday was just a matter of a heavy mist until shortly before the 7:30 p.m. start of Hereford's football matchup with Amarillo Palo Duro. A light rain began falling and at two different times during the game, it turned to heavy downpours that sent fans scurrying under the stands.

The moisture's effect on area crops, which have been on a steady path toward a possible bumper year, depended on how long the rain kept up.

Sugar beet producers were just hoping too much rain wouldn't come.

"We could have gotten along with it or without it. It's not hurting us any, I don't believe," Bob Ginn, agricultural manager of Holly Sugar, said Friday, after the first half inch. "Some of the beets were getting pretty dry, so they're doing fine."

A little rain now is all right, "if it doesn't rain too much after this," Ginn added. "We'd like to get the beets dried up for harvest, which will start October 12th. Of course if we get five or six inches of rain it might not be too good, but an inch and a half of rain wouldn't hurt us at all."

"A big rain keeps the soil too wet and tends to make the beet grow instead of slowing it down and making sugar.

Sugar content of the sugar beets has been running quite a bit better than in recent years, thanks to the cutting back of nitrates and to the August rains, followed by the month of sunshine. The average on 60 fields

LUCILLE POSEY resigns job

LOLA FAYE VEAZEY new district clerk

District clerk job changes hands; Lola Faye Veazey is appointed

Lucille Posey, who has been with the district clerk's office here for the past 24 years, resigned last week and Lola Faye Veazey, deputy district clerk, was named by District Judge Archie McDonald to replace Mrs. Posey.

The resignation will become effective Sept. 30.

Mrs. Posey began as deputy clerk in July of 1947 when the county and district clerk's office was one. She became district clerk on Jan. 1, 1953 after the two offices were split.

"I am leaving with mixed emotions," Mrs. Posey said. "I hate to leave but I am looking forward to it. I have enjoyed working with the people of this county and appreciate the help they have given me."

Mrs. Veazey will serve as district clerk until the next general election. At that time the office will be put before the public.

Mrs. Veazey has had three years experience as a deputy clerk. She has been with the local office just more than a year and prior to that was with the county district office in Dimmitt for two years.

Cattle feeders support respiratory disease research

The Board of Directors of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association recently voted $3,000 aid to research that is aimed at respiratory diseases in feedlot cattle.

The grant went to the College of Veterinary Medicine at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, which began the research in late 1969 in cooperation with six veterinarians and numerous feedlot operators in the Texas and Oklahoma High Plains.

John Regnier, of Kenton, Cimarron County, Oklahoma, is working full-time at collecting specimens and data at feedlots and forwarding them to the college, during his 8-week vacation from fourth-year studies in the college. Another student will continue the work when Regnier returns to Stillwater.

Veterinarians with whom he is working are Dr. H.B. Rinker, Dr. Tom Latta, Dr. Bill Barnum, Dr. R.A. Ivie, Dr. E.W. Hardy and Dr. Don Heise, who operate five clinics. The OSU veterinarians working in the research are Dr. Richard Corstvet and Dr. Roger Panciera.

The veterinarians provide case histories on cattle in the feedlots, and help the technician in running tests and sending tissue specimens to OSU for detailed study. They notify the OSU veterinarians whenever a visit to specific cattle seems advisable. Post mortem and ante-mortem examinations of affected cattle are performed in the field.

The research has been planned for a five-year period ending in 1974.

The main objectives are: Identify the microorganisms that are most commonly associated with respiratory disease in feedlot cattle.

Determine preventive measures needed to control the disease.

Farm-Ranch Club takes look back

Club history was reviewed as a program for a new year was forecast in Farm and Ranch Club Thursday. Mrs. G. V. Hall was hostess in her home for a covered dish luncheon, and Mrs. J. E. Sorrells presided for the first time as president.

Mrs. Jack Weaver sketched the history of the group and Mrs. Paul Rudd outlined this season's programs as presented in new yearbooks.

Mrs. C. T. Douglas was voted to associate membership and the resignation of Mrs. John Hill, who has moved to Colorado, was accepted with a note of regret.

An oriental theme appeared in the lunch menu and decorations, with chicken curry as the main dish. Members experimented with use of chopsticks for eating. Fortune cookies provided an amusing end to the meal.

Those present included Mmes. J. B. Odum, W. W. Gilbreath, J. V. Perrin, W. W. Thomas and Merlin Weber.

Marketing, research starts for Triticale

Beef Industries of Amarillo, Texas, has just completed a service agreement with Triticale Growers, Inc., for immediate development of a marketing, research, and variety selection program involving triticale growers in four states, John McCoy, Tucumcari, New Mexico, president of Beef Industries, announced today.

McCoy said the agreement authorizes Triticale Growers, Inc., also based in Amarillo, to enter into marketing agreements with growers for the purchase and sale of their 1972 triticale crops produced from seed supplied by TGI in Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

McCoy also announced the appointment of Tom Moran, currently a division manager of Beef Industries, as executive secretary of Triticale Growers, Inc. "In this capacity, Moran will guide the marketing program of TGI, its work with farmers and plant breeders and its participation in research programs aimed at increasing our knowledge of the fine nutritional qualities of triticale as feed and forage for livestock," McCoy said.

Steps have already been taken to set up and fund a formal evaluation research program to determine the comparative value of triticale with milo, wheat, and corn as a feed lot grain. It is expected that results of this research will be available by harvest time in 1972, according to Moran.

TGI is also selecting top strains and varieties from all commercial and private sources available. Seed improvement and increased plots are being established in 123 locations in Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas and Mississippi. TGI acts as a wholesale outlet for any companies interested in triticale.

"It is our goal," Moran said, "to help set the quality standards for triticale in the states we serve. Starting on present contracts with feed lots for more than 350,000 bushels of triticale from the 1972 crop, we are in a position to assure a price for growers based on their ability to meet the quality and quantity demanded by feeder consumers."

"To enhance the marketing side of this program, TGI has been authorized to contract limited amounts of selected triticale at special prices to growers and will guarantee to market the entire grain crop produced from this seed," Moran added.

"TGI, through a program of service membership, is also in a position to offer crop term financing for its two triticale seed selections, soil testing and fertilizer recommendations an telephone or field counseling on any production problems."

"With the combined forces of Beef Industries and TGI and our close association in the Great Plains grain producing area, we are in a unique position to help triticale," Moran continued.

"We know that our varieties of triticale have proven their value as feed, seed, and roughage. More research is needed on triticale, but for that matter, research on wheat as a feed grain is still under way. What is needed now is movement of this crop into healthy market channels. TGI is designed to move triticale while at the same time participating in worthwhile research, and service to agricultural producers," Moran concluded.

State stiffens requirements for permits to teach school

AUSTIN—Emergency permits to teach in Texas public school classrooms will be issued only to applicants who hold at least a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university, beginning January 1, 1972.

A new stiffening of requirements, which will apply to renewal as well as first-time permits, was approved recently by the State Board of Education.

Exceptions will be made only for teachers hired for bilingual programs and for certain groups of vocational personnel and for military instructors assigned to Reserve Officers Training Corps units, under the new rules drawn up by the Texas Education Agency.

Teachers in bilingual programs may be granted an initial permit if they have a minimum of 90 semester hours of college credit. They may request two renewals while they complete work toward a degree.

Also beginning January 1, all Texas teachers employed on an emergency permit of any kind will be required to complete all requirements for certification within three years after the first emergency permit was issued, according to Dr. L. Harlan Ford, Texas Education Agency assistant commissioner for teacher education and instructional services.

"These new requirements are part of a total effort to upgrade the preparation of teachers for Texas public schools," Dr. Ford explains.

"We are working in many areas, including the actual course work offered and the whole student teaching process, to bring better teachers into Texas public schools."

Texas teachers applying for emergency permit renewals must now complete at least six semester hours toward full qualification in their school assignments and fill a college plan showing how they intend to fulfill all academic requirements within two years.

Emergency permit rules will be tightened still further on July 1, 1972. Applicants for permits to teach in secondary schools will then be required to have the minimum qualifications for one teaching field as detailed in the Standards for Teacher Education in Texas.

At the same time, elementary permits will be issued only to persons who have completed at least 12 hours in elementary education. A certified teacher must have completed 18 hours.

During the 1971-72 school year, 16,223 teachers will hold emergency permits, including 10,599 first-time and 5,624 renewals. More than 12,000 teachers hold at least a bachelor's degree, but are teaching outside their original fields in such critical areas as kindergarten and special education.

Some 2,000 have earned master's degrees outside the field of education and at least five hold the doctor of philosophy degree but have not had any formal teacher training.

Quarantine placed on three counties for hog cholera

Quarantines for hog cholera have been placed on portions of Lubbock, Hockley and Lamb counties by federal and state animal health officials, according to Dr. Gilbert R. Hollis, area swine specialist.

The quarantines were enacted because of two confirmed outbreaks of hog cholera, one each in Lubbock and Hockley counties. The action is part of a stepped-up campaign to wipe out this costly swine disease, Hollis adds. The quarantine will be removed when the threat of disease spread has been eliminated.

The area in Lubbock County is bounded by a line extending from the northeast corner of the Lubbock County line, west along the county line to the intersection of Highway 87, then south along the north bank of Yellow House Canyon. Then east along the north bank of Yellow House Canyon to the Lubbock County line, then north along the county line to the point of origin.

The quarantine area for Hockley and Lamb counties is bounded by a line from Smyer, north along Farm Road 168 to the intersection of Farm Road 454, then east along Farm Road 54, to the intersection of Farm Road 303. From there, south along Farm Road 303 to the intersection of State Highway 116, then east along State Highway 116 to Smyer.

The specialist explains that no swine in the quarantined areas can be moved without health certification from an accredited state or federal veterinarian. Any producer within the area who wants to take hogs to slaughter may call the Ramada Inn at 763-9343, and ask for any member of the Hog Cholera team. The producer can then obtain farm inspection and a certificate for movement.

Bay View lunch includes guests

Guests joined Bay View Study Club members for a style show luncheon Thursday in the Cason House, to begin a new club season.

Offices vacated this summer were filled as Mrs. R. W. Eades, president, announced that the executive board has named Mrs. Homer Garrison first vice president and Mrs. Tom Sawyer correspondent.

Resignations of Mmes. J. E. Shirkey, E. J. McMillan and Wilson Humphrey created the vacancies.

With Gladys Clark as narrator, fall fashions from LaBoutique were paraded by Betty Roberts, Donna VanderZee, Dalene Springer, Sondra Reinauer, Sue Zinser and Vi Owens, after an introduction by Jeanie Calson.

The show featured daytime costumes in which fringe and braid trim on such textured fabrics as tweed, crushed velvet, suede and wool tapestry were often used in ensembles combining pants with skirts or tunics.

After five styles also appeared, in elegant fabrics and clear colors, either long or short skirts or pants.

Mrs. Eades welcomed guests and Mrs. Jack Wilcox, program chairman, announced the theme of this year's study, Creative Awareness. Experts in the various subjects will be invited to speak on such phases of creativity as art, space, education, finance, food and religion.

Mrs. W. S. Kerr and Mrs. Homer Powell were hostesses who arranged autumn flowers in glowing shades of gold and orange on the tables.

Introduced as guests from other cities were Berenice Cohen and Joy Misiewicz of San Diego, Mrs. Hazel Davis of Rule and Mrs. Terry Mosly of Plainview, Mrs. Dick O'Daniel of Tulsa and Mrs. Dan Wall of Sumter, S.C.

Also guests were Mmes. Pat Malone, Floyd Cole, Charles Hood, C. J. Crump, Charlie Noland, Corinne Moore and Floyd Coleman.

H.D. CHATTER Preserving of canned foods

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

WE HAD A REAL treat Monday when we visited the Community Action offices at the Hereford Labor Camp. I saw what first appeared to be an exhibit of canned foods on the way to a county fair. The beautiful canned products were the results of the efforts of Mrs. Wayne Petty who directs the foods preservation classes.

Her assistants now are: Mrs. Teresa Martinez, Mrs. Sara Vallejo, Mrs. Octavia Lamas. The canned and frozen vegetables were pretty enough to make a good showing at any county fair. The ladies who assist will be given some canned products as pay for their efforts.

DO NOT use these canning methods, as they are considered unsafe and not recommended: open kettle, oven canning, intermittent sterilization, acidification of low-acid vegetables, addition of canning powders, compounds or antibiotics.

The pressure canner method is necessary for processing all non-acid vegetables in order to prevent possible spoilage and botulism.

Botulism cannot be detected except in extreme cases, as the flavor, texture and odor are necessarily affected. Boil all home-canned, non-acid vegetables for 15 to 20 minutes in an uncovered pan before tasting.

We have some "Easy to Make Pickle Recipes" you may have for the asking.

The Tri-State Fair Association has requested the cooperation of the Texas Extension Service to help inform the public and promote Senior Citizens Day at the Fair on September 23, 1971.

Since our Senior Citizens are very special, let's help inform and encourage them to attend their special day at the Fair. Please call 364-3573 by September 17, if you are planning to attend.

AMARILLO. Senior citizens will be in the spotlight September 23 at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, when a day of fair activities will be conducted in their honor.

On that day, all persons with Medicare cards will be admitted free to the fairgrounds. A special program will begin at 1 p.m. at the Fair Park Coliseum to honor the senior citizens of the Golden Spread.

The day is being sponsored by the Tri-State Fair Association with the cooperation of the Texas agricultural Extension Service. Visitors will be treated to a concert by the Caprock High School Choir. It will be followed by a session of community singing. The program will also feature various speakers and awards to senior citizens.

A welcome will be given by Ray Vahue, mayor of Amarillo, and a talk will be made by Douglas O. Woodruff, first vice president of the National Association of Retired Persons, from Salt Lake City, Utah.

The King and Queen of the festivities will be the oldest man and oldest woman in the coliseum. A prize will be awarded to the person living the greatest distance from Amarillo.

The senior citizen with the most living children will be honored, as well as the persons with the most living grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

In addition, three general door prizes will be given during a drawing for the general audience.

A Medicare card will also allow a person to see the Charley Pride Show matinee at 5 p.m. for half price.

BISHOP DODGE

Missionary to Africa to speak here Sunday

Bishop Ralph Edward Dodge, for many years a United Methodist missionary to Africa, and author of articles and books about the church in mission, will speak at First United Methodist Church next Sunday at 7 p.m.

Since 1968, Bishop Dodge has served as a chaplain at the Mindolo Ecumenical Foundation in Zambia. For 12 years prior to that he had episcopal supervision of Angola, Rhodesia and Mozambique.

Bishop Dodge's longest term of service in Africa was spent in educational and evangelistic work in Angola from 1936 to 1950, until he came to the Board of Missions in New York City to serve as Africa Secretary for six years.

Bishop Dodge has earned a number of academic degrees, including a Ph. D. from Hartford Seminary Foundation, and is the author of numerous articles and two books, "The Unpopular Missionary," published in 1963, and "The Pagan Church," published in 1968.

He and his wife, Eunice, have four children, all of them grown. Bishop and Mrs. Dodge are now residing at: 3657 West Nichols, Springfield, Missouri 65803.

Mrs. James G. Allison . . . nee Cynthia Leasure

Miss Leasure is bride of James G. Allison

Marriage vows were spoken by Miss Cynthia Kaye Leasure and James Gratz Allison at twilight Saturday in First Baptist Church sanctuary. Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor, officiated for the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Leasure Jr., 511 Star, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Allison, 113 North Texas.

After the wedding trip ending September 28, the couple will be at home on a ranch near Marietta, Okla.

Candles lighted the altar setting in the church, held in twin spiral candelabra on either side and an arched arrangement which backed the bench where the couple knelt. Palms were massed in the background, and the candelabra were twined with fern, gypsophyllia lavender daisy mums and clusters of magenta grapes.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in flowing candlelight chiffon and Venise lace. The floor-length skirt was gathered fully to an empire bodice. Satin ribbons banded the waist, tied at center back and extended in streamers the length of the chapel train.

Clusters of French pearls embroidered the lace overlying the bodice and forming cap sleeves from which the chifton billowed into Camelot sleeves cuffed at the wrists with satin.

The lower tier of her illusion veil floated just to the edge of the train and shorter bouffant tiers covered her shoulders.

The veil was held by a Camelot caplet of pearls and satin.

She carried pink roses and gypsophyllia with streamers of candlelight satin. Her only jewelry was the bridegroom's gift, diamond earrings.

Miss Cynthia Clark of Austin was her maid of honor and Robert LaRue of Waco acted as best man.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mack Cansler, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Chris Todd of Austin and Miss Marilyn Murphy of Lubbock. Gary Story of Houston, Mike Davis of Amarillo and Mack Cansler were the groomsmen.

Serving as ushers were Dennis Latham, John Hays of Waco, and the bride's brothers, Steven and Ray Leasure, who also lighted candles as Mrs. Joe Hacker, organist, played a Bach composition, Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring.

Other pre-nuptial music was from "Camelot," West Side Story, Sound of Music and Brahms' St. Anthony's Chorale. Jim Hannaford sang the solo, Wedding Song, and during the ceremony Mrs. Hacker softly played Clair de Lune. The bride and her attendants entered to Purcell's Trumpet Voluntary and the recessional selection was Marcello's setting for Psalm 9.

Bridesmaids' dresses of ivory crepe were banded at the high waistline and just above the hem with embroidered designs in shades of deep blue, plum and berry. Skirts were gathered at either side for a panel effect.

sleeves were long and fitted and necklines finished with wedding ring bands.

Their hats were circlets of satin with braided trim repeating colors of the dress trim, ending in short knotted streamers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Leasure chose an emerald dress with seed pearls accenting the standing collar and cuffs of the full sleeves. The bridegroom's mother wore coral crepe with iridescent bead design at the waistline. Accessories of both matched their dresses, and their corsages were white rosebuds.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. E.W. Young, was wearing a sky-blue double breasted dress with jeweled buttons and back belt, while Mrs. D.E. Leasure Sr. of Truth or Consequences, N.M., chose a turquoise peau de soie coat-dress.

Nancy and Laurie Young, cousins of the bride, registered guests at the wedding and Mrs. Ronald Gray at the reception in the church fellowship hall.

The four-tiered cake was served by Miss Brenda Formby and Mrs. Roger Gregory, as Misses Karen Kitchens and Darla Springer ladled punch. A sheer nylon cloth with scalloped edges overlaid ivory satin on the bride's table, where dusty rose carnations, pink roses and asters in shades of purple were arranged in a centerpiece with silver candelabra.

Houseparty members were Mmes. Clint Formby, Dave Hopper, Dennis Lomas, J.M. Gilentine, Wayne Thomas, W.H. Kitchens and Earnest Langley.

Church to dedicate parsonage with special services today

Dedication of the parsonage of First United Methodist Church will be conducted Sunday with special services at the church and a brief afternoon ceremony at the home, 127 Star, now occupied by the Rev. W. A. Appling and his family.

The services mark completion of payments for the parsonage property, which was bought a few years ago while Dr. Clifford Trotter, now superintendent of the church's Amarillo District, was pastor here. Some repair and redecoration work recently has been done on the house.

Bishop Aisie H. Carleton and Dr. Trotter will be here to conduct the dedication at the parsonage at 3 p.m., then church members will host open house until 5 p.m., inviting friends to call.

For morning worship services at the church Dr. Marvin Boyd, superintendent of the Lubbock District, will be the speaker. The public is invited to join church members at this service also, beginning at 11 a.m.

Hosts for the open house are headed by Virgil Walker, chairman of church properties, and Mrs. Elmer Kimball, parsonage chairman. Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. M.H. Richie, as presidents of the Woman's Society and Guild respectively, will pour coffee.

Also in the houseparty are Mmes. Robert Strain, A.T.

Jim Hannaford played piano selections during the reception. The bridal couple lighted the memory candle, which was based in flowers similar to those on the table, as he played September Song.

For the wedding trip Mrs. Allison wore a gabardine suit in Kelly green, its bolero jacket designed with welted seams and gold buttons. Accessories supplied brown accents.

She holds the BA degree from Texas Technological University, where she was a member of Angel Flight and ROTC wing sweetheart, and has been employed in offices of H.H. Rothell at Austin.

The bridegroom attended Baylor University, where he was a member of Circle K, and West Texas State University. His fraternity is Lambda Chi Alpha. Both are Hereford High School graduates.

Out-of-city wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leasure Sr.; Messrs. and Mmes. E.R. Beckham and C.R. LaRue of Waco, A.C. Hays of Dimmitt, W.M. Blocker of Hobbs, William L. Leasure of Dallas, R.V. Young and Jon M. Leasure of Amarillo, Kenneth Dale of Memphis.

Courtesies for the couple before the wedding included the bridesmaids' luncheon at Hereford Country Club Saturday, with Mrs. Formby and her niece, Miss Clark, as hostesses; the rehearsal dinner given by the bridegroom's parents Friday evening and a coffee Friday morning with Mrs. Gray hostess in the home of her mother, Mrs. Dale Tinnin.

OCTOBER BRIDE-ELECT — Engagement of Miss Veatrice Crow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Crow of Star Route, to James Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Simpson, 825 Blevins, is announced by parents of the bride-to-be. The wedding is to take place Oct. 29 in Temple Baptist Church. Miss Crow, employed by High Plains Laboratories, is a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School. Her fiancé is a junior student in West Texas State University and an employee of Simpson and Cotten. He completed high school studies here in 1969. (Bradly photo)

Pavlicek named UD art director

The Abbey School is a private, college-preparatory high school located on a 220-acre campus near to Colorado's famed scenic attraction, the Royal Gorge.

Enrollment at the Abbey is 82 young men from all over the United States and from some 9 foreign countries; 95 per cent of Abbey's graduated attend high education, and in the past 10 years 96 per cent have received college degrees.

The Missouri river is 2,466 miles long.

Ouch! Junior High teams get beat

Thursday was a bad day for the Hereford junior high football teams.

Pampa Lee edged La Plata's ninth grade, 19-12, and Dumas seventh, eighth and ninth grades made short work of Stanton's three teams.

This Thursday the La Plata ninth grade plays host to the Dumas ninth while the seventh and eighth grades travel to Dumas.

Stanton's seventh and eighth grades host North Borger here on Tuesday and the Stanton ninth grade travels to Pampa for its game.

The Dumas seventh grade blistered Stanton's seventh, 30-8, the Dories' eighth grade lost 14-8 and the ninth grade fell, 40-20.

Darrell Williams scored all three touchdowns in the 40-20 loss of the ninth grade game. A two-point conversion pass from Hank Stringer to Rob-Lomas accounted for the other two points.

Ricky Taylor busted loose for a 45-yard scoring scamper in the seventh grade loss and Michel Reyes went across for the two-point conversion for Stanton.

Marvin Harris, tailback for the La Plata Mavericks ninth grade, rambled for 167 yards on 27 carries and scored both touchdowns in the La Plata loss to Pampa Lee. He went three yards for his first score and 11 yards for the second score, both in the second quarter.

The Mavs trailed 13-12 at the half but Pampa added the clincher in the fourth period.

Needle club to donate quilt to Girlstown

A quilt recently given to Mothers Needle Club by Mary Brady will be quilted at a later date for presentation to Girlstown, it was decided at the monthly meeting Thursday.

Mrs. Ralph Paul was hostess. One new member, Mrs. Roy Boyd, was welcomed into the group.

Pictures and narration of a summer trip to Alaska were presented in a program by Mrs. W.H. Awtry.

Mrs. Awtry, accompanied on the July-August trip by her brother, Joe Bryant of Clovis, visited another brother, a sister-in-law and three nephews and their families in Anchorage.

Other members present were Mmes. Haskell Benson, Adam Flowers, W.T. Gunstenson, H.E. Lindley, C.N. McClure and Annie Springer.

Service years of volunteers noted by pins

Service pins were presented to six members of Red Cross Uniformed Volunteers at its September lunch in K-Bob's Restaurant Thursday. Longest term of service recognized was Corinne Neely's 12 years.

Mrs. Ray Carlile and Mrs. O.H. Culpepper each were given 8-year pins, Mrs. Sam Morgan a 3-year pin and Mrs. Andrew Kershen a 2-year pin.

Reports at the lunch revealed 380 hours of community service given by eight members of the Volunteers since July 1.

Mrs. Morgan reported that three cakes had been baked for the Day Care Center; Mrs. Neely listed work done at the County Health Clinic in filing records; Mrs. Kershen told of aid given at the Satellite Center and Mrs. Culpepper reported service at Westgate unit of Kings Manor retirement home.

Mrs. Carlile was appointed liaison chairman to determine needs at Westgate, where Volunteers assist residents at the home, sit with those in the hospital who have no relatives here to remain with them, give birthday parties for residents in months when no other organization acts as hostess.

Harris, Poindexter lead JV's to victory

The Hereford Junior Varsity Longhorns, relying mainly on the big play, crushed the Borger Junior Varsity, 42-6, Thursday in the season opener for the Longhorns.

James Harris scored three TDs, two on punt returns of 80 and 50 yards, and Duane Davison added one and Terry Poindexter, two.

Harris went 60 yards to pay dirt on a screen pass from James Higgins and Poindexter's scores came on scampers of 35 and 30 yards. Poindexter also went four-for-four in kicking extra points.

dited with 13 tackles and Shetty with 15. The defense also sparked by picking off three Borger passes. Davison snatched one, Kenny Brown got another and Harris picked one off. The offense, which amassed 258 yards on the ground and 110 passing, ran the score to 22-0 after four minutes. The score remained 2-0 until the second half and in the third quarter it jumped to 29-0. Borger finally got on the board in the fourth quarter, but not before the Longhorns had added their final 23 points.

The JVs travel to Amarillo Thursday to meet the Palo Duro Junior Varsity.

Small talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

MRS. MINNIE WINNETT, who has lived in Fontana, Calif., the last 12 years, has returned to make her home here, and was honored at a family reunion recently at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Johnson.

The Clarence Winnetts of Grove, Okla., and Bill Winnett of Phoenix were here to join Hereford relatives, the Bobby Winnett and Bob Manning families, for dinner and a day of visiting.

Mrs. Winnett is making her home with the Johnsons and hopes to see all her Hereford friends soon.

PARTIES FOR BRIDES—and sometimes groomsmen too—have certainly livened up the late summer weeks here and apparently will go on into the fall. They're starting this week for Patti Nobles, who is to marry William Watson of Midland in mid-October.

In fact, Patti has already been the honoree at a tea Friday when her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Robert N. Watson, introduced her to Midland friends of the family at the Woman's Club building in that city. Mrs. Robert N. Watson Jr. was also a hostess.

Big parties and little, the entertaining before her wedding will add considerably to our fall social schedule here.

RELATIVES AND friends who went to Coleman for the wedding last Sunday of Kathryn Byerly of that city and Charles Schneider of Carrollton included his parents—the John Schneiders; grandmother, Mrs. A. G. Kemp; uncle and aunt, the Clois Kemps, and the Dub Curtisings.

Earline and John went down a week before the wedding and visited Chuck at Carrollton, while Mrs. Kemp was visiting her sons, Lawson Kemp at Brownwood and Elton Kemp at Coleman, and their families.

The wedding was in Concho Baptist Church at Coleman and the family was all there. Then the Hereford residents came back the first of this week. Chuck and Kathy are at home at 1919 Josey Lane, Apt. 170, at Carrollton.

HER GREAT-granddaughter, aged one and a half, recently spent a few days with Edith Sheppard, who says she had a lot of fun and didn't even get tired of being hostess to the active youngster.

The little girl is Tiffany Wells, daughter of Edith's grandson, Charles Wells, and his wife who live at Amarillo but are getting ready to move to Lubbock.

JUST A VISITOR—that will be Viola Williams' status at the Home Demonstration conventions, state and national, at Dallas this week. She has attended state conventions for several years, sometimes as an official delegate from this county, but she enjoys them enough to go even when it isn't a duty.

This year she wasn't sure she could go, after recent surgery on her hand, but her doctor gave her an o.k. recently and she plans to fly down from Amarillo tomorrow.

After the meetings in Dallas, while she is that far-downtown she will go on to Austin and visit the new Giristown home in the capital city. She is interested in that officially, as a board member for Giristown, and personally; she is a Giristown fan, on or off the board.

WATER TOUR — Hereford and area residents along on the Water, Inc. tour of the California Water Project pause during a visit to the Edmonston Pumping Station near Bakersfield. The pumping plant lifts aqueduct water more than 1,900 feet up and

Koenig finishes first year at nursing school

Philip Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Koenig of Hereford, recently completed the first year of Nursing Education at Texas Hospital School of nursing and began work on his second year.

The first year included 36 weeks of college courses and six weeks of High Level Wellness-Nursing Process. The second will include advanced nursing curriculum.

Upon completion of this phase of nursing, Koenig will be eligible to take the State Board of Nursing Examination for Licensure as a Registered Nurse.

He will graduate in May of 1973.

BAPTISTS FAVOR ISRAEL NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Southern Baptist poll shows that most pastors and Sunday school teachers—more than 70 per cent—are sympathetic with Israel in the Middle East crisis. Less than 3 per cent said they sympathized most with the Arab states. The rest said "neither."

Easter Lions to sponsor supper

Easter Lions Club will sponsor a box supper at 8 p.m. Sept. 25 in the Easter community building. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Flood will serve as hostesses.

Persons attending are asked to bring food for two in a decorated box. Boxes will be auctioned off later in the evening. Games of 42 will be played following the supper. All interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Villanova plays eight of its 11 football games away from home.

Arkansas will play only three of its 11 football games on the road this fall.

DE STUDENT OF THE WEEK — Nancy Jones, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Jones, Jr., of Route 4, has been selected as Distributive Education student of the week. Miss Jones, a senior at Hereford High School, is shown with her employer, Gene Campbell of Campbell Real Estate.

A MESSAGE FOR DADDIES

They'd rather have you around than your insurance.

Get yourself a good, thorough examination once a year. Once a year, let your doctor really look you over. It'll take a little time, and a little patience. And maybe he'll poke around a little more than you'd really like. And so he should.

The whole idea is to keep you healthy. If nothing's wrong (and more than likely, there isn't) hooray! Come back next year. But if anything's suspicious, then you've gained the most important thing of all: time.

We can save 1 out of 2 persons when cancer is caught in time, caught early. That's a good thing to know. All Daddies should know how to take care of themselves so that they can have the fun of taking care of their kids. Don't be afraid. It's what you don't know that can hurt you.

Garden Club activities are starting, and one of the outstanding flower shows of the North Zone will be the fall flower show, to be held at the Amarillo Garden Center.

Dates are September 25th and 26th. Participating organizations will be the Amarillo Council of Garden Clubs, Inc.

Theme for the show is "Come Travel With Me." Admission is $1 per person, and address of the Garden Center is 1400 Streit Drive, Medical Center Park, Amarillo.

There are many interesting features listed in the schedule. One will be the Educational Exhibits, Division III. Entries in this division will be from Mary E. Bivins Nursing Home, Psychiatric Pavilion of N.W. T. Hospital, Killgore Children's Psychiatric Center, and the Amarillo State Center for Human Development. The Amarillo Garden Council works with these groups and much has been accomplished.

Many fascinating classes are listed in the Artistic Division. One of which is Display Segment Tables, Paris. "Sidewalk Cafe," "Caribbean Magic," "Pacific Paradise," and many other challenging classes.

There will be new awards featured in each of the divisions, interesting. It is always a treat for anyone to see the grounds at the Garden Center, so mark the date in RED on your calendar.

Three National Flower Show judges, from the Hereford Garden Clubs, will be on the judging staff.

Schedules have been prepared and distributed to the members of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club; their show will be staged in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room October 15th. Theme of this show is "Potpourri of the Golden Spread." They too have a most interesting and well written schedule, and there will be many fascinating and educational features.

The Hereford Garden Club is having its annual show in the First National Bank. The classes and theme all pertain to money. Staging will be different. Tables will be one of the featured classes. Watch for further publicity on both of these shows.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS. It is now time to groom and check on the disbudbing of the chrysanthemums. Buds should have been pinched on the exhibition types for some time and plants fed so that the plant will produce exhibition material. Chrysanthemums require regular applications of fertilizer until the flower buds begin to show color.

Keep the soil in which they grow comfortably moist, but not wet. For good exhibition material gardeners must give extra attention to their chrysanthemums also well grown materials always pay off well in arrangements.

Now is the time to check on the gladiolus corms. The tops (foliage) should be well dried by now. If so the corms should be lifted and prepared for winter storage. Use care in lifting the corms so that the new little ones will not be lost. Lay the stalks aside until all have been lifted, as to type and variety.

Cut off the dried part, shake off the attached soil. Leave to dry for a day or two, then after they are dried place in bags. Mesh bags are recommended because of the ventilation. Air passage should be good around the stored corms. Fill bags according to color or name. Place in storage area where there will be no danger of freezing. It is advisable also to dust with a disinfectant before storage, so that any insects or diseases they may have will be killed before stored. Check throughout the winter several times and if corms seem unusually dry then sprinkle lightly with water so that they will keep better.

There are other bulbs which should be cared for before frost. These are Dahlias, Cannas, tuberous Begonias, and any other tender bulb. They can be handled similarly to the gladiolus. However, the tubers of the dahlias should not be broken from the mother stalk, but left on, so that when planting time comes each tuber will have a part of the mother stalk for planting. They are bulky and can be stored in latticed boxes, or similar containers. They too may become dry and will need to be checked during the winter months. None of the stored bulbs, corms, tubers, etc. should be placed where there is danger of freezing, and the temperature should not be too warm where they are stored.

If storage is a problem, the above named can be left in the space in which they have been grown, if they are properly bedded down for winter. Cut stalks as soon as frost or freeze comes, then mound well over the stalk tops so that there will be depth to prevent freezing, and the drainage good. Water should not collect after rain or snow, and cause freezing. This method does not always prove successful, but I have used it.

It is also suggested that seed can be saved and stored for another season. Use care in the selection of the matured seed, and make sure that they are well dried. Put into bags or other containers, mark and put away for the new garden in the spring. Marigolds, cosmos (on my recent trip I saw some of the new miniature cosmos; they were very attractive and do not take up too much space), zinnias, and any other of your favorite annuals which have matured can be gathered now.

HAVE YOU SEEN? The beautiful, colorful flowers, shrubs and trees at the Texas Hi-Way Headquarters on 25 Mile Ave? I spent some time there last week, enjoying a visit with the gardener, and the beauty created. One of the appealing things to me was the excellent care given to the bar-ditches, as well as the grounds. The nasturtiums were lovely, the nicest I have seen this season.

A new feature has been added to the Church Gardens at the First Baptist Church. It is the placement of an antique bell, which was originally given to the church by the first hardware company of Hereford when the church building was built on the corner of McKinley and 4th. It hung in the belfry for many years, and its Sunday morning tolling was beautiful, as it was wafted over the sleepy western town in its early growth. Mrs. Roy Lee Wilson was instrumental in the placement; the foundation being a memorial to her late husband Mr. Roy Lee Wilson. It is located in the area facing the Main Street entrances.

Grapes are ripening, and those which I have shared are delicious. From many kitchens, there comes the aroma of cooking jelly or marmalade. (Good eating for winter mornings.) For Christmas color, try pickling some of the best of the crabapples. These are good eating, and they add color to a meat platter, or fruit plate. Also delicious jelly or butter can be made from the crabapples. It may be a bit old fashioned, but tomato preserves are really delicious. The Porter tomatoes are extra good for this purpose. In making preserves, my mother taught me to add slices of lemon, and these candied with the tomatoes are really good...yummy!

Day Care Center is club subject

Operation of Hereford Day Care Center, how it was established, what it does and who is eligible to use its facilities was the subject of a program given for L'Allegra Study Club Thursday afternoon with Anna Jo Wilson, director of the Center, as guest speaker.

She stressed that the Center is a community project, licensed by the state, designed to provide homelike care and learning experiences for pre-school children whose mothers are employed or attend school. Needs which can be met by local organizations and individuals were listed.

Silver anniversary of L'Allegra Club falls this year, and will be formally observed at the next meeting with a tea in the home of Mrs. David Gibson. Final plans were made in the business session.

Special guests for the tea will be members of Lone Star Study and Pioneer Study Clubs, which

Formby speaker at convention

Clint Formby, owner and operator of several radio properties in Texas, was the main speaker last week of the Small Market Radio Committee at the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Broadcasters.

Formby spoke on "Keep Your License and Make It Pay."

The convention was held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Hidden Valley resort at Gaylord, Mich.

Formby is past president of the Texas Association of Broadcasters and owns Radio Station KPAN in Hereford, KLVT Radio in Levelland and KTEM Radio in Temple.

Messenger Club begins new year

Family Housing was the program topic for Messenger Home Demonstration Club at its first fall meeting, with Mrs. Bill Garnett as hostess in her home.

Arzen Draper, County H.D. Agent, was the speaker who led a discussion on arrangement of a home for maximum use by the family which occupies it.

Mrs. Gene Bradley, new president, was in charge of the business meeting. Patricia Moellers was welcomed as a new member.

Birthdays of Mrs. Andrew Hagan and Mrs. Garnett were celebrated in the social period, and members planned a community party honoring S.N. Thweatt on his birthday. This party was given in the Elmer Northcutt home.

Jaycees consider forming flag football league for young men

The Hereford Jaycees are looking into the possibility of forming a flag football league for young men.

sponsored organization of L'Allegra. All past presidents will be honored also. Hours for the tea are 4 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Danny Martin conducted the business discussion. Mrs. Gibson was hostess for the afternoon.

Other members present were Mmes. Bill Warrick, Jerry Weldon, Alex Schroeter, Marshall Wilson, Jim Conkright, Buddy Bloomer, Eddie Reinauer, Jim Carnahan, Mary Parker, Dale Furr, Hazen Woods, J. D. Hamblen, Bobby Veigel, Rudy Metz and J. H. McCrary.

Anyone interested in participating in such a league, which would involve one game a week, should be at the meeting. It will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Community Center.

Under the rules of the league, no tackling would be allowed. Forward progress would stop when a defensive player grabbed either one of two flags in the offensive man's back pockets.

The Jaycees said the league will be organized if there is sufficient attendance at the meeting to show a genuine interest. They hope to get a four-team league organized.

Ogan enjoys first day with Italian family

Sammy Ogan, Hereford's foreign exchange student to Italy, has arrived at the home where he will live for the next year. He and 17 other American Field Service students had spent three weeks at a hotel taking an intensified language course in Italian. He got up at 7:30 a.m. on Sept. 9 and at 9 a.m. boarded a bus to take him from Aosta, Italy, to Torino, Italy. He had lunch at the train station, where he boarded a train at 12:30 p.m. to take him to Modena, near where his Italian family lives. "The train ride was great and everybody said goodbye a million times," Sammy said in a letter his family received this week. "I had an eerie feeling when I saw the Modena city limits sign. The train pulled into the station, I got off and, you guessed it, no family. I was really puzzled, but they actually were on the other side of the train and had to go below the station and up some steps to get to me." After about two minutes, they were with him. He first saw the father of the family, Vincenzo, and recognized him immediately from his picture. The rest of the family—two boys, mother, grandmother—were with him. "They were glad to see me and of course I was excited and glad to see them. All the time I was trying to understand them and vice versa. I can understand Italian very well, but I have trouble speaking it. But at least I can understand what is going on," he said. The family put Sammy's luggage in their small station wagon—they also have a Fiat, which is made in that Italian town—and drove for about 15 minutes to get to Fiorino, the small town the family actually lives in. "Their house is big, four stories, with a store below," Sammy said. The second floor is all bedrooms. He has his own room, which he described as small but comfortable. Since he is 6-foot-2 and the tallest of the Italian family is 5-foot-8, his bed naturally is too small. It is about three inches shorter than he is. "It has a big balcony, with plants and a very nice view, a couple of velvet chairs, and a chandelier, sort of, a book case and a lamp." After he unpacked, he went with his Italian brothers, Ruggero and Loris, to a little pop club, where they listened to pop music and Sammy met several of the boys' friends. Then they came home for a dinner, which was steak, cheese and other food. "It was a good supper." Then he gave the family gifts he had brought, "and they were happy to get them." After supper, he and Ruggero walked over to a cathedral, which they visited. He described it as huge, well-lighted, "amazing." They played card games that first night, with the mother looking on interestedly. He taught them to play "Spades." "Then on to bed, where I am now. And so ends my first day with my Italian family," Sammy wrote. "Tell all of my friends hello for me. I think I will enjoy it here."

"If we just apply that statewide, we can develop a way of life that we can be happy to pass along to our children." Briscoe served on a committee that urged implementation of the Texas Water Plan and said he is solidly behind the attempt to import water to the agricultural empire of West Texas.

Agriculture is more important to Texas' economy than most Texans believe it is, he said. He pointed out that one farmer in America produces enough goods to feed himself, 35 other Americans and four foreigners. A Russian farmer can produce enough only for him and five other persons, he said.

"It takes over 50 per cent of the Russian people to produce that country's agricultural products. It takes less than 8 per cent of the American population to grow our products. Only about 18 cents out of every dollar in America goes to food, compared to 50 cents earlier in the century. In Russia, more than 50 cents of every dollar right now goes for food."

Those figures represent "one of the great success stories in the world," the governor candidate added. "How much stronger would Communism be if Russia had the tremendously productive agricultural economy we have? Texas has moved from a position of insignificance to number one in cattle feeding, and this area played a big role in that."

In his eight years as a state representative, Briscoe never had an opponent. He left the legislature in 1957, after the death of his father, to manage the family businesses.

He co-sponsored legislation in 1949 that resulted in the Farm-to-Market road program in Texas.

"It's still in effect today, and I feel it has been one of the greatest things that has happened to develop this state of ours, especially the rural areas."

Briscoe is married to the former Betty Jane Slaughter and has three children—Janey, Chip and Cele. He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

He is chairman of the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, president of the Screw-worm Eradication Program board of trustees.

He was named outstanding conservation rancher in Texas in 1958 and one of the Five Outstanding Young Texans by the Texas Jaycees in 1958. He was president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in 1960 and 1961, president of both the South Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas State Chamber of Commerce in 1967 and 1968, and regional director of the Boy Scouts.

Briscoe is trustee of the Texas A&M Research Foundation, member of the Hardin-Simmons University Board of Development, chairman of the board of two banks and director of another bank.

Class supper is planned Friday

The Hereford High School Junior Class Supper, held each year to raise money for the classes' Annual Queen candidate, will be from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Friday at the high school cafeteria. Tickets for the supper are $1.50 for adults and $1 for children 12 years of age and under. Tickets can be purchased at the high school office, from any junior class student or at the door.

The Junior Class Annual Queen candidate this year is Meredith Wilcox. Each of the high school classes annually sponsor some type of public supper to raise money

Three courses offered through CAA program

The Community Action Agency at the Labor Camp Monday will begin accepting applicants for three programs that will be offered at no cost to persons wishing to take them. Lorenzo Granado, CAA co-ordinator, said classes will be given in Basic Bookkeeping, Preparatory GED, and Drivers License.

NAACP ends drive for new members today

The local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) winds up its annual membership drive today with a program and free dinner. It will be at the Mt. Sinai Baptist Church on Norton Street, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Anyone interested is invited to attend, according to the president of the chapter, Sylvia High. Membership calls also will be accepted at either of two telephone numbers—364-2207 or 364-9649.

Empty contains not always empty

AMARILLO—Is an empty pesticide container really empty? Don't believe it, says Bill Clymer, Extension area entomologist at Amarillo.

Blanket...

(Continued From Page One) sampled last Monday was 14.5 per cent sugar content, which is 2 per cent above 1970 and 3 per cent better than the year before. It's about the same as in 1964, the best year for Holly Sugar in Hereford.

The beet acreage (21,000 acres) is 10,000 acres below a year ago in part of a steady trend with low sugar content of recent years. The harvest began on Sept. 28 last year because of the higher acreage.

"We try to harvest the maximum amount of our beets that are peak sugar content. You can't harvest them all at peak so we have got to adjust the starting date to accomplish this to the best of our ability," Ginn said.

County Agent Justin McBride said the rain "will help in grain filling, give us a heavier test weight. I think the grain is far enough this cool-wet weather won't have any detrimental effect on us."

The August rains helped the sorghum crop, but there were some fields, some varieties which had problems because of the stage they were in at the time.

"It's not a real widespread situation, but we will have some sorghum where the heads didn't fill in as they should have, due to poor pollination in the cool, wet weather. Some heads are partially blank or have real small grain in them."

The biggest benefit from the rain the past day or so, McBride said, will be the aid it provides in getting up any wheat that had not yet germinated.

"Some wheat was in the process of being watered, and maybe it won't have to be now, and it'll help dryland wheat. It will get wheat off to a good start."

Anyone wishing to sign up for any of the courses should be at the Agency Center at 8 p.m. Monday, Granado said. "We have had these courses before, but we will have them again because of the demand," he said. "We will continue to offer these courses as long as there is a need for them."

Dates for the GED and bookkeeping classes will be set as soon as it is determined there are enough interested in the courses. The drivers license course already is scheduled for Oct. 4-6 at the Agency Center.

A canning course, for low-income persons, also is underway at the Center. The course is offered to women of low-income families and they are taught the process of canning.

"This has been going on for about three weeks now, but we don't have enough vegetables or jars," Granado said. "If there is anyone who would like to donate either vegetables or jars, we certainly would appreciate them."

The vegetables that are canned are divided up between the persons doing the canning and the Center. That kept at the Center is made available to low-income families during the winter, Granado said. Herd... (Continued From Page One) have given them a 14-13 lead, but Kitchens was nailed at the 15 and the score stood at 13-12. Holland's 17-yard run gave Palo Duro a first-and-goal at the Hereford 2, but a motion penalty moved it back to the seven, and a Whiteface then jarred Roberts loose from the ball, but he recovered at the 8. His pass to end Freddie Bryant in the end zone was ruled incomplete and, on third-and-goal from the 8, his pass to the end zone was over his receiver's head but a Hereford defender brushed against the receiver before the ball got there.

The interference ruling gave Palo Duro an automatic first-and-goal on the 1, instead of fourth-and-goal from the eight, and Ward scored on the next play, with 6:31 to play in the game. The kick was wide and Palo Duro led, 19-12. Hereford's defense, which showed considerable improvement over a week ago, kept the Dons inside their own 38-yard-line during the third quarter. But, the Don defense held the Whitefaces at bay on three possessions before they pushed the ball to the Don 10 on the last play of the period.

It was the following series of plays that led to the final Hereford score. A field goal attempt by the Dons in the second period went wide following a drive from their own 35. The Dons got the ball on an interception of a screen pass at the Palo Duro 43 that was carried to the Hereford 13. A clipping penalty against Palo Duro at the 20 on the pass interception brought the ball back out to the 35 and the Dons drove back to the 21 before being stopped by the Whiteface defense and being forced into a field goal attempt.

Funeral service held Friday for Byron Durham

The funeral of Byron Durham, 75, of 504 Schley, was conducted Friday afternoon in First United Methodist Church, of which he was a member. The Rev. W. A. Appling, pastor, officiated; burial in Rest Lawn Cemetery was directed by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Booster Club goes back to night meetings

The Whiteface Booster Club has made a change in its meeting for this week. It will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Club Center, instead of at 6:30 a.m. as a week ago. The meetings have traditionally been on Monday evenings but were changed last week to a Monday breakfast meeting to avoid the conflict with Monday

Research studies sorghum feeding

LUBBOCK—In the Southwest and certain Corn Belt "fringe" areas sorghum grain is the primary feed grain for swine diets, but little research has been conducted using sorghum grain as a primary energy source for early weaned pigs.

Texas Tech animal science faculty have undertaken research to determine additives and the processing methods necessary to produce the best results using grain sorghum for the young pigs.

Dr. A. Max Lennon is the principal investigator for the project. Working with him are Prof. Leonard F. Tribble and Keith D. Lind.

"Early weaning, at three weeks, is becoming more and more common in the swine industry," Prof. Lennon said, "and excellent performance" can be achieved with early weaned pigs when milk is used as the major source of protein.

The increasing price of dried skim milk, however, restricts its use as a diet ingredient, he said, and there is a "real need for a lower cost source of protein that

Mrs. Scoggin's funeral planned here Monday

Funeral services for Cornelia Estelle Scoggin, 89 will be conducted at 10 a.m. Monday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home by the Rev. Russell Wingert, Presbyterian minister. Burial will be in Rest Lawn Cemetery.

A resident of Hereford 16 years, Mrs. Scoggin died Friday evening in a Dimmitt nursing home where she had been a patient the past 11 months. Her home here was at 138 Ave. B.

She was a native of Mississippi, born at Meridian April 24, 1882, as Cornelia Estelle Taylor. She married C. L. Scoggin in 1898 at Dawson; his death occurred in December, 1918. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. N.E. Milburn of Hereford, Mrs. Fred Seale of Altus, Okla., and Mrs. L. H. Lange of Tulsa; a sister, Mrs. Annie Jordan of Dawson; five grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren.

will produce fast and efficient gains with young pigs." The researchers propose to base the young pig diet on fortified grain sorghum-soybean meal.

In general, Lennon said, the performance of early weaned pigs fed soy protein is inferior to the performance of pigs fed milk as the major source of protein, and diets based on soybean protein supplemented with enzymes have produced inconsistent results.

"It has been shown, however, that alkali-treatment of soybean protein prior to feeding it to early-weaned pigs results in increased gains and efficiency," he explained. "Various additives—dried whey or yeast—have further improved significantly the performance of young pigs fed corn-soybean meal diets."

There are indications, Lennon said, that whey, yeast and alfalfa protein concentrate will improve the amino acid and vitamin profiles for the young pig as well as improve the digestibility of other nutrients in the diet.

"There is a good possibility that one or more of these products can economically be included in a sorghum grain-soy diet for early weaned pigs." The diets under consideration will be formulated for early-weaned pigs fed from three to nine weeks of age, Lennon said. Weight gains and feed efficiency data will be recorded during the feeding trial. Then subsequent performance up to slaughter weight and back fat measurements at slaughter will be recorded.

Foremost McKesson Foundation is supporting the research.

The column answers questions most frequently asked about the Wage and Price Freeze announced August 15 by President Nixon.)

Q—How did the Internal Revenue Service get involved in answering questions about the Wage-Price Freeze?
A—The Internal Revenue Service undertook the assignment at the request of the Office of Emergency Preparedness which is the operating arm of the new Wage-Price program. Utilizing its nationwide taxpayer assistance network, the IRS receives, analyzes and investigates complaints and answers questions at 360 of its offices throughout the country.

Q—What does the IRS do after it receives a complaint of a Wage-Price Freeze violation?
A—The IRS will acknowledge the complaint and, if there is a reasonable basis for concluding that a violation may exist, it may contact the alleged offender to obtain voluntary compliance with the Presidential order or conduct further investigation. The IRS offices will report to the Office of Emergency Preparedness when further action is required. Actual prosecutions are the responsibility of the Justice Department.

Q—Do complaints of Freeze violations have to be in writing?
A—No. Although the IRS prefers that complaints be written to make referrals to the Office of Emergency Preparedness easier and to establish whether there is any pattern of problems in a particular area, all complaints are recorded, analyzed and investigated.

Q—I'm supposed to get a promotion in October. Can I still be promoted despite the Freeze?
A—Yes. Actual promotions to established positions with greater responsibilities are allowed, as well as increases in apprentice's and learner's rates under programs set up before August 15. However, merit and longevity increases are not permitted during the Freeze.

Q—What sort of penalties will be invoked against businesses that violate the Freeze?
A—The Justice Department may seek an injunction to stop an individual or business from violating the Presidential order. Failure to comply with the injunction may place the violator in contempt of court and result in the handing down of civil penalties on an escalating daily basis. The law also provides a $5,000 fine which may be imposed for each violation.

Q—My college announced last spring that it would raise tuition for the fall semester. Is this increase covered by the Freeze?
A—No. Increases in tuition rates announced before August 15 may still take place, even though they do not go into effect until September, because commitments and, in many cases, payments have already been made.

Q—My landlord sent me a notice the first week of August that my rent was to be increased as of September 1. Do I have to pay the increase?
A—No. Rents on apartments and houses cannot be raised during the Freeze period. Even if an agreement had been signed before August 15 and scheduled to go into effect after the 15th, the increase would not be allowed.

Q—I'm moving into a new apartment. How can I tell if my landlord is overcharging me for rent and violating the Freeze?
A—Check the rents charged for comparable apartments in the immediate area. The rent you pay cannot be any higher.

AAUW to form branch in city

A branch of the American Association of University Women is in prospect for Hereford, with the organization meeting set for 8 p.m. Friday, a dinner in the Caisson House.

Mrs. B.H. Shelby of Waka, state topics chairman, will be a guest and will assist in forming the Hereford branch. Women of this area who have been AAUW members in other cities, or who are eligible for membership, are invited to the dinner.

All women graduates of accredited colleges are eligible to become members of the national organization. Information or dinner reservations may be obtained by telephone calls to Mrs. Jim Bookout, Mrs. Si G. Darling or Flo Dickinson.

Mrs. Darling, who has held membership in AAUW branch-

Plans begin for flower display

First of two workshops to prepare for Bud to Blossom Garden Club's fall flower show was conducted Friday, with emphasis on artistic flower arranging.

Mrs. Sam Long was hostess in Pioneer Gas Glame Room.

Mrs. Wayne Porter, general chairman for the show which will be staged Oct. 15, presented the schedule and then led a study of containers and mechanics pertaining to arranging. Her talk was illustrated with an exhibit of containers and items used in making arrangements.

Mrs. Bill Nelson, a member of the show committee, gave a lecture-demonstration of Elements of Design. Aspects of staging a flower show were discussed by the entire group present.

They planned to go as a group to Amarillo Garden Council's flower show Sept. 26, at the Garden Center in that city.

Also in the business period with Mrs. R. N. Yarbro presiding, members agreed to assist in providing transportation for Kings Manor residents for shopping trips during one month this year.

Mrs. Homer Powell and Mrs. Raymond Camarripa were welcomed as new members. Others present were Mmes. W. H. Gentry, Ray Poland and B. W. Sisson.

SOLDIER DONATES PAY

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — "Here is my combat pay for a month which was given for helping kill people in Vietnam. Please use it to help people to stop some of the feelings and beliefs of mankind which allow us to kill each other."

The message, and a $65 month's pay to U.S. soldier John F. Watts, came to the First United Methodist Church here. It was forwarded to the denomination's Board of Missions, which in turn gave it to the Martin Luther King Hopemobile, an interracial peace project in New York.

DAR observes special week

Mrs. Stan Knox, chairman of Constitution Week for Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, introduced as speaker Connie Goering, Area I Governor for Toastmasters Clubs of North Panhandle, at Thursday afternoon's kick-off

The meeting, hosted by Mrs. L. W. Norvell and Mrs. Sue James, was held in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas building.

Goering said "The Constitution of the United States of America was written some 184 years ago and has endured. Our lives and well-being are the end product of what the bill of rights and constitution stand for."

He continued "In the past decade there has been more scorn and abuse heaped on our system than in all previous decades; there is a definite lack of patriotism.

"But," said Goering, "I believe in the system, I believe in the moral fiber of the unheard people." He briefly discussed what the bill of rights means to him as an American citizen.

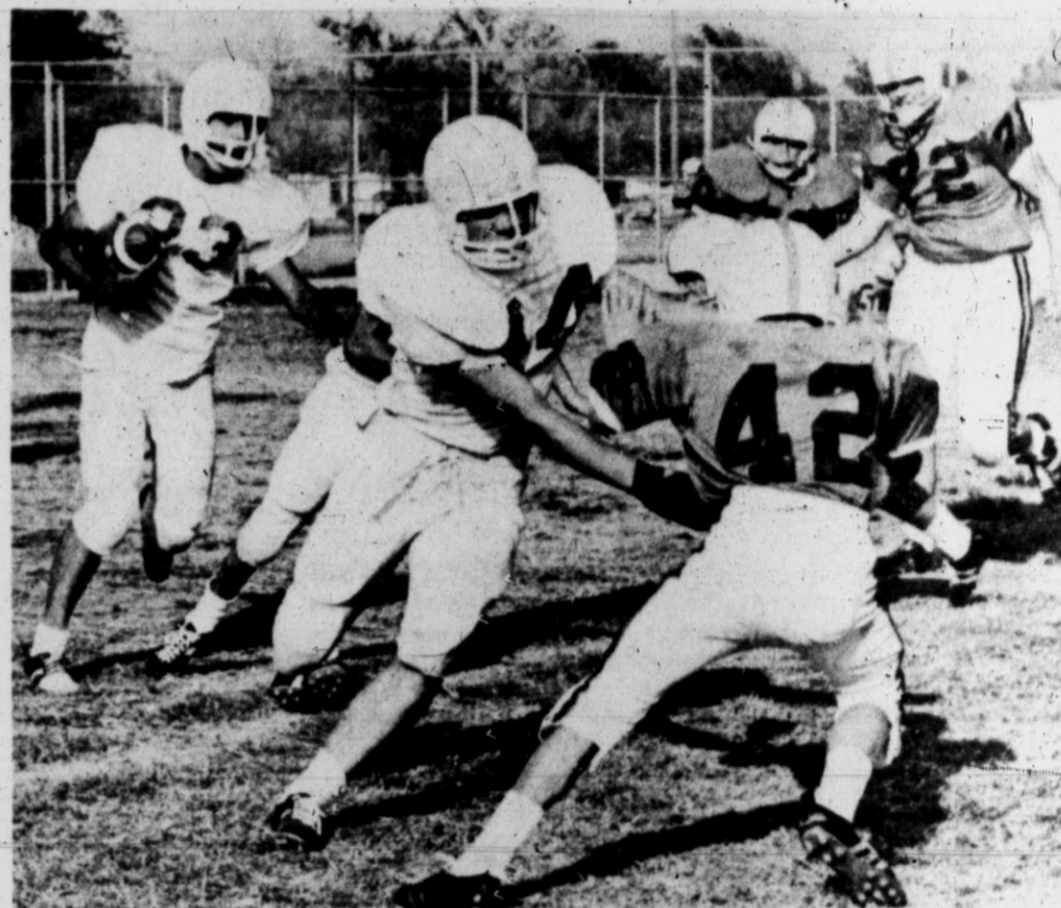

In concluding his talk Goering said "Now is the time for all of us to rekindle our faith in our country and our system of government during Constitution Week."

Mrs. Jess Robinson, regent, conducted business and distributed material to committee chairmen and yearbook members.

National defense chairman Mrs. Norvell, spoke concerning Communist Objectives and Has Red China Changed? She stated that the greatest need for free people is awareness of the menace of communism.

Mrs. Jeff Smart, insignia chairman, explained the proper way to wear the insignia and other official DAR pins.

HEADING OUT — Alfonso Gamez, No. 23, gets a block from fullback Dennis Evans, (44), during the Stanton-Dumas eighth grade game Thursday. Gamez scored the eighth grade's only touchdown in a 14-8 loss to the Dumas team. Photo by Betty Koelzer

NEWCOMERS AT LUNCH — Welcomed as new members and visitors at the luncheon of Hereford Newcomers Club in Community Center Tuesday were, from left, Mrs. Archie Dwyer, who has moved here from Dallas; Mrs. Larry Jackson, from Artesia, N.M.; Mrs. Gary Jones, from Findlay, Ohio, and Mrs. Jesse Licon from Roswell, N.M. A buffet lunch was served before the program on Creative Crafts.

Along the Frio

BY MRS. OWEN ANDREWS

Frio Homemakers Club began the new club year with a "Tasting Tea" Tuesday at noon in the home of the new president, Mrs. Lloyd Shultz. The ladies brought favorite foods and the recipes.

New yearbooks were given out and coming activities outlined at the business session.

Mrs. Eugene Baldwin, vice president, was in charge of yearbooks. Mrs. Ronnie Andrews is club secretary-treasurer.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames Baldwin, Andrews, T. L. Sparkman Jr., Chesley Johnston, Carlton Dobbins, Weldon Stephan, E. F. Vogler, David Yandell, Harlan Barber, Vicki Richards, Dwane Nelson, James Bullard, Owen Andrews and Jack Andrews.

Mrs. Ronnie Andrews entertained her relatives Thursday in honor of Kyle's first birthday. Fourteen children with their mothers were guests—most of them being cousins from Hereford, Dimmitt and all in between.

The Herbert Haseloffs of Abilene have visited their daughter, Mrs. Joe Andrews and family here. They and the R. N. Yarbro went on to Colorado for a vacation. The Andrews met them at Red River, N.M. last weekend for vacationing mountain style.

Mrs. G. W. Parker returned home Thursday, after a week-long visit with her sister, Mrs. Dovie Isabell at Tahoka.

The David Yandells and Harlan Barbers were fishing at Conchas this week and report a catch of 75 fish.

Steve Robbins left during the weekend for Dallas, where he plans to attend Dallas Fashion Merchandising College. He will be employed with Sanger-Harris Department Store also.

Steve visited friends in Lubbock Friday night and Saturday and continued on his way to Dallas on Sunday.

Bob Doughman of Des Moines, Iowa, is here to visit his daughter, Mrs. Steve Watson, Mr. Watson and the new baby son, James Michael. The baby was born Sept. 11 in Deaf Smith County Hospital. Mrs. Watson went home Monday, but the baby is remaining in the hospital until he gains weight.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole went to Oklahoma City Saturday to attend the wedding of their nephew, Jim Shearhart to Miss Merrily Milburn of Oklahoma City there on Saturday evening. Bill Cole of Dallas and Cheryl Cole of Stillwater, Okla., were to meet them there. Jana and Herman Vinson of Pampa went with the Coles also. The wedding took place in the First Baptist Church, Oklahoma City. Bill Cole served as an usher.

Ladies of Frio Baptist Church were having State Mission Week study and prayer this week. Scheduled were a program Monday morning and a luncheon followed by a sewing session in the afternoon. The church is sponsoring Karen Armstrong, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Jake Armstrong, of Olympia, Washington as she attends Wayland College.

The sewing session was for Karen, to add to her wardrobe for school and other activities. The ladies brought material and sewing accessories and joined in a cooperative effort.

On Wednesday evening the men presented the Mission Program. Participating were Chesley Johnston, Al Johnson, Jack Rogers, Jack Andrews and Billie Warrick.

The ladies concluded the series with a study Thursday morning. Mrs. B. H. Baldwin was in charge of the week's activities.

The Lyndon B. Johnson Library in Austin, Tex. attracted 66,000 visitors during its first month last spring.

Care Center toured

A tour of Hereford Day Care Center was taken by Hereford Study Club members Thursday evening after a brief business meeting in Mrs. Merlin Kaul's home.

Anna Jo Wilson, Center director, showed the building and its facilities, and answered questions about its operation.

Mrs. Kaul and Miss Gladys Setliff served refreshments to Mesdames C. R. Winget, O. Z. Golden, Don Robinson, Bill Gentry, Ed Wilson, Bob Poston, T. W. Braddy, Roy Hartman, R. N. Yarbro, Joe Story Shirley Garrison, Noble Howard, Maurice Tannahill and Labry Ballard.

Maintenance of floors vital to person's safety

"In one year more than 29,000 persons received injury from falls in the home due to improper maintenance of floors," Mrs. G. W. Duncan told eleven members of Wyche Home Demonstration Club Thursday.

Mrs. Cecil Hart was hostess for the mid-afternoon meeting with Mrs. Charles Packard as leader.

Mrs. Duncan told the group most of the falls were taken by elderly persons. She listed ways to make floors safer and how to properly care for them.

A report with pictures on her summer visit to Alaska followed the program. Mrs. Duncan visited her son Ronny who is stationed in military service at Anchorage.

It was decided the Wyche club will provide transportation for Kings Manor residents during October. Three ditty bags were prepared for Red Cross.

A meeting at McGee Furniture Store and a program on carpet selection is set for 2:30 p.m. Oct. 7. Mrs. E. C. Hewitt Jr. will serve as hostess.

New York state has a one-year residency requirement for relief applicants.

American farmers face increased competition for wheat from other countries.

Kaylanette Battenfield, engaged to Rick Reinart

Wedding planned

The engagement of Miss Kaylanette Battenfield to Rick Reinart is announced by her mother, Mrs. Frann Battenfield, 716 Irving. Reinart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reinart of Route 1. A November 20 wedding is planned in Saint Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Aedan Davis officiating. Both are graduates of Hereford High School. Miss Battenfield is employed at Deaf Smith County Hospital as a Nurse's Aide and Reinart is working as a farmer. — (Angel Photo)

Testing dates set at WT in October

CANYON, Tex.—Testing dates for students applying for admission to medical and dental colleges in the fall of next year have been scheduled at West Texas State University. The tests will be given Oct. 16, in Room 257 of the Science Building. Applicants seeking admission to medical colleges must send in their applications by Sept. 29. An examination fee of $20 includes reports for up to six medical colleges. Students applying for entrance to dental colleges must submit applications by Sept. 25. A fee of $15 includes the submission of test scores to five dental schools. Applications for both tests can be obtained from Charles E. Wright associate professor of biology, in room 258 of the Science Bldg. The medical test is designed by the Psychological and Crop to measure general academic ability, general information and scientific knowledge, Wright said. The Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association administers the dental test. The program is designed to measure general academic ability, comprehension of scientific information and manual dexterity, he said.

County THDA group headed by state prexy

Climaxing a year as president of one of the largest women's organizations in the state, Texas Home Demonstration Association, Mrs. A. E. Hodges of Hereford will preside at its annual state convention next week and lead it in entertaining the convention of the National H. D. Association, both in Dallas. Playing hostess to the national meeting will complete her duties in a term of office which has taken her to all parts of Texas on visits to clubs, and on longer trips to national board and committee meetings, travel totaling thousands of miles. Immediately after the national convention, headquartered in the Baker Hotel Monday through Thursday, the state convention will be held Thursday evening and Friday. Delegates from Deaf Smith County H. D. clubs to the state meeting are Mrs. J. G. Gandy, Mrs. Leroy Johnson and Mrs. Charlie Burk. Mrs. Burk will serve as an alternate for Mrs. Paul Hoff, elected as one of the county delegation, who will not be able to attend the meetings.

Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent here, will be another representative from this county, as will Mrs. Viola Williams, who will go as a visitor.

Since Texas clubs will entertain the national meeting this year, Mrs. Hodges' term as president has been an unusually demanding one. She is filling the office after serving in other state posts.

Other women from the Panhandle who have a part on the state convention program are Mrs. Charles Warminski of White Deer, who is district director at present, and Mrs. J. C. Childers of Borger, chairman of the state safety committee, who will respond to greetings given delegates at the opening assembly Thursday evening.

The state convention program is shorter than usual this year, and will be devoted entirely to business and reports, to give added time for the national event.

DPS investigates August accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 13 accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of August, according to Sgt. W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor for this area.

The crashes resulted in no one being killed and seven persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first eight months of this year shows a total of 88 accidents resulting in two deaths and 69 injuries.

The rural traffic summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for August, 1971, shows a total of 581 accidents resulting in 25 persons killed and 400 persons injured. This was 17 more accidents, 13 less fatalities, and 76 more injured than during July.

The 25 traffic deaths for the month of August, 1971, occurred in the following counties: Wise, five; Gray and Potter, three each; Garza, Hale, and Carson, two each; Baylor, Crosby, Montague, Parker, Briscoe, Castro, Randall, and Roberts, one each.

Career education

One of the hopes of Sidney P. Marland, Jr., U. S. Commissioner of Education, is to take some of the aimlessness out of secondary education in the United States.

There can be considerable doubt about how far the federal government should be permitted to go in pressing its curriculum ideas on the states as the quid pro quo for federal money grants. Educational administration should be left as decentralized as possible to meet the diverse needs of different communities.

However, Mr. Marland was himself a local school superintendent and his belief that schools need more purpose is well worth the attention of state and local superintendents. Some, in fact, already are proceeding along the lines Mr. Marland suggests.

What Mr. Marland is concerned about is the large number of high school students who have no plans either for college or for a specific type of work after they finish high school. Somewhere close to half the nation's high school students fall into this category and end up in what are known as "general education" courses, the commissioner observes. When they finish high school they often are possessed of few of the skills the job market demands.

The true purpose of secondary education can, of course, always be debated. Some educators have long held that for those who are not college bound the main objective should be a general education that prepares them for citizenship in a democratic free society. Job training can come afterwards when they actually find a job, the argument goes.

There is some logic to this, but it is a logic more applicable to the past than the present. Certainly, it is difficult to gear public education to the changing needs of the job market. Students who are encouraged to pursue a specialty and then find it difficult to get a job to make use of their skills will almost certainly feel frustration. All the same, public school vocational training does not have to be so narrow that it would lock a student into a specialty. It can be argued that in this era it is better to have some skill than none at all, even if that skill is not instantly marketable. And given what appears to be a dearth of proficient talents in all sorts of skilled and semi-skilled occupations, the problems of finding a job would seem to be not so much greater than the problems some college graduates face.

There are, however, even stronger arguments than these. The drift away from career orientation in education—at the college level as well as the high school level—may well be partly responsible for some of the confusion and frustration that afflict many young people. To introduce stronger encouragement to think in career terms at a younger age may well help to restore a sense of purpose among young people who now lack such a sense.

But perhaps most important is the possibility that introduction of career orientation in secondary education will remove some of the damaging stigma that attaches to pursuit of careers that do not involve college training. There can be little doubt that this stigma has caused too many students to drift aimlessly into college when they could have been spending their time more usefully training for other pursuits.

This drift has several undesirable effects. It may discourage the individual from developing his or her best talents or skills. It denies needed talents and skills to the economy. The presence of aimless students on college campuses dilutes the efforts of the colleges to provide first-rate education to those students with a genuine academic bent.

In other words, the present system is highly inefficient if we are to assume that one role of education should be to prepare people for a useful role in the economy as well as a responsible role as citizens. To fill that role some educators will have to adopt some new attitudes toward their task. There also will be some considerable expense in developing the curricula, teachers and laboratories for this purpose.

Even so, if the fruits of such an effort will be to improve the skill level and productivity of the economy, to create greater job satisfactions for a wider number of people and to remove some of the class and status considerations that have attached themselves to work, the effort will have been well worth making.

How, why questions linger

A number of moves, most of them proper and potentially useful, are underway to investigate the Attica State Prison rebellion and its tragic but necessary suppression.

An intensive investigation ordered by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller should help in straightening out conflicting versions of what happened. A number of questions, inevitably, never will be answered conclusively.

Controversy over the "how" and "why" of the deaths of 10 hostage guards and 31 inmates will continue for a long time. The New York State inquiry may help to settle some of it.

In addition, stirrings are coming in Congress. For example, Rep. Claude Pepper, chairman of the House Select Committee on Crime, and several committee members have gone to work, as they did after the Sap Quentin escape uproar in August in which three convicts and three guards died.

Their approach, so far, has been more level-headed than that of the 13-member "Black Caucus" in the House. The latter group demands appointment of a special Federal grand jury to investigate the "questionable circumstances" of the decision by officials to bring the rebellion to an end. With their minds already made up, "Caucus" members are unlikely to add much to an effort to prevent other such tragedies and to bring about much-needed prison improvements.

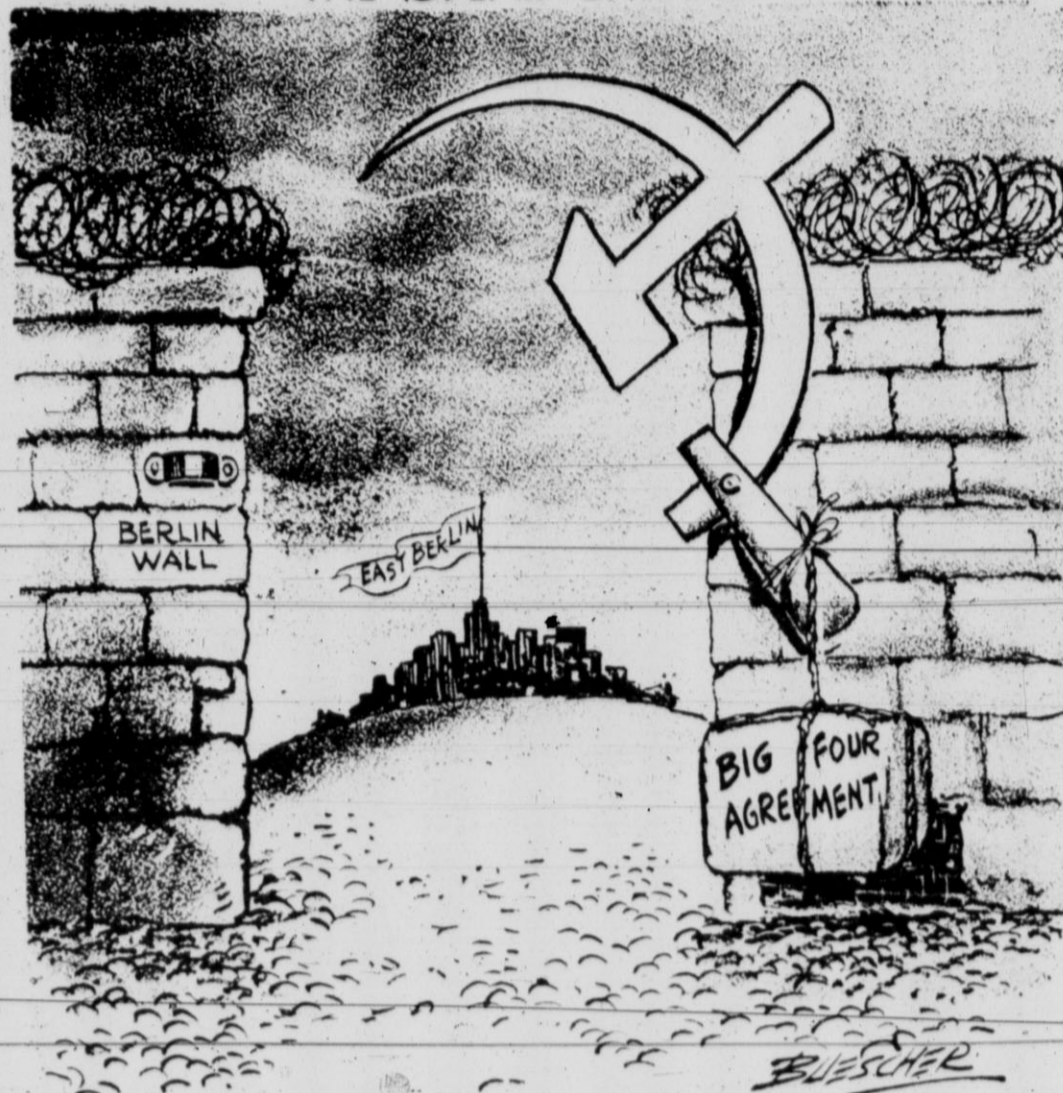

In this direction, the Justice Department has set up a special unit charged with enforcement of civil rights of inmates of mental hospitals as well as prisons. The unit is new, and it remains to be seen how it will operate in the prison-reform field.

As for the Attica riot, controversy will not remove the clearly observed fact that a guard, William Quinn, was pushed to his death from a wall by inmates at the start of the rioting. Nor will it remove the fact that the inflamed rebel leaders showed no intention of agreeing to a reasonable settlement.

Not a single life would have been lost if the criminals had not turned to violence. Any investigation should start with that simple fact in mind.

Prosperity depends on more production

BY BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C.—Productivity is a fancy word formerly used chiefly by economists but President Nixon has made it popular of late by insisting that our national prosperity depends upon increasing productivity.

Productivity measures output per person per hour. It can be increased in a variety of ways. For example, a typist may be capable of typing 80 words a minute but for several reasons may produce only 60. She may be just taking it easy, or her machine may be out of whack, or there may be distractions or other adverse conditions.

If there are four 80 words-per-minute typists in an office, all averaging only 60, that means it takes four employees to do what three should do. So costs are higher than they should be, resulting in higher prices. Obviously, productivity is a matter that affects everybody, and not only business executives and labor negotiators.

Also management failure is another cause.

Nixon Commission Reports

President Nixon became concerned about the declining rate of increase in American productivity and last year created a National Commission on Productivity. It is a blue-ribbon group of 23 experts, including five Cabinet members, six labor union leaders, six business executives, and six representatives of the public.

George P. Shultz, formerly Secretary of Labor and now Director of the Office of Management and Budget, a key White House agency, is Chairman of the National Commission on Productivity. That body celebrated Labor Day by issuing a 2,000 word policy statement which was approved by all 23 members.

The statement is non-controversial, as would be expected of any document approved by James M. Roche, Chairman of General Motors Corp., and also by Leonard Woodcock, President of the United Auto Workers. The private views of Messrs. Roche and Woodcock on productivity would doubtless be miles apart.

Management is gung-ho for greater productivity because it means lower unit costs. Labor uses productivity as a bargaining weapon when possible but is suspicious of employer speed-ups and the loss of jobs which can result from raising productivity by substituting machines for men.

To Promote

"Public Awareness"

The Commission report points to six identifiable targets of opportunity. One is "productivity bargaining", described as "an important avenue to increased production, profits and wages". The potential, the Commission asserts, is far greater than the current scope of bargaining practices.

In its final paragraph, the Commission sets for itself the lofty goal of making the public understand how important it is to raise productivity. "We can have more only if the nation produces more," it is pointed out, and "every effort to increase American productivity will be repaid many times over in a higher standard of living and a better quality of life."

There are 86 million workers in the U.S. If any substantial share of them get the message from Washington that working a bit harder will solve practically all our national problems, the results could be astonishingly good for America. It's an old-fashioned idea, of course, but it makes sense.

Talk of Texas

BY JACK MAGUIRE

TOWN THAT WON'T DIE—Buffalo Gap, 14 miles south of Abilene in Taylor County, has been written off as "dead" at least twice in its century-plus history. Each time it has managed to bounce back.

Settled by buffalo hunters who wanted to kill the thousands of bison as they squeezed through Callahan Divide in the great migrations of the 1870's and 1880's, the town grew to a population of 1,000. It established a college and was named the seat of Taylor County. Then the Texas & Pacific Railroad bypassed it in favor of Abilene, the county seat also went to Abilene and Buffalo Gap began to die.

It was reborn, however, in 1910 when the Santa Fe Railroad came through and made Buffalo Gap a water reservoir stop for its steam locomotives. Again the town grew. Then along came the waterless diesel locomotive and another exodus from Buffalo Gap followed.

In 1959, it was almost a ghost village when it decided to incorporate, put in a modern sewer and water system and spruce up what was left of its business district. Then the residents voted, 76 to 75, to legalize the sale of liquor, and Buffalo Gap became an oasis in dry Taylor County. Today its population is back up to 350 and growing.

CEMETERY SENTIMENTS—In the graveyard at Auroa, Wise County, the last resting place of a two-year-old girl who died in 1893 is marked thusly:

"As I have been done so quick for I don't know what I was begun for."

THE PASSING PARADE—Houston's old Temple Beth Israel, which stood for 63 years at the corner of Crawford and Lamar, had the unique distinction of being a place of worship for both Jews and Christians.

Built in 1908 at a cost of $50,000 (today its 16 stained glass windows alone are valued at $22,500), the Temple served three different Jewish congregations from 1908 and 1947. Then for eight years it was the home of an independent Christian sect which sold it to still another Christian group in 1956. In April, 1970, a third Christian sect leased the property.

Now the Temple is about to be torn down to make way for a new office building.

CURRENT EVENTS—A new show, "They Came From Spain," will open September 21 in the Panhandle's Palo Duro Canyon. It will mark the first extension of the famous outdoor theater's playbill beyond the summer season.

The success of the musical drama, "Texas," which has played to 340,000 during the five years it has run each summer, inspired residents of the area to extend the dramatic season with a new production.

"Spain," with a smaller cast than "Texas," will play each Thursday, Friday and Saturday through October in the canyon's theater.

HELP WANTED—Near Floresville, Wilson County, there is a ford on the San Antonio River known locally as "El Paso de las Mujeres," or "the crossing of the women."

The crossing has been in use for at least 200 years, but nobody seems to know how the name originated. If any "Talk of Texas" readers know, we'd appreciate hearing from you.

... from the Brand's files

50 YEARS AGO—1921

Amarillo having called on the other Panhandle towns to assist them in properly presenting the claims of the Palo Duro Canyon as a State Park to the special Park Board appointed by the Legislature, the Hereford Chamber of Commerce on Monday, responded by sending three of its officers and directors to aid in showing the wonders of the Palo Duro. The new prices on Ford cars are effective now. Roadster, with starter $395.00, Touring car $425.00, and Sedan $660.00.

35 YEARS AGO—1936

Opinion that Highway 60 Deaf Smith County will be paved during 1937 was expressed this week. The highway department hopes "to be able" to let a contract for paving to Hereford before the last of this year and probably complete paving in the county by the middle of next year. The first strip to be paved under this tentative arrangement would be the stretch of about 17 miles to the Randall County line between Dawn and Umbarger.

20 YEARS AGO—1951

The Hereford Whiteface Band won first place in the band contest at the Castro County Fair in Dimmitt Saturday afternoon. A 1951-52 city budget calling for an estimated expenditure of $210,994 was approved by the city commission Saturday. The Hereford Brand's second annual football contest with weekly and season prizes for the top winners, begins in today's issue. Four Cotton Bowl tickets will be distributed among the three top winners at the end of the nine-week contest.

5 YEARS AGO—1966

In comparison with the 1966 Crime Index of National Crime increases, for the six month period from January through June, residents of Hereford and surrounding communities should have a feeling of well-being about its crime record. Though records show that the major violent crimes have increased a great deal in most areas, Hereford's reports remain relatively low. Sightings of a tornado funnel about noon yesterday pulled law enforcement officers into the Summerfield community on a weather watch.

1 YEAR AGO—1970

The Hereford Whitefaces, a victim of the clock in their first journey into the dangers of Class AAAA football, make a vary trek to Amarillo Saturday to test the dangerous Palo Duro Dons. Area sugar beet growers are keeping their fingers crossed this week, hoping the 1970 sugar beet crop will not suffer like last year's because of the recent cool, rainy weather that is hovering over the county.

TEXAS IS CLUB THEME — The Lone Star flag of Texas was displayed prominently at Pioneer Study Club's lunch Tuesday in the Caison House, as a series of programs focused on the state's beginning. Mrs. Ray Johnson, center, is program chairman and Mrs. O. G. Hill, Sr., left, a member of her committee. Mrs. Ted Panciera is beginning the second year of her two-year term as club president.

Letter to the editor

Dear People of Hereford;
Once again I take this means to thank each and everyone of you for your overwhelming generosity during the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon. Your response was most gratifying—we helped Jerry obtain over eight million dollars for research, patient services and care. Maybe, just maybe, a cure or at least an arresting treatment will be found. This is what we are hoping and praying for! There are 135,000 victims in the United States alone, two thirds of these are children.

We did not have a set goal. We hoped, prayed we would do well. And we did. Pledges and contributions totaled over $4500.00.

And now, to the little and young people who marched door-to-door—and who collected our pledges, my very, very special thanks. You were truly great. It was terribly hot, and yet, you went out on the streets again and again until every street had been marched. Without you, none of this would have been realized. So all of you: Mrs. Burlsmith's F. H. A. girls, the LEO Club, C. Y. O., and all who did not belong to any of these organizations; the boys who collected empty pop bottles for M. D., and the little girls who with their mother's assistance collected $135.00; you are the greatest youngsters I know. My thanks and my love.

Thanks to my "lady friends," as Charlie Riggan calls them—our house to house march would not have been so successful had you not been there to assign streets, distribute kits, give instructions and help with the all important task of counting the money. I thank God for friends like you: Marcella, Teresa, Johnnie, JoAnne, Beverly, Lorene, Loretta, Gerry and Anne!

To Harlan Vanderzee—our Honorary Chairman. We are deeply indebted to you. We took full advantage of your banking facilities for the 20-hours-plus we occupied The Friendship Room. It was wonderful—we enjoyed every minute of it. To the LEO Club, especially Pat Swindell, Debby Hoover, Craig Ottensen, D'Ann Duke, Libby Word, Jack Norman, Terry Lewis and Dirk Vanderzee and Billy Word for answering the telephones until 3:30 a.m.; marching during the daylight hours, placing and collecting the telethon posters; I am most grateful to you. You were an inspiration and I am very proud of you.

To the Evening Lions Club! Words fail me! A mere thanks seems so inadequate. Your wonderful and untiring assistance Grady Swindell, Ed Delozier, Gary Billingsley, Larry Alley, Joe Don Cummings, Jim Selman and last, but by no means least, Charlie Riggan, was the key to our success. Always ready to answer telephones, pick up pledges, doing the countless little jobs that needed doing. Charlie's programs on radio, and his efforts in the Hereford and Sunday Brands were marvelous. KPAN and the BRAND were most generous to further our campaign. We worked well together, had a great time for this most worthy cause.

To the Coca-Cola Bottling Company for their "pause that refreshes" for the marchers and the "gang" at the Bank; to the Caison House, The Spudnut Shoppe, and Big Daddy's, we were well fed, thanks ever so much!

And by no means, can I forget my own wonderful family: my husband, Bud; two sons, Charlie and Phil; and daughter Linda. Without their encouragement, patience, selflessness and constant assistance, I would not have been able to give so much of my time: my slightest wish was their command. We are a family dedicated to work for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America. And too, least I forget, some certain people at J.C.

Penney's; thank you for your patience.
Again, I say "Thank You, one and all—for your generosity from the bottom of my heart. I shall be forever grateful for your support. Maybe soon, God willing, there will be a cure or an arresting treatment so Joey Mazurek and all other little Joeyes and Janes will have a brighter future.

God Bless you all

State makes funds available on kindergartens

AUSTIN—New public school kindergartens may receive $400 in state funds to help pay for teaching materials during their first year under a plan approved recently by the State Board of Education.

Texas school districts are expected to set up approximately 600 new kindergarten classrooms during the 1971-72 school year, bringing the total number of state-supported programs for five-year-olds to 1,141.

The number of new kindergarten classrooms is expected to reach a total of 9,000 during the 1977-78 school year. Largest increase, according to Texas Education Agency estimates, will come in 1973-74 when 3,000 new classrooms are added to the state-supported program.

Public school kindergartens were authorized in Texas for the first time by the 61st Legislature in 1969. An eight-year implementation program began in 1970 when some 30,000 children from families with incomes of $3,000 or less per year began attending school one year earlier than the traditional first grade starting point.

All 237,000 five-year-olds in Texas will be eligible for public school kindergarten in 1977-78.

ENGAGED — Plans for the November 24 wedding of Miss Phyllis Scott and Dennis Sims, Jr., are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Scott, who reside north of Hereford. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sims of 112 Ave. I. Miss Scott is a senior in Hereford High School and her fiance is employed at Anthony's mall store after graduation from HHS with the class of 1971. (Bradly photo)

Chamber to offer course in politics

The Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a seven-part course for the general public soon to give them an in-depth look at politics and how it works.

A small registration fee to cover cost of class materials will be all that's involved.

The course consists of seven two-hour workshop sessions to be held once a week. It is non-partisan and designed for small groups of from 12 to 20 persons.

"I think it'd be very important for the chamber to get involved in this, offer it to the public," executive vice president Jim Lindsey said after John Messenger, chairman of the Governmental and Public Affairs Committee, presented the proposal.

Charles Hoover, president of the chamber, agreed.

"This is something that's been wrong over the past several years. People have been saying 'Politics is rotten business, I don't want any part of it. Let someone else do it.' And that's one of the reasons we're in the mess we're in today," Hoover said.

A. J. Major Schroeter reported on the recent New Teacher Banquet, at which there were only "four or five empty chairs" out of 200 prepared.

Lloyd Sharp reported on some of the details of the Jan. 20 Chamber of Commerce annual banquet, at which noted speaker Bob Murphey will be. The chamber gave Sharp and his committee the go-ahead to ask for bids from caterers on the banquet and to make the decision on the menu and cost of tickets.

Lindsey reported on a convention that will come to Hereford next month and asked that anyone knowing of the possibility of any conventions considering Hereford to let him know. One convention that had been assured for Hereford, provided lodging and meeting places for 100-120 persons could be guaranteed, went elsewhere because local motels wouldn't give a commitment to reserve the rooms.

Lindsey said he felt sure the chamber could resolve the situation and, working in its official capacity, get commitments for future conventions.

The political action course that will be offered has seven phases:

1. You and the Political Organization.
2. The Political Precinct.
3. The Political Campaign.
4. Political Clubs.
5. Political Leaders' Problems.
6. Political Meetings.
7. The Politicians Speak.

Education group studies vocation training needs

AUSTIN—Five recommendations keyed to the job training needs of Texans both in and out of school were presented to the State Board of Education recently by the Texas Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education.

The suggested items for future action were presented by E. D. Reading of Houston, Council chairman. All recommendations make up part of the Council's second annual report to the Board.

Future action, according to the Council report, should focus on the vocational education needs of out-of-school adults, pre-employment needs of high school students with exploratory programs to begin before the 11th grade, an expanded counseling program, greater communication between educators and potential employers of students and more effective vocational education planning and management.

The suspended franchise of the Buffalo Sabres has been shifted to Cincinnati for the 1971-72 American Hockey League season. The will be called the Swords.

IT'S A TOUCHDOWN — A La Plata cheerleader shows a lot of enthusiasm when Terry Brady made the first touchdown in the seventh grade game with Dimmitt Tuesday afternoon. Both seventh and eighth grade games ended in ties, 16-16 for the younger teams and 6-6 to the others.

Slide presentation is set on recent California tour

Bill Clayton, state representative and director of Water, Inc., will present a public talk at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Civic Club Center on the recent tour of the California Water Project.

The talk will include slides of the $2.8 billion water project, along with comments of the trip and on Water, Inc.

Anyone who plans to attend the affair should contact the Chamber of Commerce so a count can be made as to how many to expect.

Clayton made the tour along with 70 other persons, including six from the Hereford area. Going from Hereford were Jim Lindsey, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce; Tom and Argen Draper; Andrew Ker-shen; Charles Schlabs; and A.G. Flippin.

The California Water Project

pulls water 3,000 feet uphill and across the state to be used in the Los Angeles area for industrial purposes. The water is used along the way by farmers.

This is the same type of venture being discussed for Texas and several surrounding states. The project here calls for the importation of water from the Mississippi River along canals into Texas.

IMITATION DIAMONDS

With all of the recent advertising and publicity concerning imitation diamonds, I, like many other jewelers, have been besieged with inquiries about these stones. The most important area to consider is the question of hardness which affects both the appearance and durability of these substitutes.

Jewelers generally follow what is called the Mohs Scale of Hardness. This is a scratch hardness scale which determines to what degree minerals can or cannot be scratched with hardness points or plates. On this quartz is ranked as 7, sapphire at 9, and diamond at 10. The various substitutes for diamonds rank 6½-7 for synthetic ruffile; 5-6 for strontium titanate, 8¼ for the new YAG or synthetic garnet, and 9 for synthetic sapphire.

However, this scale is misleading, for diamond is many times harder than its nearest neighbor—sapphire. If quartz is 7, and corundum (sapphire) 9 in hardness, diamond would be 42.4 on an absolute scale. Grinding tests give the following relative values: quartz 1, topaz 2, sapphire 12 and diamond 1000. Different investigators show diamond to be from 5 to 140 times as hard as its nearest neighbor, corundum or sapphire. In some advertising of the diamond imitations, the consumer is given the implication that stones less durable than glass will wear ever. Jewelers know that this just isn't true. All of the diamond imitation material now on the market is far more subject to wear than the genuine, can show polishing marks, and be easily scratched.

Babies are big business in county

Babies continue to be big business in Deaf Smith County.

From the standpoint of local retail and service establishments that cater to these new arrivals, each one that checks in is economically important, in that it sets into motion a flurry of spending on the part of parents, relatives and friends.

The newcomers are provided with infants wear, baby food, nursery equipment, cribs, carriers, ages, playpens, toiletries, toys, diaper service and the many other appurtenances demanded by their imperial highnesses.

According to a report released by the U. S. Census Bureau, there has been no shortage of new babies in the local area for a number of years, despite the steady drop in the birth rate in the United States since 1957, when it was at its peak.

The government figures show that a total of 5,087 babies were born to Deaf Smith County parents in the ten years ending in 1970. This is in addition to those born locally to non-residents.

It represents an average annual birth rate of 24.5 per 1,000 people, obtained by dividing the number born in the ten years by the average local population during the period.

Throughout the United States as a whole, the average annual birth rate in the decade was 19.9 per 1,000 population. It was 21.4 in South Central States and 21.6

in the State of Texas.

Nationally, the count shows, some 39,033,000 births were recorded in the ten years, 2,318,000 of them in Texas.

As to just how much a family is likely to spend on a new-born baby, outside of medical and hospital expenditures, depends upon its financial ability and upon the section of the country in which it is located.

As an average, according to the latest figures from the Health Insurance Institute, the outlay is nearly $700, of which $517 is for the baby's equipment and supplies and the remainder for its mother's maternity clothes.

Family gifts and usable baby clothes worn by a previous child could bring this cost lower. Assuming that the general average applies in the local area, Deaf Smith County's annual crop of babies represents an expenditure of some $356,000, exclusive of medical costs.

The Thoroughbred Racing Associations of the United States has 57-member tracks.

Aqueduct's third racing meet of 1971 will run from Oct. 18 through Dec. 4.

Hereford girl to assist in senior recital at WTSU

A senior recital by bass-baritone Jerry Richardson of Lubbock, assisted by a Hereford girl, is scheduled at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the West Texas State University Fine Arts Auditorium.

Richardson will be assisted by oboist Joy McCathern of Hereford.

The recital is the second of a series of public programs by students in the WTSU Music Department.

Richardson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Richardson of (5114 37th) Lubbock, was a 1967 graduate of Coronado High School. His credits include the Houston Bright Achievement Award and scholarship, the Applied Voice Scholarship and the First Christian Church Scholarship. He also serves as president and section leader of the WTSU Chorale.

A student of Dr. Hugh Sanders, associate professor of music, Richardson has been a cast member for three years in the Paul Green symphonic drama, "Texas," which plays each summer at Palo Duro Canyon State Park Pioneer Amphitheatre. He is a member of the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and the Iota Pi Chapter at WTSU.

His recital program will include selections from Haydn's "The Creation," Bach's "Ich will den Kreuzstab gerne tragen," Buxtehude's solo cantata, "I am the Resurrection," Brahms' "Der Tod, das ist die Kühle Nacht," Schumann's "Die Lotosblume," Gounod's "Faust" and Gerald Finzi's "Before and After Summer."

Also assisting Richardson will be pianist Mary Jane King of Canyon, cellist Janette Bruza of Amarillo, and violinists Lucy White of Guymon, Okla., and Rosalyn Waldorf of Garden City, Kan., all WTSU students. The Schola Madrigalis, WTSU singing group, will provide the chorus in the bach cantata.

The recital is part of Richardson's graduation requirements for a Bachelor of Music Education Degree in Voice.

Novel of love set in Jamaica

Jamaica is the setting for the bittersweet story of a man and his wife as they face the many complications they meet on an island vacation. This exciting novel is found in the Deaf Smith County Library.

A FALL OF ANGELS By Elizabeth Savage

Set on lush island of Jamaica, this bittersweet novel concerns a husband and wife—and the unspoken and subtle rhythms which define their relationship.

Very rich, very attractive, very self-assured, Luke Strider and Helena St. John were not simply in love. Their marriage really depended on that peculiar and powerful respect that successful people have for one another.

For over a decade now the famous architect and the eminent fashion designer had lived intelligently and without anxiety, relishing each other, abhorring waste and complications, and above all honoring those small conventions which protect civilized behavior.

Little wonder that neither of them had any defense against a charming and sublimely selfish, black-eyed nymphet.

A Fall of Angels opens in the spring as the Striders depart for Jamaica and their usual peaceful month's vacation at the most luxurious resort hotel on the island. But from the beginning the very familiarity they cherish seems absent.

Luke is restless and distracted. Mr. Marlow, the impeccable manager they have always known, is gone—replaced by a disturbing Englishman who finds the seduction of stray wives an amusing pastime.

And then Miranda appears. She moves into their bungalow, then into their bedroom, shattering the flawless facade of their marriage. Luke is infatuated; Helena tries to be calm. But as the weeks pass, and by the end of what was to be idyllic vacation, Helena has decided that tolerance has its limits.

A Fall of Angels is a classic triangle, garnished with complications. And the true Elizabeth Savage touch, funny yet acerbic, brightens every line.

Open house set at local church

Open house will be conducted from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 500 Country Club Drive.

A film will be shown at 7:30 p.m. followed by a social and refreshments.

The public is invited.

Tour guides will take visitors through the church and discuss with them the various areas of interest concerning the church and its activities.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAL FOSTER

FOR ORTHO IS A POWERFUL MAN AND NO ONE WOULD EMPLOY HIS EX-CLERK FOR FEAR OF EARNING HIS DISPLEASURE. AND HAMUD IS A WEAKLING IN ALL WAYS BUT ONE: HE CAN HATE!

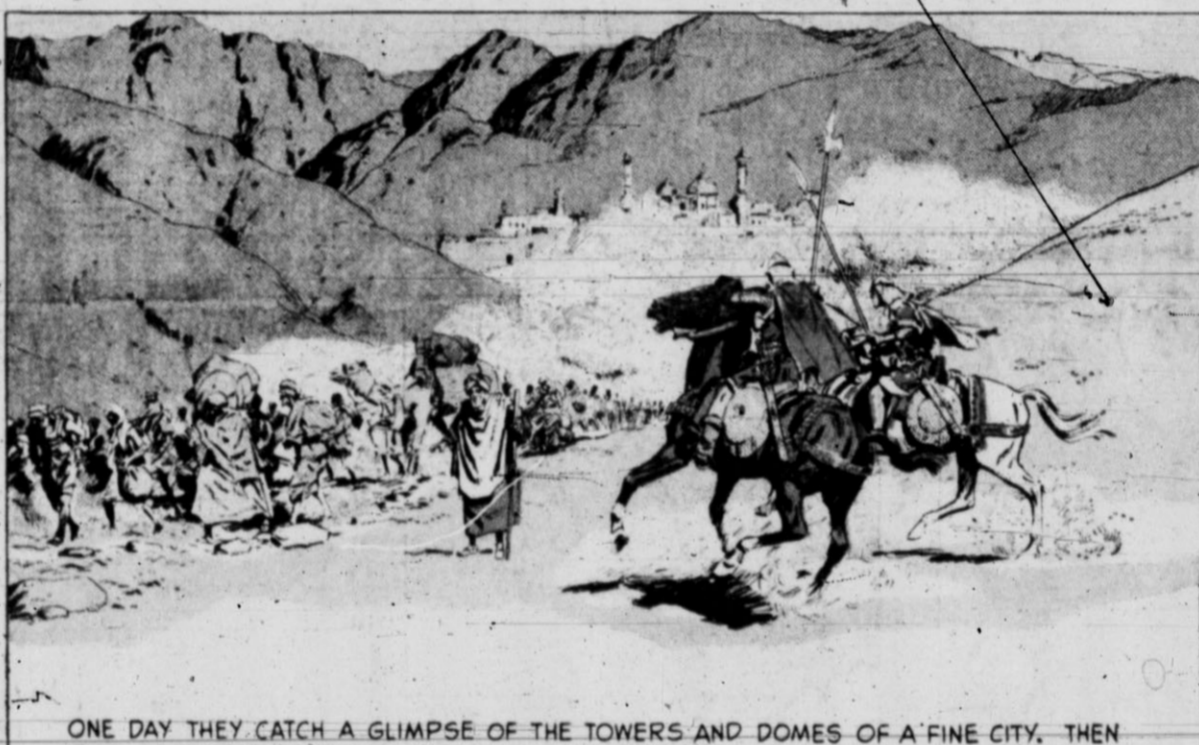

HIS SUFFERING ONLY ADDS TO HIS HATRED. HE SPIES ON ORTHO CONTINUALLY. ONCE HE SEES HIM GIVE A PURSE TO ONE OF THE PALACE OFFICERS. BRIBERY? HAMUD GATHERS SUCH TINY BITS OF INFORMATION, HOPING THEY WILL LEAD TO MORE IMPORTANT THINGS.

FROM THE PALACE QUEEN ALETA WATCHES HER SHIP SAIL OUT TO SEA TO SEARCH FOR NEWS OF PRINCE VALIANT. IS IT POSSIBLE TO FIND ONE MAN ON TWO THOUSAND MILES OF COASTLINE? ALETA PINS HER HOPES ON HIS PERSONALITY. HE STANDS OUT FROM THE CROWD AND PEOPLE EVERYWHERE NOTE HIS PASSING.

AT THAT MOMENT THERE IS NO ONE TO NOTE HIS PASSING, FOR HE AND ARN ARE LOST! LOST IN THE WILDERNESS OF HILLS AND VALLEYS.

ONE DAY THEY CATCH A GLIMPSE OF THE TOWERS AND DOMES OF A FINE CITY. THEN IT IS OBTAINED BY THE CLOUD OF DUST RAISED BY THE HURRYING FEET OF A PANIC-STRIKEN MULTITUDE. MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN ARE FLEEING THEIR CITY.

AN OLD MAN COLLAPSES AT THEIR FEET. "SAVE YOURSELVES," HE GASPS, "FLEE WHILE THERE IS YET TIME, FOR THE HORRIBLE EMPEROR, HOO MALEEN, AND HIS FEARFUL MEN HAVE CROSSED THE MOUNTAINS AND EVEN NOW RACE TOWARD OUR CITY!"

PONYTAIL BY LEE HOLLEY

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I take plastic detergent bottles (gallon or half-gallon sizes) and if they are white, paint them yellow, blue or red and use them as wind ornaments on my trellises.

When the kids play out in the yard they love them, especially when the wind is just right—they make for real gay entertainment.

My husband makes little doors or openings (about six direction on the bottle. Prepare half of your bottles with doors opening in one direction and the other half with the doors opening in the opposite direction. In this way you will be able to take advantage of the wind no matter in what direction it blows.

I stick these bottles on slender sticks over my long seven-foot-high trellises above the green foliage.

Just put the stick into the opening of the bottle, turn the bottle over, and then nail the stick loosely to the bottom of the bottle. Just to make it more interesting, I make the sticks different lengths for each bottle. You can't imagine how gay and colorful they are when the wind just takes hold and spins away.

Mrs. A. M.

Well, blow me down! I can see where your yard is the favorite gathering spot for the little ones in the neighborhood.

But did it ever occur to you that those same little wind ornaments that encourage visits from the kiddos in the neighborhood might be used effectively in your garden or flower beds to discourage undesirable guests? And by that I mean the rabbits, birds, etc., etc., etc. . . you know, they can really play havoc in a garden. It's worth a try.

Heloise

LET'S GO CAMPING!

DEAR HELOISE:
Camping time means packing problems for me since I have a large family. The easiest way I have found is to separate each child's clothes into sets of shorts, shirts, socks and underwear.

These are rolled together and a rubber band is placed around them. Then each child's things are placed in a separate plastic bag and are all put in a large duffel bag.

When we arrive, each child puts his own bag of clothes with his sleeping bag and knows where to look for anything he may need.

Toothpaste and toothbrush are put into small bags and placed with their things also.

This method has saved me many a headache and I hope it will help others.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:
It bothers my husband when we go visiting and want to wash up in the host's bathroom, yet cannot determine which of maybe three towel racks to select from.

Our recent house guests from two different states didn't have that problem . . .

This feature is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint, problem or suggestion you'd like to share write to Heloise today in care of this newspaper.

Hubby pasted a piece of white adhesive tape above each of our three racks, labeled one "Wisconsin," one "Alabama," and, since we live in the foothills of a mountain range, our own label read, "Hillbillies."

The guests were delighted with the idea.

A GEM OF AN IDEA

DEAR HELOISE:
When planning to carry jewelry pins on a trip . . . Get a very thin synthetic sponge (or slice a thicker one in half horizontally). Place your pin on one section and fasten it. Then place the other sponge half on top and put a rubber band around the two. You can make two or three layers this way.

The sponges can go right in your cosmetic bag and you're all set to travel. Your pins won't get damaged at all.

Mrs. M. Rego

CAN'T BEND DOWN?

DEAR HELOISE:
Here's a little trick I invented while recuperating from eye surgery and was unable to bend over to retrieve things I dropped.

I had two small magnets. One had a hole through the center and I tied this one to a ball of string. Now, here's how it works . . .

Whenever I dropped a facial tissue for instance, I'd drop the loose magnet down on the floor beside it, push the tissue over the magnet with my foot, then lower the one on the end of the string down on top of this.

You'd be surprised how neatly it worked, and I was able to pick up after myself most of the time.

constant reference, and re-check the measurements every season.

This way I find that I seldom make an error and never am bothered with exchanges.

Toni Lapsley

NAIL THIS DOWN

DEAR HELOISE:
To you girls with long, beautiful fingernails who are glad to see spring come, but hate to see what working in flower beds can do to your nails . . .

I have extra-long nails and instead of wearing cloth gloves, I use heavy rubber gloves and put a small piece of soft sponge in each fingertip. This pads my nails.

Besides, rubber gloves are easily washed clean of mud and ready for the next day's work.

So remember, girls, pretty flowers and pretty nails can go together.

HOCUS-FOCUS

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are six differences in drawing details-between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you point out what these differences are? Answer below.

Hal Kaufman's JUNIOR WHIRL

A SHIFTY LOT

NOTE that the ten small circles above are arranged to form three straight lines of four each. It is possible to eliminate one of these circles and still have three lines of four each, simply by moving one other circle to a new position. How is this done?

Numbers in circles are for use in identifying moves in answer below.

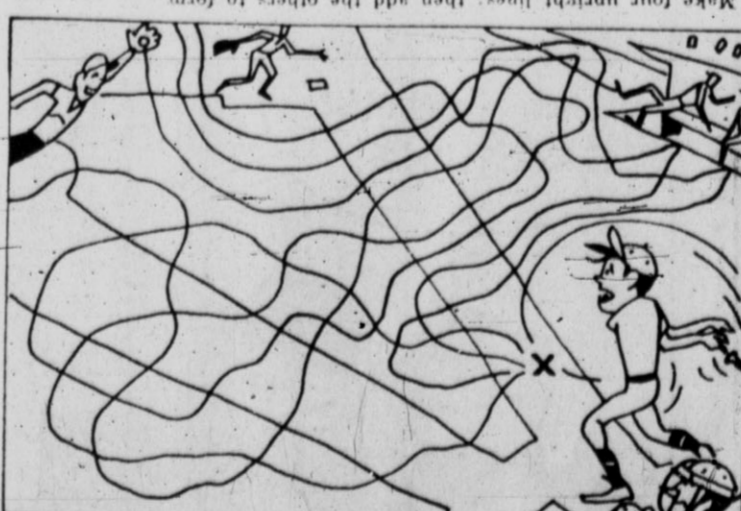

Answer: Drop circle five, move circle five, move circle five, move circle five, move circle five, move circle five.

BULLETIN BOARD

● HOLD THE PHONE! Talking slowly, a person can average 450 words in a 3-minute call. At a rapid clip, 750 words are possible. Thus, Abe Lincoln's delivery of his Gettysburg Address would have necessitated an "overtime" call — true or false?

● Eyes Have It? The absent-minded professor had one pair of glasses for outdoors, one pair for indoors, and one pair for doing what?

● Draw four straight lines. Now, by adding five more straight lines, make ten. How's it done?

BATTER UP! X marks the spot, above, where the player at bat connects with the ball. Does he hit safely or is the ball caught?

FREE RIDE! To join in the fun above, simply add these colors: 1—Red. 2—Blue. 3—Yellow. 4—Lt. brown. 5—Flesh. 6—Dk. brown. 7—Dk. purple. 8—Lt. green. 9—Dk. green. 10—Lt. purple.

SPELLBINDER!

SCORE 10 points for using all letters in the word below to form two complete words:

DIRECTOR

THEN score 2 points each for all words of four letters or more found among the letters. Try to score at least 50 points.

One possible anagram: the cord.
