

SIGHTS, FACES SEEN Around Town

Despite the weather, Hereford went literary this week. With announcement of Mrs. J. F. Ward's new book came word that work of Corinne Jennings and Roberta Campbell was included in Joe Cooper's new release, "With or Without Beans." Stories on both books will be found in this issue.

Telephone operators were pulling their hair as long distance bills skyrocketed over the Thanksgiving holiday. The rush was attributed to calls resulting from visits delayed by weather. Besides, opined one of the girls, "I think the folks who stayed home for Thanksgiving did all of their local visiting by telephone."

Work on the new Baptist Mission Church on the Airport Road was also contingent upon the weather, Bob Lawrence, chairman, said. He reported $11,777 already raised for construction and indicated a hope that the building may be completed by spring. The pulpit committee for the new mission includes Gerald Wilson, chairman, Mrs. Clinton Jackson, Mrs. Tommy Braddy, Frank Cummings and Dalton Criswell.

Gaston Baer reported that Thanksgiving was complete with the arrival Tuesday of a new granddaughter. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Alexander and was born in Oklahoma City.

The High School Band will appear in its first concert of the 1952 season in the high school auditorium Thursday, Dec. 11, according to announcements today. The public is invited.

Mrs. W. R. Hall, former operator of the Aristocrat Cafe, has leased the Hereford bus station and will operate it in the same location. The place is being remodeled.

Also remodeled is the Jim Hill Coffee Shop. New booths are to be added along the north partition. Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Sherman estimate that they can handle 36 more people when alterations are completed.

Feb. 14 will be Hereford Day at West Texas State College. Continued on page 2

Three-Car Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Headley of 2212 N. West Park, Oklahoma City and their son narrowly escaped serious injury at 1:20 p.m. Saturday.

The Headley family in their 1948 Olds sedan were traveling East on Highway 60 when the Olds skidded on the ice on the road about 10 miles east of Hereford, near Dawn, and smashed into a 1950 Chevrolet pickup truck towing a 1952 Jeep station wagon. The Chevrolet pickup was the property of the Jack McLaughlin Pontiac Co., and was driven by Murl A. Parker. The front of the truck was badly damaged as was the Jeep when the impact forced the small car into the rear of the truck.

The entire side of the Oldsmobile was caved in and damage was estimated at $250. Damage to the pickup was set at about $200 and to the Jeep at $150.

No one was injured according to the investigating officer of the Texas State Highway Patrol. A picture of the wrecked car shown on page 4.

Another highway accident happened at 5:15 p.m. Friday, 10 miles south on Highway 51 when a Chevrolet sedan driven by Florence Goldston Pinkston, Box 4030, Seminary Hill Station, Ft. Worth, traveling north on 51 skidded on the ice and crashed into a tree. Mrs. Pinkston is the wife of Gerardo Pinkston and Mrs. Pinkston is a former Hereford girl. She was not injured, investigating officers report.

History Repeats Itself

Sidewalks Broken When Main Street Lights Conk Out

Well, it has happened again - or has it been going on all the time. The Southwestern Public Service repair men went on the job Wednesday in an effort to find why some of the Main Street lamps failed to answer to the controls. In this case they failed to burn, so in the cold and snow the sidewalks were broken up, ditches dug, wires tapped and traced to locate the trouble.

About Oct. 10, 1927, (25 Years Ago) Hereford had a street light mystery, according to files of The Brand. The street light on the corner of Fourth and Main street failed to be influenced by the controls and all explanations of Hereford electricians failed to solve the mystery of why the light would burn when it should be out. Like 1952, the trouble shooters of that day were assisted by many bystanders, just as they were Wednesday when a bystander suggested maybe the electricity was "froze up".

But 25 years ago the offending lamp was not on the main circuit. Wednesday it was a short. Anyway, it happened before, it happened Wednesday, and will likely happen again.

Board Considers

Architect, Sale Of School Bonds

Trustees of the Hereford School district will meet Tuesday night for the purpose of arranging for sale of a portion of the $850,000 bond issue passed by voters of the district Nov. 22.

"Steps are being taken to contact all interested architects," said Robert Veigel, president. "We have submitted letters to each of the 19 interested architects asking them to submit a list of high school buildings completed since 1946, also the cost per square foot of each building."

Board members said that a careful study of all conditions will be made before an architect is selected. Length of the bond retirement schedule, interest rates, and other arrangements will probably consume most of the meeting Tuesday however.

Police Department Running Smooth

Hereford's police department is once again running smoothly, Mayor S. O. Wilson said Friday.

With arrival of Leo F. Box as Police Chief Monday, Mr. Wilson said the department will be complete and at full strength. Hollis Rainey is meanwhile acting chief, along with duties of handling parking meters.

Other members of the police department are Jack Anders and Virgil Richie.

Small Wheat Acreage Seen In Predictions For 1953

The year 1953, even with the most optimistic outlook, will not likely be a big wheat year in Deaf Smith County.

Such, at least was the conclusion of representatives of the various governmental agencies at a meeting in the courthouse early this week. The grain included personnel from DREA Soil Conservation and the County Agent's office. The conclusions were of various estimates from a group of various individuals but they did express definite opinion from a group of men closely associated with the farm program.

In the first place, only 125,000 to 135,000 acres of wheat have been seeded in the county, according to the estimates. Areas seeded last year were approximately 275,000. One of the lowest acreages ever seeded was in 1947. It ran close to 400,000 acres.

In the second place, only 30,000 acres of the estimated 135,000 crop for 1953 was reported to be up at the present time by the group and most of the acreage now up was said to be in the irrigated section.

Whether the snowfall (around 24 of an inch of moisture through Thursday) would bring up the wheat already seeded was also problematical. Most of the snow field men estimated that the snow blew and drifted too much to bring tremendous benefits to the 1953 crop. Fields where stubble prevented blowing were naturally fields which had not been seeded to wheat.

Depends on Moisture

After all is said and done, though, the outcome of the 1953 crop still depends largely upon weather developments within the next two weeks. Heavy moisture could result in heavy seeding which might lead to a big crop for the area. Producers who do not now plan to plant late wheat might change their plans if sufficient moisture accrued and their neighbors started planting.

"When your neighbors start planting, it does more to make up your own mind," said one of the representatives. "The picture could change over night, but right now, from here, it would appear that wheat will not likely break any yield records in 1953."

Fourth Of Cotton Yet To Be Picked

Cotton picking came to a standstill due to the weather according to officials of the Hereford cotton gin east of Hereford. Around one-fourth of the crop was estimated still in the fields.

Until the weather breaks and warms up and dries some picking will be negligible. Two bales were rinned up to noon Saturday but the number for the season ran in the neighborhood of a little over 5,000 bales and it is expected that with clearing weather at least another 1,500 bales will be processed at the gin.

Cold, Snow Slows Holiday Activities

Coming early and staying long, the Panhandle's first blizzard of winter struck here Sunday and continued on through this week with low temperatures. Hereford streets, though far from normal, were a credit to Panhandle highway conditions. Following Thanksgiving, business though slow, was nearing normal.

Local schools scheduled to close Wednesday afternoon until Monday, in observance of Thanksgiving, closed Tuesday afternoon instead, due to heavy snows and cold weather. Buses did not run that day.

Hereford Pioneer, Edgar M. Cox, Is Buried Saturday

Funeral services for Mr. Edgar M. Cox, 65, who died Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in the Deaf Smith County hospital following an illness of several weeks, complicated by poor health for a number of years were held Saturday at 10 a.m.

Mr. Cox came to Deaf Smith county at the age of six months with his family. His father, J. C. Cox, moved here and settled on section No. 14 - Block K-14 which is eight miles east of Hereford on the Tierra Blanca Creek, arriving there July 31, 1887.

The family lived in a dugout in the north bank of the creek for 18 months then his father erected the third wooden house in the county on what is called the Ed East section.

There were three boys and two girls in the family when they settled in the county, and Edgar was the youngest.

Edgar Cox was one of the outstanding figures in the Pioneer Celebration last year and proudly displayed his 60 year ribbon at the event and swapped yarns with other old timers.

Mr. Cox spent many years as a carpenter and in later years turned to cabinet making.

He was well known for his untiring efforts and work in the community.

Mr. Cox was born Nov. 22, 1886 in Grayson county, the son of Joseph C. Cox and Lemorah Tyler. In 1917 he was married to Alice Biggs on the 3rd of February at Hereford.

Surviving are his wife Alice Cox, Hereford, one son, Major Jack Cox of Vacaville, California and two daughters, Mrs. Alma Wallace, Hereford and Mrs. Lavada Barnett of Alamosa, Colo., one brother, Jim Cox of Andrews, and one sister, Mrs. Minnie Walker of Hereford, eight grandchildren.

Final rites were held in the Rose Chapel of the Gilliland Funeral Home with the Rev. Don Root, pastor of the First Christian Church, of which Mr. Cox was a member, officiating. Interment was in the West Park Cemetery.

Water Meeting Slated Friday

The water meeting, scheduled here Friday night for the purpose of nominating members to the county committee, was called off when only 11 persons showed up. The meeting was rescheduled for Friday night, Dec. 5, at the courthouse, 8 o'clock.

"The meeting was called again because we did not feel that 11 persons should assume the responsibility of nominating for this important post," said Gayle Neal, president. The county committee will have considerable power in handling water affairs of this area, he said, and declared that a large representation should be present when the nominations are made.

Five names will be placed on the ballot, three to be elected. This, Mr. Neal said, is due to a change in the constitution which allows additional county committee members. V. R. Dodson is also commending his term on the job, but has been nominated as precinct committeeman.

"This is your business," Neal said. "It is important to you. The county committee will handle allocations, permits and other situations which may arise. Plan now to come out Friday night and to help in selecting the men you want to handle your underground water business."

Official weather reports from the City Hall showed a total of .24 of an inch of moisture from six inches of snow, bringing the monthly moisture total to .74 of an inch for the month of November. Temperature readings follow:

	High	Low
Wednesday	28	0
Thursday	24	9
Friday	25	18
Saturday	32	10

Conversation all over town Friday and Saturday centered on trips which were postponed, due to weather and hazardous roads. Those who did make Thanksgiving trips reported that traffic moved from 15 to 25 miles per hour and that scores of cars and trucks had been abandoned in snowdrifts along all highways leading over the Panhandle.

Air traffic was likewise delayed several hours out of Amarillo, and bus schedules over the area were running as much as eight to 12 hours behind.

A demand for water from many residents with frozen pipes Friday completely reversed to cries for "less water" as some of the pipes over town thawed Friday afternoon and burst. More of these situations were anticipated over the week-end by plumbers as the weather department predicted higher temperatures.

Police officials, city and county, were also amazed at the small number of accidents reported as a result of slick, ice-covered streets. Not one major accident was reported in the immediate Hereford territory and the general report of accidents over the Panhandle was small for even an ordinary Thanksgiving holiday period. A few minor clashes left dented fenders and scratched paint on cars, but even these were in the minority, law enforcement officers said.

The telephone company reported a record-breaking number of long distance calls over the Thanksgiving holiday. They attributed much of the load to people who had planned trips, but called them off in view of weather conditions.

"Christmas Giving" Theme Of Dollar Day Offerings

Monday, Dec. 1 will be Dollar Day in Hereford!

Furthermore, it will be a Dollar Day in keeping with the season. Most of the Hereford merchants, it seems, got the Christmas spirit early this year and decided to start the month of December off not only with an array of Dollar Specials on staple merchandise, but have thrown in offerings of Christmas merchandise for the "Early Bird" shopper who wants quality -- yet likes to see those dollars stretch and stretch.

In addition to the dry goods, shoes, and department store bargains listed for Monday, the jewelry stores also seem to have taken the matter seriously and joined the monthly parade with specials from a wide range of stock, mostly Christmas gift merchandise.

"By offering these values early we hope to be able to avoid some of the last-minute Christmas rush," said one merchant. "On the other hand, if they don't grab these bargains we won't be any worse off than we were at the start."

... but why go further, the pages of this issue of The Brand are loaded with messages for the thrifty shopper. We'll let them speak for themselves.

Old Santa Scheduled To Appear In Hereford Friday Afternoon, Dec. 5

Santa Claus is coming to town. The date is Friday, Dec. 5 and the time is 4 o'clock sharp.

Plans are to greet the old gentleman with a gigantic parade, including every youngster in Deaf Smith, Castro, Farmer and Oldham Counties if they are interested.

As in the past, Old Santa will be loaded to the gills with bags of candy, nuts and fruit -- a sack for every boy and girl who can possibly attend the big event.

The annual party is expected to be one of the largest in history of the event, according to Dean Herring, Christmas project chairman for the Jaycees.

Jaycee members and their wives were also reminded to be at the clubhouse Thursday evening, Dec. 4, to help sack candy for the event.

Other chairmen for the project are Clint Formby, finance; Dick Lucas, parade; Bill Howard, decorations; Melvin Young, advertising; and Sam Nelson, Santa Claus.

Book By Mrs. J. F. Ward Deals With Pioneer Life

A pioneer Hereford woman, Mrs. J. F. Ward, 101 E. 6th street, after eighteen months has received the first run of 1500 copies of her book GARDENING FOR THE MASTER by a Pioneer Woman.

The book has been in the hands of the printers The Herald Press of Louisville, Kentucky for the past two months.

Mrs. Ward was born July 19, 1872 in Panola County Mississippi and was the daughter of W. P. McMinn and Amanda Jane McCullough Hill.

She was married to Frank Ward on an Easter Sunday and the couple went to Childress to make their home. All throughout the book Gardening for the Master, Mrs. Ward tells of the hopes, hardship and the joys of her life as a pioneer in this area.

The couple came here in 1899 from Hardeman county and located 11 miles north of Hereford on 25 Mile Ave.

Not only is "Gardening for the Master" a book on a deeply interesting religious life but is also interesting from the standpoint of pioneer history.

In the forward of the book Mrs. Ward says: "I have written this story prayerfully that it may bless all who read it and God be honored. And the proceeds from the story will be used in McMurry College, Abilene, Texas, to help ministerial students prepare for Life Service."

"Gardening for the Master" is nicely bound and contains 143 pages in seven chapters and illustrated with seven pictures. The volume sells for $1.50 per copy.

Introduction of the book is by Rev. and Mrs. Don R. Davidson with a tribute by Dollie Ward Auster.

"Gardening for the Master" is a book based on the life of the pioneer woman and her christian life and work and hope. The volume is beautifully written and one that all christian people will certainly want to read if not add to their book shelves.

Beside providing funds for Ministerial students from the proceeds of the book, Mrs. Ward was also instrumental in providing a home at McMurry College for the housing of 20 co-operative girls.

MRS. J. F. WARD consistently surprises her friends with her amazing drive and activity in church and community work. Her latest surprise came with publication of her book, "Gardening for the Master". Proceeds, says Mrs. Ward, will be used for education of young men in the ministry.

D. C. KINSEY was this week named as Chairman of the 1953 Red Cross Fund Campaign, according to Corinne Jennings, Red Cross secretary. Mr. Kinsey is widely known here as a civic leader and is active in the Baptist Church, the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. The annual drive will probably be held in March, he said.

Christmas Lights To Go Up Sunday

Hereford's Christmas decorations will go up Sunday, Nov. 30, for the Yuletide season, according to Jaycee Chairman Dean Herring, who said today that everything is set -- provided "the weather doesn't get too rough".

New greenery, hundreds of new bulbs, several new strings of lights and other paraphernalia will be added to the annually growing Christmas props which the Jaycee organization maintains from year to year.

All Jaycee members, plus any volunteers, were urged by Herring to be at the Bull Barn at 2 o'clock sharp to get the project underway. He estimated that most of the decorations could be strung Sunday afternoon, provided the group turns out in full force.

Monday Final Date To List In 1953 Farm Conservation

Reminding producers that Monday, Dec. 1, is the final date on which to submit conservation plans and soil practices to their local committees, Faust Collier, PMA manager, said Saturday that cooperation in listing advance plans has been exceptional.

"The program is set up in this manner in order that funds can be allocated and fairly distributed," said Mr. Collier. He added that no complete summary of the plans could be expected prior to the final date for submitting.

"However, there has been an exceptional interest in irrigation improvement methods," he said. "Many farmers are showing a marked interest in underground concrete pipes and in concrete ditches toward better water distribution and conservation of water and land. In the past numerous producers have drowned out crops by trying to water the high spot in fields."

Submission of plans on a cooperative basis have generally stressed irrigation improvements, along with other measures in the dry land farming areas.

Achievement Day Program Held By Cultural Group

NORTHWEST HEREFORD—The Cultural Home Demonstration club held its Achievement Program in the home of Mrs. C. S. Barclay Monday, Nov. 24, at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Grady Parsons was in charge of the dress review in which dresses of plaids and stripes were modeled, and detail of construction and difficulties were outlined by Mrs. Parsons.

Roll call was answered by a kitchen improvement that each member had accomplished.

A demonstration on "The Selection of Kitchen Utensils" was given by Mrs. Argen Draper. The trend of her talk dealt with the kind of utensils to use in our kitchens, in which she stated that oven ware and baking glass very definitely had its place in our kitchens, stating that the baking glass has a triple use, in that you can use them to cook, bake and serve in. Mrs. Draper also stated that an enamel utensil very definitely had its place in our kitchens as the ware doesn't absorb food. She stated that tin reflects heat and is best for baking breads and cakes.

Mrs. Draper suggested that those of us planning to buy kitchen utensils look for the following lines of construction. A lasting material, flame resistant handles, which are easy to hold, rounded bottoms, easy to clean, and a lid that holds in the moisture.

During the business session it was announced that the club would serve food at the Benefield farm sale to be held Dec. 4 six miles east of Hereford at Joel switch. Each member is to bring one dozen sandwiches and two pies.

The club will hold its annual Christmas party Dec. 18 at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Louie Olson with 4-H girls at guests, each member bring a gift to exchange.

Members attending this meeting were Mesdames; M. W. Sumner, Paul S. Corbett, Fred Wolfington, R. C. Childers, Art Lewis, W. E. Holcomb, Argen Draper, Ira Scott, Grady Parsons and the hostess, Mrs. Barclay.

Q. How can I cope with a ragged cuticle on my fingernails?

A. With cream or oil. Don't clip the cuticle! It should be trained into place. Cream should be massaged in to make the cuticle soft enough to push back from the nail. Push the cuticle back, too, each time before you dry your hands after washing.

By JIMMIE GILLENTINE

Lots and lots of travel stories are floating around. Dorothy Parker, operator of the news stand, tells one of the best, however. Dorothy places all of the blame on her mother, Mrs. Winters, who simply had to go to Woodward, Okla., for Thanksgiving.

They loaded the kids in the car and took off Wednesday afternoon around 3 o'clock. Despite warnings in Amarillo, they forged right ahead -- and wound up spending the night in a snowdrift on a lonesome highway across the Oklahoma line. Finally they arrived, just in time to eat dinner Thanksgiving Day, then start back. Dorothy says they were on the road 28 hours -- and spent only four hours with their relatives at their destination.

Kenneth Coker also started for Oklahoma, but his story is slightly different. He got into Amarillo, and, as he puts it, hit a slick spot on the paving and "involuntarily" turned around. A grader came along, pulled him out of the drift and offered to help him turn back and get on his way. "No Sir," said Kenneth. "I am going in the right direction. I am going right back to Hereford." Which he did.

A lot of moms and dads were cheered this Thanksgiving by news that their sons in Korea had genuine American-style turkey dinners served right on the front lines. The dinner, says AP would cost around $5 in the states, but cost the army only $1.50 per mah. The chow was carried up in insulated containers to keep it warm. It featured turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie and hot coffee. Maybe not like mom's cooking but certainly an effort toward observing the occasion.

Wayne Lawrence was just in and reported that the VFW is taking me up on the candle deal. He says the VFW is buying 1,000 candles to be mailed to Korea in care of Lloyd Manjeot, Hereford boy who asked for the candles which boys are unable to get through army issue. Lloyd says his regiment, around 1,000 men, got only 42 candles in the last issue. I have talked with several other boys who served over there. They say this is true. Candles will do a lot to make life brighter.

Wayne Edwards also offered to handle purchases at wholesale cost of anyone is interested in donating to a candle fund. Leave your money with Wayne or at The Brand office. It is OK, to bring in candles too. Not too long. They like candles that can be carried in their pockets.

A prediction. Telephone rates will probably see some increase here within the next 60 to 90 days. The telephone company is working on the situation and still insists that some increase in essential to continue operation. Hereford, they say, has the second lowest rate of any town of its size in the country. Slaton slightly lower. They will not get the full 50% asked for, but maybe 20 or 25 percent. This is pure speculation.

Quite a few people are getting jittery. Some of these "inside dope" bulletins and letters are predicting a market crash and folks are remembering the depression. Others figure things have to remain high simply because the government has to have heavy taxes to meet debts and continue to operate. What will really happen, no one knows. Actually, no drastic change is likely for a good while. Maybe not at all. If and when Eisenhower can halt the government spending spree prices may stabilize or taper slightly downward. If the Korean War ends things will probably tighten up sharply -- but I don't know a single person who wouldn't be mighty happy to see it happen.

Russia, on the other hand, is really getting jittery. They are alarmed over the turn of events in this country. Already the leaders are starting race purges similar to those used by Adolph Hitler. We have our troubles, true, but maybe things aren't too rosy behind the iron curtain these days.

Once again the Jaycees deserve community-wide thanks for the Christmas lighting and parade. These boys work long and hard. They even talk their wives into helping. Sometimes I wonder how we used to get along without them -- and then I remember we didn't accomplish a lot of things we do now. Putting up these decorations is a man-size job, and these boys do it with a grin.

The passing of "Uncle Walk" Brady this week marked the removal of another Hereford landmark of yesteryears. Few people ever saw "Uncle Walk's" long, white beard, but it has been with him 10, these many years. I never suspected his deep sense of humor until I interviewed him for a pioneer edition a few years back. He was one of the really true pioneer cowboys of this country. He lived a full, rich life -- and enjoyed every minute of it. "Uncle Walk" was a fine man and one I shall ever remember as a heavy contributor to the progress and welfare of this territory. Those who knew him well agree.

"Suggestions For Special Programs" Topic For El Nino Study Club Meet

Mrs. Byron Durham who presented the program, told what to do in the way of entertaining the sick child, the rainy day shut-in, and the mentally sick. For the sick child she suggested, among other things, to have something in the room that smells sweet and for the rainy day she said "try to do something that will especially please the child." For the mentally sick she urged that the element of fear be eliminated at all times as much as possible.

ones in question a chance to prove their willingness to cooperate.

Junior Day Is Observed Here By Music Study Club On Monday

Sixteen students gave a varied program for the most part from memory, with poise and balance although most of the students were in the younger age group this year. This is the fourth year that the club has sponsored a Junior Day program, not only to show what the children can do in music, but for the benefit derived from performing with other students before mature musicians.

Mrs. J. D. Neill, president, welcomed the guests who included parents and friends of the students, as an introduction to the program which included; "Little Polish Dance" piano, played by Ann Smith. "Over the River and Through the Woods", voice, Sharon Tinnin. "Für Elise" (Beethoven) piano, Nancy Parsons. "Garden of Love - 19th Century Air" sung by Doris Russell. "Melody of Love", piano (Englemann) played by Shirley Pierce. "On the Trail" from the Grand Canyon Suite by Graffe, played by Norma Grace Gray.

ber suggesting the holiday season just ahead, presented by five older students. They sang Edward McDowell's "There Were Shepherds" with Fawayne Murphy taking the solo part and Charles Whitehead, David Goldston, Nancy Patterson and Sue Nell Summer giving quartet background. Mrs. Cliff Estes was the accompanist.

Castor Bean Harvesting Delayed Several Days By Heavy Snow Fall

By Mrs. R. C. Childers
The harvesting of castor beans and cotton will be delayed several days due to the snow and wet weather. About nine inches of snow has fallen Monday and Tuesday in this vicinity. Temperatures Tuesday morning were down to a low of 20 degrees at 5:30 a.m. Wheat farmers are really proud of this moisture as well as others, but it will benefit them more at the present time. This will bring up the dry land wheat in many areas.

The lettuce pasture is about gone in most places, and stock on lettuce pastures will very definitely have to be fed unless they have maize stubble near by, during this spell.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rickman, Kenny, Larry and Lyla Gayle left Sunday for Dallas where Larry will undergo another operation on his face. Larry received an injury to his face several years ago in a car accident. The family will visit in the home of Mrs. Rickman's sister while there. They plan to be away over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Paul S. Corbett met with the Commissioners at their regular meeting Monday morning. Mrs. Corbett is chairman of the Expansion and Education Committee and was in charge of the program.

Mrs. M. G. Caywood was a caller in the R. C. Childers home Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Inman of Plainview were dinner guests in the R. C. Childers home Monday. The Workers 4-H club met in the home of Mrs. M. W. Summers in Hereford Tuesday afternoon at 4 p.m.

Mrs. J. L. Black of Brownfield was a guest in the home of Mrs. W. E. Holcomb this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrow of Clarendon were visitors in the Grady Parsons home Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. Pool who has been visiting in the home of her daughter for several months, has gone to Lubbock to visit another daughter, Mrs. B. H. Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Corbett and Paula Beth spent Sunday afternoon in Littlefield visiting a sister and brother of Mrs. Corbett.

Patsy Childers spent the weekend in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. S. Barclay.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Barclay made a business trip to Amarillo Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Renfro were in Amarillo on business Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto J. Douglas of Tonkawa, Okla., spent the past week end in the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. C. Cummings. Their father, R. O. Douglas, returned to Oklahoma with them for a visit there.

84TH BIRTHDAY HUNT. John Nance Garner (right), 84, Vice President of the United States during the first two administrations of Franklin D. Roosevelt, is shown with Ross Brumfield, an Uvalde, Tex., garage owner as they started out for a deer hunt on Garner's 84th birthday, Nov. 22. Creased Rug

A bad crease in a rug should be taken care of as soon as possible or the nap will wear off along the crease very quickly. Turn the rug upside down and wet the crease until it is quite wet. Then stretch the rug tight and fasten with tacks and allow to remain until dry. When dry, apply a coat of shellac to the back of the rug and after that has dried, the rug may be returned to its correct position free of wrinkles.

Oak Stain

To make a good oak stain mix one quart of boiled linseed oil, three grills of turpentine, six tablespoons of raw umber, and six tablespoons of whiting.

Raisins

The raisins will not stick to the food chopper if the chopper is heated in boiling water before running the raisins through it.

Smoke-Stained Bricks

Clean smoke-stained bricks by mixing 2 ounces soda, 1 ounce pumice stone, 1 ounce salt, with sufficient water to make a cream. Rub the bricks with, let stand for a few minutes, then brush with a stiff brush.

Liquid Shampoo

A good liquid shampoo can very easily be made by just taking some pure powdered castile soap such as can be purchased at any drug store, and dissolving this in boiling water.

Fruit Stains

Cover the fruit stains on table linen as soon as possible with glycerine, allow it to set, then place in the laundry hamper. The spot will disappear when washed.

Placing the Piano

If the piano is to be placed against an outside wall, it is well to see that it rests a few inches away from the wall. Otherwise the dampness entering through the wall will ruin the tone of the piano and cause it to become out of tune very quickly.

Baking Tins

The new baking tins should be placed in the oven and heated until the tin becomes blue before using them. By doing this they will give better service.

Throat Gargle

A good throat gargle can be made by mixing one teaspoon each of salt, soda, and sugar in a pint of water.

Tintypes

Old-fashioned tintypes can best be preserved by keeping them in a dry, dark place, as exposure to light increases their tendency to fade. It is possible for competent photographers to make copies of tintypes, but this work requires great care and should be done only by experts.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Miller have returned to Hereford to make their home following his release from the Air Force. Mrs. Miller is the former Miss Audrey Hood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCullough are expected home the latter part of this week from Nebraska where they have been visiting relatives.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
It appears that Eisenhower's visit to the Korean War is a wild goose chase. He can get a first-hand approach as pertains to how the war is manipulated. He may get inside information as to how this war is managed in the side of the Allies, but so far as closing the cause -- the Manipulators. The Korean War is a nice place for the money power to invest their surplus and prevent a collapse of the circulating stream of exchange, this continuing high prices.

Geo. W. Heard
P. S. The powers that be who promote this war do not hibernate in Korea. Korea is like a ball park -- the players don't live there. GWH.

Q: How can I cleanse my skin without using soap and water?
A: You can wet a piece of cotton in cold water, squeeze dry, then moisten with a tonic made of witch hazel diluted with a little water, dipping this into cold cream, and applying.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING... with Mrs. J. A. Pitman

Rich, Luscious Fruit Cake Sets The Mood For Holiday Festivity

Traditions are modified over the years, but one of the big interests at Christmas time is still a fruit cake beautifully decorated with nuts and fruit. Traditions are followed more closely at Christmas than at any other time. The tree, the holly, Old Saint Nick and the turkey dinner with fruit cake and plum pudding, are all as customary as firecrackers on the Fourth of July.

What makes a fruit cake especially good? Flavor, naturally is of first importance. Since a fruit cake is served in slices, it must have an even distribution of fruits and nuts and should be molded in a suitable shape. Moistness and texture are leading considerations.

Our fruit cake recipe for today is rich in fruit and the flavor of brandy mingles delightfully with that of the fruit. It comes to you from Mrs. J. A. Pitman who has used it for years. Originally the recipe belonged to the late Mrs. Homer Wilkinson who was rated as one of Hereford's finest cooks. The recipe makes a very large cake if baked in the traditional round form, or several small ones if baked in single-leaf bread pans.

Traditional Fruit Cake
 1 lb. butter
 4 cups brown sugar
 12 eggs beaten separately
 1/2 cup buttermilk
 1 cup wine or peach brandy (Mrs. Pitman uses peach brandy)
 1 level tablespoon soda dissolved in wine

1 rounding tablespoon cinnamon
 1 rounding tablespoon all spice
 1 rounding tablespoon cloves
 1 rounding tablespoon nutmeg
 1 cup strawberry jam
 4 cups flour
 2 cups flour to roll fruit in
 Cream butter and sugar and add egg yolks beaten well. Add spices and strawberry jam and alternate the four cups of flour with the liquid, folding in whites of eggs, beaten stiff, last.

Chop and mix well;
 2 cups pecans (1 pound)
 2 cups walnuts
 2 pounds of raisins
 1 pound currants
 1/2 pound citron
 1/4 pound lemon peel
 1/4 pound orange peel
 1/2 pound candied cherries
 1 pound figs
 1/4 pound candied pineapple

After chopping fruit, Mrs. Pitman puts the pecans in whole, roll in the extra two cups of flour and add carefully to the first mixture. Mix well and fill large tube cake pan 3/4 full and bake in 250-F degree oven for two and one half hours. Mrs. Pitman tests the cake with a straw to be sure it's done.

This recipe may be halved if your family doesn't require the big cake. It keeps indefinitely, however, and should be baked now in order to mellow for holiday time. Half the recipe will make three loaf pan cakes and the pans should be filled 3/4 full as in the bigger cake.

H. D. CHATTER

The Deaf Smith County 4-H Clubs are making plans for their annual Christmas parties. In the past all the clubs have gone together and had one big party but this year each club will have an individual party.

The recreation committee, consisting of a chairman and two other members, will be in charge of the recreation for the whole party. These committees were given special training by Miss Lucille Moore, recreational specialist from A & M College, last spring.

The refreshment committees will have charge of the refreshments for the party. Every 4-H girl has had training in making cupcakes and cookies and in almost every club they are expected to bring to the party several cupcakes or cookies which they have made.

The members are making their gifts and coming to the parties with the spirit of "What I plan to give this Christmas" rather than "what I want for Christmas".

SNOOPIN AROUND

By The Rambler

Well they tell me that President Truman had turkey and dressing, shrimp cocktails, oysters on half shell and etc. Now here is the laugh, and it isn't so funny when you get to thinking about it, AND OUR BOYS IN KOREA HAD THE SAME.

Yeah, I'll bet they had the same. Tell it to the boys over on the line in Korea and see if they don't laugh in your face. Turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, about the only sauce they got was blood. That is red to Harry. Some of the boys probably did, but the general thought Washington tried to get over was all had it. And that is a lot of sauce and not cranberry.

And suppose they did all have said dinner. So what. For a country not at war (only police action) that line stinks. Like is taking on the mess after Harry gets up from the feast. Well we can play along with the Reds and have our strength slowly sapped or we can go all out and give Joe the works all we got, and if Joe has any thing better it will wind up one way or the other without dragging the final result.

Right now we are taking the best of our youth to fight a police action. The U. S. has always waited for the other guy to throw the punch, we do the ducking. Maybe it would be a good idea for us to change ends.

Russia has the A-bomb? So what. In any event the one who throws it first and the fastest will get there the firstest. The whole question is would you rather be a dead American or a live one working the Salt Mines for the Reds.

No, this won't get the boys home by Christmas nor does it solve the situation, but if you have read it, you will be forced to think about it and more deeply than I have expressed here.

But don't take my word for all this, ask some of the fellows that have been over there. One that has lost a leg or an arm. See if he'll tell you it's a police action.

Stores around town are taking on the holiday look and Sunday the Jayvics will begin to put up the street lights and decorations.

I saw a kid smile the other day. He was on his way with his mother to Dallas to get the appliances for the two legs he lost in the horrible accident. He looked a lot different than the first time I saw him in the hospital, and if I never write another line, that one story was worth while, Good Luck Gary.

I'll be seeing you.

Texans In Washington

By Tex Easley
AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON Nov. 29— Post-election headaches, even if minor, are beginning to beset some members of the Texas congressional delegation as the time for the new session nears.

One problem is the demand for seats at the inauguration of Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower as the 33rd president on Jan. 20. The inaugural "stadium" being constructed on the Capitol Plaza has a limited seating capacity. Members of the House and Senate will each receive only a limited number of tickets. In 1948, for example, representatives were allowed seven each, Senators ten. Obviously, this number could barely take care of their immediate families or closest personal friends.

The Republican and Democratic national committees will be allocated a certain bloc of tickets, and some of the top faithful of each organization will manage to get tickets through that source. Four years ago the national committees were allocated about 1,000 tickets each.

Sections will be set aside for the top government officials and departments, The State Department for instance must have a bloc of seats for diplomats of foreign nations.

After the inauguration a parade will go from the capitol down Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues. Although there will be free standing room for many blocks along the way, there also will be 39 separate stands erected along the parade route. The Citizens Inaugural Committee already is taking reservations for these seats, which range from $3 to $12.

Another headache for the lawmakers is the matter of patronage. The problem is pretty simple for the Texans this time, however. They just won't have any. The unhappy aspect, from their point of view, is that they will have to see some of the job holders they have sponsored go off the payroll.

These jobs include positions such as capital policemen, elevator operators and minor employees of the House and Senate.

Postmaster jobs—in Texas, as in other states, are the ones which have brought the greatest number of inquiries. Postmasters now are under civil service, but some, at least, could be pressured into resigning if the new administration desired.

On the other hand, there are many here who believe that the fact that Texas went Republican and that the G. O. P. is trying to get firmly established in the state will definitely slow down job replacement there.

A number of the Texas congressmen have consistently voted so closely with the Republicans that the Eisenhower administrations would be unlikely to hit out at them by trying to oust postmasters whom they had named.

Although the vast majority of federal job holders in Texas are under civil service, a few in various governmental agencies can be removed either at the pleasure of the President or at the discretion of one of the top administration figures.

The federal district attorneys in each of the four Texas district and the U. S. Marshalls in each, are appointed to four year terms. They nevertheless can be removed by the President.

There are on an average about five assistant district attorneys in each Texas district, named by the U. S. Attorney-General.

There are a number of other jobs in the state, such as the head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation offices in Dallas and San Antonio who are subject to change.

The Agriculture Department reports there are 23 employees in that agency in Texas who do not come under civil service classification.

These include: State PMA committee chairman, P. F. Vance of Bryan, salary $8,000 a year and the following committeemen who are paid only for the days they work but at the yearly salary rate listed by their names: James R. Adams, La Feria, $7,040; Victor L. Cade, Lubbock, $7,040; Gary B. Sandford, Timpson, $5,940.

State farmer PMA field chief Fred Rennels, Byran, $7,040; and these field men with salaries ranging from $5,060 to $5,810: John W. Gamble, Lubbock; Irvin H. Lloyd, College Station; Thomas E. Rattan, Anna; William I. Chennault, College Station; Victor M. Dzewias, Victoria; Ralph Griffin, San Antonio; Thad E. Whiteley, Sulphur Springs; Wortham E. Seale, Amarillo; Dale Carter, Plainview; Ward M. Taylor, Seymour; Robert F. Spreen, Corpus Christi; Allen J. McMillan, Huntsville; R. C. Flatt, Waco.

Federal Crop Insurance Texas field men (base pay $5,060 yearly): George W. Eisenhauer, College Station; John B. Mooney, McKinney; Nelson V. Little, Proctor; Doyle G. Thomas, Kirklind.

Norman Grant, director of the Post Office Department's division of postmasters, says there is an annual turnover of postmasters nationwide of between 10 and 13 per cent -- due to retirement resignation, death or cause for action.

Federal judges are appointed for life. In Texas there are three federal district judges who already have reached the voluntary retirement age of 70 and who may leave the bench whenever they choose to do so.

Judge William H. Atwell, Dallas, appointed by President Harding in 1923; Judge Thomas M. Kennerly, Houston, appointed by President Hoover in 1931; and Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, Dallas appointed by President Roosevelt in 1936.

Under existing law, the first vacancy to occur among the south Texas district judgeships -- where Judge Kennerly sits, shall not be filled.

New Administration Stresses Harmony

IN THE midst of final arrangements for his trip to Korea, President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower this week rounded out the team that will help him run the country after January 20.

The influence of the "internationalist" wing of the Republican party seems to have gained the ascendancy in the newly-formed Eisenhower Administration. The general has acceded to the more conservative wing of his party, however, by naming several supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft to his cabinet.

In essence, the two wings of the party might be said to be represented by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Sen. Taft. These two wings will struggle to channel the Eisenhower Administration into their own pattern.

Dulles Former Dewey Aid
There are reports that Eisenhower asked Dewey to become his Secretary of State, but that Dewey suggested John Foster Dulles instead.

Dulles served as Dewey's foreign affairs adviser in the 1944 and 1948 campaigns, when Herbert Brownell, Jr., designated by Eisenhower for Attorney General, was Dewey's campaign manager.

Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, chosen for Secretary of the Interior, can't be classed as a "Dewey man," and yet he was at Dewey's side when the New York governor engineered a resolution through last June's Governor's Conference in Houston, Tex., which was an indirect slap at Taft in the Texas delegate squabble.

George E. Humphrey, 62, a Cleveland iron, steel and coal industrialist whom Eisenhower selected as his Secretary of the Treasury, is a Taft supporter. The same is true of Ezra Taft Benson, chosen Secretary of Agriculture.

Aims for Harmony
Charles E. Wilson of General Motors, named Secretary of Defense, would be said to represent something of a middle position between the progressive and conservative wings of the party.

Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, whom Eisenhower picked as Presidential assistant, was an early backer of the general and is representative of the more liberal wing of the GOP.

Eisenhower has demonstrated his ability for blending discordant groups into a harmonious association in picking the members of his Cabinet. Taft said that although none of the appointments were not his suggestions, he "acquiesced in many of them."

No matter how much weight the Ohioan's suggestions carried when it came to Cabinet appointments, he will definitely have a strong influence on the course of legislation in Congress. Eisenhower's legislative program could suffer greatly if Taft chooses to fight any part of it. If Taft is cooperative, as he has told friends he wants to be, the program will find smoother sailing.

Taft apparently has checked off any future ambition to be President. He says he enjoys being a Senator and all he is interested in now is making the new Administration a success.

But his friends know Taft has his own ideas of what it will take to make that Administration a success, and they do not always jibe with Dewey's.

Controls Dilemma
When the Eisenhower Administration takes over, a pressing domestic issue will be inflation and how to curb it.

The weakness of the economic controls program promulgated by the Truman Administration increases the necessity of finding effective ways to keep the nation's domestic economy on an even keel at the height of defense production and soaring costs.

The blame for the weaknesses in the controls program has been tossed from side to side. Democrats blame Republican obstruction in Congress and special interest lobbies. Republicans blame faulty direction and haphazard administration.

The resignation this week of Tighe Woods, head of the Office of Price Stabilization, pointed up the weaknesses in the controls laws.

"It seems," said Woods, "that all I have done is sign orders increasing prices, and I haven't particularly enjoyed the job."

The WORLD This WEEK

United Nations

THE only member of the United Nations that doesn't seem to care how long the Korean war goes on is Russia.

The Indian resolution for settling the prisoner of war impasse tied the United States and Great Britain up in knots and threatened the most serious rift between the two countries in years. The resolution was doomed to failure when the USSR greeted it only with stinging attacks.

The U.S.-British "haste" over the plan gave the Russians a chance to provide a thorough workout for their theory that a split between the United States and other Western countries is inevitable. The Soviets also used the occasion to rehash their own plan, previously voted down by the U.N.

Difference Over Specifications
Basically, the U.S. and Britain differed on the wording of the terms laid out in the Indian resolution. These called for all prisoners held by both sides to be turned over to a four-power commission made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Sweden. The commission would be responsible for getting the prisoners home.

After 90 days the commission would ask a political conference, at which the Reds would be represented, what to do with prisoners who refused to go home. If the conference could not agree within 60 days, those prisoners would be turned over to a U.N. group.

Britain felt the proposals should be given a chance. The U.S. wanted all details spelled out. India worked hard, meanwhile, to heal the breach.

Everybody seemed to be ignoring the fact the Russians disapproved the plan, apparently on the theory that if all the Western nations agreed on a solution, Russia and her satellites would look bad sitting out in left field.

Some quarters in this country still were looking for President-elect Eisenhower to come up with a sure-fire cure-all after his tour of the Korean battlefield, although he has repeatedly declared there is no easy solution.

An Old Refrain
The sentiment for using Chinese Nationalist forces stationed on Formosa in the Korean war got another airing this week. Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, slated to be Speaker of the House in the new Republican Congress, suggested Japanese troops be used too.

While this might fit into Gen. Eisenhower's theory that the war in Korea should be a war of "Asians against Asians" with the U.S. backing up the "forces of freedom" it raises the possibility of Russia taking such intervention as a signal to extend the war in Asia, most likely in Indochina and Malaya.

The present Administration has tried assiduously to avoid giving the Soviets any excuse for extending the Korean war.

Eisenhower Reserves Comment
Eisenhower has reserved specific comment on whether Chiang Kai-shek's troops should be used in the Korean war even though some quarters in his party have been drumming for it for almost two years.

After all the talk, the fact remains that the Korean war started in the Kremlin. It will have to end in the same place.

With its chief protagonist, the United States, tied down to an unpopular war in Korea, Russia clearly has the West at a disadvantage. President Eisenhower, after seeing the war close up, will have to decide either to: (1) Pull out; (2) Drive the Communists back over the Manchurian border; (3) Stand pat and sweat out the Russians at their own game while a South Korean army large enough to replace Western troops in the front line is equipped and trained.

In Short

Estimated by the State Department, that total Communist army strength is 491 divisions, located mostly along borders facing the non-Communist world.

Reported by the Commerce Department, that the United States has poured out more than $7 billion dollars in foreign aid during the past 12 years. About 11 billions have been repaid to date.

Disclosed by U.S. defense officials, that Russian-made war supplies are pouring into Indochina over a transcontinental railway system protected from Allied air attack because it cuts through Red China.

Approved by a five-nation committee of the United Nations, a $70,000,000 program for large scale relief and reconstruction in Korea.

Denied: a parole for Alger Hiss, convicted perjurer now serving a five-year sentence at the Federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa.

Relinquished by the United States, Britain and France, all controls over West Germany's foreign trade and currency.

Elected: President of the AFL to succeed the late William Green, George Meany, former Secretary-Treasurer of the union.

Reported by British Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton to the House of Commons, that Mau Mau terrorism in Britain's East African colony of Kenya is getting worse.

Revealed by defense officials, that more than 125 Allied air bases have been built or are under construction in Western Europe from Italy to Norway.

Quotes

Premier Shigeru Yoshida, of Japan: "It is my firm conviction that cooperation with democratic nations should be the keynote of Japan's foreign policy. We must give full cooperation to the United Nations and work for the successful outcome of its efforts in the Republic of Korea."

Moshe Sharett, Foreign Minister of Israel, commenting on the anti-Semitic overtones of the Prague treason trials: "History already has passed judgment upon those regimes which had recourse to the bogey of anti-Semitism in order to divert the attention of their people from their own troubles and turn their hatred toward Jews chosen as scapegoats."

Congress

Signs of Struggle

Come January, a first class intra-party struggle for power is likely on Capitol Hill.

The prospective chief protagonists are Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, his coteries, and the more internationally-minded Congressmen who supported Dwight D. Eisenhower for the GOP Presidential nomination.

In the field of foreign policy the Eisenhower wing will represent the internationalist group of the party while the Taft group will include those who believe, as the Ohioan said in the campaign, that the greatest threat of Communism comes from within and not from without.

In domestic legislation, there is likely to be a squabble over the Taft-Hartley labor law. All signs now point to a major rewriting of the law by the Republican 83rd Congress—possibly even a junking.

Sen. Taft has made it clear he wants to keep the law that bears his name on the statute books, but he says he is willing to see it revamped through a series of amendments.

Practiced Arbitrator
Some GOP lawmakers have expressed a strong desire to rewrite the law completely and to bury for good the controversial association of Taft-Hartley with the Republican party. Some labor union officials have speculated that an entirely new law might be forthcoming from the House Labor Committee under Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.), who will be the new chairman.

As the committee's ranking minority member in the last Congress, McConnell worked out a mine safety bill satisfactory to labor, operators and the Government after getting all parties around a table to compromise their differences.

Observers believe McConnell has in mind the same sort of an approach to working out a new labor-management relations act to take the place of Taft-Hartley.

During the campaign, Gen. Eisenhower made it plain he thought the Taft-Hartley law needed some amendments. He discussed outright junking of the law only in the broadest terms. At Abilene, just after his return from Europe, Eisenhower said: "We cannot make legislation that can make people work. When we just pile law upon law, complication upon complication in an effort to solve labor problems, we are not doing too well."

Observers believe McConnell has in mind the same sort of an approach to working out a new labor-management relations act to take the place of Taft-Hartley.

REDS EYE MIDDLE EAST

THE MIDDLE EAST—FERTILE GROUND FOR COMMUNISM

THE Middle East is a rich geographic plum ripe for Communist plucking—and the Communists know it.

A mere glance at the map is enough to show the vital strategic location of the Middle East. Even as it is, Russia neighbors countries sitting astride the sea routes which, in wartime, are the lifelines of the free world connecting with the Far East.

In this troubled area are all the seething upheavals which make fertile ground for Communist proselytizing. There is poverty, hatred of foreign intervention and exploitation, resentment toward a ruling class of property owners, severe political instability and an Arab-Jewish war as yet unsettled.

With all this to go on, Communist organizers and rabble rousers have not been idle. The powerful, Red-masterminded Tudeh party in Iran is a bare step from seizing power in a country which has been tottering on the brink of national bankruptcy for months.

Communist Anti-Semitism
The anti-Jewish overtones of the Czech purge trials, although officially denied, look like an attempt to curry favor among Middle East Arab leaders.

One indignant Czech Communist commentator on Radio Prague asserted Czechoslovakia is not hostile to the Jewish faith and that the trial of 14 top Communists in Prague was in no way anti-Semitic.

The fact remains that 11 of the defendants were Jews and three of these abjectly confessed to "Zionism" and asked to be hanged.

Dispatches from Tel Aviv report the Prague trials with their obvious anti-military-headed government which promptly dissolved all political parties, closed 12 newspapers, and prohibited demonstrations. The Reds thereupon went undercover, but they can be counted on to seize any advantage resulting from the disorders.

The demonstrators had actually been in control of Baghdad for two full hours while police held back from using force. It took the army, under Gen. Nur Aldin Mahmud, to quiet things down.

Tenuous Control in Egypt
In Egypt, the military regime of Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib holds tenuous control but the bitter resentment over British garrisons along the Suez Canal and in the Sudan plus the exploitation of the land by wealthy pashas are issues smoldering just beneath the surface.

The United States is aware of the opportunities for Communist propagandists in the Middle East. Its all-out efforts to aid in finding a solution to the costly Anglo-Iranian oil impasse demonstrate the importance this country attaches to Middle East affairs.

The United States has to rely on information services and negotiations with heads of governments in attempts to offset Red propaganda. It is a necessarily quiet, orderly approach, hardly likely to make an impression on a hungry man. In contrast, the Communists have natural allies—fear, hatred and poverty—all abundantly obvious to would-be converts in the Middle East.

The riots culminated in the assumption of power by a tough new

Newsstand Cleanup Looms

Oldtimers may recall halcyon days in the corner drugstore when it was quite the thing to sneak a closer look at Nellie in pink tights on the cover of the Police Gazette.

The use of scantily-clad, curvaceous females to make otherwise dull reading look like red hot stuff has caused trouble ever since.

To many indignant citizens, such minute detailing of the female figure to decorate the covers of pocket-size novels and other literature has gotten out of hand. In fact, they say, it borders today on the pornographic.

Democratic Rep. Gathings of Arkansas, chairman of a special House committee investigating public sales of objectionable reading matter, says his office has been swamped with a flood of allegedly obscene literature sent in by spokesmen for religious groups, publishers and parents' organizations.

Gathings said the material, mostly pocket-size novels and comic books, was accompanied by demands that Congress do something to clean up book and magazine racks.

"The people are demanding that something be done to clean up this situation," Gathings declared. "It is shocking to see how much obscene and lewd printed matter is available to anyone at a small price in almost any corner store in the country. It is a serious menace to the morals of our youth."

Present law bans obscene matter from the mails and from interstate shipment by common carrier, but does not prohibit distribution by other means. Many of the objectionable books are distributed by private trucks.

All states except New Mexico, a committee spokesman said, have laws intended to cope with the problem, but enforcement frequently is difficult. What may be ruled obscene in one state is permissible in another.

Committee investigators estimate that some 200,000,000 small-size books are sold annually. A large percentage of them fall into the class some committee members believe is objectionable beyond any doubt—either because of their content or the cover pictures.

Next week, in Washington, the committee will start open hearings on the subject. Representatives of citizens' groups, the Post Office Department and book distributors are expected to testify.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. Which do you consider the best rouge -- cream or powdered?

A. This depends upon one's particular type. Personally, I prefer the cream type. But I know one woman, a beauty, who uses only the powdered type and uses it so deftly over her powder or dry foundation that it looks like a faint bit of natural color on her cheeks. Each woman must find out for herself.

Q. What exercise will help streamline my waist, hips and abdomen?

A. Lie on floor on your back, legs straight and arms resting on floor, extending straight out from shoulders. Palms face floor. Cling to the floor with fingertips as you roll from side to side. After a time lift your heels just off the floor, and continue rolling.

Q. How can I mix my own hair-curling fluid?

A. Mix together one ounce gum tragacanth, one fluid ounce glycerine, and 15 fluid ounces rose-water.

Q. My hands are "veiny" looking. What can I do about this?

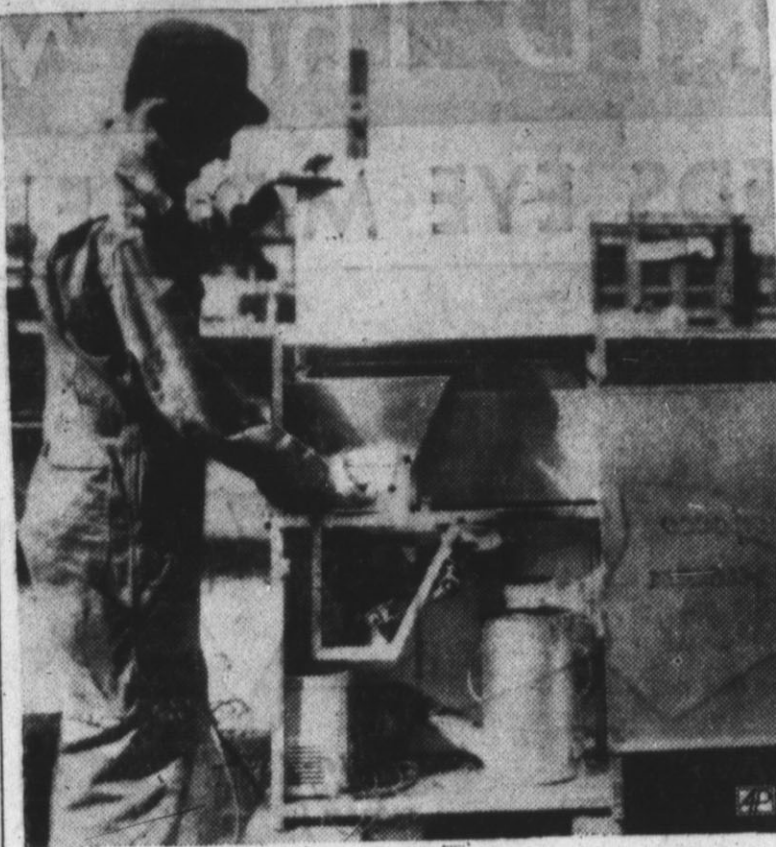

A. Wash the hands with a good, pure soap and warm water, and apply some rich hand cream, holding the hands aloft and stroking down towards the wrist to encourage the flow of blood away from the hands.

Q. How can I, with my rouge application, prevent my face from looking heavier and older?

A. Be sure not to extend the rouge below the level of the nostrils, as this usually tends to add age and heaviness to the features.

Q. What can I do about my eyes which tend to bulge a little?

A. Cover your entire upper eyelid up to the eyebrow line with eyeshadow. This makes your eyes look more deeply set.

Q. What makeup will help a girl who has freckles, or who is a white-skinned redhead?

A. Try some beautifying face cream under the foundation. This blots out the freckles into an over-all whiteness and the thin film of it allows for a color foundation to be applied over it. The creamy tan tones give a porcelain like effect to this type of skin.

Q. What is a good home-made shampoo for oily hair?

A. Shave one cake of pure castile soap and add to one pint of cold water, setting this over the fire to simmer until dissolved. When entirely melted, strain and set aside to cool and jelly. Before using, add one egg that has been well beaten, one tablespoon rubbing alcohol, two ounces bayrum, and 1/8 teaspoon powdered borax.

Mix well.

Q. How can I make my eyelashes seem longer than they really are?

A. Usually, the tips of the lashes are lighter than the rest of the hairs, and don't show up. By darkening the tips with mascara, you can make the lashes seem longer, and your eyes larger and more expressive.

Reserve Office Training Program In Colleges May Undergo Changes

WASHINGTON — Top Army officers at the Pentagon are watching results of a Reserve Officer Training Corps test program that may drastically change ROTC instruction at Texas A & M and some 290 colleges and universities in the U. S.

The army has put the new training schedule in effect in 25 schools in the country which have only comparatively recently sponsored ROTC units.

The new schedule calls for teaching only of general military science. There are no specialized training units such as signal corps, artillery, quartermaster and infantry. By contrast, Texas A & M has 13 types of ROTC units. Graduates with only the general military science instruction get reserve commissions, but on entering the army are assigned to a specific branch of the services and get an intensive course of study in that field.

Five of the 25 schools with the general military science training are in Texas: Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene; Midwestern University, Wichita Falls; Sam Houston State Teachers College, Huntsville; Trinity University, San Antonio; and West Texas State College, Canyon.

The new training plan may be adopted voluntarily now by any of the colleges and universities which have long had established specialized ROTC units. Although there are about 250 schools in this category only a few have yet decided to switch over to the general training.

Texas A & M Dean, D. H. Morgan, who has been here with other officials of the school attending a meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, discussed the matter with army authorities.

"We are carefully studying the proposal," said Morgan. "We haven't yet reached a definite opinion as to whether a change over to general military instructions would be advisable at A & M."

An army spokesman said the same question still remains in the minds of the top military brass. He indicated, however, that they were leaning toward the general type of ROTC training and might later make the change mandatory in all schools.

The Pentagon spokesman pointed out that under the general type of instruction the army could take newly commissioned officers and put them in the branches where they happened to be most urgently needed. Under the older, more specialized training unit system the army sometimes finds itself with a surplus of one category of reserve officers and shortage of another.

He noted that most of the schools with ROTC training are not set up to operate as thorough specialized courses as Texas A & M and that it probably would be better in these cases to give a student only general military instruction. The concentrated, specialized courses they receive upon entering the army take only a few weeks to a few months, since the individual is devoting his full time to the study.

Other schools in Texas with army ROTC units include: Allen Military Academy, Bryan; Baylor University's School of Medicine at Houston; Prairie View A & M; Rice Institute; St. Mary's University, San Antonio; Texas Christian University; Texas Arts and Industries College; Texas Technological College; Texas Western College and Houston University; In addition, Arlington State College at Arlington and John Tarlton College at Stephenville, as branches of Texas A & M have ROTC courses.

Students taking ROTC get their uniforms supplied during their first two years of training. During the next two years, they get uniforms plus 90 cents a day during the school year, and $78 a month and keep during 6-weeks summer camps. Upon graduation they get reserve army officers commissions if they have successfully passed the required ROTC courses.

Other Texas A & M officials hear for the Land Grant schools convention with Morgan were: President M. T. Harrington, Dean Ide P. Trotter of the graduate school, Dean J. P. Abbott of the Arts and Science School, Dean Charles N. Shepardson of Agriculture, Acting Dean F. P. Jaggi of Veterinary Medicine, Dean H. W. Barlow of Engineering, Vice Chancellor D. W. Williams, R. SCHOOLS STEP APACE BUT REMEMBER

New Building Must Serve For Many Years To Come

Voters of Hereford Rural High School district marched to the polls 1,523 strong last Saturday and voted $850,000 in bonds for the construction of a new, modern high school in Hereford. Passage of the bond issue marks an important forward step in the progress of the territory.

The City of Hereford during recent years has advanced by long strides in public improvements through installation of larger water systems, a new sewerage system, improved sanitary conditions, City Manager form of government and miles of paving. Deaf Smith County, likewise, has made improvements including enlargement of the county hospital to more than double its former capacity. The public schools, meanwhile, had increased attendance capacity in lower grades through erection of Shirley School.

The increased load, however, is already reaching the point where junior high and high school students are faced with inadequate facilities. Realizing this condition, the school trustees met Tuesday evening to consider future action and to start preliminary work on the new high school. Due to controversy in the past, trustees asked 19 architects to submit a list of similar buildings constructed since World War II, along with the cost per foot of each structure. Selection of an architect, they state, will follow a careful investigation of each applicant.

The board hopes, if possible, to have the new building finished in September, 1954, and will work toward this end. Acting collectively and as individuals, the trustees are sincerely working toward getting the most possible out of every dollar spent on the new high school. Regardless of your personal feelings about the election, therefore, it behooves every citizen to pitch in and help the trustees on every hand. After all, every person in the community is really interested in the same final result: good schools with adequate facilities to meet scholastic standards.

Persons more intensely interested in our schools may be inclined to censure any possible delay. The Brand thoroughly endorses, however, present procedure of the school board. Every possibility should be carefully checked to insure the most practical and modern facilities in the new high school building, along with the necessity of getting these facilities at the lowest possible cost. The new high school, like the old one, will be here for years to come. Education, like other things, change from time to time. It is, therefore, important to consider many angles. The big job for the school board is just starting.

Continued caution, consideration of all phases and conservation whenever possible will, we feel, go a long way toward changing the opinion of the 628 persons who could not see their way clear to vote for the new high school building in Hereford.

Welcome, Buddy!

Welcome to the Legionnaires!

Gathered in Hereford this week-end for their annual convention are several hundred members of the American Legion, Legion Auxiliary and the widely publicized "40 & 8". With this group comes an array of outstanding officials and speakers.

These are the "some men and women, some young, some old," who answered the call of their country in World War I and World War II. They are possibly the group of men and women in the world who are most interested in keeping America free from "isms", the group most interested in seeing this country grow and flourish. The Legion has through the years faced many "ups and downs", but always it has come out stronger and has continued popular among veterans -- and justly so.

In addition to business to be transacted, the visiting of former Buddies, the telling of stories and the swapping of experiences will contribute much to the session here this week.

The Legion could never have been without two great wars which cost much in human life and destruction. The Legion, in fact, is one of the few worthwhile things to ever develop from war and these men who "really know" the hardships and heartaches of war are the men and women who would be the last to enter armed conflict without good reason or in the face of preservation. They are the men who served and fought that the county might have peace and freedom.

It is, therefore, a genuine pleasure on the occasion of the annual convention to say,

"Welcome Buddy!"

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Hereford Folks Tell Santa Their Odd Wants For Christmas Present

WHAT DO YOU WANT, MOST, FOR CHRISTMAS?

G. Terry, 231 Starr.

I suppose that the thing that I would like to have most for Christmas would be a TV antenna for our television set, it would do the most good for the whole family or a chair or a lamp, something the family group would enjoy.

Mrs. Rex Tynes, 510 Union.

Said that the thing she wants most for Christmas is for her two children and their families to be home with her for that day, one lives in Dallas, the other in Albuquerque.

John Torbit, 227 Ave. C.

For the family the thing they wanted most was an electric blanket and then of course something to make their two year old son happy on Christmas day and that would not take very much.

Miss Reta Vinton, 507 N. Sampson.

About all I want for Christmas was some new clothes, and and I can't think of anything else.

Mrs. W. G. White, 122 Ave. H.

A new living room suit would be the thing that I wanted most for my Christmas.

Mrs. Travis Caraway, 330 2nd.

Oh, the thing I want most for Christmas is a set of good china that I've had my eye on.

Mrs. H. M. Thomas, 110 Kibbe.

I have never been enthusiastic about giving Christmas gifts but the greatest Christmas gift that I could have would be for a Cease Fire in the Korean War.

Mrs. W. Reed Williams, 312 Ave. B.

All I want for Christmas is for everyone and everybody to have a very Merry Christmas.

Ivan Woolsey, 312 Ave. B.

What we want most for Christmas is a TV set.

One Gentleman, who especially asked not to be quoted, and no wonder, said the thing that he would like to have most for Christmas was, of all things, a Lucious Blond, Santa Claus: Please Note: Make it two.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make an ink for writing on glass, ivory or other smooth surfaces?

A. Use 3 parts nitrate of silver, 20 parts gum arabic, 30 parts distilled water. Dissolve the gum arabic in two-thirds of the water, the nitrate of silver in the other third. Then mix, and add the desired color.

Q. How can I keep candles straight?

A. If the candles are given a coat of clear varnish, they will stand much straighter in their holders and can be wiped off and kept clean more easily.

Q. How can I deodorize bottles?

A. A good bottle deodorizer is black mustard seed. Pour a little of this seed with lukewarm water into the bottle. Then rinse it thoroughly.

Q. How can I test the quality of label linen?

A. A good method for testing is to secure a sample and dip it into any kind of oil. The linen threads will become almost transparent, enabling one to see very readily how many cotton threads it contains.

Q. How can I make the carpet sweeper more efficient?

A. When cleaning the carpet sweeper, remove the brush and after taking off all hair and lint, rub it well with a cloth wet in kerosene. Let the brush remain in the air until the odor has evaporated.

Q. How long should garments be dampened before ironing them?

A. The longer the clothes lay damp before ironing, the better is the result. Sprinkle starched clothes with hot water half an hour before ironing.

Q. How can I refinish a child's blackboard?

A. First paint the board with ordinary black paint, such as will dry with a gloss; then apply a coat of black paint, mixed with turpentine instead of oil and this will dry a dead black.

Q. How can I renovate black kid gloves?

A. Touch the worn spots with a camel's hair brush, dipped into a mixture of olive oil and ink.

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

It seems people didn't even get Thanksgiving out of the way this year before they started their gift shopping because H. B. Stanfield reports that they are already sold out of some of the items they had stocked for Christmas.

—tp—

And Johnny Pool didn't let the snowflakes touch the ground before he had sleds out in front of the Western Auto Store.

We came along where he was visiting out front with Mayor S. O. Wilson and remarked that it was good advertisin even if there wasn't a hill close and that he probably rushed out with them because there might not be another snow this winter.

Quick as a wink Johnny grabbed up a sled, slipped it out into the river of water turned loose to wash the ice off the street and responded with "No, Miss Campbell. I'll show you what this little sled is for", and with that we stepped safely across to dry pavement.

Thank you Mr. Pool. We hope you sell a snow sled to every youngster in the country.

—tp—

We don't have anything to sell but the moisture makes our face happy (as Buster used to say) because it gives us a chance to sweep out honest to goodness mud once more and we can also stay in the house to make our mince meal, Christmas fruit cake, hominy, and this year we're tryin our hand at Plum Pudding.

I'll Never Forget

Jumbo and Jumbo Lake

Before the dawn of the 20th century an old Mexican sheep herder by the name of Jumbo followed his sheep in the country some 13 or 15 miles southeast of here Herford now stands.

His boss was known as "Old Jim Carter" who ran a big bunch of sheep and it was Jumbo's job to care for them.

A big lake located in the heart of his range offered its waters to those who passed, deep, seldom ever dry and partly surrounded by huge waving cattails.

It was here that Jumbo watered his sheep daily and from this custom it became known as Jumbo's Lake to the then few and sparsely settled pioneers of the surrounding country.

Big herds of cattle, among them the trail herds of the X I T often watered at Jumbo's Lake. It was a camping place for cowboys and travelers through the country.

Fishes were plentiful as late as 1908 and some of the big ones hit 35 pounds.

In 1922 a community sprang up in the country surrounding the lake. Two schools, Lakeview situated near the T. L. Sprakman and F. J. Axe homes and the Parrot school, five miles east.

These consolidated later and a new school was located in the southwest corner of the section owned by W. A. Hunter, near the lake.

Naturally the school and the community assumed the name of the lake.

The school land was donated by W. A. Hunter of Hereford, and for years the church services of all denominations met together.

In 1916 a new brick school was built in modern style and equipped as of that time.

But Jumbo did not escape the drought, dust storm and the depression, so the community dwindled, later high school students, were sent to Dimmitt.

Irrigation however played an important part in the growth and development of Jumbo and so where sand dunes were once numerous, now are irrigated farms.

The social life is up and going with many civic clubs and a Home Demonstration club.

And today, what of Jumbo, to go there now in 1952, one finds it hard to imagine how it once appeared back many years ago.

Panhandle Paragraphs

A 53-year-old Roscoe woman and her grandson were fatally injured in a collision of their car and a trailer-pulling pickup on a country road two and one-half miles southeast of Hale Center Tuesday night. The victims were Mrs. H. O. McAdams and Johnny Bowen, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowen of Hermligh.

Both victims died shortly after arriving at the High Plains Hospital in Hale Center. Driver of the pickup, Billy Tom Young, was admitted to the hospital suffering from shock.

Cotton gins of the area are centers of activity this week as the cotton now is being brought to the gins faster than they can handle it, despite the three additional gins in Parmer County this year. However the gins are operating day and night and each report only a few hundred bales waiting in yards.

The telephone company plans to erect a new building on this property to house an enlarged telephone system.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is probably talking about something he doesn't know anything about this week, but it's not the first time.

Dear editor:

I read the other day where some expert had been studying the problems cities are having, their parkin problems, their utility rate problems, their street pavin problems, their garbage disposal problems, their police problems, their school problems, their city hall problems, their water supply problems, etc. He said it looks like about the time they get on problem solved, one-increase in rates adopted, another one crops up. If the city is out of water, another is out of money to patch streets, another is huntin for the money to extend water lines, another needs a new school buildin, etc. They ain't been a time longer than three months in some cities when one company or another wasn't raisin rates or filin a intention to or complainin the last raise wasn't high enough.

This expert said he had been thinkin and was wonderin if cities have out-lived their usefulness? "That is," he said "do you suppose cities are like the pre-historic animals that got so big and required so much to eat they couldn't get around to food fast enough to keep them alive?"

Personally, I do not look at it this way. We need cities if it wasn't for cities, a man in the country would get bored to death. They relieve him of the monotony of farmin. A man livin in the country can worry about a drought all day, fight the dust, watch his cows gettin thinner, see prices fall, fight the high cost of livin, hear his rear tractor tire both go flat at the same time, blow a gasket on his car come in to supper and find out his water pump won't work and still turn on the radio or pick up his newspaper on sit back and relax, just enjoyin himself hearing about the problems the cities have.

It doesn't seem to make much difference what city it is they all render this type of service to country people, the all got problems, little ones, big ones, middle size, and the don't ever seem to solve none of em permanently, mayb stall em off a few months, but actually solvin em seems beyond the grasp of the metropolitan mind, although they nev stop tryin.

Me, I don't solve many of mine out here, but I learn long ago to stop tryin.

If cities are in danger of becomin obsolete, Congress ought to step in. The problems of cities constitute the biggest entertainment feature a man in the country has.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A Tribute - - To The Farmer!

From the soil comes the sustenance of the world. From the hard-working man who tills the soil comes the fruits of Nature in bountiful array. God loves the Farmer, someone has said, because he is in such close communion with the good earth. He plows it. He plants it. He worries over it. And lo, then his smiling fields are lush and abundant with tassels, tomatoes and all kinds of the things we eat. Fat cows and porkers give us milk and meat. And Mrs. Farmer has chickens and turkeys for the market. Without the Farmer there would be no life or living. Let's salute his sun-up to sunset existence and be grateful for his bounty!
