School board extends Holder's contract, 4-2

By O.G. NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

After a marathon eight-hour closed-door session, trustees of the Hereford Independent School District voted this morning about 3 o'clock to extend the contract of Supt. Harrell Holder for one year.

The split vote of 4-2 maintains a three-year contract for the superintendent. Voting for the extension were Bill Townsend, Cal Jones, Marilyn Culpepper, and Henry Amar. Voting against were John Fuston and Jo Garcia. About 60 citizens and a dozen or more school people were still on hand when the decision was announced.

The regular board meeting began at 5 p.m. Tuesday with more than 300 interested citizens in attendance, and was highlighted by a presentation from Jim Conkwright, representing a Concerned Parents' Advisory Board.

The advisory group asked the school board to take action in four areas, and one of those requests was approved Tuesday night. The school board appointed trustees John Fuston and Marilyn Culpepper to serve with an advisory panel in formulating a questionnaire to be used in a survey of all school professionals. The methodology survey would assure secrecy and objectivity.

The other three requests for action included: investigating the lack of effective communications between teachers and administrators with an aim to restore constructive dialogue and exchange of ideas; investigating the methodology being used in our system, specifically the placement of elementary level students and testing in general; and to take immediate action to assure that all children receive the best education possible.

Conkwright introduced 10 other members of the advisory group who were present at the meeting. "We would stress that the advisory board of concerned parents has no official status nor does it seek any," said Conkwright. "Our sole purpose is to better educate all our children by assisting the school board and educators."

Conkwright said the group was determined to cooperate in any way asked. "We do, however, embody the voice of a large segment of our community that has become alarmed over the potential damage to the future of our children."

Conkwright told trustees that the advisory group's investigation had revealed many problems. "First and foremost is the lack of effective communications between school administrators and teachers. As a result, there appears to be little, if any, coordination of effort between campuses."

Conkwright added that the confidence of teachers is being eroded "to the point we are in danger of losing many of our best and experienced teachers." The report claimed that teachers feared interviews with the advisory board less their careers be placed on the line.

The group claims the mastery learning system currently being used throughout the school system "has been rushed into implementation without proper guidelines, com-

Buffalo Lake district will seek tax funds

The Buffalo Lake Water District Board will ask to be included on the 1985 tax rolls, it was decided Tuesday.

The five members present for the 7:30 p.m. meeting near Umbarger voted unanimously to ask voters in Deaf Smith, Randall and Potter Counties to pay a tax of one cent per $100 valuation to support the water district and projects at Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge.

Garth Thomas, the only Deaf Smith representative present at the meeting, said talk of federal budget cuts was the board's primary motivation in asking for the tax revenue.

"We can't be optimistic about the funds (U.S.) Fish and Wildlife Service will get," Thomas explained. "If they don't have the money, and we don't step in to at least hold the line, the refuge will deteriorate. Great progress has been made, but it is only the beginning."

Thomas said the board also voted that future governing bodies could not change the tax rate without again placing the issue before the voting public.

An informational package will be distributed by the board, Thomas said, "to further explain the request and demonstrate the need for the money."

Taxpayers will vote on the request April 6, at which time they will also select three new board members. Those whose terms are up for reelection are Enoch Henderson and Charles Johnson Jr., who both plan to run again, and Thomas, who is undecided about seeking another term.

An open house is planned for Saturday, March 30 at the lake area north of Umbarger, planned by board members to let the public see improvements made during the past year.

Picnic and camping areas have been refurbished by the Fish and Wildlife Service, and access roads washed out by flooding are being repaired.

The board meets again Tuesday, March 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the refuge.

Jack Streun killed in pickup crash near Summerfield

One man was killed and another injured following a two-vehicle collision Tuesday south of Summerfield.

Arnold Leonard (Jack) Streun, 71, of Summerfield, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident which occurred about 1:40 p.m. at the intersection of two unpaved Castro County roads.

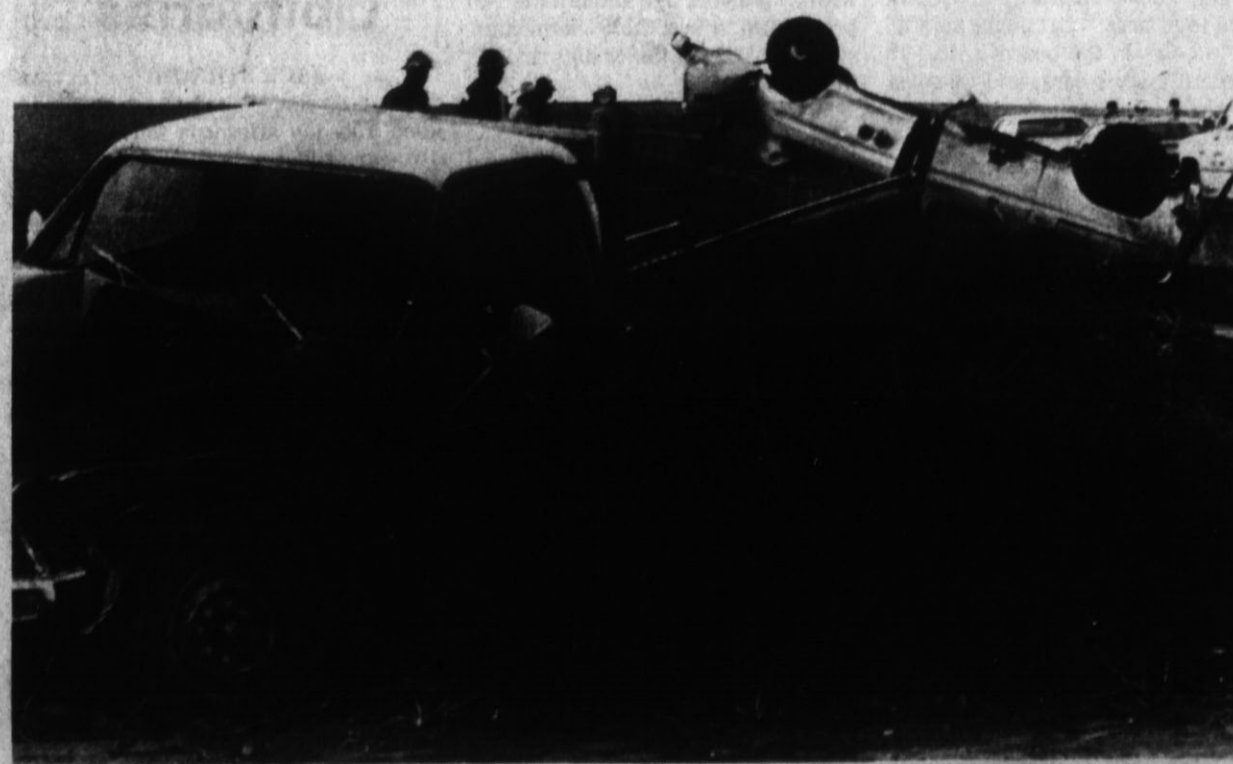

Ricky Trevino, 23, of Rt. 2, Hereford, suffered lacerations and abrasions and was treated and released at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Streun was traveling south and Trevino was westbound when the collision occurred at the unmarked intersection. Both men were driving pickup trucks, which were demolished in the accident.

Streun's vehicle traveled several yards from the point of impact, striking a telephone pole and then overturning, throwing him from the pickup. He was pronounced dead by Castro County Judge Polly Simpson, acting coroner.

Services for Streun are pending with Gililand-Watson Funeral Home of Hereford.

House plans final vote today on Texas water package

AUSTIN (AP) — The state House planned a final vote today on a water package that one member fears could send East Texas water to West Texas.

Rep. Smith Gilley, D-Greenville, said Tuesday the "ulterior motive" of backers of the $800 million water plan is to build East Texas lakes to catch water to ship west.

It was just the kind of talk that Speaker Gib Lewis didn't want to hear. Statewide water plans proposed in past years have died at the ballot box, victimized in part by East Texans' fears that they'd lose their water.

"We hope those rumors don't get started," Lewis said. "We made every precaution in the bill where it would not send out any alarm ..."

The House on Tuesday gave 134-11 approval to a proposed constitutional amendment allowing the state to sell $800 million in bonds to pay the water program. It includes $200 million for flood control projects, $200 million for water quality projects, $200 million for reservoirs and $200 million for other use.

If approved by the Senate, the amendment will be on the November general election ballot.

Tentative approval was given by the House Tuesday for legislation that would implement the plan.

The votes came quickly and with relatively little debate.

Gilley asked bill sponsors whether the package includes water transfers. Rep. Chip Staniswalis, R-Amarillo, said it did not, but Gilley was not convinced.

"We know in our part of the state of Texas that one of the ulterior motives is to move water, not just to catch water for the heck of it, but to move water from one area of the state to another," Gilley told a reporter.

Lewis said the package he put (See WATER, Page 2)

Local TRLA lawyer claims allegations are unfounded

A spokesman for the local office of Texas Rural Legal Aid (TRLA) Tuesday indicated his displeasure with a proposal issued recently by an investigator for the Legal Services Corporation (LSC).

Randall Marshall, a staff attorney at the Hereford office, said the report is based "on erroneous facts and unfounded rumors which can easily be disproven, if the LSC ever decides to seek a response from TRLA."

Marshall added that LSC "at no time informed TRLA of these allegations, nor provided TRLA with any opportunity to respond."

Wendell Wylie, an investigator for LSC's Office of Compliance and Review, was in Hereford last November to listen to citizen complaints about the local law office. He came to Texas in response to a lengthy petition, signed by more than 3,000 local residents, which in essence claimed TRLA is not doing the job it was put here to do.

Wylie's report, which details some of the claims against TRLA that he heard while in Hereford, concludes with his proposal for easing the tension between the firm and residents who oppose its activities.

An arbitration board to be organized by the local bar association is the suggestion Wylie has submitted to the president of LSC, with a decision on his proposal expected soon.

TRLA Executive Director David Hall of Weslaco, who also met with Wylie in November, is on leave this week and not available for comment.

Teenager held in slaying

DALLAS (AP) — A teen-age boy is in custody in connection with the fatal shooting of his 16-year-old girlfriend at a house described by neighbors as an unsupervised hangout for teen-agers.

The Dallas County medical examiner ruled that Anna Weston's death Sunday was a homicide. Her boyfriend was being held in the Dallas County Juvenile Detention Center pending the outcome of the investigation, police said.

"We'll send it to juvenile court and let the judge decide," said homicide Lt. Ron Waldrop.

The boy, who is also 16, told police the gun went off as he was "playing with it" during an argument of the house.

One youth told police the house was a favorite meeting place for a group of teen-agers who "just come and go as they want," the Dallas Morning News reported.

Neither Miss Weston nor her boyfriend lived in the house, but both had been staying there with several other youths for more than a week without adult supervision, neighbors said.

Police said the couple was alone in the house at about 6:30 p.m. Sunday when a single blast from a .22-caliber pistol struck Miss Weston in the left temple. She was pronounced dead four hours later after emergency surgery.

Bomb scare turns into hoax

BIG SPRING, Texas (AP) — Officials evacuated homes, sent 80 federal employees home early and barricaded two streets over a possible bomb scare that turned out to be only a harmless suitcase.

The bizarre incident followed an apparently unrelated bomb scare earlier Tuesday at an automobile dealership — the latest in a rash of false bomb threats plaguing the West Texas city in recent months.

Police said a custodian at the federal building complex found an unclaimed suitcase about 2:30 p.m. outside the U.S. Post Office's west entrance, the Lubbock Avalanche Journal reported.

The suitcase's relatively heavy weight led officials to believe it contained a bomb.

About 80 employees in the federal building were sent home early, and city police barricaded two city blocks.

An explosives operation team from Fort Hood arrived about 6 p.m. to examine the suitcase, and X-rays revealed what they believed might be a bomb.

Police began evacuating residents near the downtown building.

Rather than risk trying to open the suitcase, the explosives team used a small charge to force the suitcase, officials said.

"Nothing explosive, nothing harmful" was found, police said.

AUSTIN (AP) — Jury selection was scheduled today in the commercial bribery trial of Attorney General Jim Mattox, which is expected to last at least three weeks.

The first state witness will be heard Friday with an unusual Saturday session a possibility.

State District Judge Mace Thurman selected a panel of 92 possible jurors Monday with one of the qualifications being that each could serve at least three weeks if they were among the 12 selected for the trial.

"I'd like to have a jury made up of working people," Mattox told reporters after pleading innocent at the opening of the trial Monday. "I just want people that will be fair."

The trial was in recess Tuesday and will be in recess Thursday.

Mattox says it will be "a long, complicated trial" that may cost Texas taxpayers as much as $500,000.

Mattox was indicted in September 1983 on charges that he threatened to put the Houston law firm of Fulbright & Jaworski out of the municipal bond business unless one of its partners, Tom McDade, dropped efforts to question Mattox's sister in connection with the lawsuit involving the state, South Texas rancher Clinton Manges and Mobil Oil.

Fulbright & Jaworski represented Mobil in the case, which was settled last year.

McDade will be the first state witness presented Friday.

Mattox said he planned to take the witness stand later.

Roy Minton, Mattox's top attorney, said an agreement was made Monday with Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle and his assistants on a defense request to examine the partnership agreement between Fulbright & Jaworski and the Dallas bond firm of Dumas, Huguenin, Boothman & Morrow, which handled most of the bonds involved. Later the law firm bought out the bond firm. Details of the agreement were sealed by the court, Minton said.

Commercial bribery is a third-degree felony punishable by a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison.

Mattox said state law provides that if he is finally convicted of the charge he could not run for re-election. However, he would not have to resign until the final appeal was exhausted, which might take several years.

Mattox said he turned down an offer from the district attorney's office about a year ago for a reduced sentence, probably just a fine, if he would plead guilty.

Eastern third of U.S. hit hard

By STEVE ELLWANGER Associated Press Writer

A "gigantic storm" battered the eastern third of the nation today after belting the Appalachians with nearly two feet of snow, piling 10-foot drifts in Michigan, closing schools and leaving 70,000 utility customers powerless from the Great Lakes to the rain-drenched Northeast.

"I haven't seen anything like it since 1942. Everything's just at a standstill," said Agatha McAfee, a restaurant owner in Murphy, N.C., where 18 inches of snow fell and streets were littered with broken tree limbs and downed power lines.

Schools were closed from Michigan to Georgia and from Illinois to Maryland. In Nashville, Tenn., it was the 13th time this year classes have been canceled because of snow.

Storm warnings or travelers' advisories were posted today from the Ohio Valley to the Atlantic Coast. By early today nearly an inch of rain had fallen in New Hampshire; both New Jersey and New York received an inch Tuesday.

"It could be the biggest storm of the winter," said Bob Thompson of the National Weather Service station at Akron-Canton Regional Airport in Ohio. Bad weather has been blamed for 33 deaths since Saturday.

By early today 10 inches of snow had fallen at Charleston and 15 inches at Logan in West Virginia, and 20 inches was on the ground along the border of Virginia and Kentucky. Eighteen inches of snow with gusty winds at Cedar, Mich., created 10-foot drifts.

Police search for DEA agent

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Mexican special police fanned out through western Mexico in a search for a U.S. drug enforcement agent kidnapped by suspected drug traffickers, and security was tightened for other agents and their families, authorities said.

Sources close to the case, who spoke on condition of anonymity for security reasons, said Tuesday hundreds of Mexican special agents, provided with technical assistance from U.S. experts, were hunting for Enrique Camarena Salazar.

But so far, they said, no major clues have surfaced.

Camarena, 37, was kidnapped last Thursday about 100 yards from the U.S. Consulate in this city, 322 miles northwest of the Mexican capital, where he has been helping coordinate with Mexican authorities a war against major drug traffickers during the past five years.

Four unidentified gunmen grabbed the unarmed Camarena, a 10-year veteran of DEA, after he left for a luncheon date with his wife and forced him into the back of a car, DEA officials and witnesses said.

Pinochet dismisses his aide

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — After 18 months of uneasy collaboration, President Augusto Pinochet has dismissed his most powerful civilian aide in a Cabinet shift that underscored the authoritarian course of his military regime.

The opposition Democratic Alliance, a center-left coalition, declared the Cabinet change "confirms our conviction that there is no willingness in the government to move toward democracy."

Interior Minister Sergio Onofre Jarpa, 63, the chief Cabinet official, left the government Tuesday after Pinochet ignored his advice to end state-of-siege prohibitions on opposition news media and political activity.

Finance Minister Luis Escobar, 55, a protege of Jarpa who had led Chile's depressed economy to a recovery last year, also lost his job after warning privately that Pinochet's crackdown on dissent might discourage new foreign lending to Chile.

Pinochet announced the changes on nationwide television. The 69-year-old army commander said the state of siege he decreed Nov. 6 and renewed 10 days ago had given "the majority of citizens a return to tranquility" after months of political unrest.

Pinochet swore in Ricardo Garcia, 54, a former bank president and law professor who is little known in political circles, as interior minister. Hernan Buchi, 35, a University of Chicago-trained economist, moved from superintendent of banks to head the finance ministry.

Even IRS throws up hands over tax laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service admits to having made mistakes in some of the 53 million taxpayer questions it answered last year but puts part of the blame on a complex tax system.

"If ever a law cried out for reform, this is it," IRS Assistant Commissioner Stanley Goldberg told reporters Tuesday. "I don't think either man or beast can master this," he added, pointing to a 10-inch-high stack of volumes required to explain the changes Congress made only in 1984.

Meantime, he conceded, some of the 3,000 part-time and full-time employees who answer questions by telephone or at IRS walk-in offices are going to make mistakes.

"They are doing a very difficult job," Goldberg said. "Unfortunately, it is impossible to do it perfectly."

A taxpayer who relies on erroneous IRS advice in filling out a tax return is subject to the same interest and penalties as if the wrong answer had been provided by a private accountant.

Goldberg admitted to being defensive about a Wall Street Journal survey that asked fairly routine questions of IRS offices and received some incorrect answers. Seventeen offices and four questions were involved in the survey, and the Journal said no single question was answered correctly by all five offices to which it was put. On two questions, four of five responses were correct.

The IRS is "dismayed and not a little embarrassed" with such results,

Goldberg said. "We don't like to see it but we know it happens."

One of the Journal questions asked five IRS offices about a credit for owners of diesel cars, which was enacted in 1984. The one-time credit is available for owners of certain diesel-powered cars and light trucks of 1979 or later vintage.

The newspaper said agents in Richmond, Denver, Indianapolis and Milwaukee had the right answer. The Boston office said incorrectly that the credit was available only for business vehicles.

"We try to hire the brightest people we can find" to answer the telephones during the peak tax season, Goldberg said, adding that the part-time people receive the same training as do full-time employees.

"We particularly train them that, 'when you don't know the answer, for Lord's sake ... please don't guess. Refer it to a more qualified person,'" Goldberg added. He said employees are told "you get no demerits for saying, 'I'll have to find out.'"

Second, he said, the "assistants" are trained not to give snap answers. "You've got to know all the circumstances surrounding the question," Goldberg said. "After having done all those things, we continue to make errors. Unfortunately, we probably will continue. ..."

But overall, he said, "they typically do a fairly good job."

24 killed in hotel blaze

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Fire raced through a luxury seaside hotel today, killing at least 24 people including a cook who leaped from the seventh floor, a U.S. Internal Revenue Service agent and two other Americans, authorities said.

Some of the 300 guests ran screaming from the 11-story Regent of Manila hotel in suburban Pasay when the fire began shortly after midnight, witnesses said.

It was the sixth hotel fire in the Philippines in four months. Police blamed three of the previous fires, which killed a total of 40 people, on arsonists, possibly Communist guerrillas.

More than 14 hours after the blaze began, fire burned in some parts of the building.

together with Gov. Mark White and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby does not include water transfers.

"That's always been one of the problems we had in the past, the misperception people had that we are going to transport water from one part of the state to the next," said Lewis. "That is nowhere in this bill, that is not the intent of this bill by any means."

After voicing his concerns on the floor, Gilley said, "One thing they are trying to accomplish is to make water much more available. In doing so I have a fear this will mean there will be numerous lakes built in Northeast Texas to cover up some of the richest farmland in the United States."

"It will displace homeowners and it will ultimately mean water will be transported from Northeast Texas and East Texas to other portions of the state," Gilley said.

Lewis praised the package as a "well-balanced bill." He said House members moved quickly on it as a result of "maybe a year-and-a-half of hearings across the state of Texas, a great deal of work by the (House Natural Resources) committee and a great deal of knowledge shared by members of the House."

House members probably will get another shot at the topic. The compassion, or consideration for the human aspects of teachers and students alike."

As a result, the report stated, teachers "are bogged down by voluminous secretarial duties and are not being allowed time to teach and, more importantly, a significant number of first graders are not being taught to read at all."

Bill Townsend, school board president, thanked Conkright for the presentation and for the advisory group's work. "We will address the issues...some tonight and some later," said Townsend.

Townsend asked each trustee for an expression on the idea of the survey committee and questionnaire project, and each agreed with the proposal. Each trustee was also asked about the number of people for the committee, and the number ranged from 5 to 15.

Fuston said he had heard the group referred to as a "lynch mob" but added that he viewed them as "concerned parents who deserve an input into their children's education." Trustee Henry Amar said he had some apprehension about the advisory group at first, but now believes they can be "beneficial and helpful."

Marilyn Culpepper said she "appreciates the concern of parents" and had no objection to the advisory group's work. "I encourage people to express their opinions to school board members." Cal Jones said he felt "no one on the board is deaf to the community's ears, and we must be sensitive to opinions of teachers, parents and students."

In other business, the board approved general reports and committee reports, passed a resolution in support of the Alternative School for disruptive students, approved use of La Plata Gym for the Elks and the Nazarene Church, discussed an adjustment to the current school calendar and plans for the 1985-86 calendar, approved advertising of bids for tennis courts and media centers at Bluebonnet and Northwest schools, heard reports from the Classroom Teachers Association and Hereford Educators Association, and approved bills.

The board also approved one leave of absence for a teacher, approved resignations of two others, and approved three new teachers as recommended by the superintendent. New teachers are Sharon Hodges and Sue Thornton at Tierra Blanca, and Paula Lilley at high school. Melissa Richardson resigned at Northwest; Julie Albracht resigned at high school, and Nola Jobe took a leave of absence.

plicated legislation probably will wind up in a House-Senate conference committee. A Senate committee planned a hearing today on its more expensive plan — $1 billion.

Sponsor Tom Craddick, R-Midland, was asked only a few questions on the proposed amendment. Rep. Ed Watson, D-Pasadena, asked whether it is wise to put the proposal to voters this November when the only major elections are for Houston city posts.

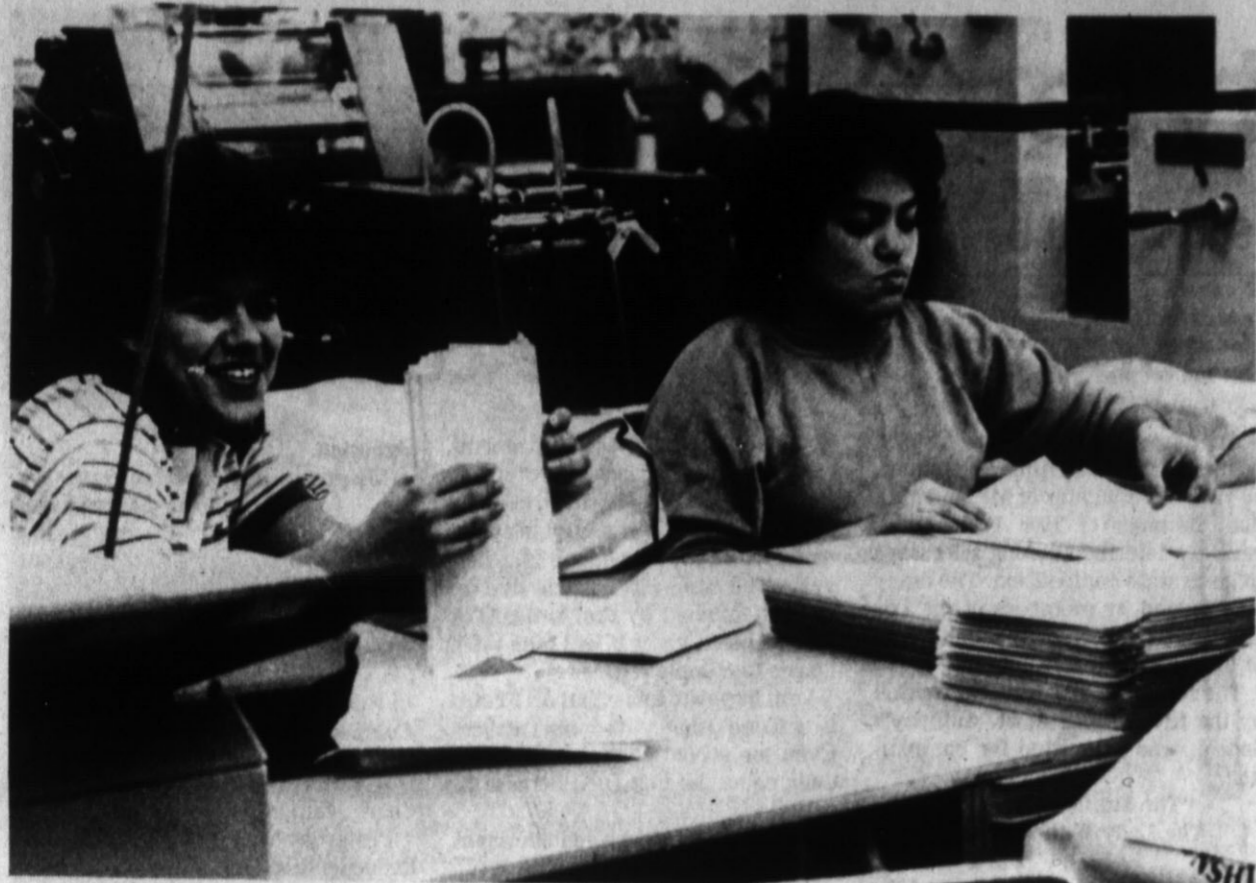

Craddick said "the sooner the better." He is hopeful that voters across the state will remember the 1984 summer drought.

The enrollment report revealed a total of 4,723 students as compared with 4,742 a year ago at this date. The breakdown shows 2,535 elementary students, 1,129 in junior high and 862 in high school.

Marc Williamson, assistant superintendent for instruction, reviewed an honors program for Biology I, as well as some changes in the system of ranking students. Some courses have been changed for points counting toward valedictorian and salutatorian honors, but they will not affect this year's determination.

Fuston questioned the superintendent about the grading system now used on report cards. He said that many parents had trouble reading the "six-mile long" report forms. Dr. Holder maintained that the system tells parents much more about the student's progress than the simple letter grades. Holder added that he had no objection to using letter grades or percentages, but that it would add more work on the teacher and "really wouldn't indicate the mastery of essential elements at different levels."

The board will study the calendar proposals and decide at the next meeting on setting dates for holidays and inservice days.

Ann Landers

Honest mistake made

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently ran a letter from "West Coast Warning" about a woman who was shopping with her small daughter. The woman lost sight of the girl and called security. They locked the store and after a search located the girl in the men's restroom with a man who had sedated her and cut off her hair so he could disguise her looks and carry her out unnoticed.

Ann, that old yarn has been around for years. The Chicago version does not involve a man, but gypsies. I heard it happened first in Northbrook, then Oak Park, and recently Arlington Heights.

The newest scare story is about a young matron who went to her car and found an old woman in the back seat. The old woman claimed to be sick and asked to be driven to a hospital. The young matron agreed, but said she needed to go back into Marshall Field's to pick up something. She got a security guard from the store to return to the car with her. The guard discovered that the old woman in the car was a man dressed as a woman. He had an ax.

These incidents never happen to the one telling the story—it's always a friend or an aunt's next-door neighbor. I'm surprised you printed "West Coast" without checking it. Many people swear by what you wrote and will repeat that story until it takes on an air of truth. Reminding people to watch their kids is one thing. Scaring the pants off them is another—BS DETECTOR IN CHICAGO

DEAR BS: I bit. So what? It was an honest mistake.

The following letter on the same subject may alert a few million people to the dangers of letting their children wander off while they are busy shopping. This letter is for real.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last weekend while shopping in a large store I saw a 5-year-old in tears, unable to find her parents. This child was more than willing to go with me when I told her I'd help her find her mother. Lucky for her I took her to the customer service counter and not out the door.

What is the matter with parents these days? Don't they know there is an incredible number of sickos on the loose and we are suffering from a national epidemic of child abductions, rapes and murders?

Parents must take the responsibility for protecting their children against the crazies. Here are some practical suggestions:

1. Keep your child next to you at all times while shopping, even if it means using a harness.
2. Never leave a child in a locked or parked car. A tot can easily be tricked into unlocking the door.
3. Tell your child if you become separated to go directly to the checkout counter and say to the clerk, "I am lost."
4. Adults, please do not ignore the plight of a lost child no matter how busy you are. Take the youngster to a salesperson. You would want your child or grandchild to be helped in that matter. Do as much for someone else.—A.V. IN VA.

DEAR VA.: Excellent advice. Our children are irreplaceable treasures. Let's treat them that way.

Ann Landers' new booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," explains every aspect of sexual behavior—where to draw the line, how to say no, the various methods of contraception, the dangers of VD, the symptoms and where to get help. Essay to go to state competition

An essay on American history, written by Lee Anne Reinauer, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reinauer of 1908 Plains, was recently selected among 368 essays to go to state competition. The essay was judged by members of the Los Ciboleros Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The following dissertation, written by the fifth grader at St. Anthony's School, was submitted for competition.

"The Statue of Liberty, The Lady With A Lamp"
Paris, France

45 Rue des Marchands
Colmar, Alsace

Ma chere Maman,

Do you recall some years ago that I mentioned to you the idea of a monument to freedom being built jointly by la belle France and l'Amerique? A monument celebrating the independence of our two great nations—a monument that would be the result of a collaboration between nations, built by united efforts.

Eh bien, that dream has indeed become a reality. Or let me say, it is not a fait accompli. But I have been in fact commissioned to design and execute a monument to freedom—already I call her my "Statue of Liberty."

Rejoice with me, chere Maman.
Votre fils tres fortune,
Auguste

Ma chere Maman,

What a vast and diverse country is his United States! There are so many things here that I wish you could see.

However, things are not going well for my project. I continue to meet people every day, but many of them, je regrette, seem uninterested in artistic ideas. Perhaps Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune will print some favorable publicity in his newspaper.

I had the good fortune to meet le President Ulysses S. Grant and show him the sketches of my Liberty. He displayed quite a bit of interest, but said little.

My most enthusiastic supporter to date is America's own Lamartine, Henry W. Longfellow. That charming gentleman hopes to excite New Yorkers in support of our cause.

I have found the perfect location for the statue, an island in New York Harbor. Already I think of it as "Liberty Island."

Auguste

Chere Maman,

I have had my studio made larger, so as to construct Miss Liberty here in Paris. My good friend Alexandre Eiffel is making a metallic inner frame to hold the statue up in storms.

Progress is so slow it seems as though we shall never finish her. The one-hundredth anniversary of American Independence is next year. The committee would like my project finished by that time. C'est impossible! I know it will take much longer to complete here.

I am happy to know that all France is raising money for my project. Even the school children are giving their coins. Le bon Dieu benisse les petits!

Avec devotion obeissant,

Ma chere Maman,

The Statue of Liberty is finished! Finis! At last this wonderful project is completed. How proud I am of her. Miss Liberty is beautiful! Elle est magnifique!

Some days ago she was taken down piece by piece and packed into 214 crates. This afternoon she boarded the SS Isere, and is on her way to America.

My dream has come true!

Chere Maman,

Yesterday was cold and rainy for the dedication. But still thousands of people were there to observe it.

Early in the afternoon I climbed the steps to the top of my statue. Soon the Tricolor of France would drop from her face. During Senator Evert's speech, there came a round of applause. I thought, "There is my signal!" I pulled the cord. No one heard the end of Mr. Evert's speech. The cheering was deafening. C'etait incroyable!

I felt wonderful! This must have been the greatest moment of my life! Avec beaucoup d'excitation, Votre fils tres heureux,

...touring with Stars of Lawrence Welk

Community Concert brings Stars of Lawrence Welk show

Hereford Community Concert will present the Stars of the Lawrence Welk Show Thursday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The show will include dancers Bobby Burgess and Elaine Niverson, the vocal trio of Gail Farrell, Ron Anderson and Michael Redman, Farrell playing ragtime music on the piano, singer Ken Delo and clarinet virtuoso Henry Cuesta.

Burgess has been a member of Welk's musical family for over twenty years. He began dancing at the age of three, and by the time he was 13 he had appeared in over 75 Los Angeles television shows. He had been an original Walt Disney Mousketeer for four years.

Niverson began dancing when she was eight years old, studying ballet, tap, jazz, acrobatics and ballroom dancing, as well as piano and voice. While a music major at the University of Houston, she was invited to become a dance teacher at Dallas Arthur Murray Dance Studio. She soon teamed up with another instructor and the pair performed and won competitions all over the country. Her first television appearance was on the Lawrence Welk Show's season premiere in 1979.

Delo has been an entertainer all his life, producing and performing in music, variety and magic shows throughout his junior high, high school and college years. He performed at the Hollywood Bowl and all over Southern California, then traveled to Alaska and on to Australia where he remained for eight weeks of touring, six months of night club appearances, and over eighty television appearances as well as starring roles in three one-hour television specials of his own. He won Australia's highest television award for a weekly show he produced, wrote and starred in.

Gail Farrell has been a regularly featured performer on the Welk show for several seasons as a soloist, duos, small groups and as a pianist. She has also appeared on the Mike Douglas show and Dinah! show, and was a guest celebrity on Match Game.

Anderson, Farrell's husband, sings baritone in the group. He has traveled the "gospel circuit" throughout North America and has been director of music at several churches and for television.

Redman, a tenor, has been a regular on the television shows of Merv Griffin, Carol Burnett, Perry Como, Bob Hope, Red Skelton, Donny and Marie Osmond and Johnny Mann. In addition, he is a leading Hollywood studio singer and his voice may be heard on many nationwide commercials, including 7-Up, Chevrolet, Honda and M&M's.

Finally, Cuesta is the son of Miguel Cuesta, a classical violinist and music teacher who introduced his son to music through seven years of violin lessons. He soon switched from violin to saxophone and clarinet. He has played in the U.S. Army and with the Toronto Symphony. Since his 1972 debut on Welk's show, he has become a leading favorite with audiences.

After this tour, Community Concert has only one more scheduled performance this spring until the fall slate of shows begins. Performances are open to members only. For membership information, contact Mr. or Mrs. Ernest Langley at 364-3486, or Mr. or Mrs. Ted Panciera at 364-0311.

NBA roundup

'Inspired' Sampson leads Houston win

By The Associated Press
Ralph Sampson put on an inspiring performance in the National Basketball Association's All-Star Game last Sunday, and no one was more inspired by it than Ralph Sampson. "I came out ready to play after the All-Star game," Sampson said after scoring 27 points to lead the Houston Rockets to a 126-114 victory over the Phoenix Suns Tuesday night. When the Rockets faltered in the fourth quarter, Sampson showed the stuff that made him the Most Valuable Player of the All-Star Game. The 7-foot-4 forward scored nine points in a four-minute spurt to ensure the victory over the Suns. "It was at that point in the game when I had to take control," Sampson said. "We needed somebody to do something." In other NBA games Tuesday night, it was Philadelphia 124, Indiana 116; Dallas 131, Cleveland 112; Milwaukee 111, New Jersey 103; Chicago 139, Detroit 126 in overtime; San Antonio 127, Kansas City 109; Denver 131, Atlanta 107; Utah 122, Golden State 110; Portland 111, Boston 103; Los Angeles Lakers 121, Los Angeles Clippers 110, and Seattle 109, Washington 94. 76ers 124, Pacers 116 Andrew Toney scored 29 points and Philadelphia rallied in the second half to beat Indiana. The 76ers trailed by six points at the half, and finally broke away from a nip-and-tuck game behind Toney's sharp-shooting in the fourth quarter. Mavericks 131, Cavaliers 112 Rolando Blackman scored 12 of his season-high 35 points in the third quarter as Dallas streaked from a halftime tie to a 20-point lead on the way to a runaway victory over Cleveland. It was the Mavericks' fourth straight win. Bucks 111, Nets 103 Sidney Moncrief scored 32 points and Terry Cummings added 25 as Milwaukee beat New Jersey to snap a three-game losing streak. The Bucks led by as many as 20 points in the third quarter. Bulls 139, Pistons 125 Michael Jordan scored a career-high 49 points and Orlando Woolridge added 31 in leading Chicago to a victory in overtime. Jordan, only the third Bulls' player ever to score as many as 49 points, broke a 126-126 tie by connecting on a reverse layup and added a free throw as Chicago held the Pistons scoreless over the last 4:18 of the extra period. The victory ended a four-game Bulls' losing streak. Spurs 127, Kings 109 Johnny Moore and George Gervin each scored 23 points to lead San Antonio over Kansas City. The Spurs outrebounded the Kings 56-30 and shot almost 60 per cent for the game.

Nuggets 131, Hawks 107 Calvin Natt scored 29 points as the Nuggets routed Atlanta for their 10th straight victory at home. The Nuggets blew the game open early, jumping to a 10-point lead after just three minutes. The Hawks never threatened as Denver placed seven players in double figures after building a 75-57 lead at intermission. By that time, Natt had 21 points and Denver was shooting 62 per cent. Jazz 122, Warriors 110 Mark Eaton starred during a second-period Utah hot streak and Adrian Dantley scored a game-high 35 points to lead the Jazz over Golden State. The Jazz went ahead to stay 46-41 after outscoring the Warriors 13-0 early in the second quarter. The 7-foot-4 Eaton scored five points and blocked three shots during the 4½-minute stretch. Dantley scored 15 of his points in the third period, when Utah led by as many as 18 points. Blazers 111, Celtics 103 Darnell Valentine scored 23 points and Sam Bowie turned in a fine all-around game with 16 points, 13 rebounds and four blocked shots to pace Portland over Boston. The Celtics fell behind by 23 points in the first quarter and by 26 in the second. Boston managed one serious rally in the third behind Larry Bird, but came no closer than six. Lakers 121, Clippers 110 Earvin "Magic" Johnson scored 12 of his 23 points in the opening quarter as the Lakers took control early and cruised past the Clippers. The Lakers, whipping their crosstown rivals for the fifth time in as many meetings this season, shot out to a 21-2 lead in the opening six minutes of the first quarter. Sonics 109, Bullets 94 Tom Chambers matched his season high of 34 points as Seattle defeated Washington to break a four-game losing streak. The Sonics took control in the second quarter by outscoring the Bullets 38-20 to post a 58-41 halftime lead. The Bullets never got closer than 13 points the rest of the way.

For Mark O'Meara

Three straight wins possible

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Mark O'Meara will be going for his third consecutive PGA Tour victory this weekend, a feat that has not been accomplished in seven years. And, as if that wasn't enough pressure, playing in the Isuzu-Andy Williams San Diego Open can be, considering the tournament's history of close finishes. Gary Koch defeated Gary Hallberg last year by sinking an 8-foot birdie putt on the second playoff hole. Koch had begun the final day of the tournament tied with six others for 18th place but rallied to tie Hallberg in regulation with a 65 on the Torrey Pines South course. "The South course is a pretty good course," says Koch, who has returned to defend his title in this year's tournament, which begins Thursday, after today's celebrity Pro-Am event. "If we played the South four times you might see a little different result. But the North is more of a catch-up course. With everybody shooting 67 and 68 there, it tends to equalize the field," Koch said, referring to the recent close finishes. Including Koch's victory, each of the past five tournaments have been decided by one stroke. In 1983, Hallberg's birdie on the 18th hole gave him a one-stroke victory over Tom Kite. The year before, Johnny Miller edged Jack Nickalaus, and in 1981 Bruce Lietzke defeated Ray Floyd when he sunk a 4½ foot putt for a birdie on the second playoff hole. In 1980, there was another playoff, this one involving Tom Watson and D.A. Weirbring. Watson won that one when Weirbring missed a 3-foot putt on the first playoff hole. O'Meara, who comes into the tournament after consecutive victories — something no one managed last year — in the Bing Crosby and the Hawaiian Open, will be trying to match string not put together since 1978 when Gary Player won three successive tournaments. O'Meara heads the chase for the $400,000 in prize money, of which $72,000 will go to the winner. Also slated to play here are Watson, Kite, Lietzke, Denis Watson, Craig Stadler and Fred Couples. Others include Payne Stewart, Ben Crenshaw, Jack Renner, Scott Simpson, David Edwards, Hallberg and Miller.

The 72-hole tournament has been played on the seaside Torrey Pines courses in La Jolla since 1968. Run by the city, the courses were built in the late 1950s after the city of San Diego obtained the site from the Army, which had operated Camp Callan there during World War II. Torrey Pines South at 7,002 yards is generally considered to be about two strokes tougher for the pros than the 6,667-yard North Course. Both, however, are par 72. Bob Hope and former president Gerald Ford head the cast for the Pro-Am along with Pat Boone, Glen Campbell, and Andy Williams. Steve Garvey, Dan Fouts, Rich Gossage, Don Drysdale and George Blanda are among present or former athletes slated to play in the Pro-Am.

First time for everything

Rebels overcome Whitefaces

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Tuesday night's Hereford-Tascosa High School basketball contest was a game of firsts.

The Whitefaces took their first lead at the 1:51 mark of the first quarter. The Whitefaces scored the first six points of the third period to recapture a lost lead. And, unfortunately for the Herd, the game was the first time Tascosa had beaten Hereford in 1984-85.

Relying on a quickly resurging offense and free-throw shooting unlike the Rebels' first-game performance, Tascosa beat Hereford, 81-70, before some 150 fans in the THS gym. The win upped the Rebels' District 3-5A record to 5-10 and overall mark to 12-17. Hereford fell to 3-12 and 9-17.

Earlier in the season, Hereford defeated Tascosa, 64-63, in double overtime. In that contest, the Rebels hit only nine of 30 free throws.

Things were different Tuesday. While the Herd actually made more goals from the field than Tascosa, 29 made free shots by the Rebels was more than the total number of charity tosses the Whitefaces took.

"Obviously, free throws are the key in a game," Tascosa coach Russ Gilmore said following the contest, "and they sure were tonight. When you're behind in a game, you have to try to play catch-up and foul people. So, yeah, we did go to the line a lot when Hereford would have to foul."

The Rebels went there 38 times compared to Hereford's 27 tries. The Whitefaces made good on 16 of those.

While both teams shot field goals well, Tascosa jumped to a 6-2 lead on shots from the floor by Billy Dunnivan and George Ramsey. Ramsey also made two free throws, and Hereford's Kevin Redus scored on a three-on-one fast break.

But then Hereford started to fight back. Rodney Torres got a transition bucket following a Tascosa field goal and followed that with another layup at the 5:02 point. Redus and Bobby Baker scored from inside, and Torres sank two free throws to knot the score at 12 with just more than two minutes to go.

Blair Rogers gave Hereford its first, and last, lead of the half on a three-on-one fast break with 1:51 to play. But Tascosa reeled off the next 10 points to close out the quarter with a 22-14 lead.

For the night, Tascosa made good on 50 percent of its field-goal attempts (26 of 52). Hereford did better with a mark of 50.9 (27 of 53).

"It seemed like everytime we'd get close, they'd get a couple of baskets from close-in," Hereford coach Mike Fields said after the game. "They were putting some pressure on us. They're pretty quick."

Redus scored 20 points to lead Hereford, and Torres pumped in 20. For Tascosa, Ramsey scorched the nets for 27 points. Also for Tascosa, Dunnivan scored 20, Mike Mitchell 14 and Dwayne Smith 13.

In addition to his game-high point total, the 6-5 Ramsey played smart basketball, Gilmore and Fields agreed.

"We wanted to get the ball to George tonight," Gilmore said. "And when Hereford would collapse in on him with the ball, he was able to find the open man and hit him."

"His size hurt us," Fields added. "He's just so big he was able to turn and shoot in our face. He got a lot of second shots off of offensive rebounds, too."

And while both coaches agreed that Ramsey's performance was pivotal, they concurred on another factor. Even though the crowd may not have been one of the season's largest, the partisan Rebel backers gave Tascosa an edge.

"I was pleased we were able to show some character and come back in the third quarter," Gilmore said. "Playing at home helps. They (the crowd) kept our guys in it."

Fields added, "We played better tonight than we have been playing on the road. But a (Hereford) home crowd would have made a difference. When we got the lead in the second half, I think we'd have stretched it out a home."

But as it was, Hereford's brief lead in the third quarter, 43-42, lasted 46

In three overtimes

Tascosa JV squeaks by

AMARILLO — Hereford and Tascosa played to three overtimes in junior varsity action Tuesday night, but the Rebels finally wrestled the game away from the Whitefaces, 69-62.

The Herd overcame a five-point deficit in the fourth quarter to tie the game at 48 to end regulation.

In the first overtime, Hereford threatened to pull away. Philip Webster hit a bucket with 1:41 to go, and Todd Weaver sank two free throws less than a minute later. Hereford was up at that point 52-48.

But Tascosa managed to tie, and the game looked as if it would go in the Rebels' favor when they led 54-52 with only two seconds to go.

But David Manchee may have made the most exciting shot of the game when he put up a left-handed baseball throw from some 70 feet seconds. The Whitefaces trailed 42-37 at half, but got three buckets to take an advantage.

After Hereford controlled the second-half tip, Sammy Suarez nailed a shot from 20-plus feet to make the score 42-39. Torres missed on a layup attempt seconds later, but Redus trailed and tipped the ball in to make the contest a one-point game. Next time, Torres wouldn't miss, and Hereford took the lead at the 6:40 mark, 43-42.

"We changed up our defenses a lot," Gilmore said. "We went to a denial-type defense when we were behind 14-12, and it worked. We went to a denial again in the third quarter when we got behind."

Tascosa led 58-56 at the end of the third quarter, and only 60-58 with 7:16 to go in the ball game. However, the Rebels sank seven free throws over the last 5:33 of the game for the final margin.

Hereford will close out the season Friday at home when they host Lubbock in the HHS gym. Game time is 7:45.

BASKETBALL

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Marshall University officials remeasured a miracle shot by guard Bruce Morris at 89 feet, 10 inches and said they would submit it to the Guinness Book of World Records as the longest shot in basketball history.

The school originally measured the shot at 92-5/4, but established the "official" distance as 89-10, using different parameters. That still would be seven inches longer than the existing Guinness record of 89-3 set by Virginia Tech's Les Henson in 1980 against Florida State.

Directory to service resources available

GALVESTON - For the first time, a comprehensive directory to the human service resources throughout the state of Texas is available from The University of Texas Medical Branch department of social services.

"This is the only directory available containing a major listing of the human services in every Texas County," according to Claudia Rappaport, social work supervisor, who edited the recently published directory.

Rappaport saw the need for such a directory in her work at UTMB. "So many of our patients are from out of town and I would spend a lot of time on the telephone trying to track down services available in other counties," she said.

In 1978, Rappaport compiled the information on various services into one manual. The social services department began receiving calls from other hospitals and agencies requesting information from her list. The department decided to update and verify the information to publish in book form.

Ken Bolyard, ACSW, MPH, assistant director of social services took charge of the production end of the project.

Beverly Lewis and other social service staff members assisted with the editing of the 1984-85 edition. The 389-page listing of services is being sold now for $20.

"These agencies are constantly changing—their name, phone number or service area—but we feel this directory is as comprehensive and accurate as possible, and we hope to update it yearly," Bolyard said.

M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston has already ordered several copies and Bolyard feels that the remaining 500 copies will be in demand by health educators, social workers, physicians, librarians, home health agencies, churches and even individuals who have relatives living in another county.

No doubt the original list compiled by Rappaport was well used. During a recent conference, she said a social worker she didn't know told her, "I recognize your name—it's in the big book that I rely on so much at work."

Soil moisture deficits range from 2 to 8 inches

Soil moisture deficits in the area served by the High Plains Water District range from approximately two inches to a little over eight inches going into the 1985 growing season. The soil moisture deficit is an indication of the amount of moisture which needs to be added to a five-foot crop root zone to bring the soil profile to field capacity prior to planting.

"The unusually late killing freeze in 1984 has contributed to drier than normal soil moisture conditions," indicates Mike Risinger, Soil Scientist for the USDA-Soil Conservation Service. "This is especially true in the cotton growing areas. In fields where the crops didn't freeze until mid to late November, plants continued to draw moisture out of the root zone. Consequently, we are looking at less favorable moisture conditions heading into the next planting season than we would have hoped for."

Risinger notes, "Generally, we are looking at soil moisture deficits in the range of four to six inches throughout the southern part of the District where soils can hold as much as 15 to 18 inches of water. In the northern part of the District, where the heavier textured soils can hold 18 to 23 inches of water, we are finding the deficits to commonly be as much as six to eight inches." Risinger adds, "Since only about 50 percent of the water a soil can hold is available for plant use, we are finding the soils are at about 25 to 50 percent available water capacity throughout the District."

The soil moisture monitoring crews have been out taking readings in the neutron access tubes across the District's service area since the first of December. Additionally, the crews have returned to some areas where they completed the readings earlier in the year to determine what effects, if any, recent rainfall might have had on improving the soil moisture conditions.

"In the southern part of the District in the sandier soils," indicates Risinger, "We are almost at field capacity in the top 12 to 18 inches of the soil profile due to the fall rains. But, within the next twelve inches, the soil moisture drops off to about 25 percent of available water capacity, and in most fields remains at this level to the bottom of the root zone."

Risinger indicates that similar conditions are found in the northern half of the District's service area. "In the top 18 to 24 inches, the moisture looks pretty good. Below 24 inches the moisture content decreases to about 25 to 30 percent available water capacity and stays there to the bottom of the root zone."

While these conditions are true for most of the cropland in the District, some exceptions were found. Fields which were fallowed during the 1984 crop year often showed deficits of only one to two inches. Other fields where heavy or late irrigations were applied also have smaller deficits. This situation is common in the corn growing region of the District. In the areas where both cotton and corn are grown, the cotton fields usually had deficits four to six inches greater than adjacent corn fields.

Due to such variations, individual landowners are encouraged to check their own soil moisture conditions. Landowners who used soil moisture blocks during the growing season and have not destroyed the lead wires, can still use their resistance meters to read their own soil moisture conditions. Others might wish to dig in their fields and check the soil moisture by use of the feel method. Risinger says, "If you don't check the moisture below 18 to 24 inches you will not see the drier soil and can be misled by the excellent near surface moisture conditions."

Risinger also suggests farmers should check for hardpans in their fields. If present, they should be destroyed to make the most of any rainfall received between now and planting season. "With our soil density meter, we are finding a high percentage of significant hardpans, especially in those fields where harvesting equipment was run under wet conditions. The wet conditions encountered during this year's harvest have been just perfect for the development of a compacted layer."

"Physically it is hard to find dense layers at this time, because of the moist soil conditions. But, our density meter is not fooled by the moist soil. It measures the density, or compaction in the soil whether it is wet or dry. Any compaction increases the amount of rainfall which runs off instead of being stored in the root zone."

The soil moisture survey teams measured soil moisture at 248 sites over the 15 counties with cooperation of local landowners. Each site was chosen to represent the farm management and cropping patterns typical of the site area.

The soil moisture deficit map is published as a tool to give producers a better picture of soil moisture reserves over the entire area. It can help them make more informed water management decisions and help them avoid both over and under irrigating in the spring.

The survey is a cooperative effort of the USDA Soil Conservation Service and the High Plains Water District.

The 18th Amendment to the Constitution (Prohibition) was submitted to the states by Congress on Dec. 18, 1917. On Jan. 16, 1919, the 36th state (Nebraska) ratified it. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a presidential candidate, endorsed its repeal, and the 21st Amendment repealed the 18th Amendment after ratification on Dec. 5, 1933.

$1 billion more in commodities sold

COLLEGE STATION — Texas farmers and ranchers sold about $1 billion more of their commodities in 1984 than in the previous year, but only about $100 million of that was an increase in net income.

Estimated net farm income, adjusted for inflation, remained near the lowest level since the Great Depression for the third straight year.

The increase in estimated cash receipts from farm and ranch marketings is due largely to increased crop acreage in 1984 and heavy livestock sales forced by the extensive drought. However, the adverse weather also added to the costs of crop and livestock production.

Cash receipts for 1984 agricultural marketings were estimated by Texas Agricultural Extension Service staff and County Program Building Committees.

"Crop acreage was up sharply in 1984 following reduced plantings in 1983 due to the government's PIK program," said Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension Service economist. "However, the prolonged dry weather cut crop yields, and large world crop supplies and limited exports drove prices down at harvest."

Limited forage production and lack of stock water triggered heavy livestock marketings during the summer months. This along with stronger poultry and egg sales pushed receipts from livestock and livestock products to more than $6.4 billion for the year, Anderson pointed out.

Crop receipts totaled more than $3.8 billion, boosted by a large increase in cotton acreage.

Cash receipts from cotton rose sharply over 1983 to more than $1 billion, the economist noted. Other crops leading the way in cash receipts were heat, $498 million; corn, $391 million; nursery plants, $358 million; vegetables, $333 million; grain sorghum, $304 million; rice, $168 million; peanuts, $78 million; soybeans, $68 million; and fruits and nuts, $64 million.

On the livestock side of the ledger, cattle receipts totaled about $5 billion—47 percent of the state's total agricultural sales. Poultry and egg marketings brought in $590 million; dairy products, $554 million; hogs, $90 million; wool and mohair, $61 million; sheep, $50 million; and goats, $18 million.

Timber sales totaled $283 million while cash receipts from hunting leases, fish farming, horses and outdoor recreation remained strong at almost $400 million.

Timber sales totaled 283 million while cash receipts from hunting leases, fish farming, horses and outdoor recreation remained strong at almost $400 million.

Looking at estimated cash receipts from farm products for 1984, Texas is challenging Iowa for second place behind California, Anderson said. The outcome will be uncertain until more data become available. Texas ranks first in sales of cattle, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cotton, cabbage, spinach and the value of farm real estate.

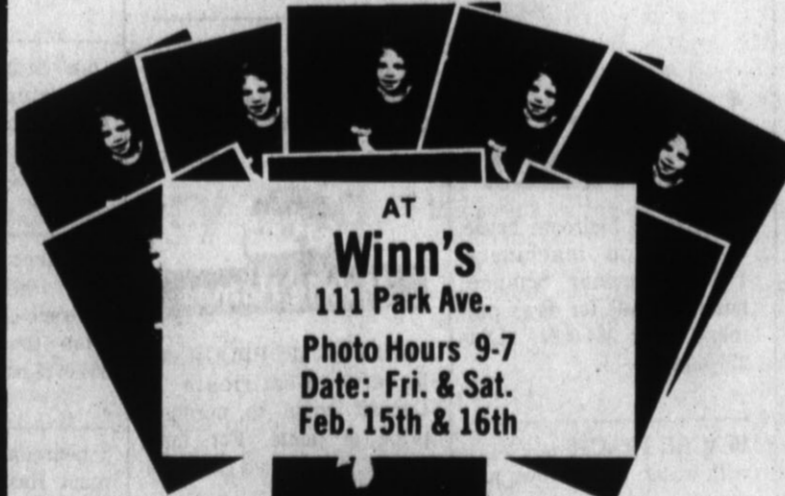

Texas farm assets—land, buildings, machinery, crops and livestock on hand, and financial assets—total about $90 billion. Texas boasts some 187,000 farms averaging 732 acres. Value of land and buildings averages $646 per acre.

What does all this mean to the Texas economy?

"Agriculture is a vital industry in Texas," Anderson said. "The economic impact of 1984 agricultural production in Texas is estimated at $33 billion. The agribusiness sector employs more than 20 percent of the state's work force, with many businesses and individuals providing supplies, credit and services to farmers and ranchers and processing and marketing agricultural commodities."

ATTENTION ALL FARMERS INTERESTED IN PIVOT SPRINKLERS.

CORN SAVER MFG. CO. HAS A NEW ELECTRONIC MEASURING DEVICE.

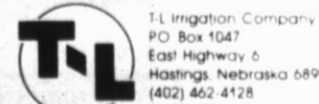

By use of an ultraviolet light beam, this instrument can locate the center of a field to within a few inches. We know the importance of finding the exact center in order to get the maximum acres out of a Center Pivot.

Customers who price a new T-L Pivot will receive a free measurement of their field with no obligation to buy. Come in and let us show you the pivot of the future. Unlike the Stop-Start Electrics, a T-L Pivot moves continuously. One of the advantages of the T-L continuous move sprinkler is a more uniform application of water, fertilizer and insecticide. If you are interested in increasing the efficiency of your farm, talk to us at Corn Saver Mfg. Co. and let us take you to see one of the T-L Center Pivots in your area.

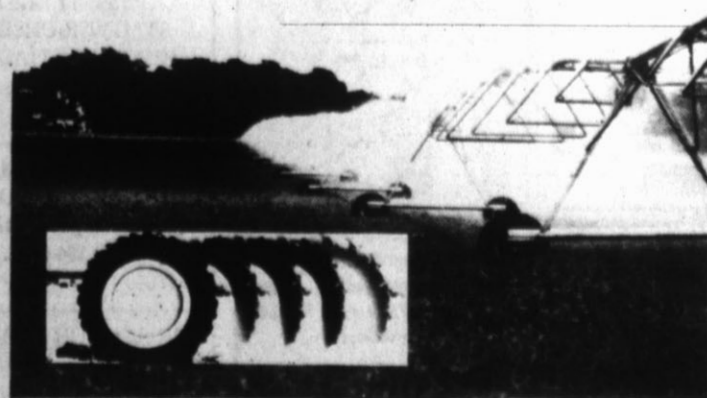

Continuous movement makes a big difference in T-L performance.

Does each tower on your pivot system move continuously? They do on T-L. And that's important, especially with the concentrated water patterns of low pressure systems for irrigation applied fertilizer, herbicides and pesticides.

With a T-L system, a constant flow of hydraulic power keeps each tower moving continuously in unison with others. Water application is more uniform and efficient. The drive system lasts longer without the stress of frequent stops and starts. In addition, the steady pull of a T-L gives better traction through wet spots and over rough terrain.

THANK YOU
The family of Ray E. Clay wish to express their appreciation to Bill and Pat Justice and Jim Coyle for their quick actions and knowledge of C.P.R. which saved our fathers life. Success story told DUNCANVILLE, Texas (AP) - A 39-year-old Texas man who began three years ago by making ultralight aircraft in his garage is now hoping to sell a battlefield version of the plane to the U.S. government.

Bill Adaska, the founder of Rotec Engineering, says his $10,000 Panther Plus can be outfitted to destroy $5 million Soviet helicopters or used as a stealthy "covert communications" vehicle.

Adaska says he is waiting for the "paper work" to wend its way through the Pentagon, clearing the way for shipment of three military versions of his new aircraft.

The Panther, unlike most ultralights, has a closed cockpit and wings with a double airfoil, like conventional airplane. The design allows it to fly twice as fast as the original 30-mph model, Adaska said.

He started Rotec 10 years

Phantom high-roller gambles $1 million

AUSTIN (AP) - A man who risked $1 million on a single roll of the dice and wanted to be remembered as the "Phantom High Roller" of Las Vegas was buried quietly and without riches.

William Lee Bergstrom died of an apparent drug overdose in a Las Vegas hotel room and was buried last week in Austin.

His death unlocked the secret life of an unhappy man who achieved his goal of making $1 million through shrewd real estate investments, but could not find peace in his risky gambling or travels throughout the world.

Bergstrom's last wager came on Nov. 16, when the man known in Las Vegas legend only as the "Phantom High Roller" walked into Binion's Horseshoe Club, a hangout for no-nonsense gamblers.

Club founder Benny Binion always said no bet was too big. Bergstrom carried two suitcases. One was empty. The other held $1 million.

It wasn't the first time the 29-year-old Texan had walked into Binion's with a suitcase full of money.

The legend had been born four years earlier, when a mysterious gambler walked into Binion's with $777,000 in hundred-dollar bills. He left with two suitcases — and $1.5 million in winnings.

Then Bergstrom put the whole $777,000 on the "don't pass" line at a craps table, betting at even odds that a woman with the dice would throw a seven before she could repeat the number established as the "point" on her first roll.

"She threw a six for her point," said Ted Binion, who manages the club for his 80-year-old father. "Then a nine. Then a seven. He wins."

The next day, the Las Vegas Sun carried the first news story about the man they dubbed the Phantom High Roller. Only the Binions knew the High Roller's identity.

The $777,000 bet set a record broken only by the Phantom's return in November last year, Binion said.

Bergstrom's secret life as a high-stakes gambler and as a homosexual began unraveling in November when the breakup of a love affair with a man known only as John pushed Bergstrom over the edge, he wrote in a suicide note.

"The thing I regret most was thinking in the first place that John's leaving me was a good enough reason to do away with myself," he wrote in a letter to family and friends the night he died.

"His leaving me was the only reason I gambled the one million dollars in the first place. I knew that if I lost the million dollars that I would for sure fully and completely do away with myself."

In the suicide note, found in his room, the 33-year-old drifter said he wanted to be remembered as the Phantom High-Roller, the man who left all of Las Vegas wondering what kind of person risks $1 million on a single roll of the dice.

His gambling obsession and his homosexuality had remained hidden from his former wife, family members and his closest friends.

"He felt alone and isolated," said Juanita Hoffman, a longtime friend who was visited by Bergstrom seven days before he died.

"There was just something he was reaching for that wasn't there."

One thing he wanted was to be rich.

Senator Bill Sarpalus Reports

DECISION TIME IS NEAR

AUSTIN - Most issues that come before the Texas Legislature stir emotions only in a handful of legislators. The average bill has a few staunch supporters and a few staunch opponents.

Pari-mutuel wagering is an exception to the rule. Few lawmakers are ambiguous where that issue is concerned. Walk the halls of the Capitol and talk to legislators about horse racing, and you quickly find that everyone has an opinion.

Two years ago, during the 68th Session of the Legislature, a bill was introduced in the House and Senate that called for a constitutional referendum on the horse-racing issue. If passed, Texans would have voted in November 1983 on whether to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horses.

With a constitutional amendment on the books, Texans then could have legalized such betting on a county-by-county basis.

We voted against that measure because our surveys showed a majority of Panhandle-area residents were opposed to pari-mutuel wagering. Despite our efforts, the bill passed the Senate. It later was defeated by two votes in the House.

Last Monday, though, the pari-mutuel issue returned, thanks to a bill filed in the House by Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi. The same bill is being carried in the Senate by Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris, R-Dallas.

This bill differs in one major way from the bill filed two years ago. This measure by-passes the Constitution. If it passes the Legislature and is signed by Gov. Mark White, the issue would be taken directly to the counties. Any county that wanted pari-mutuel wagering would need only call a county election and approve such wagering.

The arguments for and against pari-mutuel wagering, however, are the same this session as they were last.

Proponents argue that the tax revenues from such wagering would help ease the state's growing budget problems. House Speaker Gib Lewis has used this argument in lending his support to Berlanga's bill. Proponents also point out that every state surrounding Texas has legalized pari-mutuel wagering and contend it's foolish to let Texans spend their money in those states when they could spend it at home.

Opponents have maintained for years that allowing pari-mutuel wagering in Texas would be an open invitation to increase organized crime in the state. They agree that well-regulated race tracks would not contain organized crime elements themselves but say off-track gambling would proliferate, with mafia forces behind the betting.

We understand this issue is an emotional one, and we want to be responsive to the wishes of District 31, just as we were last session. We plan to start polling the district in the next two weeks to see if there has been any change in people's sentiments during the last two years.

In the meantime, if you would like to contact us on this measure, please write to Sen. Bill Sarpalus, P.O. 12068, Austin, TX. 78711.

The Newspaper BIBLE

WHO ARE YOU TO CRITICIZE GOD?

God had promised, "Next year I will give you and Sarah a son." And years later, when this son, Isaac, was grown up and married, and Rebecca his wife was about to bear him twin children, God told her that Esau, the child born first, would be a servant to Jacob, his twin brother. In the words of the Scripture, "I chose to bless Jacob, but not Esau." And God said this before the children were even born, before they had done anything either good or bad. This proves that God was doing what He had decided from the beginning; it was not because of what the children did but because of what God wanted and chose.

Was God being unfair? Of course not. For God has said to Moses, "If I want to be kind to someone, I will. And I will take pity on anyone I want to."

And so God's blessings are not given just because someone decides to have them or works hard to get them. They are given because God takes pity on those He wants to.

Pharaoh, king of Egypt, was an example of this fact. For God told him He had given him the kingdom of Egypt for the very purpose of displaying the awesome power of God against him: so that all the world would hear about God's glorious name.

So you see, God is kind to some just because He wants to be, and He makes some refuse to listen.

Well then, why does God blame them for not listening? Haven't they done what He made them do?

No, don't say that. Who are you to criticize God? Should the thing made say to the one who made it, "Why have you made me like this?"
