

Previous Attorney General's ruling says county has to pay $3,781 bill

A $3,781.10 bill from County District Attorney Andy Shuval to the county commissioners court will have to be paid, regardless of apparent unwillingness of county officials.

The bill, an itemized minute-by-minute total of work Shuval has done on legal proceedings of land for use in the widening of West U.S. 60, was mailed to each of the county commissioners last week. It turned out to be the most important on an otherwise dull agenda Monday during the court's regular session.

According to previous opinions of the Attorney General, the duty of a county-district attorney is to represent a county in all cases in district and inferior courts. However, a county shall not put condemnation and legal proceedings in the line of the job unless it is stated in the duties.

An Amarillo county attorney, who provided the previous Attorney General's ruling, said the county can hire the county attorney to represent it in such proceedings, but additional payment over and above his salary shall be paid.

In Amarillo, the county attorney said, the condemnation and legal proceedings used to be handled by the county attorney, but that was changed. But, each time the county attorney represented the county in such a case, the county was required to pay him extra out of the general fund.

The county commissioners became concerned when they were presented the bill and several voiced strong disapproval of the bill, saying it was in excess of what should have been charged, if anything.

"I've been here a long time and I have never seen anything like this," commissioner Marcus Latham said, "But, if this is what he says he worked, then this is probably what we will have to pay him."

The bill, which included a large number of phone calls of 10, 15 and 20 minutes, amounted to just over 94 hours. The eight page letter itemized every minute and hour spent on the proceedings, including conferences with the county commission, phone calls to out-of-town persons, filing of deeds, and others.

"This is the most outlandish thing I have ever seen," commissioner Donald Hicks said. "What do we pay him $12,000 a year for, anyway. I think it is wrong for a fellow to bleed the county for every dollar he can."

The $3,781 bill, based on 94-and-one-sixth hours of work, is equal to $40 per hour, the minimum attorney fees now being charged.

The commissioners voiced strong disapproval because they said it was nowhere near the amount paid out on the widening of U.S. 60 east toward Canyon several years ago.

When that proceeding was being done, the county paid the lawyer only $600 for the entire operation. Then, the lawyer was paid by the parcel at $50 apiece.

In this case, at $50 per parcel, the bill would have amounted to $850 instead of the $3,781.10.

HEREFORD, TEXAS, 79045, THURS., DEC. 16, 1971

Smith makes brief visit here Tuesday

A group of about 50 persons filed by the receiving line Tuesday to meet the state's top official then later heard him briefly discuss a variety of items ranging from state taxes to the revitalizing of rural America.

Governor Preston Smith, here under the sponsorship of the local units of the Texas State Teachers Association and the Classroom Teachers Association, sprinkled his short talk with amusing stories, then got down to more serious matters of interest to local citizens.

The Governor arrived a little behind schedule because of bad weather. He said he left Austin where the weather was nice, but when he arrived in Lubbock, a check with Amarillo revealed he would be unable to land his plane there.

He then checked with the Clovis airport and was able to land there. He then drove to Hereford for the reception before going on to Amarillo where he was one of several guests at the annual TSTA's "Legislative Appreciation Dinner."

"As I was driving into Hereford I noticed the large number of cattle-feeding operations and packing plants and this brought to mind the recent National Governor's Conference I attended," Smith told the group.

"At that conference we voted 48-2 to launch a program that would offer tax incentives to companies that will locate in rural American cities such as Hereford."

He said he discussed such a program with former vice president Hubert Humphrey and as about the federal government getting involved. He was told by Humphrey, who is chairman of Rural Development committee, that such a proposal was removed from offering because the administration felt it would cut down on federal revenues.

"I don't feel this would hurt the economy any at all," Smith said, "Here in Texas we have a good tax structure. The only state that has a better per capita tax structure is Ohio and I don't see how any such program would hurt or eat down on federal revenues."

He said he doubted that Texans will have too much of a tax bill next year if the economy is good, but added that a state tax bill will not be decided on until a special session of the legislature is called. No date has been set for that yet, he said.

He received several commendations from persons at the reception, including one on his stand on pay hikes for teachers against the policy of the President's wage-price-freeze.

In a statement to the Brand, Smith said it was honor to meet with members of the local TSTA and Classroom Teachers Association.

"We have learned that our teachers are an invaluable source of good citizenship and good community development through their work with young people a parents. Undoubtedly the standards we set for our teachers are the standards that will be the basis of the future quality of citizens in our state," he said.

"The potential our teachers hold for continued improvement in all fields is the key to the good news we see in the future of our state," he concluded.

EXPLAINING IT ALL — Gov. Preston Smith emphasizes a point with his hands during Tuesday's visit here. Smith was honored at a reception at the Country Club before traveling on to Amarillo for an appearance that night.

School improvements will be decided soon

BY MARSHALL DAY
News Editor

A possible $500,000 school improvements bond issue, without an increase in local taxes, will be decided on by the school board when it meets Jan. 11 for its monthly meeting.

The possibility of the $500,000 bond issue came as a surprise after the school board had earlier said the highest it could go on a bond issue would be $300,000. However, even with the increase, there still would be no jump in local taxes.

Bob Davis, bond consultant for Columbian Securities of Amarillo, notified school superintendent Roy Hartman that, with certain changes, the local system could raise the bond issue. "He (Davis) said we could go with a $300,000 to $400,000 and possibly up to $500,000 without an increase in taxes. But, if we called a bond issue of $500,000 we would be looking at 11-year bonds instead of the usual 10," Hartman said.

Another possible angle to call a $500,000 issue would be to get the system's bond rating changed to AA which would help the system cut down to 4 1/4 on its bonds.

"He figured all of this out on 5 per cent bond market and presently the bond market is real good," Hartman said.

The school system now has a A1 bond rating with Moody, one of the top rating companies.

The school board, in a meeting in late November, looked at improvements in several areas of the system and these improvements were presented Monday by representatives of Brasher, Goyette and Rapier Architects and Engineers of Lubbock.

The improvements included additional science rooms at Stanton Junior High, an enlarged dressing room at the same junior high, an all-weather track at the stadium, paving the parking lot at the stadium, enlarging the dressing room facilities at the field house, expanding the high school auditorium and building a new library at the high school.

"These are not the only needs we have, but they are the ones we can see and know have to be done," Hartman told the board.

Davis recommended to the school board that it not delay its decision any later than mid-February since that is usually the time of the year when bond sales are not as good.

Preliminary schematics presented by representatives of Brasher, Goyette and Rapier indicated the improvements would amount to $505,000.

The two science rooms at Stanton would cost about $65,000 including equipment for the rooms.

The dressing room addition at Stanton Junior High was estimated at $25,000.

The addition of a dressing room for visiting football teams at the high school field house was estimated at $20,000 while the paving was estimated at about $50,000 for the areas behind each of the stadium seating areas.

Wilson closing still a mystery

The mystery surrounding the Monday closing of Wilson Beef and Lamb remained just that through the week following a vague statement issued by plant manager Donald Day.

The two-paragraph statement did little to inform the people of all the whys of the closing that put about 200 employees out of work for two weeks.

The statement read: "Donald Day, manager of the Hereford Wilson Beef and Lamb, announced that the company's Hereford plant will be closed for a two-week period preceding Christmas and is scheduled to re-open on Dec. 27.

"Mr. Day indicated plant repair work will take place during the period and that with slaughter margins unusually narrow in recent weeks the forthcoming holiday period appears to be the logical time to schedule a short-time closing."

Plant officials refused to answer any other questions about the closing or about the plant, saying the release "should answer all your questions."

The closing was brought to light late last week, but no official announcement was made then. An article did appear in the Amarillo paper, but was released without the knowledge of the Wilson officials.

Day had talked with an Amarillo Globe-News reporter about the closing, but was under the impression nothing would appear in the paper until the official announcement was made on Monday.

The article, however, came out in the Sunday Amarillo paper.

Murder case set in District Court

The murder cases against Wesley High and Alfred Turner High, charged in the June 19 shooting death of a Plainview band leader, will begin Friday in District Court.

The trial comes on the final day of a scheduled week of cases heard in Judge Archie McDonald's court. In two other cases heard this week, Harold Lloyd Kilman was sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary for forgery and passing and Raymondo F. Guerra who pleaded guilty to rape charges and was given 10 years in the state pen.

Guerra earlier was sentenced to two years in the pen on charges of burglary.

He and Tommy Perez were charged with rape in connection with the assault on a 16-year-old girl. Perez is out on bond awaiting trial.

The two High brothers, represented by John Broadfoot of Amarillo, were charged with killing James Edward White, 35, of Plainview.

According to police reports made at the time of the shooting, White was killed after an argument broke out during a dance marking the end of an Emancipation Proclamation Day celebration of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Reportedly, White was shot after he announced to the audience that the dance was over and some of the couples were not ready to stop.

John L. White, brother of the victim, told investigating officers his brother was killed during an argument with the High brothers.

Also injured in the incident were Chester Collins who was shot in the thigh, Harold J. Sanders who was shot in the groin, and Raymond Lemons of Lubbock who was shot in the right forearm.

The High brothers were arrested by police officer Oscar Martinez after he received word from the police dispatcher that an officer was needed at 125 Ave. G. He said when he got to the address given the High brothers were both standings on the porch and carrying guns.

Martinez said Wesley High, the older of the two, told him of the shooting.

'Faces fall to PD; play host to AHS

The Hereford Whitefaces, after a disappointing showing Tuesday against the Palo Duro Dons, play host to the Amarillo High Sandies in a game Friday at La Plata gym as the Herd seeks to get back on the winning trail.

The Dons dropped the Whitefaces to a 5-8 record with a 69-58 win Tuesday in Amarillo. That loss came after the weekend play that saw the Whitefaces finish in the consolation bracket of the Snyder Tournament.

In handing the Whitefaces their eighth loss of the season, the Dons took a commanding lead in the initial period which they never gave up. The Dons grabbed an early seven point lead just as the first period ended then extended that lead to 14 points early in the second period.

Keith Kitchens was the high point man for the Whitefaces as he collected 20 points. He had eight field goals and four free throws and was followed in scoring by Terry Scott who had 14 points on five field goals and four free throws.

The big difference in the game was the 22 turnovers committed by the Whitefaces during the first two quarters. Palo Duro took an 11 point advantage, 26-14.

Hereford outscored the Dons in the second half, 34-33, but it wasn't enough to make up for the first half deficit.

In addition to the production by Kitchens and Scott, Alan Cornelius added six points, Dan VanderZee two, James Harris three, David Hicks six, Larry Roberts three, and Terry Champ four.

Palo Duro was led by four players in the double figures column. They were Claude Harris with 11, Don Lewis with 13, Dennis Hughes with 22, and Mike Martin with 11.

the existing curbing, could be installed for $25,000.

The largest and costliest improvements would be for the construction of a new library and the addition of 300 more seats to the present high school auditorium.

The cost of the auditorium addition was estimated at $150,000 and for the library it was $180,000.

The architects presented two different plans for the location of the library. One was to have it located on the southwest corner of the present building and other was to have it located behind the choir room.

The library would be about 8000 square feet as compared to the present library's 3000 square feet. It would have central heat and air conditioning and would be carpeted.

The proposal on the auditorium would include the knocking out of the present back wall of the area and adding the seats there, but on a higher level. Also, the outside area would be taken in to include a student commons area or lounge where students could spend their spare time. Also, the toilets, concession stands and ticket booths all would be located under the new seats.

Party is given in 2 sections

Morning and afternoon parties were given by four hostesses who entertained Tuesday in the home of Mrs. David Honea, with one group of friends invited for coffee, and another composed of women with jobs, for a late afternoon calling period.

Mrs. Charles Watson, Mrs. Don Lane and Mrs. R.W. Eades were hostesses with Mrs. Honea for the happily informal holiday party. They were assisted by Mrs. Ray Moore in serving refreshments.

The rooms were in holiday dress, emphasized in colors of red, and green and gold. Frosted fruit arranged with gold ribbon and candles centered the table, which was covered with lace over a Christmas red cloth.

Hostesses were dressed in similar style but varied colors, with long skirts and long-sleeved blouses.

Mrs. Honea greeted guests at the door, wearing an ecru blouse with chocolate brown skirt. Mrs. Eades chose a rose pink blouse and deeper pink skirt; Mrs. Lane's and Mrs. Watson's dress were on two shades of blue.

Clayton presides over committee

Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake presided over a meeting in Washington, D.C. of his committee of state legislators concerned with developing policy on federal issues of importance to States.

Clayton chairs the Intergovernmental Relations Committee of the National Legislative Conference. The Committee, composed of 165 legislators from all 50 States, met December 6 and 7.

Under Secretary of the Treasury Charles E. Walker addressed a luncheon session of the legislators, Dr. Walker, one of the top spokesmen for the Administration's economic policies, discussed the prospects for Phase II of President Nixon's Economic Stabilization Program and its ramifications on state government. Committee members also participated in discussion and study sessions with other high-level federal officials, including Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson.

This year the Committee is focusing on such issues as Phase II, revenue sharing, welfare reform, health care services, drug abuse, new management approaches for natural resources and pollution abatement, and housing and community development legislation pending before Congress.

The Intergovernmental Relations Committee was established by the National Legislative Conference in 1957 as a means of expanding the important role of state legislators in the federal system. Representative John H. Conolly of Illinois, the President of the NLC, appointed Clayton Chairman of the Intergovernmental Relations Committee at the Conference's last annual meeting in Minneapolis.

IT'S A TRADITION "GIFTING FROM GASTON'S"

New Hereford resident

Three European cities have been her homes

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

A TRULY INTERNATIONAL background is that of Mrs. Charles Stanton, a charming newcomer to Hereford who was born in Italy, spent most of her schooldays in France and was employed in NATO headquarters in Brussels when she married an American soldier from Oklahoma.

Italian. She was acquainted with many Americans through her work; her official job title was administrative assistant to the military personnel officer of the NATO-SHAFB support group.

It brought her into contact with many important government and military figures from all the countries involved in that international organization, including the NATO head, General Goodpasture.

SINCE HER STEPFATHER is associated with NATO, she has in fact met all the chiefs from the start of the program with General Eisenhower as leader. She spent four years in college in Brussels after high school in Paris. Her birthplace was Verona, Italy, famed as the locale of Romeo and Juliet, and she attended kindergarten there so her education was spread over three nations.

Fifteen years of her life was spent in Paris, but she visited often in Italy with her father and his family. When her mother remarried, it was an American she chose, and his advice resulted in Lisa's attending an American school in Paris so she would learn to speak English well. She studied German in high school and college.

ALTHOUGH THERE are disadvantages in moving from country to country while one is growing up, she says, she feels that she has gained by her experience with people of different nationalities.

"One thing I've certainly learned," she declares; "and that is how foolish it is to stereotype people—or places."

She had known her American husband several years before their marriage, at first as a casual acquaintance made in her work. Stanton is a pharmacist; his work here is at Gibson's. It was also his assignment in the army and he was stationed at a hospital in Brussels.

Mrs. Stanton admits that she misses her work and the excitement of contact with people so important that "it scared me at first, to meet famous people as I got things ready for their conferences."

SHE HAD EARLIER met another type of famous people, as an elementary schoolgirl living in Paris. Her great-uncle owned a restaurant in a small town near that city, which was frequented by actors and others associated with the stage.

The little girl became well acquainted with some of them, and remembers with pleasure the delightful Maurice Chevalier, among others.

Her parents and two sisters, still in Belgium, are also missed, and she hopes they will come to America to live within a few years.

But she adds that she made a deliberate choice when she married an American, and she is happily adjusting to still another country, looking into possibilities of becoming a teacher of languages, and enjoying the new friends she is making every day.

And she does not feel entirely strange in a small town after living in two of Europe's glamorous capitals. Her parents' home was not actually in Brussels, but in a nearby town of about 2500, so she had a taste of life outside the city "and I loved that place!" she declares.

Mrs. Charles Stanton holds clustered flags of NATO

Now she is learning to be a West Texan, getting somewhat accustomed to the different atmosphere after two months' residence and becoming acquainted with Hereford people, whose friendliness she marvels at.

THE STANTONS live at 527 Westhaven; Lisa Stanton says they are "barely at home" because many of their possessions shipped from Europe have not yet reached here.

WHEN HE WAS sent back to the United States and separated from military service, they flew over, and since the army permits only a limited amount of possessions to be transported, they had to choose what to bring—"mostly antiques and necessities," Mrs. Stanton explains.

The pretty brunette army wife, like most newcomers to the Plains, is still a little dazed at distances and somewhat disappointed at the shortage of cowboys, Indians and Texas oil millionaires.

She likes the boots and big hats of our local cowboy types, however, and since she has learned that Texas has facets not usually shown in the movies, she is eager to see other parts of the state.

AFTER FLYING to New York, the Stantons stopped in Philadelphia and Chicago on their way to Oklahoma City, then visited a few weeks with his parents in Mariow, Okla., before they came to Hereford. Mrs. Stanton enjoyed seeing bits of the U.S., and thought Eastern Oklahoma's hill country "very pretty; it reminded me of country in Germany."

She speaks English with only a slight accent and because of her family background also speaks French, German and I-

Pioneer Plains Christmas topic

Interviews with several old timers in this area gave Roberta Campbell material for an amusing and nostalgic account of Pioneer Christmas on the Plains which she presented at Pioneer Study Club's December luncheon Tuesday in the Calson house.

Her program was one in the year's series spotlighting local and state history with the general subject, Texas: A World in Itself.

Gifts to fill a box which will be delivered to a needy local family for Christmas, as well as gifts for an exchange by members, were brought to the meeting.

Also, each one present contributed to buy a gift of candy for the Boy Scouts who have the duty of raising and lowering the flag each day at Mothers Park on North Main Street.

Church sponsors supper and film

A covered dish fellowship supper, with a program featuring an hour-long film, will be sponsored by the Christian Assembly Church at 7 p.m. Friday in the Little Bull Barn.

The public is invited for this occasion. Each family is to contribute a dish for the meal.

When committee chairmen made their reports, Mrs. R.L. Wilson said contributions for the Christmas welfare basket totaled approximately $40 and Mrs. Simpson reported that the club gifts last month to Veterans Hospital patients in Amarillo amounted to $85.

Birthdays of Mmes. Ralph McCullough, Tandy Legg, L.W.

Lookingbill Sr., A.G. Bell and Wirt Phillips, which occur in December, were celebrated with the serving of a decorated cake made by Mrs. A.L. Manjeot, for dessert. Ice cream to accompany the cake was topped with blazing sugar cubes for a festive effect.

Hostesses were Mmes. McCullough, Burl France and C.L. Craig. They decked the tables with holly sprigs, greenery and big red candles, and a white and gold deer figurine with candles centering the head table. At each plate was a red or green jeweled wreath pin, which the hostesses made as favors.

Mrs. Ray Johnson was in charge of the program. Mrs. Henry Hastings read a Christmas poem as the invocation. Mrs. Ted Panciera conducted business.

Also present were Mmes. William Wimberley, Beas Werner, P.B. Sowell, Delmar Sigle, Mary Seigler, Paul Rudd, J.V. Pickens, H.E. Miller, W.C. Hromas, O.G. Hill Sr., Fred Barrett and Frank Ball.

Grand officers visit OES here

At a Christmas salad supper for Order of Eastern Star members Tuesday evening in the Masonic Hall, two grand officers were introduced and program emphasis was on benevolences, the phase of OES work which is the special goal of the present state administration.

Mrs. Iverson Leake of Canyon, grand deputy for this area, spoke of the Texas grand matron's theme, Wings and Ways. Needs of the OES home for the aged at Arlington were mentioned in her talk and in the Christmas greeting letter from the grand matron and patron.

Gifts for this home were brought to the meeting by members. For another part of the local benevolences program, Mrs. Steve Powell was appointed chairman of a committee on Star visitation, which arranges visits to the ill or needy of this community.

Also introduced was the Hereford Chapter's member of the state administration, Mrs. Bernard Roberson, who is on the grand chapter's music committee. Mrs. Jack Brown, worthy matron, made the introductions. Mr. Leake was a guest with his wife.

Hosts for the supper were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hershey and Mrs. Muri Parker. Tables in the dining hall were decorated with Christmas greens and Santa shoes filled with candy. The invocation was by Deward Roberson.

Washington report--from Cong. Bob Price

Shortly after midnight Wednesday the House of Representatives by a 182-170 vote passed H.R. 1163, a bill to set up a strategic grain reserve and to raise the loan levels on the 1971 and 1972 crops of wheat and feed grains.

Representative Bob Price (R. Texas), one of two dozen Republican House Representatives supporting the measure said,

"I did so because I feel grain farmers badly need help.

"There were several features of the bill that I think are not desirable, but on balance, I feel this action by the House is better than not doing anything."

The bill directs the Secretary of Agriculture to buy up to 300 million bushels of wheat and 25 million tons of feed grain in the open market and then store these grains indefinitely.

The loan level boosts under the bill would raise corn from $1.08 to $1.35 per bushel, milo from $1.73 to $2.16 per hundred weight, wheat from $1.25 to $1.57 per bushel, oats from 81 cents to $1.01 per bushel and barley from 50 cents to 68 cents per bushel.

"I tried to get the House to adopt two amendments to improve the bill," Price said.

One of these amendments would have directed the Secretary to place all grain in the reserve in farmer storage facilities.

"I think farmers could use, and need, the $215 million in annual storage fees," Representative Price said.

The second amendment would have prevented the government from dumping the grain acquired for the "strategic reserve" at prices less than 100 percent of parity.

"In order to have a true reserve insulated from the market, I felt the 100 percent of parity amendment was needed," Price said.

"I am hopeful, however," Price continued, "that the Senate can improve the bill before sending it to the President. I feel my amendments would go a long way to making a better bill for farmers," Price concluded.

In the United States, per capita consumption of frozen vegetables has more than tripled since 1954 reflecting advances in modern farming and food processing techniques.

At TSTA meeting

Teachers have task of determining quality of society, local attorney says

Calling teaching "the most dangerous profession," Wayne E. Thomas of Hereford, chairman of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, says today's mobile, high speed society has given its schools primary responsibility for "determining the quality, perhaps the preservation of society."

Tuesday to a dinner meeting of District 16, Texas State Teachers Association, Gov. Preston Smith, Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo, and several area members of the House of Representatives attended the meeting at which they were honored. In a realignment of the traditional responsibilities of the home, the school, and the church, the school has inherited new duties, according to Thomas. Changing work patterns and family relationships have limited the home's ability to furnish young people with a sense of their relationship to society. "Families may play together, but today's society provides little opportunity for families to work together," explained Thomas. "Children cannot share in their parents' work and can seldom participate with them in community activities—the baby sitter has replaced the parent, and while it may have added to comfort, it has reduced involvement."

He asked teachers to help students distinguish between goals and objectives and forms and methods previous generations had found appropriate to reach those goals. "While past mistakes do not negate goals, neither does tradition mean turning out more and more 1900 models. Tradition is needed for continuity, but tradition also means constantly revising, modifying, and improving so that our institutions and our educational programs are appropriate to needs of each decade. "We look to the schools to prepare our young people to solve the problems of social conflict, of civil rights, of the crisis of the cities, of the preservation of our environment." Changes which have occurred in the last single lifetime are staggering. The Board chairman pointed out that the economic base had shifted not once but twice—from an agricultural, to an industrial, and then to a "supra-industrial" economy which employs more people in service trades than in the production of goods. He also cited the shift in the center of gravity in the country's population. In 1900 that group, but within five years, the center was the 35- to 40-year-old center had shifted all the way down to age 17. High speed transportation, instantaneous communications, a knowledge explosion, and affluence have revamped the pattern of life in America. "There is an excitement which accompanies this much change, but disorientation, unease and fear also accompany such a rapid rate of change." He said the inability of parents today to maintain the family unit had intensified their children's questioning the validity of the institutions of marriage, and home. "Parents are looking more and more to the schools to help supply the answers to these questions. "We can no longer leave to chance the education of our young people in those areas which are essential to their mental health, to their productivity, to their sense of worth—and we have available more knowledge than we are giving our young people." Thomas called for schools to include in their educational programs opportunities to learn how present knowledge can be applied to "family planning, to the rearing of children, to the economic facts of life and family budgets." He said young people are asking for help in learning how to relate to other people and "how to live with dignity."

PARTY HOSTS, GUESTS — When Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moore, center, entertained with a holiday buffet dinner in their home Saturday evening, out-of-city guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Sims of Lubbock, who were renewing acquaintance with the Hereford people. Dixie Belle and John Sims lived in Hereford on two different occasions, for three years when they were young marrieds and again for 11 years; he was manager of Pioneer Gas Company here and was transferred to Midland, then to Lubbock. They are talking before the blazing fireplace in the Moore's den.

Price honored in Washington Holiday dinner fetes husband

The Honorable Bob Price, United States Representative from the 18th District, was honored Wednesday in the Nation's Capital. Congressman Price was presented the Distinguished Service Award by the Board of Trustees of the non-partisan Americans for Constitutional Action.

ACA's Distinguished Service Award is bestowed every two years upon those legislators whose voting records in the Congress of the United States support legislation which serve to strengthen and defend the spirit and principles of the Constitution of the United States.

In presenting the award to Congressman Price, Charles A. McManus, President, stated: "On behalf of our Trustees, I have the pleasure of congratulating you and thanking you for your outstanding record in the Congress and devotion to those fundamental principles of good government which serve to promote individual rights and responsibilities; a sound dollar; a growing economy; and a desire for victory over communist aggression."

"The acceptance of this award does not imply that you are in complete agreement with all of the principles espoused by ACA nor does it imply any commitment for you to support them in the future," emphasized Mr. McManus. "Our purpose is solely to honor you for your dedication to the Constitution of the United States."

Congressman Price is now serving his 3rd term as a Member of the United States Congress and serves on the important Agriculture and Science and Astronautics Committees.

When Roberto Clemente played for Montreal in 1954 he started only eight of the first 60 games played by the royals.

Husbands of Young Mothers Study Club members were treated to a Christmas dinner Tuesday evening in the Raymond Gerk home with the Charles Browns as co-hosts.

Guests enjoyed smoked turkey buffet style and were seated at buffet style and were seated at quartet tables laid with red cloths and centered with arrangements of candles surrounded by frosted leaves, holly berries and pine cones.

The tables were arranged in front of a fireplace where the decor consisted of poinsettias, candles and Christmas stockings.

Games of dummy bridge followed the meal and a door prize was won by Mrs. Larry Dobbs. A variety of Christmas breads and beverages were served to Msrs. and Mmes. Don Brush, Larry Dobbs, Chesley Johnson, Paul Jones, Travis McPherson, Harvey Milton, Bud Thomas and Burl Spears.

Dinner is club event

A dinner party and gift exchange entertained El Llano Study Club members in the home of Mrs. Pete Caviness Monday evening, with Mrs. Gerald Mann as co-hostess.

From an elegantly decorated buffet table, dinner was served to the guests who sat at gay quartet tables.

Mrs. Terry Caviness, a guest, presented a dance symbolizing the narrative as the Nativity story was read from the New Testament.

In addition to exchanging gifts, members brought food and other articles for a basket to be given a needy family for Christmas.

Present were Mmes. Bob Word Raymond White, Virgil W. Merlott, John Jacobson Jr., R.C. Hoelscher, Fain G. Cesar, Ben Childers, Olen Caviness, Jim Bookout, Harold Bierman and Labry Ballard.

IOOF to host to dignitaries

The Hereford Odd Fellows Lodge was host Monday to Grand Master Clyde O. Hicks and Grand Secretary P.W. McClendon in the first official visit by the Grand Master to the Panhandle area.

Hicks is from Wichita Falls and McClendon is from Corsicana.

About 50 persons attended the meeting, some as far away as Lockney.

Also, the Circle Seven held its monthly meeting and elected Jerry Johnson and F.D. Holbert, both of Hereford, as president and vice president, respectively. They will serve a one-year term beginning Jan. 1.

E.E. Bishop was elected as the local lodge's choice for District Deputy Grand Master.

After the regular session, a special session of the Grand Lodge was called and the Grand Lodge and Past Grand Degrees were conferred on past grands, including Ronnie Pagett and Jerry Johnson of the local lodge.

Alice Caraway is winter grad at OCC Friday

Alice Ann Caraway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Caraway of Dawn, will be among the winter graduates of Oklahoma Christian College in commencement exercises Friday at Oklahoma City.

Miss Caraway is a home economics and kindergarten major with plans to work as a food economist or teach in kindergarten after her graduation.

A Hereford High School graduate in 1966, she attended summer terms in West Texas State College and past three years, a winter term at OCC. In college she has been a member of Gamma Phi Delta, Christian Youth Group and volleyball team. She was active in band, Future Teachers and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs in high school.

Driskill receives distinguished cross

U.S. Air Force First Lieutenant Larry W. Driskill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne F. Driskill of 904 E. Third, has received the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary aerial achievement in Southeast Asia.

Lieutenant Driskill distinguished himself as a forward air controller on a mission during which he evaded heavy ground-to-air fire to make repeated marking passes against an enemy force in contact with an allied unit. As a result of his actions, the contact was broken and many allied lives were saved.

The lieutenant was honored during ceremonies at Laredo AFB, Tex., where he now serves as a T-37 jet trainer aircraft instructor pilot with a unit of the Air Training Command. ATC provides flying, technical and basic military training for USAF personnel.

A 1964 graduate of Amarillo High School, he received his A.S. degree in 1966 from Amarillo College and his B.S. degree in 1968 from West Texas State University.

Lieutenant Driskill was commissioned in 1968 upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex. His wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Floyd M. Wiley of 4209 Bonham, Amarillo.

Minsky, a son of Northern Dancer, brought $140,000 as a 1969 yearling.

STUDENT SINGERS VISIT — After a workshop for voice pupils of Mrs. D. W. Palmer Sunday afternoon, a recital was presented by a group of Elsa Porter's students from the music department at West Texas State University. The visitors got acquainted with the Hereford pupils in Mrs. Palmer's home. From left are

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

NEARLY EVERYBODY you see these days talks about a trip planned for the holidays, or visitors expected here. Sometimes both.

People you meet at Christmas parties (and you do meet a lot of people there this week) and people at club meetings or in the office on business, are all full of Christmas plans. Wish I could remember them all.

THE RAY JOHNSONS are leaving this week for Tucson and, they hope, a warm, dry Christmas. They will visit a nephew, making the trip with Mrs. Johnson's sister and her husband from Bunkie, La.

The L.H. Lookingbills will go to Louisiana, to visit assorted family members at and around Baton Rouge.

THE TROY MOORES, who gave one of the parties mentioned above, are looking forward to a visit from their son, Troy Don, and his family, especially the baby. Another set of grandparents also eagerly waits for those visitors; the baby's mama is the Jay Bostons' daughter.

Troy Don is winding up work for his law degree at the University of Texas in Austin and will be a graduate by the time he gets here.

THE GID BROWNS are going to Oklahoma City right away, not because Christmas is coming but because their granddaughter has already arrived. She is the Richard Browns' daughter, born early Tuesday and named Taletta Gaye.

It is hard for grandparents to wait to see such a special baby, but because of hospital restrictions on visitors to the nursery, Juanita and Gid just have to be patient for a few days.

IT WAS GRAND to see Nicki Dameron in a restaurant at noon the other day, even if only for a few words. She has been here from her present home in Salida, Colo., with Mrs. W. E. Dameron, who is ill, I'm sorry to say.

Nicki modestly admits that even if she is not a nurse, she is the best patient in the whole Dameron family. Not too restless, not too solicitous, just relaxing, she says, and that describes the sort of person you want around when you're sick.

WHILE THERE are lots of parties for grownups this time of year, it's a good time for the younger set to have fun, too, in Nina Gilleland's opinion.

After the WTSU production of the Christmas play, Rags to Riches, Thursday evening, she invited 20 youngsters to the home of her parents, the Bill Gillelands, and they enjoyed games, cookies and Cokes.

The house was prettied up for the holidays and I'm sure the party can best be described in that rather illiterate but expressive old sentence, A good time was had by all!

World's holiday music presented

International customs and music of Christmastime supplied an interesting program for Dawn Music Club at its holiday party Tuesday afternoon in the home Mrs. Carl Wimberley. Mrs. Carl Kleuskens was co-hostess.

Mrs. Clarence Betzen spoke of holiday customs in Germany and played as a song typical of that land, the beloved Silent Night. Mrs. R.E. Curtisinger sang an English Carol, God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen, after telling some English customs.

Mrs. Kleuskens sang both English and Latin versions of a Sicilian Christmas song, O Sanctissimis, to illustrate Italian music of the season.

The French melody, O Holy Night, was sung in French and English by Mrs. Gerald Parker and Mrs. Edgar Sowell spoke of holiday observance in France. Mrs. Wimberley accompanied the soloists.

After a Christmas prayer read by Mrs. Alfred Smith, the entire group sang favorite carols with Mrs. Kleuskens at the piano.

Gifts were exchanged and refreshments served in rooms bright with holiday colors. Other members present on the snowy afternoon were Mmes. H.V. McCabe, Gene Meacham, J.F. Matthews, R.T. Stewart and Robert Strain.

Effects of drouth continue to linger

Even though one of the most severe drouths in Texas ended this Fall, effects of it still linger on for the state's agricultural producers, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said in a year-end report.

Cotton, grain sorghum and other crops were hard hit by drouth earlier in the year. Dry weather also forced the sale of thousands of head of Texas cattle. The drouth of 1971 was most severe from January through the Spring planting period up until Summer. Rains returned, but severe economic damage had been inflicted on Texas' vast agriculture production.

The drouth first reduced hay production, and then the rains that ended the drouth delayed or prevented cutting and baling so that Texas-raised hay is in short supply.

Other Texas crops during 1971 were poor to fair, the wheat farmers suffering the most because of the drouth, White said. Texas wheat production was cut almost in half, to about 31,416,000 bushels, compared to 54,408,000 bushels from the 1969-70 crop.

Cotton crops in most of South Texas were hurt by the drouth, and then the rains delayed harvest and are still delaying harvest in West and North Texas. Rain has also given an assist to boll weevils, pink bollworms and other cotton insects, the Commissioner reported.

Heavy infestations of pink bollworms have been reported in North Central Texas and boll weevils in West Texas.

Grain sorghum and peanut crops are expected to produce less than last year, White said. The drouth prevented planting of Texas and reduced production in other parts of the state. Peanut production was expected to be only slightly less than in 1970, but rains again have delayed harvest.

The 1972 rice crop is expected to be as good as or slightly better than the previous crop when about 20,782,000 hundredweights were produced.

Most citrus and vegetable crops were average in the 1970-71 season, Commissioner White said, and prospects are good for a good season in 1971-72.

Let's cook something

German holiday bread

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A holiday fruit bread called Hutzelbrot, made with yeast, comes from German cuisine. Of late it has been awakening interest in this country.

So here's an American version of the bread. In this recipe the yeast is mixed with the flour and other ingredients. It's not necessary to dissolve the yeast first and this saves a step in the making.

AMERICAN HUTZELBROT

- 6 to 7 cups unsifted flour
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon anise seeds
- ¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon ground cardamom
- ½ teaspoon ground cloves
- 2 packages active dry yeast
- ¼ pound (1 stick) butter or margarine, at room temperature
- 1¾ cups very hot tap water
- 1 cup chopped toasted blanched almonds
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- two-thirds cup finely diced dried pears

two-thirds cup finely diced dried table-soft figs two-thirds cup diced prunes
one-third cup finely diced candied orange peel
Honey

In a large bowl thoroughly mix together 2 cups flour, the sugar, salt, anise seeds, cinnamon, cardamom, cloves and undissolved yeast. Add butter. Gradually add water and at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally, beat for 2 minutes. Add 1 cup flour, or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic—about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm, draft-free place until doubled—about 1 hour.

Punch down dough; turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead in almonds, walnuts, pears, figs, prunes and candied orange peel. Divide dough in half; form into round balls. Place on greased cookie sheets. Cover; let rise as previously until doubled—about 1 hour.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for 40 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets and place on wire racks to cool. While loaves are still warm, brush with honey. Makes 2 large loaves.

HUTZELBROT — It's an interesting German holiday bread made with yeast.

Movie good guy subject of book

A biography of one of the world's most popular movie stars, John Wayne, who, the writer avers, is very much like the heroes he portrays in numerous action epics, is among new volumes in Deaf Smith County Library.

DUKE—THE STORY OF JOHN WAYNE
By Mike Tomkies

John Wayne is Hollywood's most legendary character. He has for some 30 years now been riding across the movie screen—tough, honest, chivalrous—bringing death and destruction to the bad guys and help and solicited attention to fair maidens and set-up good guys.

His films glorify the courage and indomitable spirit that sent his ancestors west to create from a harsh wilderness the great nation America became. Wayne's and the pioneer's were just and basic virtues above all else.

Is that a true picture of John Wayne, Duke to his family and friends? Strangely enough, it is, as Duke: The Story of John Wayne makes clear.

Rough and ready, with a crusty but true heart, John Wayne, husband, father, and friend is not too much different from John Wayne, authentic American hero. Wayne himself came from real pioneer heritage.

As a child he rode an old mare to school and helped his father wrest a living from the harsh Mojave desert as a homesteader.

He believes in the simple virtues he personifies in his screen roles, and his life follows the pattern he laid down for himself long ago; he is true to his friends, has no truck with those who wrong him, is gracious to visitors—and fights like hell when he thinks he is right.

John Wayne has been a superstar for over 30 years. A college football player who got into movies almost by accident, he has made some 250 movies.

Wayne's first break was in the classic western Stagecoach (1939), though his first film was shot in 1930, and since 1939 Wayne has scarcely looked back. In fact, when he won his first Oscar in 1970 for his self-parody in True Grit, there had been no year in which at least one new Wayne film had not been made.

Naturally, with such an output, Wayne, as he freely admits, has made a number of forgettable films, but what is more remarkable is the number of classics that owe their importance to John Wayne.

Starting with Stagecoach, one can number Dakota, She Wore a Yellow Ribbon, The Quiet Man, Hondo, The Alamo, The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance and many more.

Duke: the Story of John Wayne includes details of all of Wayne's movies and also contains a wealth of anecdote and story that fills out the picture of John Wayne, citizen.

He has beaten the pressures of near bankruptcy that assailed him over ten years ago to become the multi-millionaire he is today. In 1964 he licked lung cancer after surviving a dangerous operation.

He has fathered seven children, is grandfather of 16. His children love and respect him, and none has ever given him any cause to feel anything but pride.

A hard drinking man who is so gentle he goes to pieces when his wife has a baby; a powerful man who can crack two ribs in a fall, dislocate his shoulder in a heavy tumble from a horse a few weeks later, and still do his own horse charges at 62 because he refuses to hold up film shoot-

Clayton named to water study

State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake has been appointed by House Speaker Gus F. Muttscher to an eleven-member interim committee which will study several aspects of water development, quality, and conservation in the state.

Also named to the committee were Rep. John Allen of Longview, who will serve as chairman, along with Reps. George Baker of Fort Stockton, Phil Cates of Lefors, Joe Hawn of Dallas, and Lynn Nabers of Brownwood.

Also Reps. Walter Parker of Denton, Bryan Poff Jr. of Amarillo, Bill Prenal of Bryan, Paul Silber of San Antonio, and Lindon Williams of Houston.

In line with the Speaker's announced policy of consolidating interim studies of related subjects under a single committee, this panel will consider matters authorized during the last legislative session under House Simple Resolutions 516, 547, and 555; House Concurrent Resolutions 128 and 178; and Senate Concurrent Resolution 116, all dealing with various aspects of the state's water problems.

"I anticipate that the committee chairman will appoint subcommittees to handle specific investigations and proposals requested by members during the last Legislature. Grouping them under a 'category umbrella' should permit more efficient sharing of knowledge and use of research time," Muttscher said.

ing; a man who cooks his wife's favorite recipes for himself and members of his crew on locations; a man who got one of his biggest breaks after a fight with a top director but who deplores today's so-called permissive age—John Wayne is a contrary man, at times both belligerent and gentle.

Duke: the Story of John Wayne is the story of the man behind the legend, a rambunctious account of one of the world's most popular film stars.

Familiar music of season heard

Music which has become a tradition of the Christmas season was heard on the program of Music Study Club at its annual holiday party Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J.R. Allison, where her daughter, Mrs. Mack Cansler, was co-hostess.

As part of a season's study on Music of the Baroque Era the subject was sacred works of that overture to Handel's famous oratorio, The Messiah, by Mrs. Steve Clements, organist, and Mrs. Bill Penn, pianist.

Other selections from that work were I Know That My Redeemer Liveth played as an organ solo by Mrs. Bill Devers, and the Hallelujah Chorus, sung by the club chorus directed by Mrs. Dolson Palmer with Mrs. Devers accompanying.

The chorus also sang a Bach composition, Break Forth O Heavenly Light, Mrs. Joe Hacker and Mrs. Lynton Allred played Bach's aria, Sheep May Safely Graze, as a piano duet.

French carols of the 17th century were sung by a quartet comprising Mmes Dale Young, W.T. Carmichael, Wes Fisher and Bill Bradley. As a prelude to the formal program, Mrs. Fisher, club president, read a poem, Christmastime, and all members joined in singing the Hymn of the Month designated by the National Federation of Music Clubs, Silent Night.

Mrs. Paul Lyons was the leader who introduced the program with brief comment of the composers.

Instead of a gift exchange, members contributed to the club fund which will give a scholarship to a music student in Hereford High School next spring.

Mrs. Fisher presided for the short business session when reports were made on members' assignments for duty this month in supplying transportation for residents of Kings Manor for shopping trips. Each member signed a card of good wishes to Mrs. W. E. Dameron, a club member who is still ill in a hospital.

Michigan State's basketball team will play on Tartan turf in its Jenison field house this season.

County residents save more money than usual

With their savings at a record level during the past 12 months, residents of Deaf Smith County are in better than usual shape financially.

Despite the recession, the average local family is approaching the end of the year with a record amount of cash and other savings tucked away.

The net result is that there is a treasure trove of additional buying power waiting in the wings. Although a little of it has been allowed to trickle out in the last few months, it is still only a trickle, compared with what it could be.

The bulk of it is being held back by consumers to await more stable economic conditions. Once they are convinced that inflation has been brought under control, that their jobs are safe and that the country is heading back to normal, they will be ready to unleash these pent-up savings and embark on a spending spree.

In turn, say the experts, that would give new momentum to industry, would create more jobs, reduce unemployment and spark the economy as a whole.

How much are Deaf Smith County families saving? The amount of money put aside during the current year by the local population is estimated at $3,741,000.

Nov. accidents here total 20

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 20 accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of November, according to Sgt. W.E. Wells, Highway Patrol supervisor for this area.

Of those 20 accidents, no deaths were reported and nine persons were injured.

The rural traffic summary for this county during the first 11 months of 1971 shows a total of 137 accidents resulting in three persons killed and 87 injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety for November, 1971, shows a total of 576 accidents resulting in 20 persons killed and 292 persons injured. This was 19 less accidents, one more fatality, and two less injured than during October.

The 20 traffic deaths for the month of November, 1971, occurred in the following counties: Hockley, four; Lubbock, Palo Pinto, Hansford and Oldham, two each; Bailey, Carson, Childress, Lipscomb, Moore, Terry, Wheeler and Wilbarger, one each.

Discoveries shatter myths, untruths concerning leprosy

Leprosy is a disease which, until just a few years ago, gave people chills at the very mention of the word, but scientific discoveries and new treatment procedures have shattered some of the myths and untruths about it.

Now, it appears, the armadillo will have a vital role in new research which could produce a vaccine against leprosy. The Texas State Department of Health, which has a leprosy program, has a compelling interest in research and treatment. Such a vaccine has been long in coming because medical experts have been unable to culture the lepromatous leprosy bacillus in vitro—which means outside the living body and in an artificial environment. There have been humans to work with, but you can only go so far in using humans as guinea pigs.

Recently at the Public Health Service leprosyarium at Carville, La., another milestone in the fight against the disease was reached. Scientists were able to transmit lepromatous leprosy to an armadillo.

Dr. Waldemar F. Kirchhelmer, chief of laboratory research at Carville, said, "This is the only animal in the history of the world that has contracted the full-blown disease other than man. In fact, it was worse than in man."

Research with armadillos was started in 1969 by Dr. Kirchhelmer and Dr. Eleanor E. Storrs. It's true that Hansen's Disease bacilli had been injected into experimental animals before, and a self-limiting multiplying of bacilli had occurred. But in the armadillo, multiplication occurred throughout the entire body. In other animals, including the footpads of mice, the infection didn't spread beyond the site of injection.

The virulence of the armadillo's disease gave them hope that at last it would be possible to culture the lepromatous leprosy bacillus in vitro. This has never been done before even though it was one of the first bacilli identified. Dr. Armauer Hansen identified the bacillus in Norway in 1874, and leprosy became known as Hansen's Disease.

Hansen's discovery, plus the later developments using the footpads of mice, and use of sulfone drugs to arrest Hansen's Disease, have been other milestones in the fight against leprosy.

The armadillo development, however, has produced great hope that at last the road is clear for pushing ahead toward discovery of a vaccine. At this point it is only hope, but scientists now have better tools to use in their efforts.

New York state residents consider pollution the most serious problem facing their communities.

The International Association for Great Lakes Research will sponsor a conference at the University of Wisconsin next April 5-7.

tors, but especially upon its earnings.

Local families that have less than $4,000 available to them after taxes have little leeway and are unable to do much saving.

Among those with net incomes of $7,500, an average of 6.2 per cent is saved and, at $9,000, about 7.2 per cent. It rises rapidly beyond this point.

In Deaf Smith County, where the latest annual figures show a net, after-tax income of $9,412 per household, the average is 7.5 per cent and the amount saved per household, approximately $710.

It compares with the West South Central States rate of $680 per household.

Sandhill crane--'Brand X' game bird

The sandhill crane is the state's "Brand X" game bird. It plays the role of unwanted stepchild to some of the better-known species of migratory bird known species of migratory birds—the duck, goose and dove. Men probably couldn't tell a sandhill crane from a cattle egret.

But for all its anonymity, the sandhill has a number of characteristics which should endear it to hunters, according to the Texas Park and Wildlife Department.

It's a large bird—almost trophy sized. It flies fast and has the eyesight of a goose. It will respond to decoys and it travels in flocks of impressive size. Add a lengthy open season and bird's high rating as table fare and you should have incentive enough for any shotgunner to give the cranes a try.

Department field personnel say sandhills are ignored because their habits and characteristics still are a mystery to most hunters. Secondly, the two zones where sandhill hunting is legal are in the extreme western portions of the state, forcing hunters to traveling distances.

A third reason may be the tendency of the cranes to be "here today and gone tomorrow" as they shift locations in search of food.

Also, nice weather is terrible for crane hunting. Cloudy and rainy weather is needed for the pass-shooting done by most Texas hunters. Clear skies call for the use of decoys to bring in the highflying cranes.

The two zones set forth for sandhill hunting are described in the department's Migratory Game Bird Hunting Digest for 1971-72, which is available at department offices and where hunting licenses are sold.

Good numbers of cranes were reported as the Zone A hunt began on Oct. 30. The Zone B hunt begins Dec. 4. Both zones' seasons end Jan. 30. The daily bag limit is three and possession limit is six in both zones.

Numerically, the cranes have made a comeback from past years when their numbers and seriously declined. But the birds still have a long way to go before achieving the status they deserve as a game species.

Good numbers of cranes were reported as the Zone A hunt began on Oct. 30. The Zone B hunt begins Dec. 4. Both zones' seasons end Jan. 30. The daily bag limit is three and possession limit is six in both zones.

AARP officers to be installed at Yule dinner

Officers for 1972 will be installed and a Christmas program given at dinner this evening for the American Association of Retired Persons. Ed Dziuk will become president to succeed Bert Brown.

Dinner is scheduled at 7 p.m. in Dickie's Restaurant, and all members of the organization are urged to be present.

Virgil Dodson will conduct the installation. Christmas songs by guests and a reading, The Night Before Christmas—Texas Style, will be presented by Mrs. Dodson.

Bumpy Flight

One moment Myrtle was gazing peacefully out the airplane window, admiring the view. The next moment the plane struck an air pocket, lurched downward, and tossed Myrtle right out of her seat.

The jolt dislocated her shoulder, and in due course she filed a damage suit against the airline. "As a common carrier," she argued, "the airline was obliged to deliver me safely to my destination. This they failed to do."

However, the court ruled that the plane's sudden plunge was an "act of God," hence nobody's fault. The court said that a bumpy ride is not yet possible under today's technology—and even a common carrier should not be expected to do the impossible.

Nevertheless, it is expected to do all it can. In another case, a pilot neglected to turn on the FASTEN YOUR SEAT BELT sign even though his plane had already entered a zone of turbulence. This time, when a passenger was injured in an accident like Myrtle's, he was held entitled to collect damages from the airline.

In a third case, a man was assured by a stewardess that there was "still time" to go to the washroom, just as the plane was approaching a known patch of choppy air. Again, injury. And again, airline liability.

But it is also true that the passenger must do his share to minimize the risk.

One passenger obediently hooked up his seat belt when the warning sign went on. But he left so much slack in the belt that there was still plenty of room for him to bounce. And when the plane hit turbulence, he did bounce—hard.

Afterward, the man tried to collect damages for the injuries he had sustained. He blamed the stewardess for not double-checking his belt.

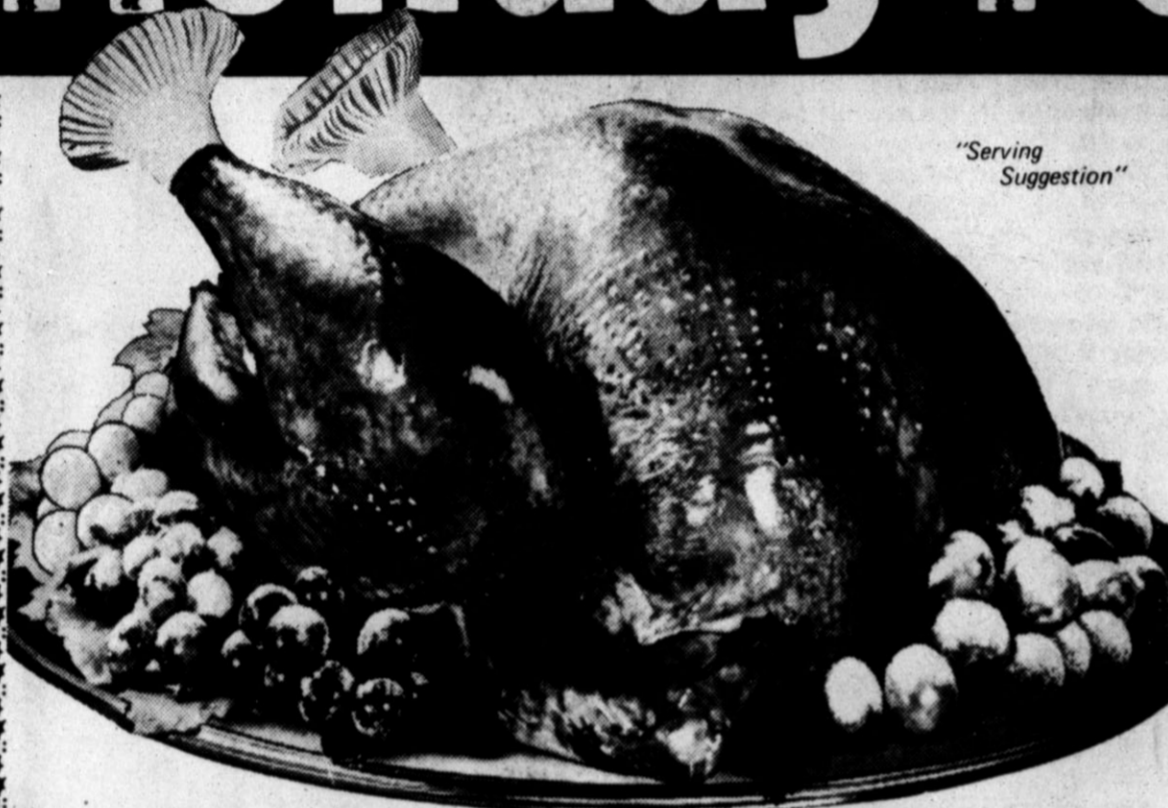

But the court threw out his claim. For having suffered an accident he could easily have avoided, said the court, he had no one to blame but himself.

Cotton farmers say 'wait til next year'

It seems the saying "wait 'til next year" is getting almost as popular in agriculture on the High Plains as it is in football circles at Texas A&M and other selected schools.

This year's cotton crop on the Plains is poor in every respect, excepting market prices. Quality and per acre yields, both of seed and lint, are headed for the lowest averages in recent history. Only the price of lint prevents 1971 from going in the record book as a total cotton disaster.

"But the High Plains is still cotton country," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald

Johnson, "and barring unforeseen events there should be more acres devoted to production of the fiber crop on the High Plains in 1972 than in 1971. We have excellent underground moisture conditions throughout the area, 1972 prices look good, and with a return to more normal weather next year we can reasonably expect a return to previous high standards of production and quality."

Johnson points out, however, that two things need to be done this year if next year's cotton income is to achieve what appears to be above average potential.

First, he says, cotton producers should begin now to seek an adequate supply of quality planting seed. A short supply of vigorous, high germination planting seed for next year is almost a foregone conclusion in view of the unprecedented low-grade seed being received at oil mills from this year's crop. And every research report since the very beginning has proved a direct relationship between yields and planting seed quality.

"With such favorable moisture conditions farmers cannot afford to jeopardize yield potential by planting inferior seed," Johnson states, "and as yet there is no reason to believe cotton production in 1972 will reach a volume high enough to significantly depress prices. So every pound produced should be well worth the effort."

Second, and also of prime importance according to Johnson, is the matter of protecting the per-acre yields on which cotton program payments are made. Most acreage on the Plains is expected to fall well below the yields on which payments were made this year. But the effects of low production on future payments can be greatly mitigated if every producer will request a "weather adjustment" from his county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

This year's actual yields, for purposes of figuring payment yields in 1972, 1973 and beyond, can be adjusted upward to 90 per cent of the 1971 payment an adjustment. (And there's still some possibility that the adjustment could be 100 per cent instead of 90 per cent.)

Requests for weather adjustments must be made to the ASCS office in time for office personnel to inspect each field before stalks are cut. The ASCS must determine that the crop was farmed in a "workmanlike manner," which requires inspection before post-harvest operations begin.

ASCS officials are also reminding farmers that if a farm's total production this year equals or exceeds the pounds on which payment was made there will be no reduction at all in the 1972 payment yield. If this is a possibility, they say, it might be worthwhile gathering a crop which wouldn't even pay harvesting costs. Otherwise, whether a crop is harvested will have no effect on future payment yields since a weather adjustment can be made in either case.

For God So Loved The World

King of Kings

And there is no finer name for the Great Teacher. He speaks and His words come with authority. There is no court to refer His words for judgement... for He is the judgement. He has blessed mankind so richly that we have sought other words to do Him honor; the Great Physician, Shepherd of Souls and Lord of Life. But Handel's Messiah keeps ringing in our ears... "King of Kings and Lord of lords. And He shall reign forever and ever." Isaiah looked forward to the coming of this "Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace."

The artist has done us a service in the picture. Christ is destined to reign over His people, over His church, over His world. His throne was a cross spelling sacrifice. His vehicle is the church and His army a company of devout followers. His dominion is within the hearts of men and His forces are Truth, and Goodness and Love. He will triumph through our loyalty and devotion. They stop where you are! Is He regnant in your heart? He is looking to His church, imperfect as it may be, to bring in His Kingdom and to save the world. Won't you join His army, His church today... for He is the King of Kings.

Afternoon party is yule event

Through the afternoon Saturday, approximately 200 guests called at the Norman Hodges home on Dimmitt Highway for one of the pretty daytime parties of Hereford's holiday season.

Hostesses with Mrs. Hodges for the Christmas tea were Mrs. Cecil Hart, Mrs. W.H. Gentry and Mrs. James Gentry.

Candlelight and yule colors glowed in rooms where callers gathered in casual conversational groups. Party atmosphere began on the lawn, where a Santa figure stood beside a light standard and a huge gold and red rosette centered the door panel.

Dressed alike, in long-sleeved black satin bodices and floor-length skirts of bright patterned quilted, slit up the front to show black boots, the quartet of hostesses greeted guests.

Mrs. Brad Johnson and Mrs. Hart's daughter, Mrs. Mike Davis of Amarillo, wore similar costumes as they served tea from a table placed against a window and covered with a hand made cloth over red. Candles were held in red votive cups rising on slender rods from a base of berried branches and red satin balls.

In the entrance hall a single large candle burned on a stand twined with cedar branches and holly, decorated with a cluster of red, bells. More fat candles, green or red, lighted the living room where the white three was trimmed with miniature red birds and reindeer.

Many of the guests found seats at tables on the wide covered patio, where supporting posts were wrapped in red and green tied with bells, mistletoe hung from the ceiling and the candles were guarded by small Santa figurines.

Taped music of carols and popular Christmas songs made a background for conversation during the party.

HOLIDAY HOSPITALITY — Hostesses at a pretty pre-Christmas party Saturday afternoon in the Norman Hodges home were, from left, Mrs. Cecil Hart, Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. James Gentry and Mrs. W. H. Gentry. Pouring tea for some 200 callers, in photo at right, were Mrs. Mike Davis of Amarillo and Mrs. Brad Johnson. Their gaily-printed skirts and black satin blouses blended with colorful decorations through the home.

Junior student in HHS is winner of second place in essay contest

Leslie Breeding, winner of second place in the Voice of Democracy contest which Hereford Veterans of Foreign Wars sponsored in the high school here, is a junior student and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Breeding.

Contestants wrote essays on the subject, My Responsibility to Freedom. The seven best, chosen by a committee of high school English and speech teachers, were recorded by the young writers at Radio Station KPAN, then judged for content and delivery by a panel of judges at West Texas State University.

The three winners were announced at a recent dinner given by the VFW and Ladies Auxiliary, when all seven finalists were honorees.

Breeding's essay follows: MY RESPONSIBILITY TO FREEDOM

Freedom is not an object I can hold in my hand or something I can see. Freedom is not physical or concrete. Freedom is an idea, an idea that says, "All men are created equal."

This idea is so precious that all through time, men have fought and died so that freedom will endure.

Our country was built on this idea of freedom. When our country was created, it consisted of 13 colonies. The people of these colonies felt that they were not being governed fairly by Great Britain, so our forefathers fought a war against that country, then the greatest nation on earth.

The 13 colonies won this war against overwhelming odds. They won it in order to be free. At one time our country was divided by a civil war. During this war Abraham Lincoln stated, "It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced."

He meant that we must work to preserve that hard-won freedom so that great men and women who have fought before us will not have given their lives in vain.

Today I must believe in this statement and help people in my own and in other countries to be free even if I have to fight. But I must not use freedom as a license; I must fight only as a last resort, because the human being is much more important alive than dead even if it is enslaved.

There are ways to fulfill my responsibility to freedom other than taking up arms. I must give of my time and myself to such worthy causes as UNICEF and the Red Cross. I must also educate myself on the laws and history of my country.

But, most of all, I must be an active citizen, ready to support the beliefs, the symbols, the flag and the people of my country.

Our freedom cannot be taken for granted. We, as a free people must be reminded always of the privileges and opportunities which are ours because we live in a free country, a nation under God.

If we are to be free forever we must have a stable government, supported by every citizen as an individual.

As President Kennedy said, "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country." This statement holds true because our government's power comes from the individual person, so if the individual is uninterested and disenchanted with the government, the government suffers.

The reason I must feel personally responsible for our nation's freedom was summed up by Abraham Lincoln in 1863. He said, "This nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

The Philadelphia Phillies set a club record of 1,511,223 admissions in 1971, their first season in new Veterans Stadium.

Local girl gets WAC promotion

WAC Private Sylvia L.A. Deyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Deyke, 340 West Fourth, recently was promoted to Private pay grade E-2 and awarded a letter of commendation upon completion of basic training at the women's Army Corps Center, Ft. McClellan, Ala.

She was promoted two months earlier than is customary under the Army policy providing incentives for outstanding trainees.

Her promotion was based on her military bearing, leadership potential and scores attained during the training.

During the eight weeks of training she received instruction in Army history and tradition, administrative procedures, military justice, first aid and field training.

The private is a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School.

The Wildlife Management Institute will sponsor a North American wildlife and natural resources conference in Mexico City next March 12-15.

Chris Loerwald feted at shower

A Sunday afternoon bridal shower in the Knights of Columbus Hall honored Chris Loerwald, Dec. 20 bride-elect of Raymond Artho. The couple will be married in an evening ceremony in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Guests were received by the honoree with her mother, Mrs. Gene Loerwald, her fiance's mother, Mrs. Elroy Artho, and her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Loerwald.

Mrs. Danny Loerwald, of Plainview sat at the guest registry, the table laid with white linen cloth and centered by a silver bud vase holding lavender Chrysanthemums and greenery.

At the serving table were Mrs. Don Dolle of Umbarger, Mrs. Dale Smith and Mrs. Frank Brorman. Lavendar tapers flanked each side of an arrangement of amethyst mums in a silver urn. Silver wedding bells were scattered throughout the centerpiece and miniature bride and groom figurines stood at the base.

Rhonda Stewart and Janice Artho, sister of the prospective bridegroom, were at the gift table which was laid with a white linen cutwork cloth.

Members of the receiving line were presented amethyst chrysanthemum corsages tied with silver ribbon and silver wedding bells.

Miss Loerwald wore a purple A-line style dress featuring long fitted sleeves with belt attached at the empire waist.

Hostesses for the courtesies were Meses. George Turrentine, Joe Reinauer Sr., A.H. Husmann, Alfred Reinart, Frank Bezner, Arhart Reinart, Clarence Betzen, Neal Young, Adolph Knabe, Norbert Skypala, C.J. Berend, John Betzen, Joe Peters, Louis Beckman, Brorman, Smith and Dolle.

A conference on pollution control and the marine industry will be held next April 20-21 in New Orleans.
