Death Mays Primaries

By The Associated Press
The death in a plane crash of a U.S. Senate candidate from Missouri marred Tuesday's primary elections in four states.

Rep. Jerry Litton, 39, who won his state's Democratic Senate primary, was killed when his light plane crashed shortly after takeoff from Chillicothe airport en route for Kansas City, authorities said.

The Department of Public Safety said Litton's wife and two children were also killed in the crash along with the pilot

Feds Want Gas Block Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Power Commission wants a federal appeals court to lift immediately its lid on a $1.5 billion-a-year natural gas rate increase.

The FPC, in a brief submitted to the U.S. Court of Appeals on Tuesday, argued that losses to natural gas producers could be significant if the FPC rate hike is not allowed to go into effect.

The appeals court, acting on a challenge by 16 groups, temporarily blocked the increase on July 28, the day after the FPC authorized it.

Mixed Drink Tax Checks Sent County, City

The state has sent quarterly checks to Hereford for $398.48 and Deaf Smith County for $447.91 as each of the governments agency's share of mixed drink taxes collected during the past three months.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced that during the April-June quarter, mixed drinks taxes have totaled $10.8 million for the state.

Hereford's check represents its share of a total mixed drink tax revenue of $2,656.54. County collections amounted to $2,986.04.

The total tax revenue and amounts received by other area counties are: Castro County - $2,243.24 - $336.49; Parmer County - $672.55 - $100.88; and Randall County - $24,416.78 - $3,662.52.

Oldham County did not have any mixed drink tax revenues.

Bullock said he has mailed checks totaling $1.6 to 188 counties and other checks totaling $1.5 million to 310 cities as their share of the tax collected.

The remainder, $7.7 million, stays in the state general revenue fund, the Comptroller said.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and represents 10 percent of all gross receipts from the sale of mixed drinks.

Bullock explained that the Comptroller's office remits to counties and cities 15 percent of the total mixed drink collected within their boundaries on a quarterly basis.

He noted that the $10.8 million collected is 21 percent more than the $8.9 million collected in the second quarter of 1975 and 44 percent more than the $7.5 million collected during the same period in 1974.

Break In Reported At Car Dealer

The culprits in the incident then drove a pickup off of the lot at the firm, but parked it at the other end of the block, where it was recovered.

Damage to the office in the break in was estimated at $35.

A break-in was reported at the west office of Warren Brothers Motor Co. at 1410 Park Avenue Tuesday.

According to police reports, a window on the office was broken out and a set of keys was taken.

Slight Protection

Lupe Barrientes, Brand typesetter gets only a little protection from Monday afternoon's brisk rains by placing a newspaper over her head while crossing West 4th in front of the Brand office. Rain, which came at the rate of one inch in fifteen minutes during the early portion of the rainstorm, quickly had numerous city streets filled with water, and curbsides became small rivers, as evidenced by the swirling water moving rapidly down the street in the background. Total rainfall from the Monday afternoon and early Tuesday storm amounted to 5.50 inches, and light showers which fell around 3 a.m. today deposited an additional .05 inches of moisture. Legionaire's Disease Puzzles Officials

HARRISBURG, Pa (AP) - Medical researchers were still seeking today to identify the cause of the "legionnaires' disease," the mystery flu-like illness that has claimed 20 lives in Pennsylvania and sent more than 140 people to the hospital in three states.

There were no signs the outbreak was abating and officials planned a statewide check of Pennsylvania hospitals today for a more accurate picture of the situation.

"The disease has not leveled off," state Health Secretary Leonard Bachman said Tuesday. "Apparently both the number of deaths and the number of new cases have increased and are increasing."

More than 1,000 federal and state medical researchers have been mobilized to identify the disease. At the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, researchers planned today to harvest the first cultures grown from tissue samples taken from victims of the illness.

The cultures could provide a clue. "We are ruling out nothing," said Dr. Walter Dowdle, director of virology at the center. "This could be anything from an infectious disease to a toxin."

All of the known victims of the disease including two hospitalized in New Jersey and one in New York - attended or were in some way connected with a state American Legion convention in Philadelphia that ended 11 days ago. There has been no confirmed evidence of secondary spread of the disease, Bachman said, but he added that it was still too early to discount the possibility that the disease may have spread.

In an interview early today, however, a state health department spokesman said there were six unconfirmed reports of the disease among people in Philadelphia who did not attend the convention.

"That has not been verified," said the spokesman, Bob Costello. "It looks like it might be so."

All of the victims have experienced the same flu-like symptoms: headache high fever, congested lungs and chest pains.

Bachman said those symptoms are consistent with the swine-type flu that appeared in New Jersey this year, prompting plans for a nationwide immunization program. They are also consistent with viral pneumonia, he said.

Congress moved Tuesday toward passage of a federal insurance plan to clear the way for the vaccination program. The House health subcommittee approved a measure, demanded by vaccine manufacturers, that would make the government responsible for any damages caused by the flu shots.

The action came after David Mathews, secretary of health, education and welfare, said "there is a possibility" the Pennsylvania deaths could be linked to swine flu.

When it last appeared, in 1918 and 1919, swine flu caused an estimated 20 million deaths around the world.

The first cases of the mystery disease which surfaced after the Philadelphia Legion convention were reported outside Pennsylvania Tuesday, but they involved people who attended the Legion meeting.

Two New Jersey men were hospitalized and placed in isolation with symptoms of the disease. One of the men, Richard Wells, 37, of Turnersville, is a deliveryman who supplied food to two hotels for the convention.

Carter Begins Campaign With Early Ford Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) - Although the official start of his campaign is a month away, Jimmy Carter emerged from his Georgia farm to make a slashing attack against President Ford, criticizing Ford's leadership and labeling the Republicans "a party of backwardness."

Carter also predicted the Republicans soon will launch "vicious personal attacks" against him.

The Democratic presidential nominee was in Washington today to confer with Democratic National Committee officials and to speak at a dinner sponsored by the Democratic Study Group, an organization of liberal Democratic congressmen.

Carter assumes Ford will be his opponent in the fall campaign, and his criticism of the President at a shopping center rally Tuesday in Manchester, N.H., was among the strongest he's voiced.

The former Georgia governor called Ford's fight for delegates against Ronald Reagan "an almost unbelievable spectacle."

"The President of the United States is deeply concerned about an ex-movie actor, traveling all over the nation to get a handful of delegates ... but neglecting the basic responsibilities of leadership," Carter said.

He attacked the Ford and Nixon administrations as governments of "vetoes and not visions," "scandals and not stability or pride," "rhetoric and not reason."

"The lack of leadership is the biggest single handicap the Republican party will face this year," he said.

Later, at a reception for the New Hampshire State Democratic Committee, Carter predicted that after their convention, the Republicans will launch "almost unprecedented vicious personal attacks" against him, his running

Questioning Expected About Reagan Pick

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) - Ronald Reagan, launching his final pre-convention campaign swing, can expect "tough questions" from the crucial, uncommitted Mississippi delegation about the man he wants as his running mate, an aide says.

Reagan has made no public appearances or statements since announcing on July 26 that he wanted Schweiker as his vice presidential candidate if he captures the Republican presidential nomination.

Reagan is visiting five crucial states where he hopes to firm up his once-solid support in the South against recent inroads by President Ford and exploit new opportunities in the Northeast. It is his last scheduled campaign outing

Registration For Students Set Aug. 17

Students are still playing out in the streets and enjoying the remaining days of freedom. But that will soon end as another academic year begins for Hereford schools.

The first sign of the beginning school year are cars of administrators parked in front of the school buildings. They are meeting today to discuss policies and procedures for the new year.

Teachers are the first to report back for in-service training sessions on Monday, August 16. New teachers are required to attend an 8 a.m. meeting that day in the Hereford High School Library. Other teachers and staff members report to a meeting at 9:30 a.m. in the HHS cafeteria.

Mal Manches, coordinator for program development and evaluation, said that students are to pre-register on Tuesday, Aug. 17, at their respective schools. More information on the registration and enrollment procedures will be reported by The Hereford Brand in later issues.

Classes begin on Thursday, Aug. 19.

Three Dead In Wake Of Protest March

By LARRY HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - Rioting raged across the black Soweto township after six weeks of tension, and police reported that at least three blacks were shot to death. An estimated 20,000 blacks broke through a police barricade and tried to march on Johannesburg, eight miles to the north, but police said they fired over their heads and turned them back.

The marchers were protesting the detention of student leaders and voicing other grievances of South Africa's black majority.

Roving mobs of youths tried to stop workers from commuting to Johannesburg. A key railway signal block was burned. Commuter trains were halted. Buses and cars were stoned, and students carrying placards disrupted traffic in the ghetto in which a million blacks live.

The placards read "Release our Brothers" and "We Are Born Free But Everywhere We Are in Chains."

It was the first major outbreak of violence in Soweto since a student demonstration on June 16 touched off an upheaval in black townships around Johannesburg and Pretoria in which at least 176 persons were killed and more than 1,100 were injured. All but two of the dead and most of the injured were black.

Trouble was also reported in the black township of Alexandra, adjoining white residential areas in northern Johannesburg. Police said there were two attempts there to set schools on fire.

The outbreak in Soweto apparently was touched off by the recent detention of several student leaders, including Hlaku Rachidi, president of the Black People's Convention, and Ben Palmer Louw, a former leader of the black South African Students Organization. A number of other students have been under detention since the June riots.

Factories and other businesses in Johannesburg reported thousands of blacks absent from work.

Rioting was reported spreading through the township. Hundreds of riot police in camouflage battle fatigues and police in civilian clothes armed with submachine guns and rifles sealed off the area.

The police barred all other whites from Soweto, telling them it was not safe for them.

The mobs warned workers going to jobs in Johannesburg, South Africa's industrial and commercial capital, that they would be in for trouble if they returned to Soweto in the evening.

Demonstrators called for a march to Johannesburg's John Vorster Square, named for South Africa's prime minister, to protest the arrests of student leaders. Police set up roadblocks at all exits from the township to stop the marchers.

25 Delegates Hold Key To GOP Nomination As Convention Nears

WASHINGTON (AP) - Only 15 days before the roll call is to begin in Kansas City, 125 Republican partisans clutch the key to their party's biggest prize, the presidential nomination.

In two months of intense courtship by President Ford and Ronald Reagan, ranks of the uncommitted convention delegates have dwindled by more than 50.

Both camps claim enough delegates to grab the nomination, but neither candidate has been able to win the hearts and votes of the 1,130 delegates needed for a first-ballot victory, according to The Associated Press survey of delegates' legal commitments and public declarations.

Both continue to woo delegates, with strategies that range from White House dinner invitations to the stunning selection by Reagan of a liberal senator for a running mate to claims of allegiance from new block of delegates.

Reagan campaign manager John Sears gave out names of 12 delegates on Monday, saying they now back his candidate. He listed 10 from Pennsylvania, one from New York and one from West Virginia, as Reagan backers try to prove choice of Sen. Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania as a running mate is an asset not a liability.

"We are not aware of any individual delegates we have lost from our count," Sears said. He claimed at least six of the 12 were previously Ford supporters, but The AP survey had listed six of them for Reagan and six as uncommitted.

Sears repeated his claim that the former California governor has 1,140 votes on the first ballot. Ford's chief delegate hunter, James Baker, claims Ford now has 1,134 delegates committed to him.

The AP survey shows Ford with 1,105, Reagan with 1,029 and the remaining 125 uncommitted.

Baker followed Sears' news conference with one of his own, saying that the changes were certainly not a big surprise.

But Baker admitted under questioning that the President Ford Committee's "hard count, conservative count," as he calls it, had slipped by at least five in Pennsylvania and one in New York since the Schweiker announcement a week ago Monday.

The AP survey, based on interviews with the individual delegates, counts only those who say they will vote for Ford or Reagan on the first ballot. Delegates who are leaning toward a candidate or who have given some other, less certain indication of preference, are not counted for either candidate.

For example, The AP count listed as uncommitted all the Pennsylvania delegates who had been counted by the Ford committee as favoring the President, but who were named Monday as Reagan backers by Sears. The Ford people had counted these delegates based on their votes for a pro-Ford resolution at a delegation meeting. But The AP counted them as uncommitted when the delegates said in individual interviews that they did not consider the resolution binding and were actually uncommitted.

High Natural Gas Pass-Trough Questioned At TRR Hearing

AUSTIN, (AP) - A small town gas company spokesman, who has some wells of his own, says it's hard for him to understand why the big companies pay so much for gas.

Testimony continues today before Texas Railroad Commissioner John Camp, who is hearing evidence on the practice of passing 100 per cent of a gas purchase costs to consumers.

Bruce Rigler, a Plainview farmer and dairyman and vice-president of the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, said Pioneer Gas, his area's supplier, has control over its market. Farmers, however, do not, he said.

He predicted that if the gas used to power irrigation pumps in his area continued to rise at its present rate of three cents per 1,000 cubic feet met per month, "most everyone in our area would go out of business in 24 months."

Rigler was attending the hearing along with Hereford attorney John Aikin, who represents FIGUA. He is being consulted by Walter Wendlandt, the republican candidate against Democrat Jon Newton for a seat on the TRC. They are pitted against each other in the November general election.

Gas company witnesses said it would be unrealistic to expect their firms to stay in business if they couldn't recover their costs. Some other witnesses, however, said the pass-throughs often operated as a "rip-off" and could be manipulated unfairly against consumers.

"Pass-throughs are not a total evil, but public confidence is not going to be kept by permitting flow-throughs and putting the public at the mercy of the good judgement and acumen of the gas industry," said Port Arthur City Atty. George Wikoff.

Irving City Atty. Don Rorschach said the commission has proven it is not looking out for consumer by going eight months, thus far, without deciding on complaints that Lone Star Gas Co. was overcharging customers in his area through fuel adjustment charges.

Allowing automatic gas cost adjustments on consumers' bills if "proof positive the regulatory agency is abdicating its responsibility to regulate rates," Rorschach said.

Thomas E. Taylor, director of public utilities for Dallas, said pass-throughs should be limited to 85 per cent and should not include advances and prepayments.

He said the commission should stop allowing inclusion of advances and prepayments originally designed to encourage drilling of new gas wells-in calculating rates.

Today's high price are sufficient to encourage drilling, Taylor said.

"Other institutions are available to provide loans to producers to finance the drilling of wells. If gas utilities want to engage in the loan business, the customer should not bear any expense associated therewith," Taylor said.

Reagan

before the Republican National Convention Aug. 16 in Kansas City.

Billy Mounger, Reagan's Mississippi campaign chairman, said Reagan and Schweiker would meet with delegates in private soon after arriving in Jackson. The two also planned to meet tonight with the 37 members of the Alabama GOP delegation, who are committed to Reagan but have expressed some discontent about Schweiker.

Mounger said Reagan would have to convince delegates that Schweiker is needed on the ticket to ensure a victory.

"I would expect about as tough questions for Sen. Schweiker as you can have," Mounger said.

Antitrust Battle Begins Against Auto Industry's Big 3 Producers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government regulators are going to scrutinize the auto industry's economic structure in what may be the first skirmish in an antitrust battle against the U.S. auto giants, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The Federal Trade Commission announced Tuesday that it is proceeding with a full-scale probe that is staffed for last November. The agency said it has cleared the action with the Justice Department.

The investigation itself is expected to be time-consuming, and if the government finally decides to file antitrust charges, a court battle is certain to stretch on for years.

The Justice Department will not be directly involved in the probe, but if the FTC develops a criminal case against the automakers, Justice Department officials will move in. The FTC is empowered to bring only civil cases.

In Detroit, the automakers denounced the latest government action, which climaxes sporadic federal attempts over the years to challenge the bigness of the "Big Three."

General Motors Chairman Thomas A. Murphy, whose company controls more than half the U.S. auto market and is considered the prime target of any antitrust effort, declared in a statement:

"After decades of almost constant investigation by the Congress and the antitrust agencies into every facet of the American auto industry, it seems that we will be called upon to demonstrate once again that the business is intensely competitive and operating in accordance with the law. We expect to do so, but deplore the waste of public and private resources that the task will entail."

Ford President Lee A. Iacocca called the FTC decision "unfortunate and unnecesary." The Justice Department itself was on the verge of launching a major antitrust attack against GM in 1968, but dropped the suit because of a lack of support from the incoming Nixon administration.

The Justice Department is already waging protracted antitrust battles against two other titans of American industry, IBM and American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The FTC announcement came on the heels of an FTC judge's rejection on Monday of a staff recommendation to force AT&T to divest its manufacturing subsidiary, Western Electric. The FTC said the probe would focus on "the economic structure of the American automobile industry, of the economic performance of firms, both domestic and foreign, engaged in the manufacture and distribution of automobiles."

"Among the matters to be investigated are pricing policies, scale economies, vertical integration and automobile distribution practices," its terse statement said.

The FTC announcement stressed that "the existence of an investigation does not imply that violations of law have occurred."

Canyon Flood Death Toll Nears 100 Mark

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) - The flood-ravaged Big Thompson Canyon "looks like a capricious god danced amok in the place," Gov. Richard Lamm said after seeing the area where nearly 100 persons died.

"There is movement. The people are coming back. The healing process has begun."

Lamm flew by helicopter over the once majestically beautiful vacation area Tuesday and said while the devastation was great, the scene was more encouraging than it had been the morning after the rain-spawned flooding.

A 12-foot wall of water barreled its way through the twisting river canyon on Saturday, floating houses away, smashing mobile homes away, smashing rock homes against the towering rock walls and burying the dead under silt and slime.

While some who survived the flood returned to their washed out homes, others waited with for word on the fate of their loved ones.

An unused hospital was set up as a morgue where identification was attempted for the battered and torn bodies recovered from where the rushing river had deposited them. Seventy corpses were at the makeshift morgue here and Larimer County-Sheriff Robert Watson said more bodies were waiting to be removed from collection centers at each end of the canyon.

National Guardsmen, volunteers and search and rescue teams began a fourth day of searching today among logjams of twisted metal and splintered wood for more dead.

Watson, who earlier predicted an eventual death toll of 200, scaled down the figure to 100-150. But he admitted to reporters, "Your guess is as good as mine."

With an airborne evacuation of survivors completed, the list of injured stood at nearly 300, the missing totaled 250.

The federal government estimated property damage at up to $100 million. Robert Rosenheim, regional administrator of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, said that much money had already been set aside for relief and reconstruction, with more available if necessary.

Watson estimated it would take a year just to clear out the tons of debris. Reconstruction, he said, won't come as quickly.

Millionaire Charged In Murder Case

FORT WORTH, (AP) - Millionaire Thomas Cullen Davis, charged with two counts of murder and two counts of attempted murder, was free today under $80,000 bond.

The oil industry heir was charged in a shooting spree early Tuesday at the mansion of his estranged wife, Priscilla Davis, 35, who was wounded.

Police identified the dead as Stan Farr, 30, a former basketball star at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, and Andrea Lee Wilborn, 12, Mrs. Davis' daughter by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Davis had often been seen with Farr. She filed for divorce from Davis in July 1974, but those proceedings have been stalled over property settlement. Davis is president of Stratoflex, Inc., makers of oil field equipment fittings. The couple married eight years ago.

Mrs. Davis was reported in fair condition at a Fort Worth hospital, suffering from a gunshot wound in the stomach. Also wounded, and in critical condition, was Gus Gavrel Jr., 21.

Davis was arrested at a private home across town from the shooting scene. Justice of the Peace W.W. Matthews set bond, and honored a prosecution motion to have Davis examined by a Dallas psychiatrist.

Davis refused to answer questions of Dr. John Holbrook, the psychiatrist, and returned to Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon to post the bond.

More aliens were naturalized in 1944 than at any time, the Census Bureau's "Historical Statistics of the United States" reports. During that World War II year, 442,000 people were naturalized, including naturalizations in U.S.-occupied territories, as compared to 8,000 in 1907.

Texas Slump Continues; Rookie Blanks Rangers

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - The image of the California Angels is that of a team built around strong-arm strikeout artists like Nolan Ryan and Frank Tanana, but that image is being tarnished by rookie Paul Hartzell.

Hartzell tossed a four-hitter against Texas Tuesday night, nearly matching a three-hit White-washing in his previous start against the Rangers, as the Angels won 4-0.

"I'm not trying for strikeouts out there. I'm just not that kind of a pitcher," Hartzell said, "and I never will be."

The lanky rookie, 14 months out of Lehigh University, relied on an assortment of sinkers, sliders and changeups to induce the Rangers into 18 groundouts. He struck out only two.

The Rangers, in the doldrums of 21 losses in 26 games caused primarily by a batting slump, beat the Texas League All-Stars 18-4 Monday night, but they obviously left their hits in San Antonio.

"The Rangers may be going bad now, but there are no bad teams in the American League," said Hartzell. "Any team might knock out the best pitcher in the league at any time. Looking back, I feel like I let up on just one pitch all night and that the hardest ball they hit-a single by Jeff Burroughs. The just proves that you can't ever let up."

Manager Norm Sherry, hopeful of being rehired for 1977 since the Angels have gone 7-3 after he replaced Dick Williams, said, "This team is not worried about mistakes now. They're relaxed and having fun. They're professionals, but you still have to enjoy the game to play it."

"Hartzell has done well every time he's started although he hasn't had shutouts like he has against Texas," Sherry added.

"When you have a good location on your pitches like he had, you will be tough against anybody."

Texas managed two hits in the seventh against Hartzell, now 3-2 with 2-29 earned run average, but otherwise he was in control throughout the game.

Jim Umberger, who has been given a total of one run in his last three starts and now has lost five decisions in a row, blanked the Angels until the sixth, when they started a streak of four consecutive one-run innings.

Tommy Davis singled home a run in the sixth inning and hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth, Rusty Torres hit his fourth homer in the seventh and Jerry Remy singled in another run in the ninth.

Davis spent spring training with the New York Yankees, but was released just before the season started and was signed by the Angels as a designated hitter.

"My career would probably be over if it wasn't for the designated hitter," said Davis, who started the season with the highest lifetime DH batting average. "I like to hit and I don't have the range or ability to play the field much anymore."

He has played in the field only once since 1974.

Pirate Bats Silent; Dodgers Nip Houston

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Four runs in the last 38 innings, four losses in the last five games for the Pittsburgh Pirates. It seems there are termites in the Lumber Yard.

That's what people were calling the Pirates earlier in the season, when the power-laden lineup was hitting baseballs out of sight and first place wasn't 13 games away. But in the last eight games, three of which have gone extra innings, just 17 Pittsburgh runs have crossed in 83 innings.

Tuesday night, Don Kessinger of St. Louis drove in more runs than the Pirates could manage in their doubleheader, though Pittsburgh managed to beat the Cardinals 2-1 in the opener before dropping the nightcap 4-2.

In the other NL games, Los Angeles nipped Houston 2-0; Cincinnati blanked San Francisco 9-0; Chicago beat Philadelphia 4-0, before the Phillies took the nightcap 8-5; Atlanta topped San Diego 7-3 and New York edged Montreal 9-8.

Pittsburgh's opening-game triumph went to Jim Rooker, who pitched a six-hitter and drove in a seventh-inning run with a sacrifice fly.

Kessinger, who plated the St. Louis run with an eighth-inning double in the opener, drove in all four in the nightcap.

Dodgers 2, Astros 0

The Dodgers' Burt Hooton surrendered two first-inning singles to Greg Gross and Cesar Cedeno but didn't permit a hit the rest of the way in recording only his second victory in eight decisions. Both were shutouts.

Bill Buckner drove home Dave Lopes in the fourth and seventh innings for the offensive power at Los Angeles beat Houston for the eighth time in a row and 14th time in 15 games over two seasons.

Reds 9, Giants 0

Jack Billingham held San Francisco to three hits and Dave Concepcion drove in three runs as the Reds-winners of 17 of 22 since the All-Star break blasted the Giants for their seventh consecutive triumph.

Cubs 4-5, Phillies 0-8

A grand-slam homer by Garry Maddox powered Philadelphia past Chicago in the nightcap after the Cubs backed Rick Reuschel's nine-hitter with homeruns by rookie Wayne Tyrone and Jerry Morales in the opener.

Braves 7, Padres 3

Atlanta's Clarence Gaston, who had started only two games previously this season, hit two home runs and drive in five in support of Andy Messersmith. "Sometimes I get a little upset about not playing," said Gaston. "When I do, I take extra batting practice and take it out on the ball." Tuesday night, he took his frustration out on San Diego.

"I don't want to go out by being released," the 37-year-old Davis said. "I want to go out on my own."

In the other American League games, Kansas City stopped Minnesota 7-1; Cleveland blanked Boston 1-0 in 10 innings; Milwaukee outscored Baltimore 4-2; Oakland whipped the Chicago White Sox 7-3 and New York turned back Detroit 4-3.

Ticket Payment Needed

Holders of season football tickets for Hereford High school games have until August 20 to retain those tickets by teiding payment at the School Business Office, Mrs. Bobbie Kitchens of that office has announced.

Any season-tickets not claimed by August 20 will go on sale to the public. "The book of five tickets sells for $10, which is a savings of $2.50 off gate admission," Mrs. Kitchens said.

No chair seats are available this year," she added.

Barbara Fairchild At Rodeo Dance

"It's the greatest thing being out on stage. You know, people hear my songs and think I must be a little doll. But I'm not. That's why I come across better in person. They see I'm lively and can make 'em laugh. My heart and head are really in entertaining. This is what I really am and it really isn't captured in the studio." These are the words of Barbara Fairchild describing her greatest love, live entertainment.

Fairchild will display her talents Thursday night, August 5 when she performs for a dance as a part of the festivities surrounding the XII Rodeo and Reunion at Dalhart.

The dance will begin at 9:00 p.m. at the Rita Blanca Coliseum in Dalhart. It will climax the first day of the rodeo and reunion activities.

Fairchild's first album with Columbia records was "Someone Special" which was followed soon after by another album, "Love's Old Song". From the latter album a single entitled "Color My World" became a success, hitting number nineteen on the national charts. It was her third album, "A Sweeter Love" that finally established her as one of the top female vocalists in country music today. The album contained her smash hit, "The Teddy Bear Song" which hurled her to 'overnight' stardom.

"Kid Stuff" (her fourth album and hit single by the same title) and "Baby Doll" followed close on "Teddy Bear". Both were immediate successes. So much so in fact, that Fairchild began to fear she would be type-cast the next best thing to a dead end street for any entertainer. "I loved 'Teddy Bear', but I like to sing other kinds of songs," she insisted. "But there's a limit to how long people will buy that kind of thing and how long I can sing it."

Fairchild is firmly established as a Country Star and has a coterie of devoted fans to prove it. She has her own fan club, members of which all dote on, not only Barbara Fairchild the performer, but Barbara Fairchild the person. This is easily understandable. No prima donna, Barbara has a naturally sunny and relaxed disposition that invites admiration.

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Danny White, former quarterback and punter in the World Football League, is now the Dallas Cowboys' punter and quarterback.

The Cowboys traded last year's regular punter Mitch Hoopes to San Diego Tuesday, leaving the punting chores to White. This move allowed Dallas Coach Tom Landry the luxury of carrying a third quarterback.

Hoopes, Dallas' eighth-round draft choice in 1975, went to the Chargers for an undisclosed draft choice.

White led WFL punters in the abbreviated 1975 season with a 45.1 average and will occupy the third quarterback slot, behind Roger Staubach and Clint Longley.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - Doctors were expected to decide today if veteran Houston Oilers running back Warren McVea needs another operation on his right knee.

McVea, one of seven running backs competing for a spot on the Houston roster, hurt the knee in the third quarter of Monday night's overtime exhibition loss to Kansas City.

McVea, 30, was hospitalized when the team returned to Houston early Tuesday and the knee remained badly swollen Tuesday night.

In a 1914 Georgia-Alabama League baseball game, pitcher John Cantley hit three grand slam home runs and a single to drive in 15 runs in leading Opelika, Ga., to a 19-1 win over Talladega, Ala.

Hopeful Jockey Has Never Ridden

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - Yu Li Cullivan came to the heart of Bluegrass country to realize her dream of becoming a jockey. But she faces one hurdle. She's never been on a horse.

She says she'd been dreaming for months about becoming a jockey and decided last week to make her move. She boarded a plane last Friday in Iowa and flew to Bluegrass Airport here.

Wearing a new pair of blue-jeans and borrowed cowboy boots, the 5-foot mother of three at least looked like a jockey.

She says she's still nervous around horses "because they're so big" and she was afraid at first of being kicked.

But then she saw a horse up close for the first time, touched it, and already feels more comfortable about her ambition. "I feel different now," she said. "I feel the horse is very honest with me."

What gave the 33-year-old native of Taiwan the idea she could become a jockey without ever having ridden a horse?

She just decided to take the chance on making her dream come true, despite opposition from her husband, from whom she's separated. She feels she's being guided by a higher force, a holy spirit, she said.

"I think about it day and night," she said of her dream. "The horses' hair shining and me in jockey's colors riding him."

The dream apparently was strong enough to send her to a place where she knew no-one and had no idea how to get started. She said she came here because someone told her there were a lot of horses in Lexington.

She said she almost didn't get from Cedar Rapids to Lexington because she had to change planes at Chicago and didn't know how.

She didn't know where she would stay when she got here, either.

But despite the lack of certainty and her limited financial resources, she doesn't seem too concerned.

"I'm just going to plan day by day," she said.

A dispatcher for the airport limousine service got her settled in a motel for the weekend, and a woman she met at the Kentucky Training Center took her in Monday.

Mrs. Daniel Lotero, whose husband trains races horses, said she told Yu Li that "you can't just walk in and be a jockey. You've got to start at the bottom."

That didn't seem to discourage the young woman, and Mrs. Lotero said she's impressed with Yu Li's determination.

"If she's got that much nerve to come to an unknown city, she'll probably make it," Mrs. Lotero said.

Thomas, Johnson Fill Backup Roles

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - The Los Angeles Rams might remember seeing Dallas' second-string running back duo somewhere when they line up for the Cowboy-Ram clash in the Coliseum Saturday.

Duane Thomas is back at full speed and will team up in the backfield with Ron Johnson Saturday as the "second set" of backs.

The recently-acquired duo will play behind starters Robert Newhouse and Doug Dennison. Cowboy coaches said.

Thomas, picked up after a brief hitch with the World Football League; had been hampered by a strained hamstring since he reported to the Cowboy camp July 5. Prior to that, Thomas played with Dallas and Washington.

Johnson is a former New York Giant in his first year with Dallas.

Center John Fitzgerald, who bruised a knee in Dallas' 17-14 loss to Oakland Saturday, is also expected to be available against the Rams.

Free safety Cliff Harris tore a knee ligament and was back in Dallas, where doctors said he should be ready for duty in six weeks.

Some Cowboys were being limited in their work because of minor injuries.

Dallas released three players Monday and said more might be waived Tuesday. Waivers were asked Monday on quarterback Reggie Jackson, defensive back Tommy Moriarty and defensive lineman Joe Harvey.

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, COLO. (AP) - Dave Lawson of Shawnee Mission, Kan., has been voted the most valuable athlete at the Air Force Academy for the 1975-76 semester.

Lawson set four national and 15 academy records in kicking a football and earned letters last spring as a baseball designated hitter and as a javelin thrower on the track team.

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The San Diego padres have acquired pitcher Tom Griffin from the Houston Astros and will try him in a starting role.

The Astros have been using the 28-year-old right-hander mostly in relief this season. He has a 5-3 record.

Griffin's best season with the Astros was in 1974, when he had a 14-10 record and a 3.54 ERA as a starter. He was hampered by a shoulder injury last season and underwent surgery during the winter.

Networkings

The cast of NBC's Best Seller: "Captains and Kings" is beginning to round out. Vic Morrow, who played the phlegmatic Sgt. Saunders for several years on the old Combat series, has been signed to play an Irish politician. Harvey Jason, last seen on the small screen as Roy Cohn in "The Rosenberg Trial," switches nationalities to play a Lebanese immigrant.

Ann Southern, Joanna Pettet, Robert Vaughn and Ray Bolger have been cast as, respectively, a rooming house keeper, Joe Armagh's (the central figure, to be played by Richard Jordan) first love, a political boss and a bootlegger.

NBC offered Peter Falk a deal he couldn't refuse, and so he has donned the rumpled raincoat once more to lead Colombo into its sixth season. The opener features guest William Shatner as a TV detective who kills his producer. The Colombo big-wigs should watch it, they might put ideas into Falk's head.

The deal, by the way, was a cool million for four episodes.

Production has begun on ABC's "Rosemary's Baby II," starring Oscar winners Ruth Gordon, Ray Milland and Patty Duke Astin. Stephen McHattie plays Rosemary's son, now a young man with big trouble on his hands.

The plot for this sequel to one of the more chilling tales of the past decade, has Andrew ruled by a Satanic curse, rather than actually being the offspring of Satan. He struggles to escape from a coven of devil worshippers, but finds that they can control his life at will and he is helpless to prevent the ultimate destiny they have planned for him. Or is he?

There is talk in the air of turning this into a series, which would mean that years might go by before Andrew's destiny catches up with him. The most interesting note here is how the network has managed to take the villainous babe of the original, lop off his little horns and hooves and turn him into a persecuted youth. The better to sell advertising with, my dear.

John Ireland, a fine actor who has been seen all too rarely in films and on television, has been slated to guest star in a segment of Little House on the Prairie. The show's star and executive producer, Michael Landon, will direct the story, entitled "Little Girl Lost."

Robby Benson, who starred in the title roles of the feature films "Jeremy" and "Ode to Billy Joe," undergoes another name change for the upcoming NBC movie "Richie." He plays a barbiturate addict whose habit brings despair to his parents (Rod Steiger and Eileen Brennan).

I must get back to the sea again -- in Peter Benchley's case he never seems to get away from it. The author of the skyrocket best-seller "Jaws" and now "The Deep," has penned a seascape script for a television drama to air August 27 over CBS.

The title of the special is "Jeremiah," and stars Keenan Wynn as the wraith-like Captain Jeremiah Starbuck, whose 200-year residency in a seaside cottage is upset by the arrival of a police chief and his family.

The cantankerous sea captain is visible only to legitimate deedholders of the property he has inhabited for so long, as Police Chief Rankin, played by Ron Masak, quickly discovers.

Also starring in this one-hour family attraction are Arlene Golonka; Quinn Cummings, late of the Big Eddie series; Elliot Street and Brandon Cruz, who has grown up quite a bit since he charmed television audiences as Eddie in The Courtship of Eddie's Father.

Freddie Prinze: "It's all the little things that will bug me in my marriage -- taking out the garbage, or liking or not liking the same film."

John Davidson: "The power of TV is so great that even when you play in small towns, you play as if you were in a big city."

David Hartman is the star and host of "Good Morning America" on the ABC Television Network, MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY.

'TV Quotes'

Angie Dickinson: "I like to fast, I try to do it one or two days a month. It rinses out the system."

Johnny Carson: "I don't fast. I like to eat when I'm hungry. Sometimes I go all day without eating until at night."

Johnny Carson: "It was so hot today, I saw a fat man in a car wash impersonating a Buick... It was so hot today, Paul Williams bought a pint of vanilla ice cream and got in... It was so hot today, I passed a Brink's car and it had a screen door."

Rich Little: "Of all my impressions, when I do Paul Lynde it's instant recognition."

Bob Hope: "Danny Thomas is the only person I know with stained glass contact lenses."

Tony Randall: "I once went into a restaurant with Steve Lawrence and Mel Torme. A woman said, 'There's Steve Lawrence and Mel Torme and what's his name.'"

Neil Sedaka: "My last six songs have each been performed more than 400,000 times on radio or TV."

Gregory Peck: "My first job in show business was as a carnival grinder. That's the guy who draws the crowd in off the midway so that the barker can lure them up to the ticket window and into the tent."

Sandy Duncan: "Snakes are really graceful, but the idea of having them in my yard really offends me."

Carol Channing: "I think George Burns and Gracie Allen were the aristocracy of the theatre."

Cheryl Arney Honored At Kitchen Shower

Cheryl Arney, bride-elect of Michael Crim, was honored with a kitchen shower Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Josserand.

Light green, the bride-elect's chosen color, was depicted in the shower decorations. The refreshment table was covered with a beige cloth and a watermelon shell filled with fruit balls was used as a centerpiece.

Other refreshments included lime punch, finger sandwiches, dip and chips, chocolate bars and cookies.

Board Members Meet Tuesday

Members of the executive board of directors of the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce met for a Dutch treat luncheon Tuesday at Hereford Country Club.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Bill Johnson reported that the January membership meeting has been scheduled the 18th of that month at the Country Club. At this time, installation of new officers will be conducted and the Woman of the Year will be named.

Mrs. W.E. Sparks, Women's Division president, announced that the summer youth program was a success and a tour to Ranch Headquarters in Lubbock is planned later this year. She also reported that the welcome committee has been very active.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of Deaf Smith C of C, announced that he has slides available at the C of C office of the Miss Texas Pageant and the summer youth program.

He also suggested that members concern themselves of the program work and directors for next year and would appreciate any input from the women.

Present at the meeting were Tony McMorries, secretary from the C of C office, Bill Albright, and Mmes. Joe Railey, O.G. Nieman, Johnson, Sparks and Herschel Black.

Ann Landers Words of Wisdom

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a widow and soon to be a mother-in-law. I hope I can follow these rules as a gift to my son.

1. I will try to manage my modest income prudently so as not to be a financial burden.
2. I will respect the privacy of his home. I will not visit unless invited. I will realize my son and his wife need time together -- alone.
3. I will not hint to go along on vacations or weekend trips.
4. I will not present my son with chores to do on his day off.
5. I will be kind and loving toward his wife, never critical of her housekeeping, cooking or appearance.

6. If there are children, I will show no partiality, nor will I interfere with their discipline.

7. In summary, I will do my best, no matter how lonely, to avoid being selfish, domineering or clinging mother because my husband had one of those and I know what it did to my life.

--Been Through The Mill
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your letter is strong testimony that experience is the best of all teachers.

I find it interesting that 90 percent of the letters I receive pertaining to in-law problems are complaints against the mother-in-law -- not the father-in-law. And 80 percent of the mother-in-law beefs are against the husband's mother -- not the wife's.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A question frequently asked by students (the majority are girls) is this: "My mom gets bombed every night, double-bombed on weekends, fills the house with smoke, the raises hell when I smoke and gets crazy if I have a drink. Does she have a right to keep me from doing things she says are bad for me when she doesn't practice what she preaches?"

Can you give me a counselor, some advice on what I should say to these kids? -- An Advisor Who Is Seeking Your Advice

DEAR ADVISOR: Tell these kids it's a cop-out to use their parents' weaknesses as an excuse to take the low road.

A drunken, nicotine-addicted mother (or father) has been known to turn some children OFF booze and cigarettes as well as on. The decision is strictly up to the individual.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that when a husband runs around, has back-street affairs and finally asks his wife for a divorce, she is always the one at fault?

He tells everyone she was stupid, sloppy, cold, uncaring, a nagger, poor housekeeper, or a lousy bed-partner. Some of these accusations may be true when young couples break up, but when couples have been married 30 or 40 years it doesn't figure. Why would a man stay with a woman so long if she had those undesirable traits?

If there was some way to take the tramps out of circulation, the long-standing marriages would stick. When a man cheats on his wife he has to give a reason and it's NEVER his fault. Fascinating, isn't it? -- Shafted In Flint

DEAR SHAFTED: There are as many reasons for marriage break-ups as there are marriages.

The man (or woman) who runs down an ex tells more about himself than he tells about the ex. Nobody can sling mud without getting a little on himself.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." At The Library

Mysterious Epidemic Revealed By Author

"The R Document" By Irving Wallace and "Night Chills" by Dean R. Koontz are two books being featured this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

Shocking, authentic, excitingly readable, blending inside fact with fiction as only Irving Wallace can, "The R Document" will be one of the most widely read and talked-about novels of this year.

So brilliantly has Dean R. Koontz woven together the strands of creative imagination and meticulously documented research that the resulting fiction is too electrifyingly possible not to be believed.

Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. other weekdays and until noon Saturday.

The R Document by Irving Wallace

"The R Document"--the story of a conspiracy to destroy the bill of Rights, of an attempt by the FBI to take over the country.

Against a background of rising violence and crime, Wallace pits two opposing forces: those who are working to amend the Constitution so that the Government can impose a drastic rule of "Law and Order" and those who recognize that the proposed 35th Amendment may conceal a far more sinister and far-reaching plan, one that would subvert the entire process of Constitutional government and replace it with a police state.

Opponents in this life-and-death conflict are the bull-like, powerful Director of the FBI, Vernon T. Tynan, and the new Attorney General, Christopher Collins, an ambitious, honest man who supports the controversial 35th Amendment despite his private misgivings, but who discovers that there is a secret plot of an evil and vicious nature behind it.

Affidavits Claim Nixon Okayed Elimination Of Exiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas N. Downing, D-Va., has released affidavits from two men who claim that in 1960 Richard M. Nixon, then vice president, approved a rightwing Cuban exile's plan for "elimination" of left-wing Cuban exiles after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

Downing said Monday he could not verify or vouch for the statements, which came from the son of a late anti-Castro leader and an American author who claims to have been a CIA contract employee.

But Downing said the statements raise the possibility that right-wing Cubans assassinated President John F. Kennedy in 1963 because they felt betrayed when Kennedy withheld U.S. air support during the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961.

Downing said he does not personally believe Nixon agreed to any assassination of leftist exiles in the United States. "I don't think that was intended by Mr. Nixon. I believe he only intended to turn them over" to right-wing leader Mario Kohly, the congressman said.

An attempt to reach Nixon for comment at his home in San Clemente, Calif., was unsuccessful.

But in Miami, attorney Ellis Rubin, who said he represents the Bay of Pigs Brigade and Watergate and ex-CIA figure E. Howard Hunt, said that, "This allegation is absolutely false."

Downing has been campaigning for nearly two years for creation of a House committee to investigate the Kennedy assassination.

Kennedy assumed full responsibility for the U.S. role behind the Bay of Pigs invasion, but planning for the operation began during the Eisenhower administration when Nixon was vice president.

The two sworn statements were made recently by Mario Kohly Jr. and Robert Morrow, author of a fictional account of the Bay of Pigs.

Downing's office said Morrow brought both statements on his own to the congressman.

Morrow said Kohly told him a week after meeting with Nixon in October 1960 "that an agreement had been reached between the (Kohly) and the vice president for the elimination of Miro Cardona and all the leftists—Cuban Revolutionary Front leaders in order that Kohly could immediately take over the reins of power in Cuba once a successful invasion by exiles being trained by the CIA had been accomplished."

Morrow quoted Kohly as saying the agreement was made in return for his pledge to support the invasion with underground forces inside Cuba.

Kohly's son said: "I was told that Vice President Nixon had agreed to the elimination of the leftist-approved Cuban Revolutionary Front leaders at a time when the island would be invaded by the exile troops..."

President Proposes Legislation On Foreign Payments

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to prevent American firms from making questionable and illegal expenditures abroad, President Ford proposed legislation Tuesday to require U.S. corporations to disclose payments to foreign officials.

Ford said the legislation would require the companies to file reports with the government on a wide range of payments, and also would require identification of recipients of the money.

The President said the measure "will contribute significantly to the deterrence of future improper practices and to the restoration of confidence in American business standards."

The Securities and Exchange Commission has disclosed that at least 100 U.S. corporations have made questionable or illegal payments abroad. Ford said the figure is relatively small but that "it is clear that the questionable payments problem must be taken seriously."

Ford said the legislation, called the Foreign Payments Disclosure Act, is based on recommendations from a task force he established March 31 under the direction of Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson.

"The legislation will require reporting to the secretary of Commerce of certain classes of payments made by U.S. businesses and their foreign subsidiaries and affiliates in relation to business with foreign governments," Ford said in a message to Congress.

He said the legislation covers payments which are made to foreign government employees or representatives with the hope of obtaining or maintaining business or influencing the conduct of the foreign government. Also covered are political contributions.

"By requiring reporting of all significant payments, whether proper or improper...the legislation will avoid the difficult problems of definition and proof that arise in the context of enforcement of legislation that seeks to deal specifically with bribery or extortion abroad," Ford said.

Shaky Truce Allows Red Cross To Evacuate Wounded From Camp

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Under a shaky truce, the International Red Cross evacuated 91 badly wounded persons Tuesday from the besieged Palestinian refugee camp at Tal Zaatar.

A convoy of two ambulances and nine trucks entered the battered camp on Beirut's outskirts, loaded the wounded and carried them back through the Christian sector and across the no man's land that divides Beirut to a hospital in the Moslem-controlled part of the city.

While the convoy wound through the narrow streets of the Christian district, scores of people gathered in the streets and on balconies, mostly in silence, to watch it pass. As it crossed into the Moslem sector, Palestinian guerrillas and other Moslem soldiers cut loose with a frenzied barrage of gunfire in the air, celebrating the rescue of the wounded.

A Swedish photographer said that among those rescued was Eva Stahl, a 27-year-old Swedish nurse who lost an arm, suffered a broken leg and miscarriage during the siege. She was the wife of a guerrilla leader killed early in the battle.

The evacuees were the first of some 4,000 wounded the Red Cross hopes to take from the camp, which has been under siege by Christian rightist forces for six weeks.

Tuesday's operation took nearly seven hours from start to finish, with the Red Cross convoy spending about 3½ hours actually inside Tal Zaatar.

During the period, there were sporadic exchanges of gunfire around edges of the camp. But the Christian militia that had prevented five previous evacuation efforts generally abided by the truce negotiated by the Red Cross and the Arab League, and signed by the leaders of all Christian factions.

Christian officers refused, however, to let the Red Cross take one truckload of medical supplies and water into the camp.

A tense moment came just after the convoy, with Red Cross chief delegate Jean Hoeflinger in the lead car, left Tal Zaatar and was waiting to pass a checkpoint manned by troops of several Christian factions.

A few of the soldiers got into a heated argument apparently about who was going to check the trucks to verify that they contained only wounded. Two of them suddenly began firing their automatic rifles wildly, sending newsmen and other observers diving for cover.

The convoy was delayed for about an hour near the checkpoint and a Red Cross source later said it was because the Christians, in checking the wounded, found five who could walk and forced them to get off the trucks. But after a long discussion, they allowed the five to board the trucks again and leave with the convoy.

Palestinian spokesmen charged that the convoy had come under Christian sniper fire as it reached a former soccer field inside the camp that had been chosen as the place where the wounded would be loaded. The Christians denied the claim, but there was no way to be certain who was right, because of frequent sporadic firing during the evacuation.

Singapore Curbs Private Car Use

By KENNETH L. WHITING
Associated Press Writer

SINGAPORE (AP) — Highways are no longer happy ways for motorists on this crowded island since the government decided to curb private car ownership by pricing it out of the reach of many.

Thousands of cars have been taken off the road in recent months by those who say they cannot afford increased taxes and other expenses.

Automobile Association membership decreased last year for the first time in 57 years, by 179 to 30,928, said AA President Milton Tan.

commute by car found all public and private garages and parking lots had been ordered to raise their rates.

When officials noticed motorists dawdling outside the zone just before 9:30, the restriction was extended to 10:15 a.m. Taxis with fewer than four occupants were then included in the crackdown.

Earlier government efforts to improve traffic flow included one-way streets, special bus lanes, increased vehicle taxes and staggered office hours.

These didn't work and official policy now is to restrain "the growth of private car ownership by the imposition of higher road and related taxes and the Area Licensing Scheme... a gradual reduction in growth of cars until it reaches a constant two per cent per annum by 1992..."

The Area Licensing Scheme (ALS) was probably the most dramatic single stroke in the anticar campaign.

In June 1975 access to the central business district was restricted on weekday mornings. Large warning signs with lights were erected around the 2.5 square mile zone and policemen were posted at each from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. to note the license numbers of violators. Cars with four or more passengers and trucks, buses and taxis were granted free entry. All others had to pay a daily or monthly fee for the privilege.

Auto Makers, Insurance Firms Disagree On Restraint Systems

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Auto-makers and insurance companies disagreed Tuesday over whether seat belts or a passive restraint system such as air bags are the best way to reduce deaths and injuries in car crashes.

Spokesmen for four auto companies said a public education program designed to increase the use of seat belts and to encourage enactment of laws requiring motorists to use the belts would afford the best protection.

But insurance company representatives contended that passive restraint systems such as the air bag hold the best promise for reducing highway deaths.

Currently, the government requires automakers to provide seat and lap belts, so-called passive restraints such as air bags, which require no driver initiative to make them operative, or a combination of the two. Almost all automakers offer seat and lap belts, but General Motors has sold about 6,000 luxury cars with optional air bags in the past two years.

The conflicting statements came as Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. opened public hearings on what steps the government should take to best protect the American driving public.

Coleman has promised to decide by the end of the year whether new cars should eventually be equipped with air bags or other passive restraints or whether other options relying on increased use of existing lap and shoulder belts should be selected.

Dr. David S. Potter of General Motors told Coleman seat belts can give as much or more protection than air bags at considerably less cost to the customer. He contended air bags were untested and would add $187 to the cost of a car.

Sidney L. Terry of Chrysler Corp. said the nation could save 7,000 lives a year by getting 70 per cent of all motorists to use seatbelts already in their cars.

Frederick A. Stewart of American Motors and Herbert L. Mich of Ford Motor Co. said a national program to educate the public to use seat belts was the preferred course of action. They also called for mandatory seatbelt use laws.

But T. Lawrence Jones, president of the American Insurance Association, said the Department of Transportation had no authority to require states to enact mandatory seat belt laws.

Jones, who said he represented companies insuring over 95 per cent of America's motorists, said the cost of air bags had been overstated. He said air bags would save motorists about $32 per vehicle per year in insurance premiums because of the reduction of deaths and injuries.

William Haddon Jr. of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety said a poll of more than 1,000 persons who intend to buy new cars in the next three years showed that nearly 80 per cent of those interviewed preferred passive restraints. More than half opposed mandatory seat-belt laws, he said.

The median income of fulltime workers in the U.S. is expected to rise from $9,945 in 1970 to about $15,000 by 1985, according to a Conference Board study.

Army Cites Security As Reason For Cover Up In Death Of Civilian

By CHRIS CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army claims that national security reasons led it to conceal its role in an experiment with mind-altering drugs that killed a civilian in 1953, according to an internal Army report released by a congressman.

The Army initiated the investigation last August after admitting that Harold Blauer was an unwilling victim of a secret Army drug experiment at a New York State mental hospital in January 1953.

Rep. Thomas J. Downing, D-N.Y., who accused the Army last year of a cover-up in Blauer's death, released the internal report Monday.

The Army felt that its adversaries would have learned too much about the Army's chemical warfare program if it had revealed in 1953 that Blauer died in an Army test, the report said.

Blauer, a 42-year-old tennis professional who had voluntarily entered the New York State Psychiatric Institute for treatment of depression, died 2½ hours after he was injected with a mescaline derivative.

Blauer is one of two persons known to have died during government drug experiments on human guinea pigs. Army scientists Frank Olson committed suicide after he was slipped LSD in a CIA experiment in 1953.

An Army spokesman declined comment on the report Monday. However, the spokesman said the review was completed last September, but withheld because of pending litigation.

Blauer's daughter, Elizabeth Barrett, 36, of New York City, has filed multimillion-dollar damage suits against the Army, government officials and doctors for her father's death.

Blauer was among several patients who were given mescaline derivatives in a series of five tests over 29 days, according to the Army. None showed any serious effects prior to Blauer's collapse after the fifth test, the Army said.

The drugs were not prescribed for the patients' illnesses, but were intended "to create an exaggerated mental state" of schizophrenia for research purposes, according to a doctor quoted in the Army report.

The report said that under a secret agreement with the state of New York, the Army paid half of an $18,000 settlement to Blauer's widow, who sued the state for malpractice soon after Blauer's death.

MOSCOW (AP) - Soviet officials are expressing worry over new signs of international narcotics traffic through Moscow, mostly involving young foreigners flying through the Soviet capital from Asia to Western Europe.

At least 16 citizens of the United States, Australia, Great Britain, West Germany, the Netherlands and other countries have been seized by Moscow airport police in the past year for allegedly smuggling drugs including hashish and heroin.

Two of the foreigners, possibly more, are now serving terms in Soviet prison camps. The last such string of arrests was in 1976-68, when 15 young men from Western Europe, Canada and the United States were arrested for allegedly transporting hashish through the Soviet Union.

After those arrests and sentences of up to five years' confinement, the traffic seemed to stop. "I think it would be fair to say the Soviets are quite concerned about things at present, and they even asked me if I had any idea what could be done to stop the traffic," said a Western diplomat who talked with the Soviet foreign ministry after one of his country's citizens was arrested.

Nedelya, a weekly magazine published by the government newspaper Isvestia, reported this month that Soviet customs declaration forms were revised July 1 to include a special section on narcotics.

The weekly added: "A series of failures in getting drugs into other countries has forced the chiefs of the narcotics business to study new routes."

"Knowing that in the Soviet Union the social basis for narcotics addiction within the local population does not exist, they, obviously, have decided to try to grope around for a loop-hole by transporting narcotics through Moscow."

Specialists here point out that Moscow may have been a narcotics route for some time and the arrests in 1967-68 and now may simply reflect better customs checking or informants' tips.

"The cheapest way to get from Asia to Europe is via Moscow," Aeroflot the Soviet airline, one diplomat said. Asian air-ticket dealers have been known to work out cheap fares on Aeroflot that would be tougher to arrange on Western airlines that belong to the International Air Transport Association IATA.

The hours are long, the pay is low and the boss is likely to call in the middle of the night. Working for Ralph Nader is a full-time occupation; it leaves little room for a personal life or outside activities.

Some Naderites - the ones who are still working for and with the consumer advocate - say they wouldn't have it any other way. Others - the ones who have left - contend that the strain of keeping up with Nader's personal dedication harms not only the individual employes, but the quality of the work produced.

"Ralph drives his staff not by a whip, but by his example," said Mark Green, director of the Corporate Accountability Research Group who has taken a leave to work on Ramsey Clark's U.S. Senate campaign.

"He won't yell at you to work on a weekend, but you know he's working over the weekend..."

One example is Nader's influence on the smoking habits of his employes. Nader is a vehement critic of smoking and was one of the first to claim that the habit may be harmful not only to the smoker himself, but to those around him.

Visiting the Center for Study of Responsive Law to interview Nader you notice that no one smokes. There are no ashtrays in sight. It would be impolite to ask.

Two days later, however, Nader is away from the center. A butt-filled ashtray sits on the receptionist's desk. "I just haven't been able to give it up," explains the employe, "but I don't do it while Ralph's around. He never ordered us not to smoke, but..."

On the positive side, Arthur Best, a lawyer who worked for Nader's Center for Study of Responsive Law, said that Nader "is one of the most humane employers I know."

Working for Nader "is terrific if you are a person who has a high energy level and consider your work to be its own reward," said Best who is leaving the center after two years to become a law school teacher - something he says he always wanted to do.

On the negative side, James Turner, who worked for the center from 1968 to 1971 and was the author of "The Chemical Feast," a report on food additives, said that being a Nader employe was "pretty grim." He said he did not mind the long hours or the low salary, but objected to "the effort to use the same kind of controls you'd find in a corporation."

Turner said Nader employes were required to fill out detailed time sheets of their activities and got bogged down in paperwork. The time sheet campaign was an attempt to improve efficiency. When it didn't work, it was dropped. "The people who fail us at a sweatshop," said Nader.

"Most people in our organization do not work over 55 hours a week. That's fine." Nader, and several of his employes, said the 55-hour week is necessary. "This is a maximum public interest commitment," said Nader, adding that hard work is the only way to balance out the larger monetary and personnel resources of corporation lobbyists opposing the Nader campaigns.

Nader himself lives simply in a $90-a-month apartment. The landlady is rumored to be afraid to raise the rent. He guards his private life; socializes seldom. "He enjoyed socializing in a controlled situation," said John Esposito, who worked with Nader from 1967 to 1971. "He was not a small-talk person ...

He related to people who could talk issues." Esposito said Nader often was unaware of the pursuits and pleasures of the average American, of television shows, entertainment events, sports. He recalled that someone once mentioned to Nader that actress Gloria Swanson was interested in a particular environmental cause. Nader did not know who she was.

Esposito was one of several people whose marriages broke up while working for Nader. He said there was "no doubt" that his interest in work was a factor in the breakup, but stressed that there were other factors as well. Lowell Dodge, former director of the Center for Auto Safety, also got a divorce while working with Nader. "There's a lot of pressure," he said, "conflicting claims. I just didn't manage those conflicting claims very well."

In contrast, Alan Morrison, head of the Litigation Group, said, "I find him Nader considerate of me and my family. And I'm married and have two children."

Nader does not pay high salaries. But the rumors about starvation wages are not true.

Lawyer Best was paid $13,000 a year. Morrison started at $15,000 in 1972. He declined to give his current salary, but said it was less than the $23,500 he was earning when he left the U.S. Attorney's office in the Southern District of New York to join Nader.

Nader's own earnings from speaking fees, book royalties, etc. are, he insists, strictly private. Most estimates are in the area of $250,000 a year. Nader plows back much of the money - he won't say how much - into his organizations.

Nader is careful about money. Ellen Sulzberger Straus, who founded Call for Action, Inc., which worked with the Nader organization on a recent study of consumer complaints, said: "He knows about how many paper clips are used in his office. He's pretty budget conscious. I've never seen those kids...not scared to death of spending a nickel. There is no kind of padding."

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

Departments and administrative bodies in government have always required a number of forms to be printed, distributed and completed to assist them in providing services for the citizens they serve.

However, more likely than not, the multiplicity of those forms and the information required, has resulted in an avalanche of "red tape" which impairs the ability of government to render effective service.

In many instances an unnecessary burden is placed on government and creates a burdensome, time-consuming and costly responsibility to citizens, business and all those who must fill out an endless number of blanks and spaces.

Mushrooming government regulation costs $4 billion a year and that cost is paid for by consumers. Additionally, the hidden cost in the reduced rate of technological innovation caused by the inevitable slow down, must be added to the total cost.

Government regulation with which we are familiar, dates back 100 years to the Interstate Commerce Commission, when railroad rates were being jacked up to farmers at harvest time.

There was a need for regulation then. There remains a need for watchfulness by government today. Government should act against unscrupulous practices and the waste of our national resources.

However, it is evident in too many cases that regulation extends beyond logical considerations.

There have been many publicized instances where cost has not been important to federal regulation. Government has been caught up in wastefulness and foolishness and engaged in trivia at the expense of the American taxpayer and business.

Today six agencies of the federal government expend 2.92 billion dollars for business regulation alone. That figure has risen steadily in recent years and government at the state level has contributed to that growth.

Some states have begun to move against the duplication and cumbersome delay caused by governmental bureaucracy.

In my opinion, government should not always be obligated to regulate. Government's role should be limited when it goes beyond protecting us from each other and attempts to regulate us from ourselves.

Maybe we should be asking what human purpose regulation fills before we plunge headlong into building more red tape into our system.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN - More than 29,000 miles of Texas roads and 2,564 bridges are hazardous because they were designed for traffic conditions of 40 years ago.

This is the conclusion of The Road Information Program (TRIP) nationwide study just completed. TRIP found 56,000 accidents were caused in Texas last year by road hazards. The accidents cost $173 million in hospital fees, property damage and payments to accident victims and survivors.

The Washington, D. C.-based research and information agency estimated nearly 17,000 miles of roads and streets are too narrow for safe passing by large trucks, school buses and other bulky vehicles at posted speeds. Another 12,606 miles contain sharp curves, soft shoulders, steep rises and dips, roadside obstructions, restricted sight distances and inadequate warning signs.

TRIP acknowledged that human error was a factor in almost all the 468,596 Texas highway accidents in 1975, but one accident in eight reportedly would not have occurred if road design and engineering had been adequate.

Texas Good Roads/Transportation Association also noted 20-year-old portions of the Interstate System are now obsolete and in need of modernization.

Rates Rising
State Insurance Board actuaries laid out recommendations for an auto coverage increase of about 20 percent.

Companies asked a 27.9 percent boost. The board August 4 resumed the statewide-car insurance hearing which recessed July 14.

Courts Speak
Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld lower court rulings against a permanent injunction sought by State Rep. Luther Jones of El Paso to stop a Texas Legislative Council property tax revision study through an inter-agency contract signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The legislature appropriated $5 million last year for a study

House Speaker Bill Clayton, while plugging for complete decontrol of natural gas prices, said the FPC decision could bring as much as $400 million new money into the treasury for appropriation by the legislature at its 1977 session.

New Industries
Seventeen new industries - ranging from cheesecakes to sewage treatment - will bring an extra $40.7 million to the Texas economy, Texas Industrial Commission reports.

The concerns which began operating during June will employ nearly 800 new workers, and the jobs will generate, in turn, another 700 additional job slots.

New industries are located in San Antonio, Dallas, Longview, Marble Falls, Stephenville, Marshall, Yoakum, Port Arthur, Wichita Falls and Austin.

Highway Commission Okays $38 Million Program

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission approved a $38 million safety and betterment program Tuesday for 3,164 miles of U.S. and state highways in Texas.

The program also will be used for improvement of farm to market roads.

The program involved 552 projects in 190 counties of the state.

Also approved Tuesday was a 1977 federal system railroad signal safety program. It involves 50 projects in 16 highway districts at a total cost of $2,418,000. All of the projects are subject to federal highway approval.

Other action Tuesday by the commission, by counties, included:

Wilbarger-approved second stage construction for a section of U.S. 287, closing one of last major gaps in a multilane highway from Fort Worth to Amarillo. The project northwest of Vernon, involved 9.9 miles, estimated cost $2.3 million.

Crockett-approved construction of an expressway facility on a section of Interstate 10, 17.4 miles west of Ozona for a distance of 5.2 miles, estimated cost $4.7 million.

Lamar-approved reconstruction of the Texas 19 crossing of North Sulphur River, estimated costs $436,000.

Dallas-approved state participation in a public transportation improvement project in Dallas that involves purchase of five new air conditioned passenger coaches and other equipment, estimated state cost $18,000.

Sabine-designated a farm to market road to provide access to the Indian Mounds Recreational Area, from Farm Road 83, four miles southward, estimated cost $150,000.

Galveston-approved final feasibility studies for a toll bridge across Offatt's Bayou between Galveston Island and the mainland.

Workman's Insurance Boosted

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Insurance Board approved a 5.5 per cent across-the-board increase in workmen's compensation rates Tuesday.

The increase, recommended by the board staff at a June 29 hearing, takes effect Sept. 1 and covers the cost of benefit increases that automatically take effect that day.

Insurance companies, contending that workmen's compensation benefits were outstripping premiums almost every year, had sought a 19.2 per cent increase.

Board members turned down a request by the companies to remove the $200 per worker per month limit on salaries used in an employer's rate base.

TRC Reports Oil, Gas Discoveries

AUSTIN (AP) Twenty-nine oil discoveries and 52 gas strikes were recorded in Texas during the July 16-31 period, the railroad commission said Tuesday.

The commission also said 4,332 oil wells have been completed this year, up from 3,887 during the same period of 1975.

Gas well completions total 2,431, compared with 1,884 a year ago.

Oil discoveries included two in the San Antonio area, seven in Southeast Texas, eight in deep South Texas, one in East Central Texas, four in West Central Texas, three in the San Angelo area and four in North Texas.

Gas strikes included 17 in deep south Texas, nine in the Refugio area, eight in Southeast Texas, four in the Midland area, three each in the San Antonio area, East Central Texas, East Texas and the San Angelo area and one each in West Central Texas and the Panhandle.

The dark meat of the turkey is dark because it has been well supplied with blood vessels. The white meat of the breasts — the muscles that power the wings — indicates that bred-for-eating turkeys are weak flyers at best. Wild turkeys, on the other hand, may be able to fly a mile, hitting 45 miles an hour.

Tighter Regulation Called For As RR Commission Hearings End

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - The Railroad Commission's "fact-finding" hearing on automatic flow-through of higher gas costs to consumers ended Tuesday with three witnesses calling for tighter regulation.

Examfner John Camp said the possibilities for commission action are "open-ended", meaning it could issue some proposed rules, resume the hearing or take no action.

Jack Hopper of Austin, a private economic consultant who advised Lane Denton in his losing race for a seat on the commission, said the commission should send out audit teams to verify the gas purchase costs that utilities are passing on to customers.

"The fact that the commission is not here is an indication that the commission doesn't take much interest in this problem," Hopper said.

Bill McMorries of Amarillo, president of McMorries & Associates, consulting engineers, said automatic pass-throughs were a cause of rising gas prices.

He countered the utility companies' view that requiring hearings before higher gas costs could be flowed through would produce a welter of expensive proceedings.

"It is no more inconvenient for utilities to obtain prior approval for rate increases than it is for the consuming public to endure those increases," he said.

R.H. Aughinbaugh, Fort Worth director of consumer protection and public utilities, said the automatic pass-through is a reasonable measure but should be limited to 85 per cent of cost and closed in with safeguards.

In Monday's testimony, a small town gas company spokesman, who operates some gas wells of his own, said it was hard to understand why the big companies pay so much for gas.

Nazareth Postal Head Accepts New Position

Appointment of Mary E. Harlan as Postmaster for White Deer, Texas was announced today by Southern Regional Postmaster General, J.J. Symbol. Mrs. Harlan will succeed retiring Postmaster, Golda I. Evans.

Mary E. Harlan was promoted from the Postmaster position at Nazareth, Texas to the larger Post Office at White Deer. She has been Postmaster at Nazareth for the past two (2) years. Mrs. Harlan is returning to her former home in the White Deer-Skellytown area where she was previously a Post Clerk for eleven (11) years.

She and her late husband, Gene Harlan, operated the Industrial Equipment firm at Skellytown for several years. Several years back, she served as Deputy District Clerk at Pampa. While in Nazareth, she was active in the Art Club and American Legion Auxiliary and was honored by being selected by the Nazareth High School students as a "Secret Grannie".

Southwestern Life Names Bell

Charles Bell Jr., Southwestern Life Insurance Company representative in Hereford, has been named Leader of the Month for June in his firm's Amarillo territory.

Southwestern Life is one of the nation's leading insurers, operating in 35 states plus the District of Columbia. It has more than $7 billion of insurance in force.

About 30 Syrians were killed March 17, 1962, in an Israeli raid on Syrian territory near the Sea of Galilee in retaliation for Syrian attacks on Israeli fishermen.

The Supreme Court ruled in a Tennessee case, March 26, 1962, that federal courts have the right to scrutinize the apportioning of seats in state legislatures.

19.3 Per Cent Increase Asked For Insurance

AUSTIN (AP) - State insurance board staffers today recommended a 19.3 per cent average increase in private passenger auto insurance rates.

That is considerably less than the 27.9 per cent increase sought by the insurance industry, and a source predicted the board eventually would order an even smaller increase.

Actual premiums paid will vary widely from the state average, depending on age of driver, make and model of car, rating territory, driving record and the use to which one puts his or her automobile.

A typical driver carries minimum liability, $100-deductible collision and full-coverage comprehensive, is over 25 and drives a late model Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth to and from work.

For such a driver, the increase would range from a low of $23 in Wise County to a high of $97 in Webb County.

Under the recommendations made earlier by the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office the increases ranged from $20 in Waller County to $85 in Harris County. The board staff proposed a $26 increase for Waller County and an $84 jump in Harris County.

Both groups worked with the same statistics on accidents and their costs, but used different methods for predicting future expenses of auto smashups. The insurance companies, for instance gave double weight to loss costs for the most recent six quarters for which data was available, while the board did not. Double weighting tends to push up indicated rates because medical and auto repair costs were rising steeply during that period.

The board staff's recommendations include a 7.6 per cent average decrease for uninsured motorist coverage and a 9.3 per cent dip for fire and theft.

Average increases recommended by the staff, by category of coverage, are:

-Bodily injury liability, 16.6 per cent.

-Property damage liability, 26 per cent.

-Medical payments 14.8 per cent.

-Comprehensive, 14.4 per cent.

-Collision, 25.5 per cent.

The board expects to put new rates into effect Oct. 1, just 10 months after ordering an average 15.5 per cent increase.

The increases proposed by the board staff would raise Texans' total premiums by about $180 million a year.

Typical increases, according to rating territory: Harris County, $84, Dallas County, $53, Tarrant County, $49, El Paso County, $44, Orange County, $35, East Texas Oil Field, $43, Lubbock county, $29, Taylor County, $48, Potter and Randall Counties, $27, Lower Rio Grande Valley, $59, Coastal Counties, $31, Northeastern Territory, $50, Southeastern Territory, $39, West Texas Oil Field, $49, Western Territory, $46.

WASHINGTON (AP) - A mockingbird can sing all day and all night if the mood strikes him, often to the dismay of those who must listen to his seemingly limitless repertoire, says the National Geographic Society.

According to one ornithologist, the bird — whose favorite season is spring — "borrows songs for no other purpose than to have something to sing. He weaves together and repeats song motifs of his own invention and others that he hears." Unlike most birds, the mocker can sing while in flight and seems to be inspired by a full moon.

Mockingbirds can imitate other sounds too. A Dallas radio amateur traced odd messages to a mockingbird sending his own Morse code messages. A Washington mocker was known for his ability to sing along with the National Symphony
