School Board Approves Teachers, Discusses Suit

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Three teacher resignations and the employment of three others topped the actions of the Hereford School Board of Trustees during a regular meeting Tuesday evening at the school district administration building.

The board members progressed rapidly through an uneventful agenda filled mostly with committee and administrative reports.

Following a three-hour open session, the board convened in closed session to review recent developments concerning the $400,000 civil suit filed against the board by Wayne Woodward, a teacher dismissed last year from La Plata Junior High School. The suit was scheduled to appear on a docket call in Federal District court in Amarillo Monday, but it was delayed a second time due to the Wheatheart Feedlot fund scandal trial.

RICHARD GREEN, attorney for the schools, reported this morning that the case was bumped a second time (it had been on a docket last week) due to the Wheatheart case and that the Woodward suit will be high on the list for another docket call expected sometime shortly after Jan. 1, 1977. He said the court judge Hal Woodward wants to hear the case and that a trial date should be selected. It could come to trial sooner if it is transferred to another court, possibly in Lubbock, or if a summary judgement is asked although the district is not expected to do so due to the high rate of reversals in the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Larry Wartes, acting superintendent, told trustees that the start of school classes this year has run as smoothly as it ever has. Schools began with a much higher enrollment than usual. It is explained in further detail in another story in this issue.

"School is going fine," he said. "We may have the usual problems later, but now it is smooth."

JIM CONKWRIGHT, board president, commended the staff for the good start of classes and expressed the thought that it may continue this way all year.

The teachers resigning include Nancy Malone, a math instructor at Stanton Junior High School; Debbie Brooke, a teacher at West Central Elementary School; and Don Clements, a math instructor at Hereford High School. Reasons for resignations were respectively personal family problems, a move with husband to another job in Kansas, and acceptance of a job with a local feedlot.

Wartes said all were highly valued educators and a loss to the district.

Teachers elected to employment contracts were Martha Miller, a social studies teacher at Stanton; Gayla Kimball, a West Central Elementary instructor; and Pamela Louder, a HHS math teacher.

Ed McCreary, director of federal programs, said that a special program under the initials of MAPP had been successfully completed this summer. It involved 15 local freshman students of migrant families who attended morning classes at St. Edwards University and worked in afternoons for a 12-week period. It was totally funded and implemented by the university as a special project in which migrant students will be traced through their high school careers to see if the summer classes improved their learning ability.

The local district handled no funds except for a bus expense incurred in taking parents to the university. It will be reimbursed by the program, which is handled through the governor's office.

Mal Manchee, coordinator of program development reported that the third grade bi-lingual education program began this year with a total of 552 students tentatively enrolled in grades K-5 through three. It is for those of limited English speaking ability.

Richard Robinson, vocational education director, said that 154 students enrolled in the college level course offerings in the Community Education Program. Also, the community service courses are being offered for those who desire a selection of non-credit courses as a means of broadening educations or for pleasure.

THE ADULT BASIC EDUCATION Program (ABE) will begin soon, he said. It is for adults wanting to finish up work on high school diplomas by earning a GED certificate.

Promise To Bounty

Well-filled ears of bright yellow corn such as these give Deaf Smith County farmers reason to be optimistic about grain yields this year. Full scale harvesting of this year's corn crop is still a week or more away, although numerous farmers have already taken small samples of the grain to local elevators for moisture checks. Farmers hope to harvest at a time when moisture content is high enough to keep field losses at a minimum, yet low enough to avoid excessive docking at the elevator. Corn, virtually an unheard of crop only a few short years ago on the High Plains, has become the frontrunning grain crop in many areas, with acreage in the High Plains estimated at 500,000 acres. Predictions call for a huge corn crop across the nation this year, and with the possibility of a surplus of the yellow grain, farmers will be watching anxiously, and hoping the downturn in the marketplace brought on by the abundance isn't too severe. Hereford Refuses Support

Cities, Pioneer Agree to Dismiss Gas Price Hearing Before TRC

With some West Texas cities cooperating, the Pioneer Natural Gas Company took under advisement a dismissal of its request for a hearing before the Texas Railroad Commission (TRC) scheduled for Tuesday.

The action came when a "stipulation"

Reese Appear In Hereford This Friday

Republican challenger Jim Reese, a candidate for the 19th Congressional district seat, is expected to arrive in Hereford Friday for informal meetings with voters and the media.

Wes Fisher, his local campaign manager, said that no specific gatherings were scheduled although the candidate wants to meet with voters at random. Reese will visit with local representatives of the press to discuss his campaign issues.

The former mayor of Odessa is running against George Mahon, the Democratic nominee for the U.S. House of Representatives. He has held the seat for over four decades.

Earlier in the year, Reese challenged Mahon to a debate, but Mahon declined.

Reese claims to be more conservative and therefore more representative of the West Texas electorate. Mahon though has been a hard core conservative most of his tenure, but the challenger says he has voted more liberal recently to retain his high office as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

was filed with the consent of only about five cities of almost 60 involved in the Pioneer West Texas System. It stated essentially that the cities had examined material supplied by Pioneer to them and concluded that no dispute existed with the company's method of pricing gas to customers through a cost-of-gas adjustment. It allows the company to pass on all increased costs incurred in buying the raw product in the field.

Pioneer also agreed to the stipulation. The Tuesday actions occurred before a hearing officer of the TRC and Pioneer and city officials both confirm that a dismissal of the requested hearing will be recommended to the whole TRC in about two weeks.

John Aikin, a local attorney representing the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association and Hereford, said this morning that originally Hereford was one of the cities participating in the stipulation as requested by Fred Senter, Lubbock city attorney, who was representing the cities as a group.

Dudley Bayne, city manager, said that Senter had submitted Hereford's name against his instruction not to and that Aikin had to request that the name be withdrawn. After Pioneer requested the hearing, the cities jointly filed on Sept. 4 an intervention into the case by stating the TRC had no authority to hear the case.

Pioneer claims the state agency has the right to hear it and arranged the stipulation with the cities.

Aikin noted that a continuance of the case was requested although he saw no need in it since Pioneer did not present any evidence of support to proceed with the hearing.

"I wanted the case tried," he said. "They didn't want any of their witnesses cross examined."

In announcing that Pioneer had joined in the Stipulation to dismiss the application, K.B. Watson, company president said, "When we asked for this hearing in July it was our intention to have a constructive review of the manner, policies, practices and procedures, methods and techniques which Pioneer has employed in maintaining its gas supply. We provided all interested parties with our proposed testimony and exhibits about 30 days ago, and after study of our material, the parties to the new filing agreed they have 'no current controversy' with Pioneer's methods in maintaining its gas supply."

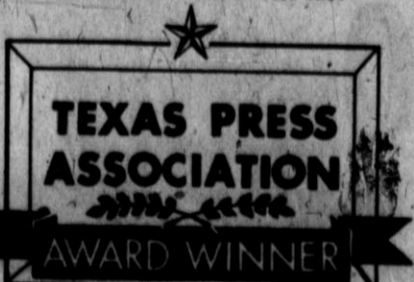

Watson went on to say, "Even though all the cities on the West Texas System were not involved, in view of the position of the cities in the 'Stipulation', and the request of all other participants to dismiss the hearing, the productivity of further proceedings for all parties at this time was not apparent when compared with the possible time involved for all parties, and Pioneer joined in the motion to dismiss."

Watson concluded his announcement by saying, "As Pioneer stated in making the application to the Texas Railroad Commission, the company believes it has been prudent in acquiring its gas supply in a market of rapidly rising prices over the past three years. We have succeeded in maintaining an enviable gas supply situation for our customers for the continued economic health and future growth of our area. Due to the practices which Pioneer has employed, Pioneer has one of the lowest - probably the lowest - average cost of gas of any of the larger gas companies in the State of Texas even though it has added more gas reserves than its sales of gas in each of the past two years."

Truck Driver Reports Theft Of CB Radio

An out of state truck driver reported the theft of a CB radio to Hereford police Tuesday.

Allen B. Williams of West Virginia told officers that his truck was parked behind the Ater Service Station on West Highway 60 when a CB radio valued at $175 was taken from the tractor cab.

School Enrollment Up By 119, Count Shows

The enrollment for the Hereford Independent School District amounted to 5,692 students as of a head count conducted Tuesday by school district officials. This reflects an increase of 119 students over this time last year.

It is a significantly higher figure that the initial enrollment report filed by the district on Aug. 17, when registration was conducted.

The Hereford High School student body numbered 1,101, a little more than the 1,071 students enrolling last year at this time.

The largest increase was experienced in the elementary schools with a total of 2,615 compared with 2,551 last year. The two junior high schools reported only a one student increase with an enrollment of 1,460 students.

Bill Phillips, assistant superintendent, reviewed the reasons for the increase including a much higher interest in the five-year-old kindergarten classes, which adds 405 students to the total enrollment. Last year, it numbered only 367. It became open to all students three years ago after it had been a migrant only program.

Four-year-old kindergarten is still a migrant program and it enrolled 80 students.

The figures were released during the regular school board meeting held Tuesday evening. Board members considered the possible alternatives to ethnic makeup of the schools, and concluded that figures for the minority students, with most schools in the 60 per cent range, would have to be submitted to the state as is and consequences faced later.

School officials said some schools could be as slow as 50 per cent Mexican-American and Black with one school possibly as high as 70 per cent. This could be different when figures are compiled later. Districting has not been able to adequately spread the minorities among the local schools and the district could later be forced to take actions such as bussing.

The recommended ratio of minorities in each school is around 66 per cent.

Personal Fund Use Accused Of Wheatheart

AMARILLO, (AP) - The prosecuting attorney in the Wheatheart, Inc., federal fraud case Tuesday accused the three officials on trial of using company funds for personal endeavors.

Prosecutor William Wooster said two of the former Wheatheart officials used business funds to finance a 75,000-acre ranch purchase of a Midwest City, Okla., bank and the purchase of an oil field drilling company.

Testimony continues today.

On trial are former Wheatheart president John O. Pitts Jr. of Oklahoma City; J.D. Hodges, a company director from Woodward, Okla.; and Henry F. Sherrin of Oklahoma City, the company's former treasurer.

The three Oklahoma officers of what was once the second largest cattle feeding company in the nation were indicted by a federal grand jury here in March on 26 counts of fraud and conspiracy.

Moynihan Wins Nomination

By The Associated Press
Daniel Patrick Moynihan, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, will race James Buckley for the U.S. Senate seat from New York. On a day in which such national figures like Edward Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey and William Proxmire were easily renominated for their Senate seats by the Democrats in their states, Moynihan edged Rep. Bella Abzug on Tuesday in New York's Democratic contest and Buckley won as expected on the Republican side. Voter turnout in 11 other state primaries was light, with estimates running from 17 per cent to 33 per cent.

The Communists the second largest party, were expected to present a bill legalizing therapeutic abortions recommended by a doctor, a practise approved by a recent court ruling

Ford Workers Strike

DETROIT (AP) - With 170,000 United Auto Workers on strike against Ford Motor Co. in 22 states, the key question is how long the walkout will last. Officials for both sides say a repeat of 1967's 66-day strike would hurt the nation's economic recovery.

There is almost no chance the strike will be settled quickly, because neither side expects contract talks to resume before next week. Workers at assembly plants in New Jersey and Chicago were the first to set up picket lines on Tuesday, beating the official midnight deadline.

YMCA Membership Drive Continues; Programs Set

A membership drive was launched Saturday for the Hereford & Vicinity YMCA, and the week-long campaign as proclaimed by Mayor Jim Sears continues the remainder of this week.

Registration was relatively light at the membership roundup Saturday at the Community Center, but Y officials expected the sign-up to continue this week and more to come as special programs and activities get underway.

A total of 65 persons were registered Saturday as members of the new YMCA organization. In addition, the Y has signed 126 boys for the flag football program, and about a dozen have signed up for informal education classes.

Persons wishing to join the Y can sign up at the YMCA office, 413 E. 6th, or can mail their check to that address. Membership dues are $12 a year for youth, $24 for adults, or $50 for the entire family. Persons can enroll at any time, and the membership is valid for one year from that date.

Claude Huard, executive director of the Y, reported Tuesday that a few more boys were needed in the flag football program in order to have a full complement of players for 12 teams. Informal education classes will get underway next week, and those with membership cards receive a $2 discount on fees for the classes.

The flag football league will be for boys in the third through sixth grades, and the schedule will run from September through December. It is open to non-members, too. A floor hockey league is scheduled to start in December. Volleyball leagues will begin in October for men and women, and basketball leagues will start in December and January.

Topics for the informal education classes include: Law for the Layman, Stamps, Cake Decorating, Wrestling, String Art, Emergency Care, Archery for Beginners, Furniture Refinishing, Floral Designing, Photography, Interior Decorating, Trimmastics, Holiday Decorating, Lapidary Art, and Principles of Christian Faith. Contact the Y office for further information.

Vietnam Claims Diplomatic Note Exchanges Made

Markets, Research Needed For Cattlemen, Official Says

DALLAS (AP) - Hearings by the U.S. Department of Agriculture into whether or not a government program to develop beef markets and perform research is needed began Tuesday with testimony from the president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

the association's beef development task force, said the program, authorized by the Beef Research and Information Act, would cost about $35 million per year. He said national and state councils have collected only $3.5 million to spend on efforts to promote beef and foster consumer education.

400 Cases Of Illegal Food Stamp Use Found Each Month

AUSTIN, (AP) - Commissioner Raymond Vowell says the welfare department uncovers up to 400 cases a month of persons using food stamps illegally, with some even substituting them for money in poker games.

School Enrollment Decline Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's college and school enrollments this fall are expected to decline slightly from last year's historic high of 60.2 million students because of the low birth rate, according to the government's annual "Back to School" report released Tuesday.

Total education expenditures in the 1976-77 school year, however, are expected to top $130 billion, an increase of about $10 billion over the previous year, and the number of classroom teachers and other instructional staff members is expected to rise slightly to almost 3.2 million persons.

slowly but steadily since 1970, secondary school enrollments will peak this year, and college and university enrollments should begin falling around 1983 or 1984, HEW said.

Connally To Cost Ford Votes

DALLAS (AP) - The director of the Dallas-based Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission said Tuesday that John Connally will cost President Ford the votes of Texas Baptists in November.

Connally is so out of favor with Texas Baptists they have so little respect for him as a person that he is a liability for Ford's campaign," said Dr. James M. Dunn.

Dunn added, "Just the fact that Carter is a Southern Baptist woman's swing much weight. Harry Truman was a Southern Baptist and he actually met with some hostility from Texas Baptist voters."

Wall Injures Six In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A wall of a three-story downtown building in the process of being razed fell into a busy street during the afternoon rush hour Tuesday, injuring six persons, authorities said.

HEW officials noted that the birth rate has been falling for 10 years. It showed its biggest drop from 1970 to 1975, when it fell from 18.3 to 14.8 for each 1,000 persons in the country.

Enrollments are forecast to decline more than 1 per cent, to 34.2 million youngsters, in public and private elementary schools, increase less than 1 per cent to 15.8 million students in high schools, and jump 4 per cent to 10.1 million in colleges and universities.

Low Tar, Nicotine Smokes Better

COLD SPRINGS HARBOR, N.Y. (AP) - The first "definitive evidence" shows that persons who smoke low-tar and low-nicotine cigarettes are less likely to die from lung cancer and coronary disease than other smokers.

defined as those containing 25.8 to 35.7 milligrams of tar and 2.0 to 2.7 milligrams of nicotine. "Low" tar-nicotine cigarettes included those with less than 17.6 milligrams of tar and less than 1.2 milligrams of nicotine.

However, the American Cancer Society said its analysis showed that death rates among those who smoke cigarettes low in tar and nicotine were still far higher than the death rates of those who never smoked regularly.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, who presented the findings, said there had been concern that deaths rates among smokers of low tar and nicotine cigarettes might increase because they would inhale more deeply and thereby take in more carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide and "secret additives."

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office in Hereford, Texas under the act of March 3, 1967. Second class postage paid at Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas.

The survey showed that lung cancer deaths among smokers of "medium" tar-nicotine cigarettes were 10 per cent fewer than among smokers of high residue cigarettes. Lung cancer deaths from "low" tar-nicotine cigarettes were 26 per cent fewer than among high tar-nicotine cigarette smokers.

School Tax Method Said Improper

BEAUMONT, (AP) - A federal class action suit filed here Monday by San Augustine, Tex., school board members claims the way the state collects school taxes is unconstitutional.

The suit alleges that the 64th Texas Legislature drew up a school financing bill based on the information which the suit said does not accurately reflect tax revenues and the bill should be declared unconstitutional.

Santa Fe Buys Oil Properties

John J. Schmidt, executive vice president of Santa Fe Industries, Inc., and George D. Darnelle, president of Westates Petroleum Co., announced the execution of a definitive contract for the sale of Westates' oil and gas properties and certain other assets to Santa Fe for a price of $73,718,000.

Darnelle stated that the agreement was subject to approval by Westates' stockholders and that it was expected that the stockholders' meeting would be held in late October or early November.

Welfare Commissioner Wants Laws To Punish Food Stamp Fraud

AUSTIN (AP)—Welfare commissioner Raymond Vowell said Tuesday he will ask the legislature for laws to protect "abused, neglected and mistreated" elderly and to punish those who use food stamps illegally.

Vowell told a House subcommittee there are 9,000 Texans over 100 years of age and up to 90,000 who are over 85.

The subcommittee is preparing a report on Texas' welfare system for the 1977 legislature.

"These people," Vowell said of the elderly, "are exploited and misused and need protection from themselves, as well as others."

He told of an incident where 19 old persons in Jefferson County where "being kept in unsanitary and unsightly housing and 'being ripped off of whatever money' they had."

A bill allowing the state welfare department to intervene in such cases failed in the 1975 legislature when it was pulled off the "local and consent" calendar twice, Vowell said.

Vowell said that when he tried to learn the objections to the bill, a legislator told him, "In West Texas, if people get welfare, they want it called welfare."

Vowell said 100,000 children already are getting protective services, such as foster care.

Vowell said the department is uncovering approximately 250-300 fraud cases a month in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children welfare program and 350-400 cases a month of misuse of food stamps.

Some persons, Vowell said, are "discounting, trafficking and playing poker with them (food stamps)."

Vowell said he recently jotted down a car license after a fairly well-dressed man obtained some food at a delicatessen with food stamps. He said it turned out that the man had another job during the week but preached on Sunday, and his Sunday salary was whatever was put in the collection plate. Occasionally the part-time preachers said, members of the congregation put in food stamps, and he used them.

"He promised he wouldn't do it anymore, and we didn't bother him," Vowell said.

Vowell said he also would ask the legislature to enact laws that would:

-Eliminate the one-year statute of limitations on paternity suits.

-Prohibit the transfer of assets from one person to another to qualify for medical assistance, such as was done in Dallas when a man gave $30,000 to his daughter and divorced his wife to obtain welfare. "There have been a number of other such cases," Vowell said.

-Provide stiffer penalties for welfare fraud.

-Require all welfare fraud cases to be tried in Travis Austin County.

-Provide state subsidies for persons who adopt handicapped and emotionally disturbed children, because it is "cheaper than keeping them in a foster home."

-Remove some restrictions against political activities by welfare workers to conform with the federal Hatch Act.

-Provide state funds for state welfare workers or welfare volunteers who are sued in the line of duty, including possible traffic accidents while transporting welfare recipients.

Oldest Prisoner Dies Before Parole Given

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vicente Sanza, who was finally in line for a parole after 50 years behind bars, he died at the age of 83.

He was the federal government's oldest prisoner.

Sanza died at the Federal Prison Hospital in Springfield, Mo., on Friday and will be buried near there today.

Prison officials were trying to work out an arrangement for the release this fall of the native of The Philippines, who went to prison in 1926 to serve a life sentence for pleading guilty to second-degree murder.

Sanza was charged in the slaying of three co-workers during a card game at the Rose Inlet Salmon Cannery in Ketchikan, Alaska.

He was nearly paroled last year.

The U.S. Parole Commission had planned to release him to a nursing home. But he broke his hip in a fall and the parole was delayed six months.

While he was recuperating, the nursing home plans fell through because, said Justice Department spokesman Dean St. Dennis, there was no place for him to go. "He just couldn't be turned out," St. Dennis said.

Prison officials were still trying to find a place for him when he was found dead by hospital staff members who tried to rouse him for supper Friday evening.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 15th, the 259th day of 1976. There are 107 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1949, Konrad Adenauer became the first chancellor of West Germany.

On this date: In 1777, the Polish aristocrat, Count Casimir Pulaski, was commissioned a major general in the American Revolutionary Army.

In 1789, the U.S. Department of Foreign Affairs changed its name to the Department of State.

In 1914, during World War I, German New Guinea and the Bismarck Archipelago surrendered to the British.

In 1938, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain flew to Germany to try to mediate a German-Czechoslovak dispute.

In 1942, in World War II, German armies attacked the Soviet city of Stalingrad.

In 1959, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Washington to begin a 13-day visit to the United States.

Ten years ago: Two American astronauts splashed down in the Atlantic after three historic days in space.

Five years ago: A plastic bomb explosion ripped through a Saigon night club, killing 15 people and injuring 57 others.

One year ago: Representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation met with President Ford to protest suspension of grain sales to the Soviet Union.

Today's birthdays: Opera singer Hilde Gueden is 53 years old. Singer and pianist Bobby Short is 52.

Thought for today: Some tortures are physical and some are mental. But one that's both is dental. -Poet Ogden Nash.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago, New York City was occupied by the British.

Historic Vending Vending machines are not new. As early as 215 B.C., worshippers in temples could get holy water by dropping in five drachmas.

In 1615, coin-operated tobacco boxes appeared in English pubs. After a coin was inserted, the lid opened and the patron helped himself to a pipeful of tobacco.

National Health Program Predicted Within 15 Years

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An architect of Medicaid and Medicare predicted Tuesday that the United States will have a comprehensive national health security program within 15 years.

Wilbur Cohen, Secretary of Health Education and Welfare in 1968, addressed a Lyndon B. Johnson Library symposium on social programs of the John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson administrations.

In Monday's session, Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson asserted that federal income tax cuts are a political ploy and work against the interests of poor persons.

"I would guess that 15 years from the present there will be in place a comprehensive national health security program. It will have been built upon the experience with Medicare and Medicaid," Cohen said.

Cohen outlined the fight for Medicare and Medicaid against American Medical Association opposition from the time he helped draft the first bill as a young congressional aide in 1943.

"The enactment of Medicare and Medicaid in 1965 must be considered a great legislative achievement by President Johnson when it is realized that the proposal was defeated in 1960, 1962 and 1964....Gerald R. Ford voted against it in the House despite my fervent appeal to him to remain neutral and voted against it on adoption of the conference report," he recalled.

Cohen noted the current revelations of fraud, gaps and cost overruns in the medical assistance program.

"They are there, and I have every confidence that there will be amendments which will close these loopholes. But I am also certain that the ingenuity of the American businessman and the taxpayer will discover new loopholes," he said.

"Those who long for perfect legislation in the American environment do not recognize the imagination, creativity, genius, study, research and conspiracy which exist in the mind and hearts of one or two per cent of our adult population," Cohen added.

When the bills were before Congress, Cohen said, no one attempted to prevent some of the abuses that later arose.

"There was no voice in Congress for effecting constraints on physicians' incomes, hospital costs, nursing home charges or profits or for any change in the health delivery system. These demands came only after the system was in full swing," he said.

TSTI Meeting Demand For Technicians, Regent Says

AUSTIN (AP)—Regent chairman J.H. Kuitgen of Texas State Technical Institute told state budget examiners Monday that the school is "turning out educated technicians who are in demand."

Kuitgen, a Waco auto dealer, said he has been hiring TSTI graduates as mechanics, in his parts department and to do paint-and-body work, "and they are turning into the best people I have."

TSTI has campuses at Waco, Harlingen, Sweetwater and Amarillo, and Kuitgen said there should be more, "because there's a crying, desperate need for them. I know the time is not here to put them in, but the legislature in good time will put them in."

An analysis prepared for the examiners showed nearly 5,100 students are enrolled this fall, compared to 4,429 in September 1975, with the Harlingen campus operating with twice the number of students for which it is designed.

Administrators estimated that 37 per cent of its instructors were "severely overloaded" with work last September and no new programs can be started for the second consecutive year.

Campus master plans indicate the need for starting nearly $15 million in construction this biennium, the analysis said, but the schools have pared their requests to a minimum of one new building per campus.

Kuitgen said TSTI graduates make starting salaries averaging $10,000 to $12,000 a year and become "taxpaying citizens rather than idlers hanging around filling stations."

There are young persons, he said, "who will never be worth a damn in an academic atmosphere, but give them something to do with their hands and they are great."

One statistic quoted to the examiners was that 42,000 maintenance workers in Texas will be lost from the work force within the next five years through retirement.

"We're not trying to expand for glory's sake," Kuitgen said. "We've got something to sell. Go look at it."

He estimated that the original $8 million to $9 million invested by the state in vocational-technical education in the form of land, property and equipment now has a market value of $80 million to $90 million.

"Sooner or later Texas will have to protect the investment it has" with much higher appropriations, Kuitgen said. "What it has to protect is pretty valuable."

Lower Death Rate For Low Tar Cigarettes

COLD SPRING HARBOR, N.Y. (AP)—Smoking low tar and nicotine cigarettes results in lower total death rates in general, as well as lower death rates from both lung cancer and coronary heart disease, the American Cancer Society reported Tuesday.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, a vice president and statistician for the society, said the study was "the first definitive evidence" of the effects of smoking low tar and nicotine cigarettes.

The results were based on an analysis of deaths occurring in more than one million men and women over a 12-year period and were reported here to a meeting on the origins of human cancer at the Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory.

Deaths from lung cancer among smokers of medium tar and nicotine cigarettes were 10 per cent lower than for smokers of high tar and nicotine cigarettes. For smokers of low tar and nicotine cigarettes, the deaths from lung cancer were 26 per cent lower.

Deaths from coronary heart disease were 8 per cent lower for medium tar and nicotine smokers and 14 per cent lower for low tar and nicotine smokers.

However, the analysis also showed that death rates among those who smoke low tar and nicotine cigarettes were still far higher than the death rates of those who never smoked regularly.

Out of retirement again Dick Van Dyke's new TV image

By Dan Lewis
HOLLYWOOD -- One of the easiest things for Dick Van Dyke to do is discuss his one-time drinking problem. He has publicly acknowledged that he is a reformed alcoholic, and adds:

"I don't mind discussing it. It's my favorite subject, especially when I see the results."

The calamity of his own heavy drinking problem is so deeply etched in his memory that he can recall precisely the moment he gulped his last alcoholic drink.

"It was four years ago, Aug. 22, at 2 in the morning," Van Dyke remembers with unusual clarity for a person who at that moment had dusted off his daily fifth of booze.

"I looked up the address of the closest hospital in the Yellow Pages and checked myself in."

He hasn't had a drink since, and strongly disagrees with the recent theories that alcoholics can drink socially.

Van Dyke hid his drinking problem, like many alcoholics and reformed drinkers. Even when he starred in a TV movie two years ago, titled appropriately "The Morning After," the producers had no idea that unwittingly, they were type-casting Van Dyke in the role of a problem drinker.

"David Wolper (the producer) didn't have the foggiest notion I was a recovered alcoholic," Van Dyke recalled with a laugh. "Did I surprise him when I talked about it publicly after we finished the film?"

Van Dyke is pleased with the results of that film. And the results of his own public disclosure "did more for sobriety than anything else," he adds.

DICK VAN DYKE returns to television as the star of a new comedy-variety hour, Van Dyke and Company on NBC-TV.

For more than a decade, after a good five-year run with his first series, "The Dick Van Dyke Show," which also spawned Mary Tyler Moore, Van Dyke has flirted with "retirement." He even moved to the desert -- in Carefree, Ariz., but CBS stalked him there and lured him out of "retirement" with a new series.

The bait was that Van Dyke could produce the series in Carefree, an arid, blistering hot area on the outskirts of Phoenix. Carl Reiner produced and was story consultant, but after two futile years, Van Dyke and the show, "The New Dick Van Dyke Show," returned to Hollywood, for just one more season, with a new cast.

Along the way there was a celebrated battle between Reiner and CBS over a scene in one episode Van Dyke and his TV wife (played by Hope Lange) retire to the bedroom. Their young (pre-teen) daughter opens the bedroom door, looks startled, and quickly closes it.

The CBS censors said "absolutely not." The scene had to go. Reiner fumed, and quit the show, claiming he'd never produce or write or direct for CBS again. Reiner did say he might act on CBS, but nothing else.

"CBS felt that scene was not in the Van Dyke image. Reiner didn't see it that way. I thought it," Van Dyke recalls.

At any rate, he won't have to be that concerned about bedroom scenes, and off-color, suggestive material now. Dick has a new series coming up this fall, on NBC. For the first time in his career, it will be a variety show, and in the family hour. Thursday nights from 8-9. Viewers actually had a preview of the show last fall, an hour variety called "Van Dyke and Company." It was a breezy, entertaining, very amusing show.

Van Dyke, a spry, trim-looking grandfather now, laughs every time he thinks of his efforts to "retire." He apparently has an aversion to Hollywood, perhaps associating it with his drinking problem. Even now that he has given up living in the desert, where he went to get away from the tinseltown maelstrom, Van Dyke refuses to live in Hollywood. He and his family are quartered in San Diego, where, Dick says, "I got the sailboat fever over the last two years."

If his special is any indication, television will have a different look to variety, especially some creative production values, outdoor locations, and innovative direction. Van Dyke spent a good part of the summer looking for locations that would enhance comedy sketches.

It will be a tough fall for Van Dyke. He is aware of the competition. "I've got the suicide seat," he declares. "I'm between 'The Waltons' (CBS) and 'Kotter' and 'Barney Miller' (ABC). My big problem, however, is that I've been around so long, everybody feels they've seen my act. But the truth is I've never done a variety series before. It's going to be tough."

Van Dyke has a 15-week contract with the network. It means they can cancel him any time in those 15 weeks, but the network must play 15 shows. Incidentally, the plan is to have Chevy Chase, NBC's fast-rising comedy star of "Saturday Night" as the premiere show guest-star.

Second Chance Hit Downs Rangers, 6-4

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—Jerry Remy, thwarted in a previous chance to deliver a knockout blow to the Texas Rangers, succeeded the second time by putting "eyes" on the ball.

"I made three mistakes on one at-bat the last time up but the second time I got it out of everyone's reach," said Remy after he punched a two-run single in the ninth inning to give the California Angels a 6-4 victory Tuesday night.

He had batted in the seventh inning after California had scored three times to tie the game and still had two runners on base with one out.

"I missed a bunt, a hit-and-run and a squeeze on that one at-bat," said Remy. Pinch runner Bob Jones and Ron Jackson stole third and second base, respectively, when Remy missed the ball on the hit-and-run, but Jones was tagged out when Remy missed the squeeze. Texas' Steve Hargan then struck out Remy to end the inning.

In the ninth, with Hargan still pitching after Andy Etchebarren singled and Ron Jackson doubled, Dave Collins struck out for a second out before Remy laid the ball just out of the reach of Gene Clines in left field. "I thought Clines might have a chance for it, but it just went out of his glove," said Remy.

"Remy really put it in the right place," said Angels

Herd Slowed By Injuries

The Hereford Whitefaces won't be physically up to par for Friday's clash at Borger, head coach Fred Upshaw told a group of Whiteface Boosters Tuesday night at their meeting. But, the coach indicated that the team has forgotten about the loss to Palo Duro last week and is ready to "come back with a good showing."

Upshaw told the Boosters that several players have been hampered with injuries this week, and a couple of key injuries have prompted the moving up of a couple of JV players.

"We have moved up two linemen, Mike Kerr, and Charles Rayna to the varsity off the JV to give us some help," Upshaw reported.

The move was necessary to add depth to the Herd line after guard Jim Fish was knocked out of action for at least three weeks with a knee injury against

Manager Norm Sherry. "You couldn't have walked out there and dropped it in a better spot."

Paul Hartzell picked up his seventh victory in 11 decisions despite a spotty performance nine hits and two hit batsmen. Texas got two runs, one of them unearned, in the second when Angels shortstop Mario Guerrero booted Danny Thompson's grounder with runners at second and third.

California got its first run off Len Barker, making his first major league start, on an RBI single by Collins.

The Rangers got another unearned run in the fourth inning when centerfielder Dan Briggs dropped Roy Howell's long drive and singles by Tom Grieve and Juan Benquez brought him home.

Grieve hit his 16th homer to make the score 4-1 in the sixth frame but the Angels tied it in the seventh with three runs off Barker, who had a three-hitter before that.

A two-run triple by Dan Briggs after two walks sent Barker to the showers and pinch hitter Bill Melton singled home Briggs to knot the game at 4-4. Later in the inning, Remy's mistakes at the plate kept the Angels from taking the lead.

Two errors by both teams, three hit batsmen, wildness, misplayed fly balls and missed cutoff men spelled a ragged performance.

Neither team played well, but at least we won it," said Sherry.

Harris Rates Herd Over 'Dogs By Seven

The Hereford Whitefaces are favored to beat the Borger Bulldogs by seven and-a-half points in their clash this Friday night according to the weekly Harris Rating System.

The Herd is ranked 109th among Class 4A teams following a 26-8 loss to Palo Duro last week. Hereford was ranked 86th last week prior to the loss.

Borger holds down 60th place in the Class 3-A poll, but trails the Herd in 'Power Points' 127.7 to 135.2. The Bulldogs were ranked 59th last week before losing to Snyder 14-6.

Palo Duro moved up 21 notches in the 4-A list and stands in 64th position this week with a 140.2 rating. Lubbock Monterey leads District 4-4A squads on the list this week with 139.2 points.

Coronado is the only other district member rated ahead of Hereford this week, and is listed in 102nd position with a rating of 135.6. Lubbock High at 134.8 is 114th, and Plainview is 116th with 134.6 points.

In Class 3-A Perryton and Lubbock Estacado are 10th and 11th respectively with 142.7 and 142.4 points. Snyder is 18th with 139.0, and Lubbock Dunbar is 30th at 135.7.

Canyon ranks 53rd among 3-A schools with a 129.1, and Dumas holds down 60th position with a 126.9 rating.

Dimmitt is 33rd among Class 2-A teams with a rating of 124.8, with Dalhart 58th at 119.5, Floydada 63rd at 118.5, and Friona 191st at 95.6.

Hart leads local area Class A schools in the list with a 112.2 rating for 40th place. Vega is 90th at 103.6.

In Class B Groom is fifth with 108.8 points, while Agua Dulce is 12th at 102.4, and Silverton is 56th with 84.0 points.

Dankworth Tabled AP Back Of Week

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The mail was pouring in and the phone was ringing incessantly, and Jeff Dankworth, who describes himself as "not super outgoing," wasn't sure yet whether he liked all the attention.

"But," said the UCLA quarterback, "it's nice for the people back in my home town to finally know that I'm still alive."

Dankworth had left his home in Reno, Nev., five years ago to play football at UCLA. He had hardly been heard from since, as he redshirted one year and spent the others on the Bruin bench. But last Thursday night, Dankworth was heard from in a big way, as he deftly led the Bruins to a nationally televised 28-10 upset of Arizona State.

Dankworth ran for 155 yards on 19 carries, completed three of four passes, and scored the Bruins' first two touchdowns, a performance that earned him Associated Press College Back of the Week honors.

"I'm overwhelmed," said the shy, soft-spoken senior who dwelled in the shadow of Bruin quarterback John Sciarra for the past two years.

Tech Linebacker Lineman Of Week

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) - Texas Tech Coach Steve Sloan doesn't go overboard on superlatives.

It comes from his hard-rock days of playing quarterback for Alabama's Paul "Bear" Bryant. But Sloan saw something in Texas Tech's 24-7 rout of Colorado Saturday night that rated with his all-time collegiate football thrills.

It was "the best game I ever saw a linebacker play," concluded Sloan.

The linebacker was 6-foot-2, 208-pound senior Thomas Howard, who can run faster than most backs and has professional teams like the Cleveland Browns, New England Patriots and Dallas Cowboys drooling at his doorstep.

Howard's performance against Colorado earned him The Associated Press College Line-man of the Week award.

Howard intercepted two passes, made 11 solo tackles and six assists against the Buffaloes.

"Thomas is one of those great athletes who is just as fast as most people's backs," said Sloan. "He runs a 4.6 in the 40 and that's movin'. He's physical and if you run away he'll just run you down."

Howard added, "We've really worked hard in the fall and now all those long drills are paying off. We paid the price and it was worth it."

Howard intercepted a screen pass to set up Tech's first touchdown and blunted a Colorado drive with a fourth-down interception deep in Red Raider territory.

Sloan compares Howard, who can bench press over 300 pounds, to All-American Paul Crane, who played with the Tech coach at Alabama.

"Paul and Thomas are similar but Howard is faster," said Sloan. "Howard ran a 13.7 in the 120-yard high hurdles - the fastest in the nation when he was at Lubbock Dunbar High School."

Howard was moved from defensive end when Sloan took over the Texas Tech job in 1975.

"He's our team leader now - one of those guys you count on for leadership by his actions," said Sloan.

Howard was picked over linebackers George Stuart of Mississippi, Blake Whitlatch of Louisiana State, Peter Cronan of Boston College and defensive tackle Wayne Sparks of Marshall.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

POWER CLEAN

The people of Hereford have a new service available to them now, through the foresight and efforts of Steve Hendon and his home-owned and operated Power Clean Co.

Steve has enlarged his high-pressure steam, hot water and chemical cleaning service to include total car clean up and detail work. The new service includes the complete cleaning of auto interior and exterior, waxing, painting when necessary, auto carpet cleaning, vinyl top reconditioning and of course, complete engine cleaning.

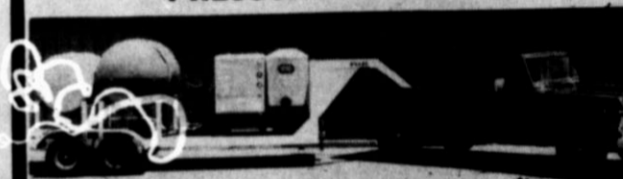

This new cleaning service is in addition to the original purpose of the firm of cleaning any type of engines for cars, trucks, irrigation systems, farm equipment, aircraft, feedyard equipment, drilling rigs and all other types of related machinery.

Steve began his firm just last May and has continued to keep his cleaning equipment busy since its initial job. All of his equipment is mounted on a low bed trailer for portability and can go wherever the job is, since the cleaning equipment is complete self-contained.

Steve is a 1973 graduate of West Texas State and holds a bachelors degree in business administration. His wife, Jodi, is employed with a local accounting firm as a bookkeeper and is presently in the process of attaining her degree in psychology from Amarillo College. Steve and his wife attend the First Presbyterian Church here in Hereford.

Monterey Tops District Chart

Monterey stands atop the District 4-4A chart after two weeks of grid action with a 2-0 record. The Plainsmen have gained victories over Canyon (21-7) and Wichita Falls Rider (20-15) thus far this season.

The rest of the district stands at 1-1 as three members took it on the chin last week. Hereford, Coronado, and Lubbock High all lost after opening the season with wins.

Plainview evened its record to 1-1 with a 7-0 win over Tascosa, while Hereford lost to Palo Duro 26-8, Coronado was nipped by Dunbar 14-13, and Lubbock fell to Estacado 20-11.

Palo Duro took advantage of nine Whiteface turnovers to grab the win over Hereford. Mike Stumbo led the Dons with 131 yards rushing and a pair of touchdowns.

Estacado got 198 yards rushing from Michael Sims as the Matadors raced to a 20-11 win over Lubbock. Sims scored on runs of 80 and 78 yards to steal the limelight from LHS's Victor Lugo, who rushed for 112 yards.

Dunbar changed to a Power-I attack after opening the season with a 6-6 tie against El Paso Bowie, and came from behind to gain a 14-13 win over Coronado.

Kenneth James scored both of the winners' touchdowns, and Dennis Gentry skirted right end for the winning two-point conversion with four minutes to play.

Monterey scored with 22 seconds left to gain a 20-15 come from behind win over Rider. The Raiders took a 15-14 lead on a field goal with 2:15 left in the contest, but the Plainsmen drove 67 yards for the winning score with Ron Reeves going five yards for the touchdown.

Plainview got a mark in the win column in a 7-0 decision over Tascosa. The Bulldogs scored following a 66-yard drive in the third period with sophomore Royce Coleman getting the score.

An interception by linebacker Mark Setser halted a Tascosa drive late in the game, and a 62-yard punt later put the Rebels in a hole they couldn't escape from.

The Hereford Whitefaces, sporting a 242.5 yards-per-game average, head into the third week of the 1976 campaign in first place among District 4-4A teams in total offense.

Hereford has amassed 349 yards rushing and 136 markers through the air for 485 total yards in two games. Monterey is close behind the Herd with 464 total yards and a 232 average.

The Plainsmen lead the district in total defense, having allowed an average of 184 yards per game through two weeks. Plainview ranks second with a 198 yards-per-game average, while Coronado is third with a 228 mark, and Hereford fourth with a 234 average.

In individual categories Hereford's Jim Fish leads the district in fumble recoveries with two. Roy Martinez is sixth in rushing with 100 yards. James McDowell is first among receivers with four catches and 55 yards.

Kelly Kitchens in third in total offense with 189 yards, while Martinez is sixth in tandem offense with 100 yards on the ground and 28 more through the air.

Martinez is listed first among punters with a 40-yard average after two punts, and ranks third in scoring with three touchdowns and 18 points.

Abel Trevizo and Greg Brockman rank third and fourth respectively among district defenders. Trevizo is credited with 26 tackles, while Brockman has 24 stops to his credit.

This week's schedule has Lubbock hosting Amarillo High Thursday night, Monterey at Midland, Coronado taking on Estacado, Plainview hosting Midland Lee, and Hereford traveling to Borger, all on Friday.

Tide, Buckeyes Favored

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Like the rich old grad once told the poor old coach, "We're with you... win or tie."

Here then are some thoughts on wins and ties... courtesy of some winners and tie-ers.

Ron Meyer of Southern Methodist, a 34-14 winner over Texas Christian: "We buried TCU in the grave at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. You can only enjoy a victory a sweet 24 hours."

Tom Osborne of Nebraska, a 6-6 tie against Louisiana State: "A tie at this stage might look discouraging, but at the end of the year a tie in the first game will look much better than a loss."

So will a win in the second game. Nebraska's upcoming opponent in their home opener is none other than Indiana, losers of last week's Upset Special, as well as this week's non-upset special... Nebraska 38-0.

Last week's score was 37 right, 25 wrong and two ties for a .597 percentage.

Southern Methodist at Alabama: Meyer told the Mustangs early in the week "not to board the plane if they don't feel we can beat Alabama." Only trouble is the last time Bear Bryant lost two regular-season games, much less two in a row, was in 1970... Alabama 35-7.

Ohio State at Penn State: Woody Hayes and Joe Paterno, two of the great names in football, get together for only the sixth time with Ohio State ranked second - one measly point behind Michigan - and Penn State No. 7... Ohio State 21-14.

Stanford at Michigan: Last year, this ended in a surprising 19-19 standoff. The Wolverines won their 1976 opener and avoided getting caught up in last week's wave of upsets but yielded 27 points to Wisconsin.

Since the Cardinals have an explosive attack, let's try this on for size as the Upset Special of the Week... Stanford 24-20.

Pitt at Georgia Tech: Hey, there, Pepper Rodgers, with your afro, shoulder bag and open-toed sandals, I know you even through your disguise... Pitt 30-13.

hand, the Sooners probably have the best secondary in the country... Oklahoma 28-21.

Arizona at UCLA: Having already taken apart one team from Arizona, the Bruins are about to pick on another... UCLA 31-17.

Illinois at Missouri: You don't usually consider Illinois a breather, but how else can you describe a team which falls between Southern Cal and Ohio State on Mizou's schedule... Missouri 28-14.

Maryland at West Virginia: The Terps dance their way to another terpsichorean triumph... Maryland 27-7.

Oklahoma State at Arkansas: The Porkers lead the series 25-15-1 but they've dropped the last three and they only won the 1972 clash by one point. The momentum has swung towards... Oklahoma State 20-17.

Kentucky at Kansas: Says Kentucky's Fran Curci: "I think Bud Moore has finally put together the talent he wants for his offense and he has three super football players and a whole cast of other great players. They've got a very well-conceived offense and defensively they're a lot more experienced." We're convinced... Kansas 35-21.

Oregon State at Louisiana State: We're happy to welcome the Bayou Bengals and Charlie McClendon back to the Top Twenty. They should stay there awhile... LSU 28-6.

Northwestern at North Carolina: Tar Heels are one of the country's surprise clubs, having knocked off two ranked teams thus far. Northwestern isn't ranked... North Carolina 34-20.

Purdue at Notre Dame: For the championship of Indiana... Notre Dame 21-14.

Memphis State at Tulsa: This could be one of weekend's better games... Tulsa 38-35.

Stephen F. Austin at Northwestern Louisiana: You may be wondering why this game is listed this high. Well, folks, S.F. Austin is in Nacogdoches, Tex., and Northwestern is in Natchitoches, La. One hesitant vote for the bionic team... Steve Austin 21-20.

BUFFALO (AP) - An operation Tuesday to repair torn ligaments in fullback Jim Braxton's right knee was a success, the National Football League Buffalo Bills announced.

Receivers Head Frogs-Vols Clash

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Texas Christian Coach Jim Shofner calls Mike Renfro "the best pass receiver in the country."

Last year, Larry Seivers of Tennessee was named the best college receiver by The Associated Press and the NCAA.

The two will meet for the first time this Saturday night when the Vols host the Horned Frogs. It's likely the individual performances will command as much attention as the points on the scoreboard.

Renfro, the son of former Cleveland Browns all-pro receiver Ray Renfro, snared six passes for 121 yards in TCU's 34-14 opening game loss to Southern Methodist last week.

As a sophomore in 1975, he led the Southwest Conference with 29 catches for 810 yards and two touchdowns.

A junior last season, Seivers led the Southeastern Conference with 840 yards and four touchdowns on 41 receptions.

However, in the Vols' 21-18 loss to Duke in the season opener last Saturday, he has held to only 25 yards on two grabs of six attempts under a new Wishbone offense that netted the Vols only 46 yards in the air.

"Larry and Renfro are different in their styles but both are great receivers," said Tennessee Coach Bill Battle.

"Renfro has good speed and exceptional hands and can catch the ball every way known to man. Seivers is a fantastic receiver and we plan to get the ball to him in future games more than we did against Duke."

If Battle is trying to find a way to get the ball to Seivers more, he also has the task of combatting TCU's aerial circus, which completed 17 to 34 passes for 263 yards against SMU.

ATLANTA (AP) - Center Tom Barker has become the first college draftee to agree to terms with the Atlanta Hawks, a spokesman for the National Basketball Association club said Tuesday.

The 6-foot-11 Barker, a fourth-round pick from the University of Hawaii, will join two other center hopefuls as the Hawks open preseason camp on Sept. 23.

Barker averaged 14.3 points per game for the Rainbows during his senior year. Terms were not disclosed.

FLOWERY BRANCH, Ga. (AP) - GT Challenge series leader Al Holbert will bring his Chevrolet Monza to Road Atlanta to compete in a 500-kilometer race Sunday.

Holbert, the first GB series driver to be nominated to the International Race of champions, has five victories in the 12 races this year on the circuit. He will commute from Michigan International Speedway in Detroit, where he will drive in a 100-mile the day before his Road Atlanta appearance.

At The Library Scientists Blamed For Wasting Funds

American cancer research is labeled a farce in the book by Joseph Hixson who, along with Naomi Hintze, are featured authors this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

Hixson accuses respected scientists of sacrificing their integrity in order to use federal grants for their own pet theories. He also cites recent scandals where false evidence of cancer "cures" were used to obtain further funding. The book is entitled "The Patchwork Mouse."

Freak incidents involving poltergeists is the key theme to Mrs. Hintze's book, "Listen, Please Listen." In the fictional work, the author tells the story of a grown woman who watches with horror as her daughter becomes possessed by the same supernatural being which haunted her as a child.

Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. other weekdays and until noon on Saturday.

THE PATCHWORK MOUSE by Joseph Hixson

Just four years ago President Nixon and Congress began a $1.7 billion war on cancer. Yet prominent commentators are charging that the American public has been sold a bill of goods. They claim millions have been wasted with little or no progress in sight.

Conflict of interest is common in the awarding of federal contracts, and large sums are being handed out to institutions that have received poor ratings from the American College of Surgeons. This is accompanied by the sad fact that only a tiny fraction of all cancers are being cured.

The frenetic race toward a cancer cure may be tempting respected scientists to stray from time-honored standards of integrity to buttress their own pet theories with huge sums of public money. Against this background of political hustling and grantsmanship, Joseph Hixson examines the case of Dr. William T. Summerlin, the young skin specialist who, while at the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York City, admitted coloring laboratory mice and misrepresenting research results to support his claims of having made a transplantation breakthrough with cancer research dollars.

Today's cancer investigator operates in a climate of high rewards and strong temptations. Hixson asks whether recent scientific scandals have been caused by the lure of huge government grants and pressures to produce results, or whether they are aberrations resulting from the character flaws of a few individual scientists and a lax attitude among some senior scientists at the very fount of government largesse.

LISTEN, PLEASE LISTEN by Naomi Hintze

As a teen-ager, Jo. St. John had been the helpless focal point for strange and terrifying events-- what the newspapers called "poltergeist manifestations." Stones had fallen on the shelves, spontaneous fires had broke out.

Everyone, including her family, believed that Jo herself was possessed, responsible beyond her own will for these bizarre happenings. Rites of exorcism were performed to expel the demon and Jo was hounded and exploited to a terrible degree.

At the time "Listen, Please Listen" takes place, years have passed since these events occurred. Jo has left home and grown up, and she believes now that she has finally achieved a safe and happy life for herself and her twelve-year-old daughter, Becca.

The two of them live in a small New England town, sharing a Victorian house with a benevolent elderly couple. Jo has even fallen in love, though she fears the effect of her psychic past on the man she cares about.

Then, without warning, new poltergeist events take place and Jo must face the possibility that her daughter, Becca, has inherited her own awful talent for attracting such phenomena. New cups fly through the air, chairs rock on their own, more stones drop. Has the poltergeist come back or is there another dark threat to the happiness of this small family?

The answer to this question is revealed as the novel builds to a tense and chilling climax, bringing Becca into a terrifying brush with death, exposing other tragic secrets and finally enabling Jo, her friend Jim and young Becca together to confront the past--and the future.

BSP Council Makes Plans For Festivity

Committees for the Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Ball were appointed Monday evening during a meeting of the BSP Council in Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room.

During the business session directed by Mrs. Chuck Laing, sorority sisters discussed plans for the ensuing year. Coffee and pie were served to those present, including Miss Betty Barrett, Ilajean Williams and Mmes. Ken Glenn, Bud Thomas, Eldon Koch, Eldon Howell, Joe Paetzold, Tommy Stoy and Steve Jones.

Also there were Mmes. Lynn Brisendine, Laing, Max Stipes, Fred Ruland, Coy Mason, Jim Cramer, Ken Walser, Kenneth Ruland and Butch Grover.

Ann Landers Surgery Affects Sex Life

Dear Ann Landers: For several years I postponed a hysterectomy (which I needed badly) hoping the "problem" would disappear. When the situation became critical my doctor insisted I have it done. I looked forward to a better sex life with my husband after the surgery but it hasn't worked out that way.

Last night, after another failure, my husband tried again to analyze his inability to perform. I reassured him of my love and said, "It doesn't matter."

Then I asked if perhaps he felt that my surgery had made me less of a woman. He replied, "I HOPE that isn't the problem."

Needless to say, I was crushed. One thing is certain, there's no way I can put back the missing organs. Can you advise me on how to think about this shattering put-down? My husband has asked me not to mention my hysterectomy to him again. I'm afraid he thinks of me as -- An Empty Shell.

Dear Friend: A woman doesn't need a uterus or ovaries to have a completely satisfactory sex life. From the sound of your letter I suspect you've verbalized your fears repeatedly and transferred your apprehension and anxieties to your husband. Take his advice and stop talking about your operation. Take MY advice and have a long talk with your gynecologist. You need some reassurance and emotional support and he is the one who can and should provide it.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please repeat that great column you wrote a long time ago about "A Customer"? It's time again. Some of my salespeople are beginning to get short-tempered and rude. Business is falling off. Thanks so much. -- Red Ink In Toledo

Dear Red: Here it is. With pleasure. Perhaps you ought to have it blown up and framed and hung where your salespeople can see it every day. A customer is the most important person in any business.

A customer is not dependent on us. We are dependent on him. A customer does us a favor when he comes in. We aren't doing him a favor by waiting on him.

A customer is part of our business -- not an outsider. A customer is not just money in the cash register. He is a human being with feelings, like our own.

A customer is a person who comes to us with his needs and his wants. It is our job to fill them. A customer deserves the most courteous attention we can give him. He is the life-blood of this and every business. He pays your salary. Without him we would have to close our doors. Don't ever forget it.

Dear Ann Landers: Is it true that men often marry women who possess the same qualities that their mothers have? I've heard it said and find it hard to believe.

My son's fiancée is as different from me as night is from day. When I asked him if he realized it he said, "Why, of course."

Will you check with the experts and enlighten me, please? -- Any Similarity Is Purely Coincidental

Dear Coincidental: The experts say that men often marry women who are either very much like their mothers or extremely UNLIKE them, depending on how they feel about Mom.

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers' completely new "The Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (24 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Newcomer By-Laws Presented Tuesday

Hereford Newcomers Club by-laws were submitted for approval Tuesday during a luncheon at K-Bob's Steak House by Pat Brock, president.

During the business session, program director Linda Gillis announced that all Newcomers will be welcome at a "play day" on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

In cooperation with this, the Community Center lounge will be open from 10 a.m. - 2:30 p.m. once a month for various activities, including card games, ping pong, crewel embroidery, reading and socializing.

Voter registration forms were distributed, as were tickets to the Tour of Homes, sponsored by Garden Beautiful Club. It was suggested that the club travel to Amarillo for entertainment at a dinner theatre some evening.

It was announced that plans are underway to celebrate the organization's birthday on Oct. 8.

Priscilla Power was appointed as club reporter and will be responsible for reporting Newcomer activities to local media, as well as compiling the chapter scrapbook.

In appreciation for her past service as president, Mrs. Freddie Savage was presented a gift certificate.

Mrs. Gillis introduced Marie Griffen as speaker for yesterday's luncheon. Mrs. Griffen, who was a member of the original steering committee of the local YMCA, is secretary of the organization's Board of Directors.

She provided information concerning membership in the YMCA and described facilities and programs involved in the recreation format. A series of questions and answers concluded her address.

Women Welcomed Into Club

Two new members were welcomed into Ceramic Art Club when members met Monday morning for a business meeting and luncheon at the home of Mrs. J.W. Robinson.

Submitting their memberships were Mrs. Raynold Hair and Mrs. Larry Perkins.

Also, during the meeting, members decided to try and schedule their regular meetings at the Community Center.

Present were Mmes. O.H. Culupepper, W.C. Hromas, J.W. Stengel, Leona Seavy, Lloyd Kirkey and Duane Holly.

Rebekahs Plan Fund-Raising Events Here

Discussion of fund-raising projects for Rebekah Lodge 228 was tabled during a meeting Tuesday evening in 100F Hall.

Several members were reported ill.

A spokesman for the 14 women present stated, "Now that summer vacations are over, things will begin to happen at Hereford Rebekah Lodge. Watch for them."

Parents: Don't Let Your Children Burn

[EDITOR'S NOTE: Fire Prevention Week is October 3-9. This is the fourth in a five-part series by Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, designed to help parents teach their children and themselves how to survive a house fire.]

COLLEGE STATION -- Children must practice fire escape and fire protection techniques if they are expected to react correctly in an emergency. The following is the last of six "fire drills" offered in this series designed to teach children how to survive a fire.

The drill called "Man the Hoses" teaches some principles of fire fighting. Every fireman knows how to put out a fire, and your children can learn elementary firefighting techniques. Although a child will never fight fire extensively, his quick action could save his life or your house.

Stage a small paper or wood fire in the backyard - in a box, barbecue pit or trash burner - where you can control it. Show youngsters how to put it out with a bucket of water or a hose. A coarse spray nozzle is better than a steady stream. If you own a fire extinguisher, and you should, have everyone learn to use it. A practice session is worth the cost of a refill, for an extinguisher is useless unless you know how to work it.

Warn children never to throw water on an electrical fire because of the shock hazard or on a grease fire because it may spatter, spreading the flames. Only an extinguisher designed for electrical fires will work on electricity. To squelch small grease fires, put a lid on the flaming pan or throw on several handfuls of baking soda (never flour; it may explode). For ordinary combustibles such as wood, paper and cloth, water is the surest extinguishing agent.

Teach children exactly what to do if their clothing catches on fire. Let them pretend they are on fire and have them roll up in a blanket, rug, large towel or the quickest thing available to smother the flames. Emphasize that they should never run if clothes are burning because the breeze fans the flames.

In the fifth and last part in this series, a final, "rookie" examination will be offered to determine whether your children qualify as "firemen."

Amarillo Women Plan Style Show

In this exciting year of Bicentennial celebration, what could be more intriguing to American women than politics and pretty clothes?

To fulfill this interest the Amarillo Republican Women's Club has planned a luncheon and style show titled "Autumn Spice" for Tuesday, September 28. Purpose of the event is to raise campaign funds for Republican candidates who will be on the ballot in November.

Anyone interested in meeting the candidates will have a chance to do so in addition to having lunch and viewing the latest fashions from Blackburns of Amarillo. Music will be provided by Mrs. Dixie Watson.

Bob Davis, master of ceremonies, will introduce the national, state and local

Wendlandt Says RRC Has Say Over Safety

AUSTIN (AP)- Republican railroad commission candidate Walter Wendlandt said Tuesday the commission has joint responsibility over railroad safety, contrary to a recent statement by commission member Jim Langdon.

Wendlandt said Langdon and railroad lobbyist Walter Caven both have claimed the commission has no jurisdiction over railroad safety, that only the federal government has that jurisdiction.

"They say they have no jurisdiction, but they're going to hold a hearing anyway," Wendlandt said.

The hearing, Oct. 4, is on track standards for coal trains.

The Federal Railroad Safety Act of 1970 provides for a joint state-federal effort on railroad safety, Wendlandt said. Fifteen states are participating in that program, he said.

Wendlandt said he personally investigated two train wrecks in Houston while he was director of the commission's transportation division. Two died and 30 were injured in those two wrecks, he said, but if one had been four miles closer to downtown and if the other had occurred on any day but Sunday the loss of life would have been much greater.

"The commissioners apparently do not want to regulate railroads, as provided in the statutes," Wendlandt said. "They do not want to regulate gas utility pipelines, such as Coastal-LoVaca, as in the statutes. The people of Texas are entitled to know what the commissioners think they are supposed to be doing."

Presidential Debates Slated Oct. 6, 22

WASHINGTON (AP) The second and third debates between President Ford and Democrat Jimmy Carter will be Oct. 6 and 22 with the single debate between the vice presidential candidates sandwiched in between, the sponsoring League of Women Voters announced Tuesday.

The league said the debate between Republican vice presidential candidate Bob Dole and Democrat Walter Mondale has been tentatively set for the week of Oct. 11; but that no date has been agreed upon.

The locations and other details of the debates are still being worked out, the league said.

The first Ford-Carter confrontation will take place in Philadelphia on Sept. 23, a Thursday.

Jim Karayn, project director for the League's education fund which is sponsoring the debates, said the arrangements had been worked out in meetings with the national networks which will broadcast the debates live on television and radio.

The length of the debates has not been settled, but all will begin at 9:30 p.m. EDT, regardless of length, Karayn said.

The subject of the first debate in Philadelphia's historic Walnut Street Theater will be economics and domestic policy. One of the others is expected to deal with foreign policy and national defense, with the third open to a variety of issues.

The garment designed is much more important to American women than the name of the designer. Recent nationwide surveys revealed that less than one-fourth could cite a designer by name when asked to name their favorite, but they were interested in buying interesting and attractive clothes, reports Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Once in a while we see in the newspapers where some widow has lost a lot of money by being betrayed by a con man. Widows should have their property fixed so no one can get control.

The con men usually watch obituaries in the papers and go to the widow under some pretext of trying to help her some way. In one case I read about, the con man asked the widow if her husband was home and acted surprised and shocked when told he died a short time ago. He told her he was a good friend of her husband in years gone by and they had lost track of each other.

He expressed his sympathy and wondered how his friend was fixed financially and if she had enough left to live in comfort the rest of her life. She told him they were in fair shape financially, so of course the con man was happy to hear that but would really like to know how much savings she had for emergencies.

The widow told him the amount, and he agreed that was pretty good but with inflation she ought to have more. Since he was such a good friend of her husband's he offered to let her in on some investments so she could have more income. She appreciated his concern and let him have the money to make the investment, and that was the last she ever heard from that friend and the money was gone.

There are many other ways that con men think of to get money from widows and old maids by winning their confidence. We have a con man here in Hereford who don't work as fast as the other fellows. He worked eight years on his last case and how much money he got is a $64 question. He is a married man, so he don't propose to the widow but he is real helpful and wins the widow's confidence.

Whether he sends a friend to court the widow or not is a question, but a good-for-nothing guy shows up or manages to date the widow and, after a short courtship, they marry and he takes over in connection with the local con man.

Widows who have money should be careful if you get acquainted with some man who wins your promise to marry. He may be a good guy but he may also be a crook. Be sure you have your property fixed so he can't get control. This holds good for widowers also. There are women gold diggers as well as men.

Yours Truly,
Olt T. Larson

Tech To Inaugurate President Oct. 26

Inaugural ceremonies for Dr. Cecil Mackey, new president of Texas Tech University, will be conducted at 2:30 p.m., Oct. 26, in the Municipal Auditorium, with a reception to follow at 4:30 p.m. in The Museum of Texas Tech University.

Principal speaker for the afternoon convocation will be Dr. David A. Mathews, secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), Washington, D.C. Dr. Mathews is on leave from the presidency of the University of Alabama to serve as HEW secretary.

Plans for the inauguration-convocation were announced today by Bill E. Collins of Lubbock, member of the Board of Regents of Texas Tech and general chairman of the inauguration committee; and Dr. Charles S. Harkwick, vice president for Academic Affairs at Texas Tech and chairman of the steering committee.

Serving with Collins on the Regents committee for the ceremonies are Dr. Judson Williams of El Paso and Don Workman of Lubbock.

Sub-committee chairmen are Mrs. Jane Brandenberger, director of university news and publications, invitations and programs; Dr. Harold Luce, chairman of the music department, luncheon; Dr. Idris R. Traylor, deputy director, International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies, convocation; Dr. Carmyn Morrow, assistant dean, college of home economics, reception; Dr. Jacquelin Collins, Faculty Council.

Other steering committee members are: Terry Wimmer, president of the Students Association, W.K. Barnett of Levelland, vice president of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association, James G. Allen, executive director of the Dads Association; Richard A. Lockwood, M.D., vice president for TTU Health Sciences Centers, business administration professor Haskell G. Taylor, representing retired faculty and staff; R.P. Fuller, Texas Tech University Foundation, and Sam C. Arnett, M.D., TTU School of Medicine Foundation.

Each of the university's inaugural committees is made up of several members of the faculty and staff and at least two students, Harkwick said.

Hereford Night Planned

It was incorrectly reported in Tuesday's edition of The Brand that Hereford Night would be observed tomorrow at Country Squire Dinner Theatre in Amarillo.

Local residents will be expressly invited to attend the theatre's presentation of "Natalie Needs a Nightie" on Thursday, Sept. 23. Departure time will be at 6:30 p.m. under sponsorship of senior youth at First United Methodist Church. Tickets costing $10 will include supper and admission to the comedy performance, featuring Hereford's own Archie Dwyer. Tickets are now available from the Methodist Church office, 364-0770, or from any senior church member.
