Woodward Suit Goes To Trial Tuesday

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The long awaited trial of a $400,000 civil suit filed against the Hereford School Board of Trustees by dismissed teacher Wayne Woodward becomes a reality at 10 a.m. Tuesday as it goes before Judge Halbert O. Woodward's U.S. District Court in Amarillo, according to local sources.

The judge called school district attorney Richard Green at about 1:15 p.m. Friday and informed the counsel that the trial date had been moved up from the originally anticipated date in January. The case had been put on docket calls twice in the last two weeks, but each time the pending Wheatheart Inc. financial fraud case had forced a postponement.

THE WHEATHEART CASE was settled Friday by a plea of nolo contendere by the three defendants and therefore the judge decided to set the trial date based on the importance of the case against the school board.

Green said Saturday morning that the trial date came as a surprise, but a rather pleasant one since quick trial was desired by school attorneys and officials of the district.

The suit was filed by Woodward, who was last residing in Weatherford, Okla., where he was attending a college, on July 6, 1975 by the teacher following a hearing held in June of last year before the school board. Woodward's attorney, Robin Green of Amarillo, presented a case then to have his client reinstated as an English teacher at La Plata Junior High School.

but the board declined comment and reaffirmed its decision not to renew an employment contract.

THE SUIT IF FILED against the school board serving at the time, which includes Jim Conkright, president, Lynton Allred, Clark Andrews, James Gentry, Jim Arney, Danny Martin and Ron Zimmerman. Martin and Zimmerman are no longer on the board following the 1976 school elections. They were replaced by Mrs. Sallie Strain and David Hutchins. Former superintendent Roy Hartman and La Plata principal Pat Hughes also are named as defendants by the suit.

The suit claims that no definitive reasons were given for Woodward's "firing" and that damages of $400,000 are warranted if he is not rehired, and $80,000 if he is rehired.

At the June hearing, part of the plaintiff's evidence presented included a letter written by Hughes to Hartman stating that Woodward possessed "hostile attitudes" and that material handed out to students concerning the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) was not appropriate and that it was done without the consent of the administration.

Woodward has received both the backing of the ACLU and supposedly still has support from the National Education Association (NEA).

WHEN CONTACTED at the Hereford-Borger football game Friday night, Hartman said that he would definitely be in Amarillo Tuesday along with the school board members and others concerned with the suit.

Hartman is currently superintendent of schools in Grapevine, located north of Dallas near the Dallas-Ft. Worth International Airport. He accepted that job in June.

Richard Green said that the plaintiff would begin his case first and possibly continue through Wednesday morning.

In a pre-trial order, Woodward and his attorney list 16 witnesses who may be called to testify. Among them are Dr. Joe Whitley, former local dentist who has moved to San Antonio, and his daughter Pam, a student. Defendants in the case may be called including Hartman and Hughes, several teachers and students.

Robin Green was unavailable for comment on the plaintiff's probable actions after repeated attempts to reach him.

However, he is expected to present similar evidence and testimony as given at the school board hearing held 15 months ago.

The school district attorney said that every witness presented by Woodward could possibly be questioned by the defense. Also representing the school district is Earnest Langley, a partner of Richard Green in a local law firm.

ALSO SCHOOL REPRESENTATIVES contend that Woodward was given "due process all the way down the line."

Through the different legal proceedings dealing with the case, school attorneys and officials have been confident of outcome in favor of the

Short-Lived Joy

Hereford High School cheerleaders began Friday night with shouts of joy as they ushered in the Herd football team. However, it all turned to disappointment as the Borger Bulldogs beat Hereford 28-21 in the non-district contest. At half, the scoreboard read 28-7, but Whitefaces managed a respectable comeback as they closed the gap. [See story page 2A].

Holly Sugar Officials Announce Opening Date For Beet Harvest

Agricultural officials at Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant report that the sugar beet harvest for Hereford and the North Plains areas is scheduled to begin Monday, Oct. 4.

The Merrill E. Shoup plant here will begin receiving beets at 8 a.m. on the scheduled kickoff date, and stations at Dimmitt, Dawn, Farmers Corner, Clovis, Dalhart and Etter will also begin taking beets at that time.

Stations at Wildorado, Hart and Friona will open one week later on Oct. 11, provided growers are ready to begin harvesting, and these stations will open at a later date if the beet crop in those areas is not ready by Oct. 11.

Growers are encouraged to harvest beet fields infested with disease first, as diseased beets will not keep well in the storage piles at the Holly factory or stations.

PTSO Group To Meet Monday

Members of the Hereford Parent-Teacher-Student Organization will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Hereford High School library.

Opening the program will be Mrs. Clint Forby, who will explain the functions of the recently-formed classroom volunteer group. Next, representing Deaf Smith County Library, Gwen London will describe the facilities which are available to students and teachers here.

The third topic will be pursued by Lois Gilliland, executive director of Hereford's Historical Museum. She will stress the historical opportunities for heritage study at the museum. The character-building programs involved in the Camp Fire Girls organization will be underlined by Mrs. Earnest Langley during her portion of the program.

Claude Huard, director of Hereford YMCA, will be introduced to outline the recreational activities offered by his organization. Also, the advantages of being a Boy Scout will be emphasized by Dale Garner, district chairman of the Boy Scouts of America.

R.C. Hoelscher, local attorney and president of the local PTSO, encourages all concerned parents to attend.

City Sales Tax Rebate For September Mailed

A check totaling $58,291.68 was mailed to Hereford this week as its payment for city sales taxes collected for the period ending Sept. 3, 1976. It was distributed by State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office in Austin.

Bullock mailed checks totaling $56.6 million Wednesday to the 855 cities and town collecting the one-cent tax as their September rebate.

He noted that city sales tax rebated have totaled $230 million so far this year, nearly 18 per cent ahead of the $195 million rebated during the same period in 1975.

A listing provided by the office reveals

Youth Arrested In Connection With Intrusion

Hereford police arrested a 13 year old junior high student here Friday morning in connection with an intrusion incident at a home on Blevins Street which occurred Thursday.

The juvenile was taken into custody by Hereford Police about 10 a.m. Friday at his school, and was later released to his parents under the authority of the local juvenile officer.

The arrest came after a 15 year old city girl was confronted by a stocking-masked individual wielding a knife in the kitchen of her home on Blevins Street Thursday afternoon.

The girl was not harmed in the incident, and the suspect in the case turned and fled when the girl screamed.

that Hereford was responsible for $57,554.49 in collections attributing to the September rebate in city sales taxes. This was the amount collected for the month. The check was actually more because a prior balance of $4,801.64 was added into the computation of the September check.

Subtracted from the collections were a two per cent state service fee of $1,151.09; a 4.76 per cent retained amount of $2,913.64 added into the computation of the September check.

Subtracted from the collections were a two per cent state service fee of $1,151.09; a 4.76 per cent retained amount of $2,913.36; and nine cent audit payment.

Vega, north of Hereford, received a check for $3,471.84. The city had a prior fund balance $351.71 and received total collections of $3,130.06. Adrian, located near the northwest corner of Deaf Smith County, received a check totaling $1,170.49 coming from collections of $986.59 and a prior balance of $262.13.

Cities of such small size as Vega and Adrian don't receive checks except quarterly since their collections are so small while Hereford and communities of larger size get checks monthly.

Other are towns and the net check receipts are as follows: Amarillo - $903,365.81; Canyon - $21,982.69; Dimmitt - $25,755.78; and Friona - $11,306.19.

Bullock said that an analysis shows that his procedure of rebating city sales taxes monthly rather than quarterly has turned out to be a real help to Texas city governments.

Golden Arches Arrive

The famous "Golden Arches" of the McDonald's hamburger chain rise over Hereford this week as construction crews progress in erecting the long awaited food outlet. Large cranes could be seen putting up the large sign in front of the future McDonald's restaurant, shown at right. It is located on Highway 60 West. Final completion is expected sometime in November.

Moon Festival Held

WASHINGTON (AP) - Followers of the Rev. Sun Yung Moon expected more than 100,000 people at a festival here, but demonstrators who say they oppose Moon's methods were also in the crowd.

Followers of the controversial Korean minister billed Saturday's "God Bless America Festival" as a spiritual and patriotic event, "not in the Billy Graham style where the people come for conversion." Michael Runyon, a spokesman for Moon's Unification Church, said more than 100,000 persons were expected for the show.

Dean Connects Ford, Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - In his debut as a political correspondent, Watergate figure John W. Dean III describes President Ford as "the unquestioning servant of the Nixon White House."

Dean, a former White House counsel who served four months in prison after pleading guilty to conspiring to obstruct justice in the Watergate case, covered the Kansas City, Mo., convention for Rolling Stone magazine.

His 15,000-word article appears in the Oct. 7 issue.

TWA Mechanics Strike

A strike by 12,000 mechanics and other ground workers shut down Trans World Airlines early Saturday, forcing thousands of passengers across the country to seek other ways to travel and grounding 9,000 TWA flight personnel.

The strike began at 12:01 a.m. EDT when a government-ordered 30-day cooling off period expired and last-ditch talks in Washington failed to resolve a pay dispute.

TWA operates an average of 443 flights daily.

Miami In Danger Of Hurricane

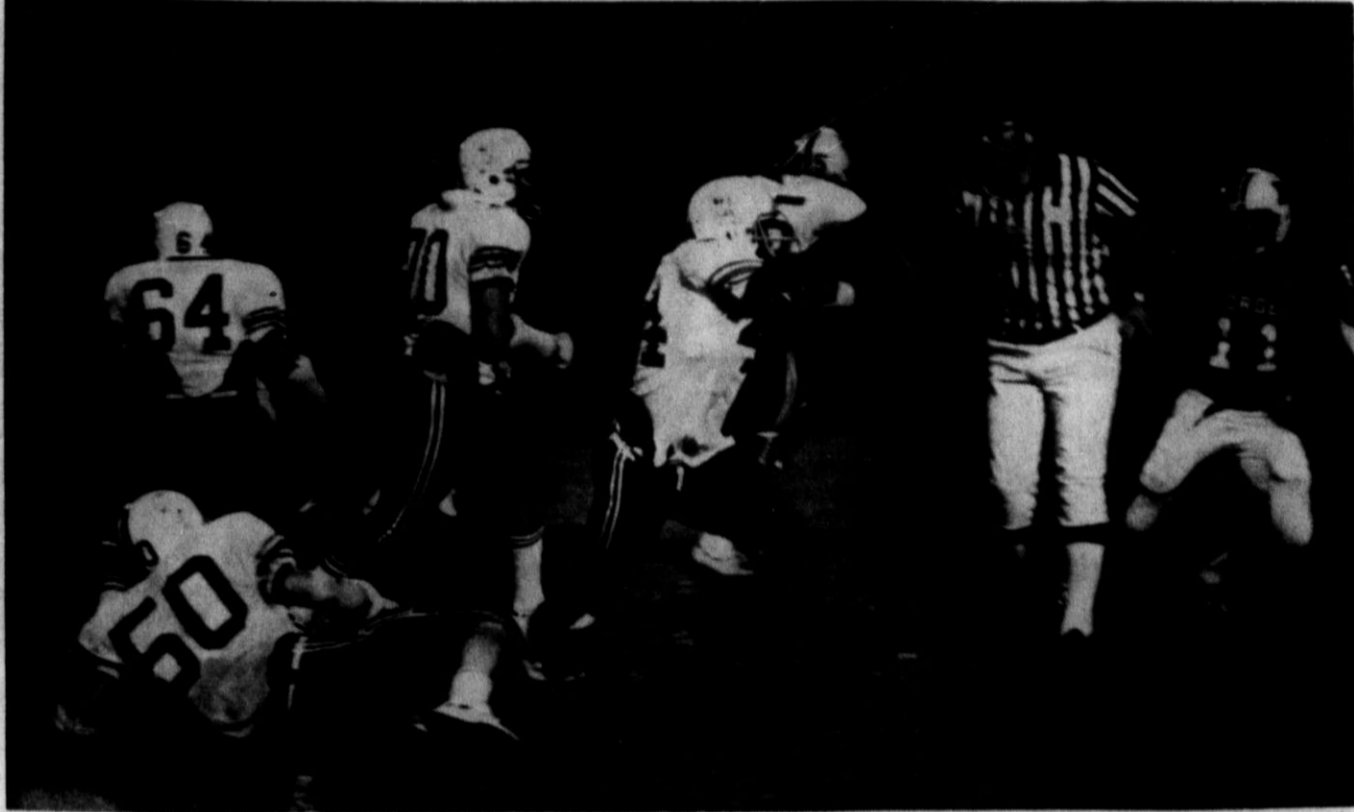

MIAMI (AP) "The Great Miami Hurricane" of 1926 killed at least 400 persons, injured 6,000, left 18,000 homeless and caused $100 million in damage. Next time it could be worse.

When a storm of equal intensity strikes the Miami area again - and experts say it's just a matter of time - damage might exceed $1 billion. And if residents are as apathetic as officials fear and ignore warnings to evacuate, thousands could die.

Knabe Joins YMCA Staff

Lifetime Hereford resident Weldon Knabe has been hired recently by the Hereford area YMCA to be its director of youth activities, Y director Claude Huard has announced.

Knabe, 25, is a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School, and holds a B.S. degree in physical education and biology from West Texas State University. He is presently working on his masters at WTSU.

Knabe will conduct gym classes for youths from grades three through nine, as well as instructing classes in tumbling and wrestling.

"These will be informal classes with the main objective being to have fun," Knabe said. "It will also give the kids a chance to possibly learn a new skill or game."

Knabe will be working part-time for the Y to begin with, and he said he hopes his job will be expanded to a full-time situation by January.

"If we can get enough participation, I will go full time. Right now we need some more members. The registration has been fairly slow so far, and we'd like to get some more people," Knabe said.

Knabe will conduct volleyball and basketball sessions for high school age youths in the old Central school gym, and will conduct classes for the younger children at the Shirley school.

He has been associated with intramurals at West Texas, and plays on a local summer-league volleyball team. He has been the assistant manager of Thriftway Grocery in Hereford for the past four years.

of twelve teams of area youths, which have been separated into two divisions for play. Games will be played each Saturday for five weeks starting the 25th.

The teams have been divided into a National and an American league, with six teams placed in each league. The National league teams will play their games Saturday mornings, while the American league will play in the afternoon.

"Our main goal will not be to do everything possible to produce a winning season, but to teach the players the value of teamwork, the fundamentals of football, and good sportsmanship," Mason said.

Local volunteers will serve as coaches for the twelve teams, and games will all be played on the grounds of the Northwest Elementary School.

"We do have a problem with finding enough people to work as officials," Mason revealed. "Right now we have just one for sure."

Mason went on to say that persons interested in serving as officials for the league can contact either himself at 364-1888 or 364-3804 or Y director Claude Huard at the YMCA office, 364-6990.

Flag football is similar to the regular game, with the main difference being that a ball carrier is 'downed' by pulling a flag from a belt around his waist rather than by his being tackled. The teams will play each team in their division one time before all the teams are joined together in a single elimination tournament to close out the season.

Saints In For Long Day Against Cowboys Today

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Unless the new era can avoid the old errors, the New Orleans Saints are in for another long afternoon today against Roger Staubach and the Dallas Cowboys.

Last week, the Saints reverted to form after a surprising 4-2 preseason, fumbled repeatedly, drew penalties in key situations and totally fell apart in special teams play. The result was a 40-9 drubbing by the Minnesota Vikings and Fran Tarkenton. It was Hank Stram's regular season debut as head coach of the Saints.

The Cowboys, meanwhile, won their 12th straight season opener by whipping Philadelphia 27-7 the 127th victory for the Cowboys, all coming under the administration of Tom Landry, the only coach the Cowboys have ever had.

Landry and Stram used to share the same stomping grounds. That was when Stram was with the Dallas Texans of the Old American Football League.

But Landry and the Cowboys prevailed in the battle for the gates, and Stram moved with his team to Kansas City, where the team became the Chiefs and won the 1970 Super Bowl.

Landry stayed on in Dallas and won the 1972 Super Bowl.

A Cowboys' spokesman said the team is in the best physical shape it's been in since the preseason.

The Saints, on the other hand, were banged around a bit last week, and there will be some lineup changes for Sunday.

One of the changes, however, will be due to a player returning to physical well-being. First-round draft choice Chuck Muncie will be starting at the tailback slot in Stram's I formation.

He'll be teamed with secondround choice Tony Galbreath, who's starting at fullback in place of the injured Andrew Jones.

If you've got the kids, we've got the big savings.

Herd Dog-Bitten, 28-21

By BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

The Bulldogs jumped to an early 7-0 lead, improved it to 28-7 before the first half was over, and then held on in the face of a furious fourth-quarter rally by Hereford to down the Whitefaces 28-21 Friday night in Borger.

Again as last week, turnovers played a big part in the Herd defeat as the Bulldogs pounced on two fumbles, blocked one punt, and grabbed two interceptions to gain the win.

The Bulldogs' first break came on the first play of the game when Carlee Graves lost the handle on a pitchout and Borger's Mike Wells fell on the ball on the Hereford 19.

Five plays later the score was 7-0 as Borger tailback Miles Parker slipped through right tackle for the score with 9:39 left in the period. Parker carried the ball four times on the drive for 13 yards. Bryan Foster added his first of four pat's after the touchdown.

On the next series the Herd was set to punt from their 46, but Roy Martinez's kick was blocked, and the 'Dogs recovered on the Herd 20.

Four plays netted six yards, but Parker fumbled the ball, and Hereford's Jim Lawson covered the ball on the Herd 14.

Following another Herd punt, Borger quarterback Robin McCarty lost the handle and Greg Hennington claimed the loose pigskin for the Herd on the Borger 41.

Kelly Kitchens directed the Herd down to the Borger four, but on the second play of the second period, saw a pass intercepted by Borger's Randy Chavez.

The Bulldogs made it 14-0 in 17 plays from there on an 80-yard drive. Ricky Ennis got the touchdown from the 'one with 3:50 left in the half, and Foster tacked on his second pat.

Hereford's Paul Bell stirred the crowd on the ensuing kickoff on a 44-yard return to the Borger 39, with the last defender making a shoestring tackle on the play.

The Herd scored in three plays to narrow the gap to 14-7 with Graves bursting over from the 19 for the six points. Martinez added the PAT with 2:53 left in the half.

The next play was a back-breaker for the Herd as Ennis took the following kickoff on a reverse 87 yards for a touchdown. Foster's third PAT made it 21-7 with 2:37 on the clock.

The Bulldogs weren't finished, however, and grabbed another Kitchens aerial, on the first play following the kickoff, which was returned to the Herd 17.

Ennis got his third touchdown of the game five plays later from the one after two offside penalties against Hereford aides the drive.

The third period was a stalemate as both teams played the entire quarter on the Herd side of midfield.

The Herd began its comeback with 7:41 left in the contest following a Bulldog punt to the Hereford 18. Jim Lawson, substituting for an injured Kitchens drove the Herd down the field in ten plays for the score.

Martinez got the touchdown in the corner of the end zone, on a 19-yard pass from Lawson. Lawson ran for a two-point conversion to make it 28-15 with 4:21 left.

The Whitefaces pulled off an onside kick following the score as Baltimore Guerrero grabbed a Martinez bouncer on the Borger 46.

The threat was stalled, however on three straight incompletions, and the later Herd was moved back to their 27 following another 'Dog punt.

Martinez got his second touchdown of the game eight plays later on another pass from Lawson. The play covered 11 yards, a marked Lawson's third completion in six tries during the drive.

Martinez suffered a hand injury on the scoring play, and Lawson attempted the PAT, which was blocked with 26 seconds left on the clock.

A second on side kick attempt was covered by the Bulldogs, and they ran out the clock to preserve the win.

Game stats showed that Herd ahead almost everywhere but on the scoreboard. Hereford led in first downs, 17-13, yards rushing 222-181, yards passing 105-19, and total yards 327-200.

Graves emerged the game's leading rusher with 93 yards on 18 carries. Kurt Smith led Borger runners with 65 yards on 16 totes.

The comeback effort by the Herd didn't go unnoticed by coach Fred Upshaw. "We came back and played pretty good, but it was too little, too late," the coach commented. "On the other hand, Borger came on to play well after they got things going, and we didn't tackle or block very well," he added.

Major injuries in the contest for the Herd saw Kitchens sidelined late in the first half with a possible broken right thumb. Martinez re-injured a couple of jammed fingers, but is expected to be able to play this week.

The Herd will meet Canyon at Whiteface Stadium next Friday night as they seek their second win of the season. The Eagles shocked previously unbeaten Caprock 14-8 Friday night.

Equipment Drive Begun

The Northwest Elementary School has begun a drive to obtain two pieces of physical education and recreational equipment, principal Charles Duvall has announced.

The equipment, a "Tornado Slide" and a "Jack and Jill Climber" will be provided for the school by the Post Cereal Brands of the General Foods Corporation in exchange for 76,800 Post cereal box tops.

"We're delighted to be able to get the Tornado Slide and Jack and Jill Climber," Duvall said. "We hope all our friends will help us to reach our goal by saving and turning in box tops."

Box tops from Post cereal Brands (any size package) will count toward the goal, and they may be turned in at the school any time before the deadline of March 31, 1977.

Northwest School is located at 400 Moreman Street, and has a student population of 581 from grades K4 through 6th.

The real kicker came when the spokesman went on to say, "we are striving to improve the quality of our telecasts."

After retreating into the rest room the woman said she tried a second time to leave, but a group of men began fondling her and she punched one out as another began tearing her blouse.

eight of the Western Southwestern states. (Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and Washington.) There are many variations of the laws in these states. Texas community property laws recognize two kinds of property: separate property and community property. SEPARATE property of either husband or wife is that which was owned personally at the time of marriage or has been acquired by either during the marriage as a gift or by inheritance or under a will. It included property purchased with separate funds during the marriage. The separate property of each spouse is wholly free from claim or ownership by the other. It is entirely imder the control and ownership of te spouse to whom it belongs, who may convey it by deed or will or may mortgage it. COMMUNITY PROPERTY it all other property acquired during the marriage and this is owned one half by each spouse. It is generally acquired during the marriage by joint efforts of husband and wife. Property purchased with community funds is community property. Ownership vest in husband and wife, whether the conveyance by the deed is made to husband to wife or both. The Homestead can only be conveyed by the joint deed of husband and wife. Joint signatures of both spouses are also required if the homestead is the separate property of either spouse and title is held by one spouse as sole owner. In Texas, the homestead cannot be owned by husband and wife as "joint tenants" with right of survivorship.

COMMUNITY PROPERTY rather than the English common law had its origin in the Spanish law and has been adopted by

Foreign Flyers Get Training View Of America At Texas Base

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—The jet fighter banked lazily on one wing, its plexiglass canopy reflecting the dying sun like a diamond. The young Iranian at the controls peered through his sunvisor at the blowing dust below and perhaps thought of the exotic feat awaiting him. Ah, yes: sear, serkeh, seeb. ...you some samarnoo or sanjad. And a belly dancer, of course. The perfect ingredients for a New Year's fete. In March, no less, and at the Webb Air Force Base Officer's Club. If you can't visualize a New Year's bash in March, in Big Spring, Tex., then how about the fall extravaganza commemorating the Shah of Iran's birthday?

Those are among the events at Webb, the temporary home away from home for an elite group of young foreign pilot trainees. And if they want Sabzi and Seeb and so forth, so be it. At a cost to their respective countries of roughly $235,000 apiece, the select trainees are brought to this West Texas city for high level flight training. There are only a handful of American trainees.

Called the Security Assistance Training Program, Webb is one of several U.S. bases in which American technical skills and knowledge are shared with military trainees from foreign countries. "The main objective is to assist other nations in establishing their own ability to defend their shores and their land," said Col. Harry Spannaus, wing commander.

"We insure that they get quality training. In turn, they insure us quality people. It has been a benefit for both sides." The training of allied students at Webb began in late 1973 and involves 170 hours in the Cessna T37, a twin-seat primary trainer nicknamed the "tweet" for its small frame and piercing engine sound. Upon completion of the nine-month program, students receive their wings and return home, many to help train their fellow countrymen. In some cases, and depending on the separate countries' own requirements, selected students remain at Webb for advanced training in the supersonic Northrup T38. Currently there are 154 allied students at Webb, including 138 from Iran, 13 from Kuwait and three from Kenya. Perhaps two dozen countries have sent representatives at different times.

All of which creates an interesting situation for U.S. personnel at Webb and the citizenry of Big Spring, a lively community of 30,000 on Interstate 20 between Abilene and Midland. "Given an international pilot training school," said Spannaus, "it is interesting how you can take representatives of various countries, join them together and produce pilots regardless of their various religious beliefs, customs and courtesies represented." Language difficulties pose only a minor problem. The food may be something else. Since Mexican food restaurants outnumber those of Iran, Kuwait and Kenya roughly 8-0 in Big Spring, Webb caters to the foreign appetites in every way possible. Military chefs prepare foreign dishes frequently and there are certain nights when special food is available at the officers club. The townspeople also play host to the students and a base-community council helps arrange social events. "We like to expose them to American culture and give them a better understanding of who we are and what we are doing in this country," one officer explained. "That way, they take back a better image of America to their own countries." The student pilots, meanwhile, seem most fascinated by American cars, the sports variety, and "most of them are able to purchase one," Spannaus said. A local joke suggests that the pilots are safer in their planes than their cars, but Spannaus said Webb provides special courses in traffic safety and "I think it's helped out." The visitors also are prone to buy bicycles, stereo sets, anything electronic and blue jeans, he said. "I've seen them go buy boxes of blue jeans and gadgets. They like gadgets," said another officer. While in this country, students also participate in a special informational program. It includes, among other things, exposure to U.S. governmental institutions, the judicial system, political parties, the press, minorities, agriculture, economy, labor-management relations, education and public social welfare. "I think it's a real source program, a benefit to a participating country, including the United States," Spannaus said. "I'm sure when they go back to their countries they have a much deeper appreciation of this country. And they must like it or they wouldn't keep coming back."

While in this country, students also participate in a special informational program. It includes, among other things, exposure to U.S. governmental

Local Woman Enrolls In Health Study

GALVESTON—Thirteen new students recently enrolled in the baccalaureate Medical Record Administration Program at The University of Texas School of Allied Health Sciences at Galveston.

One of these new students is LaNita A. Herr of Hereford. She is studying medical records administration.

Miss Herr, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Herr of 103 Aspen, is a 1973 graduate of Hereford High School attended Texas Women's University in Denton Amarillo Junior college and West Texas State University in Canyon.

The students will undergo a one-year professional course of study designed to provide them with the abilities to perform the multiple and complex tasks of the medical record administrator. The students will receive a combination of theoretical and practical instruction, integrated with supervised clinical experiences. Upon successful completion of academic and clinical requirements, the students will be awarded Bachelors of Science and Certificates of Proficiency in Medical Record Administration and will qualify to take the national certifying examination for their profession.

Day Care Center Board Accepts Nominations

The board of directors of Hereford Day Care Inc. approved nominations for the officers and replacement directors of the organization's approaching fiscal year during a regularly called meeting held this week at the center. Mike Patrick, nominating committee chairman, presented the following list of nominations: chairman, Ed McCreary; vice-chairman, John Poindexter; secretary, Carolyn Baxter; treasurer, Lynell Robinson; and board members, Robert Mayfield, George Warner, Nicks Fariss, and Mal Manchec.

The nominees will be formally elected at the next regular meeting of the board in October. Bettie Roberts, director of the center, reported that partial payment to McCaslin Lumber Co. was made for completed work on the building addition. She compare budget expenditures and explained that the addition should be finished within four to six weeks.

The 1976-77 proposed budget, prepared by Warner and Mrs. Roberts, was presented. It will be accepted as presented or amended at the October meeting. Robery Mayfield, chairman appointed a personnel and compensation policies committee to evaluate salaries, hospitalization and other fringe benefits of Day Care Center employees. It is compared of McCreary, chairman, Patrick, Warner, Mrs. Baxter, Joanne Simmer and Mrs. Roberts, ex-officio member. Following a discussion, the board changed the by-laws so that the budget would be approved in the August meeting rather than the October meeting each year. Mrs. Simmer reported that the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation was not allowed to erect a sign giving directions to the center. She conducted a review of possible sign locations provided the board is able to do so. She will pursue the idea.

Having nothing to worry about is quite cause enough for some of us to do so. When you were 20, nothing was to good for you and after 40 you begin collecting a lot of it.

Meet Your Educators

Sponsored By Hereford Classroom Teachers Assoc.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is in a continuing series of articles on local educators. It shall appear weekly under the above column headline.

After serving as a substitute teacher in the Hereford school, Mary Lou Vasquez began her first year this as a Hereford teacher in the Bilingual Education Program at Northwest Elementary School. She teaches at the kindergarten level.

Her previous teaching experiences include one year at Lydia Patterson Junior Senior High School in El Paso, one year at Sanburn Elementary School in Amarillo, and three years at Amarillo College.

Mrs. Vasquez is a graduate of Spirit Lake High School in Spirit Lake Iowa, and has attended the University of Oklahoma, the University of South Dakota, Iowa Eastern College, and completed her bachelor of arts degree requirements in education at West Texas State University of Canyon. She studied Spanish, and history and received elementary and secondary teaching certificates.

She is now working on a masters degree.

Along with her husband Jose, she is a member of the United Methodist Church denomination. They have two sons, Damian, 5, and Marcos, 2.

The family enjoys golf, tennis, camping, swimming and skiing. Mrs. Vasquez plays the guitar and sings.

She feels that each Mexican-American child who enter kindergarten should enter the first grade with a qualified use of English for communication. They should also continue a proficient speaking and writing ability in their own native language of Spanish. She is in the position to carry out this belief through her past experience and educational background.

Mrs. Vasquez said, "Education is the gateway into a land of opportunities to better one's self in a world of surmounting affluence."

She believes that Hereford has an excellent Bilingual Education Program and that the future will show positive results.

Volunteer Week

Set Sept. 19-25

The Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism has joined the Texas Commission on Alcoholism and 17 other state agencies in saluting Texas volunteers during Texas Volunteer Week, September 19-25, 1976. Councils on Alcoholism, Texas Pharmaceutical Association affiliates in Austin, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio, and Councils of Government will publicize the event throughout the state by distributing Texas Volunteer Week brochures. The purpose of Texas

Volunteer Week is to recognize the service offered by volunteers to the State of Texas and to various community programs. Texas Volunteer Week allows Texans a chance to recognize the year-round volunteer opportunities available to them. Many people invest their hours to bring happiness and help to others. The volunteer works with the handicapped, the elderly, the alcohol abuser, and others in need of help.

Since the founding of the American Red Cross Blood Program in 1948, the Red Cross has collected, processed and distributed 65,198,753 units of blood.

POINT OF AIM

By Millard Murray

SHOOTING THE ANGLES

Run a gun shop and you find yourself in the middle of more hassles than a salmon egg in a trout hatchery. Here's one remark that's guaranteed to spark a verbal denierbrook: "Everybody knows you have to hold high (or low) when shooting uphill (or downhill)!"

MOST RIFLEMEN think that a bullet shot downhill, because of gravity, picks up speed like a winged widgeon, so you have to hold LOW to avoid overshooting. In line with this reasoning, a projectile fired uphill struggles mightily and slows down, so you have to hold HIGH to compensate. There's a smidgin of truth in these tales, but—

People overshoot whether the target is above or below the gun. Gravity is the reason, but not because its pull varies according to the bullet's angle. It's gravity relative to distance that causes those "mile-high" misses.

A MULEY BUCK HIGH above you might be 350 "tape-measured" yards from your gun. Yet, if you could swing him straight-down to your level, the distance would be only 250-275 yards, depending on the steepness of the hill. The same situation exists if the deer is positioned below you.

Scopes purchased at A&M Gun Shop are installed free on guns already drilled and tapped.

In other words, an uphill or downhill target is always farther away than when it is on your horizontal plane. And gravity works only on the "straight-across" distance. Its tug does "re-raise the skids" or "hold-back" a sharply angled bullet, but only slightly. Impact difference is less than normally experienced between two identical cartridges.

ANOTHER REASON FOR overshooting is that you see less of your target when it is uphill or downhill. A deer or Dall Ram doesn't stand at right angles to your line of sight. If he did, with his body slanted out from the hill, he'd be one silly looking dude! No your quarry stands upright, regardless of slope angle, which foreshortens his apparent height and "narrows" your target area.

SO, NEXT TIME YOU'RE hunting in rocky or hilly terrain, try to "guesstimate" the straight-line distance to your target, hold a bit low, and your chances of a hit will be vastly improved!

If you have any questions on ballistics, reloading, or firearms in general, let's get acquainted. We enjoy "talking guns."

'No Contest' Pleaded By Wheatheart Officials

AMARILLO, (AP)— Sentencing is scheduled in October for three officials of the bankrupt Wheatheart Inc. cattle feeders who pleaded no contest to federal charges Friday.

Each defendant in the week-long fraud and conspiracy trial pleaded nolo contendere to one charge in exchange for dismissal of 27 other charges.

Under terms of plea bargaining arrangement, no defendant will have to serve more than a year in prison. Maximum sentence for two of the defendants will be one year probation.

U.S. District Court Judge Halbert Woodward said the pleas meant the defendants were "not denying the charges so I can take them as true."

Pleading were John O. Pitts Jr. of Oklahoma City, president of Wheatheart; J.D. Hodges of Woodward, Okla., a company director, and Henry F. Shrum, company treasurer.

Pitts pleaded no contest to a felony count of making false statements to a bank in connection with a $4.5 million loan Wheatheart obtained from First National Bank and Trust of Oklahoma City.

Hodges and Shrum pleaded no contest to a misdemeanor count of fraud in the sale of securities. The maximum sentence they could receive is one year's probation.

The trio, indicted in March, were charged originally with conspiracy to violate three federal statutes; fraud in the offer and sale of securities, making false statements to a bank and inducing persons to cross state lines in furtherance of a fraud.

Wheatheart Inc., headquartered in Perryton, Tex., was once the second largest cattle feeder in the nation. The firm filed for bankruptcy last year.

Congressional candidate Jim Reese campaigns with local voters during a visit to the Deaf Smith County Library Friday morning. He talked with several local groups in his effort to unseat George Mahon for the 19th Congressional District place in the U.S. House of Representatives.

defendants.

Based on information provided in a pre-trial discovery, he said the plaintiff has not yet presented evidence to worry school officials. "We will just have to wait and see what case Woodward presents before we can decide what we will do," Green said.

Langley and Green plan to call only Hartman, Hughes and Conkright to the stand at this point even though some 30 possible witnesses are listed on their pre-trial order. Witnesses not listed on the order may be called.

cottonseed oil and peanut oil, we might see some improvements.

A REFRESHING article about farmers was recently published by Jim Davis with the Plainview Reporter-News. We believe it would be of interest to our readers, so it is reprinted below:

"I could almost say it in one simple sentence. My thoughts about farmers boil down to outright respect. I couldn't be a farmer. I don't have the nerve or the intestinal fortitude. One farmer told me the other day, 'We are nothing but gamblers.'"

"Every spring the farmer is off to the bank to hock everything he owns so he can plant a crop, fertilize it, water it, dump herbicide on it, dump insecticide on it, and water it some more in the hope that it will grow, that Mother Nature won't arbitrarily obliterate it and, in the end, somebody will want to buy it."

"Sounds a little like playing Russian roulette with only one empty chamber. It seems worse than that, even, at least, in this day and time."

"The gas company, and seemingly most everybody else who supplies farmers, seems determined to price agriculture out of existence and the market place seems determined to make growing things for fun and profit into all fun and no profit.

"On top of that, there's the government—enough said."

"How can any sane man, I ask myself, want to bust his back (even if it is on an airconditioned tractor) to try to live from the earth?"

"The answer for me comes from the greatest agrarian in the country's 200-year history—Thomas Jefferson."

"I know I don't remember the exact words, but I think I remember the concept...I think I remember why Jefferson believed that the farmer, the land holder, was and should be the heart of this country. (If I get him a little wrong, I apologize.)"

"If the farmer is the independent man, the self-thinker, the one who truly has something at stake in this country."

"The farmer's life and success is one totally dependent on the decisions that the farmer himself makes."

"He is the man who loves his independence and reveals in his ability to make his own decisions."

"He is the true individualist. And, to Jefferson, it was the true individual acting of himself, but in unison with other individuals, who would make or break America."

"Times have changed since Jefferson. The farmer is no longer in the position of being the individualist that Jefferson envisioned."

"But, in the context of our time, the farmer is still the individualist against whom all who claim the role should be measured.

"I know that there are probably as many reasons for being a farmer as there are farmers, but I have the feeling in the back of my mind that it is this ability of farmers to be their own men which is at the heart of it all."

"And, I can't help but respect any man who is willing to risk his very existence year after year in pursuit of his own freedom."

THE NOTICE of a public meeting to discuss paving of FM-2943, east and north, to connect with FM-1062 in northeast Deaf Smith County brought at least one vote of approval from a reader. We think he may have exaggerated a little, but his statement was: "Here is one FM project - out of the past 30 years - that doesn't pave a road by a county commissioner's farm."

CIRCLE THE DATE Sept. 28 on your calendar. That's the time for the next Chamber Fun Breakfast. Everyone is welcome and everyone who attends is eligible to win the cash dollars to be given away. And, it's an opportunity to have fun and fellowship with some fine people and learn what is going on in the community. The only drawback—the breakfast starts at 6:30 on that Tuesday morning!

DPS Investigates 10 Wrecks In Aug.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 10 accidents on Deaf Smith County during the month of August, 1976 according to Sergeant W.E. Wells Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in one person killed and five persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first eight months of 1976 shows a total of 76 accidents resulting in three persons killed and 38 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for August 1976, shows a total of 566 accidents resulting in 16 persons killed and 319 injured, as compared to August 1975, with 596 accidents resulting in 16 persons killed and 292 persons injured. This was 30 less accidents, the same number killed, and 27 more injured in 1976 at the same period of time.

The 16 traffic deaths for the month of August, 1976, occurred in the following counties: three each in Parker, Hansford; two each in Donley, Motley; one each in Deaf Smith, Foard, Lubbock, Lynn, Montague, Palo Pinto.

Baptist Regrets Statement

DALLAS (AP) - James Dunn, director of the Christian Life Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, said Thursday he regretted saying that John Connally would cost President Ford the vote of Texas Baptists in November.

Connally is the Texas campaign manager for the Ford-Dole ticket.

Dunn did not refer to Connally by name in his written statement.

"My comments reflect only a personal estimate of the Texas political scene," Dunn said Thursday. "I was not seeking to speak for or offer advice to Texas Baptists and such an implication should not have been made publicly."

Dunn said the Christian Life Commission is not involved in partisan politics and that its only concern is with its outgoing drive to register Texas Baptists to vote in November.

Shark Kills Teenager In Florida

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP) - A Tennessee teenager who police thought nau drowned actually was killed by a shark, authorities say. His brother, who was swimming with him, is missing.

The body of Mike Harold Karras Jr., 16, of Knoxville, Tenn., washed ashore a few miles south of here Wednesday, and a medical examiner said Thursday there was no doubt that he had been killed by a shark.

"The bite in the left shoulder and another in the right leg were 10 inches in diameter," said Dr. Peter Lipkovic. "The teeth marks were like a shark's. No other fish is like that."

Mike and his brother, Ricky, 15, disappeared Sunday from the rough Atlantic Ocean surf off the Northeast Florida coast here. They had been staying at a nearby motel with their parents.

Police Chief Paul Brown said there had been no reports of sharks Sunday, and he added, "We were surprised when we learned he had been killed by sharks."

Brown said that nobody on the beach reported seeing the boys, and no lifeguards were on duty at the time because it was off-season for this resort area.

Laws Confuse Drivers

"This school year, as in the past, the School Bus Loading Laws confuse many drivers," states Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The Uniform Vehicle Code in Texas states that the driver of a vehicle, meeting or overtaking from either direction a school bus displaying red flashing warning lights that is in the process of loading or unloading passengers, shall stop until the school bus starts moving, the red lights are no longer flashing, or the bus driver directs motorists to proceed.

"Freeways and divided highways add to the drivers' confusion," Major Bell added. "If a bus is on an access road, only the traffic on the access road must stop. However, if the bus is on a divided highway and pedestrian traffic does not normally cross the median or barrier then only the traffic on the portion of the roadway occupied by the bus must stop."

It is most important that drivers observe the School Bus Loading Laws for the protection of our school children.

One way to go on a diet is to sell books door-to-door on commission.

Some folk are led astray. Others always want to be the leader.

Two Cities Refuse Gas Pass

AUSTIN (AP) - The Railroad Commission has scheduled December hearings two days apart on the refusals of Bryan and College Station to allow Lone Star Gas Co. to raise gas rates.

The cities also rejected the company's effort to pass through its extra natural gas costs, and Lone Star also is appealing that to the commission.

The Bryan hearing is set here for Dec. 13 and the College Station hearing is Dec. 15.

Texans Differ On Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Here is how Texans voted on two roll call measures Thursday.

On agreeing to use of federal funds for abortion when the life of a woman is endangered. The vote was 256-114:

Democrats - Brooks, yes; Burleson, yes; De La Garza, yes; Eckhardt did not vote; Gonzalez, yes; Hall, yes; Hightower, yes; Jordan, no; Mahon, yes; Milford, yes; Pickle, yes; Poage, yes; Roberts, yes; Teague did not vote; White, yes; Wilson, no; Wright, yes; Young, yes.

Republicans - Archer, yes; Collins, yes; Paul, yes; Steelman did not vote.

On which the House agreed 242 to 138 to Senate amendments to an antitrust enforcement bill, sending it to President Ford:

Democrats - Brooks, yes; Burleson, no; De La Garza, no; Eckhardt did not vote; Gonzalez, no; Hall, no; Hightower, yes; Jordan, yes; Kazen, no; Krueger, yes; Mahon, no; Milford, no; Pickle, yes; Poage, no; Roberts, no; Teague did not vote; White, yes; Wilson, yes; Wright, yes; Young, no.

Lo-Vaca Gas Sale Okayed

AUSTIN (AP) - The railroad commission approved Thursday spot sales of natural gas by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. over a 60-day period.

Lo-Vaca told the commission the sale would enable the company and its customers to avoid payments under take-or-pay contracts and increase the volume of less expensive gas in the Lo-Vaca system.

The gas to be sold is "new gas" that is more costly than "old gas" under contract at cheaper prices.

Lo-Vaca intends to sell up to 5.1 billion cubic feet at a price of $2.27 per thousand cubic feet.

Savings to customers will be about 4.5 cents per thousand cubic feet, Lo-Vaca said.

Presidents come and go but Congress . . .

By Ray Cromley

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The split within the Republican Party was quite clear at its national convention in Kansas City.

Strong-minded GOP liberals say they will not work unless President Ford veers more to their side of the fence. Strong-minded conservatives hint they will sit on their hands this fall unless the President hews closely to the Ronald Reagan line. Straddling this fence will be no easy task even for so amiable and conciliatory a candidate as Mr. Ford.

The Republican problem is all too clear. Jimmy Carter, however, faces party divisions less advertised but no less deep.

Take the Democratic platform. Unlike past documents, the 1976 edition was written precisely to conform to the candidate's own views and his promises. There were no Ford-Reagan-like compromises. The Carter convention position was so strong he was not forced to compromise on word or paragraph.

The ink has hardly dried on that Carter document. Yet the Democratic Congress majority, which most certainly will be the majority in the next Congress, has given up on passing what are undoubtedly the seven key planks in Carter's platform. The Democratic leadership has suggested opposition within its own ranks makes passage unlikely.

It is reported in fact that three fourths of the new breed of Democrats — the 81 Democratic freshmen — believe the Humphrey-Hawkins full-employment bill could hurt their chances of being re-elected. News accounts say they want it killed.

According to strong hints from its leadership, strong covert opposition within Carter's own party in Congress would likewise doom postcard voter registration so publicized by Carter, as well as national health insurance, thorough tax overhaul, control of handguns, reorganization of the food stamp program and legislation splitting the major oil companies. A spate of government reorganization proposals, aimed at efficiency, has died a quiet death. Apparently, so has zero budgeting and sunset proposals requiring agencies to be studied from the bottom up at specified intervals.

The Congressional investigation of corruption in the Senate and House has all but vanished.

This seems to mean that the Democratic majority has in effect stalled the bulk of what Carter is campaigning for — for now at least — as though it were a bag of hot potatoes.

Take these facts then add that in the Democratic primaries, 60 per cent of the votes went to Carter's opponents. It becomes clear Jimmy Carter and Sen. Walter Mondale face the same uphill fight as President Ford and Sen. Robert Dole.

The voter is thus faced with a dilemma. He knows so little of what Mr. Ford favors has gotten through an opposition Congress. He sees, too, that the Carter programs have fared equally badly with the Senate and House majority.

Whatever promises are made, and however sincere each candidate may be, how is the voter then to know whether Mr. Ford or Carter can be effective, given the splits in Congress and among their own workers?

The President can exert negative control through the veto and Mr. Ford has been doing just that. But this is not the same as pushing through a program. What the situation thus promises at best, whoever is elected President, is a continuation of the status quo unless there's a mandate — a heavy vote for the winning Presidential candidate and significant defeat of Senators and Representatives who do not represent what the majority of Americans want.

Unfortunately, whatever happens in the presidential race, there's little evidence of a major change in the Congress this November.

Editorially Speaking

How Much Welfare Can We Afford?

How much money can our society afford to devote to welfare, or "income transfer" programs? In an election year, that's a subject sure to be debated with much more heat than light. It's unfortunate that emotion clouds the issue, because the issue is important — perhaps crucial — to the future of our economy, and there are scientific ways of looking at it.

One of the best income-transfer primers I've seen appear in the Spring, 1976, edition of The Public Interest quarterly. It was an article written by an economist, Edgar K. Browning, and entitled: "How much more equality can we afford?" In spots it's heavy going, but any reasonably intelligent person should be able to understand it, and any citizen who wants to be well-informed ought to make the effort.

Mr. Browning makes two points that will startle some casual students of the subject: 1. Income statistics based on money income alone tend to exaggerate the extent of poverty, since many low-income families now receive substantial amounts of aid in the form of "in-kind" subsidies (such as food stamps, Medicaid and housing allowances). While in-kind transfers per person rose from $42 to $657 between 1964 and 1973 — or 1,464 per cent — cash transfers rose only 172 per cent.

A tendency to look only at money income causes some welfare theorists to state that the distribution of income in the U.S. has not changed significantly since World War II. But, says Browning, "When in-kind transfers... are counted as income, the average poor family in 1973 had an income that was approximately 30 per cent above the poverty line. In terms of the average income of officially poor families, there is practically no poverty — statistically speaking, — in the United States today, and indeed, there has not been for several years."

(Remember, Browning is speaking of averages. I have no doubt that there are individual cases of hardship resulting from the way the welfare rules are drawn and for various other reasons.) 2. We may be nearing the point where the costs — in productive incentives — of transferring additional income will cripple the economic growth rate, resulting in less total wealth to be divided by anyone's formula.

In support of this point, Browning states that "marginal tax rates" are already between 35 and 50 per cent for middle-income and upper-income families, if local, state and federal taxes are counted. ("Marginal tax rate" refers to the rate that applies to the next dollar you earn.)

He demonstrates that a practical formula for redistributing as little as one per cent of the national income to the poor could easily raise marginal tax rates by something like 10 percentage points "for most, and possibly all, families," while raising the net income of the poor by only about 12 per cent.

Results like this occur because of the need to taper off benefits with rising income. The more gentle the taper, the greater the incentive to supplement welfare with a job. But, the more gentle the taper, the higher the incomes that are eligible for some subsidy. And that costs more money. As the income level at which welfare is cut off rises, more people are shifted from the tax-paying to the tax-taking categories, which leaves fewer taxpayers to pay a higher tax bill.

In short, we are in danger of worrying too much about how to divide up the golden eggs, and not enough about how much to feed the goose.

Navy Officials Concerned About Collision At Sea

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Navy officials feel Tuesday's collision of the carrier Kennedy and the destroyer Borden in the North Sea off Scotland again demonstrates the hazards of refueling at sea.

Spokesmen at Atlantic Fleet Headquarters here said Wednesday the most recent accident happened when the Borden, based in Charleston, S.C., pulled alongside the Norfolk-based Kennedy to take on fuel. The two ships parted immediately after colliding and went on their way under their own power.

Both ships have been participating in a North Atlantic Treaty Organization exercise named "Teamwork '76."

The Navy said an investigation would begin immediately. Six crewmen on the Borden were injured in the mishap, two of them seriously. The Navy said both ships apparently sustained extensive damage, but that the destroyer was damaged the most. Spokesman said one of the seriously injured men reportedly suffered internal injuries, while the other had a possible compound fracture and cuts.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

DOWN MEMOR LANE— Time was when almost everybody who went to out-of-town football games got there aboard a special train. In a good year as many as 150 specials were needed to take fans to watch their favorite teams.

As early as 1898, The University of Texas was using special trains to get its Longhorn team and supporters to distant stadiums. By the 1930's larger Texas high schools had put their football spectators on the rails.

When Southern Methodist University played Stanford in the 1936 Rose Bowl, partisans followed them to California aboard half a dozen all-Pull man luxury specials. Three decades ago no Southwest Conference team playing a big intersectional game without at least one special train taking fans along.

Traveling with the team was about as cheap as staying at home. In 1935 when the Missouri Pacific announced that it would provide eight special trains from Austin to College Station for the annual Texas-Texas A&M game, the fare was only $1.75 round-trip. Fifty-yard line seats were $2 each and turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served aboard the train for 50c.

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY— Several Negro soldiers fought alongside white and Mexican patriots in Texas' war for independence from Mexico.

One, Peter Allen, a free black from Pennsylvania, volunteered and served with Col. James W. Fannin. He was killed at Goliad March 27, 1836.

Another black who gave his life was the servant of Francis DeSauque, a San Antonio merchant. His name was John (last name unknown). When DeSauque was sent out from the Alamo as a courier, John elected to remain behind and fight. He died with the others heroes in that battle.

Henricks Arnold, another Negro, was an important scout for the Texan Army and fought at the Battle of San Jacinto.

IT COULD ONLY HAPPEN HERE— Apparently crime doesn't pay in Center.

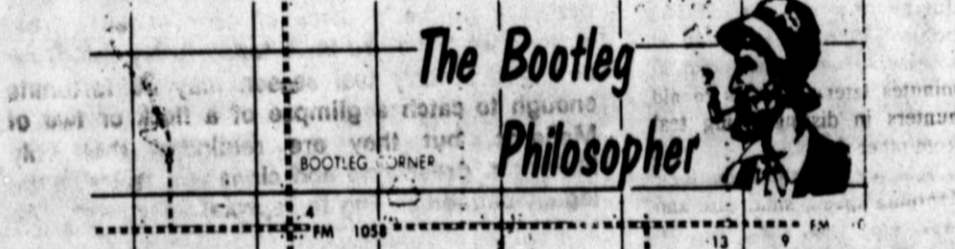

In downtown Center, Payne's Hardware Store displays everything from plows to flower pots on the broad sidewalk that fronts two sides of the store. The merchandise, valued at hundreds of dollars, stays there day and night. There hasn't been a theft at the Shelby County store since it opened in 1915!

WHAT'S IN A NAME?— In 1903 a cowboy named H. "Gravy" Fields started a small store in western Yoakum County. A settlement grew up around the store and Fields asked the government for a post office.

One day a Yankee shoe salesman passed through and offered a cowboy $5 to demonstrate the art of bronc riding. After the show, Fields was asked by the drummer why the town didn't have a name. The merchant replied that the government had turned down the names he had submitted.

"How about 'bronco'?" asked the visitor. Fields sent in that name and the town is still known as Bronco today.

TEXANS AT WORK— In San Antonio, Agapito Cordova has been hawking newspapers at the Bexar County courthouse for the last 57 years.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner thinks he has uncovered a thorny legal problem this week.

Dear editor: I don't want to throw cold water on the Presidential campaign, right when the debates are about to be held, but it's possible that whichever candidate is elected, Ford or Carter, neither will be allowed to serve.

The Supreme Court may throw out the election, on the grounds that the Equal Opportunity law has been violated.

The truth of the matter is the American voters are not equal opportunity employers when it comes to hiring a President. They systematically exclude women.

I can see the Supreme Court now saying, "Oh, at the first it might have been just a happenstance that only men were chosen as President, certainly it was all right and within the law to select Washington and Jefferson and Adams, but you stretch the pattern out for 200 years, with one man after another being selected and not one woman, and equal opportunity becomes a joke. It's sex discrimination if we ever saw it. E Pluribus Unum and Pro Bono."

I'm not a lawyer, if a Watergate bum is entitled to go to jail I wouldn't stand in the way, but you know it's bound to dawn on some smart women that the law is on their side when your review the long history of one man after another getting named President and never a woman. I look for a suit to be filed before long.

All right, say the suit is filed and it gets to the Supreme Court. You know it's going to dawn on some ultra-smart woman that, hold a minute, there's no woman on the Supreme Court either and never has been. The Supreme Court itself is in violation of the Equal Opportunity law.

At this point the thing gets so confusing I don't want to think about it anymore. I'm sorry I brought it up. Yours faithfully, J.A.

Ethics Committee Votes To Abandon Gulf Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee has voted to drop its investigation of alleged illegal Gulf Corp. campaign contributions to Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott and other senators, Senate sources said Thursday.

The panel voted 5 to 1 in a closed session Wednesday against taking any further action against Scott or several other alleged to have received the Gulf money, the sources said.

Committee leaders declined to comment on the meeting, calling it a "confidential" session. But sources said the vote came on a motion by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., which had been pending for several weeks.

Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., was the only member of the panel to vote against the motion, sources said. They said the second motion, made by Brooke to continue the panel's probe, was then rejected by the committee, also on a 5 to 1 vote.

The committee began looking into the Gulf matter after it was alleged in depositions filed in federal court last year that Claude C. Wild Jr., Gulf's former chief lobbyist, had given Scott as much as $100,000 between 1960 and 1973, most of it to distribute to other candidates.

Scott has denied ever knowingly accepting corporate contributions from Gulf, which would be illegal, and has said that any money he did receive, he distributed to other GOP Senate candidates.

A half dozen other senators also have been linked to the Gulf contributions. Most recently, Sen. Bob Dole, the Republican vice presidential candidate, acknowledged he was questioned about such gifts by a federal grand jury last March.

Wild last week said he had given Dole $2,000 in 1970 from a legal Gulf fund, but later retracted the statement, claiming he was in error.

However, Wild also allegedly told federal prosecutors he gave between $5,000 and $6,000 to Dole through the Kansas senator's former administrative assistant in 1973, William Kats. Kats and Dole have denied this, and Wild had refused to comment on the allegation.

The real problem of problem drinkers

By Don Oakley

Since drunken drivers are said to be responsible for at least half the nation's annual toll of traffic deaths and accidents, it would seem to make sense, if possible, to remove these menaces from the highway before they caused accidents, not after.

To see if it is, in fact, possible is the object of a $797,000 federally funded experiment currently being conducted in the District of Columbia. Since April, more than 4,000 applicants for drivers' licenses in the district have been asked to fill out a questionnaire designed to identify "problem drinkers," which includes full-fledged alcoholics as well as those with less chronic drinking habits.

Psychologists have established that certain personal situations and attitudes and health problems can be indicators of problem drinking. Thus in addition to direct questions about drinking habits, the Washington questionnaire asks such things as: "Would you describe yourself as being lonely a good deal of the time?" "With whom do you live — Alone? With friend? With relative? With wife or husband? With ex-wife or ex-husband?"

Or true or false: "Sometimes I feel very guilty." "I usually sweat at night." "I sometimes feel that I am going to pieces."

Responses to the questions, which are entirely voluntary, have been put into a computer and indicate that about 15 per cent of those questioned so far are problem drinkers, say officials.

What critics of the experiment are afraid of is that what is voluntary now could be made mandatory in the future and that license applicants identified as problem drinkers would be required to undergo some form of medical evaluation or treatment or education as a condition for obtaining a license. The people in charge of the project admit they are thinking of just that.

Now in a well-run society, not only potential alcoholics but potential criminals and anybody with any kind of life-adjustment problem would be identified early and helped before he caused difficulties for himself and others.

But psychology is still an inexact science, and this is still supposed to be a society where a person is considered innocent until proven guilty — by what he does, not by what someone thinks he might do. Those who complain that the Washington experiment is a gross invasion of privacy and evidence of creeping Big Brotherism are not being paranoid.

The fact is that we already have plenty of people who have unmistakably identified themselves as problem drinkers, yet are allowed to keep on driving. We should be spending money on developing better programs to help those who have demonstrated they have an actual problem, not worrying about those who may or may not have one in the future.

New light on the blackout

The belief that the massive, 12-hour power failure which struck New York City and parts of eight states in November 1965 resulted in a miniature "baby boom" nine months later has become part of American folklore.

Tain't so, says a University of Chicago statistician, who has made a study of New York birth records following the blackout.

"If you look at the statistics over a one-month period — two weeks before and two weeks after the nine-month period — it's clear there was no very sharp several-day phenomenon," says Prof. Sandy Zabel.

He found, in fact, that the percentage of births during the same four-week period in all the years from 1961 through 1966 was about the same from year to year.

The baby-boom myth apparently got started because everyone, including reporters, expected it to happen. After all, the blackout was a rather romantic event and there were all those bored couples who suddenly found themselves without television.

Local Hunters May Find Good Shooting

Bluewings Numerous As Teal Season Opens

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Local duck gunners accustomed to wearing bulky clothing against bitter cold and firing heavy loads of No. 4's may feel a bit disoriented hunting in shirtsleeves and touching off light field loads, but they can get an excellent preview of the 1976-77 waterfowl season as the state's early teal season continues today through Sept. 26.

But they'll only get that preview if they find some water to hunt on.

Max Traweck, assistant waterfowl biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department indicates that enough heavy rain was received in the Hereford-Friona area to keep local plays lakes supplied with water, but throughout most of the Panhandle and South Plains it's another story and teal gunning may be rather poor due to a lack of water.

According to Traweck, a good population of the more numerous blue-winged teal should be available wherever there is water, as ducks are already moving into the Panhandle counties from northern nesting areas.

Other species of teal which are fair game during this early hunt include green-winged and cinnamon teal.

A daily bag limit of four teal has been set, and a possession limit of eight is in effect after today.

Shooting hours are similar to the traditional duck season, which comes later this fall with gunning allowed from sunrise to sunset. Hunting during the regular season begins 30 minutes prior to sunrise, so teal gunners start 30 minutes later. This is to aid hunters in distinguishing teal from other ducks.

Teal are identified by their lightning speed, small size and rapid wingbeats, and identification of teal by the hunter is critical to the success for the early season.

Although numerous other species of ducks may be mingled with the teal in their flights over plays lakes, any attempt to take or possession of any other species of duck in the state is considered a violation of the game and fish laws during the period of this special teal hunt.

Sportsmen who go afield in pursuit of the speedy little ducks will be required to have a federal migratory waterfowl stamp in their possession. The stamp, which is available at U.S. post offices at a cost of $5, must be signed in ink across the face by the holder.

As in the regular duck season, shotguns must be plugged to three shell capacity, including the shell in the chamber.

Teal decoy readily and provide outstanding sport for waterfowlers. Their twisting, turning, high-speed flight makes them a tough target, but they will often fly within a few feet of a well-concealed gunner. The whoosh of wings emitted by a flock of these small speedsters as they slip up behind a hunter and skim past just over his head is an unnerving and unforgettable experience, capped off when the birds turn virtually on a dime and come barreling into the decoys, pitching in with abandon.

Gunners need not utilize heavy duck loads to take teal during the special early season. Light field loads are adequate.

A 12 gauge firing 1 1/8 ounce loads of No. 7 1/2 shot gives excellent results, and the 20 gauge firing small shot also performs well on early season teal.

Teal are not large waterfowl weighing only a few ounces after dressing, but many sportsmen consider them among the finest of table ducks available.

A record 43 million Americans, or one out of every five of the population spent $270 million on state hunting and fishing licenses in 1974.

Woodpeckers hoard acorns by drilling holes in trees and stuffing them with nuts. As many as 30,000 acorns have been found in one riddled tree.

Duck Hunter's Delight

Few sights can stir an avid waterfowler like the vision of a flock of Mallards such as these winging past the gunner's place of concealment. Local hunters who venture forth today to try their luck during the early teal season may be fortunate enough to catch a glimpse of a flock or two of Mallards, but they are reminded that only bluewing, greenwing and cinnamon teal may be legally bagged during the special early hunt. The regular season on all species of ducks will open later this fall, but there's no season or bag limit on the enjoyment that can be obtained from observing the spectacle of waterfowl in flight, and gunners will have ample opportunity to observe numerous species of ducks while working the plays during the early season, which concludes Sept. 26. Whistling Wings

By Jim Steiert

WELL, HERE it is mid-September already, dove season is well underway and this year's early teal season is already a day old.

Today marks the launching of our second season of Whistling Wings columns. They will appear periodically on the outdoors pages of The Brand during the hunting season. We'll feature various items of information and a few of those yarns an avid wingshooter has been known to spin now and then.

As you may have noticed over the past month or so, the outdoors page is something new in itself, and we plan to maintain it as a regular feature of the Sunday edition of The Brand so long as space allows.

WITH THE approach of the opening of the regular duck and goose season later this fall, we already have plans for some features we feel will be informative for local sportsmen.

And you guys who just happen to have a picture of that big limit of doves you bagged the other day, a fat honker or a dandy eight point whitetail, bring it by and we'll run it if the photo is of suitable quality and as space allows.

WW I DON'T know if the doves are getting quicker, or if I'm just getting slower and my shooting eye is worse, but the gray-feathered bombs are beginning to realize that their numbers are in no danger of decimation whenever I'm around with a shotgun in my hands.

Last Sunday I hosted Brand Sports Editor Bob Nigh to a session of dove hunting southeast of my hometown of Hart. We were hunting along the Running Water Draw on a place I stumbled onto by sheer luck several years ago.

The tree-lined draw runs through a native pasture on the farm, which is bordered by wild sunflowers and grainfields, and the doves really like the place during the early portion of the season. Some years they even stick around for the duration.

ANYWAY, IT was good to have the owner of the land welcome us back last Sunday, and although the first hour or so was slow, the action got pretty wild just before sundown, with flights of 15 or more birds at a time winging past us while we were standing around trying to keep our guns loaded.

We shot up a lot of ammunition, and came home happy with something less than two limits of birds. It's the fun of wingshooting that counts though, and you learn quickly that you don't have to have a game vest full of birds in order to bag an ample share of the former.

Bob had one profound comment following last weekend's hunt. "If I could just jump those creeks, I'd be an ace dove hunter," he quipped.

Sweetener Vanilla has a hidden value for weight-watchers. Craving for sweets must be satisfied in order to stop nibbling. Vanilla itself counts only six calories per teaspoon but it brings out sweetness in foods, making less sugar necessary. A small amount of sugar must be present for the vanilla to accent as it is not a sweetener.

Permit Application Deadline Nearing For Management Areas

AUSTIN--Hunters planning to apply for permits to hunt deer on state wildlife management areas have until Oct. 4 to submit their application to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

A public drawing, to be held in Austin Oct. 7, will determine this year's 951 participants on the five management and research facilities around the state.

Individuals may apply for a permit to hunt on one of the following:

--Chaparral Wildlife Management Area in Dimmit and LaSalle Counties. One deer, sex to be determined at time of hunt, may be harvested by each hunter. Some 200 permits will be issued, with 100 going to hunters using muzzle-loading rifles. Hunt dates are Nov. 13-14, 27-28; Dec. 11-12, 18-19. Permits will be good for two days on the 15,200 acre facility.

--Engeling Area in Anderson County, one deer, sex to be determined at time of hunt. Dates there are set for Nov. 13-16, 19-22, with 200 permits to be issued.

--Gene Howe Area, Hemphill County, one white-tailed buck deer. Some 30 permits will be issued for the Nov. 20-21, 27-28; Dec. 4-5 season. One turkey gobbler may also be taken by each permit holder.

--Kerr Area in Kerr County; one deer harvest per hunter. Whitetail, Sika or axis may be taken, with sex and species to be determined at time of hunt. There will be 500 permits issued for the Nov. 13-Dec. 15 season.

--Sierra Diablo Area, Culberson County, one mule deer buck. Some 21 permits for the Nov. 27-Dec. 2 season will be issued.

Deer hunting will be permitted at the Pat Mayse Area in Lamar County Nov. 13-30 and the Angelina Dam "B" and Angelina-Neches Scientific Area in Jasper and Tyler Counties from Nov. 13 to Jan. 2, 1977. On the Pat Mayse Area, a maximum of 75 permits per day will be issued. No permits will be required at the other two sites.

Bag limits are one buck on the Pat Mayse Area and two bucks on the Dam B and Angelina-Neches areas.

Hunters are reminded they may apply for only one area where permits are issued through a public drawing. Those whose name was drawn for gun or archery hunts in 1975, or for the special 1976 archery hunt, will not be eligible to participate this year, in accordance with state law.

A fee of $20 will be charged for each two-day permit issued for areas where hunters are selected by public drawing. The fee on the Pat Mayse Area is $3 per day.

For more information on specific areas or regulations governing the hunts, persons should contact the Texas Parks and Wildlife division.

All hunters will be required to wear a minimum of 400 square inches of daylight fluorescent orange material. Safety vests must be furnished by hunters.

Any person over 12 years of age may apply; however, those 12-17 must apply as a member of a party, and must be accompanied by a sponsor over the age of 21.

Hunters must have their application in Austin by 5 p.m. Oct. 4. The public drawing will be at 10 a.m., Oct. 7 at the John H. Reagan Building in Austin.

Persons should fill out and return their applications promptly since less than 1,000 permits will be issued. Last year's area hunts drew a total of 13,634 applicants.

Fish Applications Available

AUSTIN--Channel catfish and sunfish now are being delivered to private pondowners who applied for such species of fish prior to Jan. 1 of this year.

Officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Inland Fisheries Division say they now are taking requests for channel catfish, sunfish and largemouth bass to be delivered in 1977.

According to P&WD hatchery coordinator Ted Lowman, deadline for receiving application is Jan. 1, 1977, but Lowman encouraged landowners with ponds to apply early.

"The department will provide the three species of fish free of charge," said Lowman. "To qualify for the service, a pond either must never have been stocked with the requested species, have completely dried and refilled since the last request or have had all fish chemically removed since the last request."

Lowman said the P&WD keeps computer records of all stockings in private waters and will not stock fish in ponds that presently contain the three species of native fish.

Stone Toll

The tombs of chiefs of the Afar Tribe in Dankali, Africa, were once constructed by piling branches in the form of a hut. The number of stones lining the path leading to its entrance revealed the number of enemies the chief had killed.

TEXAS HUNTING & FISHING DAY SET

LUBBOCK--September 25 has been set aside by Governor Dolph Briscoe as "Texas Hunting and Fishing Day" in recognition of the contributions state outdoorsmen make to conservation.

Governor Briscoe along with the mayors of Amarillo and Lubbock are among the 50 top state administrators, 500 mayors, 237 congressmen supporting National Hunting and Fishing Day, which is celebrating its fifth anniversary. The announced theme for this year's NHF day is: "Making a Good Thing Better."

For nearly 40 years, sportsmen have paid a special 11 percent tax on their sporting equipment, providing conservation across the country with over $600 million, and they increase that total by nearly $50 million each year. During the next year, Texas will receive $2,235,800 for fish and wildlife restoration from this source.

Because of these sportsmen's interest in hunting and fishing throughout the vast and varied lands and waters of Texas, countless Texans along with other Americans have made great contributions to the many values of these outdoor activities. Texas sportsmen bought 1,051,834 hunting licenses in 1975 which accounted for six percent of the 16.6 million sold across the United States. License sales officials of the P&WD received $5.8 million from combination hunting and fishing, resident hunting and resident hunting exempt licenses.

Anglers and hunters are vocal in seeking to keep our waters clean and our lands balanced for a great Texas agricultural industry which can also afford ample wildlife habitat.

Through organizations such as Ducks Unlimited, bass, and gun clubs, attention is directed toward the inestimable value of natural resources to mankind, and the dangers of its abuse.

All citizens are urged to join with anglers - hunters - conservationists in renewing our appreciation for and dedication to proper use of natural resources now and for future generations.

Fish Stocking Hits 30 Million

AUSTIN--Nearly 30 million fish have been stocked in Texas' public lakes and rivers this year.

Although fish stocking programs for some lakes around the state continue, the number of fry and fingerlings so far stocked has exceeded 1976 goals.

Inland fisheries biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department expect more than 30 million fish will have been placed in public waters of Texas by year's end.

Leading in production was walleye perch, a fish that is considered not only a good game species but also excellent table fare.

Almost 22 million walleye were produced in P&WD hatcheries this year. Those walleye fry and fingerlings were stocked in 25 Texas lakes.

Second largest number of pond-reared fish consisted of Florida bass. Some 3,043,212 were placed in 28 Texas reservoirs during the year, according to P&WD records.

Other species of fish stocked this year include:

--1,079,823 northern pike distributed in seven lakes.

--Almost two million striped bass stocked in 11 lakes.

--Nearly 183,000 rainbow trout placed in streams and tailraces.

--Smallmouth bass, approximately 646,600, stocked in nine lakes.

--Some 603,000 hybrid stripers in 11 reservoirs around the state.

--Some 158,520 channel catfish so far stocked in seven lakes. More channel cat stockings expected before year's end.

Other fishes stocked this year include 13,000 hybrid sunfish with more expected later this year, 118,000 black drum, 36,710 largemouth bass, 1,385 tiger muskie, 27,200 flathead catfish, 2,200 red drum, and 14,647 norlunge, a hybrid of northern pike and muskellunge.

Also, 6,000 redear sunfish have been stocked this year. Still pending are stockings of warmouth and blue catfish in target lakes. Those stockings will be completed within the next several weeks.

"This year proved to be one of the most successful ever for non-native fish stockings," said Ted Lowman, P&WD fish hatchery coordinator.

He noted this year's striped bass production was 37 percent higher than in any previous year, walleye production exceeded its goal by 6.5 million fish and 100,000 rainbow trout fingerlings were reared to catchable size by winter pond culture before they were placed in streams.

Crane Permit Required

LUBBOCK--Sandhill crane hunters will be required to have a special permit before hunting, shooting or harvesting these wintering South Plains birds this fall.

Valuable harvest information was obtained from last year's survey which was sent to permit holders at the close of the 1975 season. Figures show that Lynn county lead the nation in the number of cranes harvested during that season.

The 1976 sandhill crane season is open in zone A - Oct. 30 - Jan. 30, and in zone B - Dec. 4 - Jan. 30, 1977. The daily bag and possession limits are set at three and six respectively.

This free permit is available by writing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Bldg., Austin, TX 78701. Please include your name, address and county of residence in the request.

SALADS:

Dice vegetables or solid fruits in blender container so they can be pulled into the cutting blades. For example cut raw carrots and celery into one-to-one-half inch pieces; cabbage into one-inch cubes; onions sliced or quartered.

Generally the liquid required for molded sales is measured into the blender container first. Then the vegetables or fruits are added together with the dissolved gelatin and all are blended together until the fruits of vegetables are cut as desired. If using unflavored gelatin, first soften it in cold water then place over hot water to melt it before adding it to other liquids in the container. If using fruit-flavored gelatin, blend it with one-half the amount of hot liquid usually specified in the directions on the package; then add enough cold liquid to make up the amount of liquid needed.

The coarseness of the cut fruits or vegetables is determined by the length of blending time. If they are to be cut fairly coarse, use low speed. If the vegetables are to be used for flavoring in a clear aspic salad, such as tomato aspic or a molded meat or fish aspic, blend on high speed to a pureed consistency.

For best results, fill the blender container not more than two-thirds full. If larger quantities of salad are to be made, divide the ingredients into several smaller amounts for blending. As each lot is blended, transfer it to a larger mixing bowl then completely mix the entire mixture before it is poured into the desired molds.

It may be desirable to have part of the salad ingredients just diced or sliced to retain their own individual flavor, texture, and color in the finished salad. Cut these ingredients into the size and shape of pieces you wish to use, then with the blended ingredients.

Large quantities of raw vegetables such as carrots, cabbage, beets, onions, green peppers and potatoes, chopped in the blender should first be cut into pieces about 1 inch in size. Place in blender container and cover. Push blender on and off several times. Drain well before using.

The blender does a thorough job of blending salad oils and other salad dressing ingredients. Blender-made French dressings and mayonaisse retain their original consistency after storing. Add the oil and vinegar through the center opening in the cover of the blender while it is running, to protect splatter-

HAM SALAD
1/2 cup mayonaisse
1/2 cup pickle relish
1/2 small onion, diced
1 large stalk celery sliced in 1-inch pieces
1/2 pound cooked ham, diced in 1/2 inch cubes
1 cup cooked elbow macaroni drained and cooled Place mayonaisse, pickle relish, onion, and celery in blender container. Cover container and blend on low speed about 2 seconds. Pour into mixing bowl. Add one-half of the ham, a few pieces at a time, through center opening in cover of container and blend at low speed.

Stop and start blender once or twice to stir remaining ham in the same manner and add to relish mixture along with macaroni. Mix together lightly. Chill and serve in lettuce cups. Garnish with tomato wedges and ripe olives. Serves 6.

MOLDED COMBINATION SALAD
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1/2 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1/4 cup vinegar
1 stalk celery, cut in 1-inch pieces
1/4 cup radishes, cut in quarters

1/4 cup carrots, sliced 1/2-inch thick
1/4 cup coarsely diced onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Place the gelatin in blender container. Add the boiling water. Cover container and blend on low speed until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add remaining ingredients in order listed. Cover container and blend on low speed about 4 seconds, or until vegetables are cut to desired fineness. Pour into bowl and chill.

Comings And Goings At Kings Manor

Guests of Fay Gauggel and Mrs. Don Davidson are Mrs. Gauggel's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn F. Bynum of Birmingham, Ala.

HONOR TO DARRELL JENNINGS
We observe a notice in a Muleshoe paper of an honor conferred on Derrell Jennings who is a grandson of our Ruby Jennings here. He received a National sales award from Vice president of Feed Service Corporation, Rober Bowher, at convention in Kansas City, Mo.

U.M.W. PROGRAM
All the circles of U.M.W. of Hereford Methodist met in Lamar Memorial Garden Room to hear Mr. and Mrs. W.L.

Armstrong tell of their Missionary work in Sumatra. The Armstrongs once pastored a church at Lamesa, and as they're Texans, they are both well known. We found them as personable as they are dedicated.

Sumatra is one of the larger islands of Indonesia. It forms part of an archipelago reaching out from southeast Asia. It curves to the right and points toward Australia. These guests worked there between twenty-five and thirty years.

At 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, September 8, President, Evadne Cox called the meeting to order and invited all to have coffee and finger foods. Several guests from Amarillo and Claude were recognized. Brother Grooms introduced the speakers. Mr. Armstrong spoke introductory remarks in Indonesian and she translated to us.

For years the Moslem religion has prevailed there. So we were shown several mosques as the slides came on narrated by one or the other. More scenes showed churches (Christian) being built, the interiors of native homes, rice fields, people traveling in boats. Natives bathe and wash laundry in the streams. People are at the end of every trail. Overpopulation is evidenced but some steps have begun toward family planning. Life expectancy there is age 47. Amazingly their literacy is an excellent 85 to 90 percent. (Could our faces turn red?)

The Armstrongs supervised the building of several churches. We always observed how these brave souls learned to "make do" in a place where materials and tools are primitive. They carry out the cliché "necessity is the Mother of Invention". They prayed for achievement and when a church was completed they praised God.

During a question period some one asked about Communism. The answer was that for several years these natives had enjoyed Antonomy of government.

One of the most poignant and impressive of the Armstrong activities concerned the Armstrongs' love and compassion for orphaned babies. They cared for 24 of these whose mothers were deceased or handicapped. They were returned to some relatives in later years. Pictures of these little ones were so appealing and so cute that their very little faces spoke of feeling the warmth and love of care by these foster parents. What a testimony to the Armstrong ministry!

The speakers talked briefly of their own three children and they had two grandchildren with them.

Altogether the Manor served seventeen guest for lunch that day.

The Armstrongs are on a two year leave. We bid them God speed in their gracious work when they return to Sumatra.

Last evening, Friday 17, Manorites wandered half-heartedly to the Lamar Memorial Garden Room to a program listed as "Quarter Sing". We had a very nonchalant and ho-hum attitude, when suddenly we recalled the performers - The Boyers, Homer Garrison, and Mr. J.B. Noland, husband of our own Bea Noland at Westgate. Sure enough as we expected, business began to pick up and we had a repeat performance (perhaps not the same songs but the same wonderful harmony, rhythm, and talent as we had enjoyed before.) From the minute Mrs. Boyer touched those keys with those two hands and ran some arpeggios up and down we know something good would happen. Our ho-hums fell away and we were happy.

The line-up was Mr. Garrison, soprano, Mrs. Boyer alto, Mr. Boyer tenor and Mr. Noland bass. Two men were so versatile they could exchange at will.

Some of their selections were 1. On the Jerico Road 2. The Land where we'll Never Grow Old 3. Just Over in the Glory Land 4. When we all Get to Heaven 5. Victory in Jesus. Mrs. Boyer's cute little rhythms were irresistible so we sang and did what came naturally with feet, hands, heads or whatever. Thanks be, we were allowed to sing along with them as we pleased. Someone of the four mentioned getting so old he liked attention. We pondered that one a bit. But fiddlesticks!

Another good tune was a-going so we returned to our sing-pat-and-swing bit. The Old Rugged Cross was to have been last but we were so avidly interested it took several toher numbers until we finally closed with "How Great Thou Art."

Somewhere in our thoughts our own Grandpa Bynum of Alabama rose up before us. He called himself a "Shoutin' Methodist". But then I knew him he was too old for such. I can see him now in the Amen Corner where he could see both pastor and audience. When he became "Happy" his chin began to quiver, his eyes grew misty, and a bright smile spread over his face. He would look out at the congregation as if to say, "How can you sit there so unmoved?"

Back to the Quartet. We asked the name of it. They declared it had no name. They deserve one. We tried to think of one. We have mulled over a few. "Spirit Filled Foursome", "Homeward Bound Harmonizers". Full Gospel Four (or Foursome). These aren't good. They have no punch, no catchy sounds. How about using? G(Garrison) B(Boyers) N(Noland) at the beginning "G.B.N. Gospel Four", "G.B.N. Happy Harmonizers".

Whatever your name, please come sing for us again - anyway. "What's in a name" A rose by another name would smell as sweet".

WESTGATE NEWS

By Bea Noland

Thursday afternoon was party time and the resident of Westgate that have birthdays in September were the honorees. They were seated in a group with a beautifully decorated birthday cake. The following names inscribed on the cake were: Henry Cogdell, L.W. Carlyle, Ellen Lloyd, Rubye Hewitt, Lucille Kemp, Sadie Kirby and Hazel Cleveland. The group sang happy birthday wishes to the honorees. Peace roses with light autumn leaves were used as a centerpiece on the refreshment table. The Summerfield Study Club ladies were the hostesses for the afternoon. Those in charge were: Mmes. Thurman Atchley, Earl Lance, Mack Noland, Clayton Sanders and Earl Lance, Jr.

Mrs. Cecil Boyer has been most faithful to come play for the singing on Tuesday afternoons. Those leading the song services have been, Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Greenway, Rev. Don Larkin, J.B. Noland and Clyde Hudson.

A very unusual and entertaining evening for the residents of King's Manor Methodist Home and Westgate Nursing unit was the exhibition that the members of the Merry Mixers Square Dance Club gave in the yard of the home. It was a beautiful evening and a very colorful exhibition and many of the residents reminiscenced as to the days gone by when the calls were some different and the music was live, but we enjoyed the colorful festive hour.

Our bible study on Thursday morning has been well attended. Those that have given their talent and time this month have been Rev. George Belford, Frank Ford, Mrs. Colby Conkright and Mrs. D.F. Yandell. Mrs. Eva Botsford who is a resident of the home has been playing the piano for the services, which we are so proud to have this talent among our residents.

Our craft classes have been led by Mmes. Robert Trowbridge, Charles Packard, R.W. Thuett, Gandy, Mrs. Love and Elizabeth the daughter and granddaughter of Mrs. Gandy and Mrs. Love.

Friday afternoons is Trichem painting time and we welcomed Wilma Bryan as she has been absent this summer; but we wish her better health so she can feel like being with us regularly. We give her a special thanks for taking some of our Crafts to the Deaf Smith County Fair and all we were excited over our 2nd and 3rd place ribbons.

Our Friday afternoons have been all well attended with good listening music in the lobby. Mmes. Sam Long, Ellis Coombes and Frances McMeans have given their talent to the piano. Our Wednesday mornings have a cheerful note with Mrs. Paula Eubanks at the piano.

Quartet singing is a very popular program and we have enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Boyer, Homer Garrison and J.B. Noland and we welcome all the piano players and singers back for good listening on Friday.

Tuesday mornings is a very exciting and busy time for the Ceramic Class. Mmes. Lloyd Kirkeby, Johnnie Burkhalter, Larry Perkins, Ben Greider and L.G. Wallman have been the ladies that have come to do the volunteer work. These ladies are very talented and we appreciate them sharing their talents with us. The kiln that Mrs. Fluit has donated to the home is being kept really busy once again.

Friday morning the residents welcomed Mrs. Miller in newspaper reading. Mrs. Miller has been a volunteer reader for a number of years, reading Mondays, Wednesday, and Fridays. During next term we will be reading on Fridays. We could use a reader for Wednesday mornings so any of you that have a strong and slow speech voice and would like to do some most rewarding work call Westgate. It doesn't have to be every Wednesday or it could be.

Our Sunshine Cart is welcomed each Thursday morning with Mmes. Nobles, Dettman, Kinsey, Hennen, Margaret Ann Durham, and Waldon having been in charge the past month.

Our thought for the day. A gift of love blesses twice - it blesses the giver and the receiver.

Bud To Blossom Members Meet

Mrs. Gaylon Bryan presided during a brief business meeting when members of Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Garth Thomas.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 1 combining the two programs scheduled next to the club yearbook. Mrs. Robert Betzen gave some helpful things for collecting and preserving plant material and Mrs. Thomas used her micro-wave oven and silica gel to demonstrate a new method of drying flowers. Demonstrations, questions and answers, as well as some experimenting, made the program very practical.

Members present included Miss Gladys Setliff, and Mmes. Bryan, Robert Betzen, W.H. Gentry, Mike Webb, O.T. Mitchell, R.W. Sissons and L.B. Worthan.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY - I would be so grateful if someone would tell me how to remove yellow spots (probably from perfume or some lotion) from an old-fashioned ivory dresser set. I have a complete set that is beautifully monogrammed, but this discoloration mars its beauty. I hope there is a remedy. - AMELIA.
DEAR AMELIA - You are really taking chances when tampering with such an ivory set. Some authorities say to never try to lighten the inevitable yellowing of ivory. One says that the surface might be rubbed with a piece of lemon dipped in salt, let juice dry and then wipe off with a damp cloth. Do test an inconspicuous spot first and remember there is no guarantee to this. - POLLY.

Wedding Solemnized At Afternoon Mass

A nuptial mass uniting Miss Kay Schumacher and Dale Artho of Wildorado was consecrated Saturday afternoon in St. Anthony's Catholic Church by the Rev. Ken Keller.

A graduate of West Texas State University, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Schumacher of Frio. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Artho of Wildorado.

Symbolic of their union, a Unity candle entwined with greenery was lit by the couple at the altar, which was bedecked with gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Miss Gail Paci served the bride as maid of honor and Gene Schenk was best man.

Additional bridal attendants were Connie Galloway, Miss Shan Banks and Miss Rita Schumacher, the bride's sister. Groomsmen included Virgil Artho, Stan Wieck and Jerry Don Artho, the bridegroom's brother.

Guests were ushered by Gary and David Schumacher, brothers of the bride.

hers of the bride, Gary Schiederjan and Lawrence Brorman.

With Sharon Cramer providing accompaniment, David Jones of Amarillo vocalized "Our Father," "Let There Be Peace" and "Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of white knit chiffon patterned with a V-neckline, outlined with delicate ruching. The fitted empire bodice was heavily encrusted with motifs of Venise lace, which also dotted her angel sleeves. Scalloped bands of lace encircled her wrists.

Floral lace medallions were attached to complement the A-line skirt, sweeping into a Chapel train. Capping her raven hair was a Juliet lace headpiece, suspending a veil of imported illusion, drifting down over her train.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, baby blue carnations, featured chrysanthemums and babybreath.

She wore a gold cross necklace, gift from her groom.

The bridal attendants were clad in identical A-line dresses of baby blue polyester with white eyelet lace overlaying the bodice and sleeves. Each attendant carried a bunch of long-stemmed blue and white carnations, tied with matching satin ribbons.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party greeted guests during a reception in Knights of Columbus Hall. Refreshments were served by Miss Ann Lust and Miss Leann Shiver while Miss Sharon Herbert of Lubbock registered guests.

Centering the serving table was a four-tiered wedding cake, crowned with fresh blossoms and a silver cross, and trimmed in pale blue icing.

After a honeymoon trip to points of interest in Colorado, the newlywed couple will reside at Wildorado, where he is engaged in farming. Mrs. Artho, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree, teaches private gymnastics and trampoline lessons.

After graduation from Vega High School, the bridegroom attended WTSU. His bride is a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School.

Guests at yesterday's wedding represented several cities, including Windthorst, Seymour, Munday, Nazareth, Vega, Amarillo, Dimmitt, Dawn, Delhart, Umbarger, Bushland, Stratford, Whitedeer, Friona and Channing.

But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead, the first fruits of those who have fallen asleep. For as by a man came also death, by a man has come also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, so also in Christ shall all be made alive. — I Cor. 15:20-22.

Hear, my son, and accept my words, that the years of your life may be many. Let your eyes look directly forward, and your gaze be straight before you. Take heed to the path of your feet, then all your ways will be sure. — Proverbs 4:10, 25, 26.

"And whether the land is rich or poor and whether there is wood in it or not, be of good courage and bring some of the fruit of the land." Now the time was the season of the first ripe grapes. — Numbers 13:20.

Each year, an eye screening service is conducted at local schools to determine if children need corrective lenses. The event is sponsored by the YHT. Shown at the eye chart is Mrs. Roy Carlson and Mrs. Rick Goss, pictured with Chad Urbanczyk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Urbanczyk.

YHT Celebrates 14 Years of Involvement

Today marks the first day of Texas Young Homemakers Week, which is being observed by the 20 members of Hereford's Chapter.

The state-wide organization is formed exclusively for educational purposes with special emphasis on homemaking. The local chapter convenes the first Tuesday of each month, featuring various program speakers who provide beneficial information to members and their families. During the course of a year, the YHT members conduct various fund-raising events.

The annual Young Homemaker-Young Farmer Banquet was held Saturday evening at the Koko Palace in Lubbock and Hereford was cited in second place for the outstanding YHT chapter of Area 1. Also, Hereford's Little Sister Ann Bradley won a $200 scholarship for her efforts this past year from Pioneer Natural Gas Company. Miss Bradley will compete for the State Little Sister scholarship at Fort Worth in January.

At the YHT convention, Mrs. Ima Dora Haile presented special recognition awards to the Hale Center and Hereford Chapters for continued participation, each being a charter organization since the area was organized in September 1962.

Distinguished service for her diligent service to Area 1, having served as advisor to Plainview, Hale Center and Hereford Chapters.

Newly-elected officers of Area 1 were installed following an election Saturday afternoon. Candidates for various offices were: Mrs. Ed Gloyna of Hale Center; Mrs. Bill Sides of Roosevelt; Mrs. Charles Christy of Childress; Mrs. Bobby Schroeder of Roosevelt; Mrs. Bobby Harpole of Childress; Mrs. Donald Nunley of Ralls;

Mrs. James Walter of Roosevelt and Mrs. Ronny Sherrod of Hale Center.

Conducting the formal installation was Mrs. J.G. Cannon, State YHT president from Hale Center. Assisting will be Mrs. Roy Bass, Lubbock, and Miss Marilyn Gamble of Cooper.

Mrs. Kenny Chance, area president from Ralls, presided during the afternoon business session. Following this was an educational program entitled "Effective Parenting." The two speakers were Dr. Charles Smith, professor of child development, and Mrs. Bryan Edwards, professor of family relations. Both are representatives of the College of Home Economics, Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

Young Homemakers of Texas is an educational organization sponsored by the Homemaking Division of Texas Education Agency. Local homemaking teachers serve as advisors. There are 30 chapters in Area 1 with approximately 600 members of young women under the age of 35 who are interested in homemaking.

YHT is partly supported by the Electric Utility Companies of Texas and Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Mrs. Knox Trammell, YHT treasurer, is shown signing a check to be donated to one of several civic agencies. In the past, YHT members have contributed to Project Christmas Card, the Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Meals on Wheels and the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Bud Kelly, at left, a member of YHT and a Camp Fire leader, is shown with a check from the members of the organization. An annual project of the group is to sponsor Camp Fire leaders. Also pictured with Mrs. Kelly is Daleinne Springer, a member of the Camp Fire Board of Directors, and Hope Arellano, a Camp Fire member.

N.D. KELSO introduced to DAR by Mrs. A.B. Clark

Los Ciboleros Members Welcome Guest Speaker

N.D. Kelso, director of the Social Studies Department at Hereford High School, presented a program concerning Constitution Week Sept. 17-23 to members of Los Ciboleros Chapter of DAR Thursday afternoon at Community Center.

Following the national society DAR theme "Remove Not the Ancient Landmark Which they Fathers Have Set", the speaker gave a patriotic program on "Study The Ancient Landmarks."

He described the ideal American voter as a citizen concerned with problems facing our country and one who would study the issues and candidates. He also characterized the typical voter as one informed when they go into the voting booth. Members rated themselves as ultraconservative, conservative, moderate, liberal or radical after totaling results of a political quiz.

Following his program, Kelso presented chapter members with a "Political Loyalty Do-it-Yourself Kit".

Mrs. A.B. Clark, American History month chairman, announced that the essay topic for 1977 would be "Battle of the American Revolution on Sea or Land."

tion has been signed by Mayor Jim Sears; spot announcements and literature have been given to KPAN Radio Station, The Hereford Brand, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and Hereford Cablevision.

Also, the educational material has been ordered, received and distributed to all Hereford, Dimmitt and Springlake-Earth schools and book markers have been sent to Deaf Smith County Library.

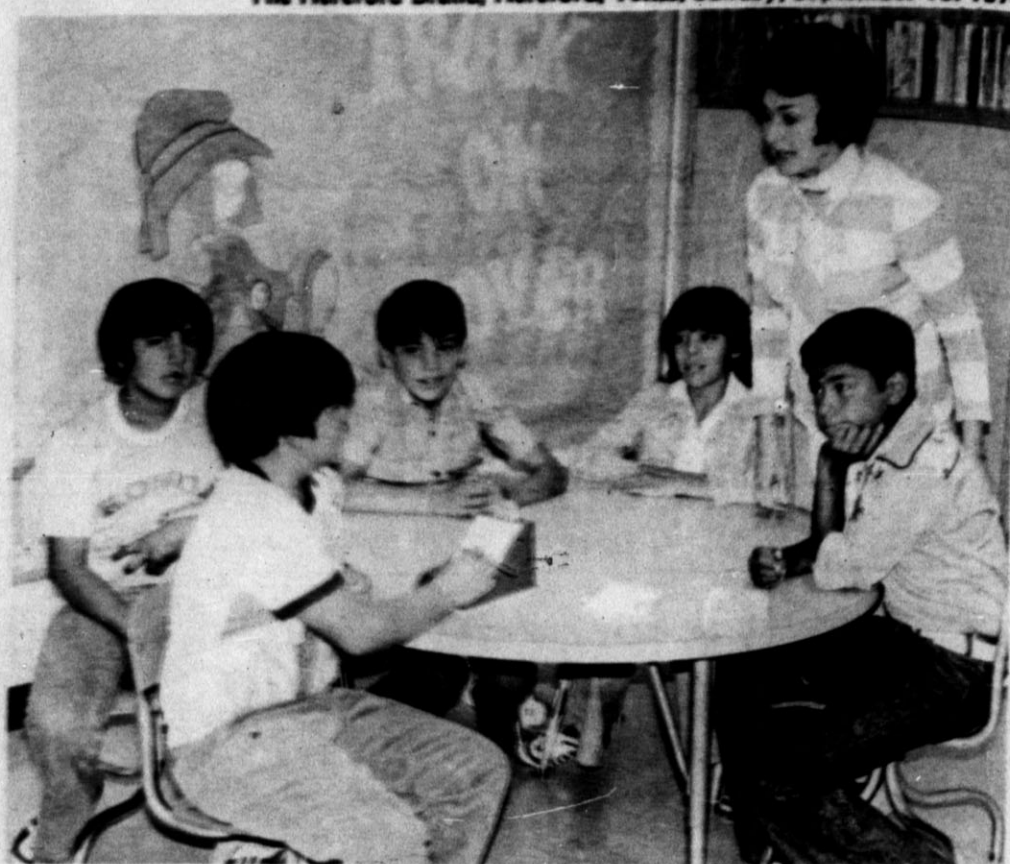

Mrs. Carroll Newsom, public relations committee chairman, announced that the chapter was awarded second place at the continental Congress for the story which appeared in The Hereford Brand on Genealogical Studies featuring the contributions of members of the chapter.

MRS. GLEN HENDRICKSON enjoys her job with migrant students

Hendrickson Family Returns To Hereford

By KERRIE STEIERT
Women's Editor

"IT WAS LIKE a homecoming," reflected Mrs. Glenn Hendrickson when asked what it was like returning to Hereford after a six-year absence.

"We lived here for six years while my husband was working at the Holly Sugar Shoup plant and our three children attended Hereford Schools," remarked the quiet-voiced woman. The Hendricksons left this community in 1970 when they were transferred by Holly Sugar to Sidney, Mon., where he was a shift superintendent.

During those years in the cooler regions of Montana, Mary Lea Hendrickson and her husband saw the marriages of their two older children, Alvin and Patricia, while their youngest sibling, Jon, matured from the adolescence into a diligent high school athlete.

SO, ACCOMPANIED by their 17-year-old son, the couple returned to Hereford in July and now reside at 500 Willow Lane. Jon, who juggles an after-school job at Big Daddy's Truck Stop and scholarly chores, hopes to have earned his high school diploma by November.

Mrs. Hendrickson, her-brown eyes widening, said with a touch of disbelief, "Jon's engaged to be married in the spring." Afterwards, Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson will almost be back to the same homelife situation as 26 years ago, when they married.

"WE REALLY were childhood sweethearts," she commented, smiling. "He was a basketball player and I was a cheerleader."

The couple were both products of Colorado and received their education in that state. However, she attended West Texas State University, wandering from the Rocky Mountains to the Panhandle flatlands.

Her husband pursued his industrial training and studied shop theory at Imperial Valley College in California, plus sugar and beet technology at Colorado State University at Ft. Collins, Colo.

WHEREVER THEY HAVE lived, the Hendricksons get involved in the community's mainstream. He has already joined Hereford's Volunteer Fire Department and the couple will graduate this month from square dance classes.

Exhibiting a visible fascination for her job, Mrs. Hendrickson related that she is employed by Hereford Independent School District as a language development (LD) aide at Aikman Elementary School.

"An LD aide," she explained, "works with migrant students to help them overcome language barriers." She emphasized that the goal of language development is to help a youngster in all contacts, not just in school-work.

The Colorado woman is not a novice in this type work, for she served as a LD aide at Northwest Elementary School during her previous residency here.

Mrs. Hendrickson, who shows an aptitude for the fine arts, was a correspondent for The Sidney Herald at Sidney, Mon. She wrote a community column and had her byline on a series of Bicentennial profiles.

In 1972, the dark-featured woman began formal training in oil painting, but her life-long interest in sketching had provided the basics for this avocation. She enjoys capturing still life subjects and seascapes on canvas.

Mrs. Hendrickson admitted that she is not as avid a fan as her husband when it comes to horseback riding, but she occasionally enjoys an equestrian jaunt. Apparently, her spouse has been bitten by the cowboy bug, for he's recently taken up a new hobby—the lasso.

IN AN INTERVIEW Tuesday, Mrs. Hendrickson revealed that she has a two-week-old grandson who has not seen his Texas grandparents yet. With enthusiasm, she related the whereabouts of her two older children and their families.

Alvin, who is an instrument technician for Montana Power Company, lives in Colstrip, Mon. with his wife, JoAnn, and their sons, Russell 2, and Phillip the latest addition.

Patricia Radke and her husband, Mike, have the family's only granddaughter, Michele, age 5. They live in Billings, Mon.

Rev. and Mrs. John Tims and children, Steve, Tammy, Veldon and Trena, of McOamey, were guests at Frio Sunday. Rev. Tims preached at both services. Mrs. Tims parents, the E.O. Bairds, of Westway and her brother, Ross and Mrs. Ross Bair, Hereford, were also visitors, Sunday evening. The Bairds have been at McOamey a year and a half, going there from Wyoming, where they served in Mission work. They were at Lazbuddie before that.

J.D. Harder and Steve Robbins returned the last of the week from a week long trip to Hawaii. They went with a tour group, flying in a Boeing 747 from the Dallas Airport. They stayed and toured on Oahu and also did some looking in a separate rented car.

Mrs. Ellie Clay was honored on her 75th birthday, Sunday. The family gathering and dinner was held in the Medallion Room of R.E.C. building, Hereford. Mrs. Clay lives at Hart with her son, Thurman Clay. Mrs. Donald Adams is her daughter, and sons also are James Clay, Nara Visa, N.M. and Leland Clay, of Hobbs, 60 relatives, including the children, part of the grandchildren and seven of her sisters and a brother came from across the Texas Panhandle and from New Mexico. Four of her brothers and sisters were not able to attend. Mrs. Clay visits her daughter in the community occasionally.

Mrs. H.M. Mobley, Mrs. Floyd Cole and Austin Mobley attended the funeral for Odis Mobley, at Clovis, on Thursday afternoon. The services were in the Primitive Baptists Church of Clovis. Mobley and his wife were in the process of moving from Tucumcari to Clovis when he died unexpectedly.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sherril Mobley. The family lived in the Dimmitt-Flag area for several years during the thirties and the children attended Dimmitt schools part of the time. Sherril Mobley was a brother of the late Mr. H.M. Mobley.

At Wit's End . . .

By ERMA BOMBECK

One doesn't like to make trouble among the sexes, but I firmly believe mothers of sons age faster.

That information comes right out of the aging mouths of mothers of sons. According to them, boy babies are born with an extra gene. You would recognize the technical name right away if I told you, but generically it's called the "Drive You Nuts!" gene (DYN). The DYN gene is fully developed at birth, allowing a 50-pound toddler to pull over an entire bookcase, heave a bowl of cereal 500 feet and flush a pair of orthopedic shoes down the commode.

The DYN never stops working. One mother of 11 sons (a young woman- she looked like Jane Goodall left out in the sun for dead) said she never had a moment's peace from the time they rode a wagon down the front stairs and broke two steps to lifting the lid of the washer and discovering 27 soggy worms and one empty band-aid can. She confessed she kept a pint of bourbon in the trash compact since she knew the boys would never discover it there.

Another mother of a 17-year-old with an overactive DYN gene said her son ran over a teacher's car...with his feet. One day the P.E. class had a race to the field. When he saw the top of the car (which was parked on a lower level; he used it as shortcut and walked over the roof. Later his 13 1/2 shoe size and 157 pounds matched the $267 worth of damages perfectly. If something like this could happen when he's on foot, she mused, think what will happen when he starts to drive the car.

And what mother of a son with a DYN gene has not cringed when her son was hired in a fancy restaurant as a bus boy. One reported the specialty of the restaurant that employed her son was fish, lobster, shrimp, crab, etc., all served in a bucket for two. He dropped it right in the lap of an elderly gentleman.

"The customer was great about it," she said. "Excused himself and came back 10 minutes later completely dressed in a change of clothes. It made me wonder how this man knew he was going to meet my son."

What these women are saying about sons is true. The aging process is stepped up when a boy child is born. If mothers of daughters want to challenge that statement, they're welcome.

But I should know, I have two sons. As to why I look so eternally young...I eternally lie.

Dinner Theatre Stages Comedy

Archie Dwyer of Hereford is featured in the current stage production at the new Country Squire Dinner Theatre in Amarillo, "Natalie Needs a Nightie."

Hereford night at the performance will be Thursday, Sept. 23, and tickets are available at First United Methodist Church. Admission, will include the price of supper, are priced at $10.

The hilarious comedy-farce centers around a young soft-drink company executive. He is a bachelor but his boss thinks he has a wife and family, and when he pays a visit to the young man, the executive must come up with a wife and a baby on extremely short notice.

However, there are too many volunteers for both, resulting in multiple doses of mistaken identity and substitution.

"Natalie Needs a Nightie" will play Tuesday through Saturday evenings until October 2 at the Hilton Inn. Buffet food service begins at 6:30 p.m., with per-show entertainment at 8 and show at 8:30 p.m.

Dwyer appeared as Al Lewis in the recent Amarillo Little Theatre presentation of the Sunshine Boys, which enjoyed a successful run and toured to Clovis, N.M. He has also appeared in community theatre productions in Hereford.

Mixed-Up Merriment

Chaos and confusion provide the entertainment in the popular farce, "Natalie Needs A Nightie," now showing in Amarillo. Hereford residents are invited expressly to attend the Sept. 23 performance at Country Squire Dinner Theatre in Amarillo. Starring from left are: Ernest G. Bentley, Archie Dwyer of Hereford, Clifford Gabriel and Brad Maule.

Texas Crops Report

Land Preparation, Planting Of Fall Crops Remains Active

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Scattered showers around the state aided pasture and range conditions last week but much of the Panhandle and parts of East and Central Texas remained dry, Dr. Daniel Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said. The cotton harvest in Central and North Central Texas was slowed by rains, he said. Peanut harvesting has been active over parts of Central, East and Southwest Texas.

Yields are generally good, Pfannstiel said.

Land preparation and planting of fall crops remain active in eastern and southern locations, Pfannstiel said.

Livestock grazing conditions ranged from poor to good. Stock water was still short in parts of the state.

District agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: About 10 per cent of the wheat crop has been seeded but a lack of moisture is delaying planting. Corn is approaching maturity. Sugar beets look good. Range cattle remain in good shape.

South Plains: Early corn and sorghum is being harvested. The area's first bale of cotton has been harvested at Seminole. Hot, dry weather is needed to allow late sorghum and cotton to mature. Wheat seeding is well underway.

Rolling Plains: Cotton is maturing and bolls are opening rapidly. The sorghum harvest is nearing the halfway point in some counties. A fifth alfalfa cutting is approaching in Fisher County. Planting of wheat and oats has started. Stock tanks remain low in many areas.

North Central: Most of the corn and sorghum has been harvested. Planting of wheat and oats is active. Pastures and cattle are mostly in good shape.

Northeast: Harvesting of corn and sweet potatoes is active. Planting of wheat and oats is underway. Pecans are maturing. Pastures are providing excellent grazing for livestock but fire ants and armyworms remain a problem.

Far West: tomatoes, chiles and beans are being harvested in El Paso County. Peppers are maturing in Presidio County. Some pecan trees are shedding nuts. Fall sheep and goat shearing is in full swing.

West Central: Cotton is opening in spots. The crop is plagued by root rot and insects. Peanut harvesting will start soon. Planting of small grains is underway. Grazing on pastures and ranges has improved.

Central: Farmers are defoliating their cotton fields for harvesting. Some cotton harvesting is in progress, especially in Bell County. Small grain planting is under way. Pecans are reaching the soft dough stage. Pastures and ranges are in good shape.

East: Corn and sorghum yields have been generally good. Peanut yields have been off. Land preparation and planting of small grains is in progress. Pastures need moisture. Armyworms also remain a problem.

Southwest and Upper Gulf Coast: Some cotton and corn are still being harvested. Fall hay harvesting is in progress.

Prospects look good for a second ripe crop. Scab disease and shuckworms have damaged the pecan crop. Livestock ticks are heavy in some areas.

South Central: The sorghum harvest is about complete.

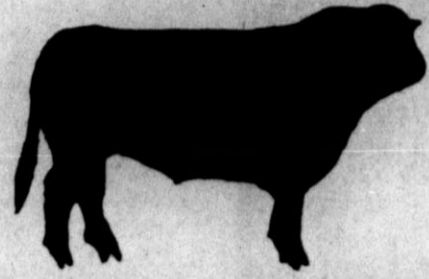

Harvesting of cotton remains active. Yields are from poor to good. Some late fields are being plowed under because of heavy insect infestations. Pecan prospects appear short because of scab disease and insect damage.

Southwest: Corn and sorghum harvesting is virtually complete. About 90 per cent of the early peanut crop is in. Fall cabbage, peppers and eggplants are making good progress. Goat shearing is about complete. Range conditions are good.

Coastal Bend: A few fields of cotton and corn remain to be harvested. Yields have been excellent. A third cutting of hay is under way.

South: Some late sorghum remains to be harvested. Peas, cucumbers and cabbage are being planted in some areas.

The Hereford Brand Farm News

Ag Council Leader Says Drought Threat Worse

SPRING LAKE—K.B. Parish, Spring Lake area National Director of the Agriculture Council of America, reports that drought conditions are more serious and widespread for farmers in several areas than previously indicated, with important economic implications. The ACA leader said this was the conclusion of a special panel of federal agency experts who participated Sept. 9 in ACA's special "Farm Line" on the overall drought situation.

Calls come via the nationwide toll-free exchange from all sections of the country with lines jammed throughout the afternoon.

Representatives of the Farmers Home Administration, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Assistant Secretary for Rural Development, William Walker answered the WATS lines personally to hear directly from farmers on how the drought has affected their area.

Several major problems were strongly emphasized:

There is a serious and worsening need for federal crop insurance, now no longer available in the major drought areas.

Many farmers holding federally financed production loans cannot ever hope to meet their payments.

Planting plans are personally affected in some wheat areas where subsoil moisture may be as low as eight to ten inches, and puts the '77 crop in jeopardy.

Commenting on the volume of calls, ACA Chairman E.L. "Shug" Hatcher said, "Response may have been the highest we've ever experienced. All ten phones were in constant operation, and we ran well beyond the normal four-hour period. We know many people were unable to get through, but there was no way we could alleviate the jam-up."

Repeated many times during the phone-in session, callers said, "We don't want hand-outs." But they did ask that the government make money "available" to them when it rains, "when it gets good again" and farming operations can continue.

Assistant Secretary Walker, who still farms in Tennessee, talked with Iowa's Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture Thatcher Johnson who said the depleted ground moisture could have ramifications where there is already more than a billion dollar crop loss. Walker assured Johnson that he would try "to be responsive."

Many Upper Midwest farmers, saying that conditions are worse than the 'Thirties', are poorly cushioned financially because higher operating expenses have left little margin for savings against "dry days," one Minnesota banker said.

Flying over some sections of Minnesota and South Dakota, one can see the farms are devoid of livestock, he said.

Joe Dabler, a banker and cattle farmer from Canistota, South Dakota, said "that 80 per cent of the state's cattle have been liquidated and farm-related businesses suffered a 45 per cent drop in sales, and could worsen by spring."

In Miller, the largest cattle county in South Dakota, the livestock market has sold 40 per cent more cattle since June than in any previous year. Normally cattle sales "here are slow at this time," said Jay Anderberg, owner of Miller Livestock Market. "but 13,500 head went through here Wednesday." The prices are holding up but the cattle are "thinner and younger," he said.

As a non-political and non-legislative organization, ACA operates the Farm Line not to advocate any particular position of its own, but strictly to provide a forum for the discussion of major agricultural issues. Earlier programs covered topics such as Estate Taxes, Government Regulation and Land Use and Resource Allocation. ACA WATS lines were busy from the beginning to end of each session as callers spoke directly with experts on the subject.

The Agriculture Council of America, founded in 1973, is made up of individual farmers, farm and commodity organizations that supply the farmers. Its purpose is to improve communication between farmers and urban consumers.

Silicon, which makes up 28 per cent of the earth's crust, stands second only to oxygen in abundance among the elements, and forms the basic stuff of most soil and rock.

The beaver's shocking orange teeth are its most important tool. Their strength and razor sharpness enable it to fell a 5-inch willow in six minutes.

Schlabs Brothers Nominated For Top FFA Degree

Two Hereford brothers have been nominated to receive the prestigious American Farmer Degree, the highest degree awarded by the national FFA.

Ray and Tom Schlabs, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schlabs of Hereford, were nominated by the Texas FFA Association, and the nominations were approved at a recent meeting of the National FFA Board of Directors in Alexandria, Virginia.

The local brothers will receive their degrees in a special ceremony on Thursday, Nov. 11, pending a final vote of approval by 119 student delegates representing over half a million FFA members.

Both of the Schlabs brothers are currently farming and attending West Texas State University.

The brothers earned their American Farmer degrees on the basis of their supervised farming program.

Leadership activities in the Hereford FFA chapter were also considered in the nominations for the degrees.

Vocational agriculture instructors and advisors at Hereford

High School include Marcus Phillips, Bob Ward, and Jess Robinson.

A highly-coveted award, the American Farmer Degree is presented to approximately one FFA member in 700 of the 500,385 total members.

The degree is presented only by the National FFA organization to members who have demonstrated exceptional agricultural and leadership ability.

Each degree recipient will be presented a gold key and certificate by the National FFA Organization, and recipients who attend the convention also receive a check from the National FFA Foundation to help defray their travel expenses.

To qualify for the American Farmer Degree FFA members must have advanced through a system of degrees unique to the FFA organization. FFA members begin as Greenhands and after one year of membership may be advanced by the local chapter to the degree of "Chapter Farmer". The third degree, that of "State Farmer," is presented by the state FFA membership in any one year. Only students who have earned the State Farmer Degree are eligible for the American Farmer Degree.

Ag Finance Seminar Scheduled

A four-day seminar "Financial Management Seminar for Agribusiness Firms" will be held at Texas A&M, September 21-24.

Topics will be "Reviewing and Analyzing Financial Statements," "Merchandising Credit," "Analyzing Business Opportunities," "Managing Manager's Time," "Selecting Most Profitable Investments," and "Planning for Growth."

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service sponsored event will feature several outstanding speakers. Past participants have been accountants, bankers, farmers and ranchers, machinery dealers, realtors, farm managers, farm equipment salesmen, farm supply salesmen and grain dealers from five states.

Bushland Center Hosts Chamber Tour

BUSHLAND--The USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland hosted a chamber of commerce field tour Sept. 14 in order to enlighten various chamber representatives concerning the research work being conducted at the facility.

Drs. Ken Porter and Bob Stewart welcomed the visitors to the Bushland facility and introduced them to the mini-tour of the research plots at the center.

A number of scientists explained their research during the tour.

Scientists addressing the tour and their research areas included:

DR. STEVEN WINTER, whose research centers on growing sugarbeets, corn, grain sorghum, sunflowers, and wheat in a system that gives maximum return with limited water. He showed plots where no-tillage is being tested to maximize storage of rainfall for sugarbeets. Winter harvested some low plant population corn. Six to 12 thousand plants per acre yielded 3800 pounds per acre of grain with a preplant irrigation and one seasonal irrigation at flowering. "We put the water on when it would do the most good," Winter said.

Sugarbeets differ and there is no best time to irrigate. If it is the critical time for another crop, sugarbeets can wait three weeks without being hurt. If sugarbeets get a lot of water, yields are high. They make a modest yield with little or no water. Winter showed the visitors some sugarbeets that had only two irrigations for emergence. "I think they will make 6 to 8 tons per acre and that is not bad for dryland," the scientist said.

DR. WENDELL JOHNSON showed visitors equipment for measuring growth rates of sugarbeets. Root growth is measured with a wire that goes around the root. As the root grows, more wire is needed. Growth is recorded on a mechanical recorder that measures wire use. A similar system is used to record leaf length. The wire is clamped to a leaf. Johnson explained that sugarbeets only grow at night when evaporation is decreased. Other plants like corn grow both day and night. Johnson said, "Water accumulation has more bearing on growth than food storage or cell division because plants are from 66 to 75 percent water."

DR. A.F. WIESE says "Growing weeds is a small part of our job; figuring out how to kill them takes most of our time." The visitors were shown a weed nursery where seven different weeds are being grown. Growth rate, water use, and seed production is being determined for each weed. In addition, seeds are harvested to infest weed research plots. Twenty different herbicides were evaluated on each weed this summer. "If we know what herbicides kill each weed it will help make suggestions to farmers", Wiese concluded.

DR. JACK MUSICK showed chamber members a series of research plots where corn and sorghum were irrigated at different times. One objective is to find out the best time to apply water to the crops. The second is to determine if corn or sorghum make the best use of water. Musick reported he is regulating some of his irrigation treatments with a "pressure bomb" that measures force needed to force water out of a leaf.

DR. PAUL UNGER greeted visitors at his minimum tillage wheat-sunflower rotation. "We find that minimum tillage helps to make better use of irrigation water and rainfall", the scientist said. Irrigated wheat is grown to produce a good soil cover, and after a 10 month fallow, dryland sunflowers are planted. Disking, sweep plowing and no tillage are being compared to control weeds between the crops. Last year, 1.5 inches more water was stored with no-tillage than disking. "Our sunflowers show

Changes Please Bentsen

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Senator Lloyd Bentsen reports the new tax bill includes provisions that will, in effect, gradually increase the estate tax exemption to more than $175,000 over the next five years.

"This is a welcome change and one I had fought for. The old $60,000 exemption, set back in World War II, was forcing the widows and children of farmers, ranchers and small businessmen in Texas to sell of their properties to pay the tax," Bentsen said.

Bentsen, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, had introduced legislation increasing the exemption to $200,000, an exemption approved by the committee and later by the full Senate.

The $175,000 exemption -- achieved through a series of tax credits -- was agreed to during a conference between the Senate and the House of Representatives on the tax bill. The compromise legislation increases the exemption to $120,000 next year and boosts it more each year after that until $175,000 is reached in 1981. The House version of the tax bill included no changes in the estate tax.

"I would have preferred the full $200,000 exemption that we approved in the Senate but the changes that were made are a vast improvement over the situation that now exists," Senator Bentsen said.

it", Unger pointed out, "they are 2 feet tall on disk plots and almost 4 feet on no-till plots". Similar studies with grain sorghum resulted in 1900 pounds per acre of grain with disking and 3000 pounds per acre with no-tillage. "We are pleased with our results", the scientist said, "because it costs less to farm no-till and yields are better".

DR. REGGIE JONES works with dryland farming systems. The tour participants stopped by sunflowers that had been planted from April through July. Soil moisture varied from 2 inches with rainfall only to 6 inches where sprinkler irrigation had been applied before planting. It was easy to see that early plantings were the best. In a similar study in 1975, April planted sunflowers made over 1800 pounds of seed per acre and a July seeding date yielded less than 800 pounds per acre. Jones speculated that sunflowers will have a place in dryland farming. He figured yields of 800 to 1,500 pounds per acre will make good returns at 10 cents a pound.

DRS. NOLAN CLARK AND JOHN SHIPLEY explained and demonstrated a new trickle irrigation system. They followed water movement from a storage pond through a pump and into field line. Irrigation through holes in small plastic pipes next to corn plants is controlled by switching tensiometers. Tensiometers were buried 12 inches and measure water supply in the soil. Only a small part of the soil is wetted. This decreased evaporation and increases the growth per unit of water applied. The system costs about 9 cents a foot but may be practical if water becomes more expensive.

DR. ARLAND SCHNEIDER discussed a new project to utilize wind for pumping irrigation water. The objective of the study will be to assemble and test a complete pumping system. The research will be in cooperation with three members of the Physics Department at West Texas University. "We plan to assemble a wind rotor power transmission system and pump into a practical pumping method", Schneider said. The scientists plan to build a power assist system where wind will furnish part of the power to an electric motor. The wind rotor will look like an upside down egg beater rotating on a vertical axis. A small stock windmill goes at a slow speed and produces 1 to 2 horsepower. The large wind rotor will turn 100 rpm and make up to 50 horsepower. "We plan to have an operating system built by next spring and test it during the summer", Schneider said.

DRS. ANDY COLE AND G.B. THOMPSON showed visitors cattle working facilities at the center. Cattle are put into a circular pen and are easily moved to a scale and squeeze chute. Visitors passed newly constructed pens for 200 head of cattle along with others for 200 more cattle. Small sick pens increase total capacity to 500 head of cattle. Cattle in sick pens are treated each day for 3 days and returned to regular pens.

In late October, a shipping stress study will be started. A total of 300 head of cattle will be shipped from Tennessee to Bushland. One hundred will serve as controls and be weaned one day, sold at an auction the next, and spend 3 days in an order buyers barn before being trucked to Texas. A second hundred will be weaned, vaccinated and fed a concentrate feed for 30 days before shipping. The last hundred will receive an intermediate treatment. Once at Bushland, one-half of each treatment will receive supplemental B vitamins to stimulate rumen activity. Cole said effectiveness of the treatments will be determined by death losses and rate of gain. He also showed visitors two cannulated steers. These cattle have a 5 inch hold with a plastic cover into the first stomach. "This makes it easy to study digestion", the scientists pointed out.

DR. NOLAN CLARK showed a sprinkler system where evaporation losses and application efficiencies are measured. Studies have shown that evaporation is normally less than 10 percent when the wind speed is less than 10 mph. However, when the wind speed is between 10 and 20 mph, evaporation losses range from 10 to 30 per cent.

Ag Chemicals Conference Is Scheduled

LUBBOCK--Under the theme "Agriculture Politics and Agricultural Chemicals -- A Volatile Tank Mix", some of the state's top ranking agriculturists will gather at South Park Inn on Loop 289 South, in Lubbock Oct. 5-7 for the 24th annual agricultural chemicals conference.

West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute sponsors the annual confab which this year will feature several noted Texans, among them Dr. Phillip Gramm, economics professor from Texas A&M University and recent candidate for a U.S. senatorial post, and Reagan Brown, assistant to Governor Dolph Briscoe.

Corn, sorghum, wheat and cotton producer organization heads also are listed as speakers. These include Carl King, president of Texas Corn Growers Association, Dimmitt; Elbert Harp, executive secretary, Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Lubbock; Bill Nelson, Texas Wheat Growers, Amarillo; and Don Johnson, executive secretary, Plains Cotton Growers, Lubbock.

Also featured are Duncan Ellison, executive secretary, Water Inc., Lubbock; Bob Mills, vice-president for public relations, Pioneer Natural Gas, Amarillo; Don Anderson, cotton producer, agribusinessman and executive committee member, Plains Cotton Growers, Lubbock; Harry Whitworth, executive secretary, Texas Agricultural Chemicals Association, Austin; Cal Metts, manager, Northwest Grain Company, Hereford; and Ray Joe Riley, cotton producer and executive committee member of Plains Cotton Growers, Hart.

A corn symposium Wednesday morning of the three-day conference will touch on weeds, fertilizer, insects, diseases and water, featuring five speakers. Among them are Dr. Allen Wiese, professor of weed science, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Bushland; Andy Curry, Occidental Chemical Company, Textline; Richard Franks, manager Tide Products, Inc., Lubbock; Dr. Robert Berry plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Lubbock; and Leon New, area Extension irrigation engineer of Lubbock.

Marvin Sartin, area Extension Service economist also from Lubbock, will provide an economic analysis of High Plains crops.

On Thursday morning, a multi-screen slide presentation will retrace and spotlight developments of the fertilizer industry of the last 100 years.

An awards banquet and business meeting Thursday morning provide other highlights for the event.

According to Dr. Calvin Orr, one of 12 directors of the all-encompassing West Texas Agricultural Chemical Institute, most of the topics will deal with the future of major High Plains crops, an update on fertilizer and chemical situations and political solutions to producers' headaches.

The West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute is an organization encompassing individuals from all facets of agricultural chemicals and agribusiness industries. Their purpose is to promote West Texas agriculture.

USDA Schedules Carrot Hearing

A public hearing on a proposed federal marketing order for carrots grown in the 48 contiguous states is scheduled with a session in Dallas, Texas. The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, November 10, Room 7A23 in the Earl Cabell Federal Building, 1100 Commerce.

This will be second session of the hearing, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

First session will begin at 1:00 p.m., Tuesday, November 2, Los Angeles Federal Building, Room 8041, 300 N. Los Angeles St., Los Angeles, California.

The Proposed marketing order was submitted by the Fresh Carrot Marketing Committee of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS).

It would set requirements, including markings, for consumer-size containers for carrots handled throughout the 48 contiguous states. In addition, it would authorize research on those containers.

"The principle objective is to eliminate the variety of markings on retail packages," said Dave Fitz, who is in charge of the AMS Fruit and Vegetable Division's marketing field office, McAllen, Texas.

"This will reduce bag inventory costs and make packing plant operations more efficient," he pointed out.

All interested persons are invited to attend the hearing and present evidence for or against the proposal, including ideas for modification, according to Fitz.

If sufficient evidence is presented at the hearing to support the proposal--or appropriate revisions of it--USDA would formulate terms of a recommended marketing order and the nation's carrot producers would vote on the proposed order.

Notice of the hearing was scheduled to be published in the September 16 Federal Register.

Copies of the notice and proposal are being mailed to all known carrot growers in production areas and to other interested persons.

Copies can be obtained from Dave Fitz, 1321 N. 10 St., McAllen, Texas 78501 or from Fruit and Vegetable Division, AMS-USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Pork Consumption Rises With Income

LUBBOCK (AP) - A Texas Tech University study shows that the more money a persons makes these days, the more pork he eats.

Pork's image as the meat eaten mainly by the poor is no longer true, Dr. Sujit Roy said.

"In the 1950s when incomes increased, most people made the traditional switch from pork to beef," Roy said. "With recent income hikes, people have stayed with pork and actually increased their consumption."

Roy, a professor of agricultural economics, recently completed the first phase of a long-run demand analysis of pork.

has projected pork demands for the next 10 to 15 years.

"Production and prices go through a cyclical process," Roy said. "The industry calls it the 'hog cycle.'"

"If the hog sector uses our projections, eventually it will help in reducing the price and production fluctuations," he said. "This will be beneficial to the consumer and the producer as well."

Roy statistically analyzed data and projected data from the 1950s through the 1970s.

"The effect of rising income was our biggest concern," Roy said. "Earlier studies have indicated that rising incomes reduced pork consumption."

Roy's study showed that in the 1950s when consumers' per capita incomes rose by 10 per cent, pork consumption declined about 2 per cent.

But between 1964 and 1973, when income rose at the same rate as the 1950s, pork consumption went up 5 per cent.

Roy said one of the factors affecting the increased desire for pork is the improved quality of the meat.

The one time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down.

About the only time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down is when it leaves one of Lindsay's plants. Once assembled in your field, it seldom causes a problem. Those big, sure-footed towers power their way around the field, carrying water to crops.

Hour after hour, day after day. Until you decide to shut down. That kind of performance doesn't just happen. It's the result of constant testing -- both in the plant and in the field. Lindsay puts these rigs through the most punishing conditions -- loads on more stress in a week, usually, than they're likely to see in a lifetime of normal use.

But we know that no system is 100% perfect all the time. That's why we're ready to help with an extensive parts inventory and factory trained servicemen if you ever have a problem. Before you buy any center pivot irrigation system, be sure to let us tell you about all the advantages of owning a Lindsay Zimmatic.

Puerto Rico Trip Enjoyed By Pair

Two local women spent a leisurely holiday in Puerto Rico last week and were impressed by the tropical surroundings and historical landmarks.

Mrs. P.B. Sowell and Mrs. Dale Tinnin boarded a jet airliner in Amarillo Friday morning, Sept. 10, for the flight to San Juan. While there, they breakfasted on garden terraces, shopped and toured the older sections of the city.

They visited a San Juan race track and at night listened to performances by calypso bands. On Tuesday, the travellers flew to St. Thomas, an island rich with banana and coconut plantations. They viewed the Virgin Islands and the Caribbean Sea.

Mrs. Tinnin commented that the climate is quite humid and the only air conditioning systems are old-fashioned overhead fans. Puerto Rico is a land of economical extremes with four middle-class incomes. She stated that the residents are either impoverished or affluent. Amidst a landscape of beautiful flowers, Mrs. Sowell and Mrs. Tinnin toured Bluebeard's Castle, where the infamous pirate ambushed ships for their cargo.

The pair returned to Hereford Wednesday evening.

ART GUILD TO MEET

Hereford Art Guild will launch a new season of meetings on Tuesday, Sept. 28, at Community Center and all interested persons are invited to attend. Included on the roster of 1976-77 programs are demonstrations in copper enameling, etching and a variety of art-related subjects.

Further information can be received from the guild president, Mrs. Joe Lyons, 364-1428.

Membership Tea Planned At Library

Members of the American Association of University Women will sponsor a Membership Tea from 4-5:30 p.m. Monday in Deaf Smith County Library's Heritage Room.

Donations Needed For MD Fund

The Joey Mazurek Wheelchair Fund has been established at First National Bank, announced John Metcalf, local Muscular Dystrophy Chairman.

Metcalf stated that more than $1,400 is needed to purchase the electric wheelchair, which is vital for Joey's continued mobility. The 13-year-old student at La Plata Junior High School is a victim of MD and is progressively losing strength.

Metcalf said that donations can also be turned over to him at his residence, 118 Aspen.

Anyone interested in joining the organization is urged to attend. The AAUW is a nationwide association of women who have in common a baccalaureate degree and a desire to think and act upon issues and needs facing this nation and the world.

Upcoming events for the fall will include a garage sale slated Oct. 16 which will assist AAUW officers in attending the state convention. Also, on Nov. 6 a district workshop will be held at Amarillo and Nov. 22 the members will meet for their regularly scheduled meeting with Donna McNutt to talk on Mental Health.

A Christmas tea is planned for Dec. 20.

Hereford Marine Earns Merit Award

Sgt. Monty Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell of Route 2, was awarded the title of MAG-14 Marine of the Month for August and a meritorious mast.

His dedication to his duties in the Marine Corps ejected seat shop won the local man the coveted recognition. If the members of the seat shop haven't done their job correctly, it could mean the life of that squadron pilot.

The 20-year-old Hereford man worked up to his present rank through three meritorious promotions for outstanding performance at his job. He signed up in the Marines in 1974 with a guarantee for four years in aviation.

Orders sent him to Memphis, Tenn. for an eight-week course in aircraft maintenance, followed a few months later by three-weeks of training in Oceana, Va. At the conclusion of this schooling, Campbell was assigned to the VMA (AW) 224 seat shop and charged with the responsibility of supervising the maintenance escape and environmental controls.

Sgt. Campbell knows that his efforts may determine life or death for the crew aboard an aircraft. "When I first found out that I was going to be working in a seat shop, I was disappointed," the Marine related. "But now that I realize the importance of my job, I'm glad I was selected for this MOS. I realize that the ejection seat is the last means out for the crew during an emergency situation. I know that what I fix will work."

Gy. Sgt. Willis Tipton, NCOIC of the seat shop, stated, "I put him (Sgt. Campbell) up for the award of Marine of the Month because his devotion to duty, loyalty and conscientiousness proved that he's a little better than the top 10 per cent."

Marriage Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paetzold, who reside south of the city, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Loretta, to Gary Mac Dryden of Amarillo. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lonnie Swimmer of Gruver and Merrill Dryden of Dalhart. The ceremony will be solemnized in St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Amarillo in late October. A graduate of Hereford High School, Miss Paetzold resides in Amarillo. Also an alumnus of HHS, Dryden attended West Texas State University. He is employed by Allied Plumbing in Amarillo.

Ann Landers Trips Rouse Suspicions

DEAR ANN Landers: Am I insecure, paranoid, or perhaps justified in my feelings of resentment against my husband's company?

Tonight Clyde told me his boss instructed him to take his department to a country club (an hour's drive out of town) for a three-day holiday as a reward for "a job well done." Clyde's department consists of one third woman.

The outing will have speakers at lunch and dinner and the rest of the time there will be swimming, golf, tennis and whatever. The men were told, "Dress casual--this is a vacation."

Clyde had a sizzling romance with his secretary three years ago and it almost broke up our marriage. If it weren't for the children I'd have kicked him out. So far as I know he's been well-behaved ever since.

Am I selfish to feel that this three-day holiday is unhealthy for married employees?--Mulling It Over

DEAR MULLING: I recommend that the company change its "reward system." Money is always a welcome expression for a job well done.

If the company insists on these chummy little outings, the spouses of married employees should be included.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walser were in Amarillo Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Peacock and Mr. and Mrs. Laydon Peacock of Woodson visited several days this week with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Lance Jr. Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lance Sr. visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Lance and enjoyed visiting with the Peacocks.

Entering the County Fair last weekend in Hereford were several from this community. Kyle Minchew won 2 blue ribbons, one for a wooden hanging planter and one for fresh tomatoes. Kurt Minchew placed 2nd on his wooden planter and on fresh cucumbers. Kyle and Kurt are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minchew.

Mrs. Minchew, entering in the Adult Division, won 5 blue ribbons and 2 reds in sewing and gardening events.

Devra Baker won 2 blue ribbons on her Macrame and on canning of potatoes. Devra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleatis Hayes.

We are proud of your young people who take an active part in this event and hope that next year we will be represented by more 4-H boys and girls from this community.

"Free because he lives" was the topic, Tuesday at the Summerfield Baptist Church where the W.M.U. held special service to observe the Week of Prayer for State Missions.

The program Tuesday morning was observed by Mrs. Floy Larkin, Mrs. Glenn Walser, Doris Dobbs, Jackie Edwards, Sammie Lance, Melodie Seaver, Peggy Meyers, Annie DeLozier, Louise Struen, Cynthia Struen and Rosa Gordon.

Mrs. Gordon was in charge of the program. After the program and prayer service a luncheon was enjoyed by all and several husbands also came for lunch: Ken Gordon, Rev. Don Larkin and John Seaver. Mrs. Norman Brown was in charge of the nursery during the services.

Sammie Lance and Rosa Mae Lance visited in the home of Ann Hays of Dimmitt Wednesday.

Devra Baker visited with her great-grandmother, Ethel Curry, Tuesday at King's Manor in Hereford.

James Dobbs presented the program Thursday evening to electricians at K-Bob's Steak House. James gave the program on the Eye Bank. James is a director of the Eye Bank.

DEAR ANN Landers: Can you help me: I have no one to talk to. What's more I can't see myself telling anybody what my life is like.

I am a 45-year-old woman, tall, slim and reasonably intelligent. I am crying as I write this.

My husband has not touched me, even my arm, for four years. He's 50 and in good health. I've tried pleading, begging, dressing up for him, undressing for him, every ploy imaginable, but he refuses to come near me. Incidentally, if you think he has someone else, you're mistaken. He is always at home.

The man won't discuss the problem. I'd rather live alone but our combined income is needed to put our three children through college. How much longer can I go on living like this without going insane?--Desperate in Evergreen Park

DEAR D. IN E.P.: You don't have to go to Denmark--something is rotten in Evergreen Park. How a woman could have lived for four years with a man who hasn't touched her arm is beyond me.

There's more to this than appears in your letter. Call your county or state Mental Health Department and ask for an appointment. (Look in your phone book.) A therapist will listen to you and suggest alternatives. To settle for such cruel and inhuman treatment at age 45 is ridiculous.

DEAR ANN Landers: I'm 21 and just broke up with a fellow I went steady with for five years. (Lou is 22.) We split because I asked him if he really loved me and he said he wasn't sure. I suggested we both date others so he could find out.

It's been two weeks now and Lou is giving a friend of mine a big rush and spending money on her like crazy. I'm hurt and mad. Should I try to get him back or let him do his own thing?--Outsmarted Myself

DEAR O.M.: This will be good for both of you, even if he never comes back. To lock yourself in with one fello from age 16 to 21 is a bummer.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers's new booklet, "High School Sex and How To Deal With It--a Guide For Teens And Their Parents," gives no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.
