A Star Is Born

The camera rolls at a city water well in Veterans Park, where producer Ray Howell interviews Marlow Horn, city water superintendent, for a film on the Hereford flouride water problem.

It will be broadcast later to a nationwide audience over the Connecticut Public Television network. The footage shown here was shot Thursday afternoon.

IF YOU WATCHED TV Thursday night, you watched the first Presidential debate. The winner, we believe, was the American people. The series provides voters with a direct confrontation of the candidates, with statements and responses coming first-hand-not after they have been aired and printed by the media.

Our impression was that both men handled themselves well, and that both scored points in the debate. We thought Ford appeared more assertive and better in control during some of the debate, but Carter came across stronger in the closing statements. There has been much talk that Carter is not specific on the issues, and the emotional closing pitch might be a clue as to why he attracted strong support in the primaries.

Nationally Televised Film Features Local People

Water Situation Discussed

By BOBBY TEMPLETON

The lights, camera and attention focused on Hereford this week as a one-man production crew came here this week to set the stage for film which will be shown on nationwide television in the near future.

It won't have a sensational title like those that accompany most recent disaster films, but it could fall into the same category depending on the eventual outcome. Unlike "The Towering Inferno," or "Jaws," it has the less dramatic marquee display of "The Biography of A Drink of Water."

WHILE NOT VERY exciting, it will definitely have strong applications for the local citizenry who daily sip the underground liquid which the city pumps through 26 wells into local homes. It centers on the recently publicized flouride concentrate in Hereford water, which may have to be filtered for the chemical at a cost of almost $750,000 if the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1975 is enforce here.

It doesn't go into effect until June 24, 1977, but it could eventually mean Hereford might have to build three separate plants, hire more employes and spend an undetermined amount of money to take out flouride and other chemicals which the federal government considers dangerous to health. Actually, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) which is funding the film, has scientists how have found that flouride causes mottling (staining) of teeth to a brown color.

In the past, Hereford has maintained the famous image of "A Town Without A Toothache," which was derived from earlier findings that teeth of local residents were free of decay due to the water.

Coincidentally, an idea sprouted from Connecticut Public Television personnel that a film on the subject might be appropriate. Financing was obtained from the EPA and Ray Howell Film Production Inc. of San Antonio was sub-contracted to film sequences in Hereford on the unique situation here.

HOWELL, WHO has filmed for 15 years, said the connection of the film with the EPA is only a set of circumstances and that he was commissioned to produce an objective film based on interviews with five local citizens. It will consist of three or four minutes of film, which will be incorporated into a larger movie being put together by the television firm. Crews are filming all over the U.S. in an attempt to get an overall picture of drinking water safety.

"I am trying to get background information in this area on drinking water," Howell said. "Naturally, this involved reactions to the drinking water standards."

Initially, he contacted city manager Dudley Bayne, who is one of the stars of the film. Together four others were selected to become part of the project. They include Dr. "Hap" Cavness, a local dentist; Frank Ford, owner of Arrowhead Mills; Marlow Horn, city water superintendent; and Abbie Frazier, involved with Abbie's Mister Shop.

Each was chosen for special connections to the water problem. Of course, Cavness is participating as a dentist while Horn is a likely expert in his position as water superintendent. Bayne represents the city as it will have to correct any defined irregularities with the water; Mrs. Frazier has grown up here and has children here and in other states used in comparing water effects; and Ford possessed a knowledge of artificial flouride.

Howell filmed scenes varying from a city water well to closeups in Dr. Cavness' office, where he was working on different patients. Recorded tapes were made deperately from the film so that each could be effectively edited by the television personnel.

In all, about 25 minutes worth of film footage were shot by Howell including scenes of downtown Hereford. "All I am doing is shooting the film and letting them (Public TV) edit it," he said.

THOSE IN THE FILM have obtained the right to consider the final form the film before they consent to release it for national broadcast. Cavness said this is to insure that Hereford is given fair

Canyon head coach Deane Wright led his Eagles to a 14-8 win over Caprock last week to gain his first-ever victory over a 4A school. The Hereford Whitefaces have their work cut out for them if they want to prevent a repeat by the Eagles Friday night. Canyon sports a 2-1 record thus far this season with the only loss coming at the hands of Monterey, a team the Herd will have to contend with later down the line.

Senior quarterback Ricky Cooper leads the Canyon offense this year, and coach Wright is high on his field general. "Ricky came into his own late in the season last year, and he will be an accomplished quarterback this year," Wright said prior to the season.

Cooper heads a flexible offensive attack for the Eagles, and it's that Canyon offense that has Hereford coach Fred Uphaw biting his nails.

"Our defense has to perform well...Canyon has a varied and explosive offense, and we have got to contain them in

Both Sides Claim Debate Victory

Next Debate Scheduled October 6

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Both President Ford and Jimmy Carter are claiming victory in the first of the 1976 campaign debates, a restrained yet contentious confrontation laden with economic statistics and political rhetoric, but barren of any new proposals.

"I thought I did well," the Democratic nominee told reporters as he left the Walnut Street Theater, site of the debate. Carter said he had wanted to stress what he considers Ford's lack of leadership "and I think I did that very adequately."

"I enjoyed it very much," Ford said as he left the theater. Asked who won, the President replied, "The American people."

Later, Ford told supporters, "We have a turning point in this campaign...The momentum is on our side."

The debate, scheduled to run 90 minutes but interrupted for 27 minutes by an electronic failure that cut off the sound to the millions watching it on television, covered economic issues and domestic policy.

The candidates fielded 12 questions from a panel of three reporters. The topics ranged from unemployment, inflation and taxes to amnesty, government reorganization and domestic spying in government agencies.

Carter described Ford as insensitive to the plight of the unemployed and said that the President's 56 vetoes since he took office represented a "government of stalemate."

At the outset of the debate, Ford accused Carter of failing to be specific in his proposals. The President said his Democratic opponent was advocating programs calling for "more spending, bigger deficits, more inflation and more taxes."

But the candidates and their advisers felt the first debate would be the one likely to have the most lasting impression on the voters and the one to set a pattern for the others.

Members of Carter's staff had said they felt the former Georgia governor should avoid strongly worded, direct attacks on Ford which voters might resent as showing disrespect for the presidency.

Nonetheless, the Democratic candidate took Ford to task for what he said was a

Suspect Cleared In Amarillo

A spokesman for the Hereford Police Department reported this morning that a man who was arrested earlier this week in Amarillo as a suspect in several rape cases in that city has been cleared and released by the Amarillo Police Department.

Local authorities received a call Tuesday morning informing them of the arrest, and had considered the individual a possible suspect in the Sept. 2 rape-stabbing of a 21 year old woman at her home here.

Subsequent checking by both departments cleared the suspect and he was released.

City police are continuing their investigation of the local rape case, hoping to turn up new leads which will culminate in the arrest of a suspect.

White Supremacy Spotlighted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)- African delegates to the United Nations General Assembly are seeking to put a brighter spotlight on the issue in southern Africa that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has put on the back burner, white supremacy in South Africa.

The Africans got the assembly steering committee to recommend Thursday that the perennial question of the white South African government's apartheid policy of racial separation policy be debated in plenary meetings of the Assembly. In the past it has been debated.

Vaccinations Cause Polio

WASHINGTON (AP)- Polio cases caused by vaccinations now exceed cases that occur naturally, but the total number of cases from all causes averages only about a dozen a year, scientists say.

Dr. Jonas Salk and others told a Senate health subcommittee hearing Thursday that live-virus vaccine can give the disease to the person it is supposed to protect. "At the present time," Salk said, "the risk of acquiring polio from the live virus vaccine is greater than from naturally occurring viruses."

Hearst Faces Sentencing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)- More than six months after a jury convicted her of armed bank robbery, Patricia Hearst faces a sentence that could be as light as probation or as tough as 35 years in prison.

U.S. District Court Judge William H. Orrick, Jr. was to sentence the newspaper heiress today, one day after legal sessions on both sides of San Francisco Bay recalled her 2 1/2-year metamorphosis from kidnapped college coed to convicted felon.

Ford, Carter Claim Wins

PHILADELPHIA (AP)- Both President Ford and Jimmy Carter are claiming victory in the first of the 1976 debates. But a nationwide Associated Press poll showed today that neither candidate was the clear winner, although Ford attracted slightly more new supporters.

The restrained yet contentious confrontation was laden with economic statistics and political rhetoric but barren of any new proposals.

Participating in Project

Project Involves Camp Fire Group

During the 1976 session of Resident Camp Fire Camp, the ninth grade girls participated in a special project in the Nature Lore section of their camping experience.

In co-operation with Greg Thompson of the Penasco Ranger station, local girls dug and bagged 60 trees in a heavily tree-populated section of the Carson National Forest near Tres Ritos, N.M.

They transplanted the trees in an area that had been infested with the spruce beetle which had destroyed all the trees. The forest service has been working to get this area replanted and let them help in a small way with this project. Theme this year was "Camp of the Enchanted Mountains." To help the group commemorate this, the park rangers allowed them to bring a blue spruce tree from the forest to be placed at the Hereford Camp Fire grounds.

Local girls participating included Karen Drake, April Holly, Lynn Garrett, Lynette Rhoton, Brenda Brown, Joyce McCullar, Ellen Shields, Karen Evans, Jennifer Griffin, Barbara Brumley and Kerry Hacker.

Adult group counselors are Mrs. Charles Springer and Mrs. A.T. Griffin.

3-F Club Hears Inspirational Talk By Farmer

The title of Fun-Food-Fellowship Club was interpreted for members Wednesday by a guest speaker in the Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church.

W.J. Albracht, local farmer, used poetry verses to stress the meaning of the organization's motto—fun, food and fellowship. Albracht was introduced during the luncheon by Dr. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the Methodist congregation. Mrs. John Heard, vice president, organized the program.

It was announced that the next scheduled 3-F meeting will be at 11 a.m. Oct. 27 in the Fellowship Hall.

Others in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob King and Mmes. Ed Cox, J.D. Love, Ross Stark, A.C. Flowers, Claude Ricketts, T.W. Alderson, Lucille Berryman, Ruth Craig, Mamie McGowan, Katie McGehee, Annie Springer, Sue Hensley, Bobbie Metcalf, Cheryl Bullard, Olita Tisdale and Mable Wagner.

Welcomed To School Program

Dr. Harold Holder, new superintendent of Hereford Independent School District, is greeted by representatives of Hereford's PTSO during a meeting Monday evening. From left are Dr. Holder, R.C. Hoelscher, Mrs. Gerald Parker and Mrs. A.T. Griffin.

School Superintendent Cited At PTSO Meeting

Dr. Harold Holder, new superintendent of Hereford Independent School District, was introduced at an assembly Monday evening at the Parent-Teacher-Student Organization (PTSO) in the high school library.

Dr. Holder, who comes here from Bishop, Tx., was introduced to the audience by R.C. Hoelscher, PTSO president.

During the monthly meeting, six local speakers were presented at the podium concerning programs involving Hereford adults and youth. Facilities at Deaf Smith County Library were promoted by Ann Bradley, a member of the library staff, who listed the available activities there. She explained that the library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday, from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. other weekdays and until 12 noon Saturday. Mrs. Clint Formby addressed the PTSO group, encouraging more citizens to assist in the volunteer school program, which was recently innovated here. She stated that only 13 individuals are currently involved in the program. Prospective volunteers can receive further information from Mmes. Formby, Charles Hoover or Jo Ellen Jorde.

Representing Deaf Smith County Historical Museum was executive director Lois Gilliland, who distributed brochures concerning three museum exhibits. Described in the promotional pamphlet were the half-dugout, museum chapel and Indian artifacts exhibit.

Bill Johnson of Hereford's YMCA announced that the organization's membership drive has enrolled 200 members so far and more individuals are encouraged to join. He stated that 15 various recreational activities are involved in the local YMCA to date.

Mrs. Earnest Langley, who has been involved in Camp Fire Girls, Inc. for 25 years, described that organization for school-page girls. Complementing her report was one by Dyal Garner, who participates in the local Boy Scout program. Garner announced that the Boy Scouts are currently conducting a membership campaign and adult leaders are needed in particular. Volunteers can call Jeff Morris.

The public, especially parents of local students, are urged to attend the next PTSO meeting, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 18 at Community Center. Mary Jo Hamman will present a program on the "Right to Read" regimen and Dr. Holder will be present. Refreshments will be served.

Ann Landers Crazy Sex Problem Revealed

DEAR ANN Landers: I'm a 24-year-old guy who has had a crazy sex problem for the last couple of years. I get turned on by heavy-set girls. I mean the fatter they are the better I like them.

I'm on the lean side and consider myself normal in every way except this one. I know there must be something wrong with me because I feel disgusted with myself the next morning and never want to see those fat girls again. Have you ever heard of this before?—H.J. Kid

DEAR H.J.: Yes, I have, and I can tell you there is no explanation for what turns people on. A good therapist can help you get to the root of your problem and solve it. And it IS a problem if you hate yourself in the morning.

DEAR ANN Landers: After ten years of marriage my husband and I agreed we were grossly mismatched. We parted on good terms, each wishing the other well. After talking to myself for three days I decided to give my husband custody of our five-year-old son. The boy adores his dad and I felt he needed a male's influence in his formative years.

The divorce and custody arrangements are working out beautifully. My ex-husband and I get along much better than we did when we were married. The boy is very happy. He loves us both and I see him often.

DEAR ANN Landers: I think you write a pretty fair column but sometimes you contradict yourself. For example:

Not long ago you said it was perfectly normal for a girl to have fantasies about lovers. (She daydreamed a lot about Dustin Hoffman.) The same week you condemned a man because he enjoyed dressing up like a woman, putting on a wig, lipstick, jewelry and so on. You called him "sick."

Why do you consider a man "sick" because he enjoys fantasies, but a woman who lets her imagination wander you consider "normal"? Answer in print—if you can.—Angel Camp, Calif.

DEAR ANGEL: Correction, please. I comment, evaluate, respond to questions and offer opinions, but I don't "condemn."

Fantasies remain in the head, and as Robert Louis Stevenson said, "We all have thoughts that would shame hell." But a male who dressed like a female is doing more than fantasizing, he is acting out his desires. And this particular fantasy is clearly aberrant—adeviation from the normal. Get it:

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill 60120.

THERE'S A CURRENT trend that has never, in the history of man, penetrated our society to my knowledge and the ramifications are mind-boggling. The avant garde topic is transsexualism, a term so new that it isn't even in Webster's.

I certainly do not claim to be an expert on this subject which is putting all kind of kinky wrinkles in America's—and the world's—culture. But my limited understanding of the situation is that a transsexual is an individual who, through medication and surgery, wants to assume the identity of the opposite sex.

This technique of course, first surfaced universally several years back during the Christine Jorgenson case, which was followed by the motion picture flop, "Myra Breckenridge."

However, it seemed that the issue of "sex change operations" soon burrowed back into the shadows of obscurity where the general public was concerned.

BUT, DURING THE past months, the modernistic and controversial procedure of transsexual treatment has resurfaced in several locations, involving individuals who made little attempt to keep their change of gender a secret.

The episode, which was broadcast in two consecutive parts, had its good points in that the actor Robert Reed gave an impressive portrayal of the trauma faced by an individual who is uncomfortable in his (or her) body and feels the character traits of the opposite gender.

The show also took an important stride when it clarified that a transsexual is not homosexual a transvestite nor a bisexual, but is confined to a rare class of its own. As I comprehend it a transsexual resorts to surgery not out of sexual desires, but for emotional and personality traits, instead.

"Medical Center" was unrealistic in that the story concluded with the transsexual's family accepting him as in his new role as a woman. In this writer's opinion, it is inconceivable that a man's wife and teenage son could gracefully accept a trauma of such devastating magnitude.

IT IS DOUBTFUL that many lives will be personally touched by transsexualism and the tragic aura surrounding it. We'll listen attentively to interviews on such news shows as Tom Snyder's "Tomorrow" and we'll read the half-truth articles in slick tabloids such as The National Enquirer, but (hopefully) transsexualism will remain a rare, sad occurrence.

The 1984 pessimist could consider this subject and make the following dire prediction: "In the future, transsexualism will be so common that instead of a baby's parents hoping that he'll grow up to be president—they can dream that he'll be crowned Miss America."

Mayfield Shows Hilites Of Buffs To Kiwanians

West Texas State head football coach Gene Mayfield reviewed the Buff's recent win over the Wichita State Shockers for the Noon Kiwanis Club Thursday.

The Buff mentor started out the program by telling the group that he felt especially close to Hereford, not only for the support that the townspeople give to West Texas State and all its athletic programs, but also because his son-in-law and daughter both teach in the Hereford school system.

The Buffs scored a 14-12 win over the Shockers in the season opener at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium last Saturday and travel to Southern Illinois to take on the Salukis this week. Mayfield expressed concerns that the Buff defense, a perennial weak spot in the Maroon attack, might not have been thoroughly tested against Wichita State.

"We took the first play from scrimmage for a 53-yard gain and took the next play in for the score. Then late in the first half, Wichita's quarterback was injured and they sent in a freshman quarterback so our defense has really not been up against a full-force offense yet. Although they played well against the pass during that first half, the defense has yet to be completely tested," Mayfield said.

Defense against the run could be the turning point of the game against Southern Illinois. According to Mayfield, one of their tailbacks gained 200 yards on the ground last week.

The schedule for the Buffs will not lighten up in the near future, either. They travel in Arlington to take on UTA, a team that's always been a stumbling block for the Buffs. The next week finds the Buffs in Houston to meet the Cougars.

Fielding questions from the Kiwanians, Mayfield said there were about 94 players out for football this year, 74 on scholarship and 20 "walk-ons". The walk-ons are one of the intangibles of the game. "We had one walk-on ending up as a starter last year, but you can never tell what will happen," said Mayfield.

Recruiting this past spring concentrated on the Buff defense as the coaches signed 5 defensive linemen as junior college transfers. Mayfield was not certain how much value could be gained at the beginning from the players, but he said that two in particular were coming on strong enough to start playing regular for the Buffs.

A quick run through the highlights of the film of Saturday's game showed the Buffs played well in that contest. Mayfield said he hoped the team would not have ups-and-downs and would continue to play as well against Southern Illinois.

County Library In Area System

About 18 libraries in the 25 counties served by the Texas Panhandle Library System have qualified for system membership in the year that began September 1. The system will receive a grant of $183,554 to carry out programs to improve library service in the area.

Ten regional systems have been organized under provisions of the Texas Library Systems Act that is administered by the Texas State Library. Funds are available to the systems to carry out cooperative activities to improve library service to users of system member libraries.

Like other systems, the Texas Panhandle Library System is developing service programs particularly suited to the library needs of its region. These include providing consultant services to libraries in that area, circulation of a film collection purchased for use by all libraries in the area, a books-by-mail program for residents of counties without library service, and assisting libraries in disseminating information about services.

Wheeler Public Library is a new member of the system this year. Amarillo Public Library serves as the Major Resource Center. Lovett Memorial Library in Pampa is an area library. Community libraries are Hutchinson County Library in Borger, Hemphill County Library in Canadian, Canyon Public Library, Rhoads Memorial Library in Dimmitt, Killgore Memorial Library in Dumas, Friona Public Library, Deaf Smith County Library in Hereford, Lovett Memorial Library in McLean, Carson County Library in Panhandle, Perry Memorial Library in Perryton, Shamrock Public Library, Hansford County, Library in Spearman, Sherman County Public Library in Stratford, and Swisher County Library in Tulia. The High Plains Bookmobile which operates out of Muleshoe and serves a four-county area is a unique member of the state system.

Members of the Advisory Council, a six-person group elected by representatives of each library in the system, are

Upward Bound Program Will Begin Later At WT

The West Texas State University Upward Bound Program will start later than usual this year due to the lateness in funding and new changes in grant conditions.

Previously Upward Bound has begun its regularly scheduled academic year meetings around the middle of September.

"Customarily, we have met with the Upward Bound students in their respective communities on an average of three times a month during the regular school year, said Jimmy Diaz, Program Director. "The significant change this year is that we must hold our weekly meetings on Saturday mornings thus necessitating bringing the students to (WTSU) campus in order to satisfy new grant conditions. We are currently in the process of putting the staff together and making the necessary arrangements for student transportation to and from their respective communities," he added.

The program will be allotted seventy slots (students) from within a fifty mile radius of West Texas State University, which currently includes Friona, Tulia, Hereford, and Amarillo. Upward Bound is a pre-college preparatory program designed to generate the skills and motivation necessary for success in education beyond high school; to aid those students from limited income backgrounds with potential for successful college work and for those who experienced inadequate secondary preparation.

Upward Bound staff members will be at Hereford High School next week with applications for recruiting local students of Junior or Senior standing. Applications and information concerning the program may be secured from the counselors at the high school.

SEE AUTUMN'S BEAUTY THROUGH EYES OF FAITH

He climax in our orbit of the sun
Is when at last the summer days are done:
When shades of green give way to autumn's gold,
The richest of the seasons will unfold.
The leaves become arrayed in brilliant hue,
Before their turn to disappear from view
In brief descending spirals through the air,
Propelled by winds that strip the branches bare.
Through eyes of faith you'll see this all displayed:
The wonders of this world that God has made
Are never more alive than in the fall:
Through Church, you will appreciate them all.

Defense, Morale Keys Upshaw Says

order to win the ballgame," Upshaw said prior to the Herd's practice Thursday.

Mental attitude will play an enormous part in deciding whether the Whitefaces play well Friday night. The Herd, picked to win the prize in the district this year, has been a slight disappointment with two straight losses after an opening game win over Pampa.

"We've worked on our mental attitude all week," Upshaw said. "Right now it's our biggest problem, and we've been concentrating on it."

Upshaw feels that his team is close to "getting it together" again, but on the other hand calls the Eagles "the toughest team we'll have faced this year."

"They will be extremely hard to beat, they're a little more diversified on offense this year, and also improved on defense," the coach said.

The Canyon front walls, both offensively and defensively are anchored by all-district guard Drew Hetzler, who is listed at 230 pounds.

Added to Hetzler in the offense line for the Eagles are John Prater, a 212-pound tight end, tackles Tab Keener, 215, and Cliff Adams, 200, guard Vince Price, 200, and center Len Schmidt, 174.

Herd scouts have indicated that the Eagles are "an excellent blocking team on offense, and are extremely quick on defense."

All those qualities are added to the fact that the Eagles will be hungry to whip the Whitefaces after fighting to a tense 7-6 loss last year.

One bright spot for Hereford, though, is the fact that most of the players will be nearly 100 per cent well physically Friday night.

Excluding guards Wade Ohlig and Jim Fish, Upshaw reports the squad to be in "pretty good shape."

Defensive standout Abel Trevizo will be back at full strength after a bout with the flu last week, and will occupy his tackle spot against the Eagles.

Quarterback Kelly Kitchens, who suffered a sprained thumb against the Bulldogs, will be ready for action, and is slated share duties with Jim Lawson.

"We just did not perform well when we had to perform," Upshaw said in the wake of the Berger loss. "We have to play well...mentally well this week" he emphasized Thursday.

While a win over the Eagles may not turn the season around again for the Whitefaces, that mental attitude that Upshaw emphasizes would certainly get a shot in the arm.

Thompson-Snook Win Tournament

Amarillo's Rosemary Thompson, who recently walked away with the state women's championship, combined with Carmen Snook to win the Hereford Women's Invitation Golf Tournament Thursday.

Thompson and Snook carved out a 32-34-66 in the two-stroke tourney to win by two strokes over Claudia Nunley-Jimmie Smith who forged a 33-35-68 for the 18 holes.

The tournament, which attri-cted 104 women from the area, was sponsored by the Women's Golf Association.

The champions, along with the winners in five other flights, were honored at a luncheon at the Hereford Country Club following the day's action.

All the other competitors in the tourney received door prizes at the luncheon, courtesy of several local merchants.

Other winners and runners-up by flight were as follows:

1st Flight - 1. Janice

Baccus-Joan Hood. 2. Joyce Spence-Sue Bailey.

2nd Flight - 1. Charlene Malory-Pat Erdworm. 2. Jane Hoover-Mary Blatzheim.

3rd Flight - 2. Thurelene Madison-Danny Doherty. 2. Dorothy McCasky-Betty Hord.

4th Flight - 1. Eloise Moorehead-June Weatherbee. 2. Mitch Kuehler-Margaret Davis.

5th Flight - 1. Thelma Marsh-Idie Garn. 2. Law Townsen-Polly Green.

Haystack Calhoun Tops Lions Wrestling Card

Hereford Lions Club wrestling, after skipping a week at the Bull Barn, returns this week with one of the biggest cards ever to come to Deaf Smith County.

In terms of weight, it may very well be the biggest. Haystack Calhoun, the 640-pound grappler from Arkansas, will be making an appearance here. An eight-man, over-the-top rope, Russian Roulette Battle Royale will be the main event, with five hundred dollars at stake. Only three men have ever lifted the huge Calhoun shoulder high.

Also on Saturday, September

25, the Limehouse Gang will be making an appearance. Les Thornton and Tony Charles, two Englishmen with an aggregate weight of 475 pounds, receive top billing under the Battle Royale.

They will be meeting two Texans, Cowboy Bob Ellis and The Lawman. The Lawman, a former Taylor County deputy sheriff with a boxing background, says that he lives by the pioneer motto: "Get the job done." Ellis is a former football great from San Angelo, and when not wrestling is a successful horse trainer and racer.

Thornton was a British Navy wrestling champion, while Charles was not only a distinguished amateur in England, but a professional rugby football player.

In other matches, Haystack Calhoun will meet tough Randy Colley. A 270-pounder from Mobile Alabama. Extremely agile for a big man, Colley hopes to make up in speed and movement the nearly 400 pound difference in weight.

Jerry Kozak, popular junior heavyweight, steps in at 218 pounds against rugged veteran Alex Perez. Kozak, originally from Vancouver, Canada, is now an American citizen. He is a reserve deputy sheriff in Potter County.

Kozak will be attempting to overcome a knee injury suffered in matches with two tough opponents recently.

Perez, the 265-pounder who styles himself "The Texican", is a former national golden gloves champion, and has wrestled throughout the United States.

In the last matches held by the Lions Club at the Bull Barn, Dory Funk Jr. defeated Super Destroyer in a Texas death match. The masked Destroyer had Funk bleeding and almost beaten, but the interference of Cowboy Don Wayt, intended to help the apparent victor, ended by costing him the match.

The Lawman squeaked out a win over Lord Alfred Hayes in an exciting semi-main, while Nick Roberts drew with Wayt. In the opener, Reggie Parks surprised durable El Lobo with a side suplex and body press.

Wrestling action at the Bull Barn on Saturday will start at 9:00 p.m.

Y Flag Football Begins Tomorrow

The brand new YMCA boys flag football season gets underway Saturday morning with the Bengals meeting the Cowboys at 9 a.m. to kick things off.

The league, which includes boys from the third grade through the sixth grade, will field a total of 12 teams. Y director Claude Huard has divided the teams into two six-team divisions.

The two divisions will play a round-robin schedule before beginning a single elimination tournament in October to decide the league champion.

The games will be played on a field at the Northwest elementary school every Saturday. The first contest will begin at 9 a.m. and each day will conclude with a 3 p.m. game.

Following the Bengals-Cowboys clash Saturday will be the Vikings against the Packers at 10 a.m., the Jets, versus the Cardinals at 11 a.m., the Redskins against the Rams at 1 p.m., the Dolphins versus the Oilers at 2 p.m., and the Chiefs versus the Saints at 3 p.m.

A total of 144 boys are involved in the league this year. Paul Mason, of the Hereford Credit Union, is acting as the league supervisor.

Action will continue through November 20 when the league champion will be crowned.

MIAMI (AP) - The Miami Dolphins could be short a linebacker for Sunday's National Football League game with the New York Jets now that backup Nick Buoniconti has pulled a leg muscle, officials say.

A spokesman said Buoniconti suffered a pulled muscle in his left calf during a practice session Thursday.

ATLANTA (AP) - The Atlanta Flames were left with a 27-man National Hockey League roster after cutting 12 players from their training camp roster Thursday night.

Those cut included forwards Mike Bradbury, Dale McMullin and John Sturges; goaltenders Mark Earp and Lorne Molleken and defenseman Peter Brown. Larry Carriere, Dave Hanson, Rick Hodgson, Tom Lindskog, Kick Spannbaauer and Glen Surbey.

All were sent back to minor league teams.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Veteran guard Fred Carter and center Harvey Catchings have signed multi-year contracts with the Philadelphia 76ers, the National Basketball Association club announced Thursday.

Terms of the contracts were not revealed. Both players, starters on last year's team, were expected today at Ursinus College for the opening of training camp.

The 6-foot-3, 185-pound Carter, an eight-year veteran, had been involved in a contract dispute and was expected to be a holdout. Catchings, starting his fourth season, is one of four centers fighting for a spot on the 76er roster.

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) - one unidentified $10 exacta ticket-holder collected $17,279 Thursday at Bay Meadows, and nine 15 bettors cashed in for $8,639.50 each - the largest exacta payoff in Northern California thoroughbred racing history.

The winning fifth-race combination was Aquilegia, an 18-1 shot, and Line O' Who, at 60-1, was second.

The California exacta record for all racing was $14,926.50 set May 12, 1973 at Bay Meadows for a quarterhorse race.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - The Tampa Bay Buccaneers say they will make two roster cuts today to compensate for two newly acquired players.

Tampa Thursday picked up Thursday wide receiver Morris Owens, cut by the Miami Dolphins earlier this week, and Rod McNeill, a running back cut from the New Orleans Saints.

The Bucs said they will make the cuts to bring the roster to the required 45 players for the expansion National Football League club.

Theft Increase Pushes Crime Rate Up Three Per Cent In First 6 Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—An increase in theft pushed the nation's crime rate up 3 per cent during the first six months of this year, compared with the same period a year ago, the FBI reported Thursday.

Although the six other crime categories declined, an 11 per cent surge in thefts was enough to produce an over-all increase in the crimes measure by the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports. Thefts were up in cities, suburbs and rural areas alike and in all part of the country.

The FBI figures are based on crimes reported to 9,160 state and local police agencies. Other studies have shown that the number of crimes actually committed far exceeds the number reported to police.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi

noted that the 3 per cent over-all increase was much less than the 13 per cent boost reported for the first half of 1975, compared with the previous year.

He called the trend encouraging but said, "there remains a net increase in serious crime—a clear reminder that all segments of the criminal justice system must continue working to solve the problem."

Nationally, the FBI report showed that murder declined 12 per cent, rape and assault each dropped 1 per cent, robbery was down 10 per cent, burglary dropped 5 per cent and motor vehicle theft declined 3 per cent.

The pattern of an increase in thefts and a decline in all other crimes was true for cities of 25,000 and more in population. But there were variations from city to city.

Among the largest cities, the number of crimes reported in all seven categories declined in Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia, but rose in New York and Houston.

In the nation's suburbs, the report showed a 1 to 2 per cent increase in assault and rape as well as a nine per cent increase in theft. The other crimes declined.

In rural areas, theft was up 8 per cent and motor vehicle theft increased 4 per cent while the other crimes decreased. The number of rural murders plummeted 21 per cent, the largest decrease in any category.

By region, the over-all crime rate was up 9 per cent in the Northeast, 3 per cent in North Central states, 1 per cent in the South and 2 per cent in the West.

Two Women Abandon Infant Girl

ABILENE, (AP)—Two Abilene women were arrested Thursday night after a 2-hour-old infant girl was abandoned in a service station restroom, police said.

The child was found in a trash container Wednesday night about half an hour after she was deposited, officers said.

The infant was reported in good condition at Hendrick Memorial Hospital.

Detective Leonard Dogen said a 17-year-old woman, who is believed to be the mother, and a 18-year-old were arrested Thursday on suspicion of attempted murder. Dogen said police would discuss charges with the district attorney today.

The Taylor County Child

Welfare Office took temporary custody of the 13-month-old daughter of the alleged mother of the new baby. Judge Don Lane signed an order giving temporary custody of the abandoned infant to welfare officials.

Rhodesia Whites Accept Power Plan

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—Rhodesia's ruling whites have accepted Prime Minister Ian Smith's recommendations on the British-American plan to transfer power to the black majority, informed sources say. But it was not known yet whether Smith would demand modifications.

The prime minister will announce the decision of his Rhodesian Front's caucus in parliament in a radio and television speech tonight.

Sources close to the party said the caucus, made up of 50 of the 66 members of the Rhodesian parliament, approved the proposals Smith presented to them at a meeting Thursday.

Smith reportedly told Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in talks last weekend in South Africa that he would report favorably on his proposals. But there were reports after he returned to Salisbury that he would demand that the change-over to black-majority rule be delayed beyond the two-year period which the plan reportedly calls for.

Smith said his speech would be "a clear and positive and unequivocal statement. There will be no doubt in anybody's minds."

disclose the details of the plan. Other sources have said it includes black power by the end of 1978, admission of blacks to the Rhodesian parliament and government in the interim and a $2-billion fund supplied by the United States, Britain and other countries to compensate Rhodesian whites who leave the country and to continue development of the country under black rule.

Reporters traveling with the secretary were told that Kissinger was urging the British, as the technically sovereign power in Rhodesia, to insist on a speedup in the schedule so as to get the blacks into power by next spring. British officials were reported opposed to such an acceleration.

U.S. officials in Kissinger's party said the secretary of state wants quick action to head off Soviet efforts to persuade black African leaders that the United States is trying to maintain white supremacy in southern Africa in a new form.

Fighting in the four-year-old guerrilla war in Rhodesia continued Thursday. Government officials announced that security forces killed 18 more black insurgents.

Kissinger has won support for his peace initiative from three black leaders in southern Africa—Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia, Julius K. Nyerere of Tanzania and Mobutu Sese Seko of Zaire. But his proposals were rejected by the Marxist regime in Mozambique, where most of the Rhodesian guerrillas are based.

Carter Campaign Enters Texas

HOUSTON (AP)—Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter, under fire for comments he made in a magazine about the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, brought his campaign to Houston today to begin a two-city, six-hour Texas visit.

Carter was to speak at a downtown noon rally here and then move on to Dallas for a later afternoon speech and fund-raising reception.

Carter already has personally apologized to Mrs. Johnson for his remarks about the late President in an Playboy Magazine interview.

In the interview, Carter described Johnson, along with President Nixon, as "lying, cheating and distorting the truth."

Carter apologized to the widow in a phone call to her home Wednesday. Mrs. Johnson declined Thursday to say whether she accepted the apology although she said "It was nice of him to call me." She earlier said she was "distressed, hurt and perplexed" over Carter's remarks in the magazine.

Carter follows his wife into the state. Mrs. Johnson escorted Rosalynn Carter through the Lyndon B. Johnson Library at Austin Thursday.

Carter was to speak at the 12:20 p.m. street rally here shortly after his arrival. Texas Democrat officials said it will be the first time for a major presidential candidate to hold a street rally in Houston since President Dwight D. Eisenhower did it in 1952.

Following the rally, Carter is to spend a half hour in his hotel for private conferences and telephone calls before flying to Dallas.

At Dallas, Carter will speak before the Dallas Forty, an organization of young professional people. He then will go to a fund-raising reception sponsored by the Democratic National Committee before departing the state for the West Coast.

Deputies Resign From Crockett County Posts

OZONA, Tex. (AP)—All four deputies in the Crockett County Sheriff's department resigned late this week, charging that Sheriff Bill Mills is partial in enforcement of the law. Mills would not comment Thursday night on the allegations against him.

Chief Deputy James Goss, who announced his resignation Wednesday, said he was leaving the department to run against Mills in November as a write-in candidate. The three other deputies, one of them Goss' brother, have said they will support Goss.

"We couldn't do our jobs as long as our present sheriff was in office," Goss said. "There were so many legal arrests that were made involving friends of the sheriff that were thrown out by him."

"We would arrest them one day and the next when we went to work, they would be turned loose," Goss said.

Former deputy T.J. Hill said Mills plays favorites.

"For myself I'm not mad at the sheriff and I don't have anything against the man," Hill said. "But the thing is, Billy is still living in the past. He doesn't realize that law enforcement has to grow with the times."

Mills told the San Angelo Standard Times Thursday night he felt politics played a major role in the resignation of the four deputies.

"The chief deputy told me yesterday that he was quitting and was going to run against me in the election," Mills said.

When asked about the motives behind the resignation, Mills said, "Well, one is a brother of the chief deputy and that is a pretty good reason right there."

Mills refused to comment on the charges of unfair and partial enforcement practices.

"I've said all I'm going to say on it," he said.

Mills said for the time being he and five Department of Public Safety officers will be "holding down the fort." The five officers include a Texas Ranger, a state trooper, a motor vehicle inspection officer and a licensing and weights officer.

Ozona, the county seat of Crockett County, is not incorporated and thus has no police force of its own.

COLONIAL ARTISTS
BOSTON (AP)—A new exhibition at the Museum of Fine Arts here chronicles the travels from the New World colonies to Europe of three great American colonial painters.

Works by John Singleton Copley, Gilbert Stuart and Benjamin West have been drawn from the museum's collections and from public and private collections throughout the United States. The exhibition includes between 35 and 40 works of art and is part of the museum's bicentennial celebration.

Entitled "Paintings by New England Provincial Artists: 1775-1800," the display will be at the museum until Oct. 17.

Carillo Sentence Probated

JOURDANTON, Tex. (AP)—Oscar Carrillo, a member of a once powerful political family in Duval County, has been assessed a seven-year probation sentence for felony theft in the use of postage stamps.

Jurors recommended the sentence Thursday for the former state representative. They returned a guilty verdict Wednesday night after six and a half hours of deliberation.

Carrillo was accused of using about $200 worth of postage stamps. Prosecutors charged that Carrillo used the postage meter machine of the Benavides Independent School District to mail campaign literature in an unsuccessful race for the state Senate.

Carrillo is a brother of O.P. Carrillo Jr., who recently was removed as a state district judge by the Texas Senate.

JUGGLERS
EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—University of Oregon freshmen Matt Erwin and Peter Thacker may have started a new fad on campus.

Erwin, 18, brought three juggling balls with him when he came to the university last fall and started to show off his talents in his dormitory.

Twelve freshmen in the dormitory took up the hobby and recently formed their own fraternity. They call themselves "Tri Balla Bounca."

Polio Vaccine Shortage Caused By Disagreement

ATLANTA (AP) - Polio vaccine shortages are being reported by two state health departments because of a contract disagreement between a federal agency and a vaccine supplier anxious to protect itself from possible lawsuits.

The federal Center for Disease Control here said the impasse came at the height of the tradition school pupil vaccination season and a time when federal health officials fear declining immunization could lead to new outbreaks of the paralyzing disease.

An assistant secretary in the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Dr. Theodore Cooper, said in a recent memo, "I am fearful that curtailment of childhood immunization activities in a number of states may result in outbreaks of the disease."

Eight polio cases in the United States have been reported to the CDC so far this year.

Negotiations are at a stalemate between the CDC, which distributes vaccines to most states, and Lederle Laboratories, the principal supplier of the vaccine, a CDC spokeswoman, Betty Hooper, said Tuesday.

The company fears lawsuits that could arise from possible side effects of the vaccine. It wants contract wording to say the CDC "warrants" that parents of school children will give written "informed consent" to the vaccinations.

The CDC wants to keep the original wording that said the federal agency will "take reasonable steps" to get

Carter Remarks Hurt Lady Bird; Others Accept Them As Candor

AUSTIN, (AP) - Jimmy Carter's remarks critical of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson left Mrs. Johnson "distressed, hurt and perplexed" Thursday; other Texas Democrats accepted them as evidence of Carter's "candor."

Carter apologized to the widow of the late President in the phone call to her home Wednesday. Mrs. Johnson said Thursday "it was very nice of him to call me," but she declined to say whether she had accepted the apology.

Instead, she said only she was "distressed, hurt and perplexed" by the statements attributed to Carter.

Democratic leaders declined to criticize Carter and stressed party unity at news conferences in advance of Carter's first visit to LBJ territory Friday when he will campaign in Houston and Dallas. Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Carter campaign co-chairman for Texas, Bob Armstrong and Calvin Guest, said they were confident Carter will carry Texas in the November election.

The remarks about Johnson were in an interview with Playboy magazine in which Carter described Johnson and former President Richard Nixon as "lying, cheating and distorting the truth." The complete statement said: "But I don't think I would ever take on the same frame of mind that Nixon or Johnson did - lying, cheating and distorting the truth. Not taking into consideration my hope for my strength of character, I think that my religious beliefs along would prevent that from happening to me. I have that confidence. I hope it's justified."

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said Carter expressed his regrets to Mrs. Johnson and, in particular, the implication that he considered Johnson and Nixon in the same category.

Powell said also Mrs. Johnson told Carter she was "looking forward to campaigning with Rosalynn Carter's wife and with him on Friday."

But Mrs. Johnson's secretary, Betty Tilson, said Mrs. Johnson had no intention of campaigning for the Democratic nominee in Texas. She did, however, greet Mrs. Carter in San Antonio Wednesday and guided her on a tour of the LBJ Library Thursday.

Armstrong told newsmen, "What you are really seeing is a candidate willing to be absolutely candid and open. I would very much like to see the President do the same thing. I adore Carter's candor, but I don't know whether the nation is ready for that kind of candor. We will just have to wait and see if it makes any difference."

Guest said the reference to Johnson was taken out of context. "It referred to some statements being made in regard to our involvement in Vietnam," he said.

He added the "full implication of what he Carter was referring to in the statement must be communicated to the voters."

Guest said Carter's comments were not a setback to his Texas campaign because "I feel we will correct the impression and we have 45 days before the election."

Carter will have a chance to explain Thursday. He is scheduled to arrive in Houston at 11:30 a.m. for a downtown noon rally which will be followed by a series of private meetings with Democratic leaders.

From Houston, Carter will fly to Dallas for another rally.

County chairmen throughout the state agreed with Guest's assessments. Don Wiley, campaign coordinator for Wichita County, said, "It was unfortunate, but since Carter apologized, it should be the end of it."

Lynn Darden, campaign coordinator for the southern Panhandle said, "Jimmy Carter was saying he isn't a saint and neither was LBJ."

STUCK
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Credit the capture of a robbery suspect to a bathroom window. Sheriff's officers said that when they tried to serve a warrant to the suspect, a 19-year-old youth, he tried to elude them by slipping through the bathroom window. The window wasn't quite big enough, however, and the suspect got stuck. It took several men to free the youth, officers said.

opponent has answered a question. "I don't believe that Mr. Carter has been any more specific in this case than he has been in many other instances," said the President, echoing a familiar Republican charge against Carter.

Ford said Democratic jobs programs would add $10 billion to $30 billion each year in additional expenditures.

The second question dealt with taxes and was directed to Ford, who replied that he probably would sign the tax bill recently passed by Congress. This time it was Carter's turn to rebut, and he linked the Republicans to a tax structure he called "a welfare program for the rich."

Carter was asked where he'd find the money to pay for the programs he was promising voters. With reduced unemployment and a steady economic growth, there would be $60 billion in extra money in four years, he said.

Ford questioned whether such a dividend would be found. It was, he added, "I think the American taxpayer ought to get an additional tax break, a tax reduction of that magnitude."

Later, the subject of taxes came up again and Carter said he wanted to do away with the kind of deductions he said were used by the wealthy but were not available to the average working person. He cited "first-class travel, the $50 martini lunch."

Ford then renewed recent Republican charges that Carter had indicated in an interview with The Associated Press that he planned to ask for a tax increase "on about 50 per cent of the working people of this country." The President also said that the tax laws which Carter claims contain gross inequities were written by congresses controlled by the Democrats.

Carter repeatedly has said that he has no intention of asking for a tax increase for low- or middle-income families. The Democratic candidate has said he only intends to do away with provisions that give extra advantages to high-income families.

One of the most acrimonious exchanges occurred when Ford was asked to comment on the anti-Washington feeling often mentioned during the campaign.

Ford said he thought any anti-Washington feeling "ought to be focused on the Congress...I don't think the American people are getting their money's worth from the majority party that runs this Congress..."

"They spend too much money on themselves; they have too many employees; there's some question about their morality."

Ford concluded that "I think the American people want a Republican president to check on any excesses that come out of the next Congress."

Carter retorted that "it's not a matter of leadership or no leadership."

He said Ford "quite often puts forward a program just as a public relations stunt and never tries to put it through the Congress...The point is that a president ought to lead this country. Mr. Ford, so far as I know, except for avoiding another Watergate, has not accomplished one single major program for this country."

On government reorganization, Carter said he had drastically consolidated the state government bureaucracy as governor of Georgia and that "it was a tremendous success."

Ford countered that during Carter's four years as governor, state expenditures increased more than 50 per cent and the number of state employees increased by 25 per cent.

The official record shows that during Carter's term as governor of Georgia, the state budget increased from $1.057 billion to $1.657 billion, up 58.5 per cent

The number of state employees rose 24 per cent. Both figures were lower than the increases during the four year term of Carter's predecessor, Lester Maddox.

A principal theme of the Carter presidential campaign has been a promise to cut sharply the number of federal agencies.

Both men restated their positions on amnesty and on Ford's pardon of Richard M. Nixon.

Ford said he opposes across-the-board pardon of draft evaders or deserters. He said he pardoned Nixon after Nixon resigned the presidency "because it seemed to me Mr. Nixon had been penalized enough by his resignation in disgrace and the need and necessity for me to concentrate on the problems of the country fully justified the action I took."

Carter said he advocates a pardon for draft resisters. "I think now is a time to heal our country," he said.

Young children sometimes have a unique way of saying things, and yet getting them pretty close in perspective.

Here's an item we found about a young fellow's essay on the human anatomy:

"Your head is kind of round and hard, and your brains are in it, and your hair is on it. Your face is the front of your head where you eat and make faces. Your neck is what keeps your head out of your collar. It's hard to keep clean.

Your shoulders are sort of shelves where you hook suspenders on them. Your stummick is something that if you don't eat often enough it hurt and spinnage won't help it none.

Your spine is the long bone in your back that keeps you from folding up.

Your back is always behind you no matter how quick you turn around!

Your arms you've got to have to pitch a ball with and also so you can reach the butter.

Your fingers stick out of your hand so you can throw a curve and hold a pencil when you add up 'rithmetic.

Your legs is what, if you have not got two of you can't get to first

And that is all there is of you, except what's inside--and I never saw that.

Polster Peter D. Hart estimated that only 46 per cent of voting-age Americans will go to the polls in November to vote for President, and if his prediction is true, it would be the first time voter participation has dropped below 50 per cent since 43.9 per cent turned out in 1924 to elect Calvin Coolidge.

A cross-section of 1,486 scientifically selected non-voters (people who are neither registered nor plan to register) were surveyed. Hart reports that most still believe in our political system, but are disenchanted by those now seeking office. Half of those questioned said John Kennedy was the political figure they admired most. Second was Franklin Roosevelt with 20 per cent. Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford were each admired most by a scant one per cent.

Candidates saying one thing and then doing another was the reason given most (68 per cent) for not voting. There not being any difference "because things never seem to work out right" was the reason for non-participation given by 35 per cent. Candidates appearing to be pretty much the same was the reason expressed by 50 per cent.

Difficulty in getting reliable, unbiased information on the candidates was given as a rationale for not voting by 49 per cent, and one person's vote not making a difference

Candidates Found Speechless

PHILADELPHIA (AP)- The 27-minute audio gap during the debate between President Ford and Jimmy Carter has been traced to a breakdown in an audio amplifying system, American Broadcasting Co. officials said today.

But ABC engineers said they were still trying to pinpoint the exact cause of the audio failure.

McDonald's Joins State Governor In Ceremony

In honor of America's 200th birthday, Governor Briscoe joined with representatives of the 142 McDonald's restaurants throughout the state in a recent ceremonial tree presentation at the Governor's mansion, symbolizing McDonald's gift of 1776 trees to the people of Texas.

A McDonald's restaurant is being built in Hereford.

The living gift of trees from McDonald's to Texas is being distributed through the Forest Environment Department to the Forest Service. The trees are being used in landscaping university and college campuses throughout the state.

Representing McDonald's at the presentation were licensees from Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Austin, San Antonio, El Paso, Paris, Pharr, Clute, College Station and Huntsville. Speakers included Mr. and Mrs. Hal Levenson of Austin, Michael Kalleres of Houston and Eugene Burgess of El Paso.

"We presented this oak tree to Governor Briscoe as a symbol of McDonald's 'Trees For America' Bicentennial gift of 1776 trees to each state and the District of Columbia," said Hal Levenson. "During the Bicentennial, we at McDonald's want to give, not only Texas, but the entire country, a contribution which will help to enhance and preserve our national resources for this and future generations."

Through McDonald's "Trees For America" program, more than 90,000 trees will be planted across the country.

Panel Gives Ford Victory In Debates

WASHINGTON (AP)- Four members of a five-member panel of college debate coaches gave a slight edge to President Ford in his debate with Jimmy Carter. The fifth gave Carter a narrow edge.

The Ford four said they led toward him principally because he did a better job of rebutting some of the Democratic nominee's arguments.

The five coaches from around the country scored the nationally televised event for the Associated Press using a point system similar to that used in collegiate debate competition.

Evaluating the candidates for their analysis, reasoning, evidence, organization, refutation and presentation, the coaches voted this way:

Dr. Barbara O'Connor, California State University at Sacramento, 22-19 for Ford.

Dr. Donn Parson, University of Kansas 24-23 for Ford.

Prof. William Southworth, University of Redlands Calif., 27-24 for Ford.

Prof. James K. Unger, Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., 15-13 for Ford.

Prof. Melissa Maxcy Wade, Emory University, Atlanta, 22-20 for Carter.

In the first 1960 presidential debate, John F. Kennedy was generally perceived as the winner over Richard M. Nixon because of appearance and image. However, none of the five judges Thursday night gave Carter or Ford a point advantage in the presentation category, the ability to create an image of competence and leadership.

The four panelists who thought Ford won particularly gave him an edge on handling the tax and bureaucracy questions.

"Ford pushed it to him on the tax cuts and bureaucracy cuts," said Dr. O'Connor. "Carter has answers on those things but he never gave them."

Southworth particularly gave Ford credit for his remark at the end of the tax discussion that the tax structure objected to by Carter was enacted by a primarily Democratic Congress.
